

Projects in Novi to Double Population in 5 Years

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the fifth in a series of articles on local area plans for the future. This article deals with proposed residential developments as seen by a number of builders in the Novi area. Next week's article will cover developments planned for Northville city and township, and Wixom. The following week a map of proposed developments in the city and township of Northville, Novi and Wixom will be published along with some conclusions.

Recent predictions that subdivisions would be growing like dandelions here in 1966 have turned down beneath a killing mixture of tight money and rising labor costs.

In fact, says Joseph Staub, vice-president of Fred Greenspan Building company, those dandelions look "very black at present."

Staub echoes the appraisals of more than a dozen other major builders, who until a few months ago were tooled up for a giant building boom aimed in this direction.

Greenspan, like other area developers, are feeling the pinch of a tight money market that has reduced new building sales 2.2 percent since August.

Projects now underway, they point out, have already been financed and probably will not suffer, but future projects may be curtailed unless "something breaks to ease mortgage terms."

And Harry Slatkin of Harry Slatkin Builders fears that recovery may take longer than the period it took to accomplish "the damage", even if the break came next week.

According to Staub, new construction is thriving on commercial bank interest rates of 5 1/2 to a tops of 6 percent. Then, earlier this year, the federal reserve board hiked its interest rates to commercial banks to 6 and 1/8 percent in an effort to head off inflation. Commercial banks, in turn, were forced to raise their rates to present levels.

"Now," says Staub, "6 1/2 percent is a bargain, and interest rates go as high as 7 1/4 percent."

It was this "tight money" that last spring forced postponement for at least one year of Thompson-Brown's plans to develop a multi-million dollar homes and apartment project at Taft and Eight Mile roads.

And other developers indicate that some of their projects might now be underway had it not been for the money market.

Nevertheless, all of them "see great things" for this area within the next five years. As a matter of fact, should their plans be realized, the population of the area could more than double within that period.

For that reason, the delays in construction may be a blessing in disguise for the three school districts covering the area. It offers them a "breather" to weigh this future development and start planning in anticipation of enrollment growth.

It's this projected growth that recently led to a school-sponsored study of development in the Northville area. That study projects a city population of 5,500 by 1970 and 10,000 in the township — up roughly 5,000 over the present total population.

And those figures, say officials who conducted the study, are based upon known planned areas within the district.

Similar studies within the Novi and Wixom areas probably would reveal even greater population increases.

Hints of "big things" to come were revealed by Rosann Development company. The company told this newspaper that it is about to consummate purchase of property for homes that will more than double its present 647 acres in Novi. The company declined to pinpoint the area or speculate as to the number of homes and when they might be built.

But what about property already held by developers? Here is what each developer or property owner sees for those lands:

IN NOVI

HARRY SLATKIN BUILDERS—Hopefully, land development of its 108 acre site near Nine Mile road and Connamara subdivision will get underway next spring. Construction of some 200 homes are expected to begin within a year. In addition, some 180 multiple units will be built.

The property has been rezoned and the project is now awaiting, said Slatkin, approval of a village site development ordinance. Slatkin said the project will mean relocation of Center street, "bending it west to lend itself to better development of the area."

ROSANN DEVELOPMENT COMPANY—Holds 199 acres on the north side of 10 Mile road, between Napier and Wixom road, and 318 acres on the north side of 10 Mile road. Development of this property is not seen for another 10 years or more.

The company's 130 acres at the southwest corner of Taft and 10 Mile roads, however, may be developed "within a couple of years", depending on how soon sewers are extended to the area.

Anybody Lose A Horse?

NAGGING PROBLEM—Northville police received a call Monday night that there was a stray horse running around the Bel Nor Drive parking lot. The animal apparently had an affinity for driveways. When the police arrived at Bel Nor, their four-legged friend had decided to drop in at the A & W on Northville road. A bucket of oats was served up to gain his attention while police tossed a rope around his neck. Now the animal's at Northville Downs. So far its owner has failed to appear. Officer Howard Reeves, who along with Officer Earl Van Cise corralled the critter, now wonders what to do with him.

Township Tightens Horse Restrictions

Three acres per horse, four horses per 12 acres — anyway ol' dobbin looks at it, Northville township's newest ordinance means urbanization is nipping at his heels.

Adoption of the new horse ordinance, upon the recommendation of the planning commission, came Tuesday night with the approval of the township board.

The ordinance excludes existing horse-acreage ratios, but raises some technical questions that may spur horses and their owners.

Under the zoning amendment, to keep a single horse in the township a horseman must have a minimum of three acres. For two horses, he must have five acres, for three horses seven acres, and for each horse thereafter he must have an additional five acres.

Existing corrals smaller than these requirements are exempt as non-conforming uses. But as such, notes the township attorney, they are subject to similar regulations. Should a "non-conforming" horse die, he cannot be replaced.

Capsule Comments

* Residents of Shadbrook and Edenderry subdivisions in Northville township were without electrical and telephone service Tuesday. Electrical service was curtailed from 8:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. when a Detroit Edison trench digger severed underground power and phone cables. Telephone service to some 35 customers was not restored until 11:30 p.m. The operator of the digger was described as "very lucky" not to have suffered injury. The power cable he severed carried 4800 volts. One woman resident was not so fortunate. As she prepared to leave home to keep an appointment she found that her electrically-controlled garage doors would not open. Neither would her telephone to call for help. It's reported that she "hitch-hiked" to town and enlisted the aid of Detroit Edison's service department, which finally found a way to release the garage doors.

* It's possible that the city of Northville will call for a special census. City Manager Frank Ollendorff told the council that a census, costing some $1,200, might result in revenues far beyond this amount from gas and sales tax rebates that are based on population. The city's population in 1960 was 3,865. At $5 per capita return on the gas tax, and slightly more for sales tax returns, Ollendorff figures the city could make some money between now and the next official U.S. census in 1970. In order to learn exactly what can be gained by a special census count, the council must pass a resolution requesting the count from the secretary of state, Ollendorff noted. So the council did — but with no commitments. If the potential financial gain isn't worth the investment, there'll be no special count.

*****
* Northville's school system is desperately in need of crossing guards. Right now a short-handed police department is providing crossing protection for children at Eight Mile and North Center street. Frequently, a lone officer has been on duty at the crossing in the morning when he is needed to handle a police matter elsewhere in the city. Under a unique arrangement, the city hires guards for the school crossings and the school reimburses the city for half the cost. A retired man, or housewife, can fill the bill nicely. Two guards are needed for short-time duty daily. Call city hall, FI 9-1300.

*****
* As part of the city council's effort to help "Beautify Northville", another special trash pick-up will be held Monday, October 17. Residents may leave items at the curb that can be lifted into a truck by two men. City DPW forces will haul the trash away. Normal rubbish collections will be made as usual.

For Junior High School City, School to Meet On Sewer Problem

Although the Northville board of education plans a ground-breaking ceremony for its Taft road junior high school Saturday, October 15, the city council has issued the board an invitation to meet either on the 17th or 18th to figure out where, and at what cost, sewer service can be provided for the new school.

The matter of sewer service for the junior high school has been a confused issue since the 10-acre parcel was purchased from the Thompson-Brown Company earlier this year.

At the time there was an impression by some school board members that purchase of the site had included the availability of sewers. There was no legal basis for this opinion, however. And when Thompson-Brown delayed its proposed residential development in the area, the original plan to connect to the sewer system through Thompson-Brown lines had to be abandoned.

Later another opinion was expressed by some board members that the city had assured the school board of sewer service.

In contrast, however, the city council believes that its only assurance of service had been predicated on the premise that the school would use a new line recently installed along Randolph street and which awaits connection to the Thompson-Brown development at Taft and Eight Mile (Randolph).

As the council now views the situation there are three possible ways of providing sewer service for the junior high school. And two of them may be impractical because of capacity limitations. The proposed routes are:

- 1 -- Extending a line northeastward to connect to a new line serving the new Northville Heights No. 2 which empties into the Novi interceptor on Novi road;
- 2 -- Connect to the line on Hill street which extends from Northville Heights No. 1;
- 3 -- Build a new line from the school site southward along Taft to the new Randolph sewer.

At High School Tonight Travelogue Series Starts

Northville Rotarians will kick off their 1966-67 travel and adventure series tonight (Thursday) with a colorful trip through England.

The trip will start at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

In the driver's seat will be Thayer Soule, a native of Kodak City who has been taking pictures ever since he was old enough to hold a camera.

For tonight's presentation, he will show an air-color 16MM film of London and the bustling midlands of Great Britain.

The film expedition will take the audience over winding roads, to the headlands, the sea, to fishing towns and ruined castles, green fields, rivers and sparkling lakes.

It depicts the enchanting countryside of England and the villages that Proposal number one is questionable and tests must be made to see how the line handles its present load. These tests cannot be made until a long-delayed meter is installed to measure the flow into the Novi line. A further complication is the fact that the city is limited to a maximum capacity of .6 CFS (cubic feet per second) of flowage into the Novi line.

Proposal two will not be considered by the council because of present capacity difficulties.

Proposal three is a sure bet and most preferable to the council, but it is also the most expensive route — estimated at $18,000 for installation of the line from the school to Randolph. Naturally, the city would expect the school to foot the biggest share of this expense.

The council has made it very clear that even if proposal one were finally adopted a clear-cut agreement would have to be reached making it mandatory for the school to switch to the Randolph sewer when the connection could be made through the Thompson-Brown development.

Romney May Attend JHS Groundbreaking

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Northville junior high school have been scheduled for Saturday afternoon, October 15, Superintendent Alex Nelson announced this week.

According to the superintendent, a featured speaker may be Governor George Romney, who is to be here for a Republican rally Saturday morning. School officials are still awaiting confirmation from the Governor's office.

Ceremonies will take place on the school site, located on the east side of Taft approximately one-quarter mile north of Eight Mile road.

Brief remarks will be given by Governor Romney, Superintendent Nelson, Board President Wilfred Becker, Junior High Principal Donald Vanlingen, Junior High P-TA President Del Black, Mayor A. Malcolm Allen, Township Supervisor R. D. Merriam, Architectural Representative Henry Haberkorn, and Junior High Student Council President Bernie Bach.

Bach is scheduled to assist the Governor in turning the first shovel full of dirt.

Giving the invocation will be the Rev. S. D. Kinde, pastor of the First Methodist Church, while the Rev. Robert Spradling, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will give the dedication prayer, and the Rev. Lloyd Brasure, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will give the benediction.

Site work has already begun on the school property, according to Nelson, and construction is expected to begin later this month.

School officials are scheduled to meet with city officials within two weeks, he said, to discuss possible sewer routes to the new school. Meanwhile, there is a "good chance" that construction may begin without first determining the sewer route, he said. He did not elaborate.

March 2, and "Alaska Journey" on March 29.

Season tickets for the six-part travelogue may be obtained from any Rotarian for $5. Tickets for individual performances may be obtained at the door.

City to Air New Rubbish Regulations

The city council approved an amendment to the garbage and rubbish ordinance which will permit special charges against certain business firms for extra collection of garbage and rubbish.

The affected businesses are being notified and a public hearing on the amendment will be held at city hall at 8 p.m. October 17.

In the past some merchants have paid the collector directly for extra rubbish pick-ups.

Now the city pays the collectors and stipulates which business firms should have extra pick-ups. The businesses will be billed by the city. The list totals 20 compared to nine using extra service last year.

All businesses, like residences, receive one collection per week without charge. Some businesses will be charged for a single pickup, however, if it is excessively heavy.

City, School OK 'Blue Ribbon'

Appointments to a steering committee which will be empowered to appoint and outline objectives for a community-wide "blue ribbon" citizens committee have been made by the city and school board.

The township and the chamber of commerce appointments remain to complete the initial objective of the proposal as made by the Northville Area Economic Development Committee last week.

Appointed to represent the school board were Robert Froelich and Donald Lawrence; by the city council, Mayor A. M. Allen and George Zerbel, chairman of the planning commission.

The township board failed to act on the proposal Tuesday night but called a special meeting for next Wednesday to consider the proposal.

As outlined by the economic development group, the broad citizens committee would make an "objective, unbiased study regarding needed services and possible future governmental structural changes in the area to better and more economically serve the increasing population and needs of the future".

It is anticipated that the chamber will also embrace the proposal and makes its appointments at its next board of directors meeting.

In Our Town

By Jean Day

OCTOBER promises to be a "raisen pie of goodies." Northville's women "doers" are using FOOD - at candidate coffees and elaborate torch drive and town hall luncheons - as a sure-fire way to launch civic and social events.

While the kitchen, at first thought, seems most unpolitical, it will be the hub of Republican activity next week as housewives of the area prepare home-baked coffeecakes & rolls for the coffee next Saturday morning to honor GOVERNOR GEORGE ROMNEY. He is to be at the Northville junior high boys' gymnasium (formerly the community building) from 9 to 10 a.m., October 15.

Area delegate MRS. ROBERT ARLEN, who has been working on arrangements to bring Governor Romney and other Republican candidates here, emphasizes that everyone in the community is invited to "Meet Your Governor."

Because he is our governor and also a nationally prominent figure, Mrs. Arlen says she hopes strongly that the coffee event will transcend politics and that parents will bring their children. Teenagers also are especially welcome. A fledgling group now is in process of forming a teenage Republican club. Members are decorating for the coffee and also are passing out door-to-door invitations to the coffee reception this week.

MRS. DONALD HAGGE heads the social committee planning the coffee. Assisting are MRS. JOHN ALLAN, MRS. RICHARD COOPER, MRS. MABEL COOLEY, MRS. EINO KERO, MRS. STUART CAMPBELL, MRS. LEONARD KLEIN, MRS. E. O. WEBER, MRS. WILLIAM HEFFNER, MRS. DONALD KARR, MRS. R. E. MILLS and MRS. WAYNE WILCOX.

Adding excitement to the list of events slated for October 15 is the news that the Northville school district has invited Governor Romney to officiate at the new junior high school groundbreaking, which will take place that afternoon if he is available. SUPERINTENDENT ALEX NELSON said there is a "strong possibility" the governor will accept.

NORTHVILLE'S first antique auction in current history also is slated for that big Saturday, October 15. It is to be held in the race track buildings from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. ELEANOR LOWELL, co-proprietor of Northville's Barn Door antique shop is the manager for the auction and has worked since mid-summer enlisting merchants' support. Her partner, MRS. HAROLD THOMAS, confided that Governor Romney is fully expected to be a member of the audience as auctioneer STAN PERKINS is a personal friend - in fact, he currently is running for state representative on the Republican ticket at the request of Romney and ELLIE PETERSON.

The list of those participating in the auction also will include Jean Arlen, whose two, big diverse interests are Republican politics and antiques. Preparing for the auction, she and husband Robert with daughter Mary made a quick trip to Massachusetts last weekend to collect the overflow of furniture they purchased there in July and couldn't bring back. Mrs. Arlen has decided to concentrate solely on Shaker items for her own home on Country lane. While new, it looks as if it might have graced an Eastern landscape in the days when her Shaker pieces were made.

This decision, she says, makes it easier for her to part with other antiques as a dealer. Next week she also plans to attend the seventh Midwest antiques forum on "American History as Reflected in the Arts" sponsored by the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village.

TORCH-DRIVE WORKERS, approximately 100 strong, will receive their orientation for the annual United Foundation campaign to be launched October 18 at a festive fall luncheon next Wednesday at Meadowbrook country club. Host for this first-for-Northville event will be Haller division of Federal Mogul corporation whose general manager M. C. SARNES is a Northville resident - and a neighbor of MRS. ARTHUR HEMPE, Western Wayne county regional chairman for the drive.

Feeling that door-to-door campaign "walkers" should enjoy the same benefits as campaign officers who customarily are feted, Mrs. Hempe approached Sarnes, whose civic-minded firm proved receptive. The luncheon will replace orientation coffees of previous years as workers will receive their information after they listen to PAUL WILLIAMS, guest speaker. MRS. DAVID VINCENT, UF divisional chairman for Northville, is luncheon chairman.

Mrs. Hempe, who was leaving today with her husband to attend the Society of Automotive Engineers convention at Greenbriar, will be back in time for the luncheon.

THE TOWN HALL luncheon at Meadowbrook country club following KARL HAAS' opening the sixth TH season in Northville October 20 will inaugurate a new luncheon policy. Luncheon will be by prepaid reservation only with reservations to be in the hands of MRS. DUANE BUTLER the Friday preceding each Town Hall - and that's tomorrow.

Because they found they must operate a big business (and or sell-out TH is that) as a business, Town Hall Chairman MRS. ROBERT BRUECK and her committee mailed letters this week to all ticket holders announcing the new policy. With proceeds going to area charities, the group feels it can't be saddled as it once was with more than $20 in unclaimed reservations.

Before Mrs. Brueck left on a canoe trip on the Au Sable last weekend with her husband and friends (they stayed at a hunting lodge), she checked final arrangements for the new season. The opening lecture-and-musical program will be held in Northville high school auditorium.

NORTHVILLE Presbyterian church women's third rummage sale last weekend was the most successful to date, realizing a profit of $680. MRS. PHILIP NAUMAN reports. Small wonder - with Bavarian china candlesticks and fur-trimmed suits among the "treasures." Absolutely nothing, Mrs. Nauman added, was sold before the 9 a.m. opening.

The wedding this Friday of the Naumans' son, ROBERT, and CAROL DISSETT of Detroit is occasioning a family reunion. Daughter JUDY is here from New York City, using some of the "heat days" accumulated as a nurse at Bellevue hospital which are given to city employees. In anticipation of another European jaunt she presently is taking conversational French at the French Institute in New York. The Naumans' other daughter, BARBARA, and her husband, HARRY CHRISTMAN, of Frankenmuth, will be members of the wedding party. The ceremony is to be at Truth Lutheran church.

RECENT visitors at the home of MR. AND MRS. JOHN BEGLE on Nine Mile road were Mrs. Begle's sister and her husband, DR. and MRS. HENDRICK ZWARENSTEYN who are being welcomed back from Brazil. They are returning to East Lansing where Dr. Zwarensteyn is a law professor with Michigan State university. Prior to their three-year stay in Brazil, the couple had been in Holland for a year. Dr. Zwarensteyn was working as a university coordinator in a State Department-MSU contract.

NORTHVILLE SWIM CLUB, which closed for the season after Labor Day, officially was "bedded down" last Sunday as 20 board members and volunteers worked to sandbag pipes against winter weather. The club now has 223 member families. During the 1966 season the club's new diving pool was opened.

Torch Volunteers To Hear Williams

Paul Williams

Paul Williams, public affairs manager of both WWJ Radio and WWJ Television, will be the guest speaker at an orientation luncheon for Torch Drive volunteers next week Wednesday at Meadowbrook Country Club.

The noon program is for the purpose of "training and inspiring workers" for residential solicitations in the 1966 United Foundations Torch Drive here.

Kickoff for the residential campaign for funds is October 18.

Some 100 volunteers from the city and township are expected to attend the luncheon, sponsored by the Haller Division of Federal-Mogul Corporation. Local and metropolitan leaders of the '66 drive also will be on hand.

Mrs. Arthur Hempt, regional chairman, and Mrs. David Vincent, division chairman, are making the luncheon arrangements.

District chairmen have been hard at work recruiting volunteers in recent weeks in preparation for the orientation luncheon. These chairmen include:

Mrs. Eugene Karrer, Mrs. Daniel Boland, Mrs. Howard Kennedy, Mrs. Robert Green, Mrs. Calvin Niemi, Mrs. William Swank, Mrs. Ray Mattison, Mrs. Jerry Rotta, Mrs. Robert Kucher, Mrs. Allan Peterson, Mrs. David Fisher and Mrs. Adeline Anger.

Area chairmen Mrs. D. E. Goss, Mrs. Paul Sobel, Mrs. Richard Rusche, and Mrs. Herman Bednar recently completed a round of coffees in outlining responsibilities of district chairmen.

Volunteers who plan to attend the luncheon are asked to make their reservations as soon as possible through the district chairmen.

Exhibits, Talk Planned By Area Art Clubs

William Lewis of the University of Michigan art department will be a guest speaker Tuesday at a meeting of the Three Cities Art Club.

He will speak on art in general and about the work of those members who bring paintings for a criticism.

Lewis is well known in national and state art circles. His series of Civil War paintings has had successful showings at major cities throughout the country. He exhibits regularly at the Detroit Art Institute, the Detroit Artists Market, and Forsythe Gallery in Ann Arbor.

Open to the public, the meeting will be held in the Plymouth high school auditorium from 8 to 10 p.m.

The Farmington Artists Club has announced that its fall exhibit will be held on Saturday, October 22, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., and on October 23, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the First Farmington Savings and Loan Bank.

This year's show represents the fourth to be conducted by artists in the Farmington area.

Paintings in many styles and mediums will be shown, including oils, water colors, acrylic, tempera and mixed media, in a wide price range.

The bank is located at 22725 Orchard Lake road near Grand River.

Two outstanding artists will be featured in a joint exhibit opening the celebration of the fifth anniversary of the Hartley-Powers Gallery at 116 Main street, on Sunday, at 2 p.m. The public is invited.

One featured artist is Cecil North, director of art at Ann Arbor high school, and known throughout the state for his encaustic paintings.

Encaustics are beeswax paintings in which heat has been applied to blend colors. It is a method inherited from ancient times. One encaustic in the Detroit Institute of arts, which is over two thousand years old, is as bright as if painted yesterday.

The other artist is Northville's teacher, William Case, president of the Michigan Craftsman's Council, and a potter known nationally for some of his work. Case, who lives in Plymouth, will exhibit new work.

The public is invited to the preview reception for the artists which will be held from 2 to 6 p.m. at the gallery. The exhibit will run two weeks.

Women to Participate In DAR Anniversary

Two area women will have major roles in the 27th anniversary of the Three Flags Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Birmingham Monday noon.

Mrs. Walter Gemperline of the Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter of Northville will be a guest speaker. Mrs. Gemperline, state chairman of conservation, will speak on the Red Woods, Grand Canyon, and Michigan wild flowers.

Introducing the speaker will be Mrs. Warren Bonner of South Lyon, vice-regent and program chairman of Three Flags.

Regents of the metropolitan area will be guests for the day. Past regents will be hostesses, and Mrs. Charles Shaw of Farmington, regent of Three Flags, will preside.

Three Flags was chartered in 1939 with 15 members, 10 of whom are still members.

Novi Baptists Outline Calendar of Activities

Several activities, including a retreat for women on October 14, 15, and 16, were announced this week by the Novi Baptist church.

The retreat, to be held in Sarnia, Ontario, will open with a dinner at 6:30 p.m. on October 14 and close with lunch on Sunday, October 16. Persons wishing information concerning costs are asked to contact Mrs. Corinne Smith, who notes that there are only a limited number of reservations available.

The Junior Hi Youth group of the church, which held a cabinet meeting at the home of the sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Shaw of Highland Park, has made plans for three teams of students to take turns in presenting the even programs.

Teen captains are Steve Lorenz, Dennis Diem and Linda Bellefeuille. Officers are planning a surprise program for next Sunday's meeting, and a hay ride on October 29.

Officers of the Senior Hi Youth group are preparing plans for a contest involving church and Sunday school and prayer meeting attendance starting

DO YOU KNOW HOW TO SHOP FOR A NEW CAR?

Many buyers don't. And though they work harder than the salesman who sells it to them, they fail to make a satisfactory purchase in the end.

Buying a car so that you get the most value for your money is just a matter of a little common sense and simple arithmetic.

In comparing price, for instance, from one dealer to another, the most common fault of some buyers is that they become confused regarding models, options and accessories. Price means nothing, of course, if you lose sight of exactly what the price is paying for.

If you are comparing apples, make sure they are both apples and that one is not an orange. If your memory can't follow the complications, write down the exact model, options and accessories. Make sure the price figure is the trading DIFFERENCE only.

Dealer price competition is very close in this area and elsewhere. If a difference quotation is exceptionally low, use caution. Look for a reason.

Lower finance payments are no bargain. The lower the payment the higher the interest charge. And it is never necessary to sign a blank contract.

Finally, never forget that as soon as your new car needs service, WHERE you bought it can become very important. If you wish to avoid regrets later, you must think about this BEFORE you buy. See you next week.

Antique Auction Set For Northville Oct. 15

"Going, going - gone!" - antiques in glass, china and furniture will go under the auctioneer's hammer as Northville's first country auction in current history gets under way at 10 a.m. Saturday, October 15, under the stands at Northville Downs.

Idea for the auction was proposed at a mid-summer meeting of the Northville merchants' association by Eleanor Lowell, one of the proprietors of the Barn Door shop on Main street. Originally planned as an outdoor event for the downtown area, the scene was shifted this week to the Downs to protect against rain possibilities.

Larger than average crowds are anticipated as Governor George Romney and other Republican candidates will be campaigning here, doing "country politicking" at a coffee in the junior high boys' gymnasium (community building) from 9 to 10 a.m.

Local dealers and those from Farmington, Livonia, Redford township and Plymouth (about a dozen are expected) will provide auction items. Auctioneer will be Stan Perkins of Swartz Creek, one of Michigan's most popular, according to Miss Lowell. She stated that all items to be auctioned will be originals with no reproductions permitted and all glass and chinaware is to be in perfect condition without chips.

Garden Clubbers To Hear 'Bird Talk'

A discussion of familiar birds of Michigan will highlight the regular meeting of the Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm & Garden association Monday afternoon.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Van Every, 41825 Eight Mile road, beginning at 12:30 p.m. Presenting the program on familiar Michigan birds will be Walter VanDien of the Michigan Department of Conservation.

Garden Club's program chairman is Mrs. Clyde Whittlesey.

Items for sale will be on inspection an hour before the auction begins. It will run continuously into the afternoon.

Novi Mothers To See Film

A film produced by the Detroit Edison company will highlight a meeting of the Novi Mothers club on Monday, October 17, at 8 p.m.

To be held in the Novi community building, the program is open to interested fathers, officials said. The film is entitled, "Operation Teenager."

Ashley Snaps Novi Streak

Venturing for the first time into the big time, Novi had its six game winning streak snapped, 21-12, last Friday afternoon.

All wasn't chagrin, however, after the loss to Ashley high.

"Our age hurt us a little," Coach Paul Osborne said. "It got us in the hole, but we did rather well considering."

No mistake about it, Novi did rather well, playing for the first time against a four-year school and older, more experienced gridgers. Novi has only freshmen and sophomores in its high school.

This week the Wildcats returned to their element. They were scheduled to hook up in a battle with the Northville Jayvees yesterday in what Coach Osborne called "the big one."

Then it's back to playing four-year schools as Novi meets Michigan School for the Deaf next Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. in Lansing.

A few breaks against Ashley and the outcome could have been different, Osborne pointed out.

The Wildcats missed a chance to hit and hit Ashley hard in the first quarter as a 45-yard drive after a fumble recovery was stopped on the one foot line. "It's the first time in my memory that we have been stopped near the goal line," Osborne lamented.

And just as the Wildcats were moving the ball early in the third quarter they fumbled deep in their own territory and gave the impetus to Ashley.

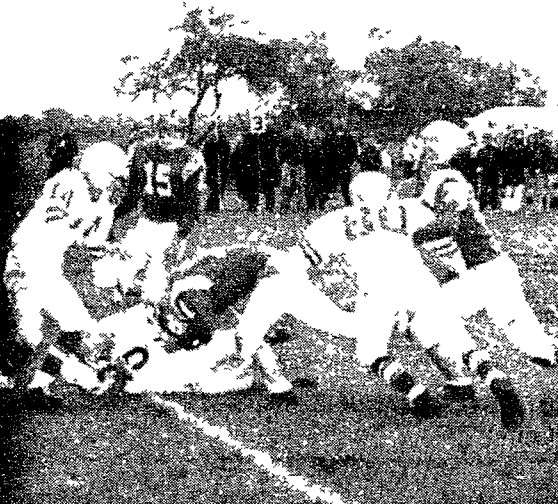

Although Novi suffered defeat against tougher competition, the visitors failed to stop Halfback Jon Van Wagner, who has been making shambles of opponents this year.

He scored Novi's first touchdown on a three-yard plunge for a 6-0 lead in the second quarter, and on Novi's first play from scrimmage in the second half, Van Wagner ran a trap up the middle 48 yards for a TD and a 12-7 Novi lead.

That's when Ashley caught fire. It drove 40 yards and added the extra point to take a 14-12 lead, then scored again in the dying moments of the game by running in from the 35.

Failure to convert for extra points hurt the Wildcats. Ashley put together a 45-yard drive late in the second period and threw a pass for conversion to take a 7-6 lead at halftime.

Van Wagner's long run gave Novi a short-lived lead but Ashley put Novi behind the eight ball by scoring and converting the extra point for a 14-12 lead. Ashley's final TD added frills.

WHERE THE BALL IS, there's bound to be a crowd. This Ashley back (right) found that out as Novi gridgers close in.

Northville Runners Drop Three Meets

In its first three outings this year, the Northville cross country squad has dropped all three meets.

Carrying the brunt of Northville's fortunes on their shoulders are three Mustangs, all underclassmen. They're Juniors Bill Harrison and Jim Peterson and Sophomore Doug Hazlett.

Coach Paul Osborne beams over progress made by Hazlett thus far. "He's already clipped 30 seconds from his time," he reported.

In Northville's first meet with Dearborn Crestwood, the Mustangs lost, 18-41. Harrison captured third place, while Peterson and Hazlett finished seventh and eighth, respectively.

Lutheran West beat Northville, 15-48, with Hazlett finishing ninth and Peterson 10th. And in Northville's last effort, Redford Union's JV's won, 18-39, as Hazlett turned in the best time of the season for a local runner: 12:19 for the two-mile course. Harrison won seventh place, Peterson eighth.

In meets coming up, Northville will run against Clarenceville today and enter the Clarenceville invitational next Tuesday. Both events will be held in Cass Benton park.

Bud Rathert Plays for Valpo

Former Northville high school guard, Kenneth (Bud) Rathert, is one of 35 freshmen playing on the Valparaiso university freshman football squad.

They are scheduled to open the frosh football season Monday at home in Rensselaer, Indiana. St. Joseph's college freshmen will furnish opposition.

Brighton Wins, 18-12

Fast Backs Nip Mustangs

A long draught came to a sweet end last Friday night when the Brighton Bulldogs struck for three quick touchdowns to upend Northville, 18-12.

Two speedsters, Kevin Rosswurm and Dan McKeon, actually pinned the defeat on Northville. Rosswurm with 112 yards and McKeon with 109 accounted for every yard Brighton picked up on the ground.

Given a wee bit of daylight, the two sprinters were off for touchdowns.

Rosswurm got the deciding TD when he broke through right tackle, veered sharply to the left and down the sidelines 65 yards for the winning touchdown late in the fourth quarter.

It was Rosswurm's second touchdown of the game. He scored Brighton's first TD in the first quarter by sprinting 26 yards after a fumble recovery.

McKeon scored only one TD, but it was a shocker. On the first play from scrimmage in the second half, the 155-pounder bolted over right tackle and ran straight up the field 88 yards into the end zone.

Thus the two scatbacks brought Brighton its first football victory in 15 years over Northville. Not since 1951 when the Wayne-Oakland Conference was formed and Brighton beat Northville, 21-13 have the Bulldogs been able to take the measure of the Mustangs.

Defeat evened Northville's conference record at 1-1. Looking like a sure winner, even at this early stage of the season, is Bloomfield Hills, last year's W-O champion. The Barons are undefeated and rolling unimpeded with a 2-0 mark.

Despite the loss, Northville had its bright moments. Once again it was Jim Zayti, the hard running wingback, who supplied most of Northville's punch, scoring both Northville touchdowns.

He topped both Rosswurm and McKeon in rushing by netting 113 yards in 14 tries. In addition, he caught three passes for 67 yards and one TD.

Any chance Northville had of coming back after Rosswurm scored with only 1:20 left in the game was wiped out when Zayti was carried from the field, crippled by a leg injury. He was reported improved after the game, and will return to his wingback post tomorrow.

That's when Northville will host West Bloomfield, also undefeated in the W-O league. Game is scheduled to get underway at 8 p.m.

The Mustangs weren't without other golden scoring opportunities that would have broken the game open and given Northville a decisive victory.

The first opportunity presented itself in the first quarter. Northville drove 63 yards to the Brighton 13 yard line, but the drive fizzled.

At the opening of the second quarter, Northville covered 47 yards to Brighton's 40, primarily on passes from Quarterback Chris Holman to Zayti for 30 yards and End Gregg Carr. But again the drive died.

In the third quarter, Northville marched from the Brighton 46 to the 17 and a first down. Three plays later, Northville found itself back on Brighton's 31.

dived for the ball and caught it just before it hit the ground.

Trick Beats Northville

Old Coach Fakes Faint Heart

When's the last time Brighton beat Northville on the football field?

Even the most avid local fan would have to roll back the years. And at that, the last time Brighton turned the trick would elude recall.

It was in 1951, the year the Wayne-Oakland Conference was formed. Brighton beat Northville 21-13.

But the color which marked that game seems to have faded in this more modern era. Ask Al Jones, who was coaching Northville back in 51.

Brighton was aching to beat Northville, Jones recalled, because Northville had snapped the Bulldog's three-year winning streak the year before, 32-13.

Jones continued: Brighton's head Coach Arch Peterson suffered an apparent heart attack Monday before Friday's game, and Peterson, fittingly, did not appear near the school during the week.

That is until Friday's game with Northville. There was Peterson, all right—in a wheel chair.

He rolled onto the field, Jones said, launched dramatically into a pep talk. You know the familiar line: "Win this one for me boys, this is my final game. May not be around this earth for long, so give it all you've got."

Youthful Contestants Win Grid Spoils

The younger they come the more accurate they get—in predicting the outcome of football games, at least.

That's the consensus after tallying last week's entries in the weekly football contest.

Winner of first prize money of $10 was Bruce Martin, a freshman at Oakland university. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Martin, 119 Ely drive, Bruce missed only two picks, Ohio State and Michigan. His point spread of 10 was one off on the Lion's game.

Picking up second-place money of $5 was John Reagenhardt, a student in Northville who lives at 4442 Cottis-ford road. John likewise missed on only two predictions (Michigan and Northville) but his point spread was nine points off the mark.

Charles Boergner Jr., 220 Elm street and the son of Reverend and Mrs. Charles Boerger, won third place and $3. He missed three picks (Iowa, Michigan and Ohio State) and was just one off in the point spread.

There's one game that all contestants didn't and couldn't predict—the outcome of the Boston college-Buffalo game. The two teams don't meet this year. Somebody goofed.

This week's contest is on page 7B.

'Have it for you tomorrow', promises Superintendent Bob Blough. He's talking to Insurance man Ken Rathert about a printing order. Bob's in charge of both job printing and newspaper production.

Office Manager Margaret Wiseman is The Herald's 'Gal Friday' everyday. She takes want ads, printing orders, birth announcements, and you name it.

The Herald's Marilyn Herald (l.) jots down the latest VFW auxiliary news with Mrs. John Nagy, publicity chairman.

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK

OCT. 9-15, 1966

Multiply the activity you see on this page by 1,751 times per day and more than 9,000 times per week and you get some idea of the preparation that precedes publication of each daily and weekly newspaper in the United States.

There are many other persons—correspondents, publicity chairmen, etc.—who help provide material for publication of each edition.

But here are the people who work regularly in the communities of Northville, Novi, Wixom and South Lyon to publish The Record, News and Herald weekly community newspapers.

To mark National Newspaper Week—October 9-15—we'd like to show you who they are and what they do.

An advertisement for Dancer's is the subject of an advertisement between Mrs. Ruby Kilpatrick (l.), assistant manager of the South Lyon department store, and Carol Flynn of the Record-News-Herald ad staff.

Want something done? Just ask Florence DeVriendt. She's a jack-of-all-trades at the Record's printing department who could perform every job from copy-to-press if called upon. Now she supervises page make-up.

Managing Editor Jack Hoffman (l.) knows the school story like his ABC's. He's talking to Northville school officials E. V. Ellison and Alex Nelson.

Record-News Columnist Jean Day keeps readers abreast of the woman's world. She's taking notes from Mrs. Lawrence Bemish, president of the Northville Cooperative Nursery.

What's going on in Wixom and Novi? General Reporter Rollie Peterson finds out from Wixom Mayor Wes McAtee and Novi Village President Philip Anderson.

Meetings with city and township officials, like Mayor A. M. Allen (l) and Supervisor R. D. Merriam (r) help keep Publisher Bill Sliger posted on area developments.

Fastest fingers on a keyboard? They belong to Donna Richards, who sets all the news copy on Friden Justowriters.

Our crew at Inter-City Press in Novi. They print the newspapers on a 16-page Goss offset press after we prepare them.

Advertising Manager John Harrington (r.) and Retailer Del Black discuss a proposed layout for an advertisement for Del's Shoes.

South Lyon Mayor John Noel and Herald Editor Dennis Pajot examine a map indicating a township area slated for annexation to the city.

Evelyn Clouse at the Varityper. She set the cutlines on this page.

For the finest offset commercial printing, Joe Wolyniak is our man.

Office manager, bookkeeper and all-around handyperson, Mary Donovan.

Do our want ads sell? Just ask Elaine Snow, our classified advertising manager.

Sharp prints every time come from Chuck Gross. He's in charge of our photographic department.

Headlines are her specialty. Merle Duey sets them on the Varityper Headliner.

Find a mistake? Blame it on Janice Boyd. She's our proofreader.

Clark Berke—he makes the letterpresses hum in our job shop.

Building Boom

Some 30 acres of this latter parcel, says Company President Arnold Aronoff, has been sold to the Detroit Archdiocese for a future Catholic Church and school. (The Catholic church also owns 11.17 acres off Meadowbrook between 10 Mile and Grand River, and five acres at the southeast corner of Wixom and 10 Mile roads.)

MARC ALAN DEVELOPMENT COMPANY - Owns 80 acres along the east side of Taft between Nine Mile road and the 9 1/2-Mile line. Plans for a subdivision on this parcel, said Alan, were begun "last week and we might get started on something within one or two years."

Alan said construction of some 60 homes are much closer on a 20-acre parcel that he now owns just north of the Village Green, off Novi road and adjacent to the proposed Slatkin development.

"We plan to get something going on this property within 60 days," Alan said. The property's a strategic one, since it is through this land that the sewer line is expected to be routed to Slatkin's development.

Alan's declaration that building will begin soon caught village officials by surprise. They noted that no preliminary plat has been submitted as yet, and that normal paper-work procedures are likely to take a good deal longer than "60 days".

GRANDVILLE CONSTRUCTION COMPANY - Construction of four model homes in the southern part of Orchard Hills subdivision, across from Willowbrook, have already begun. Completion of some 40 homes are expected within a year or two, said Charles Helman, company president.

ROGER BLACKWOOD - Owns nearly 60 acres just west of the Brookland Farms, between Nine Mile and 10 Mile roads. "Perhaps," said Blackwood, "homes will be started there within a couple of years." No plans have been prepared as yet, but some 150 sewer taps have been allocated to the developer. Blackwood admittedly is awaiting development of the Slatkin property because it is a key to extension of sewers to his property.

VICTOR ALMAS - Owns eight acres for multiple units on the south side of 10 Mile road at the eastern limits of Novi. He awaits approval of the village government on this project.

He also owns some 61 acres south of Burton Drive in the same general area on which he proposes to build at least 225 homes. The tight money market and installation of sewers are the only "drawbacks" to starting this project next spring, he said. Needed sewer taps for this number of homes already have been allocated.

STEPHEN ALLEN DEVELOPERS - Own 10 acres zoned for multiples and 84 acres zoned for homes at the southwest corner of 10 Mile and Meadowbrook. Max Dobrowsky, president, said there is a "strong possibility" that development will begin within two years - if the money situation improves. Some 290 taps have been allocated for this project.

MRS. PAUL LEBOST - Developer of Willowbrook subdivision, she has some 750 taps. Concerning the proposed Willowbrook subdivision No. 4 for which the preliminary plat has been approved, she said construction of homes might have been started last spring had it not been "for tight mortgage money". Plans call for 120 homes here.

She said she had "no idea" when it would be started. "It may never start if we don't get a Republican in the White House," she laughed.

MAX SHELDON DEVELOPERS - Represents the 200-acre Silverbrook Farms, located at the northwest corner of 10 Mile and Meadowbrook roads. Sheldon said plans call for 500 single dwelling homes, 150 multiple units and a neighborhood shopping center.

This project, he said, "was earmarked for the spring of 1967 but because of the mortgage situation it probably will be delayed until 1968." Thompson-Brown Company - Plans for a $1.5 million apartment complex in conjunction with an industrial-type project may be started within a year on some 28 acres of property located between 10 Mile road and Grand River.

Five acres of the property is zoned industrial and the remaining land was given a multiple-dwelling classification early this spring.

The apartment complex reportedly will include a cluster of 10 two-story brick buildings, each of which will have between 12 and 14 apartment units. Negotiations for sale of two parcels from the industrial property are nearing completion, a spokesman said.

Thompson-Brown was a co-broker with Max Sheldon in the sale recently of the Hickory Lane property, located at Napier and 11 Mile road. Neither Thompson-Brown nor Sheldon would reveal the names of the buyers, pointing out that plans for the property were "far too premature". Some 600 acres are involved.

Thompson-Brown also is the seller for 40 acres of property owned by Mrs. Claude Crusee on Novi road near Nine Mile road and of the adjoining 20-acre Mac's Berry Patch property. No immediate plans for developments here are contemplated, officials said.

Construction will begin, hopefully by October 15, on four model homes in the long-proposed Meadowbrook Lane subdivision near Nine Mile and Meadowbrook roads. The project, started by the Suburban Development company which developed the land and built an artificial lake on the property but never started construction of homes, recently was taken over by Thompson-Brown. Some preliminary site work is already underway. Plans call for construction of some 150 homes on the property.

EDMUND P. YERKES - Construction of an apartment complex on a 31-acre parcel of land, which has been rezoned for the purpose, reportedly awaits better market conditions and adoption of the village site development ordinance. Plans call for a $4-million development of eight and 16 unit apartments on the property, located on the north side of Eight Mile road, about one-half mile east of Meadowbrook road. Number of units and exact layout has not been determined, although a rough preliminary plan for the development was submitted to village officials several weeks ago by Joseph Braver of Detroit.

MOBILE HOMES - Some 20 of the 190 sites in the new Country Cousin Mobile Home Park, owned by Russell Button and Russell Banks, on Haggerty north of I-696, have been approved by the state, and some 80 of the 196 lots of Highland Hills Mobile Home Park, owned by Franklin E. McDonald, on Seelye road near 11 Mile road, have been approved.

NEXT WEEK: Developments in Northville and Wixom.

Firecrackers Spark Complaints

A rash of calls flooded the Northville police department Sunday night as firecrackers exploded throughout the city.

Police Chief Samuel Elkins theorized that pranksters placed firecrackers in cigarettes, then drove off. The firecrackers exploded long after the culprits had fled the scene.

TRAILER COURT - Two new trailer courts are springing into use in Novi, this one on Seelye road which opened last week and one on Haggerty road. The two sites will hold approximately 400 trailers. Electricity and water are furnished and sewers will be available.

HIGH-JINX - Daredevils, apparently from Plymouth, undertook a perilous task early this fall - 100 feet up. They broke the lock to the Northville water tower atop the hill, scaled the ladder inside, crawled through a porthole, and with feet perched on one railing and hands clinging to another six feet above, precariously painted "PHS '67" on the local landmark.

NOVI VILLAGE PLANNING BOARD
Joseph Dunnabeck, Secretary
NOVI VILLAGE COUNCIL
Mabel Ash, Clerk
October 6, 1966

FIRST SESSION—A city-council appointed citizens' advisory committee held its organizational meeting Monday night at the First Presbyterian church. It's job will be to study community needs and advise the council on priorities. Work got started with discussions with members of the planning committee. Copies of the city's master plan have been distributed to committee members for study and appraisal. The group elected Kenneth Rathert chairman, Robert Horner vice chairman, and Mrs. David Schoultz secretary.

Township Sets Fees For Sewers, Water

Establishment of fee schedules, granting of a landfill permit, and approval of a sewer agreement with Plymouth township and the Plymouth school district highlighted Tuesday's meeting of the Northville township board.

Recommended by the sewer and water commission, the fee schedules adopted by the township include:

A $60 "capital" or tap fee for each unit in a multiple dwelling complex; $100 plus $4 per lot for review of water plans of subdivision homes; $100 plus $5 per lot for review of sewer plans of subdivision homes; $100 plus $2 per unit of multiple dwellings for review of water plans and a similar charge for sewer plans.

The board also decided to require a $700 deposit, plus 60-cents per foot, plus an additional 10-percent township charge for inspection of water line installations.

Also, the township is to return $12,000 to the Smokier Development company in several installments as it completes sections of its multiple dwelling complex off Northville road. The money represents a portion of an estimated $30,000 that Smokier will invest in offsite pipelines, meters, and connections that eventually will be used by some 200 homes in the Sheldon road area, Supervisor R. D. Merriam said.

A landfill permit was granted to Arthur Jahn, who has already begun operations on his property near the A & W rootbeer stand on Northville road. The permit requires Jahn to install adequate drainage along the C & O railroad property.

Board members also approved a sewer agreement that permits the new Tanger elementary school, inside the township at Five Mile east of Hagerly, to use Plymouth township sewer lines. The agreement, still to be approved by the Plymouth school district and Plymouth township, relieves Northville township of sewer maintenance and prohibits a reduction of the township's sewer tap allocations.

A request by the Dun Rovin Golf Club for an unqualified dance permit was tabled until a special meeting next week Wednesday. Also tabled until that meeting was the matter of appointments to the community development committee and to the township planning commission.

Dun Rovin, which previously had a qualified permit that allowed dancing for private parties and banquets, has been promoting public dances in violation of its agreement with the township.

So that it may continue these dances, the club has requested the unqualified permit.

The township board authorized its attorney, upon the request of Eugene Guido, to research the legality of establishing a four-community police force and contracting for police protection.

Salem Woman Hurt in Crash

A 29-year-old Salem woman was injured in a two-car collision last Friday at the intersection of Eight Mile and Sheldon roads.

Mrs. Adolf Lehr, 22550 Chubb road, was taken to St. Mary hospital, Livonia, treated and released immediately after the accident.

According to witnesses, a Detroit driven by Ernest Borsodi, 48, of Detroit failed to stop for the blinking red light at the intersection of the two roads.

It smashed into the front end of a northbound car driven by Mrs. Lehr as she was making a left-hand turn onto Eight Mile road.

Police reported that Mrs. Lehr was knocked unconscious and out of car by the impact.

What's Cooking

Local Woman Aids University

Mrs. H. O. Evans, 20311 Woodhill, who represents Northville on Oakland university's town information council, joined some 25 other council members at a luncheon September 21 launching their second year of volunteer service to the university's Division of Continuing Education.

Held in the University's Oakland center, the luncheon featured introductory remarks by Dr. Lowell R. Eklund, dean of continuing education. He expressed his division's gratitude to the women for their efforts in bringing information about Continuing Education programs to the attention of citizens most interested in learning about them.

The volunteers on the council are community leaders representing their home towns in Oakland County and nearby Macomb County. All were carefully selected because of their backgrounds of community service, and personal knowledge of the clubs, organizations, cultural groups, businesses and industry in their respective areas.

They serve as direct links between the university and their towns by having materials available to local citizens describing upcoming conferences and courses, acquiring appropriate mailing lists and scheduling talks in their communities by university personnel.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Pastor Fred Neal
Salem Congregational Church

Submitted by Reverend Fred Neal, Pastor, Salem Congregational Christian Church.

Passage by Rev. David Husten, Missionary to Italy.

"What Man Says About God"

The Communists say that they will bury the Americans. Unless America changes they won't have to bury us we will simply join them. One of the greatest steps toward Communism was the announcement by some that God is dead. Man may say this about God, but God has somethings to say too.

Man says, because God is dead I can do as I please. God says: "Be not deceived: God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." Galatians 6:7.

The fact that can not be denied is that when man has left God out of the picture and depended on himself to keep order, he has failed. Crime in the United States is at a higher level today than ever before. Man seems bent on self destruction at all cost. The sale of alcoholic beverages increases every day and along with it cases of murder and mental illness. Man seeks for the answer to his problems in a bottle or in the psychologist's office. Seldom do they seek the answer from the Bible. Man sees his wild oats and society reaps the harvest of children without fathers or homes.

To many God is dead because they have never tried to prove that He is alive. While many say that God is dead, others are not quite sure just what happens to a man that dies if God is dead. If God is dead and there is no Heaven or Hell man will die just like any dog and that is the end of it all. Very few people are willing to think in these terms.

The only book that has ever given any real clues as to man's fate is the Bible. Man has often tried to twist the words of the Bible to say what he wants it to say. For instance:

Man says there are many ways to heaven. God says: "I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." John 14:6

The average man when asked if he is a Christian will say yes, unless he is an atheist. But if the same man is asked, do you think you will go to Heaven when you die? Will answer by saying I think so, or I hope so, or I go to church, and that is enough. Some answer by saying I give to the poor and work in the church.

God's answer to all of this is: "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God; Not of works lest any man should boast." Eph. 2:8,9.

Just as Luther discovered by the Holy Spirit years ago, it is by faith and faith alone that man is saved, not by works. No amount of works or penitence can get a man to Heaven. No church or baptism can be the mediator between man and God.

STORY TIME WITH GOD

Religion is a vital need at every age. And these boys and girls are busy gaining religious knowledge that will be important to them all through life.

We grownups are accustomed to the Church's presence in community life. It is always there, gracing the horizon with its spire . . . offering its message of faith to a confused world.

But peek into the corner of a beginner's room on Sunday morning and behold the majesty of the Church's mission. It brings the consecrated talents of artists, writers and teachers together, and focuses them upon the eager minds of a generation preparing to face life. It gathers the spiritual truth unfolding for centuries, and in beloved story brings it to the ready ears of tots and toddlers.

Support and attend the church of your choice. Make sure your children are sharing in this life — enriching STORY TIME WITH GOD.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

WHY WON'T THE 19th DISTRICT CONGRESSMAN REPRESENT THE PEOPLE?

- When the current Congressman's own poll showed that 4 out of 5 people did not favor the poverty program . . .
- The Congressman replied by voting to double the money spent on the poverty program.
- When the same poll showed that 4 out of 5 people favored reducing the National Debt . . .
- The Congressman replied by voting to increase the ceiling on the debt limit.
- While the President asks housewives, business and industry to cut back on spending . . .
- The Congressman, over and over again, votes money for unnecessary government programs.

WHY WON'T THE CONGRESSMAN LISTEN TO THE PEOPLE IN THE 19th DISTRICT AND VOTE TO CUT SPENDING? . . . BECAUSE HE IS A RUBBER STAMP FOR THE BIG SPENDERS IN WASHINGTON!!

New Fairbrook Apartments Open

A 32-unit apartment building will open officially in Northville this Sunday with a public showing of two of the units, a one and a two-bedroom apartment.

Fairbrook Apartments, owned by Paul Johnson, Fred Wilkinson and Dr. Paul Fackler and associates, is located at 525 Fairbrook avenue. The apartments were constructed by Johnson's contracting firm.

The project is the largest opened in Northville in recent years and undoubtedly marks the first of a series of apartment projects slated for introduction in the Northville area within the immediate to near future.

The Fairbrook is a "U" shaped building with 11 single bedroom and 21 two-bedroom units. About half of the units are now complete and several occupied. Full completion is expected within three weeks.

Although the entrance to the apartment building is off east-west running Fairbrook, the building faces west. Parking is provided in front and at the south of the building.

All of the apartments have been finished in white to permit occupants to use whatever color schemes they prefer in choosing their furnishings.

One of the apartments has been furnished for public showing Sunday afternoon from two until six o'clock.

The furniture in the model apartment is from Schrader's Home Furnishings, while the draperies are by McAllister's House of Decorating.

The apartments feature central heating and individual air conditioning units. Rents range from $140 to $170 monthly.

A Fairbrook model apartment will be open for inspection Sunday afternoon. Above is shown a living room and below a bedroom.

Modernizing?
New Heating System?

Decisions.
Decisions.
Decisions.

(May we help you with an important one?)

Your choice of a heating system is one you'll live with for a long time. So, naturally, you'll want to make sure you get a system that won't cost too much to own. That's where our new electric heat guarantee comes in.

Here's how it works: We'll see that you get a written estimate of heating costs—before you buy. Then, your monthly bills may be less, but they won't be one cent higher than the estimate. We guarantee it.

If the installation needs adjustments to meet the guaranteed cost figure, we'll see that it's done. And if at the end of three complete, consecutive heating seasons the system is still not operating within our estimate, we'll remove it and refund your money.

Before you make any more important modernizing decisions, get the facts on modern electric heat. You can't lose!

Paul Lorenz Promoted At Kemper

Paul D. Lorenz, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Douglas Lorenz, 19640 Clement, was promoted recently to the rank of corporal according to information released by Kemper Military School and College, Boonville, Missouri.

As a member of Kemper's Corps of Cadets, which is formed under the general provisions of the Department of the Army's ROTC program, promotion of Cadet Corporal Lorenz was announced by Lt. Col. Benjamin H. Purcell, Kemper's Professor of Military Science and the school's administrative board.

The school's enrollment of 560 cadets is the largest in its 123 years of operation, according to Captain John E. Gould, director of admissions. Kemper is the oldest military school west of the Mississippi River.

Kemper has been designated an honor military school by the Department of the Army every year since 1914 when the rating was established. Its graduates are continuing their education in over 100 different colleges and universities this fall.

Cub Scouts Eye Outing October 15

"Aw shucks, dad, you can make it to the next station, c'mon, let's go!"

This will be the plea made by dozens of Cub Scouts from this community as they and their fathers take part in the Detroit Area Council's Webelos Day at Camp on Saturday, October 15.

The 101 1/2-year-old Cubs and their dads will spend a day at the D-A Scout ranch near Metamora doing many of the things that they will experience when they become Boy Scouts and attend camp with a Scout troop.

Several stations, set up and manned by Boy Scouts and their adult leaders, will feature such activities as learning how to build a fire, outdoor cooking, axmanship, archery, knots and lashing, handicraft work, rowing a boat, building a wilderness trail camp, and firing a .22 cal. rifle.

The several hundred dads and Cubs will receive their lunch at camp as part of the day-long program. If there's one word of caution that may be passed along from previous Webelos Day events, it's that all dads should go prepared with some comfortable walking shoes, and a raincoat if the weatherman says it looks like rain.

Cubmasters are reminded that the deadline date for making reservations for the 1966 Fall Webelos Day is Saturday. The fee is $1.00 per person, and may be paid at the Council Service Center, 1776 West Warren avenue, in Detroit.

From Out of the Past

ONE YEAR AGO...
 ...One apartment project bit the dust while two others announced full-speed ahead with their plans. The city council denied a request for rezoning of property at 623 Randolph by James Cutler and Earle McIntosh to permit construction of an eight-unit apartment building.
 Meanwhile, an $8 million complex of 450-500 luxury units on Northville road in the township and a $300,000 32-unit apartment building on Fairbrook in the city were scheduled to get underway as soon as possible.

 ...The First Methodist Church of Northville prepared to launch a financial fund crusade to raise money for either a new addition to the present church at 109 West Dunlap or a brand new facility on another site.
 ...A committee appointed by the Northville township board to study present and future needs for police protection and recommend possible solutions held its organizational meeting. Members of the committee were Eugene Guido, Mrs. Carl Wilson, Hugh McKay, Richard Endress, H. O. Evans and E. O. Weber.

 ...Headlines at the kick-off luncheon of the 1965 Northville area United Fund Torch Drive were Northville Mayor A. M. Allen, United Fund Speaker Mrs. Barbara Bening, Division Chairman Mrs. Arthur Hempe and State Representative Marvin R. Stempfen. FIVE YEARS AGO...

...Assessment costs for paving Center, High, East, Elm and Walnut streets were approved by the city council.
 ...Township Supervisor George Clark appointed a four-member advisory committee to recommend two members to the township's planning board.
 Walter Couse, James Littell, Robert Shafer and Gunnar Stromberg were selected by Clark to submit two names to the expanded township planning board voted on at the time of the con-con election.
 ...Northville's Ford Valve Plant parking lot was practically vacant Tuesday after some 280 employees joined the nationwide UAW-CIO strike against the Ford Motor company.

...The newly formed Northville Junior Chamber of Commerce was scheduled to elect permanent officers and approve its charter in a meeting in the Scout Hall.

THIRTY YEARS AGO...
 ...With $11,500 in the village treasury from the government to be used for the construction of Northville's water reservoir, H. B. Culbertson, Detroit contractor, revealed that work would begin on the abandoned PWA project as soon as certain matters were ironed out with the council.
 ...Six wetter machines in the new $750,000 Ford factory were set to work and valves, necessitating 27 operations each, were being turned out from both buildings.
 It was estimated that it would take approximately three weeks before the new plant could be working at top speed with 60 additional machines in operation.

...You couldn't blame Bruce Pott-hoff if he became slightly confused at his first meeting as city manager of Northville. "We forgot to tell you," the straight-faced council echoed. "You're also health officer, welfare officer, treasurer and assessor!"
 Somebody slipped on the latter office, however, City Engineer Harold Penn arose to tell the council that he had been appointed city assessor July 1 by former manager, John Robertson.

...Northville had tree problems. And the cost to solve them - dead and undesirable tree removal plus extensive trimming - was estimated at $7,000.

 ...Miss Janet C. Famuliner, 18, enlisted in the Women's Army Corps. TEN YEARS AGO
 ...Northville's days under government by city council alone became numbered with the announcement that a city manager would be named soon.
 Mayor Claude Ely called for a special session of the five-man council after John Canterbury, chairman of the committee to select a city manager, announced that a final choice was near.
 ...House trailers caused Northville township board members most concern at its meeting. Carl Zinnecker and R. M. VanEe of Ridge court both complained that house trailers were being used illegally in their neighborhood.
 ...The question of whether a township can legally be considered a "citizen" was to be argued in court. That was the question at stake in a motion for dismissal of a suit brought by Novi township to stop the annexation of part of its territory to Northville.
 ...Northville school officials continued their work on revising plans for a new high school, with hopes of getting state approval in the near future. The board had agreed earlier to expand facilities in the proposed high school so as to meet increased student population estimates.

The board also was looking into the possibility of acquiring property owned by the Manning & Locklin Gravel company and two private owners.

Goodwill Pickup

The next visit of Goodwill Industries pickup trucks to Northville is scheduled for Monday, October 10. Goodwill trucks collect household discards of clothing, shoes, hats, toys, most types of furniture and other household discards.

To arrange for a Goodwill Industries truck pickup, ask the operator for toll-free Enterprise 7002.

137 Take Apprentice Training

When Schoolcraft College opened its $1,600,000 vocational-technical building this fall, among the first students to enter were 137 young men enrolled in the college's brand new training program for apprentices in industrial occupations.

They were the vanguard of an enrollment that college officials expect will reach 700 apprentices receiving related instruction in their chosen trades by the fall of 1969.

"Judging from the response this first year, we're well on our way," said Jon Adams, dean of technical instruction at Schoolcraft.

The man in direct charge of the program and largely responsible for the program's early success, is Ronald J. Montette, a 32-year-old Wayne State university graduate who came to Schoolcraft in 1964 as a drafting and design instructor.

The apprenticeship program offers classroom training in 16 job classifications in four major occupational areas: design, and machine, manufacturing and electrical trades.

Job classifications range from machine repairman, through boilermaker fabricator and industrial electrician, to tool and die maker and product designer.

Drawing on a corps of instructors who are primarily industrial specialists, the Schoolcraft program offers courses in such fields as hydraulics and pneumatics, heat treating and metallurgy, electronics and tool and machine operation and repair.

Classroom work covers a broad range of drafting courses and shop theory. Heavy emphasis is placed on mathematics. The program offers 16 separate courses in this category, from basic shop math to logarithms, advanced trigonometry and engineering algebra.

Apprentices, who work a regular shift in a plant and spend up to four hours a week on campus, are considered official students of the college and are graded by the same standards set for all other students.

Employers are regularly informed of their apprentices' grades and classroom attendance records.

The "charter" apprentices will spend four years in the program. They are encouraged to complete three semesters each year, attending classes two nights a week.

To recruit a student body for the program, Montette contacted personnel men and other company officials at more than 400 industrial firms in the college district, as well as in Detroit, and such other nearby communities as Belleville, Farmington, New Hudson, Novi, South Lyon, Union Lake, Walled Lake, Whitmore Lake and Wixom.

By the time registration began in late August, 44 firms had agreed to sponsor at least one apprentice, and several sent as many as 10 for the first semester. As a general rule, the sponsoring firm pays the tuition fees, and the apprentice pays the cost of books, materials and incidental supplies.

To provide the proper planning for the program, a 12-man advisory committee was created. Eight of the members were drawn from area industry. One each came from the U.S. Dept. of Labor's Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training, and the United Auto Workers. The other three committee members represent the college's vocational-technical division.

This group assessed training needs and planned the framework of the courses to be offered. The committee is continuing its work, keeping in close touch with the operation of the program and evaluating its progress.

Both union and management officials in a number of plants are now working together to develop apprenticeship programs and will call upon Schoolcraft College to provide the related instruction, according to Montette.

Main street in the Clement road area. City manager and city engineer to review this request and make a report at next meeting.

Corporation for the purchase of Lot 22 of Northville Assessor's Plat #3, 117 W. Main street. This request tabled for future consideration. Unanimous interest and intent to purchase lot 22 was expressed by the council.

City Manager was instructed to answer Mr. Robert Webber's letter, stating that when preliminary plans and costs for engineering are available that a joint meeting, as proposed by Mr. Webber, will be considered.

A copy of a letter from the Northville Township attorney to the Northville Coach Line was read, stating that townships are forbidden under charter and law to subsidize using revenues from taxes.

A memorandum from the Water Department recommending reduction of water bill at 937 Allen drive was considered by Council. It was unanimously agreed to send bill estimated on average use (thus cancelling 65,000 gallons).

City manager pointed out copies of Trenton, Michigan's ordinance on an Advisory City Beautiful Commission (Copies of which had been distributed to Council). City manager and city attorney are to examine this ordinance and this is to appear on agenda for next meeting.

City manager also reported that he had talked to officers of Northville Estates' Civic Association regarding requests for maintenance items and weed cutting; he has assured these residents that weed cutting will be begun earlier in 1967 and also reported that other requests are being met.

Mrs. Paul Steencken, 562 Randolph, inquired about when bad conditions on Randolph street would be cleaned up—stated it was difficult to walk to resident's homes because of debris on both sidewalk and roads. City manager explained clean-up schedule; also designated places where residents could park when unable to get in their own driveways. In answer to Mrs. Steencken's inquiry regarding placement of trees, the city manager answered that this would be part of the 1966 Fall Planting program (about 3rd week in October). Driveways are to be 12' unless otherwise requested on newly improved Randolph street.

The increase in business places being picked up increased under this agreement from 9 to 20. City manager expressed wish to have rubbish section of the ordinance amended to allow Health Officer to have authority and responsibility for additional commercial pickups.

Fall Seal-coating program to be on September 26 agenda.

Mr. Wallace Nichols, Planning Commission, was present to discuss with the council the subdivision ordinance. Questions were designated for further examination. 1970 Census Means Apportionment

LANSING — With 1970 coming faster than you realize, comes the national Census and shortly thereafter the required state legislative apportionment.

"Apportionment" became almost a household word in the last go-round in Michigan. This was due largely to changes in the state Constitution and decisions handed down by the state and U.S. Supreme Courts regarding the one man-one vote principle.

The change in the Constitution provided for an eight-man bi-partisan commission, with the members selected by the powers in the two majority political parties.

Even without the precedent-breaking Court decisions, it was clear that Michigan's new apportionment commission system was not designed to be independently effective.

Even with the provision for taking plans to the Supreme Court if agreement did not come from the eight commissioners, flaws in this section of the new Constitution were evident.

There will most assuredly be several ideas proposed for making the post-1970 apportionment work more quickly and smoothly.

ONE SUCH method has already been put forth. But since the pressure is not yet on for action in this area, it has not been fully considered.

Apportionment would still be a big job under the proposal put forth early this year by a bi-partisan group of House members.

Under their plan, each Congressional district would be cut into two nearly equal population districts to elect Michigan's 38-member Senate. Then each of the Senate districts would be divided into three, to provide a 114-member House of Representatives.

Apportionment would start in the legislature with this body setting the boundary lines for the Congressional seats. Then the division of these into Senate districts and those into House districts would revert to an apportionment commission fairly comparable to that currently provided for in the Constitution.

Retaining the bipartisan commission could continue to be a problem despite the fact that initial division of the state would be accomplished before its job begins.

Constitutional amendment, requiring a two-thirds vote in both houses and approval by the people, is necessary before this or any other new apportionment method could be used.

CITIZEN participation in government has been a key phrase in Gov. George Romney's speeches since he first came into the public spotlight.

An example of the usefulness of citizen participation can be readily found in the State Mental Health Department.

This department reports that there are well over 5,000 volunteers actively working in state hospitals for mentally ill and retarded and at community clinics throughout Michigan.

Time spent by these volunteers varies considerably, but it averages nearly 3,000 volunteers providing over 16,000 hours of service each month.

Schedule Late Dispatch Of Wixom Mail

A late Saturday dispatch and a Sunday dispatch of mail has been instituted at the Wixom post office, Acting Postmaster Elwood J. Grubb announced this week.

The Saturday dispatch will be at 7:20 p.m. and the Sunday dispatch at 5:40 p.m.

These dispatch times, Grubb said, concern mail deposited in the collection box in front of the post office. It does include mail deposited in the lobby of the post office. The latter mail will not be dispatched until Monday.

Major contributions of the volunteers can be seen in the form of new chapels at Traverse City and Kalamazoo State Hospitals, and park and recreation areas at Kalamazoo and LaPeer.

These tangible evidences of volunteer efforts represent fund-raising and individual financial contributions.

AS IMPORTANT, if not more so, is the contribution of time by the volunteers. Department Director Dr. Robert A. Kimmich notes that the volunteers provide a strong supplement to staff efforts and in many cases give services which the staff is unable to provide.

"Because volunteers are not paid and in most cases are not highly trained, it is possible for them to establish a relationship with patients which is more effective and more personal than is often possible for a paid worker," says Kimmich.

While all the volunteer efforts are important and greatly appreciated by department personnel, Dr. Kimmich reports that perhaps the most important result is the volunteers' impact on the patients served.

"The patients are usually aware that the volunteer is making this effort for no reward other than the benefit he brings to those he serves, and this certainly is the highest motivation of all."

Most People Work 48 Hours or More

BABSON PARK, Mass.—Most people take it for granted that more and more of the regularly employed are enjoying a steadily shorter workweek. They assume this from the fact that the Fair Labor Standards Act has set a 40-hour week for so many millions of the nation's workers. The feeling is that most people prefer leisure time to a higher income from working longer.

Studies made by the Labor Department, however, indicate that a significant and growing portion of our working force actually works more than 48 hours a week. Measuring the trend from 1948 to 1965, the total of men and women employed in nonfarm occupations for more than 48 hours a week has nearly doubled.

While these people do not make up a majority of the nation's workers, they are important. In 1948 some 4.8 million nonfarm employees were putting in more than 48 hours a week, and by 1965 this number had jumped to 9.4 million. This was an impressive jump from 12.9% of the entire full-time nonfarm work force to 19.7%.

FOR THE SAME time period, there was a fair increase in the number of full-time nonfarm employees working between 35 and 40 hours, mostly the result of the Fair Labor statute. This proportion of the total non-agricultural labor reservoir moved ahead from 4.8% to 8.2%. The gain here was chiefly a result of the slide-off in the number working from 41 to 48 hours a week. Evidently many companies preferred to take on more workers or cut back personnel rather than pay time and a half.

The total of those working over 48 hours a week has increased sufficiently, however, since 1948 to offset the statistical changes in the other categories. Surprising result: Average weekly hours for the full-time nonfarm labor force have held at about 45, roughly the same in 1965 as in 1948. This is surely counter to the general impression.

Why are between 9 and 10 million people, almost one-fifth of the full-time nonagricultural working force, at their jobs 49 hours or more every week? Why is the number climbing steadily? Who are these employees? Studies suggest that extraordinarily long hours prevail among employees in the trade and service industries, and in managerial, professional, sales, and private-household fields. In government and manufacturing, there are seldom opportunities for working longer than 48 hours a week, so frequently second or "moonlighting" jobs serve to raise the average of weekly hours worked.

THERE APPEAR to be a good many, also, who are so interested in their work that they put in long hours consistently. This doubtless accounts for the sizable proportion of professional and technical employees, whose hours often range to 70-a-week and more. Many men and women in especially responsible positions are either required or expected to be on the job most of their waking hours. This would explain the high incidence of particularly long workweeks among managerial employees.

There is one classification, mostly married men between 25 and 44, who work all possible extra hours because they need more income. In this category are many in low-pay industries and occupations, especially services and trades, who take more than one job to support a wife and children.

As long as living costs and living standards continue to climb, there is reason to look for further increases in the proportion of our labor force working above-average hours each week. Reducing permissible hours of work for more people is bound to mean more "overtime" and more "moonlighting." So the trend will continue toward longer hours a week for a large part of the work force.

SPEAKING for The Record

By Bill Sliger

Northville city planners turned down a request for rezoning recently that would have resulted in the removal of an old Main street building and the modernization and expansion of an existing business.

On the surface such action could cause a few raised eyebrows . . . and it has.

Why should planners deny rezoning that would result in an investment of thousands of dollars in the business district and stimulate business expansion?

For the sake of the most orderly and prosperous development of the central business district — that's the answer of the planners.

The specific case in point is a request from the Pure Oil Company to purchase the old Rathburn building — which extends from the existing Pure Oil station at Main and Wing to the alley entrance to the city parking lot. The building now houses an unused garage area, a television repair business, a barber shop and pool hall.

Pure Oil proposed removal of the building and relocation of its existing service station directly on the corner within the expanded area.

As planners see it, a service station within the boundaries of the CBD (central business district: bounded by Wing, an extended Beal street, Church and Dunlap) is already non-conforming. To permit expansion of the facility by changing existing C-2 zoning to C-1 would be inconsistent with the master plan and further delay realization of the plan.

While some observers believe that initiation of the master plan may be some five to 10 years away, planners see its beginning already. And they insist that delay will only endanger the future welfare, perhaps existence, of the central business district.

As the planners see it, the present Pure Oil station site and adjoining Rathburn building should properly become a portion of the belt of parking area surrounding the central business district.

A service station on the outer fringe of this CBD circle would be fine and proper, but not within its retailer-oriented center core, planners insist.

This planner conclusion leads to other obvious problems. And planners mean to seek solutions as soon as possible.

While the expansion of a service station facility may be legally blocked within the business district because it requires a change in zoning, what can be done to prevent the expansion or construction of a conforming business in an area where planners (and logic) would dictate that parking should be located?

And, what financial means exist for the city to acquire property — such as the aforementioned Rathburn building — so that it may be preserved for proper development of the master plan?

Planners mean to obtain an answer to the first question almost immediately.

Soon they will call for a public hearing on the proposed CBD and CBP zoning for the central business district. This means that the planners will ask the council to approve zoning designations within the boundaries of the CBD that would specifically zone certain areas for business or parking.

Planners feel that proposed parking areas within the CBD must be so designated and zoned to prevent destruction of the master plan through development which is not orderly.

At the same time, they admit that such designations must contain flexibility. In other words, if the opportunity for development occurs that requires reclassification of parking areas to business sites — and such development is not inconsistent with the master plan and its advantages are obviously beneficial to the intent of the CBD plan — then rezoning changes should be made.

But without the "teeth" of zoning, planners point out that there is no opportunity to prevent harmful development.

This is the story they will attempt to tell businessmen, who are certain to attend public hearings on CBD and CBP zoning with more than casual interest.

There's another question left unanswered. If a land or building owner can't sell his property for anything but parking, who stands ready to purchase it?

That's a good question for the city's newly appointed citizens' study committee, which held its organizational meeting Monday night and elected Ken Rathert chairman.

"Well, you know," laughed Charlie Tiffin, "I ain't been eating this good in a long time. Did a pretty good job myself over the years, but Bill here — he's a real cook. You oughta see the spread he lays out. Meat, potatoes, pies, cakes . . ."

Snow capped Bill Tiffin, his eyes twinkling, nodded his thanks.

Brother Bill is a newcomer to Charlie's home, having moved in last spring after giving up his farm at 10 Mile and Wixom roads.

The fact that these two men, both bachelors, live alone in their 125-year-old house at Wixom and West Maple roads in Wixom isn't so remarkable unless you consider a couple of other points.

Charlie's an old friend. Literally. I popped in on him several years ago while digging into the history of Wixom. He's intelligent, humorous, industrious, independent and now 87.

He looked, talked and acted the same when I revisited him last week. And Bill's out of the same mold.

His fenced yard and the house haven't changed either. They're both neat, not unattractive, and old. The garden of vegetables and flowers, dying now with fall, soon will be covered with the blanket of snow that's been returning for more than a century. The pump, tool shed, and privy are still there.

The house sports a new coat of white paint on all but the north side, which Charlie expects to finish next spring.

Missing is the Model A Ford that its owner finally sold because his knarled fingers could no longer grip the steering wheel. He gave up driving voluntarily. For that Wixom police are grateful. They dreaded the day when they might have had to ask him to turn in his license.

Inside there's the cistern pump, the wood-burning cook stove on which Bill prepares the meals, old tables, chairs and beds and a couple of modern innovations — a television set and an oil heater that recently replaced the pot-bellied stove that I remembered from an earlier visit.

Splitting up the chores is no problem. Bill cooks, cleans the house, mows the lawn with a "pusher", and watches the Tigers on television. Charlie repairs damaged household items, paints, raises and sells the vegetables grown in the yard and in a garden "down the road a piece", and watches the Tigers on television.

Neither receives any federal or state or city assistance. No social security or medical aid. "We don't want any handouts," says Charlie with pride. "We get along nicely without any of that stuff."

Neither has been inside a hospital. Neither can understand why the Tiger management didn't give the managerial job to Frank Skaff "He did a good job. Better'n a lot of them," declares Bill. "Boy, that Wilson sure helped out, didn't he."

Both Charlie and Bill are Tiger fans — on television. Both would like to see a game at Tiger Stadium again, but, well, tickets cost and there's no car.

Both hurried for Wixom teams back in the days when the pitcher warmed up by driving the team of horses that hauled a wagon full of ball players to Novi, to Northville and to Salem. "Bill had a curve," recalls Charlie, "but I just threw it straight overhand. Hard. Right across the plate almost every time. We didn't believe in that walk'n stuff. Still don't."

Keeping up on the vital statistics of the Tigers is Bill's job. He's an avid reader, filling in for Charlie, who "can see pretty good well off but not so good close up."

Ready to leave, I tossed Charlie

the worn-out question, "What accounts for your long life?"

"Cause we never got married, that's why. No women to nag us, to get in our way. It's best this way."

"It's kinda late now," he adds, noting that the house was once a church parsonage where a hundred or more marriages were performed, "sides, Bill sure can cook. Better'n most women."

"Remarkable," I said. Amazing, I thought passing the cook stove. Imagine cooking pies and cakes on that thing — at 96!

Historical Society Plans Six Meetings

Plans for the 1966-67 season of the Northville Historical Society were revealed this week by the society president, Mrs. Ruth D. Starkweather.

The opening meeting will be held on Tuesday, October 18. It will include a discussion of the new constitution, and a showing of family relics and heirlooms for a "Remember When" social session.

Dominic Paris will present a program entitled, "Volney Gunning, Pioneer Fiddler" on November 15.

For the first meeting of 1967 — on January 17, the group will hear Wynn Wakenhut of Northville discuss "Surveying in Michigan".

On February 21, Solon Weeks will present a slide program about "Michigan Museums".

A film, still to be scheduled, is slated for March 21; Ferris Lewis will present "Settlement of Early Michigan" slides on April 18; and on May 16, the club will hold its annual meeting.

The annual meeting will feature a history of Northville in slides and tape by Helen MacCarthy.

Census Shows 767 At Training School

In its monthly report, the Plymouth State Home and Training School, located at Six Mile and Sheldon, revealed a July census of 767 persons.

The report showed that two patients had died and 15 were on leave of absence.

Also in the report, it was noted that — — Michael Filewich became the first member of the staff to retire from state service.

— Dr. Morris Goodman, internationally known authority in primate evolution was added to the staff.

— Construction work on the building for blind patients was continuing satisfactorily.

— The dental clinic moved its quarters to what was formerly the kitchen for the hospital building. Initial space designed for the dental clinic was inadequate and the kitchen, which was moved to the service building, was remodeled.

— Wayne Lawhorne, recreation director, compiled a bibliography on recreation for the mentally retarded.

— A total of 90 patients participated in the summer camp program. Supplementing the camping program were regularly scheduled trips to the zoo, to Frontier City in the Irish Hills, trips to a neighboring farm, and swimming at Kensington Park.
