

Council, Planners Agree 'in Principle'

Northville's city council adopted a resolution Monday night officially placing its seal of approval on the planning commission's Central Business District plan (CBD).

The two bodies finally got together after weeks of prodding by the planners for some indication of agreement from the council. (See 'Speaking for The Record'—Page 10-B)

The council's resolution gave assurance to the planning commission that the city council, which holds the purse strings and final word on any action, approves in principle the CBD plan for a circular drive around a parking-enclosed business district.

Specifically, the council adopted this carefully-worded, non-committal resolution:

"The Northville City Council adopts, in principle, the CBD Plan as described in the comprehensive master plan for the City of Northville.

"The council recognizes the need to:

- reserve sufficient land to accommodate future expansion of the Northville Central Business District;
- to provide traffic thoroughfares that allow safe and convenient access to and around the Central Business District;
- to maintain an adequate ratio of parking space to building floor space in the Central Business District;
- to generally insure that parking facilities are developed within a convenient relationship to the facilities which they serve;

- to see that the facilities surrounding the Central Business District are adequately related to the CBD;
- to insure that the business people within and adjacent to the Central Business District are given every opportunity to expand and grow in an attractive, prosperous and economically sound environment.

"The plan as accepted lays out guidelines for such a development. It is intended that over future years the detailed relationship of various elements of the program — parking, roads, buildings — will evolve in accordance with the demands of the free enterprise system."

The lone area of disagreement was outlined by Councilman John Canterbury.

"The detail of preciseness is the only area of difference", Canterbury stated.

"I, for one, am not ready to say that I am committed to a mall on Main street", he pointed out.

Planning Chairman George Zerbel said that the council's "approval in principle" did not commit it to a mall.

It was obvious the council was ready to give its approval. Mayor A. M. Allen made the official motion. Councilwoman Beatrice Carlson supported.

Councilman Canterbury suggested that planners should become familiar with the latest proposal for expansion by Northville Downs so that CBD and track plans could be compared. Zerbel said this would be done and that some discussions had already been held.

The next move in the initiation of the master plan is to create a citizens committee — one that becomes acquainted with all phases of the master plan and then divides itself into specific committees of study for implementation.

Planners and councilmen will propose names for this work.

Train Crash Splits Truck

With signals flashing and a train whistle blowing at the C & O Railroad crossing on Seven Mile road, a Clawson man mysteriously drove a tractor-trailer into an oncoming train last Thursday morning.

John T. Moniuszko, 36, was seriously injured and taken to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. He suffered multiple lacerations of the face and head and a fractured nose and ribs.

At last report, Moniuszko was making a good recovery.

The truck Moniuszko was driving was heading west on Seven Mile road when the collision occurred, police said. Police were called at 6:04 a.m.

The train, going south toward Plymouth, hit the cab, carrying it 100 feet south into the back yard of Northville market. The trailer portion remained on the east side of the tracks.

"The cab was a total loss," Chief Eugene King said. "The engine and wheels were separated from the cab and ended up 75 feet from it alongside the railroad track."

Extensive damage was also done to the front of the railroad engine, and the flasher on the south side of Seven Mile was torn out, a railroad official noted.

Unlike the truck that was hit last year in the same spot, this one was empty. The trailer was not damaged extensively, but was severed from the tractor portion.

Witnesses who were riding in a car behind the truck told police that Moniuszko was not exceeding the speed limit, but they did not see a brake light; indicating that the driver made no attempt to stop.

Witnesses testified that they observed the signals flashing between 1,000 and 1,500 feet from the crossing.

Moniuszko, who is a driver for the Hayes Sand and Gravel company, is the father of six children. He was apparently on a run from the central garage in Livonia to a gravel pit in Northville.

This is the third major accident at the crossing in three years.

In the first one, a man driving a pick-up truck was killed. Last year, another truck driver came out unscathed in a collision that caused damage of over $100,000. Both of those vehicles were headed east into a bright morning sun.

City Employs Ex-Manager Of Cheboygan

Roger R. Rehberg, former manager of Cheboygan, has been named new city manager of Northville.

The city council confirmed the selection of Rehberg Monday night.

The 34-year-old Rehberg will assume his new duties on August 9.

Rehberg becomes Northville's third city manager. He succeeds Bruce Potthoff, who left Northville for Berkeley on June 1.

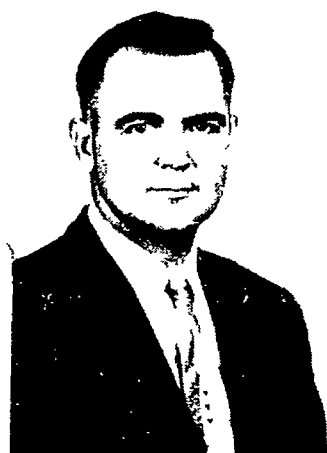

George Clark a local realtor and former township supervisor, has served as interim manager since mid-June. Northville's first city manager was John Robertson, who served from October, 1956 until August, 1961.

The council gave unanimous approval to the choice of Rehberg after reviewing 30 applications and holding six personal interviews.

Rehberg has been manager of Cheboygan since July, 1962. He resigned two weeks ago, but continues in office until August 3.

Rehberg's record in Cheboygan has been outstanding. His resignation came about as the result of a conflict of opinion between the city manager and the county board of supervisors on the location of a new court house.

Rehberg had held out for placement of the building in a downtown urban renewal site. In announcing his resignation he said that the board had expressed its antagonism toward him in rejecting the downtown site.

Roger Rehberg
New City Manager

"If I am not here I think the supervisors may reconsider and take the urban renewal site," he told his council. "The downtown site is so important that I am resigning to make it easy to locate the court house in a good location rather than in the wrong location," he added.

The city manager expressed the opinion that the city and township supervisors would agree on the centrally located site "with me out of the way."

Despite this difference, Rehberg came highly recommended from Cheboygan. He compiled an enviable record for the city and his background includes experience as city clerk, deputy treasurer and deputy assessor in Brighton for one year as well as city manager of Reed City for two years. Rehberg also taught school for one year in Brighton.

In Cheboygan his accomplishments included reducing the city payroll from $257,000 annually to $209,000, while raising salaries in all employment categories by reducing employees from 59 to 39. A $500,000 water improvement project was completed with the assistance of a $317,000 federal grant. The project tripled the city's water supply, increased storage and pressure.

Other Cheboygan accomplishments of Rehberg include a 10-year watershed flood control improvement program, two new parking lots, establishment of county equalization to reduce the state equalized factor, state highway department expenditure of $80,000 on city street repaving, removing the city dump from within the city and establishing a sanitary landfill, recommending a planning program and gaining federal aid and starting an urban renewal program for a courthouse site and downtown parking lots.

Rehberg is 34 years old and is a native of Jesup, Iowa. He is a graduate of Michigan State University. He is married and has three daughters, Kim, 11, Kathy, 9, and Terri, 7.

The Rehbergs expect to move to Northville as soon as possible and will seek a home to rent or purchase.

Officials Press Appeal For Rail Safety Gates

Northville city and township officials renewed efforts last week to secure safety gates at the C&O Railroad crossing on Seven Mile road where a man was seriously injured last Thursday in a collision.

They appealed a recent directive from the Public Safety Commission which instructed the railroad to install an overhead flashing light on a cantilever over the crossing.

It is the feeling of both township Supervisor R. D. Merriam and Mayor A. M. Allen that the cantilever light falls short of proper safety measures at the hazardous spot.

After a similar accident, July 11 of last year, the city council and township board drafted letters, strongly urging the safety commission to approve the installation of gates to prevent further mishaps.

But upon the recommendation of Harry E. Taylor, state railroad safety inspector, the commission turned down the appeals after two meetings of city and township, railroad and Wayne County road commission representatives.

In fact, the railroad and the road commission went one step further — they have indicated that no additional safety devices are needed.

During a May 20 meeting, the road commission stated its case. Representatives said that this was a semi-rural location, that the 40-foot pavement might be widened to 60 feet in the future and that accident experience was not indicative of a need for the cantilever arm.

Within the past three years, there have been three serious train-vehicle collisions at the crossing, located on Seven Mile road just outside of the city limit. It is approximately 100 feet east of Northville road.

One driver was killed, one sustained serious injuries and the other miraculously escaped injury last year when his truck was also severed in two by a train. Damage to the truck, train engine and flasher signal was over $100,000.

In each of the first two accidents, the conditions were similar. The drivers were heading east across the tracks into a bright morning sun, when the trains struck from the south, heading toward Northville.

Mayor Allen pointed out the dangers involved. "At certain times of the year, the sun obliterates the signal. I defy anybody to pick out that little red spot in this bright ball of fire," he said.

Police Chief Eugene King concurred that the crossing is dangerous. "That sun is definitely blinding," he said, "and the incline there, as you turn east onto Seven Mile, shoots the driver's vision up over the flasher's."

There are other perilous obstructions too, Allen declared. "The store on the southwest corner (Northville Market) obliterates the signal for anybody coming from the south who turns east onto Seven Mile road," said the mayor.

A vehicle approaching the tracks from the east, as did the truck last Thursday morning, may also have difficulty seeing the present signal. At times the brush on the roadside obstructs vision, even though it is cut intermittently, said Allen.

Imposing another hazard are traffic jam-ups when a train is crossing at rush hours. "You can see traffic piled up for hundreds of feet," Allen noted. Even the installation of the overhead light would not circumvent all the problems, Supervisor Merriam declared.

"If a car is on the outside lane headed west, and a truck or bus is on the inside, the driver of the car will have difficulty in seeing the overhead signal," he said.

Possibility of this happening is not remote. In a previous appeal to the committee, Merriam underscored the high volume of traffic over the crossing, primarily cars during the racing season and trucks during the gravel hauling season. The heavy traffic may be temporarily alleviated, Mayor Allen said, when cloverleafs are built at the Six and Eight Mile intersections with Haggerty road. They are along the proposed extension of Interstate 96 into Detroit.

When will the proposed highway be completed, thus draining off some of the traffic on Seven Mile road? "That's the 64 dollar question," said Allen.

What's more, Allen noted that the traffic relief would be temporary, for when the population boom hits the Northville area, heavy traffic on Seven Mile will resume.

Area officials agree that the ideal solution to the problem is the original plan suggested 11 years ago. It called for extension of the Seven Mile road cut-off under the railroad tracks, swinging gradually southeast and joining Seven Mile road.

Another costly solution would be the movement of the tracks farther east and the building of a new crossing. But this suggestion was flatly turned down by the railroad, it was reported.

A check of police accident rate files revealed that through the past four years there have been 31 accidents between Northville road and the crossing, 10 of them resulting in injury.

Within the approximately 400 feet between Seven Mile road and the cut-off, where rush hour traffic congestion occurs, there have been a total of 20 non-injury accidents and three involving injury.

The Northville Rotary Club will play host to more than 1,000 persons next Wednesday at the Northville high school.

They'll be some 330 European youngsters and their American foster families who have been in Michigan during the past year under the Youth Understanding program.

Understanding program, final goodbyes will be said in Northville. The youngsters will board buses here bound for New York where they'll depart by boat on Thursday for Europe.

No Cash, Detroit Denied Hearing

An application for permission to excavate at the Maybury Sanatorium failed to get off the ground last Thursday night.

The Northville township board of appeals turned down the request for a hearing by the city of Detroit because a $100 fee had not been paid.

Proper appeal procedures were then drafted into a formal proposal by the township board, following an inquiry by Detroit officials. They have indicated they will file again.

To comply, they and all future applicants must:

- pay a $100 fee;
- submit an aerial photograph of the immediate excavation area and adjacent land to be used in the operation;
- submit a scale drawing defining the boundaries of the land covered by the application;

- submit an operation plan stating the elevation;
- submit a restoration contour plan giving details of the operation when finished;
- submit a description of the method and materials to be used for complete soil restoration.

Don Bauerle, news editor of The Northville Record-Now News has accepted a position with the Ford Motor company as editor of the Wixom Plant newspaper. He will also carry out other assignments in the industrial relations department.

School Officials Split on Pool Site

Where will the Northville board of education put the swimming pool?

Right now, the board doesn't know. It tried to reach a decision at a special meeting last Thursday night but its answer was delayed again.

It will be discussed anew at another board meeting Monday night. Henry Haberkorn, a representative for the school's architect, and a specialist in pool construction will be consulted.

A split over locations developed at the special session. Superintendent Alex Nelson recommended building the pool at the high school but a few board members favored the new junior high school site.

At the polls June 14 taxpayers in the school district approved a $2.8 million building program and a $500,000 pool. Trustee Donald Lawrence preferred the junior high location, saying: "The earlier you expose youngsters to swimming the better."

"There is too much emphasis on the high school," Lawrence underscored that the "emphasis" at the high school "would be on a swimming team and not physical instruction."

Secretary Eugene Cook sided with Lawrence, pointing out that the pool "should not become a high school proprietary program."

Nelson shared the opposite view.

In a report to the board he outlined nine reasons for going ahead at the high school. His most significant observation: "It appears that several additional teaching stations are sadly needed. The swimming pool could well be one of the additional teaching stations, giving greater depth to our physical education program."

"It is my understanding that at the present time gymnastics or P.E. classes are restricted to the 9th and 10th grades. The 11th and 12th grades are excluded. The swimming pool would alleviate this situation."

If the high school had priority, Lawrence said that the "junior high would get no use out of it."

President Wilfred Becker wondered if a pool at the high school would fit the needs of the younger children.

Becker noted the pool at the high school would be deeper but it was brought out that the water level could be lowered to accommodate young swimmers.

But the board agreed that a schedule could be worked out so that everyone in the community ates are also scheduled to greet the youngsters.

The public is invited to observe the program. Buses are expected to leave between 4 p.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Northville's only student, Hank Penseel, left last Saturday for New York. He has been staying at the home of Mrs. George and Daniel Connelley.

The youngsters will board buses here bound for New York where they'll depart by boat on Thursday for Europe.

E. V. Ellison is general chairman of the program for Rotary. He's been assisted by Rotary President Harold Bittner and Fred Kester.

Registration of the youngsters will take place between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Rotary will conduct a program from 1-2:30 p.m. at which time the gathering will hear messages from a representative of Governor Romney, Northville Mayor A. M. Allen, District Rotary Governor Perry Richwine and Mrs. Arvid Andersen, director of the Youth for Understanding program.

Briffan and Daniel Connelley are also scheduled to greet the youngsters.

could have access to the pool.

Lawrence further questioned the extra $100,000 that will be needed to put the pool at the high school.

In his report Nelson said, "the cost figure of $100,000 difference is not a known figure. It was merely used by the architect to illustrate a point for consideration. This alleged figure can be scaled downwards considerably. The amount budgeted should be adequate to do a very fine job."

Lawrence and other board members concurred that Haberkorn should better pinpoint the reason for the additional $100,000 for the high school site.

Earlier Haberkorn had estimated it would run $100,000 less to build the pool at the new junior high.

Haberkorn has urged the board to choose a site so he can proceed with the architectural drawings of the junior high.

In other business, the board signed a contract hiring Robert Russell as a financial advisor for the school district. He will market the $3.3 million issue.

His fee will be $4,650. The board has said it should not exceed $5,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Terrill have one daughter, Mrs. A. F. Strasen of Northville; a granddaughter, Sandra Ann Jordan of Key Biscayne, Florida, and a great-granddaughter, Janeen. They celebrated their anniversary by having dinner with their son-in-law and daughter at St. Clair.

Goodbye, Hank

Dutch exchange student Hank Penseel bids farewell to Northville Sunday morning when he flies from Metropolitan Airport to New York City.

After a four-day stay in New York, he will join other exchange students from all over Michigan for the boat trip back to Europe. Hank will miss the Northville Rotary club's annual send-off for Michigan exchange students due to his trip to New York.

Sunday ends what Hank calls a "marvelous" year in America. Since last August he has lived with Mrs. Elaine Chabot and her children, Dave, 18, Mike 16 and Sue, 14. Mike won't be around to say "good-bye" to Hank because he's an exchange student to Mexico for the summer.

Hank's friends have gathered twice this week so far to say "so long" and have loaded him down with gifts and memories to carry back to Holland.

In the fall Hank will be an education major at Amsterdam University. For the rest of the summer he will get "reacquainted" with his parents in Amsterdam.

WESTLAND OPENS

And the great, grand day is Thursday, July 29—when Westland Center opens. Westland is a community of fine stores and services in a beautiful new setting. A shopping center where it's always summertime, for its stores are joined by covered, temperature-controlled courts, landscaped with tropical plants. And Westland is more than simply a place to shop. It's a beautiful center to come and visit—with its imaginative landscaping . . . its interesting sculpture . . . its many fine service facilities. The parking lot at Westland provides space for 4,500 cars—on well-lighted, paved lots. (Westland is also serviced by two bus lines, the DSR and Metro Transit.) There are fine restaurants, a glass-enclosed elevator, a large auditorium—in short, a wonderful world of things to see and do. And Westland is easy to get to—whether you're coming from Dearborn, Ann Arbor, Livonia, Northville—or the many other cities west of Detroit or from anywhere in or near Detroit. It's located at West Warren and Wayne Roads in Nankin Township. Plan a visit soon. Best of all, be with us Thursday—our grand and glorious opening day.

Fire Aces

Twenty-year old Tom Slattery shot a hole-in-one on the 8th hole at Meadowbrook Country Club Monday. Using a six iron, heaced the 165-yard hole.

He shot 35 for the round. Bob Hallam was playing with him. Meadowbrook plans to present him with a trophy.

Slattery is a pre-law student at the University of Michigan. He was the captain of the 1962 Northville high school golf team, and the 1962 class B medalist at the Pontiac Press tournament.

This weekend he and Hallam will compete as a team in the Meadowbrook invitational and next week Slattery will play in the Western Amateurs Open.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Slattery, 46812 Dun-sany.

*****

Bob Laffey, a 16-year old Ply-mouth boy, fired a hole-in-one Tuesday at Brooklane Golf course. He used his 8 iron to conquer the 6th hole.

His final score was 32. He was playing with his father, Robert Laffey, and two brothers, James and Thomas.

Break Up Beer Party

A Northville youth with a record of arrests and three companions - two minors and a juvenile - were brought before Judge Emery Jacques Monday after being charged with having liquor in their possession.

Raymond Brooks, 17, of 41710 Borchard drive pleaded guilty to the charge. He was assessed a fine of $50 and five days in jail, or 30 days upon non-payment of the fine.

The juvenile will appear in Oakland county juvenile court. Gerald LaRoque, 17, of 257

Hutton, and Gerald Musselman, 17, of 24400 LeBost drive, pleaded innocent. Both were remanded to the Oakland county jail on a cash bond of $100, pending trial.

LaRoque, who just served 60 days in the Detroit House of Correction for assault and battery, is out on $1500 bond pending a trial in Northville for felonious assault. He is charged with stabbing another youth in May in a rumble at Cass Benton park. Officer Robert Nolan nabbed the four youths Monday afternoon. There were four open bottles of beer in the car, which was parked at the intersection of Balcombe and Chattman streets in a proposed subdivision. Police also found three cases of beer in the trunk.

Adding Classroom

Work is progressing steadily on the third classroom at St. Paul's Lutheran school in Northville. It will be ready for the opening of school in September. The new classroom will accommodate the kindergarten through second grade.

A third teacher is being added to the faculty - Miss Dorothy Bartusch of Shelby, Michigan. Miss Bartusch received her teacher training at Concordia Teachers College, River Forest, Illinois and has taught in Illinois, New York and Michigan. She will teach kindergarten and grades one and two. In addition she will also serve in the area of the Sunday school. She will make her home with Mrs. Emily Amy at 535 Carpenter after August 1.

With the additional room, a larger enrollment will be able to be served. Since July 1, enrollment applications have been accepted from those interested in a Christian education for their children but who are not members of St. Paul's congregation. Interested parents may call the principal, W. O. Zabel, at 349-2868 or 349-2033 regarding enrollment.

Novi Justice Court

Three 18-year-olds pleaded guilty before Judge Robert K. Anderson Saturday on charges of having alcohol in their possession Saturday in a car on Novi road. John Bierman and James Hoffman, both of Plymouth, were fined $35 or 10 days in jail. William Kelso, of Farmington, was fined $50 or 10 days and placed on six months probation.

Two 17-year-old youths were arraigned on the same count. Wayne Schiroky, of Farmington, paid a $25 fine for a July 11 violation on Paramount and Linhart. John Regui of Lincoln Park, tried July 16 and found guilty for a June 5 infraction, paid a $25 fine.

A Detroit youth Saturday was fined $75 for driving 35 miles per hour over the speed limit on Grand River and $20 for having liquor in his possession.

Michael Foley, 20, was clocked at 90 miles per hour from Beck road to Taft road, where he finally was stopped for speeding at 2 a.m. by Officer Ronald Randolph.

In another case heard Thursday by Judge Emery Jacques, James Schwerin, 22, of New Hudson, pleaded guilty to speeding July 11 on Grand River. He was fined $35 for going 80 miles per hour in a 55 mile-an-hour zone.

Richard Reasor, 24, of Walled Lake was tried by Jacques and found guilty of malicious destruction of property. He was fined $25.

According to police, he was cited for kicking the paint off the driver's side and breaking the side-view mirror of an automobile July 1. In the car were a group of teen-agers who were terrified, police said.

They told police how Reasor had followed them in his car, crowding them and finally making them stop in a lake parking lot near East Lake drive and 14 Mile road, police said.

Reasor drove up alongside the youths' car in the parking lot, and jumped out of his car. He yelled profanities at the youths while causing the damage, the youths told police.

Reasor was accompanied by a 16-year-old. Donald Ogden, 18 of Plymouth, was fined $20 for illegally possessing alcohol.

The driver of the automobile, Melvin Everson, 22, of Plymouth, was fined $25 for furnishing beer for minors and $5 for parking illegally.

Officer Kent Mullins said the car driven by Everson was parked on the Novi roadway with its lights out. Four cars were waiting behind it.

When Mullins investigated, he said he found part of a six-pack on the back seat floor and two opened bottles.

The 18-year-old youths were also arraigned before Jacques last Thursday on a charge of minor in the possession.

John Dencall of Wayne was fined $15 for a July 11 incident in Novi township park, and Jack Willson, Jr., of Detroit, paid a fine of $25 on a similar infraction July 11 on Paramount and Linhart streets.

And another 18-year-old was found guilty of careless driving and disregarding road-closed signs. He paid $35 on the first count, $10 on the second.

Terry Walker of Detroit was stopped on South Lake drive by police when they saw a Novi DPW truck chasing Walker.

DPW employees, who were working on South Lake drive, warned Walker that the road was blocked off. He backed up, then made a run for it, workers said, and brushed DPW Superintendent Howard Miller with the side-view mirror.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Reverend R. LaVere Webster
Novi and New Hudson Methodist Churches

Humility is a word and virtue that the Christian faith coined.
In the ancient world before Christianity humility was not a virtue at all. Humility was cowering, despised, ignoble, cringing, servile. Yet in Christianity it is in the forefront of virtues.

Humility comes from self-knowledge. Bernard said, "It is the virtue by which a man becomes conscious of his own unworthiness in consequence of the truest knowledge of himself. To face oneself is the most humiliating thing in the world. Most of us see ourselves as the center of dramatic action in life. But in true humility we see our own weakness, selfishness and failures. Humility depends on honesty; it depends on having courage to look at ourselves without the rose-tinted glasses of self-dramatization, self-admiration and self-love.

Humility comes from setting our life beside the life of Jesus and the demands of God.
God is perfection. To satisfy perfection is not difficult; it is an impossible and hopeless task. Self-satisfaction depends on the standard with which we compare ourselves. If we compare ourselves with our neighbor, we emerge very satisfied. But, the Christian standard is higher. When we put ourselves against the life of Jesus and the demands of God, there is no room for pride.

Humility also comes from the constant sense of our own crea-tureliness. We are God's creatures, God's creation. The hymn says:

"Thou preservest me
from death
and danger every hour;
I cannot draw another breath
unless Thou give me power.

My health, my friends, my loved ones dear
to me by God are given;
I have not any blessing here but what is sent from heaven"

"I urge you to behave yourselves in a way that is worthy.
I urge you to behave with all humility, and gentleness, and patience. I urge you to bear with one another in love." —
St. Paul.

FIX-IT TIP

Stiffened rope can make attractive moldings and decorations.

To stiffen the rope soak
it for a few hours in a thin mixture of equal parts starch and glue. Wipe off
all extra adhesive matter.
While nailing, twist the rope to make the strands more prominent. To further emphasize the strands take a pointed stick and draw it along the crease after it has been nailed. The rope can then be finished with wood filler, painted and varnished, if desired.

after the Parade

The parade is over, and Tim is hot, dusty, and his feet hurt. This was his first parade, and somehow it didn't come off as he thought. He didn't expect to be the whole show, but he did think he and his tuba would stand out a little. As it happened, he was just "one of the band."

Later, he will realize that if each player weren't just "one of the band" there wouldn't be any band at all. He'll start thinking from there, and the parade will seem a lot better in memory than it does right now. For Tim has a good sense of value, for a boy his age—thanks in part, to the teachings of his church and church school.

Tim will weather his disappointments and march successfully through life, instead of giving up. Will your youngsters be as lucky?

Give your children the chance to go to church school.

His Rockets Fly High in the Sky

Tom Young, a budding scientist, raises rockets in his backyard.

At least once a week, several missiles are poised skyward and the countdown begins at Cape Wixom, 2816 Loon Lake road.

Tom is the 16-year-old son of Wixom Police Chief D'Arcy Young.

An open field is Tom's laboratory. He activates the rockets from a control panel in his "blockhouse" which is 10 feet away from the launching tower.

Both Tom and Uncle Sam are in the business of invading the sky with projectiles but Tom doesn't worry about a dud. Unlike the government, Tom can replace a missile and fire it again. All he usually replaces is the engine which costs 30 cents.

A propelling unit is three inches long and contains a gun-powder formula that generates the thrust at take-off.

And if a rocket washes out, Tom can make another. It comes in a kit and is easily assembled. A rocket is 18-inches long. Price: $3.

When "project blastoff" is scheduled, Tom waxes serious and starts to load the rocket. The engine is placed inside and the unit is positioned on the launching pad.

Returning to the control center, he casually flicks the firing button and the flight commences. But a Young rocket is airborne for only a minute. It is really just a mighty Atlas in miniature.

Once the fuel supply is depleted, a delayed charge goes off and "the explosion releases a parachute," Tom said. "Then the rocket floats down and lands near Cape Wixom."

"A missile can reach a speed of 300 to 400 miles per hour and goes up as high as 2,000 feet."

Someday he may build rockets that are larger and faster for Tom intends to study "chemistry and the other sciences at high school."

And he may even be an astronaut assigned to visit Mars or other unexplored planets in the future.

He is learning to fly an airplane and hopes to qualify as a student pilot in a few weeks. His father flies, too.

Tom Young is at home on his rocket range. In the photo (left above) he starts to assemble a rocket for a flight. The engine he is holding is inserted in the rocket's hull. A delayed charge opens the parachute after the engine quits. Tom (in the picture at the left) is ready to launch a rocket at Cape Wixom. His hand is firm as the countdown begins. After lift-off, Tom aims his binoculars at the sky to track the rocket's course. He is standing in the "blockhouse" completed with a wind indicator (left) and a wind velocity gauge (right).

Stanley and Helen Wishaw's sons and their wives made it possible for Stan and Helen to take a little vacation the weekend of the Fourth. The young people came and between them they ran the store, Willowbrook Market, which stays open seven days a week. Helen and Stan, their son, Bob, and his friend, Leonard Beadle, went vacationing to Harsen's Island near Algonac. They visited with Stan's brother, Walter Wishaw.

Mr. and Mrs. David Fried of Hollydale took their daughters, Sandra, Paula, and Judith to the Stratford Festival held at the Festival Theater, Stratford, Ontario. They saw "Falstaff" and "Julius Caesar" and enjoyed a concert of Ludwig Van Beethoven's symphonies. Before going to the Festival, the children read the plays and were familiar with the plots. Gayla remarked how the theater is very similar to the theaters in the time of William Shakespeare. It is built steep in a series of balconies, so that everyone has a choice seat. There are about seven entrances for the actors to reach the stage, from the aisles, directly from the audience both at the bottom level as well as the balcony levels.

Marge Lenheiser and Midge Karrer were guests for Wednesday bridge at the home of Dorothy Flattery. Ruth George won first prize; Midge Karrer took second; Marion Berry, consolation. Bridge will meet at Marion Berry's home next on July 28.

ORCHARD HILLS

They drove on the Blue Ridge Parkway in the Blue Ridge Mountains up through the Shenandoah Valley. They drove the Pennsylvania Turnpike home. The group took along camping equipment and camped evenings the entire trip. Margie is visiting with the Garbin's until Labor Day.

GREY SUB-DIVISION
Linda Towner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Towner of Burton suffered a broken ankle a week ago. Linda is attending summer school at the Ten Mile Elementary, Farmington. She thought she merely turned her ankle on a rise in the sidewalk as she went back into the school building for an article she forgot. It got so sore and swollen that her mother took her to the doctor and after X-Ray, it was found to be broken. She has a walking castis collecting autographs on it. To top it, she started a high fever and came down with the flu and really had a miserable weekend. She's well now and back in school.

Rain Doesn't Dampen Spirit of Post Office Dedication

Badly needed rain came, but just an hour too soon.

Flanked by Jack Ruland and Postmaster John Steimel, Congressman Billie Farnum heads for city hall under cover.

The high school band took cover, too. It greeted the crowd to city hall.

Master of Ceremonies John Canterbury addresses the audience. At the table are: (l. to r.) Donald Swanson, Martha Griffiths, Billie Farnum, Marvin Stempien, R. D. Merriam and A. M. Allen.

The turn-out was excellent, but the timing was poor.

That's the story of Saturday's dedication of Northville's new post office.

Committee members had worked hard to prepare the post office for an outside ceremony. But 15 minutes before the 2 p.m. starting time a steady down-pour began that continued until nearly 3 p.m.

So the chairs that had been placed on Wing street facing the post office were removed and the red, white and blue crepe paper decorating the building got soaked.

Principles and citizens moved to the council chambers of the city hall. There was a standing-room-only crowd, but they were patient and understanding.

City Councilman John Canterbury, who served as dedication committee chairman on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, was master of ceremonies.

Both Mayor A. M. Allen and Township Supervisor R. D. Merriam were called upon for remarks. They lauded the service of the postal employees and called the new building a proud, new addition to the community.

Principle speakers were Donald L. Swanson, regional director for the post office department, and Congressmen Billie Farnum and Martha Griffiths.

Following last fall's reapportionment, Congresswoman Griffiths no longer represents the Northville area. But Farnum, 19th district congressman, noted that it had been largely through the efforts of Mrs. Griffiths that Northville had received its new post office.

So he passed credit along to her and hailed the attractive congresswoman as the "most respected member of the United States House of Representatives."

Mrs. Griffiths seemed right at home in Northville. She recalled her own small-town childhood and revealed that her father had been a rural mail carrier and her mother a substitute carrier.

She noted that delivering mail by team was "not an easy job" in those days, but she pointed out its importance and how communication has improved over the years because of modern postal delivery. She said the late Sam Rayburn of Texas once told her that at the end of his long term in the House he was receiving more mail daily than he had in a full year as a freshman representative.

Swanson stated that "the new Northville post office was constructed as part of the post office department's program to provide new postal units where they are most urgently needed" and noted that the facility is privately owned and leased to the government with the owner paying local taxes.

He also took the opportunity to remind mail users of the importance of the ZIP code and urged citizens to use the local code with their return address and include in the address of the destination whenever they know the proper code.

Weston E. Vivian, Northville's congressional representative from the second district, wired regrets that he could not attend. State Representative Marvin Stempien attended, while Representative Clifford Smart and State Senator Farrell Roberts also sent regrets of previous commitments.

Rain washed-out the flag-raising ceremony scheduled by the VFW. But post mascot, six-year-old Ray Paquin, went through the motions afterwards.

After the ceremony at city hall everyone returned to tour the post office.

They also took time to partake of refreshments.

Congressman Farnum presents a flag for the post office to Postmaster John Steimel. The flag has been flown over the capitol and post office department in Washington, D.C.

12 Points = No License

To curb juvenile traffic offenders, new legislation has been passed that puts young drivers under the Michigan point system.

Corporal Richard Faulkner, juvenile officer for the Novice police department, said that a juvenile found guilty of running a red light, for instance, will rack up three points.

Four similar violations or any combination totaling 12 points equals one less driver on the road.

Faulkner underscored that it would be up to the reviewing judge to determine any further disposition of a case involving a juvenile. In other words, other penalties could be handed out.

The law placing juvenile under the point system was signed recently by Governor Romney.

Urge Athletes To Get Physicals

Junior and Senior high students who plan to participate in any sport during the 1965-66 season should obtain their physicals from their family doctors this summer, Athletic Director Al Jones announced.

Forms for the physical may be picked up in the principals' office, either at the high school or at the junior high, Jones noted.

Jones cautioned that no equipment will be issued until this examination has been completed.

Classroom for Farmers

LANSING — Farming still accounts for a good portion of Michigan's economy, but further change in its status is anticipated. Agriculture ties with resorting or rates second to manufacturing as an industry, depending on who is speaking. But the number of people and land area involved in farming has changed considerably over the years, and the evolution has not stopped yet, according to the experts.

For this reason, Michigan State University has received a sizeable grant from the Kellogg Foundation to help farmers adjust to this continuing change in demand.

Young farmers, mostly in the 25-35 year age bracket, will be the prime targets of the experimental program to be conducted by MSU's extension service.

THEORY BEHIND the program, according to Dr. David Boyne of the agricultural economics department, is that well-informed leaders are needed to give farm people a better understanding of their role in the present and future industrial-urban society.

Starting this fall, 30 farmers will be selected annually to participate in the program. They will be enrolled for a three-year period to attend institutes, discussion meetings and to travel in Michigan, the nation and throughout the world.

Dr. Boyne notes that since most participating farmers will not have had any college training, the three-year program will include classroom study in economics, political science, sociology, communications, philosophy, the arts, history and education.

Despite a five-year grant of $432,225, the program will call for individual expenditures of an estimated $4,250 per farmer. The grant will be used as a supplement to the enrollment fee for books, study materials and travel.

BIG BUSINESS sometimes is accused of losing touch with its original function and so it appears to be with some facets of tourism in Michigan.

Twice recently, and perhaps more instances have gone unnoticed, the State Tourist Council has been called on the carpet for glaring errors in doing its job. The errors appeared to be big ones, at least to the home town folks who should be experts on their community's main tourist attractions.

In one case a State Senator by letter sharply criticized the Council for failing to adequately credit the historic significance of a courthouse in his district. He said the description in the Council's new map not only failed to note the rare antiquity of the building but mislocated the structure as well.

STILL SOMEWHAT red-faced from publicity given this inaccuracy, the Council then helped publish a pamphlet which drew criticism from right in its own front yard.

In a booklet entitled "Your Guide to Michigan Accommodations, Restaurants and Attractions" the council in conjunction with the four regional tourist associations listed items by city.

For the Lansing-East Lansing area the pamphlet listed four movie theaters and the Oldsmobile factory. Described by council officials as "a regrettable oversight" was the omission of the state Capitol, Michigan Historical Museum and the Michigan State University campus.

Other errors in emphasis in the two new publications may have been received from other locales but the Tourist Council is keeping them in its classified file.

As one observer noted, the oversight of leaving the Capitol building out of the Lansing tourist attractions list would be comparable to omitting Interstate 94 or 96 from the state's official highway map.

ANOTHER innovation in the annual Michigan showcase is in the making.

In each of the previous years Michigan Week planners have added something to give the observance new spark. One year it was a magazine promotion supplement in the New York Times and this past year it took the form of a pre-Michigan Week European tour by government and business leaders.

Next year it could be Michigan's answer to the World's Fair. Under study now is the feasibility of holding some kind of Michigan industry exposition in conjunction with the 1966 brag week or at some later date.

PROBLEMS experienced during the World's Fair in New York this year and last prompted most Michigan officials to forget about the idea of holding a future one here in the state.

A Michigan industry exposition, possibly including a trade fair, might be a good substitute for getting the World's Fair and, indeed, might even be better since the entire spotlight would be on participating state industries and organizations.

The exposition idea, sparked by the world-wide reverberations of the 1965 Michigan Week, is still at the beginning study stage. The way Michigan Week organizers have started ideas and expanded on them annually in the past indicates this one could follow the same pattern.

Service Jobs Boom

BABSON PARK, MASS. Young people considering a lifetime career would do well to take a long, hard look at the service trades before making a final job decision. There is a wide scope of opportunities in these fields, ranging from the easiest and simplest tasks to work requiring the highest level of education and business training.

A compelling reason for focusing on the service industries now and in the years ahead is the fact that our economy—once heavily industrial in terms of employment—is shifting its emphasis to the service area. Just ten years ago manufacturing employment slid, for the first time, below 50% of the total working force of the nation. Since then the decline in goods-producing workers has persisted, dropping the total to about 45%. With automation and other means of increasing productivity becoming more prevalent, jobs in manufacturing may continue to shrink.

The principle reason this has not brought on an unemployment crisis of major proportion is the simultaneous emergence of a service-oriented economy. The dynamism of this change may be understood from the fact that the total of service employees has risen from 18.6 million at the 1929 peak to approximately 38 million today. And ever greater leisure time, along with cumulative gains in family incomes, may broaden the base for service all along the line.

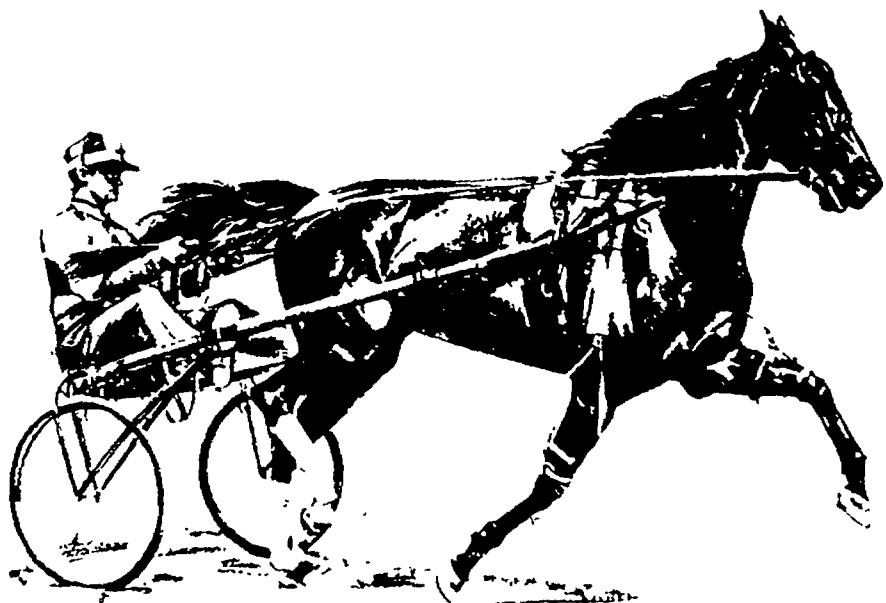

Some may be surprised when they look into the powerful service industries and discover how they are changing our basic economy. Included in the category are retail and wholesale trade, real estate, insurance, and financial operations of all types. Then there are business, personal, professional, and repair occupations affecting practically all phases of our national and personal lives. Government is one of the major service fields providing ever-expanding employment at municipal, state, and federal levels.

A number of the service occupations do not demand exceptionally high educational backgrounds, so that even school-drop outs or those unable for one reason or other to go through college can often find fairly well paying starting jobs. Also, those who prefer to be self-employed will find a steadily widening field of opportunity within the booming service categories. Services have attracted many female employees (close to half the total), often because such jobs require no outstanding physical strength, whereas, in goods-producing lines the total of women workers amounts to only about 20%.

Fortunately, the growth of a more heavily service-oriented economy is likely to mean greater job stability for those involved, since most of the seasonal and cyclical unemployment occurs among workers engaged in producing goods. Inasmuch as it is going to take fewer and fewer people to turn out an ever greater flow of products under automation, obviously the service segment of our business system will become a gradually more important fundamental support for the nation's economy. This change in the make-up of our employment structure could eventually help to ease the type of recession that used to be a real problem because of the wide-scale layoffs of production-line workers.

SPEAKING

for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Monday night the city council gave the planning commission a pat on the back.

A page one Record story reports that the council "approved in principle" the planning commission's master plan for the community.

Specifically, this means that the council - after weeks of deliberation - has said that "we like the work you've been doing and we urge you to continue. How can we help?"

To longtime members of the planning commission who have been closely associated with details of the master plan for several years this marks a milestone of progress.

I do not think there was ever any doubt that the council would give its stamp of approval to the master plan. But a matter of degree becomes involved and, like all progress, compromises had to be made.

Planners freely admit that they have moved from a position of strict application to one of flexibility.

Basically, this is the point at which the planners and council differed. Working closely with the plan for several years planners found it difficult to relax from a position of strict adherence. They had drawn a plan for Northville that they considered as near perfect as possible.

While councilmen might agree that the plan was good, they were not committed wholeheartedly to its every concept. For example, the plan might never include a "mall" within the central business district; an area earmarked for parking might become a building site; a proposed drive might be moved one way or another.

The council's emphasis on remaining flexible in applying the master plan was emphasized in several ways. Councilwoman Beatrice Carlson said she had looked up the definition of "principle" in the dictionary and that one of its definitions was "beginning". She concluded that the council's "approval in principle" marked a beginning from which to move forward.

Councilman Fred Kester put it another way ... and very well.

"My hope would be that closing of Main and Center streets in the business district for a mall would come about by evolution, rather than resolution", said Kester.

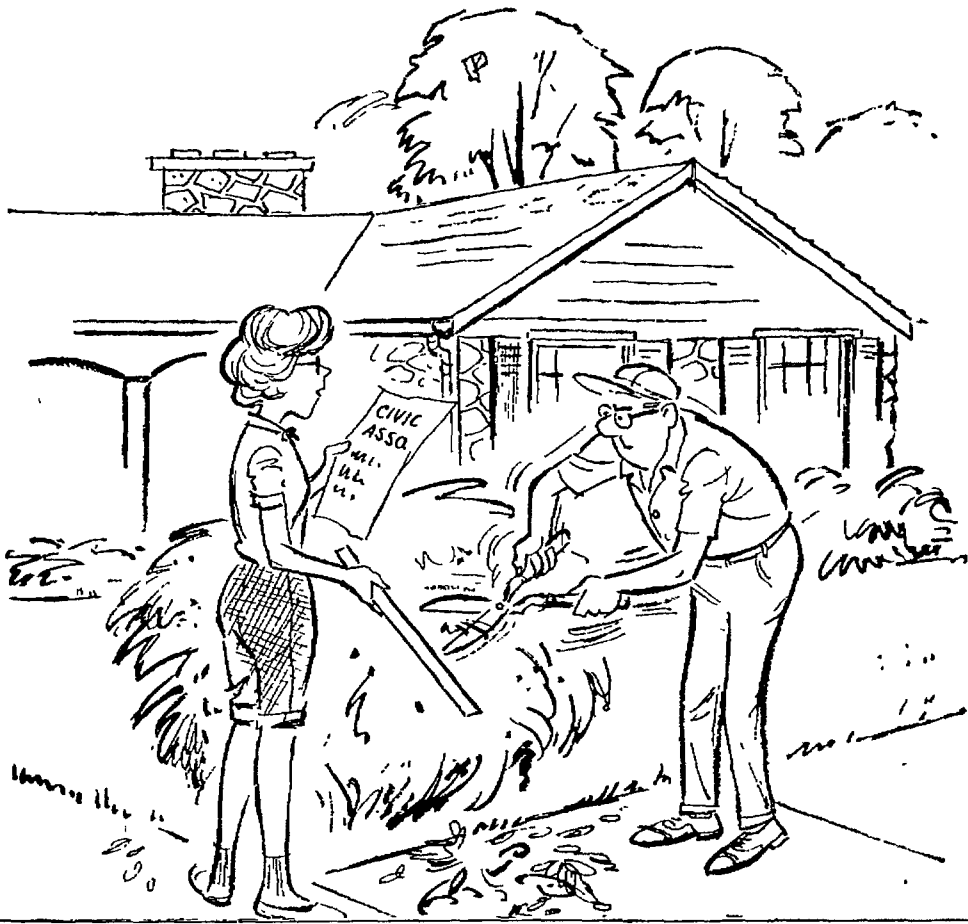

Nelson Schrader, newest member of the planning commission, expressed the businessman's viewpoint by saying that adoption of a plan by the council would prove helpful to the businessman. "By defining a plan for the business district anyone planning an investment will know exactly where they're going", Schrader pointed out.

Next step in the master plan is to stimulate citizen interest and form committees.

The master plan is an idea for the orderly growth of our community which has excited planners and captured their attention and imaginations.

It stands as a challenge to all civic-minded area residents. Their assistance would be welcomed.

Ireland's Not Bad, But School's Tough

To the Editor:

I think, on behalf of myself, that you should know something about our so-called life in Ireland. As you know, or should know, school is a nuisance, but even more so over here. Next year I take an exam called junior which covers the last two years. This wouldn't be so bad except that I have only taken seven to eight months of these two years. I have a geometry tutor and considering taking a German tutor. The physical training system is completely different. We have two forty minute gym classes a week. I have all this and more. I have 28 text books at home now and get more when I go back to school on September the first. This isn't including some 19 notebooks, 8 exercise books, 6 folders and a numerous amount of pens, pencils etc. I am also expected to wear a green cap, green blazer, and a red, green and yellow striped tie.

School isn't the only thing, in my opinion, wrong with this country. Weather is another. Where in the states a weatherman would say "scattered showers," the typical forecast over here is, "scattered sun". So I stay inside when it rains. What should I do inside. Television doesn't start until five o'clock. And when it does my choice between watching Pinky & Perky and Romper Room doesn't thrill me. They do have some good English shows over here though.

The people in Ireland are very friendly and kind. They lead a pleasurable life. The transportation between cities is tremendous. The Maurns (mountains) are very beautiful and much fun to climb. Along the Antrim coast is considered to be one of the most beautiful drives in the world. From where we live, the Atlantic or some mountains are only a sixty to a twenty minute drive away. Though I was set on hating Ireland, it has been quite an experience and I'm looking forward to our vacation in Europe of which Susan Yoder is taking with us. Considering the pros and cons I have to say that it is not that bad.

Sincerely yours,
Mike Murany

A great time to go Cadillac!

If you have considered moving up to Cadillac, this summer is the perfect time to act. Whether you travel across town or across America, nothing can equal a new or used Cadillac for luxury, comfort, value and performance.

Many wonderful pleasures go with you wherever you go in a Cadillac. You enjoy Cadillac's unique performance - silken, quiet, instantly responsive - with its big V-8 engine and Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission. You get comfort that only Cadillac owners can fully appreciate. And, of course, there's the luxury and graciousness that only Cadillac can provide. On the practical side, there's the satisfaction of knowing that Cadillac operating costs are the envy of many less distinguished cars - and that Cadillac holds its value better than any other car built in the land. Whether you select a new 1965 Cadillac or one that has seen previous service, you know you travel with the finest. For a new or used Cadillac, see your nearest authorized Cadillac dealer. His reputation for customer attention and his quality service will make you both proud and happy as the owner of the Standard of the World.
