A 37-year-old Northville man was drowned Tuesday morning when a 65-foot steel ladder pinned him in 10 feet of water.

Warren Atchison, of 547 Fairbrook, was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident, the pond at the Sheldon G. Hayes Development company site, 42800 Seven Mile road.

Atchison and three other men were on a ladder, repairing a cable used in a dredging operation, when the cable snapped and hurled the men into the water, state police reported.

Three other men swam to safety, but Atchison was pinned underneath the ladder. Examining physician, Dr. L. M. Hotchkiss, detected abrasions above both Atchison's ears and eyes.

His body was recovered by divers at 10:30 a.m., 40 minutes after police were called.

New Math Column Set

Next week The Northville Record, Novi News and South Lyon Herald will bring readers a new column devoted to helping parents and other adults become familiar with the new math being taught in area elementary schools.

It will be titled "Modern Math for Everyone" and will be written by Edward Marquardt, principal of South Lyon Elementary school.

Marquardt is especially equipped for this assignment because of in-depth training in modern math teaching techniques with emphasis on the training of those who have not had the step by step instructions.

He studied techniques of modern math teaching at the University of Michigan for a year and has taught modern math for three years.

"Modern Math for Everyone" will appear every other week during the school year.

begin within a week on a $250,000 structure of contemporary design which will seat 250 persons.

McGrath and Dohmen of Detroit are the architects for the structure which has been in planning stages for a year.

The new chapel will bring to three the number of permanent buildings at the school for retarded girls and will be placed behind the main building.

With a design capacity of 250 it is being built in anticipation of growth of the school from its present 120 full time residents and nine day students.

A nickel plated spade pierced the soil about 200 feet to the rear of the main building at 2:30 p.m. and the new chapel was nearer reality.

Monsignor Kearns, pastor of St. Alphonsus, Detroit, gave the dedication address. He was introduced by Father Ledderman, Our Lady of Providence chaplain.

The school's superior, "St. Margaret and Sister Gedia, a superior in Chicago, took a turn at the spade.

Guests included Father Salino of St. Dennis in Madison Heights; Father Dowagiac, chaplain of DeHoCo, Mulberry and the Wayne County Training School.

Joining with the retarded girls attending Our Lady of Providence were a large group of boys from St. Louis school in Chelsea and their priests, Father Sarpiere and Father Umberto.

JOHN MACH—An auto dealer between buildings at announcement time.

New Building (Ready or Not) To Introduce '66 Models

There's an old saying about "the best laid plans", etc.

John Mach's an expert on the subject.

For years, probably since the day he took over the local Ford agency on May 1, 1959, he's been planning a move into larger, more modern facilities.

And of the 365 days on the calendar, there's only one when the automobile manufacturers unveil their new models.

And that day, Friday, October 1, 1965 falls during "moving week" for the John Mach Ford Agency.

They're half-in, half-out . . . but determined to show their new 1966 models in their new showroom at 550 West Seven Mile road.

So although the showroom and offices may be without furnishings, carpeting may not be installed and heating a question mark, there'll be a full line of new Fords, Falcons and Thunderbirds for the public to view.

Northville's board of education unanimously approved design specifications for the proposed West Eight Mile road elementary school Monday night.

The building, a combination of three educational complexes, is the result of educational studies conducted by both citizens' groups, staff members and administrators.

It was enthusiastically proclaimed by Aerman Principal Ray Spear, who took part in the planning study, as meeting all the specifications requested "and providing ideal educational facilities for now and the future".

Following the presentation by architects and Spear, the board studied blueprints and questioned the plan, but agreed that it fulfilled requirements as outlined.

Only sources of concern are timetables and costs. Original cost of construction had been estimated at $540,000. This figure now stands at $570,065. Architectural and engineering fees, equipment, site purchase and contingencies bring the total cost to an estimated figure of $663,069 compared to $645,000 at the outset.

Construction cost of the 27,000 square foot building stands at approximately $20 per square foot.

Specifically, the building provides 17 classrooms, a science and art center, resource center, office area, teachers' lounge and work room and kitchen.

Flexibility seems to be the keyword of the design. It permits movement of children from one area to another, provides movable walls for small or large study areas and yet maintains traditional classroom units in three complex areas.

One of the complexes serves the kindergarten and first grade area, another the second and third grades and finally, the fourth and fifth grades.

Each of the complexes have outside entrances through vestibules which are spacious enough to provide cloakroom facilities as well as small auxiliary study areas.

The self-contained complexes are easily accessible to one another and available to a resource library center designed to serve the entire school.

At the center rear of the building is a multi-purpose room which provides a stage area and gymnasium. Corridors are kept to a minimum, occupying only seven per cent of the total space, designers emphasized.

Architects are now going ahead with final prints and an outside rendering, which will be published in The Record next week if completed in time.

If bonds can be sold, plans still call for construction to get underway this year. Architect Henry Haberkorn told the board that construction should begin in December to open the building by next September.

Purchase of the 10-acre site from the Salvation Army now seems assured, although details cannot be complete until the board receives its money from the bond sale.

Ideas Abound for Fish Hatchery, Area

With the disclosure more than a year ago that Northville's Fish Hatchery would be vacated this fall there has been much speculation as to what future use might be made of the site. The possibility that some other federal government unit other than the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries might find use for the site seems unlikely. The Fish Hatchery, located at 767 Fairbrook, includes 15 acres with about 10 acres in the township and five in the city. There are two buildings on the south side of Fairbrook next to the hatchery ponds and two houses on the north side with another small pond.

The city and township governments as well as the board of education have shown some interest in acquiring the property from the government rather than risk sale at public auction. But no definite plans have been formulated, or at least announced, as to possible use of the property.

Nancee Slattery, who has worked as a reporter for The Record during the summer months before starting at Michigan State University this fall, talked to dozens of local residents about the possibility of creating a local historical and/or antique center at the Fish Hatchery. She has written a three-part article on some of the ideas these people had to offer. Many of the proposals went far beyond the limits of the fish hatchery as residents enthusiastically outlined their ideas for "keeping Northville's small town atmosphere".

They Work...

Record-News Want Ads, that is!

arts and antiques?

That question has created quite a stir among Northville residents during the last few months. The fact that the fish hatchery will soon vacate its historic site on Fairbrook has stimulated a wide spectrum of colorful ideas on what the land could be used for. It has also branched out into ideas of how the natural charm of Northville could be enhanced and preserved.

The idea of turning the land into an antique and historical center, and from there encircling the whole town in a similar project, has been proposed by many people. Mrs. Harold Hartley, owner of the Hartley-Power Studio, stated the nearly unanimous thought among those interviewed - that the "fish hatchery should be the median to work from."

They felt that at least part of the 15 acres now occupied by the hatchery should be used for the antique and historical center. They also felt that the site was well worth preserving for its historic value, and that it should be turned into a project as prosperous and beneficial to Northville as the fish hatchery had been.

City Sewer Line Breaks

A broken sewer main 22-feet below the ground has kept Northville public works employees busy on a round-the-clock schedule since last Saturday.

DPW Director Herman Hartner said a 100-foot section of the main, located on Fairbrook near Rogers, must be replaced. Work will begin on the installation this week.

The break has required constant attention to pump the overflow from one manhole to another.

house our past momentoes."

Mrs. C. M. Chase, a member and last year's president of the Historical Society, adds "There are lots of things around here to put in a museum. It would be wonderful." The society has already started a picture and paper center which is now on file in the library. They also have a few items locked up in the city hall.

Mrs. Harold Thomas, co-owner of the Barn Door Antique Shop, thinks that a museum should be started because "the heritage of Michigan, let alone Northville, is precious. The younger generation is very interested in all this too." The president of the Quarters group, Mrs. Jack Willis, adds that "a museum would be marvelous."

One club, besides the Historical Society that has offered to prepare an exhibit for an historical museum is the local Mayflower Button Club. Mrs. W. J. Livingston of Beck road, a past president of the Michigan Button Society, editor of the Button Collectors Bulletin and a member of the Mayflower Club, says, "If Northville gets this museum going, we would be glad to fix up a frame of buttons for it."

She and the other club members have thousands of historical buttons, many having to do with Michigan history. She says, "Each button is a chapter in itself." It can reveal the political, social and religious philosophies of an era along with the fashions, hair styles, famous people, furniture styles, etc.

Mrs. E. O. Whittington, a member of the Garden Club's Civic Improvement Committee, has an idea for one shop that would fit in with this project. She explains, "I visited a garden club market in Asheville, North Carolina operated by the local garden club. The items were made from natural materials."

"It was operated by local people that could be trained to make these objects. In the past 10 years they have built it into a $50,000 a year business." The products reach every state in the union and nearly every country in the world.

She explains that the money from the shop is used for scholarships for local youths. She says, "It is so worthwhile. Many girls and boys even pay back the money. They earned the money from the training they received due to the scholarships."

She feels "There is lots of talent in Northville that needs an outlet and could run this. We might begin with Christmas decorations and then start branching out."

A larger group than the local garden club would be needed to support the shop, but there are already 13 or 14 groups who have participated in the club's annual Christmas Market. These groups -- and others among the 100 Michigan divisions -- could help supply the products to sell. Mrs. Whittington says, "There's a

Township Sewer To Serve School

Water and sewer service for the new Northville elementary school planned for West Eight Mile road became a concern of the board of education Monday night as it discussed possibilities with the city council and school architects.

The site, 10 acres on the south side of Eight Mile road approximately across from Northville Estates subdivision, is in Northville township. It is the first school building facility in the local school district to be constructed outside the city.

School board members learned from Henry Haberkorn, representative of O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach architectural firm, that soil tests on the proposed site revealed "lower permeability". He told the board that a tile field could be constructed, but that it would be both expensive and temporary.

In discussions with the city council the board learned that utility service could be extended only if the site were to be annexed to the city. (For details of this subject see "Speaking for The Record", page 10B).

It was further noted that sewer service could not be extended by the time the school is scheduled to open.

The architect pointed out that the board has an alternative: connection to a township sewer southwest of the site at Beck and Main which now serves Maybury Sanatorium. Installation of the line will be expensive immediately to the school system but it was pointed out that the investment could be recouped through a "pay-back" contract with the township that provides for repayment when future development takes place along the route of the new line.

Griddle Cakes Coming Up

The annual pancake supper sponsored by the Presbyterian Men's club of Northville will be held Friday, October 22, 5-7 p.m. at the Fellowship hall.

Tickets may be obtained from club members or at the door. The event is traditionally held in conjunction with Northville high school's homecoming football game.

UF Team to Hear Pep Talks

An orientation for the upcoming United Foundation drive in the community's residential area will be held Monday morning at nine o'clock at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Campaign Chairman Mrs. Arthur Hempe announced this week.

On hand to help get the volunteer women in the mood for their collection drive will be a representative of the United Foundation headquarters as well as State Representative Marvin Stempfen, Mayor A. M. Allen and Township Supervisor R. D. Merriam.

The door-to-door campaign begins October 12.

In Our Town

By Jean Day

THE MADAME PRESIDENTS in our town who are guiding their organizations into a new season of activities already are proving themselves worthy of wielding their gavels. Nomination for the new president with the heaviest agenda must be Mrs. Robert Lang, Northville State Hospital auxiliary prexy.

Invitations are in the mails this week for the second autumn membership tea to be given by the auxiliary from 2 to 4 p.m. Wednesday, October 13, in the home of Mrs. George Schueder in Shadbrook. The first tea two years ago at the home of Mrs. Walter Couse was so successful in drawing additional women into the auxiliary's volunteer work, Mrs. Lang reports, that it was decided to have a membership tea every other year. Mrs. Charles Hook, membership chairman, and Mrs. Herbert Weston are assisting with the 150 invitations.

Anne Lang and her officers already have behind them the patients' fair held at the hospital September 14 and 15. Cooperation, President Lang remarks, always has been the key to the popularity of this annual event. Members rallied as soon as school started to be ready to serve coffee, monitor booths, serve shut-ins and bake cupcakes.

Mrs. Lang began her presidential year while packing for her family's move from Stratford court to Linden street in town where she thrives on "walking on my errands." Because of the heavy schedule, the Langs delayed their camping trip to Interlochen until last week when they found they had the park "all to ourselves."

MRS. ALLEN J. BUCKLEY, leader of the Mizpah Chapter, King's Daughters, is another active president rallying the 120 members of this Northville chapter for a major activity next month. The chapter is to be hostess to the Wayne county convention of King's Daughters October 25 in Northville Presbyterian church.

Next Wednesday and Thursday 10 delegates from the local chapter will attend the state convention in Owosso. Planning to go are Mrs. Buckley, Mrs. Gerald Taft, Mrs. John Litsenberger, Mrs. Arthur Junod, Mrs. William H. Cansfield, Mrs. Douglas Bolton, Mrs. Donald Severance, Mrs. Abe Barber, Mrs. Emma Reid and Mrs. Ray Letchfield. Mrs. Buckley also is making arrangements for her chapter to entertain patients at the King's Daughters home in Detroit October 20.

"EXTRA THINGS" created a mood of fun and nostalgia for the first fall meeting of the Northville Business and Professional Women's club called to order by President Hester Gow following dinner Monday night at Hillside Inn in Plymouth.

Miss Margaret Rager, membership chairman, and Mrs. Beatrice Carlson, who was first president of the 18-year-old organization, surprised members with gift-wrapped packages of club items left from previous meetings and long stored in Mrs. Carlson's home.

Miscellaneous paper from birthdays, weddings and anniversaries was used to wrap song books, matches, pencils and other memorabilia of past events. To explain the packages Mrs. Carlson wrote a five-verse poem, beginning:

"What do you do with extra things like nut cups, ash trays and books for group sings

Are they put in boxes and packed away To be thrown out later or given to children for play--"

PETITE MRS. EARLE MCINTOSH, president of Northville Newcomers' club, opened her Woodhill road home last Wednesday for a membership coffee attended by more than 50 members and guests. All new arrivals to Northville who could be located were invited. Membership in the group, Mrs. McIntosh points out, is open to any area resident of five years or less.

Mrs. McIntosh worked on arrangements for the coffee while getting son Tim ready for his freshman year at Central Michigan College in Mt. Pleasant.

ANOTHER CLUB PRESIDENT who also is mother of a college freshman is Mrs. William B. Crump. She officially will open Northville Woman's Club's 73rd year at a luncheon Friday at Meadowbrook Country Club.

Daughter Connie is enrolled at Albion College where both parents and students were welcomed by President Louis Norris earlier this month. Mrs. Crump reports that parents were encouraged by Dr. Norris' forthright advice to freshmen that they "Be someone on your own first" -- and leave marriage until later.

Schoolcraft Offers Management Course

In cooperation with the Small Business Administration, Schoolcraft college is offering an eight session Institute entitled Management Techniques and Resources for Small Businessmen. According to Dean Dell Reed, the Institute will meet Tuesday evening from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. for an eight week period beginning October 5, 1965.

Owners, managers, and employees of businesses located in the College community are encouraged to register for the class. The Institute will be directed as a seminar with lectures and discussions and no written examinations.

Management theory, problem solving, budgeting, and marketing will be included in the program. In addition to law, taxation, accounting, and services pertaining to small businesses.

"Resource speakers who are specialists in their fields have been recruited as lecturers for the Institute," Reed said.

Businessmen interested in learning more about the content of the course may contact Dean Reed at the college. Preregistrations are being accepted and final registration will be held the evening of October 5. The cost of the course is $35 and includes tuition, certificate of attendance, and the graduation banquet during the final session.

Junior Great Books Group to Form Here

Northville junior high students will have the opportunity to join a great books discussion group again this year.

The groups will meet for 1 1/2 hours after school once a month to discuss a book they have read prior to the meeting.

A combined 6th and 7th grade group will be co-lead by Mrs. H. E. Earehart (Edith) and Mrs. Albert Myers (Helen). An 8th grade group will have Mrs. James Tellam (Fay) and Mrs. George Glenn (Donna) as co-leaders.

Unfortunately, we have lost four of last year's leaders; three moved from Northville and one is working full time. This means that we can offer this on a limited basis only and it will not be possible to have 5th grade groups this year unless we can recruit volunteer adult leaders, said a spokesman.

If you are interested in learning more about how to become a Junior Great Books co-leader, or if you have a child interested in joining a group, please contact Mrs. Albert Myers 349-3362.

Methodists Ask Gifts for Aged

Northville's Annual Harvest In-gathering for the Chelsea Methodist Home for the Aged will be held this coming Sunday, at the 8:30 and 11:00 o'clock services, in the First Methodist Church.

Gifts of money, jams, jellies, preserves and farm produce may be left at the church. Containers will be placed at the foyer of the church, according to Pastor Rev. S. D. Kinde.

At 3:00 o'clock the West Wayne sub-district MYF rally will be held at the home and the produce will be displayed.

Girls who attend are to take a box lunch for two and these will be purchased by the boys.

Dave King In Band At Academy

David King, 16-year-old son of Northville Police Chief and Mrs. Eugene King of 512 Dunlap, may one day realize his ambition... to become a helicopter pilot and take part in rescue work.

This has been David's wish ever since that spring day in 1959 when a jet plane crashed into his backyard in Northville badly burning David and his sister.

To help bring about his ambition to enter the United States Air Force Academy David enrolled at the Roosevelt Military Academy in Aledo, Illinois recently.

Activity-wise the ninth grader is off to a good start. He's been selected as a member of the school's marching band.

Wed 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Johnston of 43726 Grand River, Novi, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary October 3. Their son, Frederick, and daughter, Mrs. Nellie Remien, have planned an open house at the Johnston's home to honor their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston were married 50 years ago in Walled Lake.

Baptists to Hold Bible Conference

The annual Bible Conference of the First Baptist Church of Northville, 217 North Wing street, will be held each evening at 7:00 p.m. October 3-8.

Speaker will be Dr. W. E. Sampson, pastor of Sheets Memorial Baptist church, Lexington, North Carolina.

Dr. Sampson was the successor to Dr. M. R. De Haan, at Calvary Church in Grand Rapids, after Dr. De Haan assumed his international ministry with the Radio Bible Class.

The public is cordially invited to attend these services. Rev. Robert K. Spradling is the pastor.

Gridders Fall Flat At Clarkston, 7-0

The Northville football express, which looked unstoppable in generating a 45-0 victory over Plymouth in its initial start, ran out of steam last Friday at Clarkston.

It was a complete reversal of form for Northville as Clarkston posted a 7-0 win in the first Wayne-Oakland Conference clash for both teams.

Everything clicked against Plymouth the week before; everything fizzled against Clarkston. What happened to the Mustangs explosive passing attack that shattered Plymouth? Clarkston's forward wall took care of that by putting the pressure on Quarterback Tom Baughman. He was rushed.

Even when Baughman hit seven out of 15 attempts, and his receivers dropped a few on a crisp fall night which contrasted sharply with the previous Friday's sultry temperatures.

Northville Mentor Ron Horwath pinpointed the problem in a post-game comment: "You can't make that many mistakes and win."

The Mustangs just didn't have it against Clarkston. They made mistakes after mistake, and each one took its toll. When it wasn't one of Northville's six fumbles that stymied a drive, it was one of the eight penalties.

That was the story of the game. Northville walked off statistically ahead, but where it counts — the score — it just wasn't so.

The man who saved the day for the Wolves was Quarterback Dan Fife, and he did it early — half way through the first quarter. Fife stole a pass on the Northville 31 and raced untouched into the end zone. Twice more he stopped Mustang thrusts with interceptions.

Clarkston started off like a band of demons, bent on wrecking Northville. In fact, it looked like all-Clarkston for the first seven minutes of the contest.

The Wolves took the opening kickoff on its own 34 and moved, with the help of a 15-yard penalty, to the Northville 16. There it was first and 10.

The four succeeding plays, however, netted the Wolves only two yards as the Mustangs tightened up their defensive forces. Northville took over, charged 14 yards for a first down on the 28, and attempted its first pass which was intercepted by Fife for the TD.

But from then on, the Mustangs' defense proved impenetrable. They once permitted Clarkston to advance to the Northville 39 in the second period, but that is as close as the Wolves could get the rest of the game.

In fact, the whole second half was played in Clarkston territory, but Northville mistakes simply fouled things up whenever the local gridders got close to the goal line. In short, Northville was its own worst enemy.

"The defense was real good," said Horwath. "They looked like the Detroit Lions, but how long can you play defense if the offense isn't doing anything?" he asked. "If we had eliminated our mistakes, Clarkston wouldn't have been in the ball game."

By far Northville's best scoring chance came with eight minutes left in the final period. Defensive halfback Jim Zayt, taking Fife's cue, swiped one of Fife's passes on the Clarkston 24, and returned it to the 19.

Fullback Dave Boerger bucked for three and two yards and Halfback Doug Swiss ran for three. On a fourth down with three yards to go, End Jerry Inslund leaped high to snag a Baughman pass, good for four yards, and a first down on the Clarkston eight yard line.

But jitters got the best of the Mustangs at this point. After Boerger dove for three yards down to the five, the Mustangs fumbled back to the nine. Swiss then plunged for two, making it fourth and seven to go for the TD. The next pass from center was juggled, Northville lost two yards, and that opportunity went by the boards.

Although Northville did not penetrate as far, it did threaten two other times in the second half. Stopped after receiving the second half kickoff, Northville punted to Clarkston. A Wolf fumbled on the 50 and Steve Evans recovered for Northville.

The Mustangs drove to the Clarkston 27 for a first down, but a fourth down plunge off right tackle fell one yard short of another first down on the 17.

Horwath pointed out that two of Clarkston's interceptions were "flukes", including the one for the decisive TD. On that one, Clarkston Quarterback Dan Fife picked off an aerial on the 31 after it had been tipped by a rushing lineman. Fife scored untouched.

One other of Fife's total of three interceptions resulted from a batted ball, Northville End Steve Evans, looping across the Clarkston 35 yard line in the second half, momentarily grabbed the ball, but it bounced off his hands into the waiting arms of Fife. Through all the gloom, there was one bright spot in the Mustangs' loss — no injuries.

In other Wayne-Oakland league action Friday night, Holly upended Milford, 13-7; Clarenceville edged Brighton, 20-13; and Bloomfield Hills came up with a surprisingly strong 26-0 victory over West Bloomfield.

New Coaches Guide Frosh

When the Northville freshmen play host to Belleville in the season opener today, it will be a completely new experience for gridders and coaches alike.

Kickoff is scheduled for 4 p.m. on the high school field.

Coaches Jack Townsley and Carl White, both newcomers, will handle the fortunes of the frosh who are donning Colts uniforms for the first time.

White has an edge on Townsley. He played high school football. Otherwise neither man can claim any coaching experience. "We're both new all right," said Townsley, "but we're giving it the best we've got. The kids are green, of course, but they're eager."

All 35 of the freshmen hopefuls got a taste of real game conditions last week when they played the third and fourth string varsity gridders.

Townsley indicated that while his gridders didn't fare too well, they were "awakened to the roughness of the game."

To get ready for the encounter with Belleville, White and Townsley are sending their charges through drills on fundamentals, and polishing up on offense.

White, an English and social studies teacher in the junior high school, is a first-year teacher. Townsley, who taught six years at Whitmore Lake before assuming a position here, teaches history at the high school.

Host Clarenceville

Mustangs Hope To Bounce Back

Clarenceville will come to town tomorrow night, and as usual they'll be big and bad. Game time is 8 p.m.

It will be up to Northville to cut the Trojans down to size or suffer its second defeat in Wayne-Oakland Conference play. Another loss would virtually eliminate Northville from all title consideration.

Northville now sports a 0-1 record in league play. Clarenceville is tied with Bloomfield Hills, Clarkston, and Holly for the loop lead with a 1-0 record.

Like Northville, however, the Trojans have a 1-1 mark overall. They lost their opener two weeks ago to North Farmington. The Mustangs worked it in reverse order, winning the opener, 45-0, over Plymouth, then suffering a surprise 7-0 setback at the hands of Clarkston.

To win tomorrow night Northville will have to stop the bull like rushing of 175-pound Halfback Chris Hawkins. He's the workhorse of the Trojan backfield, and Mustang Coach Ron Horwath said he carries the ball

Bartski Shines On Defense

Bob Bartski

This week's Player of the Week was a defensive stalwart — and it was the first time that the Mustang ever worked from a linebacker post. He's Bob Bartski, a 155-pound senior.

He was summoned off the bench mid-way through the first quarter when Clarkston threatened to score by marching to the Northville 16 yard line.

Bartski did the job. He filled the gap at left linebacker, helping to thwart the Wolves' attack. They gained only two yards in four plays, and Northville took over.

From then on the Mustangs' defense proved almost impenetrable as it jammed up the middle and closed off the airways. With Bartski bumping heads with rushing Wolves on the left side; in fact, Clarkston didn't get into Northville territory in the second half. Bartski also was a solid member of the Mustang baseball squad. As such, he lettered.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Bartski of Garfield road.

Harriers Lose Opener

The Northville high school harriers opened their 1965 season last week, dropping a decision to rival Plymouth, 18-35.

Heading this year's cross country squad is the only returning letterman, Bill Harrison. Other members are Jon Kaake, Robert Harrison, Jim Castillo, Dave Orphan, Jim Peterson and Marty Richardson.

Under the direction of Coach Chuck Yahne, they have been working out after school on their stomping grounds, Cass Benton Park. That's where they will hold all home meets.

Last Tuesday, Northville was scheduled to take on Walled Lake here. The rest of the schedule follows:

October 5 — Riverside
October 7 — at Clarkston
October 14 — at Holly

It's 1966. Rise up with Dodge. Get with the swinging cars of the year!

JOIN THE DODGE REBELLION

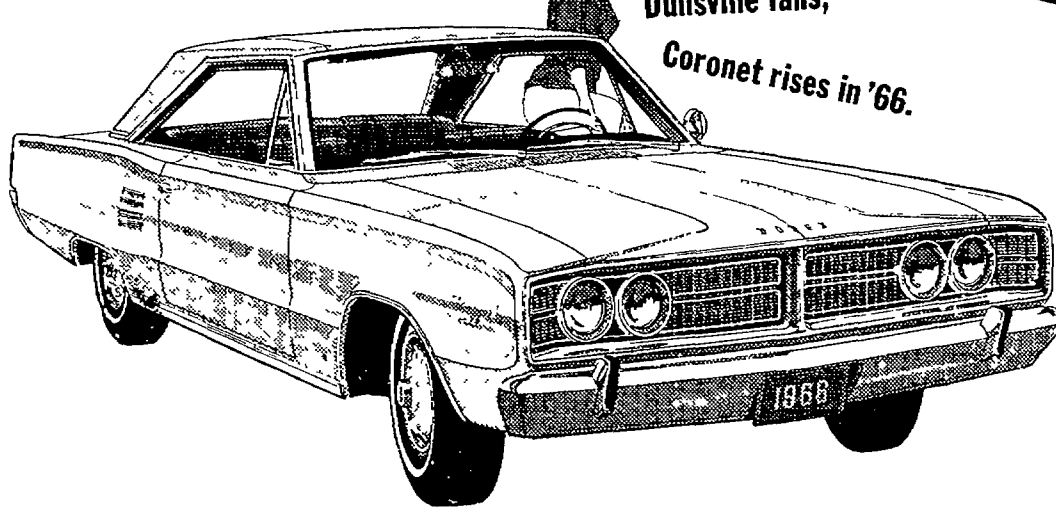

Why wait, when your year is here? The year to snap tired old ties, to break old buying habits. The year to really express yourself... with the '66 swingers from Dodge. Different, exciting cars for people with different, exciting tastes. Rally 'round Dodge for '66. Dart, Coronet, Polara, Monaco... cars made to help you kick the dull driving habit. There are lots of Dodges for you to hang your personal rebellion on.

Every one backed by a 5-year or 50,000-mile warranty.* Every one with these features that used to cost extra but now come standard: Outside mirror. Padded dash. Variable-speed electric windshield wipers and washers. Backup lights. Turn signals. Seat belts, two front and two rear. And lots more with Dodge... the beautiful Rebellion on wheels. Stir up your spirit and march to headquarters.

Stamp out cramped compacts; get with man-sized Dart.

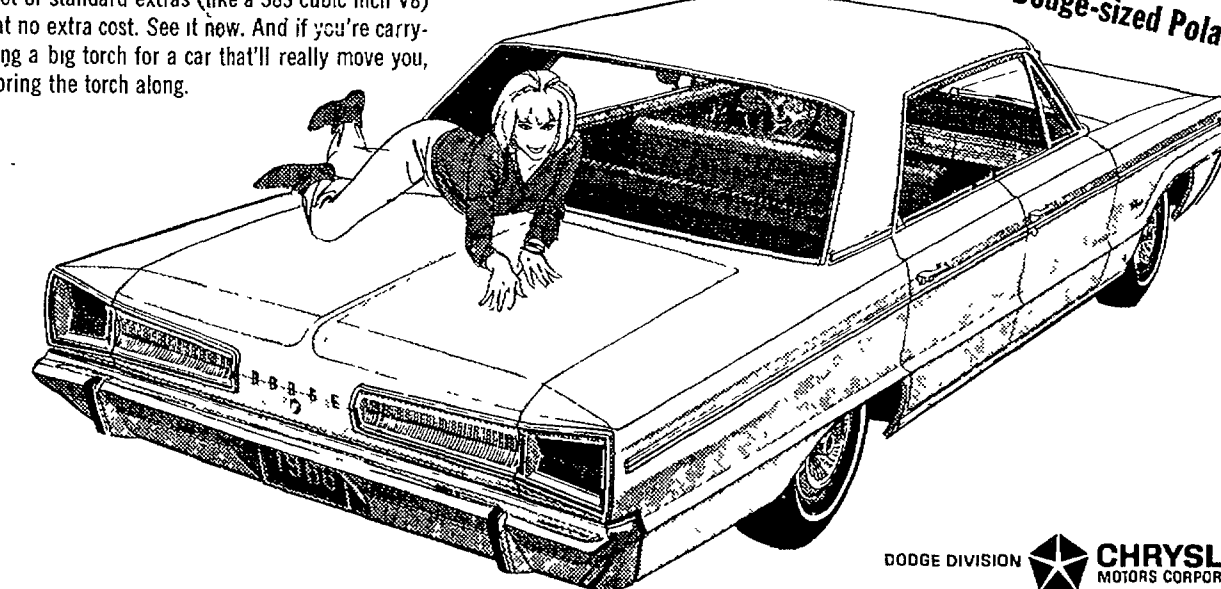

Dullsville falls, Coronet rises in '66.

'66 Dodge Polara Snap, crackle, pop, go the ties that bind. You're up and out of the rut with Polara. More "big." More "hot." A lot of standard extras (like a 383 cubic inch V8) at no extra cost. See it now. And if you're carrying a big torch for a car that'll really move you, bring the torch along.

Demand more "big" in your big car; insist on Dodge-sized Polara.

*HERE'S HOW DODGE'S 5-YEAR, 50,000-MILE ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN WARRANTY PROTECTS YOU: Chrysler Corporation confidently warrants all of the following vital parts of its 1966 cars for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excepting manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential and rear wheel bearings.

REQUIRED MAINTENANCE: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage. Simple enough for such important protection.

Ideas Abound for Area

whole big field to tap for products."

Money is the major setback to all these ideas. Northville people have a few solutions to that problem, too. Mrs. Thomas has two money-making ideas.

She says, "There could be four or five dealers in the hatchery. The land could be rented to help defray the costs." Also, "A flea market could be held once a month, perhaps on the fourth Sunday of each month. Twenty to thirty antique dealers would bring their wares." The dealers could pay a rental for the day to participate. Another idea was presented by Mrs. Livingston. As a button collector she feels close to the history of Michigan and Northville. She thinks the "historical museum would be great," but feels "the building could be used for an antique shop for awhile. It would bring in some income to help defray the costs."

The Questers group recently went on a field trip to Marshall, Michigan. Mrs. Arthur Basel, secretary of the group, reports that five old homes furnished with antiques were opened to the public for the day.

There is also an historical museum there, and along with it shop selling souvenirs. The group feels Northville's future museum could have a little shop like the one at Marshall to bring in money to support the building.

There is also the possibility of private and group donations. Such groups as the Historical Society, Questers, Antique Club, Woman's Club and Garden Club have expressed interest in maintaining the historical sites in Northville.

The hatchery is only the beginning of a project to help preserve Northville's charm, the people interviewed felt. Their ideas about turning Northville into an antique center will appear in next week's Record.

Upsets Mark First Grid Quiz Results

Upsets and the games made the first football contest of the new season tough for the armchair quarterbacks.

The best efforts were returned in by Mike Skelly and Joe Andrews. Both missed six games, but Mike won the $10 first prize with his closer prediction of the final score of the Detroit Lions-Minnesota game.

Joe was the winner of $5 and third place money of $3 was won by Mrs. Mary Ann St. Germain.

All contestants missed the two tie games between Auburn-Tennessee and Navy-Stanford. Many stumbled on the Notre Dame-Purdue, despite the advance information by 'ye old contest judge' who predicted that the Bollermakers would prevail.

Other games most frequently missed were Lafayette over Columbia, Clarkston over Northville, South Lyon over Lutheran West, Connecticut over Yale and North Carolina over Ohio State.

Mike is a 13-year-old ninth grader who said he'd "probably save" the $10 prize money. He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Skelly of 101 Hill street in Northville. Joe Andrews is a reserve quarterback on the Northville varsity squad. He's the son of the Reverend and Mrs. James Andrews of West Eight Mile.

Mrs. St. Germain admits that her husband did most of the selecting on the contest and that she just did the writing. The St. Germain family are all sports enthusiasts. Son Jim was state golf champion for two years at Northville and is now a freshman at the University of Houston.

NEW LOOK AT NORTHVILLE LANES—Angie Gadioli's Northville Lanes have taken on a new look, both inside and out. Gadioli added six more alleys, bringing the total to 18. The interior was newly decorated, carpeted and includes space for a lounge in the future. Outside a new entrance faces a 50-car parking lot which extends from the Center at Cady street building to Main street. A building still remains to be moved from the parking lot area. It houses Nick's Barber Shop, which will soon move to the Seven Mile road cut-off, next to Good Time Party Store. When the building is removed, Gadioli plans a grand opening event.

The Northville Record And The Novi News

Section B Thursday, September 30, 1965 Page One

IN THE FALL—Leaves turn to bright hues, football fans thrill to gridiron exploits, the weather turns nippy and cider and donuts become tasty treats. Here Robert Parmenter, fourth generation owner of Parmenter's Cider Mill on Baseline road in Northville, and two of his three sons are shown spreading crushed apples in forms in preparation for squeezing under the press. The technique of cider making hasn't changed much in the 92 years since Robert's grandfather started the mill here in 1873, he says. Of course such things as the advent of electric power has replaced horses. About Halloween, another fall event which is just a month away, hundreds will swarm to Parmenter's for samples of the tasty juice. (More pictures on page 5B.)

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH: Its Reason and Purpose

With the return to more regular participation in the life of the Christian Church, so characteristic of the religious nature of our society in this season of the year, it may prove helpful — once again — to look at "the reason" and "the purpose" for and of the Christian Church.

The Christian Church is the company of people committed to Jesus Christ as Savior from sin and Lord of their lives.

Their companionship is made possible because, in accepting Jesus Christ as their Savior and Lord, they have responded affirmatively to God's "reason and purpose" for sending Christ into the world. The faith by which they individually entered into this experience is grounded in the beliefs.

—First, that God created man in His own image — a spiritual being endowed with mind, purpose and an ethical conscience; —Second, that being created in God's image, the ideal life for man is at-one-ment of relationship God in love; —Third, that man, in the exercise of his God-given right of freedom of choice, is a susceptible participant in sin — the experience of yielding to the temptation to make choices counter to the loving-will of God and to pursue those choices;

—Fourth, that "sinning" man is separated from at-one-ment with God and thus, spiritually lost. The "reason" for Christ coming into the world is that man, in his humanness, "misses the mark" of being divinely at-one with God and needs to be saved from eternal spiritual loss.

The "purpose" for Christ coming into the world was God's compassionate desire — First, that every man would be in right relationship with Him and not spiritually lost and —Second, to do all in His power to save every man — short of imposing His will upon His gift to man of the right of freedom of choice — hence the vicarious death of Christ in man's behalf!

As individuals — responding acceptingly to God's implementation of His "reason and purpose" in the person of Jesus Christ — become spiritually one with God, they become united with God in His reason and purpose and, in turn, this becomes the "reason and purpose" of their corporate spiritual fellowship — known as the Christian Church.

The Christian Church, then, is —not just a place of worship — important as that is; —not just an organization — though no cause can long exist without being effectively organized;

—not just an institution to be supported and maintained — though there is need for every cause to have the facilities through which to nurture its own constituents and to propagate its purpose;

—not just something that can be whimsically accepted or ignored at one's pleasure.

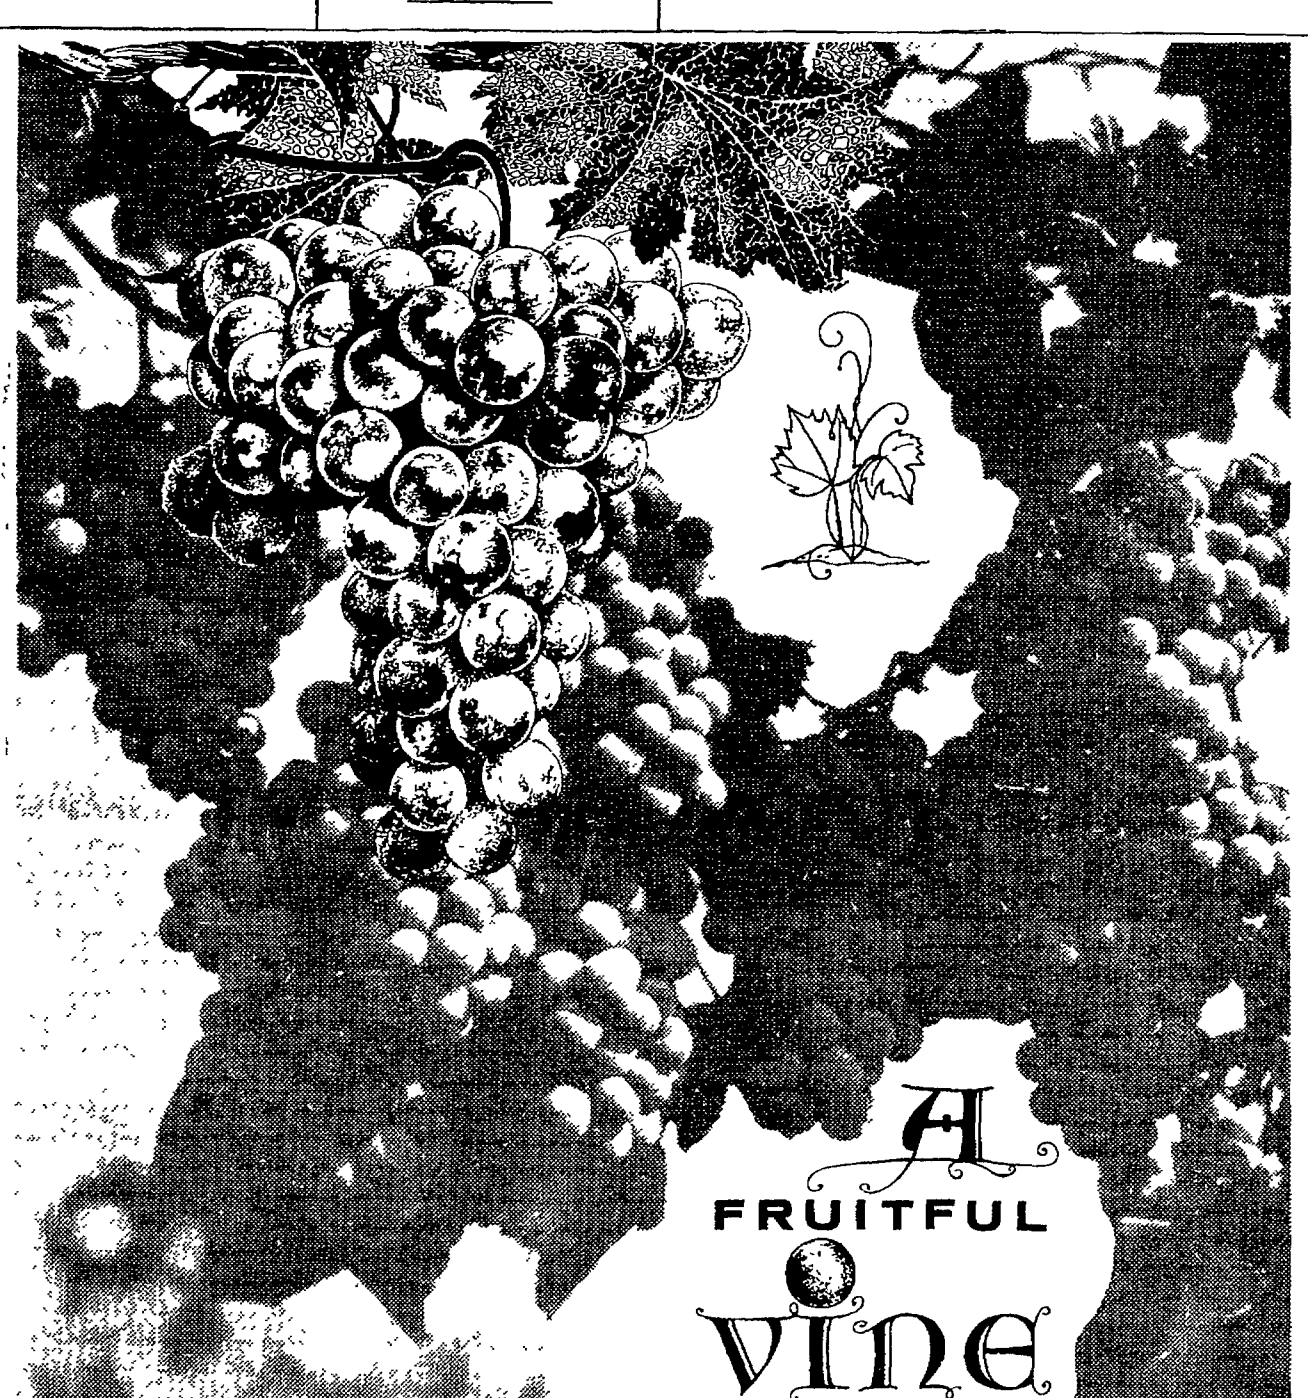

The Christian Church is people who, out of their own concern for their "own" spiritual condition — now and for eternity, —accept God's gifts of forgiveness, newness of life through Jesus Christ and the power of the Holy Spirit for Christian living;

—enter into relationship with others in what is known as the Christian Church (fellowship, place, building) continuing seeking to grow in understanding, enrichment and empowering in their lives through worship, education, fellowship and service; ("Church-going" becomes not a chore, not a subject of debate, not a symbol of spiritual-social status but an experience consistently anticipated, regularly participated in and regretfully missed!)

—share God's compassionate concern for the spiritual well-being of others — especially those not in at-one-ment with God and, therefore, eternally lost, including those possibly within their own families and —exercise themselves in seeking to participate in God's "reaching out for the lost" by striving to bring their own family, friends and neighbors into contact with Christian understanding, inspiration, fellowship and service nurtured and expressed in and through the Christian Church — to the end that, in time, they will come into intelligent and right at-one-ment of relationship with God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Once this vine was just a seedling, struggling to survive. Now look at it! Each year it grows stronger and yields a greater harvest.

The Christian faith has grown and flourished like the vine. From the seeds of the early church, Christianity continues to spread its joyful message to people everywhere.

World-wide Communion Sunday is a day for Christians of every creed to meet in spirit at the Lord's Table. This annual event makes us deeply aware of our brotherhood within the Church whose truths we share.

Come and take part in this special service. Your prayers, and those of all Christians, will combine to strengthen the roots of God's vine throughout the world.

The growing use of ELECTRIC HEAT IN SCHOOL BUILDINGS has made a lot of people curious--- here are the FACTS

GROSSE ILE HIGH SCHOOL, in southwest Wayne County, another fine, new total electric school.

AKRON-FAIRGROVE HIGH SCHOOL, Tuscola County, will be as modern as tomorrow—a total electric school.

Before we even begin to talk about the superiority of electric heat, let's look an old bugaboo straight in the eye... it costs too much.

It simply isn't so!

Something can only cost too much in comparison with something similar. In this case, it's the operating cost of an electric heat system vs. the operating cost of some other kind of heating system.

Operating Cost Is More Than Just Fuel Cost

Perhaps operating cost should really be thought of as cost of ownership. In this broader context, there are a number of building construction, building equipment, annual repair and maintenance and annual labor costs which are affected by choice of heating systems.

Among the building construction and equipment costs which are altered or eliminated, according to choice of heating system, are these:

Building Item Required	Electric Heat	Fuel Fired System
Boiler room	No	Yes
Smokestack	No	Yes
Fuel storage	No	Usually
Steam or hot water piping	No	Yes
Pipe trenches	No	Yes
Boiler and controls	No	Yes
Boiler water pump(s)	No	Yes
Boiler water treating system	No	Yes

To keep this set of comparisons absolutely fair, the insulation of an electrically heated school must be better than the applications which are now acceptable in most school buildings.

It would pay to have topnotch insulation in EVERY school—pay off in heating economy and in student-teacher comfort, both winter and summer. But since it is not yet in widespread demand in all school plants, this may be an item of increased cost in an electrically heated building. The additional cost, however, when related to total construction cost, is insignificant.

Expansion Costs

In a constantly growing area like southeast Michigan, new school buildings invariably are increased in size—very often, more than once in their careers. Always a major item of cost when classrooms or other facilities are added is complete replacement of a too-small boiler or addition of boiler units.

Even when a foresighted school administration—anticipating building enlargement—installs an over-capacity boiler to begin with, school funds are tied up in the too big boiler and its auxiliary equipment. This non-productive use of money may be a burden for several years.

School building expansion, when the heating system's electric, is never a problem or an undue expense. All that's required is electrical distribution from the transformer to the newly added school plant—a normal cost of expansion which would apply regardless of type of heating system.

Annually Recurring Costs

There is another class of ownership costs which needs consideration when comparing electric heat to other types of heating systems for a school. These are the various expenses which recur, most of them on an annual basis.

Typical Recurrent Costs	Electric Heat	Fuel Fired System
Boiler maintenance	No	Yes
Boiler inspection fee	No	Yes
Boiler insurance	No	Yes
Boiler attendant(s)—labor	No	Yes
Ash disposal	No	Usually

Another recurrent cost which is sizable enough to help make the difference in heating systems is the amount of interest paid on the money which is borrowed to build a school.

An electrically heated school will be less costly to design and build because you are not buying a boiler with all its auxiliary equipment. No money goes for a boiler room, smokestack or a steam or hot water distribution system. So it follows—a less costly school, less money to borrow, less interest to pay on the borrowed money.

Electric Heat—Low Cost Comfort For Children And Teachers

The Superintendent of Schools of a school district in northern Ohio recently prepared a two-year comparative analysis* of heating operational costs for four of the schools under his supervision. It was a painstaking and detailed comparison, taking into account these major factors: fuel cost, heating labor cost, auxiliary fuel, auxiliary power, ash disposal, heating system maintenance.

Two of the schools have coal-fired boilers, one has a gas-fired boiler and one is completely heated electrically. Quoting from the report, "... the cost (for heating the electrically heated school) during the 1962-63 school year was 5¢ per square foot less than at the other three buildings... For the 1963-64 year, the savings was 12.9¢ per square foot."

In subsequent years, the savings should be closer to the 12.9¢ per square foot figure than to the 5¢ figure. This is a conclusion drawn from the following facts.

In 1962-63, the electrically heated school was a new structure. Some of the heating cost for it went to drying out concrete, masonry and plaster. This is an extraordinary expense not to be repeated.

Also, in February 1964, the utility serving the electrically heated school reduced its rate for electric power from 1.6¢ to 1.5¢ per kilowatt-hour.

And, finally, by 1963-64, the staff at the electrically heated school were better able to control electric power consumption.

One condition which helped establish the greater per-square-foot savings in 1963-64 may not always hold true. The weather during the '63-'64 heating season was slightly warmer than it was in '62-'63.

*Copies of this analysis will be made available to qualified inquirers on request.

Electrically Heated Schools In Southeast Michigan

1958 was the first year of record for electrically heated schools in the area which Detroit Edison serves. In that year, there were 26 classrooms completely heated in this modern way. Now, in early 1965, there are 12 total electric schools having 220 classrooms in the area.

In number of electrically heated classrooms, this is more than an eight-fold increase in seven years. Several more school and college buildings which will be all-electric, including heating, are now under construction within the area.

More For The Money

These are the features of electric heat which appealed most to the school administrators who wrote the analysis quoted above. Only slightly edited for brevity, this is essentially the language of that objective report.

Safety—Electric heat is highly automated. A minimum of human attention and judgment is all that's required in its operation. By so reducing the human element, a maximum of safety is achieved. Nor is electric heat complicated by auxiliary or satellite systems of any kind.

Simplicity—The absence of complex mechanisms makes it easier for building custodians to concentrate on their prime function—keeping a building and its equipment clean. Boiler room attendants are not a requirement.

Dependability—Electric heat reduces the possibility of building freeze-ups; eliminates boiler breakdowns during unattended hours.

When there's a boiler failure, the whole school must close down. If an electric heating unit fails, only the one room involved need be closed.

Flexibility—Electric heating equipment can be used just in the room or rooms where heat is required, completely independent of and without affecting any other part of the heating system. On a cool but sunny autumn day, for example, the heat may be on in rooms on the shady side of a school, off in rooms on the sunny side of the building.

Unscheduled, off-hours use of a school-room—even with the briefest advance notice—creates no heating problem. Electric heat reacts quickly and, again, there can be selective, one-room-only use.

Cleanliness—Since there is no combustion, electric heat does not create smoke, soot or ashes to add to cleaning chores.

Efficiency—With electric heat, there are no long, laborious heating up or cooling down cycles. The equipment is ready to furnish heat at the moment of need and there is no wasteful heat carryover when the equipment is shut down.

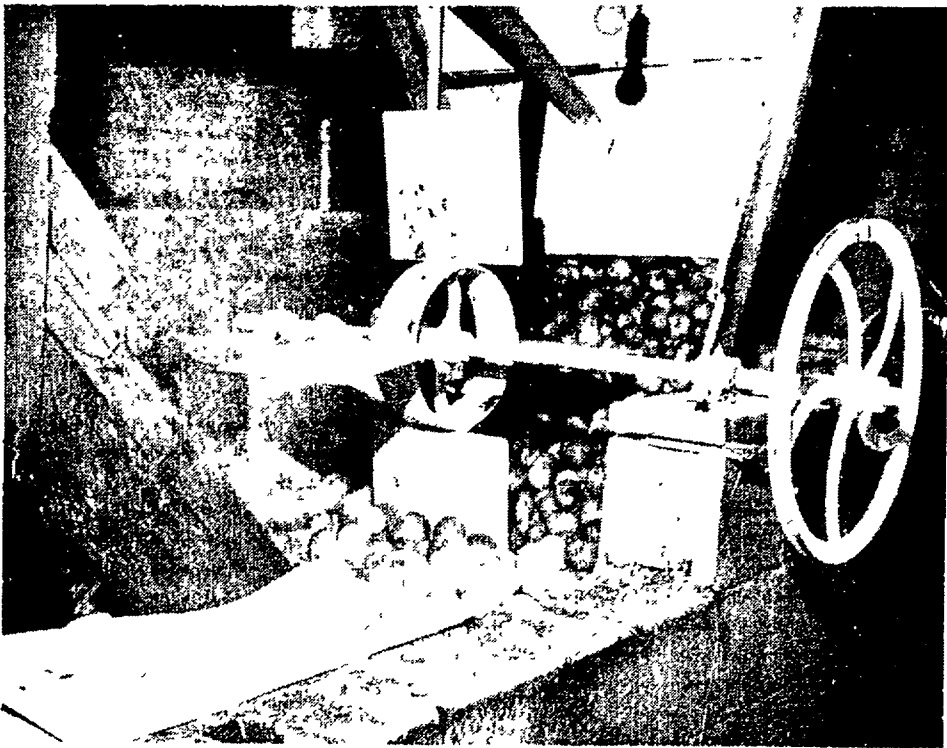

Warm weather benefits—With more efficient and effective building insulation, a school will be cooler and more comfortable in warm weather—a decided advantage to students and teachers.

Air conditioning is also simplified and made more economical since the electrical wiring installed for the heating system can also energize air conditioners.

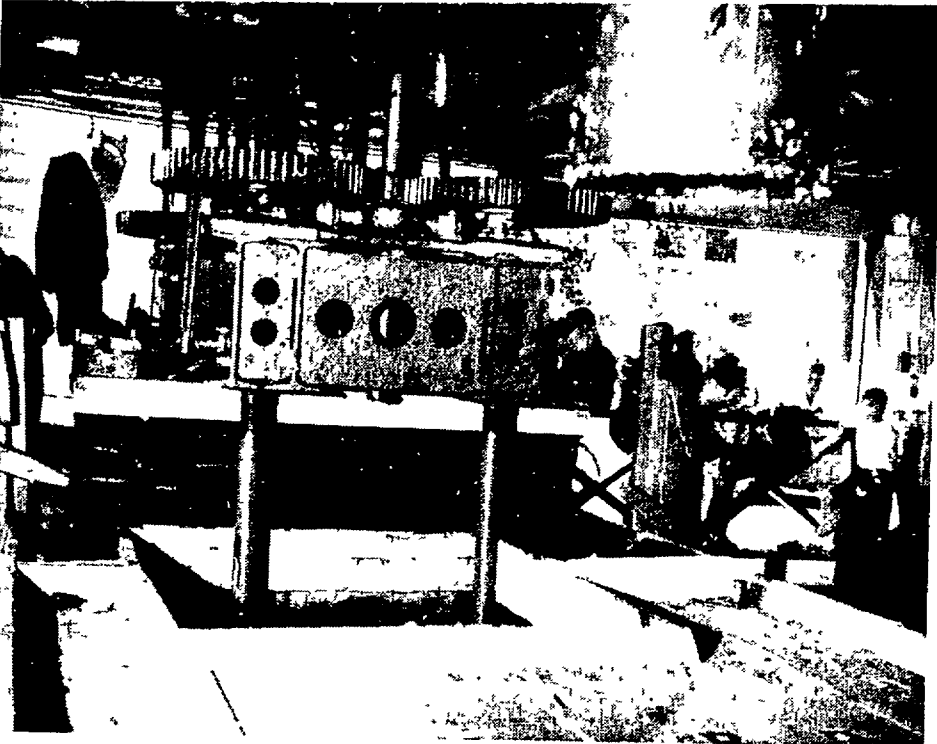

Through the taxes it pays, Detroit Edison is one of the largest supporters of schools in the state. In this role, we are as concerned and interested as you are in seeing that our educational system operates as efficiently and economically as possible. It is our sincere belief that electric heat, when evaluated with an objective and open mind, will show itself to have the economy and efficiency we all want in our schools.

EDISON CUTS ELECTRIC RATE FOR TOTAL ELECTRIC SCHOOLS

Detroit Edison has just voluntarily reduced the electric service charge to schools in its service area which are all electric, including the heating. School administrators, school board members, architects and consulting engineers are invited to inquire at any Edison office concerning the details of this downward rate adjustment.

THE BEGINNING AND THE END—Above, apples dumped from crates into a shoot outside by the younger Bob Parmenter are fed into an overhead grinder to be dumped into forms as shown on the cover of this section. Below, curious customers watch through the old barn door as the crushed apples are pressed to force out the cider.

Plan College Night for Juniors, Seniors

Northville high school juniors and seniors will have an opportunity Tuesday, October 5, to become acquainted with various colleges which they might choose for post high school education.

On that day, from 7 to 10 p.m. the 14th annual College Night program will be held at Farmington high school.

This program is sponsored each year by five area high schools as a means of both acquaintance and opportunity for the students and their parents to have pertinent questions answered. Parents are invited to attend also.

Participating high schools who will travel to the Farmington hosted session this year are Our Lady of Sorrows, Northville, Walled Lake, North Farmington and Farmington. Next year Northville will host the program.

Some 40 colleges and universities will have representatives in attendance at the program and will be available in individual rooms for consultation. This portion of the program will take place from 7 to 7:20 p.m. and from 8:55 to 9:15 p.m. At these times students and parents may visit rooms assigned to various colleges to have questions answered and obtain information.

In addition, three closed sessions of 40 minutes each will be held at 7:25, 8:10 and 9:20 p.m. During these sessions each college representative will discuss his institution and answer questions pertaining to that particular college.

During the first two closed sessions visitors may also choose to attend a panel discussion concerning four topics: (1) selecting a college and problems of applying; (2) entrance requirements and types of examinations; (3) financing a college education; (4) the value of summer study sessions as a means of preventing freshman mortality.

College representatives taking part in the panel will include

Oakland community college, University of Detroit, Western Michigan university, and Michigan State university.

According to Mrs. Violet Bradford, Northville high school counselor, the following institutions will be represented at College Night this year:

Adrian College, Albion College, Alma College, Central Michigan University, Cleary College, Detroit College of Business, Detroit Institute of Technology, Eastern Michigan University, Ferris State College, General Motors Institute, Grand Valley State College, Hillsdale College, Hope College, Kalamazoo College, Lawrence Institute of Technology,

MSU Med School in Future

LANSING — Finding a doctor in a nighttime emergency is difficult, at best, partly because of a shortage of men in this profession.

One attempt to relieve this situation will be made next year when Michigan State University enters the medical education field.

Starting with its first class in a new College of Human Medicine, the East Lansing institution hopes to provide fill-ins for students who drop out of full-course medical schools before the third year. Later, as the public need grows, it is likely MSU will provide its own four-year program.

Michigan is now served by medical schools at the University of Michigan and Wayne State University. The former is at capacity enrollment and Wayne officials have room for only a small number more with present staff and facilities.

Although there has been some opposition to MSU's effort to establish the first two years in medical training, officials have progressed with plans for more than three years.

The new college will utilize several existing departments at MSU, such as anatomy and physiology; and add a department of medicine to round out the course work necessary for preliminary medical education.

ORIGINAL plans were aimed at opening the new unit this year, but problems in staffing, building construction and funding pushed it back a year.

Most people in Michigan have been troubled to one degree or another in trying to secure medical care, so there is little disagreement about the need for more doctors.

The location of the training facility has been more of an argument.

Now however, MSU officials have completed arrangements with Sparrow Hospital in Lansing for cooperation in the various clinical training requirements.

While financing the new college may still pose some problems, the national medical school accrediting agency has given MSU enough assurance of recognition to enable university officials to seek available federal funds. They have already received indications of substantial amounts.

No one contends this two-year program will provide all the doctors needed, but there is little doubt that it can improve the basic shortage of fully trained men.

COMPUTERS are continuing to make changes in state government as well as private industry.

Several agencies now use various types of data processing equipment for keeping records, analyzing accounts, and other purposes.

Perhaps the biggest changes brought about by the electronic age to government operations has been in the area of personnel.

Civil service examination procedures were one of the first areas to be involved in computer use. Improvement of testing and correcting methods continues annually through new uses of the computer system.

The Civil Service Commission also has started using its computer for analysis of salary rates in its annual survey of industry-public agency wages. Employee history records will be fully added to the computer system by the end of this fiscal year.

Eventually, Commission officials say, data processing will perform such functions as computing personnel pay increases, accrued sick and annual leave credits, and issuing service rating forms.

Use of the computer for scoring examinations has now reached the point where applicants are notified of their ranking in the test group.

Previously they were told only whether they passed or failed and the passing level.

State Personnel Director Franklin K. DeWald said notification of the passing position location assists the applicant in determining his chances for getting a post. He can then be more definite in notifying the commission whether he is available for a given job.

Latin Needy

BABSON PARK, Mass., — Now that peace of a sort has come to the sorely troubled Dominican Republic, our attention is focused more closely upon Asia and the subcontinent of India. Yet the United States can no more disengage itself from Latin America than from Asia or Europe. Our stake in the nations to the south of us is high and our commitment there is forever.

No one who has visited Latin America with open eyes could fail to be deeply affected by the contrasts encountered. The great cities rival our own in their fine buildings, their variety of enterprise and commerce, and their prosperity. Yet, hand in hand with these evidences of power and wealth, one sees grinding poverty as distressing and dehumanizing as any experienced in Asia or Africa.

Although rich in potential resources, the countries of Latin America are for the most part poor. This is the result of deficiencies in government, technological development, and agricultural knowhow. And these deficiencies stem from deep-rooted injustices and inequities as well as from educational limitations. Governments are at best unstable, frequently incompetent, and sometimes downright corrupt. Currencies are not readily convertible between the various Latin nations; their bonds are not easily salable in world markets; and credit is generally poor. Economic and social problems are aggravated by haphazard official restrictions, which vary widely from country to country but which are similar in their harassment of business.

Of course, social and economic reform is recognized as the long-term solution to Latin American ills. But the obstacles are many ... ranging from dictatorial governments which generally tend to be inept rather than evil, through wealthy landowners, to peasant leaders whose extreme nationalism too often defeats their worthy goals. The U.S. must make Latins more fully aware of the need to halt the deterioration of order in their countries, but we must walk warily and persuade rather than dictate. For Latin American distrust of democracy, and of the great colossus to the north, is strong.

The Communists have gained friends, and influence, and prestige in Latin America because — with admirable singleness of purpose — they have planned it that way. They have succeeded because they have worked diligently to acquire a rapport with the masses; but mostly because their agents are better equipped than we to sell the people a bill of goods. Most of the popular nationalist movements in Latin America are not Communist, or even Communist-inspired. But they are easily infiltrated by Red agents who subvert them for their own ends.

We are losing ground against the Communist conspiracy in Latin America and we are losing ground against the competition of other nations for the markets of Latin America. Our lack of real success — despite hard work and the expenditure of large sums of money — can be laid directly to the language barrier.

Only a handful of top U.S. diplomats in Latin America are really expert in the Spanish or the Portuguese language. Many of the men sent by U.S. companies that have large investments there have only the barest smattering of the languages in which they must do business.

Yet, no matter how frustrating our attempts may have been to keep Latin America from Communist enslavement, we cannot abandon our neighbors. To do so would be to invite our enemies to prepare, in safety, for our eventual burial. For if we cannot win friends and influence people in Latin America, our status as a world power is ultimately doomed — and with it our advanced standard of living.

The over-all need in Latin America is for continental economic integration. A healthy, vigorous Latin American common market must one day be forged. If the U.S. does not provide the needed capital and credit for such a venture, some other power will ... and our hopes for Western Hemisphere unity will be dashed.

Court Proceedings

A Detroit man who has been the subject of a Novi police search for six months in connection with passing a bad check was finally brought to justice Wednesday, September 22.

He was taken in tow that day on a drunk driving charge, convicted the next day on the check violation, and apparently will be charged on another Novi traffic violation upon completion of a five day jail sentence.

Robert Gerald Smith, 27, Detroit, was sentenced to five days in jail and $100 in fine and costs Wednesday for driving under the influence of liquor. He pleaded guilty before Justice Emery Jacques.

Thursday a guilty plea was entered in his behalf on the "not sufficient funds" check charge and he was fined $12.70 and ordered to pay restitution.

Novi officers await his release from jail to place a traffic violation charge before a local justice of the peace. The violation dates back to 1963.

Novi policeman Richard Faulkner, apprehended Smith September 22 as a result of a citizens' summons in regard to Smith's being drunken and disorderly.

When Faulkner arrived at the scene Smith was standing beside his car, but while the patrolman questioned the citizen Smith drove his car away at speeds up to 85 miles per hour. He was again located at an expressway rest area and placed under arrest.

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO

A proposal calling for a two-year program to plant some 450 trees in the city won council support Monday night.

As the Detroit newspaper strike heads into its 76th day, publishers of the two dailies and representatives of the pressmen and plate and paper handlers' unions are still at an impasse. The Record is continuing its weekly "News Round-Up."

A robber snared $8,240 from the Northville office of Detroit Federal Savings and Loan Tuesday, the second robbery in two months. The robber said, "I am sorry I have to do this."

First half miscues tripped the Northville Mustangs in their traditional season opener Friday night as Plymouth held on for a 19-12 triumph.

Despite dampness and drizzle Northville merchants carried out their sidewalk sale Saturday, and with surprising success. Most merchants reported brisk sales.

Novi's justice courts will evaporate in five years — or even sooner. According to the newly adopted state constitution, justice of the peace courts must be abolished by January 1, 1969.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

The Northville Recreation Committee is offering typing and leathercraft classes for children and adults.

The patients at the Maybury Sanatorium were complimented recently by being recipients of a sunshine card shower sponsored by the Don McNeil Breakfast Club, a radio program which is broadcast daily.

For the first time in their history, the Michigan State Police have opened up enlistments to married as well as single men. Northville men between the ages of 21 and 30, in good physical health and with a good character may enlist.

Fall fashion news says that the "little boy" look we had last year has grown up into the "gentleman" look. The new 1950 fall silhouette has been described as "narrow as an arrow." Fabrics may be the old favorite gabardine or the new grey flannel or worsted tweed. Stand-up collars will be big this year too.

TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO

Ben Hendin of the Hendin Shoe Store is preparing to ship the used shoes collected by the village for war refugees in Europe.

A Scottish girl, Margaret Wootton, has enrolled at Northville high school. She came to Northville in order to get away from war-torn Europe.

Plans are under way for a winter recreation program in the village. The program will be given a trial as soon as the facilities have been obtained.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

"Don't ask me why, that's just our policy".

Phrases like this, often seen hanging in business places as self-jibes, are humorous because they strike so close to the truth.

There should have been one of these signs hanging in the board of education offices Monday night.

Northville's city council and board of education were meeting in joint session. No one seemed quite sure who should take the lead so someone from the school board asked Mayor Allen what was on his mind.

"Well, we were wondering about the new school building on Eight Mile road", Mayor Allen told the board members in his off-the-cuff, matter-of-fact manner.

What the city was wondering, said the mayor, was whether or not the school board expected utilities from the city ... water and sewer, that is.

Now you have to appreciate all the associated problems to fully realize why the city should be more than casually interested. On Eight Mile road at the city limits there's a large residential and apartment complex project planned by Thompson-Brown, which will probably begin developing next year.

And on the city's side of Eight Mile (the north side) there's Northville Estates, which some day must be served with water and sewer. And all the raw acreage in between the Thompson-Brown project and Taft road and the Northville Estates near Beck road will be certain to develop soon -- especially with a new school right across the road and water and sewer lines running along its frontage.

So the question naturally arises in city minds, if the school expects city utilities what kind of planning must be done? What size must these utility lines be to serve this area? And what, exactly, will be the area?

Without question, the board would welcome water and sewer service from the city. This has become a problem of more than casual concern to school architects.

But there's another problem. The proposed new elementary school lies on the south side of Eight Mile road -- in Northville township.

In an approach that reminded me of the proverbial bull in the china closet the city pointed out that if utilities are to be extended to the school the site would have to be annexed to the city. And while on the subject, the mayor even suggested that the school board might want to ask residents living between Main street and Eight Mile road from the city limits to Beck if they'd like to join in the rush to the city.

It later developed that the city isn't in the position to extend sewer to the school site in time to meet the September, 1966 opening schedule, anyway. And down near Beck and Main street -- southwest of the school site, there's an arm of the interceptor sewer in the township which can be connected to by the school. So the sewer hurdle appears to be cleared, though at considerable expense. But water still remains a problem.

Wells can be drilled, but service from the city would be preferable.

Now we get back to the "policy" bit.

The city doesn't sell water outside its corporate limits, except to a handful of township residents along the western border. This was done many years ago, more by accident than design, and the ancient, inadequate lines provide less than satisfactory service.

Northville's policy is now firm: no utilities outside the city. This despite the fact that water consultants have advised outside sale of water and 75 per cent of the cities in the state do conduct their water systems as utilities seeking outside customers.

Rates to outside customers are either 1 1/2 or twice the prevailing rates, to city customers.

Personally, I believe the area west of the city and south of Eight Mile road will one day become a part of the city. It's certain to boom with development soon after the school is completed. And then full utility service will be demanded. In the meantime, however, it would seem that the time has come for the city to examine the "whys" behind its policy. In the case of water (not sewer), I would consider extending this service where practical in the community.

This would appear to be especially true when the customer is a school building in a district where the city represents one-half the total tax base.

Extending water to township residents, willing to pay higher rates for good service, could very possibly provide an "engagement" period that would later lead to blissful marriage.

Isn't that better than a shotgun wedding?

Readers Speak Town Hall Grateful

To the Editor:

My sincere thanks to the officers, advisory board and members of the Northville Town Hall committee for making the magic words "All Sold Out" for the 1965-66 season possible.

This community is to be congratulated and should be very proud that such an outstanding cultural project is so successful.

We are grateful to the Northville Record staff and William Sliger, publisher, for the cooperation and help we always receive. The merchants and business people of Northville and neighboring communities have been most generous in their contributions to our program book. This enables us to continue the financial awards to the many charitable organizations requesting assistance.

The joy of working for an organization that requires so many volunteers, sustaining members and patrons, is that it is open to everyone to participate.

Our Lady's League of Our Lady of Victory Church continues to sponsor Northville Town Hall Series and we thank the league and Father John Wittstock for their loyal support.

The League maintains a policy that enables an area-wide volunteer group of women to operate Northville Town Hall independently and thus it is a community project. The Town Hall Committee is guided by its own Constitution and officers and anyone in the area so desiring may become an active member. At the present time there are more than fifty women on the General Committee and many more who will serve as hostesses and ushers. In the five years of Town Hall, several hundred women have volunteered their services and are responsible in great measure for its success.

The Board of Awards is an impartial committee appointed to select deserving recipients of the funds derived from the profits. We express our appreciation to Mrs. Leonard Stidwell of Farmington, Mrs. Margaret R. Hough of Plymouth, Mrs. W. E. Parks of Livonia, Mrs. William S. Milne, Mrs. Harry F. Wagenschutz and Herman Moehliman of Northville who have served since the first year of Town Hall.

To all of you who have supported Town Hall -- We have set the highest standards for our programs and will continue to make this our goal. Your acceptance and approval is the cherished reward for our efforts and we thank you.

On a personal note, as a chairman of any group knows, she could not do without the kindness and patience of her family and especially that help from her husband as he listens ... and listens ... and listens...

Sincerely,
Phyllis Slattery (Mrs. Wm.)
