High School Jazz Band Cuts Long-Playing Disc

Platters of jazz are selling like hotcakes at Northville high school this week — and that's music to the ears of the nationally acclaimed Stage Band.

Members of the extra-curricular band report sales of more than 200 long-play records that contain jazzy renditions by the local student musicians.

Recorded in December, the record went on sale locally just last week — even before record jackets were available — and already the disc has sparked plenty of favorable comment.

According to Band Director Robert Williams, several prominent jazz enthusiasts suggested the record after hearing the band perform over television earlier this winter.

The TV appearance was prompted by praise from popular radio disc jockey Jim Rockwell, who heard about the band and visited Northville to listen to a performance.

Jerry McKenzie, former drummer for Stan Kenton's band, also visited Northville for a listen and wound up playing with the group. "He had nothing but kind words for our kids," Williams said.

On December 14, the Ken Adams agency of Detroit brought in a mountain of recording equipment, the director said, and taped a performance. Adams sent the tape to the RCA Victor offices at Chicago where the disc was cut.

Meanwhile, a firm in Kalamazoo was contracted to make the jackets for the records. The jackets, which will contain a picture of the band along with names of each member, failed to arrive before the records, the director continued, so the records are being sold without jackets with the understanding that they'll be delivered as soon as they arrive.

RCA is making the records available on a local distribution basis only. However, if the record sells exceptionally well, Williams said, there's a good possibility that it will get an RCA label and be distributed nationally.

Presently, it's called a "local interest record".

The record itself contains 46 minutes of jazz, slow and fast arrangements, Latin American tunes, and an arrangement by Williams. It spotlights performances by nearly all members of the band.

The Stage Band was organized as an extra-curricular activity at the high school for exceptional band students. Its 20 members must be of good standing in the high school symphony band, and each member must audition for veteran members and win the unanimous vote of all members and the director before being accepted.

Besides its appearance on television, the band has been featured in numerous publications, and it has performed at the National Collegiate Jazz Band Festival, before professional bandsmen in Detroit, and on numerous occasions for local area functions.

This is the band's album cover picture.

9 Firemen Quit, 14 Volunteer

Despite last minute efforts to reach a compromise, the city council and protesting firemen could not reach agreement last week and nine veterans of the department turned in their uniforms.

City Manager Bruce Pott-hoff immediately launched a training program for 14 new volunteers and five department members who remained on the force.

The training program is under the direction of Charles Groth, who heads up Plymouth's fire department, and Northville Chief William McGee.

Veteran firemen who resigned are: Warren Bogart, Charles Buttermore, Charles Freydl, Jr., Peter Gross, J. B. Leavenworth, Clarence Schwab, Ward Schultz, Stanley Smith and Irvin Ware.

Firemen remaining on the force in addition to Chief McGee are Harvey Jackson, William Phillips, Julius Sauer and Louis Westfall.

New department members include Herman Hartner, James Allen, Charles Nichols, Robert Moe, William Osborne, William Walker, Mark Bell, Clifford Shoebridge, Don Arthurs, Horace Aenbach, Charles Gross, Alfred Earehart, Al Daniels and Jack Williams.

Center of the controversy between the council and disgruntled firemen was Chief McGee.

The firemen protested on two counts: they disliked the idea of McGee being a patrolman; and secondly, they wanted McGee replaced as fire chief.

In meetings Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights last week, the council attempted to gain a six months' "observation period" to test the efficiency of the department under the present set-up.

The firemen wanted a trial period under a new chief, not a member of the police department.

Councilmembers stood firm against dismissal of McGee.

Northville's new fire department is greater in numbers than the old force. And while it needs training and experience, it isn't lacking in enthusiasm and effort.

The new men drew high praise from Chief Groth of Plymouth. He has put the crew through four training sessions of from three to four hours each. He told Manager Pott-hoff that their interest and response was "exceptionally high". The training program will be a continuing thing, Manager Pott-hoff promised, even after Groth has completed his part in the initial sessions.

The manager noted that some new equipment, recommended by Groth, would be purchased.

Several of the departing firemen indicated a willingness to "help out" in case of emergency, Manager Pott-hoff reported.

Mayor Allen's Annex Bid Denied By 3-2 Township Board Vote

If Mayor A. M. Allen moves into his newly-acquired township home, he'll have to give up his position as chief executive of Northville's city government.

Township board members turned thumbs down Tuesday night on Allen's request that his property at 900 Scott avenue be annexed to the city.

The petition was defeated by a narrow 3-2 vote with Treasurer A. M. Lawrence, Trustee Wilson Tyler and Clerk Marguerite Young teaming up against approval and Supervisor R. D. Merriam and Trustee Donald Robinson in favor.

Mayor Allen was not available for comment. He was slated to return from a convention in Louisville, Kentucky Wednesday.

The Northville mayor now resides at 490 Griswold. He purchased the Scott avenue home in December and planned to move as soon as he could dispose of his present residence.

The 2½-acre parcel, formerly owned by D. J. Stark, is at the end of the block-long street. The street is in the city but the house and lot lie in the township.

Allen had petitioned for annexation of the property to the city under a state statute which provides that township property contiguous to a city border may become a part of the city by joint resolution of the two governing bodies.

The city council approved the request Monday, January 6. The following evening the township board postponed action until the February meeting.

Supervisor Merriam introduced the subject Tuesday night. He urged passage. The supervisor noted that the township had permitted annexation of dump property on Gerald avenue to the city without fear of precedent. He also suggested that it was in the best interest of good community relations.

City Attorney Philip Ogilvie represented Mayor Allen before the township board. He said the request was not unusual and was one that deserved approval "whether it's 'John Doe' or Mayor Allen'".

Clerk Young asked the attorney if he thought the city would permit her to take city property into the township if she wished to expand her residence (coincidentally, it's adjacent to the mayor's new home).

Ogilvie said the circumstances were not the same, that the Allen property is accessible only by city streets, enjoys city services and furthermore statutes do not provide for annexation of city property into the township.

"I can't see it. We have no right to divest property from the township for personal reasons," said Treasurer Lawrence. Trustee Tyler said Allen had jeopardized his public office. He likened his predicament to a man near bankruptcy who was asking the bank to bail him out. "I hate to do something against a man I don't even know," said Tyler.

Several members of the audience had comments. Mrs. Arthur Hempe of Foner court asked if other township residents couldn't join Mayor Allen in seeking annexation to the city by election if the board turned down his request. She hinted that some residents of the township might be interested.

Eugene Guido of Westview suggested it might be better to let the request be decided by election to determine if city voters wanted the property annexed.

John Miller, Napier road, and Harold Putnam, Seven Mile road, both made strong appeals in favor of granting the request.

Miller called Northville a community which "happens to have two governments". He described one as rural and the other more populated with people all attending the same schools and churches.

He called for community cooperation in a "trivial matter which is a unique situation". Then Miller chided the board for its fear of establishing a precedent. "You didn't worry about giving a dump away and you didn't worry about creating a precedent when you granted the Seven Mile road request" (landfill permit), he concluded.

Putnam said he had been a member of the committee that helped set-up township borders when the city incorporated. "I'm hardly in favor of giving township property away. But I've worked with Mayor Allen on the economic development committee which was jointly formed by the city and township to help bring new industry and more tax base to the community. It's been a cooperative effort," noted Putnam. He said the township wouldn't lose anything in approval and it would be bad public relations to deny the request.

Supervisor Merriam asked Township Attorney James Littell to explain the legal consequences. Littell noted that Mayor Allen could call for an election for annexation, if he chose.

First, however, explained Littell, the mayor would have to move on the property he wished to have annexed. "He would then disqualify himself as mayor," Littell stated. He explained that he could petition to annex his property, or any other contiguous to the township, and call for an election. Residents of the property to be annexed must vote in favor of the request as well as voters of the city, he concluded.

Treasurer Lawrence then made a motion to deny the request. He won support from Clerk Young and Trustee Tyler.

Library Rent, Sewer Disputed

While the Northville township board's decision to deny annexation of Mayor Allen's property to the city created the biggest reaction Tuesday night, other matters of importance also were decided and, in some cases, by split votes.

Chief among these was the board's reaction to the city's proposed rental agreement for the new library.

Under a formula designed by city and township attorneys, Philip Ogilvie and James Littell, the township would pay rent and its share of heat, light and janitorial service based on library usage. County figures now show that township residents participate in use of library facilities at a rate of about 35 per cent.

In determining rent the cost of the library portion of the building would be divided in half (because half of the funds were provided by the federal government) and then rent to both the city and township would be set at one per cent of this figure.

The township would pay on the basis of 35 per cent of this one-per-cent total.

Supervisor R. D. Merriam noted that library cost to the township would increase from $3,100 to $5,700 annually. But he said his objections to the formula were minor. "It's a facility we must have and the old library is inadequate," he

Teens to Dance For Dimes

A teen dance Saturday night at the community building will climax the campaign for March of Dimes funds.

Chairman Charles Parton said the last Saturday's "ugly man" dance was called off because of lack of interest.

This Saturday teen-agers will dance to the music of top hit records. What's more, Parton says there will be a host of prizes including an album by the "Beatles," current rage of the teen-age set.

Parton emphasized that Saturday's dance is not a costume affair. Attempts are being made, he said, to provide live entertainment.

The dance will begin at 8 p.m. All proceeds will be turned over to the local March of Dimes fund.

Is Canterbury Next Mayor?

Only Mayor A. M. Allen knows what happens next in his bid to have his new home annexed to the city.

But it would appear that he has few alternatives. They are:

1. Move to the township but establish a voting residence in the city, perhaps at his place of business, and remain as mayor. This may be legally possible, but is is probable that the mayor would consider this a subterfuge.

2. Continue to live in the city until his term expires in April, 1965.

3. Move to the township. In this event he would be forced to resign as mayor even though he took steps to call for an annexation election.

Who would be Northville's new mayor if Allen resigns? There's little doubt but that Councilman John Canterbury would be given the job.

But the charter is fuzzy on how this might come about.

It appears that the council would appoint a mayor to replace Allen and then the council would name a councilman to replace Canterbury. The new mayor and councilman would serve until the next election, April 1965.

Canterbury is the senior councilman and is mayor pro tem. The charter seems to indicate that the mayor pro tem takes over as acting mayor when the mayor is absent or disabled.

Upon loss of the mayor by death or resignation, however, the switch from mayor pro tem to mayor appears not to be automatic. The council must decide by vote who shall serve as chief official.

Planners Quiz Area Shoppers

A survey to determine the shopping habits of Northville area residents is currently being conducted by the planning commission under the direction of Planner Wallace Nichols.

Questionnaires have been sent to some 250 residents of the district considered to be Northville's shopping area. The questionnaires are keyed by areas — four within and one surrounding the city — so that sectional response may be determined.

Included in the questions asked are:

How much of your shopping do you do in Northville for the following items — food, clothing (men's, women's and children's), shoes, drugs, furniture, appliances, hardware and personal services;

If you shop outside of Northville, where do you go — Plymouth, Detroit, Livonia, Northland, Wonderland;

Considering the general layout of our downtown shopping area, how do you feel about the following — parking areas large enough, parking areas near enough to shopping, does general traffic flow (auto and pedestrian) make it easy to shop;

In your Northville shopping how do you rate — selection of merchandise, quality of merchandise, consideration shown by merchants for your needs?

The shopper is then asked to submit his opinion on how local retail facilities can be improved and what steps should be taken to do so.

Nichols, who is chairman of the planning commission's Central Business District committee, reports that returns will be compiled, comments recorded and the results studied by planners. He indicated planners hope to gain valuable information in their efforts to develop an improved shopping district.

The results and comments, when compiled, will be published by The Record.

Nursing Program OK'd for Schoolcraft

The State Board of Nursing has granted Schoolcraft college tentative approval for the opening of the Practical Nursing program of Schoolcraft college.

After reviewing the planning of Mrs. Harriett Sattig, Director of Nursing Education at Schoolcraft, the Board of Nursing voted unanimously to grant its approval. This approval guarantees that students graduating from the program will be eligible to write the state board examinations for licensure as practical nurses.

Mrs. Sattig is now developing plans for the curriculum. After these plans are completed, final approval will be given Mrs. Sattig is also interviewing students interested in enrolling in the program. Those who have not made application may call Mrs. Sattig (GA 7-6620) for further details.

AAUW Sets Play

Rehearsal for the children's drama, Hansel and Gretel, is well underway by the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women.

The play will be staged at Plymouth high school on February 22.

All members of the cast are rehearsing twice each week and members of other committees are equally busy, a spokesman said. "Sets are being constructed, costumes sewed, props gathered and made ready for the big performance."

The following AAUW members have been chosen by Director Mrs. C. H. Heiney, Jr. as players:

Margaret Smith, Hansel; Jean Knowles, Gretel; Glorea Heino, father; Marion Maas, stepmother; Katy Devereaux, wicked witch; Irene Truesdell, forest fairy; Shirley McKeon, black cat; Faye Weber, Trudi; and Jean Fronk, story book lady.

The play, recommended for children between the ages of 5 and 12, will feature a candy cottage, lollipop fence and, of course, the witch's terrible oven.

The new college buildings on Seven Mile and Haggerty roads include a Nursing Education Laboratory. The Practical Nursing Program will combine classroom and hospital experience during the entire year. Students in the program will begin to spend some time in the hospital from the third or fourth week of college. All instruction will be given by college faculty, both in the hospital and on the campus.

The first class of practical nursing at Schoolcraft will be limited to 30 in number. Although there is a large number of applicants, there still remain some openings, since Mrs. Sattig has not made her final selection of students.

The tuition for the entire 12 months' course is $101 for both residents and non-residents. Other fees include uniform, shoes, watches, etc., costing approximately $119, bringing the total cost of the Practical Nursing program to $220.

Final details for the clinical affiliation of the Nursing Education program are now in the-making and will be announced within a short time.

Carrol is the daughter of Novi Village President and Mrs. Joseph Crupi of 23790 Maude Lea. Other finalists with Carrol were (clockwise, beginning with the Novi girl): Michelle Giba of Silver Spring, Maryland; Holly VanDenBrink of Elmhurst, Illinois; Gayle Krepps of Dearborn; Judy Joyce Dragash of East Grand Rapids; Martha VanAken of Coldwater; and (center) Pamela Harbison of Wayne.

Women Join World Day of Prayer

Women of Northville will unite with hundreds of thousands throughout the world next week on observance of the 78th World Day of Prayer.

Prayerful kinship will take place Friday, February 14 — the same day as children exchange Valentines in tokens of sincere friendships.

All persons interested in joining this worldwide prayer fellowship are invited to assemble with the Presbyterian and Methodist women in the Northville Methodist Church at 1:30 p.m.

Chairmen for the event are Mrs. Richard Somers of the Methodist Church, and Mrs. Donald Karr of the Presbyterian Church.

The theme for the 1964 service is "Let Us Pray" and the service was prepared by Dr. Madeleine Barot, executive secretary of the Department on the cooperation of Men and Women in Church, Family and Society of the World Council of Churches, Geneva, Switzerland.

In using passages from the Old and the New Testaments, Dr. Barot will unite the countless number of Christian people who participate in the service in a new experience in prayer as "a struggle — an act of faith and repentance — and a commitment to service."

In continuation of past efforts in the mission of the church, the gifts collected as an essential part of the observance will go toward sustaining 12 Christian colleges for women in Asia and Africa.

The gifts will make possible the translation, printing, and distribution of Christian literature to women and children in many parts of the world.

They will lend assistance to the present program among Indian-Americans and the support of the migrant ministry, recreational centers, and programs of assistance toward responsible citizenship.

They will be used to extend hospitality to the more than 60,000 students coming to this county from all over the world, giving them the opportunity to know America through home life, as a part of an American family. This year in an effort to broaden the program among college and university students, a special gift will be used overseas to help strengthen Christian work there.

Plymouth Players Await 3-Day Show

A former stage star with the Lyon Theater Guild of South Lyon will join Northville area actors in a three-day performance of "The Drunkard" in Plymouth next weekend.

She is Mrs. Joan Walker, who is preparing this week for fun and frivolity as the hilarious Miss Spindle.

Several other Northville area residents will appear in the play, to be staged by the Plymouth Theater Guild next week Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings in the Plymouth high school auditorium.

Her feminine "Jekell-Hyde" routine is nothing new for the charming mother who doubles as a meat packer during daylight hours.

As one of the mainstays of the South Lyon group during its short two year existence, Mrs. Walker acted lead parts, built scenery, and sewed costumes.

As Miss Spindle in "The Drunkard", she has an excellent opportunity to show her adept skill at characterization.

Director Robert Wall remembered her from her starring role in another melodrama, "Aaron Slick", which he directed at South Lyon two years ago.

"As rehearsals progress," Wall said this week, "it is obvious that Joan is going to add another stellar part to her long chain of stage successes."

Advance reserve seats may be obtained at the Melody House in Plymouth, but Wall points out that Saturday night's performance (February 15) is almost sold out.

NOVI HIGHLIGHTS

Council Makes Fast Work Of Light Agenda

In one of the shortest sessions in anyone's memory the Northville city council sped through a routine agenda Monday night.

Most discussed subject was a report from the planning commission regarding a request to change zoning on North Center street at the Eight Mile road cut-off.

Planners had denied a request to rezone the southeast corner from residential to multiple dwelling. But Wallace Nichols, a member of the planning commission, told the council that the chief objection was that it represented "spot zoning."

He said that planners generally agreed the block across from the high school should be zoned for apartments.

John Carlo represented Norman Denne, owner of the 1 1/2 lot corner in making the request. He said other property owners on the block also preferred the zoning change.

Carlo noted that the property was not suitable for any other use than for apartments.

Councilman John Canterbury, presiding for Mayor A. M. Allen who was absent, suggested sending a council representa-

LET'S TALK CARS.

What Kind Of A Car Is Right for You?

A very successful dealer who enjoys the confidence and loyalty of the large number of customers who patronize his dealership said recently that buying a car was much like getting married. The dealer plays the role of mother-in-law.

When he explained it all it makes sense, too. The biggest difference between the two is that divorce is easier when you buy the car.

When a prospective buyer first falls in love with his bride-to-be he may be overwhelmed with her beautiful appearance. Or he may be thinking of what a great help she'll be to him later in an economical and practical way. Whatever approach he uses, the romance passes into the honeymoon and settling down stage, when the owner forms some definite opinions about his bride a few months later.

Manufacturers make automobiles to suit every taste and need and if a buyer is counseled honestly at the time of purchase he should avoid some obvious mistakes. His beautiful bride may turn out to be expensive to maintain so he should know this beforehand. Or she may have faults that don't show up during the courtship.

If you buy your new car from our large variety of models available we'll do our best to see that the "marriage" remains just as pleasant an experience as the "courtship." And as mother of the brides, that she performs the duties expected of her well and efficiently.

BASKETBALL BALLET — Tripping lightly like a member of the Royal Ballet is Northville's Dan Bishop. He just flipped a basketball netward, but the ball rolled off the rim for no score. Racing a West Bloomfield cager for the rebound is Mustang Jerry Imsland (34).

Holly to Host Northville Friday

With their hopes for a Wayne-Oakland Conference title dashed as the result of three straight league encounters, the Northville Mustangs will engage Holly tomorrow night on the road.

Holly, Northville and Clarenceville are now knotted for fourth place in the loop with identical 4-5 states.

If the local cagers hope to salvage the basketball season, a win over Holly is a must. To lose would drop them into fifth place and possible into sixth, depending on the outcome of the Clarenceville game Friday night.

If the game is anything like the previous encounter between these two teams, it should be a slam-bang affair.

Northville won that one at home in the last second of play.

With Holly ahead 62-60, and only seconds remaining, Mustang Jim Mazel hit a jumper to tie it up. In the final second of play, Lance Hahn netted a foul shot to provide the one-

point margin.

It was a bruising battle in which tempers threatened to explode.

With this in mind and in view of Holly's bitter defeat, 59-46, to Clarenceville last Friday, Northville will have to be at its aggressive best.

With a home court advantage, too, Holly will be hustling to win.

Main points of concern for Coach Dave Longridge's cagers are Holly's two top scorers, Jack Bennett and Tom Fagan. Bennett, one of the best outside shots in the conference, has been the backbone of the team.

Game time will be approximately 8:15.

Colts Win In Final Quarter

The Northville Colts made a third period splurge stand up in the final frame last Friday night when they edged West Bloomfield, 63-60.

Behind by a 30-29 count at the half, the Colts picked up momentum as they controlled the boards.

But West Bloomfield came back strong in the final period, outscoring the Colts, 19-16. The rally fell short as Northville played it safe.

Sparkling the local attack was Ron Asher, who not only played a good floor game but also contributed 14 points. Nine of his total were scored in the first quarter to keep Northville in the game.

Secret of Northville's success was balanced scoring. Besides Asher's 14, Steve Evans scored 15, Larry Schwab, 12 and John Jameson, 10.

Although there was a point spread of only three points, the local cagers played solid ball. They hit on 25 field goals to 17 for West Bloomfield, but the visitor's made up ground at the free throw line, converting 26 to Northville's 13.

Coach Alex Klukach noted the improvement of his cagers, singling out Evans for his stellar play.

Northville's next battle will be against Holly Friday on the road.

Frosh Win By 2 Points

The Northville frosh are making a habit of winning squeakers.

Latest win was at Lutheran West January 28 by the margin of 53-51.

For the second time in one month, the Orange and Black won with cool play under pressure in the final moments of the game. It beat Milford Highland by a point in the last second of that game.

Trailing by one point with just 20 seconds to go, Northville's Jim Long was fouled. He converted both free throws, giving his team a 52-51 lead.

Lutheran West, pressing for the winning bucket, missed a shot and once again fouled Long. He made one of the two free throws to give Northville a two-point victory.

It was a nip and tuck affair all the way with Northville lagging one or two points behind.

And although Lutheran West controlled the boards, the local freshmen grabbed off the rebounds when it counted most.

Center Jim Zayti and Forward Glenn Deibert paced Coach Madden's cagers' attack with 15 points apiece.

Backing them up was newcomer Steve Gallentine, who scored 13.

A wizard made the difference Friday night as the visiting Lakers from West Bloomfield swamped Northville 57-42.

Although West Bloomfield's Dan Greig is no Wizard of Oz, he had a bag full of tricks that dazzled the Mustangs. A 5'-10" guard, he led his determined teammates to backboard supremacy as he poured 28 points through the nets, well over half of Northville's total.

His basketball antics vaulted the Lakers into sole possession of third place in the Wayne-Oakland Conference with a 6-3 slate. They trail once beaten Clarkston by two games and second place Bloomfield Hills by one.

As a result of the loss Friday night, Northville slipped a notch from a tie for third in the loop to a three-way tie for fourth. The local cagers are now courting a 4-5 league record.

Holly, Northville's next opponent and recent victor over Clarkston is one of the teams vying for sole possession of fourth place.

The Mustangs corrected many of the errors they made the previous week against Bloomfield Hills, but still they could not pull off a win.

The visitor's strategy worked to perfection.

They employed a pressing man-to-man defense all the way to keep Northville bottled up. And what's more, they out rebounded the Mustangs through board position and sheer aggressiveness.

It was evident early that Coach Dave Longridge's cagers were having difficulties.

Only by virtue of West Bloomfield's missed scoring opportunities were they able to take a 23-19 half time lead.

Moving men through the post, the Green and White worked its center free under the hoop, but he missed easy dog shots.

When Northville shifted into a zone defense in the second half, the Lakers countered with set shots and a fast break led by Greig.

Northville broke fast, however, as the third period opened. Jim Mazel with four and Captain Dan Bishop with a field goal put the home team out front, 29-22, biggest margin of the night.

The advantage was short lived, however, as West Bloomfield tallied 13 times before the Mustangs could register a point.

Trailing by four points entering the final frame, the Mustangs regained the lead, 37-35, on the strength of Bishop's three jump shots. Greig then went on a scoring binge as West Bloomfield pulled away.

Bishop's 15 points led the local attack.

It was a see-saw affair through the first quarter. Down by five, Longridge's charges took the lead, 7-6, fell behind 10-7, then hung close as Lance Hahn scored at the buzzer.

With both teams playing a tight defense, they sprinted up and down the court trading baskets until Northville ledged out front, 23-19 at the end of the half.

A second half zone temporarily befuddled the visitors, but they finally solved the defense as Greig assumed the high post. And West Bloomfield's 13-point surge carried it to a 35-31 lead at the end of the stanza.

Greig then sparkled. He broke away from his man on three successive occasions to wipe out the local cagers' 37-35 lead.

When he wasn't on the scoring end, he led the fast break, passing off to teammates under the basket and hauling in vital rebounds. In their anxiety to catch up, the Mustangs began fouling as the seconds ticked away.

In other league contests Friday night, Clarkston rebounded from its defeat at the hands of Holly by trouncing Milford, 81-50; Bloomfield Hills substituted freely in blitzing Brighton, 65-48, and Holly lost to Clarenceville 53-46.

Cager of the Week

TOM WICKE — Sturdy sums up this cager's forte. A 6' 2 1/2" junior, Wicke is hard to move under the hoop. He gives the Mustangs the potential to beat most teams off the boards. Wicke's bruising tactics were utilized on the gridiron last fall, when he lettered as a defensive end. He's also an avid fisherman, especially for trout. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. August Wicke of 120 Fairbrook.

They Suffer Heavy Losses

The Northville matmen were behind the eight ball last Thursday before their match with Willow Run even began.

The Mustangs lost the fray, 31-19, because two men failed to scale down to make the weight limit. As a result, the local wrestlers forfeited 10 points.

Willow Run thus avenged a previous loss here two weeks ago when Northville won by a decisive margin.

In going down to defeat, the Mustangs put up a battle with Junior Jerry Burns leading the pack. A heavyweight, he pinned his man in just 12 seconds of the first period.

Sharing the spotlight with Burns was Bob Fisher, wrestling in the 138 pound class. He upended his man to likewise contribute five points to his team's total.

Three Mustangs held their men to a draw. They were Wayne Ritter (133 pounds), Russ Nichols (112 pounds) and Arty Roth (145 pounds).

Although the local matmen have won only one match this year, three of them are undefeated. Bob Orr and Russ Nichols have unscathed records while Burns has suffered two draws.

PRESSURE — A West Bloomfield cager reaches high to block this shot by Northville's Lance Hahn. Although the ball arched over the defender's finger tips, the shot was off target. It was largely because of the Lakers' tight defense like this that Northville lost.

LET'S TALK CARS.

What Kind Of A Car Is Right for You?

A very successful dealer who enjoys the confidence and loyalty of the large number of customers who patronize his dealership said recently that buying a car was much like getting married. The dealer plays the role of mother-in-law.

When he explained it all it makes sense, too. The biggest difference between the two is that divorce is easier when you buy the car.

When a prospective buyer first falls in love with his bride-to-be he may be overwhelmed with her beautiful appearance. Or he may be thinking of what a great help she'll be to him later in an economical and practical way. Whatever approach he uses, the romance passes into the honeymoon and settling down stage when the owner forms some definite opinions about his bride a few months later.

Manufacturers make automobiles to suit every taste and need and if a buyer is counseled honestly at the time of purchase he should avoid some obvious mistakes. His beautiful bride may turn out to be expensive to maintain so he should know this beforehand. Or she may have faults that don't show up during the courtship.

If you buy your new car from our large variety of models available we'll do our best to see that the "marriage" remains just as pleasant an experience as the "courtship."

And as mother of the bride, that she performs the duties expected of her well and efficiently.

The new plan the township would get $150 of the $400 tap fee and the developers $250. The pay-back would stop when the investment was returned, or in 15 years even if the full amount hadn't been collected.

Supervisor Merriam has been a strong backer of the idea. He points to the opportunity for gaining a trunkline without bonding or paying interest.

Trustee Donald Robinson has opposed the plan on the basis that the pay-back per tap is too much and that the sewer, extended too far along Seven Mile road. Tyler supports Robinson and asked that the township determine how much of the tap fee it must retain for expenses.

Tyler moved to decline the latest bid of the developers after Supervisor Merriam had asked that the proposal be postponed for an executive session and further discussion.

In making his motion Tyler said the $250 pay-back has not been estimated by the board as equitable, that the pay-back requires a dollar limitation and that the per foot cost provision be defined.

His motion lost, 3-2, when he was joined by Robinson. The plan was then left without further discussion.

In other business, the board appointed two Republican and two Democratic canvassers. They are: GOP — Dwight Grayson, two year term; Charles Guider, four years; and DEMS — George Bennett, four years; Eugene Guido, two years. They will be paid $10 per day for their work in canvassing election results.

Council Makes Fast Work Of Light Agenda

In one of the shortest sessions in anyone's memory the Northville city council sped through a routine agenda Monday night.

Most discussed subject was a report from the planning commission regarding a request to change zoning on North Center street at the Eight Mile road cut-off.

Planners had denied a request to rezone the southeast corner from residential to multiple dwelling. But Wallace Nichols, a member of the planning commission, told the council that the chief objection was that it represented "spot zoning."

He said that planners generally agreed the block across from the high school should be zoned for apartments.

John Carlo represented Norman Denne, owner of the 1 1/2 lot corner in making the request. He said other property owners on the block also preferred the zoning change. Carlo noted that the property was not suitable for any other use than for apartments.

Councilman John Canterbury, presiding for Mayor A. M. Allen who was absent, suggested sending a council representative back to the planners to consider their opinion. The council concurred and action was postponed.

The council approved purchase of a fire hose washer and drier for the new fire hall and called for further study on signs that will be erected on the site of the new city hall.

Mrs. J. B. Jarvis of Northville road complained to the council about a parking ticket received for overtime parking in the city's Main street lot. She said she had parked approximately four hours in the two-hour limit lot and thought that parking should be unlimited in time.

Councilman Canterbury said the council receives more complaints about poor enforcement than ticketing and Councilman Richard Ambler noted that if unlimited parking were permitted the lots would be filled all day by the same people, eliminating parking for shoppers.

It was noted that all-day parking is permitted in the Presbyterian parking alley.

Finally, the council postponed a request for a $400 annual pay hike for the building inspector.

Hardwood 'Wizard' Trips Mustangs, 57-42

The Northville Record—Novi News—Thursday, February 6, 1964
Section One — Page Seven

BASKETBALL BALLET — Tripping lightly like a member of the Royal Ballet is Northville's Dan Bishop. He just flipped a basketball netward, but the ball rolled off the rim for no score. Racing a West Bloomfield cager for the rebound is Mustang Jerry Imsland (34).

Holly to Host Northville Friday

With their hopes for a Wayne-Oakland Conference title dashed as the result of three straight league encounters, the Northville Mustangs will engage Holly tomorrow night on the road.

Holly, Northville and Clarenceville are now knotted for fourth place in the loop with identical 4-5 slates.

If the local cagers hope to salvage the basketball season, a win over Holly is a must. To lose would drop them into fifth place and possible into sixth, depending on the outcome of the Clarenceville game Friday night.

If the game is anything like the previous encounter between these two teams, it should be a slam-bang affair.

Northville won that one at home in the last second of play.

With Holly ahead 62-60, and only seconds remaining, Mustang Jim Mazel hit a jumper to tie it up. In the final second of play, Lance Hahn netted a foul shot to provide the one-

point margin.

It was a bruising battle in which tempers threatened to explode.

With this in mind and in view of Holly's bitter defeat, 55-46, to Clarenceville last Friday, Northville will have to be at its aggressive best.

With a home court advantage, too, Holly will be hustling to win.

Main points of concern for Coach Dave Longridge's cagers are Holly's two top scorers, Jack Bennett and Tom Fagan. Bennett, one of the best outside shots in the conference, has been the backbone of the team.

Game time will be approximately 8:15.

Colts Win In Final Quarter

The Northville Colts made a third period splurge stand up in the final frame last Friday night when they edged West Bloomfield, 63-60.

Behind by a 30-29 count at the half, the Colts picked up momentum as they controlled the boards.

But West Bloomfield came back strong in the final period, outscoring the Colts, 19-16. The rally fell short as Northville played it safe.

Sparking the local attack was Ron Asher, who not only played a good floor game but also contributed 14 points. Nine of his total were scored in the first quarter to keep Northville in the game.

Secret of Northville's success was balanced scoring. Besides Asher's 14, Steve Evans scored 15, Larry Schwab, 12 and John Jameson, 10.

Although there was a point spread of only three points, the local cagers played solid ball. They hit on 25 field goals to 17 for West Bloomfield, but the visitor's made up ground at the free throw line, converting 26 to Northville's 13.

Coach Alex Klukach noted the improvement of his cagers, singling out Evans for his stellar play.

Northville's next battle will be against Holly Friday on the road.

Frosh Win By 2 Points

The Northville frosh are making a habit of winning squeakers.

Latest win was at Lutheran West January 28 by the margin of 53-51.

For the second time in one month, the Orange and Black won with cool play under pressure in the final moments of the game. It beat Milford Highland by a point in the last second of that game.

Trailng by one point with just 20 seconds to go, Northville's Jim Long was fouled. He converted both free throws, giving his team a 52-51 lead.

Lutheran West, pressing for the winning bucket, missed a shot and once again fouled Long. He made one of the two free throws to give Northville a two-point victory.

It was a nip and tuck affair all the way with Northville lagging one or two points behind.

And although Lutheran West controlled the boards, the local freshmen grabbed off the rebounds when it counted most.

Center Jim Zayti and Forward Glenn Deibert paced Coach Madden's cagers' attack with 15 points apiece.

Backing them up was newcomer Steve Gallentine, who scored 13.

A wizard made the difference Friday night as the visiting Lakers from West Bloomfield swamped Northville 57-42.

Although West Bloomfield's Dan Greig is no Wizard of Oz, he had a bag full of tricks that dazzled the Mustangs. A 5'10" guard, he led his determined teammates to backboard supremacy as he poured 28 points through the nets, well over half of Northville's total.

His basketball antics vaulted the Lakers into sole possession of third place in the Wayne-Oakland Conference with a 6-3 slate. They trail once beaten Clarkston by two games and second place Bloomfield Hills by one.

As a result of the loss Friday night, Northville slipped a notch from a tie for third in the loop to a three-way tie for fourth. The local cagers are now courting a 4-5 league record.

Holly, Northville's next opponent and recent victor over Clarkston is one of the teams vying for sole possession of fourth place.

The Mustangs corrected many of the errors they made the previous week against Bloomfield Hills, but still they could not pull off a win.

The visitor's strategy worked to perfection.

They employed a pressing man-to-man defense all the way to keep Northville bottled up. And what's more, they out rebounded the Mustangs through board position and sheer aggressiveness.

It was evident early that Coach Dave Longridge's cagers were having difficulties. Only by virtue of West Bloomfield's missed scoring opportunities were they able to take a 23-19 half time lead.

Moving men through the post, the Green and White worked its center free under the hoop, but he missed easy dog shots.

When Northville shifted into a zone defense in the second half, the Lakers countered with

set shots and a fast break led by Greig.

Northville broke fast, however, as the third period opened. Jim Mazel with four and Captain Dan Bishop with a field goal put the home team out front, 29-22, biggest margin of the night.

The advantage was short lived, however, as West Bloomfield tallied 13 times before the Mustangs could register a point.

Trailing by four points entering the final frame, the Mustangs regained the lead, 37-35, on the strength of Bishop's three jump shots. Greig then went on a scoring binge as West Bloomfield pulled away.

Bishop's 15 points led the local attack.

It was a see-saw affair through the first quarter. Down by five, Longridge's charges took the lead, 7-6, fell behind 10-7, then hung close as Lance Hahn scored at the buzzer.

With both teams playing a tight defense, they sprinted up and down the court trading baskets until Northville ledged out front, 23-19 at the end of the half.

A second half zone temporarily befuddled the visitors, but they finally solved the defense as Greig assumed the high post. And West Bloomfield's 13-point surge carried it to a 35-31 lead at the end of the stanza.

Greig then sparkled. He broke away from his man on three successive occasions to wipe out the local cagers' 37-35 lead.

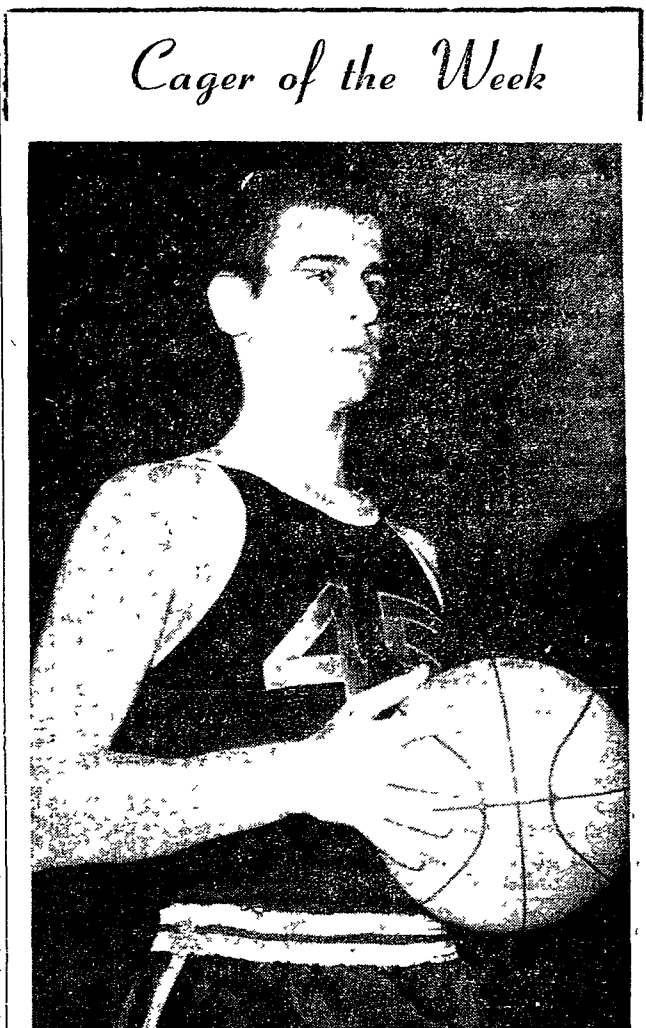

When he wasn't on the scoring end, he led the fast break, passing off to teammates under the basket and hauling in vital rebounds. In their anxiety to catch up, the Mustangs began fouling as the seconds ticked away.

In other league contests Friday night, Clarkston rebounded from its defeat at the hands of Holly by trouncing Milford, 81-50; Bloomfield Hills substituted freely in blitzing Brighton, 65-48, and Holly lost to Clarenceville 53-46.

TOM WICKE — Sturdy sums up this cager's forte. A 6' 2 1/2" junior, Wicke is hard to move under the hoop. He gives the Mustangs the potential to beat most teams off the boards. Wicke's bruising tactics were utilized on the gridiron last fall, when he lettered as a defensive end. He's also an avid fisherman, especially for trout. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. August Wicke of 120 Fairbrook.

They Suffer Heavy Losses

The Northville matmen were behind the eight ball last Thursday, before their match with Willow Run even began.

The Mustangs lost the fray, 31-19, because two men failed to scale down to make the weight limit. As a result, the local wrestlers forfeited 10 points.

Willow Run thus avenged a previous loss here two weeks ago when Northville won by a decisive margin.

In going down to defeat, the Mustangs put up a battle with Junior Jerry Burns leading the pack. A heavyweight, he pinned his man in just 12 seconds of the first period.

Sharing the spotlight with Burns was Bob Fisher, wrestling in the 138 pound class. He upended his man to likewise contribute five points to his team's total.

Three Mustangs held their men to a draw. They were Wayne Ritter (133 pounds), Russ Nichols (112 pounds) and Arty Forth (145 pounds).

Although the local matmen have won only one match this year, three of them are undefeated. Bob Orr and Russ Nichols have unscathed records while Burns has suffered two draws.

A trophy will be presented to the winning team. Tickets for the event, good for both the afternoon and the evening matches, will sell at the door for 50-cents for adults and 25-cents for students.

SMILES APLENTY — Laughter and squeals of delight filled this past week as more than 300 Northville public and parochial school children headed for Detroit and the famous Shrine Circus. Local area Shriners picked up the tab for the fun-filled adventure as they have for many years past. These excited gals crowd around Shriner Albert E. Hackett of Eight Mile road as the bus prepares to leave Main Street elementary school.

Chamber Adds 22 Prospects

The number of prospective charter members of the Northville Chamber of Commerce climbed to 40 Tuesday night.

Meeting at Detroit Federal Savings conference room, backers of the proposed organization counted 22 new membership applications — thus sparking fresh confidence that the goal of 125 charter members will be realized.

Deadline for businesses, industries and professional organizations to become charter members is Tuesday, February 18.

Membership Chairman John Macauley expressed confidence that the goal will be reached by deadline time, suggesting that the number may even climb higher than the goal.

Some 30 more membership cards were distributed to those present at Tuesday's meeting with instructions to "get them filled out" by next Tuesday's 8 p.m. meeting. All interested persons are invited to attend that meeting Macauley said.

At this week's meeting, a suggestion that churches be given honorary membership was taken under advisement by temporary officials.

Latest of those organizations and persons to apply for charter membership are:

Black, C. Harold Bloom Agency, A. G. Laux, Fred Casterline, A. M. Allen, Lapham's Men's Shop, Detroit Federal Savings, George Clark, Rachel Hill, John Paulos, Russell Palmer, Cal's Gulf Service, H. Lorne Dyer, M.D.;

Richard H. Juday, Manufacturers National Bank, Glen H. Cogsdill, Harold L. Searfoss, R. Douglas Lorenz, Howard F. Mitchell and George R. McCollum.

Old Coats Needed

The Northville Players Guild is ready to take the coat right off your back!

Well, at least the costume committee would appreciate it if you would donate old, ready-to-be-discarded top coats and overcoats to the players group.

The coats will be altered for period men's costumes in the Guild's production of "East Lynne" on February 20, 21 and 22.

Persons with coats to donate are asked to call Judy Brown at 464-0520.

Travelogue On Tap Tuesday

A trip from Beirut to Baghdad via interesting and colorful motion pictures await travel-adventure enthusiasts Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Northville high school auditorium.

Novelist John W. will present and narrate the fourth in the current series of travel films presented by the Rotary club.

Although the performances have been sold on a season ticket basis (six films for $5), individual tickets may be purchased by non-season ticket holders for $1.50 each at the door.

Weid films a journey to the land of the pre-Biblical past at the eastern shore of the Mediterranean and focusing on structures which date from the Stone Age. He explores the coastal cities of Beirut, Byblos, Sidon, Tyre and Tripoli.

He visits the place where Noah's Ark is said to have touched after the flood, where Cain is said to have slain Abel, the place where the whale is supposed to have vomited Jonah.

Weid is hailed as one of the top performers in the field of film lecturing, and his "Beirut to Baghdad" film is called the most interesting and colorful of all historical films by sponsors of the travel film series.

Pick Novi School for Conclave

Novi junior high school is one of two schools elected to sponsor next year's school citizenship conference. Gaylord high school was the other school elected.

The election took place at the school citizenship conference held at the M.E.A. Camp in Battle Creek last month.

Speaking for the school, Novi Principal Samuel Stewart said: "Novi junior high school feels honored in being elected and is looking forward with enthusiasm toward raising the level of citizenship in our school and planning an effective conference for next year."

Stewart attended last month's conference with three Novi student council officers, Gregg Carr, Bill MacDonnell, Chalmers Ruland and Pat Henschel.

Twenty-nine schools from all parts of Michigan were represented, with approximately 150 junior and senior high school students in attendance. The program included small discussion groups and guest speakers followed by buzz sessions. Topics were selected from concerns voiced by the people present. They included:

1. The problem of school drop-outs.
2. What is good citizenship.
3. What is it we believe.
4. How to develop better human relations?
5. How can you get more people aware of citizenship responsibilities?

6. What can we do about raising the level of citizenship in school?
7. What are our responsibilities as citizens to ourselves and to others?
8. How can we be more effective as individuals at home, in school and in our community?

Glen Allen, secretary of the State Administrative Board, spoke on "A Citizen's Responsibilities to Act".

He emphasized that "citizenship requires a knowledge of and concern for the problems of human existence followed by directive actions." He cited several elections where a minority of citizens made decisions for all citizens.

Dr. A. Loving, mayor's committee for action for Detroit youth, addressed himself to the question, "Where have we been — where are we going?"

Dr. Loving affirmed the dignity and worth of each individual and discussed the individual's responsibility as a citizen of a dynamic world.

"The conference," explained Stewart, "gave us an opportunity to share with other school people, some young and some not so young, the problem of making our environment a better place to live. We learned not to use the cogitative tools of problem solving and critical thinking in paying the way toward a better world."

ZIPPY SALES — With his faithful companion, "Zip," at his side, 11-year-old Bernie Bach zips through his egg sales route, learning something about the private enterprise system while adding a little money to his college fund.

11-Year-Old Boy Digs Adult World Of Business Here

You're never too young to learn something about the private enterprise system.

Just ask 11-year-old Bernie Bach of Northville Estates, typical of a good many youngsters who aren't content with picking up their information on business from textbooks.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bach, 21255 Summerside Lane, the Amerman School student took over the egg route of another youngster late last August and has since greatly increased the sale of eggs.

His route now includes some 40 customers in the subdivision and along Nine Mile road. He sells about 80 dozens of eggs per week — and that's an increase of nearly 60 dozen since August.

Another youngster, 10-year-old David Wright, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harold L. Wright of 19850 Westhill, also is building a little "egg nest" for the future. He sells close to 40 dozen of eggs each week in the Taft Colony area.

And now, explains Bernie, a schoolmate named Gretchen Johnson plans to launch an egg sale business this week to help raise money for a summer trip to Mexico where she hopes to visit the Mexican exchange student who recently was a guest here.

Bernie and David buy their eggs from Mr. and Mrs. William Lintner, who operate a giant chicken farm west of South Lyon. He's visited the farm, knows something about the operation, and hence can confidently assure his customers top grade fresh eggs.

The eggs are delivered to Bernie's home — usually Friday morning — and, according to the young salesman, it's cash upon delivery or he doesn't get the eggs.

After school on Friday, Bernie loads the eggs into his wagon, and with his dog Zip tagging along, he pulls the wagon through the subdivision, delivering the eggs door-to-door. If the weather is bad, Mrs. Bach lends a hand by transporting her young business executive in the family station wagon.

The selling job takes about two hours to complete — but he's learned that it takes a lot of eggs to earn a dollar. Even so, "it's fun," says Bernie.

Most of the money he earns is put into a bank account — an account he hopes will be sufficiently large to someday help pay some of his college expenses.

Bernie plans to keep up his egg sale business until he becomes a junior or senior high school student. When that day comes, his sister, Stephanie, 8, will take over the route. She's already anxious to get started. And then there's his 2½-year-old brother Greg, so it's a pretty sure bet that this little experience in private enterprise will continue a few years.

Bobbin with Robin!

Preliminary plans for a disc jockey dance were revealed this week by the Northville Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A Jaycee spokesman said the dance will be held on Saturday, February 22 from 8 to 12 p.m.

Highlighting the event will be the appearance of Robin Seymour, disc jockey of Radio Station WKMR. Seymour will bring along "live talent" and give away records.

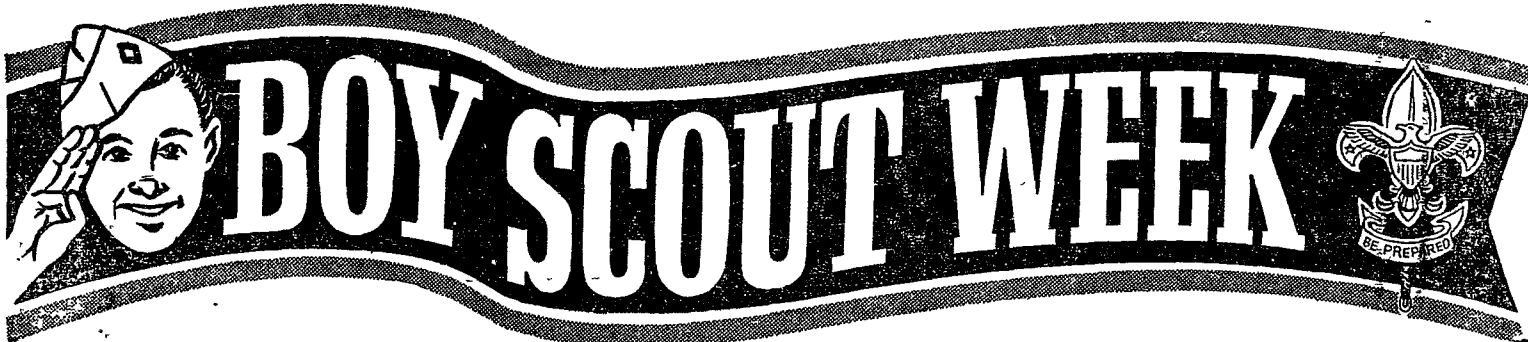

Sponsored by the Jaycees, the dance will be held in the community building.

SALES ZOOM — Unloading a box of eggs that he'll put into his little delivery wagon, Bernie points with pride to the sales increase of nearly 60 dozen of eggs per week since last August.

FIRST STOP — First stop on his egg sales route is the home of the next-door neighbor, Mrs. Clarence Hinck, who buys a dozen fresh eggs.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

by the Reverend M. E. Rickert
Willowbrook Community Church

By all standards of our secular world, Jesus Christ was a failure! He possessed no property. After years of self-giving service to God and man, during which time
He ministered to thousands of people, he had only eleven intimate followers. As a religious leader, he had established no organized congregation nor erected a church building. He was crucified as a criminal upon the instigation of religious leaders. The prophet Isaiah described it accurately
when he said, "He was despised and rejected of men."

Why did men reject Him?
For the same reason that men reject one another today. Some people are interested in other people only up to the point where they can get from those "other"
people what they want.
Some people wanted only food and health and, when Jesus had supplied their needs, they left Him. They were not interested in the spirit which prompted Him
to give himself for others.
Some people rejected Jesus
because of what He said.
Having "itching ears," they wanted to hear only what they wanted to hear. Because they were content to live in a spirit of suspicion and hatred in relation to others, they lost interest in Christ when He said, "Love your enemies; do good to them that despitefully use you." Again, some people rejected Christ because they did not want to assume any of the responsibilities of discipleship. They did not want to be told, as they put it, "what to do." And when Christ exercised His spirit strength to the point of "breaking" tradition because He believed man's welfare was more important than the perpetuation of an established custom, some people refused to accept Him.

It is a sobering fact that the people who rejected Christ, and thus separated themselves from Him, impacted of His "goodness." The rich young ruler "went away sorrowful" because He rejected Christ. Judas, in rejecting Christ, became so emotionally borne down by the error of his way that he took his own life. On the other hand, Zaccheus, in accepting Christ, found new moral and ethical insights and power. The apostle Paul experienced the transformation of his life from hatred to love because he accepted the spiritual reality of Christ's presence.

Next week, another season of Lent begins. During the weeks that follow, many people, in commemoration of Christ's disposition to "steadfastly set his face to go to Jerusalem," will face toward the remembrance of "the Cross." Among the many remembrances which
"the Cross" should bring to mind is the fact that men so despised Christ that they rejected Him and, in their indifference and deliberateness, they crucified Him!
The tragedy is that in every heart, where there is not the love-of-God-in-Christ,
the reality of His crucifixion is being re-inacted today!
This is a good time to remember that Jesus said,
"Thou shalt love the Lord
thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength and thy neighbor as thyself" and
"In as much as you have done it unto the least of these, my brethren, you have done it unto me."

Wherever you stand, contemplating the meaning of "the Cross" to Christ, the unpleasantness of not being accepted by others or the difficulty you have in accepting all people, it is possible, in view of the victory of the risen Christ of Easter, to discern some pertinent things about "acceptance" or "rejection?"

First, the "right" or the "Best" is not always accepted by men. Though Christ did no sin and only that which was good, men rejected Him!

Second, to reject anyone is to limit the effectiveness of that person's goodness
upon the "rejector's" life.
NOBODY person has some good in him that can help another! When anyone rejects another, he robs himself!

Third, until one accepts Christ, he absolutely cannot love God nor his fellow men as God loves! To accept Christ is to accept God, for God is in Christ and Christ is God! To accept God is to accept God's spirit-power of love, for God is love!
And, to accept God's love is to accept others, for God loves all people!

Fourth, for a Christian,
the important thing is not whether people accept him.
In fact, Christ warned His followers that they were sent out as "lambs in the midst of wolves." And, remember,
He Himself was not accepted!

What is important is that one accept Jesus Christ and, in accepting Him, present a witness for Christ which will enable and endure others to accept - not him - but Christ - that person, then,
in truth, will accept him!

Rev. Warren to Speak At St. John's Episcopal

Rev. Leslie G. Warren

The Rev. Leslie G. Warren, Canon of St. Paul's Cathedral of Detroit, will take part in special Ash Wednesday observances at St. John's Episcopal Church, Plymouth.

The church is located at 574
South Sheldon road.
Services will include Holy Communion at 6:30 a.m. and at 10 a.m. Following the early service a simple breakfast will be served to the school students and others who care to stay.

The Imposition of Ashes will be administered to those persons who desire it following the reception of the Sacrament.

Canon Warren will assist the Rector, Rev. David T. Davies, at the 10 a.m. service and will give an address.

On Ash Wednesday evening
at 7:30 p.m., a preaching-teaching mission will begin and will continue on Thursday and Friday evenings. Canon Warren will be the missionary, and the subjects with which he will deal include:

Ash Wednesday, "Why Am I Here?"; Thursday, "Like Father, Like Son"; and Friday,
"I Live My Own Life."

A question box will be available where individuals may deposit any questions that they would like to have answered by the missionary. Also, a brief fellowship period will follow in the parish hall each evening to afford the people an opportunity to meet Canon Warren.

The public is invited to attend.

The Rt. Rev. Richard S. Em-rich, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan, will make his annual visitation to St.
John's on Sunday and will administer the Rite of Confirmation to a class of candidates that will be presented by the Rector, the Rev. David T. Davies.

The service will be held at 4:00 p.m. and will be followed by a reception in the Parish Hall. This will afford members of the congregation an opportunity to meet Bishop Emrich and to greet members of the class.

Bishop Emrich came to Michigan in 1946 as Suffragan Bishop, and in 1948 became Diocesan Bishop.

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO
January 31, 1963

Northville's board of education voted to give probationary support to a proposed northwest Wayne county child guidance clinic. The board decided to help underwrite the proposed clinic by giving them 25 cents in July for each pupil living in the Northville school district — $450 plus — if by then, the clinic appears to be a growing concern.

The Scout-Recreation Building fund drive came almost within sight of its goal when Joseph Bujak, superintendent of the Ford Valve Plant, presented a check for $1,000 to A. B. Clarke, treasurer of the committee. The goal is $12,000. Total receipts now stand at $11,400.

Next Wednesday evening planners of the proposed Northville Swim Club hope to convince some 300 area families that it would be mighty nice to take a relaxing dip in a heated pool.

An improved Northville five overhauled a game Clarkston team in a return match at Clarkston 58 to 43 to even its W-O conference record at 4-4.

The Ely Oil Kings, Northville's representative in the Garden City Senior Hockey League, seem bent on reversing last season's dismal finish in the cellar.

With a 7-1 record, they now stand atop the league, which is comprised of Northville, Belleville, Garden City, Ypsilanti, Beltemp and Plymouth.

The South Lyon Herald, owned by William Sliger who also publishes the Northville Record, Novi News and the Whitmore Lake News, was judged the best weekly newspaper of its circulation class in Michigan at the 95th annual meeting of the Michigan Press Association in East Lansing last weekend.

FIVE YEARS AGO
January 29, 1959

One of the area's best known industrialists and benefactors, Edward C. Hough, 86, president of the Daisy Manufacturing company, died at his 1411 West Ann Arbor trail residence.

Novi will officially meet its new village manager, Fred E. Olson, and other village officials in a special public program tomorrow (Friday) at the Novi Community building. The complex sale of 2.1 acres of River street property by the city to Northville Downs is finally nearing completion. Purchase of the land, which is owned by the county was proposed nearly two years ago. In a drive sparked by the late Mayor Claude Ely the city blocked efforts of the Downs to buy the land directly from the county.

The orchestra of "last-minute" tradesmen — carpenters, painters, electricians, and moving men — have begun tuning up for a fast-paced finale at the new Northville high school. Working together hand-in-glove for the next month or so, to hang doors, install glass, lay tile, and install furniture and classroom equipment, they will round up the major jobs remaining before opening day.

— Official Proceedings of the Northville City Council Meeting —

The Northville Record—Novi News—Thursday, February 6, 1964 Section Two — Page Four

The regular meeting of the Northville City Council was called to order by Mayor Allen on Monday, January 6, 1964, 8:00 p.m. at the Northville City Hall.

Present: Allen, Ambler, Canterbury, Carlson and Kester. Absent: None.

The minutes of the previous meeting and Special Meeting were approved with one correction.

Moved by Kester, supported by Carlson that bills in the following amounts be paid:

General	$10,253.90
Water	1,182.16
City Hall Con.	2,078.50
Other Government	89.33

Unanimously carried.

Communications:

A communication from the Michigan Municipal League was read announcing the date of the next Region III meeting as Thursday, February 27, 1964 at Allen Park.

Consideration of Request From City Hall Contractor for Extension on Completion Date:

The City Manager reported he had talked with Mr. Denyes, the architect, and he felt that the granting of the extension should wait until the next meeting. The city manager is meeting with the architect on Tuesday, January 7, 9 a.m. for a field meeting.

Report on Activities of the Police Department:

A statistical report as prepared by Police Chief King was discussed. A similar report will be given to Council each month.

Consider the Hiring of an Additional Police Officer to bring Personnel to that of 1800:

After discussion as to reas-one and the merits of hiring another police officer, it was moved by Carlson, supported by Ambler that the city manager hire an additional policeman with no changes in the present hours of police officers and authorize a subsequent transfer of funds from the Public Improvement Fund for this purpose. Unanimously carried.

Report on Furniture Bids and Subsequent Investigation:

The city manager read his report on the bids submitted and summarized the findings of Mrs. Carlson and himself.

Moved by Ambler, supported by Kester that Doubleday Brothers be designated as the successful bidder for office furniture for the New City Hall and that Mr. Potthoff and Mrs. Carlson are to go ahead and finalize quantities based on unit prices. Unanimously carried.

After a tentative decision has been made on library furniture a report should be submitted to the Township of Northville.

Inasmuch as it appears that there would be no advantage to the City of Northville requiring sealed bids for library furniture for the new building, it was moved by Canterbury, supported by Ambler that such requirements of the Purchasing Ordinance are hereby waived and the city manager and Mrs. Carlson are authorized to arrange for purchase of said library furniture and that the price of same does not exceed the price given by the Wayne County Library.

Moved by Kester, supported by Canterbury that the contract for library shelving be awarded to Speaker and Associates, subject to working out details of color, etc. and unit price bid. Unanimously carried.

Report from City Manager on Traffic Control Signs at Intersections:

The City Manager presented his report and it was moved by Carlson, supported by Kester to authorize the purchase of 39 signs for signing of street intersections in the City of Northville and to authorize the transfer of funds for same from the Public Improvement Fund. Unanimously carried.

Report from City Attorney Regarding Liability of Employees and Members of the Recreation Commission:

The City attorney has submitted a letter containing all questions pertaining to Recreation Department and asking advice as to whether the present coverage is sufficient. The city attorney is to meet with Mr. Littel regarding matter of employees, etc.

Presentation by the City Attorney of an Agreement Permitting Hyatt Construction Co. to enclose the Stream up to South Side of the Beal St. bridge:

Moved by Ambler, supported by Carlson to adopt a resolution granting permission to Hyatt Construction Co. to enclose water line to the south side of the Beal Street Bridge, subject to the approval of method of doing the work by the Mayor, City Engineer and the City Manager. Unanimously carried.

There are two items to be checked in consideration of above: size of culvert and if the structure being built is of sufficient strength to support traffic, and check the expansion joints.

Appointment to Board of Review:

Moved by Canterbury, supported by Allen that Charles Carrington be appointed to the vacancy on the Board of Review to fill the expired term of Stuart Thomson (who did not wish a re-appointment). Unanimously carried.

Consider Extension of County and School Tax Date to February 14, 1964:

Moved by Ambler, supported by Kester to extend the penalty date for payment of County and School taxes to February 14, 1964 from January 19, 1964. Unanimously carried. (This matter to be put on calendar for consideration next October 1964).

Resolution Authorizing City's Contractor on Orchard Drive Storm Sewer Job to Tunnel Fairbrook Street:

Moved by Canterbury, supported by Carlson to adopt a resolution allowing the D'Angle and Pollicelli Construction Company to make a cut through the Fairbrook Street right-of-way for purpose of installation of Orchard Drive Storm Sewer. Unanimously approved.

The resolution as so worded is to insure that road will be put back in the same condition in which it was found. The request is subject to approval by the majority.

Petition for Annexation by Resolution of Property Located at 300 Scott Avenue:

Petition was read by the clerk from A. M. and Inga Allen asking annexation of property at 300 Scott Avenue, Northville, Michigan to the City of Northville.

Moved by Kester, supported by Ambler to approve petition for annexation. Unanimously carried. (Allen abstaining).

There is to be a letter written to the Northville Township Board of Trustees expressing the hope that this annexation is agreeable to their body and hope they see fit to approve the same.

Miscellaneous:

Mr. Kester asked regarding Barnhardt Springs. The City Attorney hopes to be able to get together with people concerned with this property regarding the abandonment of the easement (before the next Council meeting).

The City Manager reported there is to be a Work Session on Tuesday, January 7, 1964 at 580 S. Main street on questions regarding the Water Department. The City attorney is to attend this session.

The status of the Oakland County Sewer is that bonds are to be sold January 7 and within 2 weeks, construction will be started.

A "No Left Turn" sign west of the entrance to the Parking Lot on E. Main street is to be installed along with a "Do Not Enter" sign on the east side of same entrance as soon as possible.

At Mr. Allen's suggestion, the city manager is to negotiate with Bob Cole to clear City property sidewalks of snow.

Mr. Canterbury asked that Randolph street west of Wing street, be checked for salt during stormy weather.

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned at 11 p.m.

Respectfully submitted
Martha M. Milne
City Clerk

LANDMARK REMOVED — Workmen began razing this large, two-story house located at the corner of Main and High streets. Owned by Orson Atchinson, the property will be cleared for future development. The house was originally owned by Charles Harrington. Following his wife's death, Harrington married the family maid, Stella, and the couple raised his crippled son Willie. Later when the house was thoroughly remodeled it became the home of Fred Simmons. Oldtimers recalled years ago that Harrington was a great hunter and at one time kept a herd of deer fenced in his yard.

TOP TO BOTTOM — Northville's new city hall is taking shape from its tiptop to its lowest level. The cupola shown below will be set atop the center of the Early American design municipal building. In the rear and at the lower level of the building the police department will have its first jail facilities in many years. There are three cells with one isolated for women or children. The building is scheduled to be open for public use on April 1. The fire hall is being readied for occupancy of engines and equipment later this week.

Young Readers Speak Up On Minors' Smoking Law

Dear Editor:

Our eighth grade social studies class is trying to discourage smoking minors. A Michigan compiled law states that a "minor may not use tobacco in public. An officer can arrest upon complaint." This law also states that it is "unlawful to furnish minors under 17 with tobacco in any form, cigarettes, etc., without written consent of a parent or guardian."

A non-smoker saves on an average of $200 a year and does not have as great a risk of getting cancer of the lungs or lips.

8th Graders Poll Merchants, Police on Cigarettes

With smoke still rising from the scorching government report on cigarettes, an eighth grade social studies class has decided to help bury the ashes.

Alarmed by the growing number of boys and girls who begin smoking as early as junior high school age, the Northville students this past week sent letters to local businessmen urging them to help enforce the state law restricting the sale of cigarettes to minors.

A similar letter was sent to the Northville police department.

According to Principal Donald VanNingen, the students' request concerns a law which everybody has known about but ignored for a long time. The ruling specifically states that it is unlawful for anyone to sell cigarettes to a person under 21 years of age.

"We know that some of our kids smoke," says VanNingen, "but school regulations forbid the use of cigarettes within the school buildings or on the school grounds only."

"Off the school grounds, students do as they please and some of them choose to smoke."

Apparently, no one seems to have any difficulty procuring cigarettes, social studies pupils of Mrs. William Sliger point out, either from home or area stores.

Although Police Chief Eugene King sympathizes with the request of the students, he points out that the problem of smoking among teenagers is primarily a parental responsibility. "We just can't go around arresting all the kids we see smoking. It just isn't practical."

Lee BeGole, chief of the Novi police department, says he has used the law sparingly, and then only in the case of "smart alecks." "It was a forgotten law before the government's recent report," he adds. The letters sent to the merchants read: "Dear Sirs: Our eighth grade social studies class has been discussing and acting upon the subject of smoking among minors. We are sure it has been brought to your attention that the Michigan state law states it is illegal to sell cigarettes to minors. We would appreciate it if you would abide by this law and sell cigarettes only to those who are of age."

Reaction to this letter has varied. Some merchants, until receipt of the letter, had been willing to sell cigarettes to minors who could supply notes from their parents. This policy is based on an old law, since repealed, which allows persons over 17 years of age to purchase tobacco supplies provided they have notes from their parents.

At least one store has scrapped this policy since the government report was issued.

Ray Garrod, owner of E.M.B. Grocery on Main street, states that he has never sold cigarettes to children under age 17, with or without notes. He says he strongly opposes smoking by persons under 17.

However, another grocer tells of an experience a few years back when he refused to sell cigarettes to a minor who came into his store with a note from his parents. The parents became furious and threatened to stop patronizing his business. Such incidents give rise to fears of merchants who point out that restriction of cigarette sales in their stores may result in "bad business" unless, according to one businessman, the community backs the ban.

Ed Barnes, manager of the Kroger store, notes the related problem of shoplifting. He says the theft of cigarettes from the counters of his Northville store is amazingly high and that this possibly may be one source of cigarettes used by youngsters.

A & P Manager Don Duvall said that his store makes a definite effort not to sell cigarettes to minors.

"Our cashiers are constantly reminded by company policy memos that it is unlawful to sell cigarettes, beer or wine to minors," Duvall pointed out.

But he also noted that pilferage runs high in cigarettes. Many business places also provide cigarette machines and unless these are watched closely youngsters are able to obtain cigarettes. "It's tough to keep an eye on 'em all the time," a service station operator adds.

At any rate, the junior high school students are viewing the smoking habits of their 13 and 14-year-old classmates with alarm. And they're expressing their opinions — in hopes that the community will help them enforce an old law with a new meaning.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Lansing was jammed with newspapermen last week end.

It was the 96th annual convention of the Michigan Press Association and to look at MSU's Kellogg Center you'd swear that everyone of the 350-member newspapers had half a dozen representatives on hand.

Press conclaves usually attract an array of excellent speakers and personalities. This year was no exception.

The roster included: Virgil Parth, cartoonist creator of "Big George"; Ford Motor Company's vice president and Ford Division general manager, Lee A. Iacocca; Whit Hobbs, senior vice president of Benton & Bowles, Inc., one of the nation's top advertising agencies; Dr. Leroy G. Augenstein, professor and chairman of biophysics at MSU; and Governor George Romney.

Romney gave a brief address, but the highlight of his appearance was his introduction of his all-Democratic administrative board.

It reminded me of the days when Governor Williams had an all-GOP board.

Romney took advantage of the opportunity to not-so-gently chide his board for some of their past remarks. He said he was afraid to leave his chair during a board meeting for fear someone would be hurt in the rush to take over.

The governor noted that his board had threatened not to meet with him again "without witnesses" and he surmised there were enough present at the press luncheon.

Then he introduced the board. Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski was absent and Romney suggested that someone should "look in the lobby at the magazine stand." He said that Auditor Billie Farnum was preparing a report on executive office expenditures "which he'll probably release on November 2," and he reminded Lynn Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, that he had determined where and upon what subject the Governor could speak.

Finally, he sympathized with Road Commissioner John Mackie. "He's taken credit for building many roads in Michigan," noted the Governor. "But now he doesn't know whether to take one leading to Lansing or Washington."

Iacocca had a million statistics dealing with his favorite subject, automobiles.

They were interestingly presented and gave you "the other side" of the horsepower and speed controversy. The young VP admitted that Ford has had its share of criticism for entering racing competition again.

But Iacocca is convinced that "total performance" is more than an advertising slogan. He knows that auto response saves lives and he had a host of statistics to prove that more auto accident deaths occur at slow speeds in vehicles of comparatively low horsepower.

One of his examples was the Pennsylvania Turnpike during World War II. A record of auto fatalities was set during a two-year period of low speed restriction that is unequalled before or since.

And if the public is slightly confused by the wide variety of models (Ford once produced one model in one color — black), think about the poor engineers, said Iacocca. He noted that one assembly plant could produce cars for a full year without duplication.

The reason: how many two and three-car families have you ever seen with two identical cars?

Iacocca ended his address with an innovation that should teach me a lesson in the merits of being more prompt.

To the first 50 newspapers registered for the convention he reserved a new car of their choice at their local Ford dealer's agency.

"Drive it for a week," invited the vice president. "If you like it, I know a man who can get it for you wholesale."

Adman Hobbs was a riot. A high-voiced Harvard man, he ate a box lunch during his speech, which was appropriately entitled "Something to Chew On — in Addition to Chicken."

He was brutally frank and a little rough on newspapers and adults. It would be impossible to report his graphic expressions from memory, but I've asked for a copy of the speech for future publication.

Dr. Augenstein left us with a few thoughts to chew on, too. A thirty-ish looking man, he talked about people living until they're 300 . . . if they want to, or if there's room on earth for them.

He said the decision would be up to us, but he thought we ought to know about it.

In particular he noted that one day scientists will be able to "grow" new kidneys, or other body organs. These organs would be "brand new" . . . you might say custom made . . . and would be far superior to "used transplants."

And to insure the right physical start in life, he spoke of inoculations for prospective mothers that would guarantee a physically perfect baby.

Dr. Augenstein also described experiments with "flat worms" that suggest the possibility of transferring knowledge.

He explained how the worms had been trained to curl-up at the flash of a light. This was done by giving them an electrical shock immediately following the exposure to light. And after several hundred shocks, the worms would curl at the sight of the light without the following shock.

It seems these worms have the remarkable ability to grow a new head (and bottom side) when they are cut in two. And after two worms are grown from one divided worm, both of the worms curl at the flash of light.

Now if you're following me (and I correctly followed Dr. Augenstein) this means that knowledge learned by one worm had been transmitted into two worms.

The human application of this is a little frightening. But I think it means that there is hope that knowledge can be transferred, not that humans can be sowed in half.

Most importantly, however, the young doctor was trying to tell us that science only discovers and that it is up to the people to decide where the emphasis shall be placed . . . how far we should go in "playing God."

He noted that politicians decide when they approve federal budgets . . . and that our emphasis now lies in space.

But he wondered aloud if the people knew that such a choice exists. And he asked the press to pass the word along.

Big Turnover Seen in Senate

LANSING — Even seasoned observers of the State Capitol arena will need a scorecard to tell the players in next year's legislative game.

This will be especially true in the State Senate, which had a considerably high turnover in the past four years. Now many of the relatively new members of the upper chamber are setting their sights on higher goals.

The creation of an appellate court in the new Constitution is drawing the eyes of at least two Senators who have already announced their interest in one of the nine seats still to be set down in districts.

New Congressional districts also are a big drawing card. At least four and possibly more Senators are viewing a job in the Washington House.

Three others are known to be either retiring or seeking a higher state office.

To have nine potential vacancies this early in an election year, when petition filing is still months away, is a rarity but perhaps a sign of the times. Political campaigns seem to begin earlier each successive election year.

House changes also will be close to the higher ed many, but this figure is less firm because fewer members in that body have committed themselves. One element in the House, however, will cause an automatic dropout of at least a dozen members.

The new Constitution prohibits a Legislator to be on the payroll of another governmental unit. House membership includes several school teachers, and a number of other city, township and county officers who must this year choose which public office they wish to maintain.

The possibility of new districts in the State Legislature also could open the door for major fights for these positions and the loss of still other incumbents.

Educators viewed Gov. George Romney's budget request in their area with relative optimism, but will be keeping an especially keen eye on the Legislature this year where appropriations are concerned.

Romney's recommendations came closer to the higher education requests than any previous budget proposal.

The special interest in budgeted funds comes as the result of federal action on the $1.2 billion aid to education bill. The Congress provided a one-third matching system under the act whereby state, local or private funds must supplement the Federal aid.

The concern of Michigan's various colleges and universities was summed up well by John G. McKevitt, business and financial officer for the University of Michigan.

"It remains to be seen whether the Legislature provides the funds necessary to attract the Federal grants over and above current appropriations, or whether it considers the Federal contributions as an excuse for cutting back on state monies," he said.

Best estimates are that Michigan's more than 30 four-year institutions could share $8 or 10 million a year under the aid to education program, if homebased funds were available.

If speed kills, as has often been said, a statistical survey by the State Highway Department would indicate the roadway slaughter will continue on the rise.

In the past 13 years, the average speed on Michigan highways has increased from 48 miles per hour to 56.9 miles per hour. The survey shows Michigan's average speed has been increasing every year since 1950. In 1963 the average jumped nearly one mile per hour, from 56.1 to 56.9 miles per hour.

This average, however, includes all vehicles. Buses rank nearly as high as passenger cars in average speeds, but trucks travel at a considerably lower pace, with just less than a 50 miles per hour average.

The average is pulled up sharply by passenger cars, at about 58.4 miles per hour, and buses at 56 miles per hour in the 1963 study.

The "fast driver" category is also on the upswing, the survey showed. The percentage of all vehicles, which exceeded 65 miles per hour last year was 20.5 per cent, as compared to 15.8 per cent the previous year.

Michigan's speed survey is not designed to draw conclusions about the total effect of motor vehicle speed, but rather to indicate the trend of travel in the state.

Department officials conduct the survey with radar machines set up at 25 daytime and 10 nighttime locations, using the same posts each year to eliminate variables in the test.

Allowing that peculiarities exist in all households, the strange goings-on in this writer's home probably are characteristic of those carried on elsewhere. Therefore, it has occurred to me that perhaps I am the person in the wrong orbital flight.

Take for instance the male feline that moved into the house a few months back. Like most cats, he eats and sleeps a good deal, scratches the furniture and the children, and of late has taken to midnight treks around the neighborhood.

Common traits of the cat family I will concede.

But common sense tells me that a cat who catches water dripping into the bathroom sink is peculiar, or at least the animal is improperly trained. Anyone knows a cat ought to have the courtesy to ask for a glass.

Even so, the drip catching antics of this cat could be overlooked as the normal reactions of a water-starved animal or of an animal with a psychological problem.

However, a few weeks back upon returning home late from work I found the cat curled up in the same sink enjoying a cat-nap, completely oblivious to the drip, drip dripping of water from the defective faucet. Pitched from his little cubicle, the indignant animal waited for me to climb into bed before returning to the sink, this time to sleep on his back.

Relating this strange practice to friends later I was suddenly made aware of my own shortcomings when these friends inquired, most matter-of-factly, "does he sleep with his mouth open?"

It is obvious to me now that what I formerly considered abnormal behavior is no more nor less than common practice.

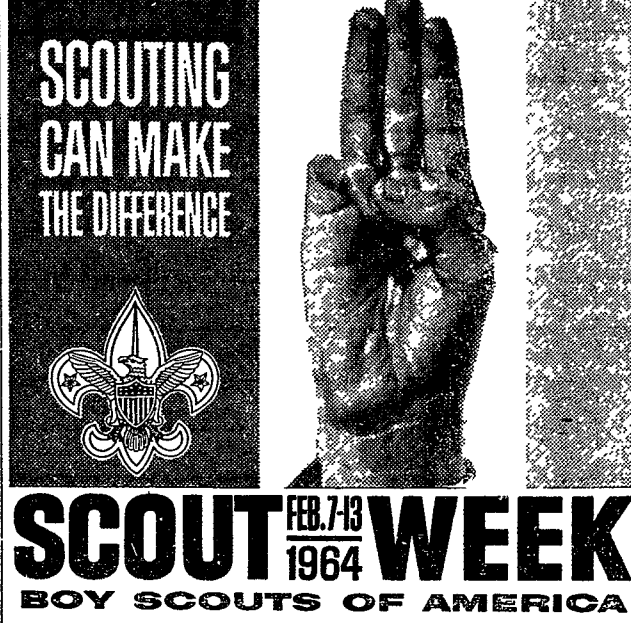

For instance, no longer can

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION — Northville Mayor A. Malcolm Allen has proclaimed the week of February 7 to 13 as Boy Scout Week. In doing so he urged "our citizens to recognize the patriotic service being performed for our community by volunteer Scout leaders; to express their appreciation to the religious bodies, school organizations, veterans associations, fraternal groups, and service clubs who sponsor our Cub Scout Packs, Boy Scout Troops, and Explorer units, and help the City of Northville to be represented adequately at the great national Scout Jamboree this summer."

Taxes at Local Level

BABSON PARK, Mass. — Most citizens are deeply interested in the federal tax cut now on its way through Congress. But almost every commentator — in the newspapers, on the radio, and on TV — points out the fact that while federal taxes will be reduced, state and local taxes will continue to climb substantially.

Most supplies, materials, and services which your city must buy cost more today than ever before. More is demanded, and — said but true — more is wasted. These are the reasons your city fathers have to hike local tax levies.

I often feel, however, that many methods of holding down community expenditures are ignored, while fresh sources of revenue are not used to the full. For example, higher tax rates might not be necessary if your locality were adding a sufficient number of economically stable families. Most cities thus expanding should be able to raise enough tax money from the addition of new property to prevent the necessity of increasing the rate of taxation.

Why shouldn't the outlying sections which are experiencing the big growth pay the advanced costs?

City and town workers' pay generally has increased because of rising living costs; but is it fair to compare these wages with those of production workers in industrial plants where output has increased almost as much as pay rates? I think not.

In a good many cases, town employees have not upped their productivity, and some are perhaps even goldbricking on their jobs. Lots of such workers couldn't get work in industry. Who would hire them?

You can see, in localities where the welfare rolls are made public, that the NET cost of honest old-age assistance and other charity work is not exceptionally burdensome. The Federal Government and the State reimburse the local treasurer for most of these expenditures. More important, most of the money remains in the business stream of the community. Even after paying the required taxes for welfare outlays, most merchants, landlords, and service dealers are better off in terms of net financial results. Along with having the satisfaction of helping deserving people, they benefit, in turn, from the expenditures of these people.

I have expressed myself many times on school costs. We may as well face the fact that we parents have turned over most of the job of bringing up our children to school teachers, baby sitters, and TV. We should be ashamed of ourselves for doing this, but if we insist on such a luxury — including school bands, school football games, and other amusements — we have got to pay the costs. Don't blame your town fathers for such additional expenses.

As far as highways are concerned, federal and state outlays are taking care of more and more of the work of construction. Some cities with highly efficient managers have actually reduced highway expenses. Labor costs are being lowered through the use of roadbuilding and maintenance machinery, and with very low municipal interest rates, your road department can borrow money quite cheaply.

Despite the low municipal interest rates, most communities have entirely too much debt. Inefficiency, politics-playing, and outright corruption have spread into too many municipal governments, from which a considerable number of voters may be secretly profiting. I have said before, and I say again: The basic solution of our local tax problems lies in honest and efficient management with wisely encouraged growth and careful assessment. It is morally unhealthy for voters to get unearned wages, unearned subsidies, unearned housing, and other unearned benefits. Often, politically ambitious forces support such measures just to get votes. Such practices can be extremely dangerous. They are at the very root of increased costs and constantly higher taxes.

YOU AND ATOMIC ENERGY

Mrs. Enrico Fermi and Walker L. Cisler at Enrico Fermi Atomic Power Plant, October 13, 1960. The plant is named in honor of the late, famous Italian-American physicist.

Machines greatly increase the productivity of the men who work in industry. They help make possible higher wages, shorter hours and our country's superior living standards. The energy the machines use, electric power, is one of the lesser costs of production. Nevertheless, it is a part of the total cost of the finished product.

Michigan doesn't contain much native coal, oil or gas—not nearly enough to provide all the energy necessary to run our great industries and provide for the needs of the state's more than 8-million citizens. So fuel must be imported and its transportation costs money. About half of Edison's cost of coal is in the transportation of it, literally by the train load and boat load.

In contrast, uranium, processed to run an atomic energy power plant, is measured by the pound. So its transportation cost is an insignificant factor. Going a step further, the Enrico Fermi Atomic Power Plant, near Monroe, has a special kind of nuclear reactor, a breeder reactor. I believe that this type of reactor, which produces more fissionable material than it consumes, is one of the most important projects of its kind in the world.

As Dr. Fermi said in 1945, "The country which first develops a breeder reactor will have a great competitive advantage in atomic energy."

It is good that Michigan is the site for this kind of research and development work, and that the power it produces will be distributed over our lines. It's one of the ways by which we seek to overcome higher generating costs and produce electric energy at as low a cost as possible.

An important part of our service to you is preparing for the future in this way, by pioneering and participating in the research and development that are so meaningful to you, to our state, our nation and to the world at large

Sincerely,

Walker L. Cisler
