

Future: People, Problems

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the seventh and last in a series of articles on local area plans for the future. A map showing areas under development or proposed for development appears on Page 6-B.

Most municipal leaders are weary of predictions and time-tables supplied by developers. Through experience they have found them to be over optimistic. Nevertheless, it is a fact that the 1970 population projections of the Metropolitan Area Regional Planning commission have already nearly been realized in Northville and Novi with more than three years yet to go.

Interestingly, last year's census for these two areas totaled 19,320, with 4,670 in the city of Northville, 7,800 in Northville township and 6,900 in Novi. The 1970 projection for the same area, made three years ago, was 21,800.

Population figures to be released later this month by the metropolitan planning commission are expected to show an increase in 1966, thus boosting the total figure even closer to that 1970 projection.

Although he declined to reveal local 1966 populations prior to release of the October report, Executive Director Paul M. Reid did tell this newspaper that the total population increase for the four-county area of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw this year will "come pretty close to 116,000". Last year the same area showed an increase of 111,000.

Thus, even taken at less than face value, predictions by residential developers that the population of this area could double within the next five years may not be far out of the ball park.

If their predictions prove accurate, Northville and Novi can expect a total population of nearly 40,000 people by 1971! That's about 6,000 less than planners had projected for the same area by 1980.

Bonfire Signals Start Of Gala Homecoming

Flames of a giant bonfire tonight will touch off two days of homecoming festivities here.

Students will gather with coaches on the plateau above the football field at 7:45 p.m. for the fiery pep rally.

The celebration will flare into full swing Friday, beginning with the crowning of the queen during a pep assembly. One of three seniors, Linda Allen, Barbara Bogart or Pat Moase, will reign.

A parade, complete with four floats representing each class and led by the queen and her court, will form up at 5:45 p.m. at city hall, then proceed to Center street and north to the high school.

Sparkling festivities will come to an end Saturday night at the homecoming dance to be held from 8 to 11:30 p.m. in the junior high boys' gymnasium.

Gerald Avenue Residents Fight Eviction Notices

The township of Northville and owners of Gerald avenue property containing house trailers will be represented in Wayne county circuit court Friday at 11 a.m. at a show cause hearing for the purpose of setting a date for testing the township's zoning ordinance.

Owners of the lots containing trailers used as residences have refused a township order to remove the trailers on the basis that the area is zoned industrial.

Prosecution started against the property owners by the township was scheduled to come before the Northville Municipal Court Monday, but was postponed when Attorney John Crandall, representing the Gerald avenue property owners, started a Wayne county circuit action to test the validity of the township's ordinance as it applies to Gerald Avenue.

Crandall obtained a temporary restraining order against the township halting the local proceedings until the

Boor Appointed By Township

In a brief special meeting Wednesday evening, October 12 the Northville township board named Donald P. Boor, 20297 Woodhill, to the planning commission. He will fill the unexpired term of Board Trustee James Tellam, who relinquished his seat on the planning commission.

Trustee Bernard Baldwin is now the board's representative on the planning commission.

In other business the board granted Dun Rovin golf club a permit, renewable yearly, to hold public dances. Previously, the club had been confined to dancing for private parties only.

The bid for $115 came from Mrs. Louise Older, who said she intended to move the house to a lot at Rogers and Dubuar. The council gave Mrs. Older three weeks to obtain permission to move the house to the new location. This must be granted by the board of appeals with knowledge of abutting homeowners in the area. If the house can be moved, it will be Mrs. Older's for the bargain price of $115—plus costs incurred in moving, etc. The city has specified that the lot must be left nearly level. It will be converted into a parking lot.

New School Faces $30,000 Sewer Fee

Utilities, road improvements and traffic safety devices needed at Northville school sites were discussed Tuesday night by city and school officials meeting in joint session.

They learned that the biggest obstacle to solution of most of their problems is money.

They also decided that they should get together more frequently, along with township officials, to improve liaison and future planning.

Top concern of school officials is sewer service to the new junior high school site on Taft road. City officials informed them that the most practical answer would be a line southward from the school site to the new sewer line along Randolph.

Estimates for this installation were $32,000 if the line were installed along Taft road and $29,000 if it cut cross-country east of Taft road. This route would require acquisition of an easement, but it would provide the possibility of a pay-back arrangement to the school system when lots along the route tapped into the line.

City officials ruled out as "imprudent" and only a temporary answer a connection northeasterly to a new relief line serving Northville Heights No. 2. This line is connected directly to Novi's new Oakland county interceptor and the city is limited to a capacity of .6 CFS of sewage through the line.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff pointed out that the Randolph sewer was designed to serve the Taft road school site and all property along Eight Mile road to the city limits at Beck road.

The condition of Taft road at the junior high site was also a concern of school officials. They noted that by next fall the school would be open and that the road would need improvements. Mayor A. M. Allen noted that Taft road was far down the city's list for improvements and that paying now was out of the question. He said it would be too expensive and that future construction and development in the area made it unwise to pave the road at this time.

The city estimated the cost of paving Taft from Randolph to the city limits at $100,000. The city manager said that efforts to keep it improved by grading and oiling would be doubled.

A signal light for Eight Mile road and North Center street can be installed soon, Councilman John Canterbury reported. Cost of a four-way, fully-operating traffic light would be $1,600, he stated. Wayne county will pay one-fourth the cost. It was suggested that the city and school would split the remaining $1,200. School officials said they would consider the proposal and determine whether or not left turn signals should be added.

The officials agreed to schedule regular quarterly meetings of city, school and township bodies. It was also decided that more frequent meetings should be held by the school superintendent, city manager and township supervisor.

The possibility of annexing the 10-acre Moraine school site on West Eight Mile road was left without decision. School Board President W. C. Becker noted that the school district is desirous of police protection and traffic assistance at the site and would therefore like it annexed to the city.

City officials pointed out, however, that the question must first be considered by the township board. A request for annexation was sent to the township board two months ago. It has not received board action, however.

Citizens from Northville Estates expressed concern about safety at the Moraine school site. School Board Member Robert Froelich explained that automatic signal equipment had been ordered and that a crossing guard would be provided. Under consideration also is an overpass.

Eight Mile road at the school site is being widened to provide passing lanes. It was proposed that the widening of the road on the north side should be continued to the Northville Estates entrance to improve safety conditions.

Board President Becker pointed out in conclusion that some board members had been under the opinion that purchase of the Taft road site for the junior high school included close access to sewer facilities. The firm from which the school purchased the land, Thompson-Brown, plans a development of homes and apartments in the area, but the project has been delayed. Becker said it was assumed that both sewer and road improvements would be largely made by the land developers and that these costs had not been anticipated.

Rubbish Costs Irk Merchants

Charges for garbage and rubbish in the city's commercial area occupied most of the council's time at its regular meeting Monday night.

The end result was that the proposed fees and enforcement of the number of collections in the business district was assigned to a committee of merchants and the city manager for study and recommendation.

Five merchants attended the meeting to ask the council its basis for establishing the new fees for rubbish removal. Each ended up on the study committee. They are Charles Altman, Charles Lapham, Fred McLean, Essie Nirider and Gerald Stone.

Four other merchants had contacted the city manager expressing dissatisfaction with the increase in rates.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff, who proposed the new system, explained that collection costs to the city had increased by $6,300 over last year and that $4,900 of the hike applied to the business district. Total collection charges for one weekly pick-up of all residences and businesses and an additional pick-up at 21 businesses will be $17,000 for the year beginning September 15.

Under the manager's plan, some businesses with exceptionally heavy single pick-ups would be charged additional 21 businesses requiring two pick-ups would be additionally charged also. The added fees, to be collected by the city, range from $5 to $20 monthly.

Last year only nine merchants contracted for second weekly pick-ups. They made these arrangements directly with the collector at a fee of $2.50 monthly.

Manager Ollendorff explained that the collector would no longer pick-up at that fee and that he was reluctant to make second collections. The manager said that the collector had agreed to make the 21 "second" collections, but would be willing to drop any number of these and reduce the fee by that amount.

Most of the merchants at the meeting agreed that the new system was the best yet introduced to improve rubbish collection and enforce health and beautification standards in the business district.

But they insisted that the rate increases seemed exorbitant. And some stated that they would prefer to provide their own second collections rather than pay the added charge. The merchants also noted, however, that they felt entitled to a single residential comparable to the size of residential pickups without an added charge.

The council finally approved an ordinance amendment providing for charging fees for rubbish collections, but it left the final establishment of fees up to the manager and the merchant committee. One of the discrepancies noted in the charges by merchants was that several businesses, some located on second floors, were using the rubbish service but that the charges for that collection were being levied against one or two main floor businesses.

In other action the council heard Craig Rathburn and representatives of the Pure Oil Company appeal to the council for reconsideration of a denial by the planning commission for a public hearing on rezoning Main street property so that the Main and Wing street Pure Oil station can be expanded and replaced by a modern facility.

An oil company representative explained that the company had an option to purchase the former Rathburn Chevrolet building. The building adjoins the station on Main street extending some 107 feet from the station east to the entrance to the city's parking lot.

The building site is zoned C-2 and would require rezoning to C-1 for use as a service station.

Planners had rejected the proposal on the basis that service stations were not permitted within the proposed central business district (CBD) as provided in the master plan. The site, they contend, would be better used for customer parking in the development of the business district.

Rathburn and the Pure representative stated that they would enhance the business district, add tax base and would be located on the "fringe" where it would not be detrimental. The oil company spokesman also suggested that the CBD plan might never develop.

Councilman Del Black contradicted this statement and said that he supported the planners' position. "The CBD should be well underway within five years. We've adopted the master plan in principle although it may develop with variations", Black said.

Councilman John Canterbury expressed regret that a property owner should lose an opportunity for a sale, but he noted that three vacant service stations now exist in the city and "many people feel we already have too many". He added, however, that he would want to talk to the planners before making any decision.

Mayor A. M. Allen urged reconsideration with the planners and called for a joint meeting as soon as possible.

Appointments Completed For 'Blue Ribbon' Plan

Appointments to a steering committee proposed by the Northville Area Economic Development Committee have been completed.

Invited to participate in the formation of a "blue ribbon" citizens' committee to make an objective, unbiased study regarding "needed services and possible future governmental structural changes in the area to better and more economically serve the increasing population" were the city council, township board, chamber of commerce and board of education.

Last week the township board announced that its appointments to the steering committee were Supervisor R. D. Merriam and Bernard Baldwin. The chamber appointed John Carlo and C. A. Hoffman.

Earlier the city council had named Mayor A. M. Allen and George Zerbe, chairman of the planning commission, and the school board appointed Donald Lawrence and Robert Froelich as its representatives.

It is expected that the Economic Development group will also name two representatives on the steering committee. The function of the steering committee, as outlined in a letter calling for its formation, will be to define objectives and then appoint the citizens committee.

Lawrence, who in addition to being the school board's representative on the steering committee is also president of the Economic Development Committee, said that a date for the initial steering committee session will probably be set this week.

He said that he anticipates appointment of a broad overall committee that would be divided into specific areas of study. And he noted that in many areas, such as projected school population, studies have already been made and that such information would be available without new research.

Taylor - Daniel

In a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening, October 8, Janice Taylor became the bride of James Ray Daniel. Officiating at the First Baptist Church of Northville wedding was the Rev. Robert Spradling.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Fred Watson of 341 Cady and Mr. Carl Taylor of Inkster. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Daniel of 414 East street.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor-length gown of silk taffeta covered with lace which cascaded at the neckline. She carried a cascade of white mums and roses.

A close friend of the bride, Linda French, was the maid of honor. She wore a gold taffeta gown with a laced top. Bridesmaids Connie Bannon and Lynnda Polino, cousin of the bride, wore matching two-tone taffeta gowns in blue.

Pat Walter was the best man while Mike Sisse, Joe Bell and Carl Taylor, brother of the bride, served as ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, the bride's mother wore a gold and blue brocade suit with gold accessories with a corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother chose a royal blue dress with matching accessories with a corsage of white roses.

The couple will make their home at 9250 Napier road.

Hikers to Form Another Club

Efforts are underway to organize another area chapter of the National Campers and Hikers association, according to Marjorie Schulkins, field director for NCHA.

An organizational meeting has been scheduled for October 27, at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room at Merri-Bowl Lanes, 30950 Five Mile road.

Anyone interested in camping or hiking is invited to attend.

First organized in 1963 with a chapter of only five families, the association has grown to 46 chapters in Michigan, with 21 chapters in the suburbs of Detroit and with a total of 1,500 families.

The Northville chapter, called the Tumble Weeds, has a membership of approximately 30 families. Its president is Carl Dahlstrom of Farmington; secretary, Lynn Beyer of Northville; and treasurer, Jim Smolinski of Northville.

Keith-Straith

Rita Jean Keith of Novi and Alan Lewis Straith of Northville were united in marriage September 24 in an afternoon ceremony at Trinity Episcopal church, Farmington.

In the church setting that included tall arrangements of all white Fuji and button mums, the Rev. Robert Eddy performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford of 25999 Clark, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Straith.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a cocktail length gown of champagne lace over crepe, featuring a scalloped neckline, empire waist and long fitted sleeves which ended in petal points at her wrists. She wore a matching headpiece with a short veil.

She carried a bouquet of white roses. The matron of honor, Elaine Straith, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, also wore a cocktail length gown. The sleeveless turquoise outfit featured a matching bow hanging from an empire waist.

Dressed similarly as the bridesmaid, Carolyn Stanford, a friend of the bride, Flowers of both attendants were rust colored chrysanthemum nose-gays.

Russell L. Straith served his brother as best man, and Ronald C. Straith, another brother, and Roger Wabeke served as ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Crawford wore a pink crepe jacket dress, with a flowered pink hat, matching accessories, and a pink chrysanthemum corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue and pale gold dress with matching coat, mink trimmed hat, blue accessories and a rust chrysanthemum corsage.

Some 150 guests from Northville, Detroit, Dearborn, Bay City, Birmingham, Farmington, Pinckney, Ann Arbor and Pennsylvania attended a reception in the home of the bridegroom's parents. After receiving guests in the home, the newlyweds and the guests were entertained in a lovely backyard tent featuring Italian lights. The cake table was decorated with a cloth that was hand-made by the bridegroom's grandmother more than 50 years ago.

Earlier, a rehearsal dinner was held at the Straith home. Decorations followed the colors of the wedding—turquoise and white. A special guest was Earl Hayward of Bay City, the bridegroom's great uncle.

For her going away outfit, the bride wore a green knit suit with brown accessories. The wedding trip was to Toronto, Canada.

The new Mrs. Straith is a graduate of Northville high school. Her husband was graduated from Redford high school and Central Michigan university. Presently, they are living in Farmington township.

In Our Town

By Jean Day

NEXT BEST THING to picking up a bargain firsthand in the market places of Greece, Italy or Mexico will be buying such treasures at the "post office" of the Northville Presbyterian church chancel choir, which will be open during the annual homecoming pancake supper being served at the church from 5 to 7 p.m. Friday.

During the past several months vacationing choir and church members and friends have sent packages to the project from Europe, the Caribbean, the Americas and from many sections of our own country.

MRS. ROBERT FROELICH, "post-mistress" of the event to raise funds for improvements to the church organ, announced Monday that she has formulated her own zip-code plan to separate packages into ten global regions—South, East, West, Great Lakes, Pacific, Canada, Mexico, Caribbean, Great Britain and Europe. Choir members will man the post office while the men of the church are serving their annual pancake supper.

Because the purpose of the event is to "make music," Mrs. Froelich says, it was decided to charge $2 per package. Since they all cost at least $1 (and one is reported to have cost $5) where purchased, the committee feels the goodies still will be bargains. Packages received this month bring the total to more than 100. Proceeds will help pay for new chimes and new organ stops, including a Nazard stop that Mrs. Edwin Langtry, organist, delightedly reports is a "brilliant" trumpet stop.

Among the last packages to be received were those from choir member Mrs. Donald Schwendemann, who brought them back from Mexico personally to be sure they arrived in time. She and her husband vacationed earlier this month in Acapulco and Mexico City. Because they flew first to Acapulco, Barb Schwendemann reports, they were able to enjoy the resort's sunny beaches. A few days later they were drenched with the rains of the storm, Inez.

The Leonard Kleins, in Mexico at the same time, were in the midst of the storm when they visited Acapulco. This was an encore visit to Mexico for Mrs. Klein, who previously escorted a group of area Girl Scouts there.

LAPEER, OXFORD and the ROCHES-TER area will be the "hunting grounds" of Baseline Queter club members as they leave at 9 a.m. Monday on an all-day antiquing trip. Trip chairman Mrs. William Crump has asked members to meet first at her home on Timberlane. Because the club encountered problems with the traditional Monday closing of area restaurants, members will tote their own.

Member Mrs. Arthur Basel predicts that members of the club who attended the state convention in Frankenthum now will be looking for lime green glass objects as they visit antique shops Monday.

State convention goers were introduced to the collecting possibilities of uranium glass by Mrs. Palinsky of Flint's Hazleton chapter, who is writing a book on the subject. Since World War II, she reported, the production of such glass has been curtailed because of shortages of the vital substance. Mrs. Basel said that pieces she exhibited under special lighting revealed "striking vibrations" of the uranium.

Not frequently collected yet, the glass is milky green or clear lime—the kind your old lemon squeezer was made of! Michigan, incidentally, is one of only three states having a state-level Queter organization. While there are chapters all over the country, most have only a national affiliation.

Northville's opening Town Hall lecture-recital of the current season featuring Karl Haas this morning in the high school auditorium will have its audience augmented with interested members of the high school band. Although TH is again a sell-out, extra seats were available for the opening lecture as it is being held in the high school instead of the P and A theatre, where next month's program will be. Chairman Mrs. Robert Brueck invited the music students, feeling they would appreciate Mr. Haas' program.

Mrs. Duane Butler, reservations chairman, Monday counted 245 prepaid reservations for the celebrity luncheon to follow at Meadowbrook. She admitted that the TH committee is delighted-and-relieved that Town Hall goes appreciated-and-approved the necessity for the new plan. She added that it now is possible for members to pay for all luncheons of the season at once if they desire.

Engaged

Doris Jeanne Heise

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew G. Heise of Ann Arbor announce the engagement of their daughter, Doris Jeanne, to First Lieutenant Chris Allan Krauter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Krauter, 373 Rayson street.

Miss Heise will be a January graduate of Eastern Michigan university. Her fiancée is a graduate of Eastern Michigan university and currently is serving with the United States Army's 51st Maintenance Battalion in Heidelberg, Germany. At Eastern he was a member of the Stoic Society and Alpha Kappa Psi.

A March wedding is planned.

Barbara Lee Forsyth

Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Forsyth of 19851 Fry road, Northville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Lee to James M. Jiggins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Jiggins of South Lyon, formerly of Northville.

The bride elect is a 1964 graduate of Northville high school, a 1965 graduate of Cleary college in Ypsilanti, and presently is employed at the Ford Motor company in Wixom.

Her fiancée is a 1963 graduate of Northville high school and presently is stationed at a WOC flight school at Ft. Wolters, Texas with the United States Army.

A December 23 wedding is planned.

Women To Get Tips On Buying

Mrs. Marjorie A. Gibbs, Detroit Consumer Marketing Information Agent of Oakland university, will give tips on "Magic in Food Buying" to members and guests of Northville Woman's club at 2 p.m. Friday when the club meets downstairs in the Sunday school worship room of Northville Presbyterian church.

To help housewives get increased satisfaction from their food buying, Mrs. Gibbs says, her work is largely to improve the flow of information between producers - "those who grow" - and consumers - "those who buy."

Her information is obtained entirely from local sources with many hours being spent each week in making new contacts on producers, wholesalers and retailers. Her chief aim, she points out is in getting unbiased information.

In 1954, through the persuasion of D. B. Varner, now chancellor of Oakland university, she accepted the position with the cooperative extension service of the university, developing its present program from a mere idea.

Most difficult part of her job, Mrs. Gibbs confesses, is getting the food marketing information into the home-maker's hand. Her success in doing this has made her a much-quoted name in newspapers, on radio and television and other mass media.

Before her present post, Mrs. Gibbs worked with food in a number of ways. After graduation from Wayne university in home economics education, she taught for a year before deciding she would like to attempt some type of war work. Having a minor in chemistry she worked for three years as a laboratory technician in the chemical department of Chrysler corporation. From there she went to Sealtest Creameries where she worked for about the same length of time as a nutritionist in the public relations department.

She then spent seven years in the home service department of the Pontiac division of Consumers Power company.

She has been active in all of her professional organizations, serving as vice president of the Michigan home economics association; as chaplain of Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary home economics fraternity; president of the Detroit chapter of Home Economics in Business; president of the Adult Education Association of Metropolitan Detroit; vice-president of the Detroit chapter of American Women in Radio and Television.

Most recently she has been serving as president of the Women's Advertising Club of Detroit. She is on the Detroit Budget Council; board of governors of the women's committee of the United Community Services; and board of directors, homemaking service of Metropolitan Detroit. She was elected one of the 10 top working women in Detroit in 1962.

While she thoroughly enjoys testing new recipes in her home and entertaining guests for dinner, Mrs. Gibbs says she also enjoys "testing" good restaurants with her husband.

She will be introduced Friday by Mrs. Leonard Klein. A tea will follow the program.

Town Hall Opens Today

Northville's sixth annual town hall series opens today with "A Musical Adventure with Karl Haas" at 11 a.m. in the Northville high school auditorium.

Mrs. Robert Brueck, town hall chairman, has announced that the internationally-known lecturer-recitalist will be introduced by Wayne Dunlap, conductor of the Plymouth symphony orchestra. A celebrity luncheon at Meadowbrook country club is to follow the program.

Karl Haas, director of fine arts for WJR radio in Detroit and world-acclaimed authority on cultural affairs, appears on the air in the role of host on the weekday morning broadcasts of Adventures in Good Music and also has a Saturday evening presentation. These programs are heard around the world at the request of the United States Armed Forces radio network.

He has conceived and put into effect many valuable exchange ideas between government agencies and national broadcasting companies of Europe and his own fields of activity in this country. In 1958 he represented the United States as a delegate to the UNESCO Music Congress in Paris.

In 1962 he accepted an appointment as a consultant to the Ford Foundation in New York in the field of arts and humanities, mass communications and international affairs. As an extension of this appointment, Haas accepted an assignment as resident director in Berlin, directing the foundation's elaborate cultural activities during the 1963-4 season while also continuing as host of his Adventures in Good Music program.

University VP To Speak Here

Dr. Richard Cutler, vice-president of the University of Michigan office of student affairs, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Northville Mothers' club Monday night.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. O. Evans, 20311 Woodhill at 8 p.m., with Dr. Cutler speaking on "The Current Campus".

Two Grid Ties Mar Entries In Contest

There is nothing like a tie to spoil football predictions, and that's what happened in last week's football contest.

Everybody slipped up on the 3-3 tie between Northwestern and Wisconsin and the 19-19 tie between San Diego and Buffalo.

But from there on, there was no beating Jack Jones, 43550 Six Mile road. He missed only one other game, California's victory over Washington, a mild upset, and won $10 first prize money.

Al Jones, 43550 West Six Mile road, a teacher at Northville high school and a man who lives sports, picked up second place money of $5. Like two others, he missed four predictions, but his forecast of the Lions-Baltimore score was closer to the mark. He chose Baltimore, 34-14, 11 points off the score of 45-14.

Sharing third place and $3 were Dennis Sharny, and Mike Hlohinec. Both guessed wrong on four games and had the same point spread on the Lions' game.

Swaney lives at 125 W. Liberty street, South Lyon and Hlohinec resides at 529 Randolph street, Northville.

Clarkston Wins, 7-0

Mustangs Miss Tie by Inches

A spine-tingling goal line stand in the third quarter squelched the only real Northville threat Friday as a fired-up Clarkston eleven claimed a 7-0 victory before a screaming homecoming crowd.

The loss dropped the Mustangs to a three-way tie for third place with Clarkston and Clarenceville, which took a 25-7 pasting at the hands of unbeaten Bloomfield Hills.

League-leading Bloomfield invades Northville tomorrow for a homecoming tilt that puts the Mustangs in the spoiler's role.

Down 7-0 late in the fourth quarter, Northville appeared sure of a score, driving from its own 42 to the 10 with first and goal to go. But four successive dives by the middle by Jim Zayti and Dennis Matthews failed to produce the TD, and Clarkston took possession just six inches from the end zone with little more than two minutes to play.

"We were flat, just plain flat," said Coach Alex Klukach. "Like last week against West Bloomfield we were spread out more, instead of using the unbalanced line. Our kids are small and it seems to work best. But this time it didn't."

Klukach noted that Clarkston "was up for this one because it was their homecoming." That plus Northville's sputtering offense spelled the difference. But for a relatively fine defensive performance on Northville's part, Clarkston's triumph might have been considerably sweeter.

Clarkston's lone tally wasn't as impressive as it was surprising. It came a quarter of the way through the final frame, following four dismal plays by the Mustangs that took them from their own 36 back to the 19.

Northville punted on fourth down at this point. Mark Erickson grabbed it on the Northville 42, swept wide around the right side of the field, dodged past two or three would-be tacklers and scooted into the end zone.

Rick Johnson kicked the extra point. It was the next series of Northville plays that carried the local squad to the six-inch mark.

On two other occasions, Northville penetrated deep into Clarkston's territory. Northville had the ball on the Clarkston 17 in the second quarter before losing possession at the 24 and in the third quarter the local eleven pushed the ball to the 18.

Clarkston put together its longest drive in the third quarter, starting at its 24 and pushing all the way down to Northville's 16 before the Mustangs took possession seconds before the half.

During that long drive, Clarkston attempted 10 passes, completing four of them. The longest was for 16 yards. In other Wayne-Oakland games Friday, second-place West Bloomfield —

Northville's 20-7 victims a week earlier — crushed Holly, 40-6, while Milford blanked Brighton, 33-0.

Northville, which will take a 2-2 record into tomorrow's game here with Bloomfield Hills, will take on Milford here October 28 and then close out the season November 4 at Clarenceville.

More Trouble Brewing

The writing's on the wall and it's indelibly clear. Trouble is brewing for Northville's homecoming tomorrow night.

Bloomfield Hills, once a football patsy, now a football power in the Wayne-Oakland Conference, is coming to town. Under the tutelage of Bill Tunnick, former University of Michigan fullback, the Barons are charging toward their second straight W-O title.

True, the Barons (4-0) hold only a one-game lead over second place West Bloomfield (3-1), but the race simply looks close. It isn't.

No one has come close to beating the talented Barons. In successive games this year they have polished off Oak Park (26-0), Clarkston (42-0), Holly (52-0), Milford (50-19) and Clarenceville (25-7).

Over a two-year span, Bloomfield has dropped only one game, that a 20-19 loss to Milford. The Barons two-year record: 12-1.

The scores are enough to intimidate the most intrepid soul, but a closer look at the Barons' all-veteran lineup could rattle the Jolly Green Giant.

In Dick Kraatz, Bloomfield has a back with speed and size (6' and 185 pounds). His lightning dashes broke last year's Northville-Bloomfield Hills game wide open.

Kraatz ran for touchdowns on jaunts of 34 and 36 yards, and carried the ball six times for 131 yards, slightly less than 22 yards per try.

This year, the speedy senior half-back hasn't let up any, having scored 11 touchdowns. Every time he carries the ball he gains an average of nine yards. That was after foes keyed on him.

Stopping Kraatz, however, won't stop the Bloomfield attack. Fullback Randy DeArment, small for a fullback at 5'7" and 177 pounds, is a devastating runner.

PUTTING THE KICK into the football is Douglas Webster, who competed against other eight-year-olds.

Rain Doesn't Dampen Grid Enthusiasm

Despite rainy and windy weather, 74 boys turned out Saturday morning to compete in this year's local Punt, Pass and Kick contest, sponsored by John Mach Ford.

Of six winners, four were repeats from last year. They were nine-year-old John Boland, 313 Ely drive; 10-year-old John Farrer, 46995 Main Street; 12-year-old Steve Bosak, 43000 East Nine Mile road, and 13-year-old Steve Utley, 777 Grace street.

Winning for the first time were eight-year-old Jim Dales, 326 Debra Lane, and 11-year-old Mike Brown, 100 Ely drive.

Those in the Detroit area with the highest scores will earn the right to compete in the district Punt, Pass and Kick contest. Northville Director Gordon Bunn reported that results will be announced by October 28.

According to Bunn, a point is awarded for each foot the ball is passed, kicked or thrown along a line, with a point being subtracted for each foot the ball is off the line.

Garnering the top point total was Steve Utley, the second year in a row he has topped that honor.

Taking second and third place respectively, in the various age groups at Ford Field were: Jim Tiffin and Jim Eaker (eight years old), Keith Trumbull and Ed Jacques (nine years old), Gary Eaker and Tom Marzoni (10 years old), Brad McAllister and Mark Grigg (11 years old), Jeff Pitak and Pete Kunst (12 years old) and Brad Cole and Ken Lach (13 years old).

Loss Mars Silence As Novi Bows, 32-12

Not a word was heard. Suddenly the snap came from center, and the Michigan School for the Deaf swung into action.

That's the imponderable Novi faced last week Wednesday when it traveled to Flint, only to lose its third game in a row, 32-12.

The silence threw Novi off kilter. "It was kind of quiet," Coach John Osborne said. "It took us a while to adjust."

Three quarters, as a matter of fact. Not until the fourth period did Novi get on the scoreboard, and by that time, Michigan School for the Deaf was leading, 26-0.

There were other things besides the silence, however, that proved decisive. Michigan School for the Deaf, for instance, was bigger and being a class D, four-year school, it had the edge in experience, Coach Osborne explained.

But Coach Osborne's charges will have a chance to redeem themselves Saturday night. They'll bus up to Pontiac to take on Immanuel Christian, another four-year, class D school.

Kickoff is scheduled for 8 p.m. under the lights at Wisner stadium, which holds approximately 10,000 people.

"We've bogged down lately," Osborne moaned, "but we'll do well Saturday night."

Except for the passing of Quarterback Gary Boyer, the receiving of End Doug Earl and the running of Halfback Jon Van Wagner, Novi didn't have much to shout about last Friday night.

Michigan School for the Deaf jumped off to a rousing 19-0 halftime lead, then added another touchdown in the third period before substituting freely.

Novi then took the initiative, resorting to the passing arm of Boyer. Firing passes to Earl, Novi moved from its 45 to the one-yard stripe, where Boyer sneaked over for the TD.

Boyer engineered another touchdown late in the fourth quarter, again relying on his passes to move 40 yards down field. Key play in the drive was an 11-yard pass to Doug Schott which placed the ball on the one yard line. Van Wagner slammed over for the touchdown.

With only 20 seconds remaining in the game, Novi kicked off to Michigan School for the Deaf. It passed on the first play from scrimmage; Earl intercepted, running 40 yards back to the Michigan School for the Deaf four yard line before being tackled as time ran out.

Boyer, in completing eight of 13 passes for 78 yards, turned in his best aerial game of the season. Earl caught seven of those passes for 67 yards.

As usual, Van Wagner spearheaded the Novi ground game. He carried the ball 29 times and gained 104 yards.

Population Boom

Only in Wixom has the population trend fallen short of expectation. Last year that city showed a population of 1,710, while the 1970 projection three years ago was 4,000.

Biggest obstacle to growth in Wixom has been the total lack of a community sewer system. Now, however, as Wixom nears realization of a sewer system the growth of the community may rapidly "catch up" to projections and perhaps outstrip both Novi and Northville in growth, particularly in view of its large industrial base.

Shortage of homes in Wixom was spotlighted earlier this year as the Ford Motor company sought unsuccessfully to find sufficient housing in the city for its greatly expanded labor force.

Because housing is running behind the labor force in Wixom, development may be less costly for its residents during the next decade than for those in neighboring Novi. Citizens of Novi necessarily will have to share a larger initial portion of the cost for services—at least until industrial development begins to catch up with residential development.

Because housing is running behind the labor force in Wixom, residents may realize that city may actually enjoy a healthier climate for residential development within the next decade than will neighboring Novi. Citizens of Novi necessarily will have to share a larger initial portion of the cost for services—at least until industrial development begins to catch up with residential development.

And in Northville, where considerably less land is reserved for industry, the lion's share of services will probably always fall in the laps of homeowners.

Because both the city and township of Northville will become—by choice—bedroom communities, municipal and school leaders will have to be economy-wise in providing services. That is why at least some planners see the combination of the two communities not only as inevitable "over the long haul," but of prime importance within the near future.

Undoubtedly, one of the most acute problems facing all of the communities within this area, in view of staggering population predictions, is that of providing adequate classroom space.

In Northville, the problem already is a pressing one, even though a third elementary school is nearing completion and construction of a new junior high school has just begun.

A study completed recently by the school's architectural consultants, based upon student population trends and proposed residential development, shows that to maintain an "uncrowded" classroom situation Northville should begin financing—

---Four classroom additions to the new junior high school immediately.

---A fourth elementary school and a two-floor addition to the high school by next year.

---A second junior high school by 1968.

---A fifth elementary school and a second high school by 1970.

---A sixth elementary school by 1973, a seventh by 1975, and an eighth by 1978.

---A third junior high school by 1975 and a third senior high school by 1978.

On the basis of these needs, Northville will have to dig into its pockets to the tune of $3 million by 1970, $10 million by 1975, and $23 million by 1978.

Staggering as these needs and estimated costs may be, they don't seem quite as "far out" when you consider that the Walled Lake school district, which includes Wixom and the northern portion of Novi, passed a school bond issue of nearly $10 million just a week ago to meet immediate classroom needs.

The classroom situation in Novi, though perhaps as critical as in Northville, is nevertheless a problem that school officials must tackle. It is estimated that with the completion of the new high school addition next fall, the enlarged building will almost be filled to capacity.

And by the time Novi becomes a four-year high school in 1968, officials probably will have to consider a new junior high or intermediate school and perhaps a third elementary school.

Village Of Novi NOTICE OF ENACTMENT

TAKE NOTICE that on the 3rd day of October, 1966, the Council of the Village of Novi, Oakland County, Michigan, enacted an Ordinance amending Ordinance No. 28, known as the Sewer Ordinance of the Village of Novi, by amending Section 4.01 in its entirety, which section provides for a debt service charge to be made, either at the time the building permit is issued, or on a written agreement with payments to be made annually on November 1st of each year for a term of 15 years.

This Ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency Ordinance which is immediately necessary for the public peace, health and safety, and shall become effective immediately upon publication.

The amendment to the ordinance is posted in its entirety, on the Bulletin Board of the Novi Village Hall.

Measles Clinic Scheduled Sunday

A one-day immunization clinic will be held in Northville, Novi and Walled Lake Sunday as part of a massive campaign to eradicate measles throughout the tri-county area.

The clinic will be held at the community building in Northville and Novi, Walled Lake junior high school, and Clifford Smart junior high school from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. for children age one through 12. The Jaycees are directing the clinic in Northville.

No one will be turned away because they cannot afford to pay for the immunization. However, because the clinics cost more than there is money available, officials are asking parents to make a donation of 50-cents per child.

Only one dose of the vaccine is necessary for complete immunization.

Sponsored by the End Measles Metropolitan Detroit Committee, the campaign has the endorsement of the Michigan State Health Department and the medical societies of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

A similar clinic is planned at the Novi community building.

Vaccine will be given by registered nurses and physicians. It is administered by a small, quick injection in the upper arm.

According to officials, healthy children over one year of age who have not had measles or measles vaccine should be immunized. Infants, under one year, carry protection from their mothers which could interfere with response to the vaccine.

All children must be accompanied by a parent, guardian or a responsible adult over 21 years of age with a registration form signed by the parent. Forms will be available at the clinic.

Cowden was awarded a master's degree in education.

Woman, 23, Hurt In Crash Here

A Whitmore Lake woman was injured Friday morning when the car she was driving skidded on wet asphalt and rolled over.

Sandra Deloomyn, 23, was taken to St. Mary hospital, Livonia, where she was treated and released.

She told police that she was driving east on Seven Mile road around 7:30 a.m. and applied the brakes as she was entering the Fish Hatchery curve. The car skidded sideways, she reported, then rolled over.

Area Bank Robbed; Suspect Caught

A cool-headed thief who tried to outwit two equally cool New Hudson branch bank employees and a modern alarm system Tuesday afternoon is cooling his heels in the Oakland County jail today.

Less than 45 minutes after he braved a gun at South Lyon State Savings Branch Bank Manager Mrs. Helen Meadows and teller Gerald Dilloway he was caught in a police dragnet.

Held on suspicion of stealing about $3,000 is 41-year-old Richard Clare Jackson of Milford township. Police apprehended him about 15 miles from the robbery scene.

Jackman was turned over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) for prosecution on federal armed robbery charges.

According to Mrs. Meadows, "he just came in and pointed the gun at us and we gave him the money." But besides giving him the money, the bank manager tripped an alarm that alerted the South Lyon police department, and Dilloway copied down the license plate number of the robber.

Police apprehended him at Maple and Middlebelt roads in West Bloomfield — just 42 minutes after the South Lyon police answered the bank alarm. The money was recovered.

Father Edward Battersby, Pastor
St. Joseph's Church, South Lyon

When Christ said to the paralytic "Courage son your sins are forgiven" was it because He knew the helplessness, the frustration, the despairing slavery effected by sin?

Only God can forgive sin, Jesus proves He is God by healing the crippled man; therefore he can forgive sin, and leave to His church the Sacrament by which sin can be forgiven.

There are two extremes among modern Christians with regard to sin. Some have such a keen sense of the reality and the hideous nature of sin that even God cannot and will not forgive them. There are probably not too many like that.

The other extreme is illustrated by the growing number of men and women who have completely lost a sense of the reality of sin. Not realizing the holiness of God, they cannot grasp the hideous nature of sin. There are great sins and slight sins, depending on the offense itself and the malice and deliberation with which we choose to commit them. We must never make the mistake however, since God is so eager to forgive sin that sin is really not too important. When we finally grasp the idea that God is so good, so loving, so holy — all sin becomes cheap, mean and ugly.

The miracle Christ worked for the paralytic shows his eagerness to forgive sin, all sin, ours included. This eagerness is active today. Perhaps the greatest sin we might commit would be our unwillingness to take advantage of Christ's generous mercy. "Where sin has abounded grace has abounded more."

alone with her thoughts

Are they good company — her thoughts, that is?

For this is a time of her life when much can depend on the outcome of these moments when she is alone with her thoughts.

Decisions will be made — irrevocable decisions. Steps will be taken that cannot be retraced.

The happiness of those who love her hangs in the balance... as she tries to discover where her own happiness lies.

But her thoughts are projections of the lessons she has learned, the experiences she has had.

And high among these are the truths she learned in her church life, and the rich experiences she has known with Christian friends who grew up in religious homes.

Alone with her thoughts... this girl is in good company!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The church is the greatest factor in a girl's life. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, no girl can have her education, her career, her life. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the church itself which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

APPOINTED—Harold D. Esler, Ph.D., 34715 West Seven Mile road, recently has been appointed to the Psychology Department of Northville State Hospital on a part-time basis. Since 1959, Dr. Esler has had a private practice in his home. He will continue to divide his time between the hospital and private practice. Dr. Esler is no stranger to Northville State Hospital, having been a member of its Psychology Department for two years from 1959 to 1961. In addition to previous employment at Northville State Hospital, Dr. Esler also has been associated with Social Welfare, Vocational Rehabilitation, Lansing Psychological Services, the W. J. Maxey Boys Training School, and, between 1964 and 1966 the Plymouth State Home and Training School.

Bus Line Service Reduced

High operating costs and insufficient patronage has forced reduction of service by the Northville Coach Line, Inc., officials announced this week.

Effective last Saturday, the bus line revised its schedule to eliminate runs with the least number of patrons.

Departure times in Northville are 6:45, 7:45, 8:45 and 9:45 a.m., 1:45, 2:45, 3:45, 4:45 and 5:45 p.m.

Complete schedule details may be obtained from the bus company, 41122 West Seven Mile road, or by calling FI 9-1333.

According to company officials, efforts to obtain subsidy funds have failed thus far. They noted that the township board has pointed out that the township cannot legally assist the company financially, and that a similar request of the city has not yet been answered.

Hospital Employees Win Cash

Three employees of the Northville State Hospital were among those who received cash awards Friday in the eighth annual Search for New Hospital Achievements contest, co-sponsored by the Michigan Hospital association and Michigan Blue Cross.

They are: Vonetta Cramer, who won $100 for a suggestion in the category "Achievement directly related to patient care"; and Marie Ford and Wallace Westerfield, who shared honorable mention awards.

In all, 49 employees of Michigan hospitals shared 35 cash prizes, ranging from the $1,000 grand prize to $50 awards for entries earning honorable mention from the judges.

Free Film Set Friday

"Tight Little Island," a fanciful satire involving a shipload of whisky and the thirsty inhabitants of a remote island in the Hebrides, will be presented on the Schoolcraft College fall semester creative arts on the campus film series at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the amphitheatre in the Forum.

The story involves the efforts of the islanders to save the cargo when a ship laden with 40,000 cases of whisky founders on the rocks offshore. The public is invited without charge.

News Around Town in Pictures

GROUND-BREAKING—More than 100 citizens braved cold weather and rain that held off just long enough for ground-breaking ceremonies at the new junior high school site Saturday morning. Governor George Romney participated in the program and is shown turning the first shovels with JHS Student Council President Bernie Bach and Board President W. C. Becker. Also taking part in the brief ceremony were: Russell Amerman, retired superintendent; Mayor A. M. Allen, Township supervisor R. D. Merriam, Del Black, JHS PTA president; Principal Donald Van Ingen, Superintendent Alex Nelson, T. H. Hewlett, architect of O'Dell Hewlett and Luckenbach; the Reverends S. D. Kinde, Lloyd Brasure and Robert Williams.

GOING, GOING, GONE—With his staccato voice booming out over the crowd, Auctioneer Stan Perkins sells another of the antique bargains that went on sale Saturday at the Northville Downs. According to the auction promoter, Sally Thomas, the one-day sale was a "big success" despite a pouring rain that kept some people at home. Gross sales hit $3,400. Earlier, another crowd gathered in the community building (above) to hear and see Governor George Romney and a host of other Republican candidates.

CHARRED SHED—Nothing but charred remains of a vacated shed were left after Northville firemen extinguished a fire that burst out around noon, last week

Wednesday. The shed, owned by the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, is located near the Northville DPW yard. Cause of the fire is unknown.

JAZZ TREAT—Northville high school bandmen received a rare treat in advance of Halloween when Bob Pearson, tenor saxophonist with Woody Herman's band, dropped in for a musical visit last Friday. He talked, played and directed the band in jazz.

GOING UP—Construction of a 455 cooperative apartment complex, located between Northville road and Edward Hines parkway just south of Seven Mile road, is in full swing. Here work progresses on apartment models and a swimming pool (foreground). Construction of a club house also is well under way. The buildings are expected to be open for viewing in December.

ANTIQUE FORUM—Mrs. Jean Magee (right) of 335 North Center street, and Mrs. W. P. Edmunds of Ypsilanti, spent the past week in Detroit attending the Midwest Antique Forum at the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village.

SCHOOL IMPROVEMENTS—Black-topping of the playground behind Main Street elementary school and the junior high school (above) has been completed and, according to school officials, only a few patching jobs remain to complete a similar project at Amerman elementary. In addition to black-topping at the junior high school, the area immediately behind the building has been landscaped.

Northville Township Board Proceedings

Northville Township Hall, Wednesday, October 12, 1966. Meeting called to order at 8 p.m.

Members present: R. D. Merriam, Supervisor; Marguerite N. Young, clerk; Alex M. Lawrence, Treasurer; James H. Tellam, Trustee; Bernard W. Baldwin, Trustee.

Visitors: Wm. Sliger of the Northville Record, Clarence Charest, Attorney for Dun Rovin, Five township residents.

Purpose of meeting:
1. Consider the Dun Rovin Country Club's request for Unlimited Dance Permit in conjunction with Class "C" Liquor License.

2. Appointment to Planning Commission.

3. Appointments to Steering Committee for organization of Long Range Community Development Committee.

4. Other matters that may properly be brought before the board.

1. After discussion wherein it was recognized that the character of the area in which Dun Rovin Country Club is located will change and the project planning is for industrial use. Also, the fact that a letter had been presented the Board which stated, "We wish it to be known that we have no objection for Dun Rovin Country Club to have an open dance permit so that they may continue to operate without the present restrictions on their dance permit" and signed by ten residents on Haggerty road adjacent to the club. Also, Mr. Charest's statement that the club's liquor license is renewable each May and at that time the township could rescind their approval of this license, if the club did not cooperate.

Mr. Lawrence moved, supported by Mr. Baldwin, that the Township of Northville consent to an unlimited Dance Permit for Dun Rovin Country Club and the Michigan State Liquor Commission be so advised. Motion carried unanimously.

2. Supervisor Merriam presented Ralph Foreman Sr., to be considered for appointment on the Planning Commission, stating that he was a long time resident operating orchards in the township.

There was question of Mr. Foreman's availability during the winter months of January, February, and March and the fact that the demands on the Planning Commission may necessitate at least two meetings a month, requiring more frequent attendance by all members.

Trustee Tellam presented Donald P. Boor to be considered for this appointment, giving his qualifications and interest and stating that Mr. Boor had been contacted and was willing to serve.

Mr. Baldwin moved, supported by Mr. Lawrence, that the Township Board appoint Donald P. Boor to the Northville township planning commission to fill the unexpired term of James H. Tellam, which terminates November 1968. Motion carried unanimously.

3. Letter addressed to the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, Northville Township Board, Northville City Council and Northville Board of Education, whose subject was Long Range Community Development and signed by D. L. Lawrence, Chairman of the Economic Development Committee, was read. Quoting from paragraph three of this letter, "the Economic Development Committee has decided to graph three of this letter, "the Economic Development Committee has decided to take the initiative to get such a study started in our community. We would appreciate each of the addressee organizations giving favorable consideration and endorsement to such a study. Further, we ask that you appoint two representatives to serve on a Steering Committee. We propose that this initial steering committee would define the objectives and would appoint a "Blue Ribbon Committee" to undertake an overall unbiased study regarding future local governmental services and organization."

After due consideration, Clerk Young moved, supported by Mr. Lawrence, that R. D. Merriam, and Bernard W. Baldwin be appointed to the steering committee representing the township of Northville. Motion carried unanimously.

4. Arthur Jahn Landfill permit fee. Supervisor Merriam asked the board for their consideration of fees to be charged Mr. Jahn, stating that the fees for large landfills were completely out of line for a man asking to fill about an acre of land.

The Township Land Fill specifications were taken under discussion, different thinking being interjected and discussed. No decision being reached.

Mr. Tellam moved, supported by Mr. Baldwin, that this matter be turned over to the township attorney for review and that the attorney be asked to draw a motion in conjunction with the Permit for the Board's consideration. Motion carried unanimously.

No further business, Mr. Tellam moved for adjournment. Meeting was adjourned at 9:05 p.m.

Cliff Hill to Head College Foundation

Clifton D. Hill, Northville attorney, was elected president and Charles Lowe, Garden City attorney, was named vice president as a group of area citizens completed organization of the non-profit Schoolcraft College Foundation Thursday night, October 13 at the Waterman Campus Center.

Other officers elected were George L. Clark, Northville, secretary; Robert K. Barbour, Plymouth, treasurer; and Gordon R. Ramsey, Livonia, assistant treasurer.

The Foundation was organized to assist the college by seeking endowment funds for the development of an on-campus cultural center and for student services.

Incorporators of the organization, other than the officers, are Philip R. Ogilvie, Robert Freydl, Mrs. Alex Nelson, Alex M. Lawrence, Jan Reef, and C. A. Hoffman, all of Northville; John N. Santeu Jr., Garden City; and George Bauer and James B. McKeon, both of Plymouth.

Trustees named for a one-year term until the first annual meeting in November, 1967, were - other than the incorporators and officers - Kenneth Hulsing, Plymouth; William R. Keith, Garden City; James Thomas and E. D. Dougherty, both of Livonia; Mrs. Norman E. Kuegler, A. Russell Clarke, Stanley J. Johnston, Wilson D. Tyler, and Harold E. Bittner, all of Northville; and Dr. Eric J. Bradner, president of Schoolcraft College.

Hill appointed three committees to begin development of a Foundation program. They were: publicity - Mrs.

Juegler, chairman; capital additions - McKeon, chairman, Reef and Ramsey; and scholarships - Hoffman, chairman, and Freydl.

In a review of the college building program, Dr. Bradner told trustees the campus center and a vocational-technical building were opened this year, explained that a second classroom building and a physical education plant were in the planning stages, and said the next major construction project was a cultural complex to serve both college and community needs.

Such a complex, he said, would provide an auditorium capable of staging operas, drama and symphony orchestras, an art gallery, and instructional areas for art, music, drama, and dance.

In addition, Bradner said, the college has an immediate need to match a $10,000 gift from Sheldon Hayes, Northville businessman. Hayes made the grant this summer on condition it be matched and that the funds be used for student services.

Jack McDonald Believes That:

1. THE PORTION OF PROPERTY TAX REVENUE USED TO MAINTAIN PRIMARY AND SECONDARY EDUCATION HAS RISEN TO SUCH A HEIGHT THAT IT IS NO LONGER THE ANSWER TO PROBLEMS OF MODERN EDUCATIONAL SYSTEMS...
2. FEDERAL AND STATE GOVERNMENTS MUST QUICKLY ESTABLISH MODERN METHODS OF BUILDING AND SUSTAINING EDUCATIONAL SYSTEMS...

Question Press Curb Proposals

LANSGING - Questions of newspaper coverage of criminal activities and court proceedings are discussed in many quarters these days.

Biggest question involved is whether an accused man can get a fair trial, as defined by recent court decisions, with the amount of publicity circulating details of the crime.

Another basic question: Should or can the courts, or anyone else, restrict the press in its attempt to inform the public? Both the Michigan and American Bar Associations have had these questions before them in recent weeks.

Michigan newsmen note that it is seldom much of a problem in this state.

Almost a year ago, Michigan Supreme Court Justice Thomas M. Kavanagh and Attorney General Frank J.

Kelley both agreed there was little difficulty of this sort in Michigan.

Both indicated any guidelines deemed necessary should be directed at the law enforcement family rather than at the press itself.

Guidelines set down last year by the U.S. Justice Department said law enforcement spokesmen should refrain from making any statements which might "influence the outcome of a defendant's trial." Justice Kavanagh indicated these guidelines might suffice.

"I have not seen any consistent outcry against these guidelines as infringing freedom of the press," he said.

KELLEY TOLD newsmen any curbs he might recommend would be aimed at prosecuting attorneys and law officials. "I have no business telling you how to conduct your affairs," he told members of a professional journalism society.

Judge George C. Edwards Jr. of the U.S. Circuit Court feels strongly that restricting court information is "the most dangerous threat to the American ideal of free speech and press since the days of Joe McCarthy. He argues that such dangers become obvious when "we give thought to the problems posed in past (and present) history by prosecutions corrupted against the public interest by organized crime or by such pressures as the Ku Klux Klan in some states."

A former editor of a prison newspaper, now paroled, wrote that given the choice of trials without reporters or with them, he would choose the "protection" of reporters and risks of publicity rather than face police treatment in secret.

As the courts have said, most notably in the Dr. Sam Sheppard and Jack Ruby cases recently, the rights of the accused must be guaranteed and protected. So also must the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press. In both cases if police and court officials had acted within laws and procedures already in effect, there would be no issue of retrial.

 EMPHASIS upon education beyond the high school level becomes greater every year.

For this reason, More Education, More Opportunity, has become the title for a new organization aimed at helping youth continue their schooling and thus become more valuable members of their communities.

MEMO, as the organization promotes itself, is currently surveying all of Michigan's 120,000-plus high school seniors to learn how they rate themselves as future citizens.

Students are asked whether they plan to continue their education. If not, why not; and what might be done to encourage others to go beyond the high school training level?

Answers provided by the questionnaire might lead to encouragement for a student in financial need; just moral support for additional study; or directional guidance in the field of interest.

A SIDE BENEFIT of the study could also affect Michigan's school dropout problem, since the students are also being asked what they think could be done to encourage others to finish their education.

From initial advertising around the state, MEMO director Gordon A. Sabine, a vice president of Michigan State University, reports that about 1,000 students had questions about the new organization's activities.

The forms of assistance MEMO will be involved in will vary in each case. As Dr. Sabine notes, 700 of the first responses were referred to colleges.

"We're sure it had some impact in other cases too," he said. "Sometimes it just takes a nudge to let the student know that someone is interested, someone believes in him."

Dam Proposals Stir Protests

BABSON PARK, Mass. - Perhaps no federal program has stirred so much national controversy as the Bureau of Reclamation's proposal to build two huge dams on the Colorado River in the Grand Canyon area, though not within the present limits of the National Park.

This plan is of vital economic interest to every man, woman, and child in America because it is part of an over-all project designed to assure water sufficiency in the Southwest, because it involves the expenditure of many millions of dollars of taxpayers' money, and because it will change the face of a considerable portion of the Grand Canyon. The building of the dams would be only one phase of a program which will cost us nearly $2 billion to carry through.

Curiously enough, the proposed dams themselves will not bring any new water to Arizona or to any other section of the nation. Their sole purpose will be to generate auxiliary electric power. It is planned that the proceeds from the sale of such power would be used to help defray the cost of the whole Central Arizona Project, including the expense of diverting water from the Columbia River all the way to the Southwest!

CONSERVATIONISTS, naturalists, and sportsmen have rallied in sizable numbers in an effort to save the Grand Canyon from being altered by the erection of these two giant dams. Their concern for the preservation of the awe-inspiring natural beauty of the canyon is shared by millions of Americans who have been thrilled by its wonders. Of course, there are also many other people who take the view that the Grand Canyon - for all its natural splendor - is essentially a vast wilderness. These people feel no alarm at the idea of flooding miles and miles of this area.

In fairness to both groups, we must give serious consideration to what we will gain by this proposal and to what we will lose by it before Congress makes a final decision. In time, of course, we shall acquire a new source of public electric power. But in gaining it we shall reduce the Colorado River - which has been described as having "no counterpart for unspoiled scenic grandeur in this world" - to two great reservoirs. And we shall have changed forever the contour and character of the Grand Canyon, destroying in the process many unique records of nature's changes through the ages.

MONTHLY, almost daily, the need for water in the Southwest becomes more acute. California is vying with neighboring states for a bigger share of this vital element, and there just isn't enough to go around. The Central Arizona Project which included bringing water all the way from the Columbia River, may or may not be the best solution to this grave problem.

If the Colorado River itself can provide some of the additional water needed, why must that diversion include these costly dams with their despoiling of the Grand Canyon and even of the integrity of the river itself? It should be noted also that federally built and operated dams have a poor record when it comes to paying their way. Even the great Hoover Dam has paid back only 20% of its cost so far. Also there should be some question as to the economic feasibility of adding to public electric power to compete with private power companies.

Surely, there must be some other, and perhaps more practical, ways to finance the Central Arizona Project. At any rate, before our Senators and Congressmen vote to despoil the Grand Canyon, they might well ponder these words of President Theodore Roosevelt: "I want to ask you to do one thing in your own interest and in the interest of the country - to keep this great wonder of nature (the Grand Canyon) as it now is. Leave it as it is. You cannot improve on it. The ages have been at work on it, and man can only mar it."

SUPPORT MY TEAM—Governor Romney told a large community building audience in Northville Saturday that they should vote for a Republican team on November 8. He introduced George Washington, Jack McDonald, James O'Neil, Louis Schmidt, Marvin Esch, Lawrence Lindemer, Meyer Warshawsky and George Kuhn. After the Governor left each candidate had a few words to say in his own behalf.

What Candidates are Saying

McDonald...

Jack McDonald, the Republican challenger for the Congressional seat in the 19th District has branded his opponent as "A big spender, who ignores the wishes of his constituents and the economic handwriting on the wall, in his consistent push for higher government expenditures."

McDonald cited a report by the National Associated Businessmen's Organization in Washington, which rated the freshman congressman, as being against all major moves toward economy in the two years he has been in office.

The youthful Republican contender charged that his opponent has ignored his responsibility to the people, in order to promote the big spending policies of the Johnson administration, one of the prime causes of inflation today.

McDonald then asked, "How can my opponent claim to be a representative of the people after voting to double the funds for the poverty program when his own opinion poll showed that four out of five people did not favor the current poverty program?"

"In fact he has voted on two occasions, both as a member of the appropriations committee and on the floor of the House, to spend your tax dollars to expand the poverty program."

McDonald contended that the poverty program was not fulfilling its announced goal because a major part of the funds allocated for the program were going for administrative salaries, as high as 70 percent in some instances. McDonald said the "War on Poverty" was not being fought in the slums and back alleys where it exists."

McDonald declared his intention of trying to save money where it can be saved, if the voters send him to Congress next year.

"The people must realize that the time to act is now... another two years, with the current rising cost of living increasing at its sharpest rate in history, will seem even higher prices higher taxes, tighter credit and high interest rates."

"If this trend is going to be stopped, voters in the 19th District should start thinking about the record of their representative in Congress during the last two years and his consistent rejection of their wishes."

Vivian...

U. S. Representative Wes Vivian, speaking in Plymouth, said, "While it is true that all prices have risen 9.6 percent and food prices have climbed 12.6 percent since President Kennedy took office, wages and salaries have risen 47 percent and corporate profits have climbed 79 percent."

Vivian, candidate for re-election to the U.S. House of Representatives, spoke at an "Old-Fashioned Political Rally," sponsored by the Plymouth Jaycees.

In his speech, Vivian emphasized, among other issues, the "tremendous national economic growth which has occurred during the Kennedy-Johnson administrations."

Referring to the rise in the cost of living, Congressman Vivian noted:

"In the period from 1955 to 1958, the consumer price index rose at about the same rate as last year, but unemployment, instead of decreasing, was increased from 4 percent to 7.5 percent of the labor force during those years. Thus, in the old economic policy we had inflation and unemployment; now we have full employment and are trying to correct inflation."

Esch...

"It's time to put the corn and the wheat in their proper bins and be honest about the farm situation," Rep. Marvin Esch told several hundred farmers gathered for the annual State Corn Picking contest at Palmyra.

"My opponent," said Esch, who is opposing Weston Vivian for the Second District Congressional post November 8, "is an Orville Freeman man—they think and act alike. Neither has any apparent interest in the farmer."

"Mr. Vivian has consistently voted against major Farm Bureau-backed legislation and by so doing has made it obvious he does not represent the farmers of this district."

"Mr. Freeman," Esch continued, "was recently quoted as saying: 'The administration has no intention of turning farmers loose from federal controls.' Mr. Freeman is no longer secretary of Agriculture, he's more like a secretary of consumer products—for all the interest he has in farmers."

Esch called farm operators the most important economic group in the country. "While farmers only represent seven percent of the voters, this is no reason to ignore their problems and their needs. Mr. Vivian votes 100 percent for COPE and the ADA and he votes consistently against the Farm Bureau. You can see where his interest lies."

Stempien...

Revealing his voting record in the Legislature, Representative Marvin R. Stempien of the 35th District, noted that as main sponsor of 19 pieces of legislation none was vetoed by the Governor.

He noted that more of his proposals became law than those of any member of the 1965-66 Legislature—13 in 1965 and 13 in 1966.

He was main sponsor of eight pieces of legislation in 1965 and 11 in 1966. Last year two of his bills were incorporated in other bills and subsequently passed and the previous year five were included in other bills and passed. Samples of these bills include:

H-2282 — authorizes the closing of hunting in Northville township by a majority vote of the citizens (Township citizens subsequently voted 590 to 162 to close the township to hunting).

H-2367 — Revises state law so that only a majority vote in favor of a city bond issue is required to pass it rather than the 3/5 required in the old law.

H-2737 — Provides a land easement in order to provide for a water main which runs across state lands to Northville State Hospital in Northville township.

H-2812 — Outlaws deceptive and fraudulent advertising by requiring advertisements to state the true cost of the article on sale.

H-2961 — Defines and prohibits conflict of interest in activities of state officials. Requires financial disclosure by individuals who employ state officials.

H-3964 — Makes it a felony for a private policeman to carry a loaded pistol while not on duty. Public peace officers, military personnel and railroad policemen are exempted.

H-2547 — Provides that uninsured motorist coverage must be provided in all auto insurance policies by an insurance company unless the insured individual specifically rejects this type of coverage.

H-3021 — Establishes a fund to protect motorists from financial losses from accidents with uninsured drivers.

H-2155 — Creates a fire safety board appointed by the governor. The law specifies rules for schools and nursing homes to prevent fire in public places.

Livingston...

Paul Livingston, West Bloomfield businessman, candidate for state senator in the 14th district has labeled his opponent, "A carpetbagger who deserted his own city after he had badly bloodied it with his fiscal ineptness."

"At this very moment," Livingston said, "the citizens of Berkeley are faced with a hefty property tax increase, that is already $15.35 on each $1,000 of assessed valuation, as compared to Royal Oak's rate of $13.58 per $1,000. In addition, according to a recent newspaper story, Berkeley is faced with a cut in municipal services of such magnitude that the continued identity of the city will be in jeopardy, and shattering blight will begin to spread over one of Oakland County's oldest cities."

Livingston argued that Kuhn, (his opponent, George Kuhn) who just recently resigned as mayor of Berkeley, "had skipped town and moved into the 14th Senatorial District, just hours ahead of the legal minimum residency requirement, hopeful that his past inept handling of Berkeley finances would not catch up with him. The sad fact is that George Kuhn nearly destroyed Berkeley before moving into the 14th."

Citing the considerable publicity that Kuhn has received as an opponent of the income tax, Livingston commented, "When Berkeley needed financial leadership, Kuhn was busy attacking not only other cities, and other mayors who were striving to find solutions to their financial problems, but the Michigan Supreme Court, and Governor Romney as well. These attacks served, temporarily to divert public attention from his own inadequacies."

"We need representation in the legislature that has the courage not only to devise, but to face the solutions needed for the problems of Michigan, rather than theatrical histrionics and threats that obscure the real issues. The most important single question which the legislature must face next year," concluded Livingston, "is that of fiscal reform. I think the current financial crises in Berkeley indicates my opponent's overwhelming inability and lack of qualifications to deal effectively and responsibly with Michigan's need."

Kuhn...

As former mayor of Berkeley and a candidate for State Senate, George W. Kuhn indicated that if he is elected to the Senate, he would declare war on crime and violence in the streets of our cities.

"The citizens of Michigan are very disturbed and upset about the riots that have taken place in our cities recently," Kuhn said.

The former mayor stated that the protection of the general public and their safety is and must be our first and foremost concern as public officials.

To bring peace and to restore order in the streets of our cities as soon as possible, Kuhn indicated he will sponsor strong legislation to bring a halt to rioting and malicious destruction of both private and public property. He says there appears to be a vacuum in our state laws, and those groups or mass of individuals that engage in this activity escape arrest and prosecution, whereas, if any single individual is engaging in similar activities, the full measure of the law is applied. This is discrimination of the highest order.

"We must restore respect for law and order and give our police departments adequate tools and laws to do their job, instead of handcuffing them in their ability to carry out their vital duty," Kuhn said. "The long range and ultimate answer," Kuhn said, "is that we must put new emphasis on prevention, including efforts to strengthen family life and individual responsibility."

Dem Candidate in Township Sets Goal: To Meet People

If you live in Northville township, one of these nights between the hours of five and seven o'clock you'll be visited by Joseph Fiorilli.

He'll only ask for a couple minutes of your time. Just long enough to introduce himself and tell you he's a candidate for supervisor of Northville township.

Fiorilli has a goal. It's to visit every home of the 1,611 registered voters in the township.

And when you talk to him you get the idea that this goal exceeds the original purpose of running for office—that of winning the election.

Fiorilli is a practical man. He's also a Democrat, and he knows that the chances of a Democrat winning a seat on the township board in Northville are slightly less than slim.

When you ask him if he thinks he can win on November 8, he starts talking about his campaign to visit all registered voters.

Fiorilli is a 47-year-old Ford Motor Company executive who has lived on Harbert drive in Northville township for about 3 1/2 years. He's married and he and his wife, Janet, have one son, Bill, 11. Officially, his title at Ford is "option program coordinator", which means that he's responsible to see that the right parts are at the right place at the right time for assembly.

Before joining Ford he taught high school English and history and did a little coaching of football. He was graduated from Xavier University in Cincinnati.

Fiorilli says he decided to run for township supervisor after attending a public hearing on a landfill case and "not being pleased with the answers from the head of the table."

"We're rushing too fast to make decisions. This is a rural township, we ought to take our time in areas where it affects people," says Fiorilli.

He said he believed that governing boards should reach decisions based on the will of the majority. But he admitted that this can't be done by a hand vote of those attending public hearings. Usually, he acknowledged, these people represent only the objectors. Fiorilli says he'd get around and talk with all the people before reaching a decision.

To start his campaign to meet the people Fiorilli bought a list of the registered voters at the township hall. He's enlisted the assistance of volunteer helpers—about 15 or 20—and has plotted all the streets in the township. He has a 3 x 5 card on every family and after each visit he makes a notation classifying the family as "hot", "cold" or "call-back". He estimates there are about 700-800 homes and his schedule calls for 17-25 stops nightly with the final call scheduled for Sunday, November 6—two days before the election.

Fiorilli started his house calls in an area he admits is his strongest and where most of his volunteer helpers live—the southeast corner of the township around Five Mile road. Presently, residents of this area are opposing zoning changes that would permit construction of an apartment project on Five Mile road. Fiorilli says that officials haven't taken the time to find out what the people in that area want. "The communication is poor," he insists.

But the Democratic hopeful also admits that he hasn't done red hot in the area. In nine blocks covered to date he picked up 96 votes, where his schedule calls for 132 needed.

He's also beginning to feel the time squeeze on his objective to visit every registered voter. Several families have not been home when he's called, so those have to be re-scheduled. Everyone he's called upon has been courteous, however, even those who admit they won't vote for him.

"A few have wanted to sit down and talk longer than I anticipated and this puts me behind schedule, too," Fiorilli added.

When you really pin Fiorilli down, he'll tell you that he won't win on November 8. "But I'll close the gap," he insists.

He says his opponent, Supervisor R. D. Merriam, will win because of three reasons: 1. He's got publicity as the incumbent; 2. He's non-controversial; 3. He has the power group on his side.

Fiorilli insists that he has no personal animosity towards the supervisor. But he says that he believes Merriam lacks strong leadership and fails to communicate with the people. "I don't know whether he's leading or following," Fiorilli says.

In addition to being a Democrat in a Republican stronghold, Fiorilli has another handicap. He holds a fulltime job, while his opponent is a retired Wayne County Road Commission engineer who now devotes fulltime to the $5,700-a-year post as township supervisor.

"I can't figure out what he's doing all that time," says Fiorilli. He says that he would be in the township hall two nights per week from 7-9 p.m. and on Saturday mornings.

"He's usually not available during these hours. I would be and more people would actually see me," Fiorilli contends.

For a minute Fiorilli sounded like a man who expected to win—like an ex-football coach who could sniff an upset.

"Gosh, this campaigning is hard work. I've never worked so hard. I think we can close the gap by getting to the people", he concluded.

SPEAKING

for The Record

By Bill Sliger

When a pitcher is "right" his fast ball hums and his curve breaks sharply and over the plate; a quarterback hits his receivers in the hands; and a bowler splits the one-three pocket every roll.

Governor Romney was "right" Saturday morning as he addressed a community building audience in Northville.

In all due respect to the Governor I've heard him when his fast ball wasn't humming. But Saturday he was on target.

No doubt about it, the conditions were perfect. The Governor was addressing a friendly, enthusiastic audience. He was backed up by his team of candidates and he was talking extemporaneously on a subject with which he is thoroughly familiar and holds deep convictions.

Even so, it's the exception in these days of sophisticated audiences when campaigning politicians excite spontaneous applause, provoke hearty laughter and command silent attention.

Sincerity underscored the Governor's delivery Saturday and it received its strongest response when he declared that "money and government can't solve all our problems ... money isn't our biggest problem, anyway ... morality is".

Last week we reported in The Record that residents of the Oakland county portion of the community would have a 1.08 mill tax hike this winter to pay off county storm sewer assessments

Peace Feeler

It's amazing what the power of suggestion will do.

Take for instance the Dearborn couple who unpacked a half-dozen jugs and set them out in military-like formation at Northville's historic but deceptive well this past week.

"We don't mind the drive; the water's worth it," explained the husband. "We've been coming for years," added the wife.

Indeed they have. Over the years you and I have had mixed reactions over their visits: We're kinda proud that they find a piece of our heritage so enchanting — and nourishing, and we get a little impatient waiting for foreign jugs to fill.

Have you noticed any difference lately, I asked.

"Yah," the husband replied, "it's flowing a little faster."

That's not what I mean. Don'tcha know that the water you're getting out of this well is Detroit water?

Silence. Then, "You're kidding ... aren't you?"

Nope.

The water kept flowing, and there was no attempt to repack the jugs. Either the couple were disbelievers or they simply refused to have a stranger ruin a good thing.

All of which suggests that maybe it wouldn't be such a good idea for the city to tack up some kind of sign to ward off these unsuspecting folk.

It's my understanding that some of them come out to get our "well water" for their health. And if they are sure it's doing the job, why spoil it by telling 'em that it's the same stuff they get out of their taps at home.

They obviously enjoy the ride out to our little Switzerland and they go away content in the fact that our good water will keep them going until the next visit.

Teens Need
Hang Out

To the Editor:

I am a teenager and I've heard a lot about how Northville is going to prosper in the future. This is a nice town, but it's dull. There isn't even a place where teens can hang-out. We go into stores and get kicked out for loitering. If Northville is going to prosper, let's do it from a teenager's point of view and a grown-up's. The grown-ups want shopping centers, big stores and good parking spots. All we want is a place to hang out. My parents, and I'm sure a lot others, have said that teenagers are crazy because they just bum around in cars squealing tires.

I belonged to a club that wanted to purchase the fish hatchery. We wanted to change it into what we would call it the Hide-Out. There would be dancing on one floor and pool tables on the other. Outside there would be tennis and horseback riding. If Northville had something like this, there would be a lot less bumming around, squealing tires and using quiet streets as drag strips. Thank you.

YOU CAN ADD 50% TO
THE LIFE OF YOUR TIRES

JOHN MACH

Simple care will do it, with special attention to inflation. For instance, constant driving with only one pound under standard inflation will cause a loss of 900 miles in the maximum life of a tire.

Maximum mileage is generally set these days at 40,000 miles. Thirty percent under inflation from standard pressure recommendations will cause a one third loss of maximum tire life. Forty percent underinflation, a 57 percent loss.

Underinflation results in a softer ride but forces tire sidewalls to flex, causing overheating. At 80 degrees, which is easily reached on a hot day, tire wear is almost four times greater than at 30 degrees. Excessive wear is caused to the outside edges of the tread, causing tire squeal when cornering. Squeal is always a sign of excessive wear.

If you are starting out on a long highway trip you should check your tire pressures when the tires are cold. Pressures may be increased as much as four pounds above standard if speeds of 60 or over are being driven. This recommendation from tire engineers is contrary to a popular misunderstanding that tires should be deflated slightly before long trips.

Remember that brakes stop the wheels — only tires stop the car. Tires without tread belong in the trashcan. See you next week.
