

Area Communities Discuss Joint Police, Incinerator

Any plans to combine the police departments of five area communities, including the city and township of Northville, should be preceded by changes in existing state laws, members of an intergovernmental study group were advised Friday night in Plymouth.

Speaking to representatives of Northville, Plymouth and Canton, State Police Commissioner Frederick Davids and his legal aide, Captain John Brown, suggested the changes to avert possible legal entanglement.

The state police officials were guests at a dinner meeting at the Mayflower Hotel attended by 40 representatives from the city and township of Northville, the city and township of Plymouth, and Canton township.

It was the second of a series of meetings to consider the establishment of a joint police authority and a joint incinerator authority.

Representing Northville at the meeting were Mayor A. Malcolm Allen, Supervisor R. D. Merriam, Treasurer Alex Lawrence, and Chamber of Commerce President Robert Webber.

Davids and Brown commended the group for its efforts to establish a single police authority, noting that similar successful arrangements are in existence and have been successful in Los Angeles county, Day county, Florida, and in Nashville, Tennessee.

Existing law (Act 181, 1951), they pointed out, specifically provides for the establishment of a joint township police department, but because municipalities operating under charters (cities of Northville and Plymouth) are not included under this law they suggested that either it be amended or some additional legislation be enacted to permit their inclusion.

Neither of the officials saw any obstacles in the way of permissive legislation. They suggested that area representatives at Lansing be informed as to what legislation or legislative amendments are needed.

Meanwhile, the services of the state police are available, they said, to assist the local inter-governmental group in its studies and plans.

Specifically, Captain Brown volunteered — and his offer was quickly accepted — to return following a conference on intergovernmental police protection at Chicago and review the findings of this conference for the local committee.

Concerning a question by Mayor Allen as to the legality of a contractual agreement between city and township for police protection, Brown said he knew of no laws permitting or prohibiting such a contract. In the absence of such a law, however, he advised that one be enacted to protect the communities involved.

(A special Northville township study committee submitted a 19-page report to the township board last spring urging a contract with the city for police protection).

Establishment of a single police authority as envisioned by the intergovernmental study group would be a great economic advantage, the state police officials said. However, Davids said the 21 officers presently employed by Plymouth and Northville would be inadequate to serve all five communities. He suggested that police strength would have to be increased to at least 40 officers.

As for the proposed contract between the cities of Northville and Plymouth for a single dispatching system, he said there is little doubt that the dispatchers of one community could adequately handle calls of both.

(Such a contract has been prepared and is now under consideration. But, according to Allen, there are some knotty problems to be ironed out before the contract can be consummated).

In reporting on consideration of an incinerator authority, Gene Overholt of Plymouth noted that his committee suggests that the five communities consider establishment of its own authority as opposed to joining with Livonia. He said growth in Livonia may one day result in the elimination of outside participation. Furthermore, Livonia, which has signed an engineering contract to design a municipal incinerator, favors joining with only one other municipality in forming its authority, he said.

Investigation, he noted, has shown that an incinerator can be built for a community of 60,000 to 100,000 people for approximately $1 million.

The five communities participating in the intergovernmental study have a combined population of 40,700.

According to Carl D. Pursell, president of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, which hosted Friday's meeting, the next meeting of the entire representative group probably will take place in late September or early October — after further studies by the two sub-committees.

Township OK's Bid For Sewer

A contract for construction of a sewer line along Seven Mile road near the Northville State Hospital was awarded to the Don Gargaro company by the township board last week Wednesday.

Gargaro, which earlier had submitted a low bid of $87,000, is expected to begin work on the project immediately. Although the township will administer the project, including the payment, the entire cost will be borne by Dr. W. E. Gizynski, who asked for its installation to serve his proposed clinic, nursing home and retirement village on some 53 acres of property on the north side of Seven Mile road, across from the state hospital.

The township has already received the money from Dr. Gizynski.

Under an arrangement with the township, the doctor will receive $200 of each standard $400 tap-in charge to the lots which eventually tie into the line.

The line will extend from Marilyn west to the Bonner-Freydl common property line and south to the sewer now serving the state hospital. In exchange for easement permission and for use of the state hospital sewer, the township has agreed to maintain the hospital line.

Among new business matters taken up by the board was the appointment of a replacement for Eugene Guido on the township canvassing board — which met Thursday to canvass the primary vote.

Appointed was F. W. Hembrey of 9300 Napier. Under the law, Guido was unable to continue serving on the board because his wife was a candidate for clerk in the primary election.

Concerning a resolution from the Northville school board calling for annexation of the Moraine elementary school property to the city of Northville, the board tabled the resolution because city officials reportedly had asked for a delay since it may wish to annex a greater area than just the 10-acre school site. The school seeks annexation of its property to gain city police and traffic protection.

Two weeks ago when informed of the school board's intention, Mayor A. M. Allen was less than enthusiastic. He noted then that the school board had not been interested in city status when

Tyler Quits As Trustee

Wilson D. Tyler, unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination as Northville township treasurer in the August 2 primary, resigned the following day as township trustee.

His vacated post was immediately filled by Bernard Baldwin, one of three candidates to win nomination as trustees in the election. Supervisor R. D. Merriam made the appointment, and remaining members of the board concurred in it.

Meeting Wednesday evening, the day following the election, the board was presented with the letter of resignation by Tyler, who left the meeting shortly after it had opened.

His resignation reads:

"In the interest of representative government I tender my resignation effective immediately as a trustee on the Northville township board.

"Continuance of my term as a 'lame duck' trustee until April 1967 would not materially assist the productivity of the board's activities.

"My term of public service has been challenging and enlightening, and I wish continuing incumbents and new members to the enlarged board similar satisfaction and success in their deliberations and community efforts.

"It is recommended that you appoint one of the nominated trustees as soon as possible to complete my term and assist in the remaining months of the work of the present board."

Baldwin will serve out the remainder of Tyler's term, which runs until April, at which time he will take over the post he won in the primary. His election to this post is assured since he will have no Democratic opposition in the November general election.

Tyler, vice-president in charge of public funds accounts for Detroit Bank and Trust, had been a trustee on the township board for the past four years. Instead of seeking renomination to that post in the primary, he chose instead to battle incumbent Alex M. Lawrence for the treasurer's position.

Lawrence defeated Tyler, 436-137, in their bid for the Republican nomination.

The newly appointed trustee, who has been a member of the township planning commission for four years, did not learn of his appointment immediately since he was out of town. A letter telling him of the appointment was sent to him by the supervisor.

Home's a Covered Wagon For Traveling Gillis Family

The hardest road to travel is eccentricity, especially in a world that increasingly demands conformity.

Few are the men without abundant wealth who can shoulder the burden of being eccentric. But such a man stopped at New Hudson and Novi last week, wending his way toward Canada.

He's Leon Gillis, head of a family that has, over the past five years, traveled more than 30,000 miles through 43 states and 12 foreign countries—including Russia—in a horse-drawn covered wagon.

Tall, about six foot one, and tanned, the lonesome Gillis stood beside the wagon casually watching the crowd that curiously and cautiously approached his covered wagon.

By choice, he wore soiled T-shirt, white levis and frayed tennis shoes. "I used to wear a cowboy getup when we first started out. But now I don't bother with it any more," he said in a quiet Southern drawl.

Surprisingly, it took Gillis a long time to realize that clothes were not the man. Nevertheless, he's had a particularly unique outlook on life since the beginning of his strange story some five years ago.

He was 40 then, and worked like others to make his sporting goods and restaurant businesses flourish. But the idea of seeing the world, he explained, especially in a covered wagon, clung to him. He was tiring of his routine. Then, he made a decision: "I just decided to build the wagon and take the trip."

Ranging in age from seven to 18, the Gillis children, daughters Lee Ann, Eileen, Barbara and Janet and sons, Alan and George pitched in to help build the 35-foot wagon, longer but modeled after the prairie schooners that once traveled across America.

To the senior Gillis' way of thinking, the wagon has everything; a grill fueled by bottled gas, cupboard beds set on the floor, a sink fed by bottled water, gas lanterns for light, storage space and rubber wheels to make the riding comfortable.

On September 27, 1961, the Leon Gillis family set out from their Richmond, Virginia, home. Over 4,000 miles 294 days and nine states later, they arrived in California.

"We all made a commitment," said Gillis. "The tail gate was always down for anyone who wanted to leave. Our oldest son, Alan, wanted to leave. He was home sick. He had a girlfriend back in Virginia. But he changed his mind as we pushed on and began to work as a family unit."

Unlike other men, Gillis had no qualms about uprooting his family, just as long as the family stayed together. "I decided I'd teach the children along the way, using books and teachers' manuals," he said.

Then, with the conviction of a man who believes in the effectiveness of his methods, Gillis launched further into one of his favorite subjects, education. "We were having problems in Virginia schools," he pointed out. "And since I believe in practical teaching methods, I felt the children could learn best by seeing various industries. They could learn about the sun and the stars, how other people live."

He said in their travels to date—one odyssey per year for five years running—they have visited hundreds of factories, 40 military bases and 500 homes, foreign and domestic.

"Everybody has been very friendly," he said. He and his family found no barrier in Russia, where they ate in communes with Russian families and were greeted with friendly curiosity as they traveled, an American flag waving above the wagon.

"There was always someone in Moscow, Smolensk and Bresk, who could

Downs Averages $292,896 Nightly

A total of 153,119 harness racing fans wagered $10,251,346 during the 35-night meet that closed Friday night at Northville Downs.

The nightly average handle of $292,896 topped the previous Downs' record by a scant $730 per night.

While betting showed a gain, attendance was down about four per cent.

Although the Downs lost its 25-night spring meet due to labor disputes with horsemen and mutual clerks, the rebates from the state's share of the mutual handle still provides a hefty tax slice for the city of Northville. It's estimated at approximately $115,000.

In a special attraction at Friday night's finale Mr. and Mrs. Archie Niles, long associated with harness racing, were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary. Niles has worked in all phases of harness racing — from groom to driver, trainer and owner.

A race was named in honor of the Northville couple and they were presented with gifts.

Harness racing moved from Northville Downs Friday night to Hazel Park on Saturday night.

In other harness racing news this week Governor George Romney named Joseph A. Childs, former Michigan State Police Commissioner, to succeed Berry Beaman as state racing commissioner.

Travel Series Returning

"A world tour for only five bucks... you just can't beat it."

That's the word from Kenneth Rathert, chairman of the Northville Rotary sponsored Travel and Adventure Series, who this week announced details of the six-part program opening Thursday, October 6.

"We're confident," says Rathert, "that this year's series will be one of the most delightful and educational forms of entertainment presented in the Northville-Novl area. It will feature the best in all color travel pictures, with the artist himself entertaining the audience with accounts of his experiences."

To give area residents a greater opportunity to see the programs, the club has scheduled them on Wednesdays and Thursdays — not just one day as in the past years, Rathert notes.

Programs are slated for October 6, November 9, January 5, February 1, March 2, and March 29.

Mrs. Sophie Huegel

Her Lifetime Spans 20 Different Presidents

Abraham Lincoln was president, and the Civil War pitted the South against the North when Mrs. Sophie Huegel was born July 31, 1864 in Alsace-Lorraine, France.

Twenty presidents later Mrs. Huegel celebrated her 102nd birthday at the Martin Luther Home in South Lyon—a community that was little more than an Indian footpath when she was born.

On hand to honor her at a family dinner were 40 of her immediate family, including several Northville area residents.

Among the cards she received were those from President Lyndon B. Johnson and Rev. Edgar Hoenecke, her former Plymouth pastor, now in Germany.

More than 450 guests stopped by to wish her happy birthday. The dining room of the Home was decorated for the occasion, and a large U-shaped table included large floral center pieces and a huge birthday cake. A gift table with a golden money tree completed the setting as Mrs. Huegel received her guests.

Mrs. Huegel is the mother of eight children, five of whom are still living, and has 11 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Among her grandchildren from this area are Mrs. Fred Balko, Mrs. Fred Casterline, Mrs. Avery Penney and Julius Saner.

THE ZIMMERMANS - Standing behind their parents, Kitty and Bob,

The Robert Zimmerman family believes in having individual interests as well as doing things together. All the Zimmermans, down to the youngest, have their own special pursuits.

The newest residents in Northville Estates subdivision, they live in a beige ranch home roofed with red tiles at 20800 East Chigwidden.

Snyder, New York, was their home before they moved here June 19. It's right outside of Buffalo.

Robert Zimmerman, the head of the family, has won many honors for his interest - archery. "He's very talented," his wife asserts, and his numerous trophies and other awards back her up.

He won the club championship at the archery club in Buffalo, and has taken many firsts and seconds in other contests, including benefit shoots for crippled children's foundations.

He didn't leave his bows and arrows behind when he came to Michigan either. He just joined an archery club in Detroit.

Mr. Zimmerman is the sales and servicing engineer for the Frederick H. Mason company.

His wife, Kitty, says her "hobby" is her family. "I've been so busy raising my family over the years, I haven't had much time for any other hobby," she laughs.

Their oldest daughter, Mary Teresa, is 19 and is still living back in New York. She is secretary for the chief of staff's office in a veteran's hospital.

Helen, 17, graduated this June and hasn't made any definite plans for the future. Secretarial work seems the most likely choice at the moment, however.

Sports are her special interest. In high school she was on the swimming and track teams, and still enjoys swimming.

Next oldest is Patti, 16, who will be a senior at Northville high school this fall. She loves music.

At her New York high school she sang in the choir, the girls' chorus, and musical productions, and hopes to continue to participate in these activities at her new school.

Besides an interest in singing she has also taken guitar lessons, and one day hopes to use both skills in a show business career.

She has other hobbies too, including swimming, reading and sewing.

Tom, 14, will be a freshman at Northville high school. He shares his family's unanimous interest in swimming, but astronomy is his specialty.

He has his own telescope and de-

Fall term is only a little over two weeks away for Western Michigan university students. Nearly 17,000 of them will converge on the spacious campus in Kalamazoo on the weekend of August 17 and 18.

The fourth largest college in Michigan, Western began holding classes in the summer of 1904. A faculty of three and student body of 117 comprised those first classes.

Since then Western has never stopped growing. The students now occupy 27 dorms on campus, each housing 200-500 students.

Western began as a teachers' college, and although it has branched out into numerous other fields, it still graduates the second highest number of teachers in the United States each year.

As at all colleges, social life, athletic and cultural programs are important. Its school colors being brown and gold, it publishes a year-book of the same name.

As a member of the mid-American conference, Western faces athletic teams from Bowling Green, Kent College, Marshall, Miami of Ohio and Toledo, as well as non-conference teams.

A Sophomore at Western, PENNY SCANTLIN is busy, and full of plans for the coming months.

After school dismissed in April she took a trip to colonial Williamsburg and Virginia with her mother, Mrs. Jack Scantlin. On June 18 she was a bridesmaid in the Mt. Clemens wedding of her roommate. Before the wedding she was hostess at a shower honoring her roommate at her home on 46287 Pickford.

She has been working at the D & C dime store, which she enjoys because "you meet all kinds of different people and it helps you learn how to get along with them."

When not working she is up at the Swim Club, driving, sewing, shopping or riding horses.

August 28 is her departure date for fall term. She'll be living in Draper Hall with three other girls from the Detroit area who have visited her often throughout the summer.

Her future plans include working as a fashion buyer or as a secretary to a fashion buyer.

College in general is great as far as Penny is concerned. "I really, really like it," she says, "and it's great that you build so many lasting friendships."

Two other Western sophomores, PAT and SUE TEMPLETON, will have a new home port on vacations from college. They moved with their family to Howell not long ago.

GLORIA PACIFIC has spent most of her vacation away from Western at her family's summer home in Port Austin. She lived in Zimmerman Hall on the west campus last year. Western is divided into two distinct campuses - east and west.

Feeling Better

"His spirits are good".

That's the word from Mrs. William F. Weidner of 672 Fairbrook as she reported the condition of her son, James, who suffered a broken neck in a diving accident at his home two weeks ago.

A patient at Mt. Carmel hospital, the 19-year-old youth has expressed his thanks for the get-well cards he has received, Mrs. Weidner said.

"He's especially grateful, as are we, for the friends who provided funds for a remote control television set," she said. The youth is able to watch television through a mirror his father has attached to his traction bed.

A sophomore at Western Michigan university, James hopes now to be able to return to school with the opening of the winter term.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Waara are spending their vacation in Philadelphia, Mississippi.

Mrs. Thomas Kivell from London, Ontario was the guest of her brother, John Finlayson, for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Bohs from Toledo are the guests of Mrs. Lottie Chambers.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley McAtte spent three days at Gaylord last weekend.

Marsha and David Lent from Livonia are the guests of their grandparents, the George Morris of Wixom.

Weekend guests of the Victor Noirels of West Maple road were Miss Joan McKeown from Windsor, Miss Vi Walsh from Peterboro, Canada.

At the Wixom planning meeting held on Monday the Commission passed a resolution recommending to the city council a plan wherein the city can apply for study on Urban renewal.

If the city qualifies the Federal government would pay three-fourths of the total cost, with the city paying one fourth. Then the cost of any improvements such as sewer and roads would be applied to city costs. The city would get credit for such costs, thus cutting the total cost to a very minimum.

The planning commission also passed a resolution recommending that the city pursue the feasibility of a "ring road" around the center of the city to relieve traffic congestion. An engineering study will be necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lahti have returned from a two week trip to New Orleans. While in New Orleans Ray attended the National Association of Counties. He represented Oakland county. They visited all points of interest in New Orleans and stopped at several state parks on their trip.

On Saturday night the Lahtis hosted a dinner party. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Westerdale from Union Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Willhalm from Rochester, Mr. and Mrs. John Cosgrove, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fisher from Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Zimmerman from Hunterville, Alabama.

Plan Alert Signals At School Crossing

Electronic alert signals will be installed on Eight Mile road near the new Moraine elementary school crossing as a temporary stop-gap measure while school officials study possible installation of additional safety devices. The vote to erect the RCA alert signals, which are activated automatically by cars exceeding school zone speeds, carried with it a stipulation that the board be polled immediately as to its position on installation of flasher signals as soon as cost estimates have been obtained.

While no formal decision has been reached on installation of a pedestrian overpass, it appears from the tenor of board discussion to date that an overpass is considered too costly. However, Secretary Stanley Johnston, who said he had personally inspected the crossing area and noted the danger, said signals merely place all of the responsibility on the driver, leaving children to fend for themselves.

He noted too that if the crossing is placed in an area other than at the entrance to Northville Estates children will be forced to walk along Eight Mile road to the crossing area. This, he said, would be an equally dangerous situation.

Trustee Robert Froelich directed administrators to consult with Glenn Delbert, safety expert for the Ford Motor company at the Wixom plant, while making their studies. He also suggested that studies take into consideration longer range safety aspects, including attendance at the school of children living in areas other than Northville Estates.

It was suggested that plans for a walkway between the school and the Taft Colony subdivision to the south be considered.

Board members went on record indicating their interest in some 13-acres of property near Bradner and Six Mile road, which the Thompson-Brown company has suggested may be available for a school.

Officials are to secure details of cost, timing of when the property may become available, and an exact description of the land involved. Furthermore, it was suggested that officials determine how this property fits projected student growth patterns in the area, while weighing priority in overall school planning.

Earlier board members were told that eventual re-location of Bradner road as it flows into Six Mile may ultimately result in the availability of the land between the present and future Bradner road location. Thompson-Brown is considering a giant development in the area.

Concerning priority of future school construction, Assistant Superintendent Raymond Spear noted that current plans for a housing complex north of Connerman school, adjacent to Connerman subdivision, necessitates construction of another school in that area. He predicted that American would have difficulty in accommodating children from the Northville Heights addition and certainly the school would be inadequate to serve the proposed new development.

Currently, the board is considering an offer by the Presbyterian church for use of its facilities for temporary classrooms rent-free while the school awaits completion of Moraine elementary. Blake Couse, chairman of the church's board of trustees, outlined the following requirements concerning the offer:

The school must make the necessary alterations to bring the facilities up to fire code standard for school classrooms, carry necessary liability insurance, and limit use to one school year.

Spear noted that the church classrooms are designed for only between 12 and 15 children.

Alternative solutions he said include utilization of present school facilities such as kitchens, faculty room, and gymnasium, and the least desired but most economical, half-day sessions.

Expressing its thanks to Couse and the church, the board decided to await the recommendation of the superintendent, who said he would present the results of his studies at the next board meeting.

Quotations on improvements for playground and parking areas at the junior high, American elementary, and the high school were opened, following a report by Johnston on the needs at these schools.

Cost estimates ranged from $9,750 to $11,605 at the junior high, from $9,750 to $14,565 at American, and from $5,964 to $8,152 at the high school.

No action was taken by the board, although a study is to be made to determine funds available for these projects.

Contracts were awarded to low bidders on fuel, oil and milk. The winning firms included: Ira Wilson, 5 1/2-cents per 1/2 pint of white milk and 6-cents per pint of chocolate milk, Gulf Oil, fuel oil; Sinclair, chassis lubricant and gasoline; and Sun Oil, motor oil.

The board decided to hold its next special meeting on August 29 for the purpose of approving the teacher salary contract and for studying the school budget—preliminary to setting a public hearing on the budget.

Delbert, a member of the audience, questioned the board as to why it would ratify the contract after the teachers are scheduled to meet August 25 to approve or disapprove it. Does this mean, he asked that you could disapprove it after teachers indicate approval?

Spear explained that approval by both the teachers and the board is a necessary formality since only the negotiators for both sides have reached agreement and both must now discuss the ramifications of the contract with the bodies that they represent.

Approval by the board, after ratification by teachers, he said, is normal procedure. He said there is little doubt that the board would approve it.

Following the meeting, board members met in an executive session. The subject of their private discussion was not revealed to the audience.

Elementary Principal Named

Robert W. Stafford of Chester, Indiana has been named principal of American elementary school, succeeding Keith Berkley. His appointment by Superintendent Alex Nelson was approved by the board of education Monday evening.

The 37-year-old native of Watertown, New York has been director of instructional material for Westchester township schools for the past two years.

Prior to taking the position in Indiana, he was the team leader of instruction at Abbott elementary school of Ann Arbor—a school noted for its successful team teaching program, for two years.

From 1957 to 1961 he was the assistant principal at Bach elementary school, Ann Arbor, where earlier he had taught fifth and sixth grades. He also was an elementary teacher in Tampa, Florida from 1955 to 1956.

Married with two children, he holds a bachelor of science degree from the University of Tampa (Florida), a master's degree from the same institution in elementary education, and he expects to earn another master's degree—in education administration—next year from the University of Michigan.

A veteran of the United States Navy, 1946-1950, his resume includes being an assistant pastor in Tampa from 1954 to 1956.

Stafford replaces Berkley, who resigned earlier this summer to take a temporary teaching position at Wayne State university while working for his doctorate. Berkley had been appointed principal in February to take the place of Raymond Spear, who became assistant superintendent.

Naming of a high school principal is expected to take place Friday evening during a special meeting of the board—a meeting scheduled following an executive session Monday.

A week ago, the board's choice for high school principal declined to take the job.

speak English," he said. "Language or the iron curtain was no barrier." Nor was the Atlantic. The wagon was shipped across the Atlantic, and a Dutch brewer donated a team of two horses.

In his family's 13-month sojourn through nine foreign countries in 1964-65, matrimony visited them. Lou Ann, the eldest daughter, married a helicopter pilot in Germany.

"She was lying in a bikini on the tailgate," Gillis recalled. "A helicopter came by, and the pilot liked what he saw, so he circled and landed. He asked for a date and five months later, they were married. He's 26 now and she's 22."

It's adventures like this, a chance to meet people, a healthy way of life as a family unit that brings a smile to the lips of Leon Gillis. "You must ultimately depend on the child's judgment. You can't always make these decisions," he instructed.

His son, Alan, is now attending Virginia Polytechnic Institute on a scholarship, Gillis volunteered. He emphasized that the Gillis way of life "hasn't hurt him any."

He continued: "It's said that a college graduate will hold seven different jobs before he dies. If that's so, how can anybody know what exactly to teach him? I believe my methods are just as good," he added firmly.

Gillis has had two years of college schooling himself—small but significant evidence that he cherishes scholastic knowledge. In the main, however, he clings to the practical approach.

There's been ample time for Gillis to teach his family in the five years they have been traveling in their covered wagon. Besides the trips to California and Europe, they also have traveled from their Virginia home to New York and Eastern Canada.

Now they're on their fifth trip, this time to tour Western Canada. It started last February from St. Petersburg, Florida.

Traveling approximately 20 miles per day, the Gillises inched their way down Grand River avenue, heading toward Detroit and the Ambassador bridge. They made an overnight stop in a school yard at New Hudson and a feed stop in Novi.

Only the three girls, Eileen, Barbara and Janet and son, George were with their father. Mrs. Gillis, Iyone, was visiting friends in her home town of Eveleth, Minnesota, Lou Ann, of course, was with her husband, and Alan was at school.

One of the spectators asked Gillis whether he was going to the center of Detroit, where the traffic was heavy. "We've been through heavy traffic in New York's Times Square, Paris and Moscow," he retorted.

"This is the only way to travel," Gillis said pointing to his covered wagon. "You couldn't give me 20 Rolls Royces for it."

With a mention of Ford, his wealth and the luxurious cars at his disposal, Gillis spurned the boast with his own particular brand of logic that makes his eccentric life possible.

"Ford's not as free as I am," Gillis instructed. "What would I do with $100,000? Does Ford get up at 11:30 like I did today?"

"In America," he zealously pointed out, "we are too often led. Our economy has more power and control over the population than Marshall law. The average person is booked up for 30 years with working."

"I'm healthy and debt free. I live very simply; I need very little. In Russia, I ate too much caviar. I can't afford it here."

Gillis asserts that he's through with work, at least the kind that puts a man to the grist wheel to earn money. "I've done all the work I'm going to do. If you haven't made a fortune by the time you're 40, you never will," he pointed out. "What would I do with $100,000 anyway?"

How he earns his money to keep the Gillis family rolling is an untold secret. There have been over 300 TV appearances and hundreds of magazine and newspaper articles, but Gillis claims they've been free. He is writing a book, however, that will be released soon to yield royalties. But he says he's true to his word; he doesn't work at odd jobs en route.

Although Gillis is vehement in defending his way of life, he is also quick to defend the independence of others, though he may not subscribe to their actions.

"I wouldn't advise anyone else to do what I've done," he said. "This probably won't appeal to the average man. He couldn't see his way clear. But I'm not material conscious."

What does the man who made his dream come true intend to do the rest of his life?

"I'm going to travel as long as I can. I'd still like to tour England, Scotland and Australia. Perhaps when I'm getting old, I'll establish a museum containing all the things we have collected on our trips, including the wagon, and settle in Florida."

"It'll be free, of course."

"It'll be free, of course."

Although Gillis is vehement in defending his way of life, he is also quick to defend the independence of others, though he may not subscribe to their actions.

"I wouldn't advise anyone else to do what I've done," he said. "This probably won't appeal to the average man. He couldn't see his way clear. But I'm not material conscious."

What does the man who made his dream come true intend to do the rest of his life?

"I'm going to travel as long as I can. I'd still like to tour England, Scotland and Australia. Perhaps when I'm getting old, I'll establish a museum containing all the things we have collected on our trips, including the wagon, and settle in Florida."

RECORD TURNOUT—Packed and ready to go in the wee hours of this morning is this group of canoeing enthusiasts, a record number of 74 youngsters and five supervisors. They loaded their gear and took the bus to Grayling where they began a 50-mile canoe trip down the AuSable river to McMaster's bridge. The August 3, 4 and 5 trip was another of a long list of summer events offered by the Northville recreation department.

In Class "F" Race

Braves Clip Litho But Lose by Whisker

On the wings of a whirlwind finish, the Northville Braves took second-place in the class F recreation league and missed catching the champion University Litho nine by a whisker.

It's the second time in as many years that the Braves have finished second to advance to the Inter-City playoffs.

The tournament begins next week, and although drawings have not been made, the Braves will probably play sometime Monday at the Henry Ford Centennial field in Livonia, it was reported. The field is located midway between Schoolcraft and Six Mile roads on Farmington road.

Over the second half of the season, the on-rushing Braves lost only one game and in that one, they lost in the last half of the final inning on two unearned runs.

Highlights of the season for the Braves was when they beat University Litho, 3-0, a team that had been beaten only once before.

Bernie Bach pitched near perfect baseball, not allowing a run to cross the plate. In the third inning, Litho put runners on second and third with none out, but Bach rared back and struck out the side.

Bach received plenty of help from the defense, however, as it came up some sparkling plays and didn't commit an error.

CLASS F Final Standings

University Litho	12-2
Northville Braves	11-3
Bill's Mkt.	10-4
Northville Oilers	8-6

T-Birds Win Finale, 7-0

In their final game of the season, the Spagy T-Birds beat Bloom's Insurance 7-0 to nail down second place in the class E recreation league.

The T-Birds have an 8-4 record. By being the top Northville team in the circuit, they earned the right to compete in the inter-city tournament to be held next week at a city park in Egoise.

Fisher Shoes, which has led the league throughout the season, was taken to task by University Litho. Fisher protected its unbeaten record, but barely, by tying Litho, 10-10.

CLASS E Final Standings

Fisher's Shoes	12-0-1
Spagy T-Birds	8-4

Attention Gridders!

Football practice for Northville high school varsity and junior varsity candidates will begin August 29, Athletic Director Dave Longridge announced this week.

Equipment will be issued from 8 to 11 a.m., beginning August 22 and continuing through August 29. No equipment will be issued, however, until physical examination and history cards have been completed, Longridge pointed out.

Students in grades 10, 11 and 12 are eligible to try out for the varsity. Ninth and selected tenth graders will eventually comprise the junior varsity squad.

In Title, Hits, Pitching Jayhawks Cop Novi Honors

The curtain came down on the Novi Little League last week as the Mobarak Jayhawks, who played the leading role all season long, received the most plaudits.

Displaying a one-two pitching punch of Tom Van Wagner and Ron Cavel, plus a heavy hitting attack, the Jayhawks won the pennant going away with a 14-1 record.

Van Wagner, the sparkplug of the team, posted the winningest pitching record, 8-1, and the lowest earned run average, .40. And at the plate he was just as effective, hitting at a .761 clip.

Teammate Cavel had the best winning percentage among pitchers, however, as he hurled his way to a 6-0 mark.

NOVI LITTLE LEAGUE Final Standings

Jayhawks	14-1
Flynn	9-6
Party Store	9-6
Smith	7-8
Paragon	5-10
Rexall	1-14

Cavel tacked up his sixth win in the Jayhawks' final game of the season, a 19-9, slugfest win over Flynn. He gave up eight hits, while his teammates were pounding out 12, including John Pantalone with a triple and Dave Ward and Les Branch with doubles.

By edging Flynn, 6-5, Party Store moved into a second-place tie with Flynn. Joe Campbell, in relief of Steve Bosak, received credit for the win. Each team collected eight hits.

Jim Wilenius and Tim Assemany doubled for Flynn and Campbell slammed a triple and Mark Lytle a double for Party Store.

And Paragon defeated lowly Rexall, 14-13, with Tom Shillito getting the win after relieving Tom Miller in the fifth inning. Mike Pittman tripled for Paragon and Vince Podera doubled for Rexall.

Water Carnival Set All Day Next Tuesday

There will be fun and games galore next Tuesday at Groome's Beach at Whitmore Lake—and prizes for the winners.

That's when the Northville recreation department will stage its annual water carnival, winding up the department's summer program.

Highlighting the water fun will be a greased watermelon plunge that will be held during the afternoon. The individual or group coming up with the watermelon will receive a prize and the watermelon.

There will be a string of contests throughout the day, including swimming and canoe races, diving competition, and novelty races for younger children.

Buses will leave from the back of the Community building and Amerman school at 9:15 a.m., and scheduled stops will be made along the normal pick-up route. Buses will return at approximately 4 p.m.

Recreation Director Ken Conley said that only those children and parents riding the bus will be admitted to the beach for a charge of 25 cents.

Parents are encouraged to come, said Conley, and they must accompany children under eight years old.

Conley pointed out that children must bring their own lunches or money to purchase them at Groome's beach.

In the event of rain, the carnival will be held the following day, Wednesday. The same schedule will be followed, Conley said.

Five persons, including a Northville man, were arraigned before Judge Charles McDonald last week on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct.

An Acre of Bakers

Like many of the disappearing traditions of our past, the family reunion, although still a favorite locally, is fast going the way of hayrides and canning bees. For Northville- Novi area families like the M. A. Bakers of 51825 Eight Mile Road (foreground), the "old-fashioned" family reunion—complete with a gigantic, belly-stuffing dinner, shop talk, games and just plain old reminiscing—is still one of the most important events of the year. For the Bakers, reunion Sunday meant "nearly an acre" of folks who directly or indirectly claim the name for themselves. Their reunion has been held annually here in the shaded Baker yard for many years.

Optional Worship
Yes, God made us free. He does not want compulsory or routine worship. He does not want our slavish adulation, but freely offered love and respect.

Without freedom, love is a sham, and respect, hypocrisy. So we are free to worship whatever we please . . . money, popularity, comfort, sex, entertainment . . . whatever we please or choose to put at the top of our private list of values.

Perhaps you don't keep such a list. Few people bother to write it down, but your list is there, just the same, in your heart and mind. Do you know what is at the top of it, or the bottom, or in between? It's not too hard to find out if you really want to; just take an honest look at the way you spend your time and your money. For every decision you make is influenced by the order of values on your list. You may find that your list is not what you think it is.

Take Church attendance, for example; some people manage to come in good weather and bad, whether they happen to "feel like it" that morning or not.

But if you make less effort to get to church than you would to make a buck, to meet a date, to have your hair done, or to play a game, then it is clear that something other than God is at the top of your list.

God's first commandment, "Thou shalt have no other gods before Me," is not a commandment only, it is also a statement of fact. God is the ultimate, the Absolute, the Creator of all things. He cannot take second place to anything else and still be God. This means that if God is not at the top of your private list, then you are not worshipping God at all. You are bowing down, now and then, to some idol of your own to which you have given the name of God. You are building your whole life on a false conception of reality.

God's sovereign majesty demands our respect, but more than that, despite our infidelities, God has reached down again and again to show His steadfast love to us, His beloved children. So Jesus continues the first commandment, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy mind." And we respond to God's majesty and love by joining in the worship of His Church every Sunday.

Regular participation in the Church's worship is not only a duty to God. It is also a discipline by which we shape our private list of values until it corresponds with the true facts of life, until God is firmly planted in our hearts and minds, as He is in the whole of His Creation.

Worship in church is, of course, not the whole of Christian life. We are also called to do God's work in the world, but such work is not to be undertaken for our own mixed and self-regarding motives. We are not saved by merit, but by God's gracious and undeserved love, which when it is received in faith and gratitude, leads us to offer ourselves as willing servants of God's love to others.

Can any of us say that we do not need a weekly renewal of our relationship with God in Christ?

FINDING GOD IN NATURE

Down in Louisiana there's a spot which casts a spell of reverence upon my soul.

But what I have found along the bayou I have seen, too, in the awesome might of a granite peak, in the mystic wonder of a shadowy canyon. I have heard it in the restless symphony of the surf at night.

These, the shrines of nature, are God's hint of a spiritual meaning in life.

But, long ago, man responded to God's hint. The churches in which we worship and learn and serve—these are the workshops He inspired. Week by week, year by year, under the hand of the Master, lives are being fashioned to His blueprint . . . devoted to His purpose.

Yes, we can find God in nature! But the road of spiritual discovery only begins along the bayou. It goes on from there to our highest quest.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED
BY DETROIT EDISON

An electric water heater is for the people who don't like to run out of hot water. We're so sure you'll like one, we guarantee your satisfaction—for a whole year! What do we mean by satisfaction? Simply this: If you don't get all the hot water you want, when you want it, you get all your money back, including any you may have spent on installation. And it doesn't matter where you bought your electric water heater. The Edison guarantee still applies. No strings attached. Fair enough?

EDISON

P.S. Average-size families with electric water heaters pay as little as $3.88 a month—a standard rate—for hot water. How much are you paying?

DRIVER UNINJURED — Waiting inside the cab of his giant highway tractor as a crane loaded two attached trailers with 44 yards of sand, Ralph Rinehart, 39, of Madison Heights felt the pit bank give way last week Monday. The tractor and one trailer slipped sideways and then toppled upside down into the deep pit on the Thompson-Brown property north of Eight Mile road and just west of Taft. Although the cab was crushed, Rinehart escaped injury. It took wreckers and the crane nearly a day to dig and haul the rig out. Sand was being removed from the old Taft pit by the AAA Trucking company of Roseville.

Robert A. Stenger Named Acting Dean at Schoolcraft

Appointment of Robert A. Stenger as Acting Dean of Academic Instruction has been announced by Dr. Eric J. Bradner, president of Schoolcraft college. The appointment was effective July 1.

Stenger, 36, has been a member of the Schoolcraft faculty as an English instructor since the college opened in 1964. He succeeds Dr. L. Dell Reed, who resigned in May to accept a position as vice-president and campus director of the new Western Campus of the Cuyahoga County (Ohio) Community College, Cleveland.

A native of Beaver, Pennsylvania, Stenger received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from Eastern Michigan University, and taught at Rogers City High and Plymouth High before joining the Schoolcraft faculty. He had also taught evening classes for two years at Lawrence Tech.

Stenger was elected the first president of the Schoolcraft Faculty Forum in 1964 and was re-elected the following year. He is now taking advanced work toward his doctorate degree at the University of Michigan, and has participated in the Midwest Leadership Training Program for administrators in the community college field. Stenger and his wife have four children. Formerly residents of Plymouth, the Stengers recently moved to Northville.

Approve Nursing Grant

Approval of a $118,111 grant to train 100 unemployed workers to be practical nurses, was announced this week by Congressman Billie S. Farnum.

Training will be conducted at Oakland Community College near Pontiac.

The grant funded under the Manpower Development and Training Act (M.D.T.A.) was approved jointly by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John W. Gardner.

"M.D.T.A. identifies current and possible shortage in our supply of essential manpower and helps persons qualified for the key positions through education and training," Farnum commented in announcing the new development.

"In training 100 unemployed workers in this 48-week course to become qualified, competent, licensed practical nurses we are not only meeting a crucial need in the field of health care," Farnum went on, "we are also taking people off unemployment and welfare roles and putting them on the pay rolls."

A member of the Appropriations Subcommittee on Labor, Health, Education and Welfare, Farnum added: "The additional taxes we will receive when these unemployed workers become taxpayers rather than tax eaters will more than offset the costs involved in running the program. Investment in education and training in human beings is one of the wisest investments we can make."

The grant provides $59,840 for training allowances to be paid to the future nurses while they take the course, and $58,271 to cover the actual costs of the training.

Both the Michigan Employment Security and Vocational Education Department developed the training proposal and submitted it for approval.

Visit Kent

Kensington Metropolitan Park attendance for the month of July was up over the figure for the same month of 1965, officials reported this week.

Attendance last month climbed to 454,300 visitors, compared to 433,000 in July of last year.

Although attendance was up, officials said, it was below the record of 480,000 persons who came to the park in July of 1958.

Kensington, which covers 4,300 acres and opened in 1948, had the high total visitors this past July of all Huron-Clinton Metropolitan authority parks.

Why is Good Service Hard to Find?

Because, as the song says, a good man is hard to find. Good mechanics become scarcer as the mechanic's job becomes more complicated.

Small to medium-sized car dealers, who provide the best and least expensive service in the industry, ironically have the hardest time supplying that market since they are themselves outside the large city skilled labor source. But they are strongly motivated by their need to retain customer loyalty in their limited market area.

Today's mechanic is never finished going to school because the fast-changing automobile never stops changing. How about the case of the doctor who told a parent-teacher group he had learned more SINCE he left school. "And it's so much simpler in your business Doc," said a mechanic in the audience. "You only have two models."

The point where inadequate service, training and equipment shows up most is diagnosis. Nationally, motorists pay millions for really unnecessary work. It is far more common than dishonesty on the part of garages.

Good service is not magic. It is good mechanics periodically re-schooled on new engineering, well paid and equipped with every labor-saving tool the industry has devised.

It is also the desire to satisfy the customer on the dealer's part, because only a dealer interested in the long range effects of good service on the customer will expend the time, trouble and finance to provide it.

IN UNIFORM

Lynn D. Baughman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baughman of 52260 West Nine Mile road, has enlisted in the United States Air Force to become a pilot.

Currently at Fort Polk, Louisiana where he will receive his basic training, the 1964 Northville high school graduate will transfer later to Fort Walters, Texas for four weeks of pre-flight training.

In addition, he will receive 36 weeks of training at Fort Rucker, Alabama before receiving his pilot's wings and commission.

For the past two years, Lynn has been attending Schoolcraft college.

Lynn D. Baughman

Indiantown Gap, Pennsylvania—Cadet Robert S. Wetterstrom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Wetterstrom of 46376 West 7 Mile, Northville, was one of 400 Reserve Officers Training Corps cadets last week who received a commission as a second lieutenant in the United States Army. Wetterstrom graduated in June from Xavier University.

For 2,800 other cadets, the day marked completion of six weeks of intensive training here at the nation's largest ROTC training center, Indiantown Gap Military Reservation. Upon completion of college and further ROTC training, these 2,800 will be eligible for commissions.

Together, the 3,200 students—representing 75 colleges and universities in 21 states—comprised the largest contingent of cadets to receive training in one six-week cycle at Indiantown Gap.

Fort Gordon, Georgia—Army Pvt. Gerald L. West, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester L. West, 23895 E. LeBost drive, Novi, completed a signal supply and parts course at the Army Southeastern Signal School, Fort Gordon, Georgia, July 29.

During the seven-week course, West was trained in supply, storage and stock accounting operations and learned to handle electronic repair parts and components used in Army Signal equipment.

New South Lyon High School Underway

The first shovel of dirt was turned Sunday at the site of the new South Lyon high school, Nine Mile and Pontiac Trail.

A brief afternoon ceremony marked the start of construction of a modern school facility which will house 800 to 1200 students when completed late in 1967.

Participating in the groundbreaking were Wilfred Heidt, president of the Board of Education; Frank Bartlett, superintendent of South Lyon School District; C. Henry Haberkorn, of O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach, Inc., architects, and representatives of the school contractors.

The 109,533 square foot, T-shaped building will be completely departmentalized; each department self-contained with instructional areas, office center and storage areas for special materials. The high school will feature strong science education and reportedly will have one of the finest scientific laboratories in the area.

Its materials resource center and audio-visual center also has been tagged as outstanding.

The building will include a large gymnasium which will be divisible and, with an auxiliary gymnasium over the locker room, will offer three separate teaching areas at one time.

A cafeteria with a stage area will double as a public meeting place, the largest available in the community.

The new school will replace the present high school and the older school will become a junior high school.

Total cost of the building, including parking area, playground facilities and all equipment, will be $2,600,000. Mon-

NEW HIGH SCHOOL—Ground was broken Sunday for the new South Lyon high school. Scheduled for completion in 1967, the school will house classroom space for between 800 and 1,200 students, a gymnasium and cafeteria with stage.

ies for the project was approved in a bond issue passed in June, 1965.

Architects for the school are O'Dell, Hewlett & Luckenbach of Birmingham, largest architectural firm in the state specializing in educational facilities.

Clarence Gleason, Inc., of Detroit, is the general contractor; Munro Electric Co. of Livonia, electrical contractor; J. L. O'Loughlin Inc. of Detroit, mechanical contractor; and Great Lakes Hotel Supply Co. of Detroit, food service contractor.

Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank or trust company to be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds, which paying agent qualifies as such under the statutes of the State of Michigan or of the Federal Government. Accrued interest to the date of delivery of such bonds must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

Bonds maturing in the years 1976 to 1980, inclusive, may be redeemed at the option of the Village, in inverse numerical order, on any interest payment date on or after October 1, 1970, at par and accrued interest to the date fixed for redemption.

The bonds are issued in anticipation of the collection of special assessments on Special Assessment Rolls Nos. 4 through 7, inclusive, and are divided among said special assessment rolls in the manner provided in the bond authorizing resolution. 'Action' Takes Time in Government

LANSING — Wheels of government often move exceedingly slow. Witness a case which was heatedly debated two years ago and now flairs anew.

Early in 1964, the State Civil Service Commission began fighting to get the larger Secretary of State fee branches under its jurisdiction. These are the offices which distribute auto license plates.

For decades, the Secretary of State has been blessed with one of the largest patronage organizations in these fee branches. He decides where branch offices should be and who should manage the offices.

Contention of the Civil Service Commission is that the largest of these, primarily in large metropolitan areas, employ several full-time people and do a volume of business which warrants their inclusion under the civil service setup.

The Commission ordered fee payments stopped as of June 30, 1964 to the selected large offices. Civil Service examinations were given and over 100 top rankers on the written test were interviewed orally that spring to allow the Commission to establish a roster of available managers.

When the state treasurer failed to stop the payments, the Commission took the case to the Ingham County Circuit Court.

Jurisdiction of the case in the Circuit Court was challenged by the Secretary of State, who contended a decision on the matter should come from the new Court of Appeals.

Thus, a two-year stall occurred until recently when the Court of Appeals decided the question before it. The question, however, simply meant the renewal of the basic issue of whether the large branches should be changed from fee offices to Civil Service salary-pay basis.

The Court of Appeals decision said only that the Circuit Court did have jurisdiction in the matter.

Thus, a fight which was almost forgotten will start anew. How long it lasts could be considerable because Circuit Court dockets throughout the state are heavy and the Ingham County bench is no exception.

No doubt any decision at the Circuit level will be appealed by the losing side so it could be a good many years before a final decision is known on whether certain license plate offices will be brought under Civil Service.

DESPITE A LATE START, an undetermined number of fall freshmen in Michigan will get state assistance with the high cost of attending private colleges and universities.

Questions of church-state separation were sharply debated before the Legislature gave approval to a $3.5 million appropriation which became law Aug. 1. It provides scholarships to students at private schools recognized by the State Board of Education.

Some 40 institutions would be included in the eligible list, most of them church-related. Students could be eligible for scholarships under the new law if their family's income was $10,000 or less, with smaller amounts being available to youths from the higher income families.

With just over a month to mull over an estimated 7,000 applications, officials in the Department of Education anticipate little difficulty in distributing the $100-$500 grants provided under the law.

Support for the scholarship program was based largely on the idea of encouraging students to enroll at private colleges and possibly relieve some of the pressure on the public institutions. Enrollments at the private schools had been dropping in recent years.

HARDLY A DAY goes by without some national columnist mentioning the name of Michigan's Governor in speculation about the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

Gov. George Romney isn't very vocal on the possibility one way or the other, but his out-of-state appearances are becoming more frequent, one mark of a potential candidate.

Unlike Pennsylvania's Gov. William Scranton and California hopeful Ronald Reagan, the Michigan executive has made no positive statements recently putting himself out of consideration. Many observers commented that he was inadvertently letting his presidential aspirations show in some of the appointments he made under the reorganization of state government last year and early this year.

Several key supporters were placed in departmental jobs, the self-appointed forecasters said, simply to keep them close at hand until the time would be right to switch them to full-time campaigners.

The same observers watched and listened closely to see Romney's approach to his current year campaign. It is customary for a candidate to avow he is running for "this job and no other." Since the Governor will be elected to a four-year term in November, Romney's wording on any such statement will be scrutinized with equal interest by both his supporters and his opponents.

Small Town Boom

BABSON PARK, Mass.—Since World War II the whole face of America has changed. There have been more numerous and more far-reaching advances in technology, industry, and transportation than in any comparable period in our history. These have been accompanied by a 38% increase in population and by a mighty cross-migration from farms to urban areas and from the large core cities to the outer suburbs. In the process, many of the nation's smaller towns have grown and prospered. But nearly as many more towns just haven't kept pace.

Small-town growth has not been confined to any one section of the nation, but it has been most vigorous in the South and in the Far West reflecting the heavy movement of industry and people into those areas. Perhaps the biggest growth factor is need. Towns grow and expand to meet needs. If the needs don't materialize, there is no cause for growth. And if the needs are there, but not fully perceived or exploited, the opportunity is lost. Towns which are bound to grow are county seats, sites of colleges, or headquarters of government agencies or of sizable service businesses or industries.

Growth begets growth. Many of the small county seats and college towns of yesteryear are today thriving cities, some of them fairly large ones. They have expanded primarily because their development of retail and other services, and of cultural opportunities, has attracted new economic activity.

GEOGRAPHIC location also plays an important part in the economic growth potential. If a region has abundant natural resources and is marching forward by making maximum use of its advantages, such get-up-and-go will almost automatically bring growth to many of its small towns too. Of course, small towns within 20 to 30 miles of larger cities usually have better prospects for growth than do places more off the beaten track. This is true largely because even small industries need to locate where they will be assured of the required labor, good transportation, and nearness to suppliers of raw materials and other necessary equipment.

But the more isolated towns need not always be so isolated. New high-speed highways continue to open up vast tracts of land far out in the country for development. Some of the most prosperous towns of the 1970s will be entirely new communities built on sites that today are still completely rural, and in some cases actually wilderness.

As our smaller towns grow larger, they suffer all kinds of growing pains. Chief among these are the need all at once for enlargement of educational and recreational facilities, expansion of fire and police departments, procurement of ample water supplies, and provision of adequate plant and equipment to assure prompt and effective disposal of waste.

All these services and improvements cost money. And the cost is rising year by year. Hence it behooves those towns which must meet new demands for capital improvements to step warily. The temptation to go full steam ahead is great as needs mushroom. But for towns as well as for people, the foundation for lasting prosperity is fiscal sanity. Do not allow debt to become unmanageable!

MORE AND more we hear proposals that smaller towns merge with their neighbors in order to modernize their governmental structure and cut the overhead cost of essential services. The consolidation approach to these problems has recently been the subject of a national policy report prepared by the Committee for Economic Development.

SPEAKING for The Record

By Bill Sliger

The matter hasn't come to public attention yet, but both the city council and township board of Northville have been notified that bus service between Northville and Detroit may soon be curtailed.

In letters addressed to both governmental bodies A. Schiller, president of Northville Coach Lines, Inc., stated that "It may become necessary for us to discontinue our 7 Mile Road coach service from and to the City of Northville unless some subsidy is provided us".

The Northville Coach Line has been under operation from its Seven Mile road offices since 1932. It provides passenger service between Northville, Livonia, Redford and Detroit.

The operation was taken over by the Schillers in 1963 and has undergone numerous improvements, both in maintenance facilities and in coaches and service.

While patronage from Northville is the weak link in the operation and the main reason for losses sustained by the line, it remains as the only public transportation service to and from the area. And the coach line service transports employees to Northville State Hospital, Hawthorne Center and other local institutions and businesses. It also carries a number of employees as well as customers to Northville Downs and many students to Schoolcraft college.

A survey might show that local residents seldom use the coach line, but it would probably indicate that many depend upon it for transportation of their employees.

Northville is off the public transportation path. Greyhound and the railroads do not provide service to the community. It is not seriously missed, however, because of short distances to bus and rail terminals.

But loss of the coach line would cut the only service, and this could have serious consequences.

A properly controlled, partial subsidy of a privately-operated transportation line deserves consideration. It would not be unique. But the problem does not rest alone with the local governments. Perhaps most dependent upon the service are the state institutions.

Any plan of assistance, if considered, should include state, and perhaps, federal cooperation.

"Going home" can be quite a thrill, especially if all the familiar faces that you remember from childhood are there.

The R. W. Doeksen of Orchard drive experienced such an occasion this summer when they returned to their hometown of Hull, Iowa.

A reunion of all the high school classes from 1891 until 1931 was held and 60 percent of the living grads returned to Hull for the celebration. Mr. Doeksen was a member of the class of 1920, which had nine graduates. Eight are living and everyone returned.

Hull is the hometown of both Mr. and Mrs. Doeksen. Her late father was publisher of the community newspaper, The Sioux County Index, and the publication remains in the family. Her brother, C. G. Sawyer, is now publisher and headed up the reunion.

"There could never be anything like it again", related Mr. Doeksen.

Little Hull had 160 grads return from every state west of the Mississippi and every southern state.

Eight Mile road Moraine elementary, annexed to the city is mysteriously bogged down.

It came before the township board and was tabled.

The same request was forwarded to the city council, but cannot come up for consideration until the township board has taken favorable action.

In tabling the matter Supervisor Merriam reported to the board that "informal talks with other officials" indicated the city was interested in annexing more than just the school site.

Mayor Allen expressed such an opinion to The Record, but the issue has never come up for council discussion.

Meanwhile, it would appear that the school board, if serious in the request, must reaffirm its resolution.

Top of the Deck
by JACK W. HOFFMAN

The old man was dying of leukemia; he may or may not have known it. He had many things going for him: a deep faith, a long rich life, a large devoted family, and friends enough to make his hospital room look like a theater during a Saturday matinee.

Plus the fact that his daughter — his pride and joy — was the sister in charge of the hospital floor on which his room was located.

All brightened his hospital experience in the face of an impending serious operation.

But the person who made him laugh and forget the pain that was eating away at his body was the young, crew-cut priest who administered to his spiritual needs in the morning and tickled his funny bone in the afternoon.

"You'd better tell your priest to watch his aim tomorrow," I told my roommate one morning. "It was so early I think some of his Holy water splashed on me, and I'm a Lutheran."

He laughed, and in broken English assured me, "Don't worry, he don't charge."

So he didn't. But I'd gladly paid for the laughter the young priest squeezed from the old man.

He came in that first afternoon, just after supper had been served, and found him half asleep, his food untouched.

"You haven't eaten," he exclaimed. "Everyone has to eat. Do you mind?"

And to my astonishment, he sat down on the edge of the bed, pulled a napkin to his cleric's collar and proceeded to butter himself a slice of bread.

One thing led to another until finally he'd polished off the entire tray — right down to sopping up the gravy with the last piece of bread. "Not bad, he grinned, wiping the corners of his mouth, "but I can understand why you didn't eat. Not enough salt."

As he left to continue his rounds, he called back, "I hope the food's better in the next room."

All the while the old man laughed, his eyes wet with glee.

It was like that every afternoon. The old man watched the clock until the priest came busting in with a armful of laughs, aware I'm sure that the patient needed something more than the medicine spooned out by kindly nurses.

If it wasn't about the pretty, new nun he'd spotted in the hall, it was something else carefully honed to brighten someone's day.

Horses Need Lights

To the Editor:

Northville Downs closed its 35-night successful meeting, but it also closed the door to as many nights of what appeared to be continuous violation of the Michigan Motor Vehicles

Laws by using the public highways from the track to the barns without proper lights on their vehicles drawn by horses.

Every vehicle must be equipped with lighted front and rear lamps during the period from a half hour after sunset to a half hour before sunrise.

Vehicle defined in Act 318, P.A. 1927: Every device in, upon or by which any person or property is or may be transported or drawn upon a public highway excepting devices used exclusively upon stationary rails or tracks.

It is obvious that government officials were aware of these flagrant violations. In all they would amount to about 315 summons. Maybe gambling supercedes law and order.

There is a grand jury in session to investigate ticket fixing in the Wayne county sheriffs office, and I believe they should enlarge their scope in the above mentioned dereliction.

Are there really any sound reasons for buying a Chevrolet in August?

During August, it's as easy to own a Bet Air 4-Door Sedan as getting in the car.

Wait till you see how sporty you look sitting in your Impala Super Sport.

In a word: Six

1. Have you ever known the instant delight of selecting a new Impala Super Sport in the color you want, slipping into its Strato-bucket seats, and driving it home from the showroom the same day? Now's your chance. Your Chevrolet dealer has a big choice of models on hand with small August price tags.
2. More than likely, your present car will never be worth as much in trade as it is right now. Money — another good reason to buy a Chevrolet this month.
3. Read those articles about when to buy a new car and they'll tell you that August is one of the best months. And your Chevrolet dealer is ready to show you why... with buys that are better than ever.
4. If you think winter's tough on an old car, believe us, so is summer. There's added strain on the engine because of vacation driving. Greater tire wear. The cooling system has to work extra hard. A new Chevrolet can save you a lot of trouble.
5. You do a lot of driving for pleasure so why not ride on Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension. Let your feet feel that deep-twist Chevrolet carpeting. August is to enjoy.
6. Make your summer driving safer driving by taking advantage of the eight standard safety features built into every new Chevrolet. If your present car doesn't have seat belts, back-up lights, outside rearview mirror, padded instrument panel, look into a new Chevrolet.
