Striking carpenters have forced Northville school officials to tack up a revised schedule for the opening of a Moraine elementary school.

Members of the board of education learned Monday night that the school probably will not be ready now until "about mid January".

According to Superintendent Alex Nelson, several minor but key projects were left incomplete when carpenters walked off the job last week, forcing delay of several other projects that

Awaits Romney Here Saturday

Governor George Romney and his entourage of Republican candidates will sweep into Northville Saturday morning to lend a hand at a school groundbreaking, shake hands at a rolls and coffee session and perhaps bang a gavel at an auction sale.

Governor Romney is scheduled to appear at the junior high school groundbreaking ceremony at 8:45 a.m. The site is located on Taft road one-quarter mile north of Eight Mile road. Entrance can be gained from Taft road only.

School, community and student leaders will also participate in the cere-

As soon as his ground-breaking duties have been completed, the Governor will go to the community building for a cup of coffee and home baked coffee-

Local Republicans have arranged the "meet your Governor" breakfast session and its scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. With Romney will be the following GOP candidates:

Lawrence Lindemer, candidate for attorney general; George Washington, candidate for secretary of state; Jack McDonald and Marvin Esch, 19th and second congressional district candidates; George Kuhn, state senatorial candidate; Louis Schmidt, candidate for state representative in the 35th district; James O'Neil, state board of education candidate; Alfred Sokolowski, Wayne State board of governors candidate; Meyer Warshawsky, candidate for the state supreme court; and Northville township's slate of candidates.

Both city and township Republicans from the second and 19th congressional districts are sponsoring the breakfast meeting. In charge of arrangements are the five Republican precinct delegates: Mrs. Stuart Campbell, A. T. Gillahan and William Heffner, from the city; and Mrs. Robert Arlen and Richard Wolfe, from the township.

If there's time, and if he's so inclined, the Governor may trot down to Northville Downs where an antique auction begins at 10 a.m. under the grandstands.

It's being conducted by Stan Perkins of Swartz Creek, a popular auctioneer at antique sales and himself a GOP candidate for the state house of representatives.

More than a dozen dealers are exnected to provide a variety of items for the sale and Governor Romney's appearance is hoped for to add further attraction to the event.

Developers Eye Area Projects

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the sixth in a series of articles on local area plans for the future. This article-a continuation of last week's look at proposed developments in Noviconcerns proposed residential developments as seen by a number of builders in the Northville and Wixom areas. And in Wixom, where city-wide installation of sewers is off the drawing boards and in the financing stage, rapid development is seen as a certainty within five years although fewer projects have been announced.

Significantly, much of the area scheduled for development in Novi is located within the Northville school district - a fact that may force stepped up planning for future school needs.

Here's what developers or their spokesmen see for property in Northville and Wixom:

Construction originally was scheduled to get underway this year but now, because of the money market. Carey said, it probably will not begin until next year or later.

Carey also indicated that construction of its proposed subdivision on the Haass property, Six Mile near Bradner, probably will begin early next year - "subject to the market".

Busy Morning Torch Campaign To Open Tuesday

With words of encouragement still ringing in their ears, an army of women will launch the annual citytownship drive Tuesday for United Foundation funds.

Their target: $2,560 - $347 more than last year's quota and $25 more than was raised.

The annual "give-once-for-all" Torch Drive is headed up by Mrs. David Vincent, 584 Reed, who together with more than 100 volunteers were feted at an orientation luncheon at Meadowbrook Country club yesterday.

Purpose of the luncheon program, which featured Paul Williams, Detroit radio and television personality, as speaker, was for "training and inspiring workers" in the city and township of Northville.

"We're excited and anxious to reach our goal quickly," Mrs. Vincent said. "And if the residents of Northville respond as well as they have in the past we'll have little difficulty."

Meanwhile, Mrs. Margaret Zayti, chairman of business solicitations, reported Tuesday that $722 of the 1966 $1,162 quota has already been collected.

'Collections are going well," she said, "and it looks very much like we'll reach our goal."

District chairmen who will be assisting Mrs. Vincent in the house-to-house canvas are:

Mrs. Eugene Karrer, Mrs. Daniel Boland, Mrs. Howard Kennedy, Mrs. Robert Green, Mrs. Calvin Niemi, Mrs. Robert Kucher, Mrs. Allan Peterson, Mrs. David Fisher and Mrs. Adeliné

Mrs. Arthur Hempe, last year's residential drive chairman for Northville, is serving as regional chairman

Contributions from both the residential and business solicitations will go toward the overall Torch Drive goal of $24.95 million for nearly 200 local, state, and national health and community services.

The drive officially begins at noon Tuesday and will close on November 10 with a Victory Dinner in the Sheraton-Cadillac hotel in Detroit.

Residents 'Kick' New Horse Rules

An amendment to the Northville zoning ordinance which sets forth more restrictive regulations for the keeping of horses is meeting with resistance from residents who own horses.

The amendment, recommended by the planning commission and passed by the township board last week, calls for a minimum of three acres for one horse, five acres for two horses, seven acres for three horses and five acres for each additional horse.

It also establishes setbacks for accessory buildings housing the horses and fence lines. (Text of ordinance appears on page 6A. The only change in the entire section 4.2 as published occurs in sub-section "e").

Critics of the amendment claim they were unaware of the proposal until a story revealing its passage appeared on page one of the October 6 edition of The Record.

Meeting Monday night at the West Eight Mile road home of Robert Geake the objecting residents named Fred Hembrey to chairman a steering committee to propose possible alternatives for the new amendment.

Others named to the committee include Hal Axtell, Eugene Guido, William O'Brien and Mrs. George White-

"Apparently only four or five of the more than 300 owners of horses in Northville township were even aware that such an ordinance was being considered". Hembrey stated. He said the group of horse owners were not opposed to an ordinance. "We want one. We realize that more people are moving out to the township every year and that not all of them are horse lovers. However, many others move out here to find the freedoms which they associate with country living and that often includes owning one or more horses. We want an ordinance which is fair and takes into account the interests of both groups".

The ordinance amendment has been under consideration by township planners since last spring. Notice of a public hearing on the proposal was published in The Record editions of May 12 and May 26. Planners held the hearing on May 31.

The notice, while meeting all legal requirements, did not state in easy-torecognize language, however, that it represented a proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance which would introduce new restrictions on the keeping of horses.

It has been further noted, that the original restrictions as published indicated that the minimum acreage requirement for a single horse would be two acres with one additional acre required for each additional horse.

Passage of the amendment as revised by the planning commission was noted in a September 29 Record news story. It pointed out that the proposed amendment was scheduled to come before the township board for consideration. The board acted on the proposal at its October 4 meeting. Notice of board consideration of ordinance amendments prior to taking action is not required by law. Citizens attending board meetings may voice their opinions on proposed amendments, however. Guido did attend the board meeting and objected to the restrictions of the amendment. He won support from Supervisor R. D. Merriam, who also expressed reservations. It passed unanimously, however. The supervisor does not vote on such issues unless there is a tie vote.

Supervisor Merriam and Township Attorney John Ashton met Monday with representatives of the protesting residents and informed them that they could present a petition to the board. It was noted that their recommendations for amending the new amendment would be given consideration by the board and possibly sent back to planners for reconsideration.

Planners struggled with the amendment for several months before agreeing upon the restrictions. Attorney Ashton points out that in deciding to expand the minimum acreage from two to three acres planners had to consider the "geometry" of a lot. A narrow, long parcel might represent two acres, but horses on such a lot could prove to be a nuisance to close neighbors. Similarly, a square two-acre parcel in sparsely populated area could be adequate, the attorney noted. In such instances, he pointed out that a variance could be granted by the board of appeals.

Northville Water Sought in Novi

A proposed, 60-home subdivision in the village of Novi has asked the city of Northville for a water supply.

Through its engineers, Basney & Smith, Inc., the Marc Allan Development company has asked the city if it can use a city well located on Novi road on a temporary basis. The proposed Allan development adjoins the city limits at the Village Green subdivision on Novi road.

But Under Protest

Since switching to Detroit water, Northville no longer uses its ground wells. The request for water proposed use on a metered basis "until such time that water is available from Novi."

The developers have stated that they plan to begin construction within 60 days.

The city council told Manager Frank Ollendorff to investigate the possibility and expressed interest "if we can help someone and make money for the city."

Apartment Zoning OK'ed

The Northville township planning commission approved a petition for rezoning a 20-acre parcel for multiple dwellings Tuesday night despite an appeal for a new public hearing on the

The recommendation now goes to the township board for action, probably at its next regular meeting, November 1.

Planners approved a petition from the Greenspan development firm calling for the rezoning of approximately 20 acres on Five Mile road from R-4, single family dwelling, to multiple dwelling.

An overflow audience of protesting residents of the area was represented by Attorney Thomas Healy, At Healy's request the board reopened the hearing, which had been held originally on September 13.

The attorney then appealed to the board to reschedule a new public hearing to provide "full public disclosure" of the issues for and against the rezoning. He said that the views of the township's consultant had not been reflected in any of the previous hearings. The attorney insisted that "unless there is disclosure of advantages, there is no legal basis for rezoning".

He also defined a change in the area to be rezoned as an "amended petition" which would, he stated, require a new hearing.

Planners then permitted James Littell, attorney for Greenspan, to rebut Healy's arguments. The former township attorney said he was "surprised" that the board had reopened the hearing for the evening. "There is no reason to rehash arguments already heard in a public hearing lasting over three hours before the same objectors and concerning the same parcel", Littell stated. He noted that the board, at its last meeting, had asked the developers to reduce the multiple area by some 3.3 acres and submit the changed plan. "This does not constitute a new application. We're morely complying with your request". Littell said Healy's request was merely a "delaying action" and he called upon the board to make a decision.

Healy's charge that the views of the township's consultant had not been aired was challenged by Planner Bernard Baldwin. He stated that the authority to act was vested in the board and that it was not required to have the consultant's views expressed. It was later noted that the township's planning consultants, Vilican-Leman, had viewed and approved the rezoning.

Township Attorney John Ashton advised the board that it had the right to approve or reject all or a portion of the request for rezoning. He said the reduction in the area to be rezoned for multiple dwellings did not constitute a new request.

Baldwin then moved for approval of the petition and Leonard Klein seconded the motion. Chairman Gunnar Stromberg called for the vote which was favored by Luke Bathey, Klein and Baldwin, J. Craig Bowlby abstained. He stated that he resided near the area and therefore decided not to vote.

were about to begin.

Those plans came up for discussion again Monday night, but nothing definite was decided. Board members are weighing proposals for automatic traffic control devices, signs and a pedestrian overpass. These plans are expected to come ing with the city council next Tuesday.

Dissett-Nauman

A wedding trip to Fort Lauderdale, Florida, followed the Friday, October 7, marriage of Carol Marie Dissett and Robert Philip Nauman at Truth Lutheran church in Detroit.

For the candlelight ceremony at 7 .m. the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Dissett of Cameron avenue, Detroit, chose a floor-length gown of silk taffeta that extended into a chapel train. Lace flowers were scattered over the skirt and matching lace edged the bell sleeves. A tiny jeweled crown held her elbow-length veil. She carried a cascade of white mums and roses centered with an orchid corsage. Pastor Robert Herbon officiated.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Nauman of Connemara drive, Northville. His sister, Mrs. Harry Christman of Frankenmuth, was matron of honor. She wore a green velvet-topped gown with lighter green skirt. It was fashioned with bell sleeves.

T In Our Town

By Jean Day

AMERICAN WOMEN recently were called by a prominent columnist this country's remaining "leisure class." He went on to suggest that this "class" should be assuming responsibility for advancement of arts, music and other cultural pursuits.

With guest speakers in our town this month including town hall's eminent lecturer-recitalist Karl Haas, British traveler Thaver Soule, ecaustics artist Cecil North, food expert Marjorie Gibbs and Governor Romney, there is little doubt Northville women take this obligation seriously.

The work of artist Cecil North, now featured at the Hartley-Powers Gallery on Main street, was unveiled at a preview reception Sunday that also marked the gallery's fifth anniversary. It would be dreary to think of our Secretary of State's office without the gallery presided over by Catherine and Harold Hartley.

Gallery visitors this week also are getting a hint of good-things-to-come for Christmas. Mrs. Hartley reports that the collection of import gifts will be greatly expanded for holiday giving. Jewelry, woven pieces, pottery, candles and children's toys are arriving from Europe and the Far East.

MOTHER'S CLUB members also are focusing on Christmas giving as they stitch sequins on tiny felt trees in preparation for a Christmas boutique planned as an added attraction at the annual Next-to-New sale to be held in November. Mrs. Harold Wright, assisted by Mrs. Glenn Deibert, is chairman of the new project. Red organdy aprons and fingertip towels will be among the items decorated with the snap-on trees.

Strictly speaking, the appearance here of Thayer Soule last Thursday to launch the Adventure Series season with a trip through the by-ways of Britain was a male-sponsored event. Rotary sponsors the six travelogues - but is well-supported by wives. Soule's camera journey through the Wedgwood factory alone was worth the trip to Northville high school aud-

Rotarian Philip Ogilvie adds that anyone buying a season ticket now ($5 for the series) may use the "extra punch" to bring a guest - or may even use the punches all at one lecture and bring several!

Next travelogue on November 9 will be a tour to recapture the flavor of the Old West - "Desert to Dixie" with Robert Brouwer.

THINGS OLD are being studied this week by two Northville antique lovers who are attending the seventh annual Midwest Antiques Forum sponsored by the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village and highlighting "American History as Reflected in the Arts." Mrs.

are making daily trips to Dearborn. Mrs. Magee and her husband recently moved to Northville to a home on Center street. As her father is the founder of the Schmidt's Antiques firm in Ypsilanti, Mrs. Magee literally grew up with antiques.

Harold Thomas and Mrs. Verne Magee

Sally Thomas, of the Barn Door, has been one of the prime motivators for Northville's antique auction to be held this Saturday beginning at 10 a.m. in the race track building.

Because she and her partner, Eleanor Lowell, strongly feel a responsibility to community citizens who will be turning out for this first-in-presentday-history event, they have set up rigid rules for the 11 dealers participating (all from the area).

First, they decided there will be no minimum bid required. If an item gets two bids, it is sold.

Second, NO participating dealers in the show may bid on any item. One of the area dealers participating in the auction whose "finds" are admired by other dealers is Vayle Lorian of Farmington. She only shows four times a year, Miss Lowell reports. because she also is a college student!

With the not too secret hope that Governor Romney may wander over from the Republican rally to see his friend, Stan Perkins, the auctioneer, many are guessing he may even take over the gavel. It would be a good conversation-dropper to say, "Oh," I bought that from Governor Romney....

THE POST OFFICE must have had women in mind -- A new drop box has been installed at the Dunlap street exit of the Kroger parking lot which will permit dropping letters from the driver's side.

Woman's Club Members Get History Lesson on Hats

Northville Woman's club members and guests had a "history lesson" last Friday with a feminine angle: hats. Our country's sartorial, social and political history was reviewed by guest commentator Mrs. Jane G. Winther as replicas of hats dating from 1896 were modeled by club members.

The Hats-and-History program followed the club's opening luncheon of the 1966-67 season at Meadowbrook country club. Mrs. Winther, regional consumer relations representative of Sperry and Hutchinson company, was introduced by Mrs. E. E. Mueller, program chairman.

President Mrs. E. V. Ellison called upon Mrs. Blake Couse to introduce past presidents and honorary members, who traditionally are honored at this luncheon. Mrs. E. M. Starkweather responded.

Mrs. Claude Crusoe led off the hat parade, coming down the chrysanthemum-banked runway wearing a velvetand-satin shell with egret plumes that was the rage when the Duryea brothers were producing 10 cars a year and folks were singing "There'll be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."

The peach basket silhouette of 1908 in lacy straw was worn by Mrs. William Soellner. The original might have been worn to the first celebration of Mother's Day, the first commercial motion picture or to the S-and-H "premium parlors." Mrs. George Weiss wore the oversize Napoleonic toque that was in vogue in 1914, the year the Panama canal opened, the first federal income tax was passed and Henry Ford startled the work world with his innovation of the eight-hour, $5 day.

Mrs. Walter Couse donned a pink silk velvet bonnet of 1919 - the sort that helped inspire "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody" the year women won the right to vote. Mrs. John Moorhead's deep cloche was worn in the Charleston days of 1924 when a Ford (without a self-starter) cost $290.

Mrs. R. M. Atchison wore a tangerine "slouch hat" in the Garbo manner as 1929, the time of the Great Depression, was recalled.

Mrs. O. F. Reng wore the yellow tricorn of 1935, in style when Mae West reigned as second highest salary earner in the country. Unlike the other hats in the collection, which were replicas of hats in the Metropolitan museum, the doll hat adorned with a violet cluster worn by Mrs. George Jerome was an original by Leslie James. From 1938, it represented the year of the first commercial nylon.

The early 1940's, the age of the Big Bands, featured turbans, such as the turquoise velvet creation worn by Mrs. John Stuyvenberg. The Mamie Eisenhower "basic" in pearl gray felt typifying the 1950's of the Cold War, flying saucers and canasta as well as the freezer and pressure cooker was worn by Mrs. C. W. Whittlesey.

Mrs. E. O. Weber concluded the show with the pink satin-and feathers pillbox popularized in the 1960's by Jackie Kennedy

But for mistakes, the Northville Mustangs would have blown visiting West Bloomfield right out of the foot-

As it was, the score was humiliating enough, 20-7, a stinging loss for West Bloomfield, a team that had won two in a row without defeat in the Wayne-Oakland Conference.

The Mustangs were sharp all right, the sharpest they've been all year. They swept the ends with abandon, passed with timely accuracy and put the lid on the Lakers' scoring machine.

"It's great to be a winner," blared the usually soft spoken, and until last Friday night, perplexed coach. No doubt about it, Alex Klukach was the happiest man on the field after the game.

The victory accomplished two things: it put Northville back in contention in the W-O loop, and it gave the Mustangs a boost in spirit needed to face four rugged remaining opponents, Clarkston, Bloomfield Hills, Milford and Clarenceville, in that order.

But Northville, despite a harrowing loss to Brighton two weeks ago, is sporting a 2-1 mark, giving them a shot at the title.

Although Bloomfield Hills looms as the team to beat, Northville must first beat Clarkston at Clarkston tomorrow night. A must game, it will begin at 8

Key man in exploiting the weaknessobviously scouted by the Northville coaching staff-was Mr. Everything, Jim Zaytı, the lean, long legged Wingback who looks like a scarecrow, but plays ball like a demon possessed.

He ran for 144 yards in 13 tries and one touchdown, and scored another TD on his only reception of the night, a 24-yard, leaping, falling catch in the end

Pattern of Northville's attack became evident early. Pitch out and sweep to the right. Pitch out and sweep to the left. Right, left, right left, like a metronome. To break the monotony, bang up the middle, throw a pass. It

That and a yawning hunger to win made the difference Friday night. Northville dominated play, beginning with the opening whistle.

The Mustangs took the opening kickoff and chewed up 63 yards on the ground - sweeping right and left-to forge their way to West Bloomfield's one yard line, only to be forced to give up the ball.

But Northville was far from giving up. Unable to move, West Bloomfield punted to Zayti, who ran the ball back nine yards to the 31.

West Bloomfield stopped Zaytiashe tried to (that's right) sweep around right end, so Zayti, on the following play, rambled around left end. The result? He found daylight far across the field. ran down the sideline and pulled up shinning in the end zone for a 6-0 lead. The extra-point kick was wide.

Then both sides tried to give the ball away. Northville fumbled a punt, Northville intercepted a pass on the next play, and four plays later, Northville handed West Bloomfield its only touchdown of the night.

Back to punt, Zayti leaned forward to pick up the pass from center. His knee hit the ground on the 12 yard line, giving the ball to West Bloomfield.

A pitch out gained only one yard, but Quarterback Robert Brennan faked wide on the next play, kept the ball, cut inside and slanted into the end zone by bowling over the last defender. West Bloomfield kicked the extra point and took the lead, 7-6.

Two plays later, Northville had another touchdown. Quarterback Chris Holman flipped a soft pass into the West Bloomfield secondary and End Bob Hubbert took it in stride, racing down the field 59 yards into the end zone. This time, Daly Hill kicked the extra point

It was Hubbert's second trip to the end zone, his first of 52 yards having been called back in the first quarter because of a clipping penalty.

Northville next got the ball on its 32, and once again began its goalward march. Fullback Pat Hall slanted off right tackle and ran 27 yards to the West Bloomfield 41.

Holman and Hubbert teamed up for 15 yards; then it was Zayti's turn. On fourth down with 24 yards to go for the touchdown, Holman lofted the ball into the end zone. There, Zayti outdueled two defenders to catch the ball. Hill added the extra point and Northville held a strong, 20-7 lead at halftime.

The third quarter belonged to Coach Art Paddy and his West Bloomfield gridders. Aided by a holding penalty, they drove to the Northville 24 before giving up the ball, and they drove 50 yards to the Northville 16 later, but that drive, too, fizzled.

Northville did everything but score in the fourth period, one of the weirdest football shows to take place on the local Northville began its swing attack once again, and Zayti spearheaded an 82-yard drive. He raced 45 yards. In his anxiety, he fumbled the ball and West Bloomfield recovered on the two vard line.

Northville got the ball the next time on its 44. Zayti ran around end, of course, for 11 yards. With West Bloomfield spotting its ends wide, Zayti slipped through inside, running for eight. seven and seven yards. It carried Northville to the 22 yard line.

Three plays later, Northville had fumbled away its last chance to mount the score.

Females Top Grid Contest

The women took over top honors in last week's football contest.

First prize of $10 went to Mrs. J. F. Andrews, 51630 West Eight Mile road. The Andrews family — he's the Reverend James Andrews of the Full Salvation Union church - are rabid sports' fans and have entered and won the quiz in past years. Mrs. Andrews missed only four games including the Indiana-Minnesota tie, which was marked wrong on all entries.

Second place and $5 was won by 10year-old Lori Hoffman of 42350 Hammill. Plymouth. Her father's a football fan and gets The Record each week just to enter the contest. Lori also missed four games, but Mrs. Andrews was closer on her prediction of the Lions-Rams outcome.

Third place and $3 was won by Carl Stephens, 16-year-old junior at Northville high school. He missed five games, but nosed out all other entries with five wrong by predicting the Detroit score almost exactly, calling it 13-7 instead of the actual 14-7 outcome.

Northville Plans Giant Homecoming

Northville high school students are planning the 'biggest-ever' homecoming celebration to begin next Thursday, October 20, using a "Fantasia" theme in parade floats and at the dance which concludes festivities Saturday night. Honoring the Class of '66, the threeday celebration for the first time will include parade floats made by clubs and classes. The custom of a nightbefore-the-game bonfire is being revived this year. It will blaze on the plateau above the football field as students rally with coaches, school board officials and players from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. next Thursday.

Next Friday night the first parade to Northville's own football field will be resplendent with Fantasia floats. In former times, there have been parades. to Ford field, but this will be the first to go from Northville city hall east on Main street to Center to the field.

The queen will be presented with a bouquet during halftime activities at the game. She also will reign with her court from 8 to 11:30 p.m. Saturday at the homocoming dance in the junior high boys' gymnasium.

The queen will be chosen from among three girls of the senior class who are among six nominees for whom seniors were to ballot Wednesday. One girl each from the ninth, tenth and elevelth grade was being chosen by respective classmates from slates of three nominees to be members of the queen's court. These were to be announced at a pep meeting afterward.

A second balloting is scheduled to choose the queen from the three successful candidates of the senior class.

Senior nominees are Linda Allen, Barb Bogart, Cindy Haynes, Pat Moase, Robin White and Sue Yoder. In the other grades nominees to the queen's court are: eleventh grade, Luanne Godfrey, Hope Hahn and Marcia Lipa; tenth, Donna Bissa, Vickie Elkins and Kim McCormick; ninth, Patsy Wilson, Leslie led, 19-6.

"We fell apart," Novi Coach John Osborne moaned.

"It was beautiful ... our guys were really fired up," Northville Coach Dick Willing beamed.

Coaches post-game comments sum up the action of Northville's 34-6 upset over Novi, in what is shaping up as rivalry to beat all rivalries.

For Coach Osborne and his gridders, things couldn't be worse. His bigger squad fumbled all of six times. Strangely enough, most of the fumbles were the result of the play designed to beat the Colts - the quarterback option.

While it worked against Novi repeatedly, it clicked only once for Novi's lone touchdown. Gary Boyer rolled out, executed a good fake, then went outside. He lateraled to trailing Jon Van Wagner, good for 23 yards. Four plays later Van Wagner bulled across from the one-yard line and Novi held a 6-0 lead. But that score triggered a fired up Northville squad that seemed to un-

Models of apartments are scheduled to be completed by December and opened to customers. The first of six sections will be ready for occupancy in the fall of next year.

Earl J. McIntosh Jr. = The Northville township planning board has given tentative approval to development plans for the Glen Meadows subdivision. Its proposed 12-acre site is on Beck road between Six and Seven Mile roads.

A fill operation is now underway on the property to raise the ground to proper levels, so developers can secure construction permits. Associate James Cutler said 20 homes would be built in the subdivision.

Fred Greenspan Building company-Approximately 13,210 people will live in homes and apartments on a 130-acre site if developers' plans materialize, Vice President Joseph Staub said. The land fronts on both Five Mile and Bradner roads. He predicted the land would be completely developed in five Sheldon Hayes - About 400 acres, stretching from Base Line road to Seven Mile road and abutting the city limit, the Hayes property is envisioned as a future Grosse Pointe.

Although Gunnar Stromberg, a Hayes employee and chairman of the township Planning Commission, sees the start of major development in the far future 17 years — he does envision developlake within the next five years.

Charles Lapham - Lapham's efforts to gain planning commission approval of his request for rezoning from residential to multiple dwelling have been denied. But Lapham still maintains that his 50-acre parcel is ideally suited for a mobile home complex, featuring landscaping, attractive large lots and wide streets. The property is at the corner of Six Mile and Beck roads.

Bud Mather - Mather presently is waiting to exercise an option on 104 acres, owned by Northville Sand and Gravel company. Mather hopes to close the deal in February. Whether the land can be reclaimed to permit construction of homes is conjectural.

Mather said that a fill operation could not be completed in less than five years.

Alex Gordon Building company -"One way or another, this property is going to be for multiples or mobile homes." That's the declaration of Alex Gordon concerning his 35-acre site at the southwest corner of Bradner and Franklin roads. "I'm prepared to go to court if necessary," he added.

If successful, building of multiples or mobile home sites will begin within a year or two, he predicted. Earlier this year, the township turned down his plans calling for erection of some 476 apartment units. Gordon said he preferred going ahead with the multiples project, but that it appears now that he will make a request for

The township of Novi requests bids on the construction of and addition to the existing fire station. Plans and specifications are available at 40250 Grand River between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Oakland Residents Face Millage Hike

Sidney Frid, Northville's representative on the Oakland county board of supervisors, told the council Monday night that Oakland county residents of the city would find an additional 1.08 mill levy on their tax mills this winter.

Frid admitted that the levy had passed the supervisors by vote, but "I never realized it was going to be in addition to the 15-mill limitation," he added.

The city council directed City Attorney Philip Ogilvie to find out how the millage could be levied without a vote of the public.

Tuesday the attorney reported that the 1.08 mills ($1.08 per thousand dollars of equalized valuation) will be levied for two purposes: to pay off assessments on storm sewers benefitting the county; and to pay off contractural debts on the county building and provide for an addition to the facility. Under a unique arrangement the building is owned by the Oakland County Building Authority and leased to the county. Revenue bonds were

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Reverend Arthur V. Norris Willowbrook Community E. U. B. Church

"Here comes the moving van," exclaimed our four-year-old son. We were greeted by a sight which is common to many families. A large moving truck was in front of our home early one morning in June. It seemed as though that morning was the hottest day in the year. Nevertheless, on that day we had to say good-by to our familiar community. The truck was loaded and the family car was packed. Ahead

The writer of the book of Ecclesiastes proclaims in the second chapter that for everything there is a time. There is a time to be born and a time to die, a time to plant and a time to reap, a time to kill and a time to heal, a time to break down and a time to build up, a time to weep and a time to laugh, and so he continues.

lay an entirely new and strange community.

Today we live in a very mobile world. Families are on the move. We seek new opportunities and challenges elsewhere. Our sons and daughters leave home for a multitude of reasons. We could very well add to the wisdom of the ancient preacher that there is a time for greetings and a time for farewells.

The limited experience of our family in moving has left with us the following impressions.

Moving is hard work. For weeks before the eventful moving day preparations were made. On moving day an entire houseful of furniture was pushed, pulled and lifted onto the moving van. After a hot, dusty trip, the whole procedure was repeated at our new home.

Small children adjust quickly. Our fears for our children were largely unfounded. Our four-year-old quickly accepted his new surroundings. While we were busy moving into our new home, he investigated the yard, the play areas, and the neighborhood children. Throughout all of the confusion the baby slept peacefully in his crib.

Perhaps we take people for granted in familiar surroundings. Moving day makes inevitable a change in our personal relationships. Old friends are more cherished, and we cling to momentoes of old friendships. But now new relationships must be established.

Moreover, it needs to be stated that opportunities exist in every community. The possibility is open for new and lasting relationships. Each individual brings his personality and experiences into the life of his new community. Each community shapes the life of its individual members. It is for this reason that the Church is involved in the community. When the newcomer becomes a part of the body of Christ. new and worth-while relationships can be established.

Start going to church this Sunday. Chances are that they've even got a nursery for beautiful babies! THE CHURCH FOR ALL . ALL FOR THE CHURCH The Church For ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily. Copyright 1966

...Raymond Frichtel was elected president of the Novi Democratic club. ...Wixom's stay of procedure request to Oakland county circuit court against erection of high tension towers in the city of the Detroit Edison was postponed. # Local Tribunals Face Replacement

Northville's municipal court-along with hundreds of other lower tribunals will vanish from Michigan's outdated judicial system when a proposal to streamline court procedures and jurisdiction becomes effective.

The measure goes before a 26member study panel October 15.

Marvin R. Stempien, (D) State Representative of the 35th (Livonia-Northville) District, and member of the panel told The Record this week that the re-organizational plan stands an "excellent chance" of being adopted.

When enacted, the bill will replace municipal courts and justices of the peace with District courts with greater jurisdiction over civil cases.

"We're trying to abolish Michigan's cumbersome, patchwork lower court system," Stempien said. "The growth of suburban areas has vastly increased the need for more de-centralized and more effective local court action.

"We want our local legal proceedings to be more formal and efficient," he added. "The great masses of suburbanites are entitled to a great deal more than 'farm-house' justice."

Stempien said the new program will enable suburbanites to settle misdemeanor and civil cases involving $5,000 or less, in the communities in which the cases arise. Long delays, caused by over-burdened county circuit courts, will be eliminated.

"Today, Northville residents and others living in outlying areas, face time-consuming trips to Detroit to resolve legal questions of minor or moderate importance. The time has come when local courts - observing formal legal procedures - must be empowered to administer justice in the community in which they function," Stempien said.

The 33-year-old Livonia attorney, who serves on the House Judiciary Committee, labeled the present municipal court-JP system as "outmoded as the horse and buggy."

"Unless we can devise an efficient and effective lower-court system, and develop it soon, our entire judicial system faces a disastrous breakdown."

Stempien called the new proposal "realistic approach to a problem that should have been solved years

Studying the proposed revision is a panel of legal experts appointed from the ranks of the State Legislature, the Courts, the State Bar Association and Governor Romney's office.

"I represented Central Michigan university at your College Night last night in Northville. During the three 40-minute sessions, I had the opportunity to talk with 285 parents and students. "I have been on this circuit now seven years and would just like you to know that I feel the counselors in these schools do an excellent job in organizing for College Night. I believe a greater percentage of parents attend than in any other situation. The students were well behaved and obviously had a high interest in getting information concerning college.

"Orchids to the fine job your counselors are doing in this respect." Board Trustee Robert Froelich added that he heard a similar report from the representative of Oakland Community College.

More than 20 colleges and universities had representatives present for the program, which drew students and parents from Walled Lake, Our Lady of Sorrows and North Farmington high schools as well as Northville.

Romney, Griffin Win ELECT Paul F. Livingston In Student Election

Romney for governor, Griffin for U.S. Senator and a presidential election contest between Democrat Senator Robert F. Kennedy and Republican Romney. Those are the political preferences expressed by Schoolcraft college students in a straw vote last week (Oct. 4). The poll was taken during the course of a Student Senate election.

In the Michigan gubernatorial race, Schoolcraft students preferred Republican Governor George Romney over his Democrat opponent, Zoltan Ferency, by a 246-39 margin.

They also went for Senator Robert Griffin, a Republican, over former Governor G. Mennen Williams, his Democrat opponent, 178-102, in the race for U.S. Senate.

Voting on both sides of the ballot in a presidential nominee poll, the students gave Kennedy a majority among five Democrat candidates, and Romney a majority among six GOP candidates.

President Johnson ran a bad second to Kennedy, 167-60, and Vice president Humphrey, with 4 votes, was outdistanced by former Alabama Gov. George Wallace, 29; and Sen. William Fulbright, 21.

On the Republican side, the students gave Romney 155 votes as GOP standard bearer, Richard Nixon, 32; Barry Goldwater, 32; New York City Mayor John Lindsay, 25; and New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller, 12.

Despite the Johnson-Humphrey vote. the Administration's Vietnam policy was backed by Schoolcraft students by a 196-102 margin.

Sell Bonds For College '66 Building

Trustees of Schoolcraft College at a special meeting Wednesday night September 29, accepted the low bid of a syndicate headed by the First of Michigan Corp., for the sale of a $3,000,000 bond issue which will finance the college's 1966 building program.

Proceeds of the bond sale will provide local funds for a number of projects on the campus, principal of which are a new 32-classroom liberal arts building and a new physical education plant.

Funds for retirement of the bonds are derived from a property tax levy voted by college district residents

Members of the successful syndicate, of which the First of Michigan Corp. is manager, are Blyth & Co.; John Nuveen & Co.; F. S. Smithers & Co.; Kenower, MacArthur & Co.; Franklin National Bank; Hartford National Bank & Trust Co.; Ball, Burge and Kraus, and Prescott & Co.

Member communities of the Huron River Watershed Council, including South Lyon and Wixom, have been asked to draw up recommendations for a cooperative water use and development policy.

The recommendations are to be submitted at the next watershed council meeting on October 20 in Ann Arbor.

Specifically, counties, cities, villages and townships within the Huron River basin are being asked to take tentative positions with respect to (1) waste water disposal, (2) community water supply, (3) recreation, (4) irrigation (including sprinkling), (5) stream flow and water management and (6)

Following submission of the recommendations, future council meetings will be devoted to developing a cooperative water-use policy acceptable to river basin communities.

The watershed council is an organization of representatives of local governments interested in promoting the wise and orderly use of the Huron River as a natural resource.

Organized in 1965, the council replaced the Huron River Watershed Intergovernment committee which was established in 1958.

Under organizational makeup, each governmental unit using the river for water supply or waste disposal has one representative for each 20,000 population, and any local government so affected by or concerned with the use and development of water resources in the basin that the council deems its membership warranted.

Members include Ann Arbor, Belleville, Brighton, Chelsea, Dexter, Flatrock, South Lyon, Wixom, Ypsilanti, and the townships of Ann Arbor, Berlin, Brownstown, Dexter, Green Oak, Hamburg, Lima, Lodi, Scio, Superior, Van Buren, Webster, Ypsilanti.

Meetings of representative members are held at least quarterly. At the annual meeting in April, officers and other members of the executive committee are elected from these representatives.

Council activities are supported by annual dues and by special grants and gifts. No unit may maintain membership without payment of dues.

Federal Funds: 'Bait' or 'Bat'?

LANSING - Influence of Washington upon state affairs is now being handled a little differently than in previous decades.

The use of the dollar as "bait" by the federal government was effective in past years in getting high speed roads built, new welfare programs initiated and many other segments of law enacted.

These were the result largely of the federal government saying, "The money is here if you want to add to it and use it in these specific ways."

"Incentive" would probably best describe this approach, but another word is needed for the tack taken in recent years.

The 1966 Legislature adopted billboard and junkyard control measures this year because federal authorities said highway funds would be partially books within a specified time.

Now the same threat is made for the withholding of highway monies if the state does not improve its traffic safety programs.

Since the federal highway "contribution" to Michigan is some $122 million annually and 10 per cent of this would be threatened by failure to act, legislative concern will once again be sharply focused on safety proposals.

Value of some additional traffic safety measures can hardly be questioned, especially in view of the continually rising death and accident toll in Michigan.

What must be asked, however, is where will the federal dictates in this manner be halted? Ideally, state legislators would turn down the promised funds if legislation which was not in the contingency. Realistically, as in the case of the $12.2 million highway funds, it raises an ethical question for the federal government to use considerable sums of project money in a "do this or lose that" proposition.

FOUR-YEAR terms for Michigan's Governor and members of the State Senate will start with those officials elected November 8.

If House of Representatives mem. bers had their way, they too would be starting longer terms in January.

The by-play involved at the end of the regular legislative session over this question brought out some of the age-old animosity, or at least rivalry between the two houses.

A Constitutional amendment would be required to give House members four-year terms. A proposal to put the question before voters in November got through the House in the last days of the session but failed to get much serious consideration in the Senate. Actually it was pretty much ignored. This was intentional by the Senate committee to which it was assigned. Needless to say the committee was hounded by a number of House members for several days and was considerably less than popular when it failed to consider the matter in time to bring the proposal to the floor.

Some Republicans in the House opposed the idea, saying it was brought forth too late. Candidates had already filed for office and presumably a fouryear term would have drawn more contestants, they said, among other reasons.

PROPONENTS of the change were disappointed it was not even voted on the Senate, although many capitol observers noted from the start that it was a futile attempt at selfperpetuation.

Four-year terms for Senators while maintaining two-year elections for the House of Representatives brought back memori-s of the days when the Senate was designated the "upper house" and the House was called the "lower cham-

Noted one wag, "Approval of this idea in the Senate would be like the generals agreeing to permit enlisted men in the officers' mess."

A UNIQUE idea for continued promotion of Michigan will be held over for the third straight year in the 1967 observance of Michigan Week.

This is the theme, "Michigan: Dynamic in World Progress." Until 1965. a new theme was selected each year for the annual week-long observance.

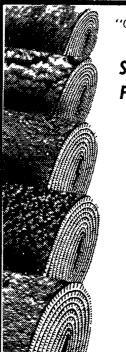

Then came the real push to get the bragging about Michigan attention outside the state and beyond the seven days of the official program.

Since the 1965 theme still has many possibilities for international impact, many community organizations and individuals urged it be used again for the 14th annual Michigan Week to be held next May 21-27.

Bond Market

BABSON PARK, Mass., - The other day we were talking with the partner of a large financial house. He said they had been looking for an experienced trader of bonds for better than a couple of months. A number of prospects were interviewed; but, long on ambition, they were very short on the chief qualification: experience.

Actually, it is no wonder that experienced bond men are scarcer than hen's teeth. Common stocks have been all the rage with the average individual investor ever since the end of World War II ... and for a spell even before that. Banks, insurance companies, and some trustees were the only ones who had much interest in bonds. As a matter of fact, even they bought more from necessity than from their love of bonds.

During the last big war, the Government and the Treasury, on the one side, and the Federal Reserve Board, on the other side, co-operated to keep interest rates low to hold down the huge expense of a soaring federal debt burden. This "accord" was highly inflationary ... because every time the Fed bought bonds to support the bond market, it filled the banks fuller and fuller of loanable funds. At the end of the fifth decade, this accord was scrapped; interest rates started ,/ ≈ a long climb, and bonds went into a secular slump from which they have not yet emerged. Today, yields of 6% on bonds are not hard to find, and these handsome returns have attracted buyers who never before bought bonds. In a word, bonds are back in fashion

WITH THE exception of a short period toward the end of the 1950's those who bought bonds during and after World War II have had a very bitter experience. First, most of the bonds purchased had low coupon rates ... ranging from around 2 1/2% to something over 4%. Naturally, as interest rates moved higher, the older, lower-couponrate issues fell in price. Second, during most of this period, stock prices rose handsomely ... making bonds look like a very poor second choice indeed. Third - and most damaging to the bond owner - prices for consumer goods climbed ever higher, so that the vearly interest received bought less and less and the purchasing power of the bond when paid off at maturity was far below the purchasing power of the original investment.

The recent swift rise in the coupon rates on best-quality bonds - to 6% and even higher - is giving the buyer a good current income and lessens the danger of any future fall in the prices of such issues. Many will tell you that the threat of inflation, of further advances in the cost of living, makes bonds still unattractive; but this fear may be unwarranted today. At present low quotations for many sound bonds, all their owner has to do is purchase them at a discount and hold them to maturity, thereby increasing his capital. This method of protecting against inflation was not available when 3% bonds were selling close to 100. And the competition from stocks - even after their recent slump - is not very great, since many of the popular issues now yield only 3%-4%.

THERE SEEMS little doubt that Congress will raise all income taxes for 1967. Such action will make tax-exemp: bonds more appealing than they are now. Once it was thought that only the very wealthy should be interested in tax-exempt securities. However, those who pay only 20% to 30% of their taxable income to Uncle Sam can make really worthwhile savings in present depressed tax-exempt bond markets. Many of the tax-exempt obligations issued ten and fifteen years ago, with maturities in the next five years, can be had today at deep discounts. You pay no federal taxes on the yearly interest while you hold them, and you enjoy the favorable long-term capital gains tax on the increase at maturity. A review of the price movements of stocks and bonds over a long sweep of history indicates that popularity may ride with stocks for many years and then swing to bonds, Since 1949, bonds have been in the discard and stocks in the ascendancy. It is just possible that recent interaction between stocks and bonds may be making the foundation for the building of a new cyclical climb in bond prices.

for The Record

By Bill Sliger

There's a very impressive committee leading the campaign for passage of proposal No. 1 on the November 8

Proposal No. 1 calls for lowering the voting age in the state of Michigan to

A packet of literature received from the "Michigan Citizens Committee for the Vote at 18" arrived through the mail this week. One of the pieces displays the famous Iwo Jima flag-raising photograph, apparently implying that if an 18-year-old is old enough to fight for his country he is old enough to vote. Presumably, it would also lead one to believe that the five brave soldiers who struggled to raise Old Glory atop Mt. Suribachi were all

The line-up supporting the 18-yearold vote is awe-inspiring. To question their judgment would be like checking Einstein's arithmetic for accuracy.

The Citizens Committee for the Vote at 18 is headed up by C. Allen Harlan, MSU trustee. Members of the sponsoring committee include such names as Senator Philip Hart, Mayor Cavanagh. Adelaide Hart, Elly Peterson, Walter Reuther, Gus Scholle, Alvin Bentley, John Feikens, Judge Horace Gilmore, Judge James Montante, Judge Blair Moody, Jr., the Reverend Malcolm Carron, S.J., Dr. William Keast, Rabbi Milton Arm and even Willie Horton.

Add to that this list of leaders who have given their support to extending the vote to the 18-year-olds: Presidents Kennedy, Eisenhower, Roosevelt, Johnson; Vice President Humphrey, Governor Romney, Senators Vandenberg, Dirksen, Griffin and Robert Kennedy; G. Mennen Williams, Zolton Ferency and Richard Nixon.

That a group with such divergent philosophies could reach harmoninity on anything remotely connected with politics is miraculous.

And that any small town weekly editor would question their judgment is side-splitting.

But I think they're all wrong.

Eighteen-year-olds aren't ready to vote.

Society doesn't think they're mature enough to decide whether or not they should partake of alcoholic beverages. Why should we be so ready to accept their judgment in matters as important as electing a President of the United States?

Eighteen-year-olds are still youngsters who need and have a right to expect parental, adult guidance. They're just coming out of their shells.

And that's exactly why they shouldn't vote. They need more maturity, experience and responsibility. They need to know what it means to work for a dollar, to provide for others, to pay car installments, union dues, social security, income tax, board and room, etc.

They need to meet more people outside their own family and community sphere of influence to discover that philosophies which do not fit the pattern of their environment are not necessarily "way out".

The most popular argument ... that anyone old enough to fight for his country is old enough to vote ... leaves me unimpressed.

It smacks of the old "anything for the fighting boys" line that politicians have too often abused to either attract votes, build bigger bureaus and federal funds or sooth a 4-F guilt complex.

Serving ones country in the armed forces is a duty. It comes at 18 because at that age most boys are ready mentally and physically.

Voting is a privilege. It comes at 21 because at that age most young men and women are mature. Some could be given the privilege sooner; others are never ready, nor are they interested.

But in our democratic system we reach decisions by the will of the majority. And in my opinion, there are more youngsters competent to exercise the privilege of the ballot at age 21 than at 18.

I'll vote NO on proposal No. 1 on November 8. **********

Northville's old city managers never die, they join school systems.

The latest ex-Northville manager to switch from the municipal to the school business field is Bruce Potthoff. He's accepted the position of executive director for Royal Oak schools business affairs at a salary of $14,250.

Potthoff left Northville to become city manager of Berkley in April, 1965. He takes over his new post October 30.

Potthoff was Northville's second city manager. The first, John Robertson, took a city manager's job in Ferguson, Missouri when he moved from Northville. But now he's administrative assistant to the president of a community college in Missouri.

Although school systems have a reputation for low pay, it appears their compensation is high enough to attract top administrators from municipalities.

The loss of Potthoff, a highly capable administrator, brought a blast from Berkley's mayor that the city was "losing good men because of low salaries". The manager's job in Berkley paid $12,500.

Recent publication of school administrative salaries in Northville raised eyebrows of some city councilmen. It also played a role in immediately raising the city manager's salary

(And some schoolmen tried to tell us that publishing their salaries served no good purpose!).

It happened two years ago when I followed up an ad concerning "your choice of brand new, year-old cars with all the extras".

"This time," I told my doubting wife, 'I'm going to buy exactly what's advertised. No one's going to change my mind. It's that car or nothing!"

So when the salesman suggested I take a look at one of the new models, I held my ground and insisted on a 'brand new, year-old' one.

'Alright,' he said, 'if you'll wait a few minutes I'll drive you over to our other lot. All those models are stored there. On the way over I'll show you an eight-cylinder beauty that might interest you."

"Never mind about the beauty," I said, "just show me the brand new, year-old ones."

Fifteen minutes he was back, "Ok folks, let's go. I've got to make a quick stop at the new car lot."

He pulled up between two gleaming new convertibles and was gone. "Can't you see what he's doing," I told my wife. "He knows you like convertibles; he wants to sell us one. Well, it won't work. Just look straight ahead. Pretend they're

He spun out of the lot, up the street about a mile and into the used-car lot "The folks here want to see the year-old new ones," he told the attendant. "Still in the same place?" 'Yep, in the back."

'In the back' was way in the back. Back along the rear fence, huddled beneath several sap-dripping trees were two brand-new, year-old cars. Both sported thick coats of dust and flat tires.

"Not much to look at," he started to say, "but .....".

"I'll take the blue one. Just wash it up and fix the tires. A punch in the belly couldn't have surprised or hurt him more. His sales plan was crumbling

"Sure, sure, but ... it'll take some time to get it in shape."

"That's OK, we've got the time." Returning from lunch, we waited in the lobby for a half-hour or so until he'd finished with a customer.

"Folks, I've got some bad news.
