The Family Ladder—Mr. and Mrs. Tony Sinacola, Esther, David, Angela, Christina, Anthony and "Grandpa" Sinacola.

A fourteen-room southern colonial home, situated on 17 acres of rolling hillside, is the new residence of the Tony Sinacola family. The large, white-pillar home is located at 43180 West Nine Mile road in Novi. There are eight Sinacolas. The children are Esther Marie, 11, David, 9, Angela, 7, Christina 5 and Anthony, 2. Christina is a kindergarten at Novi school and the three older children are students at Our Lady of Victory school. The family moved to Novi from Livonia. Mr. Sinacola is part-owner of the Sinacola Contracting Company in Livonia. He is a graduate of Glanceville high school and attended Lawrence Technical Institute and Michigan State University. Mrs. Sinacola is a graduate of Fordson High school in Dearborn. Mr. Thomas Sinacola, who makes his home with his son, is better known in their household as "grandpa". Grandpa is planning a trip to Arizona soon and eyes a trip abroad in August to visit relatives in Italy. The family likes gardening and part of the acreage is used for a large vegetable garden. Mrs. Sinacola enjoys sewing and her husband bowling. "Our house is our hobby," said Mrs. Sinacola, and with such a large home to look after it is almost impossible to find time for outside activities.

Give Time, Funds for Patients

A "wish book" is indispensable in running a hospital according to Louis Schuldt, director of community relations at Northville State hospital. The book contains all the mental jottings as well as written requests for some of the extras and homey touches that could be used at the hospital. And filling some of these wishes are the women of Shadbrook subdivision. The needs of the patients were brought to light when a group of women from the subdivision, as members of the hospital auxiliary, were taken on a tour of the hospital a year ago.

Then the women got together and raised funds to create a new atmosphere in ward C 12, a ward with 29 women patients whose ages ranged from 18 to 36. Eighteen of these patients have since been released. The money-raising projects started with a "kofeeklatch" held once a month in the women's homes with each member donating a dollar. Other projects followed. The women held a potluck dinner which netted $95, a year ago, and just recently they held a progressive dinner with funds totaling $205. The women contributed a re-conditioned sewing machine, and material which was used by the patients for making draperies and bedspreads for the ward. A used stove and cooking utensils were also provided so that the women patients could have a well-equipped kitchen. A wash bowl and hair dressing supplies were among the things received by the patients when they converted a small area into a beauty salon. The women try to give the patients small gifts, too. At Christmas time they furnished them with toilet articles. For Easter they are planning to make tray favors to distribute. "Having monthly coffees is a wonderful way to give to such a worthy cause," said a spokesman for the group, especially for mothers with pre-school children who find it difficult to work outside of the home. Ward A 22 is the next project the women are eyeing. This is the geriatric ward for the elderly women patients, most of whom are not ambulatory. Any group of women who would like working on a project such as this can call Mr. Schuldt at the hospital.

Rehearsing 'Mikado'

The Northville High School choir under the direction of Leslie Lee next month will present its annual operetta—"The Mikado"—a Gilbert and Sullivan favorite. For the past few weeks the choir has been rehearsing for the program to be held May 6, 7 and 8 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. "The Mikado" is the story of Nanki-Poo, who flees the court of his father, the Mikado of Japan, to escape marriage with an elderly lady named Katisha. Assuming the disguise of a musician, he falls in love with a fair maiden, Yum-Yum. But he is prevented from marrying her by her guardian, Ko-Ko, who wishes to marry her himself.

Nanki-Poo hastens to the court of Ko-Ko in Titipu to find out whether Yum-Yum is now free to marry him, but finds that Ko-Ko is to marry her that very afternoon. Nanki-Poo is faced with many problems in trying to win Yum-Yum back, but through clever thinking and exciting actions the two are happily united in marriage. Under the guidance of Mr. Lee, the hard-working students have been straining their vocal chords in unison for weeks. Members of the cast include: Jerry Burns, Terry Krug (the Mikado); Larry Wood (Nanki-Poo); Larry Forth, Mike Moody (Ko-Ko); Ray Waldren (Pooh-Bah); Bob Fisher (Pish-Tush); Linda Polak, Sue Werdehoff (Yum-Yum). Others are Sue Hill, Jean Downer (Petti-Sing); Linda Nelson, Shary Mills (Peep-Bo); and Sue Hicks, Diane Howard (Katisha). Accompanists will be Sonya Clark and Nancy Shafer. Mr. Lee hopes that "The Mikado" will prove to be as much fun for the audience to see as it has been for the choir to perform.

Displaying Painting

A Northville resident, Chris Stoffel Overvoorde, of 53 Brookside, was among the 66 painters represented in the 19th annual water color exhibition sponsored by the Michigan Water color Society.

The paintings will be on view April 4-25 at the galleries of the Bloomfield art association 1516 South Cranbrook road, Birmingham. From May 23 to June 6, the works will be on display at the Grand Rapids Art Museum.

Overvoorde also received honorable mention for his painting, Winter Trees, selected by Robert Andrew Parker, a New York painter, at the opening reception of the society's exhibition. Born in 1934 in Rotterdam, Netherlands, Overvoorde studied at the Kendall school of design in Grand Rapids and is presently working toward a masters degree at the University of Michigan. He came to America in 1957, prior to his art studies he worked as an engineer.

College Buys Artists Works

Two area artists have won acclaim for their creativity. Albion College has purchased a collage by Mrs. Catherine Hartley of Northville and a stone-ware bowl by William G. Case of Plymouth for its permanent collection. The Battle Creek art center invited Mrs. Hartley and Case to exhibit their works for the month of April.

Mrs. Hartley has displayed her work, both oil paintings and collages, at numerous shows and galleries in Michigan and California. She received her formal training at the Society of Arts and Crafts in Detroit and runs the Hartley-Powers Gallery on Main street in Northville where she exhibits and sells works of state painters, weavers and potters. The collages, as done by Mrs. Hartley, are compositions of paper, string, cloth, wood and other materials. Case, an art teacher at the elementary schools in Northville, specializes in ceramics and glassware. He is a graduate of Lawrence college and expects to receive his masters degree in education from the University of Michigan next month. A resident of Plymouth, Cases past president of the Three Cities Art club and is currently on the board of directors of the Michigan Potters Association and the board of the Michigan Craftsman Council.

Vying for Benedictine Award

A local artist, Robert Mohr, of 512 Reed avenue, has submitted an original painting to the third annual Benedictine Art awards. The work will vie for the competition's three cash prizes, a $1,000 first prize, a $750 second prize and a $500 third prize, which will be awarded next month. The American Federation of Arts are official judges of the art awards. The prizes will be presented to the artists who submit the best oils or watercolors that include a recognizable representation of a Benedictine bottle. The paintings will be chosen from those of thirty-five finalists, all of whose work will be exhibited in May at the Silbert Scholarship Gallery in New York. Designed to encourage appreciation of American art, the Benedictine art awards was inspired by the world famous art collection on permanent display at the Benedictine Abbey, Fecamp, France. The Abbey houses art treasures that can be traced back to the early days of the Benedictine order.

Spring Turns One Man's Fancy to Antique Car

Ah, that wonderful feeling of spring was in the air this past week!

And one man took advantage of it to unwrap the snow cover from his 1901 Oldsmobile runabout. With a turn of the ignition key and a sound of the bulb horn he was off for a spin around the driveway.

Refreshed by the clear air and the exhilaration of 10 miles-per-hour speeds, he then stopped and resumed the job of restoring the antique.

The man is Joseph Malik, 47873 Seven Mile road, Northville, sometimes known as "Joe the Clown" in South Lyon, Northville, and elsewhere. For a living he works with furnaces. For relaxation he turns to antique restoration. He can have fun doing anything.

Like he said about tinkering with the runabout: "It's a lot of fun." Another time he said, "This is what I'd like to do when I retire." And not just tinker with the runabout. He has a gleam in his eye for a caliope run by steam.

Smith said the firm primarily makes tents and its operation will be housed in a 50 x 120 foot structure.

The company is now located on Fort street in Detroit near the Ambassador Bridge, Smith said.

A family of ducks taking a dip in a placid pond.

Municipal Court

The first signs of spring were evident in Judge Charles McDonald's Municipal Court Monday when two Plymouth men took advantage of the balmy weather to go fishing in the ponds around Northville. But they forgot to get a license.

William Hall, 15627 Portis and Frederick Henning, 1251 Hartsough were tagged April 4, by Robert C. Green of the State Conservation Department. The pair pleaded guilty to the charge and were fined $5 and $5 court costs or one day in jail.

They paid their fines. John Zunic, a patient at the Maybury Sanatorium, was charged April 9 with having alcoholic beverages in his possession. At his trial he was found guilty of the charge and fined $25 or 30 days in the Detroit House of Correction.

Zunic was unable to pay his fine and was committed to DeHoCo. Jerome Smith, 8806 Michigan Avenue, Detroit was charged with not having a valid operators license at Seven Mile road at River street in Northville March 29.

Smith was arraigned April 6 and posted a $25 bond to assure his appearance at his trial. He was found guilty and fined $10.

Ronald Lindig, 401 Donovan, South Lyon was cited March 22 for passing the marked yellow line on Eight Mile road, west of Sheldon, while approaching a hill. At his arraignment April 5, Lindig pleaded innocent and posted a $100 personal bond. At his trial he was found guilty as charged and fined $10.

Marie McKenna of 615 Orchard drive, was charged with disobeying a stop sign at Main and Rogers streets April 5. She was found guilty as charged and the fine and costs were suspended.

An assault and battery charge was made by LuVerne Imzland of 19880 Fry road against Joseph Mastie of Ann Arbor. The assault took place between the Paddock and Cottage restaurants on Main street. Joseph Mastie also filed citizens complaint against Imzland. At their trial the complainants asked dismissal of the charges and the motion was granted.

Dennis Smith, 19, 57300 Ten Mile road, South Lyon, was charged with furnishing beer to minors on April 3. At his arraignment Smith pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $75. $10 court cost or 30 days in jail.

A fine was paid by Jack Vangell, 3051 Ten Mile road, Warren, for using improper license plates, March 31. He was arraigned March 12 and pleaded guilty to the charge and paid a fine of $5 and $5 court cost.

LET'S TALK CARS . . .

10,000 Miles Is

The Magic Figure

After 10,000 miles of driving, an automobile engine has taken a severe beating with considerable wear to its moving parts.

Distributor points have made 112 million contacts, every spark plug has fired 14 million high voltage sparks, the water pump has pumped 400,000 gallons of water, the fuel pump 700 gallons of gas and each valve has opened and closed 14 million times.

That is why your engine needs a complete tune-up after this mileage to restore original performance, keep fuel economy at maximum and guard against engine failure on the road.

To be effective, a tune-up must be performed by a trained mechanic with the best equipment available. He must usually replace the plugs, clean the fuel pump sediment bowl, check fuel pump pressure and adjust valve lash. The points and condenser must be replaced and the new points set for the proper opening. A gauge check of the timing and electrical system must be made with necessary adjustments to both.

A quality tune-up involves several hours work and there are no short cuts possible if the job is to be done properly. Obviously short cuts all the way down to a quick check of points and plugs can be made by a garage interested only in turning out a "bargain-priced" job. But this kind of job is no bargain. It is throwing money away while the essential work of retuning your engine goes undone. Your only bargain is in buying quality service.

Novi Justice Court

A Walled Lake driver was found guilty on two counts last Thursday in Judge Robert Anderson's Justice Court in Novi.

Bruce Robertson of 42492 13 Mile road, was charged with driving without due care and caution on South Lake Drive and Owenston March 31. Robertson, after being stopped by Novi police, failed to identify himself.

At his trial he was assessed a fine of $20 for failing to identify himself and a $10 fine for driving without using caution. He was also put on 6 months probation.

William Faber of Detroit was stopped on Grand River and Novi road, April 1, for driving without windshield wipers on his car, during stormy weather conditions. Faber pleaded not guilty to the charge and his case was dismissed.

Nancy Ringle of 1869 Decker road, Walled Lake, was also charged with driving on Novi road and 13 Mile road without due caution. Her case was deferred until a further date.

Another driver charged with driving without due care or caution on Novi road between De Gross and Linhart, was fined $20. Hugh Lawson of St. Clair Shores was assessed the fine after he was found guilty.

Stanley Parvin of Highland

Park was fined $10 for driving with defective lights on West Grand River March 26.

A Northville motorist was charged with four violations.

Henry Budd of 46070 Neeson street, was stopped by Novi police March 28, at South Novi and Allen roads for reckless driving, (60 miles in a 40 mile zone,) using a defaced operators license, being a minor in possession of alcoholic beverages and aiding and abetting a minor who was a passenger in Budd's car.

Budd was found guilty on two charges. He was fined $10 for using a defaced license and a fine of $20 on the reckless driving charge.

He was found innocent on the other counts and the charges were dismissed.

A woman driver received a stiff fine in Judge Emery Jacques court last Thursday. Leona Shunatona of 3071 West Maple, Novi was charged with reckless driving on Grand River and Taft roads March 28. She was found guilty and was fined $65.

Siefried Wachtel of 7500 West Grand River, Brighton, failed to stop at a red traffic light on Novi road and Grand River March 17. Wachtel pleaded innocent at his trial and the charge was dismissed.

He's Music Man

have us over to play and we gave concerts at the Detroit House of Correction."

In reminiscing, Mr. Schnute remarked: "Charles Altman Sr. (his son is a local businessman) was a member of the group. He was the drummer and quite a comedian, too."

He and his family then lived on West Seven Mile road. The Schnutes left Northville in 1927 but returned for good ten years later.

His musical sense rubbed off on his children. "We all played the violin and other instruments," said Selma. She was brought up with three brothers, Arthur, Alvin and Milton.

Arthur was Northville's assistant postmaster until his death two years ago. Alvin is a Lutheran minister and Milton is a florist.

Another musical group headed by Mr. Schnute flourished in the late 1930s and early 1940s. E. V. Ellison, director of administrative services for the Northville school district, took part.

"It was strictly for our own amusement. I recall we played once for a function at the Presbyterian church. Then we all seemed to get busy with other things and the group died out," Ellison recalled.

Until a short time ago a Schnute tradition was the annual recital put on by his pupils. He stepped down in 1962 because of his health.

"Back in the 1940's when dad had a heart attack, mother and I said no more recitals," Selma said. "But he went ahead and planned one in secret. We found out but didn't stop him."

He finally conceded three years ago.

And now he can't even fondle the strings of his violin. In 1960 "I was playing and all at once my fingers wouldn't move," Mr. Schnute said.

It was the beginning of a stroke. His left side was partially paralyzed. "Now I just play the piano with my right hand," he said.

"You know," he said, "you never make much money teaching. But I am happy."

His contentment was expressed in a smile as he sat back in his chair and waited for his next "Beatle."

Eighty years separate teacher and student. Mr. Schnute instructs a beginning pianist, Jenny Gasser, 7.

See Education Crisis

LANSING — Public awareness must improve substantially if needs of higher education in Michigan are to be met in years ahead, according to members of the new State Board of Education.

Agreement on this point is voiced by Governor George Romney and many state legislators. The governor says the burden of arousing public awareness falls on the educators themselves.

Romney said educators must conduct the "doggedest education campaign the people have seen or there has to be a crisis before the people will act" to support higher expenditures for schools.

Population studies show more than 50 per cent of Michigan's people will be under 25 years old by 1970.

Many of these individuals will want to study in Michigan's public and private colleges. Others will need job training of a sub-professional nature.

Faced with the already crowded conditions at many state-supported institutions, the new Board of Education wants to determine if and how a master plan fits into the higher education picture.

To individuals, the cost of higher education usually means the total expense of tuition, books and living expenses over at least a four year period.

"I don't really believe the people of Michigan realize the full extent of the problem facing them and the need for money," says board member Peter Oppewall, Grand Rapids.

State farmers who anticipated possible trouble in recruiting seasonal labor help this year may get relief from this problem through operation of a private organization of religious leaders.

Difficulty in hiring so-called migrant workers was expected because of the federal law allowing import of laborers from Mexico was allowed to expire last year.

Farmers then anticipated there would be keen competition for seasonal workers and that the areas offering the most side-benefits would get the help.

The new organization plans to establish offices in four areas where the bulk of the workers are used and to provide services such as education for schoolage children, day care centers for youngsters, counseling for adults and recreation programs.

Supporters of a universal traffic sign language may soon be one step closer to this goal. An experimental traffic sign of the type which is standard in Europe has been in use in Lansing for over a year.

Bearing a large red bullseye with a white bar across its center, the square sign carries the legend "Do Not Enter".

The European version of the sign bears no legend because of the many language differences.

First sign of this type was installed at a Lansing intersection in the summer of 1963. Since then, similar signs have been placed at several other crossings in the Capital City's one-way street system.

The sign is hung over the intersections facing away from the normal traffic flow and is enclosed in an illuminated box to be effective at night when the possibility of driving the wrong way is highest.

Highway officials said the Lansing installations were the first of this kind in the nation. Current plans call for expanded use at other intersections throughout the state if its deterrent effect can be proven effective.

In Europe, traffic signs are basically of a standard variety for most instructions to the motorist. They rarely bear any lettering as do signs in this country.

There has been considerable effort aimed at adopting the silent self-explanatory European system in the U.S.

STRICTLY FRESH

Sometimes the coating of civilization is so thin that it comes off with just a little alcohol.

Two secretaries were talking about their dates. The first gal explained, "My date was awful, really awful. He not only lied about the size of his yacht, the louse made me row."

Those stretch ski pants that so many young things are wearing these days seem to come in three sizes—small, medium and don't bend over.

Roger Babson

Company Teamwork

BABSON PARK, Mass.—Whether a firm is large, middle-sized, or small, it gets best results in terms of productivity and profits if there is mutual loyalty between management and workers.

Employers, for one thing, are so caught up in the competitive race that they tend to concentrate on production and marketing, and leave labor relations pretty much to unions and department heads.

Private and federal funds available to this new group, Michigan Migrant Opportunity Inc., might considerably alleviate the problem of labor recruitment in key areas.

An estimated 75,000 migrant workers are hired in the state annually to help plant, care for and harvest crops.

The extent of their value in these extracurricular pursuits is up to the foresight and imaginative vision of the employers themselves.

Naturally, it is management's responsibility to provide attractive working conditions, fair pay rates, and reasonable fringe benefits compatible with others in the same field and locality.

Even if an employer's products are non-consumer in nature, employees can still offer very valuable publicity if they are intimately acquainted with the special qualities of the goods they are helping to turn out.

An intelligent employee recognizes that whatever he is doing for his company he is doing basically for himself—and for his fellow workers.

Whether a firm is unionized or not, it can make its employees proud of their association with it and eager to make its name and its products ever more widely known.

two ways if there is to be a truly healthy stability in any business concern.

Small concerns—just getting under way—will find it helpful in bucking the bitter rivalry in all important lines today if they will sell every employee, from the very beginning, on the idea of becoming a salesman for their products and services.

Labor turnover is, of course, one of industry's heaviest financial burdens, particularly today. Hence, everything should be done to promote employer-employee co-operation and mutual understanding for the purpose of building up an establishment that can focus its attention on improvement and expansion without being plagued by needless and costly replacement of restless workers.

Through private and personal employee contacts have come many lasting and rewarding accounts for firms whose employer-employee relations are lively and friendly.

SELF ANALYSIS QUIZ

Are You As Stubborn As A Mule?

By Jane Sherrod Singer

A strange question? You may not THINK you are stubborn or difficult, but let's take this test—just for fun—to see how obstinate or smug you really are.

- | | | |
|---|-----|-----|
| 1. Do you usually get up feeling glum? | YES | NO |
| 2. Do you enjoy chatting at breakfast? | () | () |
| 3. On an average, do you read more than a half hour each day? | () | () |
| 4. Are you satisfied with your handwriting? | () | () |
| 5. Would you rather swim in a quiet lake than in a river? | () | () |
| 6. If your present circumstances would not change in any way, would you like to live to be a hundred years old? | () | () |
| 7. Can you laugh it off when someone crowds in front of you in a line? | () | () |
| 8. Can you generally understand another person's reasoning, even if you do not agree with it? | () | () |
| 9. Do you like to sit in different places at the dinner table, in your living room, library, etc.? | () | () |
| 10. When someone disagrees with you, do you answer back without either rising or lowering your voice? | () | () |
| 11. Do you generally observe signs, such as "Private Road," "No Smoking," "No U-Turns," etc.? | () | () |
| 12. Do you think every section of the country has some advantages, beauty and things to be said for it? | () | () |

SCORING: Count your yes answers.

If you have 9 to 12 "yes" answers: You seem to have learned the truth of what George Bernard Shaw once said: "The golden rule is that there is no golden rule. You are governed by a restrained optimism which will always help you."

If you have 4 to 8 "yes" answers: You are missing some of the spice in life. You are overworked or rush around too much. Life has much to offer outside of routine matters. You tend to be a bit too dogmatic and stubborn because of pressures and your own personality. Relax, laugh and listen to others with an effort to appreciate their points of view and problems.
