

High School Band to Sell Record Subscriptions

Commissions To Finance Music Camp

Newspapers will share a role with sheet music tomorrow as Northville's prize-winning high school band launches a campaign to raise money for financing attendance at a summer music camp.

The 121-member band will sell subscriptions to The Northville Record and The Novi News in a concerted effort to raise funds for the summer camp program, Band Director Robert Williams announced.

In an arrangement with the two newspapers, 25-percent of each new subscription sold will be returned to the band. That means they'll get one-dollar of each new four-dollar one-year subscription.

And for each new subscription over a total of 100, the band will be given $1.50. The band also will receive $1 for each $6 two-year renewal.

The student selling the most subscriptions over a minimum of 25 will receive an $80 Coronado solid state stereo phonograph. The stereo, featuring an all transistor amplifier, is on display at The Record office.

"We're delighted with this arrangement," Williams said. "Besides doing something on our own towards financing a project, it's also an opportunity to boost the community newspapers that annually support our activities."

"Until now we've never had the money to send our kids to camps as do many other high schools. Summer music camp means extra music training and plenty of relaxation for a really deserving group of kids."

The band has already written the score for its fund-raising campaign. Captains have been chosen, sellers appointed for Northville, Novi and Wixom, and all of the young musicians are ready to march.

Captains include Mike Utley, George Whitesell, Mike Conley, and Gary Becker. Persons wishing to subscribe to either The Record or The News and credit the subscription to the band are asked to contact one of the captains or visit The Record office at 101 North Center street.

Under the direction of Williams, the high school band is made up of boys and girls from both Northville and Novi. The band president is Glenn Deibert, who also is the clarinet section leader, and Joyce Stuckey is the secretary-treasurer and the saxophone section leader.

Other section leaders include: Sue Jones, flutes; Jan Moorhead, trombones; Dan Workman, baritone; Mike Utley, basses; Mary Lou Langtry, French horns; Terry Frazer and Robert Prodder, coronets; Tom Wilson and Gary Becker, percussionists; Kyle Stubenvoll, oboes; and Robyn Moon, bassoons.

'Planning Hurts Area Growth'

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the second in a series of articles on the planning bodies of the city and township of Northville, Wixom and Novi, their accomplishments and their forecasts for these communities. ★ ★ ★

"All this planning stuff is a bunch of rot; it's just detrimental to the growth of our area!"

Statements like this one by a Novi official are not uncommon here where much of the area is still made up of vacant farm lands. These people see planning as a barrier to community growth, hampering natural development of some industries and residences. "Why," they ask, "should we prevent an industry from settling in a particular area when it's apparent that the development would be a financial asset to the community?"

"Look, here we have all this vacant land and our people want services. We need to develop some of this land to get the necessary tax base to pay for them. So we get someone interested in putting up a factory, but because the area in which he wants to settle doesn't fit into the plan he's discouraged and forced to look elsewhere."

That planning sometimes discourages development is a valid argument. Local planners and their consultants readily admit it. But in doing so, they ask:

"Does rapid growth indicate a healthy community?"

Not necessarily so, says representatives of Vilcan Leman & Associates, consultants for Wixom and the township of Northville.

"If our only concern was to encourage development, why stop with doing away with planning? Why not scrap all other regulations and let developers build on any lot size, any kind of building, use any kind of designs and materials, and even decide where streets

Council-Planners Air Conflict

Advisory Body Indoctrinated

A city-council appointed citizens' advisory committee had its indoctrination Monday night and, in a manner of speaking, it came "under fire". Ten of the 14-members were on hand to receive instructions from the city council on what would constitute its duties.

Committee members soon learned that some difference of opinion exists between the council and the planning commission as to the exact direction the citizens' committee should take.

But the ruling city council made it clear by organizational chart that the citizens' committee is on the same level as the council-appointed planning commission and parking authority. All report directly, and are responsible to, the city council.

After greetings from Mayor A. M. Allen the new committee members heard Councilman John Canterbury present a resume of the council's resolution establishing the committee's primary function.

A lively debate followed when Planning Commission Chairman George Zerbel objected to Canterbury's explanation. "You're suggesting that this body doesn't have to pay any attention to what the planning commission has proposed in its master plan," Zerbel stated.

Canterbury countered that it was his intention to point out to the committee that its scope was broad and that it did not necessarily have to accept the recommendations of the planning commission.

He added that the planning commission, as well as the council, city manager, attorney and engineer, would be available to assist the committee. "The

School Board Okays $1.6 Million Budget

A record high budget calling for an increase of $354,701 over last year's operating expenditures was approved by the Northville board of education here Monday following a public hearing.

The $1,597,220 outlay was approved without a change. Last year's annual expenditure totaled $1,242,519.

Taxpayers will be billed at a rate of 25.9 mills to operate the schools at this level. In addition, another 7 mills voted for debt retirement is added to the millage package, bringing the total school tax to 32.9 mills.

Last year the total millage was 25.9. The 7 additional operating mills were approved by voters this past spring.

Of the total millage, 8.9 is county allocated for operation, 17 voted for operation, and 7 voted for debt retirement.

The lion's share of the new budget is for instructional purposes, which for the first time in the district's history soared past the $1 million mark.

This expenditure, which includes teacher salaries, represents about 70-percent of the total budget expenditure.

Approximately $160,000 of this cost reflects teacher gains made through the recently negotiated master salary schedule for the 1966-67 school year.

Some $74,000 of the instructional outlay is earmarked for salaries of five principals and one assistant, $962,320 for teacher and substitute teacher salaries, $58,800 for instructional material, and $16,500 for other instructional costs such as workshop consultants, tuition reimbursement for teachers, etc.

While most of the attention during the summer was focused on teacher salaries, the board recently turned its attention to administrative salaries and also came up with healthy salary hikes for most administrators.

Administrative salaries were boosted by $8,000.

Total administrative outlay of $91,000, up $16,197 from last year, includes planning costs, development of new school plants, recruitment, record keeping, budget-making, payroll, accounting, etc.

Here's a break-down in administrative salaries:

Superintendent Alex Nelson, from $15,000 to $15,600; Assistant Superintendent Raymond Spear, from $12,500 to $14,300; Administrative Assistant Elroy Ellison, from $13,300 to $13,700; Main Street Principal Harry Smith, from $11,600 to $12,500; Junior High Principal Donald Vaningen, from $11,- 100 to $12,500; and Moraine Principal Milton Jacobi, from $11,100 to $12,000.

Salary for the new Amerman principal, Roy Stoddard, was established at $12,000 (the previous principal received $11,100); salary for the new assistant high school principal, Ron Horwath, established at $11,000 (the previous assistant received $11,100); and the salary for the new high school principal, Fred Holdsworth, was established at $14,000 (previously, the principal received $12,800).

Second largest outlay in the budget is for operation, pegged at $170,050. This money is earmarked for custodial service and operation of school buildings and non-bus vehicles.

Last year actual budget expenditure in this category hit $135,797.

Other expenditures in the new budget include: $89,150 for pupil transportation, up $31,493; $41,200 for plant maintenance, up $9,600; $14,050 for maintenance supplies, up $3,688; $55,200 for employee benefits, insurance, etc., up $13,614; $15,150 for capital outlay, up $2,018; and for community service, $1,500, up from $682.

The bulk of the total outlay is expected to be offset by school taxes, with anticipated collection of $894,525, based upon the district's state equalized valuation of $36,354,607 — up $3,319,387 from last year.

Anticipated state aid is pegged at $571,396, excluding $27,499 for transportation, $9,500 for special education, $6,000 for driver education, $3,000 in NDEA, $2,500 for guidance and counseling and $900 for vocational education.

Surprise! JHS Bids Lower than Estimate

With the opening of bids Monday for construction of the new junior high school, an epidemic of smiles swept across happy faces.

Low base bids came in well under estimated costs!

"It's shocking, just shocking," chortled Trustee Eugene Cook, who with other board members was surprised and delighted by the low bids.

Asked for his comment, without having an opportunity to check figures, Architect Henry Haberkorn smiled, "It looks excellent. Base bids seem to be more than $100,000 under estimates."

Later, Haberkorn said the low base bid appeared to be about $180,000 less than the estimates. (Estimate of construction, minus alternates, was set earlier at $1,419,233. It was feared that rising costs might boost this figure considerably).

In contrast to board member smiles, there was an audible moan from some dozen or more construction representatives present as they listened and recorded bid figures.

All bids were turned over to the architect for study and recommendation.

Altogether, six firms submitted general contractor trade bids, 10 turned in mechanical bids, six electrical bids, seven kitchen and cafeteria equipment bids, five homemaking and arts & crafts equipment bids, and seven science equipment bids.

★ Detroit water is still waiting at the corner of Center and Baseline to enter the Northville system. But the transmission line leading to the reservoir continues to flunk the pressure test. City Manager Frank Ollendorff reports that excavators have discovered a leak in one section of the line. It will be sealed and a new test made within a week. If the test is successful, who knows? Maybe Detroit water in 10 days or two weeks. It was originally scheduled in local taps August 22.

★ Meanwhile, back on Randolph street, there's plenty of action. The new bridge was slated for installation Wednesday, as were forms for pouring concrete. There's bad news on the westerly end of Randolph, however. Wayne county has given the city 18 reasons why it won't approve the plans for connecting the improved Randolph to the county-controlled Eight Mile road. Manager Ollendorff says the 18 points have been corrected, but the county road commission says it may take two weeks to check them for final approval. Completion schedule for Randolph was September, but a six-week strike halted the project.

★ Northville has a new policeman. He's Howard Reeves, who will replace Patrolman "Gus" Aleck. The latter took a job on the Royal Oak force, his hometown. Police Chief Sam Elkins was pleased with the results of tests given five applicants for the opening. He said state police examiners reported exam scores among the highest recorded locally.

★ The city council has signed an agreement to purchase the 122 East Dunlap street residence of Mrs. Clifton Nutter. The deal becomes official October 13 when the city will start advertising for removal of the house. The lot will be converted to parking.

SET FOR GRID KICKOFF—By putting their charges through three weeks of intensive and spirited practice sessions, these coaches, most of them new, are ready for the opening kickoff tomorrow night at Plymouth. Heading the varsity staff is Alex Klukach (second from left), former assistant football coach at Northville for five years. Assisting him are (l-r) Bob Powell, newcomer to the staff who previously coached Central Michigan university freshmen, Ralph Redmond, former junior high school football coach and Dave Longridge, newly appointed athletic director, returning for another year as assistant coach. 400 See Fashions, Foods, Flowers

Local women and guests, 400 in all, filled the community building Saturday afternoon for a Fashions, Flowers and Foods Show presented by the Northville branch of the Woman's National Fair and Garden Association.

Luncheon was served on tables covered with white crepe paper cloths and green crepe streamers. A flower arrangement centered each table, and favors of small potted herbs were at each place.

The building was decorated with large multi-colored crepe flowers.

Guests of honor at the one o'clock lunch were Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, past national president of the association, Mrs. Marvin Katke, president of the Michigan division, and Mrs. J. Philip Wernette, first vice-president of the Michigan division.

Also, Mrs. William McCallum, historian of the Michigan division, and Mrs. Beatrice Carlson, Northville councilwoman and chairman of the Northville Beautification Committee.

Mrs. N. K. Pattison demonstrated how to make various flower arrangements, including ones for showers, fall and card-table entertaining, and corsages.

Fashions from Demery's of Farmington were modeled, featuring bright new fashions for back to school and clubs. Mrs. Paul Schulz commented the show.

The women had a chance after the fashion show to purchase breads and flower arrangements from the Flower and Bake Shops set up in the lobby. Chairman of the show was Mrs. Donald Ware.

FLOWERS—The Flower Shop, featured many colorful arrangements. Here, two women examine a few of them.

SPECIAL GUESTS—Guests of honor included Mrs. Marvin Katke, Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson and Mrs. J. Philip Wernette. Mrs. William R. Slattery, president of the Northville branch, is at right.

Gale-Risbridger Exchange Vows At St. Peter's

St. Peter's Lutheran church in Plymouth was the setting Friday, September 9, at 8 p.m. for the marriage ceremony of Anita Kay Gale and Gary Ralph Risbridger. The Rev. George Tiefert, Jr., pastor of the Immanuel Lutheran church of South Lyon, performed the double ring, candlelight service.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Russell F. Gale of Eight Mile road, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Risbridger, of Plainwell.

Approaching the altar on the arm of her Godfather and uncle, Gordon Moe, the bride was gown in white organza, featuring long sleeves and a full skirt which extended into a train. The bodice of the gown was of lace and the hem of the skirt was trimmed with lace which came up to a point on the skirt front. Lace insertions trimmed the train and fell in streamers from a bow at the back of the waist. She wore a crown of crystals securing a finger-tip length veil. Her flowers were a cascade bouquet of white roses surrounding a going-away corsage.

The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. William S. Milne of Warren. Bridesmaids were: the groom's sister, Sara Risbridger of Lansing, Susan Hubbert of Northville, and cousin of the bride, Susan Beyer of Plymouth. The attendants were dressed alike in ankle length dull turquoise satin gowns with headpieces of matching bows and scalloped illusion veils.

Terry Locatis was best man. John Knowlton, Michael Beyer and William Bakhaus were ushers, assisted by Philip Scheel and Martin Wagner.

The organist was Miss Kathleen Stelze. She accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Katherine Alley, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," and the congregation singing "O Perfect Love." The processional was "Trumpet Tune in D major, the recessional was Psalm XIX. Church decorations were white flowers on the altar and at the windows.

Mrs. Gale, the bride's mother, wore a dress of raspberry crepe with matching accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Mrs. Risbridger, mother of the groom, chose a beige silk dress with cranberry accessories and a rose corsage.

The three grandmothers of the couple were also present; Mrs. Edith Gale of South Lyon, Mrs. B. Risbridger of Lake Leelanau, and Mrs. M. E. Schuster of Plymouth. They all had pink and white corsages.

Following the ceremony a buffet supper for 200 was held in the church dining room.

The new Mrs. Risbridger wore a red suit when the couple left for their wedding trip to Saugatuck on Lake Michigan. They also planned to spend some time at Cadillac Sands.

They will reside at the Washington apartments at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant where the groom is beginning his senior year.

The bride is a graduate of Northville high school and Cleary College, Ypsilanti. The groom graduated from Plainwell High school.

In Our Town

By Jean Day

A NEW SEASON was launched last weekend as bright sunshine provided perfect orbiting conditions for the Garden Club's long-planned Flowers, Fashions and Food gala. Next door in Plymouth that city's annual festival drew many Northville citizens, especially antique lovers — (Local dealers participating in the antique mart pronounced it "one of the best").

Three Northville antique-appreciators, Mrs. Robert Froelich, Mrs. Howard F. Meyer, Jr., and Mrs. William Dyke, drove to Marshall Saturday to tour homes open on that city's popular annual home tour and antiques sale. The trio was among 5,000 people attending, Mrs. Froelich reports.

Since Marshall is Mrs. Froelich's home town, she and her guests also visited homes not open to the public and had tea with her mother, Mrs. Herman Beuker. They lunched at Win Schuler's restaurant where a special menu marked the day. After visiting the four private homes open and Marshall's famed Honolulu house, Mrs. Froelich observed that it had been interesting to enter homes she had passed regularly as a school girl but it also was a little disturbing to find ultra-modern behind a Victorian facade in one instance!

MRS. FROELICH will open her new home at 379 Maplewood for the first fall season meeting of the Baseline chapter of the Questers antique group at 1 p.m. Monday. After this first meeting the club will resume its regular schedule of meeting on the fourth Monday of the month. Mrs. Leonard Klein, club president, invites anyone interested in antiques who would like to know more about the group to contact the membership chairman, Mrs. George Miller. While the club is limited to 20, transfers and other vacancies are filled from a list kept by Mrs. Miller.

Topic for Monday's meeting will be "Fracture," which in antique lore means those charming Pennsylvania Dutch birth records, marriage certificates and house blessings that are adorned with hearts, flowers and other gay mementoes. The paper will be presented by Mrs. William Crump, who has researched her subject since last spring by writing to Bucks county and other museums in the Pennsylvania Dutch region for details.

She clued us that the term "fracture" for this type art is derived from the decorative Germany type face of the 16th century used on these records.

The Crumps are heading for Charlevoix almost every weekend to relax on the house boat they purchased this summer. Mrs. Crump says she expects it will be one of the last to go into storage as they hope to continue their explorations of lakes Charlevoix and Michigan through Indian Summer. Last weekend daughter Connie was missing on the outing as she was among collegians attending a Young Republican convention in Fenton. She returns to Albion as a sophomore the end of the month (A delay in dorm construction on the campus is giving students two added weeks of vacation).

NORTHVILLE WOMAN'S Club President Mrs. Elroy Ellison is another of our town's antique fanciers. She was jubilant this week over the "find" of glass curtain-backs at the Redford show she attended Saturday. Her primary shopping right now, though, she confides, is for a special hat for the opening Woman's Club luncheon October 7 at Meadowbrook country club. Since the program is to be on hats, the new president is selecting hers with special care.

Although the club's 74th year doesn't begin until next month, committees have been at work throughout the summer. Mrs. E. E. Mueller and her program committee have lined up the year's programs and have yearbooks ready for members. Mrs. Hugh McKay, social chairman, had a "Moving Day" last Friday to take the club's tea equipment to its new quarters in Northville Presbyterian church. The club will be meeting at the church this season, except for the first luncheon and one November meeting.

TAFT COLONY ASSOCIATION will be starting its new season this Saturday evening as 29 neighbors on the hill west of town gather first at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Weston on Woodhill road for cocktails. Dr. Weston is association president. The group will have dinner at the Arthur Hempes followed by dessert at the A. B. Klines with after-dinner drinks at the G. R. Honeckers. Finally, there is to be dancing at the Elwyn Kaakes.

Fashion Show Plans Revealed

Fashions for the working girl from Tow Bari of Dearborn will be shown at a "Fashions by Candlelight" show presented by the Town and Country Chapter of the National Secretaries Association Thursday, September 29 at 7:30 p.m.

Area women are invited to attend the show held at Loty's, 42390 Ann Arbor Road at Lilley in Plymouth. To make reservations, call Mrs. Jenelda Sowers at DU 3-0243 in Lincoln Park; Mrs. Louise Watson at 474-2749 in Farmington; or Mrs. Dorothy Ferrari, GA 7-3733 in Livonia.

Newcomers Club To Open Season

The Northville Newcomers club is looking forward to a full schedule of activities this fall, beginning with a morning coffee at Mrs. Norma Wagoner's home at 18419 Donegal Court Wednesday, September 28 at 10 a.m.

Club officers extend a warm welcome to all new residents of the area, and hope to see many new faces along with all old members at the first meeting of the season.

CORNER

Northville is an ideal location for Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rellick, newcomers living in the homey red brick apartments at 22000 Beck road. They are close to their married daughter and her family, and near to Mr. Rellick's work in Detroit.

Living near their daughter's family is "Northville's drawing card for us," Mrs. Rellick asserts. Dr. and Mrs. F. F. Ishac only moved to Northville a short time ago themselves. They live on the borderline between Northville and Farmington township.

Dr. Ishac, whom Mrs. Rellick says they think of "as a son as much as a son-in-law," is a psychiatrist. The Ishacs' three children are Carmen, 5, Freddie, 3 1/2 and Danny, almost 2.

Mr. Rellick works nights as the supervisor of the REA Express company. In the daytime he has to sleep, but manages to find time for his hobbies too, — which are woodworking and fishing.

Elizabeth Rellick enjoys the baby sitting she often does with her grandchildren, and also enjoys doing fancy needle work.

They both like to travel, and are looking forward to an upcoming vacation. They have traveled through most of Michigan and throughout the eastern states.

In the past they have taken part in church and service groups, but in recent weeks their attention has been centered on getting settled since their move here June 15 from Grand Rapids.

Among the cadets enrolled at St. John's Military School for the 1966-67 school year is Donald M. Hummel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward L. Hummel, 47139 Grasmere. The school's 79th year began September 7. Hummel is a junior at the Episcopal boarding school.

Anyone interested in becoming a Red Cross Volunteer should attend a tea at 2 p.m. Wednesday, September 28 at the home of Mrs. William O'Neill, 15939 Edgewood, Livonia. Information about all the Red Cross programs will be given during the tea.

Jim Weidner, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Weidner of 672 Fairbrook, is up and walking around after more than six weeks in the hospital and, according to his parents, "he is doing so well" he may come home this weekend. Jim has been at Mt. Carmel hospital since suffering a fractured vertebra in his neck in a diving accident July 27.

Mrs. Robert Brueck, Northville Town Hall chairman, held a board meeting at her home on 47129 Dunsany road Monday morning. The board discussed plans for the upcoming season, which begins October 20 with Karl Haas in the Northville high school auditorium.

DAR — Record

The Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet for the first time September 19 at the Plymouth Dunning-Hough Library on East Main street.

Since the meeting falls within Constitution Week, September 17-23, reports of activities for the week will be given.

Mr. Carl Pursell, president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and Congressional Chairman for the Republican Party, will speak on "The Importance of Voting."

Luncheon will be served by hostesses Mrs. Harry Gettgey, Mrs. Wilbur Elliott, Mrs. Carl Bryan, Mrs. Howard Atwood and Mrs. Donald Stobbe.

There will be a short board meeting at 11:30.

Casting for the first production of the Plymouth Theatre Guild's 1966-67 season will take place Monday, September 19 at 8 p.m. in the Plymouth High School Annex Auditorium. All are encouraged to come and try out for "The Marriage-Go-Round", a light comedy.

The Past Matrons Club of Orient Chapter 77 O.E.S. will meet Wednesday, September 21 at 12:30 for a dessert luncheon at the home of Mrs. H. R. Bogart of Detroit.

Kenneth E. Northrop of 16415 Bradner visited the Sarasota Jungle Gardens, September 7 while vacationing on Florida's Lower West Coast. Here visitors can mingle with flamingos and other rare and unusual wild fowl from every continent. There are also thousands of tropical plants, huge Royal Palms bordering dense jungle trails, and brilliantly colored macaws and cockatoos.

News Around Northville

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Coykendall of Seven Mile road celebrated their 37th wedding anniversary September 4. They are now visiting their daughter Sherry and her husband, Ellwood Manning, who also celebrated their second wedding anniversary on the same day. Ell-wood's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Manning of Anselmo, Nebraska, are also visiting at Scott Air Force Base in Illinois, where both the Ellwood Mannings are stationed.

Sunday is Fall Derby Day at Meadowbrook Country Club. Breakfast at 8, a shot gun start at 10, and buffet dinner from 5 to 8 will highlight the day. Dancing and music will also be part of the evening. The weekend starts Friday night with a seafood buffet clam bake.

Mrs. George Skrake of Lomita, California (formerly of Northville and employed at Maybury Sanatorium) visited Mr. and Mrs. Ward Riley of 717 Grace this past week. Sunday they celebrated Mrs. Skrake's birthday with guests from Detroit and Northville. Mrs. Skrake and Mrs. Riley were Monday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Bender and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herter.

HAWAIIAN VISITORS—Enjoying a visit to the Isle of Maui in Hawaii are Mr. and Mrs. Dean Lenheiser of 45095 Mayo Court. They were guests at the Kaanapali Beach hotel when the photographer snapped this picture.

CAR Board To Meet Here

A senior board meeting of the Children of the American Revolution was held last Saturday at the home of Mrs. George Merwin, 43461 Cottisford.

An organizational meeting, the group discussed fall and spring activities of the CAR. Mrs. Merwin is serving her fourth year as senior state president.

This Saturday members of the local CAR, including Mim and Jack Merwin and Philip and Wendell Wegeng, will attend a meeting in Marshall. They will visit the Honolulu House, where they will have lunch.

Special thanks to the Young Peoples Group of Immanuel Lutheran Church for the beautiful float, Pastor George Trefel for his assistance, Ladies of the V.F.W. Auxiliary, for chairs and refreshments, Max Brown of the A & W for reserving our seating area and refreshments, the staff of the home.

Many Thanks
The Residents of the
Martin Luther Home

I would like to thank our relatives, neighbors, friends, Rebekahs and Odd-fellows for the many acts of kindness shown me during my illness, also Rev. Roger Wm. Merrill for his call.

DAWN OF A PROFITABLE WHEAT SEASON

Fertilize with AGRICO at planting time

Make wheat while the sun shines... make it better... make more of it... with AGRICO fertilizers in the soil to give your grain the start it needs. Wheat growers say the yield barriers are breaking. Researchers are talking in terms of 100 bushels or more per acre. How? With proper management, of course, and with quality AGRICO fertilizers correctly applied. AGRICO gives you quality in extra measure. AGRICO fertilizers are tailored to your specific soil needs. You get the precise formulation your crop calls for. Our free AGRICO soil test will pay dividends. It shows exactly the plant food needs of your soil and will recommend the AGRICO formula that's best. It's the practical way to help boost wheat yields.

Northville Bids Surprise Board

Although board members were delighted with the results, the "financial windfall" is tempered by the fact that the district faced a $500,000 deficit prior to the opening of bids.

School officials had estimated two weeks ago that completion of proposed building projects will exceed the $2.8 million issue by more than $500,000, discounting accrued interest on bond money.

Following the lengthy bid opening, Robert H. Carey, president of the Thompson-Brown company, outlined his firm's plans relative to the development of the Haass property located on both sides of Six Mile road near Bradner. He explained how this development, together with proposed relocation of Bradner at Six Mile, might result in the availability of school site property.

It was decided that school officials should meet with Thompson-Brown representatives relative to this matter and report back to the board later this month with two or three different proposals.

Concerning a report by Administrator Elroy Ellison that a collective bargaining meeting with bus drivers was scheduled for Tuesday morning, several non-union drivers complained that they are being harassed by union members. Furthermore, they complained that apparently they have no opportunity to bargain for themselves but must wait for benefits won by the union.

Board members sympathized with the non-union bus drivers, but noted that labor relation practices prohibit separate bargaining. However, they directed Ellison to obtain a legal opinion on the problem and do what he can to halt harassment of non-union members.

Certification of all personnel, including administrators, their salaries, and their assignments was formalized by the board. Ellison also reported that blacktopping of the high school parking lot has been completed, that resurfacing of the American school property is nearly complete, and that improvement of the Main street school playground should be started soon.

The fact that the high school work had not been completed before the opening of school drew criticism from Cook, who said several citizens had complained about inconvenience. Ellison explained that because of other pressing school work he was unable to get to the parking lot project sooner.

Ellison also was directed to obtain bids for an additional school bus, a school car and a vehicle for transporting special education students. He noted that a greater percentage of students eligible to ride buses are doing so than in the past year.

Relative to a decision by the Northville township board to extend its lease on the old library building to the school district, the board directed its attorney to prepare a lease to be presented to the city council and the township board for execution.

Another matter involving the township board came up when President Wilfred Becker noted that the township had twice tabled its resolution for annexation to the city of the Moraine school property.

With the support of fellow board members, Becker directed the administration to send the township a letter, pointing out that the school desired some immediate action on the resolution.

Board members voiced hope that the county road commission would reconsider installation of a traffic signal at Center and Eight Mile road that would be fully operable during school hours and a flashing signal at other times. The city council also opposes the proposed signal and, like the school board, favors a "full-time" signal.

He'll Teach in College

David L. Andrews, son of Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Andrews of 51630 Eight Mile road, has been named an instructor of general and abnormal psychology at Olivet College in Kankakee, Illinois.

A 1961 graduate of Northville high school, Andrews received his BA degree from Spring Arbor college in 1965. He will receive an MA degree in psychology later this year at Western Michigan university.

Wixom News

Brighton at the summer home of Mrs. Francis Morris of Wixom. Wixom residents present were Miss Mildred Gibson, Mrs. Francis Morris, Mrs. Lucetta Ruggles, Mrs. Louise Bowers, Mrs. Virginia Johnson. In 1917 Walled Lake did not have a high school so the graduates finished high school in Pontiac.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Coe spent the Labor Day holiday at Hale and Tawas. Douglas Coe has started his junior year of college at Western university.

Linda Cheesman has started her first year at Eastern Michigan university.

Fred Ferguson has started at Central university.

On Tuesday, September 13, the CWS ladies will hold their regular meeting at the Wixom Baptist church. The kick off banquet for the Wixom Baptist building fund will be Monday, September 19 at the Walled Lake junior high school.

The planning commission met for its regular monthly meeting on Monday, September 12. The commission had several requests for zoning changes.

Jim Hughes of Wixom road will leave September 15 for Michigan Tech to start his senior year in electrical engineering.

Richard Hughes will leave September 18 to start his freshman year at Ferris Institute.

St. William's Catholic school opened Wednesday, September 7. There are 588 students, eight sisters of St. Dominic from Adrian and 10 lay teachers. There are 16 classrooms and 25 volunteer mothers working in the office and library.

This week we continue our look at Michigan and out-of-state campuses in fall '66 by stopping first at a university way at the top of the state. Northern Michigan university in Marquette can't easily be matched for a scenic location.

Forest, lakes and mountains provide a beautiful surrounding for the school. Nearby is the Presque Isle with its Sugarloaf Mountain and docks along Lake Michigan. Marquette is the central community in a group of three small towns, the other two being Neagunee and Ishpeming.

On campus the university center is the focal point of activity. The Wildcat Den, a lounge, bookstore and meeting and study rooms are in constant use by students.

Today, only three years after receiving university status, Northern has an extensive three-dimensional program — instruction, research and service — to offer its students. Excellent football and basketball teams are an extra bonus for students.

Among the students from Northville attending the college this year will be ROSIE FRONTERA and SUSIE LARUE, both June graduates of Northville.

Rosie worked in the Novi Drugs this summer. She plans to major in psychology at school, while Susie plans a major in special education. Both girls will live in Spalding Hall, the dorm for freshmen women. It's part of a four dorm complex.

Two other girls attending from Northville are NANCY LOGEMAN and ANDREA CAIN. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Logeman of 872 Carpenter drove the girls up to Marquette this week. They will register and become acquainted with the campus before classes start September 17. Andrea is the daughter of the Andrew Cains of 741 Grace.

From the Upper Peninsula of Michigan we travel west to another large university, the University of Arizona. It was organized in accordance with the Morrill Act of July 2, 1862 creating the "land-grant colleges", the same act under which Michigan State University was organized.

And, like Michigan State, agriculture was the college's main concern when classes began in 1891. Mining and engineering were also important.

Located in Tucson, the university has many intriguing historical touches. The residence halls bear such names as Apache, Navajo, Cochise, Mohave, Gila and Santa Cruz. Its Arizona State Museum portrays the life history of the state and the Southwest. There are 135,000 museum pieces, including the extensive collection of the Gila Pueblo Archeological Foundation.

A group of local students have already packed their bags and departed for a new year at the university. TOM BINGHAM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bingham of 23906 East LeBost, will be a sophomore. He attended Northern Michigan last year, so he should feel right at home during football season since both schools have the Wildcat as mascot. Tom is a 1965 Northville high graduate.

Also in his sophomore year is another 1965 graduate of Northville, JOHN HINCK. He's the son of the Clarence Hincks of 21237 Summerside Lane.

In her fourth year at Arizona is SUSAN EASTLAND, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. K. Eastland of 46900 Chig-widden. She attended summer school, but was home recently for a week's breather before departing for another year. She made the return trip by way of Denver and San Francisco.

On campus she is busy with her sorority house, Alpha Omicron Pi. She was a member of the Northville class of 1963.

Returning to the University of Michigan, covered in detail last week, we take another quick look at Northville students on campus. TERRY LARUE, son of the James LaRues of 638 Center, flew to Hawaii the weekend before starting his third year at Michigan.

A radio announcing major, he has worked as news announcer for Radio Station WPAG in Ann Arbor. This summer he was director of morning baseball for the recreation department. CAROL YAHNE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yohne of 512 Eaton left for college a week early to help with the orientation of incoming freshmen. She's social chairman of her dorm on campus, and a sophomore this year.

Police Chief Warns Vandals

Two northern Michigan youths await sentencing next Thursday on charges of malicious damage to mailboxes this past weekend on 12 Mile road.

Richard Westcott, 18 of Tawas and Timothy O'Neil, 18 of Oscoda, pleaded guilty of the charges before Justice of the Peace Robert K. Anderson Monday. Sentencing was postponed until after a pre-sentencing investigation by the justice.

Both youths, who were jailed overnight in the county jail, were released on bond pending sentencing.

Police Chief Lee BeGole used the incident as a lever to halt a growing number of cases involving willful destruction of mailboxes. "The first stop for anyone caught," warned the chief, "will be the county jail. The next step may be federal detention."

BeGole also said his department is investigating vandalism in the C&O railroad yard just west of Novi road. Sergeant John Turner of the C&O police department reported vandals have been destroying switching lights and uncoupling boxcars, both of which could lead to derailment or serious injury.

Chief BeGole Named To Police Committee

Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole has been appointed as a member of the police training committee of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, it was announced this week. It is a one-year appointment.

BIG WELCOME—When he returned home at 419 Dubuar after finishing a four-year tour of duty in the Navy, Gerald Jerome (center) got a happy welcome from his parents Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jerome, shown here. An added surprise was the sign erected by neighbors over the garage door. Jerome once was a part of the team that helped to recover Gemini nine.

Draftees Under Fire Even Before Basic

A bus load of draftees made an unscheduled stop in Novi August 30 when fire broke out in an overheated engine compartment. No one was hurt and the fire was quickly extinguished.

But an old, tinder-dry barn burned to the ground last Thursday as Novi firemen, assisted by Northville fire fighters, fought successfully to prevent the flames from spreading.

As the bus was returning from the induction center at Fort Wayne in Detroit, rear occupants reported that "it was getting hot," police said.

Immediately after the bus had come to a halt on the West bound ramp leading from the expressway onto Novi road, the fire broke out, police reported.

Occupants filed out of the smoke-filled bus, and firemen arrived about 1:30 p.m. to extinguish the flames. It was caused, police said by a hot muffler that ignited road tars and oils underneath the bus.

The bus was towed to Detroit, and another bus took the stranded draftees to their Grand Rapids destination.

The barn, located at 41840 Grand River, was leveled by flames.

Association Taps Principal Smith

Harry Smith, principal of the Main Street elementary school has been appointed as a key principal for the 1966-67 school year for the Northville Public Schools' system for the Association of Elementary School Principals, Region 2.

The position represents the communicating link between the organization and the individual principal.

Notification of the appointment was made in a letter to the superintendent of schools from Region 2 Association of Elementary School Principals.

Players Guild Plan Election

The Northville Players Guild will hold its first meeting of the 1966-67 season Tuesday, September 20 at 8 p.m. at the Northville Scout Hall, 215 West Cady.

New officers and board members will be elected, and a schedule for the year will be discussed.

All previous members are strongly urged to attend this important meeting. New members also are welcomed.

Refreshments will be served. Call Gary Webb at 349-2675 if further information is desired.

Sewage Problems Still Plague Salem

Salem township, South Lyon Community Schools and the Washtenaw county sanitation department are taking a hard look at a long-standing water pollution problem in that township.

Sewage has been found in samples of water taken from Johnson Drain which flows through the village and along the school property. It poses a threat to school children, according to Joseph Price, county public health officer.

He said that the waste apparently comes from drainage residences in the township. The township has no sewer system.

Township Supervisor Floyd Taylor confirmed Monday that the problem was present and said that heavy, damp clay soil in the area causes septic fields to seep to the stream rather than percolate (go down into the subterranean).

He said the problem has been known to be in existence for several years. Speaking before the school board here Monday he said he knew of only two ways to prevent the pollution — to evict the residents or build a sewer.

The first, he noted, was too drastic. The second would be costly, at over $1 million dollars, and not feasible for the township.

He suggested that the school build a protective fence along the stream as had been discussed when the property was first purchased for school use. This, he said, would at least keep the school children from playing in the stream.

He suggested, also, that a new industry planning to locate on the south boundary of the school may be willing to share the cost of a fence.

The board indicated it would investigate possibilities for a fence.

'Planning Hurts Area Growth'

ville township and the city of Northville, and the planning board of Novi village.

All four of these groups over the past several years have developed comprehensive master plans for their communities, revised zoning ordinances and drawn up subdivision rules and regulations.

Following is a synopsis of these planning groups, their accomplishments, and their current projects.

In Northville township...

Under the chairmanship of Gunnar Stromberg, who next spring will become a member of the township board, this six-member commission has one vacancy, created recently by the resignation of James Tellam, a township trustee. Other members include Luke Bathey, J. Craig Bowlby, Leonard Klein, and Bernard Baldwin, who recently was appointed to the township board.

Stromberg has indicated that he will, if the township board agrees, remain a member of the commission after he takes a township board post.

Changed from zoning commission to a planning commission in 1961, it was expanded from a four to a six-member group with additional powers.

Within the past year, the commission has developed a master plan and completely revised the older, "vague" zoning ordinance that dated back to 1955.

The master plan, like those in the cities of Northville and Wixom, was financed in a major part by a federal urban planning assistance program. Implementation of this plan, through the new zoning ordinance is the next major project as planners consider the proposals of developers and orient them to the master plan.

In Wixom... Chester Zielinski heads up this nine member planning commission, established with the incorporation of Wixom as a village in 1957. (Wixom, shortly thereafter, was incorporated as a city.) Besides Zielinski, members include Ralph Armstrong, G. E. Underwood, John Erickson, Lloyd Preston, Oscar Scheffler, Mrs. Charles Ware, Lawrence Beamish and John Nichol.

Development of a comprehensive master plan, major revision of the zoning ordinance, and adoption of subdivision rules and regulations have already been accomplished. Refinement of the master plan is currently in the works.

Current refinement of this plan was sparked mainly by need for a greater industrial base to offset cost of public services. In addition, the commission has taken another hard look at multiple dwelling type developments and has decided to include more of these in the revised plan.

Because more area is to be earmarked for industry, the refined master plan necessarily calls for a smaller ultimate population—although additional multiple dwelling considerations offset somewhat the downward population projection.

The refined plan calls for an ultimate population of 38,000 as opposed to the 41,000 in the original plan.

In the city of Northville...

"It shall be the function and duty of the commission to make and adopt a master plan for the physical development of the municipality."

So states in part the Municipal Planning Commission Act of 1931 under which the city of Northville's planning commission was created.

It spells out one of the major goals of the commission, which became 2 reality early this year with the completion of a comprehensive community plan and report. This "blueprint", which includes a Central Business District plan that has been adopted in principal by the city council, was in the making for two years. It was partly financed by the federal government.

In addition to the comprehensive plan, the commission only recently completed a major overhaul of the city's subdivision ordinance now before the council for adoption.

A zoning ordinance, enacted in 1946 and amended over the years, underwent a major overhaul in 1960.

As in in the township of Northville and the city of Wixom, the major task now facing Northville municipal leaders is the implementation of the master plan. In Northville, implementation of the Central Business District section of the plan is considered of prime importance and, in view of this urgency, a citizens committee has been established to study ways and means of making the plan a reality.

Heading up Northville's nine-member planning commission is George Zerbel. Other members include W. Wallace Nichols, vice-chairman, Warren A. Stoddard, secretary, Harvey Ritchie, James M. Dingwall, Charles R. Ely, Jr., Clarence E. Hinc, Charles Freydl, Jr., and Edwin R. Langtry.

In Novi... Although Novi's planning board has been working on that community's master plan longer than its neighboring communities, the plan has not yet become a reality. A revised edition is expected to be completed later this month.

Several reasons account for the plan's lengthy birth.

Perhaps most important is the fact that in Novi a master plan requires, under village ordinance, public hearing, and council approval. In the three other communities, planning is governed by state law which requires only adoption in principal—or certification by the governing body that the plan has been completed.

Because a Novi master plan is necessarily therefore a more rigid document—less easy to change once it has been adopted—its first presentation to the council and to the public encountered opposition.

At the time the plan first came up for public viewing, the council was being challenged with ways of financing sewers and water for the community.

The master plan as originally presented, councilmen note, provided for a relatively low-density "country atmosphere" community in which the individual property owner would be called upon to share a large part of sewer and water costs. "We need a community with a population large enough so that this cost can be spread a little thinner," they conclude.

With that philosophy in mind, the planning board put the plan on the operating table, pared down lot sizes and now has come up with an ultimate population of 130,000 as compared to 80,000 in the original plan.

Unlike the plans in neighboring communities, Novi's master plan is being financed completely by the village without the help of federal funds. Novi's plan, too, incorporated the aid of a citizens committee in determining the kind of community desired.

Novi's planning board also has been instrumental in development of a subdivision ordinance and major overhaul of the zoning ordinance.

The nine-member board includes Raymond Evans, chairman, Kalin S. Johnson, vice-chairman, Joseph Dunnabeck, secretary, Olen R. Green, Willis Miller, Paul McCollum, Norman F. Zoll, Harold Tuck and Victor Rust.

EDITOR'S NOTE: If the communities of the city and township of Northville, Novi and Wixom develop to the extent as seen in the master plans of these communities, the four communities will one day have a combined population of approximately 243,000. In the next two articles of this series, we will take a closer look at these master plans and the reasons for this population projection.

Vivian Hits Esch Record

The heavy campaign guns have been lowered early by Democrat Weston Vivian, incumbent second district congressman, in his race against Republican Marvin Esch.

In an advertisement appearing in this edition, and all other weekly and daily newspapers in the second congressional district this week, Vivian's Campaign Coordinator, Robert W. Carr, attacks the record of attendance of Esch during the two years he has been a Michigan legislator.

The advertisement reproduces a letter from the Speaker of the House of Representatives to Carr, which indicates that Esch missed more than half of the roll call votes during 1966 and over 40 per cent during his two-year term.

Mustang Eleven Faces Avenger

Will history repeat itself? Probably not. It's seldom that a football team can romp unimpeded as the Northville Mustangs did last year in soundly trouncing Plymouth, 45-0.

With Quarterback Tom Baughman pitching to Ends Jerry Imsland and Steve Evans and Wingback Jim Zayti, Northville scored with ridiculous ease.

A bunch of greenhorns from Plymouth, befuddled and beaten, never were in the ball game, and they continued their inept play throughout the 1965 season, losing twice by scores of 52-0 and failing to win a game.

But a year has passed. Friday night will mark the beginning of football 1966.

Key figures responsible for Northville's opening game success last year have departed. And although some veterans are returning to shore up frayed ranks, it's seldom that things click as smoothly as they did for Northville last year.

As a painful spur in its side Plymouth will have memories of last year's humiliation; in addition, the Rocks have at least one veteran returning at each position. In some positions, Plymouth is two and three deep.

As a result, Northville versus Plymouth promises to be a bitter grudge battle once again when the teams take the field tomorrow night at Plymouth. Kickoff will be at 8 p.m.

Dave Prochazka and Steve Hulce will handle the quarterback chores for Plymouth, and Hulce, a good runner, may also see action at halfback. Both are veterans.

An end last year, Ron Lowe will be running at a halfback spot with either Hulce or Tom Elias, formerly a defensive specialist.

At fullback Coach John McFall, in his second season and looking for his first win, has a pick of three solid backs: Dick Dyer, Dick Michael and Al Nawrocki.

Starting ends will be veterans Jeff Adams and John Bida, both a year wiser. McFall's interior line, although of average size, will be experienced. And there's no shortage of linemen.

Northville, on the other hand, isn't as deep, either in the line or the backfield.

New Coach Alex Klukach indicates he'll stress passing and running speed, despite the fact that he claims his backs aren't especially fast.

Before the season began, Northville was hit with a serious loss. Doug Swiss, a two-year veteran and Northville's top back last year, decided to sit out the season in hopes his shoulder, injured during the baseball season, will heal.

That means Klukach will have only one proven back, Wingback Jim Zayti. Light but tough, Zayti improved with each successive game last year, both as a broken field runner and as a receiver. If he continues making progress, he'll be the center of the Northville attack.

Help could be forthcoming from Ron Gloestnei, who transferred from Livonia Bentley this year. He's impressed Klukach with his determination and quick moves. Last year Gloestnei, who weighs 160 pounds, played on the Livonia jay-vee squad.

Pat Hall, small at 160 pounds but rugged, will start at fullback.

Although Chris Holman has the edge in the battle for quarterback, his competitor, Joe Andrews, will probably see action. Either way, it'll be tough finding a quarterback with the finesse of Baughman, last year's aerial wizard.

Steve Kehrer, who threatened to alternate at fullback with Hall, was switched to center this week when Dale Price quit the squad. At 5'8" and 180 pounds, Kehrer will get the starting call at center.

Surprisingly, Klukach has come up with two strong junior ends, Gregg Carr and Bob Hubbert, both about 6'1" and 185 pounds. While not exactly filling the shoes of Imsland and Evans, they can hang onto the ball and they're rugged, willing gridders.

Strongest of the interior line positions will be guard where veterans Roger Kline, Jerry Asher and Daly Hill hold forth. Together they will split the offensive and defensive chores.

Getting first call at tackles will be inexperienced Dan Conklin and Terry Frazer, who saw action, particularly toward the latter part of last year. Conklin is 6'2" and 210 pounds, Frazer 5'10" and 180 pounds.

Klukach has his own strategy for Friday night: "We hope to hit them fast and score, because we don't have the depth for a control game. We'll pass."

The Northville coach expects Plymouth to play its usual control ball game in which they try to overpower the opposition, "leaving us in the dust."

Friday's game then, stacks up as a normal Northville - Plymouth football donnybrook.

Cash Awaits Grid Fans

Okay, you armchair quarterbacks. Let's see how well you can pick the winners.

The annual football contest sponsored by The Northville Record-Nowi News and South Lyon Herald begins this week.

Cash prizes totaling $18 will be awarded weekly to the top three prognosticators of the weekend football results.

There's nothing to buy and anyone can enter. Just follow the simple rules on page 9.

Entries must be postmarked or delivered to the newspaper office by 5 p.m. Friday.

Normally, we don't like to give out any advance information. But because this is opening week, here's a bonus: Miami of Ohio will trip Indiana and Illinois will find that SMU stands tall down in Texas.

Jaycees Plan Tennis Tourney

The Northville Jaycees will hold their annual tennis tournament on Friday and Saturday, September 23 and 24, at Cass Benton park.

Boys and girls in the 16-and-under and 18-and-under age brackets are eligible to compete in the tourney, Director Richard Norton announced.

An entry fee of 75 cents will be charged, Norton said. He added balls will be furnished and trophies will be awarded to the winners.

To enter the tournament or to obtain additional information, call Norton at 349-2467.

Novi Opens Saturday

Hopes Ride on Ground Game

"We heard some good tackles and blocks Monday night," Coach John Osborne said. "We're getting ready for the big ball game."

He was speaking of Novi's home opener Saturday morning against Milan's jayvees at Novi. (The game is not at Milan as stated on Page 1B). Kickoff is scheduled for 10 a.m.

Saturday's game will be a completely unique experience for Novi. For the first time, Novi will field a junior varsity squad made up of high school freshmen and sophomores.

And Osborne's hoping that this year's squad picks up where it left off as freshman - with a victory to sustain a four-game winning streak.

Delighted as Osborne and his assistant, Milan Obrenovich, were with Monday's practice, they were disappointed by injury. Mike Farah, first string fullback and a defensive lineman, suffered a hairline fracture of the arm and he'll be out for two weeks.

This makes it more imperative for Halfback Jon Van Wagner, Novi's best runner, to make a speedy recovery. He worked out for the first time in about a week last Monday, after recovering from a knee and ankle injury to opposite legs.

According to Osborne, neither injury seemed to bother Van Wagner, but Osborne's being cautious. Whatever, Van Wagner will be pressed into service Saturday to punt for Novi.

To sharpen the edges for Saturday's game, Novi gridders alternated practicing defense and offense this week, Osborne reported, and tomorrow night, they'll run through both offense and defense.

Since the passing game has been "running hot and cold," Osborne explained, "we'll concentrate on our ground game, in hopes of grinding it out."

On defense Novi will probably go with Middle Guard Dan Douglas, Tackles Morrison and Lee Snow, Ends Boyer and Keith, Inside Linebackers Van Wagner and Bingham, Outside Linebackers Adema and Schott and Defensive Halfbacks Osborn and Earl.

NOVI COACHES—Guiding the fortunes of Novi's football team when it begins the 1966 season

Saturday will be John Osborne (left) and his assistant, Milan Obrenovich.

THE MILLERS AND MICHAEL—Making his home with the John Miller family of 8660 Napier road is Michael Schlotow (seated center), an exchange student from Hamburg, Germany. He is flanked by Mr. and Mrs. Miller and standing is their son, John a junior at Northville high school.

Exchange Student Tackles Giant Load

Michael Schlotow, a 17-year-old youth from Hamburg, Germany, is Northville's new foreign exchange student.

For the next 10 months he will live with Mr. and Mrs. John Miller and their son, John, in their rural home at 8660 Napier road.

Michael, like nearly 400 other exchange students, came to Northville in August as a part of the Youth for Understanding program, for which Northville is annually the embarkation and now the embarkation gathering station. And as the other exchange students are undoubtedly discovering Michael is finding that life in the United States, and especially at the Miller home is a unique experience.

Having lived in apartments in Germany all his life, Michael fully expected something similar here, Miller explained. Instead, he found a country atmosphere in Northville to which he is now adjusting.

In Germany, Michael's father was a wholesale merchant. Michael would be a senior in his country, and accordingly, he's a senior at Northville high school.

But the work load is nothing short of astounding. Michael is taking six solid subjects, including physics, American government, personal typing, United States history, senior mathematics and English 12 accelerated. "We do let him eat lunch," says one of the high school secretaries.

This is the 16th consecutive year that Northville has participated in the Youth for Understanding program by accepting a foreign exchange student, Miller reported.

Wanted.. 300 Volunteers For Red Cross Work

September has been designated as Volunteer Recruitment Month by the Southeastern Michigan Chapter of the American Red Cross. Northville volunteers will be assisting other area chairmen in the drive.

Goal of the drive is to recruit 300 new volunteers.

Local representatives are Mrs. A. C. Carlson, and Mrs. Mabel Cooley, community and alternate community representatives respectively; Mrs. May Winter and Mrs. Harry Crofts, chairman and co-chairman of the blood program; Mrs. Jesse Boyd, food service chairman, and Charles Carrington, disaster representative.

There is a special need for men and recent retiree volunteers this year, according to Mrs. Carlson. Men are wanted for many programs, including transportation, service to military families, the Red Cross speakers bureau, first aid and water safety instruction. Recent retirees are needed for nearly all branches of Red Cross work. Mrs. Robert C. Busey, chairman of the recruitment, explains, "Recent retirees have unlimited potential because of their immediate past business experience."

A large number of women volunteers is needed also. A few programs requiring their services are the blood program, induction center volunteers, office and hospital workers, drivers for the transportation service, and seamstresses to make items for veteran hospitals.

Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer should mark Wednesday, September 28 on their calendars now. Mrs. William O'Neill, 15939 Edgewood, Livonia, is holding a tea at 2 p.m. for all local Red Cross prospective volunteers.

Those attending will have an opportunity to meet others active in Red Cross work and hear of the programs in which they may serve.

More information about any aspect of volunteering may be obtained by calling 422-2787.

Novi Policemen Attend College

School's not over for four Novi policemen.

Corporals Gordon Nelson and Harold Crampton and Patrolmen Robert Starns and George Biggs are presently enrolled in a police administration course at Schoolcraft college.

For two hours each Tuesday and Thursday nights, they attend class at the Livonia college to gain four credits toward a degree. They began last Thursday. The course will end December 22.

Novi Justice Court

A Novi man was fined $100 and had his license suspended last Thursday after pleading guilty in Novi justice court to charges of driving under the influence of alcohol.

Michael Mink, 24, who resides at 26900 Beck road, was cited for driving erratically on Novi road and in the process, sideswiping another car on September 7.

Also paying a $100 fine was Earl Wise, 28, of Inkster. He pleaded guilty to drunk and disorderly conduct when arraigned Thursday before Village Justice Robert K. Anderson. Wise was cited for an incident that occurred August 28 as he drove west on 11 Mile road just west of Beck road.

Constance Kwiatkowski, 59, from Hamtramck was fined $50 on a reduced charge of reckless driving on August 28 as he headed east on 13 Mile road.

Cited for speeding in a 50-mile-per-hour zone, Thomas Measel, 34, of Berkley pleaded guilty before Justice Anderson and paid a fine of $25. Measel was ticketed August 23 as he drove east on 12 Mile road.

A Detroit man, Frank Strelecky, 34, was fined $15 and $15 costs by Justice Emery Jacques. Strelecky was charged with permitting an unlicensed youth to drive his car on September 6 on Grand River.

William Miller, 23, of Detroit pleaded guilty to creating excessive noise with his car as he drove south on Novi road. Justice Anderson fined him $25.

As a result of driving his car into the rear end of another vehicle near Novi road and the expressway, Matthew Shoemaker, 26, of Walled Lake was fined $15 by Justice Jacques.

Earl Sockow, 25, of 130 Henning, Novi, was fined $25 for dumping garbage and trash in his back yard. He was arraigned September 7 before Justice Anderson.

David Branscomb, 31, a resident of Farmington, paid a $25 fine for consuming on the highway between Meadowbrook and 10 Mile roads.

And Gerald A. Servello, 18, who lives at 1247 East Lake drive in Novi, was fined $15 and directed to clean up the property on South Lake drive where he dumped a stripped car.

A Milford man was fined $50 in Novi justice court for speeding 85 miles per hour in a 55 zone.

Arraigned August 31 before Judge Robert K. Anderson, Alexander Millar pleaded guilty as charged. Infraction occurred at 2 a.m. on August 21 as Millar was driving east on Grand River between Taft and Beck roads.

Glenn Killeen, 30, of Walled Lake pleaded guilty before Justice Emery Jacques, also on August 31. He paid a fine of $15 for careless driving on June 19 as he drove between the expressway and 12 and one-half Mile road on Novi road.

3 Novi Brothers Get U-M Degrees

Three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Boyd of 44180 Durson, Novi received degrees from Michigan colleges this summer. Bill Boyd received his law degree from Wayne State university law school in June.

Jack Boyd

Bill Boyd

He was valedictorian of the 1959 class of Northville high school, and was graduated from the University of Michigan with a B.A. degree in 1963.

After taking his Michigan bar examination September 1-3, he left September 8 with his wife, the former Roberta Kirkwood, for graduate studies in law at Harvard university on a scholarship.

Brother Jack received a B.A. degree in August from the University of Michigan. He helped Bill move to Massachusetts last week and then went on to Columbia university in New York. He is now a Peace Corps trainee preparing to teach English in Kenya, Africa.

Lawrence Boyd Jr. received his master's degree in political science from the University of Michigan this summer also.

NEW MANAGER—James Belz, 27, was named manager of the Northville D & C Store this week, replacing Fred Kester, who has been promoted to buyer for the chain of variety stores. A native of the Howell area, Belz comes to Northville from North Lansing where he was manager of a D & C store for three years. Previous to that he was manager of D & C's warehouses at Stockbridge and an assistant manager of a store in Muskegon. Married, he and his wife hope to move to Northville soon. In Lansing, he was a member of the Northside Commercial club.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Reverend James Andrews
Full Salvation Union

I suppose there has never been a perfect marriage or a perfect home or a perfect family. The first marriage performed by God himself, according to the Biblical record, resulted in a race of "fallen and sinful beings." However, we do believe that there have been many marriages in this world directly arranged and ordered by the Lord. The Bible says, "Marriage is honorable in all."

God spoke to my wife when she was a high school girl at the close of a religious service at a camp meeting with these words, "Will you marry Brother Andrews?" The power of God held her where she was standing until she stopped arguing with God and agreed to do His will. Her final argument to God was: "I cannot marry him because I do not love him." When she agreed to do God's will in spite of that fact God caused a warm ball of love to come up out of her heart, go out her arm and from the tip of her finger go around me where I was sitting on the platform and back into her heart three times as she stood in the rear of the tent with her arm stretched out toward the platform unable to move.

Over a year later we were married. I realize there is a psychological explanation of this experience but I prefer to look beyond psychology to God, the creator of psychology, and believe that He actually proposed for me. As a result we, together with God, have given life to 10 children, seven boys and three girls.

Our oldest son is 32 and our youngest child is 7. We have shared our joys and sorrows together now for almost 34 years, but this human family arrangement is not an abiding, eternal relationship.

Christ came to establish the family of God which is the only abiding and eternal relationship. He said: "If any man come to me and hate not his father and mother, and wife and children etc., he cannot be my disciple."

Hate is the strongest word in the English language; it describes the most complete separation that can exist between individuals. When all carnality is eliminated from hate (of course, Christ does not ask anyone to hate with carnal hatred) all that is left is separation.

This means that the call of Christ into the family of God, the only abiding eternal relationship, cuts across every other relationship known in human experience. Every human tie must be broken so that the family of God may come into manifestation as a literal fact in this earth.

There is no way to escape from facing this truth. God has arranged that death finally dissolves every human connection: the home, the church, the lodge, the nation. It is His plan that all these earthly relationships, under the careful tutelage of the Holy Spirit, are to give place to the relationship of the family of God sometimes described by the three words, Full Salvation Union.

In the realization of this "oneness" eternal life is manifested just as natural marriage results in giving physical life. Christ came to give us eternal life but we can only receive it in that "oneness" for which He prayed in the 17th chapter of John, where we are perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment and all speak the same thing, with no divisions among us.

TEA PARTY

There's a strong possibility that in five more minutes someone may break one of those balloons, or spill some ice cream on someone else, and these well-mannered little ladies and gentlemen will suddenly dissolve into children! But, for the moment, they are having a wonderful time, and no matter what the consequences they are learning something.

Even such a simple situation teaches children the rudiments of getting along with one another. This isn't a lesson that comes naturally. We aren't born with built-in manners! We aren't born, for that matter, with any of the social or spiritual ingredients we need to acquire. These we have to learn — and, in turn, to teach our children.

These children are being taught, both at home and in the Church. Are yours?

Do electric dryers really cost less to buy?
Do you really get no-charge service?

Do kids like ice cream?

The answer, of course, is a rousing YES! Model for model, electric dryers cost from $20 to $40 less than gas dryers. And every electric dryer is backed by Edison's No-Charge repair service. No charge for any electrical parts. No charge for labor. Edison is the only utility company in this area that offers no-charge repair service.

Can you get this kind of worry-free assurance with a gas dryer? Sure—with a manufacturer's repair service policy. But it will cost you up to $120 over the first five years of operation alone!

One thing more. Edison's No-Charge repair service applies even if you don't buy your dryer from Edison—so long as the dryer is electric and you get your electricity from Edison. And if you buy now from a participating dealer, the low price you pay includes the cost of wiring, if any's needed. So when you add it up, an electric dryer can save you up to $160 in just a few years. That can keep the kids in ice cream a good long time.

OUT OF THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO

...Narda Foreman won first prize in the fruit and vegetable competition at the Michigan State Fair. Her 12 by 10 apple and plum display of trees and sky won a blue ribbon and $800.

...Northville driver examination station opened up with a new look—a new camera and application forms to furnish the driver with a colored photo on his laminated driver's license.

...An $800,000 mobile home site project was presented to the Northville township planning commission last week by Charles Lapham, local businessman. Action on the proposed project to be located on a 50-acre site at the northwest corner of Beck and Six Mile roads was postponed to permit further study.

...Dr. Robert K. Jastow, medical superintendent at Plymouth State Home and Training School, resigned. He was to become chief of the mental retardation branch, division of chronic diseases, U.S. Public Health Service, Washington, D.C.

...About 60 gridders went through two-a-day practices last week.

...Robert McKeon, a Willowbrook resident, agreed to drop his appeal contesting the village's proposed purchase of the Willowbrook water system.

...Six youths, five from Novi and one from Northville, sniffed glue for kicks. They were reported to Novi police by a neighbor who said they were acting "drunk".

FIVE YEARS AGO

...Northville residents converged on the council chambers to question the city's intent of improving streets by levying a 25 per cent assessment.

...Mrs. Fred W. Cobb of 21355 Beck road won three firsts, three seconds, four thirds and one fourth in competitions at the Michigan State Fair.

...Tuesday voters throughout the state prepared to select delegates to a convention charged with the responsibility of fashioning a new constitution for Michigan.

...Of 95 Northville high school graduates polled, 37 percent boosted their high school averages by almost a quarter of a point in college.

...Sometime in October the Oakland County Circuit court was to render a decision on John Oslin's attempt to disconnect from the village of Novi to attach to the township. Oslin, who lives at 41900 13 Mile road, was seeking disconnection of his 160 acres.

...Novi village council hopes to take action on a petition to ban hunting at its next meeting September 18. In the interest of public safety, 73 southern residents signed the petition.

Sewers came closer to Novi last week as the council adopted a resolution asking Oakland county to establish and operate a county sewage disposal system with Wayne county into the Rouge Valley system.

TEN YEARS AGO

...A check for $331 was presented to three-year-old Carol Ann Donnelly, a leukemia victim. The money was raised at a benefit dinner, sponsored by the Northville Eagles auxiliary.

...Northville sat tight as Novi township served notice it will go to the state supreme court if necessary to prevent part of its territory from annexing to Northville. There was some question as to the validity of an election held August 7 in which residents of an 82-acre tract of Novi township voted unanimously to annex to Northville.

...Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Foreman both won first prizes at the Michigan State Fair, she with a display of vegetables and fruit, he with an educational display of different varieties of fruit.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

...There will be approximately 600 students attending Northville schools this year.

...Interest was mounting for the first Friday night drawing September 7 at 9 p.m. at the Four Corners. It was sponsored by the Northville Retail Merchants association.

...Secretary of the Novi Zoning Board, George R. Simmons, announced that the proposed amendments to the zoning ordinance would take the form of a public hearing September 17.

...Plans for the proposed Our Lady of Victory school are pending the approval of Detroit headquarters and then the Northville village council, Father Lorenzo Woods stated.

...“Showboat”, a cinema musical, was playing in area theatres. Stars were Ava Gardner, Howard Keel, Kathryn Grayson and Joe E. Brown.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

...Crowding into the gate with 7,000 other Fair enthusiasts were Henry Ford and his son, Edsel.

...Although the new grade building, under construction was progressing according to schedule, December was the earliest time it could be expected for occupancy. That meant at least for four months Northville pupils would have to be “farmed out” again.

In Uniform

PFC James R. Needham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Needham of 41066 McMahon, Novi, recently left for Viet Nam with a detachment of United States Marines.

A 1965 graduate of Northville high school, he joined the Marine Corps in January, taking his basic training at Camp Pendleton, California and special ordinance training at Quantico, Virginia. While at Camp Pendleton he was awarded an expert rifleman's badge.

He was promoted to PFC upon graduation from ordinance school as an ammunition technician.

Stolen Car Hits Justice's Auto

A Detroit man who reportedly took a car without the owner's permission was involved in two collisions last week.

Tandy Watts, 20, was ticketed for unauthorized use of a vehicle and for driving without a driver's license.

Owner of the car, Thaddeus Watley, also of Detroit, told police Watts had asked to sit in his car until he, Watley, finished work at Paragon Steel, Inc. Novi police were told that Watts apparently took the keys from a pair of pants in the back seat.

He subsequently crashed into the rear end of a car parked in front of Attorney Emery Jacques' office at 43043 Grand River, police said. Owner of the car is Donald Ridler, 56, of 23601 E. LeBost.

Then Watts piled into the back end of a car driven by Jacques' secretary, Signa Mitchell of 26019 Whipple street, police reported. She was stopped for traffic on Grand River, waiting to make a turn onto Grand River.

Summer Ends September 23

Summer will end officially at 6:43 a.m. Friday, September 23, when the sun will arrive at the autumnal equinox, according to Hazel M. Losh, University of Michigan professor of astronomy. Since June 21 the sun has been steadily moving southward, and on September 23 will cross the equator, she points out.

“This is the date that it rises and sets at the east and west points of the horizon, and the day and night are said to be of equal length.”

“Strictly speaking, this is not true. The atmosphere causes the sunlight to be bent, so that the sun appears ‘lifted,’ and visible before coming over the horizon and after setting.”

This bending, which is called refraction, hastens the sun's rising and delays its setting. Professor Losh explains.

Beefs up Builder Licensing

New legislation went into effect September 1 that promises to give more protection to present and future homeowners in Northville and throughout the state.

It's a uniform state law that makes it mandatory for all contractors and builders to follow detailed and more comprehensive procedures in securing licenses.

Perhaps the most significant addition to the old licensing regulation is the requirement that residential salesmen must obtain a license.

A residential salesman is defined as an employee, agent or independent contractor other than a licensed builder or contractor who offers or sells goods and services of a builder or contractor other than the sale of real property.

Other major changes designed to protect the homeowner are the added requirements that licenses be bonded, the extension of the list of trade unions covered to 27 and stiffer penalties for refusing to comply with the law.

Maximum penalty for violations of any provision of the act was increased from $500 or six months imprisonment or both to $1,000 or one year or both, for a first conviction and $3,000 or two years imprisonment or both for the second.

To ensure that the builder or contractor is operating or representing a bona fide business, the law also demands that the applicant complete a detailed application blank and present a credit report and financial statement.

Furthermore, the applicant must identify his salesmen, take a written examination and pay a license fee.

Basically, the law covers most contractors and builders, the only exemptions being:

— Persons working for wages only.
— Any work or operation of one undertaking in which the total contract price for labor, materials and other items is less than $200.

— Subcontractors who do not contract directly with the home owner.

— Persons who are selling or installing any finished product or article of merchandise which does not become a fixed part of the structure.

— Persons constructing, altering, improving or repairing personal property.

Those seeking more details about the law are urged to contact the building officials of their municipality.

Denied Public Airport, Two Promoters Eye Fight

Two Salem men, whose bid for a conditional use zoning permit to operate a commercial airport was denied recently by the Salem board of appeals, have announced they intend to fight harder for it.

Ronald Shoebridge, local asphalt paving contractor, and Ray Clark, licensed pilot and instructor, seek to turn Shoebridge's private field into a commercial airport.

The big hitch, so far as the board of appeals is concerned, is the proximity of the airstrip to the community of Salem. The threat to the safety of residents because of inexperienced trainees in aircraft was the first of four reasons given for denying the permit.

Also cited were objections to noise that might impair the rights of residents, possible deflation of nearby property values and lack of township control.

The airport, which is located on 45 acres now and would be enlarged to 121 acres, is bordered by Six Mile road, the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, Seven Mile road and Chubb road.

An existing 2,000 by 50-foot runway lies in a north-south direction and has its south end at Six Mile road just east of the railroad tracks.

The runway is presently surfaced with two inches of asphalt. The owners announced intentions of extending the asphalt paving to 4,000 feet in length and to a width of 75 feet. A 2,600 by 200-foot east-west runway is contemplated, and would initially be of sod.

Shoebridge and Clark said their intended operation would be similar to that of the New Hudson airport. Hangers for their own planes and for lease would be erected, gasoline service would be offered, and flight instruction would be given. They would manage the airport.

Shoebridge has used the airport for his own private planes and has allowed others to use it during the past two years on a non-commercial basis. Two aircraft operated by the Salem Great Lakes Plastic company regularly use it as a landing and takeoff strip.

Power lines along Six Mile road, similar to those at the north end of the New Hudson airport, caused concern at the appeals board meeting.

Clark, who holds an air transport license and is a designated Federal Aviation Agency examiner, argued that the power lines are not a problem. He said the length of the runway is more than adequate to allow planes to clear the lines before descending for a landing.

Neither did he agree that property values would be depreciated. "This has not been the case at other airports," he said.

The township does not need to have control, he argued, because the FAA and Michigan Department of Aeronautics have stringent standards regulating airport usage.

Danger to residents would be at a minimum, the men told this newspaper, because the landing and takeoff pattern would be established to route flights away from the village.

"In fact," commented Shoebridge, "they have a better chance of being hit now, because other aircraft, including one commercial outfit, now use Salem as a practice area—flying directly overhead. If our airport were commercial neither they—nor we—would be allowed to fly within five miles except to land and take off."

He explained that the state designates Salem as a practice area because of its relatively low population density.

Also, added Clark, "Instructors licensed by the FAA must have complete control over a student aircraft at all times."

Shoebridge and Clark indicated that they will continue attempts to gain approval. "We're not going to take their (the appeals board) decision," said Clark.

They have retained Attorney Robert Greenstein of Livonia to assist them.

Rule ups Benefits

Over 1200 Washtenaw county residents age 72 or older will be receiving letters asking them to return a signed Social Security application in order to qualify for benefits under a new provision of the Social Security Law according to Robert A. Kehoe, district manager of the Ann Arbor office.

The new rule provides for the payment of a flat $35 a month. Persons who are not eligible for other state pensions or welfare payments of over $35 monthly are eligible. The benefits are first payable for October.

This new part of Social Security was enacted last March he added.

Dear Mr. Carr:

In response to your letter of August 25 requesting verification of your research on the voting record of State Representative Marvin Esch, my staff has completed checking your work.

We found your statistics correct. Rep. Esch failed to vote on 345 out of 1,097 roll call votes recorded in 1965. Rep. Esch failed to vote on 542 out of 1,046 roll call votes recorded in 1966 through June 29.

Best wishes.

Sincerely yours,
Joseph J. Kowalski

SCHOOL MENU

Following is the cafeteria menu for the week of September 19-23 at Northville high school. A hamburger on bun and french fries is an alternate main course each day.

Monday -- Meat pie and biscuit with butter, or beef noodle soup and meat sandwich; all with fruit salad, pudding and milk.

Tuesday -- Meat roll and gravy, peas and carrots, and muffin, or beef vegetable soup, meat sandwich and relishes; all with peaches and milk.

Wednesday -- Hot dog on bun and baked beans, or potato soup and meat sandwich; all with salad, banana cake with orange frosting and milk.

Thursday -- Sloppy joe on bun and brownie potatoes, or chicken noodle soup and meat sandwich; all with relishes, pineapple and milk.

Friday -- Tuna and noodles with rolls and butter, or clam chowder and egg salad sandwich; all with apple cabbage salad, chipmunks and milk.

Librarians Eye Dinner

Fall is here, and to Northville high school students that means a new football season.

This year, to get the season off with a "kick" and to promote the interest of the townspeople in the school team, the Library Club will sponsor a spaghetti dinner before the first home football game Friday, September 23.

The Mustangs will meet Holly that night.

Mrs. Knapp, manager of the high school cafeteria, will prepare spaghetti with two types of sauce, meat and meatless. Homemade rolls, tossed salad, cake and coffee or milk will complete the menu.

This is the same old-fashioned family style dinner served at the P.T.A. Carnival. The price for "all you can eat" is $1.25 for adults and $.50 for kindergarten through sixth graders.

The dinner will be held in the high school cafeteria from 5 to 7. Parking is ample and convenient.

The dinner is the start of an exciting year's program planned for the Library Club by the sponsor, Mrs. Sullivan, and the club officers: Margaret Godley, president; Marilyn Pubanz, vice president; Mary Horsfall, secretary; and John Bunn, treasurer.

Plan Benefit

Plans are underway for a benefit party here Friday, September 30, under the joint sponsorship of the American Legion Post 147 and the VFW Post 4012.

The party will be held at the VFW post home, 438 East Main street, beginning at 8 p.m.

NOVI METHODIST CHURCH

The district parsonage open house and dedication was held Sunday in Ann Arbor with Bishop Reed in charge of the dedication.

Monday evening the W.S.C.S. officers training session was held at Dixboro.

Saturday, September 17 the Layman Ministers Retreat will be held at Judson Collins camp on Wampplers Lake. The pastor urges all to attend.

Sunday, September 18 the quarterly conference will be held at Ann Arbor at 7 p.m. Members of the official board are asked to attend.

The discussion group resumed its meetings this past Sunday with a good crowd in attendance.

The W.S.C.S. will meet next Wednesday, September 21 at the church at 11:30. Bring your own sandwich. Hostesses will be Millie McHale and Pat Kozak. They will be working on plans for the bazaar, November 2.

Thirty young people were present for the MYF meeting at 7 o'clock Sunday evening. They had a very successful car wash last Saturday. The W.S.C.S. served them a hot lunch at noon. This coming Saturday they plan to clean the church after which they will go on a hay ride.

New officers of the MYF are Jack Crawford, president, Kim Kozak, vice president; Pat Trotter, secretary; and Terry Dryer, treasurer. This group is sponsored by Rev. and Mrs. Mitchinson.

The Wesley choir will sing next Sunday morning. Wesley choir practice at 11:30 a.m. Sunday and the senior choir practices at 8:00 p.m. Wednesday night. NOVI BAPTIST CHURCH

The Junior Hi Youth group had a special get acquainted program service for all new 7th graders Sunday evening. The program included the film "Part Time Christian" and refreshments. Members also made plans to play miniature golf on Friday night. Everyone is to meet at the church at 6:30 for pooled transportation. Following the golf game, the young people are invited to the home of the Diems for a barbecue. This group is for all 7th, 8th and 9th graders.

Morning service on Sunday included a special number by the choir "Awakening Chorus" and the sermon was "The Lord Reigneth." In the evening service Mrs. John French presented the ministry in music and Pastor Clark spoke on "What is Man".

On Wednesday night, September 14, the new time of 7:00 for prayer meeting started. The topic for Bible study was "What about the new Morality." Special missionary speakers were Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Lee from Strathmoor Judson church where he serves as director of Christian Education.

All men and boys are reminded of the fishing trip to Pt. Au Gres on Saturday. They'll meet at the church at 9:00 for transportation arrangements. Fishing will start on the boat which has reservations for 30, at 1:00 to 5:00. Fishing equipment may be furnished at a cost of $2.00. Home again about 9:00.

The Vera Vaughn Circle met on Tuesday night at the church. Special speaker was the pastor's wife, Mrs. Gib Clark. Plans were made for additional canning. Produce is being given for jelly making and sugar has been donated. However, there is a need to have jelly made in the homes. This is for the Southland Bible School. They are planning a work day to clean up around the church before the fall work starts.

The superintendents of the Sunday school had a meeting Sunday night and made plans for promotion day on September 25 with interviews to start this week and conclude on Sunday, September 18 for the new teaching staff. Plans are being made for teachers training in the near future, either during the Sunday school hour or at 6 p.m. on Sunday evening.

Rally day is scheduled for October 9. At that time there will be a kickoff for the Sunday school contest. There also will be a special program for children including puppets, etc.

All teachers and others interested in the total church program are reminded of the work shops at Plymouth, September 16 and 17.

Some of the topics will be "Solving Discipline Problems," "Teaching Aids and Helps", "Missions in the Bible School." On Saturday at 8:30 a.m. the film, "The Gospel Blimp" will be shown with additional workshops to follow. All those interested please call the church office for additional information. M S U Eyes Full Med Program

LANSING — Many cheered when Michigan State University's Institute of Biology and Medicine started classes this fall, the first academic step toward a full-scale medical school on the East Lansing campus. The long effort to come into existence was over.

Among those cheering were educators at MSU who had worked for years to get the two-year medical school program out of the planning stage.

Many outsiders as well lauded the new program because of its potential for helping alleviate the doctor shortage in Michigan and throughout the nation.

One who called to hear: "I'm sorry but Dr. Jones is not taking any new patients," can appreciate what the MSU Institute can mean.

STARTING WITH 26 students this fall, MSU officials hope to get state approval to expand the program to a full four-year medical degree curriculum.

University officials have built into the curriculum a relatively new concept in medical education. They hope to encourage a maximum of independent study and original research at the earliest levels of the future doctor's study.

Instead of the usual procedure of lecture rooms and laboratories for 30-40 hours each week, the MSU medical students will have only about 25 hours in required class time. Other hours may be filled with student-selected courses, individual study, research projects, part-time jobs or other activities the student feels are worth while.

INSTITUTE PLANNERS see their curriculum as a six-year program, including the first four years of undergraduate work as an integral part of the first two years of the traditional medical school.

Thus, the students in the program this year are considered to be in the fourth year of college leading to the bachelor's degree, although most of the 26 already hold a degree.

Next year, normally the first in medical school, MSU's students will start limited patient contact in clinical work, which is not usually started until a student has completed at least one full year in medicine.

BEFORE THE 1961-62 Constitutional Convention, many politicians described the state's basic document in the same terms used to criticize the present tax structure: "patch-work" and "horse-and-buggy."

Critics maintained a similarly dim view of the new construction, but it has so far withstood several attempts at amendment.

This fall it appeared that voters would be asked to start a massive move to change the Constitution which has only been in effect for two years.

VOTERS will be asked about one change, in the required age for balloting rights. Several other questions which were considered by the legislature must wait for future elections.

Lawmakers gave serious debate to proposals to change Constitutional provisions regarding highway department administration, judicial vacancies, terms for State Representatives, charitable bingo playing and several other matters.

Only a proposal to permit persons from 18 years up to vote in Michigan gained the necessary two-thirds vote in the two houses to get it on the November ballot.

Proponents and opponents of the 18-year-old vote idea were basically pleased that this issue would go to the public alone, although many were disappointed that their other pet ideas would not get a hearing this year.

It is easier to get an idea across to the voting public if there is only one matter to discuss.

With two, three or even more constitutional proposals on the ballot, voters could easily be confused when they get inside the polling place.

CITIZEN SIBLEY

Roger Babson

Look for Tax Hike

BABSON PARK, Mass. — As the wage-price spiral gathers steam, there is rising concern in business circles and in Washington. The need for a tax boost is everywhere discussed and there is renewed speculation that the Administration may also be forced to adopt wage-price controls.

President Johnson has repeatedly expressed the hope that voluntary wage and price restraint could be achieved through application of the guideposts of the Council of Economic Advisers. In pursuit of that goal, the President had cautioned labor to trim its demands so as not to rock the economy. Also, he had several times used the prestige of his office to persuade industry to forego or to rescind price boosts in selected industrial raw materials.

For a time it appeared that the Administration was succeeding in keeping wages and prices from upsurging too violently. However, over the last several months the White House has been fighting a losing battle with runaway wages and prices. Despite those price rises it did succeed in thwarting, quotations have been edging upward. And the final agreement between the airlines and the Machinists Union is the latest in a series of such settlements which have been clearly inflationary.

THE EFFECTS of recent unrealistically liberal wage settlements and of climbing prices are evident in the trend of living costs. In July, the latest month for which such statistics are available, the Bureau of Labor's Cost of Living Index increased four-tenths of one per cent over June. Higher transportation costs and a somewhat smaller-than-average boost in food prices were blamed for the upturn.

The Cost of Living Index is 2.8% above a year ago and promises to move still higher over the near term. It stands at 113.3. This means that it now costs the American consumer $11.33 for a typical selection of commodities which cost only $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

You can expect the cost of food, medical care, and other services to rise alarmingly over the next couple of months. But you can also expect the President to insist that it is too soon to do anything that would definitely put a lid on wages and prices. Mr. Johnson well realizes that inflation is a problem and that it spells danger in the period ahead. But he also realizes that the strong measures needed to combat it are unpopular and that they would have little chance of clearing Congress before the November election.

So we must wait until the voting is over, — hoping that by that time the economy will not be so overheated that a recession will be its only real cure. Because of the political realities involved, there will be no attempt to impose any system of wage and price controls upon the nation this fall. Any such move would probably be deferred until after the turn of the year. Even then it is unlikely to be resorted to until after taxes have been hiked.

TO EASE up pressures on the economy, stemming from record industrial activity and the escalated war in Vietnam, the Administration and Congress might have chosen, last spring, either to increase taxes or to cut federal spending. Instead, they did nothing.

We are spending so much, so rapidly, to support our effort in Vietnam that it is widely expected the President will ask Congress for an additional $12 billion for this purpose. Added to the $12 billion already budgeted for the Viet war, this would make a total of $58 billion to be expended for national security this year. It boils down to this: We cannot cut spending for the Viet war, and our leaders will not cut spending for Great Society programs. We just don't have enough cash to go around for both. So there'll be a tax boost — applying to both corporations and individuals — by January.

FOOTBALL CONTEST

Here are the Rules

Take a plain piece of paper and number down the left hand side from 1 to 20.

You will notice that each square below is also numbered from 1 to 20 and each contains a football game to be staged this coming weekend. To complete your entry you must do the following:

- (1) after each number on your paper write the name of the sponsor of the corresponding square.
- (2) following the sponsor's name — write the name of the winning team.
- (3) in addition you must pick a score on the outcome of the game in square 20. This will be used in the case of a tie and then the contestant whose score is closest to the actual score will be declared the winner.

Be sure to write your name, address and phone number plainly on your piece of paper (your entry).

Enter just once a week, but may enter as many weeks as you wish.

In case of tie, prize money will be split.

Copies of the contest will be posted at the Northville Record and South Lyon Herald office each week.

Entries must be postmarked or brought to either of our offices no later than 5 p.m. each Friday.

Employees of The Northville Record - Novi News or South Lyon Herald or sponsoring merchants are not eligible.

SPEAKING for The Record

By Bill Sliger

Ten of the 14 members of the city's newly-formed Citizens' Advisory Committee were initiated into their assignment Monday night.

It was a healthy beginning.

They learned at the outset that councilmen and planners don't always see eye-to-eye; and as they, the citizens, listened intently to gain a firm grasp on the exact objectives of their committee, they became aware that it boils down to where one places the emphasis.

Broadly speaking, the citizens' advisory committee was appointed to study community deficiencies, evaluate methods of improvement, determine priorities and help inform the general public of the needs and proposals for improvement.

Technically, it's a committee that is required by law to implement a master plan if federal funds are to be sought.

Northville has a master plan. It was developed during the past four years by the city's planning commission with the assistance of professional consultants. And this master plan points up community deficiencies, recommends remedies and establishes priorities.

The master plan, a guide for now and the future, is not the product of one individual or body. It was encouraged and authorized by the city council, developed by planners and consultants, and paid for by federal and local tax dollars.

But it is the crowning achievement of the planning commission and its members are understandably proud of its content.

So Monday night the inevitable question arose:

Is the citizens' committee merely a dummy organization created to place its stamp of approval on the planning commission's 75-page report?

This was emphatically denied by both planners and councilmen. But a matter of emphasis remains.

Councilman John Canterbury placed more than casual emphasis on the position that "the committee is not appointed for the sake of carrying out the work of the planning commission. This body (the planners) is an excellent source of information, but the citizens' committee should review, not necessarily accept their recommendations".

As a matter of fact, the emphasis on discarding master plan proposals seemed so strong to Planning Chairman George Zerbel that he offered a rather pointed rebuttal to the councilman's interpretation.

"You are suggesting that this body doesn't necessarily have to pay any attention to what we've done", Zerbel charged. He noted that planners are not laymen, that they have worked three years in exploring many plans before making their recommendations, and that they would take a dim view of any committee that would move in at this point and declare "we don't like what you've done and we're going to propose something else".

Zerbel declared that there is not time to wait another three years to "find out what we already know".

Furthermore, he left no doubts as to priorities insofar as the planning commission is concerned.

"The planning commission goes on record as stating that the most important thing is the immediate development of the central business district. We're already late. We're not going to sit on our hands, we're going to do a selling job", added Zerbel.

The planning commission's spokesman added that he was certain that the citizens' committee would come up with the same recommendations if they had studied the community as long as planners.

He called the plan flexible to the point that if there are aspects which citizens believe should be thrown out, they should discuss these with planners and look to the planning commission for alternatives, not set about to develop their own proposals.

If the newly-appointed citizens had developed some feelings of insecurity or being "unwanted" at this point, Zerbel dispelled them with his parting statement.

"Remember, the planning commission was the first to advocate appointment of a citizens' advisory committee."

The outspoken exchanges between council and planners provided an excellent initiation for the citizen advisors. It forewarned them that these are serious, dedicated people who are sincerely concerned over the future of our community.

It is completely understandable that planners should guard jealously their long-studied recommendations. And it is equally apparent that final responsibility for all decisions rests on the shoulders of the elected city councilmen. They want citizen reassurance before they place their final stamp of approval.

The big task, the implementation of any plan, rests with the citizens' committee. They must become so convinced that the program of procedure they choose is right that they can convince the final authority... the taxpayer.

Words of Thanks

To The Northville Record and Northville Merchants:

As winner of an Albert Pick Motel-Hotel weekend, we send a special "thank you."

We selected East Lansing and enjoyed our visit.

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter on behalf of The Cavern to thank you and everyone else who helped to make our dance September 7 and all our past dances, a big success. Without your assistance it could never have been possible, and without the merchants who sponsored our advertisement we wouldn't have earned the extra money we did that went towards our Building Fund.

I would also like to thank the school system for allowing us to use the Community building where we have been holding our dances until we have a building of our own. The janitor's help has been greatly appreciated too, and the police should be thanked and congratulated on the great job they have done handling the dances.

Our thanks also go to the Mothers Club for being our sponsor and the help they've given us getting started.

Since we're about to celebrate National Constitution Week, September 17 to 23, supported locally by the Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter of the DAR, I thought you might enjoy some Constitutional sidelights I came across in the library.

The Constitution was the second attempt by this nation to frame a fundamental law. Soon after the Declaration of Independence, the Continental Congress started the machinery that produced the Articles of Confederation—ratified by the last of the 13 original states in 1781.

At the time the Constitution was drawn, the nation of 13 states had a total population of approximately 4,000,000.

James Madison, generally considered the "Father of the Constitution," earned much of this credit by virtue of the fact that he was able to convince the other framers to incorporate his philosophy on the powers of the federal government in the document. Madison had been a delegate to the Revolutionary convention of Virginia in 1776 and was a member of the first Legislature elected under the Virginia Constitution which sparked much of his thinking.

Interpretations of the Constitution have generally led to condemnation of prayer in our public institutions.

Yet, interestingly, it was Dr. Benjamin Franklin, who (he was 81 at the time) during the lengthy debate on the proposed Constitution, commented:

"In this situation of this assembly, groping as it were in the dark to find political truth, and scarce able to distinguish it when presented to us, how has it happened, sir, that we have not hitherto once thought of humbly applying to the Father of light to illuminate our understandings ...

"I therefore beg leave to move that henceforth prayers imploring the assistance of Heaven, and its blessings on our deliberations, be held in this Assem-

Lastly, I would like to thank all the parents who have chaperoned our dances at one time or another.

Without the time and effort given us by all the people I have mentioned, our dances would not have been possible or successful. Thank you again for all your help.

Sincerely yours

bly every morning before we proceed to business, and that one or more of the clergy of this city be requested to officiate in that service."

Senate debate on topics related to the Constitution were quite involved a year after it was signed on September 17, 1787. In fact, the title of the President resulted in heated debate. The Senate selected the title, "His Highness the President of the United States and Protector of the Rights of Same," which Vice-President John Adams disapproved because it was too plain!

Madison finally ended the debate in the House of Representatives by noting that the Constitution already spelled out the title, "President of the United States".

Because of a widespread feeling that the Constitution insufficiently guaranteed individual liberties, 10 amendments (the 10th amendment generally is considered part of the ninth) were made to the Constitution within two years. Since then 13 more amendments have been adopted.

Much of our recent social legislation and a chief weapon against states' rights advocates has not been found in the body of the Constitution, but in the document's preamble:

"We the People of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our posterity do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

Of the states claiming a part in the Constitution, one of them—New York—had only one signer to the document because other delegates left Philadelphia in a huff because they contended their purpose was to revise the Articles of Confederation, not draft a new document. Alexander Hamilton, youngest of all of the delegates (30), remained to represent that state. Thus, 39 of the original 44 delegates were present to sign the Constitution.

Rhode Island was the only one of the 13 original states to refuse to send a delegate to Philadelphia's Independence Hall.

More than 3,000 amendments to the Constitution have been introduced in Congress, but only 22 have become a part of it.

HOW MUCH HORSEPOWER DO YOU NEED?

You need enough to give you a reserve of safety. That's power at low to medium speeds for passing, accelerating out of dangerous situations and climbing hills. This reserve is substantially above the power required for normal driving.

Contrary to general belief, and many so-called safety authorities, you need very little of it for high speed.

Only a minor portion of the rated horsepower is used for actual driving. Of 200 rated horsepower, for instance, as little as 35 is normally used to propel the car.

Horsepower ratings of an engine are taken from the amount of power developed by an engine when it is revolving at maximum speed. Reductions of speed result in less horsepower being developed. There is an average drop of 50 horsepower from maximum when a car is driven at normal speeds of 60 mph.

Atmospheric conditions may reduce horsepower 5 percent. Power steering, air conditioning, transmission and rear axle friction another 10 percent.

The power needed to operate the generator, fan and fuel pump and the heat loss from the plugs, exhaust and drag from the muffler and air cleaner collectively total around 20 percent.

Underinflated tires and faulty wheel alignment are rated as high sources of power loss.

This leaves a reserve of about 60 horsepower from a rated maximum of 200 for your safety reserve.
