

Annexation Of 35 Acres To City OK'd

A proposed $10 million dollar development of homes and apartments was given the greenlight in Northville this week when joint action taken by the city council and township board permitted annexation of 35 acres into the city.

The 35-acre parcel lies on the south side of Eight Mile road at Taft road. It represents a portion of the 135-acre site purchased by the Thompson-Brown development firm from Mrs. Gerald Taft. The remaining 100 acres are within the city limits on the north side of Eight Mile road.

The petition requesting annexation was presented to the city council Monday night. It contained the names of Mrs. Taft, the Thompson-Brown company and two residents of the parcel to be annexed, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin E. Grise, 45625 Eight Mile road. Attorney James Littell, representing the developer, informed the city council that conferences had been held with the township board on the matter. He said that lot sizes had been enlarged to satisfy requests of the township board so that the proposed development might better blend with the adjoining township Taft Colony subdivision. He noted that these changes had been planned and approved by the city's planning commission.

Before the council had a chance to consider the resolution the question of who would pay for drainage and water service costs in the new area was asked by a member of the audience, Sidney

Frid. Councilman John Canterbury answered that all such development costs are paid by the developer and that the city government only shares in the cost if lines are enlarged to serve city areas not included in the proposed new development.

The request also passed quickly at the township board meeting Tuesday night.

Treasurer Alex Lawrence made the motion by stating "being behind the eight ball, I so move we adopt the resolution". It passed unanimously.

The joint action procedure was taken to avoid the expense of an election. Both owners and residents of the parcel involved favored the proposal and joined in the annexation petition. If an election had been held, it would have required a majority of votes cast in the city and within the township parcel to be annexed for passage.

Robert H. Carey, president of the Thompson-Brown company, has announced that work on the project to include 225 homes and a like number of apartment dwellings will begin this year. Of the 35-acre parcel on the south side of Eight Mile Carey said five acres had been reserved for possible purchase by the First Methodist church for a new building, if a decision to move from the Dunlap street location is made.

Apartments will be constructed near Taft and Eight Mile on the north side, while homesites will be arranged in a cluster development adjoining a proposed park.

On Randolph

Will Assessment Trigger Suit?

The Northville city council voted unanimously Monday night to go ahead with its plans to improve Randolph street and assess abutting property owners on a 25 per cent basis despite protests from residents.

With the council chambers filled, mostly with Randolph residents opposing the assessment, the council heard the complaints, presented its rebuttal and then voted to proceed with the project as scheduled.

While no definite statements have been made by members of the protesting group, it was hinted that the taxpayers might file suit against the city.

Mrs. Paul Steencken, 562 Randolph, again acted as spokesman for the group. She said the residents felt the same as they did when petitions opposing the assessment were filed with the council. Mrs. Steencken said the improvement was for the benefit of the general public and should be paid entirely from general funds. She termed the assessment "not justifiable" and said the installation of concrete and widening of the street was proof that the improvement was being made to handle heavier traffic which would be brought about by development in the city's northwest section.

Mrs. Steencken also revealed that she had been a resident of Plymouth when Sheldon road was widened and repaved. She was a resident of the street and took part in legal action against Plymouth which brought about a cancellation of the assessment against property. Mrs. Steencken told the council the cases were similar and suggested that Randolph property owners might win if the case were to be tested.

Councilmembers thought differently. City Attorney Philip Ogilvie has advised them that the Sheldon road assessment is not similar to the proposed Randolph improvement.

Councilman Del Black pointed out that the assessment is being based on the cost of blacktopping the road and widening it to 30-feet, which is the normal improvement for residential streets. The additional cost of using concrete and making the street 33-feet wide to accommodate traffic is being paid from general funds, he noted.

Councilman John Canterbury refuted the statement that the improvement of Randolph has come about to provide for present growth. He noted that improvement of the street was listed as one of nine top priority streets in August, 1962. He also noted that 75 per cent of the total cost is being paid by the city-at-large and that the 25 per cent assessment was being made after all unusual or extra costs had been deducted.

Councilwoman Beatrice Carlson, who had opposed street assessments when the practice was re-introduced several years ago, said "it's policy now, we'd be in hot water to deviate". City Engineer Harold Penn then gave a detailed report of costs, which for assessment purposes, he said, were based on blacktopping a 30-foot wide street. While assessment costs include curbs, gutters and storm sewers, he said they did not include culvert repairs or right-of-way purchase costs needed to remove the curve as Randolph joins Eight Mile.

He reported the assessment figure cost at $13.96 per lineal foot, with the 25 per cent assessment at $3.49 per lineal foot for front yards abutting the street and $1.75 per lineal foot for abutting sideyards.

Total cost of the project—figuring its full width and use of concrete, but not including the cost of acquiring a lot and house to remove the curve—was given as $122,530 by the engineer. The 25 per cent assessment is being based on a cost of $85,980, Penn stated.

Councilman Black moved to adopt the resolution of necessity. It passed unanimously. Another public hearing is necessary when final estimated costs are determined and the individual roll of assessments established.

City Building Up $1 Million

Building activity in the city of Northville increased more than $1 million in 1965 over 1964. In his annual report to the council Building Inspector C. Oscar Hammond showed a total 1965 construction of $1,672,915 compared to $636,868 the previous year.

The report indicated the following totals:
--34 houses, $615,520;
--two 2-family residences, $46,500;
--commercial and industrial, $681,500;

'Good Neighbor Policy'

Three Northville families added a teen-age son or daughter to their family circles during the holidays in response to an appeal last week from the Youth for Understanding program of the Council of Churches in Ann Arbor seeking homes for the students from Brazil.

After reading in The Record's 'In Our Town' column of the need for additional homes, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wright, 40241 Fairways III, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Wheatley of Thornapple lane, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Logeman, 795 Grace street, opened their homes for the next seven months to the students who will be attending Northville high school with their own children. Sixteen-year-old Carlos Eduardo Goncalves da Cunha of Sao Paulo, who is the oldest of seven children, joins another large family as he becomes the foster son of the Wheatleys, who have six children of their own. Their son, Ron, is slightly younger than the visitor.

Almost the same age are 17-year-old Carlos Antonio da Rocha Pompa and Tom Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wright. The Wrights read of the student program Friday, called Ann Arbor Saturday—and Sunday Carlos, whose home is in Rio de Janeiro, was a part of their family.

By Monday afternoon Mrs. Wright was helping their "delightful young man" shop for cold-weather clothes.

Alice Moniz Freire Brandao comes to the Logeman home from Rio de Janeiro and will be sharing experiences with Nancy Logeman. Alice is 17.

The three students bring the number of foreign students in the Youth for Understanding program now in Northville to a total of five. Two Mexican students will return to their homes later this month after visiting here. Romulo Becerra has been with the family of Mrs. Elaine Chabut for two months and will be returning to Mexico City. Also from Mexico City is Guillermo Jorge Quiroz, guest of Mr. and Mrs. John McGuire.

During the holidays 188 South American students arrived and have been placed in homes in Michigan, Iowa, New York and Florida. The next group of students coming will be European. They are expected in August. Anyone wishing more information on the exchange program may call Ann Arbor, NO 3-0551.

Saturday Afternoon

City's Master Plan on Display

Public attention will be directed toward the Northville of the future Saturday. Unveiling of the comprehensive (master) plan of the community has taken place and from 1 until 4 p.m. interested persons will have an opportunity to review and comment on it.

After nearly two years of study the city of Northville planning commission has scheduled this public hearing as a final step prior to adoption.

George Zerbel, chairman of the planners, said Monday that unless something important is found wrong with the plan by those attending the hearing, the commission will act to adopt it soon afterward. Once adopted by the commission, he added, a recommendation will be made to the city council to either adopt or adopt in principle.

If the council adopts the plan the city government must follow its provisions. But, a council adoption "in principle" will require its use only as a guide, according to Zerbel.

"Our idea to have this public hearing was to try to get some comments from the people; to see if other people see something wrong with it that we haven't been able to see," the chairman stated. "We hope people from outside the city will feel free to come and add their comments. We are interested in cooperating with other communities and have sent invitations to officials, but could not, of course, send them to everyone."

Although the master plan is a project off the city of Northville, the planners have considered a "community" area of nine square miles bounded by Nine Mile road, Six Mile road, Beck road and Meadowbrook road. This is the community interest area and also the retail trade area.

Population of this area will almost double in the next 15 years, planners have determined from trends and projections. And the average wage will increase from an estimated present level of about $8,500 to about $10,000 yearly. Meanwhile changing concepts of living will require changing needs of a larger, more prosperous community.

Zerbel hastens to point out that although most people think of the master plan only in terms of the proposed central business district and thoroughfare design, it is in fact a plan covering all features of the community's service. Existing utilities and plan, land use, public facilities, structural quality survey and subdivision rules and regulations are some of the topics denoted.

"It pretty much spells out the future development through 1980-1985," said Zerbel. He liked it to a road map and travel guide which one uses prior to embarking on a trip. "The master plan for the community is the same as planning a route. It spells out the

Novi Road Rezoning Opposed

Opposition was strong to a Northville merchant's request to rezone a 1320-foot strip along Novi road to commercial use at a public hearing of the joint Novi village council and planning commission last week.

Charles Lapham, owner of Lapham's Men's Shop, had entered a request for rezoning a 24-acre tract on the east side of Novi road, extending from the new Guernsey Farms dairy to Nine Mile road and rearward to the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, except for an 8.6 acre triangle at the northeast corner.

The Novi road frontage to a depth of 350 feet he wanted designated commercial (C2) to allow erection of a professional center, restaurant and motel. The rear portion he had requested be designated for medium sized industry (M2).

Neighboring residents protested the commercial strip and the M2 industrial belt as did representatives of the Northville city council and planners, and Novi's planning consultants, Waring and Johnson.

Lapham withdrew his request at the suggestion of the village council which took no action, and said he would resubmit it in a form hopefully more favorable to everyone. The Novi planning commission voted seven to one to recommend denial of that evening's request. Board Chairman Arthur Heslip was alone unconvinced by the objectors.

During the hearing Lapham said he was willing to cut the footage of his C2 commercial strip request to 600 feet northward from the Guernsey Farms site. But Lapham is still reluctant to go along with M1 industrial rather than the M2 industrial for the remainder. He pointed out that he had originally intended to ask for M1 but had been dissuaded by the planners in favor of M2, and now favors that classification. A new hearing is required for the changed request.

Neighboring residents favored M1 for the entire triangular tract southward from Nine Mile road, stating they believed such use would be least detrimental to existing residential properties. Light industry, they indicated, would create less traffic on the already heavily traveled road.

Northville Councilman John Canterbury said from the audience that it was his council's opinion that a commercial district would be "undesirable" to the overall development of the area. He pointed out that Northville is attempting to create a single isolated commercial district through its general development plan.

George Zerbel, Northville city planning commission chairman,

According to Planning Chairman Gunnar Stromberg, certain aspects of the new ordinance governing mobile home locations have brought objections from Charles Lapham.

Specifically, the ordinance provides that mobile home parks shall be permitted within I-1 (industrial) and R-M (multiple-family) districts subject to certain conditions.

In R-M districts, for example, mobile home parks cannot abut one-family residential districts and shall not be permitted as a principal use in any R-M district which does not directly abut either a railroad and/or an existing quarry (mining operation) of not less than 40 acres.

In the Lapham case it's another provision that has brought an objection, Stromberg stated. This provides a 450-foot setback from the outer limit of an abutting R-M district.

In the specific instance involving the Lapham parcel this would mean that, while the west side could abut an existing quarry, the north, south (Six Mile road) and east (Beck road) sides would have to be set back some 450-feet. This would materially reduce the area of the Lapham parcel which could be used for mobile homes. The surrounding 450-foot strip on three sides could be developed for multiple dwellings, however.

The mobile park section also provides for a 12-foot greenbelt or five-foot wall and a 60-foot entrance road from the main thoroughfare.

Stromberg pointed out that the new ordinance also provides stricter regulations for mining operations, particularly beginning gravel mining anew. He said provisions governing existing mining operations may bring an objection.

The new ordinance provides for "cluster" development in residential areas, which permits building on smaller lots but employs use of the land taken from the lots for adjoining park and recreation area.

Industrial (I-1) areas in the township are relatively rare. The map, which is reproduced on page 6A, shows I-1 zoning at the extreme southeast and southwest corners of the township and along the C & O railroad near Northville road north and south of Seven Mile and south of Six Mile road.

In Our Town

By Jean Day

EVERYTHING DIDN'T quite come up roses in Pasadena January 1, but Northville Spartan supporters who went west for the parade and game felt the "tremendous fourth quarter" and the festivities associated with the Rose Bowl made it all worth while.

Robert Bretz, who with his wife joined a Michigan State alumni tour, summed up the general feeling as he reported having an "absolutely fantastic time," adding "It was still a ball game and there were still kids playing - someone had to win and someone had to lose." They returned Monday to their home on Dunsany road after a week on the coast.

Leading the list of local fans were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Juday, who made it to California to see their son, Steve, quarterback the Spartans. A heart attack suffered by the senior Juday last month almost cancelled their plans.

Others attending the game were the Dayton Deal and Eugene Entz families, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mayes, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dailey, Phil Jerome, Mrs. Dorothy Niemi, Carolyn Moore, Roberta Moshier and Jean Downer. Novi was represented, too, at the game by Mr. and Mrs. John Eskro.

Ed Welch made a last-minute decision to attend the game and also to see his sister who makes her home in California. The family of Boris Dimitroff, State's center, also was there, including his wife, the former Susie Cowie of Northville.

Both Mary and Michael Daleo of West Ten Mile road spent the New Year holiday in Los Angeles and attended the Rose Bowl parade and game. Mary is a State grad and her brother presently is a student at State. He went west with a student group. Mike Myers and Jim Jiggins were other State supporters. Sisters Carol and Sue Jones were at the game as both are State students.

Richard Stamann combined the trip to the game with a visit to see his sister and brother-in-law, the Donald Pounders of suburban Los Angeles. Still others going west were Charles "Tim" Weiss, Bob Turnbull, Etta Rutan and Diana Hooper. Jim Petrock, a law student at University of Colorado, went to the game before resuming classes there.

STAY-AT-HOMES during the holiday week were caught up in a round of entertaining. Six couples who last year initiated a neighborhood progressive dinner repeated the event December 30. The families whose back yards adjoin in Taft colony began the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Frazier on Woodhill road and progressed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Sarnes to view their blue-flocked tree decorated with blue lighting and purple and green ornaments. It was the creation of son Fred. Participating also were the Arthur Hempes, Eugene Konrads, Elwyn Kaakes and the Stewart Duguids.

Mrs. Leonard Klein of Fermanagh court invited eight of her new Northville friends "who have been especially helpful and friendly" for luncheon and bridge December 29. The family left the end of the week to spend New Year's in Chicago. While visiting friends in Hinsdale, Illinois, Mrs. L. Klein reports that her husband renewed contact for the first time in 22 years with former air force colleagues.

A SURPRISE Sweet Sixteen birthday party honored Patty Lonn, daughter of the Victor O. Lonn of 40733 Appolo road, December 30. Seven of Patty's school friends arranged the surprise pizza-event.

Other young birthday girls were Nancy Fagan, daughter of the Thomas Fagans, who celebrated her seventh birthday a day early at a party December 31, and Carol Weber who marked her eleventh birthday at a party December 31.

Starnes and George Howell of Northville and Ron Mensack of Dearborn were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a brown lace dress with matching lace tunic and light beige accessories. The groom's mother chose a blue and green silk brocade suit.

After a honeymoon at the Caberfae Lodge in Cadillac, the couple took up residence in the Plimeth Place Apartments near Plymouth.

CORNER

The Walter Carters didn't have far to move from their old home to their new one — they lived in Novi for many years before moving to Northville. Their new address is 21710 Rathlone Drive in Connemara Hills.

Walter and Bonnie Carter have four children. The oldest is Kathy, age six, who is a kindergardener at Amerman school. She already has developed a great interest in drawing.

The other children are Walter Jr., five, Lance, four and little Kiel, one. The Carters also have a kitten and two rabbits.

Mr. Carter is an alumnus of the University of Michigan, and is now employed by the Simpson-Hill Corporation in Dearborn, a direct mail advertising firm. In his spare time he enjoys slot car racing.

Mrs. Carter is a Wayne State University graduate and a former third grade teacher. She likes to draw and paint, and has also tried her skill at song writing.

Primarily, however, she says her four children "keep her very busy."

Interlochen Orchestra To Perform

The Interlochen Arts Academy orchestra directed by Dr. Thor Johnson will present a concert in the Plymouth high school at 8 p.m. Saturday, January 15. The concert is being sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony League with proceeds to benefit the Plymouth Symphony.

Dr. Joseph E. Maddy will conduct a portion of the concert. The orchestra's appearance in Plymouth is during the orchestra's annual tour and is possible as the group will appear earlier that day in Ann Arbor. Tickets, which will be on sale at the door, are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

The Academy Orchestra has been in existence since 1962. Its members are young, ranging in age from 13 to 18 years. There are approximately 21 students from the Detroit area who play with the orchestra, which numbers 100 members.

The Plymouth program will include the Roman Carnival Overture, Op. 9 by Berlioz conducted by Dr. Maddy.

Dr. Johnson will conduct the orchestra for Zoltan Kodaly's Concerto for Orchestra, Vincent d'Indy's Symphony on a French Mountain Air with Louis Goldstein of Kenosha, Wisconsin, at the piano. Kodaly's Concerto was written in 1941 in commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Also on the program will be Symphony No. One, Op 10 by Shostakovich.

Wayne Dunlap has requested band and orchestra leaders in the area be informed of the performance so that they may reserve blocks of tickets in advance for groups. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Marvin Sackett, 453-4985, Mrs. Roger Zerby, 453-1077, or the adult education department of the Plymouth high school, 453-3100.

The Interlochen Arts Academy orchestra has appeared in Philadelphia, New York City, Rochester, New York, and in several Michigan cities. A Philadelphia newspaper critic described the young orchestra "as self-disciplined and confident in performance as any mature professional orchestra."

Dr. John, the orchestra's regular conductor, is Academy director, conductor of the Chicago Little Symphony, and former director of orchestra activities at Northwestern University and was for 11 years director of music for the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra.

Dr. Maddy, founder and president of both the academy and the National Music Camp from which the academy grew, is among the orchestra's guest conductors.

The orchestra's teenage members practice two hours, five days a week and perform a concert on the sixth day, permitting a varied amount of experience in classical literature. The group's repertoire includes virtually the full scope of major musical works.

Theater Guild Seeks Tryouts

Tryouts for "Bell, Book and Candle," next production of the Northville Theater guild, will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday, January 9, in the scout-recreation building. Anyone interested in auditioning for a role or in working on any of the play committees must be present at this session, according to Dr. Hans Kolbe, play director.

The play is scheduled for presentation February 25 and 26 at Northville high school auditorium.

It is not necessary to be a member of the players group to attend the meeting Sunday, according to Gary Webb, spokesman for the players. He stressed that greater support is needed to keep the group a "going organization," pointing out that to avoid decline of the group, as has happened to previous player organizations, more support is needed from members as well as from Northville citizens. The Players Guild, he said, is a non-profit group with expenses currently exceeding profits.

BIRTH

A daughter, Leanne Carol Norton, was born December 22, 1965, to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Norton, 325 South Ely drive. The baby weighed eight pounds, four ounces at birth at St. Mary hospital in Livonia. The Nortons also have three sons, Rick, Jeff and Steve.

Garden Club To See Film

The Northville Garden club will hold its monthly meeting Monday, January 10 at 12:30 at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Johnston, 370 Orchard drive. The theme of the program will be international.

Mrs. E. O. Whittington, program chairman for the meeting, will present a program entitled "Spread Your Wings" featuring colored slides of her recent trip to Spain.

Assisting Mrs. Johnston will be Mrs. Merner Ellber, Mrs. Cliff Hill, Mrs. Reuben Jensen, Mrs. Philip Nauman and Mrs. Ernest Wood.

Pam Smith, Janet Funk Win Democracy Contest

A 10th grade girl won top honors in the Voice of Democracy scriptwriting contest co-sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its auxiliary.

Winner of a $500 scholarship for her theme and oral presentation of "Democracy: What It Means to Me" was Pamela E. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myrn Smith, 20114 Woodhill.

Second place in the contest open to high school youngsters in grades 10 through 12 was Janet S. Funk, a senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Funk of 1032 Allen drive.

Presentation of the awards will be made during a pep rally at the high school Friday afternoon. Northville Contest Chairman Donald Butler will make the awards, while Edmond Gucwa, district chairman for the Voice of Democracy contest, will give a brief talk concerning "What Democracy Means to Me."

A recording of Pamela's address has been entered in the state and national contest by the local VFW Post 4012. Winners at the state level are given a five-day trip to Washington, D.C.

plus an opportunity to compete for five national scholarships of $5,000, $3,500, $2,500, $1,500 and $1,000.

Plaques will be presented to the top 10 contestants. In addition to Pamela and Janet, they are: Nancy Atherton, Randolph Caligiuri, Susan Hill, Richard Jameson, Kurt Kinde, Rebecca Lyke, Charlaire Ruland and John Turnbull. There were 692 themes submitted in the contest. Those finishing in the top 20, who will receive certificates of merit are: Jeanne Barnes, Donald Beller, Sandra Bernhardt, Glenn Delbert, Steven Evans, Karen Embury, Jane Jerome, Karen Stefanski, Lynn Tihlikka and Larry Thibos.

HAPPY WINNERS—Pamela Smith and Janet Funk smile as they appraise their prizes in the VFW-sponsored Voice of Democracy contest. Though they're holding checks, money will actually be deposited toward scholarships—$500 for Pam as first prize winner and $300 for Janet, who won second place.

For Leukemia Victim Carolers Net $35

A quartet of young girl carolers sang the traditional songs of Christmas throughout Northville Heights and Village Green subdivisions December 22 and 23 — and thereby raised $35 to help brighten the holiday for Mrs. Kathryn Keating and her leukemia-stricken son, Michael.

As Janie Stubenvoll, Betty Jo Terry, Ann Kipfer and Celeste Grysiwicz, all about 12 years old, prepared to go caroling "just in the spirit of Christmas" one of the fathers suggested that perhaps if residents offered money, it could be contributed to Mrs. Keating, whose appeal for work had appeared in The Record. After the girls collected $16 the first night, they repeated the caroling to gather a total of $35 which they presented to Mrs. Keating in her trailer-home December 24. She invited them in and later sent each a thank you card.

Prepare Child For Hospital Stay

A child in the hospital can have a frightening and lonely experience unless you, as parents, help him adjust to his new experience, notes the Oakland county Medical Society.

How?

First of all, prepare him for his new venture before taking him to the hospital. Children are like grown ups -- what they fear most is the unknown. Consider what parts of the experience are the unknown and familiarize him with them. Check with the hospital beforehand and get a general idea of a patient's typical day. Discuss this with your child and then be prepared to answer all his questions frankly.

If he is going to have surgery, explain in simple terms what is going to happen; and if he should ask about pain, don't deceive him. The shock of being tricked by those he trusts can be worse than pain. Let him know it will only hurt for a short while, but that he'll feel much better when it's all over. Above all, never show fear. The jitters are catching!

When you visit your child, don't discipline him. If anything, spoil him for a while. Normal discipline can be resumed when the child has returned home and is well. Bring him coloring books, puzzles, toys and if the doctor permits, his favorite cookies or cake. Let him tell you all about his experiences -- his medication, the friends he has met, etc., and in turn, fill him in on the news at home. Remind him that you have fed his pet turtle or goldfish.

When visiting time is over, don't make it an emotional parting -- no tears or hysterics. Although your child may cry, nurses are trained to take care of such a situation.

NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP, MICHIGAN

UP AND IN—Northville's Mark Cushing flies high to score a two-pointer in tourney play at River Rouge last week. Northville resumes league play Friday night at Clarkston and at home Saturday night, hosting Brighton.

Mustangs Falter, Fall to Thurston

With a bruised record and a few bruised bodies, the Northville Mustangs bowed out of the River Rouge holiday basketball tournament last week Wednesday.

Entering the annual tourney, Coach Dave Longridge's cagers had an unblemished record of 4-0, and they had high hopes of success against admittedly tougher opposition than they face in the Wayne-Oakland league.

Prospects brightened after Northville stumbled to a lackluster first game victory over cold-shooting Monroe. But then the roof caved in on the Mustangs.

Detroit Thurston, a team that whipped the Mustangs last year in the same tournament, took advantage of Northville's defensive lapses and sluggish play to do a repeat, 72-58.

Northville then squared off against Lincoln Park, beaten the night before by River Rouge, the team that predictably won its own tournament with ease for the seventh year in a row.

No easy mark, Lincoln Park beat Northville where the Mustangs were strongest—on the boards, and beat the local cagers into submission, 72-50. Lincoln Park's front line measured 6'5", 6'5" and 6'4".

So the Mustangs came out of what was hardly a holiday—three games in three days—with an over-all record of 5-2, and with experience against tougher opposition.

But all was not woe, at least as far as Longridge was concerned. With the exception of a dismal show against Thurston, and with nothing but W-O teams furnishing the opposition the rest of the season, Longridge was confident that his cagers would brace up for the home stretch—with reservations.

His team came away from the tournament with the same record as last year's outfit in tournament play, 1-2. "But the opposition was tougher this year," the Mustang coach said.

On the face of things, true, Lincoln Park and Thurston were improved ball clubs, but the Mustangs went into the tournament with basically the same big, veteran front line they had last year.

If Northville matches last year's post-tournament record, they should walk off with the title. Last year, the Mustangs, who entered the tournament with a 2-5 record, caught fire in the New Year and won the next 11 out of 14 games. And then capped the district crown.

This year's outfit, on the basis of its pre-vacation performance is in a much better position in the conference. The Mustangs are tied with West Bloomfield for the loop lead with a 3-0 mark.

They've yet, however, to meet the teams that now shape up as title contenders, to wit, West Bloomfield, Clarkston, Bloomfield Hills and Brighton.

Colts Edged Out of Tourney

Tranquilizers anybody?

Common sense has it that they should be sold at every Northville JV game for the rest of the season. The Colts are up to their hair raising (whether you have any or not), nerve jangling tactics.

They lost two games in the River Rouge tournament, but what a way to do it.

First it was top rated Ecorse. Northville pushed them to the limit before losing a heart-breaker, 74-68, in overtime. Three regulars sat on the bench in the extra minutes.

The tilt with Monroe, a welcome reprieve, was a methodical game which Northville won handily even though the score doesn't show it, 56-46.

The last game with tall, fired-up Lincoln Park Wednesday frayed those nerves to the breaking point. Northville lost, 61-60, in the third overtime.

Seconds before each overtime, Northville had an opportunity to bag the go-ahead bucket, but each time the Colts were thwarted. Twice the ball rolled off the rim, and another time, a Colt was called for traveling as the ball sailed through the net.

That last game was one to behold. The lead see-sawed back and forth as the smaller Colts battled the tall Lincoln Park cagers for the ball. A free throw was the margin after all that hustle.

"It was a pressure packed tournament," said Coach Kucher. "I was really proud of those boys. They played their hearts out. They're great competitors. With a break we could have taken the title."

The Colts, who entered the Rouge tournament with a 4-0 record, will re-enter Wayne-Oakland Conference play with a 5-2 slate over-all tomorrow night at 6:30. They will play Clarkston, then return home the following night to play the same time against Brighton.

Sharon Wins Majorette Nationals

A national twirling title has been added to the long list of accomplishments of a pert 12-year-old Northville girl.

Sharon Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thomas, 883 Allen drive, strutted on the boardwalk of Atlantic City, New Jersey with the best of them and came away with seven trophies from the National majorette pageant.

She won first place in the military strut category, third in the fancy strut and second in twirling, plus two second place awards in military and fancy costume modeling.

Happy to add these trophies to her growing collection, Sharon thanked Noder's Jewelry for sponsoring her in this portion of the nationals.

Northville Hardware was her sponsor in the highlight event at Atlantic City, the "Most Beautiful Majorette" competition. Out of 19 entries Sharon placed seventh and thus took the sixth runner-up trophy.

For having been twirling only three years she is justly proud. Most top-flight twirlers begin at about age three, her mother points out. The Thomas' showed no signs of regret for boosting their daughter along, even though their modest Village Green home is crowded with 103 trophies and 121 medals signifying the accomplishments of Sharon and Shirley, another twirling Thomas.

Danger! Skiing's Habit Forming

Skiing is probably the most unusual sport. It beckons to the toddler, the youngster, the older, who find any one of a number of reasons for taking to the slopes.

Some simply love the outdoors, some find a thrill in new accomplishment, some with an esthetic bent just enjoy the natural scenery, some love the social life that comes with skiing, ad infinitum.

Realistic or unrealistic as these claims may be, everyone would quickly agree that once you have the bug, once skiing is in your blood, there is nothing that compares with it.

Northville, Novi, South Lyon, all have their ski enthusiasts. They take to the hills, no matter the inconvenience, at the first hint of snow. In fact, they lie around all summer long with longer faces, waiting till the iceman cometh to make beautiful snow.

Now that the season's here at last, they're in what they consider the closest thing to heaven. The George Zerbel family, for one, is now in heaven.

Mister (George), Missus (Barbara), and their two daughters, Barbara and Sue, first began skiing 11 years ago. The Northvillites haven't stopped.

Mrs. Zerbel and 18-year-old Barbara are the two keenest skiers. If they had their way, every available moment would be spent whizzing down a hill with skis underfoot as fast as 50 or 60 miles per hour.

"Friends forced us into it," Mrs. Zerbel said. "I just love it. I live for it from one season to the next. I'm a nut."

She and daughter, Barbara, who attends Schoolcraft college but will transfer to Parsons College, Iowa, come February, would ski weekdays immediately after Barbara was out of school.

In their case, slope lighting is a blessing. Mother and daughter would set out for the hills at 4 p.m. and ski until 9 or 10. Seldom did they miss a day.

They've tried all nearby places: Mt. Brighton, Mt. Holly, Alpine, Crystall Bell and Pine Knob. Give them a hill and a little snow and off they go.

Cost of skiing locally is negligible to the Zerbels, since they own their own equipment. Tow fees are approximately $4. Cost of equipment rental is $4.

Most people relax indoors on weekends during cold, blustery winter days, especially after days and nights of vigorous activity. But not the Zerbels. It's off to the north country, where the snow is deep and the hills higher for a full weekend of fun on the slopes.

To ensure a spot at one of the resorts, the Zerbels make reservations ahead, depending on time of the season. For a week-end or week during the holiday season, reservations are made sometime in September or October. For any normal winter week-end, reservations are called in a week before.

Skiing at one of the northern resorts is costly, whether or not you own your own equipment. Lodging for four, which includes meals and tow fees, cost $150.

One thing is certain, good weather, snow and more snow, brings skiers out in force and lodges fill up quickly. It's part of the zany sport.

There's good reason why Mrs. Zerbel looks on skiing with an enthusiasm bordering on madness. "It's a thrill to wing your way down the hills," she said. "I get a sense of achievement out of it."

She and Barbara compete on friendly terms, and they have improved steadily over the years. Each claims the other is better. Both claim there is only one way to learn how to ski and to ski better—take lessons.

EDUCATION ON WHEELS—This mobile unit will display and demonstrate educational equipment for a language laboratory while parked at the Northville junior high school site on Main street from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. this Friday and from 9 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Saturday. Under sponsorship of the Northville parent-teacher area committee, consultants will be available to answer questions as parents visit the demonstrations and try some of the equipment. Equipment for a reading laboratory will be displayed in the junior high library during the demonstration visit. The mobile unit is being brought here as "a demonstration of how the Northville public schools might be able to meet some of the challenges of 'the revolution in education' and to show how electronic equipment can be included in the instructional program of any school system," according to the sponsoring committee.

Novi Landfill Denied; Cite Mining Violation

A petition to operate a sanitary landfill which was brought before the Novi board of appeals Tuesday night was side-tracked when the board learned that a mining operation on the Eight Mile road property of Philip Anderson, a village councilman, had violated the digging limits set in the original permit.

More than 50 people crowded the council chambers at the Novi village hall to register protests to the proposed landfill on Eight Mile road between Garfield and Napier roads. Several people in the group, which represented both Novi and Northville residents, suggested that the gravel digging operation, which is now taking place on the property, has exceeded the eight-acre limit that was granted to Anderson in 1960.

Upon studying the map presented by the Munn Contracting company the board noted that the size of the present excavation has exceeded the bounds, but the exact amount could not be determined. In addition the map showed that a second hole had been started on the property.

The landfill permit was being sought by the Munn Contracting company of Farmington, which would fill the present hole with rubish from the city of Detroit. The denial came after the board became aware of the alleged gravel pit violation by Anderson.

Village Manager Harold Ackley said that the denial of the Munn request will probably be taken to circuit court by Munn. Most of the 50 residents of the area left the chambers when the denial was made and an investigation of the matter promised by the board. Few heard the members only minutes later pass a motion empowering zoning officer Earl Bailey to issue a stop order on present mining.

Bailey said that the stop order will halt operations at the site until the board determines at its meeting next month whether Anderson is in violation and to what degree.

In other action the members denied permission for commercial electrical service in the garage of Leo Russell of 42201 Twelve Mile road.

Also denied was a permit for a dog kennel by Louis Chismark of 23980 LeBost.

Municipal Court

Only three trials of significance were held last week in the court of Northville Municipal Judge Charles McDonald.

Driving during the revocation of his license drew a $50 fine for Herbert C. Canaday, Jr. of 150 North Center. In addition he was ordered to spend two successive week-ends in DeHoCo starting January 8-9 or 60 days if the weekends were not served.

Robert Berryhill, 20, pleaded guilty to escaping from DeHoCo on December 15 and was given 45 additional days.

McDonald ordered Jesse Holman, 17, to spend an additional 60 days in DeHoCo after his escape on December 25.

Peter H. Ponta

To Speak On Russia

"Russia: Its Industry and Its People" will be the subject of a talk by Peter H. Ponta of the Ford Motor Company at the January 13 meeting of Northville's Presbyterian Men's Club.

Ed Langtry, Men's Club president, stated that 20 tickets have been sent to each of the other churches in Northville to encourage widespread attendance. Ponta, assistant group director of Ford's Latin American operations, recently returned from Russia and has won recognition for his addresses on the country.

The Men's Club meets in the Fellowship hall of the First Presbyterian church. Dinner is served at 6:30 p.m.

City Seeks Method to Build Water Line to New School

The possibility of extending city water service to the site of the proposed new Northville elementary school on West Eight Mile road is being given top-priority attention this week by the Northville city council.

At Monday night's regular session of the council Mayor A. M. Allen called for a special meeting Tuesday (last night) to explore means of financing.

City Engineer Harold Penn reported estimated cost of extending a city line along the north side of Eight Mile to the entrance of Northville Estates and then south under Eight Mile road to the school site at $67,900. He said the plan called for running a 16-inch line from a point on Eight Mile road near the high school athletic field to Taft road and then continuing to Northville Estates with a 12-inch line.

Penn said this line would be of sufficient size to serve all future development in the area.

Financing presents the major obstacle to the project. Vacant acreage along Eight Mile road makes special assessment procedure difficult. But Mayor Allen noted that eventually water service will be needed in that area, and meanwhile the school system is faced with the additional costs of installing its own well system.

School architects estimate that cost of providing a well and system to serve the school would be approximately $6,000.

E. V. Ellison, director of administrative services for the school system, attended Monday night's council meeting and stated that the school board would prefer "spending money for water lines instead of water wells".

He noted Tuesday that the estimated $6,000 cost for a well system might become as much as $12,000 if the fire marshal enforces a ruling that well systems at school buildings must have an auxiliary, standby system. This has been noted by the fire marshal to provide for a sprinkler system over the proposed school stage. Ellison said the board is hopeful, however, that this latter requirement will be removed.

Meanwhile, the board is scheduled to open bids Monday afternoon for digging a well at the school site. Whether or not the bid is awarded Monday night at the regular board meeting presumably depends upon the progress city fathers make in figuring out a way to finance the extension of service.

Plans call for completion of the new school by next August.

Master Plan

direction we want to go, although we may actually take side trips along the way."

The Northville Downs parking expansion program and central business district (CBD) plan currently in initial stages of development are important features because, said Zerbe, "time is running out on us. It is the most essential thing. We will concentrate on it first."

Staging of the CBD is detailed in the plan and will be accomplished over the 20-year period. It will consist of a circular outer drive around a 21.1-acre tract bounded by Beal, Dunlap, Wing and Hutton streets. In it parking will be given a 3-1 edge over business floor space, shrubbery malls will lend an attractive character to the shopping area in the center, streets will be extended to join the outer drive and others will be located to divert non-shopping traffic through the city.

First stage of the CBD development as planned would be construction of the circle drive between Main and Beal street and the connection of Beal. It has been proposed that this be done simultaneously with development of Northville Downs parking area north of Beal, which in the off-season would be available for business parking.

Current members of the city planning commission who intend to be on hand Saturday to answer questions and record comments from the public are: Chairman Zerbe; W. Wallace Nichols, vice chairman; Warren A. Stoddard, secretary; William A. Davis, James M. Dingwall, Charles R. Ely, Jr., Clarence E. Hinc, Harvey P. Ritchie, and Nelson C. Schrader, Jr. Aiding in developing the plan under a federal 701 program matching funds grant were planning consultants, Waring and Johnson.

For those who wish to view the plan prior to the hearing the text and maps are on display in the council chambers of the city hall during regular hours.

Assault Charges Leveled

Northville police Tuesday issued a warrant for the arrest of Howard Wright, 625 Grace street, on charges of assault and battery.

The warrant was issued after Nick Zander, 46150 Seven Mile road, signed a complaint against Wright.

Police report that Wright came to Nick's Barbershop on Seven Mile road and asked Zander to step outside. Wright then began to hit Zander, who fought back, and, according to police, when Zander asked an employee to call police Wright fled. Two persons in the shop, police report, were witnesses to the incident.

PASTOR'S STUDY

Reverend Lloyd Brasure
First Presbyterian Church of Northville

Closing out the old calendar year is merely a formality to many and no great charm other than catching up on book work and year end records. There is perhaps the nostalgic note for some who gain a sense of reverence for the meaning of life and time and fortune in this earthly existence. We sometimes say, "Where has the time gone?" or as the Romans said long ago, "Tempus fugit."

Northville people have experienced the normal amount of change, have accepted new responsibilities, have suffered with disease and the loss of loved ones and all in all have reflected the successes and failures that come to all people.

Through the past twelve months we might even have learned some new idea or grasped some new way of expressing our philosophy of life. In a community of this size, we learn more about the problems of our living room and the people in it that take the yoke of responsibility. I can think of many public servants in this city who deserve at this time of year a hearty thank you for representing the people.

So much of our leadership serves without remuneration other than the satisfaction of service. We owe a vote of thanks to our news media for recording the passing of time in the events, the concerns and the people as they travel across these pages of local history in the making.

In all of this I can see a place for the moral lesson of the day. Northville will not cease having problems and headaches. No growing organism is free of this. Change and growth cause some pains. We should learn to grow in the love of God and fellowman as we join hand and heart in the affection for the truth and the milk of human kindness.

Northville needs all of us hard at work to study, to improve, to adapt and put into force all talents and skills. God works with us and through us when we dedicate ourselves to lofty purposes. May the new year draw from all of us a sense of the importance of a reconciling attitude. We need each other altogether and always.

HAPPY NEW YEAR TO A LOVELY GROWING LITTLE CITY!

Start the year ...

right! Look and plan ahead. Examine what this new year may hold for you. Prepare for the unexpected. Let me show you plans to provide income when you can't work.

PROBABLY
WITH SOMETHING!

Even a frown can worry Mother. And when he has a fever—she always fears the worst!

Did you know, Mother, that more children fall victim to spiritual neglect than any of the crippling diseases we dread? It has wrecked the fond hopes and bold dreams of hundreds of thousands of parents.

Yet it isn't a disease, at all! It is a HESITATION; hesitating to start our child in Church School, hesitating to go with him and worship God, hesitating to discuss at home the need for moral and religious foundation for the whole family.

Face it today! Do something about it next Sunday! Choose YOUR church. And make it YOUR church. And through a lifetime of worship and faith it can be for your child... HIS church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

CLARA FARMER of the "Little People Shoppe" resolved "to have a half-day off every week during the new year."

H. R. NODER, owner of Noder's Jewelers, has resolved to "never kiss an alligator."

SIGN HERE, 660 Times—Donald Lawrence (seated), Northville school board treasurer, and Board President W. C. Becker are shown starting the chore of signing some 660 school bonds, worth $3,300,000. The money will be used to purchase sites and construct a new elementary and junior high school, build a swimming pool and make other improvements at the high school. First of Michigan corporation was low bidder for the bonds at an interest rate of 3.75846. Until the money is used it will be deposited as short term notes at Manufacturers National Bank at rates ranging from 4.625 to 4.76 per cent.

Washtenaw Community College Site Chosen

A 235-acre site equidistant between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti was selected recently as the location of the Washtenaw Community College campus.

The college's Board of Trustees took the action unanimously December 22.

The property, now known as the Huron Valley Farms, will cost $3,500 an acre, placing the total cost of the land at approximately $822,500.

The acreage is north of Washtenaw road, south of the Huron River and east of US-23. In addition to the orchard's fruit trees, the campus site also features a natural hardwood forest.

The property is now owned by Jarvis and Pearl Franzblau and the estate of Rose and Pearl Franzblau.

Final agreement on the purchase awaits the completion of final test borings, to determine the suitability of the land for construction, and approval from the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission for a bond issue to cover the purchase cost and preliminary planning.

The Board of Trustees authorized immediate steps to be taken to sell $2,000,000 of bonds to cover the first portion of the cost of the new campus. The preparation of final architectural, educational specifications, and site development plans will entail most of 1966; therefore, the balance of the present bonding limitation can be deferred in the hopes of a more favorable bond market.

The new campus, lying approximately three miles east of Ann Arbor and the same distance from Ypsilanti, is extremely accessible from all parts of Washtenaw county.

First buildings on the new campus will be completed in 1968. In the meantime, the board hopes to find temporary quarters for the purpose of beginning some courses in September, 1966. During the coming months, educational specifications will be developed to provide an "outstanding college program in technical, vocational, semi - professional and liberal arts programs," Harmon said.

Announcement of the site selection culminates a six-month-long study of possible campus locations.

Set Hearing for Landfill

A public hearing will be conducted by the Salem Township zoning board of appeals to consider a request for operation of a sanitary landfill on some 63 acres at 7645 Chubb road near the C and O Railroad.

The hearing has been called for 8 p.m. Monday, January 17 at the Salem Township hall.

The request was made on behalf of Emil Raski by Attorney Edward Draugelis and Mrs. Norma Schmemman, real estate agent.

To the Editor:
The Maybury Sanatorium is deeply grateful to each individual Santa who provided Christmas gifts for a child at this hospital — gifts that were wanted by the small patient as indicated in his letter. I would wish that each and every one of you good Santas could be at the sanatorium on Christmas morning to see the Christmas distribution and the fun that is possible in a hospital — fun and joy made possible by good friends. I express to you, for each child, a "THANK YOU".

She's New Voice on Novi Radio

"One reason things don't shock me; I've seen the inside of state hospitals and training schools." This is one statement this week by the prettiest dispatcher on the Novi police force, Mrs. Joan Lockwood.

Formerly Miss Joan Smith, daughter of H. B. Smith of 345 Orchard drive, Northville, and for three years a student at Central Michigan university, she has learned to control her emotions through studying to teach emotionally disturbed children.

Mrs. Joan Lockwood-On Duty

Still... "Everytime the fire phone rings I jump and my chair slides backwards a few feet," she admits. "Outwardly I remain calm, but inside I'm excited for about an hour after such calls."

"I have to keep calm. I know people are counting on me." On the afternoon shift in the file-filled cage of the police dispatch office since October 28 of this year, Mrs. Lockwood says nothing really exciting has happened during her hours of duty, yet. The same morning of the day she was interviewed, her midnight shift predecessor had handled a fatal accident involving another police force, ambulance, hospital, family and press calls.

"I like it real well," she was able to say easily. "It's not too strenuous and it's a lot of fun." Fun to her included knowing the details of the fatal accident while they had not yet been released to the reporter. "Like sitting here knowing I know and you don't," she put it.

Diligently the reporter got his story, of her and of the fatal accident. He forgot to ask if the latter took away her fun.

Working is a necessity and the dispatcher's job was circumstance, she said, claiming no overriding prior desires to be in the mainstream of crisis after crisis which are revealed to police as to none others.

Actually she pines to be reunited with a husband of only a few months who is now stationed in far away France with the Air Force, A/3c James Lockwood of Plymouth.

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO

-- The Wixom City Council Tuesday night appointed D'Arcy Young as chief of police for the city. Young succeeds Frank Jadzinski who served as chief for seven years. Young began his police work in Novi in 1954, and moved to the Wixom force in 1959.

-- The Christmas spirit was somewhat hampered at the residence of the Reverend Lloyd Brasure. An eight foot Christmas tree was taken from the back porch of the Brasure home late December 22, the Brasures did manage, however, to find a tree, but it did not measure up to the Pennsylvania grown tree that was taken.

-- After 32 years of service in the Army Reserves Colonel Harry Smith, principal of the Main street school, retired as commanding officer of the 309th at a formal ceremony at the Zussman Armory on December 21.

-- At a public hearing slated for January 12th interested citizens of Northville will hear the plans for a 135-acre subdivision discussed. The proposed $10 million project on Eight Mile and Taft roads will contain 225 homes and a like number of apartment dwellings. When completed the project would add a 25% increase to the Northville population. The meeting will be held in the council chambers.

FIVE YEARS AGO

-- Work is underway on the new East Dunlap street offices of Dr. Lorne Dyer. Occupancy of the $60,000 structure is expected by spring.

-- Work on the new city hall for Wixom has once more picked up with the arrival of the windows for the building. Because of this delay, officials are doubtful that occupancy is possible before mid-January.

-- The Novi planning board Monday decided to turn over plans for the development of the village to the Citizens Development committee.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

-- An accident at Six Mile and Pontiac Trail hospitalized two Northville men. Ken and Max Coe of Cady street were sent to Saint Joseph hospital after the collision with the car of Tom Widmaier of Randolph street.

-- The Lloyd H. Green post of the American Legion with the assistance of four auxiliaries, packed 100 service baskets and gifts for the veterans at Maybury and Eastlawn Sanatoriums. Mrs. Merrill Sweet, chairman of the committee, said that the packages contained toiletry items and homemade candies.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

-- The first sale of newspapers by the Northville Goodfellows brought $260.23 for the Christmas project. The money was used to provide Christmas gifts for patients at four area institutions.

-- "Susanne Hall", the country home of R. S. Howell at 710 East Eight Mile road was the first place winner in Northville's home decorating contest. The winners receive the silver challenge trophy that must be won for three years in succession to keep for permanent possession. In the merchant's division, the first place trophy went to Orlov G. Owen's Men shop, they also received a silver challenge trophy.

Future Food Shortage Seen

LANSING — A unique solution to at least temporarily quell the farmers' cries over the U.S. Government farm program has been proposed in Washington which has particular significance for Michigan.

Originally proposed by U.S. Sen. George McGovern, of South Dakota, the measure has been introduced in the House by Michigan's own Rep. John C. Mackie, who represents the Genesee-Lapeer District.

Farmers have for several years screamed that the government should get completely out of their business and stop paying people money not to grow certain crops.

"At first I thought we ought to get the government out, but I did a little studying when I got to Washington and decided that wasn't practical," says Mackie.

The first-term Congressman had a farm of his own in Holt, south of Lansing, during the years he served as Michigan's highway commissioner. He experienced a sharp run-in with the Federal government over a small amount of wheat acreage. He plowed it under after a series of protests.

So he knows well, and sympathizes with, the farmer's view of the farm program and policies.

Information gathered in Washington indicated to Mackie that McGovern had a sound idea. He received permission for the Senator to put the bill through the House.

Now known as the McGovern-Mackie bill, the proposal has been dubbed the World Food and Nutrition Act.

It proposes to solve the American farm surplus problem and the world's starvation problem by paying U.S. farmers for growing food to be used in an expanded Food for Peace program. The food would be bought from the farmers and "sold, exchanged or donated to nations without adequate nutritional supplies."

BIG TROUBLE is things change too fast, Food scientists are already predicting a food shortage so severe by 1970 that millions of people will starve. This, despite all the food the U.S. can grow and export plus what other can produce.

George Borgstrom, internationally famous MSU food authority and author of a new book, "The Hungry Planet," writes that the population explosion makes it nearly impossible to keep up the present, inadequate level of food production. He urges an immediate and massive effort be made to face up to this growing problem.

There is every indication that new legislation dealing with food for the world's hungry should be undertaken soon, but only after the best possible understanding of all the problems involved has been grasped.

PRESSURE will be on in 1966 for the legislature to provide funds to students who choose to attend private colleges in Michigan.

PERCENTAGES of Michigan students attending the private schools have dropped although the numbers have increased. If students were given grants for private college tuition on a noncompetitive basis, this would lessen the need for added public facilities and thus decrease the budget expenditure for the state-supported colleges and universities, the private school group argues.

Interest Hike Necessary

BABSON PARK, Mass. — Everybody wants money. Businessmen are borrowing it. So are house owners, consumers, towns, and speculators in common stocks and real estate. Bank loans to business have climbed 20% in the most recent twelve-month period. Just how rapid a rush into debt this is can be measured by contrasting the 7% to 10% advances in commercial loans that took place in the three prior years.

Everybody is in favor of prosperity. As Al Smith once so aptly put it, nobody wants to "shoot Santa Claus". It is widely understood today that without abundant money supplies made available through borrowings, the business boom of recent years would run out of steam and grind to a halt.

But, unfortunately, it is not so widely understood that money supply created by borrowing means that for every dollar of loan there must be an offsetting dollar of debt. Debt which must one day be repaid. Furthermore, history clearly shows that the gravest economic difficulties beset the businessman and consumer alike when credit (debt) becomes overextended. Any upset to the economy could start a rush for the liquidation doors. And a prosperity that was floating along merrily on tide of credit suddenly would become swamped in a sea of debt.

That is what the U.S. money managers were worrying about when they hiked the rediscount rate from 4% to 4 1/2% on December 3. For some time, debt had been expanding more rapidly than the output of our economy. The Federal Reserve Board is charged by a law that was written over a half century ago with the duty of providing business with sufficient credit to meet legitimate needs for growth...but not so much as to touch off a runaway inflationary boom.

But human nature hasn't changed. Just as in the late 19th Century — in the days of William Jennings Bryan who visualized the "hard money" men of that era as crucifying the nation on a "cross of gold" — the "easy money" men of today sprang immediately to attack the Conservative Members of the Federal Reserve Board as foes of the "little man" and as "boom killers".

To understand why the money managers acted contrary to the expressed point of view of the President and of many congressmen, who should scan the history of U.S. banking, we started well enough with a federal central bank; but the great populist, Andrew Jackson, soon returned banking to "the people", in the form of state banks. The record of boom and bust was so notorious that a National Banking System was voted in 1863. This too saw a succession of credit expansions and disastrous debt contractions. Finally, the Federal Reserve Act set up the present system providing that the governing board be independent of political influence.

Hence, if any Administration should "pack" the Board with "easy-money" governors, the basic intent of the Federal Reserve Act would be destroyed. Even more important, the U.S., in the eyes of the Free World, would be viewed as an irresponsible inflationist. The impact on the dollar and on our prestige worldwide could be disastrous.

One of the first and truly biggest jobs for the U.S. today is to contain the Red tide in Asia. War's escalation could bring huge demands for financing our effort there. The interest rate on U.S. bonds must be high enough to attract buyers. The Fed's action in hiking rates may accomplish just that. And, in the long run, if more costly interest keeps prosperity from spinning off course, the price will be a small one. But we must not forget that three decades ago an aroused people beat back a move to pack the Supreme Court. If a packing of the Reserve Board becomes an issue in the months ahead, we can again have real hope that the public will rise to the defense of the independence of our money and credit "watchdogs".

| 10. Do you take time out to evaluate yourself, both strengths and weaknesses? | () | () |

ANSWERS:

1. YES: "When a man has God-given inner-calm, he is not likely to be disturbed by man-made storms." (Norman Vincent Peale, D.D.)
2. YES: "I'm an engineer, trained to anticipate problems. I knew that sooner or later every one of my predecessors had had to face a barrage of criticism. So when I moved into the White House, I was prepared." (Herbert Hoover)
3. YES: "Rest satisfied with doing well, and leave others to talk of you as they please." (Pythagoras)
4. NO: "If you believe in fate, believe in it, at least, for your own good." (Edward Bulwer-Lytton)
5. YES: "If the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference." (Abraham Lincoln)
6. NO: "To Profess affection for everyone you meet is to lie to yourself." (Anonymous)
7. NO: "Let not our babbling dreams affright our souls." (William Shakespeare)
8. YES: "Kindness is stronger than malice." (Norman Vincent Peale D.D.)
9. YES: If you understand others, you see the wisdom in the words of Disraeli: "It is much easier to be critical than correct."
10. YES: "He that knows himself knows others; and he that is ignorant of himself, could not write a very profound lecture on other men's heads." (Caleb Colton)

SCORING:

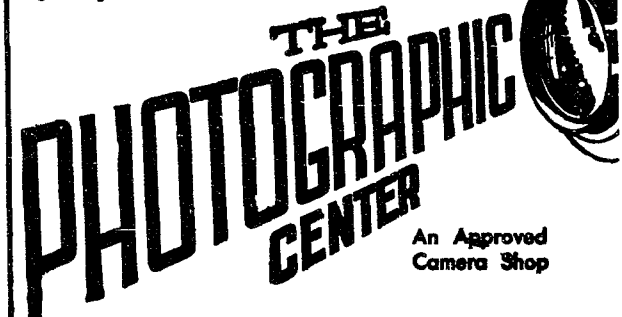

8 to 10 correct answers: In all likelihood, you profit by criticism and are not hurt by it. You approach your problems rationally and with well-controlled emotions.

4 to 7 correct answers: You tend to brood when negative remarks are made, but fortunately for you, it depends on who is handing out the criticism and your own frame of mind at the time.

0 to 3 correct answers: You are easily hurt by criticism because of your sensitive nature and your introversion. Remember of the words of the great piano teacher Theodor Leschetizky. "We learn much from the disagreeable things people say, for they make us think; whereas the good things only make us glad."

SPEAKING

for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Planning is just fine, but one day the time comes when plans must be initiated, or dropped.

It's at this point that judgment really counts; blueprints become mortar and bricks; words become reality; and errors fair game for all second-guessers.

So with the thought well in mind that the decision-makers carry the burden of responsibility it never-the-less becomes more apparent each day that Northville's city council must soon make a judgment.

In particular, I'm referring to the planning commission's comprehensive plan, and an appeal from Northville Downs' John Carlo.

Both concern major decisions in handling of traffic in Northville's central business district.

Planners have mapped a layout for a circular drive around the central business district. They're holding open house on the plan Saturday afternoon before passing it along to the city council with recommendations for adoption.

Carlo has advanced proposals not unlike the planning commission's designed to solve a mounting problem of track traffic flow.

The two plans are compatible, but present some differences and decisions for priority.

A time for judgment has arrived and most councilmembers would admit that they have had more than adequate time to ponder.

At a private session with Carlo recently the council learned how imperative traffic improvements and additional parking are to the track. Members also learned just how high city stakes are in the proposed track expansion.

And councilmembers have heard explanations of the master plan so often that the presentation has been committed to memory.

The planning commission has outlined a plan which it believes to be conducive to the orderly and prosperous growth of our community; Northville Downs is ready to construct an $800,000 clubhouse facility and build a twin to its present grandstand.

Both await answers and decisions by the council.

The mayor indicated in his statement of forecast for 1966 that he is ready to move this year. Other members have expressed a willingness to proceed.

But the decision to act - or not act - still remains to be made.

Congratulations to Leonard Bogotaitis and his Ugashonton Club.

The 10-member boys club, which always does something at Christmastime to help others, decided this year to treat Northville's youngsters.

The club purchased all the seats to the P & A Theatre for the evening of December 23 and some 200 area youngsters enjoyed a free movie and candy.

Tragedy Lurks At Movie Pickup

To the Editor:

Every weekend a potentially dangerous traffic situation for our children exists here in town. I am referring to the common practice of double and triple parking on both sides of Main Street by parents picking up their children from the Saturday and Sunday matinees at the theater. Perhaps this unthinking and negligent practice will turn into tragedy for some otherwise careful parent.

I have admittedly been guilty of this practice in the past and it was only after I once tried to cross the street through all these parked cars and exuberant children that I became fully aware of all the hazards involved.

I realize that none of these parents would deliberately place their child in jeopardy yet that is exactly what they are doing by such action. In the first place, the weather conditions that may prompt many parents to wait in their heated cars are also responsible for less than perfect traffic conditions. Secondly, these same usually careful parents are causing their children to practice unsafe habits by having them cross through these parked cars. Can a child always distinguish between when such acts are permissible and when they are not? Added to this is the fact that most of these children emerge from the show full of energy with their minds still occupied on the proceedings of the previous two hours.

I cannot imagine any parent who is not doubly careful when picking up their children because of the hazards mentioned but perhaps someone else passing through who is either unaware or unattentive to the conditions could cause a tragic Saturday or Sunday afternoon here in Northville.

I don't think it should be necessary for the police to become involved in directing traffic to keep parents from illegally double parking.

The only remedy to the situation that I see exists in its termination. This would mean Mother or Dad would have to park their nice warm car, walk those few steps in the cold and safely escort their charges across the street. Is it worth it?

A Concerned Mother

Service Praised

Dear Editor:

Recently our part of town was blanketed by darkness due to a fallen tree resulting in power failure. And right in the midst of our inclement weather, emergency crews from the power company went to work. They began soon after midnight and continued for several hours until all power was restored.

It was not for them to sit in comfort. No, they had to brave the wind, cold, and snow plus the danger. There they were on the job.

Perhaps we do not appreciate this sort of public service as we should. Truly, those men were getting pay for their work, but some things are a little hard to pay for. The discomfort, the ever-present danger of that high voltage - these are hard to price properly.

This is not the only example of behind-the-scenes public services which are afforded us. The companies, institutions, persons, etc. contributing to such are innumerable. But I would like to express my personal gratitude to all those who have and will serve on such "teams"!!

In the next five years, Michigan will need about 100,000 new jobs each year, just to sustain population growth. The key to creating these new jobs is industrial expansion. And Consumers Power Company's Area Development department is working constantly to help existing industry and bring new industry to this area. One phase of this effort is to advertise regularly for new industry in national publications like The Wall Street Journal and Business Week. These topical advertisements, shown above, reach over 1 million readers. Helping provide the jobs we'll be needing tomorrow is part of our obligation to serve the people of Michigan.
