Development Committee Seeks Study of Area's Future Needs

The Northville Area Development Committee has called upon the city, township, school board and chamber of commerce to unite in an effort to solve area problems together.

The non-profit development group endorsed the proposal at its monthly meeting last week and directed letters to each of the community bodies urging their cooperation in formation of a "blue ribbon committee to undertake an overall unbiased study regarding future local governmental services and organization".

Attending the meeting and endorsing the proposal were Donald Lawrence, Fred Kester, A. M. Allen, John Miller, John Carlo, A. R. Clarke, John Canterbury, Alex Lawrence, Gunnar Stromberg and C. A. Smith.

Donald Lawrence is president of the development committee, while Kester is president of the corporation, the portion of the overall development committee officially empowered to borrow money and handle transactions approved by the committee.

The development group has been organized for several years in Northville and has devoted its energies to the improvement of the industrial and commercial base of the community.

Most noteworthy of its accomplishments has been the expansion of Foundry Flask & Equipment Company, financed through the development corporation and the Small Business Administration. The development corporation has also purchased several commercial sites within the business district for temporary off-street parking and future redevelopment into business places.

Lawrence introduced the idea and called upon Canterbury to outline the proposal.

Canterbury noted that the economic development committee had looked at the total area with no special or selfish interest in mind. He noted that members of the committee represented all interests of the community... the city, township, school board and chamber of commerce.

He asked the members if they would be willing to sponsor the formation of a committee to make a study of long range community development.

Although specific areas of study were not mentioned, it was noted that the matter of providing police protection for the township had already been raised.

Obvious among the projects of the blue ribbon committee, although not emphasized, is the matter of the future governmental structure... more specifically, whether, and when, the city and township should consider consolidation.

The proposal drew immediate support of the development committee. Mayor Allen called the economic development group "the best organization to spearhead such a move".

Township Treasurer Lawrence declared "if we do not do our own planning and developing it will be done for us and we may not like it".

Donald Lawrence, a member of the school board, noted that "the school system is vitally interested in community development, and it creeps up on you. This could keep us better informed".

"Such a group would be a tremendous help in keeping up to date on community development", added Clarke.

Smith moved that the proposal be adopted and the letters be sent out immediately. Kester seconded the motion.

The letter asks each of the bodies to appoint two representatives to a steering committee to prepare objectives and appoint members to the blue ribbon group.

Specifically, the letter states:

"The Northville Area Economic Development Committee, as you know, is composed of representatives from the entire Northville community area. It has for several years devoted its efforts toward desirable and beneficial economic development of the entire area. While most of its activities have been concerned with specific individual property acquisitions and financial and other assistance to individual businesses, the Committee's concerns and objectives have been broad in perspective. These have included such things as tax burden - present and long range - and the overall long range welfare of the entire area.

"For a number of years, and recently with increasing frequency, there have been various expressions of opinion or concern regarding the future of local governmental functions and organizations in the area. On the national level, the Brookings Institution, Congressional Committees, and others have recently made studies on the problems of increasing local governmental costs, structure, overlapping jurisdictions, and the need for better long range solutions to growing local needs. At present there is a "Committee of 100" working toward greater cooperative effort leading possibly to such things as shared services among the many units of local government within several counties of the area. There have been local studies regarding the possibility of local units sharing or providing each other with such functions as police protection, refuse incineration, etc. The Northville Record has, on several occasions, in its news columns and in its editorials pointed toward the need for developing structures and arrangements to meet present and future public service needs.

"While there are many difficult problems involved, it would appear that the time is perhaps overdue for an objective, unbiased, study regarding needed services and possibly future governmental structural changes in the area to better and more economically serve the increasing population and needs of the future. Consequently, the Economic Development Committee has decided to take the initiative to get such a study started in our community. We would appreciate each of the addressee organizations giving favorable consideration and endorsement to such a study. Further, we ask that you appoint two representatives to serve on a Steering Committee. We propose that this initial Steering Committee would define the objectives and would appoint a "Blue Ribbon Committee" to undertake an overall unbiased study regarding future local governmental services and organization.

"We urge your favorable consideration of this request; and, if you will please advise me as soon as possible of your selection, I will arrange for an early meeting of the Steering Committee."

Apartment Zoning Faces Legal Action

Northville township planners approved a rezoning petition for a bank site and gave strong indications that it was "ready to recommend a zoning change for an apartment project Tuesday night.

It also appeared certain that their recommendations would face some sort of legal action from protesting residents.

Specifically, the township planning commission stamped its approval on a request from the Vortex Investment Company for rezoning of the north-west corner of Five Mile and Haggerty road for the purpose of locating a branch of the Bank of the Commonwealth. The site is adjacent to a Plymouth school district elementary school.

Planners then proposed a compromise to a request for multiple zoning for a 22.5-acre site on Five Mile road adjacent to the Lutheran church on the east and north.

They proposed to the developer that a 2.8-acre section of the multiple dwelling area extending westward at the rear of the church property and connecting to a 12.5-acre parcel owned by Greenspan be developed into single family dwellings. In addition they asked that the 12.5-acre parcel, which is on the west side of the church property and had originally been proposed for multiple dwellings, also be developed for single family residences, thus "squaring off" both the residential and multiple parcels.

Planners hinted that if such a plan could be developed on paper, they would be inclined to rule favorably on the request in two weeks - October 11.

The proposal was acceptable to the developers.

But later in the meeting - after a dozen or more residents attending the session had left - Attorney Thomas Healy appeared and asked for permission to address the planning commission on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, 15560 Robinwood.

He asked Chairman Gunnar Stromberg whether he might be heard at the October 11 meeting after the planners had rendered a decision. Stromberg pointed out that a public hearing had already been held and that planners were now meeting to reach a decision. He said he would have to consult with the township attorney before answering the question.

Stromberg also noted that the final decision on the rezoning rested with the township board and that planners only render a recommendation.

Retirement Village, Clinic Complex Eyed

A unique development including a retirement village with housing for the elderly in conjunction with a nursing home, doctor's clinic, laboratory and professional offices is the latest proposal by Dr. Waldemar E. Gizynski for a 58-acre site on Seven Mile road at Marilyn in Northville township.

Planners got their first look at a revised layout of the facility Tuesday night. Originally, a nursing home and clinic had been proposed with development of the remaining acreage for residential use.

The latest proposal will require rezoning of the parcel into two units, one multiple and the other for the clinic and nursing home, OS-1. No hearing date has been set.

Included in the development is the construction of a sewer line west along Seven Mile road across State Hospital property to the interceptor along Northville road. This project, already awarded for construction, will be financed by Dr. Gizynski under a pay-back arrangement with the township.

The entire project has been described as a "multi-million dollar" undertaking.

Tuesday night planners were told that the development would include 318 multiple units. Each of the one-level buildings would contain six units. Some 36 professional offices would be included in addition to the two-story, 100-bed nursing home, clinic and laboratory. The apartments would be confined to use by elderly persons who would receive medical treatment at the clinic.

The professional complex would be located along Seven Mile at Marilyn extending north to approximately Stoneleigh. Multiple zoning would be required for the apartment area north of Stoneleigh.

Auto Salesmen Cast Tie Vote

The National Labor Relations Board conducted an election for certification of the Automotive Salesman's Association to act as union representative for new and used car salesmen at John Mach Ford Sales in Northville Monday.

It was the first such election held in the Detroit area for the salesman's union.

Results are still indefinite.

Five salesmen were permitted to vote, but one of the votes was challenged by the NRLB at the request of the ASA. The remaining vote tally was deadlocked at 2-2. It now remains for the NRLB to determine whether the sealed vote should be opened and counted. A tie vote would mean that the union could not represent the salesmen.

Attorney Philip Ogilvie, representing the Mach agency at the election, said that the vote was challenged by the union on the basis that the salesman in question was not a fulltime employee.

Attorney Ogilvie also represented the Rathburn Chevrolet Sales, Inc., agency of Northville. He stated that the ASA withdrew its petition for an election at Rathburn's.

At Last... Detroit Water

City Engineer Harold Penn pours the first drink of Detroit water for City Manager Frank Ollendorff. Well, at least that's what he's supposed to be doing. Actually, Detroit water was not released into city lines until Wednesday morning and the above picture was posed at the city's reservoir on Tuesday. But by now city residents are receiving Detroit water through their taps. Notices were mailed out by the city on Tuesday. Originally, the conversion had been scheduled for August 22. But line leakage, now corrected, delayed the switch.

Future Northville? Like Mt. Pleasant

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the fourth in a series of articles on local area plans for the future. This article deals with aspects of the master plans of Northville and Novi as seen by Waldemar Johnson, planning consultant for both communities. Next week's article will concern real and proposed housing developments in the area.

The planner waved his magic wand and poof: Northville became Mt. Pleasant and Novi, Kalamazoo.

Mixing expertise and imagination, Waldemar Johnson, planning consultant for both Northville and Novi, came up with this comparison while looking at the future of the two local communities.

Northville, he predicts, will grow in population and probably in size but retain its small-town image, while Novi will blossom into a "fairly large", self-contained city of the size of Kalamazoo.

The bulk of Northville's future citizens will be living here and working elsewhere. Novi, on the other hand, will have sufficient industry and business to employ the bulk of its population.

Does this mean that Novi, because of its larger projected size, may one day absorb Northville?

"No. Northville will maintain its identity - particularly if the central business district (CBD) plan becomes a reality soon. Our plan shows a central business district that can effectively hold the business trade for a nine-square mile area."

Will it be sufficiently large to "hold" the trade of Northville township?

"As I see it there isn't anything in the township plans nor in the plans of Plymouth to prevent it. The township plans provide for neighborhood type shopping centers, but Northville will be the center of trade for the entire area."

What about to the north? If Novi has a large central shopping area, won't it siphon trade from Northville and hurt business here?

"It depends on the timing. If Northville waits until after Novi's central business district is started before it implements its CBD plan, its business could dry up. The point here is that Northville must do what it can now to retain its trade. To try and win trade back after development begins in Novi will be pretty difficult.

"But Northville has the edge over Novi since it already has the nucleus for its future CBD and because complete development of its trade area probably will occur years before it happens in Novi."

He suggests that complete development of the present city of Northville (8,802) could take place by 1880, whereas complete development of Novi might not be reached until well after the turn of the century.

While he makes no prediction as to where the eventual boundary between Northville and Novi will be located, he notes that the "planning area" established in the Northville master plan shows Nine Mile road as the boundary. The southern boundary of this "planning area" is

Of the 91 business firms contacted last year, 70 contributed, she stated. Collectors for the campaign are

In Our Town

By Jean Day

YES, Laurie, you're absolutely right, there IS a Moraine elementary school in Northville. It exists with 346 children, 12 teachers and Principal Milton Jacobi. Only the physical plant, now under construction on West Eight Mile road, is lacking.

It is a tribute to Jacobi and the district's other administrators that the 346 pupils, now studying in seven rooms at Amerman and in five sections at Main street schools, feel they "belong" to Moraine. Ever since the first day of school when they walked into rooms marked "Moraine" the youngsters have been developing a loyalty to their new school. This has been fostered by their teachers and by Jacobi who pays almost daily visits to the classrooms.

"The motivation is greater and greater to get there," reports Jacobi, pointing out that the children realize they will remain together with their teachers after the move "near Christmastime." Meanwhile, they attend classes at Amerman, where there are two Moraine kindergarten classes with morning and afternoon sections, a third grade, two fourth grades and two fifths, and at Main street school where there are two first grades, two seconds and a third grade.

While schools in Plymouth, Birmingham and other Detroit-area districts coped with lagging construction programs by going on half-day sessions, Northville has managed to retain full schedules by using the partitioned multipurpose room at Amerman, teachers' lounges and library corners. Biggest headache: lunch hour. If there aren't too many wet-and-rainy days, Jacobi says, the cramped conditions won't be too bad.

The new principal has room mothers for each class, and he hopes they will be his helpers after moving day when a Moraine PTA will be needed. Moraine Motivation is so high with staff and students it can only be an honor AND a challenge for parents to play a part in the educational launching.

NOW FOR THE "PANS" — After an educational "pat" to our local school system to follow with the news that The National Observer this week reports that Michigan high school students score in 33rd place among students from the 50 states and Washington, D.C., is not so pleasant.

Headed "The Best by Test", the article reprints a compilation by the non-profit Council for Basic Education in Washington, D.C., of a ranking by states computed by taking the number of each state's public and private day-school juniors who scored in the top six per cent of those taking the 1965 National Merit Scholarship tests and getting the percentage this number represents of the total numbers of juniors in that state. The results, the CBE believes, reflect, among other things, the quality of schools in the various states. Top states are Connecticut and New York.

Michigan, with a 1.18 percentage, ranks below the U.S. average of 1.69. Similar disturbing figures were heard here last February when the PTA Founders' Day speaker, Herbert A. Auer, secretary of the Michigan PTA, reported low ratings for Michigan schools but was unable afterward to say where he had gleaned them.

IF FALL LEAVES are a problem, you CAN RAKE them away of them while helping further the future education of girls in Northville Cadet Scout Troop 209. These Girl Scouts, mostly ninth graders, are repeating on a larger scale this autumn a project they began last year.

Beginning this Saturday they will be available to rake leaves at 50 cents an hour each. The project is an Active Citizenship Challenge which, they hope, also will help provide funds for a future trip to Europe. The girls individually bank the monies earned for the planned trip. The raking project is under the direction of Linda Darnell, Beverly Marroni and Glenda Westfall.

Residents wishing to reserve scouts to rake should call Linda at 349-2307. They should instruct the scouts whether they should bring their own rakes and give the size area to be raked.

MEADOWBROOK Country Club's president's ball this Saturday evening will be one of the highlights of the club's Golden Anniversary Year. About 150 members and guests are expected to honor Mr. and Mrs. George Talbot. Mr. Talbot is completing his second year as club president. Eddie Schick's orchestra will be playing during the evening. The Continental Strings with nine violins will be heard during the pre-dinner cocktail hour.

HOW LONG SHOULD SHOCK ABSORBERS LAST?

Next to brakes, a car's most important safety components are shock absorbers that keep the wheels gripping the pavement and prevent side sway. Yet shock absorbers are usually the most neglected of all moving parts requiring service. Perhaps because they are out of sight and the driver gets gradually used to the steady decline in their absorbing power, shock absorbers are often in astonishingly poor condition on cars otherwise well maintained.

It is foolish to neglect your shocks beyond the point where they lose their efficiency. The rough ride shakes your car loose, causes rattles and loss of road control. Like a rubber ball, tires are bounced off the pavement every time you hit a hole or obstruction. At high speeds, the bounce puts the tire out of contact with the road. Shock absorbers take the "bounce" out of tires and maintain a constant contact with the pavement. Side sway, steering and cornering all benefit from good shocks and the whole front end of your car will last longer.

In some cases where a car is driven continuously over rough country roads, shocks are worn out 10,000 miles. At 20,000 it is a pretty safe bet that they should be rebuilt or replaced if they are going to give you the comfort and protection they were intended to render.

Novi Driver, 15, Young Rider Crash into Tree

A 15-year-old Novi youth was charged with reckless driving and driving without a license Sunday after the junk car he was driving piled into a tree. Giding with the youthful driver was a 15-year-old companion, both of whom were taken to Botsford General hospital, Farmington, and released after treatment.

Witnesses reported that the boys' car stopped at Pembine street and drove off at a high rate of speed. As the car entered a curve, witnesses said, it went out of control, hitting a tree. Novi police reported they confiscated the vehicle. Further investigation revealed the car had no brakes. It had been given to the youths Friday as a junk car to be used for parts, police were told.

Before hitting the tree, the car ripped up 15 feet of picket fence at 203 Henning street.

Henning and Pembine streets are near the intersection of Novi road and South Lake drive.

Northville Boy Hurt in Crash

A 15-year-old Northville youth, riding a bicycle without lights, suffered a broken leg last Friday night when he was struck by a car.

Thomas J. Higgins, 46180 West Main street, was taken to St. Mary hospital for treatment of a fractured leg.

Driver of the car which struck Higgins was George E. McMullen, 32560 Orchard drive. McMullen stated he was heading west on West Main street and started to turn left onto Orchard drive when his car was struck by a bicycle. It had no lights, McMullen told police.

Higgins was cycling east on West Main street, it was reported.

Case Elected Head of Craftsmen

William G. Case was re-elected President of the Michigan Craftsmen's Council, a state organization of 600 potters, weavers and metalsmiths.

He is on the board of directors of the Michigan Potter's association and is a past president of the Three Cities Art Club. His home and studio are at 1566 Nantucket road, Plymouth.

Elected secretary-treasurer of the MCC at the September meeting was Mrs. Eleanor Wolfe of Flint. Case appointed Mrs. Joan David, Huntington Woods, as chairman of exhibits with the next juried exhibit for state artists to be February 5-27, 1967 at the Bloomfield Art Center.

Mrs. Harriet Tidball, Lansing, was appointed conference chairman for an eleven state conference of craftsmen which will be held at the Kellogg Center on the Michigan State university campus September 21-22, 1967. Mrs. Marian Eagen, Detroit, was appointed publicity chairman.

The Michigan Craftsmen's Council is an affiliate of the American Craftsmen's Council. The chief aim of both the MCC and the ACC is to present to the American public the finest of crafts and to promote the highest standards of work among artist-craftsmen.

Burkman Named 'Man in Motion'

Conrad J. Burkman of Northville, manager of Pacific Finance corporation office in Wayne, has been selected to receive the Michigan Consumer Finance association's "Man in Motion" award for outstanding work in public relations during 1966.

An engraved plaque will be presented to him today at the 50th anniversary convention of the association in Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Burkman, who live at 525 East Baseline, will attend the convention on an all-expenses-paid trip that was part of the contest prize.

Burkman cooperated extensively in developing educational programs in several schools in Saginaw prior to his advancement to the Wayne office of his company. In one project he helped a local high school organize a four-week course on money management that was presented to an economics class with an enrollment of 183 students over closed-circuit television.

In addition, he was instrumental in encouraging wide-scale public relations activities among other members of the consumer finance business in the area, serving as the district chairman for public relations in the Saginaw area.

Contestants had to qualify for the state-wide contest by earning a 50th Anniversary certificate for public relations activities. Fifty-four consumer finance employees had qualified for the contest.

ACE RECEIVER—Only a freshman, Northville's Jerry Imsland has been tabbed as the leading receiver in Kentucky's football camp—and that includes varsity as well as freshmen. Charlie Bradshaw, Kentucky head coach, says, "He is giving our varsity fits. He is one of the finest young receivers I have ever seen." The 6'2", 205-pound end started off slowly in the first scrimmage against the varsity, making one catch for five yards. But in two successive scrimmages he caught six passes for 46 yards and five for 29 yards. Here he's shown after one of his receptions.

Hey Kids! It's Time For Punt, Pass 'n Kick

This year's Punt, Pass and Kick football program, sponsored by the John Mach Ford dealership, will be held October 15 at Ford Field, Director Gordon Bunn announced this week.

All boys from ages eight to 13 who have registered at Mach's will be eligible to compete in the annual event, to be held this year from 9 a.m. to noon.

Medals for first, second and third places will be presented to boys in each age group, Bunn said. Winners will qualify for the district contest in Detroit.

Competition will be held then to determine the area and division winners, culminating in a trip to Washington D.C. and the Orange bowl for the 12 divisional champs. They will decide the national championship on January 1.

Last year 127 local boys entered the contest. They were among 715,000 boys who competed across the nation.

Hard Luck Jim Juday Eyes Late Grid Return

Injury placed a cast on hard-luck Jim Juday's arm but it hasn't dimmed his optimism any.

"He says he thinks he'll play some this year," his mother, Mrs. Richard Juday reported.

The Michigan State sophomore suffered a dislocated elbow, torn ligaments and stretched tendons in a scrimmage preceding the Spartans' season opener.

His doctor predicted Jim would be out of action for six to eight weeks. Jim disputes the prognosis: he firmly believes he can shed the cast stretching from shoulder to fingers in time to play.

Coach Duffy Daugherty said he was definitely depending on Jim for backup work at offensive guard and defensive end, Mrs. Juday reported.

This is the second year in succession that Jim has been sidelined by injury. Last year he injured his left wrist in practice and missed the season; now, it's his right arm.

Granted an extra year of eligibility last year, Jim said, at the rate injuries are occurring, "I'll be the oldest freshman on campus."

RUGGED RUNNER—Rugged Half-back Jeff Hayes looks down field in anticipation of another sizeable gain, but Northville's Dennis

Area Future Eyed

ning area" is Six Mile road, while the east and west boundaries are Meadowbrook and its extension and Beck road.

Significantly, planners look beyond even this planning area in pinpointing what they call the "Northville Community". The latter is a nine-square mile area bounded by 9 1/2 mile, Five Mile, Chubb and Haggerty. Projected ultimate population of this entire area is pegged at 95,100.

Johnson sees no problem in Northville's plan should all of Northville township become part of the city. "The township's plan fits nicely into the scheme of the city's plans."

Broadly speaking, the most unique aspect of the Northville master plan, explains the consultant, is that it manages to retain the "desirable small town image" even though the city may include a much larger area.

Prime reason for the "small town image", he says, is that the plans call for no major thoroughfares through the center of town. Through traffic will skirt a compact central business district, while shopper traffic will have easy access to the CBD by a circle drive around this center, something like Wide Track Drive in Pontiac.

Johnson sees the extension of Novi road (along the C & O tracks) to Northville road as "one of the most important steps in the implementation of the CBD plan."

In the master plan, this extension is listed as one of three projects important to the improvement of the city. Of the other two projects, one is the widening and improvement of Randolph (now, almost complete), and the other is establishment of the circle drive.

Although the newly revised master plan of Novi has not yet been presented to the council, Johnson indicated that, except for the increased size of the projected population - from 80,000 to 120,000 - and enlargement of the industrial areas, the plan is much like the original one introduced four years ago.

"The revised plan is a good one, and with the projected larger population I think it's a more realistic one."

Still to be determined, he says, is the location of the central business district. Although he revised plan reportedly call for a CBD of approximately 100 acres near Grand River and Novi, he notes that some village officials believe it should be located elsewhere.

He declines to pinpoint the "other" proposed locations, but it is known that the 10 Mile-Novi road area has been considered in past years.

Should the latter area become a reality, it could have an adverse affect upon Northville plans. Conceivably, it could disrupt, if not destroy Northville's trade area.

Johnson says the revised plans call for 13.6 per cent of Novi's land area to become industrial and 1.4-percent commercial. The previous plan called for 9-percent industry and 1.1 commercial.

The total 15-percent allocated for industry and business is "a little above average, but it means Novi will be a nicely balanced community, with a good tax base and job force."

(Johnson sees the percentage of business and industry in Northville as "about average". About 9-percent of the planning area, he says, is allocated for business and industry. Last week, consultants for Northville township and Wixom pegged the industrial acreage in those communities at 12-percent and 28-percent respectively.)

About 50-percent of residential acreage in the new plan shows 4.6 lots per acre. Some 25-percent of the acreage is for multiple dwellings.

While the revised Novi plan reportedly sets aside many areas for parks and parkways as in the original plan, through traffic will see little of it because the proposed industrial-business corridor has been extended to include nearly all of the land inside Novi along Grand River and I-96.

And for this reason, admits Johnson, the plan does not contain some of the esthetic potential apparent in the Northville plan.

"But it's a good one; I think the council and the citizens of Novi will like it."

Looking at the overall plans for Northville township, the city, Novi and Wixom, Johnson says the motorist of the future headed north will pass through a bedroom type community that gradually diminishes and becomes an industrial complex as he reaches Wixom.

BONE CRUSHER—Northville's Jim Zayti puts a shoulder into a Holly back as End Mike Moody (82) comes up fast to lend a hand.

That's Guard Rick Suckow(60) closing in. Northville will travel to Brighton tomorrow to play the Bulldogs at 8 p.m.

Gain First W-O Triumph Mustangs Kick up Heels, 9-7

The dippy-doodle? That went the way of the Black Bottom, the Bunny Hop and the Charleston — out the window with the 1930's. But the dippy-doodle may come back by popular acclaim every Friday, especially after it won a football game for Northville last Friday night.

The Mustangs pulled out a 9-7 win in the final quarter for its first victory of the season. Northville is now 1-1.

Wingback Jim Zayti was the young man whose fancy footwork on the grid-iron put the dippy-doodle over with the crowd. He slipped and hipped on two successive 17-yard plays to score Northville's lone, game-winning touchdown in the fourth quarter.

The scoring play itself is as old as the dippy-doodle. It's called the Statue of Liberty, conceived in the era of Yost and the flying wedge.

Old as it may have been, it looked strangely modern last Friday.

Despite the fact he carried the ball only five times, Zayti gained 54 yards, and that includes once when he was dropped for a two-yard loss. He also caught three passes for a total of 30 yards.

Zayti was given help by light Fullback Pat Hall, who labored on 15 tries for 57 yards. And Quarterback Chris Holman got untracked by throwing for 97 yards, a weapon sorely needed by Northville.

Even the ball got the dance craze at the outset of the second half. On the first play from scrimmage following the kickoff, the ball squirmed out of Holly's hands on the 20 yard line into Northville's possession.

After moving to a first down on the six yard line, Northville was stopped. Guard Daly Hill stepped up to the ball on the 15 yard line and kicked a perfect field goal for a 3-0 lead.

Holly, incensed, bounced right back, going 75 yards in 11 plays to score and take a 7-3 lead. Halfback Jeff Hayes, who gained 88 yards in 15 tries during the night, got the TD, taking a pitch out on the six and running wide around right end to score untouched.

Not until midway through the final quarter did Northville make its winning move, beginning on its own 31 yardline.

Holman, rolling out to pass, found daylight down the right sideline and ran 20 yards for a first down on the Holly 49.

Pass interference put Northville on the Holly 34. Halfback Dennis Matthews, who had a 55-yard touchdown run called back in the second period, slipped through tackle for one yard.

Zayti took over at that point, negotiating the final 34 yards on the two statue plays. He knocked over the last Holly defender on the five yard line and scored.

The way Northville began promised another lack lustre performance as in the previous 18-12 loss to Plymouth. Northville fumbled the first two times it had the ball in the first quarter.

Each time, however, the defense crushed any Holly hopes of an easy TD, and it gave Northville a chance to regroup its forces for an offensive show of its own.

But Holly, like Northville, just couldn't gain enough momentum to cross the goal line until Northville touched off the scoring with its field goal.

HANDS UP—End Greg Carr, hands outstretched, reached for the ball coming over his shoulder. The ball bounced off Carr's fingers however.

Scores 3 Novi Touchdowns

Van Wagner Dazzles Milan

He's not especially fast. He's not especially big. But once he gets that football, there's simply no stopping him.

His name: Jon Van Wagner. A sophomore at Novi high school, the 6'1", 170-pound Van Wagner dazzled a home town crowd last Thursday afternoon.

He carried the ball 14 times and amassed 219 yards. In addition, Van Wagner scored on touchdown runs of 53, 54 and 41 yards to pace his teammates to a 40-6 victory over Lutheran West.

It's the second victory in a row this year for the Wildcats, and their sixth consecutive win in a string that stretches over two years. In their opening game Novi trounced Milan's inept Jayvees, 55-7.

Still the question goes unanswered: Just how strong is Novi?

The remaining five games should supply the answer, for Novi must play three four-year high schools and two strong Jayvee squads.

Novi, a high school with only grades nine and 10, will face its first high school varsity team this Friday at Novi when it takes on Ashley, a class D school located north of Lansing. Ashley has a one win-one tied record.

The kickoff is scheduled for 4 p.m. Despite the fact that Novi was playing a relatively soft touch in Lutheran West, there was no mistaking the improved blocking and tackling of the Wildcats.

"We looked good last Thursday," said an elated John Osborne. And Osborne says the two wins have prepared Novi for its forthcoming game. "Mentally, we're right, so we'll be tough to beat. We'll be ready for the game," he declared.

Giving the Wildcats an added lift will be the return to action of Mike Farah, a youth Osborne is depending on at defensive tackle. With the healing of Farah's arm, Novi will be at full strength.

"We'll throw in a few new plays," said Osborne of his team's preparations. "The only change I'll make is to move Farah back into the lineup."

Before Lutheran West had an opportunity to brace itself last Thursday, Van Wagner spun for his first TD on the third play from scrimmage. It was a 53-yard jaunt on a power sweep around end.

Van Wagner set up the next score by running 29 yards to the Lutheran West one yard line, where Ken Osborne bowled over from the score to give Novi a 13-0 first quarter lead.

Van Wagner scored one more time in the second quarter. He ran off tackle and emerged from a pile of players to score on a 41-yard jaunt.

Then came the play that broke Lutheran West's back. Trailing 20-0, Lutheran West needed a touchdown to get back in the ball game, but Van Wagner exploded over right tackle and ran 53 yards for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage in the second half. Opening the holes upfront was Tackle Joe Morrison, a burly sophomore, Osborne pointed out.

John Davey provided Novi's fifth touchdown when he scored from four yards out to cap a 55-yard drive, and Fullback Andy Pantaleo wrapped up the scoring blitz by running 17 yards around end into the end zone.

BATTLING BACK—Gary Boyer, Novi quarterback, rolls out for yardage against Lutheran West.

The scrappy Boyer was instrumental in Novi's victory.

Whisker Separates 13 Grid Contestants

Only a whisker separated the top 13 entries in the weekly football contest, but two contestants shaved a little closer to share first place.

His Model A Ford Cops Top Honors

A Northville resident "rode" off with top honors in the annual "Judgment Day" for Model A Fords at Greenfield Village Sunday.

Ray Jackson, 21485 Silchester, won first place with his entry in the 1930-31 sedan models. His model A was also chosen best overall and was cited as the most original and best restored car in the Michigan region.

During the summer Jackson's model A won first in class and first overall in the Carnival of Cars event at the Ford Motor Company engineering center in Dearborn. There were 75 cars entered in the Classic Car of America competition.

Jack L. Williams, 505 Rouge street, and John Wilson, 418 Randolph street, both of Northville will each receive $7.50.

They correctly predicted the winner in 19 of 20 games, missing Ohio University's victory over Boston college. They also had the same point spread in Detroit's win over Atlanta.

Winner of second-place money of $3 was Mrs. J. F. Andrews, 51630 West Eight Mile road. She, too, was tripped up by just one game (Air Force over Washington), but was farther off the pace in predicting the pro score.

Ten other entries slipped up on only two predictions.

This week's contest appears on page 7B.

School Board Eyes Building Sites

School administrators are expected to pinpoint one or two possible school site locations southeast of Bradner and Six Mile roads this week.

Preliminary selection was authorized by the board of education Monday evening following a review of proposed sites advanced by the Thompson-Brown company in connection with its development of the Haass property on both sides of Six Mile road near Bradner.

Specifically, the developers asked the board to indicate which, if any, of four or five sites it may wish to obtain for school sites so that it can "plan around" them in laying out a proposed subdivision on the south side of Six Mile road.

While no formal decision has been reached, the board indicated earlier that possibly two sites -- one for a junior high school and another for an elementary school -- might be warranted in view of projected student population in the area.

To date nothing has been said publicly about cost of the proposed sites, nor of which sites the board prefers.

An attempt to "trade" the district's existing 17-acre site on the west side of Bradner for a more favorable location has been brushed aside by Thompson-Brown as "impossible" in light of its contract with Haass.

The developer explained that his firm has only an option to purchase and that, under its contract, Thompson-Brown will develop the property in stages as purchase of each section is consummated.

Initially, Thompson-Brown offered only a 12-acre site just east of the

Zoning

Residents of the Five Mile road area, where the rezoning requests have been made, strongly opposed both the bank and apartment zoning at a September 13 public hearing.

Petitions of opposition listed "strip zoning", blight and deterioration of surrounding property and traffic hazards among the objections.

In recommending approval of the B-1 zoning for a bank Planner Bernard Baldwin pointed out such a development would be consistent with projected land use in the area. He noted that a new expressway would soon be constructed near the corner of Haggerty and Five Mile and that it would be like "burying your head in the sand" to think the parcel could be developed for residential use. He also noted that a bank would probably be the most desirable business use near a school because of the restricted hours and clientele.

Planning Consultant George Villiani supported this view by noting that it is "within the framework of the entire plan for the area" and that eventually it would become commercial and a bank would be a most desirable use.

All planners present voted for the bank rezoning. They included J. Craig Bowley, Luke Bathey, Baldwin and Stromberg.

Action on the apartment rezoning request was deferred until October 11 when the Greenspan firm can submit drawings outlining the proposal by Baldwin that 2.8 acres be excluded from the multiple plan.

In other business planners reviewed the latest plan for King's Mill cooperative apartments, now under construction by the Bert Smokler company on Northville road. Currently underway are a model, community building and pool, which are scheduled for completion December 1.

An amendment to the zoning ordinance covering the keeping of horses for private use was also approved and will go to the township board for consideration. It requires a minimum of three acres for the first horse and two additional acres each for the next two horses, and five additional acres for each horse thereafter.

school's existing property, noting that future relocation of Bradner at Six Mile would make the two parcels contiguous and therefore more attractive for school development. This offer remains as one of those under consideration.

According to the developer, township and county road plans call for the bulk of future north-south traffic to take place on a proposed road at the eastern edge of the Haass property. This road, board members learned, will cross Six Mile and angle toward the Northville State Hospital.

Relocation of Bradner is tied in with Thompson-Brown's proposal to develop the Haass property on both sides of Six Mile road. To be developed over a 10-year period, the property is expected to ultimately house between 700 to 900 homes -- in the $30,000 and up class.

The property on the south side of Six Mile road, nearest the school's 17 acres, calls for some 350 homes on approximately 145 acres. It stretches from Bradner on the west to a point east approximately one mile from Haggerty.

Thompson-Brown also has offered a 10-acre site at the southwestern corner of this property. It is in the area that initial development is scheduled to take place. Some 80 to 100 homes are expected to be built here on approximately 40 acres.

Other proposed school sites are located along the southern boundary of the development on the south side of Six Mile road. One of these reportedly would extend partially onto property held by the Greenspan development company.

According to the school's architect, any one of the sites would be suitable for a school, although not the most desirable of the total acreage under option by Thompson-Brown.

It was pointed out that Thompson-Brown's development north of Six Mile road probably would not be sufficient to support an elementary school in that area.

Contracts totaling $87,856 were awarded to four low bidders on furniture and equipment for the new Northville junior high school.

Acting upon the recommendations of its architect, the board of education named these low bid winners:

Gold Star company, $47,144 for food service equipment; Clark Institutional Sales, $15,727 for homemaking, arts & crafts equipment; Classroom, Inc., $8,425 for instructional materials; State Wide Equipment company, $16,560 for science equipment.

Together with general construction contracts awarded earlier, the furniture and equipment costs boost the total junior high outlay to $1,161,504.

In his report on the opening weeks of classes in the present junior high school, Principal Donald Van Ingen noted that "tight quarters" have necessitated some seventh grade classes of 31 and 32 students. He placed total junior high enrollment at 579 students.

Principals of the three elementary schools reported total enrollments of 418 at Amerman and 403 at Main street, with 346 Moraine-bound youngsters divided between Main street and Amerman.

Concerning another building matter, the board approved a one-year extension of its lease from the city and township to use the former library building, 107 South Wing, for administrative offices.

In other action Monday, the board ---

---Awarded a contract for purchase of a new school bus to Rathburn Chevrolet Sales, based upon its low bid of $7,050.

---Reaffirmed its earlier support of the intern student teaching program of Schoolcraft college and MSU.

---Appointed Donald Lawrence and Robert Froelich as school representatives to an Economic Development steering committee.

---Authorized establishment of a tax deposit account.

Northville Court

MORE COURT NEWS ON PAGE 3B

Four escapees from the Detroit House of Correction were arraigned in Northville Municipal court Monday.

Robert Moore, Jr., 49, of Detroit was sentenced to an additional 20 days in jail for escaping October 25, 1965.

Johnnie Johnson, 18, Dearborn, was sentenced to 15 additional days. He escaped from DeHoCo on August 25, and pleaded guilty at his arraignment before Judge Charles McDonald.

Jack Authier, 20, of Detroit and David A. Beard, 23, of Taylor township, each waived examination and were bound over to circuit court for trial. Both had been originally sentenced to DeHoCo for breaking and entering.

Jessie Thorpe, 19, who lives in Walled Lake, was fined $100 for reckless driving on North Center street. He also paid costs of $10 for driving without an operator's license.

Police reported that Thorpe ran a stop sign at Eight Mile road and Center street while children were present, and he also ran the stop sign at Base Line road and Center street.

Cited for reckless driving, Arthur Guardardo, 40, Garden City, paid a fine of $75 and $5 costs. Violation occurred September 16 on Eight Mile road and Lanthorn Lane.

Two men, Gerald Gatti and Dennis Ruskin, were charged with violation of financial responsibility.

Gatti, 30, of Berkley, was found guilty, fined $100 and placed on six months probation. Failure to comply with financial responsibility within 30 days would mean a six months jail sentence.

Ruskin, 22, of Detroit, also was found guilty and fined $100. His violation occurred April 4, 1965.

A Northville youth, Dennis Brandenburg, 22000 Beck road, paid $50 costs on a charge of disorderly person, entering the ladies restroom at the Clark Gas station on Main street.

Robert W. Van Der Sys, 23, of Plymouth waved examination and was bound over to circuit court for trial on charges of breaking and entering night time.

Police first nabbed Van Der Sys, they reported, with a tagged camera in the front seat of his car. He was also spattered with blood, having cut himself, police said. Subsequent investigation, police said, revealed the Northville Camera shop had been broken into and a camera stolen.

Van Der Sys did pay costs of $5 for driving a vehicle with no rear license plate.

Paul C. Richards, 50, of Royal Oak was fined $38.50 on a charge of assault and battery. Failure to pay the fine would lead to 30 additional days in jail.

An inmate at the Detroit House of Correction, Richards reportedly assaulted a correctional officer by hitting him with a flashlight and then breaking the officer's glasses and cutting him on the head.

Michael J. Anchor, 19, Detroit, was cited for having liquor in his possession in Cass Bentonpark. He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $25.

Charged with drunk and disorderly conduct, Richard Ingle pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $27.50 and $5 costs. Ingle lives at 690 Baseline.

Donald R. Kushmaul, II, who resides at 47131 Chigwidden drive, was also cited for drunk and disorderly conduct and paid costs of $15.

For careless driving on Beck road between Six and Seven Mile roads, Michael Wilson, 24, was assessed $15 costs. Wilson, who lives at 46655 West Seven Mile road, pleaded not guilty at his arraignment Monday.

Leonard Broquet, 57, was found guilty of improper passing on Eight Mile road and paid costs of $10. He lives at 42100 Eight Mile road.

John A. Price, 19, of Plymouth was found not guilty of driving on the wrong side of a right of way. Price also pleaded not guilty at his arraignment September 12.

Charges of malicious destruction of property were dismissed against Joseph McGuire, 240 Orchard drive, as were charges of trespassing filed against Douglas Lee, 18, of Livonia.

Motorist, Son Injured Here In 2-Car Crash

A Whitmore Lake man and his five-year-old son were injured in a car-truck crash Monday morning on Seven Mile road near the Northville State hospital.

Taken to St. Mary hospital and released after treatment were David K. McCotter, 46, and son, Stephen.

McCotter said he was driving east on Seven Mile road when the early morning sun momentarily blinded him, police reported. He told police he was unable to see the truck traveling east in front of him, although he did attempt to swerve to avoid it.

Driver of the dump truck, which police said was going up an incline, was William E. Hastings, 52, of Detroit. State police said the truck was carrying a heavy load.

The car was totally damaged.

All Northville area citizens will be invited to "meet your governor" from 9 to 10 a.m. Saturday, October 15, over coffee and rolls in the junior high boys' gymnasium (formerly the community building).

Governor George Romney and other Republican candidates have been invited to attend by Mrs. Robert D. Arlen and E. O. Weber, area Republican delegates. Mrs. Arlen and her committee of area women say they expect the full slate of Republican candidates to attend the open-to-everyone event.

Governor Romney's itinerary will include stops in Plymouth and Livonia also.

Rummage Sale

The Presbyterian women will hold their annual rummage sale tomorrow and Saturday at the Presbyterian church house.

Items will be on sale from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday, and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday.

The Northville Record
 And The Novi News

Page One Thursday, September 29, 1966 Section B

Musicians Score as Sales Soar

Bandsmen wave Northville Record and Novi News over their heads, signaling the subscription drive is still in full stride. To date, 98 new subscriptions to the Record and Novi News have been sold and eight two-year renewals. When the band tops the 100-sale mark, an additional 50 cents or $1.50 will go into band coffers every time a new subscription is rung up. Sales under 100 bring in $1 apiece, as does each $6 two-year renewal. High salesman with over 25 new subscription sales will receive a hi-fi record player, now on display at The Northville Record office. Two weeks remain in the campaign.

Northville Municipal Court

Picked up for having liquor in their possession, five youths, none from the Northville area, were arraigned September 19 and fined in Northville municipal court.

Michael McCarthy, 20, Edward Walsh, 18, and Randolph Kovala, 17, all of Detroit, were each fined $22 and $5 costs on September 19 in the chambers of Judge Charles McDonald.

Their apprehension was accidental. Northville police said they first noticed the car in which the boys were riding on Main street had poor lighting in the rear. Police reported they stopped the car to caution the occupants at Main and Hutton streets, then noticed beer in the car.

Two Livonia youths, Gerald J. Dempsey, 18, and Wayne A. Wuotinen, 17, were nabbed on September 9 at the Clark Gas station on Main street. Arraigned September 19, each was fined $22 and $5 costs.

Virginia Ledford, 47671 10 Mile road, was cited for drunk and disorderly conduct; found guilty, she was fined $27.50 plus costs of $5. She pleaded innocent at her arraignment August 29, the same date the violation occurred at West Main and Linden streets.

For driving 45 miles per hour in a 25 zone, Vincent J. Collopy, 25, of Plymouth, was fined $25. He was cited for speeding September 11 on East Main street.

John K. Albright, 20, of Wayne, paid a fine of $25 and $5 costs on a charge of careless driving on East Main street.

An Ortonville man, Joseph W. Tatu, 32, was found innocent at his trial, held September 19. He pleaded innocent to disobeying a red traffic light at the corner of Dunlap and Center streets.

Fine and costs were suspended when Douglas E. Burton, 19, was found innocent at his arraignment September 19.

A Novi resident who lives at 48000 11 Mile road, Burton was charged with making excessive noise on Eight Mile road.

David Butler, 41, of Plymouth, pleaded guilty to charges of being vagrant. He was committed for five days when he was unable to pay the $50 fine.

Gary Rapp, 17, a Livonia resident, was fined $27.50 for having liquor in his possession at the Clark Gas station on Main street.

Gary Rapp, 17, and William R. Priebe, 18, both of Livonia, were each fined $27.50 for having liquor in their possession at the Clark Gas station on Main street.

Arraigned September 12, Terry Krug, 19, pleaded guilty to speeding 70 miles per hour in a 35 zone and paid a $35 fine and $25 costs. Krug lives at 46800 11 Mile road, Novi.

Ralph Brook, a Northville resident also arraigned September 12, had a fine suspended but paid $15 costs after he pleaded guilty to drunk and disorderly conduct.

On a charge of passing a bad $75 check at Northville Downs, H. W. Parker, of Dearborn, was fined $25 and instructed to make restitution of $75 or serve 30 days. He made restitution.

Mickey Porter, 39, of Detroit, pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $15 and $10 costs for failing to transfer registration plates to his car.

A 44-year-old Wayne man, Joseph Burns, paid a $15 fine and $15 costs on charges of speeding 60 miles per hour in a 40 zone.

An escapee from the Detroit House of Correction, Kenneth Lewis, 20, was sentenced to an additional 15 days by Judge McDonald on September 19.

According to reports, Lewis was first committed to DeHoCo on May 27 and was reported missing the following day. He was returned to DeHoCo on August 3 to serve the remainder of his 60-day sentence. A Taylor township resident, Lewis was originally jailed for driving on a suspended driver's license.

Robert Armstrong, 49, of 44217 Wyn-gate, paid $25 costs after pleading guilty to careless driving. The infraction took place August 30 on Grace street.

Charged with drunk and disorderly conduct, Vern Wickline, of Madison Heights, was found guilty on September 12. Fine was suspended, but he paid costs of $25.

Kerry Madigan, who lives at 42777 East Eight Mile road, Northville, and Merylyn J. Tanner, Plymouth, both paid fines of $27.50 for fighting at the Clark Gas station.

Fain Baker, of Tennessee, paid a $27.50 fine on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct September 8 at the Northville city hall.

Michael A. Mahoney, 17, who lives at 110 South Rogers street, paid a $20 fine and $5 costs. He was cited for careless driving on East Main street.

Also charged with careless driving, Donald A. Lancaster, 19, of 228 Linden street, was fined $20 and $5 costs. His violation took place August 21 on South Main street at the Seven Mile road cutoff.

Thomas Bingham, 19, a Novi youth who lives at 23906 East LeBost drive stood mute at his arraignment August 22, and charges were dismissed at his September 9 trial.

Thieves Hit Novi Station

Within 16 minutes, an estimated $10 in coins was stolen from Carl's Shell service station, 26909 Novi road.

Thieves gained entrance by smashing a garage door window and crawling through, police said.

Novi police narrowly missed catching the thieves, however, for they checked the station at 5:37 a.m. and again at 5:53 a.m. Within that time, the larceny took place, police said.

Vandals wrecked a Chesapeake and Ohio signal installation switch sometime during September 19.

Novi police said a battery and bootleg wires were pulled loose and elements pulled out. A railroad police officer said evidence indicated motorcyclists were involved.

Law Enforcers Meet Here

The Oakland County Law Enforcement association met September 20 at Saratoga Farms, Novi.

A program on teenage problems was presented by the Detroit Edison company. About 60 law enforcement officers attended.

Presiding over the meeting was President Merline Holmquist, Birmingham police department detective. He was assisted by Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole and Northville Assistant City Manager Eugene King, former Northville police chief.

Police Cases Mount

As Novi Village Grows

The steady growth of the Novi area, says Police Chief Lee BeGole, is clearly reflected by the increasing number of complaints the police department is called upon to handle.

BeGole's comments came after an inventory of August's police activity, released in the monthly report.

It reveals that last August was the busiest in the department's history with 430 cases being handled as compared to 1965's 353 and 1964's 334.

A high proportion of felony complaints filed were closed. Of 15 breaking and entering reports, nine were closed. Five of the nine grand larcenies were closed, and all six reports of auto thefts were closed.

The same held true for misdemeanors, most conspicuously with respect to malicious destruction of property, BeGole said. Nineteen of the 20 cases were officially closed.

Despite the increased activity in August, there were only 29 traffic accidents, compared to 41 in July.

Why the decrease? Chief BeGole explains it thus: "Drivers adjusted to summer driving conditions and there were no big holiday weekends with extra-heavy traffic."

August figures also revealed a sharp drop in the total number of traffic violations issued - 234. Last year the department cited 291 motorists in the month of August.

In logging 11,132 miles in patrolling, however, Novi police issued 226 verbal warnings to motorists, about average for the month.

Chief BeGole pointed out that although the number of violations decreased, total court costs and fines increased to $3716, $409 higher

Two Youths Admit Theft From Station

Two suspicious acting Howell youths, picked up by Novi police last week, admitted their part in larceny of a gasoline station and were immediately turned over to authorities.

Released to the custody of Livingston county deputies, Robert E. Ronk Jr., 18, will be charged with larceny, it was reported.

A 13-year-old companion will probably be turned over to his parents, police said.

Police first grew suspicious of the youths when they spotted them driving in the Novi road-South Lake drive area, police reported. The following day, police said they stopped the youth's car for having a defective exhaust, and hauled them into headquarters for questioning.

After checking with Howell police, local officers learned that a gasoline station had been robbed. Ronk later admitted robbing the station, police reported, and said the 13-year-old was "just there."

College Admission Rules Set

A revision of admission policy to spell out how non-high school graduates can enter Schoolcraft College has been announced by college officials.

The new rules are aimed primarily at the high school dropout, but apply equally to the advanced student now attending high school. The rules were developed in a series of conferences between college authorities and administrators of high schools in the college district and were approved by the college board of trustees.

The rules apply only to residents of the college district and provide separately for non-graduates who are 20 or older, and those under 20.

In each instance, students may apply for courses in either academic work or vocational-technical areas.

Under the new policy, non-graduates who are 20 or older may apply for admission as special students and will be admitted to those courses in which their success seems probable as indicated by their high school record, college counseling tests and personal interviews.

These students will be reclassified as regular students when individual program deficiencies have been removed.

Non-graduates not yet 20 will be considered for admission as special students under four conditions, according to the new policy:

--They must have completed at least eight high school units from a high school recognized by the State Department of Education.

--They will be eligible for consideration only after the lapse of one full school year or after earning one additional high school unit of credit after leaving high school.

--They must present a written recommendation from their high school superintendent.

--They will be admitted only to those courses in which their success seems probable as indicated by their high school record, college counseling tests and personal interviews. Regular status will be granted to these students when program deficiencies are removed.

Children See Indian Dance Show

An Indian dance program will highlight the opening of the AAUW Children's Adventure Series in Plymouth Saturday afternoon.

The program will feature the Washite-Nong Interpretive Indian dance group, made up of former University of Michigan students who have been dancing together since 1955.

Under the direction of Walter Cottugner of Detroit, the dance group has traveled throughout Michigan and Ohio and have performed annually at the Ann Arbor "Pow-Wow".

The program will be held at Junior High West beginning at 2 p.m.

Learners Must Pay To Drive

Temporary instruction permits, formerly free, will now cost $4.50, officials revealed this week.

The permits are good only for 90 days.

When the driver is ready for a road test, there is no additional charge. However, if the temporary permit expires, an additional $4.50 charge will be made.

Learning drivers also are reminded that they must return to the examining station where they obtained their temporary permits.

From Out of the Past

ONE YEAR AGO...
 ...A $3 million expansion and improvement program for Northville Downs was revealed by John Carlo, executive manager of the harness track, at a general membership meeting of the chamber of commerce.

Carlo predicted that the expanded facility would more than double revenues paid the city with an estimated $400,000 annual yield within 10 years.

...City councilmen were studying a report from consulting firm of Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May to determine long range policy for Northville's water supply.

...The Northville Jaycees were busy conducting a campaign to stencil house numbers on the curbs in front of residences at one dollar each.

...A wave of vending machine robberies passed through Northville - at least police hope it had passed.

...Speaking before Rotarians, Superintendent Alex M. Nelson, superintendent of schools, said he visualized an un-graded school system (one through twelve) within two years.

FIVE YEARS AGO...
 ...Northville's city council appointed a new city manager - Bruce K. Pott-hoff, 28, an administrative assistant to the city manager of Jackson. He became the second manager since Northville's incorporation six years previously. The first was John Robertson, who resigned in August, 1961 to accept a similar post in Ferguson, Missouri.

...C. A. Smith, owner of Smith Products, aluminum fabricators located at 45240 Grand River, announced the sale of his company to Mike Terkel of Cleveland, president of Great Lakes Textiles company.

...The proposal of the Wayne county board of public works to sell some 2900 taps in the new Rouge Valley sewage disposal system to Novi brought a definite no response from Northville city and township officials.

...Kneale Brownson replaced Donald Horkey as news editor of The Northville Record-Now News.

...Northville's varsity football squad rolled over the Plymouth Rocks, 19-0, as Quarterback Steve Judy carried two of the touchdowns over, once in a sneak from the three yard line and once around left end from the 10.

TEN YEARS AGO...
 ...The Northville board of education moved decisively toward a new high school when it voted to condemn 50 acres of land for a school site if necessary. At the same time it was forecast that construction of the school could be started the following spring if the site and other legal and technical problems were solved speedily and without complications.

...Football Coach Ron Schipper had one word for Howell - the squad the Mustangs faced in their second non-conference outing - "Tough".

...The city council discussed the possibility of selling the community building to the school system.

...Funeral services were held in Plymouth for Charles H. Bennett, president of Daisy Manufacturing company and the last of the 12 original stockholders in the Ford Motor Company. He had been president of Daisy since 1912.

...Rapid progress in the selection of a city manager for Northville was made as councilmen met and narrowed the field of applicants to six.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO...
 ...The Novi Township community building on Novi road was nearing completion with the exception of inside furnishings. The building is of cement block construction with a large stage, auditorium and kitchen. For several years previously, Novi organizations had sponsored entertainment to help finance the building.

...Novi road was the scene of another accident as David Catton, 625 Griswold street, ran into an abutment while traveling toward Northville.

...Northwestern Wayne county's Middle Rouge Parkway sewer was delayed by at least 10 months.

...Northville school tuition rates were set at $135 for kindergarten through sixth, and $185 for seven to 12.

...Mrs. Don Severance was installed as president of the American Legion Auxiliary, Lloyd H. Green Post No. 147.

...Dr. Hugh Godfrey won the Brae Burn golf handicap championship with a net score of 63.

...Citizens of the DeKay school district, located east of the village of Northville on Seven Mile road, prepared to cast their votes on the question of annexation to the Northville school district.

THIRTY YEARS AGO...
 ...Within the week, death claimed three of Northville's senior citizens: Edward J. Masters, 64, Elroy Clifton Murdock, 75, and Emery VanValkenburgh, 83.

...Editing the Orange and Black columns of the high school paper was Nancy McLoughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McLoughlin.

...Following Commissioner William T. Gregory's complaint about a ruckus reported in one of Northville's beer gardens, Chief William H. Safford was instructed to clamp down on the proprietor and put a stop to brawls.

Slot machines in four of Northville's beer gardens and in two service stations were removed before a midnight deadline named by Chief Safford. Commissioner Gregory was responsible for locking up the slot machines. He was backed unanimously by the council in a petition against them.

FIFTY-YEARS AGO...
 ...Petitions were circulated asking the council to again submit the question of the immediate sale of the electric lighting plant to the Edison company. If done, the Edison company had stated it would erect a suitable office building here and make it the permanent division headquarters.

...One of the pioneer residents of the township, William Sickles Clark, died at his home east of the village on September 15 at the age of 87.

...It was understood that the council was shortly to consider the question of an additional water supply for Northville. The village already had rights on the Sadler springs where an unlimited amount of pure water was available at all times, and the council was considering putting in an electric power pump and tapping the water mains at that point.

...The roof of the Exchange Hotel, owned by Thomas B. Couch, caught fire. Most of the damage was caused as usual by the water, as only a few feet of the roof was destroyed.

MDTA provisions direct the Secretary of Labor to enter into agreements with employers, trade associations, unions, private and public agencies and others whom he determines are qualified to conduct effective training programs. Some of these programs require supplemental instruction approved by the Secretary of Health, Education and Employers under the on-the-job training contracts pay wages to the trainees for all productive work. About 94 percent of the workers completing their training have been hired by the employer giving the training.

NEW TOTE BOARD—Construction of a giant new tote board is fast nearing completion at Northville Downs. The 100 x 20-foot board, required under state racing laws for tracks that show an average daily handle of $250,000 for three consecutive years, is situated near the center of the track infield. Besides flashing racing odds, the new board will show total monies bet on each horse and on each race, automatically record the one-quarter, one-half and three-quarter times for each race, and show names of horses and drivers. In addition, it will include an "Alpha Board" on which may be flashed the number of the race, minutes to post, time of day, daily double combinations, and other general information about the Downs activities.

College Presents Creative Arts Series

The third in the creative arts program series on the campus of Schoolcraft college will be held October 7, with films scheduled at two week intervals thereafter.

According to Wayne Dunlap, chairman of the college humanities division, the program of 14 individual events include poet Gary Snyder, a return engagement by mezzo-soprano Leslie Eitzen and seven films.

All of the programs are open to the public without charge.

The events are grouped in four series, providing seven films, five concerts, two lectures and a number of exhibitions of art, ceramics and photography. Announcement of dates and events on the exhibition series will be made as plans are complete, Dunlap said.

"The Captain's Paradise," an English film with Alec Guinness, opened the semester program on September 9. It was followed by "Yojimbo," a Japanese film, on September 23.

Other films in the series include "Pather Panchali," the critically acclaimed Indian film, October 7; "Tight Little Island," October 21; "The Idiot," an adaptation of the Dostoyevski novel, November 4; "The Big Deal on Madonna Street," November 18; and "Hiroshima, Mon Amour," December 2.

Films are scheduled for 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. in the amphitheater in the Forum. Foreign language films in the series have English subtitles.

The concert series will open on Friday, October 14, with a program by String Bassist Lawrence Hurst, one of the best known artists on an unusual solo instrument. Hurst has been principal bassist with the Seventh Army Symphony in Germany and the Dallas Symphony and has been a member of the University of Michigan music faculty since 1964. The concert is scheduled for 3 p.m. at the Waterman Campus Center.

Miss Eitzen, who appeared on the Schoolcraft creative arts series last year, will return for a program of lieder on Thursday, November 10, at 11 a.m. in the library. She will be accompanied by Allen Shaffer of the Schoolcraft music faculty.

The Schoolcraft Evening Choir and Orchestra, directed by Dunlap, will offer a concert on Wednesday, December 7, at 8 p.m. at the campus center, and on Thursday, December 8, the Beaumont String Quartet will perform a chamber music program at 11 a.m. in the library.

The quartet is composed of Michigan State university faculty members and is gaining a wide-spread reputation in Michigan for recitals of distinction and musical merit. Quartet members are Romeo Tata and Theodore Johnson, violin; Lyman Bodman, viola; and Louis Potter Jr., cello.

A week later, on Thursday, December 15, Dunlap will direct the Schoolcraft College Choir and Orchestra in a program scheduled for 11 a.m. in the library.

Sir Arnold Lunn, author and lecturer, will open the lecture series on Wednesday, October 12, at 1 p.m. in the amphitheater.

Critics Slap New 'Ethics Law'

LANSING — Views vary on what the effect of Michigan's new conflict of interest law will be.

Demanding by Gov. George Romney in conjunction with the legislative and executive pay raises enacted this year, the law is intended to avoid possible charges of influence peddling by persons in authority.

People who praise the new ethics law say it will get and keep state employees and officers at all levels out of positions where their official knowledge could possibly be construed as beneficial inside information.

Critics of the law contend that its language is so vague that it cannot be effectively enforced to eliminate the practices intended to be stopped.

Even the few specific sections lack teeth for enforcement, the critics say. For example, one section prohibits legislators who are lawyers from representing clients before state government boards or commissions, but discipline for infractions rests with the legislative house in which the violator is a member.

Another section prohibits any government employe from having "a direct or indirect interest, financial or otherwise, in a contract with the state or any of its political subdivisions." Violation of this ban calls for "appropriate disciplinary or civil action," but the appropriate action is not specified in any way.

EVEN AMONG THE CRITICS the views vary. While some say the vagueness makes the law ineffective, others contend its provisions are too detailed.

Certain language makes the law apply virtually to everyone who is paid a salary or expenses from tax funds of any Michigan governmental unit, not just the state itself.

Thus, this group says, a business executive in a community might be prevented from serving on a school advisory committee if his firm had any dealings with the school system. This could occur if committee members were paid expenses for serving.

All sections of the new law are being studied carefully by the Attorney General's office at this time.

One saving grace, the critics say, is that the law does not take effect until next spring. Conceivably before that time amendments could be passed to correct any unclear or unnecessary language or any obvious omissions.

CITIZENS who lament the increasing growth of government at all levels rarely find anything to cheer in the state Civil Service Commission's annual personnel report and this year is no exception.

Many used to find encouragement in the idea that if the government was in the hands of the Republicans, the trend toward bigger and bigger government would end. This idea no longer holds true.

Problems Plague Japan's Future

BABSON PARK, Mass., — Through Japan is still plagued by a number of problems and her future role in world affairs is not yet clearly discernible, she is steadily regaining her influence in Asia. Before another decade passes, she may well have recaptured her prewar status as a major world power.

Highly industrialized and more completely democratic than any other Asian nation, Japan has achieved truly amazing postwar economic recovery. More astounding still have been the strides she has made toward building the first really modern society in the Far East.

Now emerging from a moderately prolonged business recession which had its beginnings in 1964, Japan's latest burst of prosperity is reflected in an average rise in urban household income of 10.7% in the first six months of this year over that for the 1965 period. Just a few weeks ago, Premier Eisaku Sato's office disclosed that city-dwelling Japanese families now have average monthly income equivalent to $184.53. While this is far below the average for U.S. families, it is a new high for Japan — and three times the average family income in most other Asian countries.

JAPAN'S area in square miles is less than four percent of the area of the United States. Yet there are 100 million people living in Japan, or just about half as many as are living in our country. Although more than half her arable land is still used for growing rice (the chief food), Japan has somehow also squeezed into her small island confines what has become the most concentrated and most readily usable industrial complex in the entire Far East.

She has made impressive use of her raw material resources to build an iron and steel industry as modern and efficient as any in the Western World. She has also become a leader in shipbuilding and in the manufacture of precision instruments. Her own large merchant fleet contributes mightily to the very favorable international trade balance she has enjoyed for some years now.

THE INDUSTRIAL REBIRTH of Japan in the past 20 years is all the more amazing when one considers that at war's end nearly 50% of her industry lay in ruin. Our enlightened policy in Japan, administered in the late 1940's by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, was a big factor in making possible the economic gains that nation has achieved. But great credit must also be given to the energy, determination, and creativity of the Japanese people themselves.

Primarily, it is this leadership potential that has brought Japan so quickly to the fore in agriculture, industry, the arts, world trade, and scientific achievement. The Japanese are ambitious, resourceful, and hard-working. They can be counted upon to make the most of their not inconsiderable natural resources, their scientific know-how, and their unique geographical position relative to the Asian continent and the Pacific. One forecast is that in the next ten years Japan will vastly increase her influence in Asia and in the world... whether she decides ultimately to draw closer to Peking, to Moscow, or to the West.

TODAY, Japan is at the crossroads. In an Asia racked by war and rumors of war, Japan's early postwar pacifism is gradually giving way to a more realistic posture. She is about to adopt a new constitution. She is about to re-arm. In self-defense, she may well feel that she must develop her own nuclear capability to offset that of Peking.

Tied to China by history and culture, she is at the same time profoundly Western-oriented. She feels strongly that she has a mission in Asia and that she can in time exert an influence on China. But she is also being wooed by Russia and the promise of greater trade with Siberia. Will she swing out of the Western block of which she has been a part these past 20 years? Perhaps the answer depends upon whether the West will in fact make her an equal Free World partner.

This year's commission report indicates some 4,000 state employees have been added to the payroll since 1962, when a GOP chief executive took over.

Some state Republicans will try to blame the increase in the public payroll on Democrats, who have controlled the legislative purse-strings the past two years. This accounts only for two of Gov. George Romney's four years in office.

Another argument will be that the Democratic-controlled federal government keeps getting bigger and the state must do its best to get back as many of its tax dollars as possible.

Most politicians legitimately emphasize that the public is constantly increasing its individual and collective demands on the government and they must be responsive to these demands.

SHOCKING NEWS that water accidents in the first nine months of this year killed as many people in Michigan as during all of 1965 has provoked a call for increased concern about water safety.

For most people, water sports activity ends in September when summer vacation comes to a close.

Fatalities in Michigan water mishaps through September 15 totaled 285, as compared with 235 during all of 1965.

At the mid-September mark last year, however, the water death toll stood at 210.

Water activity does not end in Michigan at any time of the year, the recorded statistics show.

Last year, for example, the final three months of the year accounted for 25 deaths.

Some boat enthusiasts stick with their sport almost until the first snowfall. In the heaviest part of the winter, ice-covered ponds, streams and lakes post a great temptation and danger for cold weather fans.

As in the case of highway safety, the time for concern and diligence over water safety is 12 months of the year.

She brought her hand to her mouth, coughed, and then walked quickly to the less obtrusive magazine shelves.

No mini-skirted sexpot she. A grandmother, I'd say, probably in her early sixties. She'd been pawing over pocket-books, looking for some good reading when I plunked down my tobacco money and turned to look for a book myself.

All of which reminded me of what my wife had told me a few days earlier: "I won't get you a book because it's too embarrassing."

Since then I've been experimenting, purposely rounding corners and coming suddenly upon people looking for a book or a magazine. Sure enough. Most of them are embarrassed. And not because I manage to catch them slipping a book into their purses or pockets.

Take the well-dressed, scholarly looking gentleman who stands with one leg in the book department and the other in the aisle. You can't tell if he's coming or going. If no one is in sight, he's coming; if you cross his path, he's leaving.

Or how about the bus watcher? She's the gal who, packages in hand, glances nervously out the window. It all fits the part, except that the motorless revolving book stand turns mysteriously.

Then there's the guy who sashays back and forth along the magazine racks. If you happen by he automatically reaches for the handicraft book — a book that couldn't interest him less.

The reason for all these surreptitious maneuvers is that today's sales promotion experts contend that a book, particularly the innocent one, must have a luridly colorful jacket to become a top seller. Little Orphan Annie, they claim, won't sell unless the cover shows Annie straightening the seams of her bobby sox. And Minnie Mouse must have a shape like Mansfield.

I'm not advocating full dress for mice, but it occurs to me that the promotion guys may have created a Frankenstein. It may turn on them some day.

Meanwhile, I'll continue to read my Erskin Caldwell novel and enjoy watching the guy with one leg in the aisle.

SPEAKING

for The Record

By Bill Sliger

The Northville Area Economic Development Corporation took a bold step last week that should be hailed by all citizens interested in the orderly and most efficient development of our community.

In a letter to the chamber of commerce, city council, township board and board of education the organization called for formation of a "blue ribbon committee" to make "an objective, unbiased study regarding needed services and possibly future governmental structural changes in the area to better and more economically serve the increasing population and needs of the future".

First step to set such a study in motion is for the respective bodies to endorse the proposal. Then they are asked to name two representatives from their organizations to serve on a steering committee that would be responsible for defining objectives and appointing the "blue ribbon" committee.

Reception of the idea, as introduced by Donald Lawrence, chairman of the economic development committee, and explained by City Councilman John Canterbury, was gratifying.

Several members of the economic development committee also serve on city, township, school and chamber posts. Those in attendance at the meeting where the proposal was introduced included: Alex Lawrence and Gunnar Stromberg, township officials; Mayor A. M. Allen, Councilman Fred Kester and Canterbury from the city council; Lawrence from the school board; and John Carlo, a director of the chamber of commerce.

Assuming the plan to form a committee of citizens to look at Northville (city and township) as a total community does win official support, the next big assignment is the formation of the "blue ribbon" committee.

Our community has a wealth of capable people who could make valuable contributions to such a committee. Most of them are busy in their own occupations; others are either not interested, or they are simply unaware of the need for better community planning and teamwork.

Admittedly, this writer may be overly alarmed at the vacuum that divides segments of our community. Occasionally, this vacuum is replaced with misunderstanding; rarely, with sympathetic appreciation of one another's problems.

The "blue ribbon" citizens committee could bridge this gap; it could be the kibitzer at a card game who looks into the hands of all players and knows the strong and weak suit of each.

There's no doubt that such a committee might well save its community's citizens thousands of dollars, play a major role in improving area services and materially assist in the character of the overall development.

I hope that citizens asked to serve on this committee accept it as both a challenge and an honor.

It will be that.

But it can be only as strong as its members and their efforts.

Thanks for Help

Letter to the Editor:
The other day I had a small fire under the hood of my school bus at Eight Mile and Novi Road. I had one five year old child on the bus at the time. She was extremely upset. I felt it was my first duty to take care of the child so I hailed a passing car and asked the driver to get help for the bus while I walked to Amerman school with the child.

After leaving her in the office with Mrs. Harrison, I walked back to the bus. In the meantime, the Novi Fire Department had everything under control.

I want to publicly thank all the wonderful people who helped me. Their cooperation was greatly appreciated. It is a good feeling to know you can get help in an emergency.

Thanks to the Novi Fire Department, the Police, Mrs. Harrison at Amerman School, the unknown driver of National Concrete Truck #34 who stopped to offer his assistance, and a very special thanks to Wayne Francisco of Walled Lake — the motorist who took the time to help a stranger.

PLAN SPECIAL OPENING

Fisher's celebrates 25th Anniversary

Fisher's Shoes will celebrate 25 years as one of Plymouth best known and most prosperous businesses this weekend. The 25th Anniversary celebration caps a success story for James Houk, currently City of Plymouth mayor and owner of several shoe stores. September 29, 20 and October 1 have been set as dates for the celebration, which will honor not only Fisher's 25 years in operation, but also the official opening of a completely remodeled store. Houk, and the store's namesake, Blake Fisher, founded the store in 1941. Fisher had entered business in 1915 when he purchased the Jim Adams Shoe Repair Shop on Penniman Ave.

At first Fisher's was located in an 18 foot wide building on Main St. formerly Draper's Jewelry. A hardware store and Smitty's Restaurant filled out the Main St.-Penniman Corner.

Houk had learned his skill at Mack and Co. in Ann Arbor and at Willoughby's Shoes in Plymouth.

According to an agreement made when the store was founded, Houk was to buy out Blake Fisher when he turned 70. This was accomplished in 1960.

Houk has been in Plymouth since 1934. He began working at the Automobile Club of Michigan (AAA) office, then joined Willoughby's. Later, in 1940, he went to Ohio to manage a shoe department in a large chain store.

It was from there he moved back to Plymouth, when Fisher talked Houk into forming a joint shoe store and shoe repair shop.

After several years building the Plymouth store, Houk began to branch out in a series of several moves in which he acquired full or part interest in other shoe stores.

The first branch store was purchased with Ed Houghtaling, a former employee and manager, in 1953 as a partner. The store, at Plymouth and Evergreen in Detroit, is in the Evergreen Shopping Center.

The store was a success, and Houk ventured into Wayne, opening a store there in 1956.

Then, in 1959, he bought a store from an old friend of his, Hartley Harrison in Royal Oak. Sensing rapid growth in Royal Oak, he sold his interest in the Wayne Store in 1961 to a partner. He turned to Royal Oak, and saw in through an expansion that made it one of the largest shoe stores in the area.

With Blake Fisher's retirement in 1960, Don Zander, already a veteran of many years at Fisher's became a partner.

Further expansion in 1962 saw Houk and Sid Abramsky buy out Budney's Shoes of Dearborn.

A later acquisition gave Houk ownership of a store in Ypsilanti. All six stores are Fisher's stores by name, except the one in Ypsilanti.

"I think much of the success of the stores has been the number of young people we've hired who have been willing to learn the shoe business, and then become manager," Houk explained in a recent interview.

The key, Houk feels, is a part owner in every store who is an active manager. Such a setup assures speedy, more personal service.

The final move in the Fisher's expansion was the recently completed remodeling of the Plymouth store.

The women's department is a step up from the men's department.

REMODELING

Fisher creates three shopper convenience areas

Three distinct areas for children's, women's and men's shoes are the top feature of the newly remodeled Fisher's Shoes.

A grand opening celebration has been set for September 29 and 30, and October 1.

Souveneirs for all who attend will be handed out, including Buster Brown gifts for the kids given out by Buster Brown in person.

Store hours will be 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, September 29 and 30, and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday.

Also, as part of the remodeling, a doorway between Fisher's Shoes and Harvi's Women's fashions store has been created.

"This gives the shopper a department store feeling" Fisher's owner James Houk explained. "A shopper can browse through both stores at his leisure."

The children's area in Fisher's is highlighted by pink and white candy striped wall paper, wall murals and gold carpeting. A circus wagon with animated figures will be added soon.

The men's area has a deep red carpet and maple captain's chairs, complemented by a large wall display.

The women's area is extra large with gold and white print wall paper, green individual chairs and the enlarged handbag display area. A new, larger counter covered with fine grained frosted walnut wood serves all three areas.

The building on the corner is completely owned by Houk and his wife, they have owned it since 1962.

In 1963, the front facade was remodeled.

Mrs. Cassady, who had been on the corner for nearly 20 years, decided to retire this year. Beginning several months ago, both the Cassady shop and Fisher's were remodeled inside from top to bottom.

Harvi's of Plymouth, only recently opened, took over the remodeled two floors of the old corner store.

A new enlarged counter and wrapping area, backed by a wide selection of women's handbags, is part of the new Fisher interior.

Harvi's has full line of fall fashions

The formal opening of Harvi's of Plymouth has been extended into this week.

It coincides with a 25th anniversary celebration for Harvi's neighbor, Fisher Shoes.

Something new for Plymouth will be shown for the first time — the archway between Harvi's and Fisher's will be open, allowing shoppers to inspect both stores.

The store opened during sidewalk sale but the clothes racks were not completely filled, nor all the work done.

Store manager Fred Goldberg reports the fall fashion collection is now complete on both floors of the modern store.

Prizes will be offered to patrons.

Five 1967 Chevrolet models appear to be standing at attention as the CAMARO, newest member of the family, makes its introductory bow to the public (foreground, CAMARO Super Sport). While each Chevrolet model has distinctive styling motifs, the all new CAMARO features a new approach to the "long hood-short deck" design so successfully introduced to U.S. buyers by the Corvette. All Chevrolet-built passenger cars go on public display Thursday at Rathburn Chevrolet Sales in Northville.

The all new CAMARO will be built in sport coupe and convertible models (Super Sport shown above). The Camaro line incorporates many sprightly options that include concealed headlamps behind a lattice grille which opens and closes when lights are turned on and off, plus a hood with simulated louvers and a wide "bumble bee" paint band on the nose. A 350-cu.-inch V8 engine is used in the Super Sport version of the CAMARO. It's on display at Rathburn Chevrolet in Northville.

PONTIAC'S volume-selling Catalina series is represented above by the 1967 hardtop coupe with the Ventura option. The Catalina's distinctive styling, interiors and colors, many standard equipment safety items and a wide selection of options has made this Pontiac one of the industry's largest selling cars. It's on display at Berry Pontiac, Inc. in Plymouth.

MUSTANG—Featuring new sheet metal for the first time since its introduction in April of 1964, the Mustang for 1967 is sportier in appearance and livelier than ever before. The 2+2 Fastback model (above) has a new roof line and concave rear panel while the convertible (below) illustrates the thrusting new hood line and deeply inset grille. All Mustangs for 1967 have two-inch wider front and rear tread for improved handling. They're on display at John Mach Ford in Northville and Williams-Lloyd in South Lyon.

THUNDERBIRD brings a new dimension to the field of personal luxury car transportation with the introduction of its 1967 product line which includes this 4-door Landau model. All Thunderbird models present a markedly changed yet unmistakably Thunderbird look with a thrusting, long hood line, shorter rear-deck and recessed air-scoop type intake grille. The 2 and 4-door Landau models feature vinyl-covered roofs and the traditional S-bar on roof quarter panels. The two Landau models plus the 2-door Hardtop have ventless side windows and headlights located in the grille sides that are covered by matching doors which retract when the light switch is actuated.

See the Thunderbirds at John Mach Ford in Northville and Williams-Lloyd in South Lyon.

Dramatic new styling marks the 1967 Ford which has received a major sheet metal change for the third time in three years. Pictured here are the X/L Convertible (above) and the X/L 2-door Hardtop, both of which offer Ford's Select Shift Cruise-O-Matic transmission as standard equipment. Featured only on the Fairlane GTA in 1966, Select Shift permits the driver to shift manually or automatically. Ford's new styling features sculptured side panels and a gull-wing design grille that is die-cast in the X/L, LTD and Country Squire series. See them at John Mach Ford in Northville and Williams-Lloyd in South Lyon.

Here's Where You'll Find the '67's

Most of the new auto models for 1967 will be introduced today in showrooms throughout the area.

Here's a guide of where to go to see the auto industry's latest. Many of the dealers are offering gifts, prizes and refreshments to opening week end visitors.

BUICK WILDCAT—An all-new body—enhanced by new molding treatment, new grille and new rear end design—graces the 1967 Buick Wildcat line. The sweeping contour line, extending from front to rear, is sculptured into the sheet metal and blends with Wildcat's sporty appearance. The Wildcat is powered by Buick's new 430 cubic inch V-8 with four-barrel quadrajct carburetor. See it and other '67 Buicks at Jack Selle's in Plymouth.

PLYMOUTH FURY—The design of the 1967 Plymouth Fury emphasizes its big car look and clearly identifies it as the luxury car in the conventional-size, low-price field. This is the Fury V I P four-door hardtop with a rakish roof which features a more formal appearing rear window treatment for 1967. There are two other roof-lines for hardtop models in the Fury line. See the New Plymouths at Mallory Chrysler in Plymouth.

CHRYSLERS—Luxury New Yorker four-door hardtop, above, and sporty 300 two-door hardtop, at top, reveal new body sculpture and roof lines of the 1967 Chrysler line, which also includes a new Newport Custom series. There are 15 models in the 1967 offering. Other body types are four-door sedans, convertibles and Town & Country Wagons. See Chrysler at Mallory Chrysler in Plymouth.

COUGAR—Arrival of the Mercury Cougar puts a new kind of motor-ing experience on the American road—a luxury/sports car lithe in appearance and agile in performance. Exclusively a two-door hardtop, the Cougar assures comfort for both front and rear passengers with its 111-inch wheelbase and overall length of 190.3 inches. The long hood and the short deck emphasize the European flair of its styling. A choice of three V-8 engines and three transmissions is offered. The Mercury Cougar will be shown on Friday, at West Bros. in Plymouth.
