

Planners Eye Future

Bedrooms for Northville, Industry for Wixom

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the third in a series of articles on local area plans for the future. This article deals with the major differences between Northville township and Wixom, both of which employ the same consulting firm. Next week's article will deal with plans of Novi and the city of Northville.

residential community, planners note. In the master plan, the only three substantial flat areas totaling 1,230 acres or 12 percent of the total land area have been set aside for industrial development.

They are located in the extreme southwest and southeast corners and in the center of the township, running from Eight Mile road south to Waterford Lake.

With such a small proportion of land allocated for industrial development, the individual township property owner probably will pay higher taxes, say planners, than property owners in industrialized Wixom.

Taxes will also be higher in the township, because, by design, the lots will be bigger to create a residential community with "a country atmosphere."

Unlike Northville township, residential land in Wixom is at a premium.

Under present conditions, only 29 percent of the land is readily adaptable for residential use, consultants point out.

There's a large amount of muck land—16 percent—mostly in the northwest part of the city, and the soil in other areas has a high water content. About 40 percent of this now uninhabitable land, consultants declare, can be reclaimed for residential use—only, however, with the coming of sewers. Septic tanks cannot function in the highly impermeable soil.

"But Wixom has a tremendous industrial base," Charles Leman points out. Continued on Page 8-A

More than land separates the city of Wixom from Northville township; there's even a bigger gap between their blueprints for the future.

Wixom is likely to become an industrial center whereas Northville is destined to become a bedroom community.

Why? Topography is the most significant reason, according to Vilcan-Leman, Inc., planning consultants for both communities.

Northville township, for instance, is a municipality of 10,683 rolling acres with very little flat land, making the land ideally suited for development as a

Help Father of 12

Men 'Brush Up' Friendship

Unable to work regularly since suffering a heart attack six months ago, a Novi father of 12 children learned Saturday that the hearts of others are brimming with goodwill.

"It's wonderful, just wonderful ... I don't know how to thank them," said Fredrick A. McLaughlin of 42580 Eight Mile road after he saw his freshly painted house.

While he and his family were away Saturday, more than 30 members of Our Lady of Victory parish, all friends of McLaughlin, attacked the big two-story house with brushes and tools, painting it from top to bottom and repairing broken woodwork.

It was all a "wonderful surprise" for McLaughlin, who, along with his wife (she was aware of what would happen), took their children on a long-promised picnic. When they returned, the house sported its gleaming new white coat of paint.

McLaughlin had wanted to get the painting done himself, but with mounting medical bills, his own condition, and, of course, the mountainous task of raising a dozen children, he was simply unable to get it done.

That's why Father John Wittstock, pastor of Our Lady of Victory and Richard Janes of Northville decided to take matters into their own hands. As plans were laid for a big painting bee, members of two other parish organizations were joined in. These included the Holy Name Men's club and Our Lady's league.

With the men, including a paint smeared priest, supplying the elbow grease and Our Lady's League the tasty lunch for workers, the enthusiastic crew, working in shifts, started and finished the project all in one day.

The McLaughlins have lived in the historic house for 10 years. The house is the former Yerkes homestead, located near the Eight Mile road curve into the eastern city limits of Northville, and, reportedly, will be 100 years old in six years.

The McLaughlin children range in age from 2 to 15.

McLaughlin is group manager for the Great West Life Assurance company.

PAINTING BEE—An army of friends of a Novi father of a dozen children attacked his historic home on Eight Mile road Saturday, dressing it in a fresh coat of white paint. Unofficial captain for the enthusiastic crew of painters was Father John Wittstock, pastor of Our Lady of Victory Church of Northville.

Sewer Source May Delay Junior High

As contractors tune up their equipment preparatory to starting construction of the new junior high school, sewer problems threaten to delay the entire project by a month or more.

Major bids on the school were accepted Monday and the architect predicted Tuesday that construction would start within two weeks. (See related story).

It appears doubtful, however, that the city will issue a building permit for the project—at least until after sanitary sewer problems have been resolved.

At issue is the question of where junior high sewers should tie into city lines.

The school insists that it has an informal agreement from the city that the school sewer can tie into the sewer line in Northville Heights Subdivision No. 2.

Originally, the board had anticipated that the developer, Thompson-Brown Co., from whom the school site was obtained, would provide a sewer from its proposed Taft road development. This project has been delayed, however.

City Manager Frank Ollendorf suggested to the city council several weeks ago that a "temporary tie-in" to the still incomplete relief sewer in Northville Heights.

The council set aside the proposal, noting that it first wanted physical evidence that the relief sewer would adequately care for the subdivision areas for which it is intended. Flooding has occurred in some sections in past years.

This evidence, says Ollendorf, means waiting until after the line is complete and has been in use "during a few rainstorms"—a wait of a month or more.

Completion of the line is expected momentarily. Installation of a meter is the holdup. But then there's the wait for rainstorms, he points out. And if the line proves inadequate, there's little chance of a school tie-in at this location. The manager believes the new sewer can service the school. But the council wants proof.

The manager emphasizes that his proposal is "only a temporary solution" and requires the school to later tie-in at some other location—at school expense—once sewers approach the site from the west.

The only other solution that appears open to the school board could be a costly one. It would mean extending the line from Taft and Randolph, only recently completed, north approximately one-quarter mile to the school site.

To appraise the council of the urgency of the situation, the board agreed Monday to send the council a letter and follow it up with a formal appearance before the council.

Board OK's Bid Of $1,073,648

Bids totaling $1,073,648 for the new junior high school were accepted by the Northville board of education here Monday evening.

Recommended by the architect, all of the accepted bids were low but the mechanical bid, which came in second. The low mechanical bidder withdrew his bid because of extensive errors in tabulation.

Contracts are still to be let for food service equipment, homemaking, arts & crafts equipment, instructional materials, and science equipment. In addition, general classroom furniture must still be purchased.

Robert Tucker, representative of the architectural firm of O'Dell, Hewlett & Luckenback, pegged the total junior high school cost, including still-to-be purchased furniture, architectural fees, site purchase and contingencies at $1,339,414.

This total, he noted with a good deal of satisfaction, is more than $5,000 less than the original budgeted cost of the project submitted to the board two years ago. It's less, despite the fact that construction costs have risen considerably during the two years, he added.

Last week, just after bids were opened Architect Henry Haberkorn estimated that bids had come in at more than $100,000 less than the recently upward revised estimates.

Tucker told board members Monday that the low bids partially result from the fact that contractors are trying to keep their crews busy during normally slow winter months.

In accepting the bids, the board included all alternates in the project. This means, for example, four additional classrooms, terrazzo corridors, dividing door for the gymnasium, black-topping of drive and parking areas, canopy from the main entrance to the drive, and finished grading and seeding for the entire 10-acre junior high site.

The board, at the suggestion of the architect, postponed acceptance of bids on stationary furniture and equipment.

The winning general contractor is the E. E. Powell General Contracting Company, which came in with a low base bid of $604,369. All of his alternate bids but one also were accepted. These totaled $75,900.

Awarded the mechanical contract is Zeni & Maguire company, which turned in a base bid of $279,500 together with two alternates totaling $8,604, which also were accepted.

Inter Lakes Mechanical Contracting company withdrew its low base of $252,000 together with two alternates totaling $11,698.

The electrical contract was won by Johnson Durand Electric, which submitted the low bid of $91,685 with alternates totaling $8,190.

The junior high school, designed for addition of four more classrooms at a later date, will house approximately 600 students. With the addition of four extra classrooms later, ultimate capacity will be between 700 and 750.

Included in the junior high—excluding future classrooms—are 19 regular classrooms, gymnasium with two teaching stations, vocational shop, arts & crafts room, homemaking, instrumental music, cafeteria, and resource center.

Scheduling for the junior high, which will border on the high school football field and Taft road and face Taft, calls for construction to begin sometime within two weeks with completion by September of next year.

According to the architect, working drawings for proposed senior high additions and the swimming pool are about 75-percent complete and should be ready for bidding sometime in mid-October. Construction should start in November or early December.

Voters have approved a $2.8 million issue for Moraine elementary, the junior high and the high school additions. In addition, they voted a separate $500,000 for the swimming pool.

Apartment, Bank Zoning Opposed in Township

Requests for rezoning of two parcels of land on Five Mile road near Haggerty drew strong protests from Northville township residents of the area last week.

A public hearing was held by the township planning commission in the community building on Tuesday evening to consider rezoning requests for locating a bank and an apartment project.

About 50 residents voiced strong criticism of both proposals—and also unleashed their ire on planners.

The Vortex Investment company petitioned for rezoning of approximately four acres on the northwest corner of Haggerty and Five Mile from R-4 to B-1 for the purpose of locating a branch of the Bank of the Commonwealth. The site is adjacent to a new elementary school in the Plymouth district.

The Greenspan development company, through Attorney James Littell, petitioned for rezoning of 22 acres on Five Mile road just east of the Lutheran church and adjacent to commercial zoning. The request was for rezoning from R-4 single family dwelling to multiple dwelling.

Originally, Greenspan had petitioned to rezone a 12-acre parcel on the west side of the church property from R-4 to multiple dwelling. Residents west of the proposed site strongly opposed the earlier request. In the new plan Greenspan would include the 12-acre parcel in the development of an R-1 residential area that extends northward to Bradner road.

Area residents presented petitions opposing both projects. They also voiced criticism of the township's master plan and charged that planners undertook rezoning without properly notifying residents.

The board replied that notices of the new zoning ordinance and proposed rezoning were published in The Northville Record and Plymouth Mail. The protesting residents countered that they did not read these newspapers.

In their petition of protest the residents asked that "the planning commission and township board accept no further multiple dwelling requests until an equitable master plan can be developed allocating sufficient well plan-

City Studies Stricter Subdivision Controls

The city council whisked through a brief agenda Monday night before settling down to study and consideration of a new subdivision ordinance.

Matters coming before the council included adoption of a new rubbish removal contract, complaints by Randolph street citizens on inconveniences during the street paving project, a request from the chamber of commerce for a meeting to consider traffic plans and patterns and a proposal by the parking authority for the city to purchase a Main street building for increased parking area.

The council approved a one-year contract with the C. B. Rubbish Disposal company for weekly pick-up of rubbish in the residential area and twice-a-week pick-up in the business district for $16,900.

City Manager Frank Ollendorf explained that the city would levy additional charge to some 34 business places for pick-ups that are in excess of two barrels. Firms with just two barrels weekly will receive one pick-up without charge. Twenty of the 34 firms paying additional pick-up fees will receive two pick-ups weekly.

The manager reminded the council that it must approve an ordinance that will give the city authority to levy the charges. Fees range from $5 to $20 monthly, depending upon the amount of rubbish and whether one or two pick-ups are required.

The city council Monday night granted the Joseph Turner family, 937 Allen Drive, an adjustment in their water bill this month.

Water consumption at the Turner residence jumped 65,000 gallons in a five-day period while the family was on vacation. Normally, that's about four-months' supply.

When the Turners returned home last week they found 10-inches of water in the basement and a steady flow of water streaming from a broken joint in a water line.

For the record, the additional 65,000 gallons would have cost $17.75.

PAVING AT LAST—Dust eating residents, together with a much-harrassed city manager, breathed a sigh of relief Monday as paving crews started laying a ribbon of concrete on Randolph from Center to Taft. Paving, according to Manager Frank Ollendorf, is expected to be completed except for approaches at either end by the end of this week. Completion of the entire project, including replacement of some sidewalk sections, grading and replacement of trees and shrubs is expected to require more than a month.

"THEY HAVE such a wonderful insight into a child's needs... Perhaps it's because each has four children of her own."

Thus, Mrs. Harold Wright, a past president of the Northville Cooperative Nursery Play Group, summed up one of the "pluses" of the Monday-Wednesday-Friday pre-school cooperative over which Mrs. Francis Gazlay and Mrs. Glenn Deibert preside. Under their skilled direction three-and-four year olds share experiences from 9 to 11:20 a.m. in the scout-recreation building.

Here the atmosphere is almost deceptively easy-going - although often reverberating with the noises of energetic youngsters who realize they can really play here. It also can become hush-quiet as they inspect first green shoots in pots they have planted with beans.

Last week "Biz" Gazlay began her seventh year with the group, and Rae Deibert, who came when the nursery moved from the Presbyterian church to the new scout-recreation building, is starting her fourth. As the year progresses, Mrs. Gazlay says, there will be trips (to the fire station, etc.) and holiday observances, but right now the teachers' main concern is that their very young pupils be comfortable and happy in what for most is their first group experience.

For a long time both teachers have attended Saturday workshops of the Metropolitan Detroit pre-school organization, updating techniques and ideas. Such recent programs as Operation Headstart, Mrs. Gazlay feels, have pointed up the value of nursery school experiences. Thanks to its publicity, most mothers realize that cooperative nurseries are not duplicating kindergarten experiences but are preparing children for them.

A kindergarten teacher before Julie, Chris, Mark and Martha were born, Biz Gazlay concedes she could feel changes in her attitudes when she returned to teaching. Teaching is a profession that is popular in the Gazlay family as her husband, Fran, also is one. Daughter first, now married, is beginning her first year as a teacher of fourth graders. Chris is a senior at Kenyon college, majoring in Spanish, while Mark and Martha, tenth and eighth graders, respectively, still are at home in the family's large white Victorian house on Rogers street.

"YOU CAN ALWAYS find something good to love about them" is the answer Rae Deibert gives if asked how she copes with the occasional "problem child" in nursery school. Such loving treatment for little folk with behavior problems is one of the beneficial aspects of nursery school, believes Mrs. Lawrence Bemish, who is Mrs. Wright's president of the group. Her daughter, Casey, now is one of the children in the playgroup. Three years ago son, Andy, was in the nursery. During these years as a nursery school mother, she says she has seen how problem children and only children have benefitted.

Pat Wright points out that while some mothers may feel pre-school groups are not needed for their children as they have neighborhood playmates, the nursery school experience can broaden by giving DIFFERENT playmates their own age.

"IT TAKES the efforts of school AND home to produce outstanding students" - This observation comes from a Northville high school teacher who was queried about the exceptional achievements of a high school boy who was preceded by a sister who graduated at the top of her class and now is a sophomore at University of Michigan.

The young students were Glenn and Kris Deibert, two of the four children of Glenn and Rae Deibert. Their younger sisters are Colleen and Lorrie, ninth and seventh graders. In addition to her three-day-a-week teaching stint Mrs. Deibert makes time to be a Girl Scout troop leader.

MEMBERSHIP CHAIRMAN Mrs. Kenneth Kastner feels that it gives Northville's cooperative nursery group its greatest value. For many years, there was a long waiting list for the school. But this fall, for the first time, there seems to be a decline in the three-and-four year old population. As a result, there still exists one vacancy before the capacity of 32 youngsters is reached. Mothers interested may call Mrs. Kastner, 349-0698, or Mrs. Bemish, 349-2687.

As a final bonus, Pat Wright adds, nursery school is an excellent get-acquainted activity for mothers claiming - "We never would have met ANYBODY in Northville if it had not been for nursery school!"

And many Northville mothers whose now-grown children were taught by Jean Langtry, Mary Conley, Pat Hart, Joyce Skipper (now of Jackson) and Nancy Smith agree that this was where they met friends after the school was begun by Mrs. Howard Meyer and a group of mothers seeking playmates for their children.

College Corner

by Nancee Slattery

EDITOR'S NOTE: A woman's page reporter for The Record-News for the past two summers, Nancee concludes her round-up of colleges with the following article before returning to sophomore studies at Michigan state university.

This week we wind up our preview of fall '66 on college campuses throughout the state and country. East Lansing is our last stop in the final whirl.

Michigan State university is the largest college in Michigan, and has one of the most beautiful campuses in the country with the Red Cedar River running through it.

Twenty-three buses are required to carry the nearly 40,000 students to classes and activities across the huge campus.

The 23 residence halls are mainly of the co-educational "living-learning" type. Students are able to live, eat, attend classes, lectures, movies, dances and plays right in their own dorm or complex. Each complex also has faculty offices, auditoriums, branch libraries and student affairs offices.

An exciting fall term is planned. The Spartans, defending Big Ten champions, will try to hold onto their title this season.

A College of Human Medicine will welcome its first class of 26 students. The Lecture-Concert series has the New York Ballet and Opera Companies the Vienna Strauss Orchestra and Toronto Symphony scheduled for fall.

Three "pop-entertainment" concerts featuring Henry Mancini, the Beach Boys and the New Christy Minstrels will be held on Friday nights before home football games. Seven games will be presented by the Performing Arts Company, including "Arsenic and Old Lace" and "Saint Joan."

Attending MSU this fall will be a large number of local students, beginning with KAY GILLET, who is working toward a secretarial degree. She worked for the Orchard Hills school this summer.

JANICE MATTISON, a sophomore, is a member of the honorary society, Alpha Lambda Delta. The group is open to freshmen women who earn a 3.5 grade average. Its activities are designed to encourage high scholastic achievement by entering freshmen.

NANCY BOSAK, a journalism major will be living in Wilson Hall again this year. Wilson is included in a complex of three dorms. A fourth is now under construction.

LARRY ANGOVE is a member of Psi Upsilon fraternity on campus. The 77-year-old group is active in all aspects of campus life - government, sports and scholastics.

A member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority is ETTA RUTTAN, a social science major. She has won scholastic honors at MSU, and was a resident advisor the past two years.

Plans Eastern Star Dinner

Orient Chapter Nears 75th Birthday

Orient Chapter No. 77, Order of the Eastern Star, will celebrate its 75th diamond anniversary Friday, September 30 at Northville high school.

Presiding at the meeting, which will include a dinner at 6:30 p.m. followed by entertainment in the school auditorium, will be Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shields, worthy matron and worthy patron.

Grand officers of the state, past matrons, past patrons, life members, 50-year members and honorary members will be guests of the chapter.

Orient Chapter received its charter October 15, 1891. Present membership totals 366. The roll is made up of master Masons, their wives, daughters, mothers, widows and sisters. The chapter has 38 life members and 11 with gold certificates.

Nellie Freydl, past matron and a long-time resident of Northville, has been a member 71 years, having been initiated on August 30, 1895. Her mother, Ida Joslin, past matron became worthy grand matron of the Grand Chapter of Michigan in 1897.

The Past Matrons' club was organized in 1925 and has been active through the years, meeting monthly. Its special project for the last several years has been a child at the Eastern Star Villa at Adrian. Still living are 42 past matrons and 27 past patrons.

The group sponsors Northville Rainbow Assembly No. 29 which was organized in 1941 and today has a membership of 57 girls.

Over the years the Orient Chapter has supported the Masonic Temple association through its worthy matron's project by supplying various items of equipment annually. Recently Orient Chapter was honored by being asked to elect a representative to the association board.

In the 75 years of its existence, Orient Chapter has had three members appointed by the Grand Chapter as grand representative, grand committee woman and grand counselor.

Special recognition has been given C. Ray Van Valkenburgh, past patron who served as soloist for 19 years and who was honored last year by being asked to sing two solos at the Grand Chapter session held in Grand Rapids.

Another significant fact is that several families are associated with Orient Chapter, where each member of the family is a member of the chapter.

Since 1955, Orient Chapter has exchanged yearly visits with Laurel Chapter No. 164 of Toronto, Canada. One year the Canadian chapter visits Northville and the following year, the local Chapter journeys to Canada. A friendship chain is presented to the visiting chapter, to which discs are added each year bearing the names of the presiding matrons and patrons.

Business members of the chapter are held on the third Friday of each month, with special meetings slated for the first Friday.

The Order of the Eastern Star is a charitable organization. In Michigan, through the 50-cent contribution to the "every member project, the following charities are supported:

1. The Villa for children, ages 6 to 18, located in Adrian.
 2. Educational scholarships for first and second-year college students.
 3. Educational loans for third and fourth year students.
 4. Estarl scholarships for those studying for the ministry or other religious fields.
 5. Relief funds for aged sisters, cancer cases and emergency situations.
- Eastern Stars throughout the Eastern Star world have set the record of contributing a million dollars for religious training scholarships.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shields, worthy matron and worthy patron.

Veterans Eye More Cemetery Beautification

Preparations for next week's big Las Vegas Night, co-sponsored by the American Legion Post 147 and the VFW Post 4012, gathered steam this week.

The party, which is being held to raise funds for the beautification of the Veterans' Memorial Post in Rural Hill Cemetery, will be held at the VFW Post home, 438 East Main street, at 8 p.m. on Friday, September 30.

Beautification of the plot was begun this past spring, with the paving of walks with a bituminous mix thanks to the efforts of both veterans organizations and donations.

Next big project on tap is to landscape the high bank directly in back of the flag pole.

The memorial plot history dates back to the early 1940's. At that time the American Legion had a 14 grave plot in the northeast section of the cemetery. Then, through the leadership of the late Mayor Claude (Pete) Ely and various other Legion members, the grave site was traded for the present site in the southeast corner of the cemetery.

The present plot has 248 grave sites and was dedicated as the Veterans Memorial Plot on May 30, 1952.

The lone grave in the walk-ways that of Lloyd H. Green, one of the first men from Northville killed in action during World War II. It is after him that the local Legion post is named.

Burial space in the memorial plot may be obtained in order of precedence:

1. Members of the Northville VFW and the American Legion posts.
2. Veterans of United States military service who reside within the boundaries of Northville and Northville township, who are not members of either post.
3. Such other Veterans as may be approved by the memorial plot committee.

The committee consists of a representative of the city of Northville, one from the VFW and one from the American Legion.

Northville 'Aerial Plans' Crumble

"We had to throw and we couldn't." Coach Alex Klukach put his finger on the crux of the whole matter. Northville needed to pass to win. But the Mustangs couldn't and lost, 18-12, to Plymouth last Friday night.

Most of the time, Quarterback Chris Holman had Plymouth linemen fogging up his helmet as they breathed down his throat. When they weren't batting Holman's passes to the turf, as they did time after time, they were threatening to give Holman the same treatment. It was pretty rough treatment for the senior who saw limited action last year behind the likes of Tom Baughman. Rarely, and just barely, Holman got one of his aerials away.

"Our receivers were open," Klukach moaned, as any man would who had just suffered defeat in his debut as the new Northville head coach. "But we couldn't get the ball to them." Then in painful recollection, Klukach continued: "And they dropped it when they got it."

That was the ball game Friday night. Without their passing attack, the Mustangs were stripped of their most effective weapon, one they were relying on to loosen the defense to make room for light backs, not fast, not slow, who need every inch of daylight.

The statistics are witness to Northville's lack of offensive punch: one first down and 41 total yards rushing and passing.

All in all, defeat was a nasty pill to swallow for players and coaches alike. But not all thoughts were lost in frowns. The defense, while not bearish, was stingy enough, giving up ground begrudgingly to a heavier, more experienced Plymouth football team.

When appraising Northville's defense, statistics can be tricky. They lie. Plymouth was officially credited with 190 and one-half yards rushing and passing, but truth of the matter is that it took a late last quarter fumble and a costly penalty to pin defeat on Northville.

And it was the defense, too, that kept Northville in the game. It accounted for Northville's two touchdowns of the game in the second period after recovering a fumble and intercepting a pass.

Holly will come to town tomorrow night to furnish opposition for Northville's home opener. Kickoff is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Plymouth clearly had the offensive edge, but this was a game of bobbles and bumbles, normal fare for openers. There were three interceptions and five lost fumbles, plus 141 and one-half yards in penalties and countless jangling moments.

Zaniest moment in the game came in the second quarter. As Northville's Holman went back to pass, players from Plymouth converged on him, knocking the ball loose. Rotund Tackle Tom Elias, Johnnie-on-the-spot, picked the ball out of the air and raced 72 yards—far in front of the nearest foe—for what appeared to be Plymouth's second touchdown and a commanding, 12-0 lead. But officials detected a clip and called the play back to the Northville 30.

On the succeeding play, the elusive ball played hard to keep. It slid from the fingers of a Plymouth back as he was tackled and Northville's Roger Kline grabbed the ball on the bounce. Along with a three-man escort, he ran unmolested 66 yards for a TD to tie the game, 6-6.

Within a minute and one-half, Halfback Jim Zayti stunned the partisan Plymouth crowd and elated hometown zealots. Running full gallop, he picked off a Plymouth pass on the sideline and

★ Paul Boerger Wins Grid Quiz

Ninth grader Paul Boerger topped all contestants in the opening football contest by turning in an entry with only two wrong selections out of 20.

Paul is the son of Reverend and Mrs. Charles Boerger, 221 Elm street. Reverend Boerger is pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church in Northville.

Ann White, 11846 Riverside drive, Plymouth, and R. G. Skelly, 101 Hill street, Northville, tied for second place. They each missed three games and had the same point spread on the Lions-Pitt game.

Paul wins $10 and Anne and R. G. $4 each.

without breaking stride, streaked untouched 53 yards into the end zone. Northville led, 12-6.

There were some more normal patterns to the game however. The scoring, for instance, began in a relatively routine manner.

After gaining good field position on the Northville 30, following a personal foul against Northville, Plymouth began moving goalward. It took nine plays to negotiate the distance with Quarterback Dave Prochazka sneaking over from two yards out.

Plymouth held a 6-0 lead at the outset of the second period when the extra-point kick sailed wide of the goalposts.

It was then that the teams played ketchup with the football and Northville quickly struck for its two touchdowns of the game going into the dressing room with a 12-6 advantage.

The lead was short lived once the second half got underway, although it took a break for Plymouth to score. Northville kicked off and Plymouth, unable to move the ball, punted on fourth down.

A roughing the kicker penalty was whistled against Northville and Plymouth resumed its march on the Northville 41. That's when Ron Lowe took charge. As earlier in the game, Lowe found running easy over right tackle and he didn't let up until Plymouth got the equalizer. Prochazka, however, capped the drive by diving in from a yard out.

Another break, this time an interception on the Northville 30, put Plymouth within easy striking distance. In eight plays, Plymouth tallied the tie-breaker, with Lowe scampering six yards into the end zone.

Only two desperate minutes remained in the game.

THICKER THAN FLIES—Plymouth gridders swarm over Northville's Jim Zayti after a short gain. It was one of the longest Northville had all night as Plymouth held the Mustangs to just 12 yards rushing.

TD BOUND—Buried under this heap of players is a Plymouth back who was stopped short of the goal line. Not for long, however, Plymouth scored from two yards out on the next play.

Milan Hands Novi 55-7 Grid Victory

It was Christmas 'n September last Saturday.

And the visiting Milan Jayvees played Santa Claus, giving Novi high school a 55-7 football victory.

"The game didn't answer many questions for us," Coach Paul Osborne lamented after the slaughter.

But it did give everyone a chance to get into the act. "I hope we've found a couple more ball players, which will permit us to substitute more frequently in future games."

So Novi is looking for its first real test, and it may not be long in coming. This afternoon, as a matter of fact.

Novi is scheduled to play Lutheran West today on Novi's home field. Kick-off will be at 4 p.m.

Although the victory last Saturday didn't prove much, other than Milan's weaknesses, it extended Novi's winning streak over a two-year span to five games.

Novi actually had the game in its hip pocket before the first quarter was over.

The Wildcats took the opening kickoff and marched 65 yards for a touchdown, Fullback Dave Adema charging the last six yards for the TD.

Doug Schott gave Novi its next opportunity as he blocked a punt, and Halfback Ken Osborn capped the 35-yard drive by running three yards for the touchdown and a 14-0 Novi lead.

Schott also figured prominently in the second-quarter scoring as he intercepted a pass and ran 15 yards for the touchdown, then hooked up with Doug Earl, who caught a 22-yard pass for the touchdown.

By halftime, Novi had a soft 28-0 lead, and the end result was clearly visible.

Osborn scored his second touchdown at the outset of the third quarter, diving four yards for the TD, and Schott duplicated Osborn's feat by scoring his second touchdown on a quarterback sneak of one yard.

A fumble recovery in the fourth quarter led to Halfback John Davey's one-yard scoring plunge and Tackle Paul Faulkner capped the Novi scoring parade by intercepting a pass and running 68 yards for a touchdown.

With Coaches Osborne and Milan Obrenovich looking to the bench, the Milan Jayvees finally put enough together to eke out a last-minute touchdown.

ned areas within the entire township that will denote progressive thinking for future development rather than the spot-impulse rezoning being requested by land speculators who have no real interest in this township".

In pointing to an area of B-1 (local business) zoning on Five Mile road for a distance of about four blocks from Marilyn to Park Lane William Smith, 15560 Robinwood, stated that the zoning had been done without notice to the people of the area, and charged that it create a blight and a traffic hazard to the new elementary school.

Planner Leonard Klein replied that the township's new zoning ordinance was the result of many years of work, that public hearings had been held on the ordinance and the map published. Complete text of the zoning ordinance and the zoning map were published in The Record last March.

Attorney Littell outlined the proposed plan for an apartment project that would include 156 one bedroom units and 156 two bedroom units. He said they would rent for between $140 and $185 per month. He said they would be rental and lease units. A greenbelt would surround the development, Littell stated.

Resident protested possible traffic problems and detrimental effect on residential values.

The hearing lasted nearly three hours. Planners took no action, but are expected to rule on the requests at their Tuesday night meeting at the township hall.

Northville area boys and girls who attended Boys State and Girls State programs this past year will be feted at a potluck dinner here next Tuesday.

The dinner, to start at 6:30 p.m. in the Legion hall.

HOW MUCH TIME DO YOU SAVE BY SPEEDING?

Not much. And a professional gambler wouldn't give you a darn for the odds.
Here's what you save:
If you're driving through a small town where the business area is on average one mile long, you save 17 seconds if you exceed the speed limit by five miles per hour—say 35 instead of 30.

On the same basis, you will save one minute and 32 seconds if you drive through a larger town where the restricted limit is five miles long.
On the open highway where the usual limit is 60 mph, you will save four minutes over 50 miles by driving on average 65.
That's what you save. Now, here's what you could lose: Over 40 percent of all traffic casualties last year involved speeding. In the U.S., 17,000 people died and 1,553,800 were injured in such accidents.
Since you are violating the law, you can expect the law of averages to catch up with you now and again with a speeding violation. This can be very serious if there is an accident involving human and property damage and could decide the case against you.
If you wouldn't play against a stacked deck, then don't speed. It's really the same thing.

Bedrooms Versus Industry

out, "established initially by the location of the Ford Wixom plant within city limits."

Of the city's 5,600 acres, about 28 percent or 1600 acres have been set aside in the master plan for industrial development, which will branch out along Wixom road north to Pontiac Trail. Already, the proposed industrial acreage exceeds that of the average community.

With a large amount of property reserved for industry and with other industries helping to spread the tax base, more and more industries will seek out sites in Wixom, Leman said.

There's essentially only one factor limiting the amount of industry in Wixom - the desires of the planners.

They recognize the major role industry will play in Wixom; that's the reason the original plan, calling for 860 acres of industrial property, was revised upward to 1600 acres, the consultants explain.

Another less important, but nonetheless significant factor accounting for the predicted differences between the communities is geographical location.

Northville township, whose forecasted ultimate population is 47,435, has a tremendous purchasing power, planners note. Certainly, much more than Wixom, with an estimated population of 38,000 to 40,000 people.

But because of geographic location, Northville township plans do not call for a central business district. It will rely instead on the cities of Northville and Plymouth for major shopping centers.

This, too, frees land for development of homes, planners say.

Northville township emphasis will be on convenience centers, or more popularly, local shopping service centers, consultants report. Under the master plan, six have been designated for development.

That's not the case in Wixom, however. This community does have a central business district included in its plans. "We hope to give the town an identity," Leman said, "by incorporating a central business district in the master plan."

But it poses a unique problem, he says, because the C&O railroad runs through the heart of the city, and there's a concentration of heavier type businesses, as a result, already in the center of town.

It's the planners intention, Leman explains, to shift the downtown district east along Pontiac Trail, with the city hall serving as the hub for the proposed new business district.

Adjacent to the present city hall, planners envision the building of a community center, and across the street, a full complex of business establishments.

Planners are now trying to implement the new business center idea, seeking survey funds for a proposed route that will eventually encircle the business district.

Topography and geography, then, are inherent, conclude consultants, in the planning process. They're constants, which the local planners must utilize in shaping the face of their communities.

CLEAN-UP TEAM-Members of the Northville Beautification Committee met Saturday with Councilwoman Beatrice Carlson (standing), chairman, to discuss future projects for the community. Councilwoman Carlson asked the council Monday night to consider adoption of a model beautification ordinance and creation of a permanent clean-up committee with members appointed to three-year terms.

In the past the rubbish contractor has levied an additional charge for a second pick-up in the business district from firms desiring the service. The council decided to enforce second-pick-ups where it determines they are needed in an effort to remove eyesores and possible health hazards in the business district.

Councilmembers informally agreed that it would be desirable to purchase the former John Mach Ford agency building from the Northville Area Development Corporation as proposed by the parking authority. The latter body noted that the site "will lend itself to our parking program of necessary parking areas now and as an excellent business site for future development."

Before taking action, however, the council decided to consult with the development corporation and to await a financial report from the city manager.

Action was delayed on a request for a meeting from the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce. Through its president, Robert Webber, the chamber wrote the council asking for a meeting with the Northville Driving Club, Northville Downs and directors of the chamber of commerce "for the purpose of developing traffic plans and patterns which are absolutely necessary to the future development of the Northville Downs race track".

The manager told the council such a meeting would be "more meaningful" if results of a plan and cost study now underway by the city engineer were available. He said these statistics should be ready within a month or six weeks.

The chamber has endorsed a proposal to extend Griswold street through to Beal street.

Manager Ollendorff assured Randolph street residents that sidewalks, described as "obstacle courses", would be cleared for foot traffic. The street is closed to vehicular traffic for installation of improvements and paving. He said that the newly paved street could serve pedestrians six hours after pouring. He said auxiliary police are stationed on the street from 6 p.m. until midnight to assist pedestrians over crosswalks and to see that the pavement is not disturbed during the six-hour hardening period.

Three to eight days, depending upon the weather, are required before cars will be allowed on the street, Ollendorff stated.

City Attorney Philip Ogilvie reported that a complaint will be issued against the Bencke and Krue building company for removal of rubbish on company property along Novi road adjacent to Village Green. He told a complaining citizen that the firm would be cited for creating a nuisance or littering.

Councilmembers reviewed a proposed new subdivision ordinance, which includes present requirements but provides for such stricter measures as concrete street paving, underground utilities, yard grading, etc., by subdividers. Several questions were raised by the council and turned over to the city manager and attorney for review with the planning commission.

Sure Sign of Fall

When the field chopper starts chewing up corn and the buzzing auger gulps silage, it's a sure sign that fall's just around the corner. Fall doesn't officially start until tomorrow but the sign was there earlier this week down on Zolie Viskyak's place—one of the two remaining dairy farms in Novi.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Rev. R. A. Mitchinson
New Hudson Methodist Church

Since reading a small book entitled The Comfortable Pew by Pierre Berton (a book which every inquirer should read), some words of Scripture have been on my mind. "When Jesus was at table in the house, many bad characters—tax gatherers and others—were seated with him and his disciples." (Matthew 9:10 N.E.B.) These words plague me because the Church for the most part seems to have forgotten its primary purpose, that being, to redeem the lost. Many Christians give the impression that the Church is made up of those people who belong to the "in" group. They cry seems to be one of desperation and horror when considering all other miserable creatures on the outside. Many well-meaning church people have glossed over their own shortcomings to the point that they do not recognize that they do have something in common with the out and out sinner and, therefore, are unable to identify and sympathize with him.

It wouldn't surprise me if Jesus ministered to a homosexual or two. He wasn't hindered in his ministry like so many preachers of today with being worried by what their congregations might think. This is the plight of both clergy and laymen of today. They guard what they say and do, in order not to disturb the status quo and lessen their own popularity. Yet, how do we as Christians expect to change the lives of people if we do not make an attempt to identify and understand every person we meet. If the Church is to survive, it must come out of its "ivory tower" and rub elbows with the rest of the world. To quote Pierre Berton, "...the church elders, the pew warmers, and the plate passers do not rub shoulders with the kind of men that Jesus welcomed as brother, and the religious establishment no longer identifies itself with the man in the gutter, the convict, the thief, the prostitute, the political radical, or the real social outcast of our time." This is a sad commentary on the Church, and one wonders what we are doing. True, some of us are concerned. We admit the need for ministering to the prostitute, the homosexual, etc., but when it comes to seeking them out, that is an entirely different story. To illustrate what the Church needs to be doing, an old story comes to mind about a great English preacher who was once asked to preach at a little church in an English village.

He arrived early to find the church locked, and, before anyone arrived to let him in, it began to rain. He took refuge in a pub across the street. The minister spent some time talking to customers in the pub until the church was opened. When he got up to leave, one dejected and slightly inebriated man put his hand on the minister's shoulder and said, "If the likes of you would come in here more often, perhaps the likes of us would go in there (pointing to the church)."

Today many ministers deal only with the righteous sinner and completely ignore for the most part the unrighteous outcasts. We ministers and laymen are apt to forget that we have one thing in common with the social outcast of today. We are all sinners. Instead of conveniently directing the social outcast to governmental agencies for help, we must accept our Christian responsibility of being concerned for every human being, materially and spiritually.

Beauty's Baby

One day, recently, the children and I stopped, on our way home, to pet Beauty and her baby. Beauty lives at Mr. Ryder's farm, not far from our home, and the coming of her colt has been a prime topic of conversations these past few weeks.

This particular day Carla's question about Starlight's Daddy and his whereabouts sparked a discussion with my threesome that ranged from God's plan for the birth and care of baby animals, on to people and their babies.

It was a rare and precious moment, such as parents and teachers treasure, when young minds reach out effortlessly for information and understanding.

As we drove home, I thanked God for the opportunity He had given me to share in this eager unfolding of my children's thoughts and ideas. I thanked Him, too, for His Church which has inspired my religious growth and thus helped me keep pace with the developing queries of my children. The Church is the source of great understanding.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church: They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

11 Pupils Given Special Classes

Eleven Northville students are attending special education classes, Assistant Superintendent Raymond Spear revealed this week.

Four students, he said, are attending the new Livonia Trainable program. Three of these had been attending Wayne County Training School in past years.

One student is attending Farmington Crippled Children's special education program, and six are attending Northville's own Type A program at the junior high school. Other potential students for this latter program, he said, are presently being evaluated.

Another child is still unassigned, Spear said, but it is expected that he will be enrolled at Livonia within a week.

Northville-Made Bell Rings in Vietnam School

An old school bell manufactured in Northville many years ago will soon be ringing for children in South Vietnam.

The bell, manufactured here by the long defunct American Bell Foundry company, until a few months ago was destined to become a bath tub in Wisconsin.

In a clipping sent to Mrs. Jack Doherty of 45923 Pickford by her mother, she learned this story:

Sergeant Edward A. Schelk, whose wife, Virginia, lives in Sheboygan Falls, Wisconsin, organized a group of engineers to help remodel and expand a school in Can Ranh Bay, just outside Saigon.

As the project neared completion, Sgt. Schelk began searching for a bell since he felt no school would be complete without one.

That's when he decided to write the Kohler company where his wife is employed. Officials recalled it had received a bell along with a shipment of scrap metal that was to be melted down for use in making bath tubs.

But an alert company employee had saved it for the Kohler recreation hall. The 243-pound cast-iron bell was refurbished and specially hand-painted with the Vietnamese national colors of red and yellow.

Through an arrangement with SAS Airlines the bell was flown from O'Hare International Airport to Vietnam and the little school house.

Omensetter's Luck by William H. Gass, a novel set in rural America in the 1890's involving a man whose luck becomes an obsession with townspeople who must destroy it and him as well.

Among the new non-fiction novels are:

Letter and Resolution - Wayne County Road Commission - advising that Clement road between Main Street and Seven Mile road is hereby designated as a through highway at the entrance to which vehicle traffic on intersecting highways is required by law to stop except at Main street and Seven Mile road; and that eastbound traffic on Main street shall stop at Clement road.

3. Letter - Donald Robinson - thanking the Township board for their donation of the out-of-use meeting table.

Old Business: 1. Annexation of the Moraine Elementary School property to City of Northville. Laid on the table for future consideration.

2. Agreement with Township of Plymouth re: Five Mile Elementary School Sewer.

Supervisor Merriam briefed the board on past action, stating that now it appears that the Bond Council would not approve the bonds of the Plymouth School district until the Northville Township board enter into an agreement with Plymouth Township Board that they take entire charge of the school sewer. He further advised that Mr. Ashton had contacted the Plymouth Township attorney and he expected that Plymouth township would soon have an agreement ready for the Northville Township Board's approval. Until it was received, no action could be taken.

New Business: 1. Request - Northville Coach Line. Letters from the Northville Coach Line and the Northville State Hospital addressed to the board, were ready by the clerk.

Supervisor Merriam informed the board that Mr. A. Schiller, owner of the Northville Coach Line, was to have attended the board meeting with more facts but was not there. A great deal of discussion followed regarding possible subsidizing, whether the D.S.R. had been approached since they now run buses to Livonia and Plymouth. It was decided that Mr. Schiller should be contacted and asked to furnish more documentary material such as daily pickups at what points, number of passengers, rates charged, etc.

2. Request - Northville Board of Education to extend lease on Old Library building.

Supervisor Merriam explained that Northville Township were part owners of the Old Library Building, that the School Board had been given a two year lease with the understanding that they would make all improvements, take care of all maintenance and insurance with no rental charge and were now asking for a renewal of their lease for a year or two.

It was decided that the School Board Attorney should submit a lease for the Township Board's review.

Trustee Baldwin moved, supported by Tellam, that the lease agreement with the Northville School Board on the Old Library building be extended for a period of one year on the same terms and conditions as presently. Motion carried unanimously.

3. Award Contract - No. S-2 Sewer Installation contract.

The G. & K. Stafford Construction company bid was reviewed. Decision reached - their bid could not be executed since it was improperly executed and not signed.

When referred to, Mr. Mosher recommended that the township board award the contract to the Don Gargaro company. He did not think the township would get a better price on new bids due to the increase in labor wage which would probably increase the contractor's net costs by $1.25 an hour. Additionally, when detailed plans were prepared the Wayne County Road Commission dictated that the sewer be located 7 feet from the edge of pavement instead of at 17 feet as anticipated in preliminary plans. This considerably increases the hazards from traffic and consequently the contractor's costs.

The change also introduced the additional work of removing reconstructing existing 12-inch storm sewer and manhole. The same change produced a long crossing of the existing gas main. Consumers Power Company has supplied an estimate of $700 for removing and restoring approximately 120 linear feet of gas main to facilitate the contractor's operations.

The Water & Sewer Commission have recommended that the Don Gargaro bid be approved.

Trustee Tellam moved, supported by Lawrence, that the Northville township board award the contract No. S-2 to the Don Gargaro company at the figure quoted and direct Mr. L. W. Mosher, township engineer, to inform the Don Gargaro company. Motion carried unanimously.

4. Petition - Edward L. Grieger - Special Assessment Sewer Installation. General discussion followed regarding the properties set forth in the petition. There was question of why all private properties in the area were not included in the petition. It was decided that this matter should be checked.

Trustee Tellam, supported by Trustee Baldwin, moved to adopt Resolution #66-23 Sewer Installation Resolution No. 1 Motion carried unanimously.

Trustee Tellam moved, supported by Trustee Baldwin, that the Township Engineer also consider including all of the private property directly south of the described property in Resolution #66-23. Motion carried unanimously.

5. Garbage & Rubbish Ordinance. Supervisor Merriam brought under discussion a local Garbage & Rubbish Ordinance saying that the Wayne County Board of Health would like the Township to have a local ordinance so that cases developing in the Township could be taken to a local court instead of the county having to take them to Circuit Court. No action taken.

6. Schoolcraft College request for use of Township Voting Machines.

Clerk Young explained that she had a call from a Mr. Alfred Dumouchelle asking that the college be allowed to rent two of the Township voting machines and have them moved to the college for a student election to be held the first part of October.

The fact that voting machines are very expensive, delicate machines and weighing 1200 pounds each, are hard to move, and the fact that the township insurance would not cover them if moved, Treasurer Lawrence moved, supported by Trustee Tellam, that the Northville township board deny Schoolcraft College their request to move two Township

Voting Machines to the college for their October student election. Motion carried unanimously.

7. Dun Rovin Golf Club Dance permit. Supervisor Merriam stated that it had been brought to his attention that Dun Rovin Golf club was using their dance permit for other than private parties and banquets and he was of the opinion that the board should give this matter some consideration.

After discussion, the Supervisor was directed to write Dun Rovin, advising them of their agreement in connection with provisions of their dance permit as allowed by the township board in conjunction with their liquor license.

Appointments: 1. Ron Nisun to assist in policing Local No. Hunting Act #1. There was question of whether the township board could legally appoint a Livonia Constable to police Northville township during the hunting season, with following action being taken. Trustee Baldwin moved that John Ashton check the legality of a Livonia Constable to act as constable in Northville township and specifically enforce Should We Save State Capitol?

LANSING — Within the next few years a decision must be made regarding the focal point of Michigan government, the 87-year-old State Capitol building.

Before that decision is final, Michigan residents are likely to see as big a fight as any tax question ever produced. The question will be: Should we retain the present building and add to it to meet increasing space demands or should we tear it down and start anew, presumably with a considerably more modern architectural base?

Opposing forces will be debating the historical values of the building as it stands versus the safety and convenience of the legislative and executive branches of government.

Original cost of the construction, in 1879, was about $1.5 million. Legislative proponents of a new building say it would cost considerably more than this to do an effective renovation to make it fully useful and safe. Several areas on the fourth floor are closed off because of fire hazard and inaccessibility if escape became necessary.

Historical buffs will argue on behalf of the more than 100,000 people who visit the capitol annually and see the strange contrast between the old, ornate doors and chandeliers and the new, neatly partitioned offices remodeled in the last few years for more efficient use of available space.

EARLY FALL days of school usually provide a visible warning signal to motorists for extra care on streets where small children might be crossing.

State law requires all traffic to stop in both directions when a rural school bus is stopped and its flasher lights are blinking.

On a divided highway, however, only those cars going in the same direction as the school bus must be stopped. Traffic may proceed on the other side of the dividing median.

The state law does not apply at all in cities or villages. Here is where the confusion occurs. Many cities and villages have adopted local ordinances requiring traffic to stop, but in the others traffic is permitted to proceed normally, with caution of course.

FEW STATE government workers complain about lack of work, but one man in Lansing is doing just that.

He is Gordon Alexander, who was named a few months ago to the post of ombudsman in the Secretary of State's office. This position, defined largely as the citizen's spokesman in the department, is unique in the U.S., although it is used in several countries abroad.

Essentially, Alexander holds down an office, for some months without secretarial assistance, to hear complaints from private citizens which come within the Secretary of State's jurisdiction.

At $10,500 a year, it is doubtful that Michigan's ombudsman is earning his keep, although this can hardly be blamed on him.

He was appointed in July, but Secretary of State James M. Hare didn't tell anyone about the new post for three weeks. Even then, the word apparently didn't get around as well as it might have.

And after three months, Alexander has heard from only a handful of citizens. Some of the complaints which reached him were entirely outside his department's domain, dealing instead with the responsibilities of local government or other state units.

EFFECTIVENESS of the ombudsman over the years will depend essentially on citizen use of his services.

First, with Alexander dealing within a single department, citizens must know the responsibilities of that department. Secondly, only if Michigan residents know that Alexander is there to handle complaints will he be able to function as intended.

It might develop that citizens, who usually can tell friends about many complaints regarding the government, do not really have enough problems with this department to warrant a full-time person to handle complaints.

The powers within the department doubt that this is the case. They tend to think that it will take time for people to become familiar with the existence, uses and values of Michigan's first ombudsman.

Inflation Fight Needs You

BABSON PARK, Mass., It is now official. President Johnson would like to see Congress take action to cool off our overheated economy. He is worried about rising prices and believes that first steps should be taken before the elections to prevent runaway inflation. He also called on the money managers to ease the "inequitable burden" of high interest costs.

In his message to Congress, Mr. Johnson asked for only a limited amount of legislation now. However, there was an implication that if his first attack on inflation should prove effective, more recommendations for new laws would be made. This would presumably be done after the turn of the year.

BUT FOR NOW — before the current session heads for the hustings — he is asking for congressional action to suspend the 7% tax credit on business investment in new machinery and equipment from September 1, 1966 to January 1, 1968. Also, deferment for the same period is asked for the fast tax write-off on new buildings. All other anti-inflation action sought is in the form of requests: (1) To Congress to go slow on appropriations for non-defense; (2) to the Federal Reserve to ease interest rates; (3) to the government agencies not to add to the demand for money; (4) to business and labor to hold prices and costs down.

To us it looks very much as though suspension of the investment and construction tax relief — even if promptly made effective — would be too small an effort in the face of such a mighty inflation wave. It would be like fighting a big forest fire with a bucket of water. The outpouring of credit which has been going on for years cannot be halted by an attack on one small front.

Furthermore, timing is most important. If the economy is overheated — and most economists agree that it is — any action taken to cut back the demand pressure on our productive machine should bring results fairly rapidly. The President himself pointed out that order backlogs for machines and equipment are months behind production right now. It is not likely that plans already in operation will be cut back very much by the suspension of tax relief. Perhaps the best that can be expected is that projections now on the drawing board will be postponed. Thus, the desired impact on the economy may be a long way off ... when it is needed here and now.

And, as for the requests made of Congress, the money managers, businessmen, and labor leaders, it is highly doubtful that early decisive action can be expected. It is the same old story. Management may hold back on price hikes ... but not if unions keep punching wage costs ever higher. Labor in turn points to historically high profits and says they want theirs too! Congressmen who are about to go before their voters are under pressure to "bring home the bacon." No, human nature is not going to change just because the Chief Executive says we must slay the inflation dragon!

As far as the Federal Reserve authorities are concerned, we must not forget that they are charged by law with keeping prices from running away.

IN ADDITION, for months now, the whole brunt of the inflationary onslaught has been borne by the Reserve Board. They can hardly make money easier and less costly until they see higher-price pressures subsiding ... especially since this is the first time the Administration has offered to help fight the battle. Hasty moves now toward money ease could really put the fat in the fire.

We are very much afraid that the enormous size of the job ahead of us — dampening the inflationary fires — is not fully understood. More than a "balance" of the national budget, more than a slowdown in business expansion, more than a tiny and selective tax rise, more than a mild restraint on soaring money and credit supplies ... will be necessary before inflation can be licked. All of us will have to give up something to win the fight. Otherwise we will all be burned by the inflationary fires as they lick ever closer to our own particular homes and interests.

To remove blisters from veneers, split the blister lengthwise with a razor blade and insert liquid glue under the raised portion, using a stick or small brush.

Cover the break with several layers of newspapers and place a weight on it. When glue has set, remove paper by soaking it with olive oil and scraping lightly with a razor blade. Then sand the area carefully, starting at the center and working toward the edges. If patched surface is discolored, touch up with varnish or shellac.

SPEAKING for The Record

By Bill Sliger

Wixom's city council called a meeting this week that must be a "first" for any political body.

Usually elected officials hear enough complaints without looking for them. But Wixom's council called a special "gripe session".

"We're giving the taxpayer his 'day in court'", explained Mayor Wes McAtee.

And just in case a citizen has a complaint, but is unable to attend the special session, forms were mailed to every taxpayer so that he might send his complaint for airing at the meeting.

Basically, the special meeting was called to get citizen reaction to enforcement of ordinances.

Mayor McAtee notes that the city is plagued with complaints about chickens, dogs, horses, abandoned autos, condemned houses, etc., but no one wants enforcement of ordinances applied to themselves.

It's a familiar story ... one that has echoed through the council chambers of Northville, Novi and hundreds of other communities.

Perhaps an aroused and informed citizenry can help its elected officials solve the problem.

This is exactly what Wixom's city council is hoping.

Northville's Mayor A. M. Allen has had a little personal experience lately in the matter of complaints.

And right about now he'd probably like to tell his tormentor that "sleeping dogs don't bark".

Mayor and Mrs. Allen have received several anonymous telephone calls and cards complaining about the barking of their dog, "Mickey". They took steps to correct the situation.

One complaining and unidentified neighbor still calls. But the trouble is the caller never gives the mayor time enough to explain: Mickey can't bark anymore.

Three releases on my desk this week report that:

1--Congressman Farnum is sponsoring a bill to permit a teacher to deduct any legitimate educational expense from his income tax;

2--Senator Griffin has introduced legislation which would exempt servicemen from paying excise tax on air transportation while traveling on military leave;

3--Congressman Vivian is seeking to amend legislation that would "temporarily" suspend the accelerated capital depreciation allowed business enterprises by permitting business to retain the seven per cent income tax credit and depreciation allowance to purchase pollution abatement equipment.

I have no argument with these proposals. As a matter of fact, the latter sounds especially logical.

But it makes one wonder, if all our congressmen are seeking ways to gain deductions and savings for taxpayers, who are the culprits passing all the tax bills?

I recall Jack Hoffman once writing about an embarrassing experience when he was locked in a public library.

The studious editor could have picked less desirable surroundings. I did last Friday.

It all started when the rubbish collector decided to make his rounds on time last week. After noting that every other container in the neighborhood had been removed but ours, it became apparent that: (1) the containers would have to remain there for a week; (2) be carried back to the garage; or (3) taken to the city-township sanitary landfill (dump).

Proposal three won-out by a family vote of 1-1.

Although the dump is normally closed Friday afternoons, Northville DPW Director Bud Hartner assured me the side entrance near the DPW storage buildings would be open because trucks were dumping dirt from the Randolph street project.

He was right. But when I returned from the far corner of the dump where I had disposed of the weekly family rubbish, the gate was locked.

It's difficult to describe just how one feels when he's staring at 10-foot-high, barbed-wire-topped fence from the inside of a city dump. Silly, stupid and lonely are all pretty good adjectives.

Anyway, when the first flush of panic wore off, I discovered that the door to the DPW storage building had been left unlocked. There was a telephone inside. I called city hall. Clerk Martha Milne answered saying Bud Hartner had left. "Can I help you", she asked politely. "No thanks, I'll find Bud" - I wasn't going to try to explain my predicament to Martha.

Finally I reached Bud at home.

His reaction is better left unreported. But he was still laughing 15 minutes later when he came to my rescue.

Who locked the gate? It must have been accidental, said Bud, still smiling.

NORTHVILLE LODGE NO. 186
F. & A. M.
Regular Meeting Second Monday
Charles A. Wilson, W. M.
R. F. Coolman, Sec.

A friend of mine licked his finger, stuck it in the air and announced profoundly, "Well, looks like we'll have a warm frost tonight."

The fact that he was able to predict weather with his finger didn't surprise me. Everyone knows that fingers, aches, birds, the moon, clouds, sunsets, and crickets are proven methods of accurately predicting weather.

But that bit about a "warm frost" stuck in my craw.

What the heck is a "warm frost"?

I asked him. Stunned by my ignorance, he replied simply, "It's the opposite of a cold frost, naturally."

But, but ... "A warm frost is cold, but not as cold as a freeze frost ... it won't kill anything."

By now I was beginning to warm up a little myself, so I shot back with what I thought was a scientific fact: It's absolutely impossible to have a frost at a temperature above 32-degrees.

"Ah, but that's where you're wrong. We can have a frost at 34-degrees, sometimes higher. It's not very cold, mind you, but it's still a frost. It usually occurs very early in the morning. You probably have never seen one 'cause you don't get up until noon."

Now you're talking about dew, I insisted, 'cause frost is nothing more than frozen dew. A frost is a frost!

"Frost might be dew," he conceded, "but warm frost is frost!"

Whereupon our conversation ended. But a few days later, he picked up some equally scientific cohorts, who, after whipping me with their strange logic, challenged me: "Okay, stupid, call an expert ... call the weatherman, he'll tell you the same thing."

But all the weatherman would tell me was: "This is a recording, today's high...."

So I called a professor over at my alma mater in Ann Arbor:

"Well," he said slowly, wondering probably if he had a nut on the line, "I think what your friend had in mind was a short frost as opposed to a long frost."

That was about all I could take. But he went on:

"I suppose you could consider a warm frost a short frost ... one that doesn't last as long as a long one."

Professors haven't changed a bit.

"A short frost at 28-degrees might be considered a warmer frost than a long one at 30-degrees."

Ah, now he was talking my language.

What you're saying, I said trying to steer him in my direction, is that a frost occurs in freezing weather and that frost is nothing more than frozen dew.

Almost. You're half right. Frost occurs at 32 degrees, but it isn't frozen dew. Dew forms when vapors condense, leaving the water you see on foliage. Frost forms when these vapors freeze. There's no change to water first. What you're thinking of are hailstones. Now they...."

That was enough. He'd answered my question. I think.

So the next time someone comes up with this "warm frost" bit, I'll counter with:

"A warm frost is a cold frost when frozen vapors are short. I know because I spent a night in the refrigerator and watched it all happen."

Readers Speak Old Spring Water Not that Anymore

To the Editor,

Time has come, I believe, that the people of Detroit and surrounding areas be informed that what they are drinking from the old Northville spring is not spring water or for that matter even Northville well water. People are driving forty or forty-five miles to get what is in their own tap - that of Detroit water.

Furthermore, it seems to me that this great landmark is rapidly vanishing as a place of importance. I'm sure that city officials could do something about getting our spring water back. It would be a real shame if we were to forget what real water taste like.

(Editor's Note: The fact that city water now runs through the Old Spring lines has been well publicized several times in The Record. Efforts by the city engineer and public works' department to restore the spring source were unsuccessful, thus the connection to city lines. Detroit water is not yet flowing from the spring; it will, however, when Northville converts to Detroit water, hopefully within a week or two.)

Thanks
