

Final Report From Citizens

Editor's Note - This is the final of a series of articles on the Northville school millage vote, which will be held next Monday, May 9th. The articles have been prepared by the Northville schools citizen millage committee.

The Northville school millage vote on May 9 will ask citizens of the community for 18 mills of tax. Ten mills of this amount is merely a continuation of millage voted 10 years ago. The eight mill increase is the first operating millage increase asked in 10 years. Northville is one of very few communities in the metropolitan area that has not had at least one increase during that ten year period.

The prior three articles in this series have attempted to explain the need for the millage in some detail. The two most recent articles outlined budget needs and compared costs among districts.

Northville schools have solicited inquiry at the board of education offices of any questions relative to the tax vote. You are again invited and urged to ask any questions at the board offices. In addition, the citizen committee, recently organized, had been making efforts to make sure no voter lacks information.

And, although Northville voters have never turned down a millage request by the schools, there is a strong feeling persistent in the community that this vote will fail.

Protest Vote Unwarranted

This feeling seems to result from problems that ought to be unrelated to the needs for a continuing, adequate educational program for our children.

First, heated discussions over experimental educational programs have fogged the need for money to run the system. Second, criticism of the school board has tended to give rise to a feeling that one way to get even with the board is to vote down the millage needs.

Third, the administration of the schools has also caught its share of criticism. This is compounded by rumors, which include one that avers there is widespread dissatisfaction among the teaching staff.

Your citizen committee suggests that all of this is irrelevant to the simple fact that the schools need funds no matter what program is in effect.

About a month following the millage vote, you will have a chance to vote on school board candidates. It is at this election that the voter should attempt to correct any problems that exist on the board, within the administration or with the educational program.

There is no blinking the fact that Northville's schools need money, and it would be a mistake to cut off funds needed to educate our children, because of some peeve unrelated to the need for money.

Your child is only in the second grade once, for example, and if his education is shortchanged at that point, it makes no difference that sometime later the problem of too few funds is corrected. The damage is done to him.

We should not make the mistake of making our children pay for problems that reasonable adults ought to be able to solve. No budget is absolutely perfect, but the increase proposed for Northville is clearly needed if our schools are to provide an adequate education for our children in this competitive space age.

Don't Forget to Vote

Finally, a word about the election itself. All voting will take place from 7 a.m. - 8 p.m. Monday, May 9th at the Community Building. The building is next to Northville's City Hall. Every registered voter in the school district can vote.

Anyone who needs a ride to the polls can call Mrs. Eugene A. Reynders at FI 9-0072 and transportation will be provided. In addition, baby sitters will be provided by the Future Teachers Club from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. on election day. These can be arranged for by also calling Mrs. Reynders at FI 9-0072.

It is every registered voters duty to vote. And, as pointed out in the first article, the Constitution of the State of Michigan imposes on all of us another duty. In Article 11, Section one, it has said, "Schools and the Means of Education Shall Forever Be Encouraged....."

Big Vote Expected Monday On School Millage Request

A heavy vote is anticipated in the Northville school district special election Monday as capacity attendance at recent school board meetings and letters to the editor indicate interest is running high. A citizens' millage committee and the Northville PTAs have been conducting a get-out-and-vote campaign for the millage.

All registered voters in the school district, regardless of whether they are property owners, may vote in Monday's election for increased operating millage for the schools. Voters will be asked to vote on a single proposal to renew the existing 10 mills, now expiring, and an added 8 mills.

Voting will be at only one location, the lobby of the junior high boys' gymnasium

(the former community building on Main street). Both city and township voters will vote here. Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

Absentee ballots now are available at the Northville board of education offices on Wing street.

The special millage election was set by the board to renew the 10 mills operating funds now expiring after 10 years and to obtain additional operating millage for the new elementary school now under construction on Eight Mile road as well as for improved educational requirements.

Total school millage now is 25.9 mills. If the 8 additional mills are voted and the 10 renewed Monday, it will bring the district's total millage to 33.9.

Study Calls for Township Police Contract With City Urged

Study Calls for Township Police Contract With City Urged

A 19-page report calling for additional police protection was submitted to the Northville township board Tuesday night by the special seven-member citizens' committee established last fall.

The committee was named by the board in September to "determine the short range and long range Northville township police protection needs."

Submitted by Eugene Guido, chairman of the committee, the report recommends:

1. Additional police protection.
2. Protection consisting of one car with one patrolman during daylight hours and two patrolmen at night on a 24-hour per day, seven day a week basis.

3. Service provided by the Northville police department on a contractual basis.

4. A joint city-township study to determine feasibility of joint city-township police protection and eventual combination of police and fire departments for the two communities.

5. Township request for matching funds from the state legislature to defray the cost of police protection necessitated to a great extent by township institutions.

In recommending protection by the city police department, the committee said a separate township police force was not economically feasible because of the large investment required for facilities and equipment and because of the fixed cost associated with administration, supervision and a base for communication.

The committee estimated that the police protection it recommends possible could mean a tax increase of up to $20 per year for the average homeowner, unless some state financial support was secured.

The committee also asked for board consideration of alternate proposals calling for either the incorporation of the township as a city or for the amendment of statutes to permit the township to operate its own police force

★ ★ ★ Communities Eye Joint Study

Five area communities agreed last week Wednesday to continue studies considering joint garbage disposal and police protection. Representatives from Northville township, Northville city, Plymouth township, Plymouth city and Canton township attended the meeting at the Thunderbird Inn under the sponsorship of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

Following a review of the studies by Northville and Plymouth townships, the representatives agreed to seek authorization from their respective communities to continue these studies.

financed in part by the retention of all traffic fines.

All recommendations were based upon the committee's findings which show a need for more police protection than now provided by the Wayne county sheriff's department.

Data supplied to the committee by the Northville police department, the report states, shows 187 complaints processed in 1961 as compared with 756 complaints in 1965, an increase of 304 per cent.

Calls to the sheriff's department nearly doubled in the past two years, the committee found, and in 1965 state police reported Northville township calls for service were in excess of 40 requests per month.

The findings also show that the number of "escapes" from township-based institutions "is already a substantial figure and appears to be increasing."

"These increases in crime and requests for police service," the committee concluded, "far outstrip the population growth of the township over corresponding periods. In addition to requests for service, there is a very evident need for greater traffic control in the township to control speeding traffic during the day and to curb "hotrodding" activities during the evening hours."

The study committee explored several possible means of solving the problem, including the establishment of a township police force, a dual contractual relationship with the sheriff's patrol and the city of Northville, establishment of a constable system, and a joint police force with Northville or other neighboring law enforcement agencies.

Concerning the latter, the committee said it met with the Northville city council, which reportedly evidenced receptivity to the proposal.

Members of the committee selected by the board to make the study were: Richard Endress, 19550 Clement; H. O. Evans, 20311 Woodhill; Guido, 20390 Westview; F. W. Hembrey, 9300 Napier road; Hugh McKay, 45924 Seven Mile; E. O. Weber, 20360 Woodhill; and Mrs. Carl Wilson, Six Mile road.

Stefanski Resigns

Replacements Sought For High School Posts

The resignation of Frederick Stefanski, principal of Northville high school, was presented to the board of education Monday night.

It follows by one week the resignation of the high school assistant principal, Eugene Quay.

While Quay announced that he had accepted the principalship of Sparta high school, Stefanski did not divulge his new post. He indicated that he had accepted a position at another institution and would continue to reside in Northville.

The loss of high school administrators prompted the board of education to call a special meeting to begin a search for successors. It was indicated that an assistant principal will be sought first, probably coming from within the system and possibly to be hired at next Monday's board meeting.

Stefanski came to Northville in 1953 as a science and math teacher. He became assistant high school principal in 1954 and took over as principal in 1961.

He received his BA and MA degrees from Eastern Michigan University and has 30 hours of study towards an education specialist's degree in secondary education at the University of Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Stefanski reside at 840 Carpenter and have a daughter, Karen, in the 10th grade.

The high school principal submitted the following letter to the Record this week:

I would like to take this opportunity to pay tribute to those I have worked with during my tenure at Northville high school. The teaching staff at the high school took a green principal and with patience and good thought aided me in my development. Their cooperation and advice has been of immeasurable value in whatever success I have had.

The student body has been most cooperative, a source of pleasure, and an inspiration. A better group of students no principal could ask for.

I would like to thank: The administrative staff who has been so patient with me.

Mr. Ellison who took me out of the classroom and so wisely and patiently coached and corrected me through the years. His advice is much needed and sought for to this day.

Dr. MacLeod who gave of his vast experience so wisely.

Mr. Amerman who was so adept at giving encouragement in times of depression, whose wise counsel will have an ever-lasting effect.

Mr. Quay whose able assistance has made my job so much easier. He provided wise counsel, a shoulder for my frustrations in time of crisis, words of encouragement when needed and a sympathetic sounding board for new ideas.

The Board of Education for their support and faith.

There are so many people I could cite further, Al Jones, Dick Kay, Harry Smith, Don Van Ingen. Northville has given me much. I hope in return I have been at least some value to Northville.

Downs Awaits Settlement

While Northville Downs must reach its own agreement with clerks and horsemen, Executive Manager John Carlo is highly optimistic this week that the local harness track will open on schedule for its 35-night meet June 27.

Settlements were reached this week at Wolverine Harness Raceway so that the Livonia track could open last night after losing eight nights of its 54-night meet.

Northville lost all 25 nights of its spring meet because of failure to reach accord with the striking mutual clerks and horsemen. According to Carlo, meetings will probably be held in the near future to sign Northville contracts.

At Wolverine the horsemen settled for a purse percentage that ranges from 39 to 43 per cent based on the nightly average handle. The percentage stands at 39 per cent up to $250,000 and then increases to a maximum of 43 per cent for an average handle of more than $450,000.

Northville Downs paid a straight 38 per cent last year. Mutual clerks settled for a $5 package over a four-year period. A $1.50 raise for 1965 and $1.00 per night for 1966 and $1.25 for 1967 and 1968 was granted.

Daniel Wright Pattison Takes Holland Bride

In a recent candlelight ceremony, Mary Jeanne Buys, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Buys, Holland, Michigan, and Daniel Wright Pattison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman K. Pattison of Valencia road, Northville, were united in marriage in an evening wedding in Hope Reformed Church in Holland. The Reverend William Hillegonds, former pastor of Hope Church, performed the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with arrangements of pale green fuji mums, pink carnations and white-dipped scotch broom.

For her wedding the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, selected a long-sleeved white bell-shaped gown of bridal taffeta. Re-embroidered Alencon lace medallions extended down the front panel and at the back waistline, from which fell a fanshaped scalloped train of taffeta. Her double-tiered veil of imported illusion was held in place by a tiered crown of crystals, touched with pearls. She carried a white Bible topped by one long-stemmed Yuletide rose. Completing her bridal ensemble was a diamond pendant, a gift of the bridegroom.

Carol Jipping, a roommate of the bride, accompanied Mrs. Zerald Eaton of Inkster, who sang. Carol Underhill, of Holland, as maid of honor, wore a floor-length gown of pink peau de soie with a chiffon overskirt falling from an empire waistline. She had a matching capette with bouffant veil. Mary Rosaline Durfee of Lansing, also a roommate of the bride, was identically gowned. The bride's attendants carried nosegays of pink sweetheart roses, feathered fuji mums and white carnations.

Jean Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Holland of Mt. Pleasant, was similarly dressed and carried a white basket of pink sweetheart roses. Jerry Buys, the bride's nephew, carried the rings on a red velvet pillow.

The bride's mother wore a Chinese rose slimline skirted gown with matching shoes, a pale pink tulle hat and accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a frosted-mint green crepe gown and matching accessories. Both mothers wore cymbidium orchid corsages.

Thomas Morrison, a graduate of Northville High School with the bridegroom was best man. Also standing up with the groom was James F. Buys, of Lima, Ohio, brother of the bride. Ushers were Phi Kappa Tau fraternity brothers of the bridegroom—John Wilt, Grand Rapids, Jeffrey Rivard, West Branch, George Macklin, Grand Rapids, and David Michaels, Saginaw.

Masters and mistresses of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Jones of Holland and Mr. and Mrs. H. Grant Pratt, Jr., of Trenton, aunt and uncle of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Sandrock presided at the punchbowls. Approximately 350 guests attended the reception at the Woman's Literary Club. Out of town guests attended from Northville, Plymouth, Detroit, Florida, Mt. Pleasant, Grand Rapids, Dearborn, Inkster and Oak Park. The bride's going away outfit was a parfait pink three-piece ensemble with a flowered hat of deeper shades of cerise which matched her bag and shoes. Her corsage was of stephanotis and one pink sweetheart rose surrounded by pearl hearts.

The bride attended Central Michigan university and is now a student at Mercy Central School of Nursing in Grand Rapids, and will graduate in December and complete studies for her college degree next June at Central Michigan university.

The bridegroom will complete his studies at Central Michigan university in June. He is presently practicing teaching in Grand Rapids where the Pattisons will make their home.

The bridegroom's parents entertained 28 guests at Point West, prior to the wedding rehearsal and their out-of-town guests at a breakfast, the day following the wedding.

In Our Town

By Jean Day

IT'S GREEN-UP TIME IN MAY -- time to honor Mother, to "sprout" garden club activities and to win-up marathon bridge play. In fact, the whole month's calendar is filled with special events.

Mother's Club marathon bridge play-offs will be May 11 for daytime groups and May 13 for evening groups. Mrs. Harold Wright, marathon chairman, announced that the six evening groups (each composed of 10 couples) who have been playing each other during the past season will gather at 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 13, in the junior high boys' gymnasium for the final session. All prior games should be played by this date with those unable to meet that evening to play the May game in advance so that scores may be tallied.

The 40 members in the daytime groups are to meet at 12:30 p.m. next Wednesday for play-offs at the new home of Mrs. Blake Couse at 18240 Laraugh. Having just moved in eight weeks ago, Mrs. Couse says that all is not in order -- but those attending must be delighted to have an opportunity to see the Couses' Greek Revival home in the woods of Edenderry subdivision. Each detail received study and attention from the owners who strove to make it a truly authentic representation -- and a fitting background for the antiques they have been collecting ever since they were married.

BASELINE CHAPTER of Questers, Northville's antique-appreciating group, has re-elected Mrs. Leonard Klein president. Other officers for the group's second year are Mrs. Charles Brosius, first vice-president; Mrs. William B. Crump, second vice-president; Mrs. Thomas Lovett, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Bredt, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Paul Beard, treasurer; Mrs. Arthur Basel, publicity; and Mrs. Robert Froelich, historian and librarian.

Two-hundred year old tiles handed down from a Dutch ancestor of Mrs. Froelich's were displayed at last week's meeting at the home of Mrs. Crump as the group studied delft. A field trip is planned for this month's meeting May 23 when members will explore the area near Troy Corners.

A MOTHER-DAUGHTER breakfast at Our Lady of Victory church following 8 a.m. mass Sunday will continue a custom renewed last year for Mother's Day. It again will be hosted by the parish men's club with Ted Marzonia as chairman. He reports tickets are "going fast." Each mother will be presented with a carnation corsage on Her Day.

CALENDAR ALSO this month the annual card party of the Northville State hospital auxiliary which begins with dessert at 12:30 p.m. next Tuesday in the Terrace room of the OT building. The old-fashioned kitchen theme of the pantry sale will be carried out with red-and-white check tablecloths. Tickets still may be obtained from Mrs. Herbert Weston, 349-9714 ... Circle Thursday, May 12, for the King's Daughters luncheon and bazaar at the First Methodist church ... Mark May 17 for the meeting of the Northville Historical society ... and save May 20 for the PTA Carnival which again this year will include a family-style spaghetti dinner -- all you can eat -- and a Clown Town midway.

NORTHVILLE BRANCH of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association will hold its annual meeting Monday, beginning at 12:30 p.m. with tea at the home of Mrs. William B. Walker, 39900 East Eight Mile road. Social committee members assisting the hostess are Mrs. Frank Whitmyer, Mrs. Lee Eaton, Mrs. Gene Cushing and Mrs. Eugene Konrad.

FASHIONS, FLOWERS AND FOOD will be a fall project of the Northville garden club, and this club "first" promises to be a success as tickets, limited to 400, already are hard to get -- and the luncheon, fashion show and flower display isn't until September 10.

Mary Ware, general chairman, bubbles about the multi-attraction event and reports that all available tickets are in the hands of members now. It is to be a sit-down luncheon at the junior high boys' gymnasium with fashions by Hutzel's of Ann Arbor with evening wear accessorized by furs from Marchande Furs of Ann Arbor. This is the shop opened this month on downtown Ann Arbor's Main street by Northville's Sonia Clark.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length gown of white peau de soie for the candlelight ceremony. Her gown was fashioned on a modified A-line. A petal headpiece held her shoulder-length veil of illusion. The Reverend Robert Hampton officiated at the altar which was decorated with flowers and candles.

Dana Rowland, the bride's sister, was maid of honor in a two-piece sleeveless suit of fern green with matching accessories. The bride and honor maid carried cascading arrangements of carnations and ferns with the bride's all-white bouquet centered with a white orchid. The maid of honor's arrangement was a pale pink contrast to her gown. Best man was her fiance, Glen Paul Whitaker of Lubbock, Texas. Gary Heath and Terry Cruce of Plymouth ushered. Melvin Sims' choral group presented wedding music.

The bride's mother wore a coral silk shantung dress with matching hat and bone accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a three-piece turquoise silk suit with matching accessories. A reception was held in the fellowship hall at the church with 150 guests attending from Plymouth, Northville, Brooklyn, Hastings, Manchester, Rochester, Utica, Warren, Dearborn, Lansing, Garden City, Troy and Detroit. Both the bride and her husband attended Schoolcraft college where the bride is employed as a secretary. The bridegroom is employed by Stahl Manufacturing in Plymouth.

Accompanying him was Robert Sharrar, 4113 Greenbrook Lane, Plymouth, chemistry and physics instructor at Northville High. James Kamego, manager here for Michigan Bell Telephone Company, said the two were among some 50 students and faculty members from schools throughout the country who visited the Laboratories.

Their visit sponsored by Michigan Bell, the Northville guests were to watch and question scientists at work in their laboratories, and hear discussions on contemporary subjects such as electronic switching systems, speech production by man and machine, and crystals and their use in lasers.

The talks and demonstrations presented to the guests were designed to show the kind of research which is done at the Bell Laboratories and to indicate that the frontiers of science are infinite in number with more and more knowledge gained every day.

"For many a budding scientist, and brilliant student balancing on the choice of a profession, an inspection of the 'world's' greatest industrial laboratory may be helpful in forming his future," Kamego said.

One of the high points of the tour, according to Kamego, takes place when students and faculty members divide for discussion periods into four special interest groups according to the students' major areas of academic interest - chemistry, physics, electronics, mathematics.

These special interest groups then visit the various laboratory areas where the research they're interested in is being performed, and talk to the scientists and technicians actually doing it.

Kaake, a member of the Northville high track team, plans to enter college in the fall to major in electronics.

Sharrar, the instructor, holds an MS in chemistry from the University of Michigan, with a minor in physics. He is a member of the National Science Teachers Association.

Absent are Dianne and Rick Rosetto, Mike and Carol Craddock and Joe French.

Jon Kaake, 46234 Fomer Court, Northville, honor student at Northville high school, observed technology in action in a two-day tour of the Bell Telephone Laboratories at Murray Hill, N. J., April 18-19.

James Kamego, manager here for Michigan Bell Telephone Company, said the two were among some 50 students and faculty members from schools throughout the country who visited the Laboratories.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Writing this pre-millage election column should be a snap, I've had plenty of advice.

But I've reached a conclusion that tarnishes my ego just a bit.

The die has been cast on Monday's election and no matter what is said here or in the several letters appearing on this page, the voter has already decided which lever he'll pull on Monday.

Interest and feelings are running high throughout the Northville system and the voter who treks to the polls will do so with determination and purpose. Few "casual" votes will be cast merely in the name of civic duty.

Monday's voter will either register a protest against an unrest that has made this the most turbulent year in the history of the local school system, or he will give the school board what is needed to provide a good education for the district's children.

The voter with a mind unclouded by the many issues involved is to be envied. He should not seek advice from those whose judgment is torn by the system's internal problems.

Look at the proposal on the ballot. Weigh its reasonableness, and vote on the issue at hand.

At this point it must be concluded that the $282,900 requested for additional operating funds has been adequately justified.

To operate a program of education along the lines that citizen study committees have recommended for Northville the money requested must be provided.

Based on this fact alone, I'll vote "YES" Monday.

Even if the millage proposal should win approval Monday, it must still be maintained that money alone is not the answer to the problems of our school system.

The internal strife is still there and the rumors remain to impede progress. Questions from the audience at Monday night's board meeting, as well as the letters on this page, attest to this fact.

In my opinion the biggest single reason for the turmoil is a breakdown in communications. An administration, a board, a teaching staff and an electorate that is properly informed, well in advance through a program of planned public relations, does not fall prey to disconcerting rumor.

Two or three people cannot decide what is best for a school system and then inform a staff and public as an incidental step to its evolution.

After a discussion with the board I am convinced that it recognizes its own mistakes as well as those of the new superintendent. It has adopted a course of corrective action favored by a board majority that must be given the trial of time.

The public, as well as the administration and faculty, is obligated to help bring accord to the system through a united effort.

Communication is the key word. Get the facts. Take your rumors and complaints to the superintendent or board of education. Track down the truth.

At stake is a fine school system that has had strong citizen support for many years.

This fact alone should be evidence enough that the burden of adaptation is not confined alone to the receiving system.

Monday night the board indicated that its new approach to the ungraded system would be:

-- "a trial in the new elementary school on a small scale, developed so that parents are brought along every step of the way with the children".

Readers Speak Up on Schools, Millage

Dear Mr. Editor:

The reason frequently advanced by those who intend to vote against the millage increase is that they are unhappy with the School Board in some respect, therefore, the millage proposal should be defeated. They anticipate that the School Board will be able to divine the reason for this punishment and not repeat the errors in the future.

The most obvious fallacy of this position is that shortly the board will have three (3) new members none of whom would relate this rebuff to himself.

It is, rather, the forthcoming election of these new members that presents the voters a genuine opportunity for action. Give these ill-fated members a public airing during the campaign and elect those candidates who would most effectively cure these ills.

The millage question should be determined on its own merits. It is difficult enough to weigh rationally and unemotionally the questions it presents without the confusing intrusion of irrelevant political matters.

Mr. & Mrs. Robert Lang
105 Linden

To the Editor:

I am alarmed by the letters to the editor that are attempting to blackmail the citizens of the Northville School District. One letter writer threatens to vote against the millage if the school plans to proceed with an ungraded program, and complains that parents are not involved in school decision making. Another suggests that a vote for the millage is a slap at the previous administration. And even the editor of this paper, who usually wholeheartedly supports the schools, has been strangely silent with his support.

Let's look at these views. First, to say that parents are not involved in decision making is plain nonsense. I was the chairman of last year's curriculum advisory committee. Parents were urged to attend and many did. Those who are complaining evidently were not interested enough to participate then. They show up now, after the work is done, to complain about the recommendations. At any rate, they had an opportunity then to voice their views. Right now a citizen's group is operating. There is plenty of opportunity to serve for those who want to work and to have their views heard.

And those who don't think citizens' suggestions are acted on by the board should take a good look at the suggestions of that committee who compare them to what the board and school administration are now doing. If I were to condense the report of last year's curriculum advisory committee into a few words, it would be that our system should be free to do the job it's supposed to do. We recommended more money for salaries and equipment. We recommended more time for educators to work on curriculum planning. We recommended more space for educators to work in. We recommended a move toward team teaching, which usually suggests some type of ungraded program when in full operation. We recommended these things after almost weekly meetings of subcommittees and the full committee, and after visiting other systems, and after studying a questionnaire sent out to Northville parents. We studied texts, curriculums (I like the regular plural here), study guides. We interviewed teachers and administrators. In short, our recommendations were carefully arrived at. We felt that in hiring a professional staff, we'd get a great deal more for our money if we relied on their years of training, their years of experience, their intelligence.

A forward-looking board of education evidently agrees. Northville citizens voted them to handle school affairs. The board members have been closest to the problem. They have worked regularly with the problems of a growing school system. It is their recommendation, based on this fund of knowledge and experience, and based on the citizens' advisory committee's recommendations, that the millage be increased. Our committee checked on the disposal of past citizen committees' recommendations and found very few recommendations not acted on, and those that weren't were usually ignored because of money limitations.

And what about the ungraded program? There isn't space here to go into it fully, but it essentially boils down to those who contend that students should be advanced through school mainly by age (our present system), and those who contend that students should advance through school by the progress made. We all agree that people develop at different rates. The ungraded program is designed to deal with this, I feel, more effectively than the present system. (There is much written on this in educational journals for those who are interested. By the way, in answer to the letter writer who wanted to hear about those systems that tried ungraded programs and failed: I have yet to find any that failed after much searching but have found several that succeeded, as another letter writer has mentioned.) The ungraded system demands careful diagnosis of each student and each student will have an individual program to fit his needs. Classroom teachers under the present system try to provide for these differences, of course. But a program that can be organized specifically for say, sixth-grade readers, whether they are 8 years old or 15 years old, will be far more profitable than a sixth grade reading class for 11 year olds whether they need it or not, or whether they are ready or not. The board and professional educators are to be congratulated for trying to give quality education to the children of Northville.

Northville has always been a good system. But all education is being drastically upgraded. The past school administration has a record for obtaining excellence in education for Northville. It is illogical to conclude that a vote for schools this time is a vote against that administration, as one letter writer suggests. Northville has always been equal or better than surrounding communities in education. Now that other systems are upgrading, Northville cannot afford to fall behind. If Northville becomes a poor paying system, it will become merely a training ground for new teachers who will make their mistakes in Northville before moving on as experienced teachers. The best new teachers will be harder to hire. Movies, tape recorders, overhead projectors, etc are all part of the modern teacher's equipment. It all costs money.

I don't know what the figures are now, but not too long ago this country was paying more for such things as gum, lipstick and cigarettes than for education. I suspect that it still is. Surely our schools are more important than any one of these. Vote yes to schools on May 9.

Dear Editor:

Upon completion of my latest federal income tax returns, I gave considerable thought to where my money had gone and what values I had received from various expenditures. There it was, all neatly itemized before me.

What was my best investment? Where were the returns the greatest? Upon examination the answer was very obvious - it was my local taxes. Where, for this amount of money invested, could I have purchased a greater range of services and assistances? For my local taxes I purchased excellent and efficient police protection. I simply had to use my telephone and I would get immediate action. They helped to make the streets safe for my wife and children. They checked my house regularly while I was away from home. They captured the hold-up men and caught the speeders on the streets of our town. I am sure that they have done many other things for me that I will never know about.

My taxes purchased fire protection for my home. I only had to call if help was needed. My taxes helped set up a financial budget for a City Council, which gave me a much more diversified set of services than I could have purchased anywhere else, and for a small fraction of the cost of private services. I had the streets in front of my house maintained; My water and sewer costs and conveniences were much better than if I had maintained my own. I had free consultations with the city engineer. I had many free services from City Hall. My rubbish and trash were picked up regularly. This is only the beginning of a long list of services received.

My local taxes educated my children in the public schools. This alone made my taxes my best investment. At the current rate for private tutors, my taxes would not buy two weeks of private classes. I now receive 40 weeks of education each year for each child. I am sure this list of services purchased by my local taxes could be made considerably longer and more complete. It would have required thousands of dollars if I had been forced to privately hire someone to guard my house, educate my children, and give me all of the many other services that I purchased with my local taxes. I received a bargain.

The raising of local taxes is often very difficult. Voting on local taxes is the only time that voters have a chance to show a strong objection to taxes by actually casting ballots. We do not have a chance to vote on a federal income tax, a gasoline tax, an excise tax, or many others. As a result, we often vote negatively on local taxes as a protest against taxes in general.

But, after carefully examining the many valuable services received from my local school and my city government, I feel that my local tax money has paid a much higher rate of dividend than any other investment that I have ever made.

If there is a fault, the fault is that I am light in my investment.

To the Editor:

Many responsible people in our community, both on the school board and off, have spent much time and effort during the past few years studying the school needs of this area.

Our school board has come up with what seems to them to be the best solution to our school problems, and is asking for the support of the voters of the community. To carry out their plans they have asked for an increase in millage to provide sufficient funds.

Surely no-one would deny that we all want the best possible education for our children. Northville has always been proud of its schools, let us continue to be!

We support our school board wholeheartedly, and will vote "yes" for increased millage.

To the Editor:

It is about time that the school board admits their mistake in hiring our new school superintendent, Alex Nelson. He is responsible for the large number of our very fine teachers leaving us and the rumored leaving of many more. It is time for the board of education to come into the open and take the necessary action to prevent the continuance of this "mass exodus."

Mr. Nelson's educational theories are not being questioned now (space does not permit). However, his leadership as a school administrator should be immediately questioned. It is not a coincidence that we are losing so many outstanding teachers this year. Many of those leaving or quitting their positions are the very best in their field - Mr. Quay, Mr. Horwath and Mr. Longridge, to name just three.

If there is anyone else in town who feels as I do, there is still time to do something about this situation. In our coming election we can run qualified candidates and elect them to the board. There are already candidates running who seem very well qualified and if any of them will step forward they will surely be elected.

It is deplorable and unfortunate that anyone has to write a letter "knocking" anyone like this. However, I am only concerned in getting the best possible education for my children.

Sincerely,
Jim Frogner
51300 W. Seven Mile

Editor's Note - Horwath and Longridge have not indicated they are leaving the system. Their decision to give up certain coaching duties is apparently based on long-standing differences previously reported in The Record. To date 17 resignations have been received. The board of education says 20-25 resignations per year is normal.

To the Editor:

I am writing this open letter to the Northville Board of Education as an interested parent concerned about the future of our educational system. As elected representatives entrusted with the formation of educational standards for our children it is to you, the members of the school board that we must turn for responsible answers to our questions.

There can be no doubt that the school system is suffering from growing pains. With any expansion program there can be expected a certain conflict of opinions as to the methods and extent of action taken in order to obtain educational goals. I feel those responsible for the education of our children, namely the school board, administrators and teachers, are not putting forth a united effort to gain the support and understanding of the public about the needs of an expanding school system. Instead, the wide scope of issues have been clouded by misinformation, rumors, confusion and a rash of resignations. Now is the time for the present school board to answer the questions of the public and clarify the confusion that exists. There should be a responsible study of past events and the present school board must not allow their responsibility to slide into the laps of the incoming board without properly answering the questions being asked by interested parents and taxpayers.

Why have so many experienced teachers submitted resignations and so many others privately expressed dissatisfaction over conditions existing within the system? Is it strictly the pay scale or are there other reasons that the public is unaware of? How far down on the competitive scale for teachers and administrators is the Northville system? Are we offering enough promotion incentive to retain experienced educators? Is the board willing to sacrifice experience for economy?

Why have some board members suddenly become so busy that they are forced to bow out of the upcoming election? Is it not the duty of the present board to fulfill their obligations and take whatever action necessary to settle existing controversies?

What has caused so much misinformation concerning the millage issue? Why was there less than a dozen parents at a recent PTA meeting where the millage proposal was discussed? Could it be that those who have shown an interest in the past have become discouraged by the vague answers they received? What is the public to think when faced with the board's ambivalent stand on the ungraded, non-graded, up-graded concept?

Who can explain the many rumors circulating town, with talk of secret meetings only adding fuel to the fire? Will no one answer honestly the mounting questions being asked by local parents and taxpayers, whether they concern building expansion, teacher morale or the athletic program? When a school system is divided by dissension, doubt and distrust there can only be one eventual loser, the individual child within the system.

All parts of a machine must function in an efficient manner; if there are to be productive results. It's now time to get our educational machine into smooth running order before there is a complete breakdown and a good school system falls apart.

(Mrs.) Robert Prom

To the Editor:

A few years ago I had the unique privilege of teaching in the same school system from which I graduated - Northville. Often as I have attended professional meetings throughout the state my pride has been bolstered by the fine comments I've heard about the Northville School System and members of its faculty.

For many years the property owners of Northville entrusted the wise use of their monies to Mr. Russell Amerman and the Board of Education for the construction of our schools and the hiring of a fine faculty, etc. Now, under a new administration, events are taking place which should be considered by the tax-payer when he or she makes their decision whether to vote "YES" or "NO" for the current millage issue. I am not a property owner, thus I do not have the privilege to cast a ballot in the decision of this issue, but I would like to present a few questions for your consideration.

1. Why, after several years of loyal service and concern for the Northville School System, are Mr. Crump and Mr. Shafer not seeking re-election? Surely, their business interests cannot be the only basis for their termination of office!

2. Certainly Mr. Quay is deserving of a position as a principal, whether it be in this school system or another. It is no secret to the concerned citizens of the community that Mr. Stefanski is also seeking another position. Why are we losing possibly two of the finest educators and administrators we have ever had, and why are they both leaving this year?

3. Why, after a very successful football season, have Mr. Horwath and his coaching staff resigned from their coaching responsibilities? Although graduate work is time consuming, this cannot be the real cause of that decision. Is it also possible that other positions in the athletic department will be vacated?

4. Why did approximately fifty teachers activate their teaching credentials with their own respective college placement offices?

5. Many of you attended "The Miracle Worker" as presented by our high school students this past week. This was one of the many productions directed by Misses Panattoni and Dorrian. Why have they chosen to no longer direct our play productions?

Many of us have known for some time that something was amiss in our schools. Many have asked but have received inadequate answers. Educators have professional ethics just as other professions. If an educator cannot publicly discuss local disturbing conditions, how can he show his disapproval? It seems that our teachers are showing their disapproval - by resignation or refusal to perform extra-curricular duties!

How can the tax payer show his disapproval of existing conditions? Certainly the millage is necessary and needed, but should it be passed under the existing pressures and administration?

To Mr. Wheaton I wish to direct this remark: If the citizens of Northville can only be informed through an Editorial about questionable occurrences in our schools, then let the discontent between the Editor and Mr. Nelson exist. Try asking Mr. Nelson! Request

Editor's Note - Board members Shafer and Crump have served for 10 and 8 years, respectively. Their retirement cannot be associated with anything other than a desire to let others take their turn.

New Lobbying Report Bill Splits Legislature

LANSING — Views were sharply divided on a lobbying activities proposal which got farther this year than any previously suggested regulation.

A bill requiring regular reports of expenditures and activities by lobbyists made it to the half-way mark on a 77-26 vote in the House.

This bill was also stronger than those considered in other years, which usually didn't get out of committee to the legislative debate stage. This one would require the quarterly accounting to be submitted to the Secretary of State. The reports would be public record.

All state employees, not just legislators, would be viewed as objects of lobbying activities under the 1966 proposal.

It was impossible to divide the proponents and opponents into alliances previously seen.

On the one side, the supporters of the proposal saw it as an effective means of keeping lobbyists honest by making their activities subject to public perusal.

The other side saw it as a personal affront to legislator honesty, rather than a control on the lobbyists. "If there are such serious problems that we need this kind of legislation, there is something wrong with us," said one legislator.

BASIC PROBLEM is that it takes a dishonest legislator as well as dishonest lobbyist to consummate a dishonest transaction. It is difficult, if not impossible, to come up with a law which will stop this kind of collusion.

It has been obvious to most that efforts for a law thus far would have resulted in making it more difficult for the vast majority of legitimate legislators and lobbyists to work honestly and would not really restrict the few who chose not to do so.

Part of the strong support for the bill was credited to rumors circulated this year that some lawmakers were offered campaign contributions in return for votes on a certain bill.

Opponents, no doubt, felt support of the legislation indicated there were members who would accept money on these terms. Supporters said the proposed law would prevent deals of this kind.

Only the legislators can determine whether the law is needed. The decision no doubt will be based on how many members think they or their colleagues are prone to this kind of influence inducement.

IT'S ALMOST that time again. Time for Michigan Week, that is.

For the 13th year in succession, Michigan residents will make a special effort the third week in May to let it be known that this is a great state in many ways.

This year the emphasis has been on numbers. The goal of the top planners of the annual brag week was set at eight million, the entire population of Michigan.

Soon the effectiveness of this major participation campaign will be known. Whether the full goal is reached probably cannot be measured, but as in previous years there is little doubt that Michigan Week will reach more people than ever.

In the formal organization alone, more people were involved in this year's planning than ever before. Almost every county committee has been able to report more local planning units in operation this year.

As in previous years the occasion begins with the Sunday gatherings marking Spiritual Foundations Day followed by the exchange of mayors on Our Government Day.

Outstanding Michigan citizens will be honored for their various contributions locally and statewide on the other days: Hospitality Day, Our Livelihood Day, Education Day, Our Heritage Day, and Youth Day.

In all, the 13th stands alone, as have each of the previous years, as bigger and better than ever in reminding Michigan people and outsiders of the brag-worthy state in which we live.

EIGHT YEARS in succession, Michigan has followed the national trend of decreasing birth rates.

For 1965, the State Health Department reported 165,483 births. This was a drop of nearly 8,500 from the previous year and 12,000 less than were recorded in 1963.

The present decline in birth rates has been going since 1957, when the peak of 207,000 was reached to end the so-called baby boom. The boom started from a 120,000 count in 1945 at the end of World War II and lasted 12 years, rising swiftly in each.

Statisticians say the present trend may soon be over, as the

Streamlined Farms

BABSON PARK, Mass. — Over the past quarter-century, we have been watching closely the revolutionary changes that have taken place on the nation's farms. Machines have been replacing men at an explosive rate, and now U.S. agriculture is a huge, modern industry. It is, in fact, our largest industry, providing income of $14 billion in 1965, a boost of $1 billion over 1964. We think this farm-income growth is going to continue.

While the small, general-purpose farms have been fading out, the streamlined type of modern family operation has been moving triumphantly ahead. Naturally, this kind of farming takes plenty of outlay for mechanization, and far greater technical skill. But, where the management is competent and well informed, the profits more than make up for the costs of machinery and the study required to develop more advanced technical know-how.

Over the past five years, net income per farm has pushed upward 40% to a new-time height of $4,150. Perhaps even more significant is the fact that, in the same period, per capita income of farmers has advanced 35% while income for the remainder of the population has risen only 20%. Farm labor costs have, of course, been drifting downward for years because of agricultural mechanization, and acreage has been climbing steadily for the individual farms. These latter trends are bound to continue.

THERE HAVE been many related reasons for the healthier demand for agricultural products and for rising profits. The most elementary but important cause is the enormously broader spending for foods of all sorts, due to large increases in population, soaring spendable income, and richer eating habits. Exports of farm produce have been on the upward path for a long while. Markets have been particularly well sustained in the countries of Western Europe, in Japan, and in many other free nations. Higher living standards in such places favor continuing brisk demand for our agricultural exports for an indefinite period.

As long as our own people are adequately supplied with native foodstuffs, there will continue to be heavy shipments to needy nations that lack sufficient growing operations of their own. This entire export situation, along with the government's cutting back of our planting acreage over the years and our own booming markets, has succeeded in bringing surpluses down to manageable levels. Since over-supplies always mean downward pressure on prices, present conditions are more conducive to good returns for farmers. Income per farm will, of course, be steadily greater as the number of farms dwindles and the greater prosperity is divided among fewer establishments.

IN SPITE of the phasing out of great numbers of marginal farms the strong nucleus of larger units that are left could dramatically step up agricultural production. Total harvests during 1965 smashed all previous records. Experts feel that even these highs could be upped some 20% in a couple of years if federal acreage controls were done away with. Some interested parties are suggesting that 55 million idle crop acres be replanted, especially in view of the number of countries where starvation actually threatens.

What would be the effect of sudden removal of acreage restrictions? Prices would tend to fall unless demand could be kept in line with output. Since world markets are a strong part of the success-key for American farmers, exports would have to be maintained—and even increased—if price softening were to be prevented.

2 out of 3 professional turfmen use Agrico. Do they know something about grass feeding you should know?

Most of the Agrico we sell goes to professional turfmen—landscape gardeners, golf course superintendents, nurserymen. Even sod growers. These professionals rely on Agrico for one reason: it consistently gives them superior results. Do you have to be a "pro" to get professional results on your lawn? Definitely not. Agrico Grass Food is as easy to use as any fertilizer.

1. Agrico Grass Food contains a special combination of nutrients that actually enriches your soil. These nutrients build strong roots and produce hardy grass.
2. Ordinary fertilizers help make grass green for a while. But Agrico, with 60% organic nitrogen content, helps keep grass green all season.
3. Agrico's formula gives you more total plant foods per bag to build soil fertility over a longer period of time. $4.95 bag nourishes 5300 sq. ft. Now you know what the professionals know. For a thick, green lawn, use Agrico Grass Food—the fertilizer that enriches your soil as it greens your grass. There's an Agrico Garden Dealer near you.

Cows Pass Production Testing

New, officially recognized milk and butterfat production levels by Registered Holstein cows in this area are listed in a special report from Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Vicinity cows included in the report are: Iseet Pearl Ada 4934697, a four-year-old, produced 19,500 lbs. of milk and 728 lbs. of butterfat in 361 days; Stony Lane Sully Rocket 4835309, a five-year-old, had 18,120 lbs. of milk and 717 lbs. of butterfat in 365 days; Iseet Maestro Sue 4977869, a four-year-old, had 15,550 lbs. of milk and 630 lbs. of butterfat in 305 days; Iseet Pearl Bess 5264956, a three-year-old, had 16,380 lbs. of milk and 629 lbs. of butterfat in 320 days; Iseet Winter Snowball 5185193, a three-year-old, had 15,840 lbs. of milk and 626 lbs. of butterfat in 305 days. All are owned by Frank F. Geiger & Sons, South Lyon.

These new production figures may be compared to the estimated annual output of 7,880 lbs. of milk and 285 lbs. of butterfat by the average U. S. dairy cow, notes the national Holstein Association.

Michigan State University supervised the sampling, weighing and testing operations in cooperation with the Holstein organization's herd and breed improvement programs.

Green Oak

A special meeting of the Green Oak township board has been called by Supervisor Herbert Munzel for Thursday, May 5.

To begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Green Oak Plains cemetery, one half mile west of US 23 on Maltby road for the purpose of considering purchase of additional acreage, and to consider requiring food handlers to use health cards, the meeting will actually be of the township board of health, which is the same group.

At 8:45 p.m. the township board will convene at the township hall to discuss passage of the recently revised zoning ordinance, the annual road work program, a trailer coach ordinance and services of the township attorney, auditor, and engineering firm.

Petitions of Whitmore Lake residents for sanitary sewers will also be considered at the special meeting.

Outlines Infant Care

Modern infant formulas are as safe and nutritious as science can possibly make them. But occasionally, accidental poisonings may occur if mothers do not follow instructions to the letter. Here are some guides to help you make certain your baby is receiving the proper formula, as provided by the Oakland County Medical Society.

1. Make sure you understand measurements, proportions and procedures of formula preparation. All mothers don't know what a quart or pint is, nor understand the difference between 0.6 cubic centimeters and six cubic centimeters which is ten times as much. The difference can create serious trouble if medicines and vitamins are involved.

2. Keep formula ingredients in separate containers which are clearly labeled, and taste the formula before giving it to your baby. The serious danger of accidentally substituting an ingredient - such as salt for sugar - can escape your eyes, but not your taste buds.

3. Don't increase the amount of vitamins. If added indiscriminately, an excessive amount of certain vitamins could cause poisoning. Most modern babies receive these supplements in their formulas as a matter of precaution. But if you feel your child's diet is vitamin deficient, seek the advice of your doctor - don't act on your own judgment.

4. Destroy earlier instructions your doctor may have revised as the infant grows and develops.

5. Don't tamper with the formula in an effort to make it "taste better".

6. Don't fatten-up your baby. There are real hazards in the natural tendency to overfeed or force-feed which could cause medical problems in later years. Remember, a butterball baby is not necessarily a healthy one.

Mustang Nine Tops Livonia Franklin, 7-4

Northville jumped off to a six run lead against visiting Livonia Franklin last Friday, then staved off Franklin the rest of the way to post a 7-4 victory.

"It was a good victory," said Coach Bob Kucher, "especially since we beat a good class A club."

Northville's ace, Steve Evans, picked up the win, his fifth of the year without a loss, but it wasn't his best performance by any means.

"He looked good in spots," Kucher pointed out, "but a week's layoff took the edge off his control. But he was tough in the clutch."

Evans walked seven, struck out 10 and gave up three hits. Three of the four runs were earned, however, as the Mustang defense had been air tight until Friday, finally gave a bit. Northville committed three errors.

Every Mustang had a hand in the victory as each one, except Pitcher Evans, bagged a hit. "We hit the ball real well," said Kucher.

Most of those hits came in Northville's two big innings, four runs in the second and three in the third to give Evans a pad to work on.

In the fourth frame, Imsland ignited the rally by singling to right field. Catcher Doug Swiss gained first when he was hit by a pitched ball. Then Second Baseman Bob Barski laid a perfect bunt between the pitcher's mound and first base.

He beat the throw by an eyelash, and while the Franklin first baseman was arguing the call, Imsland raced home with Northville's first run.

Centerfielder Mike Turnbull followed Bartski's example by laying down another perfect bunt to load the bases. Evans hit a sinking liner to left field, and when the ball caromed off the left fielder, two runs scored to give Northville a 3-0 lead. With runners on second and third, Shortstop John James lined a single to left to score Turnbull with the fourth run.

It was a combination of three runs and three hits in the fourth inning that scored three runs. Left Fielder Dennis Primeau, leading off, lined a single to center, and when the catcher threw high on Jameson's bunt, runners were safe at second and first. Boerger walked to fill the bases.

Right fielder Phil Andrews then drove a single to left center. The ball skipped by the outfielder and it unloaded the bases. Swiss followed with a double to right center, but the next two men failed to move Evans and Swiss around.

Down by six, Franklin scrapped for two in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Swamps Bulldogs In Avenging Loss

It's like the wild west all over again with the Mustangs kicking up their heels under the wide open spaces. And they're hungry, hungry for a baseball pennant.

In 10 games, Northville has lost only once, and it gained revenge for that setback Monday when Brighton came to town.

Northville shellaced the Bulldogs, 8-0, to even the score for an earlier season upset, 4-3.

That was Northville's sixth victory in a row, and it kept the Mustangs right up there, a game behind first place Millford. The Redskins beat Clarenceville, 2-1, last Monday to remain unbeaten with a 7-0 record. Northville is 6-1.

There was simply no holding Northville back against Brighton as Northville tallied three times in the first inning and the rout was on.

Right fielder Phil Andrews lugged the big bat, getting three hits in four trips to the plate, including a home run over the left field fence with a man aboard. He also drove in three runs and scored three times.

Sophomore Dennis Primeau worked the first five innings to win his fourth game without defeat. He gave up four hits, struck out three and walked only one. Steve Evans came on in relief in the sixth, holding the Bulldogs hitless, striking out three and walking one.

Schoolcraft Tops Delta

Schoolcraft college netters are scheduled to take on Port Huron junior college here tomorrow (Friday) after losing two of their three meets last week.

Coach Ralph Atchley's squad split a double header with Delta and Alpena on Saturday and bowled to Concordia on Thursday.

Delta took the short end of its meet with Schoolcraft, 4-3, while Alpena notched a 5-2 win over the local squad.

Singles winners over Delta for Schoolcraft were Larrow Slvic, 6-4 and 6-1; Doug Mouch, 6-4, 3-6 and 6-3; and Paul Hartge, 6-1 and 6-3. Civic and Mouch posted 6-1 and 6-3 wins in their doubles match with Delta.

Sivick notched a 7-5 and 8-6 win over Alpena and Hartge was a 6-0 and 6-2 victor.

Concordia swamped the local squad 7-0.

Other members of the Schoolcraft squad include David Epstein, David Cabrera, Jack Custer, and Fred Bailey.

ROUND TRIP—Left Fielder Phil Andrews is pummeled with congratulations by his teammates after he slammed a towering home run over the left field fence with a mate aboard in the sixth inning. Andrews had a sparkling day at the plate, getting three for four, batting in three runs and scoring three. His exploits helped Northville to an 8-0 victory over Brighton, Northville's sixth win in a row. The Mustangs' record is 9-1 on the year.

Netters Sparkle In League But Fall Flat Outside

The Northville netmen have no peer in the Wayne-Oakland Conference, but venturing outside the league is a different matter. Not one of six conference foes the Mustangs have faced seriously challenged them, but in four matches with non-conference teams the local netters have won only once.

Oak Park has felled Coach Dick Norton's charges twice, the last time six days ago, 5-2, in a meet that wasn't decided until the last two matches.

With Oak Park leading, 3-2, Northville had two singles men Larry Thibos and Steve Quay still on the court. Each had split sets with their respective opponents.

But Oak Park's Larry Baror upended Thibos, 6-3, and Jerry Hoffman trimmed Quay by an identical score to seal the victory.

"We came as close as you can to winning," Norton said. "We played well."

In fact, the local netters played 100 per cent better than they did against Oak Park in their first meet. Oak Park blanked Northville, 7-0, that time.

Highlight of last Friday's meet was Jim Long's 6-2, 6-3, upset of Maurice Gilbert, runner up in the regional finals last year and one of the top threats this year. "It was the best Jim has ever played," Norton declared.

Number two singles man, Norbert Parent, also proved consistent in topping Stu Krohn, 9-7, 6-1.

In the doubles, however, Northville had its troubles, failing to win one match. Mark Platt-Irwin Broude whipped Randi Caliguiri and Bill Hart, 6-1, 6-1; Jerry Ross and Bob Rosenbaum beat Ken Boerger and Randy Burnett, 6-2, 9-7, and Jake Rubenstein and Marshall Katz battered Bruce Durham-Dave Eberhardt, 6-1, 6-2.

In conference play, two games to be exact, Northville waltzed to victory.

Holly posted only one victory last Thursday, but it was a big one. Duane Addis upset top seeded Long, 6-1, 2-6, 3-8.

But then the door closed tight on the Broncos, and they couldn't pick up another point as Northville swept through the remaining two singles matches and two doubles.

Parent easily disposed of Ron Ranger, 6-1, 6-1, Thibos beat John Lehman, 6-2, 1-6, 6-4, Caliguiri-Hart defeated John Brummier-Ken-Foss, 6-3, 6-0, and Burnett-Quay slipped by Dick Janes-Dick Darnon, 6-2, 8-6.

When Milford, a soft tennis touch, came to town, Coach Norton decided to give his reserves some experience, so he pulled his top three singles players. Result? A 5-0 victory for Northville.

Playing number one singles, Quay ripped through Mike Caswell, 6-1, 6-1; Durham beat Dave Powers, 6-2, 6-0, and George Kohs laced Jim Demko, 6-3, 6-2.

Doubles it was the same story—victory with ease. Hart-Caliguiri defeated Gary Briggs-Jim Beck, 6-0, 6-1, and Burnett-Boerger beat Dale May-Jim Wells, 6-1, 6-1.

Class F Call Goes Out Again

Bad weather cancelled the opening call to baseball practice for Class F recreation boys Saturday.

Director Ken Conley announced that practice for the 10-13 year-olds will be held this Saturday at the large baseball diamond at Cass Bneton Park at 9 a.m.

4-H Stages Horse Show

Despite the chilly weather, the Little Britches 4-H Club's third annual horse show was again a success.

Held at Walter Kane's Woods and Water Farm, on May 1, the show was complimented by a sell-out crowd. Competing for prizes were nearly ninety horses and riders.

The Little Britches and leader Mrs. Glenn Hoots were thankful or all those who got behind the show and donated their time and money and talents. To show their appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kane for the use of their grounds and facilities, the Little Britches presented Mrs. Kane with a dozen long-stemmed red roses and gave Kane a set of "English-Leather".

Twenty-five first place trophies and ribbons were awarded to riders who earned them before the talented eyes of judge Keith Avery, Chuck Sinelli and John "Tex" Kohler assisted as ringmaster and make up man.

Prize winners were: (at halter) English Fitting & Showing: Sue Racz with Count of Millsbro, and Judy Donahue with Stonewall's Royal Lady. Western Fitting & Showing: Judy Hoots with Hia Reno, and Ellen Clark with Koosah's Fancy Free. Ponies at Halter: Debbie Yadlosky with Sunset Souvenir; English Horsemanship: David Earehart on Succardo's Nino, and Linda Fink on Lin Dea.

Thinclads Shine In 3-Way Match

Northville didn't beat Milford, a perennial track power, but the Mustangs didn't give up the battle by any means. Milford tallied 65 1/2 points to Northville's 41 1/2 and Brighton's 29 last Thursday.

"We looked the best we have all season," said Coach Ralph Redmond. "Milford was tough, but we rose to the occasion and did our best."

Sophomore Jim Peterson and Senior Jim Trotter set the pace. Peterson leaped 5'6" to win the high jump and Trotter ran the 100 in 10:8, another first. Peterson also took second in the high hurdles with a mark of 17:4.

The return of veteran Dennis Cook to the Northville lineup assured more points in future meets. Sidelined all season by illness, Cook flew 10'6" in his first crack this year at the pole vault to win second place. Northville's mile relay team also placed second with a time of 3:48.6.

Most promising of the results was the performance of the JV trackmen as they added to the Northville point total. They topped three firsts and a second.

Kris Kline won the JV mile in 5:26, Phil Serwatowski won the 440 in 61:5 and George D'Haene won the 880 in 2:17. Doug Hazlett took second in the mile. All of these youngsters are freshmen.

Plymouth came to town last week Tuesday amid rainy, cold weather and made things more miserable for Northville by beating the Mustangs, 68-41.

Even though outmanned, Northville gave Plymouth a run, primarily by finishing first in four events. Peterson jumped 5'8" to match his best effort this season, Dave Orphan ran first in the mile at 4:48.8, Trotter won the 100 and Randy Simpson ran the low hurdles in 22:7.

It remained for Bill Harrison to raise eyebrows, however, in a typical show of determination that has marked the team this year.

In running the half mile for the first time, he came in second by an eyelash. Harrison, a specialist in the 440, ran the half mile in 2:07.9, while the winner crossed the finish line in 2:07.4.

Golf Team Wins Twice

Two more conference foes fell before the Northville golfers in recent competition. Northville is 5-2 on the season.

Coach Al Jones' crew beat West Bloomfield last week by the slimmest of margins, 175-176. Rick Talbot led the field with a 38, followed by Keith Mueller's 43, Mike Hlohenic's 46 and Bob Regenhart's 48.

Clarkston cracked under the pressure of the bigger Meadowbrook Country Club course and shot a team total of 198 to Northville's 172.

Regenhart grabbed medalist honors by firing a 41. Talbot carded a 43, Mueller and Hlohenic 44's. Freshman Billie Thomas shot a 52.

Rev. Taxis to Speak At Washington, D.C.

A former Northville minister, the Rev. John O. Taxis, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon June 5 during American University's 52nd commencement at Washington, D.C.

2,200 members and had developed an extensive religious library. As a football official, he "works" 60 games per season-up to the senior high school level and recently was awarded a trophy by the Fort Lauderdale Touchdown Club as one of the top three grid officials in the area.

Rev. Taxis, associate pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Fort Lauderdale, Florida and a registered football official for the Florida high school association, was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville for five years until 1960.

In his work in Florida, Rev. Taxis has established a preaching mission at a trailer park for senior citizens, has developed a book entitled "Talks in Chalk by Mr. T" for children, has served on the South Florida Presbytery ministerial relations committee and the presbytery's stewardship and interpretation committees, and has chaired a steering committee to raise the sum of $150,000 for the Presbyterian synod of Florida.

Father of Linda Ann Taxis, who will be graduated this year from American University's school of international service, is a native of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. He also has served pastorates in Virginia (Hopewell and Emporia), New Jersey (Fairton and West Collingswood), Maryland (Bethesda), and Florida (Fort Lauderdale).

Married to the former Doris Chew of Bridgeton, New Jersey, the Rev. Taxis and his wife are the parents of two daughters.

At Fort Lauderdale, Rev. Taxis is director of the Christian education department in a church of

There is a time in the life of everyone when GREATNESS calls. To some it comes more often as they stand among their fellows and are caught up in an hour or circumstance of some great decision. Longfellow wrote, "Great men stand like solitary towers in the city of God".

It might be added today that we find many who are tempted to turn their backs on moments of greatness by avoiding conflict in the interests of going along with the crowd. Individual decision making is becoming both unpopular and even unsafe. We don't like to upset the orderly movement of the day or to voice an opinion that might bring us into dispute with those who appear to be in control or who seem to represent the "right way" to proceed. Character that knows no call to sacrifice or no hour of difficult decision making, does not easily grow to true greatness. The easy way and the simple life are not the kind of course that brought this nation (or any other for that matter) into its hours of greatness. The hardy pioneers in every pursuit to which man has applied his mind and muscle, learned early in the game that a purpose calls forth courage and persistence. We used to call some of this characteristic "stick-tiveness".

In every vocation, profession or daily routine of work, times come when the going is rough, the future unclear, the present fraught with uncertainty and one's resistance is low. It is too easy to run, yet the temptation is there. In domestic troubles, the divorce court seems to be the only out; in troublesome community problems, a move to another locality interests many; in school difficulties, a teacher is sure that another system will be better, — and so on across the board. Greatness calls some to stay and work for the best interests of all concerned. The battle is not fought without the troops. The call to greatness might even be the opportunity to learn and serve though sacrifice be involved. Pride might even have to take a blow or two.

However, let us remember in our answer to the call to greatness, there are many hidden values apart from true character growth in oneself. You grow as you serve and others will benefit from your decision making and your stand for what you believe to be right. Your set of values represents your own honesty and sense of duty to God and community. "And seekest thou great things for thyself?" Jeremiah 45:5. Working in harness with others is not the simple easy life, but without it there would be no life worth living.

MOTHER'S DAY and MOTHER'S DAY

Our artist is not experimenting with his brush! There is a profound difference between these two days...

MOTHER'S DAY — with the accent on Mother — is the second Sunday in May, when we honor Motherhood, and express our deep affection for Mother.

MOTHER'S DAY — with the accent on Day — is every day of the year. It is Mother's unending labor of love. It is Monday's wash and Tuesday's ironing, the meals to be cooked and the beds to be made, the bruises to be healed and the prayers to be heard.

And at the close of her DAY, Mother has prayers of her own — for her little-ones, her husband and herself.

God is answering many of those prayers through the Church. With its effective program of religious education and worship the Church can supply the spiritual needs in Mother's DAY... and in your DAY also!

Planners to Reconsider Request for Rezoning

A request for rezoning 12 acres of property at Five Mile and Rob-nwood was returned to the Northville township planning commission for further consideration this week.

Decision to return the proposal, despite the commission's recent recommendation for denial, was made by the township board at its regular meeting Tuesday evening.

Board action followed a presentation of detailed plans and drawings of the buildings proposed for the site by the developer, Fred Greenspan. It was welcomed by Commission Chairman Gunnar Stromberg, who explained that, since the commission did not previously have an opportunity to see the plans, he favored "taking another look" at the request.

The commission had voted unanimously April 26 to recommend denial, primarily because the rezoning constituted "spot zoning" in an established single family residential area.

In returning the request to the commission, the board indicated that there is no legal requirement for a second public hearing on the matter, but it directed the commission to notify affected property owners of the time and date that the matter is to be discussed.

During his presentation to the board Greenspan said the project called for two-story, one and two bedroom apartments that would rent for from $140 to $190 per month.

Another recommendation for denial of a rezoning request by the commission was accepted by the board. This was the request of Alex Gordon, who sought to rezone property at Bradner and Franklin roads for multiple dwellings.

The commission contended in its recommendation that the proposal constituted spot zoning, would be located on a gravel road that could result in traffic problems, and that it was not in accordance with projected planning use for the area.

A resolution accepting the roll of the Northville road special assessment district as prepared by Supervisor R. D. Merriam and setting a public hearing at the next regular board meeting, June 7, was adopted by the board.

City Signs Rank High

Only 42 of the city of Northville's 647 traffic signs—a figure less than 10 per cent—were found to be in need of correction in the recently completed traffic sign survey conducted by the Michigan Stock Insurance association in cooperation with the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce.

Evans Brown, association representative, presented results of the survey to the council and commented that the survey, the first of its kind in Michigan, will serve as a model for other surveys in Michigan. He stressed that the survey was not designed to tell the city where signs should be but to check sizes and conditions of existing ones.

Bent, missing or defaced signs were pointed out, including lack of a school sign on Thayer near Our Lady of Victory church and need for a dead end sign at Scott street. The report mentioned that Main street has 147 signs, the greatest number of any city street, with only 14 deficient.

The firm also is preparing a fire safety report to be delivered within 30 days.

The board has voted to pay all legal and engineering costs and for the fallout sewer of this special assessment district, prorating the balance of the cost on the affected area.

Board members also approved a proposed dump contract with the city of Northville. The contract now goes to the city for its decision.

The contract calls for the city to establish times for dumping, to provide a caretaker at all times, and to conduct dump operations in such a way as to avoid nuisances and health problems.

The township, under the contract, agrees to issue permits identifying township residents using the dump and to pay the city $2,500 per year to use it. Furthermore, it states that the township cannot permit public institutions within the township to use it.

Two amendments were re-adopted by the board to implement the recently enacted township ordinance. One amendment regulates removal of top soil, clay, sand and gravel, and the other establishes rates for electrical, plumbing and heating fees.

Approved for purchase was a $295 binding machine to be used to bind approximately 1,000 ordinances that will be made available for sale to township residents.

Another resolution adopted by the board calls for placement of a no-hunting proposition on the primary election ballot in August—provided the state senate votes later this month to permit the township to conduct such an election. The state house of representatives has already approved the bill.

Board members also voted to provide for two constable positions at the next election. Presently, only one constable serves the township.

List Grows to 10

3 More Enter Race For School Board

Three more Northville residents have petitions circulating for school board vacancies, bringing the total of possible candidates in the June 13 election to ten. David M. Biery and Andrew Orphan have petitions being signed for four-year posts while Frank G. Pauli has taken a petition for the unexpired one-year term.

Pauli, who lives at 508 Gardner, indicated he already has the required 20 signatures and intends to file the petition this week. A resident of Northville for 14 years, he is president of Kwik Lock Form company, 279 Park place, Northville. He is a graduate of Grosse Pointe high school and has seven children with three in high school, one in junior high, two graduated and one at Our Lady of Victory Catholic school.

He said he is a candidate because "we need schools but those Northville is building are too elaborate and costly."

At last week's board of education meeting a letter from Pauli was read, suggesting that the building program be held up until the new board takes office. Present members indicated they were elected by the people to perform until the end of their terms and that to do otherwise would create a "lame duck" situation, delaying the program needlessly.

To date Pauli, Donald Bauerle and Richard Lyon have taken petitions for the one-year term now being filled by W. O. Weber since the death of Edward Angove.

Biery, who lives at 43715 Dorisa court, is a Northville high school graduate who attended Hope college for three years. He is assistant manager of the Northville branch of Manufacturer's National bank. He has three children, one a first grader at Amerman, a second who will be in kindergarten and a preschooler.

"This is my home town," he said, adding that he is becoming a candidate because "I always been proud of the school system and considered it a plus factor. I feel there are things to be worked upon."

A petition for a four-year post was taken out for Andrew G. Orphan, 356 Rogers, by friends Monday morning. Orphan indicated he felt he could not actively seek the position as he had committed himself to be high school PTA president next year. He currently is serving as vice-president.

However, he stated, if drafted and elected, he would perform the duties to the best of his ability. A resident of Northville since 1945, Orphan is a plant engineer with Michigan Bell Telephone company. He is a Grand Rapids high school graduate and a World War II Air Force veteran. He has two sons in the Northville schools, one a senior and one in the eighth grade. Orphan served actively as a member of the citizens' committee for last year's school bond issue. He has served as co-chairman of the present citizens' committee campaigning for operating millage, but in a letter to the editor this week Orphan admonishes the board of education and states he finds it "very difficult to support any program of this board".

Others who have taken out petitions for two four-year posts open are William Froelich, William Secord, Stanley Johnston, Richard Martin and Robert Horner. Deadline for filing petitions is 4 p.m. May 14.

Council Hears Parking Report

A proposal to provide employee parking in the Central Business District of Northville and then to reserve primary parking spaces for the general public was submitted to the Northville City Council Monday night as John Stubenvoll presented the first report of the Municipal Parking Authority.

The report detailed financing of the project, suggested metered and locked-gate parking as well as additional two-hour street meters to help defray costs. It emphasized that the whole plan was contingent upon good police enforcement.

The council also was asked to give consideration to the need for and type of street light installation being planned for the Horton-Welch streets area. Ted Slabey and John Schrot presented pictures of a semi-ornamental type of street light they would prefer in front of their homes but questioned if a light was necessary as many residents have their own outdoor lights. Schrot asked the board to consider underground wiring for the installation.

Slabey presented a petition signed by 24 residents who preferred not to have street lights and 3 who would like them. The council postponed a decision until members could take a firsthand look at the area and study costs of semi-ornamental lighting and underground wiring. John Canterbury suggested that perhaps the council should be looking to the future in considering underground installations in new subdivisions.

The council authorized the city manager to represent it in fact-finding studies to investigate the possibility of a common incinerator and common police protection on a broader basis than common dispatching with neighboring communities of Plymouth, Plymouth township, Northville township and Canton township. Ollendorff explained that the communities were considering meeting together and then with Livonia in considering a common incinerator.

Ollendorff reported that 506 driver licenses were issued last month, reaching the anticipated 6,000 a year rate before anticipated. The board instructed him to find out if the department must issue licenses to any Michigan resident when asked. City Attorney Phillip Ogilvie received council approval of a motion that gives partial release of the Bernhart drain easement to the school district so that progress on the proposed junior high school will not be delayed. Earlier in the session a letter was read from Northville board of education secretary Donald Lawrence affirming the board's willingness to share court costs with the city and Thompson-Brown developers for complete vacation of the easement.

Because of Mayor's exchange day conflict date of the next regular council meeting was moved from Monday, May 16, to Tuesday, May 17. May 17 also was set for the public hearing for proposed R-1S zoning of the recently annexed 35.72 acres of property at Baseline and Taft roads. This is the Thompson-Brown proposed subdivision area.

Festival Tonight

Northville high school's Festival of Arts will be held at the high school at 7:30 p.m. today. A style show is to follow the brief business session. Parents then are to inspect student displays in the gymnasium. The board of education and administration is setting aside a room where parents can ask questions regarding the upcoming millage election Monday.

Beautification

Is Everybody's Business

A SPECIAL SECTION

The beauty of a well-manicured lawn and garden reflects hours of planning and toil. It is a reward from Mother Nature that is most enjoyed by those who have dug into the soil and can stand back and admire their handiwork. But the beauty is also enjoyed by all passers-by. And this home . . . the residence of the Paul H. Steenckens of 562 Randolph . . . could well exemplify a goal for all the community of Northville as it undertakes its beautification campaign.

Inside...

You'll find plans, pictures and specials for the BEAUTIFY NORTHVILLE Campaign. You can help make our community shine by joining the drive against litter.

Here's Clean-Up Program

Friday, May 6-

Clean-Up program kicked-off with Main street scrubdown by retail merchants at 3 p.m. between Center and Hutton streets.

High school band to provide for "scrub-down" event, while Ugashonton club members play role of "Litterbugs" who will be pursued by conscientious objectors to litter, Mrs. Clean-Up, Miss Fix-Up and Miss Paint-Up (Northville Girl Scouts).

"Clean-Up Specials" are also featured in Northville stores to highlight this event.

Saturday, May 7-

Junior and senior high school students will sell Flowering Crab trees with orders being taken door-to-door and trees available for pick-up at the junior high school boys' gym. (community building).

Saturday, May 14-

City-wide trash pick-up. City trucks with DPW crews and members of the Ugashonton club will haul away all discards left at the curbs on Saturday morning, May 14. Any size items will be hauled away so long as they are not too heavy for two men to lift into truck.

Patriots Can Do Their Bit

An Editorial from "Planting News" published by the American Association of Nurserymen

Most people, concerned with the growing ugliness of numerous communities, are extremely gratified with President Johnson's determination to beautify the country. Such a program long has been due.

It has been reported that the President is out to push this program strongly. Mrs. Johnson, too, is heavily engaged in exciting the women of the nation to follow her examples in beautifying.

We never before have had a president who has been so publicly concerned with the beauty of our land. To be sure, Thomas Jefferson made some pointed comments and Theodore Roosevelt was a great conservationist, but neither concerned himself so much with the total beauty of the country. President Johnson's conception ranges from the hearts of cities to roadsides through remote areas.

We often have thought that conservation and planting of urban land may be as important as farm land. The latter concerns itself largely with soil conservation and production of food, the former with production of a beautiful environment for living. Ugly settings breed ugly people, while lovely environments make pleasanter citizens.

The President's and Mrs. Johnson's programs come none too soon. Their leadership will have tremendous effect on the future beauty of America. To make the program effective, however, everyone who owns or uses land needs to be conscious of the preservation of its beauty. Beautification is a job for all citizens. The need for preservation and enhancement of natural beauty is a spirit in the hearts of citizens. It cannot be bought or sold, it can only be taught. The message for beauty can be passed on to others who may not be so enlightened.

No patriot wittingly would despoil the beauty of his country; yet in many respects, the land has been allowed to become ugly. The true patriot feels it a duty to keep "America, the Beautiful," and we all can do our bit to this end.

Fish Hatchery...Once a Beauty Spot

With community ownership of the old Fish Hatchery property now a possibility perhaps the beauty that once marked it as a tourist attraction could be returned. The ponds are now dry and the banks and pond-beds laden with weeds.
