

AVERTS TRAGEDY—The young pupils now call him "Our Hero" and school officials, too, credit six-year veteran school bus driver, John Gibson, with preventing injuries to 51 passengers and occupants of a car with which his bus collided Saturday.

Skillful Driver Saves Students In Bus Wreck

A Northville school bus driver was credited with having prevented serious injuries in a car-bus crash last Saturday.

He is John Gibson, six-year veteran driver here. Gibson was driving 50 members of the high school band and their director to North Pontiac high school for a band festival Saturday when he was suddenly called upon to compensate for another motorist's mistake.

The Northville bus was traveling north on Opdyke in Pontiac about 10 a.m. When the bus approached the intersection of Walton road a compact car ahead of the bus stopped in a mid-right turn, backed and swung left across the path of the bus.

Gibson, reacting upon seeing the backup lights flare, swung left also. The car was rammed, but less severely than if the bus had not been turning away. About $800 to $1,000 estimated damage was done to the body of the bus. Extent of damages was not reported for the car.

The driver of the car, a high school girl, sustained a cut above her eye requiring stitches. A musician for Rochester high school band, she was also headed for the band festival. Her passengers, two student nurses, were not injured. Neither were any passengers on the bus.

Band Director Bob Williams applied first aid to the injured girl's cut. Gibson, who was the lead driver in a caravan of two Northville buses, said he knew he had to do something quick when he saw the car's backup lights flash on. "The only thing I could do was swing out to go around, but then she turned left and we collided," he said.

E. V. Ellison, administrative assistant of Northville schools in charge of the bus department, commended Gibson and noted that "the reason for the lack of injuries was due to the skill of the driver. If he hadn't handled that bus pretty reasonably we would probably have had some problems on our hands. Even the kids commented on Gibson's fast reaction."

While his bus is being repaired Gibson is driving the school route with a loaned Northville Coach Lines vehicle.

City Hires New Manager

He's Frank Ollendorff Of Highland Park, Ill.

The assistant to the city manager of Highland Park, Illinois has been named manager of the city of Northville.

The selection was made Monday night by the city council and ends a three-month period under which the city has been operating without the services of a full-time manager.

Franklin G. Ollendorff, 26, was given first nod by the city council after a review of more than a dozen candidates. Serious consideration had narrowed down to two candidates Monday.

It is expected that the new manager will take up his duties here in two weeks. He plans to visit the community again this weekend.

Councilmembers indicated that educational background, a record of good experience and exceptionally strong recommendations gave Ollendorff the edge over his competitors for the job.

He was interviewed in Northville by the city council on two occasions. Ollendorff was born on September 9, 1939 in New York City. He received his B.A. degree from Ohio Wesleyan University with a major in political science and history and a minor in economics.

He took part in a four-month study in West Germany of local government institutions, welfare, education and recreation programs as a part of the Cleveland International Program.

Ollendorff then received his master's degree in public administration from Ohio State University majoring in local government administration.

He served as a graduate assistant and instructor in local government courses at OSU from 1961-63 and research assistant for one year in Columbus, Ohio. The latter job entailed preparation of reports for community officials on the basis of studies on local government reorganization, housing inspection, urban renewal and school finances.

He moved into a similar position at Dayton, Ohio with studies including annexation, industrial development, finances, county manager form of government and the location of a state university in Dayton.

At Highland Park, Illinois Ollendorff served as assistant to the manager from 1964 until the present. He also assumed the duties of city clerk and city purchasing agent.

Highland Park is a city of over 30,000 population with an annual budget of $3 million and 180 employees.

Ollendorff is married and has an infant son.

Perhaps the happiest man as a result of the council's action is City Attorney Philip Ogilvie. He's been acting manager since Roger Rehberg resigned rather abruptly December 6 to return to Cheboygan after a four-month tenure in Northville.

Ollendorff becomes Northville's fourth manager in its 10-year history as a city. John Robertson was first and Bruce Potthoff preceded Rehberg.

Clifton Hill

C. D. Hill Recovering

Attorney Shot Through Neck

A Northville attorney miraculously escaped death Friday night when a bullet fired from the gun of a hold-up man passed completely through his neck.

Clifton D. Hill, who has law offices on Main street in Northville and resides on Beck road, is now recovering at Sinai hospital and is expected to return home this week.

The well-known Northville attorney was confronted by two hold-up men at an abandoned service station parking lot on Grand River near Olympia Stadium where Hill had been attending the Ice Capades show with his family and friends.

His assailants took his watch, check book and wallet containing more than $120. One of the gunmen then shot Hill and the pair fled.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill were attending the ice show with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cap Pethers and their two children, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Woboril and their three children and two other girl friends.

Mrs. Hill said that her husband left the show about 15 minutes before it was over to get the car warmed up. He observed two men loitering and decided to examine his car to see if anything had been removed. The men then circled the car and approached Hill from both sides. One of the men placed a gun at Hill's head and said "this is a hold-up."

The attorney was ordered to crouch down and hand over his wallet, watch and check book. One of the gunmen then said, "can I kill him the way I did in New York?"

City OK's Randolph Assessment

Despite a council room full of protesting citizens, the Northville city council Monday night voted unanimously to proceed with the Randolph street improvement and special assessment.

A petition of protest had been signed by 37 of the 44 property owners involved in the improvement assessment. Their spokesman stated both before and after Monday night's meeting that the citizen group would oppose the project in court unless the assessment were removed and the entire project paid from general funds.

The council voted to maintain its regular practice of assessing the cost of 25 per cent of the improvement to the abutting property owners.

The Randolph improvement calls for widening the street to 33-feet, installing curbs and gutters, removing a curve near Eight Mile, repairing a culvert and paving the street with concrete.

The council has declared that it plans to assess the property owners for 25 per cent of the cost of paying the street to a width of 30-feet and as if asphalt were used instead of concrete. This has been the basis for assessments in the past. The widening, curve removal and culvert repair will not be a part of the assessment.

The street will be repaved from Center street to the end of Randolph at Eight Mile road.

Monday night Mrs. Paul Steencken, 562 Randolph, again spoke in behalf of the residents. She said the group still opposed the improvement on the basis that it would be a detriment to the property owners, it would increase traffic and compound hazards. She said that resurfacing would meet the needs of the residents. The citizens have held that the widening and installation of concrete is for the benefit of traffic for the whole community and thus the improvement should be paid entirely from general funds.

Several residents spoke in opposition to the assessment. Some admitted the improvement was badly needed; others agreed but would prefer asphalt paving and a 30-foot instead of 33-foot road; another felt the assessment estimates were high.

The entire project has been estimated at $122,000, but the assessable portion has been estimated at $85,000. The total of the 51 assessments involved is $17,772.12 with individual assessments ranging from $72.24 to $1,676.24.

Councilman John Canterbury, a resident of Randolph street who did not sign the petition of protest, told the audience he "could not vote against the assessment in good conscience". The councilman said that he did not agree that widening or paving with concrete would increase traffic of the road. He also noted that all paving in Northville subdivisions must now be done with concrete.

The councilman noted there were other improvements included besides paving and he cited the need for storm sewers and drainage. He said he thought the 25 per cent assessment was "nominal" and he asked the protesting residents to consider both sides of the question.

A former city councilman, Richard Ambler, came to the aid of the council and stated that North Center street had been a project identical to the Randolph paving. He noted that concrete had been used there and that assessments were based on asphalt. Ambler added that the city should not pay 100 per cent of these improvements because the portion saved by assessment would be better spent for police salary increases.

Novi Approves 8-Mile Landfill

Both the gravel mining operation now in progress and a landfill operation proposed at the farm of Philip Anderson, 50250 West Eight Mile road, have received the nod of approval of Novi officials.

Monday the Novi village council concurred with its board of appeals ruling that the landfill request entered by the Munn Contracting company of Farmington should be approved. The go-ahead was thus given for filling an approximately eight-acre portion of mining excavation with rubbish hauled from Detroit, subject to ordinance regulations and a long list of extra conditions. These include grounds' cleanup and weekly dirt covering.

Last week the board of appeals ruled that the gravel mining, which has been in progress for several months, could continue over an unlimited area—except that it must not encroach closer than it already has towards Eight Mile road, some 337 feet distance.

Council Election In Novi Monday

An election will be held Monday in Novi to select three members for the village council.

A field of six candidates includes three incumbents. They are Dean Lenheiser, Ray D. Harrison and Donald C. Young, Jr.

Challenging the incumbents for the three four-year council terms are Eugene J. Choquet, Donald A. Fuller and Leo F. Harrawood.

Anderson, a councilman, was not even required to plead in his own behalf. He was absent from the session. Approval was unanimous.

Three hours of Monday's meeting were required to discuss the landfill problem, however. Three of six people in the audience voiced objections. Harold Ackley, village manager, said that these were not serious, however, since most people apparently realized that permission would be granted by the courts if not by the village.

Water's Elusive At School Site

Northville's new elementary school to be constructed on West Eight Mile road appeared headed for "deep water" Tuesday as the well driller sought a good water supply. The well has been drilled to a depth of 260 feet with a four-inch casing and, according to Elroy Ellison, administrative assistant, appears to be at bedrock.

The well was drilled with an eight-inch-casing to a depth of 170 feet. It now appears that water found earlier at a depth of 160 feet may have to be used for the well. Since it was 'still' water and described as 'muddy', Ellison said the decision was made to drill deeper, hoping for a flowing well. The water will be pumped for several days from the 160-foot depth to test the well. If the water proves unsatisfactory, a second well will be drilled.

Tuesday night board of education members and the Northville city council met in the council chambers to consider the extension of city sewer lines from the city limits to the site about a half-mile west. Earlier acting city manager Philip Ogilvie estimated that cost to the school district would be approximately $50,000, some of which might be recouped in the future from tap-ins.

Whoops...

The Record stuttered last week when it quoted the words of James Kipfer, school board vice president, as he described the board of education's definition of its educational objectives.

Kipfer wrapped it up nicely by stating that an effort was being made "to de-emphasize ungrading and stress upgrading".

Unfortunately, the already over-used "ungrading" popped up twice in the sentence.

Our apologies, Mr. Kipfer... the word's "upgrading".

Northville Masons to Mark 100th Year

Northville Masonic Lodge will celebrate its centennial March 26 with a public banquet in the Northville Community building. Tickets and reservations will be available now through March 19 from Howard W. Fuller, 45850 West Seven Mile road, telephone F19-3423. Fuller invites non-members as well as members to this event.

A program featuring guest speaker Walter W. Fuller, fraternal editor of the Detroit News, will follow the banquet which is to begin at 7 p.m. Percy Williams, Grand Master of Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of Michigan, and his officers will also attend.

James Cullimore will be master of ceremonies. Both he and the guest speaker are 33rd degree Masons.

Two of the more than 500 members of the local chapter will be honored during the ceremony with presentations of 50-year membership certificates. They are Dr. August Holcomb and Conrad Langfield. It was also noted that the chapter has two members who have been active over 60 years. They are Ray VanValkenburgh, 62 years, and Ward Cook, 61 years.

Actually, Northville Masons began more than 100 years ago, with a joint Northville-Plymouth chapter. The centennial being celebrated here is that of a charter being granted to a distinct Northville chapter on January 11, 1866.

"Northville lodge was first instituted in 1851 but that is the only history we have of it, as all records were destroyed in a fire at Plymouth," states the F & AM No. 186 of Northville history.

"Lodge met at both Northville and Plymouth, taking the charter from one place to the other, until time came when Plymouth refused to return it to Northville, and kept the charter, jewels, furniture, etc. The charter of the Plymouth lodge at the present time (1953) reads Northville lodge, although it is known as Plymouth Rock No. 47.

"The first records of our present lodge found in an old minute book, states that on the evening of December 13, 1865 a meeting was held in the rooms of Brother E. Bissell for the purpose of organizing a lodge of Masons.

"Brother Albert L. Stevens, was appointed chairman and Brother J.P. Donaldson, secretary. Brother W.P. Hungerford stated that Plymouth Rock Lodge No. 47 had voted to return the lodge equipment belonging to Northville, after which the first regular officers were elected. "The charter members, besides these officers, were: Thomas Freeman, W.C. Whalen, George H. Dennis, George E. P. Dennis, Merritt Randolph, J. P. Donaldson, John M. Wells, E. K. Simonds, H. M. Harrington, Francis G. Terrill, J.S. Lapham, and Samuel Hungerford."

The lodge's first meeting place was a shared hall with the Odd-fellows and Sons of Temperance. "On Monday evening, January 29, 1866, the first officers of the Northville Lodge No. 186 were installed by Deputy Grand Master Kellogg," continues the history.

"Brother L.W. Hutton was the first to receive his M.M. Degree from the new lodge, on April 2, 1866, followed by Brothers E.S. Horton, Edward Whitaker and F.R. Beal.

"On May 28, 1866 Brother Randolph, as chairman of the committee, reported their efforts to secure new lodge rooms. They secured rooms over W.P. Hungerford's store, it being furnished and finished for $123, which was raised by subscription. This store then stood on the present site of the Lapham Bank building and is now occupied by the Northville Record.

"In 1880, Brother Barton A. Wheeler began the erection of a new store. The Blue Lodge entered into a contract with him whereby they secured a nine-year lease and constructed a second story a little later in the same year.

"In this same year, the Masonic Association was formed. "On Friday, June 24, 1881, the new hall was dedicated by Past Grand Master George H. Durand of Flint. Brother Dr. J.M. Swift furnished the music and Brother J.S. Lapham was one of the speakers of this occasion.

"That lodge property now consists of the building occupied by the Ellis Electronic store and E.M.B. grocery and the upper floor of the building occupied by the Revitzer shoe shop and the Gussell drug store. The present Red Cross room was the lodge room until the dedication of the hall we now use.

"In 1922, Brother Francis G. Terrill, the last charter member, died and was buried in Thayer cemetery. "On October 1, 1926, Northville Lodge celebrated its 60th anniversary in connection with the 100th anniversary of the Grand Lodge of Michigan.

"A history of the membership shows the lodge has prospered and grown until today; her rolls show a membership of 500," the history ends.

Sudz-Dickinson Vows Said Here

about
WOMEN

Wearing a gown of Chantilly lace fashioned with a full, seven-tiered skirt, Diane Carol Sudz walked down the aisle of Our Lady of Victory church to become the bride of Lawrence Scot Dickinson in a candlelight ceremony February 4.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Sudz of 355 East Main street, was given in marriage by her father as Father John W. Wittstock officiated. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Dickinson of Royal Oak.

To complement her traditional gown the bride carried a round, colonial nosegay of white roses. Her gown was designed with a scalloped neckline and long lace sleeves. The tiered skirt extended into a slight sweep. She wore a Queen Elizabeth jewel crown to hold her fingertip veil of silk illusion.

Honor main Karen Mahovsky and bridesmaids Patti Fons and Mary Ann Sudz wore red velvet sheath gowns of floor length and white fur head circlets. They carried white fur muffs decorated with carnations.

Michael Fons was best man with Michael Sudz and David Dickinson ushering. Junior usher was Jeffrey Sudz. A reception for 150 close friends and relatives followed at Lofly's restaurant in Plymouth.

Mrs. Sudz wore a turquoise crepe sheath with matching accessories while the bridegroom's mother chose a pink silk ensemble. For a wedding trip to an Indiana lodge the bride changed to a navy sheath, a leopard coat and navy accessories.

The bride is a 1963 graduate of Northville high school. Her husband is a graduate of Assumption college and is attending Lawrence Institute of Technology, majoring in industrial engineering. The newlyweds are making their home in Royal Oak.

"BE A FRIEND-MAKER" -- this is the Promise-in-Action goal of Troop 205 Brownies who are among the 391 Northville Girl Scouts celebrating the 54th anniversary of Girl Scouting this week. All Scout troops are announcing special Promise Projects to be put into action in the home and community. The annual cookie sale, decorated store windows and a community birthday party Saturday are features of the celebration.

ONE OF THE JOYS of having a Golden Calendar in the home is that it gives a wonderful child's view of the year. In addition to the Girl Scout anniversary this week we find that tomorrow, March 11, is Johnny Appleseed Day -- a spring-provoking thought! And there ARE budding signs of spring around town, such as, Mrs. James Cowie wearing a cluster of violets tied with fern-green velvet ribbons -- and lucky Mrs. Herbert Weston carrying home a daffodil -- and -- pussywillow arrangement that graced the Newcomers' luncheon table last Wednesday.

*****

A SHAMROCK TEA and guest day will be held by the Northville branch of the Michigan Farm and Garden association at 12:30 p.m. Monday in the meeting room of the First Presbyterian church. Members and guests will be invited to "Look Around You" as a slide program is presented, showing members' gardens and views of club excursions. Mrs. C. W. Whittlesey, civic improvement chairman, will report on the Northville Beautification program.

Mrs. George Miller, chairman for the day, is being assisted by Mrs. H. G. Richardson and Dr. Irene Spurling.

IF LAST WEEK'S events -- and it was an on-the-go week -- were to be tied up a bit facetiously, we'd say it was a knotty week. Club conversations ranged from oriental knots to marital and then hand-tied ones.

Members of the Base Line Questers should be forgiven if they keep their eyes focused downward as they trod on oriental carpets. Club president Mrs. Leonard Klein presented a paper detailing designs, colors and intricate knottings by which the rich rugs may be recognized at the club's meeting February 28 at the home of Mrs. Arthur Basel. The paper was the result of two months' study -- and reflects the seriousness of purpose of the group, dedicated to learning more about things old.

The "fun" of antiquing is discovering new places to browse -- and this month the Questers will travel to Howell March 28.

"IF I'M NO LONGER A MOTHER, who am I?" -- this question of identity was one of the problems of women today cited by Mrs. Lee M. Olson, conference coordinator of continuing education at Oakland University, at the Newcomers' luncheon meeting last Wednesday. She detailed advisory and placement services of the university as she pointed out that a woman's life expectancy is 73 years and that the average age of working women today is over 41.

There has been a sharp gain in the number of working women in the 45-55 age bracket, she said, as she mentioned work as one cure for restlessness. Many women with older children who have resumed careers now feel they "stand taller at home," Mrs. Olson said, but pointed out that volunteer work or new hobbies also might be answers for free time.

"IF YOU STRIVE to do something beautiful, that's the important thing," explained Eleen Auvil of Romeo as she displayed original, brilliant weavings that have earned her a national reputation to Northville Woman's club members and guests last Friday. In addition to combining rainbows of color Mrs. Auvil often uses as many as 20 or more different textures of yarn to weave a design.

Most fabulous commission to date was weaving a dress fabric for Singer company to exhibit at the New York World's Fair worth $10,000. It was imbedded with pearls, crystals and pink quartz. In addition to such commissioned hand woven pieces, Mrs. Auvil designs for a commercial mill. Her studio in Romeo may be visited on an appointment basis.

Woman's club will conclude its year with a traditional tureen luncheon program March 18 at First Presbyterian church meeting room.

Girl Scouts to Celebrate 54th Birthday Saturday

Northville Girl Scouts will climax Girl Scout Week, March 6-12, with a community-wide celebration from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday in the junior high boys' gymnasium. One of the highlights of the birthday party, which marks the 54th anniversary of Girl Scouting, will be the first major appearance of the Girl Scout chorus, composed of Cadet and Junior scouts.

The Scout Week observance began with Girl Scouts attending their local churches in uniform last Sunday. Monday Mrs. Philip H. Nauman, neighborhood chairman of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council presented Northville Mayor A. M. Allen with a "promissory note" indicating that Northville Girl Scouts will "aid and encourage the Northville beautification program" as part of a country-wide Promise-in-Action project being launched during Scout Week.

Mayor Allen proclaimed March 6-12 as Girl Scout Week in Northville, paying tribute to the "constancy of purpose" that has guided more than 22 million Girl Scouts since the organization's founding March 12, 1912. He called on all citizens of Northville to give them "continued interest, cooperation and support."

The current theme — "Girl Scouting — A Promise in Action" — has resulted in pledges being made by all local troops, as troops across the country are doing, to community, school and parents. In addition to the pledge to aid the Northville beautification program local scouts have promised to help in convalescent homes in Northville and Novi.

Mary Louise Horsfall of Northville is one of 24 Senior Girl Scouts of the Huron Valley Council receiving an unusual communication this week. Each received an envelope she had addressed to herself from the Senior roundup last July at Farragut, Idaho, containing a promise made at the end of the two week encampment. These were an initial part of the Promise in Action effort that 391 local Scouts will add to this week.

Girl Scout week is also the second week of the cookie sale, which first was held in 1936. Cookie proceeds in the Huron Valley sales are earmarked for development and improvement of camp sites. Five varieties of cookies at 50 cents a box are being sold. Five cents remains in the selling troop while 23 cents of each box cost goes to the camping fund. The cookies will be delivered in April.

The birthday party Saturday, to which parents, brothers and sisters of Girl Scouts in all local troops are invited, primarily is to be a songfest. There will be a traditional flag ceremony, troop displays and reports from roundup participants. Refreshments will be served afterward.

The chorus of 30 Girl Scouts from different junior and cadet troops has been meeting at the Scout-recreation building after school Thursdays to rehearse under the direction of Mrs. Chris Contos, a former Amerman school teacher who now teaches music in a Plymouth studio. She began the volunteer project at the suggestion of Mrs. Archie Moore who read of a similar activity in Texas. It was organized last October. The girls made their first public appearance when they sang at a Christmas tea. The program Saturday will be their first community presentation.

Vance Packard

Best-Seller Author Coming to Town Hall

Social Critic Vance Packard, whose critiques of life in modern America have placed his writing on the top of best seller lists, comes to Northville Town Hall to speak on "The Status Seekers" at 11 a.m. Thursday, March 17, at the P and A theatre.

Packard will be introduced by Judd Arnett, Detroit Free Press columnist. A celebrity luncheon at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth is to follow the morning talk. Mrs. Walter Couse, Town Hall treasurer, will be luncheon hostess. Mrs. Arnett and Mr. Couse will be guests at the celebrity speaker's table. Mrs. Duane Butler is accepting luncheon reservations through Monday.

"The Naked Society," a 1964 best seller on the invasion of privacy and the trends in modern society that he feels endanger individual liberty, is Packard's latest book. In it he declares, "the rights of the individual to lead his own life are under assault — on the job, in the schools and in the home."

With the 1962 publication of "The Pyramid Climbers" Packard completed a quartet of literary hits that "scratch the complacency of the contemporary scene." He is the only author in recent years to have three books in a row reach the top of the best seller lists in the non-fiction field. His other best sellers are "The Status Seekers," "The Hidden Persuaders," and "The Waste Makers."

In all five of his successful literary ventures, the author assails the weaknesses and camouflaged evils he sees in today's social and economic underground. He is disagreed with but not ignored.

In "The Pyramid Climbers" Packard is concerned with the drive of corporation executives "who pitch their tent camps on ever higher ledges of the pyramids of business power." He states he has fortified the authenticity of his works with "massive research," filling 167 notebooks with material gathered in a four-year-period.

In "The Pyramid Climbers" Packard defines the power structure of medium and large corporations as a pyramid where "there's lots of room at the bottom, very little at the top ... Those who rise to the top must display not only only ability but must please their immediate superiors ... Many rise a step or two; many fail and are 'washed out'."

Earlier he wrote on ego patterns in "The Status Seekers" and alerted the public to techniques employed for "persuasion in depth" advertising in "The Hidden Persuaders." He issued a warning on planned obsolescence and its "commercial high priests" in "The Waste Makers."

The author's topic next Thursday will deal with the subject matter of "The Status Seekers," which portrayed a more rigid class system in supposedly classless America. While mapping plans for more studies of American society, Packard has been writing articles for such publications as The Atlantic Monthly, Look, Reader's Digest, Ladies' Home Journal and The New York Times magazine.

A native of Pennsylvania, Vance Packard has been an author, writer and teacher ever since he received his master's degree from Columbia graduate school of journalism more than 20 years ago. Before his pre-occupation with social sciences Packard spent five years as a newspaperman in Boston and New York.

A resident of Fairfield county, Connecticut, Packard, his wife and three children spend the summers in an ancient, rambling house along an isolated stretch of the seashore of Martha's Vineyard. Here, he reports, he has time to think ahead, and the thoughts that come to him are due to result in further volumes on the changing American scene.

Junior High PTA Meets Tonight

"Operation Headstart High School," a panel program on how parents can help their junior high youngsters prepare for high school, will be presented by the Northville junior high PTA at 8 p.m. tonight in the junior high library.

Donald Van Ingen, junior high principal, and junior and senior high counselors will explain high school graduation requirements, including number of hours and required courses. E. O. Weber, PTA vice-president and board of education trustee, will preside.

Nominations for 1966-7 PTA officers will be presented by Mrs. Earle McIntosh, nominations chairman. They will be voted upon at the May meeting.

First Robin

Credit for the "first robin" sighted and reported goes to Mrs. Robert Litzemberger of 413 Randolph street.

Saturday she spied two of the harbingers of spring on her front lawn about 3:50 p.m.

"I was surprised," she said. "I had been watching the feeder in back on the patio where many other birds visit, but wasn't expecting robins yet."

GIRL SCOUT WEEK OPENS—Northville Mayor A. M. Allen signs a proclamation establishing March 6-12 as Girl Scout Week in Northville as Mrs. Philip H. Nauman, neighborhood chairman of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, looks on. She afterward presented Mayor Allen with a promissory note from Northville's 391 girl scouts pledging their aid and encouragement to the Northville Beautification Project — whenever needed. The pledge is part of the Scout Week's national theme of "Girl Scouting — A Promise in Action".

Mrs. McIntosh to Head Cancer Education Drive

Annual door-to-door educational campaign of the Michigan Cancer Foundation will be conducted in Northville April 13, 14 and 15 it was announced this week.

Mrs. Earle McIntosh, Jr., 20327 Woodhill road, has been appointed community chairman for the spring crusade by Russell Isbister, Plymouth superintendent of schools and crusade chairman for Western Wayne county.

Mrs. McIntosh is to appoint area chairmen who will have neighborhood workers assisting in the door-to-door coverage. It is stressed that there is no fund solicitation as the Michigan Cancer Foundation is an United Foundation agency. The educational crusade's purpose is to urge women to have regular cancer check-ups. It has been approved by the Northville city council.

Anyone interested in participating in the project is asked to contact Mrs. McIntosh. Mrs. McIntosh is the mother of five children — four sons and a small daughter. She is president of the Northville Newcomers club, a member of the junior high PTA board and a former worker in the Mothers' March on Polio.

This man is paid to think about Natural Gas Service...

YOU DON'T NEED TO!

Because Natural Gas service is so quietly efficient, our customers seldom give it a thought. It is so easy to take hot water service—automatic house heating and cooking for granted . . . and that's all right! This complimentary attitude demonstrates the dependability and efficiency of Consumers Power Company's natural gas service.

So don't give it a thought . . . that's our responsibility and our business. We work at it 24 hours a day—every day—to assure every customer dependable service at the lowest possible rates.

A 61-year-old Saline man was injured in an accident which occurred at the intersection of Eight Mile and Currie roads at 7:15 p.m. on Friday, March 4. John Bergery, traveling west on Eight Mile road, suffered lacerations to the head and a possible broken left arm when his car struck a tractor-trailer truck as it made an improper turn at the intersection.

Kenneth Larson, 46, of Carson City, Nevada was the driver of the truck and was not injured in the accident, according to State Police. He received a ticket for an improper turn and for defective equipment on the truck.

Bergery, who was taken to St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor by Phillips ambulance, had his vision of the turning truck obscured by the crest of the hill at that point on Eight Mile road.

Mustangs Win District Tourney

Northville walked off the floor Saturday night with its second district tournament title in as many years. But there was a decided lack of fanfare at Clarenceville high school as in the previous years.

The Mustangs had just polished off a stubborn but weak Dearborn Crestwood quintet, 44-37, in the final that lacked the ingredients of a big game between two evenly matched foes.

As Northville Coach Dave Longridge predicted, Crestwood played a deliberate type of game. It slowed action to a standstill at times, and threatened to cool the Mustangs to the point of defeat.

A small team, Crestwood prevailed with its control game to edge ahead of the taller Mustangs, 31-29, at the end of the third period. But the sleeping local cagers awakened long enough to outscore Crestwood, 15-6, in the final period to cop the title.

"We held our poise," said Longridge in the dressing room, strangely quiet after the winning of the district trophy. All conceded the Mustangs had played far below par. Hope was that Northville got its bad game out of its system in anticipation of stiffer competition in the regionals at Howell this week.

The Crestwood game was anticlimactic after Northville's nerve wracking victory over tourney favorite, Dearborn Riverside, last Thursday, 73-66.

Touted as the game of the tournament, it was exactly that—and more. It had a little of everything, a game in which a slower, taller team was pitted against a team that made up for its lack of height with speed and sharp shooting.

Disregard the 29 errors. What the game lacked in clean plays, it made up for in fast and furious action.

Riverside, as it had all year in posting a 12-3 record to win the Tri-City Conference championship, utilized an all-court press in an effort to rattle the Mustangs. And the tactic almost worked.

While most of the local varsity cagers were intimidated by the Rebel's quick play, one Mustang

Cagers Play Tonight In Howell

With the district tournament championship under its belt the Northville high school basketball team now moves into regional tourney play in Howell.

The Mustangs drew a bye in the first round but square off tonight (Thursday) against a strong Holt quintet, which upset Portland in the first round at Howell Tuesday night by the score of 56 to 54 in overtime.

Two other Wayne-Oakland teams also drew first round byes in the regional tourney. West Bloomfield and Holly were scheduled to meet last night (Wednesday). The West Bloomfield-Holly winner meets the Northville-Holt winner in the finals at Howell on Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Northville Athletic Director Al Jones said both student and adult tickets will be on sale at the high school until 3 p.m. today. If Northville wins tonight, Saturday tickets may be purchased at the local high school until 3 p.m. Friday.

Jones said that parking facilities at Howell high school are not useable if the weather is warm or rainy. He said in that event fans have been instructed to park at the Citizens Mutual Insurance offices on Grand River in Howell where buses will be used to drive fans to the game.

The school is located about a mile west of Howell on Grand River. For fans driving on the I-96 expressway, turn off at the Pickney-Howell exit and turn left onto Grand River.

stood alone for three quarters between a Northville defeat. That was Center Jerry Inmsland.

The big senior used his 200 pounds packed on a frame of six feet, two inches to score six, 10 and nine points, respectively, in the first three quarters, and Inmsland was tough on the boards as he gathered in one rebound after another.

But Inmsland's efforts were not enough. Riverside capitalized on 15 Northville errors in the first half, and shot with uncanny accuracy from the outside to hold as much as an eight point lead through three periods. Northville trailed by quarters, 23-19, 37-33, and 54-49.

In the fourth quarter, Inmsland got the help he needed, surprisingly from some untried cagers who were brought up from the junior varsity to fill out the Mustang's tournament roster.

Two sophomores, Guard Joe Andrews and Forward-Center Jim Peterson, came up with some mighty big plays. Rather than wilting in the face of Riverside's all-court press, Andrews, a 5'7" floor man, dribbled and passed coolly through a tight zone defense. Peterson, a 6'2" jumping jack, pulled off some vital rebounds.

But most of all, the two green-horns each scored four points, which coupled with Inmsland's 10, gave Northville the momentum it needed to score 10 points in the last two minutes of play while holding Riverside to only two.

With the exception of Inmsland, it was an all undergraduate contingent that pulled the game out. Besides Andrews and Peterson, there were Sophomore Guard Nelson Hyatt and Junior Forward Glenn Deibert, who successfully closed Northville's porous defenses to hold Riverside scoreless in the final moments. It that they forced Riverside into five turnovers.

Inmsland was brilliant. He scored from every conceivable angle to score 35 points, game high and a personal high in his three years of varsity competition. No other Mustang scored in double figures.

Bruce Dyer, one of Riverside's five small scrappers, tallied 21 points to lead his mates, most of those points garnered from the outside. He was followed by another diminutive guard, Mike Lorente, who flipped in 18, and Forward Tim Marabeas with 11.

"It was a tremendous finish," said Longridge. "With the number of mistakes we made in the first half, we shouldn't have been in the ball game. Riverside was the best all-around team we have faced all season." He couldn't say enough about Inmsland and the new sophomores.

While Inmsland sparkled against Riverside, the game against Crestwood was a different story. The big center garnered his fourth foul in the first half and sat out most of the third period.

Northville threatened to break the game open early as the veterans, Inmsland, Forwards Steve Evans and Jim Zayti and Guards

Hyatt and John Jameson combined to mount a 12-3 lead with predicted ease. But the sudden spur seemed to lull the Mustangs into lethargy, and Crestwood began capitalizing on Northville's mental lapses to cut the margin to 17-13 at quarter's end.

Pace slowed in the second and third periods as both teams threw up a zone defense, and the shooting fell off. Crestwood outscored Northville 9-7 and 9-5, respectively.

The Mustangs, however, managed to stay just about even, trailing 31-29 at the end of the third quarter. Then Inmsland came off the bench, and Northville began to click ever so slowly.

Evans converted a free throw to cut the margin to 31-30 at the outset of the fourth period. Then Hyatt hit from the side and Evans banked in a rebound to give Northville a lead, 34-31, that it never gave up. Free throws by Inmsland, two by Hyatt, two by Zayti and one each by Evans and Jameson salted the game away.

RACING GRANDFATHER - Clyde Parker stopped by Rathburn Chevrolet Sales in Northville this week for a little work on the 1966 Chevrolet Impala he had purchased there earlier this winter. The car's undergone quite a few changes in the meantime. Parker, shown above with his grandson, Mike Parker, and Chevrolet Dealer Kenneth Rathburn, is a racing enthusiast. He completely stripped the interior of the car, "worked over" the 425 horsepower engine, added wide racing tires and a new point job. Then Parker entered the American Racing Car Association 250-mile race at Daytona Beach, Florida track and finished 11th in a field of 33. He reached a top speed of 164 miles per hour. Parker lives in Farmington and is the owner of Wayne Transportation in Detroit, a steel hauling firm.

Local Boy Wins CAP Honors

Robert C. Hardesty, 17, of 9385 Currie road, Northville, was honored at a Farmington ceremony commemorating his attainment of the Civil Air Patrol's Amelia Earhart award.

Hardesty, the Northville high school senior is a charter member of the Northville squadron and intends to continue his aeronautical interests by attending the Embry Riddle Aeronautical Institute at Daytona Beach, Florida, where he has already been accepted.

Cadet First Lieutenant Hardesty, of Northville Civil Air Patrol Squadron 6321-8, was presented his award by Major Howard Partlo, commander of the Westwood Group, at Group headquarters February 21. Hardesty is a member of the squadron commanded by Major Robert Parmenter, another Northville resident.

He received the Amelia Earhart award before 200 CAP members. The award is made to Civil Air Patrol cadets who have completed approximately two years of orientation and aerospace education training and have demonstrated proficiency in leadership. A prerequisite to receiving this award is first earning the Billy Mitchell award and passing Air Force tests. Hardesty was the only cadet receiving the Earhart award at the ceremonies.

Working with Miss Knapp on the committee are Mrs. Myrtle Funk, Mrs. Violet Bradford, Mrs. Luva Waterman. The chapter sponsoring the "See It Now" series presentation is composed of teachers from Northville, Plymouth and Farmington. Miss Ada Fritz is president. Members of the Future Teachers' club will be special guests at the program.

Bands Play In Festival

Northville senior and junior high schools, 110 and 70-strong respectively, competed in a district festival last Saturday at Pontiac high and Pontiac Madison junior high school. Both bands were given No. 2 ratings eliminating them from the state festival competition.

Bands are judged in population classifications of their school district and rated one-through-five. The high school band in class A received two No. 2 ratings and a No. 1 (for sight reading) to average No. 2.

Bandmaster Bob Williams stated Tuesday that he felt the bus accident enroute to the competition Saturday morning affected the senior high band's rating. He said that the students "took care of themselves beautifully during the accident" but it delayed them, cutting into warm-up time before the concert. The bus collided with a car which was making a wrong turn, according to witnesses, at a busy intersection.

Williams also pointed out that the junior high band, competing in Class B division, is pitted against schools with ninth grade band members while Northville's band strength is in seventh and eighth graders.

Report of Fire Calls for January, 1966 were received.
OLD BUSINESS:
1. The City Assessor presented the Special Assessment Roll # 66-1 for Randolph Street Assessment for improvements to the City Clerk and Council.

2. Mrs. Paul Steenken, 562 Randolph St., speaking for Randolph Street property owners, asked that in view of inaccuracies of the previous rolls and the length of time in preparation of the final roll that the special assessment be dropped by Council. After considerable discussion as to maintenance of present street, volume of traffic, etc., it was moved by Black, supported by Carlson to accept Roll # 66-1 for Randolph St. improvements and set a date for Public Hearing for Monday, March 7, 1966, 8:00 p.m. at the Northville City Hall and property owners to be notified of same. MISCELLANEOUS:
The Acting City Mgr. reported that the proposed agreement regarding construction of sewer lines from Northville Heights Sub. # 2 has not as yet been signed. He also explained that the City of Northville has been attempting to get approval of the design of the line that will hook into the Oakland County Sewer. Mr. Pink, developer of N. Heights Sub. # 2 and his attorney, Mr. Daniel Burris, were present and expressed themselves by saying they felt that Mr. Pink had done all he could at the present time to comply and receive building permit approvals. He is willing to physically lay the line himself, or deposit the money for same if given occupancy permits. The engineer felt that approval would be made within 30 to 45 days. Mr. Ogilvie suggested that if Mr. Pink could get someone to come in to clean these lines at a competitive price that this would be considered.
Mr. Ogilvie asked Mr. Penn to make sure that 2.7 cfs is necessary in Oakland County Sewer.

Mr. Ogilvie reported on his attendance at the recent Planning Commission. The matter of zoning the recently annexed 35 acres on Eight Mile Rd. to R-1h or R1S was discussed. He will check the legality of keeping this to 1/2 acre lots. Mr. Johnson is going to review this also.

Mr. Ogilvie had met with Stratton-Brown on possibilities of financing of water and sewer lines and outlined his conversation with them. Copies of their letter to Mr. Ogilvie are to be sent to Council.

Mrs. Carlson reported the meeting of the Beautification Committee and community organization representatives to be held on Saturday, February 26, 1966, 2 p.m. at the Northville City Hall.

Mrs. Carlson mentioned the kindness and thoughtfulness of the Northville Police Dept. to Mr. Gil Glasson, former City police officer.

Councilman Kester reminded Council of the tentative meeting with Mr. Harrison relative to the E. Main St. stop light. The sum of $62.00 is to be sent to the committee for the Steve Judy dinner to Dave Biery, Manufacturer's Bank, Northville. There being no further business, the meeting adjourned at 10:20 p.m.

Respectfully submitted

Plenty of Thrills at Pinewood Derby

The track was fast and the competition keen as members of Cub Pack 721 met at the VFW hall Thursday night for the annual Pinewood Derby.

The race is held on a ski-slope-like silted track about 30-feet long with cars made by the young cub scouts to specific weight and size specifications.

Enthusiastic cheering accompanied the preliminary heats within each den to determine their respective champions.

But the excitement rose to its peak when the den champions finally met for the grand championship.

Two other den winners, who were eliminated from the final race in preliminary heats, were Gordon Hooker and John Mairuri.

LENTEN RESOLUTIONS

Usually the generous Christian makes resolutions at the beginning of Lent. Often these consist of some privations or ascetic practices.

Christlike attitude towards the goods of the world. He knows how to regulate his desires, his love, his taste for comfort and relaxations in order never to give himself up completely to them as to God.

against him. The Lenten Christian is a man of prayer's he allots sufficient time for prayer as much on the individual level as in the family and parish community.

The Lenten Christian imposes upon himself some mortifications, but he tries to use to the best ends the money and time thus saved.

The Lenten Christian keeps himself formed in Christ by daily examination of conscience aimed at putting imitation of Christ at the heart of his moral life.

The Lenten Christian believes in Satan and is aware of the problems which Satan poses. He intends to fight hard

The Lenten Christian knows that the Cross is the instrument of his salvation, and he is concerned when he does not find in his own life some mortification, some cross to bear.

EXAMINATION OF CONSCIENCE

The Lenten Christian clearly understands that worldly temptations are likely to turn him away from his Christian vocation; he often makes an inventory of them.

WHERE DO THE STARS GO, MOMMY?

The big brown eyes are thoughtful, the small face earnest as Mary Anne considers the universe.

Sometimes our pint-sized inquisitor's questions are devastatingly funny, sometimes deadly serious; but always important. Harry and I may chuckle over them, but we never forget that these queries reflect Mary Anne's increasing awareness of the world about her.

Another influential portion of Mary Anne's growth, we feel, has been her regular attendance at Church School. There, Mary Anne's experiences with other children have been related to God's plan.

How glad we are that our church is well equipped to guide our child in her religious growth.

Attend your church. Take advantage of the inspiration and knowledge it is eager to share with you and your children.

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO
The "Great Snow Storm of '65" brought a nine-inch down-fall, halting school and travel. The storm, described as the worst blizzard in decades, swept across the Midwest the end of February. Rural mail routes were not delivered for the first time in 28 years.

Only one death was attributed to the snowstorm. Herbert O. Ostlund, 60-year-old resident of Echo Valley, suffered a fatal heart attack after abandoning his car at Ten Mile and Taft roads and trudging through the snow for a mile.

Mayor A. M. Allen is unopposed in his bid for a fourth term as Northville's chief executive. Five candidates filed for council: Beatrice Carlson, Del Black, C. Oscar Hammond, W. Wallace Nichols, Charles Tossaint. Judge Charles McDonald is the lone candidate for municipal judge.

Northville school board announces it will seek a five-year three-phase package plan for school construction and improvement that will include a swimming pool from the voters June 14.

Gerald F. Taft, 65, lifelong Northville resident, died March 6. His house at 45518 West Eight Mile road was on property acquired by his great-grandfather on direct grant from the government in 1824.

FIVE YEARS AGO
Northville Mustangs walloped South Lyon Tuesday night, 93-82, to advance to the finals of the Class B districts at Milford. Leading them to victory was Danny Brown, center, who scored 42 points.

City councilmen passed a resolution to vacate West street between Main and Cady streets in Northville but at the request of citizens living in the area provided that a pedestrian walk be maintained as long as feasible between the community building and the junior high school.

The old city clock, rebuilt and now owned by Northville's first Methodist church where it rests atop the new tower, is keeping time again and ringing every hour. The electric clock has a five-foot face and is illuminated at night.

The newly formed Northville Junior Chamber of Commerce auxiliary elected Mrs. Charles Ely, Jr., as its president.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
Eight mills voted to help Northville schools in 1946 for five years is expiring. The board will seek a renewal of six mills, a decrease of two mills from the present levy.

Northville Business and Professional Women's club celebrated its third anniversary with Mrs. Marcella Douglas, president, cutting a decorated cake donated by Mrs. Ruth Black.

Walter L. Couse, president of the Associated General Contractors of America, addressed the AGC convention in Boston last week.

Russell H. Amerman, Mrs. Eldon Biery and Donald B. Severance have been named to the steering committee for the annual PTA carnival to be staged April 20.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
Northville high school has tied for first place honors with Melvindale in the suburban league basketball contest.

E. M. Bogart, Orlov Owen, Floyd Shafer and John W. Perkins have filed petitions seeking the two vacancies on the village council in the March 9 election.

It was announced today that $30,500.50 is the insurance settled on the grade school building January 13.

Death came to Robert Dento, 59, Spanish War veteran Wednesday afternoon in the Marine hospital.

Non-Graded Concept Not New Idea Here

This is the second article written by Mrs. Mary Ellen Kelly on the ungraded system. Mrs. Kelly, a member of the Main street elementary PTA, has written the articles at the suggestion of Principal Harry Smith and the approval of Superintendent Alex Nelson.

By Mary Ellen Kelly

On the second page of the Northville Public School Manual that is given to all parents of children entering this school system, there is a section devoted to PROMOTION.

This section quotes directly from the "Teachers Handbook"... a manual written approximately eight years ago by Harry Smith and Dick Kay, elementary school principals at that time. This handbook did, incidentally, receive high praise and commendation by other powers that be.

The quotation is a clear indication that the concept of Continuous Education... that is the much talked about and controversial Non-graded school concept... is not a startling innovation in Northville.

It comes as no shock or thought provoker to our educators here. And for thoughtful parents who have actively participated in the educational welfare of their children, the concept should be easily recognized as one that has been gradually coming into existence here in Northville for quite some time.

Chances are that when you read your handbook and this particular page it simply made good sense to you. The idea that it would someday become an issue may never have entered your mind. Let me quote... from the Northville Elementary School Teachers' Handbook:

"We assume that the children in our schools are no different than the children in other areas, and that they are not uniform robots in their ability to achieve. We know that children of the same age are different in every respect and that it is futile to expect them to all reach the same stage of development at the same time."
"Secondly we assume that we have a good staff of professionally trained teachers working as artisans at their profession. We know that our teachers can accept children at their individual level of development and teach on the basis of meeting the needs of each individual child. We know that our teachers are teaching children and not books or subjects. Despite the fact that we are working in a graded system we are confident that our teachers are capable of and are teaching so that individual differences in children are recognized. We realize that we must adapt our program to the child and not the child to the program. With this in mind we want to eliminate the fear that your children "must be ready for the next grade." We want you to feel assured that the teachers receiving your children next year are capable of accepting them at the level of achievement you have been able to bring them, regardless of grade level (Jr. High included). Your main concern should be that the child is showing progress."

That was written approximately eight years ago and isn't that quotation something! A sound basis, an initial preparation, psychologically, for the parent, the child and the teacher. And it has been in existence in Northville all this time.
The next step... to a non-graded system... is a very large step. Other systems throughout the country have adapted very well. Ours is well prepared to comparatively effortlessly adapt to this "new" system. The ramifications are myriad. Broken into segments we could approach it by giving some particular thought to team teaching, the total effect on the individual child, the accelerated role of the teacher, statistics, money and last, but not least, a rather delicate consideration we might call the exasperation of change in relation to progress. Some clarification here could conceivably ease many unnecessary tensions along the way. We'll start with that one next week.

'The Cavern' Crowd Really Jumps at Battle of Bands

CONGO LINE-Doing the Watusi was fun.

Sounds of the "Beat Generation" pulsed the walls of Northville's community building Saturday night as a "Battle of the Bands" raged inside to the enthusiastic gyrations of the followers.

It was "The Cavern's" version of a band blast that has grown increasingly popular with area teens.

"The Cavern", for those who are not "in", is Northville's own Teen Club, sponsored by the Mothers' Club.

Five popular teen bands, including Northville's favorite, The Disciples, played two rounds each from the stage of the hall, from the two ends and from stage-front floor-to gain the applause and the votes of the dancers.

"The Corsairs", a Farmington group, was the eventual winner. "The Barons of Sound", "The Disciples", "The Calientes" and "The Other Ones" were the competition.

About 400 teens, including many from Plymouth and Farmington teen groups, whose leaders had encouraged participation in the Northville swing fest, took part in the dance session.

Although dancers generally seemed to prefer the current craze Jerk, Swim, Frug, Monkey, and similar body twisters, at one point a young couple actually did a pre-'In' thing. They put their arms around each other more than briefly in mid-hop. It could be the start of something new. Who knows!

And, believe it or not, you of the Rock 'n Roll and previous generations, one of the bands actually gave the kids a chance to prove they do know what the foxtrot is all about.

"The Battle" was just the third event staged by the Cavern, whose membership grew from 100 to about 130 during the dance. Tickets selling for 75 cents went for 25 cents to members, and memberships were available at the door for two dollars.

Steve Jordan, president of the teen club, explained that any Northville resident attending high school is eligible to join. He said that two more exciting affairs are coming up in the near future. The club will have something going every other week. Next, on March 19, the winners of "The Battle" will play for another dance. Then on April 1 The Shy Guys, whom "everybody loved when they were here with WXYZ disc jockey Dave Prince", will return.

How were "The Corsairs" chosen victors Saturday? What did they win? Program chairman, master of ceremonies and club vice president Chris Winkler explained. Admission tickets were cast in dixie cup ballot boxes about 10:30 and the winner was the richer by 25 percent of the proceeds of the evening. The losers (sounds like a likely band name) each garnered $15 for their contribution to the entertainment.

Mike Chabut, club treasurer in charge of admission sales, said that about $225.00 was collected at the door.

A fourth officer of the club arrived late, having attended the district final basketball game in which Northville was the winner. Linda Secord, secretary, acted as hospitality hostess. She got right into the job when she did arrive, greeting chaperones Mr.

and Mrs. Fred Frogner and Mrs. Wendy Roadhouse cheerily before she even had her coat off.

The atmosphere of the dance was scarcely limited by the presence of these adults, and two Northville policemen, who said "just being here prevents trouble" as the kids got right into the "swing" of things and watusi-ed, jerked and swam across the floor, letting up only as the din quieted between band stands.

A visiting adult couple, who had dropped off members of one of the bands, said midway through the evening that they thought things were going "just wonderfully. It's great that they can have something like this".

As for the teens, although it was dark and noisy beyond thinking level in there, they seemed to enjoy it in The Cavern. Presently, the Mothers' Club is seeking community support in providing a headquarters and recreational equipment for the teen club. The club has asked the city and township to consider the fish hatchery building, if purchased by the local governments.

VOTING-Favorites get the call to return. Ballots are being cast here by Linda Secord, Carol Pohlman, Rick Lumstrom and Larry Thibos.

UNDERWAY-While one group set up in front of the stage another got the Battle underway on stage.

EXTRAS such as this signature rug and lighted drums were part of this group's offering.

THE DISCIPLES-Playing the last time as a group Saturday were Jim Morgan, Ronnie Dayton, Terry Krug and Mike Moody around fill-in drummer Jim Cutter. Vocalist George Burchfield was absent due to the flu.

REAL COOL-Not the winners, but definitely the sharpest dressed group was The Barons of Sound in shimmering blue.

SWINGERS-An unidentified couple seemed to have the steps almost syncopated.

IN THE PRO STYLE-Buzz Overfield, drummer for "The Corsairs," who won The Battle Saturday, was typical of the versatile teen performers on hand.

HERE'S HOW-Chris Winkler, left, vice president of The Cavern and program master for The Battle, cues two of "The Corsairs".

CONFERENCE-Chaperones Mrs. Wendy Roadhouse and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Frogner listen to a point being raised by Steve Jordan, president of The Cavern.

Pay Hikes Attract More Candidates

LANSING — Voting in Michigan in 1966 can pose a challenge to the conscientious resident, especially primary balloting.

Sheer numbers of people seeking state offices will rival and possibly surpass the record whose names were on the ballot two years ago when legislative reapportionment opened the magic door to many newcomers.

This year, while apportionment may again be a factor, two other major changes are expected to influence many people to run who previously were only half-hearted about public office.

For the first time, the Michigan Senate candidates will be elected to four-year terms instead of two. The change was decreed in the 1963 Constitution.

POLITICIANS view a two-year term as a vicious circle. They no sooner get elected and learn the ropes of lawmaking than it is time to begin a new campaign.

Four years, on the other hand, gives a goodly period to get something accomplished if the legislator is so inclined. It also provides opportunity for more publicity.

The more times Mrs. John Public sees the name of Sen. Joe Doe in the local newspaper, the more likely she is to remember it on the ballot of the future.

Another influencing factor is economics. It was at the start of the 1965 session that legislators began to draw $10,000 annually plus $2,500 expenses.

Every indication is the legislators will again raise their salaries, effective in the 1967 session. The non-partisan commission which studied the question since last summer has suggested it will recommend another pay raise.

Voters who are really concerned with their state government representation will be hard pressed to determine whom among the candidates are truly interested in performing a public service as opposed to those seeking the security of a long Senate term or the pleasure of a fat salary.

REALISM used to be a rarity in the Michigan legislative sessions, at least where time schedules were concerned.

In the early days of the current session, however, a realistic attitude was taken in this area. The lawmakers replaced an April 15 scheduled date with the more reasonable date of June 3 for the final legislative action of the year.

The problem was evident. An estimated 1,500 bills were left from the 1965 session, a condition new to the lawmakers. A similar number was expected in the form of new introductions this session.

Senate Majority Leader Raymond D. Dzundzel, D-Detroit, put the problem simply. "It's absolutely necessary to set up a different schedule unless you want us all to have heart attacks," he told his colleagues.

IN BYGONE years, the need for more time than was scheduled was often readily apparent to observers of the legislative activity.

In 1962, for example, a mid-May adjournment date was set. Late in January, the House Speaker admitted privately that it could not be met, but the date was not changed until finally it was extended on a week-to-week basis when May arrived.

Extension of the schedule this year may pose some campaign problems for a number of lawmakers, but commendation is due the leadership for recognizing and remedying early a potential problem before it became a critical one.

MICHIGAN may be bucking the trend on auto license plates, but state officials say it is because of public demand.

Several states are switching to heavy, durable metal which provides a semi-permanent license plate. Annual tabs are issued to renew the vehicle registration in most cases.

Motorists in Michigan will readily recall the tabs issued here after the 1959 cash crisis situation. To Michigan officials it was a matter of economy.

Long-term plates are being considered now in Ohio. Michigan's Secretary of State was among officials surveyed by Ohio spokesmen on the matter.

JAMES M. HARE advised the Ohio authorities that Michigan has returned to the annual issue largely because of public demand. Administrative officers in other states said the public readily accepted the tab arrangement.

An influencing factor in Michigan's attitude was the weather, Hare's office believes. The last times tabs were used, it was on a three-year plate. The final winter of the cycle was especially long and heavy with snow, with the resulting rust problems caused by road-clearing chemicals.

Many an irate motorist blamed an unreadable, rusted license plate on the fact that it had been on the car for three years. The result of the motorists' complaints was a conscious decision by Michigan officials to return to the practice of issuing annual plates, at least as long as money is readily available.

Roger Babson No End to Cost Rise

BABSON PARK, MASS. Lots of people are nervous about price inflation, and we don't blame them. Naturally, it does make a housewife fidgety to find out how much less her dollar can buy today than it could a year ago. And the breadwinner himself -- while his income is probably moving up somewhat -- notices how much more he has to pay for household goods and services to maintain a decent standard of living.

To speak very frankly, the "creeping" price inflation that has been going on for so many years shows absolutely no signs of reversing itself. Consumer prices for December chalked up their sharpest advance for the month of report in fifteen years. Goods and services for January cost 2% more than they did, on average, only twelve months ago; and this is no small fractional nudge.

THE BASE period used by the Labor Department is 1957-1959. If a typical city family measured what it was able to buy for $10 during that base period, it would find the same purchases now costing $11.10. Another way of looking at it. For the five years 1960-1964, the average annual increase of consumer prices was 1.3%. But during 1965 the figure pushed ahead to 1.7%. While the difference may seem small, the important fact is that despite a pause in January, the upward trend is still strong -- and the upside pressures are increasing.

Although the White House is eager to hold prices in check so they will not explode into runaway inflation, there is only tentative official optimism about the future. The Labor Department has come right out and admitted that consumer prices are likely to increase even more in 1966 than they did in 1965. There is not really too much encouragement in the cautious prediction that the rate of gain is going to advance more in 1966, "but not much more". There is, of course, no way of telling when an inflationary blow-off might suddenly dislocate our basic economy. If such a thing should happen, the inevitable result would be violent deflation.

Probably the greatest danger lies in the possible emergence of a speculative psychology, the sort of thing that happened in the first year of the Korean War. Fortunately, there are vast differences between that time and the present. When the trouble broke out in Korea, our plant capacity was pitifully inadequate to produce the needed volume of both guns and butter. The result was a real buyers' rush for goods that drove the consumer price index up a spectacular 9% within twelve months.

CURRENTLY, our production of both military and civilian goods is miles ahead of any other in our history. In fact, it is not far from capacity. Hence, it is to be hoped that speculative consumer buying will not be so frenzied that it will drive prices radically higher. Labor Department experts do expect to see the greatest concentration of price gains this year in those items that led the list in 1965: Food, shoes, medical attention, transportation, home maintenance, auto insurance, gasoline, and tobacco products, -- which make up a big part of the home budget.

The Administration continues to plead for voluntary restraints on both prices and wages. Consumers and manufacturers are asked to avoid piling up top-heavy inventories that might tilt the apperart. It is obvious that many of the government's economic advisers would truly like to avoid compulsory curbs and pay rates. Chances are they may be able to avoid them unless some huge escalation of the Vietnam struggle darkens the picture. If it does, controls will be tried.

But, while government officials hammer away at the necessity of avoiding price and wage increases, they seem to forget that their own actions compound the problem. The price of government at all levels is soaring year by year. So why not include the price of political administration in the Department of Labor's Consumer Price Index?

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Last week the Northville community chamber of commerce prepared a questionnaire for its members and mailed it on a self-addressed return card.

Mine hasn't arrived yet, so just in case I've been skipped or my dues haven't been paid this year, I'll use this column to reply.

Here's what the questionnaire had to say:

1. Are you in favor of developing the Central Business District as outlined by the Planning Board?
2. Are you in favor of continuing Griswold street to Beal street and widening of Beal street?
3. Are you in favor of continuing Wing street south into Edward Hines drive?
4. Which of these projects do you think is the most important at this time?

In each case the chamber member is asked to answer "yes or no" and then there's a small space provided for comments.

I think the questionnaire is a fine idea. And it's even better if everyone fully understands all the background involved in the questions. It's not a "yes" or "no" matter.

At first glance it could appear to be a little like the judge who asked the condemned man what form of punishment he preferred... "hanging or the firing squad."

This idea prevails because the chamber both devised and recommended the plans in questions two and three. So the answers to chamber-sponsored plans from chamber members leaves little hope for question number one.

Unfortunately, the CBD idea proposed by the planning commission has had some shabby treatment... even from those business men who will benefit most from its implementation.

And it isn't completely understood. Somewhere along the line CBD has been confused with a "shopping mall", which is a phrase that's as taboo with the planning commission as "ungraded" at the board of education.

Actually, the first three questions on the chamber inquiry are closely related. It's just a matter of where one places the emphasis.

As the planners see it, if Northville's business district is to remain intact it must make certain improvements to accommodate future area growth. First among these improvements would be a system for handling traffic. Closely related to this is the matter of providing offstreet parking.

So planners envision a circular traffic pattern around the business district with parking on the inside of the circle and stores in the middle. Roughly speaking, the circular drive would be composed of Dunlap, Wing, Beal and Church streets.

For the easterly portion of this circle, it is conceivable that Griswold could be substituted for Church street.

And in answer to question three, Wing street is already a part of the CBD plan, so perhaps its extension southward to Edward Hines drive could also be adopted by the planners.

The point is this. The objective of any action should be to carry out a plan.

So my answer to question one is "yes", definitely.

To question number two, I would hope that if such a project is undertaken it is done chiefly as a first step in the development of the CBD circular drive.

And as for question three, the same applies. It could very well be an improvement over the present planning commission proposal in moving southbound traffic more swiftly.

But again, it goes back to coordination with the master plan. The questions cannot be separated. To do so would be to undertake projects that would provide immediate relief, but future problems.

Ungraded Critics Misinformed

To the Editor:
I am a parent and a teacher who has finally been moved to write to the Editor in an attempt to settle some of the constant barrage of unfounded and misinformed criticism of the proposal to adopt an ungraded school organization in Northville.

I was a member of the Citizens' Committee which was charged by the Board of Education in September, 1958 to study the curricular needs of our elementary schools.

A sub-committee was established to study the ungraded concept. This committee gave a report to the committee of the whole, which, in turn, adopted the recommendation that the Northville elementary schools should be ungraded. This total committee was comprised of 38 parents, teachers, and administrators. Then the total report was presented to the Board in January, 1960. Therefore, the idea of ungraded schools for Northville is not new with the present superintendent.

The letter from "Very Concerned Mother" contains some fallacies and incorrect assumptions which should be clarified by the following statements:

1. "Ungraded" does not mean lack of evaluation of students. It is only an administrative system of organization which allows continuous progress from one level of achievement to another in any subject.
2. The student will still be evaluated, or given "grades" or "marks".
3. In 1958, this type of school organization had been in use in Milwaukee for over 16 years. It was also employed in such communities as Park Forest, Ill., Marblehead, Mass., Dayton, Ohio, and Livonia.
4. One famous high school, which is totally ungraded, will be happy to give information about this type of organization. It is Melborne High School, Mel-borne, Florida. A book, The Non-Graded High School, by Dr. B. Frank Brown was written about this particular school.

5. A recent survey made by this writer, of the admissions requirements of a cross-section of Michigan colleges and universities indicates that despite high honor point averages, more and more emphasis will be placed on college board exams and other test results for admission.

6. It is my belief that the reason more schools have not adopted the ungraded organization is that it requires soul-searching decisions by teachers. Decisions must be made as to the levels of achievement to be expected at a given time in each subject. This is very difficult to do. It must and will be done in Northville before the system is adopted.

"Very Concerned Mother" threatens to damage all education when she threatens to withhold support for millage. A truly concerned parent would go to School Board meetings and ask for information—such as the reasons why the selected school site has been retained. Before one condemns the judgments of others, an attempt should be made to learn all the facts. The reasons for the selected site have been made public.

Our Board has always invited interested citizens to come and learn about the business of education. Anyone who wants a place on the agenda of a particular meeting should, of course, notify the superintendent in advance. If more people attended the meetings, most of the misinformation and ill-founded rumor would cease to exist in Northville. It is my suggestion that questions and answers are necessary, but childish threats are not in anyone's best interest—particularly our kids.

Millage Request Needs Support

To the Editor:

This is the result of my feelings after reading the letter from a "Very Concerned Mother" on the subject of the proposed ungraded school system. I am also a very concerned mother. The biggest difference between she and I is the object of our concern. I am concerned with my children's welfare and education. This woman is obviously concerned with creating a commotion about something about which she knows very little.

She apparently has the idea no report cards will be given under the ungraded system. This is not what ungraded means. How much can we learn from grades on a report card anyway? Every teacher has a different method for marking and we cannot understand what is behind every mark anyway. I feel college entrance presents no problems to a good student regardless of the system he or she comes from.

This mother commends our present high school system and suggests we "enlarge upon this theme." That is exactly what would result from a system such as Mr. Nelson has in mind.

She admits the bright student would gain from this system and the slow student would perhaps benefit, but she questions the inspiration for average students. Isn't their own future enough of an inspiration? If not, our youth doesn't offer much hope to the world. I have five children in school and they are working to better themselves — not beat someone else.

I think, if this woman would investigate the excellent school systems to which she referred, she would find they are all using similar methods in some of their schools. The problem is that everyone uses different words to name the method.

If this mother is so concerned, why does she waste her time threatening the members of the school board with replacement? Why does she shun a badly needed millage increase for operating the school her child attends?

It seems to me a really concerned mother would investigate the matter fully. Then, if she chooses to disagree with it, that is her privilege. It would be a sad world if we all wanted the same things. I think, however, we should be familiar with a subject before we speak out against it.

I also believe a really concerned mother would back a millage vote to increase operating funds. Her so called concern may result in the poor operation of the school system in the future due to lack of funds — not an undesirable system of teaching.

I wonder what great knowledge she possesses that makes her question the Board's decision on the new elementary school site. Does she know more about building than the architect and the board members? If so, she should be in the building business to make use of her talents. I have to rely on the judgment of men who are better trained than I. My limited knowledge doesn't permit me to discuss this situation.

I suggest this concerned mother (and others like her) find out what an ungraded school is before she finds fault. I further suggest she attend an open Board Meeting and find out about her school system before criticizing the Board and hindering the work of the school system by refusing to vote.

My whole point is not just to argue about the ungraded schools but to fight people who disagree through a lack of knowledge which I feel stems from a lack of genuine interest.

Finally, I would like to say that attendance at the last Board Meeting provided me with a clearer picture of what Mr. Nelson and the Board want to do. They want to "up-grade the system" (to use Mr. Kipfer's words). This will involve equipment and personnel. I am all for this regardless of the increase in cost because my children's future depends on their education. I want the best and I have always found the best is expensive. We are willing to pay for quality when we invest in a house, car, furniture, etc. Why do we fight the idea of paying for the best knowledge we can obtain for our children? It seems to me this is our most important investment.

I firmly believe we needn't concern ourselves with other school districts and their methods. Our own district is what is important to us. Let us work to understand and improve it. We can make it the best if we stand behind it.

I hope to see you at the next School Board Meeting!

A very concerned mother,
Neva Rose Kehrer

P.S. I believe strongly enough in what I said that I don't mind signing my name to this letter.

What is 'It' in School System

Dear Editor:

I have been following the recent proposal of the Superintendent's Office and the Board in regard to doing something in the schools that apparently is going to "individualize the approach" or to "provide for continuous growth." Now I believe that this means that the school officials have decided to "de-emphasize" the ungraded "concept" and have instead decided to provide a program that offers "no tremendous change."

The Board Secretary reassures us by saying that the above is merely new names for what "we have been doing" and that we have aspects of "it" now. We have advanced courses, general courses, easy subjects, hard subjects, pre-college subjects and vocational subjects. This really sets my mind at ease because now I have a much clearer picture of what "it" is. The Assistant Superintendent has apparently not heard how the Board feels for he had "it" set up as the logical way" but that "it" is not necessarily a "firm situation."

What the Board is doing is "planning a greater depth program" but that "it" should be a "target-type project" that will not be rushed.

Will someone please come to the aid of this poor uninformed misguided taxpayer and explain in understandable terms just what is proposed for our schools. If "it" isn't it, what is it?

Novi Mining, Landfill To Hurt Development

To the Editor:

The decision of the Village of Novi Appeal Board to permit the expansion of gravel removal operations on the Anderson property, on Eight Mile Road, combined with the landfill operations which are to follow, is certain to retard the development of this S.W. area of the Village of Novi for years.

These operations always have a depreciating effect on land values of surrounding property and leave the land owners with land which becomes a white elephant. They pay taxes but are unable to dispose of their land because no home builder or subdivider will purchase land for development in a land fill area.

A steady stream of trash and rubbish trucks from other communities, travelling on Eight Mile Road will be a menace to the safety of school children attending the new school which will be built to the east of these operations and who must cross and travel Eight Mile Road.

In some instances these land fills become a breeding ground for rats, compel home owners to drill expensive deep wells and are also a hazard to children who may find excavation exploration interesting.

The new Ford Plant on Sheldon Road and the new school nearby could attract new home building on both sides of Eight Mile Road, but with a gravel pit and a public dump operation in the vicinity this is quite unlikely.

And finally, why should the Village of Novi become the dumping ground for other communities so a few can profit at the expense of their neighbors and a loss of possible improvement and additional tax revenue for the village in this S.W. Novi area.

Tank Needed To Shop Here

Dear Ed:

I would like to sound off on the total lack of respect some people don't have for another's property. In 1964 I bought a 1962 Cadillac that didn't have a scratch on it. We used to go shopping elsewhere but started to shop regularly in Northville, because it was closer to home. About the fourth time our car was left in the parking lot someone either pulling into or backing out of the space next to my car, put a scratch the full length of the right side. Later a friend gave me the license number of the vehicle that did the damage.

My son bought a 1965 Dodge in June of '65 and the first time my wife left it in the parking lot by the Northville Drug Store, it got clobbered causing $97.00 worth of damage to the right rear fender. I also have the license number of that vehicle. In December of 1965 I traded the Cadillac in for a 1966 Dodge Monaco. I'd owned it just about two months when someone put a good sized dent and scrape in the right rear quarter panel. I wrote to Lansing and got the names of the persons registered as owners of those vehicles doing the damage to my cars. You would be amazed as to whom these persons are. I thought these people had respect for another's property. We try to teach our children respect for the other person and their property but what good does it do if adults have none.

I've bought a 1942 Dodge Power Wagon with 4 wheel drive and it has fenders 1/8th inch thick. I plan on using it for shopping trips in Northville. And if it gets banged up, I know a place in Chicago where a person can purchase Surplus Army tanks. I may have to get one to shop safe in Northville, or take my business elsewhere.

Sincerely

New Ideas Help Improve Schools

Dear Mr. Editor:

There are a number of concerned parents in our community who want our school system to improve. We recognize that in this world of change nothing ever stands still—it either improves or grows or it falls behind. And we hope that the school will continue to grow.

Costs of living are constantly rising. If we expect to keep the teachers we have we must consider pay raises. If we expect our children to have music, art or physical education we must hire more teachers. Better textbooks are being published, new teaching aids are being invented, better teaching materials are constantly being made available. If our children are to benefit from these, we must expect to pay for them. These things and many others are necessary, just to keep our school system up to the present standards.

If we want our schools to improve, we must be willing to try new ideas, methods, materials, etc. The Citizens' Committee has suggested many good ideas. Let's try them. If it takes an "individualized approach" to improve the schools, let's try it. Let's read books about the new ideas and concepts in education. Let's talk to professionals in the field. And let's apply their ideas to the question "Will my children benefit?" If the answer is "yes", then let's try it.
