

Residents Blame Sewer Project for Dry Wells, Lakes

Mrs. Edgar Spangler wishes her lawn grew on trees. For if it did, her lawn would have a healthy green hue and her shrubs and flowers would be flourishing — not withering — in the hot sun.

She would be able to wash dishes, do her laundry and even take a bath in her $25,000 home at 43609 Nine Mile. It is across from Brookland Farms subdivision in Novi.

As she was interviewed in her backyard, Mrs. Spangler lamented that "the grass is so dry that it crackles and about the only things growing around here are the fruit trees on the back of our property." Like a lot of her neighbors, Mrs. Spangler rues that day last February when Northwest Construction Company of Livonia moved its equipment into the area and began digging a sewer pipe line. In burrowing ditches reaching a depth of 24 feet, water had to be drawn out of the earth at the rate of 5,000 to 8,000 gallons a minute.

Coincidentally, water wells, sunk about 50 to 60 feet in the ground, started to evaporate. A few wells were knocked out in the heart of a cold spell. Mr. and Mrs. Spangler were lucky — their well kept producing until last month. Then it quit. "All water lines in our home have been turned off since early June," Mrs. Spangler related. "My husband and I decided not to drill a new well then. We were told that when the sewer is completed in September that our 65-foot well might come back within two weeks."

But the temporary loss of water — which the Spanglers could stand at first — has elapsed into a dilemma "that has been going on for such a long time that it provokes" the couple. "The only water in the house is transferred from barrels in the garage to the toilet tank," Mrs. Spangler explained. "We get drinking water from neighbors. I do all my washing at the laundromat."

In reviewing their predicament, Mrs. Spangler felt "that we should have got an injunction against the contractor to stop his work and start him talking sense about the water level."

She has been informed by the contractor that she must "be able to prove his excavations have caused water to go out of her well."

Mrs. Spangler snapped, "If we have to prove it was taken, that's something! He won't claim responsibility for wells dug deeper than 24 feet."

But the Spanglers are fighting back and following the only recourse left. They filed a claim July 7 with the construction firm's insurance agent. No adjuster has yet called the Spanglers. Undoubtedly, the Spanglers faced the worst hardship, a neighborhood poll shows. Others — when their wells gave out — drilled new ones right away at considerable costs.

The Spanglers are holding out. Mr. and Mrs. Craig Rathburn of 13620 Nine Mile, who live across the street from the Spanglers, were in their new home but one day and their well fizzled.

"The first well was shallow but the new one is down 92 feet," according to Mrs. Rathburn. "We were very lucky and got good water."

Over on Cottisford road, a block north of Rathburns, James B. Sullivan said he paid about $850 to have a new well installed.

Sullivan, of 43501 Cottisford, attributed the sewer project to the downfall three weeks ago of his old well, which was 40 feet under the ground.

"They were pumping heavy on the sewer line. My pump was just bringing up enough water in the morning to fill up the tank. By afternoon, the water flow was down to a trickle."

"So I added five feet to the old well. I got a little more water but toward the last there was hardly any water at all. Then it just disappeared."

"I didn't like to put out the money for a new well. It knocked me for a loop. But it had to be done."

Sullivan indicated that "circumstantial evidence" might be entered if the homeowners want to be reimbursed for expenses in putting down new wells.

"We had good wells with good water. All of the sudden the sewer work starts and the wells go dry. People have been hanged on a lot less evidence than this."

Sullivan substantiated his argument. He said that at a

Novi village council meeting in June a councilman agreed that if he were sitting on a jury he would carefully weigh Sullivan's contention.

"I am not bitter about this," Sullivan added, "I am just trying to salvage something out of it."

A few months ago, Mrs. Merle Korn of 43635 Cottisford observed the contractor's pumps sucking the water out of ditches along Nine Mile. At that time she mused:

"It is a sin all that water is being drained. Somebody is going to pay for it."

In May, she and her husband did. "On May 17th, I heard a funny noise and discovered my water pump was running all the time," Mr. Korn recalled. "I thought it was sucking air but it turned out to be okay."

"Next, I thought the screen was plugged. I then discovered there was no water in the well."

Korn went deeper to find water on the second try. "Our first well was down 52 feet and we had to go down to 65 feet this time. The water is pretty good although it has more of a chloride taste."

He estimates it cost $550 to sink the new well. He supplied the pump.

Korn and his family were without water three weeks. During that time, Korn "hailed" water from nearby homes for drinking and sanitation purposes for a while. Later, the village began dropping off two barrels of water to use in the toilets. We then bought distilled water to use ourselves."

Mrs. Korn summed up her feelings thusly: "When nature causes something like this, it cannot be helped. But when a man does it — and knows it — it just irks me more."

As the waterless well mystery was pursued, it was not confined to troubles in the Nine Mile area west of Novi road. It stretched over to the east side of Nine Mile as well. William McGarry of 42061 Nine Mile was angry when his well halted. It happened during freezing weather in March.

"Its failure can definitely be linked to the sewer work. All the surface water was being pumped away and my well went with it," said McGarry. "I was without water for three weeks. It was cold then and I had to get water from the creek for the toilets."

McGarry has calculated that the contractor has siphoned off enough water in the area to fill a lake a mile square to a depth of 10 feet.

"Pumps are averaging 6,000 to 10,000 gallons a minute and I know of one pump alone that can withdraw 5,000 gallons a minute," he asserted.

McGarry opines that the water table in the area has declined because "the object of the LOST LAKE — For five years the John Begles, 41700 Nine Mile road, enjoyed the pleasure and beauty of an 11-foot deep, half-acre lake in their yard. It disappeared in less than two weeks this spring when contractors employed a "de-watering" process to lay the new Novi-to-Northville trunkline sewer.

Township Building Tops City

Building activity through the first six months of 1964 reveals that Northville township is running slightly ahead of its 1963 pace, while city totals are lagging.

Building permits issued in January through June total $598,178 in the township.

In 1963 the township had a total valuation in building of slightly more than $1,000,000. The major source of building in the township has been in new homes. Permits for 18 new homes add up to a total valuation of approximately $540,000.

Industrial and commercial building totaled $59,000.

City permits for the first six months show a total valuation of $434,396 compared to $679,965 during the same period last year.

Specifically, city permits were issued for:

21 house alterations — $20,196; 14 new houses — $262,500; two new commercial — $110,000; three new garages — $2,700; six commercial alterations — $39,000.

Rubbish Collection Changes in City

Beginning next week city of Northville rubbish collection will take place on Tuesday south of Baseline road and Wednesday north of Baseline.

The contract for collection was awarded to a new firm which begins on the revised schedule next week.

and U.S. congressional district seats in the Northville-Novixom area.

Voters will narrow down the field in the September 1 primary. Then one survivor from each political party will square off in the general election in November.

Republicans in the 35th are R. Robert Geake of Northville and Lonnie H. Brashear, A. Thomas Daoust and Steve Polgar of Livonia.

60th state legislative district (this includes Oakland county portion of city of Northville, city of Wixom and Novi township) — Democrats are R. W. Lahji of Wixom and Dwight R. Lawler of Swartz Creek.

Gulf Plans $1 Million Tank Field in Novi

Novi has another feather in its industrial cap.

Gulf Oil Corporation, one of the world's largest oil producers, has announced that the village will soon rank as a major petroleum redistribution center in the U.S.

Gulf plans to pump about $1 million into a 23-acre tank field facility on Grand River near Seeley road. Construction on the project began July 21.

It marks the second firm with international operations that has moved to Novi recently. In June, Perkins Engines, Inc., said it was relocating its North American headquarters in Novi.

Perkins Engines is an affiliate of the British parent enterprise, Perkins Engines, Limited. It supplies diesel engines to U.S. truck builders and other equipment manufacturers.

Perkins will occupy a 20,000 square foot plant on five acres at 27575 Wixom road. The building will house the firm's executive offices, engine and parts depot and product development center.

Initially, Gulf is erecting six huge tanks on its site. Three will hold nearly eight million gallons of gasoline and three will be filled with almost 4.5 million gallons of fuel oil.

A terminal office building and truck center will be built. Future plans call for two additional tanks to store kerosene. Their capacity would be just over two million gallons.

Keith Wilson, who is overseeing the project for Gulf, indicated that it "would be one of the biggest redistribution points for the firm in the country and its largest facility in Michigan."

Wilson amplified: "It is being modeled after one in Houston. It will be like five others being put up along the eastern seaboard."

"It will serve southern Michigan and Gulf will de-emphasize its operations in Hamtramck and River Rouge where small tank fields exist. It will be one of the most modern of its kind in the world."

All petroleum products will be transported to the site by Buckeye Pipeline, Wilson explained, emanating from Gulf's refinery in Toledo.

Wilson added that Gulf, based in Pittsburgh, expects to have the tank farm on stream by about the middle of November.

Dance Hearing

An informal hearing will be held by the Northville township board Tuesday evening to reconsider a request for a dancing permit for private parties.

The board turned down the request earlier. Owners of the Haggerty road club were told they could re-apply if area residents had no objections. The hearing will be held at 7:30 prior to the regular board meeting.

board, points to three reasons for opposing granting of a liquor license:

1—Brook Lane is located in an area now zoned "agricultural", but is slated to be rezoned "residential"; the area comprises some of the finest homesites in the township and the opening of a commercial enterprise selling alcoholic beverages and food to the public would retard sale of choice frontage for residential use and reduce existing property values;

2—Because the "free" population of the township is approximately 3,228 instead of 7,673, the township should be entitled to two licenses instead of five (on the basis of one per 1,500 population); one has already been issued to Dun Rovin golf club;

3—That the township is already severely penalized tax-wise because of the many tax-free institutions and that the remaining, desirable residential property should not be further depreciated by a commercial enterprise operated in conjunction with the golf club.

Supervisor R. D. Merriam indicated Tuesday that he was in sympathy with the petitioners. He said he would ask the board next Tuesday night to approve a letter to the liquor control commission.

"I do not intend to ask for withdrawal of our approval, but I think we should point out that since that time there has been strong concern over the matter among neighboring residents", Merriam explained.

Bathey, Cummings and Haller pointed out that they had not been contacted by the golf course owner prior to the request for the liquor license. They also took the position that the facility is not a golf course in true respect, but that it is an amusement park or miniature-type course not usually identified with the sale of liquor.

New Look for Hospital

After more than two years of vacancy the former Community General (Sessions) hospital will soon be re-opened as a nursing and convalescent home. It has been purchased by Dr. E. T. Capuzzi, William Fennell and William Jacobs. Currently the building is undergoing complete renovation. The wooden-structure second floor will be removed and the main floor will have provisions for 43 beds, visiting and treatment rooms and kitchen facilities. The West Main street building will have a new Early American front and will be called the Northville Convalescent Center. It is expected to be completed in three months. The building was purchased from Dr. H. L. Bergo and Abraham Farris.

Board Schedules Talks With School Architects

The Northville school board will take its first step in consideration of a new elementary school Monday night when interviews will be conducted with six architectural firms.

The board agreed to begin the selection procedure so that the services of an architect would be available for preliminary studies concerning site, size, etc., of the new school.

At the same time the board decided last week to appoint W. C. Becker, William Crump and E. O. Weber to a committee to outline the objectives for study by a yet-to-be-named citizens committee.

In September this citizens committee is expected to determine the immediate needs of the school system with particular emphasis on elementary space.

In other business the board rejected all bids for bus fleet insurance and will re-advertise.

Bids were opened for a $100,000 loan on anticipated state aid and an interest rate of 1.95 per cent was accepted. Bids will be opened on August 12, the board's next regular meeting, for another loan against anticipated taxes for $250,000.

Officially, the board meeting last week was called for a public hearing of the budget for 1964-65, but there were no citizen inquiries. The budget stands at $1,156,578. Millage is expected to be about the same as last year based on an estimated state equalized valuation in the district of $31,580,000, an increase of approximately $1½ million over last year.

The average nightly handle of $277,467 is up 17 per cent over 1963.

Attendance is up, too. In the first 42 nights of racing 202,527 fans went through the turnstiles, compared to 177,366 last year.

When Northville closes Saturday night, the trotters move to Hazel Park for an August 4 through October 3 season.

The curtain will fall on the 21st season of harness racing at Northville Downs Saturday night.

And when the last bettor shoves his wager through the pari-mutuel window the total handle for the 48-night season will be up some $2,000,000 over last year.

In rough figures this means the city of Northville will receive $20,000 more in state tax returns from racing than last year when a record $120,000 was collected.

Through last Saturday night $11,653,609 had been wagered at Northville Downs. Over the same period last year the total mutuel handle was $9,950,879.

NEWCOMER'S CORNER

I look upon every day to be lost, in which I do not make a new acquaintance.

— Samuel Johnson

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bryce Lockwood and their family.

Neighbors of the J. Bryce Lockwoods can just run next door and find the answer to any physics problem, perhaps get some help on woodworking and have the services of a speech therapist.

The Lockwoods have lived in their home at 201 North Rogers for exactly a month.

The head of the household will teach physics at the Schoolcraft College when it opens in the fall, while Mrs. Lockwood is a speech therapist in the South Redford public school system.

The rest of the family includes Kathy who will be nine in October, Ann who will be eight in September and Bill who was three Friday.

In addition to teaching, Lockwood is the past president of the Michigan Science Teachers' Association.

For relaxation he enjoys woodworking. "He almost re-did our entire home in Highland Park," said Mrs. Lockwood.

They lived in Highland Park for the past eight years where he taught at Highland Park Junior college.

Mrs. Lockwood is also very active. Aside from being a busy homemaker, mother and teacher, she is a member of the American Speech and Hearing Association and of the Michigan Education Association to which her husband also belongs.

She and her husband received their bachelor and master degrees from Western Michigan university.

Mrs. Claude Cruse has moved into her new home at 41239 Llewellyn road in Meadowbrook estates.

James Hammond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Crispin Hammond of 47100 "Timber Lane," is home on a 10 day furlough. He arrived Sunday.

An acting corporal in the National Guard he just finished his basic training in Fort Jackson, South Carolina. Hammond made expert rank in marksmanship. He will be stationed in Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

It's Back to Northern Ireland For Northville's Myrtle Jardine

A sparkling young lady, who after a year's stay has lost most of her "thick Irish brogue," left Sunday night with 335 other exchange students on a trip that eventually leads back to Northern Ireland.

Myrtle Jardine, a blue-eyed blond, lived in her "home away from home" in Northville since last August. Her American parents were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Parmenter of Thayer boulevard.

"They were just tremendous," Myrtle, an only child, found that having two sisters, Pam and Sandy, was "great."

Upon learning she was selected to come to the U.S. under the foreign exchange student program, Myrtle was anxious but a little apprehensive.

"You read about Americans and the U.S. but you really have to live here to see what it is like."

Americans, Myrtle heard, were always friendly but she thought it might be only out of curiosity and "not true friendship."

But Myrtle found that everyone was "friendly." As she said, "The people ... if it hadn't been for the people," they helped make her stay a memorable one.

One thing that bothered her however, was the extreme heat that Northville has been experiencing the last few weeks.

"In Ireland, it's hot when the temperature is about 65."

Tanned and a little sunburned, Myrtle spent a lot of her time at the Northville swim club where the Parmenters are members. Seasonal weather changes in Northern Ireland and Michigan vary said Myrtle. "The leaves in Ireland just turn brown in the fall. We don't have the beautiful autumn colors that you do."

One of her happiest memories is the deer hunting trip to northern Michigan with the Parmenters. It was her first hunt and she was enthusiastic when Mr. Parmenter bagged a deer.

Northville provided her with the graduation she never had at home. Although she had finished school in Ireland, she attended Northville high school and donned a cap and gown in June. Students in Northern Ireland, after completing their studies, are just handed certificates. Myrtle missed that ceremony and received hers in the mail.

Mixed with emotion, Myrtle was saddened about leaving but happy at the thought of seeing her real parents again. "In her letters, my mother has been counting the weeks until I come home."

Before arriving home, Myrtle will stop over in New York and see the World's Fair.

Then she will make an 11-day boat trip to England, a cross-country train ride, another sojourn by water, a drive of 30 miles and then — home at Donaghadee by the sea.

After a busy year, Myrtle will relax for a few weeks before beginning school again. She will study to be a tracer of blueprints for the government.

Fire Calls

The Northville fire department responded to five calls this past week. There was no serious damage in any alarm.

An automobile owned by Mrs. Eugene Kampman of 47100 Stratford Court at the Northville Swim Club was apparently ignited when a cigarette fell from the ashtray onto the seat. It was quickly extinguished.

Saturday firemen rushed to West Seven Mile road where two power lines were broken. They were probably downed by a windstorm that struck Salem and Wixom and were immediately repaired.

The remaining calls were the result of grass fires. Last Thursday there was a small blaze in a field on West Seven Mile road. The other two, Saturday and Sunday, occurred at Six Mile road, the first south of the railroad tracks and the second near Ridge road. They were easily quenched.

Myrtle and Rudolf Weber, a German youngster who lived in Ann Arbor during the past year, were chosen to speak for their fellow exchange students at Saturday night's farewell dinner. See page one, section two for more pictures.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank all of the wonderful people who were so kind at the time of the loss of our dear one, for the many beautiful flowers, food, cards and many other acts of kindness. I want to especially thank the WSCS, Rebekahs and Matrons for the lovely dinner, and Mr. Phillips and Rev. Ritter. It was all gratefully appreciated.
Mrs. Joe Davis & Family.

In loving Memory of Ann Lynn Dickerson and Walter Davis. There is no time that we could set for parting. We who must remain are never ready for such pain. Even our prayers would be, not yet, not yet, Dear God. Another day with us, let our beloved stay. We must believe when falls the blow that wisely God has willed it so. (by Edgar A. Guest)

Mrs. Walter Davis
Mr. & Mrs. Ted Dickerson
Mr. & Mrs. Emory Sims

A warm thank you to everyone who remembered me during my stay in the hospital.
Donna M. Peevey

Many thanks to all the friends who signed and who helped circulate my nominating petitions for state representative. The petitions have been filed for the primary election on September 1.

BLUE-RIBBON DRIVER — David Pilarz, 11, of 21650 Chubb road shows off his soapbox derby racer that won two heats last weekend in Detroit. With Dave is his father, Edward Pilarz. Besides two blue-ribbons, Dave earned a volleyball set and a tie clip and pin affixed with soapbox derby symbols. Dave was entered in class B competition. "We'll be back next year with a heavier car," Mr. Pilarz said. "The racer only weighed 218 pounds including the driver. The limit is 250 pounds. The faster cars are heavier."

Next Thursday

Parade to Open Pet — Doll Show

A big day is on tap for Northville youngsters Thursday, August 6. That's when the Northville Recreation department will hold its annual Pet and Doll Show.

Kicking off the proceedings will be a parade at 6 p.m. which will form in front of the Scout-Recreation Building. It will proceed east on Cady to Wing, North to Dunlap, then east to Center, south to Main, then back to Wing, south to Cady and to the rear of the Scout-Recreation building.

All floats must be mobile to be considered in their respective categories, Director Ken Conley points out. All participants must be registered with the recreation department in order to participate in the show.

LET'S TALK CARS . . .

The Incredible Piston Ring

You don't have to be very old to remember when the number one mechanical fault of used cars (and some new ones) was excessive oil consumption.

The fact that this complaint is seldom heard these days is due largely to the research and efficiency of several firms that produce precision piston rings for the auto makers. Their unsung accomplishments have virtually made the incredibly high efficiency of today's combustion engine possible.

The acceptable standard for rings was to get 600 miles per quart, after the break-in period, for 25,000 miles without engine scuffing or blow-by. Now that standard is 1500 to 2000 miles per quart for 50,000 to 100,000 miles in an engine in which pressures, temperatures and speeds have climbed enormously.

Approximately 320 million piston rings are made annually in the United States each year, of which half go into new cars and the remainder into used. Roughly 70 percent of used cars receive a "ring job" before they are scrapped.

It naturally follows that any engine component as critical as a piston ring requires the highest degree of mechanic skill in installation if the manufactured excellence is not to be wasted. Rings must be fitted to be light-tight around the cylinder, yet slide easily to leave a microscopic film of oil. A "ring job" is no task for amateurs or do-it-yourself handymen. If your car needs rings and its general worth justifies the job, take it to a franchised car dealer whose mechanics are equipped and trained to do the job.

Tiger Game, Hike on Tap For Youths

A nature hike and a Tiger baseball game, topped by the annual canoe junket down the Au Sable river will feature the next round of major special events sponsored by the Northville Recreation department, Director Ken Conley announced this week.

The three-day canoe trip will be held Monday through Friday next week for those who have attended the recreation canoe school and for those who have had canoeing experience, Conley said.

There will be a pre-trip meeting tomorrow (Friday) at 4 p.m. at the Scout-Recreation building for all prospective participants. The fee of $9 to cover the expense of the trip must be paid at that time, Conley noted.

Conley also announced that reservations for the Detroit Tiger baseball game trip Saturday, August 8, must be made at the recreation office or by calling 349-0203 by Friday, August 7.

Reservations for the final nature hike to Kensington Metropolitan Park Monday, August 3, must be made at the recreation office or at one of the day camps before that date, Conley said.

Road Closed

The Wayne County Road Commission announced that Northville road between Five Mile and Reservoir roads will be closed to traffic until November 1 while construction of new bridges is being completed.

Traffic is being detoured to Edward Hines Drive.

Panthers, Bears Battle for Knothole Lead

The Panthers and the Bears, running one-two in the Knothole softball circuit, matched the weather with their torrid diamond play last week.

Going into last week's games, the Panthers and Bears were tied with 5-1 records, but the Panthers took a one-half game lead with two victories. The Bears played only one game.

Led by Pitcher Rick Bingley, the Panthers trounced the Clippers, 8-1, on July 21. Bingley allowed only a double by Wally Reed and a single by Mark Murray.

The Panthers' attack was paced by Brad MacCallister, Raymond Green and Tom Cook, each of whom knocked in a run with singles.

The Panthers then took the league lead with a convincing, 18-4, slaughter of the Tigers last Thursday.

Panther bats clubbed out 13 hits, two apiece by Tom Mazoni, MacCallister and Joe Bishop.

The Bears had a tough tussle July 21, but finally overwhelmed the short-handed Tigers, 9-1.

In fact, the Tigers, playing with only seven men, held the Bears hitless for three frames.

They erupted for eight runs in the fourth on singles by Hugh Jones, Richard Alsopugh and Drew Robertson. Tiger errors also helped the Bears cause.

The lowly Colts were beaten twice.

The Cubs edged the Colts July 21, 6-5, then the Clippers crushed them 17-4 last Thursday.

It was errors and walks plus the hitting of Dennis Meyers, who had two-for-two, that brought home most of the Clippers runs.

The Cubs downed the last-place Lions, 11-1, last Thursday behind the two-hit pitching of Mark Richman.

It was a long cry spell, but the Northville Merchants came up with their first win of the season in Class D play July 21, beating the Wayne-Ford Civic league outfit, 7-2.

A combination of solid pitching, hitting and fielding turned the trick.

Pitcher Eric Peterson went all the way, limiting Wayne-Ford to just four hits while striking out six.

He was pulled out of two jams by double plays.

Northville scored its first three runs in the third inning. Terry LaRue and Dave Jerome singled and Mike Turnbull walked to fill the bases.

Bob Beller singled to score two and the third marker scored on a wild pitch.

Two timely bunts, and a line single in the fifth produced the final four runs for the Plumbers.

LaRue and Jerome were both hit by pitched balls and Turnbull singled to load the sacks. Then Beller and Peterson laid down two successive bunts to score two runs. Jim McIntosh singled to drive in two more runs.

The Cardinals broke out of their winless doldrums in the Knothole baseball league by dumping the Dodgers, 9-0, Friday.

John Stuyvenberg was the big man in the Cardinals attack. He slammed two singles and a triple to drive in six of the nine runs.

Dave Hotchkiss fired a sparkling no-hitter, allowing only five Dodgers to reach first in four innings.

Meanwhile, the second-place Giants stopped the Yankees, 8-1, behind the pitching of Bob Lanning and Joe Boland. The Giants failed to close much ground, on the league leaders, for the Indians did not play last week.

Trailing throughout most of the July 22 contest with the Dodgers, the Angels came up with two deciding tallies in the last inning to win, 6-5.

The Dodgers jumped to a five-run lead in the second inning on walks and a bases-loaded single by Bill Baldwin.

Playing their best ball of the season, Northville's Spagy-Thunderbird nine eased by the Novi Flyers July 22, 7-1.

Pitcher Kieth Mueller did double duty. He twirled a one-hitter (a single) and slashed a home run and a single to account for two runs, enough to win his own ball game.

He received excellent support in the field and at the plate, however, to mount the score. The T-Birds picked up eight hits in all.

With seven consecutive victories under its belt, Northville's Spagy-Thunderbird nine hitched up for a battle last night with league leading DiPonio Contractors. Tomorrow night will be another big one with second place Loper Firestone.

By winning both contests, the T-Birds could move closer to the top spot in hopes that some other teams will knock off Loper and Fisher.

The Birds now stand 11-2-1 in class E play, trailing, undefeated Fisher's Shoes with a 12-0 record and DiPonio Contractors 11-1.

Latest victim of the ram-paging T-Birds was Northville Recreation by a 23-0 count Monday night.

Bruce Durham and Larry Beller shared the hurling chores in a game called at the end of four innings because of darkness.

Close doesn't count, but the winless Northville Mets played their best game of the season July 22 against the Northville Plumbers, losing, 4-1.

Coach Dave Jerome lauded Tom Durham and Bill Harrison for their solid pitching stints. They permitted only two Plumber singles.

Two runs in the sixth and one in the seventh sewed the game up for the Plumbers. Dennis Mathews got the win.

Coasting along with an 8-1 slate in the Class F league last week, the Ely Oilers hit a snag in their pennant charge.

They were beaten by undefeated Loper Firestone July 21, 4-1, to all but wipe out the Oilers chances for the title.

Pitcher Craig MacDermaid threw a sterling three hitter, striking out 15 and walking only two. But poor support and failure of his teammates to hit accounted for the Loper win.

And MacDermaid collected two of his team's three hits. In the Oilers other cohest, they squeezed by the Northville.

Trailers 4-3 entering the ville Oilers, 7-6, last Thursday frame, the Oilers came up with two runs in both the fourth and sixth to win.

A's Eye Tournney Play-Off

The Northville Athletics are 4-4 over all in Class A men's baseball play. But they're still in good position to make the play-offs, which will determine the team to make the trip to the Battle Creek tournney August 28-29.

The Northville nine, however, can thank the "round system" used in the six-team league. The league year is divided into three rounds, with each team playing every other team to make a round.

The winner of the first and second round playoff game will square off against the third round titlist to determine the league champion.

Winner of the first round was South Lyon, while the Athletics finished way back with a 0-3 slate and two rain-outs.

Then the local nine caught fire to win four games in a row to tie Livonia for the second round championship. Both had 4-0 records.

The showdown battle with Livonia last Saturday was rained out. As a result, the game will be rescheduled at a later date with the second-round title hanging in the balance.

According to Coach Joe Kritch, an earlier forfeit by South Lyon was confirmed, thus giving the Athletics their fourth win.

Beginning the third round of play Sunday, South Lyon scored five tainted runs in a game shortened by darkness to upend the Athletics at Cass Benton park, 6-4.

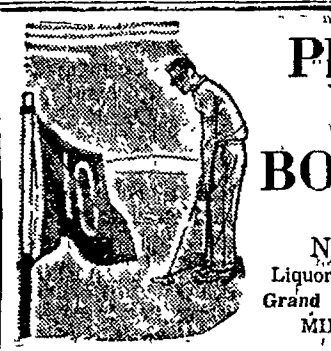

Northville jumped to a three-run lead in the second. After Jim Juday walked, Ken Kisabeth, Dave Biery, Jim Anderson and Bill Willey singled.

Tom Swiss, the Athletics big stick man, clubbed his second round tripper of the campaign to make it 4-0 Northville.

Northville will host Ypsilanti for a double-header, beginning at 3:30 Saturday, and Willow Run at 3:30 p.m. Sunday. All games will be played at Cass Benton park.

At arraignment May 18, Jacobs of 14324 Northville road entered a plea of not guilty and demanded trial by jury.

The first six man panel June 15 could not agree on a verdict and the "hung" jury was dismissed.

Other action by Judge Charles W. McDonald in court Thursday included:

Entering a plea of guilty at arraignment, Roy Lee Howard of Detroit was assessed fines and costs of $40 for using false identification to buy beer at the Good Time Party store July 18.

Charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor July 19 John Walter of Chicago pleaded guilty at arraignment and was fined $25 and $5 costs.

After his friend's case was adjourned, Paulos rose from his seat, stormed out of the room and was heard to use vulgar language.

Ingels ordered him back into the room, charged him with contempt of court and sentenced him Paulos was escorted by Police Chief Lee BeGole.

Paulos' friend, Wayne Hall, 17, of Detroit, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct at the Walled Lake Casino July 9 and was fined $10.

Attacking Youth Lands in DeHoCo

An eighteen-year-old boy, who doesn't like police, poured out his vehemence to Officer Philip Young Friday.

Young was answering a call about a fight at Robert Slayman's home at 446 Eaton drive.

When Young approached the door, Slayman lunged at him, hitting him in the face and yelling "indecent and profane language" about law enforcement officers.

He was finally subdued by Young, bound, and put in the patrol car. Slayman, however, wasn't going to let himself be arrested.

While Young was speaking to the boy's mother, Slayman jumped through the car window and started running down the street. Young caught him.

Slayman was taken to the police station and brought before Judge Charles W. McDonald Saturday. He was charged with resisting, assaulting and obstructing a police officer in the line of duty and was given 30 days in the Detroit House of Correction.

During this time arrangements will be made for mental treatment.

In other action this week, police arrested Joseph W. Holdreith of Grosse Pointe Woods and Herman E. Landrey of Detroit for soliciting without a permit July 23.

They appeared before Judge McDonald and pleaded guilty "to not knowing the city ordinance." Each was fined $25.

Arrested for driving under the influence of intoxicating beverages July 22, Wynn Whitehair of 1027 Allen drive was released on bond and will appear in court August 3.

Monkey Business For Novi Police

Officer Merle Spencer felt like a zookeeper last Thursday night. He was told to round up a stray monkey.

Mrs. Frazer Staman of 26850 Wixom road reported that the animal was running loose in her front yard. Spencer responded and, sure enough, there was a monkey.

Spencer tried to nab the creature but it got away. Spencer said, "He swung through the trees and escaped."

Spencer then inquired about the monkey at the McCordle residence, 26785 Wixom road. He learned the monkey belonged to the McCordles.

Spencer was told it would return home "when it got hungry." It did.

Donald Rider was a fast driver.

Rider of Howell was spotted by police at Beck road and Grand River July 17 proceeding at a high rate of speed. Then the pursuit began.

Along a six-mile stretch from Novi to New Hudson, Rider was clocked at 105 miles per hour. He was finally caught at the main intersection in New Hudson.

He was ticketed for speeding but elected to pay his fine of $50 and to enter his guilty plea before his July 23 court date in Judge Robert Anderson's court.

Construction work is heard at all hours of the day and night in Novi. Police received a complaint last week and investigated. Three boys were found building a dock in front of their home on South Lake drive at 2:55 a.m. They were warned about their nocturnal project and it was halted.

Probation Violated

Judge Emery Jacques sentenced Fred Felty, Jr. of Walled Lake to five days in the Oakland county jail last Thursday.

Felty, 17, was arrested by Novi police July 20 for being abroad at an unusual hour — 2 a.m.

The reason for the seemingly stiff sentence was that Felty was violating his circuit court probation rules which stipulate an 11 p.m. curfew.

Earlier this year, Felty was convicted of stealing an automobile and was placed on probation.

Year in America Ends for Foreign Exchange Students

ALL SET — Tables and chairs were arranged for an anticipated crowd of 1,800 Saturday. By mid-afternoon rain threatened, but the heavy area storms missed Northville and the pleasant result was a cooler evening for the farewell exchange dinner.

SIGNING UP — Every youngster had been assigned to a Northville home for the evening. But there were many last-minute changes and some disappointments. Some youngsters decided to stay "one more night" with their foster parents; others didn't arrive until Sunday. Rotarians had to juggle reservations, but despite efforts some local families who had volunteered to take students overnight ended up with none.

LUNCH LINE — Box lunches and drinks were sold to the visiting families and their students. Some preferred to bring their own picnic-style dinners.

MUSIC MAKERS — The Downbeats will tour Europe under the Youth for Understanding program this summer. They'll travel overseas with the exchange students. Saturday night the young Des Moines, Iowa boys provided the entertainment.

Mix equal portions of memories, anticipation, sadness and joy and you might come up with the emotion experienced by some 338 foreign exchange students as they gathered in Northville Saturday evening.

Most of them were accompanied by their American families — their mothers, fathers, brothers and sisters for the past year as they visited under the Michigan Council of Churches' Youth for Understanding program.

And for most, the Rotary-sponsored farewell dinner Saturday evening would mark their final moments with their foster parents.

Yet Sunday they would leave for the World's Fair in New York. And then there would be the boat trip home and the happy reunion with their real parents.

And Saturday night and Sunday they would meet another American family, their over-night Northville hosts.

There were many mix-ups — youngsters who did not arrive until Sunday or who had gone directly to New York with their American families — but generally the program came off well.

A jazz band made up of 19 Des Moines, Iowa boys provided entertainment. The band will tour Europe for the Youth for Understanding program.

Certificates were presented to all American families by the Youth for Understanding director, Mrs. Rachel Andresen.

After the program and departure of foster parents, local families took over. The visiting Europeans were entertained until 5:30 p.m. Sunday when they were briefed by their directors at the high school. Buses began leaving at 8:30 p.m.

The youngsters were scheduled to arrive in New York shortly before noon Monday and visit the United Nations.

A full day at the World's Fair was planned for Tuesday. An 11-day boat trip home began Wednesday.

One of the highlights of the Northville weekend was special church services at each of the city's four churches. The youngsters were welcomed by the respective ministers and recognized.

In recognition of the foreign exchange student weekend the American Legion displayed American flags throughout the business district on Saturday and Sunday.

ONE MORE NIGHT — For the Alfred Parmenters of Northville there was one more night after the farewell dinner to enjoy the company of their exchange student, Myrtle Jardine. Myrtle and her American sister, Sandy, are flanked by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Parmenter.

WORKERS — Every one of the 1,800 chairs had to be hauled in and then hauled away. Rotarian E. V. Ellison is one of those who did the heavy work.

SAD GOODBYES — Scenes like the one above were repeated often as youngsters said final farewells to their American families.

Rotarian Ray Spear served as master of ceremonies.

Rotary President A. R. Clarke welcomed the visitors.

A. A. Applegate read greetings from Governor Romney. See Text of his message on page three of this section.

GOOD LISTENERS — Seated in the shadow of the Northville water tower the crowd of exchange students and their American students listened attentively to the program.

COOLING OFF — Many of the visiting exchange students had an opportunity to "take a dip" Sunday while waiting for late afternoon bus briefings. In the picture above the Gunnar Strombergs of 20138 Whipple drive used their vacationing-neighbors' pool, the William McKeels. Left to right are Dick Jester, a band member from Iowa; Bengt Bengtsson, Stromberg and Mrs. Stromberg and Jerker Wilander. Bengtsson and Wilander are both Swedish. Coincidentally, so are the Strombergs. The six students shown below were guests at the Northville Swim Club. They are (l. to r.) Anne Dorrie, Germany; Ulla Riis-Nilsson, Sweden; Willy Wullschlaeger, Keirrich Rosenfeldt, Juergen Kranick and Werner Ulrich, all of Germany. We failed to identify the two tots on the end.

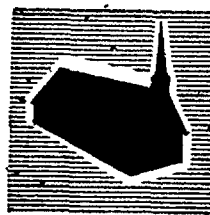

FAIR BOUND — Eight huge buses transported the 338 youngsters and their directors to New York for a brief visit to the World's Fair. They left Northville between 8:30 and 9:30 p.m. and were scheduled to arrive in New York 14 hours later. Wednesday they departed for Europe.

DINNER TIME — Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Atchison entertained seven girls at their Rogers street home. Just before time to return to the school for departure instructions they enjoyed a buffet dinner. Pictured (l. to r.) are: Lt. and Mrs. Richard Atchison, who just happened to be visiting for the week end on leave from Wright-Patterson Field in Ohio;

This is written out of experience. There are some Churchgoers who do not attend in the hot summer months in this beautiful State of Michigan. Some of these friends attend in the winter months on a Sunday in the southland where air-conditioning is the rule, rather than the exception. However, let it be said, God is not exclusively the possession of the pulpit and the pew. He is there (on the golf course, or in the boat if you are of a mind to speak to him (in prayer). Perhaps there might be a new order of worship that could be used by the out-of-doors people that would bring him into a new form of Churchmanship as they address the ball, or bait the hook, or relax in the sun on the beach or in yonder hill country.

Now I grant you that this bit of rambling might not increase church attendance come fall and cool weather.

However, this is serious conversation if we are prepared to spend a little extra thought time to consequences and trends. The church still calls the disciples of Christ (by whatever name they are known) to corporate worship, instruction and motivation. The church preserves through its scholarship the records and revelations, the history and homiletics, of long years standing so essential to any continuous plan for understanding and effort. The church (though its efforts sometimes appear ineffective and awkward) is engaged in the ministries of comfort and consolation, assistance and advance in the realm of personal morals and ethics.

When a broad base of the population in the nation lose sight of these emphases and concerns, history indicates a lessening of responsibility in the body politic and a downgrading of zeal and ambition. This cuts into the idealism that is part of our national birthright.

Now I come to some questions for the day. How much are we prepared to sacrifice and lose to, attain a vainly conceived personal independence? How often can we ignore the call to worship of the Almighty God as a part of the congregation, without developing attitudes of pure skepticism and unhealthy egotism?

Let us think on these things as the summer days call us to the fun and frolic of the God-given out-of-doors. Remember, man was made for the whole realm of creation by God and gratitude to Him should not become one of the lost arts by the recipients of His goodness.

Exchange Program Living Together In Peace, Love

Editor's Note: This is the text of the message from Governor George Romney delivered by his administrative assistant, Albert A. Applegate, to the departing foreign exchange students Saturday night in Northville.

I sincerely wish that it were possible for Mrs. Romney and me to be with you in Northville this evening, particularly because of our own interest and experience with the Youth for Understanding Teenage Exchange Program and also because Northville holds a special place in our affections. But since we could not join you I am glad to have the chance to share a few thoughts with you at this important moment.

All of you today — exchange students, host parents, brothers, and sisters — stand at something of a turning point. You are here to say goodbye, and in a little while you will go your separate ways. But I would suggest that today is not nearly as important a turning point as it may seem. The real turning point came over a year ago, when each of you, in your individual homes, made the original decision which eventually brought you here today — the decision to become exchange students, and host families.

That original decision was actually a commitment to an idea, and for the past 11 months you have been living that idea. You have been living the idea that people from all over the world — from different nations, different ways and walks of life, different races, different creeds, and different cultures — can live together in peace and love. You have been living the idea that the differences which divide us are not as important as the ties that bind us. You have been living the idea that the family of man transcends every artificial boundary that men devise. You have been living the idea of brotherhood.

As one who has been a host parent, and whose son has been an exchange student, I know that this has not been easy. After all, nothing that is really worthwhile is really easy; and the most worthwhile thing that we can do — to love and care for one another — is sometimes most difficult of all. It is not an easy thing to be an exchange student — to leave your family and friends, your home and country, travel thousands of miles, acquire a whole new set of relatives, start speaking in a different language, and adjust to a very different way of doing things. It is hard work to be a teenager anyway, and it is doubly hard to be a teen-age exchange student.

And it isn't any easier to be a parent — to open your home and your heart to a complete stranger, to make the inevitable adjustments in your daily life, to stretch your patience to cover one more child, to explain, to interpret and to love.

Being an exchange student, or a host parent, does impose special responsibilities — but it has its special rewards. By the end of the year, you are a family — a new and larger family — and each member of the family has come to a better understanding of himself, his values, and his expectations. Most important, each parent knows that this child who came into his home — whom he has learned to love — could have been any child from anywhere on earth. Each student knows that the family of which he became a part could have been any family in any land — and the result would have been the same. Once we have realized this, not one of us will ever be the same again — and neither will the world in which we live.

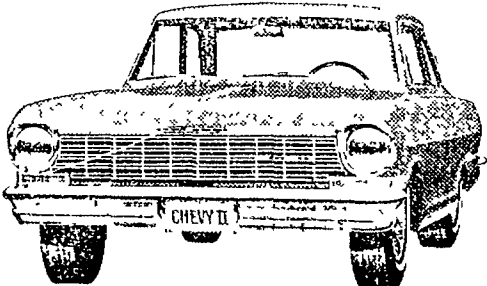

That is why the turning point is not today, but came many months ago, when you made your original commitment to the idea which you have been living for the past year — the idea of brotherhood. That is why today is not an end, but a continuation. There will be no permanent goodbyes, today. When you go your separate ways, you will part, not as the strangers that you were a year ago, but as the families you are today, in the spirit of the ancient benediction, "May the Lord watch between me and thee, while we are absent, one from the other."

City Property Purchase Smacks of Dictatorship

To the Editor:

Since reading the account in this week's Record (July 23, 1964) I have been disturbed at the account of the City Council proceedings.

I was annoyed at the proposal that the city purchase by negotiation or condemnation the property of Ruben Peterson (known as the White Kitchen on East Main street). It seems that it is being done for the benefit of Del Black who apparently put on a pretty good act that the property was detrimental to his plans for the development of his property. In the first place he knew the building was there when he made his purchase and it doesn't seem proper to use general funds money to benefit one or two individuals; by no stretch of the imagination could such a purchase be justified as a benefit to every member of the community. It seems to me that such a purchase should be put to a vote.

Further, Del Black may decide that the Beer Garden on his East side is detrimental and want that property purchased by the city and removed for his benefit. Then in a few years some other business man may decide to appeal to the council to purchase and destroy Del Black's building because it is a detriment to that person's business. A rather dangerous precedent could thus be started; a doctrine of justification that smacks of dictatorship. What would happen if some of the business men complained of the Northville Record building which is without doubt the ugliest building on Northville's Main street and far more visible than the White Kitchen? Where would such an idea stop? Any rights of private property would be swallowed up in such a violently dictatorial doctrine.

Further, I can't see how the city's power of condemnation could be used to acquire property that would be essentially for the benefit of a few. If Del Black is so disturbed let him negotiate and purchase the White Kitchen property from

Mr. Peterson and when it is his let him tear it down. If the apartments at the back of the property are such a blight and health hazard then notify Mr. Peterson what changes are to be made or if he refuses let the Circuit Court decide what should be done as to removal of the offending buildings.

High School Graduates Urged to Contact College

High school graduates planning to enter Lawrence Institute of Technology this fall should contact the college as soon as possible so their high school records can be processed in time.

This is the advice of officials who explain that applications must be approved well in advance of the registration periods.

There will be room for 500 additional freshmen in day college this fall. Registration days for this group are September 3 and 4 with classes beginning September 9.

Evening college registration will be held September 9 and 11 with classes beginning September 14. Technical Institute registration will be held September 8, 10 and 11 and classes start September 15.

Lawrence Tech, Northwestern and Ten Mile, offers bachelor of science degree courses in engineering, architecture and industrial management in both day and night sessions. Technical Institute associate in engineering degree courses are offered in evenings only.

A total of 302 cases were handled last month by the Novi force which numbers five uniformed officers including BeGole. Sgt. Vern Loeffler is a plain clothesman.

Traffic accidents ranked high on the list of offenses that were compiled. There were 38 in June with 22 involving property damage and seven where personal injury was sustained.

In his crime roundup, Be-Gole noted that there was a lot of malicious destruction in Novi last month. Twenty-three complaints were listed.

A breakdown of the violations showed that 54 were for defective vehicles. Further, 11 red-light runners and 23 drivers with no licenses were arrested. Eight reckless drivers were apprehended and made court appearances. Eleven speeders were nabbed.

But justice court fines and costs did not keep pace with the slightly higher volume of tickets. Some $2,121 were collected, down from $2,362 a year ago. Judge Robert Anderson accounted for $1,153 and Judge Emery Jacques $968.

Other parts of the report indicated that the department:

- Worked a total of 1,328 hours. Each member of force put in an average of 221 hours.
- Made 18 liquor inspections.
- Traveled 6,865 miles in three patrol cars.
- Checked out 11 dog complaints and two dog bite cases.

— In Justice Court —

In conjunction with the crack down by Novi police on defective vehicles Judge Emery Jacques rendered the following decisions this past week:

Fines of $10 to William W. Hughes of Mackinaw City for a defective muffler July 20.

Assessed a $5 fine to, Richard B. Reed, of Pontiac for, excessive noise June 26.

For a similar offense fined Larry M. Clingham July 22 $10.
Fined Ronald E. Regina of Detroit $5, for a defective exhaust July 18.

Judge Jacques assessed fines of $15 each to three youths, Larry Rowe and Thomas R. Yarnovich of Detroit and William Dreher, Jr. of Dearborn for being minors in the possession of alcoholic beverages July 17.

Another youngster, Gordon W. Young of Ferndale, paid his fine of $35 for the same offense committed May 3.

Ralph Leon Skiptop of 24361 Glenda received $15 fines for speeding 65 mph in a 50 mph zone on Novi road July 22.

Farmington, Judge Allen C. Ingels, Judge Robert K. Anderson's substitute in court Thursday, fined Robert H. Heiden of Farmington for failure to yield the right of way on Grand River at Bates restaurant.

He assessed Detroiters Michael Kostik and Robert A. Wilson $10 fines each for target shooting on Nine Mile and Beck roads, July 17.

Paul W. Hagstrom of Farmington was found not guilty at trial of careless driving July 11.

Found guilty at trial Cheryl R. Elliot, 19, of Wayne was fined $25 for drunk and disorderly behavior at the New Casino ballroom July 12. She had been placed on a $100 personal bond pending trial.

Robert G. Hall of 114 Monticello was fined $15 for operating an automobile without a driver's license June 12.

Alcoholism Requires Help in Treatment

Alcoholism is a growing disease problem confronted frequently by families, communities, and physicians.

As with many other diseases it can be treated, says the American Medical Association, but not really cured. The alcoholic can learn to completely control his disease, but the affliction cannot be stamped out so that he can return to alcohol without adverse consequences.

While the treatment primarily involves merely not taking a drink, the course of the treatment is often long, harrowing and beset by relapses. As with so many diseases, early detection usually brings about better results.

Among the signs of the disease are increased consumption of alcohol, often combined with constant thinking about drinking and making it an important part of life.

The alcoholic usually drinks more than he intends, or gets drunk when he doesn't intend to, for he uses alcohol as a drug rather than a beverage. Despite obvious excesses, however, he usually denies that he drinks too much or offers alibis for his drinking.

Other symptoms include getting drunk alone, taking an "eye-opener" in the morning, digestive disturbance and loss of appetite, and missing time from work or duties because of drinking.

Alcohol, aside from its addictive qualities, also has a psychological effect that modifies, thinking and reasoning. One drink can change the thinking of an alcoholic so that he feels he can tolerate another, and then another, and another.

Most alcoholics cannot break the cycle alone, for it means giving up the thing in life he wants most.

Help for the alcoholic can come from many sources — the physician, the clergy, governmental agencies such as the local health department and volunteer organizations like Alcoholics Anonymous.

In addition the family can help, by listening to his problems and helping him to face them realistically; encouraging him to help himself, but without scolding or lecturing him. And, when he gives up drinking, keep up his morale, emphasize his good points, not his bad ones. After all, he's sick, not wicked.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Northville Rotarians who handled the arrangements for the exchange student farewell dinner and overnight accommodations Saturday can breathe a sigh of relief.

The job is done, but it was a backbreaker. And so the question now comes up, should the club try to continue the project?

This year there were 338 students, and their American families at the dinner — a total of about 1,800 persons.

Next year there will be 425 exchange students.

There's no question that the project is worthwhile. It focuses statewide attention on the community and introduces Northville to hundreds of youngsters from throughout the world.

It also gives local residents an opportunity to meet these young, intelligent students from another country, an experience that proves most gratifying even though it is brief.

On the other hand the undertaking is an immense responsibility.

Naturally, the burden falls on a few. This year Dr. H. L. Dyer, A. R. Clarke, E. V. Ellison, Fred Kester, Fred McLean, Cliff Hill, Herman Moehlman, Ray Spear, Bruce Potthoff, Cy Frid, Al Laux, George Lockhart and Dr. Pasquale Buonicoi were closest to the project.

The community, too, must cooperate. And it did.

Clarke, who was in charge of accommodations for the students, ended up with more homes, than students. But this was because of unavoidable cancellations that led to semi-chaos at the last minute and left some residents who had offered to open their homes with no students at all, or fewer than they had anticipated.

But Clarke reports that every family expressed understanding and many have already volunteered to help out again next year.

They liked the youngsters and they want them to come back to Northville.

The decision, of course, is up to the Rotary members themselves. The project is not designed to make money, but rather to help promote a worthwhile cause for better understanding between all people of the world.

If Northville is to continue to serve as the "farewell community" for this ever-increasing number of visitors, Rotary and the community must roll up their sleeves in a cooperative effort.

Other communities have already volunteered to take over or at least share the project should Northville decide to pass.

One exchange student, Heidi Christiansen of Germany, had to miss the bus trip to New York.

She was staying with the J. D. Kadey family of Chigwidden drive and on Sunday morning it was discovered that Heidi had the measles!

She was scheduled to catch up with the others by flying to New York with Mrs. Rachel Andresen, Youth for Understanding director.

Water is becoming a major concern in many sections of the Northville-Nowi area.

A page one story relates the problems in Novi along Nine Mile road. Residents there believe that the de-watering process used to lay sewer lines this summer has caused their wells to run dry.

Long-standing ponds that dot the area along West Seven Mile road are either low or dry; the Old Spring is just a trickle of its former flow.

Out in Northville, township the Plymouth Gardens' homes overlooking Phoenix lake are desperate for water. Several residents there have been without house water for more than a year.

They must carry in containers for washing and toilet use; laundry must be taken out; and at least one family hasn't eaten a meal at home in a year.

Soon it is hoped that the township will build a water system in the area and buy Detroit Water. But the special assessment process is slow.

Supervisor R. D. Merriam said this week he is seeking signatures from residents in Plymouth Gardens who are without water to present to the health department so that red-tape may be cut in the legal procedures.

Water is a wide-spread concern. Many dislike admitting pressure problems; but their willingness to pay for any dependable source reveals their uneasiness.

Our city and township officials should give this project top priority. It is a problem that can be solved by more than one method.

A cooperative effort to plan for future area water supply could save taxpayers money and discomfort.

Retail Gains to Continue

BABSON PARK, Mass., goes by.

Feeling the pulse of retail trade is one of the surest ways of determining the health of the economy in general. When employment is high, consumer income expanding, public psychology optimistic, and business trending upward, the resultant prosperity shows up at once in big turnover gains in our retail outlets. We are seeing such a situation at the present time, and I think we will continue to see mounting retail sales at least well into 1965.

Business executives closest to the retail scene look for stores, on the whole, to chalk up gains over a year ago through the autumn months and the holiday buying season. This seems reasonable to me since the impact of the tax cut should become stronger, further boosting already favorable business conditions. Some economists expected an immediate upward push to business as soon as the tax-cut bill was passed. My study of the comparable situation in England, however, teaches me that the effects of tax-cutting gain cumulative strength as time goes by.

It is my opinion, therefore, that retailers will not enjoy the full favorable force of the tax cut until the latter months of this year, — and even beyond. My optimism should be justified, then, in looking for the best retail turnover in our history from the end of summer-vacation time until at least early 1965.

Inventories on dealer shelves are on the rise, reflecting the high hopes, and I think they will set some sort of record by fall.

The fact that I look for very brisk retail business does not mean that it will be clear sailing for store managers. The competition, already sharp as a razor, will grow even keener. To hold lead positions, store operators will have to make the most of advertising and promotion possibilities; they must use their display space with the greatest imagination and ingenuity. They will need also to give customers much more personal attention and service.

Only the front-rankers, the go-getters, will manage to keep their "take" well above 1963 levels during the remainder of this year. Supermarkets will have a rough time outdoing their year-ago totals, particularly where they have expanded too rashly into already well-served localities. The same goes for discount houses; many of these have gone out on limbs that may not be able to hold them up too long under the weight of the bitter rivalry that exists. It is my feeling that many discounters will founder in the period ahead, and that the field will eventually narrow to perhaps a dozen or so soundly operated chains.

Executives of retail organizations should keep in mind that today's buyers are probably more willing than ever to buy high-quality goods, big-tag items. It is certainly true that consumer tastes are being raised through superior education and more prosperous conditions. Spendable money is exceptionally plentiful in most parts of the country, and buyer resistance is low in the face of superior wares. Luxury merchandise is already moving easily, and the pace may be even smarter in coming months.

The government will surely do everything it possibly can to keep things prosperous until after the November elections.

What stores need to stress now is the quality of the goods they offer and of the services they provide. The demand appears to be turning much stronger toward quality and service. It has been a surprise to me, in fact, to learn how far at good many customers will drive to shop at a store where the merchandise is select and the service personal and friendly. This might even indicate a swing back toward the smaller specialty shops. But the principles involved are something every retailer — big or small — can adopt and adapt to his own particular merchandising. I predict that retailing in this country has a bright future, both near term and long term, for those concerns that keep in tune with the times and at least a step ahead of the crowd.

Establishment of community care facilities was enabled by legislative act last year. Prior to the official act, mental health experts touted community care centers as the answer to space demands in existing institutions.

One possibility for even further localization of care for mental patients was hinted at by Kimmich shortly after his arrival in the state.

He said he hoped to develop a broader program of cooperation with general medical practitioners, social workers and others in a position to observe potential mental problems and suggest early treatment programs.

State Capitol Face-Lifting Planned

LANSING — Care of mentally ill patients in Michigan apparently will undergo some change in procedure, but will follow the current trend under the state's new mental health chief.

Dr. Robert A. Kimmich came from California to Michigan July 1 to serve as head of the large Mental Health Department.

One of his first observations was that much of the red tape involved in mental care should be eliminated. "I would like to see us minimize the number of persons and places a patient has to go to in order to receive care," he said.

The trend toward part time, close-to-home care facilities is one which should be continued, said Kimmich.

Michigan accentuated this trend within the last three years. Its aim is to provide care as close to home as possible and on a day-care or out-patient basis wherever practical.

bate on the advisability of the project will be a moot point. There will be a new face on the building which will house so many new legislative faces at the beginning of the new year.

An unknown factor in the Fall elections nationally, reaction on both sides of the civil rights question, may have particular impact in Michigan.

Democrats usually count heavily on the Negro vote. The Freedom Now Party has nominated Negro candidates for several of the open offices in an effort to marshal the Negro vote to these people.

Any major shift in the Negro vote is viewed by Democrats as a threat to the party's strength in marginal districts and tight, statewide contests. Republican Gov. George Romney has made little public comment on the new party but made a major attempt in 1962 to win Negro votes in his campaign and will again be trying to capture a large segment of this population group to his side in this year's contest.

Organizers of the new minor party say their effort is a protest to both major parties for failure to give the recognition and representation due Negro voters in Michigan.

Impact of the new group will not be felt until after Nov. 3 but both parties are likely to be eyeing the Negro vote more closely this year because of formation of the Freedom Now Party.

Some $200,000 was appropriated this year to clean the exterior of the sandstone building. It was white when built, but over the years has become a dirty, streaked gray-black.

Art-minded citizens have contended over the years that the aging process should be allowed to run its course unhindered, that the natural look should be preserved.

Others, many tourists among them, say the state's central government building should be more physically attractive.

A new coat of paint was applied to the dome on the building within the last few years, emphasizing more the aged appearance of the rest of the facade.

Some experts feared the effect of sand blasting on the soft Indiana sandstone structure, but state officials expect a new cleaning process to be used this summer will eliminate this risk.

By fall almost 20 years of decay will be stopped.
