

UF Torch Drive Opens Here Tuesday

$2,200 Goal Set for Area

One-hundred and twenty Northville area women plan to knock at every city and township door beginning next Tuesday to raise $2,213 for the United Foundation's Torch Drive.

The annual "give once for all" residential campaign is headed by Mrs. Arthur Hempe and her four area chairmen, Mrs. Daniel Boland, Mrs. Herbert Frogner, Mrs. Orin Hove and Mrs. David Vincent.

Mrs. Hempe said she expects every woman to start collections on kick-off day, October 12. The drive continues until November 4.

The United Foundation Torch Drive supports some 204 private health and community services. The United giving idea began in Detroit in 1949 and has spread to most metropolitan communities.

The United Foundation points to the success of its efforts by noting that each of the 204 agencies helped receives more money than it ever did before the Torch Drive.

The cost of conducting the annual campaign and maintaining a year-round staff has consistently been kept below five per cent of the amount raised.

And the Torch Drive dollars to benefit each individual community in accordance with their needs.

During the past year, UF officials note, the city and township of Northville have received the following services: child care: 11 children; family service: 66 families; health services: 54 patients; group work, recreation: 727 members; and other services, 8 clients.

Northville volunteers for the campaign held a special orientation meeting last week to prepare for the door-to-door drive.

Mrs. Hempe is optimistic that the $2,213 goal can be topped.

That's what was collected last year.

Northville's total contribution goal is $3,359, counting business solicitation.

Included in the agencies aided by the Torch Drive are the American Red Cross, Salvation Army, Michigan Heart Association, Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation, Leader Dogs for the Blind and the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

2 Apartment Projects Ready to Break Ground

One apartment project bit the dust, while two others announced full-speed-ahead plans this week in Northville.

The city council denied a request Monday night for rezoning of property at 623 Randolph by James Cutler and Earle McIntosh to permit construction of an eight-unit apartment building.

Meanwhile, an $8 million complex of 450-500 luxury units on Northville road in the township and a $300,000 32-unit apartment building on Fairbrook in the city were scheduled to get underway as soon as possible.

The township project will start with a community building and a six-unit apartment building. It is located on a 47-acre site in the parkway area south of Seven Mile road. Building permits have already been issued for the units to be used as sale models. The project is being developed by the Bert L. Smolker company.

Township Supervisor R. D.

Merriam revealed this week that negotiations had been completed to extend a water service from the new Detroit water line on Sheldon road to the site.

Building permits have also been issued in the city for the Fairbrook apartment building. It will be located on a three-acre parcel on the south side of Fairbrook just west of Rogers.

Developers of the single-building, 32-unit project are Dr. Paul Fackler and Paul Johnson, builder.

Johnson said he hoped to break ground within two or three weeks and complete the building by May. He said the two-story, colonial-style building would include 11 two-bedroom and 21 one-bedroom apartments. The apartments will rent for $125 to $160 per month, Johnson stated.

The Cutler-McIntosh hopes for a smaller apartment building on Randolph. They were dashed by unanimous opposition by residents of the neighborhood.

Cutler told the council and an audience of about 35 people that he believed the apartment building would upgrade, not harm the neighborhood. He pointed out that existing R-2 zoning would permit construction of two duplex apartments on the site.

Mrs. Paul Steemcken, 562 Randolph, acted as spokesman for the residents. She said they considered the request as "spot zoning" and pointed out that the neighboring homes were all occupied by owners and that opposition to the apartment was unanimous. At the request of the council about 30 neighbors stood to demonstrate their opposition.

Councilman John Canterbury supported the residents and said "there should be strong evidence of need" for such a project before rezoning against the wishes of the people.

In addition to the two apartment projects noted above, the Thompson - Brown company has announced plans for a development of apartments and homes at Taft and Eight Mile road.

Cutler made the council's job easier by offering to withdraw his request. "We have no desire to create animosity," said Cutler. "If the residents think we're downgrading the neighborhood, we withdraw our request," he stated. He noted that "two simulated brick duplexes" could be constructed without rezoning.

When Mayor A. M. Allen suggested that the residents might wish to consider a meeting with Cutler and McIntosh for a possible compromise, the audience reacted negatively. The council then voted unanimously to deny the rezoning.

And Tuesday In Township

Like their city brothers, township board members had trouble agreeing, too, as they met in regular session Tuesday night.

Most of the controversy centered around appointments and pay increases. As in the past, the board was divided 3-2 with Supervisor R. D. Merriam, Clerk Marguerite Young and Treasurer Alex Lawrence on one side and Trustees James Tellam and Wilson Tyler on the other.

First Tellam and Tyler took a dim view of the proposed appointment of Treasurer Lawrence as manager of the township's water and sewer department. Supervisor Merriam called upon William MacDermald, chairman of the water and sewer commission, to introduce the idea.

MacDermald pointed out that the township water and sewer system was rapidly expanding and needed someone in charge to take responsibility when problems arise. "A department is necessary and Alex is familiar with the job and he's here," MacDermald stated.

No salary was indicated, but Supervisor Merriam referred to it as a "$75 to $80 per month part time job". He said that the township attorney had given an opinion that it was legal for the treasurer to hold a second job as long as no conflict existed. Action was postponed when Tellam asked for an outline of the responsibilities of the job. He suggested that Lawrence

Conflicts Flare in City Monday...

It was a week for skirmishes at governing-body tables. The city council had its problems Monday night and the township on Tuesday night (see story below).

The major city conflict erupted over office help in the police department.

And City Manager Roger Rehberg found his patience tested by the council as it delayed action on several of his recommendations.

The big increase in driver license applications in the police department under the new state procedure can be blamed for part of the office help problems. A report submitted by Police Chief Eugene King revealed that 416 licenses were written in September, 1965, compared to 160 in the same month last year.

Mayor A. M. Allen pointed out to the council that dispatchers working a 48-hour week with the same clerical classification and pay as 40-hour week employees. He recommended reducing their week to 40 hours, setting hours for licenses and hiring a part-time office girl for this duty.

Councilman John Canterbury expressed surprise at the new regulations stating that the local licensing office must accommodate residents from neighboring communities not having licensing stations. More than 100 of September's licenses were issued to Plymouth residents.

While Councilman Canterbury conceded that part-time help should be acquired for days, he questioned reducing work hours or adding help at night.

"What happened to the cadets we were supposed to have working nights who could help with the clerical work?" he asked. He added that it was his opinion that night clerks had a difficult time finding enough work to stay awake. Chief King struck out at this remark.

"I won't permit anyone to say that my clerks sleep on the job," King said to Canterbury. The councilman said he hadn't made such a remark. Chief King said there was "enough work left over from the day shifts to keep night clerks busy" and added that he had worked the night shift frequently and found plenty to do.

Manager Rehberg called the personnel problem "acute", urging the council to consider the 40-hour schedule.

Recognition Night Set

October 28 has been set as the night for the city of Northville's annual recognition dinner for employees and volunteers.

Chairman Del Black, a city councilman, announced that Municipal Judge Charles McDonald will serve as master of ceremonies. It is expected that one of the candidates for the Wayne county circuit court will be the speaker of the evening, Black stated.

The event will be held at the First Presbyterian church fellowship hall at 7 p.m.

Instead the council decided to hire temporary, part-time help for days and mark time until January when the licensing procedure might be changed.

Manager Rehberg was obviously unhappy with the decision.

And he found little solace in the council's reaction to his proposal that snow-removal be awarded to Robert Cole for an annual bid of $6,900. He said Cole's bid was competitive, that it could be obtained for a three-year period, but that the council did have the right to terminate the agreement in one year.

Rehberg pointed out that Cole had to purchase another tractor and that time was becoming important. The council was not ready to waive competitive bids and decided to hold over action on the proposal.

And like a final blow, the council decided to support the mayor instead of a recommendation by the city manager and engineer in granting an alley easement behind homes in Oakwood subdivision. The mayor asked for 16-feet, while the manager and city engineer said a 12-foot easement would be adequate, thus permitting residents to use the additional four feet for building area.

LIGHTING THE TORCH—Headliners at the kick-off luncheon Monday of the 1965 Northville area United Fund Torch Drive were Northville Mayor A. M. Allen, United Fund Speaker Mrs. Barbara Bening, Division Chairman Mrs. Arthur Hempe and State Representative Marvin R. Stempien. About 120 volunteers have joined the "Give Once for All" crusade October 12 - November 4.

Methodists to Build, But Site Uncertain

There's a building program in the future of Northville's First Methodist church.

Whether the building is a brand new facility on another site or an addition to the existing 109 West Dunlap building remains to be determined.

But the congregation is now making plans for a financial fund crusade to be held Sunday afternoon and evening, October 31, and Monday and Tuesday evenings, November 1 and 2.

Sunday, October 17 the congregation will hear results of an architectural study of the church's present properties and the architect's findings as to the preferable course to follow.

A study and planning commission in the parish has been underway for several years and three of their recommendations have been approved by the official board. They are:

--Select and acquire a site of approximately five acres as near to the present site as possible;

--Appoint a building committee representative of the various areas of the church to plan and coordinate specific needs and to select and engage an architect;

--Start a fund drive for new educational facilities.

William P. Lindhout has been retained as an architect.

When an available site is found and sketches made of a proposed building, it has been indicated that the members of the congregation will be called for a meeting of approval or rejection of the plans and site.

Prior to purchase of a site, it must also have approval of the Ann Arbor district building committee of the church. The official board and quarterly conference have voted in favor of building on a new site.

At the close of the 11 a.m. services Sunday official board members of the church will meet to set a minimum goal in cash and pledges over a 156-week period.

The local fund crusade will be directed by the Reverend Dwight Woolworth of the department of finance and field service of the section of church extension of the Board of National Missions.

Charles Skene is general chairman of the crusade, while Eugene Quay is chairman of the building committee.

Assisting Quay on the building committee will be Russell Amerman, Wilfred Becker, Mrs. Douglas Bolton, Mrs. William Canfield, Ralph Gallagher, Andrew Orphan, C. Oscar Hammond, the Reverend S. D. Kinde, Dr. E. J. McClendon, Claude Morgan, Harold Penn and Harold Marks.

START POLICE STUDY—A committee appointed by the Northville township board to study present and future needs for police protection and recommend possible solutions held its organizational meeting last week. Seated at the center of the group is Township Trustee James Tellam, who proposed the study. Members of the committee are (l-r): Eugene Guido, who was elected chairman; Mrs. Carl Wilson, Hugh McKay (right of Tellam), F. W. Hembrey (standing) and Richard Endress. H. O. Evans and E. O. Weber were not present when the picture was taken. The group will hold its first study session October 18 and make its first progress report to the township board in January.

In Our Town

By Jean Day

TEA AND COFFEE are being dispensed in liberal quantities in our town these autumn days. "Come for coffee" emerges at the most oft-issued invitation as hostesses introduce new neighbors, assemble committees or just get-together. The coffees can be as elaborate as some luncheons (one hostess serves tiny bacon wrapped sausages) or "second breakfasts" with orange juice and sweet rolls.

Mrs. Charles Hook invited friends and neighbors to her Woodhill road home Monday morning to meet a new neighbor, Mrs. John Pappin, who moved next door last month from Livonia. To facilitate introductions the practical hostess gave each guest a "leaf" name tag adorned with straw flowers.

"TO AVOID THE CHRISTMAS RUSH" was the reason given by Mrs. William Wiley and Mrs. Gordon R. Forrer for the September coffee they co-hosted at the Forrer home on West Main street. Seriously, Mrs. Forrer said the coffee primarily was a get-together of friends who hadn't seen each other frequently during the past summer.

Christmastime always, as Mrs. Forrer suggested, brings the "coffee season" to a peak. Incidentally, this popularity of the coffee seems to be a regional thing; Grosse Pointe friends report it hasn't yet caught favor on the east side.

"LIKE AN AFTERGLOW" was the coffee given Tuesday morning by Mrs. John Stuyvenberg, Jr., at her Shadbrook home. Most of the guests were Northville Woman's Club members who modeled in the club's luncheon fashion show opening the season last Friday at Meadowbrook Country Club. Conversation revealed that the drawback to the charming yesteryear fashions was lack of zippers - it takes nimble fingers to fasten rows of tiny buttons fast. The models also confessed a love for the opulent furs they donned.

An early-in-the-season coffee the first day of school last month actually finalized plans for the Woman's Club opening meeting. Mrs. William Crump, club president, invited members involved in the opening meeting to plan details over coffee cups.

THE BIG TEA of this autumn season is the bi-annual membership tea to be given by the Northville State Hospital auxiliary from 2 to 4 p.m. next Wednesday in the Shadbrook home of Mrs. George Schueder at 45926 Pickford.

Because the Respondez S'il Vous Plaits are not all received yet, auxiliary president Mrs. Robert Lang and Mrs. Schueder are not certain whether there will be 100 or 300 guests. Judging by the demand for invitations, however, the tea will be as popular as the first two years ago. Ways and means chairman Mrs. Herbert Weston made a hurry call to the printer for additional invitations as the first 150 were exhausted almost immediately (auxiliary members were given them to invite guests).

Above all, Mrs. Schueder is hoping for an Indian Summer day Wednesday as guests turn down Edenderry or Valencia roads to Pickford road. The Schueders' cape cod-type Early American home is marked by a low white fence leading to the entrance. Weather cooperating, tea guests will be able to view the brilliant autumn foliage in the ravine below from the spacious patio at the rear of the home.

Certain to be admired, also are the espaliered pear trees climbing brick walls near beds of still-flowering plants, indoors "Bobi" Schueder has blended antiques and reproductions in an Early American decor, using moss greens and golds. An unusual accessory is the massive ox yoke over the family room fireplace mantel.

Court Reports

Cases involving 11 escapees from Detroit House of Correction, Plymouth, dominated Judge Charles McDonald's docket in Northville municipal court this week. The escapees had taken place individually on various dates during the last 20 months.

Most serious was the charge of escape from prison levied against Anwar Khan, who stood mute when arraigned September 20. His court-appointed attorney, Richard J. Padziesky, Dearborn, waived examination for his client who was bound over to circuit court. In lieu of bond the defendant was committed to Wayne county jail.

Charged with escape from DeHoCo a misdemeanor, were Jon C. Phillips, Wayne C. Trosper, William Rigstad, Billy E. Hall, William Robert VanDiver, Joseph F. Van Dusen, Donald Fendrick, Emil J. Regula, Ronald J. Danilow, Michael Galloway. All listed Detroit addresses except Hall, of Taylor, and Van Dusen, of San Francisco. All have been returned to DeHoCo with extensions from five to 30 days on their sentences.

In other cases Monday a complaint against Robert Hensen, 496 West Cady, apartment 1, of assault and battery brought by Angela Watson, 496 West Cady, apartment 2, was dismissed with $25 costs assessed as a condition of dismissal.

Gerald D. Byrd, 9632 Terry, Plymouth, was arraigned Monday on state police charges of failing to stop in the assured clear distance ahead at Northville road and Hines drive September 19. He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $15 and $5 costs.

James Banks, 3466 Berwick, Detroit, was arraigned on the charge of simple larceny from Northville Drug store, 134 E. Main street, on September 23 on complaint signed by Charles Lapham, 811 Horton, September 27. He was arraigned Monday and pleaded guilty. He was fined $75 and $5 costs, or 10 days. He paid the fine.

Erland F. LaDuke, 3877 Leland, Detroit, was arraigned Saturday on complaint of the Northville police department. He was charged with drunk and disorderly conduct at Marathon gas station, 480 East Seven Mile road on October 2. He entered a plea of guilty and was fined $75 or 10 days. He was committed to Detroit House of Correction.

Seven Vie For Two Police Jobs

Oral board examinations were given at the Northville police department Tuesday to seven applicants for patrolmen who were among the nine applicants who previously had taken written examinations.

They were interviewed by Sergeant Adolph Ploehm of the Michigan State Police and Kenneth Fisher, Plymouth director of public safety.

The city will be able to hire two additional patrolmen, whose starting salaries of $5,642, he said compare with other departments in the area.

JUSTICE COURT

Novi, with its wide open spaces and village type of government is getting ready for the advent of hunting season again, and all the perils that go with it.

One would-be hunter found out in justice court recently that disobedience of the firearms ordinance does not pay, however.

Steven Michael Dulac, 20, Detroit, was apprehended unlawfully discharging a firearm (12-gauge shotgun) on Ten Mile road between Taft and Beck roads by Novi police and fined $25 by Justice Robert K. Anderson. He pleaded guilty at arraignment September 23.

A guilty plea was entered also by Alfred Stone, 52, 2965 Grouse, Wixom, to a charge of driving under the influence of liquor heard at arraignment that day. He was sentenced to $55 fine.

Failure to report a property damage accident got James Thomas Griffin, Detroit, a $25 fine in sentencing after pleading guilty. He had hit a tree.

Robert Gerald Smith, 27, Utica, paid $31 in fine and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of defective equipment.

A defective motorcycle (exhaust noise) charge netted Horace Wilton Bell, 27, Livonia, a $25 fine when he pleaded guilty.

John Julius Gervast, 18, Warren pleaded guilty September 28 to being a disorderly person at Club A-Go-Go and paid a $25 fine.

Township Meeting

year when the question of pay hikes for board officials came up earlier this year.

Lawrence said he had time and noted that the job called for "an industrial engineer, which I happen to be and with a good deal of experience".

Tyler objected to "inbreeding commissions with a lot of the same people". Supervisor Merriam said this was necessary because it is difficult to find qualified, part time help. He added that "half my time is now spent on sewer and water problems".

While the appointment of a water department manager was delayed, increases for the building inspection department were approved by a 3-2 vote with Tellam and Tyler dissenting. The hike amounted to $250 per month divided by Building Inspector R. B. Willis and Glenn Salow, electrical inspector.

It was explained by the supervisor that Willis, who is near 80, would remain in the office as an estimator of building project costs, while Salow would make outside building inspections as well as electrical.

Willis is now paid $150 per month and receives another $150 in fees. It was proposed that Willis would be given $300 monthly and Salow given $100 per month salary as assistant to the building inspector in addition to fees.

Clerk Young pointed out that Salow would then be available every day instead of just Tuesdays and Thursdays. He would also continue to be electrical inspector for the city of Northville.

Neither Tellam or Tyler questioned the abilities and value of the inspectors, but said the raises were excessive.

Supervisor Merriam said he thought they were necessary "just to keep them here". He said the inspectors were underpaid now and pointed out that building was increasing rapidly in the township and had reached $1,092,000 in the last six months.

Finally, the supervisor requested a 25 cent per hour raise for the deputy clerk. Clerk Young noted that the position, now paid $2.25, had not had an increase in two years. She said the deputy was most valuable.

Tyler said he objected on the same basis as two years ago: that 25 cents was too large an increase and that the deputy clerk was being paid for lunch hour. Tyler then recalled that he had requested the formation of a policy procedure to guide the board in such actions but that it had never reappeared on the agenda.

Supervisor Merriam said he has been advised by Township Attorney Edward Draugelis not to formulate such a policy. He said the attorney reported "you can't do it". Tyler challenged the opinion and Attorney John Ashton, partner to Draugelis and representing him at the meeting, agreed that he knew of no legal reason not to draft a policy, but that it might not be practical or binding on future boards.

On the motion of Tellam the board approved a 10 cent per hour increase. Merriam opposed the raise on the basis it was too small. Tellam said it brought the salary to $2.75 per hour not counting lunch time. The board then agreed to review all salaries at budget preparation time annually.

In other business the board delayed taking action on 10 specific violations of township building ordinances in the Gerald avenue area. Supervisor Merriam reported that there were 12 trailers without proper sanitary facilities, two buses with residents, shacks below building code and illegal dumping operations. The board decided to huddle with their attorney on a course of action.

At the suggestion of Treasurer Lawrence the board voted to approve reconditioning of the township owned Beam fire truck at an estimated cost of $1,400 to be shared by the two governments.

Teachers Fete Dr. MacLeod

Dr. Kenneth MacLeod was feted at a farewell dinner held September 29 in the high school cafeteria. It was sponsored by the Northville Teachers' Club.

Approximately 90 attended the banquet, during which Dr. MacLeod was presented a pen and pencil set and an engraved wristwatch as tokens of appreciation for his eight years service in the Northville school system.

Highlight of the evening was the performance rendered by Allen Stewart, a professional dressed in kilt who played the bagpipes.

Also furnishing entertainment was the high school dance band, led by Director Robert Williams.

Farewell speeches were given by Superintendent Alex M. Nelson, Board President Wilfred Becker and E. V. Ellison, director of administrative services. Donald Brown, teachers' club president, was the master of ceremonies.

Dr. MacLeod resigned his position as assistant superintendent to take a new job as assistant professor of education at Adrian college. He officially vacated his post in the system September 1.

Mrs. Arlen To Speak On Antiques

"Antiques from the Midwest" is the topic of the talk to be given by Mrs. Robert D. Arlen at a guest night meeting of Mothers Club at 8 p.m. Monday at the home of Mrs. William C. Wiley, 41845 Eight Mile road.

Assisting Mrs. Wiley will be Mrs. A. L. Wistert, Mrs. Glenn E. Delbert and Mrs. Carl Stephens. Mrs. Arlen, who lives at 18905 Sheldon road, has exhibited her antiques in many area shows. She specializes in primitives.

Car Flips; Driver Safe

A 62-year-old Wixom man now has something to tell his grandchildren, even if it is good only as a warning of wet pavement driving dangers.

Calvin J. MacLenan, 26902 Sandy Lane, escaped injury but his car was demolished Thursday about 5:15 p.m. when it skidded out of control, tore through a guard rail and upended while traveling 60 miles per hour in the rail on I-96 expressway.

Wilson Tyler Promoted

Wilson Tyler of 19722 Meadowbrook road, Northville, has been promoted to vice president of Detroit Bank & Trust it was announced this week by Chairman Raymond T. Perring and President Charles H. Hewitt.

Tyler's appointment was one of 32 promotions made in 14 major departments by the bank's board of directors.

Tyler is manager of the public funds department of Detroit Bank & Trust.

Tyler is married and has three children and is a trustee on the Northville township board.

Local Lady Realtor Listed in Who's Who

In 41 years in the real estate business many honors have come to Mrs. Maude B. Billman, 19875 Marilyn. The one that came Monday, however, was a signal one: She is listed in the Fourth edition of Who's Who of American Women.

The listing covers some of the honors already accorded 79-year-old Mrs. Billman. These include a 25th anniversary honorary membership in the Michigan Real Estate Association; a 30-year honorary membership in the United Northwestern Real Estate association. She also has served on the women's council of the national realtors association and is a past director of Western Wayne county board of realtors.

Mrs. Billman (the firm is listed under her initials - M.B.) and her husband, Frank L. Billman (he's 81), still operate their real estate business at 33155 West Seven Mile road in Livonia. She has worked as a licensed broker since 1924.

Mrs. Billman was born in Williamsport, Pennsylvania, and is looking forward to her 80th birthday next August. She and her husband have been Northville residents for 14 years.

"I suspected I was being considered," Mrs. Billman confided happily, "as I was sent a questionnaire from 'Who's Who' back in 1963." She said she understands about 20 Michigan women received similar forms but she is the only one chosen, so far as she knows.

"I think it is because I have the longest record in the business," she guesses modestly, ignoring the listed honors.

This pert lady realtor started "Knowing nothing about the business" on a ruse set up by two friends who did. Her first sale almost got them into a lawsuit, but her native common sense used on the transaction made the prospective prosecuting lawyer throw back his head in laughter when he found he had no case. From that beginning she determined to "find out something" about the realty business. And she did. In Detroit and Livonia she operated alone with part-time help from her engineer husband until he retired in 1945 to join her full-time.

But a regular schedule of business was not enough for the lady in the twenties, who married and having only one child, found herself with more time on her hands than she had at age 10 when as the oldest daughter of a large family she was cooking and baking meals and keeping house.

This energy was soon directed to membership in the Western Wayne Board of Realtors, as "possibly the first woman member." A year later she was elected to the board of directors.

Then she was instrumental in combining the Western Wayne Board of Realtors and the United Northwestern Realty Association.

Later she inaugurated a yearly college scholarship program for the new organization.

FLATTERED, and what woman wouldn't be. Mrs. Maude B. Billman, realtor, is listed in Who's Who of American Women this year.

NHS Plans College Clinic

The program, designed to provide information for local juniors and seniors and their parents, will

College application procedures, required testing programs for college admission, available scholarships and other financial assistance, and what constitutes an average four year college program will be discussed.

Mustangs Roll Over Clarenceville, 19-0

How stingy can you get?
Clarenceville, like two previous opponents, found that out in a hurry last Friday night when the Northville Mustangs bottled up the Trojans, whitewashing them, 19-0.

Northville struck for a TD the first time it had its hands on the pigskin, adding two others in the third period to clinch the victory against a perennial weak sister in the Wayne-Oakland Conference.

Not until the final quarter, when things were pretty well decided, did the Trojans threaten to dunt the Northville defense, and then the Mustangs rose to the occasion.

After Clarenceville had driven 55 yards to the Mustang five yard line, Coach Ron Horwath's defenders tossed a mantle of iron over the Trojans to hold them to nary an inch in three plays.

A few moments later, Clarenceville resorted to the airways in an attempt to salvage something in a lost cause. But Northville wasn't giving anything away, least of all a face-saving touchdown.

Northville's Jim Zayti frustrated the Trojans' last effort by picking off a pass on the Northville 18 and ran it safely out to the Clarenceville 43.

But for these two outbursts, Northville didn't allow Clarenceville beyond the Northville 43, although the Mustangs did give them some running room on its side of the field. That's the first time this year it has happened.

Shades of the Detroit Lions. In their three outings, the local gridders have yielded only one touchdown, and in all fairness, that wasn't their doing. An interception by Clarkston accounted for that tally and gave Clarkston a 7-0 victory.

Despite the statistics, it's still too early for Coach Horwath to rejoice over his team's defensive heroics. The Mustangs have yet to bump into an opponent with an explosive attack.

But they won't have long to wait. Northville will journey to Holly to face its first real test, then in order, Northville will meet Bloomfield Hills and Milford on the local gridiron.

Holly and Bloomfield Hills, ensconced in first place with 2-0 marks in the league, both registered big wins last Friday, as did Milford.

Bloomfield blitzed Clarkston, 37-6, Holly slaughtered West Bloomfield, 27-7 and Milford blanked Brighton in a no-contest game, 34-0.

Those results leave Northville tied with Milford, which lost its only game to Holly, with 1-1 records. And to remain in contention, the Mustangs' defense will have to remain stingy as ever.

Clarenceville's sturdy Halfback Chris Hawkins, playing behind a forward wall that is scrappy but leaves something to be desired, still found enough holes in the Mustangs' defensive armor to squeeze out 78 yards in 16 tries.

While Hawkins may have picked a small chink in Northville's defense, its opponents will have to put on a good defensive show of their own to contain the Mustangs' offense — especially after last Friday's game.

For the first time this year it was Northville's ground game that made the difference between victory and defeat, sparked by Fullback Doug Swiss and Halfback Jim Zayti.

Displaying some of last year's poise, Swiss ran for 92 yards in 16 tries for a 5.7 average.

It was the performance of Zayti, however, that came as a surprise. He flashed promising form as he turned the corner on pitch outs for 49 yards, a six-yard average, and two TDs, and thanks to two penalties, he was robbed of two other gains of 10 and 14 yards.

Clarkston the week before, Northville's passing game clicked again as it did in the season opener against Plymouth. In that one Northville won, 45-0, as Quarterback Tom Baughman completed 19 passes for 293 yards, both school records.

Baughman kept the Trojan defense honest by firing 17 times, completing eight passes for 100 yards. Split End Jerry Inslund was the key target, picking off five aerials for a total of 60 yards.

Northville capitalized on a break early in the game. On its second play from scrimmage after receiving the opening kickoff, Clarenceville fumbled on its 45 and Inslund recovered.

Airways were Northville's prime route to the goal line as Baughman connected with Halfback Bob Bartski for 10, Inslund for five, and Halfback Mike Turnbull for 15 yards and the TD. Swiss bulled his way for 10 yards in three carries. Score: 6-0.

Effectively mixing passes and runs, Baughman engineered a 64-yard touchdown drive to open the second half. Zayti capped the drive by taking a pitch out on the 10 yard line, cutting inside end, and diving into the end zone.

In the march, Baughman found Inslund twice, for 19 and 10 yards, and Swiss ran three times for 10 yards. Bartski sliced off right tackle for the extra point and a 13-0 lead with just 3:39 gone in the third period.

It was Swiss who ignited the final scoring march of 55 yards after Northville had recovered a fumble on its own 45 later in the third quarter. He ripped straight ahead through Clarenceville's right side for 23 yards and a first down on Clarenceville's 32.

On the play, Swiss was injured, but Fullback Dave Boerger took his place and sandwiched runs of six and two yards around Zayti's dash for 11 yards.

Swiss hobbled off the bench to bull his way for 10 yards to the three, setting up the TD. Zayti took it in, duplicating his previous scoring jaunt by taking a pitch out and hurtling high into the end zone to wind up the scoring.

Player of Week? It's Zayti

This week's Player of the Week, Jim Zayti, is living proof that the two-way system in football is far from dead.

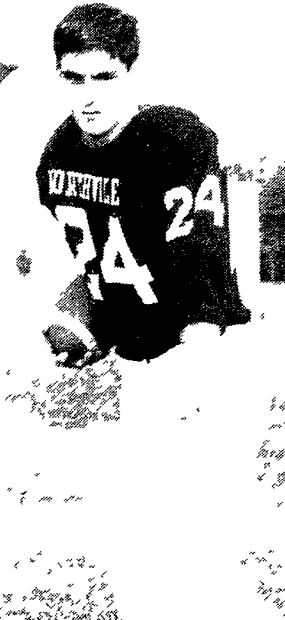

While not exactly spectacular, Zayti put on an offensive show which provided the Mustangs with an outside and breakaway threat. He rushed the flanks for 49 yards in six tries.

Twice he took pitch outs and cut quickly over the left side of the Trojan line to score touchdowns. Both times he cleared the goal line by leaping over would-be tacklers.

It was the first time that Zayti has run from the tailback spot, and it seemed to be to his liking. Since the beginning of the year, he was a prime receiver as a wingback.

Last year, the lean junior earned a letter as a defensive specialist. And with experience, he's one of the best in the W-O League.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Zayti.

JIM ZAYTI

Sports Gridders Travel To Holly Friday

There's good reason for concern before Northville's impending clash with Holly tomorrow night at Holly. The Broncos, one of the pre-season picks to cop the W-O title, have definitely assumed the favorites' role.

They edged Milford, another pre-season contender, 13-7, two weeks ago. And Holly is atop the conference, tied with Bloomfield Hills with a 3-0 mark.

With their most recent victory, a 27-7 shacking of West Bloomfield last Friday night, the Broncos have now won their last 16 of 17 contests. That includes an opening game triumph this year over Flint Bendle, 19-0.

When Coach Elden Haller took over the Holly football reins this year, he found an all veteran array.

In Mark Phalen, a bruising speedster at Halfback, Haller has last year's second leading ground gainer. And the way he's been going, Phalen will probably walk off with top honors in that department this year.

Opening the holes for Phalen is a big, experienced line. Top performers are Jim Hanks, a 6-1 190-pound guard-tackle, Perry Leib, a 5-9, 175-pound guard, and Joe Irwin, a 6-2, 205-pound tackle.

With the likes of these preppers, Haller predicted before the season that his charges would be number one in the league. "We've got good size, agility in the line and speed in the backfield," he said.

Northville Coach Ron Horwath still is looking for improvement by his Mustangs if they expect to win against Holly. Although the ground game jelled, the offense did not sustain itself against a weak Clarenceville line.

And as far as Horwath is concerned, the Mustang defenders will have to improve on last Friday's performance to stop the touted Holly offense. "We weren't as sharp as we were in the first two games," the Mustang mentor declared.

A switch in the Northville backfield sharpened up the running game. Horwath moved Swiss from tailback to fullback, his old position, and moved former Wingback Jim Zayti to tailback.

Both responded with sparkling performances. Swiss rushed for a total of 92 yards, and Zayti provided an outside threat and raced for two TDs.

Frosh Lose; Play Today

Belleville exploded for a 60-yard touchdown early in its game with Northville here, and went on to beat the Colts, 28-6, last Thursday.

Coaches John Townsley and Carl White pointed out that their gridders "moved the ball better in the second half." The teams traded TDs.

Halfback Pat Cayli ripped off 40 yards in Northville's best single effort, but it was called back because of a penalty. Besides Cayli, the coaches lauded Quarterback Stan Nirder and Greg MacDermaid.

The Colts will host Milford Highland today at the high school field. Game time is 4 p.m.

Correction

Northville Mustang player of the week last week was incorrectly called the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Bartski. Actually he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis A. Bartski, 22126 Beck road.

THERE'S A "torture test" going on in Northville and area residents are invited to participate. It's at Schrader's Home Furnishings, 111 North Center street, where a Mohawk carpet has been installed outside the front entrance of the store for pedestrian traffic to test. On October 30 the carpet will be checked for wear and half of it cleaned for cleanliness. Shown above making the first check are Harry Sedan (l.), furniture manager, and Ted Reynolds, carpet department manager.

Gun Found That Killed Area Horse

Novi police have found the gun and possibly the shooter of a $500 horse belonging to a Farmington man. The horse was killed last month, presumably from a passing auto, by a 22 calibre bullet.

Ballistics comparisons, Novi police detective sergeant Vern Loeffler said, proved that a German-made "Valor" model 22 calibre revolver, not a rifle, was used.

It was the type of gun that can be bought for $12.95 from a mail order catalog, said Loeffler.

The gun and its owner were found by Farmington police. They arrested a man this past week on charges of being in possession of marijuana and found the gun on him. Having heard of the Novi search they notified the local force.

According to the gun's owner, he and a pal had been out riding and the horse was shot on a "dare". It was not determined who dared whom.

Women Win Football Quiz

Family effort paid off in last week's football contest.

The R. J. Regenhardt and A. E. Jones families always enter the weekly football contests. Both families had winners this week.

It was Mrs. Regenhardt's entry that won top money of $10. Actually, she was tied by several others with only six wrong but her prediction of the Detroit-Washington score was best.

Carol Jones won second prize, $5, while third place and $3 went to Mike Schronce.

The Regenhardts, who live at 4428 Cottisford, have never won in their earlier entries. Dad, Mom and Bob, 17, and John, 9, are all regular contestants.

Carol is the daughter of Northville high school athletic director, Al Jones. Since the contest began several years ago, the Joneses have won at least once every year. Carol and her sister, Susie, are students at MSU. Brother Jack, 14, also enters. If there had been a fourth prize, it would have been won by Al. He missed six games, too, but his Detroit score was a little too high.

Third place winner Mike lives at 613 Novi street and is a seventh grader.

Several games tripped up last week's predictions. Michigan, Iowa, North Carolina and Penn State weren't supposed to lose. And the Purdue-SMU tie was a loser for everyone.

But this is another week and there's another contest in this edition. Ye old contest editor's heart belongs to Michigan, but his brain says Steve Judy's too much. Check State to top the Blue.

Claud Vance, 4962 Campbell, Wayne, who was going west on Randolph, reported to Northville police that he saw the car hurled 50 feet in the air.

Property damage accidents were reported at 3:20 a.m. Friday when Allan J. Maltby, 29, of 15930 Maryland, Plymouth, lost control and hit a guard rail while going south on Horton street. Police report he was traveling too fast for road conditions.

Municipal Court

Failure to appear in court to answer a summons issued in February caused a Detroit man to get another summons for an identical offense this month, and to pay a total of $30 in fines and costs September 23 in Northville Municipal court.

He pleaded guilty to both counts before Judge Charles McDonald. Curtis Lofton Bowers, Jr., 27, of Warren (February) and Detroit (September) was first charged February 20, 1965 by State Police with failure to transfer auto registration plates.

When he failed to appear in court following two notices he was arrested by State Police on a bench warrant issued here.

At that time, September 22, and in a different car, he was ticketed for another count of the same offense.

His sentence on the first count totaled $20 in fine and costs or 10 days, and the sentence on the second count totaled $10 fine or two days.

For reckless driving detected on Haggerty and Edward Hines drive August 12, Virgil Dennison, 58, Romulus, was sentenced to $30 in fine and costs or two days in jail upon trial September 27.

He was found guilty at the trial after having pleaded 'not guilty' at arraignment September 7.

Wayne Riley Van Wagoner, 34, 9639 Currie road, Northville, was committed to DeHoCo September 27 in default of an alternative sentence of $30 fine and costs.

He was found guilty at trial September 27 of an August 7 offense of operating a motor vehicle with an operator's license. Van Wagoner had pleaded not guilty at arraignment August 16.

Albert Taggart, 89, 604 Oakland, Northville, was sentenced to $10 fine or two days in jail and ordered to pay damages of $54.67.

He was charged with a September 16 offense of backing a car causing a property damage accident and pleaded guilty at arraignment September 27.

James Troy Wyatt, 25, 1807 East Lake drive, Walled Lake pleaded guilty at arraignment to two charges brought by Northville police on September 9. He paid a total of $20 in fines in lieu of two days in jail.

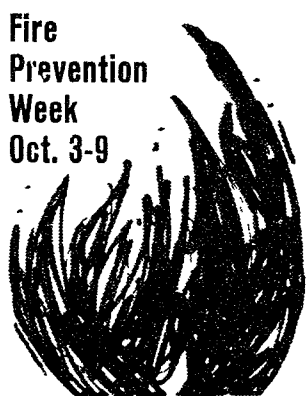

The first charge was for improper license plates and the second was for 'no operators license.'

On September 22 at Dunlap and Hutton streets city police apprehended Ross David McIntee, 20, of Livonia, as a minor in possession of alcoholic beverages.

He was arraigned on September 27 and pleaded guilty. Sentence was for $25 in fine or one day in jail.

John B. Nolan, 40075 Eight Mile road, Northville, pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk and disorderly at 317 Randolph street, September 21 and paid $40 in fine and costs in lieu of five days in jail upon arraignment September 22.

Sunday evening the special speaker was Tim Crist, student of Grand Rapids School of Bible and Music. Special music also brought by a student at the school who sang "Peace in the Valley." The service included several testimonies and a dedication service. Next Sunday evening Gerald Riemer will be bringing the message.

Everyone is asked to bring all canned goods to the church as soon as possible, although Rev. Childress will not be at church Sunday as previously planned. Provisions for delivery to the Southland Bible Institute will be made.

Mrs. Richard Lippert would like to thank all who furnished produce and volunteered their services to make the canning project a great success. The ladies canned over 500 quarts of produce this year.

Many people contributed by bringing portions of the produce they had canned for their own families to be used by the students at the institute. The Vera Vaughn Circle sponsor of the project will be meeting on Tuesday.

day October 12 at the church. This group is continuing to collect white material for cancer pads.

All teachers, workers and others who plan to attend the Sunday school convention at Temple Baptist church November 4-6 are urged to pre-register with Mrs. Ed Presnell. There will be over 100 workshops to choose from as well as 6 great main speakers including Ethel Barrett, Bob Pierce, Mel Johnson, Theodore Epp, Harold Garner and Paul Elliot.

There will be exhibits and displays and special musical attraction will be the Korean Orphan Choir. Plans are being made for everyone possible to attend the first session on Thursday night and then be able to set up car pools for the remaining sessions.

October is Library Month and good reading will be promoted throughout the month by special displays October 17 and 24 when Christian books, commentaries, children's story books, special study books, gift Bibles will be on display and orders will be taken and filled at Christian Literature Sales. Anyone not able to get out to the Bible Bookstore but would like to look at a certain book, contact the pastor that this might be included in the samples. Also this year encouragement is being promoted in the field of records, so that all homes may have good religious music available.

The Jr. Hi group is having a hayride this coming Saturday night. They are asked to bring a friend and to wear warm clothing. Bring own hotdogs etc. They will be joined by Grace Baptist church.

The Senior Hi group also will be having a hayride on October 16, additional information later.

A Gas Dryer not only ends lifting, lugging and hanging clothes BUT IT DOES A BETTER DRYING JOB!

MAKE THIS SIMPLE TEST

Take two bath towels...dry one outdoors and the other in a friend's clothes dryer. Note how much fluffier and wrinkle-free the towel is that comes from the dryer. Do a load of laundry in her dryer and count how many pieces you can fold and put away that you would ordinarily iron.

And in addition a work-saving modern Gas Dryer will do all these extra jobs

- VALET SERVICE—wrinkles can be removed from corduroy, velveteen or wool garments by placing them in dryer for short tumbling period with damp sponges or bath towels. Place sponges or towel in dryer before putting in clothing to build up steam. Use medium heat setting. Bath towels leave lint on dark cottons, so damp, colorfast sponges are best. There must be moisture to release wrinkles and prevent shrinkage. Remove garments before completely dry and hang on wooden or plastic hangers until completely dry.
- FLUFFING OR DUSTING draperies, chenille bedspreads or other articles that need airing. Place in dryer on "no heat" setting and allow to tumble for 5-10 minutes.
- REMOVING MOTHBALL ODORS from clothes that have been stored. Use "no heat" setting and short tumbling time.
- BATHING SUITS & SNOWSUITS can be dried in preheated dryer with bath towels (which have been in dryer during preheating). Dark towels are advisable with dark fabrics.

Farm Failure in Russia

BABSON PARK, Mass. — For the second time in three seasons, Russia's agricultural output is apparently far below the needs of her people. The Kremlin leaders are again forced to spend a sizable part of their precious — and dwindling — foreign exchange to purchase millions of tons of wheat from abroad.

When Russia bought wheat heavily in world markets two years ago, it was believed that her need arose from very unusual circumstances which were not likely to be repeated soon. The nations which profited most from these unexpectedly large wheat sales cautioned their farmers not to look for any such windfall again. At that time, weather was blamed for Russia's crop failure, and some Kremlin leaders are trying to make weather the scapegoat this time, too.

But for a long time it has been obvious that the Soviet system of collectivized farms — set up under Stalin so systematically and at such great expense — just doesn't work. These collective farms fail to supply the nation's requirements because they are too big, too impersonal, and too rigidly controlled.

To a considerable extent Khrushchev's downfall is attributed to crop failures which, his critics allege, were due to poor farm planning. The present government is deeply committed to improving farm output — both in quantity and in quality. Hence this new farm crisis is very embarrassing to the Kremlin. While a break-up of collective and state farms has been proposed by a Russian agriculturalist, there is no assurance yet that the Kossygin-Brezhev government will take such a drastic step.

But there can be no doubt that — in the long-run — the collective farms will be broken up into smaller units and placed under the ownership of small groups whose members will have personal responsibility and a reasonable amount of latitude in farming them. And certainly within the next decade the profit motive, which at long last is being used — and most effectively — to promote Soviet industrial efficiency, will be a key factor in expanding Soviet agriculture.

Of course, the dismantling of the huge collectivized farms and the establishment of smaller, more easily handled units will take several years to accomplish. Meanwhile, can Russia avoid famine? And will she, in time, again become largely self-supporting as regards farm crops?

More careful farm planning, more efficient use of modern fertilizers and fertilizing methods, and more widespread use of machinery could lift Russian farm output importantly. If these remedies are undertaken promptly and energetically, the Russian people should be spared the disaster of famine. Many Russians will, however, still go hungry in years just ahead. Russia, too, has a population problem. Between now and 1970 she will have at least 20,000,000 more mouths to feed. And, for wheat and some other grains, much of Russia is high-risk territory. The growing season is short and the weather tends to be severe. Stark famine, itself, Russia may avoid. But the bleakness of much of her terrain and the extremes of her weather may prevent her from ever again becoming fully sufficient as to farm products.

Russia's latest farm difficulties should result in a new bonanza for wheat farmers in Canada and Australia, countries which profited handsomely a couple of years ago when Soviet wheat output fell so short of needs. The U.S., which also has a wheat surplus — will not sell any really large amounts to Russia unless the present ruling that requires 50% of any wheat shipped to communist countries to be carried in American vessels is rescinded. Wheat so shipped is more expensive than Canadian and Australian wheat, hence too dear for the Russians.

One thing is certain: Russia is in search of a foreign policy as well as a farm policy. She is on the move and she is looking to the West for ideas and for help.

Dems Step-Up "Get Romney" Drive

MICHIGAN MIRROR

LANSING — Political sparring for the 1966 bout is getting serious already, but instead of being a man-to-man encounter, it has taken on more of a "Daniel in the lions' den" appearance.

Like gang warfare, the rumblings started several months before the midsummer Democratic "Get Romney" campaign came out in the open.

Even a few dissident Democrats commented about the lack of subtlety used by the legislative majority leaders in killing Gov. George Romney's hopes for tax reform this year.

ONE OF THE KEYS to this all-against-one effort lies in the increasing mention of the Governor's name in conjunction with 1968 presidential election talk. Another is in the fact that State Senators will be elected for four years in 1966.

Still a third can be found in the attempt to get former Gov.

G. Mennen Williams back to run against Romney next year.

First, Democrats need to punch as many holes as they can in Romney's national image armor, which at this point is very firm.

Four-year terms for Senators starting in 1967 means the Democrats need to put up a strong fight next Fall to hold as many seats as possible.

TO ACCOMPLISH this politicians need to appear as supporters and idea-men for all popular legislation and opponents of the publicly unpopular proposals.

If any tax reform is to be undertaken, they must try to see to it that it is Democratic-initiated. It must be geared so they can appear to be convincing Gov. Romney that it is valuable and needed.

By calling Romney's reform plan unfair to the low income taxpayer and the consumer, they hope to maintain in good favor with the voting, working man next November.

POSSIBLE retirement from the international political arena has been admitted by Williams, but his statements of recent weeks are still a far cry from announcing intentions to run against Romney. Democrats tried at least once before to lure the former six-term governor back to the state scene.

Strong evidence will be needed that serious inroads have been made by the current campaign if Williams is to agree to run against the present chief executive in either the Governor or U.S. Senate race next year.

AN UNFORTUNATE sidelight of the current political fighting has developed to include an area of legislation which should have nearly unanimous support.

Several traffic safety measures proposed in the regular 1965 session died because of minor spats between members and the major fight between the Governor and the Democrats.

Now, majority Democrats say they are working on a comprehensive program of traffic safety legislation to be presented next year.

A GOVERNOR'S study committee came up with several recommendations to alleviate traffic safety problems. Most of these were incorporated in the Governor's official legislative program, which this year was the kiss of death for them.

Although several of these duplicated proposals suggested by Democratic Secretary of State James M. Hare, legislative powers decided to hold passage until next year.

Waiting, under pretense of preparing a major program, accomplishes an important political purpose. House Speaker Joseph J. Kowalski, D-Detroit, says the program "will be ready to move as soon as the 1966 session convenes."

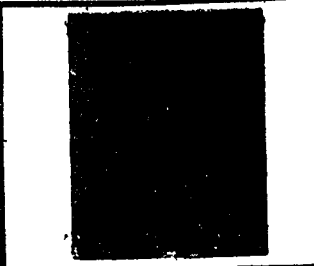

Essentially what he means is that he will have traffic safety bills ready for introduction before the Governor's 1966 legislative program is spelled out. The package, or a good part of it, can then be represented as a Democratic victory.

tions to mark the roadside, while yellow reflectors bring out exits and entrances.

Blue signs and reflectors to denote exit lanes were tested to some degree of effectiveness at Mount Pleasant and Clare on U.S. 27 the past four years. Similar markings were installed this fall at the complex Ann Arbor-Flint interchanges on northbound U.S. 23.

Officials hope the new test will determine whether the distinctive blue markings will eliminate some driver confusion and thus ease the flow of traffic at busy interchanges.

"Let's Keep Small Town Charm"

This is part two of the three-part article by Nancee Slatery dealing with citizens' ideas for the community of Northville.

There is a "certain something" about Northville that charms newcomers, long-time residents and visitors. This "small town atmosphere" is considered one of Northville's major assets by the people interviewed.

They were concerned that this asset might be lost, and stated that efforts should be made to preserve that small town atmosphere. Mrs. Kathleen Edgerton, owner of the Edgerton Handicrafts Shop, stated the general feeling -- "I'm definitely in favor of keeping it a small and old-fashioned town and yet up-and-coming."

Mrs. Harold Hartley, owner of the Hartley-Power Studio, asserts that "most people who moved to Northville moved here because it is a little, old-fashioned town." Along this same line, Mr. Francis Gazlay, president of the Northville Historical Society, says, "There are certain reasons that people moved here and I'd like to see those reasons remain. I'd like to keep Northville like it is."

The ideas for preserving Northville's "small town atmosphere" are numerous and imaginative. The primary one is to turn Northville's natural charm into an antique center. Mrs. John Burkman, librarian of the Base-Line Chapter of the Quarters

(Antique) Society, feels that "Northville is growing so fast it should be a popular center."

Not only is Northville growing, but an interest in antiques is also growing among the people of Northville. There are now two antique shops, an antique club and many private antique collectors in town.

The oldest antique shop is the Heritage House owned by Mrs. Earl Beckel. The shop opened about four years ago, and she says there has been "a lot of interest. There have been people coming from all directions."

Mrs. Harold Thomas opened her Barn Door Antique Shop on Main street about four months ago. She has found the response "most gratifying, a terrific response." She has mostly "primitive country pieces and old Americana" in her shop. Her oldest piece is a blanket chest dating back to 1825 in Pennsylvania. She gets most of her items from auctions and people's attics. She claims, "It's amazing the wonderful things we've found in the attics of Northville."

It's not quite so amazing when the number and variety of Northville antique collections are considered. Besides the large, old collections, many people are just starting collections.

One veteran collector is Walter Couse who has been collecting cranberry and amberino glassware for 30 years. Many of the pieces are over 100 years old. His favorite item is an amberino compote from Pennsylvania. Mr. Couse says they both "Like old things generally."

Several other collections feature glassware. Mrs. M. F. Meaker, who "just loves antiques," has a large collection of glassware as well as a large antique button collection.

Mrs. John Burkman has a collection of early American glass, blue and white milk glass, and opalescent swirl and glassware. She and her husband are also interested in early American furniture and antiques.

Many of her antiques were inherited. She explains, "My family were early settlers here, and our house was built by my grandfather. Many of the pieces in the house are the same as when the house was built."

Mrs. E. A. Chapman and Mrs. Ernest Wood also have old-fashioned houses in which to collect antiques. Mrs. Chapman says her antiques "have been in the family for generations."

Mrs. Wood has early American and primitive antiques in her home. She collects early green Spatter with a peacock design, and blue thousand eye.

Seventeenth century furniture adorns the Cape Cod home of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Schaefer on Six Mile road. Mrs. Schaefer says, "Antiques are my main interest outside of my family." She and her husband "try to do the house as authentically as possible."

Antique wooden tools interest Mr. and Mrs. James Tellam. She says, "We have a whole wall of them." Her oldest item - and the one which turned her love from contemporary things to antiques - is a feather bed smoother which is 150 years old.

She says, "Antiques kind of get a hold on you. It's a lot of fun. Both my husband and I have had fun."

Another aspect of antiques is the collecting of buttons. Mrs. W. J. Livingston has thousands of buttons of different materials, eras, countries, designs and colors. She calls the basement of her home on Beck road her "Button Hole." She has numerous shelves, cases and cabinets of buttons as well as a library of books and magazines about buttons.

Mrs. Arthur Basel, Mrs. Jack Willis and Mrs. George Miller are a few of the people now starting collections. They all "love antiques" and are anxious to learn about them.

Mrs. Willis is president of the Base-Line Chapter of the Quarters (Antique) Society. The group formed last year so that the members could learn more about antiques.

Several field trips have highlighted the first months of the club's existence. Last Saturday the group visited Marshall, an established antique center. Last spring the group participated in the National Quarters Convention at Greenfield Village. More trips are planned this year.

All this interest in antiques should surely lead to something, the collectors and shop owners feel, and that "something" should be an antique center in Northville. Mrs. Jack Willis points out that "the fact that so many people are interested in antiques" is the foundation upon which to build a center.

The two antique dealers think Northville - and their shops - would benefit greatly from an antique movement. Mrs. Beckel says, "I think that people would come a lot quicker if there were several places here instead of one or two. We need something to not only attract outsiders but the people who live here too."

Mrs. Thomas agrees that "it would be a terrific opportunity for dealers in Northville. The more antiques in a place the better it is, even for the dealers."

She explains that "people go on antique outings. A lot of ladies come to the shop, and then ask 'Is there anywhere else in Northville to buy antiques?'"

The private collectors agree with the shop owners. Mrs. Stan Schaefer feels "It does help to have more than a few antique shops." Mrs. John Burkman states that she "is very much in favor of it."

Mrs. James Tellam says it would "be a nice idea since antiques are a first love of a lot of people in town."

She cites the example of a successful antique center in New Market, Maryland. There are several antique shops and one hotel comprising the major part of the town. She says, "The people will come and stay in the hotel and then browse through the shops. I think it would be nice if Northville concentrated on something like that."

The antique center is only one of many ideas suggested to preserve the "small town atmosphere" of Northville. More ideas will appear in The Record next week.

Three Commended In Merit Tests

Three students at Northville high school have been honored with Letters of Commendation for their high performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMQST) given last spring.

They are among 38,000 students across the nation recognized for scoring in the top two percent of students who will complete high school in 1966. The Commended students rank just below the 14,000 semi-finalists announced last month.

Fred Stefanski the school's principal, has announced that the Commended students are: Antoinette Alexander, Lillian M. Krezel and David W. Orphan.

John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation said: "These students are being recognized for their outstanding performance on the qualifying test. Theirs is a notable academic achievement."

Only the highest-scoring students in each state, the semi-finalists, remain eligible for further consideration in the competition for Merit Scholarships.

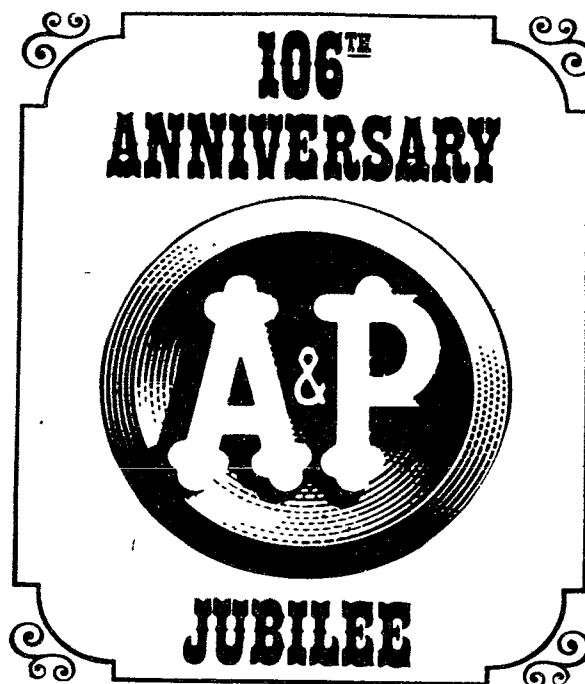

Although students receiving letters of Commendation advance no farther in the Merit Program, their names are reported to other scholarship - granting agencies and to the colleges they named at the time they took the NMQST as their first and second choices.

Here's Floor Plan of New Elementary School

The following explanation of the floor plan of the proposed new Northville Elementary school was prepared by Superintendent of Schools Alex Nelson. The school will be constructed on a 10-acre site on West Eight Mile road, across from Northville Estates subdivision.

This building is designed in such a way that there will be four specific and distinct units, yet maintaining continuity between each unit for curricular purposes.

The first unit (A) consists of five classrooms, a centrum, a teacher workroom, and the administrative spaces. This unit provides for two kindergartens with their own individual entrances and play area. It features a folding wall which can be opened to provide free movement-flow between rooms, lending itself to large group activity such as team-teaching and correlated activities. Also within this unit are three first grade classrooms which surround a centrum. Two of the rooms can be opened up because of the folding doors, making this area into one large room, including the centrum. This flexibility will primarily be used for large group instruction. When classrooms are being used as individual units, the centrum will serve as an area for small group instruction or related activities involving some pupils from each of the first grades and/or the kindergartens. The entrance area for each classroom is designed to provide for small group instruction, as well as the cloakroom and bathroom facilities. (This concept holds true throughout the other two classroom-instructional units of the building. These units could be called instructional clusters). Within this unit (A) and with the other instructional units, there is a teacher workroom which will serve as an area for teacher preparation and planning, storage, conferences, and at times for individualized instruction.

The office facilities provided for in this area include the principal's office, a conference room, secretarial and general office space, student record storage, clinic and toilet facilities.

The second unit (B) consists of six classrooms, a centrum, a teacher workroom, an art-science space for second and third grades. A soundproof folding wall is provided between two second grade rooms and two third grade rooms to permit large group instruction. This flexibility, along with the centrum, provides three instructional spaces for groups of pupils larger than 25 pupils (for which each classroom is designed). The centrum will be utilized for activities involving a group at one grade level or mixed groups based on achievement ability. It is anticipated that general instruction, and/or demonstrations, will be given in the centrum while small group instruction is undertaken in the individual classrooms.

The art-science room is housed in this unit and designed for multiple use - by the art teacher as well as science (lab type) use.

Facilities for the speech teacher and remedial reading teacher are also housed in this unit or instructional cluster.

The third unit (C) consists of six classrooms, the instructional - resource center (library), and the faculty conference room and work area.

This unit provides classroom space for three fourth grades and three fifth grades. The classrooms are constructed around the instructional - resource (library) center to allow for free movement from the classroom to the library. The instructional - resource center (library) is also accessible from the hall leading to each of the lower elementary units to enable total school building use. However, it is anticipated that the upper elementary students will make most use of this instructional facility. The increasing stockpile of knowledge can better be made available to our students through this approach. Large group instruction is provided for by soundproof folding walls between two rooms at each grade level. The instructional - resource center also lends itself to some large group instruction for upper elementary students.

The fourth unit (D) consists of a multipurpose room which will be used for physical education, lunch-hour facilities if needed, some large group instruction, assemblies, adult and community meetings, and programs requiring a large space that is not provided for in the other three units.

The stage will be portable in nature, with the floor space being utilized as the music room when the stage is not in use.

The kitchen is designed primarily for small cooking needs, but could handle a "centralized" hot lunch program should this need develop.

This school is designed to provide for maximum flexibility. Although the curriculum, as such, has not been designed or written for this building, the program goals were indicated by the educational specifications for the building. The curriculum, like the building, will be forthcoming from the educational goals already established.

Our curriculum, as well as the building in which learning will take place, must be designed to meet the flexible needs of the future. This building can do both.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

The press is forever trying to explain itself without much success.

For how can you explain a medium that both praises and condemns, constructs and tears down, understands and criticizes.

Recently I read an editorial from the pages of the Charlotte, North Carolina Observer which declared "it is not the job of the press to be loved ... to preach sunshine all day".

The editorial continues to say that "the press ... probes, stimulates, asks awkward questions. It strews obstacles in the path of smooth administration by giving the official game away. This isn't a job calculated to make the press liked very much by those in authority ... if it is doing its job it is bound to make enemies - mainly the pompous, the official, the over-secretive, the self-important".

Different people have different ideas of what constitutes a good newspaper.

There are many - too many - who believe that the press should report only the rosy side - the good news. At the other extreme are those interested only in reading "what's wrong".

Inevitably, the press stands somewhere in between - never completely satisfying anyone.

For the newspaper ... the good newspaper ... is a reflection of its community, nation and world. It's face is dirty or clean, depending upon whether or not it stumbled or stood straight on that particular day or week.

It is important that the press continues to try to explain, to outline its objectives.

For so few understand. They may believe that criticism belongs in the big-city press or a newspaper in another community; or that the press is incapable of explaining and the public unable to understand; or that selfish motives can be promoted through economic pressures or personal friendship.

It has always been my firm conviction that the newspaper at the lowest local level - right here, grass roots - has the biggest responsibility.

For if we slide over the facts or dress up the facade at the bottom, how can we expect to build any kind of a foundation for the top?

The press must pledge itself to call the shots as it sees them with all the wisdom it can muster. And it must not abuse its freedom with an arrogance that fails to admit "there is a door to which we can find no key, there is a veil past which we cannot see".

Track's Expansion Plan Unfair to Home Owners

To the Editor:

Mr. John Carlo's recent statement to the Chamber of Commerce regarding expansion of the track grounds is an injustice to the neighborhood.

"Beal Town" owners are now at the mercy of Northville Downs until and if they decide to purchase the homes and land in question, which by Mr. Carlo's own admission is a long range program.

In the interim residents of the area who wish or need to sell their homes, because of job transfers, financial hardships, etc. will find it next to impossible due to Mr. Carlo's announcement.

The home owners will also find it impractical to improve or maintain their property and homes with the possibility that they may be forced to vacate in a year or two.

The other possibility is that Northville Downs may not take any action for five to ten years. In this event the neighborhood could become a blight area because of a lack of maintenance.

I believe that it is up to the City of Northville to take immediate action to protect the approximately sixty families involved.

An alternative of the city council would be a reasonable time limit for the Downs to option or purchase the property involved, in which case a rezoning would take effect.

If they do not complete transactions by that time the tentative rezoning would be cancelled out and it would revert back to residential not subject to reopening for say another ten or fifteen years.

It should also be understood that the entire area should be rezoned otherwise fringes and islands will remain which will be substantially downgraded in value.

I request that the city council take immediate steps to bring the entire matter to a rapid and reasonable solution.

Very truly yours

Modern Math

PRINCIPAL, SOUTH LYON
ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

This series of articles is not intended to teach a complete course in mathematics. Its primary purpose is to acquaint parents with the basic ideas of the new math programs which are being taught in schools across the country.

The materials in math and science were examined critically almost immediately after Sputnik was launched. People in many professions began asking what had happened that the Russians could score such a technological triumph.

As business and industry became more and more automated, and computers became commonplace the need for mathematicians increased. At the same time psychologists announced results of their work. This new psychology said that children could learn any material at any age if it was presented in a manner meaningful to them.

Mathematicians and scientists then turned their attention to developing programs to be taught in high school. Gradually the curriculum was expanded and extended down to kindergarten because the traditional arithmetic did not prepare pupils adequately for high school and college mathematics.

There are some very slight differences between programs taught in different school systems. All programs however, emphasize understanding and knowing why certain processes are used and reasons for the results obtained. The new materials will not make every child a mathematician. They will however, if properly used, eliminate the idea of "Well I never could understand mathematics."

We find, therefore, that elementary pupils are learning concepts from algebra and geometry. They are concerned with the tremendous range of knowledge within the field of mathematics. Some of these basic concepts seem extremely simple. If they seem simple at first glance, this does not imply that they are not important. The new math strives to identify the mathematical principle, apply it, recognize the results, and know WHY we achieved a particular answer. Each article in this series will deal with one mathematical idea.

When we talk about numbers we are talking about several things. To represent a number we use a symbol called a numeral. In arithmetic we proceeded as if every numeral was an absolute quantity with dimensions that were always the same. A numeral, however, has the meaning we give to it. 7 is not always seven. 7 up is something quite different from 007. Each symbol in 777 has a different value. 7 may be VII, sieben, or septem. We say now 7, or any number representing a quantity or amount or how many, stands for a number of things. For example: 7 equals 6 plus 1, 7 equals 3 plus 4, 7 equals X minus 3, 7 equals 10, base seven.

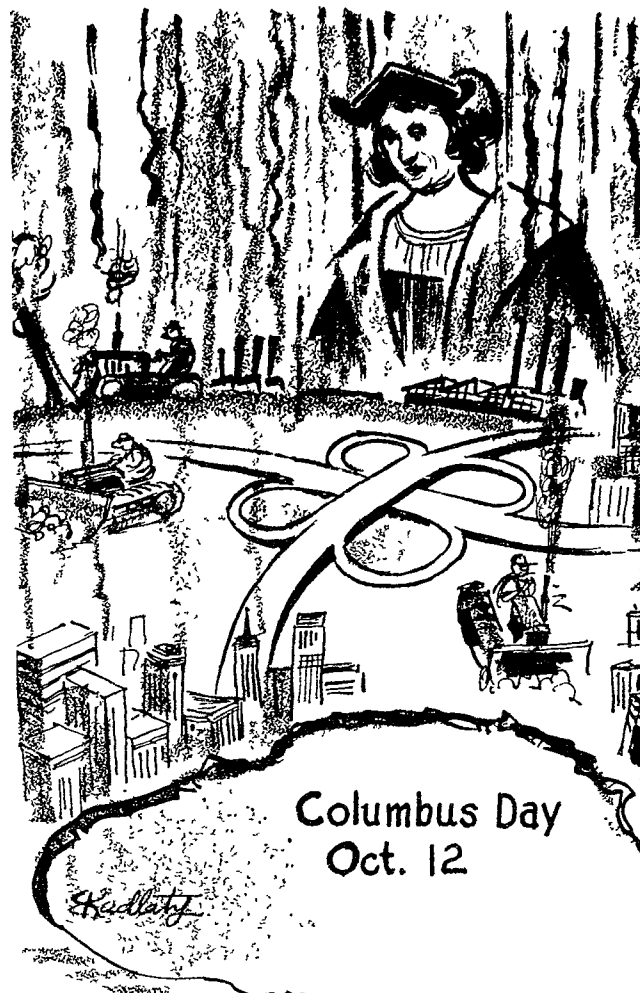

These are examples to show that we recognize that seven as an amount. We can get that amount by a variety of combinations. This leads us to the structure of mathematics. As a beginning in consideration of structure 7 equals 5 plus 2 and 7 equals 4 plus 3. If we reduce the 5 to 4 and increase 2 to 3 we have the same result. When children can begin to see the system, the pattern, the structure of mathematics then addition is no longer pure memorization.
