

Not Enough Money To Meet Teacher Pay Plan Says Board

Teacher salary increase amounts and salary financing remained unsettled this week as the board of education concluded another open discussion of the matter Monday evening.

In discussing the matter Monday, following an informal meeting last week with the teacher salary committee, the board re-emphasized previous statements that an increase is in the offing but it admitted that the issue is far from settled.

It was apparent by the tenor of Monday's meeting that while board members would like to provide increases as suggested by the salary committee they probably will decide upon a less expensive salary increase outlay.

Several times members tossed a $300 lump increase suggestion upon the table which, if granted, would cost the district a total increase of approximately $50,000 as opposed to an estimated increase of $82,000 represented in the teachers' proposal.

Even the lesser increase, the board emphasized, is predicated on a picture of revenue income. Specifically, the teacher salary committee proposes a self-improvement salary schedule calling for starting salary increases of $300 for teachers with BA degrees and of $408 for teachers with MA degrees.

Furthermore, the proposal provides for an "index factor" which, simply speaking, means a percentage of this basic increase is to be applied to salaries of teachers with increasing years of experience. Under such a system all teachers would be entitled to salary increases, based upon the index factors established for their experience level if the salary of any one level is increased.

Under the salary committee schedule, the BA teacher with 10 years of experience would receive $7,650 based upon a factor of 150. Presently, Northville teachers in this category receive $6,800.

But, said Committee Chairman Don Brown, this particular salary of $7,650 is still far below the approved salary for a like position in the Livonia school system. In Livonia, he said, the teacher in this category will receive $8,200 next year.

In its comprehensive study of salaries here and elsewhere in Michigan and the United States, the committee noted that of Wayne county's 19,038 teachers some 18,385 are employed in schools having a higher B.A. minimum than Northville. Similarly, out of 19,038 teachers in the county, 18,628 can receive a higher B.A. maximum than teachers in Northville, the study revealed.

M.A. minimum and maximum differences disclosed by the study are equally competitive, said Brown. While Board members agreed that salaries must be hiked to make Northville more competitive with other school districts in attracting new, and experienced, good teachers, they apparently do not favor the amount of increase and the index system proposed by the committee.

Board President William Crump, speaking for the board, said it is highly unlikely that taxpayers of the local school district would approve a salary increase of that proportion represented in the committee's proposal. Superintendent Russell Amerman and his assistant, Dr. Kenneth MacLeod, are to meet with a representative of the committee in hopes of developing a more mutually satisfactory increase by no later than the first week in March.

Following his talk and election of officers, coffee will be served.

NHS Wins U of M OK!

Northville high school has been placed on the list of secondary schools accredited by the University of Michigan, officials learned this week.

Accreditation was approved by the executive committee of the Bureau of School Services which recently inspected the high school facilities and curriculum (see story on Page 5, Section 2).

According to Superintendent Amerman, Northville high school has now been accredited continuously since 1900. Accreditation by the Bureau, he noted, means, too, that the local high school is "in good standing" with the North Central Association unless otherwise notified.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY — The 117th anniversary of the birth of Thomas A. Edison was observed at Northville's Detroit Edison office Tuesday. The host was Manager William Scott (center). Mayor A. M. Allen (left) cut the cake while Township Supervisor R. D. Merriam looked on. The supervisor was reminded that last week his board had denied the mayor's request to annex his new home to the city... and now the mayor was politely serving cake. Everyone laughed... even the mayor.

Halfway House At Maybury Brings Protests

Mayor Jerome Cavanagh's proposal to Governor George Romney that the Detroit-owned Maybury Sanatorium be leased by the state as a halfway house for juvenile offenders brought angry protests from Northville area residents this week.

Officials of both the township and city reported calls from citizens expressing opposition to the plan.

But it appeared that local officials would have little, if anything, to say about the final decision.

Specifically, the Detroit mayor has offered a former children's unit of the Seven Mile road TB sanatorium for lease to the state for one year at $1.

Juvenile offenders who had served time at strict institutions and were nearly ready for release would be assigned to the halfway house for vocational training and preparation for a return to responsible community life.

Richard Strichartz, an assistant to Mayor Cavanagh, told The Record Tuesday that the Maybury halfway house would be a temporary, "stop-gap" facility.

Strichartz said he discussed the proposal with the Detroit common council Tuesday and that it had been decided to place a one year time limitation on the lease proposal to the state.

He said that judges in juvenile courts throughout the state have cited the crowded conditions in institutions and the need for halfway houses where boys who are ready for limited supervision, but cannot be returned to their homes, can be released.

"These halfway houses are needed in cities throughout the state," Strichartz stated. He explained that Detroit was placing a one-year limitation on its offer to the state so that steps would be taken within that time to establish halfway houses elsewhere.

Strichartz also said:

—that plans call for 200 boys to be housed at the Maybury unit;

—that the youngsters would not be "dumped" into one local school system... but he was vague as to whether the youths would attend classes in several nearby school districts or whether their training would be confined to Maybury classrooms; —that a committee composed of city (Detroit), county and state representatives had been recommended to study the project.

Governor Romney was quick to respond to Mayor Cavanagh's offer. Representatives of the state social welfare department examined the Maybury facility Monday. It was reported that a state-level meeting is scheduled for later this week to study their findings.

Dr. W. L. Howard, Maybury superintendent, said that the adequacy of the unit is greatly dependent upon the type of boys admitted.

Township Supervisor R. D. Merriam said he definitely opposed the idea. He said he had received many calls from concerned citizens.

"I think it will hurt local development," Merriam stated. He related the case of one prospective home-builder who shied away from the prospect of residing near a home for juvenile offenders.

Mayor A. M. Allen and Councilman John Canterbury both reported receiving calls from alarmed city residents. The mayor said he had heard "several" complaints and Canterbury reported two calls, all in opposition.

The mayor admitted that the city had no voice in the proposal. "But I am concerned about the prospect of police protection," said the mayor, noting that the city already receives numerous township calls which it cannot answer.

Prayer Day

World-Day of Prayer services will be held Friday at 1:30 p.m. at the First Methodist church under the sponsorship of the women of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches.

All women are invited to attend. Nursery care will be provided.

Participants in the service will be Mrs. Lloyd Brasure, Mrs. George Jerome, Mrs. Donald Karr, Mrs. Howard Erwin, Mrs. S. D. Kinde, Mrs. Lester Phillips, Mrs. Paul Beard, Mrs. John Angell, Mrs. Allen Peterson, Mrs. Walter Murphy and Mrs. Richard Somers.

Purchased by Developers

Old Main St. Building Slated for Graveyard

Project number two in the activities of the Northville Area Development Corporation was undertaken this week with the purchase of an apartment building at 123 West Main street.

C. A. Smith, president of the non-profit development corporation, said the purchase was made to provide a site for possible future commercial development of the area.

George Clark, owner of Northville Realty and real estate agent handling the deal, said that an offer of $9,600 had been accepted by the owner. Terms call for a $200 down payment and monthly payments of $100 at six per cent interest, Clark stated.

The building contains four apartments and a three-room area rented to a catering service. The lot has 50 feet of frontage on Main street and extends 118 feet deep.

Present owner of the building is Philip Dorman of Pontiac.

The development corporation asked for the right to demolish the building under the same contract terms. The group's only assets are public membership fees and future proceeds from its first project — expansion of Roudry Flask and Equipment Corporation.

The $185,000 Foundry Flask addition was negotiated through the Small Business Administration. The development corporation realizes little more than expenses for handling bookkeeping details in leasing the new facility to the manufacturing firm.

Just how soon the development corporation can remove the building is questionable, therefore. It is unlikely this year.

The possibility of turning the site over to the city for temporary parking has been discussed. Developers have taken a long-range view of the transaction with the thought that other property in the area may be acquired, either by the city or the development corporation, for future commercial development.

The building is estimated to be some 100 years old. Mrs. T. J. Knapp of 548 West Dunlap, who at 88 is one of the community's oldest residents, remembers the building from her days as a youngster. Mrs. Knapp was born in the Wing street house to the rear of the building.

It was once owned by Irving and Antomette Randolph Barnhart and was known as the "Barnhart Flats". Mrs. Knapp recalls that at the turn of the century the building contained a commercial business on the main floor with an apartment upstairs.

Historians Plan Charter Night

The charter meeting of the newly organized Northville Historical Society will be held next week, Tuesday, February 18, in the junior high school library.

Speaker for the 8 p.m. meeting will be William K. Alderfer, director of the Historical Society of Michigan since July 1, who will speak on "The Northville Historical Society — A Gold Mine for the Future".

In addition to Alderfer's talk, election of officers of the newly organized group will take place. A nominating committee has prepared a slate of candidates, but nominations also will be accepted from the floor.

Mrs. Carl Johnson, who has served as temporary chairman of the group in its formative stages, urges all area residents interested in preserving the landmarks and historical objects of Northville to attend the meeting.

She and others like her who have spearheaded formation of the historical society are hopeful that citizens of the community will help strengthen Northville's heritage by becoming members of the society.

Individual active membership per year in the Northville society has been set at $1, with junior memberships at 50 cents, and life memberships at $25. Provision has been made for sustaining memberships, but the fee has not been set.

"Through membership dues," explains Mrs. Johnson, "it is the hope of this new organization that a building eventually can be maintained, a building that can provide both museum space as well as a meeting area for various other cultural groups of the community."

Historical Society of Michigan is devoted to the advancement and dissemination of Michigan's history.

Before coming to Michigan, Alderfer directed field operations of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin where he collected sources of American and Middle Western history, organized local historical societies and implemented an historic sites and school service program in state history.

He earned his master's degree in American History at the University of Rochester, Rochester, New York and continued his graduate studies at the University of Wisconsin.

Following his talk and election of officers, coffee will be served.

School Bus 'Monster' Bugs Board Members

There's a mobile monster loose in the Northville school system and the board of education is faced with the problem of either taming it or killing it.

Either way someone probably will be hurt.

Board members were speaking figuratively but nevertheless seriously when they referred Monday night to the school bus transportation setup as a "runaway monster."

Specifically, they fired their verbal shots upon exploring the transportation jungle. They found that — —More and more areas, not presently serviced by bus transportation, either because they are located within the city or because they are less than the state prescribed 1.5 miles from school, are seeking bus transportation.

—Whether or not these areas are legally entitled to bus service, they have some justification in seeking transportation since they are indirectly helping to finance school bus transportation.

—Under the state law governing bus transportation, the local district is not financially reimbursed for children who are bused from non-qualifying areas.

—In fact, where children are bused from non-qualifying areas, the school is penalized.

For example: If 25 of 100 children transported are from non-qualifying areas, the school district receives no financial assistance from the 25 and, in fact, loses state financial assistance for 25 others. So, in such a situation, instead of receiving aid for 75, the district receives aid for only 50.

—Beginning next fall the school district must provide transportation for more than 100 parochial and private school children.

—Cost of bus transportation probably will increase some 15-percent next year and, very possibly, the ratio of non-reimbursable bused students will increase thus raising the district's cost still higher.

—Estimated cost to the district for bus transportation is near $33,000.

—Elroy Ellison, director of school administrative services, pinpointed a specific problem for board members by pointing out that a growing number of requests have been made that junior high school students from the "Village Green" area (northeast of Center street and the Eight Mile cut-off) be bused to school.

—Under the present policy, he explained, the school district has been providing bus transportation for non-qualifying areas for reasons of safety — no sidewalks, dangerous highways, etc.

—Under this policy, transportation of junior high school students from the Village Green is ruled out. However, he noted that transportation could be provided by existing buses, without altering routes, because buses bringing students into the city are presently shuttling them from one school to another along routes close to the Village Green.

Northville Senior Wins DAR Award

A 17-year-old Northville high school senior girl has been selected to receive a Good Citizens Award, sponsored by the Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

She is Barbara Pilarz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pilarz of 21650 Chubb road.

On February 17, eleven high school girls from high schools throughout Michigan and their mothers will be entertained at a luncheon in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing, 1010 Church street, Plymouth. Each has been selected for the coveted award.

Other area girls receiving the award are: Jane Vallier, Plymouth, and Catherine Ciesielske of Garden City.

Outstate girls who will receive the award include: Madelyn Russell, Alba; Donna Luttes, Alpena; Jean Symons, Belaire; Delyne Amlotte, Hillman; Toni Darling, Mackinaw City; Lorraine Cummings, Central Lake; and Glenadine Goodrich of Cheboygan.

These girls, according to officials of the Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter, were chosen by their high schools for dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

Miss Pilarz has lived in Northville all her life. She will graduate from the high school in June. Next fall she will enter the University of Michigan where she already has been accepted. She will take up a liberal arts course, possibly after studying to become a teacher.

An honor student, she is immediate past president of the Honor Society, vice-president of the Forensic Club, and president of the Sodality Club for young women at Our Lady of Victory Church.

She has served as a representative at Girls State and last year she won an award in a two-week debate clinic at Michigan State University.

Assisting Mrs. Hulsing as hostesses at the upcoming honors luncheon will be Mrs. Charles Barber, Mrs. Gerald Holly and John Fullagar of Livonia, and Mrs. Frederick Campbell and Mrs. Edmund Snyder of Plymouth.

Speaker for the occasion will be Larry Summerfield, whose subject is "Trail of the Explorers." Summerfield, Automobile Club of Michigan's travel cameraman and lecturer, has worked at improving vacations of Michiganders for more than 20 years.

He has covered most of North America in search of subjects for his films. His travels also carry him to Europe and the Far East.

Each year Summerfield makes more than 200 appearances, visiting clubs and civic organizations throughout Michigan. All of his films are natural color movies.

Currently, the Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter is conducting a vigorous campaign to make all Americans, particularly school children, more conscious of American history through the observance of American History Month during February.

Fifty DAR state organizations, plus the District of Columbia and the Canal Zone, through nearly 3,000 chapters, have arranged for various means of observance of historic events occurring since the early days of this country. For instance, governors and mayors — including the mayor of Northville — have issued proclamations designating February, historical essays and other appropriate activities have been arranged for schools, and special public patriotic meetings are being conducted.

Melodramas Enjoy Revival

Whatever happened to the melo-drama?

While it may seem to be passe on Broadway, and off this season, the classic melo-drama, imbued with intense sentiment and emotions, is enjoying a promising revival here this month with the Northville Players Guild production of "East Lynne".

The Northville Guild's "East Lynne" interpretation, which will be staged in the high school auditorium February 20-22, will portray the dramatic storyline of Mrs. Henry Wood's 1861 novel just as she wrote it, said Director Hans Kolbe.

"The play asks a lot from the cast," Kolbe explained, "but I feel certain we have the talent to carry it off," he added.

To heighten the mood of the drama, Technical Director Rita Sprenger and her staff are relying on period properties and costuming to dress a sparsely decorated stage. Still needed are a Victorian desk and circle and some men's costumes, circa 1850.

A camera projection technique is being perfected for exterior scenes, said Miss Sprenger.

Northville actors and actresses cast in the current play are: Coy Sandrock, Isabel; Walter Avery, Archibald; Mary Freydl, Barbara; Mrs. Fran Bissa, Cornelia; Bud Weber, Levison; Fred Farrah, Richard; Georgie Richards, Joyce; Terry LaRue, Wilson; John Hyde, Dill; Timmy McDonough, Willie; Dwight Grayson, Justice Hare; and Charles Freydl, the officer.

Tickets for the melodrama are on sale now at Freydl Cleaners & Men's Wear and Stewart's Gifts and Art Supplies and may also be obtained from any guild member. They are priced at $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students.

"East Lynne" is the Northville Players' first full-length production. Organized less than a year ago, the group chose a playbill of three one-acts for its premiere in December.

Certain time for the three "East Lynne" performances is 8:30 p.m.

In Our Town

By Jean Day

A HOBBY THAT GROWS can become a problem — or a business. Three young homemakers in this area with antique-collecting instincts have decided to "go professional" this month.

Exhibiting for the first time, under the name "Sally's Antiques," will be Mrs. Harold F. (Sally) Thomas, of Mayor drive, Novi; Mrs. Robert Arlen, of Country lane, Northville; and Mrs. Robert Tefft, of Livonia. Their booth will be at the Livonia antique show to be held February 28-29 and March 1-2 in Roma hall.

"Since last fall we've arranged an auction a week," says Arlen, explaining that for her this follows the philosophy that "Every woman owes herself a day out each week." The girls also have attended the last two series of antique forums at the Henry Ford Museum in Greenfield Village.

Bidding competition is avoided as Mrs. Thomas prefers Victorian pieces while Mrs. Arlen eyes New England-Early American and primitives. Mrs. Tefft seeks Chinese orientals.

In going to so many antique and second-hand sales, the girls explain, it was easy to find pieces for their homes more choice and preferred than they had. They began selling the original pieces to friends, and by word-of-mouth (and a few ads in the Northville Record) sales increased to the point that Mrs. Thomas obtained her dealer's license.

Recent mild weather helped Sally Thomas in her show preparations as she was able to brighten an old trunk with red paint in her garage. An old pie cupboard (which will display such decorative "accessories" as a cranberry huller at the show) is waiting refinishing treatment.

The Thomases' pillared colonial home provides a charming setting for displaying such choice Victorian pieces as a cherry table and old-gold velvet love seat.

In addition to seeing that her copper apple-sauce kettles were burnished for the show, Mrs. Arlen has been fully occupied in moving into the family's new gambrel-roof home (a Royal Barry Weeks design) two weeks ago. Just a mere three weeks ago Elizabeth Jean Arlen was born. She is the Arlens' third daughter.

Hanging in the Arlens' kitchen is an old-and-choice brass and wrought iron lamp. Its mate will be on exhibition at the Livonia show. Mrs. Arlen also plans to exhibit two primitive oil paintings.

Mrs. Thomas hopes her "eye-catcher" will be a man's oak shaving stand. Her sister, Mrs. Tefft, will display ivory and cloisonne pieces which she collects to blend with her own contemporary furnishings.

TOWN HALL'S CELEBRITY LUNCHEON is a most popular adjunct to the lectures themselves. The lecture by Dr. Albert Burke (economist and TV producer of "Probe") next Thursday, will be followed by luncheon at Thunderbird Inn. Mrs. James C. Ross will be chairman of the speaker's table while Mrs. C. Harold Bloom is serving as luncheon chairman. Reservations must be made by Tuesday with Mrs. W. Leonard Howard.

WOMAN'S CLUB members attending the talk Friday by Dr. L. Lamont Okey, University of Michigan associate professor of speech, received an easy-to-take-prescription for mid-winter doldrums: Virginia Hudson's "O Ye Jigs and Juleps!"

"Everybody ought to own a copy for blue days," declared this entertaining professor who quotes unfamiliar literature by well known authors.

A VALENTINE DAY centerpiece with a "Miss Sciaparelli" hot pink candle bust provided a frothy bit of whimsy at the candle demonstration program of the Northville branch, National Farm and Garden association meeting Monday.

Its originator, Mrs. William B. Crump, pierced the wax figure (which she created of beaten wax) with a hatpin holding a gold foil heart. Members were told that NOW is the time to create panorama-type Christmas candles (tin cans placed sideways in a milk carton with wax poured around) — before summer lethargy and then Christmas bustle begin.

TV Star to Speak Here Next Week

An internationally known lecturer, who appears weekly on his own television program, will travel to Northville next week Thursday for an appearance in the Town Hall Series.

Dr. Albert Burke will speak at 11 a.m. in the Northville P&A Theatre. His talk will be based upon the title of a former television lecture series, "A Way of Thinking".

Dr. Albert Burke

A dynamic force in the world of ideas, Dr. Burke is given a good deal of credit for helping make Americans think. Americans have responded enthusiastically to his discussions on television and the lecture platform.

National recognition developed rapidly after his television lecture series "A Way of Thinking" first appeared in December, 1960. Within a few months he was heralded by the national press as a bright new voice, and his program was broadcast by some 60 stations.

Now he has a new series syndicated from coast-to-coast called "Probe — With Dr. Albert Burke".

Since next week's lecture is dedicated to the neighboring community of Livonia, Dr. Burke appropriately will be introduced by a distinguished Livonia official — Benton Yates, superintendent of the Livonia Public Schools.

Superintendent of that school system since 1955, he has been in educational work since 1934. He currently is President of the Wayne County Superintendent's Association.

From 1956 through 1962, he was a member and chairman of the Wayne Superintendent's Committee on Special Education.

Reservations for the Speaker's Luncheon, to be held at the Thunderbird Inn immediately following the lecture, must be made by no later than tomorrow (Friday). Those attending the luncheon will have another opportunity to hear the speaker, question him, and converse while enjoying lunch.

Northville Town Hall Series is sponsored by Our Lady's League of Our Lady of Victory Church.

Theater Party Set February 28

Reservation deadline for the upcoming theater party, sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony League, is tomorrow — Friday.

Persons interested in taking part in the theater party, — to feature a viewing of the Broadway hit, "Never Too Late" — is urged to call Mrs. Charles Childs at GL 3-0503 or Mrs. Thomas Kelly, GL 3-4329.

Starring William Bendix and Nancy Carol, the show will be seen on Friday, February 28. Members and friends in the Symphony League party will see the show in a group.

'Drunkard' To Open Thursday

Tonight (Thursday) the old-fashioned act curtain will slowly ascend and longest-running play of all times, "The Drunkard", will be marking up its 23,456th performance. In its 126 year history "The Drunkard" has been presented by professional, amateur, and semi-professional groups in every country.

To celebrate the occasion the Plymouth Theater Guild has invited the entire cast of the Northville Players to be their guests for the evening. Even the refreshments at the table will be "on the house".

The Northville Players will be glad to take the "night off" to see a melodrama done in the same style. By boozing the Plymouth villain and cheering the hero the Northville thespians will get in the mood for their final week of rehearsals. "East Lynne" opens on February 20 for a three-day run in the Northville high school auditorium.

Tickets for the three day run of the "Drunkard" have been disappearing faster than the curses of the villainous Lawyer Gribbs, says Director Bob Wall.

Ellen Murdock, Ticket Chairman indicates that some choice seats for Thursday night remain. Friday and Saturday nights are virtually sell-outs. Theater patrons can get an accurate picture on the table reservations from Ellen by dialing GL 3-5587 or stopping in the Melody House.

Another $11 of unsolicited money was added to the Mothers' March, this past week bringing the total collected to $1,434.65. Chairman Mrs. H. L. Dyer reported Monday.

The annual house-to-house canvass for funds was conducted in Northville township a week ago Sunday and in the city of Northville last week Tuesday.

The latest total reported by Mrs. Dyer is not the final official figure.

In making the announcement Monday, the chairman expressed her appreciation for the business places and persons who provided refreshments for the mothers Tuesday night following the campaign.

Those which assisted were: Ray's Market, Lila's Flowers & Gifts, Sally Bell Bakery, A&P, D&C Store, Stewart's Gift Shop, Mr. and Mrs. William Bingley, the Jaycees, and the American Legion.

School Bus

The director emphasized, however, that if the Village Green youngsters are bused the district will be penalized by the state and will open itself to still other requests from other areas.

While board members were unable to come up with any satisfactory solutions, short of abandonment of bus transportation altogether and a suggestion that laws be changed to permit student bus fees for those in non-qualifying areas, they decided to establish a citizens' committee to study the problems and suggest possible solutions.

Board President William Crump appointed Bud Weber

Law Requires Hearing On School Budgets

A new state law requires school boards to conduct public hearings on budgets, Northville officials learned at Monday's board meeting.

The newly enacted law refers to all "local units" of governments — including school boards, according to Superintendent Russell Amerman.

This means, he said, that after the tax allocation hearing in May and before adoption of the budget, a public hearing must be held on the proposed budget.

Board members also learned that it must, like other units of government, appoint a four member board of canvassers composed of two Republicans and two Democrats even though school elections are non-partisan.

March 9 was set as the date for receiving applications for the four positions.

In other business Monday, the board learned that attempt is being made to coordinate calendars of schools in the Schoolcraft College district.

Approved a request of Gordon Bunn of the South Lyon school district to permit a second son to attend Northville high school on a tuition paid basis.

Authorized Trustee William Templeton to serve as the board representative at the intermediate school district budget hearing on Thursday, February 27, and authorized him to vote for the budget provided it did not exceed last year's millage.

Heard a report that the present Northville school budget is "in pretty good shape"

Wixom Ford News Wins Recognition

The News had the best layout and design in the newspaper division of the IEAD's monthly contest, the judges announced.

Phil Gram, editor, accepted the award at the IEAD's monthly dinner meeting January 28 at the Pick Fort Shelby Hotel.

The IEAD's membership is composed primarily of editors of newspapers and magazines published by business and industry in the metropolitan Detroit area.

He'll Travel To Spain With Navy

A Northville man will be among the 48 Naval Air Reservists who will leave Grosse Ile this month for a two-week combined training and mercy mission to the southern coast of Spain.

He is Lieutenant Commander Dewey R. Butt of 318 South Rogers.

Dubbed "Operation Amigo I," the deployment will be the first of two such trips scheduled this year for "Weekend Warrior" transport squadrons based at the island air station.

Purpose of the trips will be to train reservists of Transport Squadrons 732 and 734 in fleet cargo transport operations and to deliver medical supplies to some 40 orphanages located near the U.S. Navy Base at Rota, Spain.

Flying three Douglas C-54 "Skymasters", "Operations Amigo I" and "II" will leave the Grosse Ile Naval Air Station February 17 and April 13 or Newfoundland on the first leg of the 3,300-mile transatlantic flight.

Reservists of both squadrons will merge with Navy Transport Squadron 24, which operates out of Rota as the main logistics support unit for the Mediterranean Fleet.

When they reach Spain, commanding officers of both "Weekend Warrior" squadrons will turn over $10,000 worth of medical supplies donated to the needy people of Rota by World Medical Relief, Inc. of Detroit.

Navy men taking part in the cruises drill at the Naval Air Station one weekend a month throughout the year, coming from all walks of civilian life. Annually they are required to spend two weeks on active duty, usually working hand-in-hand with regular active-duty sailors to learn the latest Fleet techniques in their respective jobs.

The long, over-water flights to Spain on "Operation Amigo I" and "Amigo II", will provide valuable experience for pilots, and navigators of both Reserve squadrons making the trip, since they usually spend their annual training missions within the continental limits of the United States.

Police arrested Champine on January 16 on a tip by fellow Downs groom. He was jailed, pending trial, when he was unable to post a $1,000 cash bond.

Add Shoe Line

The addition of a line of athletic shoes has been announced by Del Black, owner of Del's Shoes in Northville.

Black said arrangements have been made to supply the high school with a complete line of Hyde athletic shoes for track, baseball, bowling, football and golf. He noted that the line also includes little league ball shoes.

CARS IN THE SPACE AGE

There is no doubt about it that wonderful things are happening in our fabulous space age — but they aren't all up in space. The research departments of the automobile manufacturers never stop working and some of their projects would make Buck Rogers think he was right at home.

One of the major manufacturers, for instance, has developed and is still testing a self-guiding apparatus for automobiles. The device will guide the car in a given lane or even slow and stop it if the driver relaxes. It is activated by a magnetic cable buried in the pavement of the road.

Already receiving limited use is a device that buzzes when a car is following too close or approaching a collision with a stationary object.

Different colors of pavement are being tested as a way of indicating route numbers, exit turns or speed changes. And future cars may be equipped with transistor receivers for highway patrol messages, all relayed from a central road cable.

Space age cars with all their gadgets will still need service though. If we're still around in the wonderful future we'll go on doing our best to turn out satisfied customers the "old fashioned" way.

If you can't wait for the future space age though, we can recommend a ride in one of our new Fords. A lot of folks who have said it is "out of this world" for comfort, quietness, safety and sheer luxury. And so you'll feel at home with something out of the past, we'll add reliability.

'Don't Wait For Plates'

A last minute rush for automobile license plates is shaping up, according to Harold Hartley, manager of the Northville Secretary of State branch office.

"We're getting awfully close to the deadline (February 29)," he said, "and the sale of plates is no greater than it was last year. It looks like we'll have a terrible crowd on the final two days."

Hartley urged motorists to avoid the rush by purchasing plates now. Office hours are from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, and motorists are required to bring along only their vehicle titles, he noted.

The office is located at 116 East Main street.

Play Tickets Go on Sale

Tickets for the stage play, "Hansel and Gretel", are now on sale at local elementary schools, officials of the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) announced this week.

Four performances of the play, produced by the AAUW, will be held on Saturday, February 22 at the Plymouth high school. The first performance will begin at 10 a.m., followed by performances at 11:30, 1:30 and 3.

"Only 315 children will be admitted at each performance, so please purchase tickets early," officials urged. They also may be obtained by calling Mrs. David VanHine of Northville at FI 9-3015.

Heading up the set and costume committees are Mrs. Nancy Messerly and Mrs. G. S. Weber, respectively.

The plan will feature the Story Book Lady, the Wicked Witch, and her Black Cat and the Good Fairy as well as Hansel and Gretel and their parents.

Popular Disc Jockey Slated to Appear At JC Teen Dance

Area teenagers were reminded this week of the Jaycee sponsored disc jockey dance scheduled for Saturday, February 22 from 8 to 12 p.m.

The dance will feature Robin Seymour of the popular radio program "Bobbin' with Robin" over station WKNR Jaycee officials have revealed.

Seymour has been voted one of the top 10 radio personalities in the United States. He is the dean of Detroit's disc jockeys and has a 17-year record as the Motor City's greatest air salesman.

Seymour's stature and believability have been enhanced by his civic standing (he was chosen a Jaycee's "Outstanding Young Man" of the year); his personal activities with major charity; and his work with younger citizens.

For several years he has been a member of the board of directors of the Detroit Chapter of the March of Dimes.

Robin's Youth Festivals have filled the mammoth State Fair Coliseum, and he invariably draws huge crowds in public appearances such as expositions, new home developments, and any place where traffic means business.

At the dance here, which will be held in the community building, the disc jockey will introduce "live talent" and give away records.

Freshmen Notch Wins, 9-3 Record

The Northville freshmen continued their winning ways last week while convincingly subduing two opponents to post a 9-3 record.

Coming up, however, are two tough games; one with West Bloomfield Friday and another Monday against Lutheran West. Both games are at home.

According to Coach Dave Madden, who was highly pleased with his team's performance last week, "the West Bloomfield game is extremely important to us. We lost a close one to them on their home court."

Nankin Mills, Tuesday's opponent, was the first victim, 55-30.

The frosh had little competition from the team which they had previously beaten by just 27-26, here.

Madden's cagers completely dominated play, out rebounding Nankin and shooting an excellent 38 per cent.

Chris Holman, who led all scorers with 15 points, was the top marksman, hitting on seven of 10 attempts from the field. He was backed up by Jim Zayti and Glenn Deibert, each with 14.

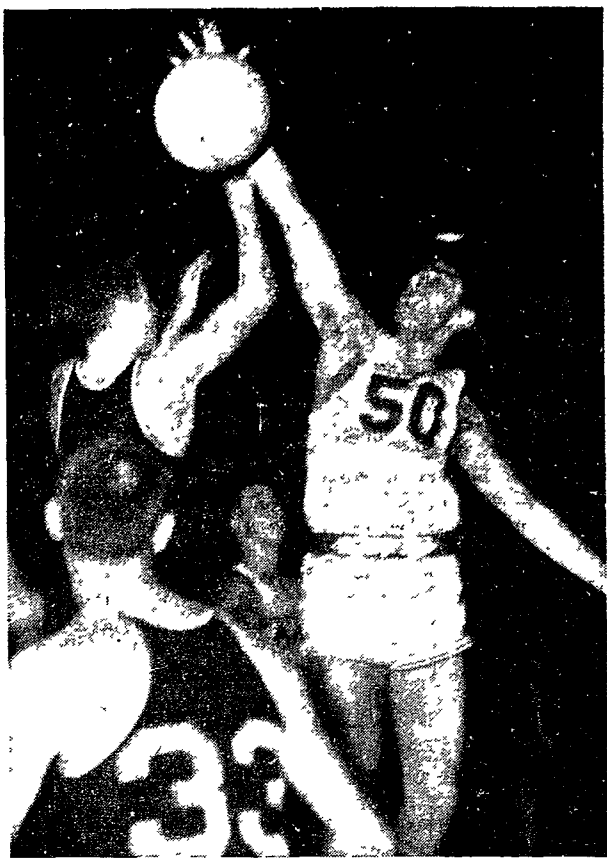

Even when the starters were pulled, leading by 19 points, the reserves poured it on to increase the margin by six points.

The win Friday here over Milford-53-32, was a breeze.

A poor first half show by Milford, which saw Northville forge a 32-14 bulge, gave the victory to the Black and Orange.

Where the local frosh had little difficulty against a first-half man-to-man defense, they had difficulty solving a second-half zone. In the end, they outscored Milford by only three points.

Madden, despite the two recent victories, says his team cannot rest on its laurels. The next two encounters will be the test of a successful season. "We think we would show definite improvement if we defeat them," he noted.

SKY JUMPERS — Lance Hahn (left) leaps off the floor but not high enough to spear this rebound pulled in by Alan Call (50) of Holly. Watching the action in the foreground is John Callaghan of Northville.

Jayvee Squad Trips At Free Throw Line

Northville's junior varsity squad took another one on the chin as it lost a low-scoring tilt to Holly Friday, 40-34.

Hampering the Colt offense was the absence of Mark Cushing, its high scoring forward, and the loss of three local cagers due to fouls.

The teams were evenly matched through the first half as Holly assumed a 19-18 lead. Both teams were cold.

Northville tied the contest at the end of the third period, 24-24. In the low scoring quarter, the Colts garnered six points to just five for Holly.

Holly, however, outscored the local five in the final frame, 18-10 to win going away. Northville's fouls paved the way.

Although the Colts bagged more field goals, 15-14, their fouling got them in trouble. Holly cashed in on 12 free throws while Northville could convert only four.

Leading the local scorers was Center Steve Evans with 10 points. Close on his heels were Tom Bingham with nine and George Burchfield, who flipped in seven.

In the persons of Bill Taylor and Wayne Rowe, with 13 and 12 points respectively, Holly found its scoring punch.

The JV's will travel to Milford Friday, then return home to engage Clarenceville Saturday. Both games will begin at 6:30.

Holly Crushes Mustangs

Hope for a Northville victory Friday night at Holly was extinguished early as the Bronchos caught fire to smother Northville 75-52.

The Mustangs were only in contention during six minutes of the first quarter as both teams played superb ball. With the score knotted 13-all, Holly exploded and Northville never challenged again.

The Mustangs thus plummeted to sixth place in the Wayne-Oakland Conference, a four-year low this late in the season. Entering the game Northville was tied for fourth place with Holly and Clarenceville.

Riding atop the heap is Clarkston, decisive winner Friday over Brighton. Bloomfield Hills squeezed by arch-rival West Bloomfield by a mere point to remain in second place, one game behind Clarkston.

Holly was inflamed by the memory of a previous one-point loss this season to Northville. The Bronchos had objected to Northville's rough tactics and last Friday's encounter was "the showdown."

With Center Woody Pierce going high to clear the boards, with all league Guard Jack Bennet and Forward Tom Fagan supplying the scoring punch and with all hands alert, Holly poured it on.

It was 25-14 Holly at the end of the first period, 43-22 at half time and 64-32 at the three quarter mark. There was no doubt at this point.

Reserves played the final frame as Northville cut the Bronchos margin to make the score a bit more respectable.

It was not only the northerners' superior play that brought victory. The ball seemed to have eyes just for Holly as it uncannily bounded into Broncho hands.

In the welter of disappointment, Mustang Coach Dave Longridge could find some solace in the performance of Guard Jim St. Germain. Playing his best game of the year, St. Germain dribbled with determination when the press was on and several times; he plucked a loose ball or a rebound out of the air.

Both teams, working the high post, exchanged baskets through the opening moments of the first quarter. Holly, however, used a full court press while Northville settled back into a zone.

Lance Hahn and Jim Mazel gave the Mustangs an 11-8 lead. But the Red and White tied it up at 11-11. Hahn again laced a two-pointer to give Northville its last lead, 13-11.

Holly's Pierce, a smooth center, and Bennett got hot, giving the home team a substantial 25-14 first quarter advantage.

With the rally went Northville's chances.

The Bronchos then pierced the Mustangs' zone defense by driving the base line and capitalizing on errant passes. Fagan, Bennett and Pierce again paced the second period scoring.

Stand and wait for the break was the game Holly played in the third frame.

No longer did the Bronchos press the Mustangs in their back court. Holly just retained the zone, but waited for scoring opportunities.

It worked to perfection. Seldom did Northville get more than one crack at the bucket in the third stanza as Holly swarmed around the basket. And Northville's attempts at a fast break were broken up by Holly's quick defensive moves.

In the last quarter, Tom Wicke replaced Jerry Imstand at center for Northville. He and Forward Rick Milne led the Mustang comeback against Holly reserves. Each had six points in the period.

A twin bill is on tap this weekend for the Mustangs. They will play Milford on the road Friday and then return to host Clarenceville Saturday.

Recovery, Inc. Panel Planned

A panel demonstration will be presented by Recovery, Inc. at Our Lady of Good Counsel church, Plymouth, at 8 p.m. Sunday.

This panel is being presented to the public in the hope of acquainting community-minded people with the work that Recovery, Inc. is accomplishing. Through a demonstration of this kind, the members will not only explain the systematic method of self-help, but will demonstrate the method in action.

Some of the people on the panel live in Plymouth, and some will travel from the east side of Detroit, and even from Flint.

The panel will be conducted by Mrs. Ann Humphrey, who is the area leader for Detroit and outlying communities. It will last approximately one hour and consists of a brief history, a panel discussion by Recovery members and a period for questions and answers.

Following the discussion, light refreshments will be served through the courtesy of the women of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church.

Recovery, Inc. is an international organization which employs a systematic self-help method originated and developed by the late Dr. Abraham A. Low. The organization's objectives are to prevent relapses in former mental patients and prevent chronicity in nervous patients.

However, it is not necessary to have been hospitalized or under the care of a psychiatrist in order to take part in Recovery meetings.

Recovery, Inc. does not supplant the physician. Recognizing limitations as lay people is part of the leader's training. At every Recovery meeting it is made clear that leaders are not physicians or authorities or experts in any sense of the word.

Recovery training deals only with that portion of a person's life where he is expected to practice "self-leadership." Each member is required to follow the authority of his own doctor or other professional.

Recovery is non-sectarian. People of all faiths meet together in the social rooms of churches, synagogues, and other suitable public places in the community. Local units are now established in thirty states and several Canadian provinces. These groups meet on a regular weekly basis, providing people with a systematic method of self-help.

There are over 140 groups located in Michigan. Addresses of groups in this area will be available at the presentation panel on Sunday evening.

Junior High P-TA to Meet

An Eastern Michigan university educator will speak at a meeting of the Northville Junior High School P-TA beginning at 7:30 p.m. tonight (Thursday).

Scheduled to take place at the community building, the meeting will feature Herman Dick, an educator in the field of "Method of Student Skills," as the speaker.

Dick also is working in the field of educational psychology at Eastern Michigan.

Parents and students of fifth and sixth grades of both elementary schools are invited to join with junior high school parents and students for the program.

Refreshments will be served.

Plan Bake Sale

The junior high fellowship group of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville will sponsor a bake sale here Saturday.

Scheduled from 10 a.m. until noon, the sale will be held at Lapham's Men's Shop, 120 East Main street.

Nix on Tin Cans Says Goat Farmer

Goats may have iron stomachs lined with tin-cans, but the critters that inhabit the Novi Goat Farm get nothing but pampered foods to eat.

Controlled diet, says owner Robert Lawrence of 24615 Novi road, is the secret to successful goat milk production.

Let goats wander around in open fields picking out their own foods, he says, and chances are the milk they produce will lose its quality and the dairyman, in turn, will lose his profit.

Because "diet control" is so important, Lawrence explains that his old method of permitting the goats to graze on his 10-acre farm has ended, and now his goats — 36 does and one buck — seldom ever see the outside of the barn.

The same kind of problem probably would occur in the raising of cows, he adds, but because the cow's milk is pasturized there is less chance of the cow's food affecting the milk. Goats milk is sold raw or unpasteurized.

Lawrence has been raising goats for a good part of his life, but he only began raising them for commercial milking purposes about five years ago. And he's had his dairy license for only a year and a half.

He purchased his first goat as a pet for his children, Silvia, 13, and James, 10, who now assist him in the part-time dairy business.

"There's nothing as friendly or lovable as a baby goat," he contends. "Have you ever seen one, a new one I mean. They're full of fun and friendly as a dog."

Eventually, however, the single goat needed companionship and, says the goat farmer who is employed by the Novi department of public works, one thing led to another until he had a good size herd. And with that many goats, there was little else to do but begin selling the milk.

But launching a dairy is easier said than done. Because the milk is sold in the raw state, the Michigan Health Agency insists upon rigid sanitary conditions and, he says, once a license is issued it periodically inspects his barn, milking barn, and the processing room.

Actually, there is little processing involved in operating the dairy. Here's the set-up at Lawrence's place: The single barn is divided into five sections: the open barn floor where the does are kept, the pen for the buck, a milking room, a processing room and the sales room.

Currently, says Lawrence, about 16 of the does are milking. Others are expecting, and milking is stopped some eight weeks before the due date. A milking goat, he explains, produces on the average of one gallon of milk a day — about one-half gallon at each of the two milking periods.

Twice each day — morning and night — the does are released from their pen and, much like cows, they automatically enter the milking room and their individual stanchions which, incidentally, are mounted on small rectangular platforms.

Milk is then strained, bottled and placed in a cooler — with no other processing procedure.

According to Lawrence, goat milk differs from ordinary cow milk in three main ways: It needs no homogenization (the goat takes care of that), it is richer, and it's more expensive. A quart of goat milk sells here for 60-cents, he says, and that's probably the lowest price in Michigan.

But despite the cost, most of his customers think nothing of driving to his farm from Detroit. Some of them, he adds, drink it because it's a soothing remedy for stomach ailments, diabetes, etc., but mostly "and this may be surprising to you — they think goat milk is far faster than regular milk."

"You've got to taste it to know... here, have a glass and find out for yourself."

(Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 58).

God satisfies the desire of every living thing. He is to wise to create fish and not create any water for them to live in. What a mess it would be if God should fill our city with fish and give us no water to put them in!

On the same basis God will not forever create in man a desire for perfection and leave him to suffer short of its realization. When suffering has accomplished its purpose God will make us perfect. The suffering does not make us perfect. Our will or our choice does not make us perfect. It is only the Lord who can do that for us. His method, or way of doing it is, "By His Spirit." The Holy Spirit cannot be seen with natural eyes even as the breath in your physical body cannot be seen.

But just as the effect or life giving action of breath in a physical body can be observed so can the benefits and results be proven of the giving of God's Holy Spirit - "The promise of the Father" to men. The pouring out of God's Holy Spirit upon us without measure will make us perfect. "This I verily believe God plans to do. And that, and that alone will satisfy the desire of every man. "We shall be satisfied when we awake in his likeness." When that experience is realized no one will desire to go to a perfect place called heaven for they will be in a perfect place. The realization of perfection is all that man desires. His understanding of his desire has produced many ideas and theories as to what it is that he truly desires. But when he is made perfect by the power of God all conflicting ideas or theories concerning it will have ended and we shall be "one" in wonder, love and praise. Church Opening Slated Sunday

Opening service for the new Methodist Church located in Plymouth township near the Five Mile and Haggerty road intersection will be held Sunday morning.

According to the Reverend Sherman T. Richards, pastor of the new church, the speaker for the auspicious occasion will be Dr. Edwin Stricker, Ann Arbor District superintendent for the Methodist Church.

The service will begin at 11 a.m., with an open house planned from 2:30 to 4 p.m.

Next month - On Sunday, March 22, Bishop Marshall R. Ree will lead the consecration service, Pastor Richards said.

Located on a nine acre site on the south side of Five Mile road just east of Haggerty road, the church presently is located in a house. Later, after a new church is built, the house will become the parsonage.

Previous to becoming pastor of the new Methodist church here, Rev. Richards was pastor of the Denton Methodist Church located near Willow Run. And while serving as pastor of Denton, Rev. Richards founded St. Matthews Methodist Church at Ypsilanti.

Thanks for Past Duty

The Editor:
As a Northville Citizen for more than a quarter of a century, I wish to express my appreciation to the resigning firemen for their outstanding service to the community for so many years. A volunteer seldom hears praise for what he does, but personal satisfaction in a job well done is an experience beyond price.

As a member of the City Council I am deeply disappointed that we couldn't come to an agreement and work together, biding the time in which this matter as we now understand it, will, I sincerely feel, resolve itself.
Thanks again and best wishes always.

LEFTOVERS HELP CUT COSTS
—Yes, and keep your phone bill down, too! Here's how: We save scraps of leftover copper wire and cable, and periodically melt them down in big furnaces. The copper salvaged is then used to make new wire. It's one example of the many ways we salvage materials wherever possible, to help keep telephone costs low.

HAVE A "HEART-TO-HEART" TALK with your Valentine this February 14—even if he or she is many miles away. Just pick up the phone, and you're there! A Long Distance call gives a warm, personal touch to your Valentine greeting... and the cost is low. Why not treat yourself, and your favorite person, to a Long Distance visit this Valentine's Day?

HOW TO BE IN when you're out: one way is to use a telephone answering service! You'll be in good company. Answering service customers include doctors, repairmen, salesmen who are often away from their offices—even stores that take orders after business hours. Some answering bureaus offer "wake up" services for customers, to make sure they aren't ignoring the alarm clock! There are 140 answering services in Michigan alone. They are not owned or operated by Michigan Bell, but they do play a part in giving many of our customers the fullest possible use of their phones.

Yeas: Merriam, Robinson, Lawrence and Young. Trustee Tyler voted yea excepting order Number 6559. Motion carried.

Robinson moved, supported by Lawrence, that the Water & Sewer Commission bills be paid. Yeas: Merriam, Tyler, Robinson, Lawrence and Young. Motion carried.

The Building Inspector's report for January 1964 was reviewed by the Board. The minutes of the Planning Commission meeting of January 28, 1964 were read by the clerk.

Correspondence:
1. Copy of a letter from Schoolcraft College to the Wayne County Road Commission asking that a traffic light be installed at the corner of Haggerty and Seven Mile road.
Copy of letter from Wayne County Road Commission replying to Schoolcraft College advising that present plans call for the installation of a flasher beacon signal at the intersection until such time as vehicle volumes necessitate a "Stop & Go" signal.

2. Letter from Northville Optimist club referring to Mr. Potthoff's letter of November 29, 1963 advising that the Council, Recreation Committee and township would confer with regard to policies concerning the Scout-Recreation building and stating that they had heard nothing concerning the matter.

Supervisor Merriam advised the Board that there was to be a meeting of the Recreation Committee Thursday, Feb. 6, 1964 at 8:00 p.m. at the Scout Building and this matter would be discussed at that time.

Old Business:
1. Proposed Library Agreement with City of Northville.

After considerable discussion regarding the rental cost to the Township of the new library wing, Trustee Tyler moved that the annual rent be figured on a constant factor or factors, replacing the given variable here of 34.4% of whatever that variable might become in future years. Robinson supported the motion.

After discussion of some length, Trustee Tyler moved that the revised proposal dated January 13, 1964, from the S. G. Hayes Land Development Company be declined for the following reasons:

1. The $250 tap in pay-back amount has not been established by the Board as an equitable one.
2. That this amount to be paid until all monies advanced by the Development Company will require a dollar limitation.
3. That the $2.50 lineal foot

REPORT from LANSING
By PAUL CHANDLER
State Representative, 21st District

LANSING — Every legislator here has been receiving large volumes of mail this session from the school teachers of Michigan.

Two proposals loom large with the teachers. One would require the State of Michigan to find, and appropriate, a huge new amount of money and "pay up" on the public school employees retirement system. A second teacher-sponsored plan would make "teacher tenure" compulsory within every school district in Michigan.

If there is controversy about the Retirement problem, it is in how to find the money. If the State were to attempt, in one swoop, to "catch up" on the actuarial requirements, $400 million dollars would be needed, plus another $35 million for the current year's share.

It's impossible and unthinkable to hope that the taxpayers would be willing to cough up that kind of money overnight. So the plan most likely to succeed at the moment is Governor Romney's recommendation for an additional $18.7 million to the retirement system. The total appropriation is expected to be about $60 million.

The teachers pay about 23 percent of the obligation of the retirement system. The state's share is 77 percent. The teachers are up to date — they've paid-in $143 million. But the State has paid-in only $86 million of $489 million.

Some teacher group leaders have attempted to make the issue one of fright, and there actually are school employees who think they might not be able to collect their pension when they retire.

This simply is not the case. The full faith and credit of the State of Michigan lies behind the pensions. The pensions have priority over other expenditures.

In the past, Michigan has been using current appropriations to pay pension benefits to retirees and has always had a working balance on hand for benefits to be paid within the immediate next few years, plus available funds for administration of the system. This is similar to the practice used by the federal government with respect to Social Security.

The new Constitution provides that "financial benefits arising for each fiscal year shall be funded during that year and such funding shall not be used for financing unfunded accrued liabilities." In other words, it insists that we remain current with this fund from this date forward. Any arrearage will have to come out of the general fund.

This whole thing is a heavy new problem in State finance. There are other pension funds not fully "funded".

You're going to hear a lot more about this subject, and the talk will be in big numbers.

Teachers will get their pensions. I will work for every piece of legislation that helps us get started making up the old technical deficit of the fund.

TEACHER TENURE is controversial because there is political philosophy involved.

Explained most simply, "tenure" is a sort of civil service protection system for teachers. They can appeal attempts to discharge them from the job or to reduce them in salary or rank.

At the present time Teacher Tenure is optional upon school boards, but it remains a local matter. Most of the districts in our area voluntarily have adopted tenure but some have not.

Northville is one of the latter, and my mail from there has been unusually brisk.

Tenure in any form creates argument because it reduces the freedom in hiring and firing and adjusting personnel within the school system.

Heretofore, the law has said that if a school board wants to work under the arrangement ... well go to it. But if they do not, then they can't be forced.

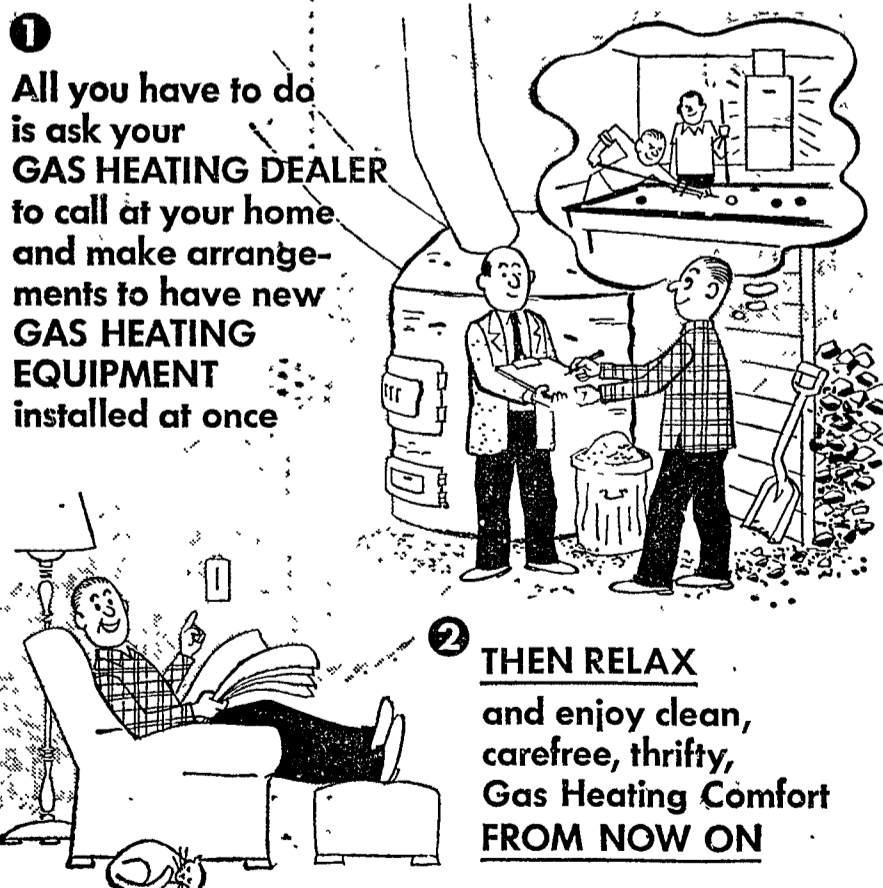

Last summer teacher groups circulated petitions which will require putting the matter to a vote of the people of Michigan, if the legislature doesn't act favorably. This would be an expense and a nuisance, of course. If the people really want compulsory tenure, it should be done here first.

Right now, the legislature isn't quite sure about the views of the general public. But they have no doubt about teachers.

U-M Bureau Lauds Northville High School

— Out of the Past —

ONE YEAR AGO

February 14, 1963

—Northville's board of education set up next year's school calendar, approved the administration's proposed inclement weather bulletin and adopted the administration's recommended investment of debt service fund.

—Township Republicans of Northville township will decide at the polls which two of four candidates will represent their ticket in the April 1 election.

No other candidates on either the Republican or Democratic slate face competition. Running for township supervisor are Trustee R. D. Merriman and Mrs. Harold B. Price. Candidates for trustee are Daniel R. Brown and Wilson D. Tyler.

—A tall, soft-spoken Southfield gardener confessed last week that he had shot at a Novi housewife, explaining "I did it mostly to scare her."

Gary S. Goodrum, 22, walked into Novi police headquarters last Thursday after "going over and over it" and said: "I want to surrender as the person who did the shooting in Novi."

—Announcement of the relocation of two Northville retail business firms was made public, revealing a major improvement project for the business district.

The two moves are tied together. D & C Stores, Inc., 103 East Main street, will move into the 139 East Main street buildings now occupied by E-Jay Lumber Mart. And Earl Wineman, owner of E-Jay, has announced plans to construct a new two-level building on East Cady street.

FIVE YEARS AGO

February 12, 1959

—Beginning plans for the 1959-60 school budget, the Northville board of education admitted that the need for an increase in tax revenues might be in the offing.

A check for $15,000 for the deed to 2.1 acres of River street property was paid Wayne County by the city of Northville this week.

The purchase was proposed by Northville Downs two years ago. The city interceded, however, to place certain use restrictions on the property. The Downs will use the land for parking and access to the track.

—The number of residential dwelling permits issued in the city of Northville and the village-township of Novi increased in 1958, the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission reported this week.

—Northville's award winning band scored another triumph Saturday by capturing five first place awards at the annual solo and ensemble festival at Thurston high school.

—Monday's special election to decide the fate of the proposed $300,000 water bond has turned an otherwise drab primary into a highly interesting event — at least for property owners living in the city.

Both the city and township residents of Wayne county will have but one primary choice to make. They will be asked to decide between Democrats Dan Radovich and Jacob P. Sumaracki and Republicans Jordan H. Greene and William W. Lau as county auditor nominees for their respective parties.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

February 11, 1949

—Northville Scouts are now working towards building a cabin to be erected sometime soon in the Northville area. Neil Hannaford is in charge of raising the necessary funds for the erection of the cabin which would be at the disposal of all the troops.

—Today, Friday, a new restaurant will be opened under the name of "Harry's Lunch". The restaurant is located on 140 North Center street and its proprietor is E. T. Nicholaides.

—The Village Commission met in regular session to hear a report that the state has approved the new village well.

—Nelson Schrader, chairman of the local March of Dimes drive, reports that so far $481.77 has been turned in to aid the polio program.

—Al Wistert, captain of the University of Michigan '49 football team, was to be a guest speaker at the Methodist Father and Son Banquet on February 15.

—The Northville police answered 78 calls during the month of January, Police Chief Joe Denton reported to the village Commission.

—At a meeting of the parishioners of Our Lady of Victory Church, a new parish council was organized. Mrs. E. J. Wilis of the Deaconry conducted the meeting and will act for the parish until a permanent chairman is elected.

— Goodwill Pick-up —

The next visit of Goodwill Industries pickup trucks to Northville is scheduled for Monday. Goodwill trucks collect household discards of clothing, shoes, hats, toys, most types of furniture and other household discards.

—Mrs. Emma Galpin Douglas, born in Salem township in 1871, died February 5.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

February 10, 1939

—Two appointments by Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald focused the state political spotlight on Northville after it became known that Dr. L. W. Snow had been named to succeed Frank N. Ishey of Detroit, to the post of manager of the state fair, and John J. Hetteche of the Eight Mile road was given the boxing commissioner post, which originally had been slated for Dr. Snow.

—The Porath and Sons horses, trained by Don McKarns, added to their collection of blue ribbons and titles again last week at the Cot Show, held at the Michigan State college, East Lansing, in connection with Farmer's Week.

—Lloyd Milliken, who for the past four years has been associated with the Hugh Milner Funeral and Furniture establishment at Stockbridge, will arrive in the village to succeed Darrell C. Nollan, the licensed embalmer of the Schrader Funeral chapel who leaves for a place near Muskegon which marks a promotion for him.

—The Northville Record, "the oldest newspaper in Wayne county outside of Detroit," has been sold by Richard T. Baldwin, its editor and publisher for the past eight years, to William H. Canfield of Howell, retiring editor of The Livingston County Press.

Mr. Canfield comes to Northville with an exceptional background. For several years he has been the editor and one of the owners of Howell's only newspaper, one of the best known county seat weeklies in Michigan.

The report card came back recently and Northville high school was awarded an "A" in department along with a few other grades of importance.

Serving as the marking teacher was the University of Michigan Bureau of School Services, which last December 11 sent a visitation team of 10 educators to Northville.

The tour and inspection of the high school, its facilities and its curriculum is a continuing service of the bureau.

Summing up general comments of the U-M team, Dell C. Boersma, consultant and assistant chairman of the North Central Association state committee, said:

"Written comments of the visitors strongly re-emphasize what was expressed orally on the day of our visit — the entire community of Northville can justifiably be proud of the fine student attitude that was evident to all of us. This is, of course, influenced largely by the attitude of administration and faculty toward the student body — one of sincere interest or as one visitor so aptly described, 'I was very pleased to find so many teachers in one high school who have the attitude that the student is the very reason for their existence.'"

Among the other general comments were these:

—In your efforts to continue at full pace, we urge that you find ways and means to provide the best educational experience for terminal students as well as college preparatory.

—The building is well-maintained; cleanliness was evident in all areas.

—Effective articulation for curriculum improvement, both among and between various grade levels, requires that department heads be given additional released time during the school day to perform this important function. Articulation is, of course, a common weakness identified with most of today's schools; providing time for effective attention to it is a necessary first step.

—Comprehensiveness of reading instruction would be increased by providing more help for the average and slow readers.

—It is most pleasing to know that the possibilities of conducting a cooperative training program with neighboring schools is being discussed.

In the area of counseling, the visitors were generally "very favorably impressed." However, they made four suggestions for improvement:

1. Addition of a full-time counselor or relieve the three counseling members of their teaching duties.

2. Re-examine the testing program. No achievement tests are given; they should be instituted at perhaps 10th and 12th grade levels.

3. Secretarial help is needed. At least a half-time and preferably a full-time adult secretary could be used to good advantage.

4. Increase activities in job placement, both for part time and full time positions.

The business education curriculum, the visitors commented, does not involve enough students.

Physical facilities, the visitors noted, need to be increased in the area of shop and drafting.

The visitors found the home-making department well equipped and offering a variety of projects, but they suggested that more college preparatory girls be enrolled.

Northville high school's library, the report card said, contained well-organized materials. Other commendations included: good location, excellent student usage, strong emphasis on paperback volumes, well organized student assistance program, and comprehensive and up-to-date vocational files.

Along with these commendations on the library, the visitors suggested:

1. Increased shelving and seating space;

2. Employment of an adult clerk to relieve the librarian of clerical duties that cannot be performed effectively by student assistants;

3. Provide more storage and functional facilities for magazines.

Social studies classes visited were found to be conducted "in a satisfactory manner with acceptable techniques," while the science and mathematics classes were termed "outstanding" or "very adequate."

Foreign language teachers "were well prepared," the visitors said while suggesting that "more thought" be given to audio visual aids.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

A drink of Northville spring water has become a rare pleasure.

That's the complaint registered by many thirsty travelers who remember the day when they would drive a mile or two out of their way for a swallow of cool Northville spring water.

"Everytime I drive through Northville there's a line of jugs waiting to be filled," grumbled Walt Rensel of Plymouth last week.

He walked into The Record office to suggest that a drinking faucet be attached to the existing spout so that thirsty passers-by could interrupt the jug-filling long enough for a quick drink.

"It's just a matter of plumbing," he explained. The Old Spring has attracted a host of customers from miles around for many years. During the past year, however, the spring flow has been reduced to a mere trickle of former days.

Sunday, for example, a 10-gallon milk can was being filled and the owner said he had timed the flow of the spring at a rate of one gallon every seven minutes.

Another user of spring water was waiting to fill the glass jugs shown atop the well. In 70 minutes she would start filling four or five gallon jugs — at seven minutes a jug.

As one disgusted user put it:
"It's enough to drive a person to (tap water) drink."

"Have a drink. It'll just be 70 minutes."

"A lot of people are wondering," says Bob Miller, "why the additional tax for the community college was 1.2 mills and not one mill as advertised when voted upon by the people."

It's a small thing, Miller admitted, but when a voter supports a one mill levy, that's what he should expect on his tax bill.

We agree. And actually, that's what the Levy is — one mill. But here's where the mumbo-jumbo comes in.

All school, county and township taxes are levied against state-equalized assessments. As you might suspect, these are slightly higher than local property assessments as recorded on tax bills.

When the "equalization factor" is applied, it increases your local property assessment. The millage is then multiplied times this new "state equalized" assessed valuation to determine the tax.

Another way to accomplish the same thing is to "equalize" the mill rate instead of the assessment. In the case of the community college mill, it then becomes 1.2 mills multiplied against your local assessment to determine the tax bill.

The city of Northville does not use state equalized valuations in levying its tax bills each summer. The city's tax rate is 12.5 mills and you can determine the exact amount of your tax by multiplying your local assessment by this rate.

It is, I believe, a credit to the city that it has maintained this policy. Many cities — Plymouth and Wixom among them — use inflated state equalized valuations to gain more dollars from the application of their individual mill rates.

Congratulations to the Northville Area Economic Development Corporation on its purchase of the old brick building at 123 West Main.

It's the second specific project undertaken by the non-profit group. Expansion of Foundry Flask & Equipment was number one.

The decision to buy the building resulted from a desire to take an initial step in a long-range program for improvement of the city's commercial district.

Seek Research to Boost Economy

LANSING — Short-term research which could lead to long-term gains for the state has been proposed to the 1964 Legislature.

Seven of the state's public colleges and universities would be designated to conduct the research. Each of the proposed 13 projects would be completed in less than two years and hopefully could improve or expand Michigan's business economy.

The request before the Legislature is to release previously appropriated funds totaling $480,055. The ultimate goal is to turn this investment into millions of dollars in new industry.

Something for everyone is the idea behind the proposals sponsored by the Economic Exansion Department and the legislative committee on economic growth. Studies included in the request range from the impact of tourism, to processing and utilization of freeze-dried eggs, to the demand for in-plant package manufacturing machinery, to Upper Michigan's wood resources.

In cost the proposed research varies from a six-month project with an estimated $6,500 expenditure, to a 12-month $100,000 study, and 24-month project which would cost $9,000.

Boiling down the various ideas for research projects held by various members of the university staffs took the better part of a year, said B. M. Conboy, head of the Eco-

Writing laws for a state is no easy job, but it carries with it an enviable power which has been exercised twice in the past four years. This is the power to raise one's own salary.

In 1960, one of the first years when legislators were on the job nearly year-round, the House and Senate members voted themselves a $1,250 pay hike, including salary and expenses. This brought them up to $5,000 salary and $1,250 expenses.

Two years ago a legislative pay hike also was approved. This set the salary at $7,000 per year but retained the previous expense sum.

This year, if a pair of Detroit Democrats have their way the legislators who return in the 1965 session would be paid $10,000 a year in salary and be allowed $5,000 in expenses.

Rep. John Sobieski, chief sponsor of the proposal, might be the first to admit that his increases, particularly that for expenses, are high. He'll be happy with whatever raise he can get passed.

Sobieski's theory is that the job of writing Michigan's laws has become and should be full-time.

One admirable portion of Sobieski's proposal is a section to discourage chronic absenteeism. His bill would dock members $25 for each day's absence without cause.

House Speaker Allison Green has expressed the reality with regard to Sobieski's bill, Green, Kingston Republican, notes that whatever figure remains in the bill, if and when it clears the committee, would be approved in both houses. Green, and probably every other member, can think of "a

JUDGE: "It is crystal clear, I believe, that those bruises you suffered at the hands of your husband are indeed painful."

HUSBAND: "But Judge, I..."

(Judge Patchup turns his skolding eyes upon the husband, Mr. Beaterman, who shudders)

JUDGE: "Yes ... it is as clear as those black and blue marks. But my dear Mrs. Beaterman, it seems equally clear that you were a trifle too mundane when you insisted upon telling your lady friends that Mr. Beaterman likes to wear frilly, silk pink pajamas."

WIFE: "But Your Honor, I..."

(Judge lowers his busy eyebrows and scowls)

JUDGE: "Certainly the Bench recognizes the seriousness of the charges and countercharges, but I must point out that unless I get home soon I'll miss an engagement. (His foot instinctively touches the golf bag beneath the desk) Can't we look at this sensibly, like mature adults?"

(Whereupon the Judge rises, walks down stage and returns with two full glasses of milk)

JUDGE: "Now... (clears his throat) ... I want each of you to drink this milk... That's it, bottoms up." (Two minute intermission while milk is digested)

WIFE: "You know, John, it was a 'silly' thing for me to do, wasn't it?"

HUSBAND: "Oh, it wasn't so silly. It's my own fault. Mother told me long ago it wasn't right ... it was even kinda funny."

WIFE: "Oh, Darling, why don't we..."

HUSBAND: "Sweetheart"

Judge Patchup may be an imaginary character, but his brilliant method of patching up crumbling marriages someday may be standard practice.

The surprising new value of milk was made plain to me this past week in a letter from a South Lyon reader who referred to a report by Professor Kominoto, Japanese psychiatrist, who advocates a 5 o'clock milk break, particularly at home, to re-establish better relations between married couples.

Some married couples reportedly followed his suggestion and reported back a short time later that their marriages had become more harmonious than ever before.

And now another Japanese professor, this one a sociologist, prescribes a milk diet for separated couples "in order to re-establish a psychologically balanced personality pattern."

The implications of these reports are staggering:

If milk drinking orgies in divorce courts prove successful, how about milk for rowdy football fans, for Detroit school hallways, for Geneva and the UN arena, and for penal institutions.

I could go on and on with beautiful suggestions, but unhappily a cockroach is running around on the sugar: Somewhere recently I read that eventually sea water will replace milk ... and nowhere is cannibalism more abundant than in the sea.

Tax Cut — Inflation?

BABSON PARK, Mass. — Upturns in selected commodity prices, especially nonferrous metals, are causing concern in some quarters. These could be the first signs of a broad price breakthrough on the upside within a few years. Many are wondering whether this might be the forerunner of a new wave of inflation.

No two authorities define inflation in exactly the same way. The economist takes one point of view, the banker another, the manufacturer a third, and so on. But they all boil down to this: Inflation comes when the supply of money exceeds the supply of goods.

Such a situation occurs whenever there is a big enough increase in government or private credit to trigger higher prices and higher wages. It can also occur when there is an increase in the circulation of money, because this has the same effect that more money would have. In very recent years, careful money and credit management by the federal government — especially the Federal Reserve System — has kept inflation pretty much in check. Now that taxes are to be reduced substantially, it will be harder to hold inflation back.

I forecast that domestic wholesale commodity prices will show further strength in the months just ahead. I base this prediction on the following convictions: (1) Costs are high and will rise further, especially during the first half of 1964; (2) Profit margins are unrealistically small in certain instances; (3) demand, which is already heavy, will broaden considerably when the tax cut becomes effective.

But I want to point out too that these plus factors are very nearly offset in many cases by large world supplies of raw materials as well as by strong competitive pressures in individual industries, both in the U.S. and in leading producing nations abroad.

Public spending power could be increased by nearly $6 billion this year, once the tax bill becomes law. At first, this will spur the effort to raise the price level. But later, as the government applies the brakes in the form of higher interest rates and perhaps some credit restrictions manufacturers will likely have some second thoughts. I forecast we are not now headed for runaway price inflation.

However, in addition to price firming in industrial commodities, I look for a better tone in farm product quotations, though gains there will probably be limited. During the past couple of years we made some good dents in the huge surpluses of agricultural products our government has been holding. This was helped by expanding exports due to crop reverses in Europe. But the U.S. last year also produced more food and feedstuffs than ever before, so the surplus is still a problem. Hence, U.S. crop prices can hardly be expected to show great or lasting upturns. Whatever gains over 1963 do occur will result from smaller livestock marketings and heavy purchases of grains for shipment abroad, including those to Russia and her satellites.

While wholesale prices of both agricultural and industrial commodities are moving up, what will happen to prices at retail and to living costs? I believe 1964 will see more of the same type of creeping inflation that we have had during the last few years. Heavy total government spending (at all levels) is a big factor in this year-to-year boost in consumer prices and living costs. Waste and inefficiency in both government and private business are also important. Hence I see no early end to the steady decline in the purchasing power of the dollar.

Don't be fooled by talk of government economy. Total spending by public agencies will climb in coming years — even though controls may ease the impact. Inflation is by no means dead. In the early 1970s; if not before, it could be our country's Number One Problem!
