

You Can Get Anti-Polio Sugar Cubes Sunday

TASTES GOOD, TOO — Northville's polio immunization Chairman Dempsey Ebert shows little six-year-old Maria Hinz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Hinz of 47033 Timberlane, how simply and painlessly children and adults will receive oral polio immunizations here Sunday. On that day the sugar cubes will contain a few drops of harmless but life-saving vaccine.

A concerted stamp-out polio campaign in the tri-county area will be launched Sunday in virtually every community of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

The drive will hit its first climax on Sunday with the first feeding of anti-polio sugar cubes from some 900 neighborhood immunization stations to all persons over the age of one year. A second feeding, necessary for complete protection, is scheduled Sunday, June 14.

Official goal of this massive campaign: immunization against paralytic polio for 3 1/2 million persons.

Locally, the places, times and sponsors of the first clinics are:

Northville — Community building, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., under the auspices of the Northville school system and chairman by Dempsey Ebert. Novi — Community building, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., under the auspices of the Novi mothers' club and chairman by Mrs. Royal Snow.

Wixom — UAW Hall, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., under auspices of the North Oakland County Deaneary and chairman by Mrs. Norman Moore of Wixom and Mrs. Donald Gaska of Milford.

Wixom children and adults also may, if they wish, attend any one of three clinics slated at Walled Lake's two junior high schools and the senior high school, through the cooperation of the Wixom P-TA and chairman locally by Mrs. Ellen Callahan and Mrs. Bonnie Dumka.

South Lyon — South Lyon elementary school, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., under the auspices of the South Lyon school system; Although some of the clinics have obtained a sufficient number of volunteers to help man these immunization stations, some volunteers are still needed. Interested persons are asked to check with the chairman.

A donation of 50 cents a dose is asked of each person receiving the vaccine, but no one will be turned away for lack of funds. Children who are not accompanied by their parents or guardians, however, are asked to bring along written permission.

According to county officials in charge of the massive drive, everyone over the age of one year should take the two doses of oral vaccines — regardless of previous shots they may have received.

"We haven't had much polio recently," noted one official. "And the credit mainly goes to polio shots. But for long-range protection against possible future epidemics, it is essential that everyone take the oral vaccine."

This massive effort, health officials stress, will be in vain unless the private citizen also co-operates by taking his anti-polio sugar cubes twice — Sunday and again June 14 — and seeing to it that all members of his family over the age of one year do the same.

"It will succeed only if you do your part. And it's an easy part. All you have to do is eat a small lump of sugar on both dates.

"On that sugar will be a dose of polio vaccine, protection against all three types of poliovirus."

A mass immunization program in Miami, Florida, using the oral, trivalent, attenuated polio vaccine resulted in 29 consecutive months with not one single case of paralytic polio reported in the area. Prior to this, this yearly incidence was 36 to 40 cases of paralytic polio.

Chairman of the campaign in Wayne county is Dr. Francis P. Rhoades, who is chairman of the Wayne County Medical Society's Public Health Committee. Chairmen in Oakland county are Dr. Worth W. Henderson of Royal Oak, and Dr. Robert Bookmyer of Birmingham.

And Hopes It Balances

School Board OK's $1,200,000 Budget

With fingers crossed the Northville board of education approved a "nearly-balanced" record-high budget Monday for submission to the county allocation board.

In approving a tentative total outlay of $1,208,352 at a meeting that lasted until after midnight, the board set aside more than $60,000 of this amount to be submitted on an addendum to the budget itself.

Members chose this procedure so that the 1964-65 expenditures more closely match the anticipated revenues of $1,147,476.

Nevertheless, they are hopeful that revenues will exceed conservative estimates and thus permit the expenditure of the $60,000 figure. If not, the board faces the difficult task of shaving that amount from the budget.

According to E. V. Ellis, director of administrative services, the kinds of items that conceivably be cut from the budget or reduced if it becomes conceivably can be cut from the nance, rental for two temporary classrooms, bookkeeping machine purchase, etc.

The overall 1964-65 budget outlay of $1,208,352 is $161,270 more than estimated expenditures for the present fiscal year ending in June, and it is $142,120 more than budgeted last year.

In estimating revenues in the new budget, administrators and board members computed tax money by using several different estimates of state equalized valuation of the school district and the same allocated millage — 17.90 — as received last year.

They also computed state aid revenue by using a conservative state aid formula, several different estimates of the state equalized valuation, and a projected enrollment of 2,400.

Using a state equalized valuation of $32 million and an allocated millage of 17.90, the resulting tax revenue is $572,800 — minus eight-percent delinquency. Revenue estimates from state aid, based upon the board's computations, range from $426,400 to $446,395.

The greatest single expenditure increase in the new budget is in the area of instruction (includes the teacher salary increase). The new budget calls for an expenditure of $572,743 for instruction as compared to an estimated expenditure of $743,683 this year.

Nearly all other areas show increases although not nearly as great. Other action taken at Monday's lengthy session included: Approval of two teaching contracts, one for Susan Wister and Mrs. Nelson C. Schrader III, a Northville graduate who has been teaching in East Lansing; —Accepted the report of the school transportation committee and thanked that group for its "fine work";

—Heard a report that a representative of the county road commission will be here Wednesday (yesterday) to survey the intersection of Center street and the Eight Mile road cut-off to determine feasibility of a traffic signal or light;

—Adopted a resolution setting the last day of registration for the June election as Monday, May 11 at 5 p.m.;

—Accepted the resignations of four teachers.

Building Activity On Rise

Permits for construction of nearly $325,000 worth of homes, additions, garages and commercial buildings were issued during the first three months of this year in the city and township of Northville.

The township led the way in total estimated value of construction.

Issuing permits for eight new homes during January, February and March, the township shows a total of $236,540 this year — nearly triple city activity.

Last year, when building permits were issued for more than $1 million in construction, the township had only two new house permits in the first quarter.

Last year the city issued permits for construction totaling $110,200, while this year the January, February and March construction figure reached only $84,640. However, officials point out that expected new house construction in Northville subdivisions did not begin as early as it did a year ago.

Of the $84,640 figure in Northville, $76,500 was for new housing. The remainder was for house alterations, commercial alterations and a sign.

In the city, two permits for demolition and two for house alterations were issued in January; three permits for new houses and one for demolition in February; and two permits for new house, three for house alterations, one for demolition, one for a sign and two for commercial alterations in March.

High Winds, Dryness Bring Rash of Area Grass Fires

This Taft and Nine Mile road blaze was typical of the rash of calls that kept area firemen running this week.

Residents Warned Against Burning

High winds, dry ground and careless burning of trash teamed up this past week to spark an unusually high number of spring grass fires in the Northville- Novi area.

Hardest hit was Novi where, despite a newly enacted ordinance aimed at curbing grass fires, hundreds of acres of weeds, grass and trees went up in flames.

BURNING BAN

Southern Michigan communities have been ordered to stop issuing burning permits.

The ban on burning was ordered by the state conservation department Wednesday morning after a wave of grass fires swept the area.

The latest fire hit the South Lyon area Tuesday afternoon burning 750 acres.

Chief Herman Hartner, Jr. of the Northville department also expressed concern for the growing number of careless fires.

Tuesday's Taft road blaze was the most destructive. The fire started about 2:30 p.m. near Beck road, between Nine and 10 Mile roads, swept across the dry fields through small orchards to Taft where high winds swept flames across the road to the east side of Taft on the Jacob Fuerst farm.

Assisting the Novi department were men and equipment from Wixom, Northville, Plymouth township and Farmington township.

Last Friday afternoon Northville joined Novi firemen in battling another blaze less than a mile south of Tuesday's fire. Here flames swept east and south from the rear of homes on Nine Mile road to Taft and to Northville's boundary at the Taft excavation property.

The fire burned across more than 100 acres of property. Two other large grass fires in the area required the help of local fire departments on Tuesday. Shortly before noon Novi was called in to assist Farmington battle a blaze near Grand River and Haggerty. Flames jumped across Grand River from a Farmington dump, ate through dozens of acres of grass, and damaged a bulldozer and a small barn.

Northville assisted firemen from the Detroit House of Correction, South Lyon, Lyon township and Salem in fighting a 200-acre grass fire on Seven Mile road, from Tower road to the Seven Mile railroad cross-

In Our Town

By Jean Day

MEMORIAL DAY will determine how well Northville citizens learn a lesson in flag etiquette. Girl Scout leaders of our 16 area troops and the Sarah Anne Cochran chapter, DAR, have teamed up to distribute 400 leaflets to show proper respect to our country's flag.

Both groups are hoping that in the next six weeks the information will be read by parade-watchers who have become lax or aren't quite sure what to do when the flag goes by. The DAR pamphlets were presented last week to the 16 troop leaders at the monthly Girl Scout neighborhood association meeting. They will be given to all 400 Girl Scouts in the troops to be taken home with them.

Presenting the pamphlets from the Sarah Anne Cochran chapter were Mrs. James A. Sample, Mrs. Howard Atwood and Mrs. Maxwell Austin. Mrs. Edwin R. Langtry, who received them for the Girl Scouts, voiced the hope that the material will be read in time for more respect to be shown to the flag at Northville's best-attended parade.

Northville newcomers will find this annual parade still contains all the old-fashioned appeal of small town parades of yesteryear. All civic and patriotic groups participate, with parade watchers falling in behind as it winds its way to the topmost hill in Rural Hill cemetery for traditional speeches and ceremonies.

FINAL PLAY-OFFS in the nine-month marathon bridge tournament being sponsored by Northville Mothers club will be held at 7:30 p.m. May 15 in the multi-purpose room of Amerman school. All 30 couples playing in three evening leagues have been invited to play their final game that evening and to be guests of Mothers club for dessert and coffee. The afternoon league will hold its final play May 13 at the home of Mrs. Harold Wright on Westhill road.

Couples unable to play on those dates are being asked to play in advance so that scores may be tallied on the 15th and prizes of $50, $20, and $10 be awarded to the three highest couples. Mrs. William Wiley, Mrs. Wayne Wilcox and Mrs. Gordon Forrer are in charge of arrangements for the May 15 party.

BUSY, BUSY, BUSY are the next few days in our town. Cultural enrichment, physical welfare and fun-for-a-good-cause are on the calendar. Today Count Ferdinand Sarmi, internationally famous Italian fashion designer, is scheduled to conclude the 1963-4 Town Hall at the P&A theatre. By last week end more than 250 women had made reservations for the celebrity luncheon to follow at Meadowbrook country club.

Friday morning Mrs. H. Lorne Dyer has invited interested area mothers to learn about the educational experiences available at Detroit Country Day school from its headmaster, Dr. W. Rodman Snelling, at a coffee at her home on Chedworth court. Mrs. Dyer's enthusiasm for the school's program is shared by daughter Carol, who is delighted to have kindergarten "homework".

Our Lady's League of Our Lady of Victory Catholic church has had a brisk advance sale of tickets for its buffet dinner and dance to be given at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Roma Hall in Livonia. This is the league's annual money-raising event.

LIFE IN NORTHVILLE is vastly different from that in "Rich, Rich Grosse Pointe" if we are to believe the article in the May issue of Holiday magazine. Though both are Detroit suburbs, residents seem to have placed a different emphasis on life in the Northville countryside.

Society's authentic "blue book", the Social Secretary of Michigan and Detroit, however, does include a goodly sprinkling of Northville-area families. The Lewis D. Crusoes and the F. Alden Shaws, both Nine Mile road residents, are listed, as is the Sherwin A. Hill family of Eight Mile road. A well-known name here, that of the Yerkes family, is mentioned — with the Robert Yerkes family, formerly of Haggerty road, now of Detroit.

In one respect, Northville may be said to have to pay a higher "scratch" than the Pointes: It's harder to get help and higher wages for day work are paid here. Northville seems to average $9 to $11 daily while the Pointe holds to $8 plus carfare, usually fifty cents.

FLAG ETIQUETTE — Girl Scout Neighborhood Chairman Mrs. Edwin Langtry (center right) accepts a token copy of flag etiquette from Mrs. Maxwell Auslin, representing the local Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The DAR chapter presented dozens of copies of the leaflets to the Girl Scout movement here. Girl Scout leaders in turn distributed them to girls in the organization who, hopefully, will educate members of their families in the correct and respectful ways of displaying and handling the American flag. Others in the picture (l-r) are Mrs. James Sample, Mrs. Howard Atwood, wood, Mrs. Austin and Mrs. Langtry, and Mrs. George Wilke.

Cowie, a senior who lives in Mt. Pleasant with his wife, played the lead role as Sganarelle. Shown with him is Elaine Slowik. The play, written by Moliere in 1666, is about a man who is made a doctor in spite of himself.

Redskins, Bulldogs Win

Mustangs Drop Openers

After dropping their first two games of the 1964 season, the Northville Mustangs at least have an indication of what it takes to win — pitching and timely hitting.

In their first contest Friday with visiting Milford, the local nine struck out 15 times as it lost, 5-1.

The Redskins' twirler, Bill Rue, was in control all the way, limiting Northville to just three hits while walking five. The Mustangs bunched two of those hits in the third frame to score their only marker of the contest.

But Rue also had some help. A bright sun in right field crippled Northville's right fielder where every Milford hit was placed. Furthermore, two seeing-eye Texas leaguers ruined the local team's chances of a comeback when the visitors scored three times in the sixth.

Eric Peterson, the Mustangs' hurler who went all the way, pitched admirably in defeat. Nicked for seven hits, Peterson was tough in the clutch, pitching out of two tough scrapes, but the bloopers in right proved too much.

Northville's lone run came in the second on a single by Howie Jones, a sacrifice and Bob Tuck's single.

An injury suffered by Mustang center fielder John Mach delayed play in the fifth. He will be sidelined for one week as a result of a recurrence of a leg injury, a strained ligament.

The loss to Brighton, 8-7, was an extra-inning road affair, where the Mustangs found their batting eyes, but wilted with men on base.

With the score tied seven-all entering the eighth frame, Northville loaded the sacks with none out and failed to score.

Tuck singled, Larry Angove walked and Larry Beller bunted safely. Then two men fanned the air and another popped up to end the threat and nullify the bid for victory.

The Bulldogs came back to push a run across for the win in their half of the eighth.

The first four innings were disastrous for the Mustangs as the Bulldogs countered seven times. All of the runs came off starter Steve Evans.

Mustang Jerry Imsland came on in the fourth to pitch shut-out ball until the extra inning. In the process, he recorded six strikeouts on an assortment of pitches.

Brightening Coach Shonta's day, however, were the big bats of Tuck, Angove, Evans and Dave Jerome, who chalked up nine of Northville's 12 hits. Tuck laced out three hits, one a double, to drive in two runs; and Angove and Jerome, both with doubles, and Evans pounded out two hits apiece.

HE'S . . . SAFE — Jim Ward, Milford's backstop, puts the tag on Northville's Howie Jones as he streaked for the plate, but the ball popped out of Ward's mitt when Jones slammed into him. The run, scored in the bottom half of the second frame, evened things at one-all. That was the lone marker of the game for Northville as the Redskins tallied four more times to cop the season opener Friday, 5-1.

For 1-1 Record

Northville Netters Win

Battered by blasts of wind, the Northville netmen journeyed to Milford Monday to win their first match of the young season, 3-2, and even their record at 1-1.

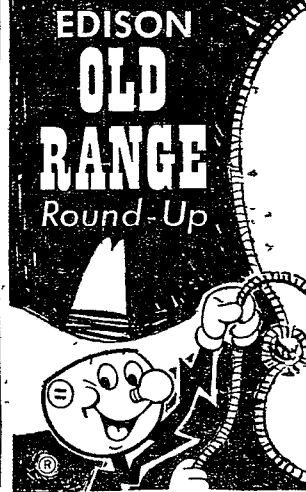

According to Coach Dick Norton, the Mustangs were lucky to keep the ball in play as long as they did, because of the strong winds.

Northville sewed the victory up early with three wins in the singles.

Playing in the number one spot, Bob Lantry edged his way to a 6-2, 4-6, 6-2 victory. Dave Schmidt, the second man, vanquished his opponent with ease, 7-5, 6-0, looking especially strong in the second set. The third winner was Freshman Jim Long, who squeezed by, 2-6, 6-4, 7-5.

With the match in the bag, the doubles team of Jim Wied, by forfeit. Coach Norton called the match with it tied at a 2, 7-5, and the team of Bill set apiece because of the in-French and Larry Tibbo's lost clement weather.

Whether you only save change, or set aside several dollars every payday, the important thing is to save regularly in a Manufacturers Bank Savings Account. Suppose you deposit just five dollars a week. That's $260 at the end of the first year, plus 3 1/2% annual interest paid quarterly. And the longer you continue this practice the faster your savings grow, because Manufacturers compounds the interest.

Whatever the amount, start now to save regularly in a Manufacturers Bank Savings Account. See how quickly your money adds up. Even your small change.

Rash of Area Grass Fires

AIR FILTERS and GAS MILEAGE

A few drivers will be spending some wise money on needed engine tune-ups this Spring and then throwing away most of the benefits by balking at the few dollars for the cost of a clean carburetor air filter.

Manufacturers' studies show 18 pounds of air to 1 pound of gasoline is required at Summer temperature if the carburetor mixture is to get the most energy possible out of the fuel. This is approximately 2,000 cubic feet (enough to fill a room 20' x 10' x 10') for every gallon of gas in a 6 cylinder engine at 60 MPH.

When your air filter becomes clogged from road grime, it means simply that your carburetor is not getting the required air it was designed to get. The result is that the gasoline-air mixture becomes unnecessarily rich in fuel. This in turn reduces power and economy.

Recent engineering tests on two V-8 engines in a 1961 Mercury and a 1959 Plymouth with clean and clogged air filters showed a miles-per-gallon gain of 3.6 MPG for the Mercury and 2.4 MPG for the Plymouth with a clean filter over a clogged one.

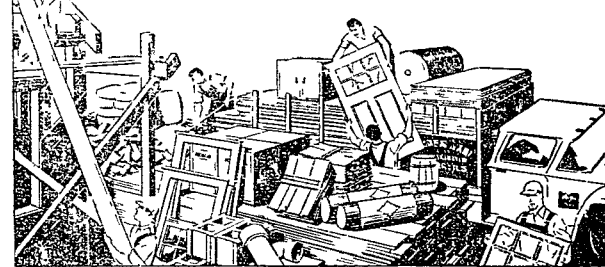

Recommended changes for air filters vary from model to model — usually every ten to twenty thousand miles — but these figures can be altered drastically if you drive frequently over dusty roads.

If you have your car serviced regularly at our shop, your air cleaner will be inspected as a matter of course. If it needs changing, we will recommend it to you.

Town Hall Announces Speakers for New Season

Agnes Moorehead

Norman Garbo

A scholar and artist who has carved an amazingly successful career in stage, films and television will open the fourth annual Northville Town Hall series beginning next October.

She is the indefatigable Miss Agnes Moorehead, co-founder with Orson Welles of the famous Mercury Theater project.

Other Town Hall speakers for the 1964-65 season will include:

Baroness Maria von Trapp, adventurer, author and stage personality; Norman Garbo, artist, author and art columnist; Commander James Calvert, USN, commander of the USS Skate; and Martha Rountree, political writer, columnist and star of radio and television.

In announcing names of celebrities and lecture topics, Mrs. William Slatery revealed that tickets for the new series will go on sale today at the final lecture in the 1963-64 series at the P&A Theatre.

Season tickets are $10. Persons who do not obtain tickets today at the lecture may contact Mrs. H. F. Wagenschutz, FI 9-2976.

As usual proceeds from the new series, emphasized the chairman, will be contributed to charities in Farmington, Plymouth, Livonia or Northville through the Board of Awards an advisory group consisting of representatives of each community.

The Town Hall Series is sponsored by Our Lady's League of Our Lady of Victory Church, Northville.

In opening the new series on October 15, Miss Moorehead will deliver an address temptingly entitled, "Come Closer! I'll Give you An Earful."

Miss Moorehead enjoyed success on Broadway in the Mercury Theater's unorthodox presentations, then traveled to Hollywood with Welles to establish herself in films. Their first venture was the controversial "Citizen Kane", followed by "The Magnificent Ambersons", in which her unforgettable portrayal of a spinster earned her a nomination for an Academy Award.

She won the New York Film Critics' award, the Hollywood Foreign Correspondents World

Commander James Calvert

Award for Best Supporting Actress and the Academy nomination for her delineation of Baroness Aspesio Conti in "Mrs. Parkington."

She also received an Academy nomination for "Johnny Belinda". Her numerous cinematic exposures include "The Left Hand of God," "Magnificent Obsession," "All That Heaven Allows," "The Opposite Sex," "The Swan," "Meet Me in Las Vegas," "Raintree County," "The True Story of Jesse James," "The Jeanne Engles Story," "La Tempesta" and Walt Disney's "Pollyanna."

As active in television as her busy schedule permits, Miss Moorehead has appeared in "The Tale of Two Cities" on "Playhouse 90" and in Shirley Temple's Scrapbook presentation of "Rapunzel." Her recordings of "Sorry, Wrong Number," and "The Psalms" have achieved astronomical sales.

Baroness Maria Von Trapp

A graduate of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, Miss Moorehead is the possessor of an M.A. degree and four doctorates.

On November 19, Baroness von Trapp will present a lecture appropriately entitled, "Around the World With the Trapp Family Singers."

Known all over the world is the story of how young Maria, a novice in Austria, was loaned by the Abbey to the Salzburg household of the World War I naval hero, widower Baron von Trapp as governess for his seven motherless children. How the Baron fell in love with her and made her his wife, and how, in open defiance of the Nazi invaders of their homeland the Trapps and their family priest, Father Franz, fled Austria, leaving all their ancestral wealth and personal belongings behind them to build a new life for themselves in a new world.

All of this, of course, served as the basis for the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, "The Sound of Music."

Starting afresh, Baroness von Trapp, Father Wagner (now Monsignor) and the 10 Trapp children became the Trapp Family Singers, appearing in the colorful costumes of their native Tyrol. The group toured the world for 20 years, winning acclaim in more than 2000 concerts throughout the United States, South America, Europe, Australia and New Zealand.

Today, the von Trapp children are married and scattered around the world. Two daughters are lay missionaries in New Guinea, three others are housewives, another works with a Catholic youth organization in Honolulu, and another operates a kindergarten.

Thus far, there is an aggregate of 25 Trapp grandchildren.

"Anyone who can hold a paint brush can learn to paint" contends artist Herman Garbo, who will present an entertaining lecture-demonstration on February 4.

Garbo is a shining example of his own theory, since he was a young adult of 18 before showing the slightest interest in art — as a profession or otherwise. Three years later he was teaching art at the Brooklyn Academy of Fine Arts!

Since that time, Garbo has established himself as one of the most talented young United States artists. His works have hung in The Metropolitan Museum of Art, The Chicago Art Institute, the Philadelphia Museum, and numerous other leading art galleries throughout the country.

Since 1945 he has devoted himself to portrait painting (he is one of the few artists who have painted both Eisenhower and Truman). He also conducts classes in painting, writes an internationally syndicated column for amateur artists entitled "Pull Up An Easel", and lectures. His book, of the same title as his column, already is in its third printing.

When Commander Calvert appears here on March 4, he will talk on a topic close to his own heart — "Surface at the Pole". It was Calvert who successfully led the U.S.S. Skate in one of the most daring voyages in history, repeatedly surfacing through the frozen Arctic icecap.

Now holding down the key European and NATO desk of the Navy Department at the Pentagon, Captain Calvert is the author of "Surface at the Pole", the story of his modern exploration at one of the earth's last frontiers. Most reviewers classified Captain Calvert in the same group of famous Polar explorers as Nasen, Peary, Stefansson and Amundsen.

For his achievements on the Skate, he was twice awarded the Legion of Merit, and the submarine was honored with the only two Navy Unit Commendations ever given in peacetime. He commanded Submarine Division 102, which includes all of the Atlantic Fleet nuclear submarines, before assuming his present position.

Recently appointed president of the National Society for the Prevention of Juvenile Delinquency, Miss Rountree will speak here on April 1 on "Washington Roundup".

Described as a "diesel engine under a lace handkerchief" by her friend, Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Miss Rountree has starred in every branch of the communications field. She currently is producing the daily program, "Leave It To The Girls" over the NBC network, and will presently resume her daily "news in depth" radio program, "Capitol Close-up", as Washington Correspondent for RKO General-WOR.

She is also editor of "Ammunition", a weekly newsletter devoted to revealing the facts about important national issues.

As Time Magazine says, "When Martha Rountree beckons, big people in Washington come a-running." Thus it is that she is able, both on the air and in print, to scoop the field and capture the worldwide front page headlines scores of times.

Among her numerous awards are the George Foster Peabody Award, Sylvania Award, American Legion Award, TV-Digest Popularity Poll, and Academy of Radio and Television Arts & Sciences Award.

In private life she is Mrs. Oliver Presbrey, and has two young daughters. The Presbrees are prominent on the Washington social and political scene.

Earthquake Fails To Dim Their Spirit

Editor's Note: The following letter was received this past week by Mrs. Leta Hollis of Northville from George R. McDonald, husband of the former Peggy Hewlett of Northville. McDonald, who is employed with the General Services Administration in Anchorage, describes his experiences and observations at the earthquake scene.

We had just finished an evening meal and were setting in the den talking and having coffee and Peggy had just got up to do the dishes when the house began to sway. Since we have had quakes before I didn't think too much about it until it began harder and it did not seem as if it was going to stop. Dishes began falling out of the kitchen cupboards and what was left of the evening meal slid off into the floor, then Peggy grabbed the T.V. set and leaned over it and I got hold of the bird cage and stand and turned the stove off at the same time grabbing hold of the door frame and hung on. We couldn't see what was going on outside as the house was reverberating with groans and falling dishes and her house pull out of the winter, but as it was not yet spring there was plenty of snow and since our yard and lawn are fenced and it had snowed some week or so earlier, snow was about 18 inches deep in the yard and clean, so I got our water supply in to the house where it was warm. I turned the camper around and rigged it for sleeping and cooking and we were all set for any emergency as there was plenty of canned goods in the house. The deep freeze was full and the kitchen refrigerator was pretty well stocked. Even with no power nothing would thaw out and spoil for two days or three. The toilet accommodations were also out of order so we rigged the camper toilet up in the green house and we were in business all the way around.

It was one-half hour or so before we could get any radio report but kept the transistor radio on and finally they came thru. By then we knew we were in real good shape for the immediate quake area had lost their homes and all. There was no panic anywhere at anytime. Seems like every body just got up and shook themselves and looked around and started picking up the pieces where they left off. After a time we got out our candles and had light till we finally went to bed.

By Saturday night we had intermittent power. The steam plant at the RR yards was off and the Ekiutna project power house was operational but limited. Cooper Lake plant was operational partially but their lines were down in many places and the city gas turbines were down as a gas main had been broken in their plant. The gas company checked all their lines from the field in the Kenia area and found all intact except a break in the main in the Rabbit Creek area outside of town so they started from there repairing the line to the turbines to restore power to the city.

By Sunday the city generators were back on the line and they were restoring gas and water as fast as possible.

Then Sunday morning they called me to go to work. By that time the military had soldiers on guard duty all over the place and also had field kitchens set up to feed people who needed it in various places. Contrary to some reports we have heard military law was never set up and was never contemplated.

On our first trip into the Federal building we had to get a police escort. From then on in the day time we could come and go at will until about 5 each evening when they closed the area. If I had to get in to go to police headquarters, get an escort and then go thru the military line. Reminded me of some of the times about 20 years ago.

The railroad is hit pretty bad as their dock facilities at Seward are completely gone along with the tracks and railroad in Seward. The rail barge ship at Whittier is out and there are many slides and bridges out between here and Portage. They tell me both tunnels into Whittier are ok although they could be entirely I can't understand. The RR bridge across Knik and Mat. rivers has shifted and they are working like beavers on that end and parts of the RR north to the coal mines to get it passable so that the military can get coal in for the steam generator plants.

The control tower at Inter. airport went down. Two people were killed. The terminal building itself is unusable but the runways are intact and I think it was Tuesday or Wednesday that the commercial air lines started using it again. The runways were always useable except at night as their lights were gone but they have lights now. In the mean time everything went to Elmdorf Base.

There are eight highway bridges down between here and Seward and the Knik River

We take pleasure in giving the readers of this column the privilege of becoming acquainted with P. John Thomas, a native missionary, from India through the following article which he has prepared for us.

Mr. Thomas's father was a Hindu who became a Christian through the effort of a missionary who taught him John 3:16 in his native language.

Mr. Thomas is president of Sharon Bible Institute and in charge of over 100 native Christian churches and ministers in southern India. He has been instrumental in bringing over 20 of his young people to attend different colleges in the United States for leadership training.

India Swings Forward And Backward

India is ancient and modern. Archeologists have discovered traces of ancient Paleolithic settlements with pottery, kitchen utensils, coins, carving, jewelry and so on, of great beauty and delicacy.

This pre-historic civilization was wiped out by a later and better known civilization of the Aryans of the central Asian plains who migrated to India in about 2000 B.C. They were a religious and agricultural people. Their religion was simple and without much ritual. There were no temples and no idols, the father of the family was the patriarch and offered gifts, to the fire, which seems to have been the central symbol of their faith.

As more and more Aryans came to India a new religious system called Brahmanism rose, a social life developed based on the religious customs they had served and the caste system was introduced in part at least to safeguard the priestly class and to prevent deterioration of the Aryan stock through mixed marriages.

Later Darius, king of Persia and Alexander the Great invaded India resulting in the impartation of their respective civilizations on the peoples of India. Under certain Hindu kings who later got converted to Buddhism, India as a nation rose to great heights of glory. Patronised by such kings Buddhist monks carried the religious teachings of Buddha to China, Ceylon, Tibet, Syria etc.

Northern India, with its great monasteries and universities all in ruins now, became a place of pilgrimage for the peoples of Asia. Hinduism with its spirit of toleration and absorption accepted Buddha as a Hindu god thus making Buddhism as a reformed branch of Hinduism. As time passed on Hindu sages and philosophers popularized Hinduism through epic poems of the legends of the gods.

Prolonged darkness fell on India. Disruption and political disunity was the characteristics of India for centuries which invited foreign invaders from central Asia and later from western Europe.

Mohammed the Prophet of Arabia died in 632 A.D. and within a century of his death many of the nomad tribes of central Asia had embraced Islam the religion of Mohammed. They added to their normal desire for plunder a new driving force to convert even by the sword, those who did not recognize Mohammed as the prophet of God.

They burning with zeal and lusting for the riches of India started on sporadic raids and bloody invasions. India was a rich prey, but divided as she was, an easy one. The greatest of these invaders were the Tartars and the Turks.

The invaders settled, took many of the local customs and people from the conqueror and like their predecessors, became knights rather than emperors, divided and effete. India once more became ripe for spoiling. Other strong Mohammedan warriors called the Moghuls conquered India from time to time which resulted in spreading the Moslem religion in India.

During the 15th century western European nations established trading posts in India. The Portuguese, Dutch, French and the British got themselves well established. Struggle for trade among these merchants resulted among warfare and the final conquest of India by the British.

In 1858 the direct government of India was transferred from the British Company to the Crown of England. Under the British rule India was unified, Schools and courts of law were established. After a hundred years of British rule Britain granted India independence and accepted her as a member of the Commonwealth.

As a race, the people are a mixture of Turko-Armenian, Indo-Aryans, Aryo-Dravidians and Mongoloids and all are of the Caucasian blood.

Modern India has 16 States each having its own language. Only 20 percent of the people are literate. National leaders trained in western countries have now taken over the reins of government which is a parliament and controlled by the American Constitution.

U.S. and British influence upon the peoples of India is strong and abiding. The people have decided to keep India as a free country and at the present time it is the largest democracy in the world.

India's backwardness is in the poverty of the people. Millions of people are under starvation level and most of the school children are under-nourished. Having very large natural resources there is no reason why India should remain so poor any longer.

American knowhow is the answer to the problems of India. U.S. and British trained national leaders of India are calling on U.S. business men to establish business establishments there.

Communist China is opposing the developing of India with American funds. At the present time China is threatening India with invasion. Russia also wants to prevent American influence upon India. She is offering large scale educational facilities for Indian students to study in Russia.

At this time there is an urgent need for bringing Indian students to American schools and colleges who will on the return to India not only develop the country but keep it free and strong.

He Wants Half Price Haircuts

To the Editor:

Now that the prices of hair cuts have gone up I wonder if the barbers in Northville would give us Old timers a break and give one day every 2 weeks or once a month for hair cuts at half price, 1 dollar. I would like to know what happened to the barber or barbers that were going to open up a shop in Northville and charge one dollar for hair cuts. That was a year ago and by the way my social security is the same as it was 6 years ago no increase.

To the Editor:

Today I received a copy of your Thursday, April 2, 1964 issue reporting the Northville City Council meeting re: Ex-Sgt. Andrew Cain of the Northville Police Dept.

I have read one of the most accurate, objective reports that I have ever had personal knowledge or contact with in many years of the law practice.

My thanks to your writer and your newspaper for an excellent job.

Very sincerely yours,

There are many good varieties of peaches for Michigan. Most of them contain the Hale name in some form or other. The old faithful Elberta variety is seldom planted today. A very few white-fleshed peaches can be sold, but the richly-colored, yellow-fleshed freestone peach is most demanded by the consumer today. Standard sized trees, preferably on red-leaf rootstock are preferred. They are planted in early spring at a usual spacing of about 18 by 24 feet distance. The young trees should begin to produce some fruit in the third year, and a good crop for several years thereafter. Peach trees seldom reach an age of more than 10 to 12 years in this area.

Financial returns from a good local peach orchard are gratifying. Local peaches of the roadside, with good demand. A healthy mature tree will produce as much as 10 bushels of peaches per year. But a peach grower must be a skilled technician.

Peach culture requires a lot of careful attention. The trees must be properly set out in the right site. Then they must be very carefully pruned and trained each year. A heavy crop must be propagated up. The trees have a rather short productive life. Insects and disease are a constant problem. The grower must have a high-pressure sprayer, and must very carefully follow a complicated spray schedule to prevent insect and disease damage. Winter injury is a constant threat in Michigan. Soil fertility levels must be carefully regulated. Meadow mice can girdle trees in the winter, and late frosts can ruin a good set of blossoms. Borers can very easily get out of hand, and canker disease can get into the trees almost without warning.

But we still have several good peach producers in Western Wayne County who like the crop, who have no trouble selling it, who realize a fine net return each year from their orchards, and who are able to overcome most or all of the obstacles in the business. They see no danger of over-production in this area, and many of them are expanding their orchards accordingly.

Those persons in Western Wayne County who think they might have a good peach site and who would like to discuss the matter further are urged to contact Wayne County's Extension Agent in Agriculture, Edgar C. Kidd at the Extension office in Wayne, at 3930 Newberry Street, phone Parkway 1-6550.

Another newsworthy similar to this, dealing with potential of large-scale egg production in Wayne County will be ready for next week. This egg production story will finish the four-part presentation, which included discussion of strawberries, raspberries, peaches and egg production.

HE'S TOPS — Northville's CAP squadron garnered a lion's share of the awards at an honors banquet in Wixom Saturday. Most impressive of these was the announcement that C/MSgt. Russell Schoof has, besides winning the coveted air exchange award, been named the top male CAP cadet in Michigan. Schoof (right foreground facing the camera) is shown with another cadet, C/2nd Lt. Richard Butkowski of Walled Lake, who also won an air exchange award.

Northville CAP Unit Garners Top Awards

A near capacity crowd attended an awards banquet for Civil Air Patrol (CAP) cadets and senior officers at the Wixom UAW hall Saturday evening.

Attending the dinner banquet were members, parents and relatives of cadets, and guests of the five CAP squadrons that make up Group 10. The squadrons include Northville, Walled Lake, Milford, Pontiac and Drayton Plains.

Highlight of the event was the official presentation of the Air Exchange Cadet Award to two cadets from the local group. They are C.T.Sgt. Russell Schoof of the Northville squadron, who will travel to Austria under the exchange program, and C.2nd Lt. Richard Butkowski of the Walled Lake squadron who will travel to Holland.

Only five such exchange awards were made in Michigan, with the local area group receiving two of them.

Announcement also was made that Cadet Schoof has been named top male CAP cadet in Michigan.

Six Northville cadets also were awarded proficiency certificates. They included: C.Sgt. Timothy Dickinson, C.2nd Lt. Elwyn Kaake, C.T.Sgt. Anthony Marrom, C.2nd Lt. Robert Parmenter, C.MSgt. Schoof and C.T.Sgt. Gary Williams.

Three senior officers of the Northville squadron were similarly honored. Lt. William Cleland and Capt. Robert Parmenter received proficiency certificates; and 2nd Lt. Anna Parmenter received one of two nationally awarded meritorious service awards.

C.2nd Lt. Parmenter also received a cadet council ribbon — the only one awarded in Group 10.

Certificate of proficiency awards, which are countersigned by General Curtis LeMay, chief of staff of the United States Air Force, represented 300 percent of the Northville squadron's quota.

Awards were presented by Col. John Issitt, Michigan Wing commander; Major J. Gray, U.S. Air Force Liaison officer; and Lt. Col. S. N. Domingue, Group 10 commander who also served as master of ceremonies.

Dinner guests of the Northville squadron included Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stefanski, high school principal; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Katzbeck, American Legion post commander; and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hoffman, managing editor of The Record.

Other local area guests included Mayor and Mrs. Wesley McAtee, Patrolman and Mrs. D'Arcy Young, Wixom; and Mr. and Mrs. Vern Spencer, owners of the Spencer Airport where the CAP airplane is housed.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Frequently, the routine but constructive accomplishments of government are overlooked while we — the public and the press — take turns at pointing out what's wrong.

Somewhat, sorespots make better copy, juicier reading.

A thing like tree-trimming can be rather dull, unless our trees started dying off.

A couple of years ago this possibility was pointed out to the council by a local citizen, Robert Freydl.

As an authority on trees — Freydl is a graduate of Michigan State University's forestry school and follows this profession at Detroit Edison — he pointed out potentially dangerous tree conditions and the need for trimming and sanitation.

His warnings were backed up by John Miller of Green Ridge Nursery.

Freydl was so interested in the preservation of Northville's trees that he made a survey, as a public service, and outlined a program of tree care.

The council took heed and appropriated $2,500 annually to care for the city's shade trees.

Last week Manager Bruce Potthoff made a progress report. He explained that the city has been divided into four parts for the purpose of trimming a section per year. The second quarter has now been completed.

During the past winter the city trimmed 276 trees at a cost of $8 per tree. In addition, 24 dead and dangerous trees were removed throughout the entire city. Stumps from these dead trees still remained and will be removed by public works' crews this summer.

By employing a combination of private contractor and city employee the average cost of tree removal has been $22 per tree.

In conjunction with the tree-trimming program the city has carried on a Dutch elm spraying program that has been very successful. Over the past three years, only three or four city-owned trees have had to be removed because of Dutch elm disease. About 15 to 20 privately-owned trees must be removed each year.

The city's record in combating Dutch elm disease and promoting tree preservation has been lauded by a representative of the Michigan Department of Agriculture as one of the most successful in the state.

The council is now talking about a program of tree replacement, the next step in preserving the beauty that trees lend to our community.

Thanks to an interested citizen and a council and manager willing to listen and act.

Not very exciting.

A contingent of Northville officials and businessmen plan to journey to Kalamazoo today to examine that city's highly successful shopping mall.

Among those attending will be three of the five members of the newly-appointed Retail Merchants Association mall study committee, Charles Altman, Del Black and Charles Freydl, Jr.

Retailers' President Harry Sedan, Fred McLean and C. A. Smith will also represent local businessmen. George Zerbel, planning commission chairman, as well as Councilmembers Mrs. Beatrice Carlson and John Canterbury will join the group.

It's merely a first-step along a trail of meetings and discussions certain to be necessary between businessmen, planners and councilmembers before any decision can be made on the proposed central business district plan for Northville.

But it's a start . . . and that's progress.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Frogner frequently enjoy watching birds at feeders in their yard on Sheldon road. Sunday morning there were a dozen brightly colored strangers.

Knowing that Township Supervisor and Mrs. R. D. Merriam are avid bird-watchers, they called and described the birds; yellow breasted, yellow top notch, black and yellow wings and nearly as large as a robin.

"They're Evening Grosbeaks," Merriam reported, a rare bird in these parts undoubtedly enroute north to its normal environs.

New Ballot Would Eliminate Straight Ticket

LANSING — Aside from being a timely political maneuver, the proposal by Rep. Russell Strange to change Michigan's ballot system might bear serious consideration.

Strange, Clare Republican who heads the House Elections Committee, is proposing to eliminate the "straight ticket" voting in the ballot box by instituting what is known as the Massachusetts plan.

His proposal at this time appears as a frantic effort to prevent a Democratic takeover of Congressional seats in an at-large election is required this fall.

Taken out of this political context, however, the Massachusetts plan, now used by 17 states, has substantial merit. It would require a voter to cast his ballot for each office individually as opposed to marking a single square to elect all candidates for offices from one party.

Straight ticket voting in Michigan is apparently high, with the Democrats claiming slightly more party-line voters than the Republicans.

Party affiliations are listed under the Massachusetts plan, but candidates are grouped under the office they seek, with their party listing next to the name.

Problems incurred for election officials by the Massachusetts plan are not readily discernible but some of the advantages to the voting public are.

Requiring the voter to consciously vote for each of the offices to be filled in an election might well make Mr. Voting Citizen more aware of the government he is directing.

Greater knowledge of the offices and candidates on the part of the citizenry could well lead to better candidates and campaigns, and presumably an improvement in the caliber of officeholders throughout the hierarchy of government.

Michigan savings and loan associations got a clean bill of health amid reports of questionable practices in similar groups in other states.

Activities spotlighted in national magazines elsewhere has had no effect on Michigan's ever-growing savings and loan associations, reports Secretary of State James M. Hare.

Hare emphasized all of Michigan's 34 associations, which have 41 branches, are subject to periodic field examinations by his department.

In 1963 the associations recorded a sharp increase of more than $92 million over the previous year and there is no indication of a change in this upward trend. In the first month of this year another hike, of about $6 million was noted.

Savings and loan associations in Michigan had total assets of $872 million at the end of 1963, Hare said.

All savings and loan associations are approved by the state before they open for general operations.

One man's idea furthered by 200 volunteers may soon result in a massive project to encourage the mental growth of underprivileged children.

Dr. David Gottlieb, Michigan State University professor, got the idea last year. It was to send college student volunteers into areas to encourage them to better themselves.

The volunteers among MSU students grew quickly and soon were working in several areas in Central Michigan. They went wherever school district officials asked for their assistance.

Expansion of Gottlieb's Student Education Corps to other colleges in the state is now seen as a possibility for increasing the 200 volunteers to about 10,000.

Student spokesmen from several of Michigan's colleges and universities recently indicated they would be interested in starting a similar operation in their areas, with MSU serving as a kind of clearing house for the corps activities.

A suggestion to bring the program under the auspices of a government agency, such as the Governor's office, was flatly turned down by Gottlieb. He warned the effort could be "organized to death" if it was taken out of the hands of the students themselves.

Roger Babson

Include Chemistry in Education

BABSON PARK, Mass., — At this time of year many parents are thinking about what they could do to help their boys get on in the remarkable era which we are facing scientifically, socially, financially, and educationally. Tremendous changes are going on and young people should be prepared to take advantage of them.

It is well to be interested in athletics and other extracurricular high school affairs, but these do not count much in getting a foundation.

So many employers want a list of the 10% or 20% of the students with highest grades who are about to graduate from high school. The large companies are not content with knowing how these young people are getting along in college, but are going back to their high school records. Therefore, it is very important that a graduate from college should have a good record in high school.

It is reasonable for one with the time and whose dad has plenty of money to get a "liberal" education. This is especially true when the young man knows where he is going to work. But if he has not the time to give three or four years to a "liberal" education, he should seek a business education which will include some of the most important of the liberal education subjects.

I have in mind, for instance, the Babson Institute at Wellesley, Mass., where over 800 young men are now studying the fundamentals of business. It does not necessarily mean that they are going into business, but they must have these fundamentals now if they hope to administer a large position later. Parents little realize the change that is taking place in the demand for young men.

After graduating from a college of business administration, I would advise a post-graduate course in chemistry. This might be done in one year or it might take two years, but tremendous developments are taking place in chemistry. I especially have in mind the manufacture of synthetics. There will be great changes in the manufacture of what people call "artificial" foods (though they are not really artificial). They have the same vitamins and other nutrients as the food which we raise in the corn fields or in the orange groves. A young man or woman could well become an expert on rockets or nuclear power.

The synthetics are also being extended to commodities other than foods. Therefore, I should suggest getting a position with a concern such as du Pont of Wilmington, which developed nylon and some of the other most valuable products of today. The best "rubber" tires contain practically no rubber at all. The du Pont Co. is now putting on the market a "leather" (Corfam) which may be superior to any leather now used. The company is experimenting on a substitute for woolens, in which I am sure they will succeed. Just as du Pont has eliminated need for the silkworm, so it may eliminate the need for the cotton fields and many other present industries.

Now, the principal building product is wood; and this may continue to be true with the use of plywood. The carpenter's job, however, is nearly over; the lumber will come all cut, ready for quick erection in the house.

This situation applies also to buildings, which will be made largely of aluminum and glass. I would not think of buying an old office building today in view of the new buildings being erected.

The time is coming when the chair in which I sit will be stamped out of plastic; and this will apply to the desk and all other furniture in the house. I have a good many pieces of antique furniture in my home, and experts are now calling on me to take photographs and measurements of these antiques in order to make "duplicates" which are indistinguishable from the originals. The main point is that these reproductions are more useful and stronger than the originals. I merely give these facts as illustrations of the importance of synthetics to chemistry and design. "Chemistry" includes plastics, which are the basis of many of the clothes we wear. The time is coming when clothes will not be manufactured as they are now and weaving as we know it will be eliminated.

TO HELP THE BLIND HELP THEMSELVES Bell System scientists have introduced a new kind of telephone switchboard which can be operated by a blind attendant. This opens up new job opportunities for the blind. The new device converts the light signals of the conventional switchboard to sound signals. Other recent Bell System devices to aid the handicapped include a volume-control handset for the hard of hearing, and an electronic larynx for those who have lost the power of speech.

WELCOME A PRINCESS into your life! A Princess® telephone, of course . . . the loveliest and loveliest of them all. Any room is the room for your Princess phone. Where it's dark, the dial lights up. Where space is scarce, its compact size fits beautifully. And there's a color to catch or complement any decor. To welcome a Princess phone into your life, just call our Business Office—or ask your Telephone Man.

ASLEEP ON THE JOB! Ordinarily there's no more tireless friend or servant than your family telephone. It works around the clock, year in and year out. One of the few exceptions is when you make it "go to sleep on the job"—by failing to hang up the receiver properly. When that happens, friends can't reach you on the phone. So whenever you hear a buzzing sound coming from your phone, check it at once. Someone must have forgotten to put the receiver back on the "cradle," where it belongs.
