

Gravel Pits Converted To Lakeside Homesites

Last Monday Mrs. R. D. Merriam, wife of the Northville township supervisor, hung her washing out to dry. To the average housewife this might not seem unusual. But for Mrs. Merriam and her neighbors in the Seven Mile-Beck road area, this was, indeed, a special occasion.

It was the first Monday in eight years that there has not been gravel mining or land-leveling at the nearby Northville Sand & Gravel company stirring up dust that turns clean clothes gray.

Last week John Waskin, one of the owners and manager of Northville Sand & Gravel, proved that when a gravel miner is through with a piece of land he doesn't have to leave it pock-marked and ugly.

Eight years and some 1,200,000 cubic yards of sand and gravel later Waskin has turned the 27-acre parcel at Seven Mile near Beck road into a potential site for more than a dozen homes overlooking a 10-acre lake.

He has leveled the pit to the height of Seven Mile road along the entire 1,300 feet of frontage. The land is then level for a distance of 190 feet from the road where it begins a four-to-one slope down to the lake.

The level area is carried right around the corner of Beck road to the yard of the closest neighbor, Supervisor Merriam.

For Northville Sand & Gravel the completion of mining on Seven Mile road and the rehabilitation of the land marks the fulfillment of a bargain that was made 10 years ago

In about 1952 Northville Sand & Gravel wanted to mine the area. Residents protested and finally the township took Waskin and his gravel company to court.

But the court ruled in favor of the gravel company and said "go ahead and mine."

The township appealed to the supreme court, however. And the state's highest tribunal asked the gravel firm and the township to agree upon a set of regulations governing the mining operation that would be acceptable to both parties.

They did and the court made these stipulations a part of its decree.

According to Supervisor Merriam, Waskin has more than met the requirements. The slope, to the lake, for example, could have been much steeper. And mining ceased well within the period of the agreement time.

The site is zoned for residential estates. And Waskin said that he and his partners will probably sell to a developer of homes.

Meanwhile, he's still mining on the west side of Beck road about a half-mile away. But while he's mining, he's also grading the land, creating lakes and planning another potential area for homesites on an 80-acre gravel pit that should be ready for conversion to residential use in less than two years.

John Waskin, owner of Northville Sand & Gravel, and Township Supervisor R. D. Merriam view the rehabilitated gravel pit area on West Seven Mile road. Only hard-fill, no rubbish, was permitted in filling.

Schoolcraft Staff Moving Onto Campus

Friday is moving day at Schoolcraft college.

Staff members will move from temporary offices at Newburgh and Ann Arbor roads into the newly-completed administrative offices at the Haggerty-Seven Mile road campus. Monday will be the first day of official operation at the new facility.

College doors will open to the first student body August 31.

"We have tested, counseled and scheduled 1,000 full-time students," College President Dr. Eric J. Bradner stated this week. "Now all we have to do is instruct them."

Dr. Bradner describes Schoolcraft as a "jack-of-all-trades" institution. "It's a comprehensive college, offering academic, technical and vocational programs."

A night school program is expected to accommodate an additional 1,000 students.

The campus now provides four buildings including the maintenance building. There is an administration building, a library and science hall. The latter will be used for teaching all kinds of courses.

Thanks to a favorable vote last June in all five school districts in the community college area — Northville, Plymouth, Livonia, Clarenceville and Garden City — the college can now earmark surplus funds, along with available state and federal monies, for construction of four more buildings.

Architectural firms are already at the drawing boards on the latest project. Eberle Smith Associates will design the physical education and campus center buildings. Rallis-Hamill-Becker will design a technical services building and another classroom unit.

The additions will cost around $3 1/4 million. Schoolcraft will then represent a $5 million-plus investment.

Ground was broken on the present campus in June 1963. Work will get underway on the next four buildings in early spring.

By 1970 Dr. Bradner predicts an enrollment of 4,800 students. Meanwhile, he and his staff stand ready to greet the first 1,000. All 48 teaching posts have been filled.

John H. Brunn, formerly of Delta college in Bay City, heads the staff as dean of instruction.

Merchants Plan Sidewalk Sale

The Northville Retail Merchants association set Saturday, September 19 as the date for the annual city-wide sidewalk sale.

Organizations other than regular retailers wishing to reserve sidewalk space for special sales during the event may contact Charles Lapham.

Three Local Stores Remodel Interiors

Three retail stores in Northville are undergoing extensive interior remodeling programs. Both Freydl's women's and men's shops on Main street are expanding their floor area.

Brader's is completely redecorating its interior with new displays, shelving and decor.

At Freydl's Women's Wear, 118 East Main, an entire new floor is being added on the second level.

Mrs. Charles Freydl says the new department will feature casual wear for young women. Such items as blouses, skirts, sweaters, slacks and ski togs will be on sale in the new department.

The second level will enable the store to carry and display more merchandise on the main floor, Mrs. Freydl points out. The new department will be early American in design.

In the Freydl Cleaners & Men's Wear shop all pressing equipment for the dry cleaning business has been moved to the lower level in the rear. Charles Freydl, Sr. and Jr. note that this will permit expansion of the Main street level, nearly doubling present display area.

While Freydl's women's shop will be completed next week, the changes at the men's shop are just getting underway. The expansion will probably require a month or more.

Aaron Gellerman, owner of Brader's, is now completing a remodeling project that started with air conditioning.

Interior redecorating, new fixtures, displays and shelves have been installed. New flooring will now be installed to complete the remodeling.

The modern display will provide more floor space and enable the store to expand its stock, Gellerman stated.

Novi Road Curve Going

Bids for the improvement of the Novi road curve at the entrance to the city of Northville were scheduled to be opened yesterday (Wednesday) at 10 a.m.

Frazer Staman, Oakland county road commissioner, said that the project would be completed this fall.

Township Doesn't Want Pre-Election Controversy

Board Delays Appointments

The Northville township board played 'cat and mouse' Tuesday night as a familiar, but sensitive subject, again appeared on the agenda.

Appointments to the temporarily-discontinued water and sewer commission were scheduled to come up for consideration. The matter was carried over from last month's meeting when Trustees Donald Robinson and Wilson Tyler opposed appointments until qualifications for the job were established.

Tuesday night Trustee Robinson suggested that the subject be delayed until after the September 1 primary "because two members of the board face competition" and Robinson indicated that the subject would be controversial.

Robinson and Treasurer A. M. Lawrence must run against fellow Republicans in the primary race.

Although he did not say so, it is known that Robinson opposes the appointment of Treasurer Lawrence to the water and sewer commission.

The trustee admitted after Tuesday night's meeting that his motion to table was taken to avoid an argument that might be interpreted as political.

Lawrence said he saw no reason for postponement and jokingly asked Robinson if "you're looking out for me?"

Tyler seemed ready to discuss the issue, but agreed to second Robinson's motion. In a move apparently designed to further remove the issue from public ears Supervisor R. D. Merriam proposed an amendment to Robinson's motion that called for an executive (private) session to determine qualifications for the commission positions.

Both the motion and amendment won full board approval.

The three-member water and sewer commission is designed to handle all the business of the township's water and sewer systems. With the development of Shadbrook and Edenderry subdivisions and the proposed Detroit water service for Plymouth Gardens the township is just beginning to encounter responsibilities in water-sewer areas.

Board differences led to the discontinuance of the body about a year ago. Last month Supervisor Merriam proposed reactivation of the commission with Lawrence, David Dodge and Herbert Frogner as members.

Tuesday night both Tyler and Robinson objected to the newspaper report and the township's official minutes that indicated they opposed Merriam's choices.

The trustees said their objections were confined to the lack of established qualifications for the positions, and did not involve personalities. Tyler asked that the minutes be changed to reflect this.

In other business Monday night the board acted to officially release Northville Sand & Gravel company from its obligations under a supreme court decree of 1954 (see adjoining story).

An agreement with the city and school for rental of the old library to the school district for two years was approved by the board, but Supervisor Merriam reported the city "has made no effort" to complete negotiations for rental costs on the new library.

As reported in The Record last week, a petition was presented to the township board by Glenn Cummings of Six Mile road indicating that residents of the area oppose issuance of a liquor license to Brookland Golf Club, Sheldon at Six Mile.

The petitioners also asked the board to investigate applications before forwarding approval to the state and suggested an amendment to the zoning ordinance to provide that golf courses and liquor license applications be subject to approval by the planning board.

The board agreed to turn the amendment request over to the planning board for study and recommendation, but declined to take any investigative action on liquor applications. The board maintained that this was a job for the state and that local bodies only pass on the character of applicants.

A dance permit for private parties was granted to Dun Royin Country Club in final business.

ACCIDENT'S AFTERMATH — A late-model car, minus its driver and passenger who were injured when it rammed a slow-moving freight at 12 Mile and Taft road, is ready for the towman's chain. Police expect the car to be written off as a total loss.

Pair Escapes Death In Novi Train Crash

"They were real lucky kids."

So said Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole in referring to an accident last Monday afternoon on 12 Mile and Taft road at the C&O tracks.

Chester Zimny, 18, and his sister, Irene, 20, were heading east on 12 Mile toward their home in Warren. Zimny was driving at a high rate of speed and was unable to avoid hitting a train.

Officer Merle Spencer, who responded to the scene along with BeGole, said that Zimny did not apparently "see the train on the railroad tracks."

"He applied his brakes and left 35 feet of skid marks before striking the lead engine of the train on the left side."

Spencer said Zimny's car bounced backward after impact. He described the car as a total loss. "The radiator was in shreds, the windshield was broken out and the fenders were smashed."

"The impact tore the universal joint loose, pushed the motor back into the dashboard and the steering wheel was bent like a pretzel."

Neither Zimny nor his sister were seriously injured, however.

They were rushed to St. Mary hospital. Later, a hospital spokesman said both were suffering from multiple lacerations and broken noses.

In addition, Zimny fractured a rib and his left knee.

When he was interrogated by Spencer and BeGole, Zimny admitted that he was going 60 miles per hour in a 50-mile-per-hour zone.

According to the police report, Zimny "had his radio on and did not see or hear the train until his sister yelled: 'watch out for the train.'"

He was about 100 feet from the crossing and it was too late to stop in time.

Alfonso Zalba of Saginaw, the train's engineer, told police that he "saw the car coming and blew his whistle." The train was proceeding at about 28 miles per hour.

Three diesels were pulling 81 freight cars. Police said that when the brakes were applied, the train ground to an abrupt halt.

William Corne, the train's fireman, confirmed the engineer's statement and added that he "pulled the emergency brake switch."

BeGole said that the train stopped so fast that it blew out an air brake line on one of the freight cars. The car was uncoupled and traffic was held up for 25 minutes.

In the meantime, Spencer checked the signals at the crossing. He said they were clearly visible and functioning properly. An advance warning sign was also posted.

BeGole pointed out that no ticket has yet been issued to Zimny. A court appearance, he said, would depend on whether the railroad signs a complaint against Zimny.

It was the second train accident in a month in the Northville-Novi area.

A gravel truck was hit broadside July 11 at the Seven Mile C & O crossing in Northville. The engine of the train was termed a "total wreck." Traffic had to be rerouted for three hours.

Driver of the truck said he neither saw nor heard the train signals. He said a bright sun made the signals difficult to see. He was not injured.

From the steps of the administration building Schoolcraft college President Dr. Eric Bradner looks at the science building.

Local Exchange Club Drops National Ties

Northville doesn't have an Exchange Club anymore. At least, not by that name.

At the Wednesday meeting of that club last week, members in a unanimous vote decided to disaffiliate with the national organization.

Why? They didn't believe in the national objectives and policies. Specifically, the Northville post disagreed with restrictions imposed by the ruling body as to membership. It discriminates against races, nationalities and creeds, the local group maintains.

Now the Northville Exchange club will be known as the Northville Service Club.

It will retain the same officers — Howard Grant, president; LeRoy Stone, vice-president; Del Black, secretary and C. Harold Bloom, treasurer.

Downs' Season Handle Hits $13 Million Mark

The 48-night harness race meet closed last Saturday at Northville Downs with a total mutuel handle of $13,349,075 recorded.

Last year's 45-night meet produced $10,767,010 at the mutuel windows, an average of $239,267 nightly in 1963 compared to $278,106 this year — a hike of 16.2%.

Attendance was up 10 1/2% with a season total of 232,416 fans.

The meet ended on a high note Saturday night with a total handle of $372,814.

NEW QUARTERS — Superintendent of Schools R. H. Amerman returned from vacation just in time to move into the new administrative and board of education offices now located in the old library building. On the main floor of the building offices are provided for Amerman, Assistant Superintendent Kenneth MacLeod and E. V. Ellison, director of administrative services. Board of education meetings will be held in the basement. Old offices at the Main street elementary school have been converted to classroom use.

Recent rains have been of little help to trees that are dying because of the long dry spell in the area. John Miller of Green Ridge Nurseries warned this week.

Readers Speak

To the Editor:

It strikes me curious that Ed Yerkes should want to use a civic policy in his personal politics but it should more than infuriate the people of this community that Mr. Yerkes would use our young merchants and their ambition as an excuse to overlook a degrading blight condition in the center of our shopping area.

As always his "majority of one" attitude has personal concern. For it is my understanding that Mr. Yerkes' building located between the Ford Sales building and Northville Restaurant is on the unofficial list of the City Planning Commission.

This letter is not in defense of Del Black, for it should not be necessary in this community — or any democratic government — to defend a progressive mind. But let it be known that Mr. Black did approach Mr. Peterson about purchasing this "health hazard" but was forced to stop negotiations because of the exorbitant asking price.

Removal of this building is a civic duty. Northville's population is growing — it's ideas are stagnant. Northville cannot afford such a non-progressive attitude — not as long as we want new people and new business to survive in our community.

Northville has stood still long enough. It is time for change. Mr. Black has opened the door for those who have concern for this city's future. We can walk through the door or we can let it slam in our faces again! And to Mr. Yerkes I ask, "What is more un-American than to hide and destroy new and progressive ideas. What is more un-American than to profiteer off of the sleepiness of a community?"

Charles Parton

Beware citizens of Northville it can happen here. The forces of reaction are on the march to limit and hold back progress and change in our town. One of our local attorneys led off with a bitter attack against a leading young businessman in Northville when he dared suggest getting rid of some slum property in our downtown area.

"This businessman would like to invest a good deal of money to improve his place of business."

"This would only be a beginning for other businessmen are just awaiting the outcome to see if they also should invest more money here or look to a more forward looking community."

However, our friend the attorney suggests that if the city moves to buy or condemn this blight it's dictatorship or even worse, creeping socialism.

By the same token our friend thinks that it would be just fine for the city to pass an ordinance that would keep people buying property in the city from changing the style of architecture in the name of historical significance.

I'm sure that our friend would be the first to ask why something hadn't been done about this property if there was a fire and some young children burned to death.

Yet he seems to feel that if a man owns property that he may do as he likes with little or no regard for his neighbors or the other citizens of the community.

If this kind of thinking is allowed to prevail you may wake up one sunny morning with some little green sheds right on your property line and this same attorney telling you that you can't do anything about it because these little green sheds meet the minimum requirement for "habitation".

100 Candles Top Cake Of Mrs. Sophie Huegel

Grandma Huegel might have been left breathless if she had tried to blow out all the candles on her birthday cake. For last Friday she reached a milestone — she was 100 years old.

"Everybody was so busy and excited that we even forgot to light the candles on her cake," said her granddaughter, Mrs. Avery Penney of Plymouth.

Guests for the centennial celebration gathered at the home of Mrs. Penney, 48222 Powell road. Relatives from all over the country were there. Earlier in the day, a family luncheon was held at Hillside Inn for Grandma Huegel. It was given by two of her four children — Mrs. Sophie Saner of Windover Lake and Albert Huegel of Plymouth.

Her other children are Mrs. Lena Motta of Pasadena, California and Harry Huegel of Phoenix, Arizona.

She has 11 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren. Gary Brokas of Plymouth, who is the youngest great-grandchild, was two years old on his great-grandmother's 100th birthday. Mrs. Huegel's grandchildren from Northville are Mrs. Fred Balko, Mrs. Fred Casterline and Julius Saner. Others are Mrs. Roy Schultz and Mrs. Charles Brokas of Plymouth; Mrs. William Fischer of Dearborn; Mrs. Erwin Charlesworth of Kalamazoo; Albert Huegel, Jr. of Toledo; and Mrs. Ray Anderlie and Mrs. Pat Patrick of Phoenix.

Grandma Huegel is still chipper for her age, according to Mrs. Penney.

"She likes to watch television and even reads the paper without glasses. She loves to take walks and view the birds."

In recent years, Grandma Huegel has done a lot of traveling. She has spent some time in Arizona and California with her children and their families.

"She goes by jet and just loves it," said Mrs. Penney. Right now, she is staying with her daughter, Sophie, who lives on Windover Lake which is near Lake Michigan.

Grandma Huegel, who is in good health, proved that she is spry at the party. "She had two dances and we took pictures of her dancing," said Mrs. Penney.

To further show how spry she is, Mrs. Penney said that a few weeks ago Grandma Huegel went for a fast boat ride and even regretted that she "couldn't go swimming."

Mrs. Huegel, whose first name is Sophie, was born in Alsace-Lorraine. She and Henry Huegel were married February 9, 1888. They came to the U.S. in 1914 and settled in Detroit. Later, they bought a farm in Mt. Clemens.

In 1938, they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. Huegel died in 1940. Perhaps the thing that topped off her birthday was a special telegram from the White House. President Johnson sent best wishes on her milestone.

"Grandma was so thrilled to hear from the President," said Mrs. Penney.

So now she heads into her second century of life and as Mrs. Penney put it: "She'll only be one-year-old next year — if two digits are left out."

Giants Take 2, Pursue Indians

By sweeping two games by decisive margins last week, the Spagys' Grocery Giants breathed hot on the necks of the front-running Casterline Indians. They're just one game behind.

There was no mistaking the Giants' determination to catch the Indians as they scored 28 runs in the Knothole baseball circuit.

Ten runs in the second frame racked up a 11-0 Giant win over the Athletics July 27.

Highlighting the big inning were singles by Pete O'Hara, Joe Boland, Steve Maher and Karl Weber and a double with two on by Kenny Lach. The Giants poured it on in their next contest with the Dodgers Friday, winning by a 17-3 margin.

Giant Pitcher Joe Boland limited the Dodgers to one single, while Danny Daniels was three for four and Boland, Lach and Bob Lanning all had two for four.

In their first outing, the first-place Indians downed the Angels July 27, 7-3. Woody Filkins allowed only one hit, a single by Fred Kester.

The fast-improving Bloom Insurance Cardinals hit the ball hard, but lost a squeaker July 28 to the Indians, 9-8.

The lead changed hands three times. In the final analysis, it was too much Indian power.

In other Knothole play, Bill Baldwin fired a no-hitter July 29 to lead the Dodgers to a 10-1 win over the Yankees.

Weak Athletic hurling opened the gates Friday for the Angels as they triumphed, 13-3.

Winners of only one contest all season, the Northville Plumbers can hang up their gloves — the season's over.

They were knocked out of the Connie Mack Playoffs for tournament position last week, although they didn't go down without a fight.

First, a superior Livonia Bison nine topped the local team, 5-0, July 26. It was simply a matter of too much Bison power.

Eric Peterson, who went all the way, pitched stellar ball, allowing only seven hits, but his teammates could muster only two.

Next, the Plumbers tied the Wayne-Ford Civic league outfit, the same day four-all in a game marred by two fights, two protested plays and several unusual incidents.

Water Carnival On Tap Wednesday

Splashing onto the sports scene next Wednesday will be the Northville Recreation department's annual Water Carnival at Groomes' Beach, Whitmore Lake. Director Ken Conley said this week.

A host of aqua activities, including swimming races, diving contests, wading and canoe races, sponge and spoon races and watermelon diving contests, will be in the offing for local girls and boys.

Conley said that no one under eight-years-old can participate unless he is accompanied by an adult.

Buses will load at the American school and the Community building at 9 a.m. and leave at 9:15, Conley reported. He added that the buses will make the Eight and Six Mile road pick-ups.

In addition to the usual 25-cent charge, participants must bring a lunch or money for a lunch, Conley said.

Only those persons who are transported by bus will be admitted to the park at the special price, Conley noted.

Misfits Top Men's Loop

The Northville State Hospital Misfits, a team of employees, drove their way to two victories and moved to within one game of winning their first championship in action in the Northville Recreation Men's Softball League last week.

The victories came at the expense of Lapham's Men's Shop and the Mid-Seven Party Store. The Misfits' season's record now stands at six wins and a single loss.

The game against Lapham's was a high-scoring affair. When the game was over the Misfits had scored 19 runs and collected sixteen hits. The Lapham's squad blasted out fifteen hits and eleven runs. For all of the scoring the game was close until the seventh inning. With the score tied at 11 runs apiece, the Misfits exploded for eight runs in their half of the seventh.

Against the Mid-Seven Party Store the Misfits won 10-0. The hospital team was in command all the way as it blasted across four runs in the first inning. Chuck Heider, the Misfits' pitcher, recorded his sixth victory and second shut-out of the season.

Next week will be the last one in the league. A single elimination tournament is planned. Games will be held at Cass Benton Park on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Forming up in front of the Scout-Recreation building, the youngsters will proceed east on Cady to Wing, north to Dunlap, then east to Center, south to Main, back to Wing, south to Cady and to the rear of the Scout-Recreation building.

In Our Justice Courts

In Northville

A Flint resident chose a jail sentence instead of a stiff fine in Northville justice court.

Gerald Atchison is confined for 15 days for being a disorderly person last month at Northville Downs. Judge Charles McDonald assessed a $75 fine and $10 costs Monday but he declined to pay.

A companion, Robert Weaver, who was arrested on the same charge, elected to pay a $45 fine and $10 costs.

Both were arraigned July 22 and pleaded not guilty. They were released on $25 bond each.

In other cases, Judge McDonald:

— Fined Leonard Keller of Plymouth $10 and $5 costs for contributing to the delinquency of minors. Keller was found guilty July 20 but was allowed by the court to pay his fine at a later date.

— Found John Rodden of Pontiac guilty of reckless driving July 27 on Main street. Brown was arraigned the same day and entered a plea of not guilty. He was released on $100 bond. He paid a $50 fine and $5 costs.

— Assessed $10 fines against a Northville couple. Ray Fowler of 38 Arbor Way, was arrested July 24 for driving with an invalid operator's license. His wife, Lola, got a ticket for being an unlicensed driver. Both pleaded guilty.

In Novi

A $1,067 tool theft has been solved in Novi.

William Nuottilla of Northville is spending 15 days in Oakland county jail for committing the simple larceny July 25 at Lacy Tool company.

Sgt. Vern Loeffler wrapped up the case after a two-day investigation. Nuottilla, who was employed at the tool firm, was sentenced last Thursday.

Nuottilla's case was heard before Judge Robert Anderson.

At the other justice court, Judge Emery Jacques faced a light docket.

John Planko, 31619 Stellwagen, Wayne, was fined $15 for consuming on highway July 26 on Martin street near Linhart.

Richard Planko, 8245 Wormer, Dearborn, was ticketed for the same violation, and paid a $15 fine.

Alan Stoffer, 18236 MacArthur, Redford township, was drunk and disorderly July 25 at Walled Lake Casino. He was assessed a $20 fine. Joseph Michalski of Windsor was fined $20 for being a minor in possession July 24 on South Lake drive at the Walled Lake Casino.

W. L. Wilbur, 27762 Parkcourt, Madison Heights, was fined $15 for being disorderly July 25 at Walled Lake Casino.

Donald Anderson, of 1 Brookfield, Livonia, was bed by police July 20 on road and Grand River for excessive noise. He was fined $20.

secretary; Mrs. Robert Miller, treasurer; Mrs. Rex Holloman, chaplain; Mrs. Clara Alexander, historian; Mrs. Keith Trumbull, sergeant-at-arms; and executive board members, Mrs. Ruth King, Mrs. Louis Katzback and Mrs. Howard Wright.

Teenage Arsenal Is Seized

Early Tuesday afternoon Novi police arrested two youths for stealing a street sign off the corner of Beck and Ten Mile roads.

But when police apprehended them, cherry bombs, a rifle, 14 boxes of ammunition, and a knife were confiscated.

Dennis M. Derda, 17, of Livonia and Dale R. Keith, 17, of Detroit were charged with arson of public property, possession of firecrackers, shooting a rifle without a permit, carrying a knife in the car and trespassing.

They were arraigned before Judge Robert K. Anderson and pleaded guilty to all counts. They were placed on $100 personal bonds.

Derda and Keith will appear before Anderson in court today for sentencing.

Fast Driver Rams Car; Is Fined $35

It took the Novi township park officer's car to stop Bernard D. Brown of Plymouth. Brown was racing around the park and when park officer Bob Richardson tried to stop him his car was hit by Brown's. According to the police report, Brown had been drinking. He was brought before Judge Emery Jacques and received a fine of $35 for reckless driving.

In other action, police arrested Carmela Cam, 18, and Kathryn J. Jeindl, 19, both of Dearborn, for being minors in possession of alcoholic beverages July 30. They each were fined $10.

Police received a notice from the Oakland county court that Ambrose Beaton's file can finally be marked closed. He was confined for 90 days in Oakland county jail for killing a person by the careless use of firearms.

Fire Calls

The Northville fire department responded to five alarms this week. They were quickly extinguished. None resulted in serious damage.

The electric switch box at the home of Charles Mickalaki, 505 Griswold, blew up early Monday morning. It was evidently struck by lightning.

Last Thursday and Friday there were two brush fires, both on Eight Mile road. The first was near Taft road and the second at the rear of the Northville Estates.

There was a grass fire Friday evening at the corner of First and Fairbrook streets.

Student Says Germans Fear Goldwater

EDITOR'S NOTE — Gordon Hammond, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hammond, 47100 Timberlane, is one of three Northville students spending two months living with families in foreign countries under sponsorship of the Youth for Understanding Summer Exchange Program of the Michigan Council of Churches. The following is excerpts of a letter Gordon sent home about the early days of his trip.

I am here, safe and sound but what a story I have to tell. As we left Detroit Metropolitan Airport, we flew so high I could see Detroit and Northville at the same time. At once my ears hurt badly and my stomach got a sickly, empty feeling.

As I got settled in my seat, I asked my neighbor, "Where are you staying?" A young chap said, "Fritzlar." Out of 180 kids I sat next to the only other one going to Fritzlar.

Gordon is living with a family in Fritzlar, only 50 miles from the eastern border, that doesn't speak a word of English. Gordon studied German only three months.

When he arrived at his destination, Gordon was not feeling too well. He was tired and had eaten skimpily. The first thing he said to his new family was: "I have a stomach ache." His new parents, the Lederle's took him to a doctor. Pills and rest made him better.

We — Inga, Cally, Minhard and Frans and myself — went to Fritzlar and I took many pictures. Then we visited another American boy. He said he got sick, too. I wonder if all the students on the plane got sick — we all ate the same food.

At home, we gathered around the piano and I taught Cally and Frans how to play chop sticks.

Gordon next spent the last day of class in a private school with Inga and Minhard. He observed:

When the teacher comes in, we stand and then one student leads in prayer. The students have written themes, but instead of handing them in, each reads his aloud and then it is torn apart in front of the class. Four students sit at one desk and there is much joking.

The English teacher sees me writing and walks over. He said "where is your book?" I said "I lost it." He then remarked, "That is no good excuse." Before he got too mad, Minhard told him I was an American student.

Only rich kids can afford school here although they dress as though they were poor. I guess my family is rich. I have my own bedroom, bathroom closet, radio, etc.

I am no longer sick. I am completely better. I had food poisoning and pills helped me feel better.

Each day we get up at 7 a.m. and have cocoa, four pieces of toast, three eggs, jelly and a big bowl of strawberries. Then Cally and I go to the fields where we thresh corn till noon. Then we have our big meal: — six potatoes, two pieces of meat, big bowl of soup and large amount of cake and ice cream.

After lunch, Cally practices her piano and I study my German and write letters. Later, I either unload corn or paint

James Rembowski, Dennis Podlack and Dennis Glass are also charged with kidnapping a girl. Samuel Galotaro pleaded guilty to robbery.

—Northville Downs closed its 20th season last Wednesday evening with the biggest crowd of the year. The 45-night meet ended with 7,000 fans on hand. It was the climax to a three-day celebration at which all fans were admitted free of charge.

—The Northville high school class of 1941 held a reunion Saturday. Forty-two of the 66 members were on hand at the community building as class president, Mrs. Robert Casady (the former Marilyn Cavell) opened the program.

—On the northside of town, roosters are causing early morning disturbances which have meant loss of sleep and shattered nerves to villagers. Councilmen want Police Chief Earl Montgomery to get out in the cold grey dawn and check on the crowing. He doesn't seem too eager. A councilman, with rooster experience, thinks that if the coops were kept dark until late morning, the problem would be solved. It remains to be seen.

In Germany, the people are funny. They always claim and talk that they want to break away from the U.S. They don't think the U.S. is bad; they just want to decide things and do things for themselves. Yet they take more interest in American politics than Americans do.

Here President Kennedy was not only loved and worshiped, he was idolized.

At any mention of JFK, the Germans become excited and emotional and begin to worry about the future. At the show tonight, films of Robert Kennedy were shown on his trip to Poland and all the people listened closely, mumbled to each other and smiled.

When the film showed Robert unveiling a profile of JFK's face on a cornerstone, the crowd in the show broke out in tears. My heart never felt so good — and I realized then how great a man he was. To the Germans, JFK was and is a sign of hope and justice for all.

But at present, there is much fear in their hearts. They all feel that Goldwater is another Hitler. They say if Goldwater becomes President, he will bomb Cuba and Russia will bomb the U.S. and Germany. They hate Goldwater something terrible.

These people realize how important America is and they are doing their best to help. But their biggest setback is the fact that outwardly they want to be independent and the inward realization is that they can't.

I have arrived in the home of Inga Knoll's (of Northville) parents and was greeted by Annemargaret. There are 10 of us here, 8 Germans, a French girl and myself. There is a strange custom here. Whenever anybody joins us, we all get up, shake his hand and say: "Gutan dag!"

Joe Louis Trains in Northville for Pastor Bout

Northville was the nucleus of the boxing profession a quarter of a century ago. All eyes were fixed on Joe Louis, the heavyweight champion of the world, training for his bout with Bob Pastor.

The Brown Bomber was staking his crown for the eighth time since he took the title from Jimmy Braddock in 1937.

The Northville - Wayne County Fairgrounds were selected as his training center for the match scheduled September 20 at Briggs stadium in Detroit.

Louis, his manager, John Roxborough, and an entourage of 20 assistants lodged at the estate of the Joseph Schlachs on Newburg and Eight Mile roads for their three-week stay, which began in the last week of August.

But the hub of activity was at the fairgrounds where a ring was set up in front of the grandstand for the Bomber's workouts.

Spectators, in addition to those in the area, included daily busloads from Chicago and Louis' followers from all over the country.

Supplementing the rooters were corps of press and news-reel men who established headquarters in the fairgrounds administration building. The buildings also housed lockers and showers that were especially erected for the champ and his workers.

A familiar sight during those weeks was to see Louis using the bridge paths for roadwork or to see him browsing in the store windows as he walked down Main street.

How did the citizens of Northville react to all the stir?

"Favorably," according to Elmer Smith, who at the time was instrumental in negotiating the contract for Louis to train here.

Smith of Spring drive was president of the Northville - Wayne County fair board in 1939.

"When we heard Louis was looking for a training site around Detroit, I took him to the fairgrounds, he liked it and said yes," said Smith. Looking back in old issues of The Record, villagers were quoted as saying: "It's the best publicity Northville could ever have."

After weeks of intensive training, the Brown Bomber knocked out Pastor in the 11th round at Briggs stadium.

Twenty-five years has made a lot of changes. The fairgrounds turned into the Northville Downs racway, Briggs stadium is now Tiger stadium and the Brown Bomber is 50 years old.

One of the greatest boxers, Louis relinquished his crown to Ezzard Charles in New York in 1950. He fought his last professional fight in 1951.

Joe is married to a lawyer, the woman who helped him with his tax claims. They live in Los Angeles, but plan to move to Denver.

The ex-king of the boxing world now serves as an official greeter and public relations man besides having several business interests.

"HOW CAN PRAYER HEAL THE BODY?"

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

by the Rev. S. D. Kinde
First Methodist Church

Foundations are important to the sturdiness of any structure. So in speaking to the early Christians Jesus said that for a house to remain standing amid winds and floods it must have a sure foundation (Matthew 7:15-27.)

So too in life itself there are certain spiritual foundations upon which personality must rest if a person is to stand; the storm and stress of life day by day.
The Word of the Lord is a good foundation upon which to build life. Jesus said,
"He that heareth these sayings of mine and doeth them
... I will liken him to a wise man who built his house upon a rock." And he went on to point out that under the most severe tests by storms that mans house stood while others with weakened foundations fell.

I have never seen a termite by name. But I have read that many solid wooden foundations have crumbled because of termite infestations. Those little hidden chewing insects work beneath the surface and keep under cover, unnoticed until the results of their chewing of the wood becomes apparent. Suddenly, without warning, a building sags and settles, and it is discovered too late that what appeared to be solid timber is mere hollow shells.

One family in California had a shock when their piano suddenly descended to the basements and a study revealed that termites had destroyed the flooring.

Some folk neglect their spiritual life for years and when life folds under they wonder what is happening to them. They were unaware that termites of sin, selfishness, lust, greed, anger, alcohol, pride etc. etc.
were at work and that their spiritual foundation had weakened, and let them down. Outwardly there was no indication of trouble or weakness but the time came when trials and troubles tested them and problems weighed heavily and the storms of daily living became too much to face and life broke down and they faced heartache and defeat. Why? Termites eating at the foundations of life.

Jesus was constantly after the termites in the heart of his followers. He purged them of their sins again and again and set their feet on a new and higher plane of living. God is quick to forgive anyone who seeks a better life. We need to guard well our spiritual foundations. Let us guard against the termites of doubt and sin. Let us pray "O Thou great searcher of every heart, cast out our hidden fault, and the sin that does so easily overcome us, and restore to us the health and strength of true Christian character, through Jesus Christ our Lord.
Amen."

Telephone lines

By H. J. WILSON, Manager

COMPUTERS HELP US a great deal in providing you with good telephone service. But they can never replace the spirit of service so traditional with telephone people. That spirit is the very human concern which prompts our people to give an extra measure of helpfulness, wherever it's needed. And it's as much a part of Michigan Bell today as it was 'way back before computers were invented.

EASY NOW!

Life is so much easier, with a handy extension phone where you work. No more mad dashes to catch the phone in the other room.
No more interruptions in your work. The cost? Just pennies a day, after the one-time installation charge.
And there's a wide choice of attractive colors to choose from. To order your extension, just call our Business Office or ask your telephone man.

YEARS OF SERVICE—
without a single repair!
That's a pretty common story with Bell telephones
... even those that take lots of family or business punishment. Toughness is built into your telephone by the engineers at Western Electric, manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System.
They test each phone thoroughly before releasing it for installation in a customer's home. But if your phone ever does need servicing, don't worry. There's no extra charge for repairs!

Enjoy carefree comfort
all winter, only pennies per day!
McLaren-Silkworth's comprehensive oil heating service plan!

You get all this:

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Talk of a mall in Northville seems to have taken a summer vacation.

In the last serious discussions the council suggested to the planning commission that an expert's opinion on feasibility and cost of the proposed mall should be obtained.

The planners have now come up with an expert who, after a year's study and for about $3,000, can say this idea will or will not work and, if it is workable, how much it will cost.

Now it's up to the council to decide if it should spend the money to make the determination.

I imagine councilmen would like to know if local businessmen are interested enough to proceed. Planners still believe it is the right step.

Businessmen appear to be on the fence. The proposed mall for the central business district hasn't enjoyed enthusiastic support, but it might gain stronger consideration if an expert's opinion plus exact costs and means of financing were outlined.

As one planner put it, "we've gone about as far as we can without additional professional help."

At a recent council meeting Councilman John Canterbury suggested that the mall idea might be simulated by slowing down traffic on Main street. He said it is not unusual to have a traffic stop sign in the middle of the block in some business districts.

It was Canterbury's idea that a pedestrian cross-walk located in the middle of the Main street block between Center and Hutton would be a convenience to shoppers.

A recent study of malls published in a retail trade newspaper showed that traffic problems must be alleviated before malls can become effective.

The study revealed that malls have failed in seven cities where they were not a part of a master plan.

Local planners believe that without a north-south route around the business district replacing Center street a mall could never work here.

One of the facts revealed by the mall study: two cities, Toledo and Evansville, tried temporary malls. Both were dismantled and plans for permanent structures discarded after short trials.

The successful malls were permanent, rather costly projects. Pomona, California, for example, (pop. 75,500) spent $680,000 on a nine-block mall and boosted business 17.6 per cent. Property owners paid for the project through assessments and 25-year bonds.

Registrations for the September 1 primary ran high in the Northville-Nowi-Wixom area, indicating an influx of newcomers.

The city of Northville conducted a special registration campaign headed by Karl Knoth. The effort resulted in 158 new registrations with 84 of these coming during night hours when volunteer clerks were on duty.

Northville township signed up 65 new voters, while the city of Wixom had 26.

A lively primary contest in Novi township probably helped boost registrations there. Nearly 150 registrations were recorded with Township Clerk Charles Goers kept busy two hours after the 8 p.m. deadline Monday taking care of a line of customers.

Appeals Court Important to Voters

LANSING — Lack of familiarity by the voting public with an issue or office can be dangerous to both the candidates and the electorate.

This year such a danger exists, in theory at least, where the State Court of Appeals election is concerned.

One outstate candidate for the new court estimates that only one out of 100 voters knows that nine Appeals Court judges will be elected this fall, and that each elector will cast a ballot for three candidates.

Being a non-partisan race, the judges ballot will be separate from other offices in both paper and machine precincts.

Elections officials say regretfully that frequently machine voters ignore nonpartisan contests. Less often, but still too frequently, the same thing occurs in paper ballot precincts where voters tire of their job before even looking at the nonpartisan contests and issues before them.

Many well qualified candidates, including local judges and present and former state legislators, have filed in the Appeals Court district races throughout the state.

Failure by the voters to be familiar with these candidates could be costly. This court's nine judges will get many of the important appeals in the future. Wise minds must be selected for this heavy responsibility if the voters are to be properly served in the future.

Final audits will not be completed until mid-September, but tentative figures on activity during the fiscal year ended June 30 indicated a good financial position for the state.

In addition to providing a clean slate for the 1965 legislature to work with, the fact that Michigan's books are again in the black provides major political fodder for the coming campaign.

Republican Gov. George Romney will undoubtedly claim much credit for having eliminated the $85 million general fund deficit and putting nearly $50 million in surplus on the books.

Legislators of his persuasion also were given some credit for the fiscal stability by Romney in a recent announcement of the financial position.

Romney said it was largely due to the thrifty attitude of GOP lawmakers in writing budgets that Michigan was able to retire its debt and get some extra funds in the public coffers.

Democrats will take a different view this fall in the campaign.

A batch of so-called nuisance taxes reimposed since 1960 and new ones enacted in law rather than levy a state income tax will be blamed by Democrats on the Republican legislators.

Democrats will claim that these new taxes, enacted during the final year of Gov. John B. Swainson's term, were totally responsible for the increase in revenue this year to $610 million. This was the figure, they will say, that made the surplus possible.

Romney also will put some credit for the surplus to several spending studies by task forces which recommended money-saving methods to several state agencies.

Perhaps most difficult to evaluate is who or what should really get the credit for the increased revenue.

Some factors outside the executive office and legislative halls certainly must be considered. Three consecutive boom years in the auto industry provided additional spending money in pockets, part of which went to the state in taxes.

Another certainty is that the several lean years previously made administrators more conscious of the value of the money they had to spend. There can be little doubt that in state government, as well as in private life, it is easier to count pennies closely when faced with a shortage than when money seems to come from a bottomless well.

One approach to traffic safety improvement is to take the known hazards off the roads.

These include landmarks which cause blind intersections, dangerous curves on the roads most important of all, the drivers who have bad driving records.

Tough treatment on known bad drivers has been set down on the record books this year. Secretary of State James M. Hare reports more revocations and suspensions of licenses the first half of this year than ever before.

On the positive side, however, Hare also reports that his office is attempting to step up its driver improvement program for the sometimes errant drivers.

Pointing up some common errors in motoring to the several-times offender frequently will make him mend his ways, Hare's department feels.

The steady rise in the death rate will likely continue, if the first-half annual statistics are any indication, but revocations, suspensions and lecture techniques may be part of the large key which will turn this unfortunate tide.

Advice for Beginners

BABSON PARK, Mass. — From time to time the young element among my readers write in asking advice about how to get started on an investment program. Hence, I would like to devote this column to this group who are just starting out to build their future. Readers who are further along in years may also find this column useful in assisting their children and grandchildren to start out on a firm footing financially.

I earnestly beseech young people to use their heads and not their emotions in financial matters.

My first principle, therefore, is to establish a firm foundation before embarking on building an investment program. This means acquiring adequate insurance protection for your family in case an accident or illness should result in your untimely death. My general recommendation is "straight" life insurance without the expensive frills.

Of course, home ownership should be an early consideration. I urgently advise young people not to overextend themselves by buying a home beyond their means. They should, however, endeavor to locate in a good and growing community so that their home can be a real asset in years to come.

Build Up Reserves
Sad to say, too many young people are overanxious to acquire a fortune. In their haste, they make a few purchases of stocks without first building up a nest egg of savings. Hence when some unforeseen emergency arises, they find they must part with their investments either at a loss or before the maximum profit potential is realized.

My second principle, therefore, is to carefully build up a savings fund as a reserve against a rainy day. Many young people today find it hard to save anything, but sensible budgeting and steady resistance against indiscriminate spending can produce surprising results. A gradual but persistent accumulation of savings, moreover, will provide you with funds to pick up good stocks when the market is low. Most investors could achieve greater investment gains if only they had the patience to store up reserves to invest when bargains appear.

In times such as this, when the stock market has had a prolonged rise, it is easy for investors to expect quick and large profits. All too often the stock market is viewed as a medium for supplementing one's income.

I cannot stress enough that your livelihood and the foundation for financial independence lie in the building of a good career which will produce a higher level of income over the years.

By and large, the wealthy people I have met in my lifetime did not build their fortunes by speculating in the stock market. Rather, they speculated themselves, either by working hard in their own business or by making themselves more valuable to their employers. As their earning capacity grew, they were able to channel their surplus funds into wise investments and thus compound their financial progress.

Most readers lack the training, experience, temperament, and time to make a success of trading in the stock market. On a short-swing basis, it is difficult to spot the turning points of the market and of individual stocks and to "pick winners". The average investor attempting to trade the market will more often than not find himself kicking up a lot of dust but making little real progress. Certainly, buying on margin and selling short short are not for the average investor!

My advice, therefore, is to adopt the long-range approach and put your hard-earned money to work by investing in sound growing industries and companies. This especially applies to young investors, who have the advantage of a long life span ahead of them. They should allow time and the growth of the economy to work for them. By gradually purchasing a few shares of stocks now and again, particularly when the market is flat on its back, it is possible to build up a portfolio which can eventually show satisfactory growth. This requires patience, persistence, and courage, but the rewards are well worth the effort.
