

Board View Split on Bids

The Northville board of education became involved Monday night on the question of advertising for bids on purchases.

And its decisions varied depending upon the product. For insurance the board decided against taking bids. But for school buses, bids were insisted upon.

The question reached a controversial stage when Board Member E. O. Weber challenged a motion by Treasurer William Crump to place an order for some $4,000 worth of insurance annually for a three-year period without competitive bids.

In answer to Weber's question on bids, Crump replied that the agent making the proposal had given the board good service, had always been competitive and that therefore the board "shouldn't fiddle around with bids".

The agent, Charles Carrington, had made a presentation at the invitation of the board in a study session meeting last week. In question was insurance for the new elementary building. During this meeting he had pointed out that substantial savings could be realized by the school system by lumping its building insurance under one broad policy.

The total package plan proposed by Carrington amounted to nearly $4,000, a saving estimated at $1,000 annually.

"I think it's good business practice to take bids on any expenditure of $4,000," Weber pointed out. He received support from Eugene Cook, who noted that the board had previously switched to bids for its bus fleet insurance and had realized savings.

Donald Lawrence pointed out that in the past Carrington had been competitive. "I think we should go along with this," he stated.

Neither Cook nor Weber had attended the study session with Carrington. The agent pointed out that it was possible that "you might save $100 by going out for bids" and noted that the board was perfectly justified in doing so if it saw fit.

Vice President James Kipper said that Carrington had been invited by the board last week and that it was morally obligated to award him the business. President W. C. Becker pointed out the time factor, and noted that the agent had been contacted for builders' risk insurance and had outlined the wider savings' potential.

Kipper then quietly quizzed Weber and Cook on accepting the proposal on a one-year basis. Competitive bid descriptions would be established in the meantime for renewals.

Crump restated his motion on that basis and won support.

In later action Administrative Assistant E. V. Ellison requested permission of the board to purchase two International buses with Wayne bodies that were ready for delivery in Lansing. For the sake of immediate delivery he proposed waiving bids.

Treasurer Crump objected stating that he had heard that a purchase of buses was being proposed without bids and that he strongly disapproved.

Crump noted that he was very familiar with the company handling Thomas bodies and had encouraged them to submit bids in previous years. He noted that their service and product had been good.

"I don't like to see one company bidding and another knowing nothing about it," Crump stated. He pointed out that Thomas could give immediate delivery, too. His motion to advertise for bids on buses won unanimous support.

For details of other board action Monday night, see page 12-A.

A 'First' in Color

A process color print, the first ever attempted in The Northville Record-Now News, appears in this edition.

The subject, which actually employs the use of three colors, is an advertisement for Lapham's Men's Shop appearing on page one of Section B.

The results fall short of hoped-for future efforts, but the illustration does demonstrate the ability to reproduce a picture in near natural color. Process color differs from "spot" color as demonstrated between the Lapham and Schrader (back page) advertisements.

Another process color print is scheduled for next week. We welcome your comments, but please reserve criticism for one more week!

Downs' Meet Threatened

Horsemen, Mutuel Clerks Negotiate for Increases

READY IN CASE—The threatened strike at Northville Downs hasn't slowed up the training schedules at the track. Horsemen, who would like a bigger cut of the track's take for purses, are making sure their horses will be ready for the familiar "they're off" when it comes.

Negotiations on two fronts threaten to cancel the 25-night harness racing meet scheduled to open March 25 at Northville Downs.

Shutdown of the local track would mean loss of jobs to 200 employees, cost the track management thousands of dollars and deplete the tax coffers of the city of some $75,000 in rebates from the state's share of the pari-mutuel handle. It would also force horsemen to look elsewhere for a track meet.

Present management of Northville Downs is conducting negotiations with both the Michigan Harness Horsemen's Association and the mutuel clerks.

Most critical of the two appears to be negotiations with the horsemen where a deadlock is reported in agreement over what percentage should be set aside for purses.

The mutuel clerk negotiations are currently being conducted with assistance from the state labor mediation board. Management and employee representatives met Monday with Mediator Edmond Phillips.

Downs Executive Manager John Carlo said a three-year package incorporating a dollar per day increase to include 1965 had been offered. A meeting is slated for Friday to determine whether this will be accepted.

Meanwhile, however, Carlo admits that a stalemate has been reached in negotiations with the horsemen. Management and the horsemen's association have been meeting without intervention by the state mediation board.

The controversy centers around the track's take from the pari-mutuel handle and what percentage of this should be earmarked for purses.

In the operation of the racing facility 85 cents of every dollar is returned to the bettors. The remaining 15 cents plus "breakage" (the odd pennies not paid to bettors when breaking the bet return to the nearest 10 cents) is divided between the track and the state.

This amounts to about 15.7 cents of every dollar wagered. The state takes five cents of this amount and returns a penny to the city government.

The track thus receives 10.7 cents of the bettor's dollar. For the past five years the track has given the horsemen 38 per cent of the remaining 10.7 cents for purses.

At the outset the horsemen asked for an increase to 50 per cent. Their demand now stands at 46 per cent.

Carlo has offered to increase the purse percentage to 39. So far there has been no reported change in position from either side.

Downs' officials point out that the national average for similar tracks last year was 37.51. This percentage, they argue, has shown an increase each year, yet the Downs has paid 38 per cent for five years.

Hazel Park and Wolverine also pay 38 per cent.

Carlo said that failure to reach agreement with either the horsemen or the mutuel clerks would mean closing of the Downs.

He said the track is planning on "business as usual", however, and pointed out that there are already nearly 300 horses stabled at the Northville track and a total of 750 is expected.

Officials of the horsemen's association have informed members by letter not to plan on racing in Northville this spring.

There is evidence that some misunderstanding surrounds the notice action. Carlo was quoted as saying he "would not open the track for the spring meet". He replied that he had said he would not open at the 46 per cent figure.

Northville Mayor A. M. Allen expressed the city's concern of the possible shutdown of the track. He pointed out that the council is presently working on its 1966-67 budget and that closing of the track would put a substantial dent in public improvement plans.

"Northville is the victim of being the first meet of the year", the mayor noted. "What happens here could set a pattern for other tracks".

Northville Downs was awarded a split meet for the second year in a row. The spring meet is scheduled from March 25 through April 23. The 35-night summer meet is set for June 27 through August 5.

The 60-night meet is three nights longer than last year's meet.

Mediator Intervenes

The Labor Mediation Board stepped into the Horsemen-Downs' dispute this week in an effort to bring about settlement. Leonard D. Bennett, mediator for the Board and a resident of Northville, met separately with both sides and told The Record Wednesday morning that a joint session will be called later this week.

Incumbents Lose in Novi

Two incumbents were upset at the polls in Novi village Monday. And two challengers who were seated will have to depend on fate to decide the length of their terms.

Although the day was balmy, only a sprinkling of voters appeared to exercise their voice in the local government. Those 490 of 2247 registered gave a clear-cut demonstration of their favorite, however.

Ray D. Harrison, incumbent, was clear and away the front runner with 329 votes. The veteran campaigner thus gained a second four-year council seat. He has previously been township treasurer and school board member.

The next two vote-getters were 123 votes behind, polling 206 ballots each to force a flip-of-the-coin decision as to which will serve for four years and which for two years. They are challengers Leo Harrawood and Donald A. Fuller.

Ousted were incumbents Dean H. Lenheiser and Donald A. Young. Miss Eugenie Choquet, a former councilwoman, also lost. Only 18 votes separated the pack behind Harrison. Next in popularity to Harrawood and Fuller was Young with 194 votes, followed by Lenheiser with 189 and Miss Choquet with 188.

NEW MANAGER — Frank Ollendorff will report for duty as Northville's new city manager Monday. Presently Ollendorff, 26, is serving as assistant to the city manager of Highland Park, Illinois.

Washtenaw College Names Paul Hunt Dean

Dr. Paul R. Hunt, 344 Debra lane, Northville, has been named dean of vocational education for the new Washtenaw County Community college. Now director of federal vocational programs for the Detroit public schools, Dr. Hunt said he will divide his time between Detroit and Ann Arbor until he takes over his new duties full time.

The appointment was made by a unanimous vote of the five trustees at the college meeting last week and is to be effective April 4. One of five top administrative posts under the president, the position carries a $19,500 salary. Starting in the Detroit system 15 years ago as a substitute teacher, Dr. Hunt has moved up through the ranks to head Detroit's much-copied job upgrading program. When large amounts of federal funds became available for a variety of vocational programs, he was put in charge of all of them. Recently he also was given responsibility for all vocational and technical programs in the Detroit schools.

Each year more than 30,000 Detroit students and adults have received vocational training under his supervision. Major emphasis at the new college, Dr. Hunt says, will be on vocational and technical training, although a transfer program also will be offered.

He received his bachelor's, master's and doctor of education degrees from Wayne State university. His doctoral thesis, prepared under a Ford Foundation grant, was entitled, "The Effectiveness of Job Upgrading Methods and Adjusting the Aspirational Level of Youth as It Concerns Preparation to Enter the World of Work." Hunt did other graduate work at University of Michigan and Michigan State University and is a graduate of the Air Force university academic instructor program.

A resident of Northville since

DR. PAUL R. HUNT

1960, Dr. Hunt lives with his wife Mary Ann, and children, Bonnie, 11, and Joel, 5, in Northville Heights subdivision. He was one of 13 candidates for four school board posts in 1960. He has served on school citizen committees.

The recently organized Washtenaw Community college will occupy 250 acres along the Huron River on the outskirts of Ann Arbor. Trustees Ralph C. Wenrich, a University professor of vocational education, and Ewart W. Ardis, director of the U-M Bureau of appointments, both commented in making the announcement that the college is fortunate to obtain the services of a person with Hunt's experience and education.

It's Lapeer, Northville In Exchange

Northville's mayor won't have to travel far to exchange with this community's visiting mayor this year on Michigan Week's exchange day program, May 16.

A. M. Allen will preside at Lapeer, which is less than 20 miles east of Flint.

Meanwhile, Northville's Michigan Week committee is well underway in its organization.

Chairman Kenneth Rathert named the following chairmen this week: Terry Dano, assistant general chairman; Russell Amerman, government day; Edmond Yerkes, heritage day; chamber of commerce, Charles Freydl, Jr.; education day, Milton Jacobi; youth day, Dave Biery; publicity, Dennis Pajot; and ladies' activities, Mrs. Robert Lang.

Novi Court Hears Charges Against Royal Oak Officials

Three of six Royal Oak township officials accused of bribery and extortion by an Oakland county grand jury were brought to a neutral corner Tuesday for justice-court examination.

Novi became the scene upon which it was to be determined if the alleged crimes had been committed, and if there was reasonable reason to believe that the accused had committed the crimes. If so, the cases will be tried in Oakland county circuit court.

Novi Justice of the Peace Robert Anderson had arraigned all but one of the accused on March 10, at which time they stood mute and a plea of not guilty was entered by the court.

Two of the officials, Frank Miles and W. C. Chambliss, waived examination Tuesday and were bound over for arraignment in circuit court. Examination of the third, Samuel Woodward, was adjourned to 2 p.m. March 29. All three were facing four counts Tuesday: bribery, extortion and conspiracy to commit both.

On March 29 Woodward will also face examination on "different offenses" of bribery and conspiracy to commit bribery, along with three additional Royal Oak township officials, Elon Michels, Marshall Taylor and Supervisor Edward Kennedy.

Kennedy alone has not yet been arraigned. He has been hospitalized with leg burns.

A seventh party in the Royal Oak scandal will face examination March 31 with Woodward on two other charges of bribery. He is Morris Marquies, a builder. Charges brought by the grand jury contend that the township officials conspired with bidders to award favorable votes in return for bribes and that such was accomplished — and that the bidders did extend the bribes.

Millage Workers Wanted

The Northville board of education has called a meeting for Wednesday, March 23 to begin launching a campaign for passage of its May 9 millage request.

President W. C. Becker said all citizens who had previously expressed an interest in assisting the board will be called upon to attend the 8 p.m. meeting at the junior high school.

He emphasized that more volunteers are being sought and would be welcomed at the organizational meeting.

Presently the board is uncertain as to its specific millage needs. Becker points out that teacher negotiations are still underway and the results will determine to a great extent how much additional millage will be needed.

The board will ask voters to renew a previously voted 10 mills now being levied. Estimates as high as 10 mills additional have been aired, but fine lines remain to be drawn.

Time is running out on the board in reaching a millage request figure. Administrator E. V. Ellison informed the board Monday night that a specific figure must be determined by the Monday, March 28 meeting if the millage election date is to be moved ahead to May 9 instead of May 16 as originally planned.

The board recently expressed a desire for an earlier (May 9) millage vote to avoid crowding the June 13 board election.

During the past month school administrators have appeared at a series of six neighborhood coffee sessions to explain in person-to-person the administration's upgrading and ungrading plans.

The sessions have served to hear parents' concerns and answer them directly and informally. At the same time the administrators have been able to outline some of the school's needs in terms of millage without setting forth exact totals.

But now the board would like to "swing into a community-wide effort specifically directed at outlining and explaining the millage needs.

At Monday night's meeting Eugene Cook reminded fellow board members that the citizens' committee effort was originally scheduled for February 1. He expressed strong dissatisfaction with the delay and urged prompt action, which led to the March 23 session.

School Site Water Hit

A good supply of water for the new Northville elementary school to be constructed on Eight Mile road seems assured, Elroy Ellison, school administrative assistant, announced Monday.

The well has been capped, ready for a pump, at a depth of 163 feet after a 12-hour test last Saturday when it pumped 230 gallons a minute. Ellison said the water depth dropped 10 feet during the pumping but had immediate recovery when it stopped. He described it as "a real good well".

Last week the hole was drilled to 260-feet when it was feared that the 163-foot level supply might not be satisfactory. There was no water at the lower level, however.

SIGNS OF SPRING—At exactly 8:53 p.m. Sunday the sun will reach the vernal equinox. Officially, this is the moment of arrival of spring. There are other ways of predicting its arrival, however. And one is when you see a group of boys huddled around a circle full of marbles. Taking aim above are Guy Cole, Gregg Phillips and Joey Patterson.

Jacettes To Install Officers

New officers of the Northville Jaycettes will be installed at a dinner meeting at 7 p.m. Sunday, March 27, at Thunderbird Inn. Husbands and prospective members and their husbands are invited.

Mrs. Charles Ely will succeed Mrs. John Macauley as president. Mrs. Ely was one of the Jaycette founders and had previously served as president. Other officers to be installed are Mrs. Paul Sobol, vice-president; Mrs. Ken Roberts, secretary; and Mrs. Leo Racicot, treasurer.

Mrs. Ely will outline changes planned for the Jaycettes who will center their activities in the coming year on community service projects and will lend support to JC projects.

On Dean's List

Sally Lou Mallette, a sophomore at Eastern Michigan university, has been named to the dean's list for academic achievement. A Northville high school graduate, Sally is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis O. Mallette, 301 South Ely drive. She is studying to become an art teacher.

In Our Town

By Jean Day

ST. PATRICK'S celebrations usually connote bright green, but the St. Patrick's dinner-dance to be held at Meadowbrook country club this Saturday evening should be colored pure gold. The party marks the re-opening of the club, which was closed in January and February, and is the first event of the club's 50th year.

James P. Cornelius, club general manager, announces that the gala dinner-dance will lead off a year of special Golden Anniversary festivities. Warney Ruhl's 11-piece band will play Saturday night. A Golden Anniversary ball is scheduled for later in the season, as well as the traditional President's Ball to be held in the fall. George Talbot of Redford is president for the club's 50th year.

Meadowbrook country club was incorporated February 18, 1916, with a list of incorporators that includes many well-known Northville names, including George, William, Robert and Clement Yerkes, Nelson C. Schrader, Edmund S. Beard and Harry C. Bulkeley, its first president, who lived on the Bulkeley farm on Halstead road.

NORTHVILLE VACATIONERS who went south to seek the sun are coming home just in time to enjoy balmy spring days here. Among those with a rested, tanned look is Mrs. Edwin R. Langtry. The Langtrys and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Clum returned last week from a 17-day cruise on the New Amsterdam which took them to the Virgin Islands, British West Indies and Venezuela and back via Aruba, Jamaica and Nassau.

The foursome received a gala send-off in New York as Judy Nauman, daughter of the P. H. Naumans, bade them bon voyage at the pier. Judy then departed on a ski vacation to Mt. Tremblant, Quebec, for 17 days. A nurse at New York City's Bellevue hospital, Judy is an accomplished skier and skied in Stowe, Vermont, earlier in the season. Last year during her travels in Europe Judy tried the Austrian slopes.

VENEZUELA also was a stop on the itinerary of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Kelly, who returned earlier this month to their home on Cottisford road after a two-week trip to Puerto Rico, Jamaica and Caracas, Venezuela. In Puerto Rico they visited the E. J. Wards of Springwood drive, who were sent to Puerto Rico by the Ford Motor company. Mrs. Kelly reports they expect to return in April.

The Kellys then met the Stanley Stongs, their former neighbors, in Jamaica, going on with them to Caracas, where the Stongs now are living.

POMPANO BEACH, Florida, Mobile, Alabama, and New Orleans were among the cities visited by Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Ware during a motor trip south. The Wares dined at the Pompano track with Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Owens, manager of the Pompano track, and Mrs. Owens are planning to return here by the 28th, Mrs. Ware reports, in time for the opening of the Wolverine Track, where he also is general manager.

The Wares then visited an aunt, Mrs. Raychel Hinman of Northville, who is spending the winter at Fairhope, Alabama, where she has an apartment. The Wares were greeted on their return Sunday by the ducks who "flew in" just two days before to take up residence on their pond again. Mrs. Ware, an avid gardener, says she was delighted to find the azaleas just starting to come out in Alabama—but was equally enchanted to find four pots of forced tulips in bloom at home.

"DO YOU REMEMBER?" Northville Woman's club members will ask as they present a comedy skit at the club's annual tureen luncheon to be held at Northville Presbyterian church at 12:30 p.m. Friday. The program is under the direction of Mrs. John P. Moorhead, who also authored the part-pantomime presentation.

An always-for-fun meeting to conclude the club year, the skit traditionally is presented by newest members. They are Mrs. Robert Vick, Mrs. Richard Cooper, Mrs. Bruce Turnbull, Mrs. Wardell Lyke, Mrs. William Dyke, Mrs. Herman Wedemeyer, Mrs. Alexander Nelson and Mrs. William Switzler. Mrs. John Brown is assisting Mrs. Moorhead.

Bonnie Marie Kirkwood Weds Anthony Palizzi

At a candlelight ceremony Friday, March 11, Bonnie Marie Kirkwood and Anthony Palizzi were united in marriage at Our Lady of Victory church in Northville with Father Wittstock officiating.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kirkwood of Novi, was given in marriage by her father. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Palizzi of Allen Park.

The bride wore her sister's wedding gown of traditional design in white chiffon and silk with a short train. The neckline and front panel were appliqued with white sequins and seed pearls. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a crown of pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and roses centered with a white orchid.

Matron of Honor Mrs. William Boyd was the bride's sister. Bridesmaids were Linda Guay and Rose Mary Bove. They all wore pale pink floor-length gowns of peau de soie. The matron of honor carried a bouquet of pale pink carnations and red roses with ivy streamers; the bridesmaid's flowers were pale pink carnations and roses, also with ivy streamers. Daniel Palizzi was best man for his brother. William Boyd and Dennis Kirkwood seated the guests.

A reception was held at the K. of C. Hall in Livonia for 175 close friends and relatives.

Mrs. Kirkwood chose for her daughter's wedding a melon-colored ensemble of a sheath dress and jacket, with matching accessories and a green carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a turquoise blue crepe-and-lace sheath and a corsage of pink roses.

Four grandmothers attended the service. They were Mrs. Mary Palizzi, Mrs. Mary Dagostini, Mrs. Mary Kirkwood and Mrs. Anna Bridges.

The bridegroom is attending law school at Wayne University and expects to receive his degree in June. He has been offered a scholarship to Yale for his Master's work.

The newlyweds will be at home to their friends in an apartment in Lincoln Park.

Town Hall Announces Programs for 1966-67

A designer-fashion show is an innovation among the five programs announced by Northville Town Hall for the 1966-7 series which will open October 20 with "A Musical Adventure With Karl Haas," Detroit's director of fine arts for station WJR and internationally acclaimed authority on cultural affairs.

He will be followed by Dr. Murray Banks, who tells wittily "What To Do Until the Psychiatrist Comes," on November 17. Vincent Price will speak on "The Great Enjoyment of Art" on February 9, 1967, and will be followed by Pegge Parker on March 16, speaking on "A Woman's Eye-View to World Events."

Award-winning designer Bill Blass will conclude the series with a discussion of "Fashion Today and Tomorrow" in conjunction with a fashion showing of his clothes staged by Saks Fifth Avenue of Detroit on April 20, 1967.

The fashion show and the musical program by Karl Haas will be presented in the Northville high school auditorium. The other three programs are to be held in the P & A theatre. Each will be followed by a celebrity luncheon.

In announcing the 1966-7 season, Northville Town Hall's sixth year, Mrs. William R. Slattery, chairman, pointed out that the varied program ranges from arts, politics and psychology to fashion. Proceeds from the series, which is sponsored by Our Lady's League of Our Lady of Victory church, again will be contributed to charities in the Farmington, Plymouth, Livonia and Northville areas.

Mrs. Slattery said that the program committee feels especially fortunate in obtaining Karl Haas as its opening speaker as he is in constant demand as a lecturer-recitalist in the field of fine arts throughout the country. Appointed director of fine arts for WJR in 1959, he directs the planning and production of the station's programs, appearing on the air as host of the weekday morning broadcasts of Adventures in Good Music. These programs are heard around the world at the request of the United States Armed Forces Radio network.

He has received honorary doctorates from Albion and Findlay colleges and from Bowling Green State university. He has been honored by the French and German governments and has served as consultant to the Ford Foundation.

Dr. Murray Banks has a national reputation as "a psychologist with a sense of humor." He is to speak on the "most difficult art in the world---how to live with yourself." He formerly was visiting professor of psychology at Fairleigh Dickinson university, New Jersey. He was a full professor of psychology at Long Island university and at Pace college, New York City. He is a graduate of New York and Columbia universities and did his clinical psychopathology study at Bellevue hospital in New York City.

In speaking on "The Enjoyment of Great Art," Vincent Price returns to the field in which he first studied. His initial aim in life was to become a professor and collector of art, an aim that was stimulated by the purchase of a Rembrandt etching when he was 12 years old.

Following graduation from Yale university in 1933, he went to London to study for a master's degree in fine arts at London University. As a lark, he tried for a role in the Play, "Chicago," and got it. After the first night's performance, he recalls, all thoughts of becoming a professor vanished and he studied acting with the same concentration he once devoted to academic subjects.

By 1935 he was a Broadway star. Next he conquered Hollywood.

He has gained renown as a major art collector, filling his Beverly Hills home with an extensive collection. He is a patron of several contemporary artists and an art consultant and buyer for Sears, Roebuck and company.

The life of a free-lance foreign correspondent is the life for Pegge Parker, the glamorous female correspondent who is to give Northville Town Hall audience a personal and intimate story of events and people in high places. She recently toured the combat zones in Vietnam as special correspondent for the New York Daily News. Other trips have taken her to India and Pakistan.

In Bombay, India, in 1952, she married a young newsman, John Hlavacek. In the land "of elephants, camels and sacred cows" she became the mother of five children, and with the late Prime Minister Nehru's sister, wrote a book-length biography of that statesman for the Ladies Home Journal.

When her husband joined NBC to cover the rise of Castro, the family moved to Jamaica and she became a Time-Life correspondent. She has filled Time's "People" pages with vignettes of the Churchills, the Kennedys, LBJ and Lady Bird, Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon. She also interviewed Batista a few days after he fled Havana.

Bill Blass' fashion philosophy will be illustrated with a fashion showing of his designs staged by Saks Fifth Avenue of Detroit when the designer and partner in the firm of Maurice Renner appears at Town Hall in April, 1967.

His personal fashion signature is described as a "smoldering simplicity that makes other designers' clothes look fussy and over-trimmed." He is a two-time winner of the coveted Coty American Fashion Critics award.

Season tickets at $10 for the 1966-7 season now are on sale. Mrs. H. F. Wagenschutz, 349-2976, is chairman of the sale.

162 YEARS of matrimony is represented in this picture of three Northville couples. They were treated to a special anniversary cake last week by their fellow members of the senior citizens' club. Pictured (l. to r.) are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jenkins (50 years), Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shipley (55 years), and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Billman (57 years).

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Mention Northville Downs and the name that comes to mind is Carlo.

It's been 23 years since the Downs opened with pari-mutuel harness racing under the lights. And one of the motivators and original stockholders of the pioneer efforts in Michigan was John Carlo. Now he's executive manager of the booming business.

During that period the average nightly handle has grown from about $32,000 to more than $275,000. Attendance has increased from 900 to 5,000 fans nightly.

And the facilities? Longtime residents can easily remember the wooden barns and stands that had long since seen their day as the site of the Wayne county fair.

For many years Carlo has called all the shots at the Downs. And he's still doing so. With the help of an efficient crew, headed by "girl Friday", Margaret Zayti, the Downs has made giant improvement strides. Additional improvements are already past the design stage and Carlo will tell you that Northville will end up with the finest harness track in this part of the country.

As Northville Downs prepares to open for its 23rd season, Carlo has faced one of his toughest years.

First of all there was a slight heart attack that put him in the hospital.

Next 1966 becomes the year for negotiation of new contracts with mutuel clerks.

And finally, the agreement between the track and the horsemen regarding the percentage of the take to be used for purses (prize money) is also up for renewal and the dispute threatens to prevent scheduled opening on March 25.

Now we go back to the beginning of this column and the reason why there's another name frequently associated with Northville Downs these days.

John's a smart businessman. He knows you should always have someone in the bullpen ready to take over when the starter needs relief.

And his reliever is also a Carlo. A younger version named Lou, who is John's nephew.

Lou has been John's trouble-shooter for the past several months. And Uncle John has seen to it that Lou is well qualified to talk track business with anyone.

Young Lou ... he's 32 and a bachelor... has been working around tracks for 13 years. He managed to squeeze four years into three at Michigan State and receive a degree in economics, graduating with honors.

He's worked at both harness and thoroughbred tracks. And when the call for help came from John earlier this year, Lou was working as mutuel manager at the new Windsor Raceway.

His basic training has come at three other tracks in which John is interested - Lebanon Raceway in Ohio, Hamilton, Ohio, Raceway and Latonia Trots in northern Kentucky.

Lou typifies the young business executive in a field where you usually visualize the fast-talking tough guy as portrayed in the movies.

He might be fast-talking, but he's articulate and, more important, he knows what he's talking about.

Whenever Uncle John nods, Lou is ready to respond. And the latest nod is that John is ready to take over again. So it's back to the farm clubs and more training for Lou.

Next stop ... Lebanon, Hamilton and Latonia.

LOU CARLO—Pitching in relief for Uncle John.

Readers Speak Opposes Novi Road Commercial Zoning

To the Editor:

Every property owner has a vital concern about the changes taking place in his community and about its future. As private citizens we can only build our confidence and plans on the logic, fairness and consistency of the rulings and actions of our Governmental bodies. For example, in such fields as zoning and other controls over the land use and development of our community.

I am writing you because of the current campaign of a developer to upset the present planned pattern of growth for the area. The developer is requesting a major change in the zoning of a piece of property on Novi road. If this practice of spot or special interest zoning is permitted, then no prospective industry, business or home builder can risk locating in our community. This request if granted would not only constitute spot zoning but would be in direct violation of the recently completed Land Use and Development Plan for the Village of Novi and the Township.

Opposition to this proposed rezoning is based on the obvious facts that: there is no need to create a new commercial complex between the existing commercial centers of Novi and Northville, the traffic which would result from a commercial development would create a more hazardous condition on Novi road. The planned residential and light industrial use of the area would be jeopardized as would the values of present residential properties.

Many readers of your paper may think this case is far from their property, thus does not effect them. The fact is that this same kind of thing could happen in any property owners neighborhood next.

As a property owner, a resident by choice of the neighborhood, and a strong believer in the future growth of our community, I feel an obligation to speak out. The primary purpose of this letter is to urge all those who share this concern to talk with the members of the Novi Village Council and then attend and voice opposition to this proposed rezoning at the Public Hearing to be held in the Novi Township Offices, March 28, 1966 at 8:00 p.m.

Respectfully,
W. P. Scott

Ungraded Point Missed

To the Editor:

In answer to Concerned Mother's letter, everyone seems to have missed the point. How can we adopt the ungraded system in high school before it has been accepted by the universities and colleges in Michigan?

Why not, due to Northville's tax structure, up-grade the present commendable program?

Also - What can the citizens do to obtain a four year athletic program, and intra-mural sports for our high school students. Mother of Many

Sound Planning Needed in Novi

To the Editor:

The increasing number of requests for zoning changes in the Village of Novi indicates that we are on the brink of a period of greatly increased construction activity. This development pressure will make the function of the Planning Board and the actions taken by the Village Council extremely important to every resident of the Village during the next few years. The proposed community development plan which we are now using as a guide for zoning changes leaves much to be desired. This plan was based on the standard planning principles and the land development conditions which existed some ten to fifteen years ago. The character of our community and the surrounding area has undergone many changes since the proposed plan was outlined. During the past few years, a great deal of time and effort have been spent by the Planning Board in bringing the proposed plan into line with current neighborhood character trends.

Noticeable progress has been made in reflecting the industrial trend which has developed along the Grand River - I 96 corridor. However, some reevaluation of the future of this area remains to be done. Recent industrial development of Farmington along our eastern border is a new problem which must be taken into account. The C & O Railroad which is both a blessing and a curse remains as a challenge which must be compromised. It must be made to blend into our residential areas and yet to work for us in our industrial areas.

We have made progress in the development of our community plan, but much more work remains to be done. The timely completion of a sound plan for orderly community development will make or break the future of Novi. Its objective should be to provide suitable industrial and commercial areas and yet to protect our residential areas from industrial and other undesirable neighbors.

Rapid development for only the sake of having development is not the most important objective for those of us who live in Novi. Continued sound planning to guide the development of a pleasant and desirable community is.

Donald C. Young Jr.

Change, Progress, Exasperation

This is the third article written by Mrs. Mary Ellen Kelly on the ungraded system. Mrs. Kelly, a member of the Main street elementary PTA, has written the articles at the suggestion of Principal Harry Smith and the approval of Superintendent Alex Nelson.

There is a certain well known industry which proudly boasts progress as being its Most Important Product. You know the one. And quite obviously they stick to their boast and competitively progress year after year... making major changes in their own products as time and space and science make these things possible. So this is progress.

On the television one might see a chrome plated gadget being demonstrated. It can do seven different things without permanent removal of the consumer's fingers; it will look attractive in any decor because of its changeable colorpanels or handles or blades or something; it is guaranteed for heaven knows how long and it sells (if you get your order in within the next twenty four hours) for only 5.95.

This, too, is progress. And it sells.

Within no time there is a backlog of orders. The manufacturer is doubling up on his production schedule, the product is becoming inferior already in its haste to meet the demand... and the consumer... who didn't research the item, who didn't, in reality, do anything but write the check and mail it in... is, because of having to wait for this great new thing... EXASPERATED.

This is exasperation in relation to progress and it happens every day.

In Northville, however, there seems to be another sort of exasperation in relation to progress.

The product is pliable. Flexible enough to endure the major changes brought about by scientific advances in time and space and, more than likely, any upheavals that may occur at Main and Center streets.

The product is no chrome plated gadget or gimmick... it is a child. A gilt-edged, dynamic, absorbed, curious, magnificently capable very short human being with the challenging potential of a changing world laid bare at his feet.

The change is an acceptable, gradual occurrence in this child's school curriculum.

The progress would be a natural and absolutely necessary progression, for the explosion of knowledge in science alone will present, by the year 2000, 100 times more than we knew in the year 1900.

So why the exasperation?

With a millage coming up why the exasperation? We write a check for a gadget. Or more importantly for a larger household commodity. We take preventive medicine for granted and run the kids in for booster shots and dental check-ups, keep them properly clothed and marvelously well fed.

And now with education and more precisely... educators... fast on the heels of progress... researching, surveying, coping endlessly to provide the very best equipment, written materials, architectural accommodations, environment, teaching systems, learning methods, total educational programs to keep pace with progress... it seems clearly evident that there really isn't time to quibble or become exasperated.

When we can write the checks for all those other things, why stop short of the educational progress of our children?

Continuous Education, today's answer to today's difficulties, seems to be the best way of describing what is going on in many places and what is proposed for Northville. Learning in accordance with the individual child's motivation and acceptance of any given subject. It makes a great deal of sense. It eliminates a tremendous inhibition suffered by many youngsters at the thought of merely entering the first grade. They somehow know that they 'must' learn a 'fixed' amount in that grade or they're done in.

They wet the bed or bite their nails or all number of humiliations that numb their self confidence, distract and confuse them and ultimately breed a distaste for, an oft-quoted 'hatred' of, school.

It is a sort of inherent complex in today's society and it needn't be. It is, to the average child, a needless exasperation.

An exasperation that the Continuation Education Concept might well remedy in relatively short order.

The teacher's role is bigger, better, more flexible; it has its subsequent effect on the child.

Reading, Upgrading On PTA Program

A two-part program dealing with elementary reading and with the district-wide upgrading program will be presented at the March meeting of the Amerman School PTA at 8 p.m. Monday in the multipurpose room.

Mrs. Luvva Waterman, reading consultant for the Northville schools, has arranged the panel program on elementary reading. Keith Berkeley, new Amerman principal, will serve as moderator.

Seven teachers, representing different reading levels, appearing on the program are Mrs. Pat Trickey, kindergarten; Mrs. Bea Ellis, first grade; Mrs. Kay Lennon, second; Mrs. Roberta Quay, third; Mrs. Carol Godwin, fourth; Miss Carol Arnold, fifth; and Mrs. Jean Walker, special education teacher. They are to tell briefly what each grade is doing in reading.

Two bulletins on developmental steps in reading and on a question-and-answer math brochure previously sent home will be distributed.

Alexander Nelson, superintendent of schools, and Raymond Spear, assistant superintendent, and a representative of the board of education will be present to answer questions which parents have been invited to send to the school.

NOVI GIRL SCOUTS
Members of Junior Scout troop 913 had their Girl Scout birthday party last week.

Junior Scout troop No. 1027 members were divided in their activities last week. Several attended the basketball game at Orchard Hills school, and the rest of the girls were guests of Brownie Troop No. 351 where they celebrated the Girl Scouts birthday.

Brownie Troop No. 165 had Investiture last week for three new girls, Bonnie Moody, Dawn Lytle and Wanda Sparks. They presented "Dimes for Daisy" and had the flag ceremony.

Brownie Troop No 161 is still working on hand puppets.

The Junior Scouts are delivering Girl Scout cookies this week.

NOVI CUB SCOUTS
The den mothers held a committee meeting Tuesday. The monthly pack meeting will be held next Friday, March 25, at the Novi Community hall. Their theme for the month "Knights of the Round Table" will be demonstrated in costume.

Den 4 cubs are working on their costumes for Knights of the Round Table at Pack meeting and will have the flag ceremony. Den 10 will have a skit at the pack meeting.

Den 7 had election: Jeffery Pickeral is the denner and Don Wuenius assistant denner. Jim Skeltis brought treats. They made shields for the Knights of the Round Table theme of the month. Jeffery Killeen is the new boy in Den 7.

NOVI BOY SCOUT NEWS
Results of the Ottawa District Polar Bear competition for 1966 were received. Troop 54s Owl Patrol headed by George Gombasy placed third in a field of 62 patrols and received an award of Merit of Honor.

Troop committee netted proceeds in the amount of $202 from the most recent paper drive. The sum was presented to the committee. Scoutmaster Dan Ritter and committeeman Harold Sigbee attended a meeting of troop leaders at Keego Harbor.

Long-awaited and very welcome news was received that the Novi board of education has agreed to sell a 1956 Ford bus, declared surplus to Novi Troop No. 54. The Scoutmaster and Mr. Sigbee attended the March 9 meeting of the board of education at which said decision was made. The bus will be reconditioned by the scouts and placed in service as soon as possible.

A Novi resident, Richard Miller of Twelve Mile road has offered his services in painting the bus so that it will reflect the scout movement and serve as a credit to the community.

A meeting of Boy Scout officers and patrol leaders was called Monday to institute changes in the local troop method of operation to bring it more in line with changing national scouting procedures.

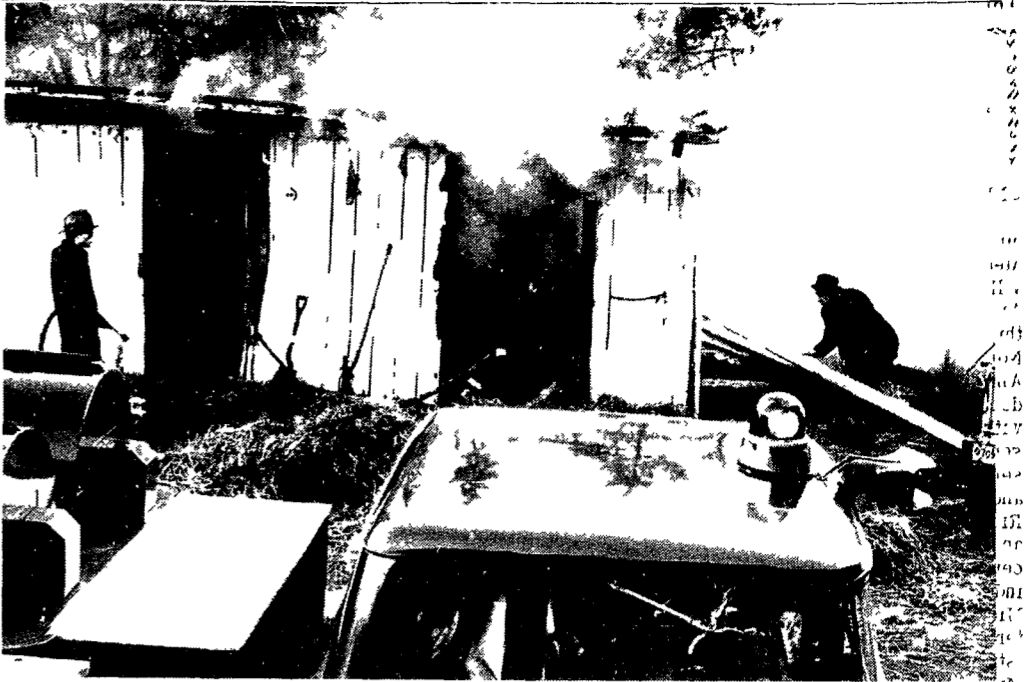

NOVI SCHOOL LUNCHES
FOR THE WEEK OF MARCH 21:
Monday - Chicken pasties, bread-butter, oven brown potatoes, hot buttered beets, fruit cup, milk.

Tuesday - Scalloped potatoes and ham, hot vegetable, peanut butter cup, bread-butter, chocolate brownies, milk.

Wednesday - Hamburger-on-bun, potato chips, relishes, mixed vegetables, cheery cherry pudding, milk.

Thursday - Pizza, bread-butter, hot greenbeans, apple sauce, milk.

Friday - Creamy macaroni-and-cheese, tossed salad, peanut-and-jelly sandwiches, raisin pie, milk.

HOT TIP - Firemen of the City of Northville and Northville township responded to a call from Northville Downs Sunday afternoon. A blaze had erupted in some 40 bales of straw stored in one of the few remaining wooden barns on the main grounds. It was quickly extinguished, preventing major damage. No horses were quartered in the building. James Blackwell, groom and trainer for a stable of nine horses belonging to Paul Anderson of Detroit, whose straw it was, said that stable helpers noticed the smoke and found the fire had begun at the back of the shed. It provided a reminder of the upcoming grass fire season.

Inflation Strikes
It looked to motorists as if galloping inflation had arrived in New Iberia, La., recently. Police mailed out notices saying parking fines were raised from 25 cents to $1.00. It was a typographical error. The notices should have said $1.00.

IT'S A FACT...
NATURAL GAS PLAYS A MAJOR ROLE IN THE JET AGE.
JET PLANES EXPEL THEIR EXTREMELY HOT EXHAUST THROUGH METAL TUBES OFTEN HARDENED BY GAS HEAT AND COATED WITH CERAMIC FINISHES IN GAS OVENS.
GAS ALSO HELPS TOUGHEN OTHER METAL PARTS SO PLANES MAY BE BUILT LARGER AND STRONGER, CAPABLE OF FLYING HIGHER, FASTER AND FARTHER.

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO
 --Selection of Alex M. Nelson, 50, superintendent of schools in Menominee, to succeed Northville Superintendent Russell H. Amerman when the latter retires this June was announced by the Northville board of education. Amerman has been superintendent for 32 years and associated with the system 38 years. Nelson, one of 18 applicants, has served in Menominee four years and previously for six years in Richmond, six years in Hesperia and two years in Hersey. He received his bachelor degree in industrial arts from Eastern Michigan University and his master's degree in education administration from University of Michigan and has completed all but a few hours on his doctorate at the university.

--Mrs. George Romney, in a fashion-conscious bright pink suit, urged Northville Republican women to "become informed, become involved" as she spoke here in a program to help return Farrell Roberts to the state senate.

--A repair program covering 30 streets in Northville was presented to the city council at an estimated cost of $88,000.

--When harness racing makes its earliest Michigan start March 26, a $100,000 infra-red heating system now being installed in the downs will radiate heat downward through the stands. For the first time in its 22-year history the downs is running a split season.

FIVE YEARS AGO
 --A series of personnel changes approved by Northville board of education will promote E. V. Ellison, high school principal, to the newly created post of director of administrative services; Frederick Stefanski, now assistant principal, will become high school principal; LaGene Quay, science teacher, will be high school assistant principal; and Donald Vaningen will become junior high principal. Harry Smith, presently acting as principal of both the junior high and Main Street elementary, will retain principalship of the elementary.

--Northville ranked second among 22 western Wayne county communities in a recent campaign fund returns as collections show a contribution of $664.

--Maybury sanatorium reached a milestone last Thursday as a 10-month old child was admitted as the 25,000 patient since the sanatorium's opening in December, 1921.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
 --Alice Newton and John Rackov have been valedictorian and salutatorian respectively, of the Northville high school senior class.

--Many villagers viewed the bird house exhibit in the grade school lunchroom Monday following a bird house contest sponsored by the Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association. Mrs. Orson Atchinson was project chairman.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
 --Announcement was made from the Michigan State Fair offices in Detroit that A. E. Fuller of Northville again has been named superintendent of the poultry, pigeon, calves and tropical fish department.

--Northville lost a prominent citizen in the death March 10 of Willard D. Stark.

Tuesday, March 1, 1966. Present: Marguerite Young, Acting Chairman; Alex Lawrence; Wilson Tyler; James Tellam. Absent: R. D. Merriam, Supervisor.

The Building Inspector's report for February was accepted. Planning Commission minutes of February 22, 1966 and Appeal Board minutes of February 23, 1966 were accepted as written.

Mr. Moshier outlined to the residents the problem involved on Northville Road. The sewage problem had been brought to the attention of the Wayne County Board of Health some time ago.

Mr. Severance, representing June and Dorothy King asked what the total cost to them would be. They were told their cost would be $3,210.20 plus the $400.00 tap-in fee.

Curtain Falls on Cagers In Double Overtime Loss

The Northville Mustangs' were edged out of state tournament play last Thursday, but they could hold their heads high. They had just battled Holt right down to the wire before losing, 78-70, in double overtime in the semi-finals of the Regionals at Howell.

Far from a disgrace, this loss was a victory, for as Coach Dave Longridge put it, "we gave it all we had." That was quite a bit.

Holt went on to win the regional title, downing Holly in the finals. Three times the local cagers fought back against a good Holt five, but victory slipped out of their grasp as three cagers, who are kingpins in the attack, sat on the bench with five fouls.

Trailing 54-43 in the fourth quarter, Northville scrapped for its life to finally tie the game, 62-62, at the end of regulation play on a dog shot by Center Jerry Inmsland.

Northville had a chance to win the game. With 18 seconds left and the ball in its possession, Northville took time out to map out a play. But Holt pressed Northville's guards out court to kill the clock and hold the Mustangs without a shot.

In the first overtime, Holt took a four point lead at 66-62. Still Northville did not give up, even though Guard Joe Andrews, who was the main cog in Northville's plan to beat the zone press, fouled out with 41 seconds remaining. He followed Inmsland to the bench.

Guard Jim Jameson hit a jumper from 20 feet out to close the margin to two points. Holt cashed in on two free throws to once again assume a four point lead, and only 27 seconds remained on the clock.

Nelson Hyatt hooked right in the pivot to score, bringing the crowd to its feet as Northville trailed, 68-66. Amid screams, Holt then traveled with the ball to give Northville its golden opportunity. Forward Jim Zayti got the rebound on Jameson's missed shot and putting it in the basket as time ran out.

Weary, and playing without its big men under the backboards, Northville finally wavered. Holt, its big men still in the game, put this one safely away by scoring 10 points to Northville's two in the second overtime.

Overtime was nothing unusual to Holt. It won its first game of the regional tournament at Howell by dumping favored Portland in overtime, then toppled Northville and Holly, both in double overtime to earn a berth in the quarterfinals opposite perennial Class B power, River Rouge.

Sting though the defeat did, it was nothing like last year's humiliating, 79-50, loss suffered at the hands of Holt in the regionals. In fact, this year's contest had all the earmarks of a battle royal from the beginning.

In what many considered its finest quarter this year, Northville jumped to a 20-15 lead. On the boards the Mustangs were undeniable as they grabbed 16 caroms to Holt's six. And the Mustangs hit their first three shots from the field to gain a quick lead.

Under pressure of an all-court press, however, Northville began to make mistakes that eventually changed the complexion of the game, and Holt got tougher on the boards to quickly pull even at 20-20.

Both teams fought fiercely for the lead, with Holt getting the edge, thanks to its hotter shooting hands. At halftime, Holt tallied seven straight points at the outset of the third period as the Mustangs cooled off. After some ragged basketball plagued both teams for two minutes, Evans broke Northville's scoreless spell by converting two free throws to cut the margin to 38-31.

A three-point play and a score after an interception gave Holt a 43-31 advantage, and it looked like Northville was wilting. But Inmsland brought the local forces to life, scoring three buckets in a row, and coupled with baskets each by Jameson and Hyatt, and two free throws by Evans, Northville stayed close, 49-43, at the end of the third period.

Holt surged ahead once more, assuming a 54-43 lead, until Northville suddenly caught fire to score 12 points in a row within two and one-half minutes. Northville led, 55-54.

A Holt free throw knotted the score. Evans put Northville out front 57-55, but Holt edged back in front on a free throw and two baskets, 60-57.

Fighting desperately with only 1:20 remaining, Zayti stole a pass and went half floor to score and bring Northville within a point of the lead. Holt connected on two free throws for a 62-59 lead.

Jameson, fouled, converted a free throw, and Holt traveled after the shot to give the ball to Northville. A high arching pass found Inmsland's hands under the basket, and the big center leaped back and scored to tie the game at 62-62.

Inmsland missed the free throw, but Jim Peterson pulled off the rebound to set up Northville's final desperate try for a basket in the final 18 seconds. It failed to materialize.

Longridge praised his players. "Evans and Jameson played their best games of the year," he said. Jameson teamed up with Andrews to beat Holt's all-court press, and Jameson scored 14 points, and he was Northville's big man on the boards as Inmsland sat on the bench through much of the third period with four fouls.

Inmsland, as he has all season long, led the local scoring with 21 points, followed closely by Zayti, who scored 17.

Holt, too, had well-balanced scoring. It was paced by Forward Pat Brown, a chubby six footer who scored a game high of 29 points, time and again coming through with the big basket. "He was deceptive," Longridge noted. Back of him came Guards Ed Welsh with 17 and Lynn Reid with 14. Center Rick Van Houten had 13.

Vital factor in the contest was Northville's loss of its big men, Inmsland and Evans, who sat out the second overtime. Holt's big man, 6'3" Van Houten, though he played almost a half with four fouls, hung in there to give Holt a decided height advantage in the late going.

Northville outrebounded Holt, 54-53.

It's Full Evening For School Board

The Northville board of education waded through a full agenda of business Monday night and still found time to answer a few questions from citizens in the audience.

A survey of a 10-acre site on the east side of Taft road just north of Eight Mile selected for the junior high school was submitted by Wynn Wakenhut, surveyor. He pointed out that there were "gaps" in the survey and that it did not agree with a Thompson-Brown company survey, but that there was no conflict harmful to the school.

School Attorney James Littell pointed out, however, that the survey by the land development firm had been cleared by the title insurance company and that sale of the Taft land to Thompson-Brown was near. He proposed that the surveyors correct their differences before the school district acquires its acreage from the developer.

The board then interviewed the Sutherland and Robson accounting firm of Plymouth but delayed selection of a new firm until another scheduled interview is completed. Administrative Assistant E. V. Ellison noted that no audit had been taken since last June and that at present the system has no auditor employed. "We need advice and help now", he stated.

Assistant Superintendent Ray Spear reported success with six coffee sessions with interested parents and stated that a "good feeling exists in the groups" where information had been given on upgrading and upgrading.

Dr. Sheldon McElroy, a resident of Edenderry subdivision, asked the board "If this system is going to be upgraded?"

Board Secretary Donald Lawrence replied that he could only answer from a position of his own personal opinion. "We feel that we are undertaking an upgrading that creates a little distinction between the slow and fast learner as possible from a marking standpoint". He said it wouldn't endanger the system and that personally, he prefers grades in the high school.

Dr. McElroy referred to a letter published in The Record signed "parent-teacher" which indicated that universities were turning more to testing rather than marks for admission. He said he had made a personal survey of area universities which indicated this wasn't true. He also said a Wayne university source had told him not to enter his youngster in a non-graded high school, but to stay in a conventional school.

Board President W. C. Becker said that the letter-writer had indicated that universities are relying more on test scores recorded in high school as a basis for entrance.

E. O. Weber explained that the board had "entertained the concept" of the ungraded and that it will be tried at the elementary level, but "we're not committed." Eugene Cook also pointed out that "ungraded" doesn't mean "no A, B, C's", but rather "fourth, fifth, sixth grades".

Spear noted that there is no plan to make a major change in the high school, "and if there were we'd do nothing to jeopardize the academic record".

William Rosing, Seven Mile road, noted that the new elementary school was being especially designed for "upgrading" and wondered if the junior high school was also being designed for a new concept. Superintendent Alex Nelson said the design would permit a "flexible curriculum" that would lend itself to the "individualized approach".

Spear emphasized that "when we say UP-grading, we're not trying to hide NON-grading".

The board accepted recommendations by Spear on a new system for driver education. Driving classes will be held in the summer with classroom study on Saturday mornings prior to summer vacation. Spear noted 11 requests for teaching driver education from teachers seeking additional income.

His plan calls for six drivers including a director to be paid $300 in addition to the $850 fee. Three other teachers would be used for classroom work. It was also recommended that rotation of driver teachers be considered to provide more opportunity for others to participate.

The board heard a report from Milton Jacobi on progress of a federally-financed program for teaching culturally disadvantaged.

A contract was approved for Mrs. Gayle Fountain of Wayne to teach at the early elementary level next year. Mrs. Fountain received her degree from Eastern Michigan university.

A leave of absence was also granted Charles D. Yahne, high school Spanish teacher for more than 25 years.

CITIZEN OF THE YEAR—It was a year late in coming, but Russell Amerman finally received his citizenship award from the American Legion last Saturday evening. Amerman, former superintendent of Northville's public school system, was slated to receive the annual award from the Lloyd H. Green post last year. But Mr. and Mrs. Amerman were enjoying their retirement gift, a trip through Europe. So Saturday night at the Legion post's 47th birthday party, Harold Penn presented the award to Amerman for his outstanding contributions to the community.

Girl Scout News Notes

Spring vacation travel and camping plans are being made by Northville-area Girl Scouts.

Sue and Sally Schlief, and Ellen and Betty Klein will travel to Mexico during Easter vacation to visit the Girl Scout center at Cuernavaca, Morelos, Mexico, located 40 miles from Mexico City.

The girls are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William Schlief, West Six Mile road, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Klein of Fermanagh court. They will be part of Troop 1497, Girl Scouts of Metropolitan Detroit, who have been working toward this experience for three years.

Leaving Detroit April 1, they will spend four days in Mexico City where they will view the famous Folklorico ballet and a bullfight. Five days of planned activities will include side trips to Taxco and Tepostlan, an arts-and-crafts program in which they will learn to make tortillas and a pinata, and folk songs and dances.

During two days at Acapulco they will see the famous diving boys and enjoy a glass-bottomed boat ride on the bay.

Arrangements have been made for the Girl Scouts to be housed in a Mexican pension in Mexico City. The 13 Senior Scouts will be accompanied by Mrs. Klein and Mrs. Virginia Chisnell of Troy.

Sue Schlief of Senior Girl Scout Troop 222 will attend a Girl Scout conference in Wisconsin March 25-26 as a delegate of District One.

Senior Girl Scout Troop 222 will hold a rummage sale at the American Legion building this Saturday. Proceeds will go toward a troop trip the troop plans to take this summer through the New England States.

Junior Girl Scout Troops 361 and 234 will tour the Velvet Peanut Butter company April 4.

An overnight camping trip to Hilltop lodge in Ann Arbor is planned by Troop 361, which has 23 girls, for April 5 and 6.

Girl Scout Troop 371 attended a senior planning board one-day conference for Cadettes on "Wide Roads in Senior Scouting" in Ann Arbor February 26. Panel members shared personal experiences. Round-up films were shown. Cookies and punch were served by panel members after the program.

In Plymouth. A social security representative was to attend a special meeting at 2 p.m. Wednesday to answer questions and sign up applicants who brought proof of age.

Mrs. Dauenhauer cited Charles

Woodward, a Northville senior citizen, and his son for their volunteer assistance. She said the Northville Alert was a success due to their efforts and those of the junior chamber of commerce and its auxiliary.

News Around Northville

Pastor Robert Spradling
First Baptist Church of Northville

The story of Moses is one of the most familiar in the Bible. He was educated in the court of Pharaoh who at that time was probably Rameses II. Since Moses was the adopted son of Pharaoh's daughter and since tradition says she had no other sons, Moses was probably heir apparent to the throne. This involved a great deal of wealth and power, and Moses stood in line to receive it. In Hebrews 11:24, 25, the Bible states that Moses made a decision. He renounced his rights to the Egyptian throne to identify himself with a slave nation. This decision was not simple to make. However, Moses was motivated by religious conviction rather than political convenience. One might ask, "Was it worthwhile? Was it a wise choice?" Let this writer suggest a simple experiment to answer these questions. Next Lord's day, make your way to either the Primary or Junior Department of your Sunday School. Select a pupil who attends class with some degree of regularity, and ask him to identify Rameses II of Egypt.

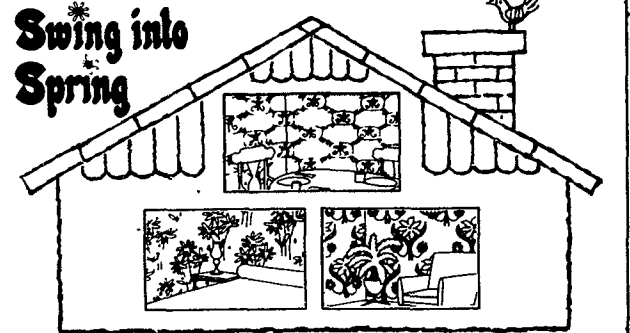

Undoubtedly, you will receive a look of bewilderment, for most of these have never heard of such a person! Then ask that same pupil to identify Moses. Rare will be the situation in which the student cannot relate the story in detail about little baby Moses and his rise to leadership over the nation of Israel.

The decision Moses made to serve the Lord regardless of the cost, determined his destiny. This decision made him one of the outstanding leaders of human history. There is no neutral ground in serving Christ. Men are either for or against Him. Jesus Himself said: "He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathereth not with me scattereth abroad." Matthew 12:30. Men today, like Moses of old, must decide whether they will receive or reject Christ. Where one will spend eternity depends upon this decision.

Rev. Hall Accepts New Call

Rev. R.T. Hall, pastor of the First Baptist church of South Lyon for the past three years, has accepted a call to the Winston-Salem, North Carolina area, he has announced to his congregation of about 400 here.

The move, anticipated to be made about four weeks hence, will be back to a church he formerly pastored about 13 years ago. Near the campus of Wake Forest college in one of the fastest growing areas of that state, it will also be a return to his hometown area.

Hall said it represents an opportunity to further his own education in pastoral counseling through the department of pastoral care in the Winston-Salem Baptist hospital.

"I consider it one of the greatest compliments of my ministry to have a unanimous call to come back," he stated.

Hall succeeded the Rev. Marion Sherrill in the pulpit here, since which time a mission in Brighton has been incorporated as a new church with a membership of 65 and a mission has been added in Milford with a membership of 30. The local church has a membership of 305.

Well-known as the restaurant table churchman, Rev. Hall said he feels the contacts made over a cup of coffee, with people of all denominations, have been as rewarding to him as he wanted them to be to those people.

"This has been the happiest church I have ever been in. My relationship with all people of the community and the various public agencies has been a gratifying experience," he said.

"Spiritual growth of the church has been tremendous. My own spiritual growth since I've been here has been the greater. I have gained more than I've been able to give."

During his tenure here, Hall has served on the state association of Baptist churches and has served as a member of the missions committee of Michigan Southern Baptists.

WHAT DOES HE SEE?

What a birthday present! Young Dan can see all sorts of things with that telescope that are invisible to the naked eye. The sky, with its stars and its moon, seems so much closer.

Yet, there is still so much that remains unseen. The best instruments man can make are insignificant when measured against the scope and depth of God's universe.

That's where faith comes in. We know that there are other galaxies that can't be seen through even the most powerful of telescopes. And we know, too, that faith, though invisible, is the greatest power of all.

If faith is something that doesn't quite come across to you, the Church is the best place in the world to help you solve its mystery. If faith is already yours—what better way is there to reaffirm it than by going to church this Sunday?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Rev. Sheppard Ordained

In a special service at Calvary Baptist church in Plymouth on Sunday evening, February 27, Calvin Sheppard, Jr. was ordained in the Christian ministry. Following the service a fellowship hour was held in the church basement. The Sheppards have two children, Kevin and Kimberly, who spent the week-end of the ordination visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Sheppard, Sr. of Liberty street.

The Rev. Sheppard was graduated from the Grand Rapids School of Bible and Music in 1962. He and his wife, the former Janice Walton of Grand Junction, Colorado, remained in Grand Rapids for another year while she completed her schooling at the same college. Since that time, both the Rev. Sheppard and his wife have been on the staff at Camp Barakel near Fairview. The Rev. Holman Johnson, director of the camp, and several staff members attended the ordination service.

The senior Sheppards held open house on Sunday afternoon, February 27, honoring their son on his acceptance into the Christian ministry.

Money Need Hikes Interest

BABSON PARK, Mass.—Everybody knows that bankers deal in money. The price they get for their money is called interest. When demand for money is high and its availability is low, interest rates go up.
