

Defends Township

Merriam Disputes Clark Annex Letter

Seventy-five Northville township residents who received letters last week concerning the advantages of annexation to the city were told this week that "the grass isn't green" in the city.

Supervisor R. D. Merriam replied to a letter mailed to township residents living along the western boundary of the city by George Clark, Merriam's predecessor as the township supervisor.

Clark, who lives at 849 West Main street in the township, listed 26 points of information concerning township status and generally concluded that residents of the area polled would be better off living under city government jurisdiction.

Supervisor Merriam admitted this week that he and his fellow board members are perturbed by Clark's proposals.

In his letter to the residents Supervisor Merriam said:

"Recently the question of annexation of certain portions of the Township to the City of Northville has been raised. The thesis being that the City would then be able to immediately service those areas with water and sanitary sewers.

"Such is not the case. The city has no reserve to build either water or sewer systems in newly acquired areas. Such service is usually provided by the subdivider and charged back as a portion of the cost on each lot affected. In built-up areas such service is provided on petition of the affected property owners and a special assessment district is set up with the property owners paying for the entire cost of the improvement. This cost may be spread over a period of from 15 to 20 years with the unpaid balance accumulating interest at 6%.

"Water or sewer systems may be so constructed by the governing body, in this case Northville Township, or by the city in case of annexation. Annexation would mean the payment of the additional taxes now levied by Northville, in addition to the cost of the system so built.

"In building up a township public works department, rates for supplying water and for sewage disposal would be such that they would furnish the necessary revenue to support the department. No additional cost would fall upon the township at large.

"State laws do give the city more powers to serve the needs of the people than they give to a township, and this additional power includes the power to levy taxes without the consent of the voters. A township can only raise taxes by means of an election at which the voters have the right to decide upon the merit of the expenditure proposed.

"The township now has the same fire departmental service as the city and the cost of this is not reflected in the 1.2 mills now assessed by the township.

"Township officials will be glad to discuss the merits of remaining in the township with its very small tax rate with any interested parties."

The 75-home area receiving letters from Supervisor Merriam and Clark includes Taft Colony and Hillcrest Manor subdivisions and extends south to Main street. It also includes properties along the east side of Clement between Main and Seven Mile road.

Boards to Air Soil Removal, Rezoning Plans

Northville township's planning and appeals boards will meet in consecutive sessions Friday night to consider two land development requests and an amendment to the zoning ordinance.

The development proposals must go before the appeals board because each requires removal of soil in preparing the sites for subdivision projects.

The zoning ordinance amendment is being drafted by Township Attorney James Littell and would eliminate all "public use" districts (now article nine of the township zoning ordinance) and rezone them R-1-E (residential estates).

Appeals Board Chairman Gunnar Stromberg said the board would consider a plat for a 192-home development on the east side of Bradner north of Elk road.

The property is owned by Alex Gordon and has been held for several years as a prospective development site. A spokesman for the Wonderland Realty company, which will handle project sales, described the land as "uneven" and said soil moving and removal would be required on the 100-acre site.

Supervisor R. D. Merriam estimated that some 240,000 yards of sand would be removed if the request is approved. The petitioners stated that the sand would not be hauled out on Bradner road, but that a road would be constructed from the property directly to Five Mile.

A sewer was constructed in the area to serve the potential development several years ago, but water was unavailable. Detroit water service is now planned to the area through a line serving the Wayne County Training school.

Stromberg reported another request for soil removal from the Fruehauf company and the Five R's Excavating company. According to Supervisor Merriam some 160 acres south of Six Mile and east of Bradner has been leased from Robert Haass. The supervisor estimated that the request would permit removal of some 850,000 yards of sand.

No plan for future development of the land accompanied the latter request.

Stromberg said that both the township engineer and planning consultant would be asked to review the requests before taking final action.

Serving as both appeals board and planning commission chairman, Stromberg indicated the former board would meet at 7 p.m. and that a meeting of the planners would be called at 8 p.m.

Incumbents Win in Novi

All three Novi council incumbents were returned to office Monday as 581 of the village's 2,000 qualified electors went to the polls.

Re-elected in order of their votes were: Philip Anderson, 361; Joseph Crupi, 345; and Dean Lenheiser, 303.

The three defeated challengers and their votes were Miss Eugenie Choquet, 242; Herbert Koester, 197; and Frank Mobarak 171.

Hearing Date May Change

The city council this week proposed a change in the date of the hearing for Sergeant Andrew Cain from March 17 to March 31.

The new date was suggested after the attorney representing the officer objected to March 17.

City Attorney Philip Ogilvie said Tuesday that he had received no reply to the proposed change.

Sergeant Cain was dismissed by the city manager and is appealing the dismissal to the city council.

Supt. R. H. Amerman Announces Retirement

R. H. Amerman — He'll Step Down After 38 Years

Long School Career to End In June, 1965

(See Highlights of Amerman's 37 Years in School System on Page One, Section Two)

Russell H. Amerman, superintendent of Northville public schools since April, 1933 and an administrator in the system since 1927, announced Monday night that he will retire in June, 1965.

Amerman submitted his resignation letter to the board of education at its regular meeting.

The board was not surprised by the announcement. It had been anticipated since the superintendent signed a three-year contract in 1962.

Amerman chose this early date "in order that the school board may have ample time to decide on a successor."

Board President William B. Crump accepted for the board "with extreme regrets" and revealed that the board had been aware of Amerman's desire to retire.

Speculation as to a possible successor was partially answered by the board's announcement that the position is open to all qualified applicants.

A published time-table for interviewing applicants would seem to indicate that the board has not given special consideration to any specific individual.

The board said it will name a successor in March, 1965.

Amerman joined the Northville system in 1927 as high school principal and science teacher. He took over as superintendent in April, 1933 when Superintendent Thad Knapp died. He has been associated with the school system longer than any other member of the faculty, administrator or employee.

In his letter of resignation addressed to Board Secretary Wilfred C. Becker Amerman said:

"When I signed my last three-year contract as Superintendent of the Northville Public Schools, you were made aware that I would reach retirement age during the third year, and that I fully expected to retire at the conclusion of this contract, June 30, 1965.

"I believe it wise to officially announce at this time that I will retire at the conclusion of my contract, in order that the school board may have ample time to decide on a successor.

"At the conclusion of this contract I will have served the Northville schools since 1927, six years as high school principal and thirty-two as your superintendent. These have been happy years and I am grateful to the people of Northville who have been so kind to me.

"Mrs. Amerman and I expect to continue to make our home in Northville and I shall never lose interest in the welfare of this school system. If ever as a private citizen I can be any assistance, please call me.

"Please accept this notice of my retirement, effective June 30, 1965."

The board of education letter of acceptance was signed by President Crump. It said:

"The Board of Education, with extreme regrets, accepts the announcement of the proposed retirement of Superintendent Amerman. His thirty-seven years of conscientious and highly competent service to this district will probably never be matched. He has had the largest part in building the district from a small country district to a large well organized consolidated district. Retirement for him has been well earned, but this community will surely miss his talents.

"The Board has been aware of Mr. Amerman's wish to retire in 1965, and after thoughtful discussion has decided on the following timetable for the selection of the new superintendent:

September — Publication of intent to receive applications. October & November — Receive applications from qualified candidates.

December & January — Review applications and conduct personal interviews.

February — Final review of candidates.

March — Selection of the superintendent.

"Interested administrators groups and service organizations will be contacted, and qualifications for the position will be published. Applications will be received only through the applicant's accrediting institution."

Center Street Improvements Hit New Snag

The city council held public hearings on Monday and Tuesday evenings at the community building to consider improvements to West, Butler, Pennell, Maplewood and Center streets.

In all cases the council approved initial proceedings, although objections were heard on Monday night regarding West street and on Tuesday night regarding Maplewood and Center streets. There were no objections to the Butler, Pennell project.

A surprising twist developed in the proposed Maplewood and Center street improvement projects after the hearing had presumably closed.

The result may be the complete elimination of water and sanitary sewer improvements on Center, and possibly a change in plans on installation of water and sanitary sewer service on Maplewood.

After the hearing the council learned from the developers of the subdivision to which Maplewood and Center serve as border streets that they objected to payment of water and sanitary service charges on a "benefit" basis. The subdividers said the charges should be divided 50-50.

In the case of water and sanitary sewer the city has made charges on the basis of lots benefited. As a result, the St. Lawrence property on North Center is assessed for two lots, while the new subdivision across the street is charged for six lots benefited.

The objection prompted the council to direct the city manager to direct the city man-

Township Eyes Police Service

While Supervisor R. D. Merriam was defending the township's ability to provide services this week (see above), he admitted concern over lack of adequate police protection.

At the same time the supervisor revealed a plan that would offer 24-hour police patrol by the Wayne county sheriff's department at a cost of approximately $50,000 annually.

Merriam said he had made only preliminary investigation into the idea, but that he had learned that the township could obtain around-the-clock sheriff's patrol service if it would pay all costs.

Such service would involve a car in the area at all times with two men on duty afternoons and evenings and one man days. This would require five full-time men. Weekend and vacation relief would probably add the salaries of two more men to the cost, the supervisor estimated.

Sheriff's patrolmen are paid $6,200 per year, Merriam stated. In addition the township would have to purchase the patrol car and pay for operation.

Supervisor Merriam said other townships are buying this service and he suggested that there was a possibility that Northville and Plymouth township, being only half townships in size, could make an agreement to share the cost of the service.

The matter of police protection came up for discussion at last week's township board meeting when Supervisor Merriam quoted statistics regarding escapes from area hospitals and institutions. He said there had been a total of 363 escapes from DeHoCo, Wayne County Training School and Northville State Hospital during the past year with only 231 apprehensions.

Winter's Final Fling?

Old Man Winter refuses to give up easily. After a balmy Saturday that had most people thinking of spring, winter tip-toed quietly back and deposited a blanket of snow in the early Sunday morning hours. Tuesday winter returned with vengeance. Several inches of snow paralyzed traffic, but surprisingly no accidents were reported. Public works trucks were kept busy plowing streets and police had traffic problems where cars and trucks were stalled on hills. In the picture above three trucks are stuck on the Eight Mile road by-pass near Center street. Traffic on the by-pass was jammed from Eight Mile at Taft back to Center. When county plows failed to arrive, city work crews were sent to clear away the snow.

Citizen Planners Would Aid Schools

While formal announcement of Superintendent Russell Amerman's forthcoming retirement highlighted Monday's meeting, a proposal for establishment of a continuing planning committee took the lion's share of the board of education's discussion.

The proposal, representing the thinking and recommendation of both Board President William Crump and Trustee William Templeton, was introduced by Crump at the three-hour meeting.

It calls for establishment of an over-all planning body, composed of citizens and school officials, to study, assimilate and analyze data, and advise the board of education on trends and needs of the school system.

After a lengthy discussion of the proposal, the board decided to "think it over" until the next meeting. At that time, if the board favors organization of the group, a special committee is to be appointed to establish framework for the committee.

Crump and Templeton suggested establishment of the organization to pave the way for smoother and more efficient operation of the school system through careful planning on both a short-range and a long-range basis.

Specifically, the two men envision a planning committee made up of approximately 31 citizens, the seven administrators and the seven board members. Committee members, they suggested, would be assigned to special areas of responsibilities, although findings in each area would necessarily be related.

These areas of responsibilities, said the two officials, might cover — evaluation of graduates' use of and value gained from their study in the local school system; curriculum; population, (i.e., students, location, etc.); personnel and salary; transportation; facilities and operations and financing.

The two board members pointed out that the number of committee members as suggested are purely arbitrary and that other areas of responsibility may have been overlooked.

They emphasized that the success of such a planning program, if it is to be a continuing one, will be the establishment of a sound framework by an intermediate group. Harmony and enthusiasm are essentials, they added.

Crump explained that need for a planning committee is becoming more and more evident as the growth of the school system picks up steam. He suggested that three types of planning are needed: current planning, which is primarily the function of the administration; intermediate, which covers a period up to five in the future; and long-range, covering from five to 10 years in the future.

First reactions by fellow board members and administrators gave emphasis to the plan's necessity. However, it was obvious as the discussion progressed that changes in the plan, plus a careful study of a possible framework, will be forthcoming before a planning committee is set into motion. Specifically, officials voiced fear that planning studies may possibly become too involved and detailed and that a large share of the leg-work would fall to the administrators.

In other business Monday, the board approved membership of a somewhat related committee — that of a school bus committee, which has been charged with the task of studying transportation problems and trends and suggesting methods of updating, improving and economizing the transportation system.

Membership of the committee, as approved by the board, includes Robert Reganhardt, Mrs. Muriel Ross, Mrs. Billie Thomas, Mrs. John Stuyvenberg, Mrs. E. F. Trombley, Mrs. John Hahn, Mrs. Virginia

Talk on Vietnam Set

The Northville - Plymouth Branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom will meet at 8 p.m. Monday, March 16, at the home of Mrs. Rodney Grover, 361 Wing street, Northville. A discussion of the dilemma facing the United States in the Vietnam conflict will precede a legislative letter-writing session. The League opposes any extension of the war into North Vietnam, and has long urged that action be taken to bring about a constructive settlement by negotiation. The background of the Vietnamese conflict is an intricate and confusing one which is not well known to most Americans. This meeting will attempt to provide sound information on which to base proposals for constructive action.

THE CLUB ON THE HILL — as the turquoise-and-white Bermuda-like building of the Northville Swim Club is becoming known — already is in the midst of preparations for its first full season.

Come June, the club will be off to a "fun season" as three parties to mark opening week are planned: a catered event for adults, a teenagers' splash party and a children's party.

Mrs. Frederick B. Hartt, membership chairman holds high hopes that she soon will have the 60 new memberships needed to operate "with frills". Most anticipated possible extra will be a deck picnic-area on the south side of the building — to take full advantage of the breathtaking hilltop view. (Last year a non-swimming member was reputed to have joined solely to "soak in" the magnificent panorama.) Plans also include improvements for the parking area.

The nucleus group that launched the family-oriented club last season already is awaiting Memorial Day resumption of activity. Interested families who would like to know more about the in-town Club next to Northville high school are invited to call Mrs. Hartt at FI-9-0845 evenings or week ends.

KENYON COLLEGE SINGERS, who are to appear in a concert at 8:30 p.m. March 18 at Veterans Memorial building, Detroit, will have in the audience two especially interested Northville families.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Gazlay, 221 South Rogers, will be there to hear son Chris, a Kenyon freshman, sing in the choir. They will have Chris and two classmates, Barry Wood of Honolulu, Hawaii, and James Snell of Libertyville, Illinois, as overnight guests afterward.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Heckerl, 511 Reed, plan to be on hand to hear Mrs. Heckerl's brother, James Atkinson of Palos Verdes Estates, California. He is a Kenyon senior and a soloist with the Singers, who are on a spring tour which will take them east to Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The concert is to include college, folk and religious songs. Kenyon is a liberal arts college at Gambier, Ohio.

NORTHVILLE'S BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL women are operating at full volunteer force running an "apron factory" to turn out 500 glamorous aprons for the national convention to be held July 19-23 in Detroit. In addition, the busy ladies are brewing an intriguing cup of tea these days.

A "teaser" from Mrs. Marcella Douglas, 212 South Rogers, reads, "For a change of pace, introduce B.P.W. Glamour Tea the next time you entertain... It is a pleasing beverage in winter because of its smooth and warming attributes, in spring because of its distinctive and fragrant aroma, in summer because of its refreshing and delectable savor, in autumn because of its invigorating and mellow flavor."

Mrs. Douglas is selling the recipe for 25 cents, benefitting the business women, of course. A hint, it is a citrus brew with seven ingredients!

In Town Hall Series March 19

Humor Columnist to Speak Here

Called by the Time Magazine "The most successful humorous columnist in the United States," Art Buchwald comes to Northville Thursday, March 19, as the featured Northville Town Hall Series speaker.

His 11 a.m. address at the P & A Theatre will be the fourth speech by famous lecturers and writers in the 1963-1964 season. The Town Hall series is sponsored by Our Lady's League of Our Lady of Victory Church.

"I couldn't put it down ... the best book to be published this year." This humble review by Art Buchwald author of the recent "I Chose Capitol Punishment," was among the many favorable notices it received.

After 14 years abroad, Buchwald set up shop in the nation's capital where he has a good vantage point from which to view the political scene at home and abroad. This sojourn has added new lustre to his well-earned reputation as one of the funniest and most popular American innocents abroad.

His hilarious news columns are syndicated in more than 180 papers around the world; in fact, he has been called the most comic American observer of the European scene since Mark Twain. And his Washington by-lines show he's no slouch at seeing the humor in his own country as well.

During his "French period" Buchwald was everyone's favorite American in Paris. He rivaled the Eiffel Tower as a prime tourist target. He's one of those favored people because he came to his happy position seemingly, without sweat. An unusually shiny talent helped, though.

Born in Westchester and raised on Long Island, he left home in 1942 and enlisted in the Marines. There he gained his early journalistic experience in the Pacific Theater, editing his company newspaper on Eniwetok, where he was stationed for three and a half years. He also did a brief stint at public relations for the Special Services branch.

The University of Southern California welcomed his talents after his discharge from service. He was managing editor of the college humor magazine, columnist for its paper and author of one of its variety shows. But he didn't bother to wait around for graduation; instead he bought a one-way ticket to France with his war bonus check. When his money ran out, he accepted a job as a correspondent for the show-business weekly, Variety.

Early in 1949, he took a trial column to the editorial offices of the European edition of the New York Herald Tribune. Entitled "Paris After Dark," it was filled with scraps of off-beat information about Parisian night life.

The editors liked it. He was hired. By 1952, his column, by then called "Europe's Lighter Side," was syndicated in the American press. The rest of the story is known to almost everyone who picks up a newspaper. Today Mr. Buchwald's column has achieved "an institutional quality," as Time magazine put it.

Although Paris was his beat, Buchwald would go anywhere, and do almost anything, to gather the raw material for his columns. He has marched in a May Day parade in East Berlin, chased goats up and down the mountains of Yugoslavia, climbed trees to get a better view of the races at Longchamps, travelled all the way to Turkey to get a firsthand impression of a Turkish bath.

On one occasion, he made a three-week trip behind the Iron Curtain in a limousine driven by a uniformed chauffeur. In his columns he explained that he had made the trip in the "interests of science" and to show the Communists what a "bloated, plutocratic capitalist really looked like."

Buchwald has to his credit nine published books. One, "A Gift From the Boys," is a novel but the others are collections of his columns, notably, "I Choose Caviar," "More Davi," "Don't Forget to Write," "How Much Is That in Dollars," "Is It Safe to Drink the Water," and most recently "I Chose Capitol Punishment."

Bride Elect Feted Here

A tea and bridal shower in honor of Laurie Chabut, a student at Michigan State university, was given at the home of Mrs. James Cowie, 845 Horton street, on Saturday afternoon.

Hostess for the event was Mrs. Boris Dimitroff (the former Susan Cowie of Northville), a close friend of the bride-to-be. Miss Chabut will be married on March 21 at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Some 18 guests attended the shower, which saw Miss Chabut receive many lovely gifts.

We're making the sidewalks softer this year

Do a lot of walking, do you? Pay attention ... Hush Puppies casuals are made of soft brushed pigskin, the air conditioned leather. Crepe soles make you feel light-footed. There's a steel shank inside each shoe for support. Now watch this. A quick brisk brushing keeps them looking comfortable. Hush Puppies are water-resistant—they dry soft if you get them wet. And if your children are tough on shoes, they've met their match in Hush Puppies. See the new Hush Puppies comfortable casuals at your shoe dealer's. (He's using the soft sell approach.)

Over 100 styles and colors from youngsters' size 10 (about 6 9/5 to 9 5/5) to women's size 14 and men's size 14 (about 8 1/2 to 10 1/2). Some stores have Hush Puppies hats, about $15. Hush Puppies handbags, about $4.

Planners will consider the deletion of the "public use" portion of the zoning ordinance. The proposed amendment must be published and considered at a public meeting, Stromberg noted.

Specifically, amending the ordinance to change all "public use" classifications to R-1-E would throw all public institutions in the township into a non-conforming status. It would then require action by the appeals board to permit any of the institutions to expand present facilities, or convert their use, such as the proposed "half-way house" plan at Maybury sanatorium which failed to materialize.

Wixom Council Discusses Urban Renewal, Zoning

Urban Renewal and zoning concepts were discussed briefly at a 40-minute session of the Wixom city council Tuesday night.

Mayor Wesley McAtee reported that the city has received a telegram from Washington stating that Wixom has been approved for a survey to determine feasibility of an urban renewal study for the downtown area.

Councilman Gunnar Mettala outlined cluster zoning concepts that in some areas have permitted developers to build on smaller-than-required lots if the balance of the subdivision contained parks or recreation areas. It was pointed out that commissioners and council members now merely were studying cluster-concept merits and that to be adopted the city council would have to take action.

Cluster-zoning was lauded by Councilman R. W. Lahti, who pointed out that this "relatively new" concept in zoning has produced some very desirable developments.

Because Wixom also had a primary election this spring, Clerk Pearl Willis requested additional funds to cover the upcoming general election. Mayor McAtee stated that each election costs at least $173. Additional funds were voted to be taken from the legal expenses budget.

The council also studied a request from Robert Vollmer on behalf of the planning commission that distribution plans for the master plan booklet be outlined in the city's next letter to householders, probably a spring clean-up promotion.

Mayor McAtee reported he had received an informal bid for construction of a lavatory addition for approximately $950, "considerably less" than bids studied at the last meeting. The council questioned whether this would include heat and electrical connections.

It was decided to post notices from the Wixom PTA informing that a millage-information meeting would be held March 19 before the March 30 election and also an appeal from the Walled Lake high school for backers for "Guys and Dolls" to be presented April 9, 10, 11.

Mayor McAtee informed the council that the clerk has four applications for alternates for the board of canvassers.

LET'S TALK CARS . . .

WHAT IS A GOOD DEAL?
It is pretty much standard practice for many people thinking of buying a used car to "shop" several dealers to get the lowest price. We have nothing against the common sense procedure, PROVIDING the purchaser knows that price is but one of the things he must weigh in buying intelligently.

How he can be fooled on price alone was illustrated recently in an incident related in an automotive trade paper. The customer wanted a particular year and model of used car but couldn't be persuaded to pay more than the very low (and fictitious) price he had seen advertised in a large, nearby city.

After considerable haggling during repeated visits the dealer finally agreed to meet his customer's price ($125 less than the dealer was asking for a quality used car) on a "similar" car he had coming in the next day.

The sale was promptly closed with the customer beaming "I knew you fellows would come around." He then examined the second car (which looked identical) and signed the papers. It was not until then that the dealer, who happily was a reputable businessman, informed his customer that the second car was a former taxi with 87,000 miles on the speedometer (against 23,000 miles on the first car) which he had planned to wholesale.

Offered his money back, the customer wisely decided an additional $125 was a bargain price for a car with 88% of its life ahead of it against one with 80% of its life gone.

FREE THROW CHAMP—Northville's Dan Bishop holds the trophy emblematic of the free throw champ. His name will also be inscribed on the plaque for converting 29 of 48 free throws for a 62.7 percentage. Dan, a varsity guard, tallied the highest mark among freshmen, junior varsity and varsity cagers. Runner-up was Lance Hahn, followed by the junior varsity's Steve Evans. The trophy is donated annually by a local businessman to encourage greater accuracy at the line.

Ex-Yankee Bats .400 With Boys at WCTS

Bob Kuzava, a former New York Yankee relief pitcher, visited the Wayne county training school last week. He showed a movie, "How a Tiger Wins His Stripes."

Some 150 boys heard his talk and saw the color movie, which depicted the life of a young ballplayer trying to become a major leaguer. It also showed the facilities at Tiger-town.

Following the movie and short speech, Kuzava answered questions posed by boys in the audience. "His many years in baseball plus his sincere interest in young adults made his presentation one that the

Basketball Coach Reviews Prospects

Sees Silver Lining in Cloudy Season

Hope springs eternal in the hearts of basketball coaches.

It's no different with Mustang Mentor Dave Longridge, whose cagers just finished the season with a 5-11 season slate, 5-9 in loop play, and wound up with a loss in the first round of the district tournament.

Already Longridge is looking forward to next season with high hopes of improvement. And there seems to be justification for his optimism.

It won't be an easy matter, Longridge noted, but with good planning and hard work by all, the 1964-65 version of the Northville Mustangs could be a much improved outfit.

One thing is evident at this point. If experience gives a team an advantage, then the future Mustangs should be even or one-up in the Wayne-Oakland conference next year.

Only four seniors on this year's varsity squad will be lost through graduation. They are Forwards Lance Hahn, Jim Mazel and Ron Rice and Guard Dan Bishop.

With the departure of these cagers, Longridge loses three top scorers in Mazel, Hahn and Bishop, but if the returning veterans come of age, they could take up the slack.

Seven varsity cagers, all of whom saw action the past season, will be returning to apparently form the nucleus of next year's squad. Included in this group are most of Northville's top rebounders and a top scorer, Jerry Insland.

Backing up Insland, who is only a sophomore, will be juniors Tom Wicke, Rick Milne, Jerry French, Jim St. Germain, Tim Krug and John Callaghan.

Three other players who saw action on the varsity and junior varsity teams will be contending for starting berths. They are Junior Tom Bingham and Sophomores John Jameson and Mark Cushing.

Three other cagers cited by Longridge for their improved play this year are also high on his list of hopefuls.

One is Steve Evans, a mainstay with the JV's. "I'm impressed with those big hands of his, which are especially important on the court," noted Longridge.

Another comer is George Burchfield. In Longridge's terms, he is a hustler, willing to work hard.

The other player who figures to be "a good one" is freshman Jim Zayt. Although he lacks experience, Longridge will take "a good look" at him next year.

"These are the boys who have distinguished themselves this year and who have given an indication that they have the potential," said the Mustang coach, "but we're not going to overlook any talent. Each and every one of some 30-odd boys will get an even chance to cop a berth."

According to Longridge, certain essential changes will be made in the training program to assure the maximum of success.

"We've learned through experience, that it is almost impossible to have two small guards on the court at the same time," he noted. "We just can't get away with it. Opponents shoot over our heads and that can kill us."

"The emphasis will be on speed," Longridge added. This change will require that players report to the first practice in better condition, able to move a lot faster.

"Most important of all will be the concentration on fundamentals. Longridge said that that includes dribbling, passing, movement and ballet.

"That's right, ballet," he said. "It's imperative that a player have rhythm and grace to make the right moves. That's how you get the jump on an opponent, he emphasized.

"This will also help us on defense," Longridge said. "And defense will have to be stressed, so we can give opponents the same treatment they gave to us much of the season."

"We hope to be able to press effectively with each man knowing definitely where to go."

To accomplish this mammoth task, Longridge said that he'll be available during the summer. "There'll be work this summer for all those interested ninth through twelfth graders."

As in all other pursuits, Longridge pointed out that you have to work hard to compete.

Bloomfield Hills 73-40
—In the season opener, the young Mustangs found the going rough as Bloomfield Hills employed an all court press to assume an early lead, and run away with the tilt.

West Bloomfield 58-43
—A close contest was turned into a rout in the final period as West Bloomfield won a contest punctuated by numerous whistles. The Lakers' Dan Graig was unstoppable.

Holly 62-63
—The Mustangs, scrapping for every point, won their first contest of the year by virtue of Lance Hahn's last-second free throw. Northville controlled the boards to pick up a 10 point lead which was nearly wiped out in the final stanza.

Plymouth 82-35
—A veteran Plymouth squad took complete advantage of the youthful local cagers. Trailing by only 15-10 at the end of the first quarter, Northville collapsed as the Rocks applied pressure.

Clarenceville 50-53
—Down by 11 points entering the final period, Northville played its best quarter of the season, scoring 17 to just six points for Clarenceville. The Trojans efforts to protect their lead back-fired as Northville got hot.

Milford 48-58
—With Center Jerry Insland pacing the Mustangs with 22 points, Northville obliterated visiting Milford with superior rebounding and aggressive play. By the end of the third period, it was all Northville as the local quint led by 13 points.

Brighton 32-56
—Leading by just one point at the outset of the second half, Northville finally gathered a head of steam in the second canto to win with ease. Brighton furnished weak opposition, not having won a game all year.

Clarkston 48-45
—Clarkston, undefeated pre-season favorite to cop the Wayne-Oakland conference crown, had its hands full with a determined Northville squad. Northville outplayed the Wolves for three quarters, but mis-cues at crucial points in the waning moments opened the door for Clarkston.

Willow Run 72-48
—A question of too many horses was settled early as Willow Run trounced Northville on its home court. After the all-out effort against Clarkston the previous night, the Mustangs looked tired as the Flyers claimed victory.

Bloomfield Hills 68-48
—A dismal fourth quarter show by Northville in which there were numerous mistakes boosted the visiting Barons to victory. The Mustangs were as close as five points to the lead, but then the nightmare of missed opportunities began and it was all Bloomfield Hills.

West Bloomfield 57-42
—That man, West Bloomfield's Dan Greig, worked his hard court magic to the tune of 28 points to lead his teammates to victory here. The smaller Lakers, fired with determination, outfigured the Mustangs to win going away.

Holly 75-52
—Holly evened the season score with Northville by averaging an earlier one-point loss to the local cagers. With the score knotted at 13-all, the Broncos zeroed in on the nets to hold a 43-22 half time margin.

Milford 59-61
—Northville did it the hard way on the road, coming from eight points behind in the final frame to eke out victory.

Clarenceville 65-51
—Northville made a game of it early in the second half when it closed to within four points, but Clarenceville spurred to wipe out the Mustang comeback effort. With Northville pressing much of the fourth quarter, the visitors pulled away.

Brighton 58-46
—Winless all season, Brighton played inspired ball to upend Northville. A 30-point performance by Brighton's Bruce Evenson, 14 of those points coming in the final quarter, turned the tide.

Clarkston 56-39
Orchard Lake St. Mary 67-56

BASEBALL? — That's right. Baseball workouts began Monday even though Northville had one of its worst snow storms of the season this week. Coach Chuck Shonta is putting his hopefuls through their paces in anticipation of the first game, only four and one-half weeks away. Here, they're going through those ever painful calisthenics in the local gym, hoping to move outside soon.

Youth Eyes State Contest

Terry LaRue, Northville high school debater, will compete in the state finals of the American Legion-sponsored oratorical contest on March 21.

The senior will be one of five contestants from throughout the state.

He earned the right to compete for the state championship by winning the Northville Post contest on February 28, the district tournament at the Myron H. Beals American Legion Post in Livonia on March 6, and by coping top honors in the March 8, third zone contest at Reese.

Locally, he competed with other Northville high school debaters to win the Lloyd H. Green Post award. At Reese he was one of five young people to speak.

The state contest — representing the 27th annual national high school oratorical contest sponsored by the American Legion — will hit a climax at the finals March 21. They'll be staged in Midland.

Last Saturday Northville high school's debate team was dropped from the regional tournament at Ann Arbor when it lost its first, sudden-death match with Pontiac Central. Central won by a 2 to 1 decision.

Northville entered regional competition after winning the district tourney at Eastern Michigan university last month.

CONGRATULATIONS — American Legion District Commander John Stiemel congratulates Terry LaRue upon the youth's victory recently at the zone oratorical contest. Terry will compete now in the state contest at Midland.

District Expansion, New Buildings Mark Amerman's Career

In September, 1927 Russell H. Amerman came to Northville to teach science and serve as the high school principal.

In June, 1965 he'll retire with 38 years of service in the Northville public school system and 32 years as its chief administrator (see page one story).

And in between these two dates Northville's system has grown from 800 students to 2,200, from 21 to more than 100 teachers, from an annual budget of $75,000 to $1,000,000 and from an assessed valuation of $2½ million to nearly $30 million.

Superintendent Amerman's term in office has also seen three modern school buildings erected. And before he closes the books on his long career, plans will undoubtedly be well underway for construction of another elementary building.

Well over half of Amerman's life has been spent in the Northville system ... and his accomplishments will leave a large pair of shoes to be filled by his successor.

The Northville superintendent was born in October, 1899 in Ypsilanti. He was a twin. The boys' mother died at birth and they were raised by grandparents on a farm near Belleville.

Amerman attended country schools and was graduated from Belleville high school.

In 1918 he signed up for the World War I draft. He was taking officer's training at Hillsdale college as a private when the war ended in November.

In 1922 after graduation from Hillsdale he married Florentine Comstock, a Hillsdale girl he had met in the church choir. (Coincidentally twin brother Robert Amerman married Florentine Comstock's sister and they now live in Montana and California.)

Amerman started his career in education in Montpelier, Ohio where he taught mathematics. After one year in Ohio he accepted a position as science teacher at Mineral Point, Wisconsin high school. The next year, 1924, he became principal of the high school.

Three years later Amerman joined the Northville system. He was principal of the high school (now the junior high school building) and taught science.

Northville's superintendent of schools in 1927 was William Gordon. He left the system in 1930 and was succeeded by Thad J. Knapp, who died of a heart attack in April, 1933.

Amerman was named as "acting superintendent" by the board at that time ... and he has held the position ever since.

The late Thad Knapp's widow still resides on Dunlap street in Northville and Amerman points to his experience under Knapp with great respect. "I learned more about administration in three years from Knapp than anytime in my life," Amerman recalls.

It didn't take long for Amerman to gain experience in school construction.

On Monday, January 13, 1936 at 5 a.m. a grade school building directly behind the present junior high school burned to the ground. It had just been remodelled as a WPA project.

A contract had been awarded to construct an addition to the building to meet growing elementary grade needs. But plans were scrapped and the present Main street school was then designed and completed by January, 1937.

Amerman remembers that the entire community volunteered to assist the school system in providing classroom space after the school fire.

The American Legion offered its building and it was used for a year. Classes were also held in the old bank building and other business places.

In 1952 five primary school districts in the area consolidated into the Northville system.

The district now includes some 32 square miles. Among the districts which were included in the consolidation were: Waterford at Bradner and Five Mile where the school building now serves as the township hall; DeKay district, west of Northville, a district that had sent its children here after its school burned down and then later voted to be annexed; Chapman district in Novi, the school still stands on Nine Mile near Taft; Hinman district on East Seven Mile near the State Hospital; Thayer district, Napier and Six Mile; and the last to annex, the Baseline School, west of Beck on Eight Mile near Maybury Sanatorium. Part of the Duffee district along Novi road in Novi later joined the Northville district after a split and consolidation in Novi.

In 1954 Northville constructed its first new school building in nearly 20 years. Appropriately, it was named Amerman Elementary.

A wing was added to the Amerman school in 1957 and at the same time a $3 million bond issue included funds for construction of the new high school and conversion of the old high school building for junior high use.

The life of a school superintendent is not always "peaches and cream", but Amerman has high praise for the support given the schools by Northville citizens. He's especially grateful that the system has always had boards of education composed of members of high character and ability.

He remembers trying times. He recalls that teachers were paid from $1300 to $1700 annually in 1927. Beginning salary for a principal was $2200. He was raised to $2500 after three years only to receive a cut to $1900 during the depression.

"All teachers took an average cut of 27 per cent in salaries during the depression," Amerman recalls.

Of the present teaching staff Leslie Lee, director of music, has the longest record of service next to Superintendent Amerman. He started in 1930.

Through the many crises that face all administrators ... finances, depression, war years, burned buildings ... Amerman has one bit of advice. It's applicable to all walks of life:

"Keep things in perspective," he suggests.

In addition to his busy life as school administrator and active participant in community and church affairs, Amerman has been a devoted family man.

Mr. and Mrs. Amerman are the proud parents of two children and five grandchildren. And it's a tribute to their father that his son and daughter both followed his career in education.

Mrs. George (Edythe) Mathews now lives in South Redford. She studied home economics at Hillsdale college in preparation for a teaching career, but has been kept busy as a housewife and mother of two children, James and Elaine. Son David Amerman is principal of Franklin high school in Livonia. He also attended Hillsdale college, was graduated from Eastern Michigan and received his master's degree in social studies at the University of Michigan. The David Amermans have three children, Linda, Kurt and Alison.

Schoolcraft Eyes College Conclave

Schoolcraft College will be represented at the 44th Annual Convention of the American Association of Junior Colleges, meeting in Bal Harbour, Florida, March 31 through April 2.

Those attending will include Dr. Eric J. Bradner, president, and four College Trustees, Leroy C. Bennett, Mrs. Jane K. Moehle, Paul Mutnick and L. Clarke Oldenburg.

This convention is particularly significant to Schoolcraft College, for among the subjects to be discussed are engineering and industrial technological programs, transfer to four-year institutions, and counseling programs in the community college.

Meetings of special importance for trustees will provide information particularly pertinent to newly-developing colleges. In view of the fact that total community college enrollments for 1963 stand at 950,000 nearly a 15% increase over 1962, national attention is being focused upon this convention.

Federal Legislation enacted in 1963 which will spur additional growth in college education will be discussed as will the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963, which provides sizeable amounts of money for community college construction.

Do you know the "5 Rights" of giving medicine? Do you know the numerous ways of using common household articles to improvise sick room aids? And how about that all important matter of recognizing symptoms of illness? When and why does a patient go to bed, what does bed rest mean and how to keep the patient comfortable: these are a few of the skills covered in the Red Cross course.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Reverend Paul E. Barnes
First Baptist Church of Novi

William Hurburg, in his book "Protestant, Catholic, and Jew" discovered that a great percentage of the American people believe in God, Jesus Christ, and want to go to heaven. However, one does not have to be a great sociologist or theologian to discover that the majority of people want to go to heaven when they die. Now, the important question is this: "To which church should I belong to best insure my chances of going to heaven?" In other words, which church saves?

The story is told of a rich man who had lived a long life with little regard for religion, God, or a hereafter. As death moved in to claim his life, he suddenly became very concerned about death and heaven. Not sure just what he should do, he arranged for a Roman Catholic Priest, a Greek Orthodox Priest, and five Protestant Ministers to officiate at his funeral.

Now, I am sure that you would not do that, but nevertheless you might wonder which church is going to get you to heaven. Here is the Catholic Church with its claim of being the one true church, and here is the Protestant Church with its many divisions. Some churches emphasize rituals and ceremonies as essential for salvation; others do not. Some churches are liberal in their theology and some are conservative. Too, some churches are considered modernistic and some evangelical or fundamental churches. So, which one is best? Which one will get me to heaven?

Contrary to what some of you might think, I have no desire to change you to Baptists, which is what I happen to be. My main concern is that you share the same peace that I have - namely, having the assurance of going to heaven. Or, as we sometimes say, being "saved". To have this assurance, you do not have to be either Catholic or Protestant. Nor do you have to be Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian or any other certain denomination. For, you see, the church as such has absolutely no power whatsoever to save you or to insure your going to heaven!

Am I certain of this? Absolutely, and I shall quote the Word of God, the Bible, as my authority. "Neither is there salvation in any other; for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." (Acts 4:12)

Salvation, the Bible says, is through the Lord Jesus Christ, and not through the church. "Thou shalt call His name Jesus; for He (Not the minister or the church, but "He" - Jesus Christ) shall save His people from their sins." (Matt. 1:21)

Therefore, if you want to know you are saved and are going to heaven, then remember that salvation is a gift (not earned) offered to you by Jesus Christ and made possible by His death on the cross. If you are wondering which church you should attend, be sure it is a church that teaches the death, burial, resurrection, and Second Coming of Christ as taught in Scripture by Saint Paul. (1 Cor. 15: 1-4) "For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." (1 Corinthians 3:11)

First in Northville Squadron

2 Civil Air Patrol Cadets Promoted to Lieutenants

Two Northville Civil Air Patrol cadets were promoted to the rank of second lieutenant Thursday evening — the first cadets in the Northville squadron ever to reach officer standing.

They are Elwyn Kaake and Robert Parmenter, both of whom previously held ranks of master sergeant.

The two big promotions, along with award presentations to other cadets, were made in a surprise ceremony in the American Legion hall before an assembly of parents, brothers and sisters, and friends.

Both Parmenter and Kaake also receive the clasp for the C.O.P. ribbon. Lieutenant Kaake has been a member of the squadron since July 19, 1962, receiving his certificate of proficiency on December 31, 1963. He was awarded his observer wings on October 14, 1963.

Lieutenant Parmenter has been a member since August 21, 1962, also receiving his certificate of proficiency on December 31. He was awarded his observer wings on July 23, 1963, and he is a member of the Michigan Wing Cadet Council, which represents Group 10 of the Civil Air Patrol.

Kaake is the squadron's cadet commander, and Parmenter is cadet adjutant.

Other awards presented last week included:

—Two clasps for the C.O.P. ribbon to Second Lieutenant William Cleland, one of the two pilots for the squadron. He has been a member since 1960 and is the squadron's aero-space teacher.

—Recruiting ribbons for recruiting two cadets to CMSgt Russell Schoof, C. AIC Paul Tabor and C. A3C Ray Parmenter.

—Promotion from C. A3c to C. 2c, a clasp for red training ribbon and duty assignment of squad leader to Robert Hardesty.

Presentation of awards and promotions were made by Captain Robert Parmenter, squadron commander, the squadron's other pilot, Lieutenant Andrew Orphan, and Lieutenant Cleland.

The presentation was highlighted when Kaake and Parmenter stood at attention as their chevrons were cut from the sleeves of their uniforms. Neither boy was aware that he was to receive the lieutenant's bars.

Following the ceremony, refreshments were served and parents, officers and cadets enjoyed a pleasant get-together.

Child Guidance Clinic Questions and Answers

(In September, 1963, the Northwestern Child Guidance Clinic was placed in operation to serve the sixteen communities encompassed in the nineteen school districts (including Northville) in Northwestern Wayne County. This is the last of three articles providing information about the Clinic. It is presented in the interest of promoting better understanding among those who will visit and use the Clinic as well as those who will want to make contributions to its support. More information may be obtained from Mrs. Crispin Hammond, FI 9-0116 group chairman).

Q: Do all children referred to the Clinic receive treatment?

A: Not always. After initial diagnostic studies are completed it is sometimes found the child is not really emotionally disturbed and not in need of treatment. In other cases, the nature of the problem may appear to acute that hospitalization is recommended. However, the vast majority of the cases are treated by the Clinic staff.

Q: How should I tell my child about the Clinic?

A: The way your child feels about coming to the clinic will have a great deal of influence on the extent to which the Clinic can help him. Many children, if not given some explanation in advance, believe they are going to get a "shot" as in a doctor's office, or that the Clinic will be like a school, or perhaps even a police station. Some children think they are being taken to the Clinic to be punished for being bad, and some even fear that the Clinic will not let them return home. What you actually tell your child will vary in each case, according to the child's age, type of problem, and other things. It is usually best to be as frank as possible with him about why he is coming, in terms that he can understand.

Q: Are there fees or charges for the service of the Clinic?

A: No fee is charged for the first interview and no child is denied care because of the inability of the parents to pay. Generally speaking a moderate fee is charged if the parents can afford one. The amount may vary from fifty cents to fifteen dollars depending upon income, the number of children in the family and other financial obligations. It is recognized that few families can afford the full cost of the kind of care offered by the Child Guidance Clinic.

Q: Who provides the additional money?

A: The basic policy of the State Department of Mental Health requires that sixty per cent of the funds for the support of the Clinic come from the local community. After July 1, 1964, it is expected that about forty per cent of our funds will be appropriated by the legislature and made available to us through the payment of the salaries of certain staff members.

Local funds have come from the majority of our school districts whose boards have contributed twenty-five cents per enrolled child, from the United Foundation, and from the gifts of individuals and civic groups throughout the area.

Q: How can I contribute to the support of the Clinic?

A: Since all Child Guidance Clinics must receive sixty per cent of their support from the local communities they serve, you may provide direct or indirect support in several ways:

1. Become a contributing member by sending a gift to the Clinic.
2. Encourage your school board to continue support of the Clinic each year through their contribution of twenty-five cents per enrolled child.
3. Encourage your local government to support the Clinic by contributing five cents for each member of the community.

The staff of the Northwestern Child Guidance Clinic is dedicated to helping emotionally disturbed children throughout our rapidly growing community. You can also help open the door to new freedom for the children whose problems are depriving them of the real joys of youth.

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO

Novi's board of education voted 4-1 to ask school district voters to approve a bond issue for construction of a new secondary school in a special election April 1.

The bonds — not to exceed a sum of $8,985,000 — would be used for construction, furnishing and equipping a secondary school building on an 80-acre plot of land at Eleven Mile and Taft.

Negotiations were completed for purchase of a 122 North Wing street house to serve as Northville's temporary city hall during construction of the new city hall-library facility.

The 2½-story frame house was purchased from Mrs. Naomi Geraghty for a cash price of $20,000.

Northville high school varsity debaters defeated Grand Rapids Central last week in the state quarter finals and are now eligible to compete in the semi-finals.

Northville high school's four entrants in the state wrestling championships suffered setbacks at Lansing Eastern High school.

The Fenton Tigers squeezed by Northville 54-52 to win the district crown and advanced to the regional tourney at Clarkston.

Jane Tyler was elected president of the Northville junior high school library club.

Elmer Kator, 93, one of the oldest residents of Northville, died in the Dorvin Resthome, Livonia. Known as "Doc", he had resided in the white-frame house at 333 North Rogers street for 61 years.

Jaycees of the Northville and South Lyon clubs are at the starting gates, determined to prove conclusively which organization has the fastest walkers. They'll hilster the roads between the two communities Sunday afternoon.

FIVE YEARS AGO

March 12, 1959

A citizens group organized primarily to protest against conditions of roads in the city's northern area may become the leading force in a drive to improve all Northville streets.

Final totals for the 1959 March of Dimes collection amounted to $2207.06, general chairman Fred Stefanski reported.

Mrs. L. M. Eaton, 365 Eaton drive, was named Northville chairman for the 1959 Cancer Crusade.

Northville's planning commission will take up a familiar subject in its third attempt to reach a decision on the proposed rezoning of Cady street.

Construction work on the 2,000 Lincoln Village development in Novi may get underway this summer, a representative of the Thompson-Brown company of Detroit revealed.

A letter of resignation submitted by Wikom patrolman Ronald Slomkowski was referred to the police chief following an executive council meeting this week.

Novi elementary school has a new science teacher — Kenneth MacKay, 50, of Ann Arbor.

Township board members voted to continue the appointment of Lee BeGole as township public safety director, a position he also holds for the village. The vote was prompted by a request recently by the village that the "honorary" title be dropped. Board members pointed out that the village council should ask BeGole to resign his dollar-a-year job with the township if they object.

Novi's proposed library grew a few more inches this week as members of the Knights of Columbus in Novi, Northville and Plymouth pledged their support.

Scores of Novi residents are expected to join with the school board Sunday afternoon in dedicating Orchard Hills elementary school.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

March 17, 1949

Police Chief Joseph Denton of Northville was presented with a citation for his service to the youth of the community by the American Legion.

Northville lost one of its oldest residents when Edwin M. Starkweather passed away of a heart ailment at his home on West Seven Mile road. Mr. Starkweather was the last of a pioneer family, three generations of which had lived on the farm where he spent his entire life.

Fire levelled a farm home on Napier road between Ten and Eleven Mile roads. The house was occupied by the Ernest Goniwicha family and owned by George Houghton of Horton street and it is said that insurance covered partially the damage incurred.

An eight tube Zenith car radio and a green wool blanket Monday night were reported stolen from the 1949 Ford tudor car owned by Richard Juday of West Main street.

The Northville high school basketball team lost their chance at the Class B Regional Title when they were defeated by Farmington high school at the Pontiac gym.

A farmer from the neighboring town of South Lyon was chosen to appear on the cover of Collier's magazine. The farmer, Russell (Russ) Calkins lives at 500 Hagadorn road and was chosen as a typical Middle Western Farmer who has done such a magnificent job of helping feed the world.

The regular bi-monthly village commission meeting was held at the village hall, with D. Harper Britton, local attorney, was appointed the village attorney with a $300 yearly retainer fee.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

March 17, 1939

In a thrilling exhibition of boxing before a capacity crowd in the Northville high school gymnasium, these were the results:

Ralph Bogart scored a knockout, in his bout with Tony Bon Giovanni; Al Belens put Warren Bogart out for the count in the second round; and other knockout winners were Junior Earehart, technical, over Ginger Girardin and Tom Gillespie over Bud Ross.

Spelling winners in the Northville vicinity — the Novi school were: Pauline Rodger, fifth grade; Doris Wendland, sixth grade; Betty Bingham, seventh grade; and Betty Brooks, eighth grade.

South Salem Stone school in Salem township had the following winners: Valerie Kolm, seventh grade; and Irene Listwan, eighth grade. In the Wash-Oak school at Salem, Delores Myers of the fifth grade was the winner.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Reaction to the Northville planning commission's central business district plan has been less than enthusiastic.

Perhaps this column expects too much, but we interpreted the presentation of the mall plan for our shopping area as a challenge to local businessmen.

Nobody snapped it up, and we already detect an attitude almost resentful toward discussion of the idea.

If we don't talk about it, the plan may go away. But the problem won't.

Construction won't stop at the corner of Seven Mile and Middlebelt. New people won't stop moving into the area while money-wise merchandisers eye prospective new shopping sites. Our energetic neighbors to the south won't pitch their plans to attract new stores, provide more parking and otherwise build attractions to lure away a shopping dollar that could, and should, be ours.

Planners are frequently chided as being dreamers. Perhaps so, but at least they are not sleepers.

Unless our leading businessmen are willing to pinch themselves out of complacency, we can forget spending money to build a mall on Main street. Grass will grow through the concrete and Northville will have the only natural garden created by the fertilization of stagnancy.

It is not uncommon for businessmen to complain that the city government has not shown leadership in providing for community improvement.

But this excuse is wearing thin. It's one thing to lead; another to tug and drag.

We see the planning commission's proposal for the central business district as a preliminary blueprint for a new home. The home belongs to the businessmen; the planners are merely volunteer architects.

As owners of the home, the businessmen must take hold of the plans; examine them with a critical eye; look at costs; double-check statistics on parking and retail shopping area required.

The whole proposal could be tossed out for a better idea.

It should not die from neglect.

Our planners are not complaining. They're continuing to plan and perform the function for which this body was created.

But they're getting about as much attention as a Salvation Army band competing with an all-girl jazz orchestra at a reunion of World War II veterans.

Speaking of business districts, John Miller of Green Ridge Nursery passed along an article about "tree leasing" for retail areas.

"Trees along business streets and in retail areas have been found by businessmen not only to be beautiful and inviting, but actually to attract trade," notes the article.

A new plan now proposes leasing trees from a nurseryman for a small rental per month. Merchants get together and agree to sponsor the project.

The trees are installed in proper containers by the nursery and maintained. They can be changed to suit seasons — evergreen shrubs for winter, trees for summer shade or flowering plants and trees.

The containers, too, are custom made to add attractiveness to the business district. The cost can be applied to the business as an operating charge, rather than capital outlay.

State Adoption Rate Tops National

LANSING — Adoption activities in Michigan are not following the national trend if the records of one major adoption agency are indicative.

Michigan Children's Aid Society has been noting a period of relatively equal supply and demand. Nationally, records indicate a surplus of children available for adoption.

The Society, a Community Chest organization, places about one third of the children adopted in Michigan annually. During the last few years this third has been around the 500 mark.

Paperwork and personal conferences with prospective parents are a major part of the adoption process.

The Society has offices in Detroit, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, Traverse City, Holland, Pontiac, Flint, Alpena, Marquette, St. Joseph, Bay City and Lansing. The staff consists largely of case workers with masters degrees.

Most babies available through the Society are born to unwed mothers, notes a spokesman for the organization. The women are referred to the agency by doctors, lawyers, hospitals, courts or clergymen usually.

Prospective parents are carefully screened to determine their ability to provide a good home for a child.

Only couples unable to have children of their own are considered. The agency spokesman said this stipulation tends to keep the parent-child supply and demand more even.

Adoption in Michigan becomes legally final after one year of provisional placement of a child. During this 12-month period, a case worker for Children's Aid Society or other agencies like it visits the home to be sure the pre-placement assessment was valid.

Couples may adopt as many children as the agency feels they can provide for. The recurrence of adoption in one home, however, is sometimes affected by the availability of homes and children.

Community colleges in Michigan would become the central points for administration of vocational-technical training under a plan now promoted by a group of educators.

Michigan Council of Community College Administrators hopes to gain support for its program from other educator groups and ultimately from state officials.

Dr. Max S. Smith, director of Michigan State University's office of community college operation, developed and sold the plan to the administrators' council.

Federal funds may be available for such a program under a Congressional act to aid communities which develop vocational-technical training programs.

The idea of putting such programs in the community colleges developed because within a few years every area of the state will be part of a community college district, Smith said.

Promoters of the idea say that a community college could serve as a vocational center for high schools within its district in addition to providing such a service to adults in evening programs. (Such a plan is already being studied by school administrators from the Schoolcraft College district, including Northville).

Already on the lawbooks in Michigan is machinery needed to put the program into effect in community colleges, the author of the plan said.

The success of community college administration of the training work is forecast by the fact that many technical education students now in community colleges accept positions even before completing their training, said Smith.

Diabetes, a generally controllable, disease, is claiming too many lives in Michigan, Health Department records show.

During 1962, the latest complete figures available, deaths from diabetes reached an all-time high of 1,908.

Many of these deaths could have been prevented had the disease been discovered at an early stage when it is most easily controlled," said Dr. John A. Cowan, director of adult health.

No cure for diabetes has been found but early diagnosis, medical supervision, proper diet and insulin or drug therapy can enable most diabetics to live normal lives and have a full life expectancy.

Cowan said an estimated 50,000 people in Michigan have diabetes but only about half this number realize it.

Lincoln Sales Up

Car sales of both the Lincoln-Mercury and Ford Division set February records — 31,214 and 125,356 respectively the Ford Motor Company announced this past week.

The previous February car sales records were 30,145 for Lincoln-Mercury Division and 123,765 for Ford Division, both in 1955.

Scholarship Tests

Any boy or girl of the local public high school interested in taking the test is asked to notify Mrs. William Tucker, FI 9-1875, or Mrs. Gordon Hubert, FI 9-2833, no later than the middle of this month.

Castro: Hero to Headache

BABSON PARK, Mass. — As I am dictating this column only about 350 miles from Cuba, I cannot get the problem off my mind. The only time that I ever saw Castro was after he overthrew Batista and was given a big reception in New York, with an honor guard marching along Broadway and a ticker tape demonstration.

As I remember, he was later invited and accepted an opportunity to speak at Harvard University. Therefore, I cannot forget that this was the same Castro who is now causing us so much trouble in Cuba.

As I look back upon the former years, I do not remember that Castro talked to take over any property in Cuba, especially plantations owned by United States companies. Since then, he has been taking over all properties in Cuba regardless of who owned them, this applies to the city property in Havana as well.

Now the question is: Has Castro changed and become thoroughly Communist, or has he simply fooled us from the start?

My impression is that Castro was not truly a Communist when he was cheered in New York, but that he found Communism was the only means whereby he could control Cuba. Therefore, he turned Communist and took over all the property which he needed to carry out his plans.

Personally, I feel that that was the time President Kennedy should have stepped into the picture; it seems to me we made a great mistake then.

When Khrushchev saw what was taking place in Cuba he sent one of his top men to visit Castro. This official representative of Russia spent two or three months with Castro and finally convinced him that he had gone so far it was necessary to adopt a purely Communist Government, similar to what existed in Russia. Here again, President Kennedy had an opportunity to argue with Castro. Meanwhile, Khrushchev saw his opportunity and shipped technicians, soldiers and missiles into Cuba. This was really the time that our worst troubles began.

Russia's move was criticized so violently by the press of the United States and by members of both political parties that Russia agreed to withdraw all missiles which could reach our large cities. Whether this has yet been done completely, no one actually knows. We are dependent in large part on what travelers tell us, as our aerial photographers sometimes get shot down. Hence, we do not know whether all long-range Russian missiles have been withdrawn, or not.

These were attempted by the United States and were successful for a short time only. Soon Canada, England, and other countries decided it was to their advantage to sell goods to Castro and deliver them in their own ships — which, under international law, our ships could not hold up in a blockade when no war had been declared. This is the condition today.

Meantime — notwithstanding the damaging hurricane — Cuba is harvesting a fine crop of sugar, which she is able to sell at a high price. This enables

ODDS 'n' ENDS:

"One drachm of sugar lead; two drachms of lac sulphur; eight ounces of rose-water. Mix and shake every time it is used. Apply once a day for a week; apply three times a week, next week; apply two times a week, next week; and once a week thereafter."

Regular use of this mixture, according to a recipe book loaned to me by Mrs. Jim Spagnuolo of Northville, is a sure way of restoring hair to its original color. The book is dated 1865.

Mrs. Spagnuolo was given seven of these little booklets, called "Mrs. Winslow's Domestic Receipt Book," several years ago. The booklets are filled with favorite recipes of the day, along with tips for curing ills, and a good many advertisements for soothing syrups, bronchial troches, vermifuge comfits, family liniments, jokes, and home treatments.

In loaning them to me, she wondered aloud if anyone would have any information pertaining to a Northville drug firm which carried an ad on the back cover.

Called Jackson & Horton, the drug firm advertises that it is a dealer in "drugs, medicines, chemicals, alcohol, pure wines and liquors for medicinal purposes, perfumery, fancy and toilet articles, varnishes, glass, putty, paints, oils, dyes, etc." And it noted that "Physicians' prescriptions (are) compounded at all hours of the day and night."

From Mrs. Dorcas Bunn of South Lyon comes a note that a daughter living in Massachusetts read a recent Top of the Deck Column concerning a cat of ours that has an obvious mental disorder and sent back this reply:

"The cat bit was amazing. I just know that I have never mentioned to you about Sam's peculiar quirk — he's a water watcher. Twice that I know of this tendency has proved his undoing and he's fallen into the john. The sound of closing the bathroom door, no matter how softly, and he's galvanized into action in much the same fashion as a mousetrap snapping has for Loudmouth. 'Sam' is the daughter's cat; 'Loudmouth' is the feline of Mrs. Bunn. He jumps against the door and puts up such a hullabaloo that one would think his life depended upon entry.

"One day I saw him poised as if to leap at what I feared might be a small creature near our neighbor's basement window. Cautiously, I crept up behind him, bent on saving some small thing from extinction. And there he is crouched in a mud puddle, rapt in attention, watching the water from their sump-pump come out of the end of the pipe."

Names of a dozen or more additional radio programs have been drawn to my attention since the column appeared dealing with old-time favorites. You may remember them:

Pepper Young's Family, Textron Theatre, Bewlah, This Is Your FBI, Powder Box Theatre, Request Performance, Theatre Guild of the Air, Meet Me at Parky's, Danny Kaye Show, Judy Canova, Aunt Jenny, Young Widder Brown; Red Skelton, Romance of Helen Trent, Breakfast in Hollywood, Portia Faces Life, When A Girl Marries, Hildegard, Take It or Leave It, Abbott and Costello, Joan Davis-Jack Haley, and Screen Guild Players.

This business of reminiscing with old radio favorites, recalls to mind my first introduction to television less than 20 years ago. It took place, believe it or not, on a lawn sprinkled with tombstones.

Once each week my young farm friends and I rode our bicycles a couple of miles to a monument business establishment just north of the Flint city limits. There on a spacious lawn, dozens of children and adults would sit among the monuments and watch a couple of wrestlers tangle on the tiny screen of a television set, owned by the management and used as a unique advertising gimmick.

Incidentally, the monument business — which operates yet — was owned by Mike Allen, mayor of Northville, who also operates Allen Monument Works in Northville.
