A move 1800 feet eastwardhad been proposed that would have given city sewer and water at an estimated cost of $10,000 as opposed to the estimated cost of $15.000 for well and septic installation.

Board President Wilfred Becker stated the board's position at the request of William Secord. who had been chairman of the advisory site committee. After complimenting the board on its cost-cutting examination of school plans as the contracts were the thinking of the board should be made clear to voters who will be asked to vote increased milage in May. Becker said the board's objective was to locate the school where it would do the most good for children coming to the school, that it be located on a parcel of land where the least grading for the least amount of money would be needed, and that the site opposite the entrance to Northville Estates subdivision reflected the best judgment of the board.

Becker and Board Member Robert Shafer commented that the board had not had a "firm statement" from the city that sewer and water would be available at the alternate site. But other members reminded them that last week's letter from Acting City Manager Philip Ogilvie promised the facilities at "nominal cost." Ogilvie, who had not been asked directly by the board the cost, estimated Tuesday that the total cost would not be more than $7,000 for sewer and $3,000 for James Kipfer stressed that the board was 'building for 50 years and primary consideration was boys and girls." Donald Lawrence pointed out that the progress "has been held up three different times as the board investigated facility possibilities and that the question boiled down at $4,200, for blacktop will be to 'when are we going to move' 'if the school is to be opened next fall." He added that this was his reason for concurring with the board in spite of any personal reservations he might have...

In discussing the board's contracts with the city Robert Shafer said the board would have been "buying a pocketful of unknowns." At the questioning of Mrs. Secord he conceded that "a good portion of the students living near the new school will have to be bussed" for, as she stated, there are no sidewalks for walkers at this time. This situation would pertain at either site, it was pointed

Final estimate of $12,000 for the sewer and septic installation was given by Robert Tucker of the architectural firm, O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach. At the request of The Record, Administrative Assistant Elroy Ellison Tuesday gave the figure that fire insurance will cost $180 additional yearly on the building as it is not located in proximity to hy-

Inasmuch as the well is being drilled and the board's decision is finalized, Secord suggested that a public letter be written explaining the board's reasoning. This letter is written by President Becker and appears in this edition on page 8A.

DEADLINE REMINDER-After Monday you'll have trouble driving around with a set of 1965 plates. February 28 is the final day for old plates and the word from Harold Hartley, manager of the Northville branch of the secretary of state's office at 116 East Main, is that there's a long line of motorists who still haven't purchased 1966 plates. The office is open until 9 p.m. Friday and 6 p.m. Monday.

DeMare Brothers construction firm was awarded the contract for the school with the electrical contract going to Jem Installation Service with its low bid of $58,320 and the mechanical to A.N.J. Heating and Air Conditioning company with its low of $154,000.

In awarding the bid to DeMare Brothers concern was expressed over the length of time the firm would take to do the job as it was reported to be behind in some present committments. E. O. Weber questioned whether the building program could be put on ''critical path'' contract. Robert Tucker and two associates, speaking for the architects, said it would be too costly and felt that it would be their job to keep close progress checks on the building. At best, it is anticipated that classroom construction will be completed for school opening in September with the rest of the work to be finsihed by year end.

Architectural deletions include substitution of cement asbestos shingles for copper roofing around the multi-purpose and stage areas at a cost saving of $3,200. Other faces of the building will remain copper. Cement a shestos, board for cement plaster soffits effected a saving of drilling rig this week. Tuesday drillers had reached a depth of nearly 60 feet. It was estimated that water in suf-

site is directly across Eight Mile road from Northville

Greatest saving was in the omission of a portable folding stage at a cost of $6,019 with that it could be purchased directly, a section at a time, as need arises. It was pointed out that this omission is justified as a fire marshal requirement limits the use of the room for stage-type purposes to 10 per cent of the Carpeting, suggested for offices, kindergarten, conference rooms and centrum area, was not approved Date Changed by the board because of the estimated cost of $4,580. At the suggestion of Board Secretary Donald Lawrence it was agreed that all kindergartens in all elementary schools be carpeted with the board getting bids from local and Detroit-area firms directly.

Grading, which will be necessary at the site, also was to be contracted directly later by the board.

Another knotty problem continued to plague the council Monday night. It involves sewer service for some 39 homes to be built by David Pink in a new subdivision north of Northville Heights on North Center street. The builder has all his streets and subdivision utilities installed. He has appealed to the city for building permits so that he may proceed with construction of homes, some of which are aleady sold.

But the council has ruled that it will issue permits without guarantee of occupancy until a sewer line leading from the subdivision can be tapped into the new 42-inch Oakland county sewer serving Novi. Pink must build the offsite sewer, and is ready to do so, but wants the city's assurance that he can have occupancy permits when the houses are complete.

The city cannot gain Oakland county's permission to tap into the new sewer until it has proven through television sewer tests that its existing lines in the area (which will also be relieved by the Novi sewer) are completely clean of sand and without breaks that would allow infiltration. City Engineer Harold Pennbelieves tests will prove satisfactory once the lines have been

Hamlin, serving for the past two years as regional director of Hamilton's Plymouth office, built and managed one of the country's most productive life insurance agencies. Boasting a cumulative new business volume in excess of $63 million, Hamlin's agency currently outranks 50 percent of the nation's 1600 life insurance companies by total insurance in force. In Our Town

By Jean Day

IT WAS LIKE "looking at Spring" when Mrs. William R. Slattery, Northville town hall's petite chairman, steppedon the platform to introduce Fulton Lewis III last Thursday. Accenting her pale green walking suit was a chapeau blooming with pink-and-white flowers. Mrs. Slattery listened with anticipation as the speaker chatted about the balmy, 80-degree temperatures he had just left in Palm Beach. He was continuing on his speaking tour to Montana, but the Slatterys are about to leave for a vacation in Miami.

Another active town hall member, Mrs. Eugene Konrad, was just back from a vacation in Puerto Rico. She spent 10 days there visiting her husband, who remained on business, and acquiring one of the first tans of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hempe have plans set for a two-week winter, vacation in Jamaica. They are leaving March 4. Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers of Napier road flew to Santa Monica, California, Sunday where he is attending A & W Tech, a school for root beer concession owners, for a week. (He purchased a Dearborn Heights A & W on Ford road last December.) For Mrs. Rogers the trip is a vacation. Her sightseeing agenda was to include a visit to Disneyland.

SNOW COUNTRY near Traverse City was the location for a stag outing hosted last week end by John Northup, who invited friends north to visit the vacation home the Northups have purchased about 30 miles north of Traverse. This week end the Northup family with their neighbors, the Robert W. Bogarts, will vacation *****

THE WORLD is the destination of Mrs. C. O. Brosius of Haggerty court and Mrs. George F. Newman, former Northville resident now living in Farmington. They leave today for Honolulu where they will spend two days before flying to Auckland, New Zealand. There they will visit the geyser and trout regions near Rotorua before going on to the ski resort of Tongariro. At Waitomo plan to take a boat into the caves of glowworms.

Their intinerary continues to Melbourne. Australia, where they will visit Mrs. Newman's twin sister for a month. From Sydney they will travel to Manila and Tokyo. They hope to reach Japan just as the cherry blossoms are blooming in April. The tour route continues to TaiPei. Formosa, Hong Kong and Rome.

The travelers are to pick up a car in Rome to drive to Florence and Venice. Then they will fly to Zurich, Lucerne and Paris before crossing to London. England is the homeland of Mrs. Newman who will visit friends before they return to

HONOLULU also is the first tour stop for Clifton Hill who will be leaving next month on a trip to TaiPei, Hong Kong, Singapore, Calcutta, Bangkok and Nepal. In Nepal he will visit with David Filkin of Northville who is there with the Peace Corps. He will continue through New Delhi, Athens and Istanbuhl to Vienna, Amsterdam and Frankfurt before returning.

A COFFEE to introduce her neighbor, Mrs. Robert Marshall, to residents of Taft Colony subdivision is scheduled for this morning by Mrs. Earle McIntosh of Woodhill road. Mrs. Bernard Bach who moved from Northville Estates to Woodhill road also will be welcomed to the neighborhood. ******

West Bloomfield is waiting in the wings, and if Coach Art Paddy acts predictably, he'll have his cagers raring to go when Northville comesto town tomorrow night.

But on its home court, West Bloomfield can be particularly troublesome. And in the previous encounter, Northville had Forward Mark Cushing in the lineup. The 6'5" senior tallied 19 points for a season high.

West Bloomfield has a devastating scorer in its ranks. He's Tim Molner, a 6'1" jumping jack, who leads the Laker's attack. And directing the attack from his guard spot is capable Greg Hepinstall, a team leader. Northville Coach Dave Long- edged Milford, 67-66. fans who had come to see an explosive battle for first place in the Wayne-Oakland Conference last Friday night. At stake was the title.

And they got their money's worth, although as ever, only one side went home happy. That was Bloomfield Hills and its enthusiastic band of followers who had just witnessed their team's rousing come-from-behind, 56-53, victory over Northville.

Bloomfield thus tied Northville (10-3) for the loop lead with only one game remaining for each in league play. Northville will travel to West Bloomfield tomorrow night to take on the always dangerous Lakers, while Bloomfield Hills will entertain weak Brighton at home.

A Northville win and a Brighton unset of Bloomfield would give Northville sole claim to the title. But that's a miracle, and they're hard to come by, especially when Bloomfield gets on its home court with the title one game away.

Northville had its chance to win the W-O crown undisputed. and by all appearances at the outset, the Mustangs would do exactly that. They led at halftime, 28-20.

Everything was clicking for the Mustangs up to that point. Cènter Jerry Imsland was never better as he hit with unerring accuracy for 16 points on jump shots and dog shots on rebounds. Northville was penetrating the the best scoring effort by a prep taller Barons' man-to-man de fense with little trouble.

It was the Barons' cold shooting at the foul line, however, which spelled the halftime difference. They missedall eight tries; Northville converted eight of 12 attempts.

But Coach Hal Henderson was making some vital halftime changes; the Barons weren't giving up by any means. They came out in ān all-court zone press, picking the local cagers up all over the

But the tide had definitely turned as Northville found it increasingly difficult to break through Bloomfield's zone defense. Northville was getting no shots underneath the bucket, and it failed to hit consistently for a Northville resurgence. There were only a few sparks as Bloomfield continued harrying tactics in the fourth quarter. The Barons' Bob Calhoun netted a shot from the corner to finally pull Bloomfield even at 37-all with only 17

A battle for the lead ensued. Imsland hit a jumper to send Northville back into the lead. 39-37, but big Bruce Hall, a 6'6' junior, drove the base line to score and tie the game again. Bloomfield jumped in front for the first time, 41-40, a few seconds later as Calhoun converted a free throw, but Imsland duplicated that effort to knot the score. Both teams suddenly got hot, taking and hitting six successive shots. Northville's John Jameson scored on a set shot. Bloomfield's Dave Robillard tapped in a rebound. Northville Guard Nelson Hyatt and Hall then hooked up in a scoring duel of their own, Hyatt netting two from outside and Hall scoring from under the bucket. With the score tied 49-49, Bloomfield made the break that broke the game open. It took the lead, 50-49, on Calhoun's free throw with 2:10 left, and a 53-49 lead on Hall'sthree-pointer with barely a minute left. Bloomfield stalled and protected

Bloomfield was a different ball club the second half, primarily because of its staunch defense that reduced the Mustangs' effectiveness. Northville threw the ball away seven times when pressed, and that coupled with Bloomfield's accuracy at tory. It was a typical comeback victory for Bloomfield. Henderson's cagers began the season on a sour note. They lost three of their first five games in league play. Then they began their uphill surge to win eight in a row.

of Northville, the first game in which the Barons flashed their title potential.

For Northville, it was an excruciating loss, even though the Mustangs did not relinquish first place which they have held since the beginning of the season. Northville, in six attempts, has never beaten a team coached by Henderson in his three-year tenure at the Bloomfield helm.

Although Coach Dave Longridge's charges played the game to the hilt, "gave it all they had," there was something definitely lacking in the Mustang lineup. Slim Mark Cushing, the 6'5' forward, who has been an important cog in the Northville attack, was out due to illness.

Whether his presence would have made the difference between victory and defeat in this game is pure speculation, but the Mustangs are bound to feel his loss in the remaining league game and the tournaments. He is out for the season.

Imsland led all scorers with 22 points. He was backed up by Scouts Need Jameson's 10, and Hyatt's and Jim Zayti's nine.

Bloomfield had two players in double figures. Hall, who scored most of his points in the second Northville needs a two-wheeled half, tallied 17, and Brett Griffin, car trailer for use when the boys Bloomfield in the game early, camp-outs and similar activiended with 17. Dear Mr. Secord,

Your question to the School Board Monday evening about the proposed elementary school site and your comment that there are still people who do not have the reasons for not changing to a site "1800 feet east" has prompted this open letter. It is the earnest desire of the Board to give ed by Casterline Funeral Home full and complete information as to why they believe the original site is still the most advantageous. They are as follows:

1. Since the average school life is 40-50 years, the location of the site is most important. The site selected is in a position to service "walkers" from Northville Estates, as well as from

When the architects and the Board looked over the Whipple parcel, the proposed site to the east was one of the first areas examined and almost immediately discarded as being undesirable for a good school site. 3. Its position on West Eight Mile road is more desirable from the standpoint of vehicular traffic, because the access to the school would occur at a small rise in the road, giving good visibility in both directions.

which he called today's status quo, more and more young people are joining the Young Republicans National Federation, which had 200,000 members three years ago, 400,000 two years ago and now boasts 600,000 members. As such, he said, it is the largest youth organization politically in the country today. Over the same period, he said, the Young Democrats lost more than 70,000 members. As of September 1, 1965, he stated, there were more Young Republicans than Young Democrats in the country. He expressed the belief that the number of students affiliating with the Young Republican movement will save the two-party system in this country.

Statistics show, Lewis reported, that 92 per cent of the young within that party. By 1970, he continued, more than half the population will be 25 years old or vounger. By sheer numbers alone, he said, this should indicate a changing trend.

Such radical groups as the WEB DeBois clubs, the Progressive Labor Party, which at Yale University founded the M2M raising supplies and money for Communist Vietnam, and Sparticist groups, he pointed out, have relatively few members - "Their actions give them extensive press coverage but not necessarily re-cruits."

In discussing the student riots at Berkeley, California, campus Lewis felt such big campuses lose personal contact with students:

"It's possible to go to Berkeley for four years and never have a full professor grade your papers or talk with you personally. Papers are graded by IBM. And students don't like the idea of becoming an IBM card." Lewis, who is national field country.

Fulton Lewis III, an articulate the principles of liberty, espectioned many organizations of "the people who commit themselves to director of Young Americans for new student Left." After detailing a party before voting age stay Freedom, was hired by the house committee on Un-American activities and appointed a research director two years after graduation from University of Virginia. He resigned the post in 1961 and embarked on a nationwide speaking tour and has appeared frequently on national television programs.

In Lewis' opinion, student leaders in subversive youth organizations have not been indicted by the government as they are not embarrassed by jail sentences and actually like the publicity. He added that their fines usually are paid by the organizations and possibly the only punishment that might work would be in the form of labor, as his father has sug-

Observed each year on the of Prayer is truly world-wide in character. The same order of service, translated into many different languages, is used in all parts of the globe.

Each year's order of service is designed by an individual or committee in a different county. The 1966 service, based on the international theme: "You Are My Witnesses" (Isaiah 43:10), was prepared by women of the World Day of Prayer committee of Scotland. It stresses the idea that ordinary church members can change the world by their daily actions.

"In our modern world beset by agencies of overpopulation, undernourishment, and unprecedented capacities for destruction, an observance such as World Try of Prayer can offer each participant the warmth of fellowship through Jesus Christ, who transcends all barriers," leaders point out.

Brotherhood Week throughout the United States is observed during the week of Feb. 20-27. Right in the center of that week is Ash Wednesday. This day so long associated with Christian religion is an ideal time for all of us to look within our hearts and take inventory of our attitudes toward persons of other races, colors, religions, or creeds.

Do we tend to draw a circle to keep them out of our fellowship? Or are we great hearted enough to draw a circle to bring them in to our fellowship and friendship?

A friend handed me a used copy of a church publication titled, "Church and Home." In this copy was an article by William R. Marlow in which he told of his attending a meeting of the World Council of Churches. "We studied and worshipped as one church and together sang, "All people that on earth do dwell, Sing to the Lord with cheerful voice..."

"The languages of French, Russian, German, Spanish and many othersall combined here. Some persons wore beautiful robes, others the simple uniform of the Salvation Army, and many were in business suits. But all were one in Jesus Christ. The worship leader was sometimes German Lutheran, sometimes Russian Orthodox, or American Methodist. When we bowed in prayer I was unaware that a Scotchman, German, Russian, or American sat next to me. I knew we were brothers – that was all."

When word came to us this past week that Rabbi Morris Adler had been shot while standing in the pulpit of his synagogue we were quick to offer prayers for the Rabbi, for Mrs. Adler, and for the Congregation of the Synagogue. We remembered too the youth who shot him. Are not these our broth-

New Pastor Arrives In Salem

The Salem Congregational Christian church, 7961 Dickenson street, has a newpastor after eight months without a resident minister. The Rev. Fred Neal with his wife, Janice and five children moved to Salem recently from Royal Oak.

The Rev. Neal was Youth Director at Ambassador Baptist church in Royal Oak prior to his call to the Salem church. He attended West Virginia State Baptist Bible college and is currently attending Detroit Bible college.

The Congregational Christian church is now observing two worship services each Sunday at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. and the Rev. Neal announced that beginning March 3, a prayer meeting will be held each Thursday at 7 p.m. The Neal children are Cvnthia, 9; Robert Michael, 8; Anthony, 7; Christopher, 5; and Re-

Fete Students

A dinner honoring University of Michigan students who work with Northville State Hospital patients as part of their training will be held at the hospital March

The 6 p.m. dinner for approximately 160 students enrolled in a lecture-practice course conducted by Dr. Z. P. Lach, hospital staff psychiatrist, will also be attended by Professor John Hagen assistant professor of psychology at U-M. Dr. Erasmus Hoch, acting chairman of the U-M school of psychology there, is also invited.

During the evening a letter of recognition will be awarded to a staff nurse "for excellent contributions to the program" and "helpfulness to students during the past three years."

You are always trying to drag Jesus Christ into it." But we do not have to drag Jesus Christ into the problem of human relations and brotherhood. He is already there! Ash Wednesday and Lent come at an opportune time for us to examine our own thoughts and attitudes toward brotherhood and to repent of our sins of racial or denominational pride. A Great Leader Still Leads

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a store house of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church They (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself which needs his moral and material

It has been said that a man is tallest when he is on his knees. The familiar picture of George Washington kneeling in prayer at Valley Forge reminds us that the "Father of our Country" was a man who walked close to God and who taught his soldiers to pray. Washington recognized that human frailty is not a sign of weakness — that it is the first step toward finding the needed strength. To call upon God for the resources we lack is to supply our deepest want.

The example of our first President still points men to God. Just as George Washington found God's strength available, so do men in our time when they call upon Him in faith. Discover Him in your own life. Worship God in your church next

Terrance P. Meyer, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Meyer of 48120 West Eight Mile, Northville, left his tuba home and lost a free trip to the Rose Bowl. Meyer, a 1962 graduate of Northville high school, could have gone to the Rose Bowl with the Michigan State University Marching Band last New Year's Day. Instead, he chose to end his 10year musical career in favor of his marriage and schoolwork.

'I was sorry I had to miss the Rose Bowl," Meyer said, "but it couldn't be avoided."

A senior at MSU majoring in police administration, Meyer played in both the Marching and Concert Bands at Michigan State in 1964-65.

In July, 1965, Meyer married Charlotte Kirchmair, a native Austrian he met on a blind date. He decided not to attend the summer sessions of the band in order to spend more time-with

Meyer started playing the tuba in 1955 when he was 11 years

In 1962, while a senior at Northville, he won the Selmer Musical Award for solo tuba in a contest held in Detroit.

After high school Meyer attended Kemper Military Acade my in Boonville, Missouri.

While at Kemper he won the John Phillip Sousa Award for Musical Excellence.

Meyer graduated from Kemper with honors, carrying a 3.7 grade point average for two vears of study.

He transferred to MSU in the fall of 1964 in order to fulfill his ambition to become a law officer. Meyer is a member of Alpha Phi Sigma, national fraternity for police administration.

SPEAKING for The Record

A bout with the flu a couple of weeks ago provided an excuse for a day or two away from the office. So most of one day was spent relaxing and watching television.

It happened that the senate foreign relations' committee was holding its hearings on the war in Vietnam and the expert witness was George Kennan, former member of the state department and ambassador and now a professor at Princeton University.

The program was fascinating. Maybe I'm behind in my reading, but I had no idea that so many senators - members of our ruling majority party and sitting on the important foreign relations committee - were so opposed to our policy in Vietnam.

One of them said the purpose of the hearings was to "go over the head of the President, to the people". And you had to wonder what has taken them so long and if maybe an election year was serving as the catalyst.

Only one senator ... Symington of Missouri ... strongly challenged the Kennan theory. His idea paralleled that of General Gavin, which calls for a reduction of our fighting forces in Vietnam with a "holding action" continuing until a negotiated peace can be reached.

Symington was in accord with General Taylor's proposal - stronger emphasis on sea and air strikes on strategic targets to bring about military victory as soon as possible.

And, of course, the other extreme is complete withdrawal. This choice has its backers, too, and even Kennan indicated that this might be his preference over acceleration of the conflict.

At any rate, the program was the most educational I have ever seen.

For television it demonstrated both its strongest and weakest characteristics. It takes the viewer right to the action and produces a feeling of participation that cannot be equaled by any other media. But if you are not there to "tune in" the action when it happens, you cannot see the news being made. Unlike the newspaper, you cannot "pick up" the TV at your leisure and view the news when you are able or in the mood.

Consequently, thousands of housewives must have become experts on the Vietnam policy controversy.

For those who watched to the end, dinner was probably a little late and of the frozen variety.

But the hearings were worth any discomfort. And hopefully they'll be continued.

As one commentator said, the hearings have given respectability to opposition to

The hearings failed to convince this writer that at this point a "right course" is available to follow.

But they did reveal how much power rests with the executive branch of our government; and how high the cost and responsibility of world leadership can become.

Speaking of Vietnam makes me think of Frank Gresock and the draft.

Frank was a reporter-photographer on our staff until a few days ago. He reports March 2 for induction.

With three years of college under his belt Frank took a job to get some experience. And whatever he lacked in polish, he made up in enthusiasm.

No matter what the assignment, Frank was ready to go. He had a favorite expression that got to be something of a byword around our plant.

If he was told that he had to cover a PT-A program and take pictures, he'd reply, "let's hear it for the PT-A"! Or if it was the unpleasant task of taking papers to or from our Inter-City printing plant in Novi, he'd respond with a cheery, "let's hear it for the Inter-City".

Getting drafted really caught Frank by surprise. But he should have known he was a prime target. His eyes are lousy and physically speaking, he's no Charles Atlas.

Now if he had been the heavyweight boxing champ, or a half-million-dollar bonus player in professional football, chances are he'd have flunked out.

But Frank passed. And what do you think he said. That's right: "let's hear it for the army"!

Let's hear it for Frank Gresock.

Sleep Walking, That Is

There's Good Reason For Somnambulism

Over 4,000,000 Americans walk in their sleep. Despite the fact that sleep-walking (somnambulism) is quite common, it never just happens. There is usually a reason, points out the Oakland County Medical Society.

Some sleepwalk because of a physical need or brain damage. But most somnambulists have an emotional problem such as feelings of guilt, fear or other anxieties which upset their sleepregulating machinery and set their body in motion.

Although all age groups are susceptible to sleepwalking, it occurs most frequently during adolescence - an age of emotional frustrations and self-doubt. Any suppressed anxiety - sex, failure in school, parental rejection, a desire to run away from home, and even lesser worries - can cause one to act out his conflict in a "dream in pantomime".

Usually sleepwalkers are not aware of their emotional disturbance. And the sleepwalking antics may not expose their conflict either, since the actions, like the dreams, may be totally symbolic. Therefore, it takes a physician to uncover the inner conflict.

There is no end to the weird acts caused by inner conflicts from writing novels and climbing roofs to committing murder. But sleepwalkers like people in a hypnotic state, rarely undertake feats beyond their normal capacities or break their moral Comic strips and movies depict the stereotyped sleepwalker with arms rigidly outstretched and eyes closed - a false image! He actually walks quite normally, hands at sides, with eyes open and in contact to some extent with his surroundings.

Nevertheless, he is very prone to accidents. Many somnambulists bump their heads, fall downstairs, and trip over rugs, suffering serious cuts and bruises. Therefore, you should awaken a sleepwalker, but only when it is safe to do so (not if he is perched on a window ledge). After you have gently awakened him, talk to him calmly and steer him back to bed.

If you or a member of your family sleepwalks more than once, seek medical assistance. With a physician's help, fears
