

What Do You Know About the Ungraded System?

Northville's public schools are taking first steps toward becoming nongraded, having been committed to this concept by the board of education at the beginning of the school year.

Based on the principle that not all students learn all things equally well or with equal speed, the ideal of the nongraded school is for "children to go as fast as they can without being hurried and as slowly as they need to without pressure."

Because the concept is new to Northville and is applied differently to fit the needs of each school district using it, administrators, teachers, parents and students are asking the following questions most frequently. Superintendent Alexander Nelson, Assistant Superintendent Raymond Spear and such outside speakers as Dr. Marshall Jameson of Waterford, who spoke at Main Street PTA meeting, are supplying answers:

When will Northville schools be ungraded?

The new elementary school to be constructed on Eight Mile road will open next fall within a nongraded—and team teaching—concept, utilizing strengths of teachers, but giving the children one teacher with whom to "relate." During the 1966-67 year it is planned to expand the program to Main Street and American elementary schools. When the new junior high school opens in the fall of 1967, it is to be nongraded. If the plan has worked well at this point, the high school then will be ungraded the following year—in 1968. (Spear)

Does nongraded mean taking away marks?

"We are talking about taking away grade level barriers, not necessarily removing marks. I personally do not see junior and senior high marks being removed completely. At the elementary level we do not have letter-mark report cards now, and I hope we never return to them." (Spear) Superintendent Nelson, however, has indicated that he would like to go further and eliminate marks, saying colleagues are "not interested so much in grades but more where a student stands in a class of how many." He also indicated he felt test results could be the basis of college entrance.

What is the advantage of the nongraded system?

Education is individualized to the needs and progress of the child who begins each fall term exactly where he left off in the spring. He will not be held back by grade level if he is ready to achieve more in one subject nor will he be advanced in a subject if he is not ready; this applies strongly in elementary reading, both Spear and Jameson stress. Jameson, who pioneered with the nongraded elementary, first at Montith school in Grosse Pointe and then, as curriculum coordinator of the Waterford schools, feels that the vital value of the nongraded elementary school is that it permits the child "to go along safely, constantly in the atmosphere of success." It capitalizes, he told Main Street parents, on the "built-in human desire to succeed and the love-to-learn all children have."

We have both accelerated and remedial classes now; what is different in the nongraded concept?

The student who is placed in an accelerated or remedial course stays "in the track" all year long. In nongraded classes he will be advanced as soon as he achieves. Nongraded gives flexibility. In this kind of program a better job of evaluating will have to be done by teachers and administrators. (Spear)

Why not just have the nongraded classes in the lower elementary grades as some other districts are doing?

"We're not going to play. If the concept is good, let's go all the way." (Spear)

Why are we going to a nongraded concept?

We are living with population and knowledge explosions. No longer can we expect to teach children everything in public schools. We have to give basic concepts and teach skills. We will stress skills and minimal-but-basic knowledge. (Spear)

How will teachers and parents learn about the nongraded system?

Four teacher in-service programs and two community programs are now in process. A two-week workshop to be taught by Eastern Michigan University staff members is planned. Two community-wide meetings will be held, probably in February and April. Spear also indicated he will speak to any interested parent group any time. He already has addressed bridge and civic groups.

How do the teachers feel about it?

Attitudes are mixed, Spear admits, adding that he feels most want to know more about the program which "will only be as good as the teacher that's teaching it." He said it is unfortunate that the program is being introduced at the same time as professional negotiations are taking place as they are completely separate things.

Will more teachers be needed in the nongraded system?

Nelson has estimated that one additional teacher for each five new teaching will be needed for the team-teaching plan that will be part of the program. Spear adds that more visiting teachers, special education, music and art teachers are needed now, anyway.

Can Northville afford it?

The community will have to be behind the program. It will have two community-wide meetings prior to the millage election and the annual June election to decide.

How do colleges and universities feel about nongraded schools?

Many, Spear concedes, are not ready to accept the concept. We will have to explore to find what they are most interested in and this will determine the structure of our program. Nelson feels there will be more reliance on tests.

What happens to a student who transfers from the system?

He will be supplied with grades and an evaluation, perhaps showing eighth grade achievement in reading, and fifth grade achievement in arithmetic, but an over-all average of sixth grade work. He then probably would be placed by his chronological age in a sixth grade in a graded system. Spear stresses that almost all children still will take 13 years to advance from kindergarten through twelfth grade.

What advantage will the bright student have in the nongraded concept?

He will not be held back but will advance as soon as he is ready. Nelson envisions that the student who is advanced in one or two subjects may, through a plan of cooperation with nearby Schoolcraft college, begin to acquire college credits while still in high school.

What about the "late bloomer?"

He will not be burdened with a sense of failure and will not be pushed ahead but will have an individual program tailored to his knowledge of basic skills. Spear feels this will eliminate the discovery of a tenth grader who is not achieving because he can't read. Because he is succeeding at his own level, the danger of such a student dropping out is lessened.

Where else are there nongraded schools—and how have they worked out?

Results vary. Notable success is the Melbourne, Florida, school system where college enrollment of graduates jumped from 40 to 70 per cent. (This dramatic increase cannot be anticipated in Northville where almost 70 per cent of the students already continue their education.) B. Frank Brown, Melbourne high school principal, has written a book, "The Nongraded High School."

Dr. Marshall Jameson of Waterford is most enthusiastic, saying, "If I were to be a missionary for anything, this would be it. It lets children grow continuously."

Dr. Charles Wilson, superintendent of the Grosse Pointe school system where Jameson started the Montith school conversion to nongraded in 1957, isn't so sure. The school has remained nongraded but the concept has not been expanded to the district's other nine elementaries. Wilson says close watch has been kept on Montith students and on the basis of both academic and emotional tests, the administration has not felt the results varied from those achieved in the conventional grade-level elementaries. Since the program is popular with Montith parents, he said, there is no reason to abandon the plan which is "good" there. He points out that the district calls its plan modified, adding that the concept is different in every school where it is applied. Northville may become the first system in Michigan to be completely nongraded.

School Bus Drivers Eye Union

MODERN AND FUNCTIONAL styling of the new Michigan Tractor company plant on Novi road sets a keynote in the community, its pre-stressed concrete and tinted glass exterior theme is carried throughout the building and houses the parts warehouse, parts sales, offices, cafeteria and related facilities. Equipment rebuilding is carried on in the original portion of the building.

Allege Pay Hike Promises Unkept

A letter from Metropolitan Council 23, AFL-CIO, stating that "all bus drivers have indicated their willingness" to have the union as their representative, brought salary and negotiation difficulties of Northville's 11 regular bus drivers to the attention of the board of education Monday night.

A delegation of women drivers and Charles Kehrer, mechanic-driver, attended the board meeting at which Kehrer, spokesman for the group, told the board, "We have some unhappy bus drivers—most have wanted to quit as it seems everyone has gotten raises except bus drivers."

Kehrer contended that the bus drivers were under the impression that a salary schedule would be worked out for them, giving higher pay for seniority which others could advance to and a general increase. He said that as early as last September the drivers sought increases from Superintendent Alexander Nelson. At one point, he reported drivers were trying for a ten-cent-an-hour raise. He added that the drivers told him Nelson promised a raise the first of the year which has not materialized.

Disclaiming knowledge of the driver situation, the board asked Elroy Ellison, administrative assistant, about driver salaries. Ellison reported driver salaries have been an issue and that Nelson did have two-and-a-half hour session with the bus drivers. Ellison said he is preparing a salary study of non-certified employees in school districts in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties he plans to present to the board March 15.

He acknowledged that the Northville district is "at the bottom" of the pay scale with its $2 hourly rate. Presently, this is a flat rate paid all drivers, regardless of seniority.

In explaining the interest in the union Kehrer said, "Maybe talk is cheap, but there's a lot of going around at the high school. There's been a great deal of talk about teachers' quitting." He said the drivers feel a need for security as they feel "too many (other school employees) have been pushed out."

Board Attorney James Littell advised the board that if the letter's contention that the union represents "all of your drivers" is factual, the board must work through normal procedure of the labor relations act. Board member E. O. Weber stated he felt the only valid result could be obtained by election.

Weber recommended that the board study all salaries in the system not currently being reviewed by March 28 and asked Ellison to present his report on driver salaries at the February 28 meeting.

Further discussion of the union letter was deferred to executive session, which began at adjournment of the regular session and lasted three hours.

Superintendent Nelson and Board President W. C. Becker were not present. Both were attending a school administrators' convention in Atlantic City, N.J.

Lunch Cost Going Up

The 30-cent soup-and-sandwich lunch at Northville high school appears destined to become a thing of the past. Northville board of education heard a report from Elroy Ellison, administrative assistant, Monday night, stating that reimbursement rates from the state have been reduced and that it appears necessary to increase lunch rates from the present 30 to 35 cents for soup-and-sandwich lunch, from 35 to 45 cents for type-A lunches, and from 40 to 45 cents for hamburger lunches. Adult prices would rise from 50 to 60 cents.

Novi Move Completed By Michigan Tractor

Michigan Tractor company became Novi's second largest employer this month with the beginning of operations in a $1 million expansion of their plant on Novi road.

At the same time the company made Novi its headquarters. Executive offices were moved here along with the remainder of the company's formerly Detroit-based facilities to join the two-year old Novi service department.

Michigan Tractor sells and services Caterpillar tractors, earth movers, graders and trucks.

The company employs 165 persons at two locations, with 120 now in Novi and 45 in a Grand Rapids facility. At Novi 60 are employed in equipment service, 20 in sales, 20 in parts, sales and warehousing and 20 in executive, maintenance and other departments.

Company officers J. A. Frost, Sr., chairman of the board of directors; J. A. Frost, Jr., president; T. W. Pinney, secretary-treasurer; K. R. Dickinson, vice president and general sales manager; and G. S. McGrath, vice president and general service manager, are now at the 24800 Novi road address. They were formerly at 1380 Lyndon, Detroit.

Only the equipment rebuilding and facility power portions of the operation were located here in the original building.

Now, with some 96,000 square feet of floor space, 25,000 square feet are used for parts warehousing, 15,000 for office space, 40,000 for the service and construction vehicle rebuilding departments, 8,000 for ground engaging equipment repair and 8,000 for engine repair.

J. A. Frost, Jr., said Monday that the firm has parts and service available around the clock with 99 percent of all parts deliverable within 24 hours. He said that repair and parts are important in their business, since within 10,000 hours of use a piece of equipment requires its original cost to be reinvested in repairs.

And, Michigan Tractor has made a significant investment in Novi, with a facility valued in excess of $1.5 million now and an annual payroll of over $1 million.

Taxes 93% Collected In City

All but seven percent of the total levy of school and county taxes in the city of Northville were paid before the deadline Tuesday.

Clerk Martha Milne reports that city property owners paid $477,374.69 of the total roll of $512,062.09.

Collections will continue to be taken at the city hall until March 1, but a four percent penalty will be invoked.

Beginning March 1 collections are turned over to the county. A one-half of one per cent per month is added to the four per cent penalty beginning March 1.

Board Turns Down School Site Change

Northville board of education Monday night disposed of the possibility of moving its Eight Mile road elementary site a quarter of a mile eastward, although it would make sewer and water facilities available, deciding on the basis of terrain, population and citizens' committee studies that the new site would not be as suitable.

It then gave a "green light" to awarding a contract for well drilling and instructed the administration to enter into discussion with the city of Northville regarding possibility of extending a sewer to the school at an estimated out-of-pocket price of $50,000 quoted by the city in a letter by Councilman John Canterbury.

After pointing out that the city was willing to supply water and sewer to the school at "nominal cost within the time limits" if the school were constructed on the site adjacent to city property, Canterbury stated the city recognized the site selection was purely the board's responsibility and, assuming the change was impossible, answered the board's questions regarding facilities at the present Eight Mile site opposite the entrance to Northville Estates subdivision.

Canterbury wrote that "despite efforts of the city and a strong desire to be cooperative" it appeared the cost of water lines to the present site would be prohibitive. In the over-all community interest, the letter continued, the city would be willing to extend sewer lines beyond Taft road at the estimated out-of-pocket cost of $50,000 to the school, which possibly could be partially recovered later from other benefited properties.

Board Attorney James Littell pointed out that the present site is in the township and, since sewer and water facilities were under township jurisdiction, the township would have to be consulted. Wilson D. Tyler, township trustee, who attended the meeting, indicated the township's willingness to be cooperative. He presented a letter detailing the township's study of the water facilities for the present site and the fiscal problem of the township's supplying water.

The board decided to proceed with sewer talks with the city after reviewing the probable cost of a septic system at the site to be between $12,000 and $15,000.

Board members also were in receipt of a letter from the school architects, O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach, which apparently upheld the board's choice of sites in preference to the more easterly site. The letter was not read aloud.

During the discussion William Secord, who had chaired a citizens site study, and who was one of the 13 members of the audience, pointed out that the site committee had not "pinpointed the exact location" for the new school and actually had given first choice to property on the north side of Eight Mile road.

Discussion ended when Attorney Littell wondered if the property owner would be willing to switch parcels and said that to his knowledge the Salvation Army had not finalized sale of the remaining property. He pointed out that the sale to the school district of the present site has been completed with the deed turned over to the district. He then gave the opinion that to change sites might constitute a "conveyance of real estate" and would need a vote of the people. He asked if the board felt it had time for such action.

Littell called The Record Tuesday, however, to say that further study revealed a 1963 revision to the law covering conveyances which appeared to make such a switch possible without a vote.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Soloman, 46094 Sunset, wore a floor-length gown of peau de soie satin and Chantilly lace, fashioned with an A-line skirt and sleeveless, scoop neck bodice. The long-sleeved overblouse was of lace. The bride's mother made the dress and veil, which was an original design by the bride, featuring a fifteen-foot train of illusion held by a headpiece of lace petals, adorned with pearls and rhinestones. The bride carried red sweetheart roses, caught with pearls and green velvet ribbon.

The Reverend John Wittstock officiated at the altar decorated with white carnations, mums and lilies. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Frank Viger. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bolton, 49485 West Ann Arbor road, Plymouth.

Barbara Zavicar of Garden City, honor maid, and Bonnie Rorabacher and Sheila Cannady, bridesmaids, wore long, A-line gowns of red poue de soie satin with red lace jackets. They carried white roses.

Jarrad Stevens was best man. Ushers were Gary Houseman, Loel Thomas, Terry Kulick and Roger Bolton, brother of the bridegroom, all of Plymouth. Suzanne Zavicar was organist. For the wedding and reception following at Thunderbird Inn for 150 guests the bride's mother wore a gold knitted sheath with brown accessories. Mrs. Bolton wore a pastel blue knit suit with Navy accents.

For the trip south, the bride changed to a navy ensemble. She is a 1965 Northville high school graduate now attending Schoolcraft college's practical nursing program from which she expects to be graduated in July. The bridegroom is a 1962 Plymouth high school graduate. The newlyweds are making their home at 560 Grace street.

In Our Town

By Jean Day

THE PARADE that begins Mardi Gras in New Orleans was one of the events of a whirlwind trip taken to that city last week end by Mr. and Mrs. John Stuyvenberg, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Earl McIntosh. The two Northville couples are members of the Nomads, a group which has purchased an airplane for low-cost tripping.

Several such air-minded groups have formed around the country to own large planes (outmoded by jets but airworthy) for vacation excursions. The Stuyvenbergs' enthusiasm for the Nomads was contagious -- After sampling the thrill of Mardi Gras and taking a four-hour walking tour through New Orleans' French quarter, Bonnie and Earle McIntosh were convinced and joined up.

AS NORTHVILLE NEWCOMERS club president, Mrs. McIntosh this week is finalizing arrangements for a luncheon program to be given at noon, Wednesday, March 2 at the Mayflower hotel in Plymouth. "Women's Role in the Changing World of Today" is the challenge to be discussed by Mrs. Lee M. Olson. Mrs. Olson has been appointed conference coordinator in continuing education at Oakland University.

She formerly was area news editor for the Pontiac Press, having started with the Press as a correspondent in 1951 and serving as reporter-photographer before being named area news editor in 1960. She was women's editor of the Daily Monitor-Leader of Mt. Clemens and of the Tri-City Progress in Utica. She is a Smith college graduate and a member of Theta Sigma Phi professional society for women in journalism, Michigan Press Photographers Association and the National Press Photographers association. She also is a member of Rochester's Avon players and Christ Church, Cranbrook.

Such an active careerwoman promises to have definite ideas on woman's role today. Mrs. McIntosh requests that Newcomer members make their luncheon reservations as soon as possible with Mrs. James Smalinski, 349-0347.

More than 50 Newcomers attended the coffee last week for which Mrs. Harry Gilmer opened her home on Haggerty road. The hostess, newly transplanted here, reflected her southern heritage as she personally welcomed each guest at the door.

WOMEN ALSO will be the subject of the Northville Woman's club program at 2 p.m. Friday in the Northville Presbyterian church meeting room as Mrs. Alfred Lowther of Detroit talks about "The Changes Beautiful Women Have Made in the Course of History." She will be introduced by Mrs. D. Hurd Clark, program chairman.

While not all the women she will talk about have been "good," Mrs. Lowther stresses that they all have had an effect on history. They range from the Biblical Esther to Cleopatra and Wallis Warfield Simpson. Mrs. Lowther is a member of three Federated Women's clubs and of the Rosedale Park Community club. Her husband is a dentist and they are parents of two sons, one affiliated with the University of Michigan school of education in Ann Arbor and the other an engineer in Italy.

As an active churchwoman Mrs. Lowther will attend the World Methodism Conference in London this summer -- she also hopes to see her son in Italy then.

Mrs. William Crump, club president, announces the change of meeting place to the church as a tea is to follow the program. Four new members were welcomed at the club meeting February 4. They are Mrs. William Dyke, Mrs. Herman Wedemeyer, Mrs. Bruce Turnbull and Mrs. Wardell Lyke.

NORTHVILLE'S ANTIQUE - APPRECIATING group, the Base Line Quester society chapter is almost a year old and has almost a full membership of 20. When the chapter became part of the Questers, it was decided to "stay small" in order to meet in homes and take antiquing field trips. These trips have become highlights of the group's first year history and include expeditions to Blissfield and to Marshall to tour historic homes and shops. Next meeting will be at 1 p.m. February 28 at the Grace street home of Mrs. Arthur Basel. Mrs. Leonard Klein will present a paper on Oriental rugs.

School Bidders $42,000 High

If the Northville board of education accepts the low bids, as anticipated, for the proposed elementary school on Eight Mile road, costs of $634,244 without extras such as necessary grading will exceed architects' estimates by $42,000.

Bids from 22 architectural, electrical and mechanical contractors were opened at a special session of the board of education last Thursday. C. Henry Haber-korn, administrative coordinator for architects O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach, asked to delay warding the bids until February 21 so that they might be studied. He expressed satisfaction that the low architectural contractor bid of $421,924 was received from DeMare Brothers construction company of Detroit, pointing out the firm has been in business for more than 50 years, has just finished three schools in Bloomfield Hills and an addition of the Carlson high school in Gibraltar, and has been in church work, which usually demands quality construction.

The nine architectural contractor bids received ranged from DeMare's low to a high of $497,000. Low among the seven electrical bids received was the bid of $58,320 from Jem Installation service. Low mechanical bid was $154,000 from A. N. J. Heating and Air Conditioning company with the six bids ranging to a high of $182,820. If the Jem installation service is awarded the electrical bid, Haber-korn said, it will be the firm's largest job to date. Electrical bids ranged from Jem's low to a high of $78,541.

None of the base bids prices includes extras, which are bid separately. Architectural extras bid as alternates total $30,330 from the DeMare firm. Some of them the board hopes to eliminate. The construction figure does not include cost of the 10-acre site, $20,000.

After a brief conference with Jim DeMare Haber-korn asked for time to study the bids and to work over the plans to see "if we can bring costs down to manageable minimums." He said DeMare pointed out certain items are costly in the school, such as movable partitions. Haber-korn also mentioned the well was an unknown factor. Robert Shaw, board trustee, declared he saw no problem in that area and felt the septic system would be satisfactory "with a pump job every summer." Haber-korn said this should be done annually and suggested occasional testing also.

The board agreed to move on the well bid at the same time as the rest of the bids, February 21.

Teacher Raise Request Adds Up to $250,000

Monday night the Northville School board heard an analysis of salary schedules in terms of present staff based on straight teacher degree and master degree differentials, prepared by Assistant Superintendent Raymond Spear. Proposed increases sought by teachers, he said, would increase the present annual costs of $700,000 to $950,000, which alone would require an increase of 8 mills. He pointed out his figures do not reflect needs for increased teaching staff or "fringe" benefits.

Further discussion was left for the three-hour executive session which followed the official two-and-a-half hour meeting.

Three weeks' vacation pay was approved for Miss Alice Hosback, who is resigning as secretary to the superintendent. Miss Hosback, in a letter to board treasurer William Crump, pointed out that she has served as bookkeeper as well as secretary and requested a CPA audit of her books.

Administrative Assistant Elroy Ellison reported to the board that a sizable leak in the high school boiler room might make it advisable to increase specifications on the new school to copper piping throughout as galvanized is corroded with local water. He anticipated overhauling high school connections during the summer.

WINNING WRITER—Diane Smolinski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Smolinski, 902 Ely court, was the second winner in the fifth and sixth grade age group of an essay contest sponsored by the DAR in the Northville-Plymouth area. Diane receives her prize, a book, from Mrs. Frank Martin of 45332 Byrne, chairman of the contest for the Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter. "George Washington's Advice" was the title of the winning essay written by the fifth grader at Our Lady of Victory school. Top prize was won by a Plymouth girl.

Local Youth Assigned To Nepal by Peace Corps

David Lawrence Filkin, son of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Filkin, 621 Fairbrook, Northville, has been named a Peace Corps volunteer, having completed 10 weeks of training at the University of Washington, and is now on leave at home.

Following four weeks further training in Hawaii during January, Filkin was assigned to Nepal on February 1.

A 1961 graduate of Northville high school, Filkin received a degree from Kalamazoo college in 1965. He is teaching mathematics in Nepal.

The majority of the volunteers will teach English, mathematics and science in secondary schools. A few will teach in universities and others will work in forestry. They will replace Peace Corps volunteers completing their two years of service and expand Peace Corps efforts in these areas in Nepal.

With their arrival some 150 volunteers will be working in Nepal in agriculture, education and community development.

During training the group studied the Nepali language, the history and culture of the country, United States history and world affairs. They received special training in forestry and in teaching English, math and science. They did practice teaching near the training site.

The departing volunteers join the 10,000 other Peace Corps volunteers now working in 46 nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America. Despite these numbers, many more volunteers are needed. Persons interested in starting a two-year Peace Corps assignment this winter should complete and submit a Peace Corps application as soon as possible and take the Peace Corps placement test, which is given throughout the country the second Saturday of each month. All pertinent information can be obtained at post offices or by writing the Peace Corps, Washington, D.C. 20525.

Mustangs Host Bloomfield In Game for W-O Crown

There's only tomorrow for the Northville Mustangs. Up for grabs is the Wayne-Oakland Conference title, and Northville can win it outright with a victory over Bloomfield Hills at the local high school.

A standing room only crowd is expected for what is tabbed as "the game of the season," which will get underway immediately following the JV contest. The Colts' game begins at 6:30 p.m.

Athletic Director Al Jones urges all local fans to get to the game early.

The Mustangs must win Friday night if they want undisputed possession of first place and the conference championship. Northville has a 10-2 record, Bloomfield Hills, 9-3. Northville will play West Bloomfield, while Bloomfield plays Milford in the conference finale.

The team that controls the boards will probably come out on top, and since Bloomfield is the only team with height to match Northville, it should be quite a battle.

That was the decisive factor in Bloomfield's previous victory, 64-46, as the Barons caught Northville flat footed and walked all over the Mustangs.

Northville could do little right that night. Bloomfield exploded to take a 17-point lead early in the second quarter, and beat back a Northville threat in the third quarter to win going away.

To get the boards, Northville will have to minimize the effectiveness of Bloomfield's 6'2" jumping jack, Dave Robillard, and lean 6'6" Tom Hall by keeping them away from either bucket.

Besides the title stakes, Northville has a score to settle with Bloomfield Hills. Coach Dave Longridge's cagers haven't beaten a team coached by Hal Henderson since he took over the head coaching job in 1963.

Frosh Upset Milford Five

The Northville frosh rose to the occasion against an undefeated Milford five and squeezed out a 39-38 victory last Thursday.

Northville's game strategy paid off as it put extra coverage on Milford's guards, the cagers who had been scoring most of the little Redskins' points.

"Their forwards didn't score a point against us in our first meeting of the season," Coach Al Jones pointed out, "so we concentrated on their guards." Milford won the first encounter, 31-22.

At that Milford put up a scrap on its home court, shaving Northville's lead late in the fourth quarter from six to one point. But Northville had enough to eke out its fifth win in 11 outings.

Barry Deal with 15 points and Pat Caley with 10 led the local frosh.

In its three remaining games—all at home—Jones' cagers will face Belleville at 4 p.m. Monday, Clarenceville here at 4 p.m. February 25 and Novi February 28 at 7 p.m.

Cagers Sparkle Against Clarkston

They hustled on offense, played tenacious defense, and the Northville Mustangs conquered the visiting Clarkston Wolves, 60-50, Friday night.

Such a game has been a long time in coming, but Northville, inspired by the smell of a Wayne-Oakland league championship, wouldn't be denied—to the delight of a capacity throng, the likes of which hasn't been seen since the undefeated season of 1961-62.

Northville went into the contest zealously guarding a slim one-game lead in the W-O, and they preserved that margin.

Clarkston came to Northville with its fangs bared, bent on up-ending Northville on its way to a pennant and to avenge an earlier loss. But Northville turned in a "great team effort" to send the ferocious Wolves and their fans back to Clarkston with a little less bite.

The game was one to behold. And the key to Northville's success, although hard to pinpoint in a game of heroics, must rest with the defensive play of Guard John Jameson.

The quick senior guard was singled out by Coach Dave Longridge to shadow the league's top scorer, Forward Dan Fife. It was a mismatch in height. Jameson stands 5'10" and Fife 6'11".

But Jameson proved more than equal to the imposing task as he held Fife, who can kill an opponent from anywhere on the court, to just 18 points, the first time he has been stopped with less than 20 points this year. Fife averages over 30 points per game.

Witness the statistics. Fife shot 11 times from the field, and he connected on only four. He didn't get a shot off in the second quarter, and his four third period shots were off target. He scored nine of his points in the final quarter with Clarkston trailing by 10 and more.

What the statistics don't show is that Fife was visibly shaken by Jameson's harrying tactics, so much so that he made more than his usual share of mistakes.

Jameson wasn't the only hero. Another Mustang, Forward Steve Evans, measured up to pre-season expectations by providing the spark that carried Northville to an 11-point halftime lead that it never relinquished.

Evans scored all his points, 14, in the first half on tip-ins, corner shots and sweeping hooks to lead the Mustang offensive, and he was a bear on the boards. Only his fourth foul, incurred just before halftime, prevented him from going on to greater things. He sat out most of the second half.

The last half belonged largely to four other local cagers—Center Jerry Insland, Forward Mark Cushing, Guard-Forward Jim Zayti and Guard Nelson Hyatt.

The last half belonged largely to four other local cagers—Center Jerry Insland, Forward Mark Cushing, Guard-Forward Jim Zayti and Guard Nelson Hyatt.

Hyatt, the sophomore who is fast becoming the best sixth man in the league and the one who won the Brighton game with a last-second field goal, did it again. He came off the bench to provide some key baskets. He scored 12 points.

Zayti flashed good speed on driving layups from his guard spot, and when switched to forward, the 6-ft. junior scrapped for that bucket or rebound, several in vital situations. He finished with 13 points.

Insland and Cushing, though held to eight and seven points, respectively, were tough on the boards, taking up the slack when Evans was benched. Insland, the Mustangs' rugged forward-center and top scorer, drew a crowd every time he had the ball and served as a decoy much of the night.

"Our game plan worked to perfection," said Longridge. "We controlled the ball and stopped Fife with less than 25 points. The boys did a great job. It was a great team effort."

The second quarter was the turning point in the game as Evans tallied from the corner, on a rebound and on a left-handed hook to lead Northville to a 32-17 lead with three minutes left before halftime. But Clarkston netted two field goals, the last from mid-court with a second left on the clock as Northville walked to the locker room with a 32-21 margin.

Fired up, Clarkston cut Northville's lead to 35-30 in the third period—primarily because of an all-court press—until Northville spurred on six straight points by Insland to resume an 11-point advantage at 43-32 at quarter's end.

Cagerettes Flying High

Northville's cagerettes are flying high.

Coach Pat Bubel's girls, both varsity and junior varsity, posted their second triumphs in a row last Friday to boost their season records to 2-1.

Plymouth was the latest victim. The varsity, led by Lynn Elkins' 18 points and Linda Nolte's 10, ran over the Rocks, 45-13. The JV's won, 29-11.

It was the JV's who won by the biggest margin the previous Friday, beating Clarenceville, 20-6, while the varsity eked out a 25-20 win.

Only loss suffered by both teams was at the hands of Livonia Bentley in the opening game of the season. Bentley won hands down, 39-18, over the varsity, but the JV's put up a stiff battle before coming off on the short end, 7-6.

Two home games are on tap. The Northville high school girls will host Clarenceville tomorrow night and Redford Union next Wednesday.

The present Rotary district governor is Perry Richwine of Plymouth.

Sports

Wrestlers Win With Comeback

A rash of last-minute victories enabled the Northville matmen to come from behind and post a 30-23 victory over Willow Run on the road Monday.

The win was Northville's fifth in 13 outings.

Behind 23-17 entering the three final matches, Northville got some unexpected performances from its wrestlers in the heavier weight divisions. Bob Sprenger, at 165 pounds and Vic Carter, heavyweight, pinned their men, and Dan Conklin, a 180 pounder, won by decision.

Other winners who helped to boost Northville's point total to 23 were Bob Baber (103 pounds) Marty Richardson (112), and Dennis Cook (127), all won by pins and Norm Dicks (138) who fought to a draw.

In last Thursday's meet with Clarenceville, Northville tasted defeat, 25-15, in a hard-fought match.

All Northville's victories were by decision. They were gained by Chuck Keegan (95), Richardson, Cook (120), Sprenger (154) and Conklin.

Explorer Post Forming

A charter meeting for the formation of an Explorer post in Northville will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Northville First Methodist church.

Any boy 14 years old and in the ninth grade or 15 to 18 years old, regardless of grade, is eligible to become an Explorer. Both scouts and non-scouts of these ages are invited to attend the charter meeting.

The Explorers is entirely a social activities group run by boys who plan and execute their own programs using occupations and hobbies as the basis for their activities.

These activities provide a training in many fields, serving as a foundation for knowledge and background in later life, Darrell Holloman, organizer, points out. He adds that Exploring offers high-school boys a chance to pursue interests at two monthly meetings and an activity. This activity may be bowling-tournament, field trip, dance or party. A super-activity is planned for the year, which may be a canoe trip or camping expedition. The Explorer district also schedules three yearly activities, such as road rallies, camp-outs and olympics.

Mrs. Alfred Gaedt drove to Bay City February 8 to attend the funeral of Carl Sloggett.

Twins were born February 9 to Mr. and Mrs. Keith Coykendall. The proud parents have a son and a daughter, each weighing seven pounds. They also have three children at home, two other sons and another daughter. Mrs. Coykendall is the former Evon Van Amberg.

Mrs. Rose Darin of Southfield entertained her knitting club members from Wixom Tuesday.

On the sick list are Dereza Smith, who is in University hospital, Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Merritt Marshall, who is at St. Joseph's hospital, Ann Arbor. Everett Pearsall is in Pontiac Osteopathic hospital after surgery.

Luncheon guests of Mildred Gibson February 7 were Miss Hilda Furman, Mrs. Frances Morris, Mrs. Beryl Schoening, of South Lyon, and Mrs. Frances Gibson, of Farmington.

Local Youth Quizes Veep

A Northville high school student was among the 44 students who questioned Vice President Hubert Humphrey at a press conference, February 7, at Eastern Michigan University.

Larry Thibos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Thibos of 535 River street, who is mayor of the student body at the high school was Northville's representative at the student press conference.

The questions asked of the Vice President were ones that the 44 students had formulated and had voted on as being the most important to ask. The question and answer period followed the Vice President's speech on high school drop-outs.

Thibos was chosen to ask one of the questions. He asked the Vice President: "Earlier today you explained that you would like to see every American be able to obtain a good education. Why is it, then, that federal aid is not given to private or parochial schools, but only to public schools?"

First 'Full House' for Jail

For the first time since the Northville jail was completed almost two years ago, there was "a full house." All three cells were occupied Saturday night.

Acting Police Chief Dave LaFond said that the three men, all apprehended on Saturday night, were Gerald Hoskins, of Redford; Robert Strange, of 422 Dubuar; and a "Golden Rule" drunk.

All three were released Sunday morning, Hoskins and Strange on bail.

Strange, 19, resisted arrest when Patrolman Earl Van Cis and Sergeant Louis Westfall answered the call at the Belnor Drive-in parking lot at 11:50 p.m., LaFond said, adding that Strange also fought policemen at the police station.

Charged with drunk and disorderly conduct, Strange appeared before Municipal Judge Charles McDonald, Monday and entered a plea of not guilty and was released on a bond of $200 pending trial on February 21.

Hoskins, also 19, was picked up at 11:50 p.m. on East Main street for driving a car without license plates.

At his appearance before Judge McDonald, Monday, Hoskins pleaded guilty to the charge of improper plates and was fined $15, the violation issued for having no operator's license on person was suspended.

Chief LaFond said the third man was taken into custody at 9:43 p.m. Saturday night, but no charges were filed. "He was picked up on what we call the 'golden Rule drunk charge,'" LaFond said. He was slumped over the driver's wheel of his parked car asleep and intoxicated, said LaFond. The chief pointed out that the man was held to sober up for his own protection.

Players Guild in Rehearsal

Practice and preparations are in full swing this week for the seventh production of the season of the Northville Players Guild. They will present "Bell, Book and Candle," on the high school auditorium stage February 25 and 26.

Mary Bush has the lead part, playing Gilliam, the beautiful witch who loses her powers when she falls in love with a stranger, Shep Henderson, played by Steve Harrigan.

The three-act play will also feature Lou Bell as Queequeg, the impetuous old maid aunt; Gary Webb as Nicky, the flamboyant brother who delights in exercising his wizardry, and Edd (sic) Austin as Redditch. Dr. Hans Kolbe again has the director's chair for this popular stage and screen story which will be the first adult play of the year for the Northville Players. He is assisted by Rita Sprenger.

Other guild members assigned are Susan Harrigan, script girl; Alice Hosbeck and Emille Wilson, props; John Hyde, coordinator. Webb is stage designer in addition to his stage role.

Now in its third year of presenting drama to a Northville audience, the guild feels this cast will give a memorable rendition of the delirium of Miriam made famous by Kim Novak and Jimmy Stewart in the movie.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Pastor Alton Glazier
Fellowship Baptist Church

I would like to give you a challenge. I would like to have you lay down this paper, reading no farther in this article, until you have read Chapter 36 of Jeremiah in your Bible. I am confident that if you will do so, what I am about to say will make much more sense to you now, and will make a much more lasting impression.

So you are ready to proceed. Good. You noticed, I am sure that Biblical criticism is as old as the Bible, itself. God said, "Write." Jeremiah wrote. King Jehoiakim, of Judah, sought to destroy it.

Biblical criticism still rages. Men are devoting their time and effort to make null and void the Word of God. Man has not changed. Therefore, if we can see why Jehoiakim would try to destroy the Word, we see why men do so now.

I think we would recognize first that the king did not see this writing as being the inspired Word of God. In verses 1 and 2 we read that God said, "take a roll of a book, and write therein..." The king thought this was just the word of a man, and a man at odds with his country, at that.

It makes a great difference whether we see the Bible as the Word of God or as the words of men. If it is but the words of men, I can accept it or reject it according to my pleasure. After all, it is but their opinions, and I am equally entitled to mine.

However, if it is the Word of God, if God has spoken, I should listen. If God, who created me, is concerned enough with me to communicate with me, I would be foolish not to "hear Him out."

"All Scripture is given by the inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." II Timothy 3:16

We suspect that another thing that influenced King Jehoiakim's action was that he did not like what the message showed him of himself morally and spiritually. Verse 3 speaks of "their iniquity and their sin." Verse 7 speaks of the "evil way" of "everyone." Man wants to be seen as good. He does not like that which criticizes his actions. We turn and twist before the mirror to see ourselves from the best angle. We want our mirror to declare us to be the fairest of them all like the wicked witch of Snowwhite. God's Word does not do this. We are shown to be sinners. "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God." "All we like sheep have gone astray..." "There is none righteous, no, not one."

Our natural reaction is like that of the king. We want no part of it. We cut out such parts from the Bible by leaving them out as we read. Even such a man as Martin Luther was guilty of cutting out some that he did not like. He declared the Epistle of James to be a "right strawy epistle." Remember, "All Scripture is given by inspiration..."

The third factor may well have been that the King thought he could avert the judgments of God. Sin brings judgment. "Great is the anger and the fury that the Lord hath pronounced against this people." Verse 7. How foolish. The hope of escape from the judgment of God is in His word, not in the destruction of it.

In Isaiah 53:6, where we are informed that we have all gone astray, we are told that "the Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us all." This is basically the message of God's Word. We are sinners, and God will judge sin. But He has judged it in Jesus Christ and all who accept this judgment are accepted by God.

"And He is the propitiation for our sins; and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world." I John 2:2

Watch That THUMB!

Peter loves to "fix things," even though he sometimes gets hurt in the process. Yesterday he pinched his finger with the pliers. Today, he'll probably end up by banging his thumb with the hammer. But tomorrow he'll be right back at it again... learning the hard way!

From childhood, we learn best by personal experience. Our natural curiosity makes it difficult for us to accept advice from others. We want to find out for ourselves... and life has some hard lessons to teach us. Among other things, we have to discover that material possessions are no guarantee of happiness... and that money can't buy love, or health, or peace of mind.

Religious faith is another aspect of life that must not be left unexplored. Christianity has been tested by time... and it stands ready to be tested by YOU. Don't miss the greatest experience of all. Visit the church of your choice this Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church: They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mild Winter Spares DPW Sand and Salt

Talk to any of the area DPW directors and they will readily admit that old man winter has been kind to them so far, but will quickly add that winter has not yet left us.

So far this year the snow has been light and the use of sand and salt has been sparse.

In Northville, DPW Director Herman Hartner said that only half of a 100-ton stockpile of salt has been used this season. Howard Miller, Novi director of the DPW, said that only about 40% of a stockpile of 13,500 tons has been used this season. Wixom used only 100 tons of salt and sand this year. Robert Trombley, DPW administrator, said that this is only one-third the amount used last year.

In each of the three communities the mixture that produces skid proof roads appears as though it is a secret concoction prepared by a chef.

Hartner said that straight salt is used in Northville. He claims that it does a faster job than sand and takes the frost out of the streets. Sand, on the other hand, Hartner said, makes the black-top streets muddy and clogs the gutters and sewer catchbasins.

In Wixom, Trombley said that, two parts salt are added to one part sand. He pointed out that the salt used is a large pellet that melts slowly and is longer lasting, and which is possible because that city doesn't have a large volume of traffic on its streets needing a quickly cleared path.

In Novi, Miller said that one part of salt is mixed with ten parts of sand. He pointed out that the large amount of sand is used because of an abundance of gravel roads. Sand, he said, gives traction on the gravel.

Last year Novi spent $1,240 to keep the traffic moving on its 60 miles of roads.

The Wixom budget allowed $2,000 for the removal of snow from the city's streets.

In last year's budget the Northville city council allotted $6,000 for the removal of snow but Old Man Winter came up with snow that cost $8,100 to remove with 91 tons of salt.

SHRINKING MOUNTAIN—This 50-ton mountain of salt and sand will quickly shrink with the falling of a heavy snow storm. When the snow comes, Barry Westervelt of the Wixom DPW will come down from his mountain and help level it.

It's History Month

Northville Mayor A. Malcolm Allen joined Governor Romney this week in proclaiming the month of February as American History Month in Michigan and in Northville. They urged "all citizens to give proper and full support of all educational programs this month" and encouraged all citizens to read American history in their homes as well as in schools.

Mayor Allen's proclamation was made at the suggestion of the Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

"Studying American history," reads the Governor's proclamation, "is a rich and rewarding literary experience—and serves as an excellent means of re-dedicating ourselves to our national ideals and principles."

Foreman at Wixom Plant Crushed in Accident

A fatal accident at the Wixom Ford plant in which a general foreman was crushed is being investigated by company officials and police.

A spokesman for the company said that they are attempting to determine if mechanical failure caused a car to roll from a hoist onto Frank W. Kosciolk, 52, 2216 Evaline, Hamtramck. The accident occurred at the Wixom plant on January 28.

Wixom police report that they have ruled out any criminal negligence in the accident.

You get twice the traction of ordinary pick-ups with a 4-wheel drive 'Jeep' Gladiator.

You go where the job is—even over the roughest terrain! And 'Jeep' 4 wheel drive grips on wet, slippery roads, with the same extra traction that takes you through deep mud, sand, snow. Plenty of options—like new 250 hp V 8 engine or Hi-Torque 6, 7 or 8 foot box. 3 or 4 speed transmission with standard shift, or Turbo Hydra-Matic* (the only pick up offering automatic transmission with 4 wheel drive).

You've got to drive it to believe it! See your 'Jeep' dealer. Check the Yellow Pages.

Embarrassing Moments

One Salute's Not as Good as Another

Try this one on for laughs. It seems one of Northville's high school teachers took his ROTC training a bit lightly while attending Michigan State University. We won't mention his initials but his name is John Hyde.

John says they held a parade ground review the day he was made flight sergeant. The campus ROTC had charge. Looking on from the sidelines were a group of regular reserve officers. It was a time for the troops to show their spit and polish.

During the ceremony John was to break ranks and go before his commanders to receive the promotion. He did, marched solitarily to within the prescribed distance from the two in charge and saluted.

The officers faces immediately reflected grim consternation. Why, John didn't know.

Then a third junior officer came up from behind him and asked, "Were you ever a boy scout?"

"No," John replied, "but I was a cub scout."

The questioner glared back "Well, in the Air Force we salute like this!"

450 Attend GOP Dinner

Turnout at the traditional Lincoln Day banquet by Plymouth-Northville second congressional district Republicans was the best ever.

Held last Thursday evening at the Plymouth Meeting House, the banquet attracted some 450 area Republicans. Included were 100 from Northville.

State Republican Chairman Elly Peterson was the speaker and emphasized her belief that "great men make a 'great society,'" not the opposite.

"REALLY, MR. SIBLEY--IS THIS WHAT YOU CALL AN ORGANIZED PHYSICAL FITNESS PROGRAM!"

Michigan Mirror

Biggest Budget Not Enough

LANSING - Never enough money to do the things desired or necessary: that is the problem of state government as well as most families in Michigan.

Despite a proposal to increase Michigan's spending by $125 million, many complaints have already been heard that some members of the state family will still be forced to live beneath their needs.

Loudest complaints to date have come from the institutions of higher education.

One of the unhappy college spokesmen is University of Michigan President Harlan Hatcher. He termed the Governor's budget recommendations "very disappointing" because they "fall far short of meeting the full need."

HIGHER EDUCATION is not alone in its demand for greater funds to complete plans for new or expanded programs, build new physical facilities, and hire additional staff.

Whether it be higher education, agriculture, civil rights, mental health, or whatever, a vicious circle develops similar to one common in a private family situation.

Extra income encourages the family to move into a bigger, perhaps newer home. This requires some new furniture and perhaps allows the family members to broaden their activities.

There may be room, for example, for a ping pong table. This may call for special lighting fixtures, and so the story goes.

The expenditures for equipment all too often get even larger than the extra income which permitted the initial change in the family's life.

Where does it end? Only common sense can keep living costs within the budget, whether it be in a five-member family or among the several units of state government.

GOV. ROMNEY proposes to dip into the fat surplus of revenues for over $68 million in the coming fiscal year spending.

A survey of each agency as it sees its forthcoming needs would, no doubt, show every penny of the current $136 million surplus could be spent and still leave someone crying for more.

SOME CRISES never seem to be resolved. The critical problems of local school districts fall in this category, and particularly the teacher shortage.

As far as memory goes back, it seems school teachers have always been in demand. This year apparently will be no exception. Michigan State University officials report that despite a new high in enrollments of elementary and secondary education students, the supply is still falling short of the demand for teachers at these levels.

STATISTICS show Michigan State, with 1,600 potential teachers graduated last year, leading the nation in training educators.

Still, Donald F. Harden, MSU placement officer, says the graduates from East Lansing can essentially handpick the area in which to work. This is especially true for elementary school teachers, since greater numbers of students select the secondary level.

Dr. Leland W. Dean, director of MSU's School of Teacher Education, notes that the shortage of elementary school teachers has been present since World War II. Educators are hesitant to predict when, or even if, the supply will catch up with the demand.

REORGANIZATION of state government is formally in effect now. A more accurate term for the process might be reshuffling. For, while there are now fewer units with the name "department," there are essentially the same number of agencies. In most cases just the title has been changed. What it has meant in the departments re-affiliated the longest has been a change in many of the procedures. Where a council was once independent, its staff must now go through several channels to do its work because it is now part of a larger unit, the department.

OTHER CHANGES are resulting by executive edict. The Governor has distributed a memo requiring different handling of publicity and one regarding the filling of high-level personnel vacancies.

It seems the executive office wants to be notified of vacancies, presumably including some which would be covered and filled through the civil service process.

Regarding publicity, any press releases are to be channeled through the upper levels of the departmental structure rather than released by a person who might previously have headed the public relations work in a given council or subdepartment unit.

MANY STATE employees, and others outside, are still watching to see the full effect of the reorganization changes and the governor's edicts.

All are hoping the changes might result in less red tape for the public in dealing with state government. The overriding fear, however, is that the government procedures are getting even more complicated and cumbersome than ever before.

Stock Market vs. Emotion

BABSON PARK, Mass. - Last June 10 in this column we stuck our neck out and predicted that the Dow-Jones Industrial Average would "reach at least 1,000 in 1965." Furthermore, we then forecast that the May 1965 high of 939 on the Dow would be exceeded by Christmas. We were "right as rain" about new highs before Christmas. But we missed the puncturing of 1,000 by a hair's breadth. However, we still stick by that forecast that the Dow Industrials will soon record a closing figure above 1,000.

In June when we took our optimistic stand, pessimism was thicker than a London fog. Stocks were being heavily sold and the averages tumbled almost daily. Between mid-May and late June the Dow Industrial Average crashed roughly 100 points. Many professional analysts turned bearish. Followers of the ancient "Dow Theory" method of projecting the course of stocks proclaimed that we had entered a "bear" market.

The country last June was going through a real case of war jitters. Many columnists were full of dire forebodings as to what would happen to our soldiers in Vietnam when they were attacked by the wily Reds under cover of the torrential monsoon rains. Fears of what the Russians and Chinese might do were heard everywhere. There was a growing disposition to write off our war effort before it had really begun.

SINCE THAT great wave of gloom in June, almost every statistical indicator of our economy's health has soared to new heights. And, after some wobbling in July, the stock market climbed almost straight up to new all-time peaks. Those who felt back then that the tumble in securities was predicting a recession have lost a lot of faith in the market as a prophet for the economy.

The really big lesson to be learned from what happened in the late spring of 1965 is the overworking part that emotion plays in determining the actions of businessmen and investors. Last June the prospects of jungle fighting stirred great fears. Within a very few months, however, expectations of an even bigger war aroused deep worries over inflation; and the people who had dumped stocks six months earlier rushed to buy them as a shield against inflation. Then, the emotion of greed took over. Buyers flocked into the market to get some of the profits others were piling up in stocks.

by some new warlike development. However, the next stampede out of stocks could just as well be touched off by Russia's successfully establishing a huge space platform visible to millions on earth.

WHATEVER the cause for the next shift in emotions, be sure of one thing ... it will come suddenly and unexpectedly. Hence, when the Dow soars above 1,000, don't be carried away by the wave of rejoicing. Keep your investment feet on the ground and a good reserve of quality bonds and savings books in your safe deposit box. Years of ever-climbing markets have made for carelessness in investing habits. For those owning stocks, there is still no substitute for a soundly conceived and well-balanced financial program.

Be a Michigan Minuteman.

Take a minute to tell someone how mighty Michigan is in size:

-Its rivers and streams would reach one and a half times around the world.

-Its public roads and streets would go around the equator four times.

-Its shoreline is longer than either the U.S. Atlantic coastline or Pacific coastline.

-Its total land area of 36,494,080 acres is larger than Greece, larger than Switzerland and Portugal combined, and nearly five times the size of Belgium.

-Its area includes 57,022 square miles of land and nearly 40,000 square miles of water surface. In land and water area combined, it is the largest state east of the Mississippi and ranks tenth in the nation.

-Its population is almost eight million, ranking it seventh among the states in the 1960 federal census.

Big Job For Evans

Evans Products Company's Railway Car Division, headquartered at Plymouth, announced receipt of an order for 235 40-ft. box cars from the Seaboard Air Line Railroad, Richmond, Virginia. The new cars, scheduled for delivery early in the third quarter of this year, are valued at approximately $3 million.

Evans recently announced a $2,800,000 car-building plant expansion at its Plymouth facility following a previously announced $1,500,000 expansion at the same location.

In addition to freight cars, Evans makes rail and truck damage-prevention equipment at its Plymouth plant. The company also leases new and used freight cars, and is a manufacturer of freight car brake beams, box car doors, and automotive equipment. Other divisions of the company are in the building materials and pre-cut homes fields.

Crashes Kill 3 Horses

Three valuable racing horses were killed when they wandered into the roadway at 2:05 a.m. and were struck down by two passing motorists.

The driver of the second car was hospitalized overnight with a concussion, it was reported by a spokesman at St. Joseph's Mercy hospital in Ann Arbor. The first driver suffered only scratches and bruises, according to Washtenaw county sheriff's deputies.

Leslie Eugene Pollack, 37 of 10286 West Seven Mile, Northville, was the first to hit two horses on Seven Mile road as they walked directly across the road, said the officers. Pollack's car struck first one and then the other, killing them instantly.

William H. McKeever, 23, 33 Woodland Place, Northville, then struck the third horse, one of the dead horses and a tree. He was taken to the hospital.

The accidents occurred February 6 about 3/10 mile east of Currie road.

The horses were owned by Fernand (Fred) Bodnar, 8595 West Seven Mile road.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

What's a board of review?
Taxpayers should know the function of this important body, which soon will be scheduling meetings in the respective cities, villages and townships served.
The board of review is appointed in each community to check property assessments and respond to questions from taxpayers regarding their assessments.
The new 1966-67 assessments have already been established, for example, and will be open to public inspection at board of review meetings. Remember, the tax you pay is levied against your assessment - so it's important that this assessment is fair and proper.
Check the time and place of the meetings of your city, township or village board of review in this newspaper.
March is the month and notices of schedules will soon be published.

I'd like to forget about the school board ... I really would. They've taken up too much space in this column of late and I try to make it a habit to move about in picking subjects.

What's more, some of my fine friends on the board and school administration might get the idea I'm trying to create problems for them.

Perish the thought. They don't need my help. Anyone with half an ear knows that.

But after the dust has cleared on the question of moving the school site there's one point that remains to haunt the cost-conscious.

Why should the board -- firm in its opposition to moving the school 1,800 feet eastward to obtain water and sewer service at low cost -- now decide to enter into a study with the city to pay $50,000 for extending sewer service alone?

Saturday night in Northville can be an enlightening experience.

Try standing at Main and Center streets about 10 p.m. and watch the action. But don't stray into the raceway.

Last Saturday night might well have served as a fore-runner to spring. It was balmy and clear and the hotrodders were testing their tires.

Every year when spring rolls around the complaints about vandalism, speeding, fights, etc., pour into the police department.

It might be a good idea to clamp down before the trouble starts this year.

Perhaps if one of the young speedsters had to call his parents from the local jail the word would get around that Northville is tough on speeders.

And maybe a life or limb would be saved.

If the city budget can stand it, an extra detail of auxiliary police on duty in the business district during the spring and summer months would be a good investment in safety and law control.

School Site Should be Changed

To the Editor:

Where should the new school be located? How far should the lack of "joint-effort" be permitted to exist between the city and township officials and the board of education in working toward educational ends for a new Northville school? How long can an unsolved problem exist before we contribute to the weakening of over-all progress for the community? This writer feels we do have a problem that must be solved.

School board members are selected because of their interest in education and have the ability to look at issues intelligently and objectively; that they are people who recognize that decision-making regarding school policies and educational needs is legally the responsibility of the board of education.

In the pre-planning for this new school, recommendations were given for the location site by a citizens committee. Also in the pre-planning, it should have been the responsibility of the board of education to have established a "general clearing house for information" with liaison to the city and township governments as part of a long-planning process, as a preparation for situations which might arise in the future. Comments could have been sought concerning any proposed land as to its suitability for water and sewers, and facilities that could be offered at the time the citizens committee gave its recommendations.

It is my thought that the board of education should now regard the relocation of the school site to the border of the city as one of the inevitable stages in the growing process of a growing community. Responsibility for harnessing all interest and wisdom for the children in our schools and for the community in which we live belongs to all.

Northville: Nice Place To Referee

Dear Reader:

Last Friday I had the pleasure of officiating the Northville-Milford basketball game. I would like to make a few comments.

As I drove in, Police Reserves directed the parking. Teachers were selling and taking tickets. Members of the coaching staff met us at the door and directed us to our dressing room. Mr. Stefanski and the Athletic Department were on hand to handle the crowd. Mr. Harry Smith was time-keeper and together with the scorekeeper met with us for instructions.

I was glad to see so many other teachers in attendance. Miss Dorian's cheerleaders, as always, were "sharp." Mr. Longridge's players were extremely well coached, and more importantly, they were gentlemen. The Athletic Director, Al Jones, with the aid of his fine assistants Messrs. Horwath, Klukach, Kucher, and others, had planned and prepared everything perfectly. The gym was clean and uncluttered, and a uniformed policeman was on duty. As I travel around the state, I find few schools that can match this operation.

I sometimes wonder if we who live in this community fully realize how fortunate we are to have such competent teachers in our school system. It certainly is wonderful to have our young people under the guidance of a fine faculty.

Derailment Cause Found

Cause of a freak train derailment which dumped two loaded boxcars onto Northville road near Five Mile road last month has been traced, a spokesman for the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad said this week.

Bunching of boxcars during slowdown for a siding caused one car to lift and its wheel truck to lift off the rails, company investigators determined.

Upon resumption of forward pull through a reverse curve turnout the boxcar overturned, pulling another off the Northville overpass with it and derailing 13 others.

About $25,000 damage was incurred by the railroad, and traffic on Northville road was blocked for over 24 hours by the two huge freight cars. No motorists were involved as the normally heavy traffic through the underpass was at a lull on that chilly Friday afternoon, January 28 about 1:45.

4-H Awards

Two Northville sisters were among those who received 4-H awards at a banquet held last Thursday evening at the Belleville Methodist church, in Belleville.

They are: Linda, age 13, and Rebecca, age 11, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Whitefield of 41850 E. Seven Mile road. Linda was presented an award in the horse division and her sister Rebecca was presented an award in the handicraft division.

February 26 Meeting Here to Explain Senior Citizen Benefits

The American Legion Post No. 147, together with the Northwest-Detroit Social Security District Office, is sponsoring a Social Security Day, February 26 from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

All retirees beyond age 65 who have not applied for Medicare, and all workers seeking information, guidance or assistance on any old-age, survivors' or disability insurance payments, may find answers to their questions at this time.

Applications for health insurance, retirement, disability and survivors' benefits, as well as for students under age 22 of retired or deceased workers, will be taken at the Legion Hall, 101 West Dunlap street.

Beginning July 1, 1966, nearly all Americans 65 and over will become eligible for two kinds of health insurance protection often called "Medicare", hospital insurance and, for those who choose to take it - medical insurance.

All social security beneficiaries have received a card in the mail last October and if they failed to reply, another card last week. If you are not sure as to what you must do - it will be well for you to visit the representatives on Saturday, February 26.

There is a deadline for enrollment. All Americans over age 65 prior to January 1, 1966, must enroll for "Medicare" before March 31, 1966. Failure to do so will prolong coverage for over two years inasmuch as the next enrollment period will be October of 1967, and the effective date to hospitalization will be July 1968.

For the guy who'd rather drive than fly: Chevelle SS 396

POTENT
THE CHEVROLET WAY

This is about a Chevelle—a very special one—with a bulging hood, a black grille and red stripe nylon tires. Start it up and you've tuned in on 396 cubic inches of Turbo-Jet V8.
Get it moving and suddenly you're a driver again. With gears to shift. A clutch to work. Even a set of gauges to read, if specified.
Now take a curve, surrounded by a machine that delights in crooked roads.
This, you see, is an SS 396. A Chevelle, yes. But what a Chevelle.
