

800 Homes Planned for Farm Crest Land

A $20 million development of more than 800 homes is slated for Northville township.

Announcement by the Thompson-Brown Company that it had negotiated an option with Robert Haass to purchase 340 acres on both sides of Six Mile road at Bradner was made this week.

The property includes the site of the Farm Crest Dairy, which lost its huge cattle barn in a spectacular fire last November. Robert H. Carey, president of Thompson-Brown emphasized that only an option had been obtained. But he admitted that a substantial deposit had been made and that partial purchase must be completed by August, followed by immediate development staging, or the option deposit would be forfeited.

Thompson-Brown has become a major developer in Northville in recent weeks. The firm just completed purchase of 135 acres from Mrs. Gerald Taft at Eight Mile and Taft roads. Last week a portion of the site lying outside the city limits was annexed to the city by joint action of the city council and township board.

This development has been estimated at some $20 million and will include some 200 homes and an equal number of apartment dwellings. Carey noted the city project had been reduced somewhat by the anticipated sale of 10 acres on Taft road to the school district for a junior high school and the reservation of five acres on Eight Mile road for a proposed new site for the First Methodist church.

The township development on the Haass property is twice the size of the city project. Carey said it would be undertaken in orderly development extending some eight to 10 years.

While the number of homes planned depends upon final zoning determination for the area, Carey said that development would begin on the south side of Six Mile along Bradner. This parcel includes 175 acres. It is adjacent to the new Lakepointe Village Forest subdivision planned by the Greenspan company on Bradner road. The latter development calls for 357 homes on 118 acres with a 16-acre park site. It is scheduled to begin this spring.

Water and sewer facilities are both available in the Six Mile-Bradner area, although the township is faced with a shortage of capacity in the Middle Rouge Interceptor sewer system. Presently, the township has approximately 800 taps remaining in the interceptor. Another 700-800 taps have been allocated the township, Supervisor R. D. Merriam reports, but no firm financial arrangements have been established by the county for purchase of the capacity.

While development plans on Thompson-Brown's new township project will probably move slowly until August, the company is moving ahead with its project in the city.

Carey said present plans call for complete development of the south side of Eight Mile road. House selling will begin in early 1967, he stated. Development will then move to the proposed apartment complex on the north side of Eight Mile road at Taft and then move into the single family residences along both sides of Taft road. Carey estimated that three years would be required to sell-out the city development.

Ronald Hesse Wins Crown Of 1st Baby

The new year was less than an hour old when Ronald James Hesse was born. He has been crowned "First Baby of 1966" in the Northville-No. 1 area and will receive a host of prizes from local merchants as the winner of the annual contest. Ronald is the "earliest" First Baby in the 10-year history of the local contest.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Frederick Hesse of 264 Hutton street, Northville, will collect the rewards, to be sure. But it was infant Ronald's sudden lust for life that made it all possible.

You see, he wasn't expected on the scene for another month. His mother and father had just settled down to a New Year's eve dinner in an Inkster restaurant about 8 p.m., unaware of the imminent birth of their first child along with the occasion they were celebrating. The waitress had scarcely delivered the menu to the table when Mrs. Hesse announced the event.

Off Mom and Dad (to be) rushed at breakneck speed to Ridge-wood hospital at Ypsilanti and at 12:50 a.m. six-pound King

Ronald greeted the new year. It was the first baby for Mr. and Mrs. Hesse, too. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James E. Steele of Plymouth. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Frank Hesse of Plymouth.

The father is a foreman-welder in his fourth year with Dura-tainer Company of Plymouth. Mom is a housewife.

How does she feel about the baby? "I think he's out of this world, of course." Father must feel the same way, too. Said mother, "I'm quite proud of (him) because he's already fed (the baby)."

In King Ronald's honor the parents will receive: A baby blanket from Brader's Department store, baby toiletry kit from Northville Drug, three-piece silver set from H. R. Noder's Jewelry, Tot-Toter from D & C store, gift certificate from The Little People Shop, 24 jars of baby food from Kroger, a month's supply of milk from Cloverdale Farms Dairy, dinner for mother and father at the Old Mill Restaurant, and a vaporizer from Novi Rexall Drug.

Baby Ronald Hesse also claimed the distinction of being the first baby born in Washtenaw county. Another close contestant this year was Mark Knott, born at 2:23 p.m. January 4 to Mr. and Mrs. Karl Knott, 857 Novi street, Northville. Mark, born at St. Mary hospital, Livonia, weighed seven pounds-three ounces. He is home now being admired by his sister, Ingebeth, 4, and brother, Frank, 9.

Meet Tonight

Offstreet parking will be discussed by the Retail Merchants division of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce tonight.

The businessmen's group will meet at eight o'clock in the downstairs conference room of Detroit Federal Savings.

Ticket Sales Promoted As Judy Tribute Nears

Activity began anew this week in planning for the postponed Steve Judy banquet.

Scheduled for Tuesday evening, January 25, the program was re-scheduled from December 8 after Steve's father, Richard Judy, suffered a heart attack. The senior Judy recovered sufficiently to attend the Rose Bowl game.

Program Chairman Essie Nirider, president of the co-sponsoring Chamber of Commerce, said ticket sales are under way again and that all principles originally invited to take part in the tribute will be on hand. They include Duffy Daugherty, head coach of the Michigan State University football team; Norm Masters, a former All-American lineman from MSU and ex-member of the professional Green Bay Packers, who will serve as master of ceremonies; and Don Japping, who served as co-captain along with Steve on the Big Ten championship Spartans squad.

Ticket sales are being handled by Dave Biery, who reports brisk sales. Tickets may be purchased at Manufacturers National Bank, Northville Drug, Northville Hardware, Detroit Federal Savings, and The Northville Record.

Biery urges all persons planning to attend to purchase tickets as early as possible to enable completion of banquet plans. Deadline is January 22.

The banquet will be held in the high school gymnasium beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Judy, a standout performer in football, basketball and baseball at Northville high school, has been MSU's first string signal caller for three years. He led the Spartans to an undefeated season and a national championship during the past season.

Although the Spartans and Steve suffered an "off day" in their Rose Bowl game against UCLA, Judy sparkled as quarterback for the North All-Stars in the 20th annual Hula Bowl game played in Honolulu last Friday night. Steve was voted the game's outstanding back as he lead the

Tax Hike Seen At Schoolcraft

An increase in the millage rate levied by Schoolcraft college can be expected in the five-district community college area of Northville, Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia and Plymouth.

The college's board of trustees has also indicated it will call for an election to ask voters to permit raising the allowable limit for operating millage from one to 1.25 mills.

In an opinion submitted by the college's legal representative--the firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone--it was learned last week that Schoolcraft college is now under the charter provision of community college law as set forth in the newstate constitution.

This means that the one mill voted by electors of the district to be used for both operation and bond retirement may now be used entirely for operating expenses and that additional millage may be levied outside the one mill to retire present outstanding bonds.

Dr. Eric Bradner, college president, said that it is expected that the additional millage needed to pay off bonds will be one-half a mill. He said this could be less if state aid increases.

But Dr. Bradner admitted that the remaining one mill will not be sufficient to meet operating needs. He said the board of trustees had agreed to seek a raise in the operating limit of one-quarter of one mill.

While no election date has been set, it appears certain that the college will ask the voters for the 1.25 mill limit at the April 4 election to establish a community college throughout the remaining area of Wayne county. The newly proposed Wayne county community college will seek a 1.25 operating millage limit.

In other Schoolcraft college business at last week's board of trustees meeting the board heard the director of the state highway department, Howard Hill, discuss three possible routes for the proposed I-96 highway. The routes were: cross the Schoolcraft campus along its eastern boundary; missing the campus by passing to the west between Hawthorne Center and Northville State Hospital; and following the route of the present Haggerty road.

The board voted to oppose the suggestion of using the present

Haggerty road because it would upset the college campus master plan.

A summer music festival on campus during July was also approved. The program will be directed by Wayne Dunlap and will give advanced music students an opportunity to receive instruction and participate in concerts.

Weber Returns To School Board

E. O. Weber was appointed to the Northville board of education Monday night to fill the unexpired term of Edward F. Angove until the next school election in June.

In appointing Weber the board was filling the vacancy caused by Mr. Angove's death last month with one of his former fellow board members. Until he was unseated by Donald B. Lawrence in the school election last June, Weber had served as a board member, having won a one-year term in the June, 1964, election. When he ran for re-election in June, 1965, he lost to Lawrence.

While Angove's unexpired term runs until June 30, 1967, Weber will serve only until June 30, 1966, at which time the remaining one year will be filled by election. At this election two four-year terms also will be filled. These presently are held by William B. Crump and Robert H. Shafer.

Ironically, Weber first won election to the board to fill a resignation by Lawrence, who was transferred out of town. He later was returned to the area by Evans Products and ran in the last school election successfully.

In appointing Weber the board cited his familiarity with the board's expansion programs.

Weber lives with his wife and two children, 11 and 12, at 20360 Woodhill road. He is 42 and holds bachelor and master degrees in business administration from the University of Michigan. Before military service as an Air Force pilot he attended General Motors Institute in Flint as an automotive engineering student.

He is manager of salaried personnel and training of the Ford General Parts Division in charge of recruiting, placement and salary administration.

During the two-and-a-half years he has lived in Northville Weber has served as chairman of the Northville school transportation committee in 1964, PTA council delegate to the board of education, 1963-4; president of Main street PTA, 1964-5; and presently is junior high PTA vice-president. He is past president of the Northville Players Guild and was awarded the Boss of the Year award in 1963 and the Jaycee Distinguished Service award in 1956.

Landfill Bid

To Novi Council

Meeting in special session Saturday the Novi board of appeals voted to recommend approval of a request to operate a sanitary landfill on the property of Philip Anderson on West Eight Mile road between Garfield and Napier roads.

The request had been side-tracked by a technicality last week, but passed by unanimous vote Saturday. Still unsettled, however, is a "show cause" order issued by the board on a charge that a mining operation on the Anderson property has exceeded its limitations.

Presumably, the Novi village board will act on the recommendation to issue a landfill permit at its regular meeting Monday night.

Attend Meeting Of Townships

Two members of the Northville township board are attending sessions of the 13th annual Michigan Townships' Association convention in Lansing this week.

They are Clerk Marguerite Young and Treasurer Alex Lawrence.

Township Building Tops $2 Million

Building activity in Northville township during 1965 totaled a record $2,142,957.

The "over-$2 million" mark made a prophet out of Township Clerk Marguerite Young. She had predicted last year that the rapidly-developing township would top $2 million in building in 1965

A breakdown of the building activity in the township reveals permits issued for: 41 residences, $1,160,750; two industrial and commercial buildings, $130,000; one community building, $58,000; one apartment building, $60,000; two schools, $610,000; and 68 garages, additions and improvements, $124,207.

The community building permit was issued for the new apartment project on Northville road between Six and Seven Mile roads. The apartment permit was issued for the same project. The school building permits include one grade school building in the Plymouth school district portion of the township and the other an addition to Our Lady of Providence school on Beck road.

The township topped the city in building during the past year. As reported last week, city projects totaled $1,672,915.

Travel Film Set Later

Because its next travel film is scheduled for the same night as the Steve Judy tribute, the Northville Rotary club announced this week that the time of the film would be delayed one-half hour to 8:30 p.m.

Scheduled for showing at the high school auditorium on January 25 is Owen Lee "Exploring Inner Space", a trip beneath the Red Seas, the Mediterranean, the Indian Ocean and the Caribbean Reefs.

Chairman Richard Lyon reports plenty of tickets available.

News Around Northville

Members of the Northville-Plymouth branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom will meet with Miss Helen Beavers, 1017 Holbrook, Plymouth, at 8:30 p.m. Monday for an open discussion session.

Orient chapter, Past Matrons club, will meet at 12:30 p.m., Wednesday, January 19, at the home of Mrs. William Monroe, 49438 Pine street, Plymouth, for a dessert luncheon and business meeting.

Sharye Lee Mills, Adrian college freshman majoring in education, has pledged Sigma Sigma Sorority at the college. She also is a member of the elite wind ensemble of outstanding musicians on the campus, according to the college newsletter, which also reports she has been assigned first chair in the oboe section of the Adrian college band.

Mrs. Carl H. Johnson, 800 West Main street, is in Chicago this week on a buying trip for Greyhound corporation. She is merchandise manager for the firm.

In town for a brief visit last week were former Northville residents Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Biery, who moved late last year to Devon, Pennsylvania. During a business trip they saw their son and his family, the David Bierys, 43715 Dorisa court, and, among other friends, the Allen Buckleys. They report that they now live just two miles away from the Fred Van Attas, also former Northville residents. The entire Biery clan celebrated the holidays in Florida where the Dick Bierys make their home.

The John A. Colden family returned Monday to Northville after a three-week Christmas visit to Fort Myers Beach, Florida. The Coldens and their children Claude, Grace, and Charles, 647 Thayer boulevard, spent the holidays at Fort Myers Beach and Sami Bel Island, which, Mrs. Colden reports, are "two of the best areas in the country-- and even in the world--for shell collecting." This is a family hobby.

The Coldens also made a side trip to Naples on the Gulf coast during their sojourn. At Fort Myers they visited former Northville residents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Correll, who retired to Florida several years ago.

DAR Chapter Fetes 39th Year

Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will celebrate its 39th birthday at a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Monday, January 17, at Lofy's, 42390 Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

Guests of the chapter will be the following regents of other area chapters: Miss Grace Clark, General Richardson chapter, Pontiac; Mrs. Marvin R. Putnam, Elizabeth Cass chapter; Mrs. Wilbur J. Dickson, Ezra Parker chapter, Royal Oak; Mrs. Jonah Hale, John Hackett chapter, Redford; and Mrs. Norman L. Parker, Louisa St. Clair chapter, Detroit.

Ellen McNeiece Performs In 'Monique' Production

A leading role in the Plymouth Theatre Guild's production of "Monique," described as a mystery with a "bit of supernatural" is being played by Ellen McNeiece of Woodhill road, Northville.

The play will be produced at 8:15 p.m. tonight, Friday and Saturday in the Plymouth high school auditorium.

Mrs. McNeiece's role is that of the Shrewish Lucienne, the leading man's wife. She has appeared in many little theatre productions in various parts of the country and last year acted in "Ladies in Retirement," produced by the Northville guild in which she also has a membership.

Disciples Returning To Plymouth State Home

A return appearance of the Disciples, a five-piece musical group of Northville young men, is scheduled for this evening at the Plymouth State Home and Training School under sponsorship of Beta Sigma Phi sorority. The sorority sisters are bringing the musical group to entertain 65 resident teenagers at the home as part of their rehabilitation work. Refreshments will be served after the program.

Recreation workers at the home reported the Disciples first appearance November 11 was so much enjoyed by the young people that the return dance was scheduled.

The sorority held its annual holiday party in December at the home of Mrs. John A. Colden on Thayer boulevard. Co-hostess was Mrs. Ranson Hennels of Plymouth. Sixteen members and their husbands gathered for potluck supper and a gift exchange. Later in the evening they danced to the music of the Disciples.

A spring wedding is planned.

In Our Town

By Jean Day

ONE OF THE CHARMS of living in Our Town is that it is a small town--not a subdivision or a mere suburb. But because Northville still is relatively small-and-active several important organizations are beginning the new year with a major problem: MANPOWER.

Northville PTA Council learned last week that it has no chairman for its annual May Carnival. This is the "fun event" that supplies the monies with which all four PTA's in the district operate during the year. The success of this popular event has eliminated the necessity of individual fund-raising programs at Main street, Amerman, the junior and senior high schools.

The carnival also has been a popular "small town" social gathering for both children and their parents.

Myron Utley, who served as last year's chairman and who had planned to head the event again this year, has notified the PTA Council that he will not be able to do so. If there is to be a carnival this May, a new chairman must be found to go to work immediately. Granted, this is one of the biggest PTA volunteer jobs, it also is one in which the chairman has the support of parents in all four PTAs. The PTA is hoping that some school-minded couple who may not be too involved right now will volunteer to take on this post, Anyone willing or interested in more details is asked to contact Clyde Vадner - or any PTA officer.

If no one steps forward, the Council warns, there can be no carnival-- and a new method of raising PTA funds will be needed. Also, we may add, an event will be lost to Northville's calendar that youngsters await each spring.

WOMEN POWER is needed by a tiny-in-size-but-big-in-projects group of Northville Jaycettes. This little eight-member group is composed of wives of Junior Chamber of Commerce members. Since not all wives of JC men have joined the auxiliary group, the Jaycettes ALL are striving hard to keep their commitments -- while hoping for new blood, either by present non-members joining or from the addition of new JC men and their wives.

Members of the group have been baking and freezing goodies all this week in preparation for the bake sale to be held from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. this Friday at Northville's Manufacturer's National bank on Main street.

Proceeds from the sale, which will feature homemade bread, will be used to help support the Korean orphan the Jaycettes adopted and to whom they send $15 monthly. This small group also; gives a Thanksgiving basket each year, makes an early spring visit to Eastlawn convalescent home (especially welcome because it's NOT at Christmas time), and supports the state organization's drive for emotionally disturbed children. In addition each member has an indigent patient "friend" at Northville state hospital with whom she corresponds and sends occasional remembrances.

Socially, the group held a holiday anniversary party in December and is planning a hat party in conjunction with a "local night" to which all women in JC District Six are to be invited.

ANOTHER GROUP whose good works include hospital projects is the Mizpah chapter, King's Daughters, whose guests at a January 4 luncheon meeting related an impressive list of KD hospital activities. They were Mrs. Frank Nickle, past state president, who has been active for 50 years in KD hospital projects, and Mrs. Arthur Hochrein, state chairman of hospital supplies, both of Ann Arbor. For the meeting at her Eight Mile road home Mrs. William B. Walker had left up her festive holiday decorations, joining the growing number of families in town who enjoy their decorations through Twelfth Night.

MASTER PLAN TALK—About 120 area residents attended Saturday's open house showing of the city planning commission's master plan at the city hall. Planning Chairman George Zerbek, shown above (left) with Mayor A. M. Allen and Planner William Johnson, said that reaction was generally favorable. Below City Planner Warren Stoddard listens to a question from Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ware. After a few final touches the planning commission will turn its plan over to the city council for consideration.

PTA Founder's Day Set for February 2

"You Can Change the World" will be the challenge offered parents and teachers at the second annual Northville PTA Founder's Day banquet to be held at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, February 2, in the high school gymnasium.

Guest speaker will be Herb Auer, whose offices with the Michigan State Medical Society are in East Lansing. He is responsible for postgraduate educational programs for doctors and is managing editor of the Michigan Medicine monthly journal. He also serves as volunteer secretary of the Michigan PTA, and formerly was vice-president and publicity chairman for the state PTA.

He also is a past president of the Michigan Adult Education association and is a past president of the Michigan Jaycees. He is a former school teacher, former newspaper city editor and former adult education specialist at Michigan State University.

Herb Auer

In his Northville appearance he promises to outline some of the needs and challenges that children and families face today and suggest ways that PTA members and parents individually can correct these problems of today's living. He also plans to suggest ways the PTA as an organization can accomplish more.

The second annual Founder's Day program is being sponsored by the main street and Amerman elementary PTAs, and the junior and senior high PTAs. A committee of representatives from all four schools is in charge of arrangements with Ted Slabey, Amerman PTA vice-president, over-all chairman.

The Reverend Lloyd Brasure, Northville First Presbyterian church minister, is to give the invocation.

The dinner, which is to precede the program, will be catered by Goodale's of Plymouth. Tickets at $2.25 each will be on sale at each of the schools. The committee urges parents to make reservations as soon as possible as no tickets will be sold at the door.

At the suggestion of Amerman school PTA, which sponsored the first Founder's Day program last February, the event this year has been expanded to be a joint project of all PTAs in the Northville system.

It was originated at the suggestion of Raymond Spear, Amerman principal and now also assistant superintendent. His intention was to "bring parents and teachers together in a social atmosphere to get to know each other better and also to learn more of the PTA and its aims." The success of the initial dinner led to the Amerman PTA recommendation that it become an all-city event.

Future of Education and How That Future Will Affect the Northville Educational System" will be presented by Dr. Eric Bradner, president, Schoolcraft Junior college; Wilfred Becker, president, Northville board of education; Alexander M. Nelson, superintendent, Northville school system; and Fred Stefanski, principal, Northville high school.

A question and answer period will follow the discussion. Clyde Vadner, junior high PTA president, has opened the meeting to all interested parents in the area.

He pointed out that the meeting place has been changed from the junior high boys gymnasium as the PTA board felt a panel discussion program could be held better in the library setting.

Jr. High PTA Meets Tonight

Northville Junior High PTA will hold its second meeting of the school year at 8 o'clock tonight, January 13, in the junior high library.

Lights Ordered for 7-Mile Crossing

Three major truck-train accidents in three years at Northville's Seven Mile road grade crossing have prompted additional caution signals.

Peter B. Spivak, Chairman of the Michigan Public Service Commission, has announced that the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway has been ordered to install additional lights extended on cantilever arms on its flashing-light signals guarding the crossing of Seven Mile Road in Northville at the Northville road intersection.

The cantilever lights, extending over the roadway, are designed to provide visibility of the warning even though the standard signals may be obstructed by large trucks on the four-lane highway.

The PSC also ordered flashing-light signals to be added and so aligned that they will be visible to southbound motorists on Northville Road preparing to enter Seven Mile Road.

Seven Mile Road deadends at that point and most of the traffic westbound is from the city of Northville.

The Wayne County Road Commission and the C&O are sharing the cost of the protection improvement. The new warning pattern resulted from conferences joined in by representatives of the road commission, the railroad, both city and township of Northville, and the PSC.

Twenty C&O trains, at speeds up to 60 miles per hour, go over this crossing daily. Highway traffic is from 5,000 to 6,000 vehicles each 24 hours, including a comparatively large volume of heavy trucks.

Since a July 15, 1965 accident in which a Clawson man unexplainably drove his unloaded truck into a passing train and received serious injuries, local officials have sought added safety measures.

Witnesses of that mishap testified that existing warning signals had been operating. The driver for Hayes Sand and Gravel company of Livonia and Northville apparently did not notice them, however, as he approached from the east.

A year earlier a man was killed when his pickup truck collided with a train and previous to that another truck driver miraculously escaped unscathed from a collision which caused $100,000 damage. Both had been headed east, apparently into a blinding sun.

SALESMEN SAMPLE—Members of Boy Scout Troop 731, sponsored by the First Methodist church, will be knocking on Northville doors Saturday selling ice cream topping to raise funds for camping equipment for the troop which is trying to become self-sufficient. About to sample some of the product from Norm Sarvis of Northville Laboratories are Scouts Mike Rosinski, Chris Van Ee and Richard Shank.

Says Dun & Bradstreet

More Business In Northville

"There are 96 more business concerns in Suburban Wayne County today than last year," says W. S. Garrison, district manager of the Detroit office of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc.

Basing his facts upon a physical count of the January, 1966 edition of the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book, Garrison points out that in 1965 6,297 businesses were listed in Suburban Wayne County and today 6,393 businesses are listed -- an increase of 1.5 per cent. The city of Detroit added 24,499 businesses, making a total count of 30,892 concerns in the County.

Garrison noted that each January business concerns in all parts of the United States are asked by Dun & Bradstreet for copies of their financial statements. This year requests are being sent to nearly three million business concerns -- to the corner grocery store, worth a few thousand dollars, as well as to businesses worth millions.

The Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book lists those manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit, but it does not include some of the service and professional businesses, such as beauty and barber shops, security dealers and real estate brokers. Therefore, the figures for total business in the United States would be higher than the three million quoted above.

In Northville Dun & Bradstreet lists 20 new businesses with 105 indicated in January, 1965 and 125 in January, 1966. Livonia moved from 625 to 649 and Plymouth from 285 to 302.

CPL. NEIL POTTER

Funeral services held December 24 for Corporal Neil Potter, a former Wixom resident killed in action in Viet Nam December 12, were not requiem mass as reported two weeks ago. The Rev. Father Paul Johnson of S.S. Peter and Paul church of Ionia officiated at the Shaw-Rivett-Hull Funeral home in Muir where Potter's family had lived since 1959. Burial was in Oakwood cemetery there.

Corporal Potter, 21, lived 10 years in Wixom until the family moved to Sears in 1954. He was born in Northville.

Immediate survivors are his wife, Yvonne, and two daughters, two-year-old Lisa and Melissa, seven months, all of Lyons. He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Robert (June)

Potter of Milford, four sisters, Mrs. Shirlee McClennan of Walled Lake, Mrs. Jennie Brast of Milford, Mrs. June Chitman of Ewart and Mrs. Linda Thomas of Ionia; six brothers, Robert and Jack of Wixom, Kenneth of Walled Lake, George of North Carolina and Edward and Paul of Union Lake.

Corporal Potter joined the Marines in September of 1962, shortly after he graduated from Lyons High school.

THOMAS CHRUSTAWKA
Thomas Chrustawka, 71, of 30723 West Twelve Mile road, Farmington, died Saturday at Botsford general hospital after an illness of several months.

He was the father of Mrs. Harvey (Alice) Ritchie of Northville and of Mrs. George (Helen) Kearns of Farmington, and had resided with both since retirement.

No funeral service is scheduled in accordance with Mr. Chrustawka's bequest that his body be left to Wayne State Medical school for study of Hodgkin's disease with which he was afflicted.

He retired six years ago from the Rouge plant of Ford Motor company. He was born in the Ukraine, June 22, 1894, and was preceded in death by his wife, Anna.

In addition to two daughters he leaves a brother, Stephen, in Canada and four grandchildren.

JUSTICE COURT

Driving violations during the holidays drew the largest fines from Novi Justices of the Peace Robert Anderson and Emery Jacques.

Judge Jacques ordered Edward S. Luttman of 48777 Nine Mile road, Northville, to pay $100 for driving on a revoked license and five days in Oakland county jail and $50 for reckless driving. The violations were issued on December 24 at Grand River and Eleven Mile roads.

In Judge Anderson's court Milton J. Dailey of Farmington was fined $100 on a charge that was changed from driving under the influence of liquor to reckless driving on January 1 at South Novi road and Eight Mile road.

Careless driving on East Grand River and Meadowbrook roads, January 1, drew William B. Albert a fine of $35.

A fine of $25 and one year probation was leveled on James L. Hobbs, 18, of Walled Lake for being abroad at unusual hours.

David J. Mummary, 27, of Southfield was fined $25 for being dressed in the apparel of the opposite sex on January 6 at 12-1/2 Mile road.

No Study Session Pay For Township Trustees

Northville township trustees will no longer be paid for study sessions—at least as long as the present board membership prevails.

Trustee Wilson Tyler objected to the practice of paying the going rate of $20 per meeting to trustees for unofficial, study sessions. He brought the matter to the attention of the board at its regular meeting last week.

Only trustees are paid by the meeting. Tyler and James Tellam are the lone trustees. The supervisor, clerk and treasurer are paid an annual salary.

Supervisor R. D. Merriam pointed out that both the state townships' association and the township board's legal advisors had ruled the payment legal.

"The opinion is not acceptable to me", stated Tyler. He said that he did not believe that trustees should be paid for meetings which were not official and where no action could be taken.

Supervisor Merriam noted that there had been two such meetings. "If you want to make a motion to discontinue the practice, make a motion", Merriam stated.

Tyler did and it was seconded by Trustee Tellam. The motion passed unanimously and was made retroactive to cover the previous two meetings.

In other business the board assigned terms to its three appointees to the joint city-township library commission. Mrs. Roy Mattison was given a four-year term, Mrs. Harold Price three years and Mrs. William Sliger, two years.

In other township business the board of appeals met last week and granted a one-year permit to A. M. Thomson of West Seven Mile road to operate a transit mix plant on his gravel mining property site.

NEW TEACHER—J. Michael Janchick has been named to succeed Robert Prom as fifth grade teacher at Main street elementary school. See story on page 7B.

Singing their own praises is the only way some people ever hear them.

Police Study Group Makes First Report

The Northville township board received its first report from the recently-appointed "Northville township police protection study committee" last week.

Chairmaned by Eugene S. Guido, the committee was named last by the township board to determine the need for police protection and provide suggestions for supplying it.

The seven-member committee includes Guido, Mrs. Carl Wilson, Hugh McKay, F. W. Hembrey, Richard Endress, H. O. Evans and E. O. Weber.

In its initial report the committee reported that effort to date had been directed towards gathering information. It stated that study efforts are centered on five areas:

- police protection now provided the township;
- whether additional protection is needed;

--incidence of crime in the area;
--if additional protection is needed, how much and what form should it take;
--cost impact of various alternatives.

"In our analysis we have consulted various law enforcement agencies including the Wayne county sheriff's road patrol, Michigan State Police, FBI and, initially, the Northville police department. It is also our plan to consult with the Constable association", noted the report.

The report stated that the committee had also consulted a similar study group in Plymouth township, and that area and national trends in crime as well as the effect of several governmental institutions in the area was also being studied.

Final recommendations are expected by March or April.

Local Site Still In Atom Picture

Indications are "excellent" that a Northville township site just south of South Lyon will continue to be a top contender for a proposed federal atomic accelerator greater than any now in existence.

Such was the view of U. S. Congressman Weston Vivian following Friday's review of the site, located in his 2nd congressional district, by a top-ranking team from the National Academy of Sciences.

The team spoke to University of Michigan scientists and administrators as part of their evaluation of this site. Adverse weather forced cancellation of planned geological on-site examination.

The visitors discussed with university officials the extent to which university facilities and staff could be expected to aid in the location, operation, and training of personnel for the laboratory, said Vivian.

"Most important, however," he added, "the visitors came to obtain as complete information as possible on the ... load bearing strength of the under surface soils - crucial questions which will determine what sites can be used."

Novi Gets Taste Of Detroit Water

Willowbrook subdivision of Novi Village is one of two suburban areas west of Detroit now receiving water from the Detroit department of Water supply (DWS).

Plymouth township is the other. Both communities have made extensive improvements to their distribution system, Novi through a $210,000 extension of the main line to service the 350-home subdivision.

DWS General Manager Gerald J. Remus noted that Detroit water is considerably softer than the well water previously used by the communities, making elimination of water softeners possible. Detroit water supplies more than 40 percent of Michigan's population with addition of the new service.

Plymouth township will be served by a recently completed 24-inch main which runs south on Sheldon road from Eight Mile to Five Mile road through the City of Northville. Cost of the main installation was $400,000.

In addition to providing water for Plymouth township, this main makes DWS service available to three other communities. They are: Northville township, which has already contracted with DWS and is completing alterations on its distribution system; the City of Plymouth and the City of Northville, which are now served by independent well systems.

It also makes possible improved service to institutions in Northville township. Currently the Wayne County Training School and Detroit House of Correction are receiving DWS service through old lines off Five Mile road. Difficulties maintaining pressure have been experienced. Plans call for lateral lines off the Sheldon road main to service these institutions.

Plymouth Gardens Subdivision, in the Bradner-Five Mile road area, are also presently receiving Detroit water through the Five Mile line.

Novi village is served by a 24-inch main running north on Haggerty road from Eight Mile to Ten Mile road to the new main constructed under a special assessment upon Willowbrook property owners.

The communities will be serviced by two of Detroit's four water treatment and pumping plants: the Springwells Station which can pump up to 540 million gallons per day and the Northeast Station with a 240 million gallon daily capacity.

The Springwells Station alone can almost handle the average daily pumpage of 558 million gallons needed to supply all of DWS' 64 customer communities. All four plants can treat and pump 1.3 billion gallons in a single day.

Following is a brief description of the process by which DWS supplies water to 3,370,000 persons in a 575 square-mile area.

Detroit's treatment process begins in the Detroit River. The water is screened to remove any large impurities and chlorinated under strict laboratory testing. This chlorination disinfects the water and reduces tastes and odors.

Water is then piped to one of four treatment and pumping plants.

When it arrives at the plant the untreated water is once again chlorinated if tests indicate a need for it.

First stop in the plant is a mixing basin where alum is added to trap impurities. Activated carbon is also added to absorb tastes and odors.

These are settled out in a two-to-four hour trip through mammoth settling basins.

Water is then passed through intricate filter beds which remove any remaining impurities.

As a final safety factor, another dose of chlorine is added at this point according to careful chemical analysis.

The water is then pumped under pressure through transmission mains some as large as 72-inches in diameter to the smaller Detroit distribution lines which connect directly to individual service taps or to the distribution systems of suburban communities.

Thus, the clean, fresh water of the Great Lakes travels from its course ... always under the strictest testing and treatment methods ... and arrives pure and abundant to fill the growing needs of modern living.

THIRST QUENCHING—Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Discher, 40135 Buckingham Court, Willowbrook subdivision number 4, which is one of four newly opened models, were among the first to receive Detroit water at the tap in Novi. Village Manager Harold Ackley tries a sip. Others will be drinking it soon, as flushing processes wend the new supply through the entire Willowbrook community of about 350 homes.

Hootenany Coming Up

A hootenany sponsored by the Northville Jaycees and Our Lady of Victory Catholic church teen club will be held Thursday, January 27, at OLV, 8 to 11 p.m. Admission for a nominal fee will include an entertaining evening with folk music recording artists "The Jaycee Three", a record giveaway and refreshments.

Purpose of the hootenany, according to Jaycee spokesmen, is to promote benefit sales of "Jaycee Three" recordings. Proceeds of the Livonia Jaycee trio's albums go to the Michigan Emotionally Handicapped Society, a Michigan-wide Jaycee project. The group is currently appearing professionally at the Colonial Lounge.

Free records will be given at the hootenany, approximately one to every three admitted, and first round soft drinks and chips will be without charge, also.

De-icing Ideas for Winter Fishing

TO KEEP ICE FROM FORMING IN YOUR FISHING HOLE, SOAK SOME CORKS OVERNIGHT IN ANTI-FREEZE. THRU ONE CORK IN THE HOLE AT START OF FISHING. ADD OTHERS ONE AT A TIME, WHENEVER THERE ARE SIGNS OF FREEZING. A JAR OF CORKS SHOULD LAST THE DAY.

FOR PROTECTION AGAINST FREEZING WIND AND DRIFTING SNOW, USE A BOX ENCLOSED ON ALL SIDES, EXCEPT THE BOTTOM. RUN LINE THROUGH SMALL HOLE ON TOP, WITH BOBBER SET TO FLOAT IN THE WATER. PUT ANOTHER BOBBER AT END OF LINE ON ICE.

MINNOWS CAN BE KEPT FROM FREEZING BY PLACING THEM IN A STYROFOAM BUCKET, AS AN ADDED MEASURE, PAINT BUCKET BLACK TO ABSORB THE SUN'S RAYS.

THEN THERE IS THE GOOD OL' SCOOP—JUST KEEP USING IT.

We Have It

You name it, and the country probably has more of it than ever according to the Statistical Abstract of the United States.

The Census Bureau publication noted that almost everything is on the increase. The book shows more people, more cities, more life expectancy, more high school graduates, more hospital beds and more beef and veal per capita.

Italian Dog Days

One woman and two men were jailed in Italy recently on charges of kidnaping dogs and cats for ransom. Police said Angela Mino, 31, Gianni Sestino Tamiglia, 21, and Giuseppe Casagrande were arrested after kidnaping a valuable collie. The owner, Daniele Novena, was asked for $160 ransom. He notified police who joined the ransom appointment and arrested the dognapers.

That Sunlamp Tan Can be Dangerous

If you're using a sunlamp to get a tan, or treat a skin problem -- without medical supervision -- you could be courting trouble.

Although the ultra violet rays (UV) produced by a sunlamp can bring about healthful benefits by stimulating the body's production of vitamin D ... and in the treatment of various skin conditions, there are many hazards involved, warns the Oakland County Medical Society.

The most common danger is an ultra violet burn. A UV burn is just like a severe sunburn and doesn't show its severity until several hours after exposure. Other risks include the possibilities of extensive freckling, premature aging of the skin, and the production of precancerous and cancerous conditions of the skin.

However, one of the most imminent dangers of UV rays, and the least familiar, are the allergic skin lesions, skin eruptions and severe burns that may occur in people taking drugs, prescribed or otherwise.

Why do drugs affect the skin's exposure to sunlamps? Because many drugs taken internally or applied externally are photosensitizing agents; that is, they are capable of making one highly sensitive to light and, in particular, UV rays.

Among the more commonly used drugs that can cause photosensitivity are barbiturates, tranquilizers, antihistamines, sulfa drugs, quinine (often used in cold tablet preparations), oral anti-diabetic agents and coal tar and petroleum products.

Drugs used in many cosmetic preparations are also capable of sensitizing people to ultra violet rays. For example, bithionol -- an anti-infective agent used in cosmetics ranging from prescribed shampoos to popular medicated cleansers and lotions -- can cause people to become highly sensitive not only to UV rays, but to rays transmitted from fluorescent lights as well.

So, unless your doctor prescribes a sunlamp treatment for you or a member of your family, stay away from it.

PERFECT BLOCK - Northville's Jerry Imsland got a hand on the ball to make a perfect block of an attempted shot by Clarkston's Rod Allen.

Two Wins Vault Cagers into First

The word is out, and it's not too pleasant for the rest of the league to contemplate. Northville is making its move for the Wayne-Oakland Conference title. The Mustangs took a giant stride in that direction on successive nights the past weekend, beating Clarkston on its home court, 74-63, then ripping into visiting Brighton, 70-52. That puts Northville alone in first place with a 5-0 league mark, with the closest challenger being West Bloomfield (4-1). The only blemishes on Northville's record, two losses in the recent River Rouge holiday tournament, give the Mustangs a 7-2 record overall.

They're a long way from an undefeated league season---nine games--- but basketball the way the Mustangs played it against Clarkston and Brighton could make this hope a reality.

Northville completely dominated the boards, giving Coach Dave Longridge's cagers more than one crack at the basket. But more significantly, it put the pressure on their opponents.

Clarkston and Brighton, in an attempt to match the Mustangs, went up on the boards, only to come off second best with fouls to key personnel. Clarkston's Dan Fife, who headed the W-O scorers with a 32-point average, fouled out early in the fourth period, as did veteran teammate Rod Allen. And Brighton's 6'6" Center Bruce Evenson followed the same route.

With them out of the way and with Northville ahead, there was no chance for a comeback. Northville then relaxed in the comfort of its ever widening lead.

That's basically the way Northville polished off both of its victims, beating the boards with the regularity of bongo players until Clarkston and Brighton finally wobbled off the floor in submission.

To a Clarkston fan, however, goes the distinction of pinpointing Northville's new secret of success---balance. It's a delicate balance that could, if honed to razor sharpness, slice the remaining nine league opponents to ribbons.

It consists of five players working as a unit, the three front liners, Jerry Imsland, Steve Evans and Mark Cushing, pooling their height to rebound and score, and the back court tandem of John Jameson and Jim Zayti controlling the game from their guard spots.

Ever since Steve Juday left Northville's playing ranks, Coach Dave Longridge has been hurting for punch and leadership from outcourt. Jameson and Zayti, instrumental in both victories, showed they could do the job.

Both scrappers pulled their weight on defense and offense, and most significantly, combined to beat the all-court press, long a burr in the sides of the Mustangs. Then, too, Zayti played the best game of his career Saturday by driving through the Brighton defense and heading the fast break to score 23 points.

Jameson, with his soft jumper, has a weapon sorely needed that makes the front three more effective by loosening up those tight zone defenses. If he hits, the Mustangs have a unique and devastating balance.

Clarkston got first taste of Northville's five-pronged attack Friday night, and although the Wolves were a game bunch, they simply didn't have the horses.

Teams exchanged the lead until the score was knotted 16-all in the first quarter, then Northville's forwards caught fire. Cushing, at 6'5", lofted a soft jumper through the net, and 6'3" Evans hit from the corner and dumped in a rebound in lightning order.

Clarkston played catch-up, picking men up all over the court, but Northville solved the press to score underneath. The lead widened to 41-29 at half-time.

The second half was no different, although the Wolves were far from tame. They plugged, but when Fife fouled out beginning the fourth quarter with Northville out front, 58-47, it sounded the Clarkston death knell.

Northville pushed into a 20-point lead and coasted in as Longridge emptied the bench with four minutes left on the clock.

That balance was much in evidence as Imsland led the local scorers with 22 points, followed closely by Evans' 16, Cushing's 14 and Zayti's 12. Fife scored 22, while Allen, Clarkston's other high scorer, eked out only six.

Brighton, approximately nicknamed the Bulldogs, wouldn't play dead Saturday night here, but the outcome was the same nevertheless. This time it took Northville a little longer to break the game open, to break the Bulldog's grip.

Northville did it in a surprising manner, too, surprising for them. With three minutes left in the second period, Brighton suddenly came out of its tight zone defense to press the Mustangs all-court. The switch gained Brighton two quick field goals to tie the score, 24-24.

Then, in the face of the same press, Northville exploded. Jameson converted two free throws after he was hacked bringing the ball up court. Imsland laid one off the backboard for two more, and fouled in the act of shooting, coolly converted to give Northville a 29-24 lead. Zayti took charge. He hit a free throw, then tallied three fast points by scoring at the head of a fast break and, fouled on the play, converted a free throw for a 33-24 lead.

Damon Eubank, Brighton's sharp-shooting transfer student from Muncie, Indiana, cashed in on a foul shot for Brighton's only point in the final three minutes before the half, just before Imsland flipped through two more free throws.

Northville carried a 35-25 lead to the dressing room, and came out fired up to pull away to a 21-margin, its biggest of the night, midway through the final quarter.

Zayti was the sparkplug with his drives. He scored 23, Imsland 19, Cushing 11 and Evans eight. Jameson was victim of foul trouble and cold shooting.

Eubank led Brighton with 15 points, but the Mustangs did the job on Evenson, Brighton's towering center, holding him to just six points.

JV's Continue Winning Ways

The Go-Go boys are at it again---Coach Bob Kucher's junior varsity cagers, that is.

They ran over two more Wayne-Oakland Conference foes the past weekend, each time wracking up 80 points on the score board. They did it in their own inimitable fashion by pressing their opponents to defeat.

Clarkston, Friday night's opponent, scored 43 points, while Brighton tallied only 23.

The Colts played their best game of the season against Clarkston, scoring at will on the fast break. "It was our best running and passing exhibition," Kucher said.

Substitutes, who played the entire fourth quarter, took the cue from the starting five and piled up an 18-9 margin in the period.

Center Jim Peterson tallied 25 points, Guard Dennis Matthews 13, Guard Joe Andrews and Forward Randy Pohlman 12 each and Forward Bob Hubbert six. Pohlman and Hubbert controlled the boards.

Brighton put up stiff opposition in the first quarter, trailing by only 22-14. But then the Colts blew hot and the game wide open by outscoring Brighton in successive periods, 23-3, 17-3 and 18-6.

Frosh Whip Rival Novi

The Northville frosh finally found the basket last week Wednesday and tallied up their second win of the season. They beat rival Novi, 43-31.

Breaking Northville's cold shooting habit that had cost it three previous games was Forward Craig McDermaid, who garnered 15 points. Teammate Pat Cayley scored 10.

Coach and Athletic Director Al Jones' cagers, whose record is now 2-3, will seek their third victory tonight when Ypsilanti West comes to town. Game time is 4 p.m. Northville will travel to West Bloomfield next Tuesday to play the Lakers at 7 p.m.

Bloomfield Next For Mustangs

The always dangerous Bloomfield Hills Barons will lay in wait for the new Wayne-Oakland League leaders, Northville, tomorrow night.

Although Bloomfield, which has shared or won the crown the past two years, is not of the same caliber as teams past, they're high for this one.

For Coach Hal Henderson, nothing could be sweeter than a victory over Northville. Such an eventuality could help to wipe away the pain of what has been a dismal season. His cagers have won only two games, beating weak Clarenceville and Milford, both W-O foes.

Bloomfield's hopes rest with two returning veterans, 6'3" Bill Robillard, a solid rebounder and scorer, and fiery 5'8" Guard Bill Merski.

The Mustangs haven't beaten Bloomfield for two years running, and of course, there's the W-O title and an unblemished record at stake.

Matmen Lose Opening Match

North Farmington pinned the first defeat of the New Year on the Northville matmen last Friday by a 29-17 margin.

Winners for Northville were 103-pound Bob Baber, who pinned his man, and Tom Wright (120), Pat James (133), Bob Harrison (154) and Mike Haley (118), all of whom won by decision.

Northville will host Farmington tonight.

What's Cooking?

Following is the high school cafeteria menu for the week of January 17-21 with hamburger-on-bun with French fries offered as an alternate main course daily:

Monday---spaghetti, rolls-butter; or chicken vegetable soup, meat sandwich; all with lettuce wedge, mince meat bar and orange sauce, milk.

Tuesday---meat pie, biscuit-butter; or split pea soup, meat sandwich; all with cottage cheese salad, apple kuchen, milk.

Wednesday---turkey-in-gravy, mashed potatoes, peas and carrots, rolls-butter; or French onion soup, meat sandwich, relishes; all with peaches, milk.

Thursday---Spanish rice, bread butter; or beef noodle soup, meat sandwich; all with carrot-pine-apple salad, chocolate cupcake, milk.

Friday---Tuna-noodle casserole, orange muffin; or tomato soup, egg salad sandwich; all with cabbage-apple salad, cherry pudding, milk.

CAGER OF THE WEEK-This week's top cager blossomed to full stature last Saturday. Guard Jim Zayti, the junior with the lightning quick moves, scored 23 points, primarily through Brighton defenders. He also heads the Northville fast break. Zayti, a two letter winner in football, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Zayti.

Big Crowd Moves Township Hearing

Nearly 100 Northville township residents appeared Tuesday night at a public hearing on the proposed comprehensive zoning ordinance.

The crowd filled the township hall to overflowing and the meeting was adjourned to the community building in the city.

Most of the members of the audience were on hand to register an objection to the proposed zoning. And the targets for biggest objections were:

--industrial zoning in the township's southeast corner at Haggerty between Five and Six Mile roads;

--general business zoning along Seven Mile road in the area across from Northville State Hospital extending approximately from Smock to Marilyn;

--restrictions governing regulations for operation of a community of mobile homes (by the developers of the proposed project);

--the proposed mobile home project (by several citizens residing near the proposed site).

Gunnar Stromberg, planning commission chairman, opened the meeting by pointing out that the comprehensive zoning and master plan study had been undertaken under a two-year federal 701 planning program with the federal government paying approximately two-thirds of the $21,000 project.

He said that objections would be heard, recorded and considered at subsequent planning meetings and after changes, if any, were made the zoning proposal would be passed along to the township board of trustees for the consideration and approval.

Stromberg said there would not be another public hearing on the zoning ordinance by the planning commission. He noted, however, that planning commission meetings are open to the public. They are held on the last Tuesday of each month in the township hall.

It was also pointed out that the township board must act on the ordinance in public meeting.

Later in the hearing session Stromberg stated that a request for rezoning to permit a mobile home development would require another public hearing by the planning commission. And if planners granted the zoning the recommendation would then go to the township board for final action.

Objections first arose Tuesday night to industrial zoning along Haggerty between Five and Six Mile. Residents claimed that the claim that industrial zoning was needed to increase the township's tax base was a poor argument. They pointed out that the entire area lies in the Plymouth school district, thereby removing the biggest share of the tax dollar.

George Vilican, the township's planning consultant, explained that the industrial zones in the township were chosen on the basis of topography and the likelihood of sewer and water. It was also noted that an expressway is slated for the area.

About 22 Haggerty area residents stood to object to the industrial zoning.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Putnam, 40860 Seven Mile road, strongly objected to general business zoning along the north side of Seven Mile road near their home.

Referring to the area as "the black belt", Putnam called the proposal strip zoning and wondered why it had not been extended all the way to Haggerty. He called the district a blight and accused planners of using the lowest denominator as their standard for zoning.

He also pointed to the irony of using federal funds to downgrade an R-1 (highest residential) district in the face of the present administration's beautification program.

Mrs. Putnam said it was disheartening to have worked to improve a home, have it mentioned and pictured in national horticulture and home magazines, and then find it qualifies as "an excellent site for a hamburger stand".

Strongest objections came to the mobile home proposal, although only 12 members of the audience stood to say they were there to oppose the mobile home project.

Charles Lapham and Rodney Grover, Northville residents and partners in the proposed 325-lot mobile home community, objected to zoning restrictions governing mobile homes.

Grover objected to the section calling for access to a major thoroughfare of not less than 120 feet; he called mobile home communities "residential" and objected to the required industrial zoning abutting RM (multiple family); he called the 450-foot buffer discriminatory and said it would make 13 acres unusable and the project financially unfeasible; he also objected to the required 60-foot entrance street and 12-foot greenbelt and fence.

Residents of Shadbrook subdivision strongly objected to the mobile home project, that would be located on the northwest corner of Beck and Six Mile. Another Beck road resident objected, while an adjoining property owner said he did not want his property zoned R-2 if the mobile home development was granted. He did not object to the development, but wanted his land zoned for mobile homes, also.

Lapham answered complaints by saying that his family had owned the land since 1910, that it had not been recently purchased for profit but that all previous attempts to develop the land had failed because of the adjoining gravel pits.

School Names New Principals

Appointment of two elementary principals to be effective January 31 was approved by the Northville board of education Monday night.

The board acted upon recommendation of Superintendent Alexander Nelson and Assistant Superintendent Raymond Spear in hiring Keith D. Berkeley, 34, now principal of a North Dearborn Heights elementary school. He is to become Amerman school principal, replacing Spear who stepped up to his present post.

In making the recommendations Spear said he had 29 applications for the posts, five from within the system with one later withdrawing. Fifteen applications were screened and interviews conducted.

Berkeley has a B.S. degree in education and a master's degree in elementary school administration, both from Wayne State university. He presently is doing post graduate work on curriculum construction. He taught and was a teaching principal in Port Huron before affiliating with the North Dearborn Heights system in 1962.

He was hired at a salary of $11,100.

He is married and the father of three children. He is to assume principalship of Amerman school the end of this month.

Second selection by the board, who was named to head the proposed Eight Mile road elementary school, is being withheld until he makes a definite commitment, expected later this week, and clears with his own school board.

The appointments were approved by the board with E. O. Weber abstaining, pointing out he had not met the candidates before the meeting and had not been in on previous discussions. William B. Crump was absent.

After making the appointments the board instructed the administration to convey by letter to LaGene Quay, assistant principal at the high school, its appreciation of his interest in the elementary post and commendation of his work in his present post.

Board to Finalize Elementary Plans

Northville board of education Monday took steps to hire two elementary principals, reviewed elementary school plans, including water problems, and covered a first-of-the-year agenda containing personnel, educational and financial items.

In a four-hour meeting, with a 35-minute adjournment to executive session, the board adopted a resolution in appreciation of Edward F. Angove's five years of service on the board. At the time of his death December 14, 1965, he was board vice-president.

James F. Kipfer was named vice-president by unanimous action.

A special board meeting was scheduled for next Monday at 7:30 p.m. with representatives O'Dell, Hewett and Luckenbach, school architects, to finalize working drawings on the Eight Mile road elementary school for construction bids.

Trustee Robert H. Shafer led the board in querying architect representative Robert Tucker for details of roof pitch, multi-purpose room ventilation, kitchen facilities, carpeting, heating and wall materials, especially in laboratories. Also questioned was specification for a vinyl fence for the kindergarten play area. Shafer pointed out to the board that it must be aware that certain walls in the building plan were "purely ornamental" and included for architectural design only.

After next Monday's meeting the board plans to advertise for construction bids on the finalized plans.

Board Attorney James Littell reported to the board that purchase of the 10-acre Eight Mile road site for the elementary school has been completed with the Salvation Army at a cost of $20,000, plus $126.60 for the pro-rated share of county-township taxes.

Littell told the board the junior high site is "ready to close" except for the problem of the Bernhardt spring water line. He said he felt it would be "ill-advised if you do not try to get rid of this easement" and recommended the board join with the city and Thompson-Brown subdividers to do so in court action. He reported that acting City Manager Philip Ogilvie estimated the cost of court action at $500.

Possibility of obtaining city water for the elementary site caused Trustee Eugene Cook to request Superintendent Alexander Nelson to delay awarding the contract for a well. Shafer requested a statement from the city regarding a probable schedule for a water line, costs and a "reasonable assurance" that water will be available when needed.

During its expansion program Nelson suggested that the board "give serious thought" to the possibility of a 30-foot high school planatorium which might be constructed as part of the planned addition at an estimated cost of $32,000, half of which might be obtained from the federal government.

In personnel matters the board approved hiring of J. Michael Janchick as a fifth grade teacher and as a replacement for Robert Prom. It approved reinstatement of salary for Diana Lance and asked the administration to review and make a recommendation regarding the request of Mrs. Marjorie Coolman for a week and a half vacation pay.

Her request was contained in a letter detailing circumstances of her dismissal and pointing out "this is not a request for reinstatement." Mrs. Coolman had served as secretary in the board of education offices.

Resignation of John Malone, elementary physical education instructor, was accepted.

The board voted to follow up its action of last June 28 to give teacher reimbursement for graduate study, asking the administration to work out details of the program. Nelson agreed but pointed out the district already "is operating with a $42,000 deficit."

Cook recommended the board take steps to activate the citizens' finance group as soon as possible, and by the first of February as a target date, to begin work on the millage needs which the district will be asked to increase in next June's election.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Rev. Ivan E. Speight, Pastor
Salem Federated Church

At one time I worked in a little corner grocery store as stockboy, clerk, counterman, delivery boy, window washer, and at anything else left to be done. One day in 'Uncle Joe's' store a lady came in and remarked that she felt like she had been born again. What she meant was that she had a complete change in physical attire, and felt brand new inside. She had been to the hair dresser. She had been to the shoe shop. She had been to the dress shop. She had been to the cosmetic counter. She didn't feel like the same woman. She felt changed. I don't know where the woman got the expression, 'born again'. She was not a religious woman.

I am sure that she did not know that she was using the words Jesus Christ spoke to Nicodemus as recorded in the Gospel of John in chapter three. However, this woman with a completely new attire felt that she had been changed. She had a completely new feeling inside. In an emotional sense she was born again.

When Jesus Christ spoke to Nicodemus and said to him, 'Ye must be born again,' it was in regards to Nicodemus' spiritual need. Nicodemus, the religious man, needed to be born from above. All the religious ritual, all the religious talk, all the religious studies, all the religious works in Nicodemus' life had not produced any change in his sinful heart. I appreciate the honesty of the man.

He realized that all the religion he had did not yet produce one ounce of spiritual life in his heart. He had witnessed the power of God in Christ. He was honest enough with himself to admit he had no such spiritual power in his life. He himself was not 'a teacher come from God.' He was not in touch with the miracle power of God. I believe he wanted the power of God in his life.

I believe he wanted to really know for sure about heaven. So he came to Jesus by night. He reminds me of many today who are religious, but lack the power of God in their lives. They do religious works, but have no assurance of entering heaven. The answer to such is 'Ye must be born again.'

One newspaper writer said of the actress Liz Taylor, 'She is a beautiful shell, but empty inside.' Many religious people are the same. They have a beautiful outward shell of religion, but it's empty on the inside. They need to be born again. They need the New Birth. They need to be born from above.

The Bible says that 'Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God....' (1 John 5:1) A personal faith in Jesus Christ produces the new birth. The fact of being born again spiritually is not from what you have put on outwardly, but what you have inwardly.

'Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold all things are become new.' The woman with the new apparel and hair-do did not appear to me to be changed much. But she knew something had happened to her.

When you put all your faith in Jesus Christ as your Lord and Saviour, although outwardly your features are the same, you know a change has happened inside. This is the New Birth. You are born from above. Inwardly there is a spiritual change. The New Birth is the result of your complete faith in Jesus Christ. Do you have the New Birth? 'Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.' (John 3:3).

Baptists to Hear Moody Chorale

Moody Chorale, the cappella choir of Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, will sing at the 11 a.m. service of the First Baptist church of Novi, 45301 W. Eleven Mile road at Taft, Sunday, January 23.

Moody Chorale is heralded on two continents as outstanding in its field. In 1954 and 1958 the group presented more than a hundred concerts in six European countries. Newspapers dubbed them 'missionaries in song.'

The chorale tours parts of the United States and Canada twice yearly presenting masterworks of sacred choral music, gospel songs and hymn arrangements. Five record albums featuring their work have been released by Word Records, Inc., of Waco, Texas.

Director of the group, Kerchal

Armstrong, instructs in church music, voice and brass instruments in the institute's department of sacred music. He also conducts the orchestra.

Armstrong is a graduate of Moody Bible Institute. Wheaton College and the Chicago musical college of Roosevelt University. Among the radio and recording groups with which he performs are the Anthony Chorales and the Sixteen Singing Men. He has served in several churches and is presently music director of Skokie Valley Baptist church, Wilmette, Ill.

Under Armstrong's direction, the chorale continues in a tradition set by former directors James Davies and Donald Husted. No admission will be charged for the concert. A freewill offering will be taken.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Library Introduces New System

The Wayne County Library System, which extends service to 35 communities in Wayne and to 35 communities in Wayne and Oakland counties including Northville has announced the introduction of a new plan to assist the user of any member library in getting the book or information he needs.

The plan makes use of catalogs published for the use of librarians by the Wilson Company. These catalogs list and describe over 24,000 books on a broad range of subjects for all ages. The books listed were chosen by librarians throughout the country as the most useful to library patrons. The most valuable are indicated by a star or double star. The Wayne County Library System is, as far as is known, the first library in the United States to use these important publications as a system's guide to its book collections.

These catalogs are regularly used by librarians to measure the quality of their book collections. Nine member libraries of the Wayne County Library System have undertaken to provide all of the books marked by a single or double star in the catalogs as of most value, and the System as a whole has undertaken to provide at least one copy of each title whether starred or not.

Each library in the Wayne County Library System will have a complete set of these catalogs. For the library user, this means that if his local library doesn't have the information he needs, he can find it in a nearby library within driving distance or can have the book sent to his library through a twice weekly delivery system.

This cooperative system presents to the user of every member library of the Wayne County Library System a key to the very best, among the many, books held by the various libraries.

Americans Talk More Than Ever

Americans have begun talking by telephone for the first time with people in the Cook Islands, a Pacific Ocean archipelago, and the Republic of Liberia on the West Coast of Africa.

At the same time, they're talking more than ever before with people at more familiar stations along the world-wide communications network.

According to the 1965 edition of "The World's Telephones," released by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, overseas calling from the United States increased more than 20 per cent to a record high of 6,400,000 calls at the beginning of the year.

(Figures are dated as of January 1, 1965 because it takes almost a year to collect data from world-wide sources.)

Giving continuing impetus to the rise is the addition of new communications pathways, both under the ocean, and beginning in June, 1965, through space.

Cosmosat's launch of the Early Bird satellite into commercial operation between the United States and Europe was a forward stride in telephone calling by satellite.

Another step ahead was the beginning of service for the Bell System's fourth transatlantic cable in September, 1965. Terminating at Tuckerton on the New Jersey shore and at St. Hilaire-de-Riez in France, it is the first of the cross-ocean cables linking the U.S. mainland directly with continental Europe.

With the addition of the 436 telephones serving the Cook Islands, and the 3,000 in Liberia, United States telephone users can now connect to any one of 176,300,000 telephones in the world, about 97 per cent of the total.

As of January 1, 1965, the total of the world's telephones was 182,500,000, an increase of 11,500,000 over the previous year.

The gain was the largest one-year addition of telephones in the world in history, and capped a decade of growth in which the world's telephones almost doubled in number.

North America, with 95,500,000 on January 1, 1965, has as many telephones as all the world had the same date in 1955. Most of the North American total is in the United States, which counted 88,785,000 telephones at the beginning of 1965.

Japan added 1,568,000 telephones during 1964 to hold second place in the tabulation with a total of 12,251,000.

Others among the first 10 nations on the list are: The United Kingdom, 9,960,000; West Germany, 8,168,000; USSR, 7,200,000 (estimated); Canada, 7,021,000; France, 5,704,000; Italy, 5,529,000; Sweden, 3,387,000 and Australia, 2,670,000.

Local Site Still In Atom Picture

one of the recognized experts in soil mechanics at U-M, summarized views of the university and local engineering firm staffs as follows, said Vivian:

"The soil bearing strength and stability are excellent, entirely adequate for the purpose; the site geologically is probably as good as any site which can be found in the nation."

Concluding from his observation of the reaction of the visitors, the scientist-congressman said, "I believe there is a very excellent chance that this Michigan site will be one of the very few that will be chosen for final analysis."

"Extensive field borings and other measurements must be made preparatory to final selection of the optimum site. I anticipate that the Atomic Energy commission could start the needed tests sometime before the end of the year."

"If we are successful in obtaining this major scientific laboratory, Michigan can become one of the top research centers of the world."

The accelerator's 200 billion electron volt rating staff of over 2000, $400,000,000 construction and equipment budget, yearly operational budget of about 50 million dollars and an expected 1,000 visitors per day make it an attractive addition to the already recognized research facilities near Ann Arbor's U-M. It is for this reason that some 200 sites in 46 states were originally proposed.

These are expected to be narrowed to six or eight by the National Academy for final Atomic Energy Commission choice of one.

Ft. Custer near Grand Rapids has definitely been dropped from consideration. Its eligibility depended on its being declared surplus to military needs by the Defense Department. A suitable offer of another southwestern Michigan site in trade apparently would have kept it alive, but the State Conservation Department was not able to approve.

Vivian's aides said last week that although speculation has it that the accelerator will be dropped from the administration's fiscal 1967 budget, it still remains as a $10,000,000 planning item in the AEC budget.

They point out, also, that site selection will probably be made regardless of whether the originally planned construction schedule is shelved or not. "Congress has said it would not give the money until the site has been chosen," they said.

Let's Tighten Canada Ties

BABSON PARK, MASS. - At the moment, relations between the United States and Canada are fairly cordial ... diplomatically as well as economically.

AT TIMES the U.S. shows signs of irritation because, in some instances, Canada seems to be holding back in the matter of liberalizing tariff policies.

delay economic union between the U.S. and Canada, the idea of closer business co-operation will not be permitted to die. Competent officials and business leaders of the two nations are constantly studying this whole relationship.

RECENT emphasis by law enforcement officials throughout the state on a concentrated battle against crime has been well-timed to coincide with the start of the 1966 legislative session.

Fishing Unlimited At Kent Lake

Kent and Judah lakes in Oakland county, Kent Lake in Livingston county, and Green and West lakes and Winnewana Impoundment in Washtenaw county are among the 44 lakes in Michigan which have been designated by the Conservation Department as waters from which hook and line fishermen may take fish of any kind, size, and number at any time during 1966.

This action is taken by the department because the fish might otherwise be lost to winter-kill or summer die-offs. These lakes are generally shallow and weed-choked and face the periodic threat of wholesale die-offs, either in the winter or warm-weather months when their fish populations fall victim to lack of adequate oxygen supplies.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

A dollar won't buy as much as it used to (buy).

Neither will a mill, laments Schoolcraft College President Eric Bradner.

With this thought in mind area taxpayers might as well brace themselves for the inevitable. The tax lab for Schoolcraft is going up...but ever so slightly.

When Schoolcraft was first voted into being, some five years ago, it was stated that the college would operate on a one mill levy--both for bonded indebtedness (buildings) and operational expense.

There were many doubting Thomases, especially a couple of years later when Northville decided to join the college district.

They can take their bows. They were right. A community college cannot operate on one mill, at least not a successful community college.

And that's where some of the critics were wrong about Schoolcraft. It has been a valuable asset to our community, and Northville youngsters (and adults) have taken ample advantage of its facilities.

While the college's board of trustees have not taken official action as yet, it's highly probable that the body will call for an election on April 4. That's when the rest of Wayne county will be voting on the establishment of a community college district at a rate of 1.25 mills.

Schoolcraft will also ask for another one-quarter mill for operating funds.

Previously, the college has been limited to one mill for both operating and indebtedness. But the trustees learned last week that the college comes under the charter provision in the new state constitution which permits community college to levy millage OUTSIDE the operating limitation for bonded indebtedness.

There are a lot of "ifs" involved, but Dr. Bradner estimates that the college will need an additional half mill for building obligations.

Thus a maximum of three-quarters of one mill is anticipated--one quarter of which requires voter permission.

Dr. Bradner pointed out that the college is expanding its technical programs, particularly automotive services, data processing, metallurgy, drafting and manufacturing processes. A course in hotel and restaurant operation is also planned with student chefs feeding and serving the student body.

Schoolcraft now has 2,500 students and 3,000 are expected in the fall. Two new buildings will open by fall--a campus center and technical building. The latter was built with matching fed-

San Antonio, Texas -- Airman Thomas C. Wiles, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Thomas A. Wiles of 132 N. Wixom Road, Wixom, has been selected for training at Chanute AFB, Ill., as an Air Force aircraft weapons systems specialist.

The airman, a 1964 graduate of Walled Lake high school, recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas.

Private David L. Luedtke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard W. Luedtke of 16080 Northville Road, was graduated from Marine recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, California. He has been assigned to Camp Pendleton, California, for four weeks of individual combat training and four weeks of individual combat training and four weeks of basic specialist training in his military occupational field.

SEVILLA, Spain--Airman Second Class Reggie A. Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Morris of 28115 Meadowbrook Road, Novi, has been selected Outstanding Airman of the Month at San Pablo AB, Spain.

Airman Morris, a communications systems repairman, was honored for his exemplary conduct and duty performance. He is a member of the Air Force Communications Service.

eral funds.

The success of Schoolcraft along with our inflationary times is responsible for the need for more millage.

But that success goes beyond just the college itself. It has encouraged the formation of more community colleges--in Wayne and Washtenaw, for example. And these institutions will be operating on 1.25 millage limits plus additional levies for buildings.

Thus the competition becomes keener for teachers and Schoolcraft must hold its own.

After discussion with Dr. Bradner and Northville's own representative on the board of trustees--Dr. Gordon Forrer--I'm convinced that we do not have a spendthrift board directing our community college.

It's keeping the reins as tight as possible, while still providing our community with the best facility possible to meet its needs and the demands of our modern times.

After long deliberation the board approved a request for one-quarter mill.

I hope voters--already faced with increasing school millage--will consider this a small fee to pay for the benefit offered.

Adult Scenes Don't Belong Outside Movie

To the Editor:

Last Wednesday, while shopping in Northville, I had the occasion to observe the many school children who stop to view the scenes posted in front of the theatre, of the current movie being shown.

As several children were grouped around these pictures, making lewd remarks, I decided to see what was the cause of it all.

The cause, turned out to be a suggestive bedroom scene that was in extremely poor taste. Certainly, this impresses young minds in the wrong direction! Many of these children were as young as eight and nine years old, and literally "out of the mouths of babes" came remarks that would make any adult embarrassed.

As a parent, I find the task of screening books, television and movies difficult enough, without adding to the burden.

Let us exert pressure now, to keep these "adult" scenes inside the theatre where they belong, and not before the eyes of an immature and impressionable public.

Yours truly,
Barbara Tefft

Thanks For Help

To the Editor:

As we enter the New Year, we should like that you share with your readers our kindest appreciation for their thoughtfulness during the recent Christmas Season. Your readers' responses to our appeal letter, in behalf of our forgotten patients, were generous and most helpful.

Clubs and groups which regularly sponsor parties on the wards of our hospital planned extras in treats and programs which added greatly to the Season's meaning. And carolers and special hospital-wide programs told all of us that Christmas certainly is Christendom's season of sharing.
