

Detroit Water? Well...

Have you noticed that the water you're getting through city lines these days is much softer ... and clearer? If you have, it must be your imagination.

The water flowing through the city taps is coming from the same ground wells.

And it could be days ... perhaps weeks ... before the promise of clear, soft Detroit water is realized by city water customers.

Originally scheduled to begin service on Monday, August 22 the conversion to Detroit water has been plagued by delays that were expected to be solved by last week end.

The latest problem could be solved within a day or two, or it could require many days. And City Manager Frank Ollendorff, rapidly becoming wiser by experience, is making no promises.

While the water passing through the new transmission line from Baseline and Center streets to the reservoir met the purity tests, the line itself failed badly on leakage.

There's some question, Ollendorff explained, whether the recorded leakage is due to the valve on the Detroit line as it connects to the Northville line at the meter pit, or whether it's in the new transmission line itself.

If it's the valve, there's no problem. But if it's the newly installed transmission line, it could mean a long delay.

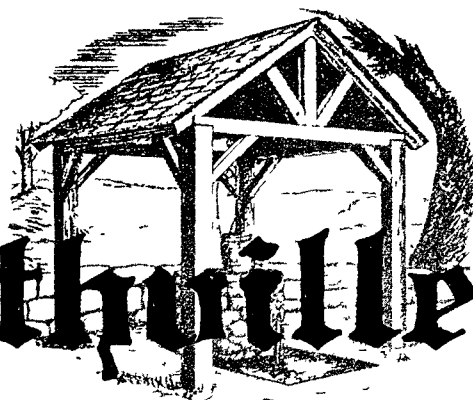

The line test requires that not more than seven gallons of water per hour be lost over the entire distance of the line. The test was made in sections and each of the four sections tested showed leakage of more than seven gallons.

The manager repeated that water users will be notified by mail when the switchover to Detroit water is made.

On the brighter side the manager reported that installation of a sanitary sewer on Randolph street had been completed. Work began Wednesday from the millpond along Wesley street to install the easterly end of the Randolph sewer. This section will require 10 days. Then the line will be extended from Randolph southward on Center street to Randolph. It will be installed on the west side of Center street under the sidewalk.

Work has also begun, the manager stated, on installation of a sidewalk along the west side of North Center street between Ely drive south and Ely drive north to provide safe walking for school youngsters in the area.

With the opening of bids on the new junior high school slated for September 12, Northville's board of education is bracing itself for what could be another thistle in an already thorny financial problem.

Grim prospects came to light Monday evening as representatives of the architectural firm, O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach, weighed current building cost estimates against available funds. There's a shortage of over $500,000.

Boiled down, here's the picture: The $2.8 million bond issue approved by voters last year for several building projects, including the junior high school, is too little to cover costs.

And it's too little even if the junior high school bids come in close to the architect's cost estimates.

So, if the bids come in higher than estimates — and in view of rising construction costs it appears that they may be higher even though estimates were purposely padded to offset rising costs — the financial picture becomes even more acute.

It was apparent from board discussion of the situation that another bond issue is imminent.

"We're in a serious bind," said James Kipfer, "the kind that means we'll have to go back to the people."

He and Robert Froelich asked the architects to prepare charts that graphically illustrate the latest cost estimates, school needs, and funds now available as well as those needed.

September 19 was set as the day when the board will once again review the financial picture with the architect.

And, according to President Wilfred Becker, a meeting on this matter may also be held on the day following the opening of junior high school bids.

According to estimated figures looked at by board members Monday, cost of completing proposed building projects will exceed the $2.8 million issue by more than $500,000, discounting accrued interest on bond money.

In fact, a shortage of more than $100,000 will result even if all contingencies and junior high school alternate classroom projects are cut from plans, board members learned.

Here's the latest breakdown figures viewed by the board:

Junior high school, minus alterations: $1,419,233; Junior high school alterations, including four classrooms, terrazzo, gym partition, paving and canopy, $188,646; senior high school additions (including $500,000 swimming pool), $1,347,605; miscellaneous projects such as bus garage, elementary site purchase, administrative office remodeling, playground improvement, central office equipment and bond costs, $173,000; and Moraine elementary, $706,325.

Total revised estimates of costs, based on figures available, is $3,834,809. A separate $500,000 bond issue was approved by voters for construction of the swimming pool. Deducting this earmarked money from the total estimate of costs leaves a deficit of some $534,000 for the building program.

Funds available will exceed the combined $3.3 million issues because of interest accrued on bonds (now estimated at $150,000).

In his written comment on the situation, Superintendent Alex Nelson recommended that the board "seriously consider the possibility of obtaining authorization to arrange for approximately $500,000 to do the job (junior and senior high school) as it should be done now while under construction."

Just how the money can best be obtained is questionable. One proposal is to go back to the people for additional funds; another suggests that voters be asked for approval to use the $500,000 swimming pool money for academic building purposes.

Nelson, along with all or nearly all board members, favor immediate construction of the four alternate junior high school classrooms, since it has been estimated that they would be filled almost the day the new school opens. Delay, they note, may result in still higher construction costs and cramped quarters in a new school.

Furthermore, it was suggested Monday that perhaps the board ought to go ahead immediately with an additional four classrooms that are provided for in longer-range plans.

It's Official: Teachers, Board OK Contract

The first negotiated teacher contract in Northville's history became a reality here Monday as the board of education gave the document its stamp of approval.

Immediately following board approval, teacher and board representatives signed the document. Teachers had previously OK'd the contract (see story on 8A).

Under the contract, total salaries for all teachers, excluding fringe benefits, is pegged at $874,156.

This total, according to Assistant Superintendent Raymond Spear represents an increase of $149,000 — approximately 17-percent of which is the cost of hiring 60 additional teachers.

It includes some $15,000 for extra-curricular activities (coaching, debating, etc.), $7,000 for increased sick and business day pay, and $6,000 for tuition reimbursement.

How teacher salary costs fit into the total budget, currently being revised by the board, will come up for public viewing at the budget hearing set for September 12.

In other business Monday, the board heard a report from architectural representatives on possible acquisition of property in the Bradner road area. The representatives recommended that the board consider "trading" its present 17-acre site for property somewhere east of Bradner and south of Six Mile road, since a school on the 17-acres would not be as centrally located to proposed housing developments.

They also advised the board to consider acquisition of property on the north side of Six Mile for another future elementary school.

Earlier, the board had learned that long-range plans call for relocation of a portion of Bradner at Six Mile road and that this relocation might mean the board could obtain several acres of property adjacent to the 17-acre site.

Bids on furniture for Moraine school from eight firms were opened. All but bids on six of the 36 items in the specifications were turned over to administrative officials for review.

Because six items, including desks and tables, were deemed necessary for the opening of school next week, the board awarded a $13,179 contract to the McFadden company for purchase of these items.

Total estimated cost of all furniture is $25,000.

Other bidders were Superior School

Free City Maps

The Record has a limited supply of city of Northville maps indicating proposed land use as well as streets.

They are available at the Record office without charge.

Equipment, Classrooms, Inc., Imperial Equipment, Michigan School Service, B. F. Farnell, Doubleday Brothers, and Church & School Equipment.

A proposal by a representative of Motivation Supervision, Inc., to launch an $1,800 in-service leadership program for school administrators was tabled by the board.

Members voted to change the official meeting place of the board from the basement of the administrative offices to the junior high school library. Time of meetings remains the same — 7:30 p.m. on second and fourth Mondays.

Superintendent Alex Nelson reported that a curriculum study day has been scheduled here for the ensuing school year. Students will be dismissed on the afternoon of the first Wednesday of each month, to permit teachers to join with administrators in studying the total curriculum in terms of over-all improvement. The study day is aimed at providing continuity in the program at all levels.

Other board action included:

Authorization for the superintendent to attend a four-day conference of the American Association of Business Officials at Atlantic City in October; authorization for Principal Milton Jacobi to serve on a state committee on elementary education; adoption of the Mutual of Omaha student insurance program; and hiring of two teachers, Miss Oaklee Noblitt to teach special education and Lawrence Rogers to teach junior high shop.

These two teachers fill the final two vacancies — excluding a part-time music instructor — on the staff, which now totals 121.

More State Aid?

A proposal that would hike state school aid to Northville by nearly $7,000 is expected to win House approval tomorrow, Representative Marvin R. Stempien told The Record this week.

The Senate passed the plan last week by a vote of 19 to 7.

The measure, which will dip into the state's $8.2 million surplus, is aimed at helping financially-pressed school districts, particularly Detroit schools.

Under the plan, suburban and other out-state school districts will share almost $5 million, with Detroit getting about $4 million.

Stempien emphasized that the measure was passed by the Senate, 19 to 7, last week, with the stipulation that Detroit voters must approve a five-millage increase for schools to qualify for the extra cash.

Grade and high school subsidies for 1966-67 are already at $47 million greater than in 1965-66, Stempien noted.

To Haul Away Even Rubbish Costs More

The Northville city council learned Monday night that the cost of hauling rubbish and garbage is going up.

It received only one bid for a one-year contract to pick-up trash and garbage weekly from city residences and businesses.

That bid came from C. B. Rubbish Disposal, the holder of the city's present contract, and it jumped from $10,620 to $15,000.

An alternate bid was for $12,600 for one pick-up per week of residences plus one pick-up of business places with a provision that an additional charge could be made for businesses with an excessive amount of rubbish.

Presently, rubbish disposal is provided for residences and businesses once per week. Some merchants pay for a second weekly pick-up.

Some consideration was given to the alternative proposal with merchants being charged for additional or excessive pick-ups.

"I consider hauling away trash a cost of doing business," stated Mayor A. M. Allen, who was inclined to recommend full residential service with minimum once-per-week business service plus added charges to the merchant for heavy or second pick-ups.

The matter was referred to City Manager Frank Ollendorff for recommendation at the next council meeting.

In other business at Monday's special meeting the council reserved action on a report by Manager Ollendorff concerning an appeal for government subsidy by the Northville Coach Line for bus service to and from Northville.

The manager told the council that the bus line owners report about a $20 to $50 weekly loss on bus service from Northville. He reported that service from Northville to Seven Mile and Grand River is provided hourly each day between 6:45 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. with service increasing to each half hour in mid-afternoon.

Ollendorff said figures showed that during the month of July there were 1,075 bus passengers from the city.

He told the council that one possible form of assistance to the bus line was through a federal program that would provide federal funds to purchase a bus for service. This bus could be turned over to the private line, he stated.

Mayor Allen asked if other municipalities served by the line had been contacted for assistance. The manager stated that only the city and township of Northville had been contacted. He said the coach line had indicated that its operations in Livonia were profitable.

Manager Ollendorff also noted that the firm pays taxes to the township, not the city.

The council suggested that the manager investigate the possibility of federal assistance. "Perhaps it's something the city and township can look into together," the mayor added.

In final action the council voted to pick up the "loss tab" for the Jaycees' Fourth of July celebration. The promotion went $210.73 in debt.

"The purpose of the celebration was to keep people at home for the holiday and give them something to do. If it helped prevent one traffic accident or saved a life, it was well worth the investment," Mayor Allen stated.

The council skipped discussion of an organizational meeting with the newly appointed Citizens' Advisory committee because two council members, John Canterbury and Fred Kester, were absent.

An outline of objectives will be prepared by the council before the scheduled organizational meeting on September 12.

TOP PRIZE—Lovely Narda Foreman's "Wishing Well of Wealth" artistic fruit display at the Michigan State Fair paid off in a big way Friday as the 17-year-old Northville girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Foreman, was awarded the $600 first prize for her exhibit.

The Foreman family garnered other top prizes as well. Ralph

Foreman, Jr. collected three second-place prizes totaling $1,050 to become the highest overall money winner. He was runnerup in artistic fruit display ($500), crops and products ($350) and educational exhibit ($200). Foreman Orchards also won $175 for third place in the educational exhibit. Top prize in the educational exhibit ($225) went to Kathleen Erwin of Novi.

Fashion Show To Greet Fall

Local women will have a chance to greet the new fall season September 10 when the Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association presents its fall fashion show and luncheon in the community building.

Entitled "Flowers, Fashions and Food," the show will combine all three aspects in the group's first major activity of the new year.

The luncheon, served on pastel tables decorated with flowers, will begin at 1 p.m. The entire building will be gayly transformed by paper flowers designed by Mrs. Alfred Millington, Mrs. James Kipfer, and Mrs. Donald Ware.

The fashion show will feature clothes and furs from Demery's in Farmington. Club members will model them.

Numerous displays and shops also will highlight the September afternoon. Mrs. N. R. Pattison, a professional flower arranger, will demonstrate from the stage the "do's and don'ts" of flower arranging, and how to make special occasion arrangements and corsages.

A "Festive Tables Through the Year" display will feature 10 beautifully decorated tables for special occasions. The women preparing the tables have each selected a certain meal to depict - breakfast, lunch or dinner.

The variety of settings will range from modern to antique displaying old-fashioned china.

A bake shop will sell homemade holiday and fancy breads, and a flower shop will sell arrangements and accessories to make arrangements.

Honored guests at the show will be Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, past national president of the association, and Mrs. Marvin Katke, president of the Michigan division.

Chairmen are Mrs. Donald Ware, luncheon chairman; Mrs. Denis Schwarz, chairman of the models; Mrs. John Burkman, table settings chairman; Mrs. George Kohs, flower shop chairman; and Mrs. William Switzer, bake shop chairman.

The public is invited to attend. Tickets must be purchased in advance for the show. There are 400 tickets available at $3 each.

To purchase a ticket, interested persons are asked to call Mrs. William Switzer, 349-0628, Mrs. Donald Ware, 349-2232, or Mrs. William Slattery, 349-0179.

TEEING OFF—Mrs. Reuben Jensen, in leopard skins, prepares to tee off, while Mrs. Rex Wilcox, Mrs. Lawrence Wright and Mrs. Wilson wait their turn.

Scores Don't Count On Golf Fun Day

Meadowbrook Country Club had a strange set of golfers teeing off Friday morning.

Charlie Chaplin, a Spanish matador, a jungle adventuress in tights and leopard skins, even a birthday cake took over the links for a day of golf.

Actually all the golfers were women members of the club dressed to enjoy their annual Fun Day.

The course underwent a humorous transformation to match the outfits. The women drove from atop innertubes with baseball bats. When they actually made it to the green, more confusion awaited them.

One of the four crazy holes set up had at least 12 flags on it, so the golfers didn't know which way to aim their shot. Another hole was surrounded by green hair pins which sent the balls rolling back off the green.

More frustrating was the green where the ball came bouncing back out of the hole and into the trap. And that trap wasn't a very pleasant place to be, since Greenskeeper Andy Bertoni and Chairman Mrs. James Mericka had planted a head covered by a hairy wig, and held by two hands on either side of

it. Sign on the edge of the trap read: "Dangerous - Quick Sand."

After four holes of golf the women were ready for less strenuous entertainment. During a luncheon they were entertained by Mrs. Mericka, in matador costume, doing a Spanish dance, and an Hawaiian dance performed by Mrs. Pierce Tilley and two small children borrowed from Mrs. Glenn Walters and Mrs. Wyndham Mills.

Mrs. Mericka also presented a skit named "Little Red Riding Hood."

Awards were presented to the best costumes. Winners were: Mrs. Mericka, prettiest costume; Mrs. C. J. St. Germain, most original costume - she was the birthday cake; Mrs. Hugh Radar, funniest costume; Mrs. Lawrence Wright, most authentic in her Charlie Chaplin outfit; and Mrs. Jose Calvillo, sexiest costume.

A word should be said about Mrs. St. Germain's birthday cake. The huge, layered cake, complete with 50 gold candles, took her one week to make. It was so big it covered the golf cart she drove.

Inspiration for the cake was this year's 50th anniversary celebration of the club.

The bride's mother wore a turquoise lace two piece dress and blended accessories. Mrs. Trombley chose a pink silk two piece outfit with a lace bodice, and matching accessories. Both mothers had orchid corsages.

The church Fellowship Hall was the setting for the reception after the ceremony. The 175 guests were from Ohio, northern Michigan, Tecumseh and the local area.

The new Mrs. Trombley changed into a royal blue knit suit with matching accessories and an orchid corsage for a wedding trip to northern Michigan.

The church altar was decorated with gladiola spray, and a white drape and candelabrum behind the altar. Four bows adorned the pews.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira S. Cheeseman of 42801 Eleven Mile road, wore an empire A-line pea de soie gown with sleeves, bodice and front center panel of Chantilly lace. A detachable chapel train and veil of silk illusion completed her outfit.

She carried a cascade of stephanotis and philanopsis.

Maid of honor was Nancy Jean Christensen. Bridesmaids were Rosemarie Kaminski, Jill Eileen Florian and Mrs. Mary Kay Florian.

Their floor-length gowns of jonquil yellow crepe with empire waists were accented by dressmaker bows. Attached floor-length trains were of chantilly lace. Their bouquets were colonial circles of baby yellow mums surrounded by white carnations.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Trumble, Lansing, had Dale Emerick as best man. Gary King, Mike Fitzgerald, and Roger Cheeseman, the bride's brother, were groomsmen, while Duane Chambers and Jack Florian served as ushers.

Candace Lynn Ronk and Mark William Livermore exchanged wedding vows Saturday at Grace Lutheran church, Detroit. Pastor Victor F. Halboth performed the four o'clock service.

White summer flowers decorated the church. Miss Susan Southart, a personal friend of the bride's, provided the music.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Ronk of 48251 Rushwood Lane. The bridegroom is the son of the John Livermores of Birmingham.

The bride selected a floor-length sheath gown with matching chapel-length train of imported chantilly lace over pea de soie and organza. Her fingertip veil was held by a ring of pea de soie and lace. She carried a cascade of lilies of the valley and bouvardia.

Maid of honor was Sandra Ronk, the bride's sister. Bridesmaids were Marge Livermore, the groom's sister, Diane Neidbalsen, and Kathleen James.

They wore floor-length sheaths of ice blue crepe with bows accenting the empire waists. The Watteau trains were matching blue chantilly lace. They carried colonial-styled bouquets of bouvardia, miniature roses and elegants. They also wore bouvardia in their hair.

A buffet supper for 200 guests followed the ceremony in the church Fellowship Hall.

After a honeymoon in northern Michigan, the newlyweds will reside in East Lansing.

Both attend Michigan State university. The bride is a 1963 graduate of Northville high school. Her husband is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Larson - Ritter

A service arranged by the bride and groom highlighted the July 2 wedding of Olive Kristine Larson and the Reverend William Anthony Ritter. The service included two hymns, responsive reading and a sermonette.

The afternoon wedding took place at the Dearborn First Methodist church, where the bridegroom is minister. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Frederick C. Vosburg and Reverend Edward Duncan.

Gladiolus decorated the church in altar bases. Music was Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" and Bach-Vivaldi in A-Minor.

The bride is the daughter of the Louis Anton Larsons of 44281 Grand River, Novi. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Ritter of Detroit.

Given in marriage by her brother, C. Gregory Larson, the bride was gowned in a white silk organza over taffeta floor-length sheath with cathedral train. Lace applique accented the train, and the gown was trimmed in Venice lace.

Her cascade bouquet was of roses and stephanotis. A pillbox held an elbow-length veil.

Mrs. Richard Elle of Ypsilanti, the former Holly Fox, was matron of honor. She wore a mint green dotted Swiss over taffeta gown trimmed with satin. The dress had an empire-waist and A-line design. Her headpiece was made of ivy and she carried a daisy nosegay.

Bridesmaids were Christine Nowak of Detroit and Gail Ritter of Detroit, the groom's sister. Their gowns were like the matron of honor's, only in yellow with white trim.

William Hanna of Minnesota served as best man, The Reverend James Bertell of Illinois and Ronald Halstead of Detroit seated the guests.

A celery silk worsted sheath and jacket, deeper shoes and bag, and a flowered pill box were worn by the bride's mother. Mrs. Ritter wore a pink chiffon sheath with matching accessories.

The reception was held in the church parlor for 400 guests. A dinner was held at Dearborn Inn.

The bride wore a smoke suit with black patent accessories for a wedding trip to Chicago and Milwaukee.

She is a 1964 Northville high graduate, and attended Michigan State university. She is now attending Wayne State university. Her husband is a 1962 graduate of Albion, and a 1965 graduate of Yale Divinity School.

Their home is at 1440 Venice, Dearborn.

GEARING UP—The first sign of local football came last week when coaches handed out uniforms to varsity prospects. New Assistant Coach Bob Powell gives Richard Myers a helmet as new Head Coach Alex Klukach looks on. Two-a-day practice sessions began this week.

Northville Coach Casts Predictions

As Northville's new head football coach, Alex Klukach steered clear of going out on the proverbial limb but he does have some definite ideas about the upcoming grid season.

"We have a good 17 or 18 kids," said Klukach, "and if they stay healthy, we'll be in there. Our biggest problem is depth."

Klukach pointed at two teams to battle Northville for Wayne-Oakland Conference honors. Last year's winner Bloomfield Hills, will be "big and fast", Klukach said, and Milford, while not quite so fast, will have another big squad.

West Bloomfield, although possibly stronger, will be no contender, forecasted Klukach. He pointed out that the Lakers have been on the downgrade for the past few years, and just don't have the manpower to become the champions.

In Klukach's mind, Holly is a "big question mark." They have a new coach and lost some respectable football players.

Darkhorse in the league, Klukach predicts, will be Clarkston, a team that's bound to be scrappy with Quarterback Dan Fife at the controls. But the Northville coach added that Clarkston will have to peak itself mentally to stride with the leaders.

Down toward the bottom of the W-O heap, Klukach expects to find Clarenceville and Brighton, two teams who perennially have trouble fielding anything that looks like a contender.

Klukach, like other coaches who love the game, is itching to start practice next Monday, but he's heady enough to realize that too much can be as harmful as too little practice.

"If they get overworked," he said, "they can go flat. We'll have enough time to accomplish what we must in the four weeks we have to get ready."

To start the ball rolling, Klukach was handing out equipment to his gridders this week. Thirty-six have picked up their gear, but the new coach expects many more to turnout.

"It doesn't mean much yet," the burly mentor said. "I expect about 65 to come out for practice. That's how many reported for a meeting we held last June."

Gridders who have completed their physicals and history cards can pick up their equipment at the high school through this week and Monday morning Klukach advises. Ninth graders, all of whom will play on the JV squad, can secure their equipment next Monday afternoon, he added.

They, as well as some 10th graders will comprise the JV team, but Klukach indicates he'll be hanging on to promising sophomores.

"We're going to have a young team," he said. It will be inexperienced, and I'll keep good sophomore prospects on the varsity to give us some depth."

Practice for both squads will begin Monday. Varsity members will be pointing to the opener September 16 at Plymouth, beginning with two-a-day drills next week.

Veterans Fill Ranks As Practice Begins

While going through intensive two-a-day drills this week, Novi gridders are keeping an alert eye on the upcoming season, one that should bring thrills and the usual assortment of surprises.

And Coach John Osborne and his new assistant, Milan Obrenovich, are hoping for nothing but pleasant surprises during the seven-game schedule. Obrenovich is a former star athlete from South Lyon.

Returning are some 25 boys, the nucleus of last year's ninth grade team that won four of its six ball games. Now they're sophomores and getting ready, according to Osborne, to take on a rougher schedule of JV and class D varsity teams.

These youths are a destined group of gridders. As Novi high school expands a grade each year, they will constitute the first varsity team next year as 11th graders. They'll be playing a tougher schedule each successive year.

"We played well last year," said Osborne, "and I was highly pleased." But there is room for improvement, he added. "Our defense was especially strong. We scored on long plays on offense; this year we hope to mount sustained drives too."

There is the problem of depth in the Novi lineup, but intact will be the probably starting backfield.

Bullwark of the running game is Jon Van Wagner, a six-foot, 160-pound halfback, who, Osborne says, is a "hard, powerful runner." His running mate returning at wingback is light, but shifty Andy Pantaleo, also a prime passing target. Mike Farah, a 170-pound six-footer, will get first call at fullback.

Handling the all-important chores at quarterback will be Gary Boyer. Osborne is looking for Boyer to improve on his passing which suffered last year because of Boyer's ailing arm.

Anchoring the Novi line will be two

200-pound tackles, Joe Morrison and Levon Tafailian, and another 200-pounder, Lee Snow, will see plenty of action at an end spot. Osborne is high on two guards, Doug Keith and Pat Haley, veterans of last year's team.

Defensively, Osborne has two more veterans, Halfback Ken Osborn and Linebacker Dave Bingham. Both are small, but gritty youths.

Osborne also expects help from new ninth graders, especially Dan Douglas, whose 240 pounds are distributed over a 5'10" frame, and Doug Schott, who will probably see action at defensive halfback and as a reserve quarterback. Douglas will be put at defensive middle guard.

With the opener September 17 against the Milan Jayvees, Osborne is still looking for new candidates who can bolster the squad.

2 New Coaches Chosen in Novi

There will be some new faces among the ranks of Novi's coaches this year.

Once again John Osborne will coach the high school football and baseball teams, composed of ninth and 10th graders. Assisting him on the football field will be newcomer to the coaching ranks, Milan Obrenovich.

New head basketball coach is newcomer James Ladd, who will also assist in track. Helping him handle the basketball chores will be Obrenovich.

Fred Hanert will coach the track team and seventh-grade basketball.

Florence Panborn will once again head the girls' athletic league and coach the senior cheerleaders. Pat Sumpter will handle the Jayvee cheerleaders.

CAPITAL CATCH—Twelve-year old Tim Binder proudly holds his 16-inch rainbow trout high after snagging it in the Rouge river near Novi road. To catch his first trout, Tim used night crawlers. The son of Mr. and Mrs. L. James Binder, 547 Reed, Tim will be a seventh grader at the junior high school.

Obituaries Novi Mother Killed In 5-Car Collision

A Novi woman, the mother of six children, was killed in a five-car collision last Sunday on expressway I-696 in Farmington and her husband was critically injured along with 18 others involved in the freak accident.

Beatrice Rudolph, 43, a native of Northville, was pronounced dead on arrival at Botsford General hospital, Farmington. Her husband, James, who was driving the Rudolph vehicle, is in grave condition at Botsford hospital. Other members of the Rudolph family who were injured in the accident were Danny, Thomas, Robert and Patricia. Two other passengers, Emanuel and Anglo Slaughter were also injured, and all were taken to Botsford General hospital.

Besides her husband and children, Thomas, Robert, Daniel and Patricia, Mrs. Rudolph is survived by sons, Eldon and Vernon, and daughter, Blanche; her mother, Mrs. Regina Jackson of Northville; a brother, Harry Jackson, also of Northville, and six grandchildren.

Funeral services were held yesterday at 11 a.m. at the Casterline Funeral home with the Reverend S. D. Kinde, pastor of the First Methodist church of Northville, officiating.

She was buried at Oakland Hills Memorial park, Novi.

The Rudolphs were long-time residents of the area and lived at 436 West 12 Mile road, Novi, before moving to Detroit just two weeks ago. Mrs. Rudolph was born in Northville.

According to Farmington township police, a car was stopped for traffic on the expressway when another car struck it from behind. After another vehicle had stopped, it was also hit from behind. The Rudolph car then struck a car already involved in the crash, sending it piling into other smashed-up vehicles.

In all, 24 persons were involved in the chain-reaction pile-up.

Teachers OK Contract, 60-1 Here Thursday

By an overwhelming 60-1 margin, Northville teachers previously ratified a master contract for the upcoming school year thus assuring that school doors will open on schedule next Tuesday.

Ratification by 27 teachers assembled last Thursday at the junior high school library came after teacher negotiators explained the contract clause by clause during a four-hour session. All 33 proxies submitted in advance were marked yes.

But in approving the first negotiated contract in the history of the Northville system, teachers made it emphatically clear that this was just the first step in long-range plans to obtain an even better settlement.

Don Brown, chief negotiator for the teachers, asserted, "We've made tremendous strides," not in salary improvement so much as in fringe benefits.

Teachers roundly criticized a "weak" bachelors' pay schedule and present remuneration for extra-curricular work. Negotiators pointed out that the strong points were binding arbitration, tuition reimbursement and major medical coverage.

According to Brown, the new salary schedule grants an average pay boost of $1,021, including the increment for this year. The most any teacher will receive is a $2,173 hike, the lowest $573.

Brown pointed out that three things stymied negotiators in obtaining a higher starting salary, namely, Grosse Pointe's earlier settlement at $5,600, the region two superintendents' association's gentlemen's agreement to hold the line at $5,600 and lack of available funds in the Northville system.

Although there was a reported 40 percent increase in extra-curricular pay, teachers unanimously backed Negotiator Pat Bubel who said, "No one involved in extra-curricular functions is paid enough."

Teachers carried on a heated discussion over the present method of reimbursement for military service. Chief antagonist was Walter Tubbs, high school vocational training teacher, who questioned why three teachers with bachelor degrees were receiving military pay whereas it had been deleted from other contracts.

"We sacrificed military pay in negotiations," said Brown, "to obtain other benefits." He added negotiators retained it for those three teachers to be "humane and fair" in trying to give each teacher a fair share of the salary increases.

It was maintained, nevertheless, that as it stands, military pay was inequitable and the rules should be consistent. Brown countered by saying this inequity could be worked out in future negotiations.

"Shy Guys" Featured At Teen Club Dance

"The Shy Guys" and CKLW Disc Jockey Dave Shafer will headline a Northville Teen Club fund-raising dance next Wednesday evening at the junior high school gymnasium (community building).

The Teen Clubbers hope to raise enough money to start a fund for its club activities and for providing or furnishing a future club headquarters.

"The Shy Guys" are four teenagers from Oak Park, Michigan who have enjoyed success throughout the Detroit area during the past year. They write their own music and have one record, "We Gotta Go", now on the market and another, "Where You Belong", soon to be released.

Members of the group are: Ron Nelson, 16, lead guitar; Stu Howard, 16, rhythm guitar; Mark Finn, 16, drums; and Marty Lewis, 15, bass guitar. They have appeared on the television programs, "Swinging Time" and "Club 1270".

Teen Club members Bob Collacott, Chris Wistert and Steve Jordan have headed up the committee for the fund-raising dance program. Their efforts were given a boost by The Northville Record and 35 community businesses. All the proceeds from a full page advertisement appearing on page 5B of this edition will go to the Teen Club fund. The Record donated the page, which the youngsters sold to the sponsoring businesses.

The Wednesday (September 7) dance begins at 8 p.m. and continues until 11:30 p.m.

And The Novi News

Section B Thursday, September 1, 1966 Page One

Cheerful greetings changed places with tearful goodbyes Saturday as Northville played host to nearly 400 foreign exchange students and their counselors as they arrived here to meet their "foster parents" with whom they will be living in the United States for the next year. In past years, including this summer, Northville—through the efforts of the Rotary club—has been the gathering place for youngsters returning to their European homes. Last week, Rotarians arranged the welcoming program for the youth for understanding exchange students and counselors arriving in 13 buses. The youngsters—from England, Ireland, France, Italy and the Scandinavian countries—will live in homes throughout Michigan, Iowa, Florida and California. The students were bused here from Montreal where they arrived by boat.

SCHOOL BELLS

How wonderful it is that school is opening again! Education can do so much for us! It opens doors to an endless variety of interesting experiences. An education gives us the basic skills in reading, writing and spelling. That by itself is a great accomplishment. How pathetic it is to receive a letter from someone which is almost illegible and full of misspelled words.

Moreover an education can enable us to converse with other people on all kinds of subjects. It can have a dynamic effect on the personality.

But most of all an education should make us better people. A professor at the University of Chicago one time told his students that they would not be truly educated unless they could answer "Yes" to all of the following questions:

"Has education given you sympathy with all good causes and made you espouse them? Has it made you public-spirited? Has it made you a brother to the weak? "Have you learned how to make friends and keep them? Do you know what it is to be a friend yourself?

"Can you look an honest man or a pure woman straight in the eye?
"Can you see anything to love in a little child? Will a lonely dog follow you in the street?
"Can you be high-minded and happy in the meaner drudgeries of life? Do you think washing dishes and hoeing corn just as compatible with high thinking as piano playing or golf?
"Are you good for anything to yourself? Can you be happy alone?
"Can you look out on the world and see anything except dollars and cents?
"Can you look into the sky at night and see beyond the stars?
"Can your soul claim relationship with the Creator?"

The following is taken from an inscription on the Chapel of Williams College. "An education in which the religious nature is ignored cannot produce the noblest type of man. . . The citizen whom the republic needs, and the leader whom the republic must have, is the man who fears and loves God and keeps His commandments."

Speaker Hits Advocates Of 'God is Dead'

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Lohman and children Jenny and James of Plymouth spent the weekend in Milan as delegates to the semi-annual circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses held at the Milan high school.

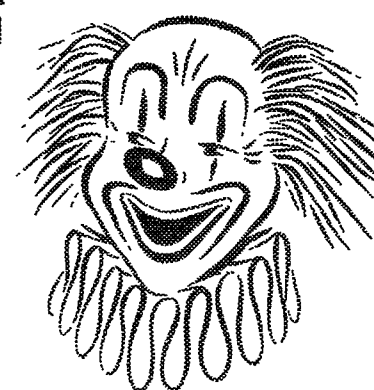

Lohman and his family were all volunteer workers in the convention cafeteria during the three-day meet. More than 1,000 delegates were in attendance on Sunday afternoon from 15 different congregations located in south-eastern Michigan and northern Ohio to hear an address by H. A. Fetzik of Brooklyn, New York on the subject, "Does God Have Influence in This Twentieth Century?"

In his talk, Fetzik stated, "Faith in God and in the Bible are on a decline and a growing number of clergymen are expressing this skepticism. Some are even saying that 'God is Dead.'"

"History abounds with evidence that God's influence in the past and that there is even greater evidence of it today."

"God's will is irresistible today," observed Fetzik. "His purpose to cleanse the earth of ungodly persons and usher in a righteous new system of things will not fail. Those who turn their backs on God are nonetheless influenced by what he does. This was true in times past and is true at the conclusion of this system of things."

SHOW-OFF

Harry is "showing-off"—and he certainly has a most appreciative audience!

We all "show-off" sometimes, in one way or another. It's a natural human tendency, and we can't be blamed for expressing it occasionally. And we are not apt to overdo it if we discover the need for humility.

Church is one place where this lesson can be learned. In God's House, we know instinctively how small we really are, which makes us more thankful for both His love and compassion.

We need this sense of coming down to size. We need to look with humble eyes at ourselves, at our fellow men, and at the miracles of God's creations.

Yes — we need to go to church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Please to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Trustees OK Funds For College Buildings

Trustees of Schoolcraft college last week set in motion the first phase of the college's 1966 building program when they authorized appropriations of college funds totaling $1,527,911 for five projects with a total cost of $2,283,078.

The college's share of the costs of the first portion of the program will come from the sale of a $3,000,000 bond issue approved by district voters on June 13.

Major project in the initial phase of the program is construction of a new classroom building at the south end of the campus. Of an estimated cost of $1,256,000 for the 32-classroom structure, Schoolcraft will receive a federal grant of $358,903 under the higher education facilities act of 1965, and $219,614 appropriated by the state. Both the federal grant and the state appropriation have been approved.

The classroom building will contain a 170-seat lecture hall designed to serve also as a small theater for musical and dramatic programs. Construction is expected to start early in 1967.

Trustees also authorized $89,000 in planning funds for a proposed physical education plant. Architects are now preparing preliminary drawings on the building, which will include main and auxiliary gymnasiums, a swimming pool, handball courts, remedial areas, and other physical education facilities. Schoolcraft officials expect to start construction early next year.

Other projects funded by the trustees were:

- Remodeling of the forum building, the initial classroom building. Cost of the project is $119,775, of which the state has contributed $37,500.

- Equipping the new vocational-technical building and the new Waterman campus center; and purchase of instructional equipment and maintenance and staff vehicles. Total budget: $707,300, of which $136,150 is reimbursable from federal funds.

- Site improvements, including hard surfacing the north student parking lot, development of roads and sidewalks, landscaping and signs. Total cost: $111,000, of which $3,000 was received as a gift.

Other projects in the 1966 building program, but not yet funded by the trustees include construction of the physical education plant, remodeling of the library and administration building, installation of utilities, storm sewers and drains and development of additional student parking areas on campus.

Finds 1819 Coin In Field Here

A 147-year-old coin was found here this past week by an 11-year-old Northville girl.

Diane Smolinski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Smolinski of 902 Ely court, found the 1819 one-cent piece on the weeded property between the high school baseball and football fields.

Valued at $2.75, the weathered-looking coin is one of 2,671,000 minted by the United States government.

Novi Teenagers Plan 2nd Drive for Funds

For the second year in a row, an army of Novi teen-agers will march through the community to solicit funds to finance research at St. Jude's hospital.

The youngsters will be knocking on doors during two hours on September 18 with one objective in mind — to reach their goal of $500.

Co-Chairmen of the drive are Marcia Thorpe and Pat Wilkins, and assisting them will be Bob Clift, Beth Reid, Patsy Ritchie, Gwen Wilson, Tom Van Wagner, Brad Burnham, Gary Gillett, Nancy Alexander and Kathy Listel, leaders.

Funds collected will be forwarded to St. Jude's, a non-sectarian hospital in Memphis, Tennessee, where research in various childhood diseases, cancer, leukemia and muscular and nutritional disorders, is taking place.

Nationally, this is the fourth such drive, founded by Danny Thomas, film and television personality. Expenses have consistently been held under 10 percent of all funds raised, according to Mrs. Charles Dawood, Teen March chairman.

Robert Beeny is home on leave from Fort Knox, Kentucky where he is stationed with the United States Army.

Mrs. Mary Scott, formerly of Wixom and now of Vallejo, California, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Pat Sherlock of Farmington. Mrs. Scott was a luncheon guest of Hilda Furman on Saturday and a dinner guest of the Charles Wares on Saturday evening.

On Friday evening, August 26, the Wixom Co-operative company held its annual meeting in New Hudson and for the first time in years it showed an increase in business and a good profit. The Cooperative has purchased the Woodworth property on Pontiac Trail and is going to use it to expand.

Mrs. and Mrs. Herbert Abrams have returned home from Fyte Lake where they vacationed.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wagnitz have returned from a two-week camping trip in Twin Mountains, White Mountain, New Hampshire. Also with the Wagnitzs were their daughters family, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Picard and daughters of Bayshore, Long Island, New York.

On their trip home from New Hampshire the Wagnitzs visited cousins in New York state. On Sunday, August 28 the Wagnitzs were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wagnitz of Milford. Then both Wagnitz families traveled to Lake Shannon to see the Robert Wagnitzs' new daughter, Karen Michael, born August 13. Karen has a brother David 12 and sister Linda, almost 10.

Robert Wagnitz is employed at Wixom D.P.W. and was a member of the planning commission before moving to Lake Shannon.

On Thursday and Friday, September 1 and 2 St. William's Catholic school will hold registrations. The women of the parish are asked to donate one day a week to help with secretarial work or help in the cafeteria.

The men's bowling league of St. William's begins September 1 at Wonderland Lanes.

John Parvu of West Maple road, Jim Beeny of Theodore street and Ruthann and her mother, Mrs. Ruth Balon of Wixom road have returned from a three-week trip through Europe. They flew to London, August 3 and while there visited the House of Parliament, Buckingham Palace, the Cliffs of Dover and several other places of interest. From London they went to Germany and visited Heedelberg and the Rhein. They visited Inesbreek in Austria. From Austria they went to Italy. While in Italy they visited Rev. and Mrs. Edmond Caes (former Wixom Baptist minister) in Rome. Mr. Caes took them on a tour of Rome.

From Rome they went to Florence, Milan and then to Switzerland. While in Switzerland they stayed in Lucerne and took trips to the Alps. From Switzerland they went to Paris, then back to London. They arrived home in Wixom August 24. John Parvu is employed at Lila's Flower shop in Northville.

Goodwill Pick-Up

The next visit of Goodwill Industries pickup trucks to South Lyon, New Hudson, Novi is scheduled for Thursday, September 8. Goodwill trucks collect household discards of clothing, shoes, hats, toys, most types of furniture and other household discards.

To arrange for a Goodwill Industries truck pickup ask the operator for toll-free Enterprise 7002.

WEEKEND WINNERS—As the 2½ month contest heads into the final week, two more people learned that they had won free weekends at any Albert Pick Motel or Hotel. Sponsored by Northville merchants, the contest provides free rooms and meals for up to a family of five. Above, Mrs. Bernard McIsaac of 224 Orchard drive tries to decide where she'll take her family as John McGuire, manager of the contest sponsoring Guernsey Farms Dairy, her husband, and her children, Becky, Debbie and Mary look on. Miss Ruth Angell, 504 West Cady, (below) goes over the list of cooperating motels and hotels with another sponsoring merchant, Glenn Long, owner of the local plumbing business. Neither Mrs. McIsaac nor Miss Angell were sure just where they'll take their free weekends.

State Adopts 'Creed for Youth'

LANSING - Individual and group efforts by teenagers to improve their image as members of the community are often buried among reports of teen rowdiness.

The Youth Advisory Council, 65 young people brought together by the Michigan Youth Commission, hopes to reverse this unfortunate trend through wide distribution and use of its "Creed for the Youth of Michigan."

Written at the request of Gov. George Romney, the seven-paragraph creed poetically describes the highest of ideals in the various areas of daily life.

As Romney noted, it provides "adults as well as a set of guiding principles worthy of study, discussion and action."

Touching on moral obligations, family relations, teen-adult contacts, educational values, government responsibilities, religious tolerance, and equal opportunity, the creed was written by a small committee of the Youth Advisory Council, studied and rewritten over nearly two years by the entire group.

The committee which presented the creed to the Governor emphasized it might need adjustment in future years but is designed to "help the youth of today" and be adaptable to meet the changing needs of tomorrow's youth.

GOOD NEWS for the many motorists who balked at paying $1 extra when they registered autos this year may come in 1967.

Secretary of State James M. Hare says the uninsured motorist accident claims fund is in good financial condition with the money collected this year. He will recommend the legislature require contribution to the fund only by the uninsured drivers in the future.

Roger Babson

Inflation: Whose Fault?

BABSON PARK, Mass. - Everybody is talking about inflation again. What do we mean by inflation? To some economists the word suggests too much money chasing too few goods. To other economists it stands for strong unions pushing wages up and up. Still others think of inflation as a demand for goods that keeps pulling prices higher. But for this discussion, let us use the everyday meaning, simply climbing prices.

Right now the press is full of reports blaming this group and that for the strong upshoot in prices that has occurred this year. If you are a Republican, you are likely to say that the Democratic Administration is to blame. That free-swinging spending when a war is going on is creating too much buying power. The fact here is: Much of our production that can be consumed by our citizens; but money is being put in circulation, adding to buying power.

If you are a Democrat, you are likely to think of the moguls of industry pushing their price tags higher to take advantage of the brisk demand throughout our economy today. If you are a strong union man, you tend toward blaming the whole sorry business on the pricing power of big business. But the average man in the street is likely to feel, as President Roosevelt once did: "A plague on both your houses!"

Surely, the man in the street is caught in the middle, whether he is a union member, or a Wall Street broker. At the beginning of a price upturn, advances are often slow and scattered. But, as momentum is gained, the upswing becomes steep and broad. And all the furor over inflation at this midsummer can probably be traced to the fact that people are now realizing that prices are beginning to bound upward. Ask any wife as she returns from shopping.

The natural reaction is to try to offset the falling purchasing power of the family paycheck by seeking a raise. Now, of course, not everyone is going to be able to get higher wages. Even those who do get fatter pay envelopes soon find that their gains are eaten into - even wiped out - by the well-known ability of a rising price wave to swell more rapidly than wages and salaries can be boosted. Point is: Once the inflation of prices hits its stride we are all in the same boat; no way has yet been invented to "beat the game."

ALL RIGHT then, what can be done to remove the peril of an inflation blow-off and bust? For as night follows day, inflation has always ended in deflation. And that can be very unpleasant for everyone. No one group can solve the problem ... not government, not labor, not business. But, if each of these would stop trying to fatten its share and work together, economic catastrophe could be warded off.

Government should remind itself that it's wartime, therefore not a moment for pushing the money supply higher than necessary by all sorts of spending schemes. Better to lose an election than the country. Business should avoid price jumps as it would the plague, realizing that some fall in profits would be preferable to a later wave of bankruptcies. Labor should tell its members that every wage boost is another nail in the coffin being prepared for the longest boom in our history. Yes, and the bankers should ask themselves if it would be better not to make that loan ... at this time.

It is said that it is already too late. That any shutting down of the money faucets, or any cutting back by the big groups in the economy, would surely lead to depression. To a degree we agree with this thinking. But we shudder at what could happen if the inflation spree is allowed to mount higher and higher from its already lofty level. The bigger the action, the more powerful is likely to be the reaction. To us it seems far wiser to risk some sacrifices now than to run the extreme danger of severe economic breakdown later. What frightens us is the tendency for key groups to simply wait and see. When the avalanche is visible, it is already too late.

The right foot that both brakes the car and presses the accelerator. One foot can't do both jobs at the same time, which is why it is the best method to drive your car.

Advertisement for Manufacturers National Bank. Everyone should have a bank he can call his own. I remember well the first time I walked into the Manufacturers Bank nearly four years ago. Everything strange. So different from the old county. They could tell I was newly arrived. My clothes. My English not so good. A little nervous. Yet nobody yelled at me if I asked a foolish question. Or laughed at my little bit of money. Somehow the people made me feel it was my bank. Not theirs. Now they even bring them watches for me to repair. Why not? They helped me start up my business. I knew it was a good bank. That's what I said. "Here's your passbook, Mr. Kauslaskas." Kauslaskas, that's a hard name to say correctly, when you're not used to it. Where the Action Is

It was Christmastime, during the break with her elementary grade studies when 12-year-old Carol Jones of Northville was given an extra-special gift — a puppy.

As often happens with children and puppies, a special kind of attachment develops. So it was with Carol and her puppy. But as always happens, children and puppies grow older.

Recently, the puppy died. And Carol, now a senior at Michigan State university, felt a special kind of loss that many of us have experienced. She describes it in the following poignant piece:

I CAN REMEMBER how you would walk out of the clinic with your head held high and your trim little feet making soft padding sounds. You would walk carefully around those muddy puddles instead of sloshing through them as usual. Just because you'd just had a haircut and you didn't want to get dirty.

I CAN REMEMBER throwing you in Lake Huron. You were an Airdale, but you didn't like the water. Oh, the distasteful looks I would get as you swam the only stroke you knew back to shore and safety. I suppose you didn't know I was only doing it for your own good — to get you clean. So you, in turn, would show your displeasure by rolling in the sand until you looked like a dune.

I CAN REMEMBER how you would look and smell after a night on the town. The dirty moustache you obtained all of a sudden confirmed the suspicions my nose told me. And all up and down the streets were the evidences of your guilt.

I CAN REMEMBER how crazy you would get when released from the cell which had held you prisoner all day. Round and round you would run until I was dizzy. Then it was "Come on, Carol, let's play tug of war!" With a stick.

You always looked so ferocious. And I could never fool you at hide and go seek either. I don't think you played fair. You must have had some secret device which helped you find me so fast each time.

I CAN REMEMBER when you got hit by the car. You know that was the only time you ever hurt me. Everyone thought I was the one that was hurt, I carried on so.

I CAN REMEMBER your one and only family. Do you blame us? How did you ever let that big lumox pull the wool over your eyes. But you were such a good and kind mother.

I CAN REMEMBER the cat. You would always pretend that you believed me when I mimicked her and I always thought it was so funny. Did you never tire of the game? And, I'm still not sure you didn't have a part in getting rid of her. Wipe that silly grin off your face!

AND I CAN REMEMBER your beautiful brown eyes, your black and tan curly hair, your lippy ears and your "too small to show" tail. I can remember how you got your name, your frog hunts, the car trips, (you were such a good traveler), your shortcomings in the basement, teaching you to "sit", "lie", "sit up" and on and on. I will never forget your grin, Betsy. I loved you.

SPEAKING for The Record

By Bill Sliger

There's an interesting series of articles coming up in our next three or four editions that may open a few eyes — official and just plain citizen — as to the projected growth of our area.

Jack Hoffman and Rollie Peterson have dug into the area planning commission files to determine what developers plan for the Northville-Novixom area.

The series will include a map of proposed developments — specific projects that are either underway or definitely scheduled for bulldozers in the near future.

Certain conclusions can be easily drawn from such information. Population growth, for example. One year ago the official population of Northville city was 4,670; Northville township (including institutions) 7,800; Novi, 6,900; and Wixom, 1,710. Occupied dwelling units were 1,480, 1,050, 1,810 and 490, respectively.

What effect will the conversion of raw acreage into subdivisions and apartment projects have on these figures? What demands will it place upon services provided by our local governments... schools... mercantile establishments... parking areas...?

Will our established shopping areas meet the increased demands for services and goods or will new shopping centers skim off the cream?

Will the additional tax base and consumer business offset the cost of providing school rooms, police protection, rubbish pick-up, paved roads, etc.?

These are the kinds of problems that planning commissions face weekly. Local, county and metropolitan area planners are always thinking in terms of tomorrow. Consequently, their recommendations for today are frequently misunderstood and interpreted as "blocking progress".

Their proposals for the future often seem like "pipe dreams" to those of us who are more concerned with day-to-day business. Planners must view the use of each piece of property in the light of its eventual affect on the overall community.

When they object to the rezoning of a piece of property because the proposed use would present a serious conflict with a projected plan, they do so because they know that a series of such decisions could cause a hodgepodge in the future that would be economically damaging to the community.

The trick, in an area on the brink of development, is to keep the number of such diversions to a minimum, while keeping the long range plan flexible enough to adapt to changes that become necessary.

In the articles beginning next week there will be no effort to provide answers to the problems that development always brings.

But we hope the series will help to point up the importance of good, orderly planning and of inter-community cooperation.

We hope, too, that it may convert a few critics of master plans to sympathetic volunteers willing to donate their individual talents to helping cope with inevitable growth. At the least, informed support would be of great help to community planners.

New Compensation Laws Outlined for Rotarians

Michigan's broad new workmen's compensation law contains some important reasons why every employer and employee should understand his relationship to it, members of the Northville Rotary Club were told Tuesday noon at Fellowship Hall of Northville Presbyterian Church.

One reason is that relatively few persons who employ anyone now are exempt from the law, and there is a possibility of both legal penalty and serious economic consequences for failure to comply, John F. Moffat, representing the Michigan Insurance Information Service, explained.

Another, he said, is that many thousands of employees who previously were excluded now are covered for work injury or occupational illness care, and earnings compensation.

In addition, he added, disability benefits have been extended; there are provisions for increases in the maximum compensation through 1967, and for annual adjustment to the weekly wage level beginning in 1969, compensation differences are provided for totally and permanently disabled employees under age 25, and for those over 65; there is unlimited compensation for silicosis or other dust diseases; and benefits to the dependents of a deceased employee have been expanded.

Any employer in industry, business, profession, or household who has at least one employee who works 35 or more hours a week for 13 or more weeks within a one-year period now is subject to the law and must provide for workmen's compensation benefits, Moffat said. Formerly, the minimum was three or more employees.

Farmers come under the law May 1, 1967, if they employ three or more persons on the same basis, and they must provide medical care, but not wage-loss compensation, if they employ one or more persons at least the 35-hour minimum for five or more consecutive weeks, he reported. In the past, farm employment was excluded.

Announcement of the appointment was made by chairman Arnold D. Johanson, manager, Western Electric company.

Students aged 15-19 at Plymouth, Northville and Franklin high schools may participate in the junior achievement program that teaches free enterprise through actual business experience.

During the 1965-66 season, some 200 Achievers from Plymouth, Livonia, Northville, Novi, Garden City and Nankin produced and sold $7,250 worth of goods and services in 12 companies.

After buying materials, paying wages, salaries, commissions, rent, taxes and other overhead, the young industrialists rendered a report of condition to shareholders and repaid these investors according to company earnings.
