

Centennial In 1967?

Is next year — 1967 — Northville's centennial?
Technically speaking, no.
History shows that Northville was first settled in 1825.

But from the date that historians start counting when they're pointing to birthdays, Northville will officially become 100 years old next year.

History shows that Northville was incorporated as a village in 1867 and that W. P. Yerkes was elected its first president.

Officials of Northville were reminded of the centennial event in a letter from an Ohio firm which makes a business of directing centennial celebrations.

Coincidentally, a similar letter was received by city of Plymouth officials who were also surprised to learn that the village of Plymouth was established in 1867.

Like Northville, Plymouth was first settled in 1825, but not incorporated until 42 years later. Plymouth Mayor James Houk announced that he would appoint a committee to prepare for the event next year.

Northville Mayor A. M. Allen said he would take the matter up with the council at its next meeting. He noted that such an event deserved a fitting celebration.

Farmington observed its centennial earlier this year with a long-planned community celebration.

Revised North-South Route Eyed Advisory Committee Seeks Help

Attempts to gain a new north-south route through the city of Northville have picked up the support of Jack McDonald, past chairman of the Wayne county board of supervisors and a candidate for Congress.

McDonald pledged his support in a meeting with representatives of a subcommittee of the Citizens Advisory committee last week and volunteered to assist in securing the cooperation of the Wayne county road commission.

"I told them I would do what I could to help," McDonald told The Record. "I've proposed that a luncheon meeting be set up in Northville between city officials and the three county road commissioners sometime in November."

"At that time, the officials could take the commissioners over the proposed route and secure their advice on how it could be accomplished."

McDonald said it has been his experience that dealing with the "top men" of the road department nets the best results.

Finding ways of implementing the north-south route has been named as one of the two immediate projects of the Citizens Advisory committee created last month by the city council. It also has been called "the most important step" in the implementation of the city's Central Business District plan by Planning Consultant Waldemar Johnson.

One of the "most economical" routes under consideration by the city council parallels the west side of the C and J railroad tracks from Novi road to Griswold.

This route, according to Mayor A. M. Allen, would mean Novi road would continue directly south where it now curves west to join Eight Mile road. It would go under the Eight Mile road viaduct, on the west side of the tracks, continue south crossing Baseline and the northeast corner of the millpond and rising to join Griswold just east of where Griswold turns south to join Main street.

Allen said such a route would require filling of a portion of the millpond, removal of approximately four houses, and reworking of western side of the viaduct. It would mean a slight "S" curve where Novi joins Griswold, Allen said, but the curve would not be an undesirable one since it would help slow traffic.

City Engineer Harold Penn presently is working out a scale drawing of this proposed route. Members of the subcommittee working on this phase of the Advisory committee's program are George Clarke, Essie Nirider and John Mach. Clark is chairman.

Another subcommittee at work is concerning itself with urban renewal. Members include Robert Horner, chairman, and Robert Bretz.

The next general meeting of the advisory committee has been set for November 7 at 8 p.m. in the basement of the Presbyterian church. Representatives of the Northville Area Development committee and the city's parking commission have been invited to attend.

Car Kills Boy, 8

A dash across Eight Mile road ended in disaster Sunday afternoon when an eight-year-old Novi boy was struck and killed by a car.

Jeffrey Peapples, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gale Peapples, 40100 Eight Mile road, was pronounced dead on arrival at Botsford General hospital, Farmington.

The fatality is the second traffic death within the past two weeks in the immediate area, and the third this year.

A 16-year-old Plymouth youth, trapped inside a truck cab, burned to death on October 11 after a collision at Eight Mile and Haggerty roads. A 45-year-old chef at Meadowbrook Country club was killed in an auto accident at the same intersection last February.

According to police, witnesses said the Peapples boy was attempting to run from the north side of Eight Mile road to the south side when he was struck by a car in the middle of the east bound lane.

Driving the car was Bertram Fox, 71, of Detroit. Witnesses told police that Fox was traveling at 25 miles per hour when the accident occurred. Posted speed is 50 miles per hour.

Cars were parked on both sides of Eight Mile road, Novi police reported, and there was "extremely heavy traffic," due to balmy weather conditions.

Funeral services were held in Benton Harbor, where the Peapples lived before coming to Novi about two years ago. Peapples is the manager of Applecrest Farms, site of the Peapples' home and where the accident occurred.

Jeffrey was a third grader at Orchard Hills elementary school in Novi.

Prom Switch Pitch Solid Hit, No Score

A proposal to hold the senior prom at Botsford Inn in Redford was all but scuttled here Monday evening as the board of education heard student-parent arguments in favor of the location.

But instead of turning down the location, the board asked representatives of the class to review needs and desires and return later with some alternate proposals.

Only the "well presented" arguments by Steve Jordan, senior class president, persuaded the board to withhold issuing a flat "no".

Jordan noted that of the 214 questionnaires sent home to parents of seniors, 61 had been returned with all of them indicated approval for the Botsford location. Furthermore, he said Botsford was the near unanimous choice of the students.

He said the Botsford location also has the endorsement of the high school principal.

Selection of Meadowbrook Country club, location of last year's prom, was ruled out, he said, because the club was reserved for Friday and Saturday. Furthermore, he said students were not satisfied with Meadowbrook.

Jordan waved aside suggestions of the board to "keep the prom at home," perhaps in the high school gymnasium, because seniors wanted a location away from facilities that they see daily.

High School Additions, Pool OK'ed

With the approval Monday of working drawings, the Northville board of education signaled the start of bidding on additions to the high school.

Bids are to be submitted to the board for opening on November 28, with awarding of contracts slated for December 5. Hopefully, construction will begin in January and be completed within 12 months.

Estimated cost of the project, including $500,000 earmarked for construction of a swimming pool, has risen some $48,000 over the $1,283,605 estimate made earlier this year.

With its completion, the optimum student population may increase from the present 900 to approximately 1,000 without overcrowding, officials noted. The present facility was designed for up to 750 students.

Here's what the additions provide:
---Two science laboratories;
---Three academic classrooms;
---A two teaching-station shop;
---A new resource center (library);
---A swimming pool and locker rooms.

Construction of the new resource center will provide for relocation and expansion of the arts and crafts department to the present shop area, and relocation and expansion of the commercial department to the present arts and crafts area.

600 Receive Measles Shots

Nearly 600 Northville and Novi youngsters were inoculated against measles Sunday in special clinics in both communities.

Novi officials reported some 297 persons received shots, while 292 received shots in Northville. The clinics were held in the community buildings of the respective communities.

The Northville Jaycees headed up the Northville clinic, while Mrs. Herbert Farah was the Novi chairman.

In addition, relocation of the library will permit expansion of the cafeteria.

According to the architect, bids on the additions will not include any substantial alterations to present facilities in providing relocation of the arts and crafts and the commercial departments.

The only significant change in the working drawings from initial plans is the redesigning of the pool-locker rooms to permit visual supervision from adjoining instructors' offices.

The pool itself will include five lanes with a diving "L". Although voters earmarked $500,000 for this facility in a separate bond issue, bids will be received on the entire high school addition project because, as explained by the architect, it is too difficult to determine what changes in the high school are directly chargeable to the pool and because separate bids might result in higher construction costs.

Once contracts have been let, the architect said he will ask the contractor to furnish a break-down of these costs for bookkeeping purposes.

Construction of the additions, particularly the new library, must be scheduled so as not to interfere with classroom instruction. "It's going to be a problem," the architect said, "but by doing the heavy work during summer months we hope to manage it."

The revised estimated cost of the entire project has been pegged at $1,332,000.

Here's what has happened to the original $3.3 million bond issues, which includes the $500,000 pool:

Junior high school, $1,339,414; Moraine elementary, $706,325; high school additions, $1,332,000; still incomplete projects, such as a new entrance drive, bus garage, administrative offices, elementary school site purchase, $184,500. The entire outlay totals $3,562,239 — or more than $250,000 over the voted $3.3 million.

An estimated $100,000 is expected to be recouped through interest money, leaving a deficit of more than $150,000. This deficit, according to the architect, may be reduced if contingencies (excess funds) for the two new schools and the high school additions are not entirely used up.

If the contingencies are used, the board of education will have to either trim the incomplete projects from the budget and/or go back to the people with another bond proposal, officials have stated.

Board Cool To Site Price

A $50,000 price tag has been placed on a 10-acre elementary school site offered to the Northville school district.

The offer, made by the Thompson-Brown company, encountered a cool reception by the board of education, which went on record Monday night as showing interest in the site but not the $5,000-per-acre price.

Made in a letter, the offer was the first public statement as to cost of property which the school district has been considering for a school site on the south side of Six Mile road, east of Bradner.

The proposed site is located on the southern edge of property which Thompson-Brown hopes to develop as a subdivision within five years. If purchased, it would be used as an elementary school site.

Presently, the board is considering use of existing school property adjacent to Bradner for a future junior high school.

SUBSCRIPTION WINNERS—A check for $216 was presented to the Northville high school band this week for selling subscriptions to The Northville Record. The band sold a total of 144 new subscriptions. In addition, an $80 stereo phonograph was presented to Dwight Hooper, top salesman among the bandmen with 53 new subscriptions and 16 renewals.

Local Torch Drive Off to Good Start

With their drives a little more than a week old, Torch Drive chairmen for Northville and Novi report residential collections of approximately $2,194.

In addition to these house-to-house solicitations, the two communities show a combined business collection of $2,750, with collections soaring to 61-percent over the Novi goal.

According to Mrs. David Vincent, Northville chairman, the house-to-house canvass has netted $1,744, while Mrs. Gale Calhoun of Novi reports collections of $450. Northville has a residential goal of $2,560 and Novi, $1,548.

Residential chairmen of both communities have their fingers crossed in hopes that collections will soon reach the target.

Accepting the check from Jack Hoffman, managing editor, is Joyce Stuckey, band treasurer, as the phonograph winner looks on.

Business solicitations in Northville, which has a goal of $1,162, have netted $1,347, according to Chairman Mrs. Margaret Zayti. Jubilant George N. Kenyon, Novi chairman, reports collections of $2,028 — 161-percent of the $1,258 quota.

In Wixom, where solicitation has been combined with drives in Walled Lake and Commerce, Torch Drive officials report collections of approximately $250. Mrs. Robert Gilmer is heading up the Wixom house-to-house canvass.

Residents who may have missed the visit of a Torch Drive volunteer this past week are urged to call the chairman of their respective communities. The drive officially closes on November 10.

Halloween Plans Set

The annual Halloween party, sponsored by the Northville recreation department, will be held in the junior high school gymnasium beginning at 5:30 p.m. Monday.

According to Recreation Director Ken Conley, judging of costumes in numerous categories will begin at 6:15 p.m., with refreshments served throughout the evening. Prizes will be awarded to those wearing the best costumes.

A dance for students of junior high and high school age will begin at 7:30 p.m. and continue until 11 p.m. Prizes will be awarded at the dance for outstanding costumes.

Parties for elementary children will be held Monday afternoon following recess at the discretion of teachers and respective building administrators, Raymond Spear, assistant superintendent announced.

Costumes may be worn to school, Spear said, but masks definitely should not be worn to or from school.

Northville Police Chief Samuel Elkins said policemen will patrol continuously Monday evening, keeping their eyes open for any vandalism. He also urged residents to keep their porch lights on to reduce chances of vandalism and destruction of property and to light the way for masked trick or treaters.

PAVED—This city-owned lot on Wing street adjoins the parking area behind the Methodist church. Now paved, plans call for installation of day-long meters for use by business district employees.

Refreshments and a social hour will follow the ceremonies.

Klein, program chairman of the day, who introduced Mrs. Gibbs to club members and guests last Friday at Northville Presbyterian church.

Area Food Prices Lowest in Country

Northville and all Detroit-area housewives have less reason than most women in this country to complain of food prices, Northville Woman's Club members and guests learned last Friday from Mrs. Marjorie A. Gibbs, consumer marketing information agent.

She pointed out that Detroit has the "highest labor market but still the lowest food prices in the country." Mrs. Gibbs, who keeps close watch on local markets as part of her work for the cooperative extension service of Michigan State university, said that local food costs are being kept down by the larger-than-average number of discount markets and the low average grocery profit of one to one-and-a-half per cent.

"Detroit has the lowest bread prices in the country," she said, giving the range of a loaf from 18.5 cents to 28.5. However, she added, the low profit margin has caused the loss of two major bakeries in the area during the past few years. There are also less than half as many dairy farmers as in 1959, Mrs. Gibbs said.

She attributed some of the rising food costs to changes in eating habits, as well as a 46 per cent labor increase in the food industry during the past 10 years. Families, she stated, are eating more convenience foods as well as different foods. She questioned whether members of her audience regularly ate steaks as they were growing up.

It still is possible to cut grocery costs, she told the homemakers, by reading labels to get the best price by weight and use. She explained that packers often pack the same goods for different companies and that flavor may be as good in "tomatoes that aren't whole" and can be used in most dishes. Grade B eggs can be used, she continued, where shape is not important.

Mrs. Gibbs also told of a market information service available at any time by calling TR 3-0151. Forty-five seconds of current marketing information is given on telephone tape. (This Monday's hint was that end cuts of pork are available for as much as 20 cents less a pound than choicer cuts and can be used in many pork dishes).

In Our Town

By Jean Day

FROM GHOST-and-goblin time to Santa season is a scant five weeks. Opening Christmastime festivities in our town will be a Candlelight Buffet for which Mothers' Club members have reserved Saturday, December 3.

The buffet dance, to be held at Lionia Knights Inn on Seven Mile road, revives the club's custom of having a holiday dance and will be "just for fun." Mrs. H. O. Evans, chairman, announced Monday that Hank Warren's orchestra has been engaged. This is the orchestra, she says, which has been so popular at Detroit-area deb doings.

All Northville couples who would like to begin the holiday season festively are invited to join Mothers' Club members and friends in circling the date. Tickets will be available at $15 a couple and will include the champagne punch to be served from 6:30 to 8 p.m. After the buffet there is to be dancing until half past twelve.

Rotary President Richard Lyon confirms that tentative plans of the Rotarians to hold a Christmas dance on the same date have been abandoned. The club had been considering continuing the dance which the no-longer existing Exchange club sponsored. Mrs. Evans, therefore, is extending a special invitation to Rotarians and their wives to attend the Candlelight Buffet.

November 12 is the date set for the biennial nearly-new sale to be held by Mothers' Club from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 124 East Main street next to Lap-ham's Men's shop. Mrs. Essie Nirider, sale chairman, reports that there will be both adult and children's clothes. A new feature of the event will be the gift boutique under chairmanship of Mrs. Harold Wright and Mrs. Glenn Deibert. It will include Christmas gift suggestions, children's accessories and the club's scenes-of-Northville stationery.

MRS. CLIFTON D. HILL is hoping that by November 3 she will have reached the wives of all lawyers who make their homes in the Northville area. A tea is being given from 2 to 4 p.m. on that date in Farmington by Lawyers' Wives of Michigan, a branch of the state bar association, in the interests of getting lawyers' wives together to get to know each other. She asks anyone not contacted to call her at her office at Travel Plans, 349-1808.

HOMEcoming festivities last week end brought Dr. Kenneth MacLeod back to town for a brief visit. He declared he was at his desk at Adrian college, reading The Record's homecoming story, when he realized he would be able to make the pre-game pancake supper at Northville Presbyterian church - and did!

It was coincidence that it also was homecoming as Mr. and Mrs. James Bailey Allen, now of Clinton, Iowa, were weekend guests of Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Howard. They came to see Dr. Howard receive the Dr. Bruce Douglas Award in Lansing. Mrs. Allen, who was known professionally as Dr. Edna Jones when she was on the staff of Maybury sanatorium in charge of the children's division, was the recipient of this honor last year.

"I'M NOT A ONE-HOUR GUY," observed Karl Haas as he proceeded to ignore the Northville high school auditorium clock last Thursday morning to give Northville Town Hall's opening audience 20 additional minutes of a delightful musical adventure.

In fact, the TH audience met two personable men of music, for Wayne Dunlap, director of the Plymouth symphony orchestra, introduced Haas. Haas, director of fine arts for WJR radio, lived up to his reputation of having the "gift of making good music interesting to everyone" as he commented on the musical scene today and also played and described selections ranging from a Haydn sonata and Schumann's "Arabesque" to Bartok's folk-inspired music.

At the luncheon following at Meadowbrook country club his audience also met Mrs. Haas - "the girl I went to kindergarten with in our little hometown in Southwest Germany." They are parents of three - a daughter who is a senior at University of Michigan, a high school senior son and a twelve-year-old daughter.

We particularly liked his definition of culture as a "sense of inner space - those abiding values of the ages which give something within to hold us together." Haas' first recording, on a Columbia label, entitled "How to Listen to a Symphony," will be released in November.

Two Town Hall committee members were just back from fall vacations. Mrs. Fred Tuck and her husband had been south to visit family and enjoy the autumn colors while theatre hostess chairman, Mrs. William Soellner and her husband were back from a sunny vacation at the swish Castle Harbour in Bermuda.

UPCOMING EVENTS -

October 27 (today) 8 p.m. Junior High PTA board meeting, high school library.

October 31 - Halloween. November 2 - Half-day of school, teacher curriculum studies.

November 3-4 - No school. Teachers' Institute.

November 4 - Northville Woman's club, "Antiques" by Eleanor Lowell, 2 p.m., Presbyterian church.

Launch Canvass With Dinner

The annual "kick-off" dinner of the First Methodist Church congregation will be held today at 6:30 in the Richards Fellowship hall.

The dinner program is an inspirational affair leading up to the "Every Member Canvass" in support of the 1967 budget prepared by the Commission on Finance and approved by the official board of the parish.

The Rev. Herbert Brubaker, minister of the First Methodist church in Plymouth, will be the guest speaker. Mr. Brubaker was appointed to the Plymouth church following a six-year period as superintendent of the Saginaw Bay District Methodist churches. He was pastor of the First Church, Trenton from 1950-1960.

The Woman's Society of the local parish will prepare the main meat dish and the coffee and tea, the remainder of the meal to be pot-luck, and those attending to also furnish their own table service.

A nursery will be provided for pre-school children during the program.

The Every-member Canvass will feature Loyalty Sunday October 30; Visitation Sunday, November 6th; and close with Victory Sunday, November 13th.

Northville Men Strike It Rich

Fred Schwarze, Robert Brueck and George Glenn were among many Northville men who "struck gold" in their closets last week.

They found that their old outdated suits were worth 8 to 12 dollars during Lapham's "trade-in" days.

Between now and October 29, Lapham's are offering $8 to $12 on any suit toward the purchase of one of these great suits - Kuppenheimer, Botany 500, Andover, Clippercraft.

Lapham's are also giving a generous trade-in allowance on your old tuxedos!

All ties and suits traded in will be cleaned and donated to local institutions.

These four great names give customers a price range in smartly-styled suits ranging from $55 to $125.

In addition to receiving money for their old suits, customers at Lapham's were given immediate and expert tailoring for their new suits.

U of M Official Lauds Modern College Student

The University of Michigan is not a "revolving" campus, Dr. Richard L. Cutler, vice-president for student affairs, told about 50 Mothers' Club members and their guests as he spoke here Monday night.

He emphasized that of the 35,000 students at the university only about 35 are the bearded, sandaled type. He added that they seem more numerous, however, as these congregate around the Men's Union and on State street to be seen.

Cutler was enthusiastic about students at the university today, calling them "bright and energetic," but he stressed that they are different from the students of 20 years ago. Virtually all were born since World War II and reflect the world with U.S. pre-eminence, with colonialism gone and race and population expansion problems.

With a "fantastic" technological expansion since World War II, Cutler said he feels the role of the university's 2200-member faculty must be to expose the bright student to a whole series of opinions and let him make judgments.

He cited upcoming expansion at the university which will include a new children's hospital, a university theatre and new highway safety research.

In discussing problems of the university, Cutler said that it is impossible to house more than one-third of the students in university facilities. Therefore, older students do live in apartments. He pointed out that girls to do so must be juniors and must have parental permission if under 21.

Questioned about sexual and drinking freedom on the campus, Cutler stressed the difficulties of monitoring life in apartment and fraternity situations but said the university does have regulations. He said he felt in some instances the university is trying to cope with problems which "come to the university from high school with the student."

He emphasized the role of parents who, he said, MUST take a stand and set the limits for their children. Asked what mothers and fathers should do, Cutler said they could and should make the regulations as their children are growing up and must not have a "double standard" themselves. As one specific, he suggested, daughters (and schools) not having mixed parties "at 11, or 12 or even 14."

Comedy Opens In Plymouth

A comedy by Leslie Stevens will open the Plymouth Theatre Guild season today in the Plymouth high school auditorium.

Three weekend performances are on tap, October 27, 28 and 29, all of which will start at 8:15 p.m.

Stevens' "The Marriage-Go-Round" has left New York drama critics perplexed because they can't pin down the author's writing style. His first play, "Bullfight", was billed as a dramatic work involving a revolutionary technique. But this play was followed by a frothy comedy, "Champagne Complex."

The author pulled another switch with his next entry, "The Lovers", a sombre medieval piece. "The Marriage-Go-Round", his latest work, also caught critics off-guard.

At Del's

WE HAVE 104 STYLES TO CHOOSE FROM IN MEN'S SHOES...

One Of The Largest Displays In Michigan

YOUR FEET in FREEMAN Shoes are in fashion... Comfortably

It doesn't make sense to lay out good money for a new fall suit and spoil the whole impression with the wrong shoes.

Not when Freeman, always famous for comfort, offers you shoes that are color-coordinated with the new fall fabric shades. The three shoes in the picture are just a sample of what we mean.

Copperleaf for the browns and greens.

Coal Blue (yes blue!) to make the most of the new blue shades.

Blackcherry to bring out the best in the new burgundies.

GOING, GOING, GONE-That's the way the equipment-diving boards, picnic tables, rafts-at Groome's beach in Whitmore Lake went as piece by piece it was auctioned off recently. Long a popular swimming spot used by the Northville recreation department, Groome's beach will become the site for a housing development. Now the recreation department will be forced to search for a new swimming retreat to provide relief during those hot summer days.

Near-Perfect Quiz Winner

Competition wasn't even close in last week's football contest. It was Steve Bosak all the way.

The 12-year-old Novi junior high school seventh grader missed only one game - the outcome of the AFL New York-Oakland contest - and finished far ahead of a field of contestants who could do no better than four misses.

About a dozen entries missed only four games. But second place went to Jack L. Williams, 505 Rouge street, Northville, and third prize to F. J. Hicks of 810 Horton, Northville.

Steve wins $10, while Williams and Hicks receive $5 and $3, respectively.

Steve lives at 43000 Nine Mile road in Novi and enters the contest regularly. He's a player, as well as a fan, and is a member of the Novi junior high school football team.

BIG GAINER—End Gregg Carr hauls in a pass from Wingback Jim Zayti as an army of Bloomfield gridders move in for the tackle. It was one of the few passes com-

Crush Mustangs, 32-0

Barons Show Off Grid Strength

Who's number one? While the controversy rages over Notre Dame and Michigan State for the national collegiate honor, not a whit of doubt remains in the Wayne-Oakland Conference.

Especially after Friday Night's ball game here, Bloomfield Hills disposed of Northville as it has every team this year — by a lopsided 32-0 score.

The victory was emphatic testimony to the Barons' prowess. It kept the Barons untied and unbeaten for the season and atop the W-O conference with a 5-0 mark.

Before results of the West Bloomfield-Clarenceville game were in, it was clear in every mind present at Northville's blemished homecoming that Bloomfield Hills was number one.

But when West Bloomfield, the team with a mathematical but no real chance for the title, lost to Clarenceville, 13-7, Bloomfield Hills was handed the title.

Now it's simply a question of who will be runner-up. West Bloomfield dropped into a second-place tie with Clarkston and Clarenceville. All have 3-2 records.

Northville (2-3) slipped to a tie for fifth place with Milford. Holding jointly to seventh place are Holly and Brighton, both 1-4.

As expected, Bloomfield Hills scorned the airways and stuck to the ground. But the ease with which the Barons still ground out the yardage — 298 — made believers of even the most partisan Northville fans.

Surprise of the evening was the performance of Quarterback Bob Calhoun, a 6'2", 180-pound senior. Known as a good ball handler, he ran for 97 yards, a 6.5 average, and passed for 49 yards.

He also scored two touchdowns, coming on rollouts of 10 and 15 yards. He outshined Bloomfield's two touted runners, Halfback Dick Kraatz and Fullback Randy DeArment, who also had productive nights.

The fleet Kraatz rambled for 72 yards and two touchdowns in 14 tries. In addition, Kraatz set up the first score by returning a punt 52 yards to the Northville 24 yard line, and intercepted two passes.

DeArment ran for 63 yards in 15 tries and scored Bloomfield's remaining touchdown on a plunge.

That was the pattern all evening long: Calhoun, Kraatz, DeArment.

Northville, on the other hand, could do little right, primarily because of Bloomfield's stolid defense. It contained Northville's threat outside and except for a brief flurry, botched up Northville's passing game. Bloomfield intercepted four passes.

In fact, 45 of Northville's 94 yards came on two successive completions early in the third period that carried Northville from its 23 to Bloomfield's 32.

Wingback Jim Zayti took Bloomfield by surprise when he passed to Gregg Carr for 32 yards. On the same drive, Quarterback Chris Holman hit End Bob Hubbard for 13 yards. But four plays found Northville still on the Bloomfield 32.

Kraatz tipped Bloomfield's hand early when he returned Northville's first punt 52 yards to the Northville 24 yard line. DeArment took over from there, running for 6, 7, 8 and the final yard for the TD and a 6-0 lead.

Bloomfield had its second touchdown moments later, following an interception, the first of two, by Halfback Pete

Young on the Northville 39. Kraatz slanted off right tackle, slipped to the outside and ran 25 yards for a 12-0 lead.

Despite two 15-yard penalties, Bloomfield drove 80-yards in the second quarter for its third touchdown and a 19-0 lead. Calhoun capped the drive that took 19 plays by wheeling 10 yards into the end zone.

In the third period, both teams were stymied by interceptions. Northville's Joe Andrews, a defensive back, snared two to keep Bloomfield at bay.

But in the fourth quarter, the Barons were resumed their power blitz, gaining 117 yards on the ground and 38 through the air to completely dominate play.

Bloomfield's 71-yard drive for a TD

KRAATZ—Kraatz is a name to remember. Why? It belongs to Bloomfield Hills Halfback Dick Kraatz, the youth who gave Northville fits Friday night and here is on his way to a 25-yard TD.

Move Over Mustangs-JH Ready

Although Northville high school's football fortunes have dipped this year, there's better years ahead.

At least that's the way it looks when gazing at the junior high school's record. The little Mustangs have won every game this year — three.

They started slowly, beating Novi, 7-0, on a 35-yard run by Halfback Brad Conklin, sparkplug of the team.

Northville next trounced Plymouth, 36-7, with the reserves playing much of the game. Conklin sparked again as he ran 82 yards for the longest TD of the game.

In a return match with Plymouth, Northville won, 19-0, as Conklin scored on runs of 80 and 15 yards. Quarterback Rick Sechler hooked up with Bernie Bach for a 15 yard TD and Northville's other touchdown.

"I've got a lot of tough ball players on the squad," Coach John Jan-chick beamed. "They look like they'll really produce in high school."

Downs Wildcats, 13-6

Novi Cops 3rd Grid Victory

Novi shrugged off costly penalties to post its first victory over a senior high school Saturday night.

The Wildcats scored two second-half touchdowns to beat Immanuel Lutheran, 13-6, before an enthusiastic crowd in Pontiac's Wisner stadium.

By winning, Novi pushed its season record to 3-3 and disposed of the last senior high school on its schedule. In previous games, Novi lost to Ashley and Michigan School for the Deaf, two other senior high schools.

Victory could prove costly. Halfback Ken Osborne and Joe Morrison may be sidelined for an indeterminate time because of ankle injuries.

Novi will play Monroe Catholic Central's Jayvees at Monroe today, Thursday. Game time is 4 p.m.

Saturday's game was a rough, tightly played contest. Novi was penalized 105 yards on six 15 yard penalties and three five yard penalties. Twice they stopped Novi drives, both times between the Immanuel Lutheran 25 and 30 yard lines.

In addition, two players, Dan Douglas and Livan Tafariian, were ejected from the game for being over zealous.

Novi had its troubles getting untraced in the first half, and Immanuel Christian jumped off to a 6-0 halftime lead. A pass interference call and a pass paved the way for the score on a plunge with just 18 seconds left in the half.

In the second half, Novi got a break. The Wildcats moved to the 25 yard line, but a 15-yard penalty squelched the drive. Novi punted to the Immanuel Lutheran two yard line.

Unable to move, Immanuel Christian punted to its 35, but the play was called back because of a penalty. On the second punt, the ball went straight up into the air and Novi took over on the six yard line.

Two plays later, Fullback Mike Farah powered off tackle for the touchdown, tying the game at 6-all.

Quarterback Gary Boyer, running the option, kept the ball and slanted into the end zone for the all-important extra point, but an offside penalty nullified the play and cost Novi five yards.

Undaunted, Boyer faked off tackle, then bootlegged around end for the extra point. End Dave Bingham delivered a block that sprung Boyer loose.

In the fourth quarter, Novi tallied the clinching touchdown by driving 55 yards. Halfback Jon Van Wagner, who ran for 86 yards in 24 tries, bulled over from the one for a 13-6 lead.

It was Van Wagner and Farah who were instrumental in the Novi attack as they traded running off tackle.

Harriers Run Dry 7th Time

Northville's harriers are still looking for their first win this year, after dropping three more meets and running their record to 0-7.

Dim as victory chances are, three youths, Doug Hazlett, Bill Harrison and Jim Peterson, continued to turn in solid performances.

Hazlett topped the squad by running the two-mile course at Cass Benton Park in the best time recorded by the Northville squad this year, 11:42. Hazlett formerly held the best time of 12:19.

"We've been running primarily against class A schools," Coach Paul Osborne pointed out. "Only Clarkston and Clarenceville are class B like us."

Against Clarkston, Northville flashed its best form of the season, losing by a slim 31-24 margin on October 6. Harrison won third place (12:05), Hazlett fifth (12:13), Peterson seventh (12:56) and Malcomb Petseys 10th (13:26).

In a 35-22 loss to Oak Park on October 11, Harrison captured third place in 11:13, Hazlett fifth in 11:18 and Peterson sixth in 11:50.

It was against Clarenceville on October 13 that Hazlett recorded the best time of the season to take third place. Harrison was just a step behind, crossing the finish line fourth in 12:11 minutes and Peterson won ninth place with a time of 13 minutes flat. Northville lost, 40-21.

The local squad sank to its lowest ebb last week Tuesday when it finished last in a field of nine teams entered in the Clarenceville invitational at Cass Benton.

RETIREMENT VILLAGE — This is an artist's rendering of a proposed "retirement village" on the northwest corner of Marilyn and Seven Mile road in Northville township. Tuesday night planners scheduled a public hearing to considering rezoning for the proposal. It will require zoning changes from residential to R-M (residential, multiple) and OS-1 (office, service). The request comes from Dr. W. E. Gizynski of Livonia. Some 318 single-level living units as well as a 100-bed convalescent home and professional offices are planned in the complex. Construction of a sewer line to serve the area began this week. It extends westward to the interceptor at Northville road and is being financed by Dr. Gizynski on a tap-in, pay-back arrangement with the township. The proposed "village" is on a 55-acre tract. Residents of the units will be elderly persons, some patients of the clinic. A basic medical service, such as regular physical check-ups, would be included in the rent. A spokesman for Dr. Gizynski said construction would begin in the spring if rezoning wins approval. In other business Tuesday night planners heard a report from Leonard Klein on requests from horse-owners for changes in the new ordinance governing keeping of horses. Klein said they wanted the acreage requirement relaxed to one-acre per horse. He will report to the township board, which must pass along its recommendations to the planners if it wishes changes in the ordinance.

MICHIGAN MINUTEMEN

Be a Michigan Minuteman.

Take a minute to talk or write to someone about how mighty Michigan is in manufacturing.

— It has more than 13,000 manufacturing establishments.

— Its manufacturing plants employ more than 800,000 people.

— It has 87 per cent of all the types of industry found in America.

— It has a highly diversified skilled labor force, as shown by the fact that skilled labor in Michigan mans 365 different types of industry.

— It ranks second among the 14 leading industrial states when productivity is measured by value-added-per-employee and ranks third measured by value-added-per-man-hour.

— It is the home of three of America's billion-dollar corporations and 16 of America's hundred-million-dollar corporations.

Its most important manufacturing industry is motor vehicle production.

It is the most important state in motor vehicle manufacturing, by far.

It is by no means automotively top heavy. Nonautomotive manufacturing employment in Detroit, the automotive capital of the world, is bigger than the entire manufacturing employment in, for example, Boston or Pittsburgh

— It has the human resources for new and expanding industry — custom-ers, skilled workers and able executives.

— Its unlimited supply of water is a fabulous natural resource. No state has greater water resources than Michigan.

— It has more than 11,000 inland lakes, more than 36,000 miles of rivers and streams.

— It is at the center of the largest body of fresh water in the world, the Great Lakes.

— It has the greatest variety of minerals — metallic and non-metallic — to be found in any similar-sized area in the world.

— It leads the nation in the production of gypsum.

SCOUT HONOR—Daniel and Richard Sigsbee pose here with their mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sigsbee, after being named life scouts. They're the first Novi youths to be so honored. Presentation of the awards was made last week Wednesday. Harold Sigsbee has been active many years in boy scouting.

Adopt Zoning Changes

In a special public hearing held Tuesday, the Novi village council unanimously approved rezoning request and three amendments to the zoning ordinance.

Owned by Gerald Pepple, a three acre parcel, located on Grand River east of Beck road, was rezoned for light manufacturing. Pepples said 15 men will be employed the first year, when construction of his tool and die shop is completed.

The council also paved the way for appointment of more members to the Board of Appeals by drafting an amendment. It provides for "not less than five members," whereas previously the zoning ordinance called for five members.

Actual number of board members will be set by resolution of the council at some future date.

By approving the site plan approval amendment, the council gave the planning commission the power to review site plans before construction of multiple housing, business and manufacturing complexes.

The council also adopted a residential unit development approval ordinance, also giving more power to the planning commission. The amendment outlines procedures developers must follow to gain acceptance of their plans.

Car Hits Deer On Seven Mile

A deer, hit after darting into the path of a car driven by a Wixom woman, limped off into the brush October 17.

Mrs. George Gardner said she was driving east on Seven Mile road about 10:40 p.m. near Maybury Sanatorium when she saw two deer by the side of the road.

As she was driving by, she said, both deer bolted in front of her car. She said she hit one, which limped to the side of the road and dropped to the ground.

When she returned after notifying police, however, she said the deer had wandered off into the swamp. No damage was done to the car, it was reported.

Several Hurt In Northville, Novi Accidents

A Northville woman was injured when the car she was driving was struck from the rear at the intersection of Center street and Baseline road last Friday.

Linda McKernan, 20, of 210 South Rogers was taken to St. Mary hospital, Livonia, where she received treatment of neck and back injuries, suffered because of whiplash.

According to Northville police, William C. Brown of Monroe said he did not see the stop sign at Baseline and Center street as he was driving south. He stated, too, that he thought the McKernan car was moving.

Police reported that his car crashed into the back of the car driven by Miss McKernan. Police were notified at 3:55 p.m.

In an accident early Sunday morning, a Novi man, knocked unconscious in the collision, was taken to St. Mary hospital and released.

Lloyd Weaver, 53, of 42479 13 Mile road, had just made a turn off Center street and was heading east on Eight Mile road when the accident occurred.

According to the other driver, Helmut Petrat, 57, of Livonia, whose car Weaver's car hit, Weaver forced him onto the shoulder of the road and hit his car in the rear.

Police reported that Weaver's car then went up the embankment on the north side of Eight Mile road and came to rest on the sidewalk.

Reported time of the accident was 2:20 a.m.

A school bus accident was among several traffic accidents in which persons were injured the past week.

Driven by Eugene Shoner, 42, the school bus rammed into the back end of a car stopped at the base of the high school hill. It was driven by Stephen Mickalacki, 21, of 505 Griswold.

Mickalacki's car, in turn, rammed into the rear end of a car stopped in front of him at the base of the high school hill and preparing to turn onto Center street. Driving it was Joe Spagnuolo, 17, of 203 Debra Lane.

Shoner attributed the accident to "defective brakes" on the school bus, police said. Shoner lives at 317 Randolph street.

Although passengers in the cars and the drivers did not claim injury immediately after the accident, it was reported that several complained of minor injuries thereafter.

'Clunker' Sparks Novi Grass Fire

Fire, whipped by strong winds, ate a swath 100 yards wide through three fields Sunday afternoon in Novi when boys reportedly driving an "old clunker" through a field to scare up birds suddenly burst into flames.

The Novi fire department extinguished the blaze near the farm of Bernard Forsytek, 41121, 14 Mile road, after fighting it for two hours.

Novi police were told that David James, 16, owner and driver of the car, and Thomas Devereaux, 19, a passenger, asked permission of Forsytek before entering his field.

When James had driven his car about 200 feet onto the field in search of birds, police reported, the car overheated and the underside burst into flames.

The boys reported the fire to Forsytek, police said, who then called police. By the time police and fire equipment arrived, police said, all three fields were on fire.

Schoolcraft College

OK Phy Ed Building Plans

Preliminary plans for a physical education plant were approved by trustees of Schoolcraft college last week Wednesday night and the board authorized the architect, Eberle M. Smith Assoc., Detroit, to prepare working drawings.

Approval of the preliminary plans came after the board approved several plan modifications requested of the architect in the interests of economy.

Working drawings and specifications are scheduled to be ready for bidding early next year and a start of construction in April. Completion of the 87,800 square foot structure is scheduled for the fall of 1968.

Designed for an enrollment of 4,300 students, the building will enclose a 120 by 140 foot main gymnasium, a 96 by 104 foot auxiliary gym, a wrestling room, gymnastics area, a T-shaped pool two classrooms for physical education instruction, six handball courts, locker rooms and other support areas.

As designed, the building will permit instruction programs in nine activity areas simultaneously. The main gymnasium will be equipped with a folding partition and will have fold-away bleachers to seat approximately 2,500. Seating for 400 will be provided in the pool area.

Schoolcraft has been conducting its physical education program, including intramural and varsity athletic activity, in leased facilities and other off-campus areas since the college opened in 1964.

Not included in the gymnasium construction project, but part of long-range planning for the college, is development of a range of playing and activity fields on the campus.

College officials have applied for state and federal construction grants to supplement local funds in financing the education building, which is estimated to cost $1,900,000. Local funds will be provided from a $3,000,000 building program bond issue sold earlier this fall.

The gymnasium is one of two major construction projects planned by the college in its 1966 building program. The other is a 34-classroom liberal arts building designed by Ralls-Hamill-Becker, Farmington architectural firm.

The classroom building is scheduled for a construction start early next year and completion by fall, 1968. Federal and state construction grants have already been approved for the building and will supplement local funds.

Book Fair Opens Today

Novi elementary school will sponsor a student book fair from October 27 to November 2 in the library, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Officials point out that because October 28 and 29 are parent-teacher conference days the book fair will give parents an opportunity to look over the selections on display.

The fair is aimed at spurring student interest in reading and building home libraries. From the sale of books, the school will earn 20-percent of the profits, which in turn will be used for purchasing books for the library.

Books of many publishers in all popular price ranges will be on sale.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Rev. Robert K. Spradling
First Baptist Church, Northville

Several weeks ago, this writer asked a certain man if he were saved. After a few moments of hesitation and embarrassment, the man replied that he wasn't sure whether he was or not. The term "saved" seemed to be a strange word to him. And yet, the Bible has a great deal to say about this word as it pertains to one's personal relationship to God through Christ.

Jesus said His reason for coming to earth was to save men. "For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost." Luke 19:10.

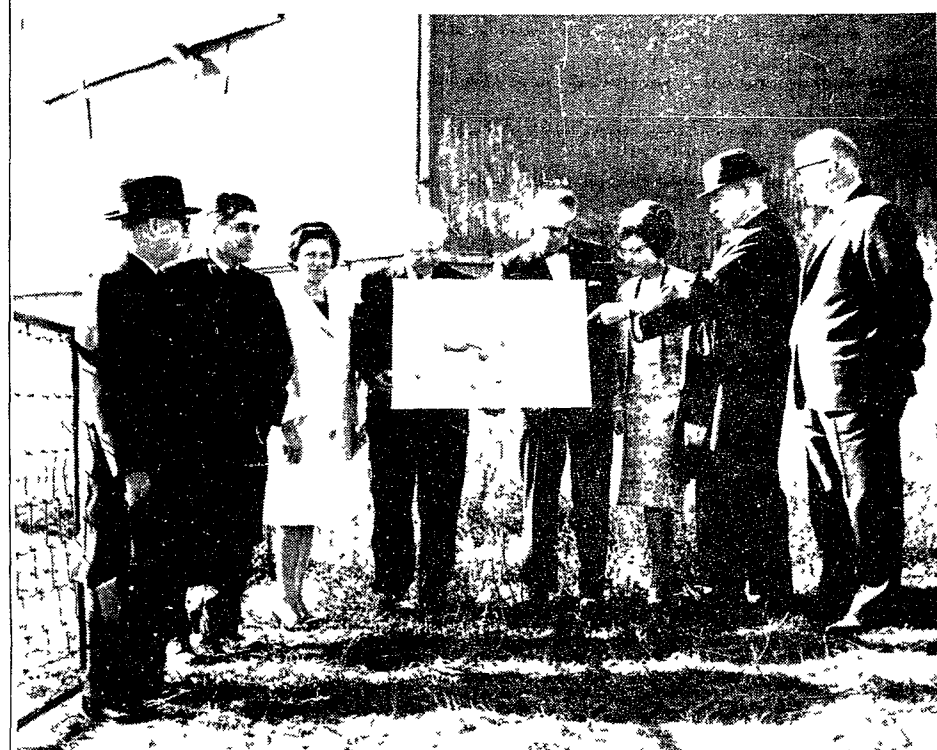

The angelic messenger told Joseph that the mission of the Savior would be to save men from their sins. "And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name JESUS; for he shall save his people from their sins." Matthew 1:21.

On one occasion, the Apostle Paul and Silas, his associate, were cast into prison for preaching the gospel. At the midnight hour, the Bible says an earthquake shook the prison so violently that the doors were thrown open. With the doors wide open, the jailer knew the prisoners must have fled and he was on the verge of committing suicide. At that moment, Paul cried out to him from the inside of the prison to do himself no harm, for not a man had left his cell. In view of such startling information, the jailer asked a sincere question: "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" To which Paul replied: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house." Acts 16:30-31. Thus, to be saved became a present reality in the life of the inquiring jailer.

In the Ephesian letter, Paul states: "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God." Ephesians 2:3. According to this verse, to be saved refers to that transforming experience of receiving God's Son as Lord and Saviour.

To be saved is simply another way of referring to a personal, vital relationship to Jesus Christ, by faith, in His finished work on Calvary. This word is a Biblical term used by the writers of Scripture. Therefore, to be asked if one is saved is not such a strange question after all. In fact, it is a perfectly good question and can be readily answered in the affirmative by those who know Christ as Saviour.

CHURCH SITE—The First Methodist Church of Northville has completed the purchase of a new five-acre building site on the south side of Eight Mile road, west of the Taft road intersection. Presently, the site houses a large red barn and a sizeable orchard and pasture. The architect, William P. Lindout of Livonia, has prepared a site study indicating possible location of the proposed church and educational unit. Shown here examining the plan while on the site are (l to r) Rev. S. D. Kinde, pastor, Robert Gots, Mrs. Douglas Bolton, Russell Armerman, Harold Marks, Mrs. Paul Beard, Oscar Hammond, and Claren Jones.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Only The Score Mars Homecoming

Only thing marring Homecoming, the biggest ever held in Northville's history, was Bloomfield Hills' convincing victory Friday night.

But even the loss failed to dampen high spirits that marked the three-day celebration, told pictorially on this page.

Sparking the extravaganza was a blazing bonfire (2) held Thursday evening on the plateau overlooking the football field and attended by students and coaches.

Reigning over the festivities was this year's queen, Pat Moase, (1) a senior popularly elected by her classmates.

Taking first prize in the class competition for the best float (3) was the senior production of "The Wizard of Oz" (3), with "We're off to see a victor" inscribed on its side.

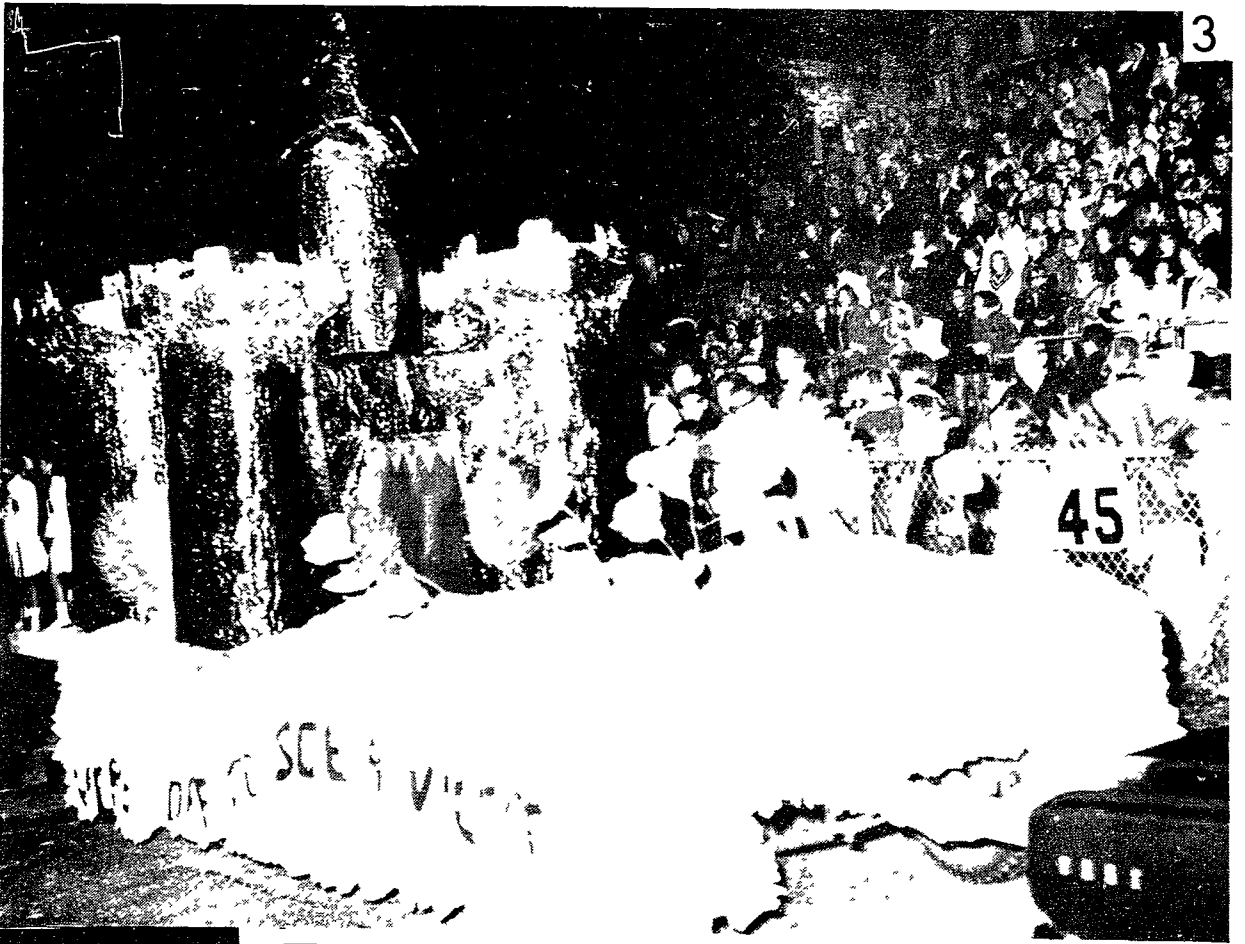

The queen's court stands (4) by as Queen Pat Moase is escorted by her father, Sidney Moase, during halftime ceremonies.

Built by the sophomore class (5), the float, "Repunzel," rides by the crowd of spectators in downtown Northville.

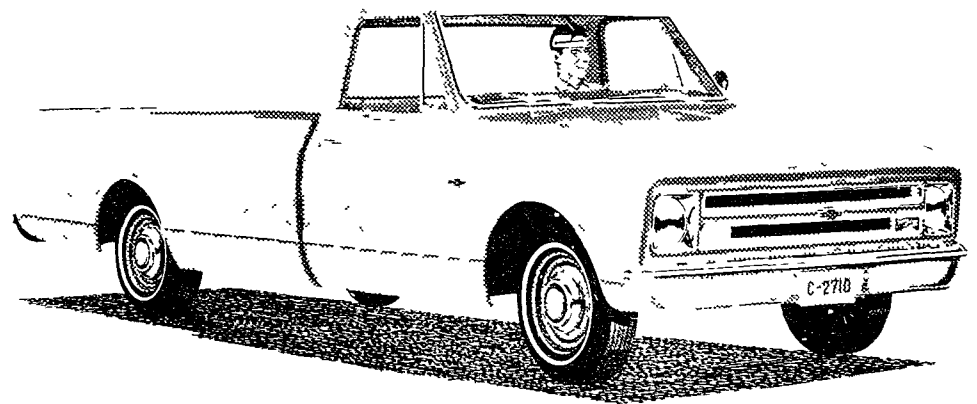

Chris Winkler (6), mayor of the student body, presents a bouquet of roses to Queen Pat during halftime.

A giant Pegasus (7), inscribed with "A flight to Victory," was the freshman class contribution. The juniors got into the act by building this float (8) of "Humpty Dumpty."

Wrapping up festivities was a Saturday night dance at the Junior high school boys' gymnasium.

2 Northville Men Retire from Edison

Two Northville residents with a combined service record of 86 years with the Detroit Edison company are retiring.

John H. Schwartz has already retired after 44 years with the company, and Harry F. Wagenschutz will end 42 years service upon retirement December 1.

A native of Vienna, Austria, Schwartz received his high school education in Owendale, Huron county, and holds an accounting degree from the University of Detroit.

He joined Edison in 1922 as a laboratory assistant in the production department and since 1947 had been supervisor of load scheduling.

Schwartz and his wife, Mable, live at 23145 Novi road. They are the parents of one son, John, Jr., and a daughter, Elissa.

Wagenschutz, manager of Edison's customer office in Plymouth for the past 10 years, is active in both the Kiwanis club and the chamber of commerce in that city, as well as the Livonia chamber of commerce. He also is a past-president of the Northville Exchange club, a member of the citizen's advisory committee of Northville, and a former member of the Northville planning and appeals board. He is a member of the First Presbyterian church of Northville and a life-member of Northville Lodge No. 186 F. & A.M.

He and his wife, Jane, have lived at 341 Beal avenue for the past 43 years. Their son, B. D. Wagenschutz, and his wife are Plymouth residents, and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Lovette, Jr., live in Novi.

7 Injured In Two-Car Novi Crash

A Northville woman and five Novi residents were injured in a two-car collision October 15 at the intersection of 10 Mile and Haggerty roads.

Seven people, including a Southfield man, were admitted to Botsford General Hospital, Farmington, treated and released.

Carol Werdehoff, 20, of 919 Cardington street, one of the drivers, was thrown through the windshield and suffered cuts about the head.

A passenger in the car which Miss Werdehoff was driving, Raymond Graham, 22, was treated for a cut on the right elbow. Graham lives at 44109 Stassen street.

Raymond Krohl, 41, who was riding in the front seat of the car driven by Kenneth Hazard of Southfield, was also thrown through the window. He likewise suffered facial cuts and head injuries.

Krohl's wife, Isabell, 39, who was also riding in the front seat, sustained cuts about the head, legs and knees. The Krohl's son, 13-year-old Gregory and a friend, 13-year-old Philip McMillan suffered minor injuries.

The Krohls live at 40610 Rockhill Lane and McMillan lives at 23757 Maudelea Circle.

According to witnesses, Miss Werdehoff, who was driving south on Haggerty road, stopped for the stop sign at 10 Mile road, appeared to check traffic, then pulled out.

While the car was in the middle of the intersection, witnesses said, it was struck by the car driven by Hazard, 52, and heading east on 10 Mile road.

The car Miss Werdehoff was driving was thrown 120 feet east of Haggerty road into a field, Novi police reported. Police added that none of the occupants had seat belts on, although both cars were equipped with them.

CAN YOU AFFORD A NEW CAR THIS YEAR?

Have you been enviously eyeing the new models but arguing with your conscience whether the expense is justified? Then here is some statistical ammunition for your side:

Auto industry economists in recent years have figured out on their computers that every three years is the ideal time to trade for the average motorist under average conditions.

This is the point when your used car becomes noticeably out of style, which adversely affects its resale value. Service costs have already started to soar, offsetting the rate of depreciation which has begun to slow down. Major expenses such as tires and battery etc. can now be expected.

Service costs have been increasing in the last few years, however, much faster than manufacturing costs. High trade union wage demands can be cancelled out to some extent by labor-saving automation. But this is not possible in straight service work.

This year alone, for instance, prices of consumer services generally have risen 4.5 percent compared with 2.5 percent last year and 2 percent the year before.

All of this is making the service-free new car every two years and even every year a more attractive proposition economically for many local buyers.

With the extended new car warranties this year it is more important than ever that you buy from a dealer who is service-and-guarantee-minded as well as considering low price.

Policemen to Hear Judge Edwards

Judge George Edwards

Two Novi policemen will attend a November conference at Oakland University, which will feature a talk by Judge George Edwards of the United States Court of Appeals, sixth circuit. They are Sergeant Richard Falkner and Patrolman Warren Trushman. Some 200 law enforcement officers and guests are expected to attend the conference slated for November 2. It is being sponsored by the county juvenile court with a representative group of Oakland county police chiefs. Topic of Judge Edwards' talk will be "Due process and the Juvenile Court". In his talk, he will attempt to clarify recent United States Supreme court decisions on the rights of accused persons, and whether or not these decisions apply to juveniles. Juvenile courts have over the years conducted their hearings on an informal basis, explains Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole, and Judge Edwards' comments may well have an impact on the juvenile courts and law enforcement agencies in this county. "As far as the decisions of the Supreme Court regarding adult offenders is concerned, I will be interested in hearing Judge Edwards' view as how or if they apply to juveniles. My feeling is that we have a very satisfactory juvenile code in this state which deals with our juvenile problems." In his comment on the subject, Probate Judge Norman R. Barnard, noted: "As a court we are obligated to work within the law and, equally as important, we are obligated to represent the community we serve. There is a great deal of concern that the laws at present, and recent Supreme Court rulings, tend to handicap courts and law enforcement agencies that deal with youthful offenders. "It is our purpose in this conference and the seminars that will follow to acquaint the agencies involved with these laws and decisions so that they can deal with the problem effectively. It is possible to serve the juvenile and the public if those of us in this field are totally informed about our obligations to both." Judge Edwards is a former juvenile judge, a commissioner of police in Detroit, and a circuit and Michigan Supreme Court judge who is well-known in this area.

Area Little Goblins Collect for UNICEF

Northville and Novi will win a share in a Nobel Peace Prize this year, through the selfless enthusiasm of boys and girls who collected funds for UNICEF. The lofty award was given to the United Nations Children's Fund last fall, for 20 years of life-saving work in more than 100 countries. On October 31, children of Northville and Novi will join over three million other young Americans from coast to coast in the UNICEF Halloween program. Sunday school children of the Methodist churches of Novi and Northville will be out Halloween evening collecting funds for the project. In addition, children of the Northville Presbyterian church will take home their UNICEF containers and return them the following Sunday.

Official UNICEF collection cartons will identify trick or treaters. Shaped like half-pint milk containers, they will show the emblem of a mother and child on an orange background. Church officials point out that every penny will mean six glasses of milk for hungry youngsters. "A nickel buys the penicillin to cure two little victims of yaws, an ugly, crippling tropical disease. A dime provides the antibiotics to save a child suffering from trachoma from total blindness. A quarter means enough BCG vaccine to protect 20 children against tuberculosis." Trick or treat for UNICEF is endorsed by President Johnson and civic, religious and educational leaders. Organized for the first time in 1950 by a small Sunday School group which collected $17, last fall it resulted in a gift of $2.5 million to the world's needy children.

American Legion Salutes Servicemen

"Let people know we're proud of 'em!" That's the word from the Lloyd H. Green Post, local American Legion unit, as it launches a special sticker campaign this week honoring service families. Free stickers carrying the words, "The American Legion Salutes a Service Family", are being made available to all area families of a serviceman. According to Robert Collicott, commander, families of any serviceman, whether he is serving in the United States or abroad, are eligible for a sticker. Interested persons are asked to call him at FI 9-2206. Besides showing the appreciation of the American Legion, the sticker shows the public that the serviceman's family is proud too. "They're perfect for a car window or a house window," Collicott said. In conjunction with the sticker campaign, the Legion post also announced opening of membership to servicemen serving during the Vietnam war. Servicemen are eligible to become members if they have served in the armed forces for a period of 90 days since August 5, 1964. Such a serviceman need not have served overseas, merely during the period of the Vietnam war. Dr. Fuller Joins University Staff Dr. Gerald B. Fuller, formerly with Hawthorne Center here, has been appointed associate professor of psychology at Central Michigan university. Dr. Fuller assumed his duties at Central this fall. Dr. Fuller at one time served as child clinical psychologist at Hawthorne and served in the same type of position at the Ottawa (Canada) Child Guidance Center. He was director of research, Willman State Hospital, Willman, Minnesota, and was school consultant, Benson Public Schools, Benson, Minnesota. ## From Out of the Past

ONE YEAR AGO...

...Northville's city council became serious about the possible acquisition of Detroit water. Mayor A. M. Allen called for the appointment of Councilman John Canterbury to pursue the question of "exactly what we want here".

...A prominent Novi industry was completely destroyed by a raging fire, despite the efforts of six area fire departments.

Damage estimated at near $1 million was dealt to the American Plastic Products company and the building in which it was housed at 40261 13 Mile road. Firemen were powerless to save the factory but were able to keep the blaze from a home about 400 feet away.

...Complete plans for the proposed new elementary, junior high school and additions to the high school were ready for presentation to the board of education in Northville.

...Senior candidates for the Northville homecoming game were Rosie Frontera, Susie Hill and Dawn McAllister.

...New members of the Novi police force: Cornell Stomoran, Ronald Arbor and Ronald Wankowicz.

...Temper flared on the Novi village council at its regular meeting as members took issue with township board officials. Provisions for municipal services, an issue that has dangled for several months, was the igniting fuse once again.

...Novi board of education reviewed tentative plans for a high school addition to the present junior high school at its October meeting.

FIVE YEARS AGO...

...Preparatory work to ready the section of Eight Mile road between the Eight Mile cutoff and Haggerty road for widening and paving was begun by the Taylor Brothers road contracting firm.

...Novi school board members learned that the previously predicted school budget deficit of $27,080 has been upped by nearly $1,000.

...The Novi Methodist church was moved to allow for a larger basement and an addition at the rear.

...More than 400 area Ford workers were back on their jobs after settlement of national and local contract differences ended a two-week Ford company strike. About 4,000 workers returned to work at the Wixom Lincoln plant and 280 hourly laborers were back at the Northville valve plant.

...The doors of Community General hospital, closed tight six months earlier, appeared closed forever as Owner Abraham Farris admitted that there was no possibility that it would reopen as a hospital. Also, Farris expressed concern over obstacles to conversion of the facility to a convalescent home.

...Right on the heels of the Kroger company announcement that it would open its new Dunlap street store, Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit revealed it was moving ahead on its plan to construct a drive-in bank at the corner of Dunlap and Hutton streets.

...Walter Ribant, president of the Northville Jaycees, handed over a check for $760 to Recreation Director Ken Conley.

TEN YEARS AGO...

...State officials announced tentative plans for a 2,500 bed hospital for mentally-deficient children to be built south of Northville within years.

It was hoped that construction of a $5,000,000 first unit could be started the following spring. The hospital, to be known as the "Plymouth State Home and Training School," was to be constructed on Phoenix road, extending west from Edward Hines drive and straddling Sheldon road.

...A comprehensive citizens report on Northville's school needs - based on many months of study - was about to be submitted to the board of education. The report was to be made known by a "curriculum study committee" - a little known group composed primarily of lay citizens and charged with evaluating future curriculum needs in the city's public schools.

...Joe Kritch, Sr., sports fan, Yankee baseball scout and father of Northville's JV star quarterback, was fooled by only one of the football contest games, thus winning himself first prize money of $10.

...A new laundry and dry cleaning service was opened in Northville by the owners of Perfection Laundry and Dry Cleaning company of Plymouth.

...Horseplay that caused a serious accident marred the gaiety of the Northville-Thurston homecoming football game. Patricia Russell, 16-year-old cheerleader from Thurston high school, suffered burns from a firecracker thrown from the stands by a Detroit youth.

THIRTY YEARS AGO...

...High up above the streets of Detroit where he had been given a noisy, enthusiastic welcome, Governor Alf M. Landon said in a private interview with Fred Warner Neale that he did not know exactly how he was going to balance the budget as he had promised to do within four years if elected.

...The first cottage built of airlocked logs was completed at 318 River street by P. L. Mott, Detroit contractor.

...Death came to a 21-year-old Plymouth youth, John Mandl, in Sessions hospital where he was rushed after a rain soaked gravel highway at the corner of Novi and Eight Mile roads caused his car to skid and crash into a fence.

...Torn by its revolutionary activities, "Spain is acting like a man who seems to be insane but really isn't yet". That was what Colonel H. W. Miller of the college of engineering at the University of Michigan told members of the Northville Rotary club.

...First class sessions for the Union School of Religion were held in the Presbyterian church where church workers from the Novi, Plymouth and Northville Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches were attending.

...At a meeting of the Exchange club here, George Kopp, a member of the Wayne university faculty, gave a brief talk on proposed amendments to the state constitution.

...Russell Clark and James A. Congo awoke at crack of dawn and donned high top boots, thus signaling the start of another hunting season.

40 YEARS AGO...

...In spite of the fact that management of the Clyde baseball team loaded up with a lot of players from Detroit, Northville won the game easily - the score being 12 to 3.

...Nig Clark, an old catcher in the Cleveland baseball club, and later with Scranton, Pa., team, lives in Detroit. Twenty-five years previously, he and Harry S. German were the battery for Adrian, and as they were "both in the game" and going strong, The Record noted that it was possible they would form the batter for Northville at the House of Correction Farm Tournament.

...Orient Chapter, O.E.S. of Northville observed its 35th anniversary.

...Mrs. Sarah A. Burr Hastings died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William V. Foster, at the age of 95.

50 YEARS AGO...

...Work on Northville's new cement road to Detroit starting at the south end of the corporation on Plymouth avenue was progressing "very nicely".

...The second former Northville man to meet a tragic death in Detroit within a few months was Herman Bartrum, who was so badly hurt in a grade crossing accident that he died.

...The roof on the new school building was rapidly approaching completion.

...Mrs. C. C. Yerkes, Mrs. E. H. Lapham and Mrs. H. E. Taft were in Detroit selling tags for the St. Joseph's home under direction of the Woman's Federate clubs.

60 YEARS AGO...

...Charles A. Dolph was elected to take the place of Dr. Blanchard on the school board as director, in consequence of the latter's resignation.

The many friends of Dr. A. L. Blanchard in Northville and vicinity greatly regretted that he was compelled by ill health to give up his residence here and leave Michigan for an indefinite stay in milder climate. He left accompanied by E. H. Lapham of Detroit for Asheville, North Carolina.

Schoolcraft Enrollment Soars

Schoolcraft College not only enrolled more students in this, its third year of operation, but a greater percentage of its student body is attending on a full-time basis, students are taking more courses - and, the male student population is on the increase.

Detailed figures based on enrollment data of Friday, September 23 - the fourth Friday of the 1966-67 school year - were released this week by Registrar Norman E. Dunn. An official enrollment census is taken on the fourth Friday of each school year to meet State Department of Education reporting regulations.

The Schoolcraft figures show: a head count enrollment this year of 3,188, compared with 2,504 in 1965, and 2,018 in 1964, when the college first opened.

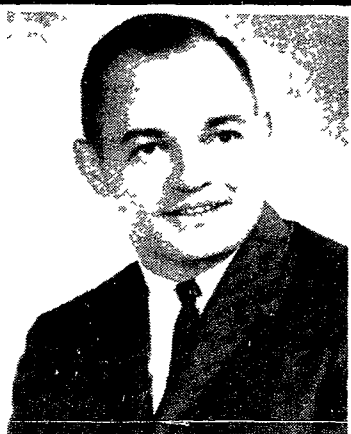

Impressive as the enrollment increase is, an equally significant increase shows up in the full-time enrollment figures. These are students taking at least 12 hours of course credit.

Dunn's figures show 1,780 full-time students this fall, or 55.8 percent of the student body. This figure compares with 1,336, or 53.3 percent, last year; and only 869, or 43 percent in 1964.

Ford Names 'Tractor' Manager

Donald W. Sawyer

Donald W. Sawyer has been appointed manager of Ford Motor company's U.S. Tractor and Implement Operations' north central district, headquartered at Wixom.

The district coordinates the sales activities of more than 300 Ford tractor dealerships in Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, parts of Illinois, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Kentucky.

Formerly manager of the central district, located at Grandview, Missouri, Sawyer succeeds John J. Dzorini, recently named manager of the Eastern District in Richmond, Virginia.

Sawyer has served as manager of the central district since its formation in mid-1964. He joined Ford as assistant parts manager of the former Dearborn Motors corporation in 1948 at Birmingham.

In 1953, he was named manager of the parts and accessories department of the former Tractor and Implement Division in Birmingham. He was appointed manager of the Minneapolis sales district, the first such district organized by the division in 1956, returning to Birmingham in 1958 as assistant general sales manager in charge of field operations and coordination of three sales districts.

In August 1962, Sawyer was assigned to the newly-created European Tractor Operations headquartered in Brussels with the responsibility for establishing tractor offices and directing the sales activity in nine countries. He returned to the United States in May, 1964, to become central district manager.

Schoolcraft Plans Art Program

Work by a group of 13 artists and craftsmen, most of them from northwest Wayne county, will be shown in an invitational exhibit at Schoolcraft College Nov. 1 through 11.

The exhibit will include ceramics, metal and jewelry, sculpture, and textiles, and will consist largely of work entered by the artists in the Michigan Craftsman 66 show at Grand Rapids earlier this fall. A number of the individual ceramics pieces to be shown at the Schoolcraft show won awards at the Grand Rapids exhibit.

The ceramics display will include works by James H. Powell, Farmington, whose raku jug took the first place award at Grand Rapids, and by James R. Black, Schoolcraft College instructor, whose wrapped form won the second place award at the same show.

The ceramics section will also offer pieces by Richard E. DeVore, Cranbrook Academy of Art instructor; Mrs. Pat Bauer, Whitmore Lake; William Case, Plymouth; Mr. and Mrs. Gwayne Dart, Wayne; John P. Glick, Farmington, and Pat St. Cyr, Livonia.

Metal and jewelry pieces by David Carroll Mulligan, Garden City, and Kenneth Frank Rose, Livonia; a group of sculptures by Ruby Ann Glick, Farmington, and a selection of textiles by Mrs. Jessie Hudson, Plymouth High school art instructor, will complete the exhibit.

Wayne Dunlap, chairman of the humanities division at Schoolcraft and director of the exhibit, said a public reception for the exhibitors will open the 10-day show at 8 p.m., November 1. The gallery is in the lower level of the Waterman Campus Center.

Williams Urges Federal Aid Review

G. Mennen Williams Thursday urged a Congressional review of federal education programs to determine if the general principle of equal treatment in the 1965 elementary and secondary education act can be applied to improve earlier programs.

Such a Congressional review could be supplemented by a special commission established by the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, or by the President," Williams said.

Membership on the special commission should include representatives of both public and non-public school systems at the elementary and secondary level and representatives of both private and public colleges and universities."

The Democratic nominee for U.S. Senator made his proposal in answer to a questionnaire from Citizens for Educational Freedom, a group of parents of children attending non-public schools. He was asked what specific ideas he had for achieving equality of treatment for school children whose parents choose to send them to non-public schools.

GOP Seeks Local Funds

The Northville Republican Headquarters currently is engaged in a door-to-door canvas of registered Republicans in precincts one and two of Northville township to request contributions for the upcoming election.

Volunteers conducting the fund drive are Mrs. Arthur Hempe, Mrs. C. M. Hammond, and Messrs. Robert Arlen, Leonard Klein, Jack Scantlin, William McDermott, Hugh McKay and Tom Lovett.

In addition to helping to meet the Michigan and National Republican needs, the money collected is also being used to defray local campaign expenses.

Interested Republicans wishing to volunteer their services in support of this neighbor-to-neighbor drive are urged to call the Northville Republican headquarters, 131 East Main street, 349-0910. Direct financial contributions also may be made at the headquarters.

Livingston Denies Pinning 'Birch' Label

Paul F. Livingston, Democratic candidate for the 14th Senatorial Seat, today denied that he was seeking to pin a "Bircher label" on his opponent George Kuhn. "He has a 'gold standard' mentality," said Livingston, a West Bloomfield businessman, but added, "Nineteenth Century thinking does not automatically make him a Bircher."

In a recent meeting of the two candidates at the Livonia Mall, Kuhn emphasized that he does not belong to the John Birch society.

Livingston told Kuhn that neither he nor any of his workers were responsible for spreading rumors to that effect. He said that he would do everything in his power to keep the campaign on issues.

"The voters of the district should have a calm and dispassionate airing of the issues," said Livingston. He also said that he hoped Kuhn would refrain from publicity-seeking antics.

Livingston said he was "referring to Kuhn's action two years ago when he widely confronted Governor George Romney with certain demands on the issues of taxes and threatened the governor with reprisals if he did not follow those demands."

In closing, Livingston stated that he personally denounces any organization or "ism" other than Americanism, and called on Kuhn to join him in a similar statement.

Schmidt Says Opponent 'Buries Head'

Louis E. Schmidt, GOP candidate for the 35th House of Representatives seat, today accused his Democratic opponent of "burying his head in the sand" when it came to facing the state's desperate need for fiscal reform.

"Without question, this is one of the state's primary problems, and in almost every instance Marvin Stempien voted against all attempts at finding a reasonable solution," Schmidt said.

"Down the line, Stempien helped defeat the Governor's Budget Bills 58-85, which reflected the new Constitution's budget procedure, based on the philosophy that the State should meet existing obligations before adopting new spending commitments," Schmidt added.

Schmidt charged Stempien further exhibited his "aversion to objectively facing the situation," by voting in favor of adopting a "straight line depreciation" method in figuring property tax and by voting to allow an income tax as provided for in the constitution.

Straight line depreciation would be beneficial to the City of Detroit, but would seriously hurt other areas and the small businessman, Schmidt explained.

In addition, Schmidt maintained that Stempien's unrealistic and biased stand on the Veteran's Tax Exemption question served only to injure the veterans in his district.

After twice voting in favor of a Democratic attempt to override the Governor's veto of a tax exemption increase to $3,500 across-the-board state equalized valuation, Stempien then voted against re-opening the issue, a GOP attempt to reach a compromise in time for obtaining increased benefits for veterans in 1966, Schmidt said.

During the 1966 session, Stempien again voted against the veterans by helping to defeat a GOP amendment to increase veteran's tax relief according to degree of disability, Schmidt concluded.

Farnum Opens Headquarters

Congressman Billie S. Farnum opened a Williams-Farnum campaign office in Walled Lake Sunday afternoon.

Present at the brief ceremony were Wixom Mayor Wesley McAtee, Robert Dodd, Commerce and Walled Lake Democratic chairman, and James Hass, Novi Democratic chairman. Representing G. Mennen Williams were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Williams.

Purpose of the office, explained Farnum, is to mobilize volunteers for the Democratic campaign.

Volunteers are asked to call the office headquarters, staffed by Mrs. Mary Ann Shelton and Mrs. Jeanette Roberts, at 624-5555.

Oakland Voters To Decide 'Park' Issue

Oakland county voters will be asked on a November 8 ballot to approve a proposal of 1/4 mill for five years for the purpose of acquiring, developing and operating a series of county parks.

In this area, residents of South Lyon, Lyon township, Novi, Wixom and the northern precinct of Northville will have the proposal titled "Parks and Recreation" on their ballots. A "yes" vote will enable the county parks and recreation commission to begin work.

Additional funds to pour into the projects will come from state and federal agencies. The state will match the amount raised by the county millage and the federal allotment will match the total of county and state. Thus, each one dollar contributed through the 1/4 mill levy will mean four dollars for the program, the commission points out.

A need has been recognized due to the projection of population growth, which will be double its present 800,000 by 1980 and double that by the year 2000. And the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority, which provides such park areas as Kensington Metro north of South Lyon, has said that it can develop no more new facilities in Oakland county.

A series of 15 to 20 parks located within one-half hour driving time from any place in the county is envisioned by the commission. "Each park is planned to offer year around recreation facilities, including....

"Group and day camping for Scouts and Y-groups, churches, family camping, nature study, outdoor educational classes, picnic areas, crafts centers, tennis and badminton courts, baseball, archery, rifle and pistol ranges, golf courses, swimming, canoeing, fishing and boating, 4-H Fair ground areas, ice skating, tobogganing, skiing, ice fishing, softball, horseshoes and senior citizen centers," the commission pointed out.

Total revenue anticipated for this purpose is expected to be $2,688,000 of which $672,000 will come from the 1/4 mill levy. The average cost per family has been estimated at $1.50 with the total of private homeowners and private property being $416,600 and business and industry adding $255,400.

Kuhn Refutes Charges

George W. Kuhn, Republican candidate for the 14th Senatorial Seat, today denied "vicious and distorted charges" made by his opponent regarding the fiscal condition of the city of Berkley.

"Besides operating the city within the budget most years," he said, "and creating surpluses or reserves in all accounts, I am proud to have contributed in some small way to the city's expanding tax base from $42 million of assessed valuation to $47 million."

Kuhn said that Berkley, under his administration, had revenues exceeding total expenditures each year leaving a surplus of varying amounts.

"All together," he said, "the general fund and the other funds are all in the black not the red."

The Republican candidate said that because he fully realizes the plight of local government in needing additional revenues to meet every-rising inflationary trends, he would continue to fight for elimination of the last half of one-half city income tax on non-residents, and for rebate of 2-percent of federal income tax - one-percent for cities and one percent for schools.

"We all know that the property taxes are already oppressive and what we really need now is national fiscal reform and a better distribution of federal income tax dollars. If elected to the state senate, I pledge to all the citizens of Michigan that I will fight to eliminate waste in state government and, secondly, realize equity in city taxes and state aid school rebates.

Vivian Thanks His Constituents

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to the numerous organizations in the Northville area who have been kind enough to extend invitations to me to appear before them during the past several months. As many of your readers are aware, the United States Congress has held an extraordinarily long session this year. To transact this business, I have been obligated to remain in Washington weeks longer than earlier anticipated, and as a consequence, often at the last minute, have been obligated to cancel commitments to attend events which I had accepted earlier in the year.

With the 89th Congress now about to adjourn, I am pleased to be able to report that I shall be in the District full time during the coming weeks, and look forward to meeting with those of your readers with whom I have not been able to meet to date.

Sincerely,
Wes Vivian
Member of Congress

'Retired' Merriam Enjoys his Work

Most men look forward to retirement as a time to take it easy and enjoy life.

Robyn D. Merriam is doing the latter, but he's definitely not "taking it easy".

In 1963 he retired after 40 years as an engineer with the Wayne county road commission. Now he's supervisor of Northville township and enjoying every minute of it.

"I like my work", says the easy-going Merriam, who doesn't waste words and who never says anything he doesn't mean.

Republican Merriam faces competition at the polls November 8 from Joseph Fiorilli, a Democrat who has announced that he intends to visit the home of every registered voter in the township.

The supervisor's reaction to a criticism by his opponent that he fails to communicate with the people was typically Merriam.

"I admit a weakness in meeting people. My conversations are usually short and to the point. It's funny, my wife can talk to our daughter on the telephone for hours. I'm through in just a sentence or two", Merriam noted.

The supervisor's appraisal of his opponent was also characteristic of Merriam. "The few times Fiorilli has been at our meetings, I've felt he's contributed something", said Merriam. Complimentary, but not without an undertone of rebuttal.

Merriam gives no ground when it comes to the time it takes to be a supervisor of the township. "I feel it's a full-time job", he states emphatically. His opponent has stated that he would devote two nights weekly and Saturday mornings to the office.

R. D. Merriam
Happy Supervisor

The supervisor points to many reasons why he believes the job of running Northville township can't be properly conducted on a part-time basis.

"There are countless telephone calls, visits to our attorney's office, frequent complaints concerning sanitary conditions involving septic fields that require site visits with health department officials, and a host of other problems", Merriam insists.

He notes that the legislation to ban hunting in Northville township required a number of visits to Lansing. And he also hastens to point out that credit for getting the legislation passed belongs to a Democrat - Representative Marvin Stempien.

One of the problems, typical of those requiring a supervisor's attention Merriam says, is the affect of the no-hunting ban on some farmers. One farmer has complained that pheasants have destroyed one-third of his peach crop and about $200 worth of apples. This problem calls for a huddle with the conservation department, which might give the board authority to permit the shooting of pheasants where damage is done to a money crop, Merriam stated.

The supervisor serves on three committees on the Wayne county board of supervisors - training school, legal and county drains. This requires attendance at meetings on the average of twice monthly around the noon hour, Merriam points out.

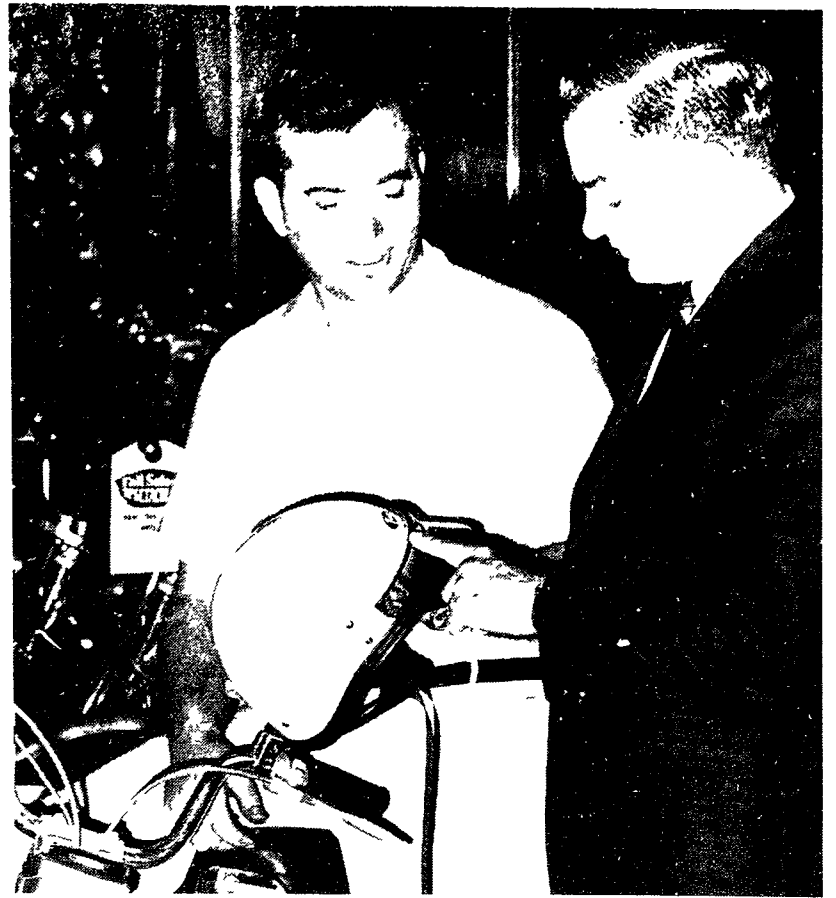

"Occasionally, I also go on inspection trips with the building inspector. I don't see how a part-time supervisor could do these things", Merriam insists.

The supervisor is quietly proud of his record. He points out that during his terms a new master plan and zoning ordinance have been adopted; water has been purchased from Detroit; additional sewer capacity is being acquired from the county; a new water and sewer department is operating efficiently in the black; West Main street has been paved from Clement to Woodhill; and a plan to sell water to Northville will enable the township to finance a system of water lines throughout the eastern portion of the township.

Merriam has been involved in township government since 1950 when he first served as trustee on the board. He is serving his second two-year term as supervisor.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, Merriam is a civil engineer. When he retired from his county post, he was engineer in charge of bridges, structures and expressways.

He lives at 18910 Beck road with his wife, Lida Jane. Their three daughters are now married.

CYCLING CURBS-Changes in Michigan's vehicle-safety laws prohibit the rental of motorcycles unless dealers give detailed operating and safety instructions before renting the bikes. State Representative Marvin R. Stempien discusses provisions of the new law with Ray Papp, manager of Wonderland Honda, an area motorcycle agency. The new act, introduced by Stempien, also makes it mandatory for cyclists to wear crash helmets and prohibits cyclists from riding more than two abreast and from passing between lanes of cars.

Dr. W. L. Howard Cited for Work In Treatment of TB in Children

EAST LANSING — W. Leonard Howard, M.D., superintendent and medical director of W. H. Maybury Sanatorium at Northville, was presented with the 1966 Bruce M. Douglas Award at a joint luncheon meeting of the Michigan Thoracic Society and the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association during the annual conference of the two associations at Kellogg Center, M.S.U., last week.

The Bruce M. Douglas Award is presented annually by the Michigan Thoracic Society in recognition of outstanding contribution in the field of tuberculosis treatment or control in Michigan. Dr. William Steininger in his presentation of the award cited Dr. Howard for his studies and scientific papers on pulmonary tuberculosis, anti-microbial therapy and the treatment of tuberculosis in children.

Dr. Howard's interest in tuberculosis dates back prior to 1927 when he joined the medical staff at Michigan State Sanatorium, Howell. Later he joined Maybury Sanatorium in October 1928, as resident physician serving under Dr. Douglas, for whom the award is named. He then had postgraduate study at Metropolitan Hospital in Detroit. In 1932 he became medical director of the American Legion Hospital, Battle Creek. Ten years later he became head of the Calhoun County TB hospital, now the Arthur S. Kimball Sanatorium. In 1947 he accepted the position of superintendent and medical director of W. H. Maybury Sanatorium in Northville.

Dr. Howard is a member of the Washtenaw County, Michigan State and American Medical Associations and the Michigan and American Thoracic Society, the American College of Chest Physicians and the MTRDA. He is the father of two children: Major Leonard Howard, U.S. Air Force and Mrs. Phyllis Allison, teacher in the Farmington schools.

Northville's Dr. W. L. Howard (left) received the Bruce Douglas Award from Dr. W. J. Steininger in ceremonies at East Lansing.

Income Tax Law Due in 1967

LANSING — Will reform be the order of the year in the 1967 legislative session? Is income tax a likelihood?

Gubernatorial candidates and several other sources openly described the urgent need for tax reform during the campaign. Indications are an income tax of some kind will be included in any forthcoming recommendations.

Legislative reform itself also is in the making. Democratic majority spokesmen this year named a special unit to update the lawmaking process. The committee's recommendations will be due in 1967.

CONSTITUTIONAL SECTIONS which haven't functioned up to expectations are likely to be changed during the coming biennium. Even the most prominent members of the convention which wrote the 1963 Constitution noted several deficiencies in their work, noticeable only through actual use of the document.

Copper Shortage Pinches U.S. Supply

BABSON PARK, Mass. — Copper is one of the oldest metals known to man. Unexcelled as a conductor of electricity and of heat, it is noted also for its corrosion resistance and for the ease with which it can be fabricated. In any list of essential raw materials, copper ranks near the top. It is much in the news today in a world which is simultaneously expanding its industrial production, further electrifying its services, and still re-arming.

As recently as 40 years ago, U.S. smelter output of copper amounted to more than half the total output for the world, and production in North America accounted for considerably more than that (62.5%). Five years later — in 1931 when our economy was sinking ever deeper into depression — U.S. copper production dipped down to 35% of world total. But by 1942 it had regained some of the loss. Climbing back to 40%.

In later years, the ratio has been declining again. Domestic smelter production of copper in 1965 totaled only 25% of world output. The important point is that the U.S. is no longer the dominant factor in world copper production, though she still is an important producer.

all over the world in very recent years. But, barring all-out war, it will rise less rapidly in the coming decade. The increase in consumption will be limited by competition from aluminum and other substitutes, but the 1970's will see good growth in copper usage generally — especially in Latin America, Africa, and Asia.

The present acutely tight supply-demand and position in copper stems from two distinct causes: (1) A series of strikes which have curtailed production at important mining and smelter operations here in the U.S., in Chile, in Rhodesia, and in Zambia; (2) the world-wide scramble for copper, sparked by several years of record automobile production and building construction in the U.S. — Upon which Viet war demand has been superimposed — and by a vastly increased industrial activity in Western Europe.

Here in our country we can produce about two-thirds of our copper needs. The remainder must be imported and it comes chiefly from Chile, Peru, and Canada, though some sizable shipments do come in from Africa, too. Because we import so much, copper price changes on the London Metal Exchange are usually reflected rather promptly in our American metal markets. Once upon a time we could get all the copper we needed, over and above our own production, from Chile. But for some years now, heavier demand from Europe and the willingness of European users to pay premium prices has attracted more and more Chilean copper to European ports.

IN AN EFFORT to stabilize prices, the U.S. copper industry has held the domestic quote to 36¢ per pound. But because of heavier demand abroad, world prices are substantially above those of the U.S. As a result, we too must pay more for the copper we need from abroad. If we can prevent the Viet war from spreading any farther and if we can achieve labor peace in the industry, then world copper prices should settle back in 1967. But when this happens, do not look for easing in the U.S. list price; that will likely hold at 36¢. However, the higher prices we are now paying in the gray market for copper will come down — and in time the

Applications Due For Navy ROTC

The deadline date for making application for the regular NROTC qualifying examination is fast approaching. Applications must be received by the Educational Testing Service on or before November 18.

Applicants will participate in the nationwide competitive examination on December 10, the only date on which the examination will be given, as the first step toward a college education and a regular commission in the naval service.

Applications for the NCAT are available at local high schools and Navy Recruiting Stations, or from the Chief of Naval Personnel (Pers-B6261), Department of the Navy, Washington, D.C. 20370.

Filling judicial vacancies and apportioning the state legislature seem to be the most pressing areas of concern for constitutional reform.

Most legislative revisions undertaken will be mechanical or semi-technical in nature, relating to the inner process of making laws and hardly noticeable to anyone other than those who closely follow the activity in Lansing.

Public concern will be centered on the reform to be urged in the area of taxation.

Some other ideas, such as getting more federal funds or issuing bonds for specific purposes, have been proposed but generally are regarded as inadequate to meet the forthcoming demands for funding services.

Spotlight will again focus on basic ideas already presented a number of times under the administrations of John B. Swainson and George Romney: fiscal reform based on use of a state income tax.

Public reaction to this proposal has softened somewhat in the years it has been openly discussed.

Most officials agree strong opposition still exists. Several of the most vocal elements of the state community have changed positions, however, and there are indications that ballot-box repercussions against an income tax will be considerably less a factor in the 1967 deliberations.

FIRST FROSTS of the year bring worries about saving the fall plantings. They should cause concern about saving the population.

Squeals of delight greet the early snows and children who live near bodies of water can hardly wait for ice to give them a new form of exciting activity.

State Police warn early winter ice may look thick and safe enough to walk and slide on but actually may be too thin to hold up under a youngster's weight.

Parents must teach caution against venturing on ice the same as they teach safety in crossing streets. Ice on deep bodies of water should be several inches thick, preferably about four, to assure safety.

Even where safe sliding and skating is evident, emergencies should be provided for: long branches, poles, ropes or a ladder should be handy to reach a person who may break through where ice may be thin.

Children do not hold a monopoly on use of ice-covered water. Hunters, fishermen and other outdoor fans should keep up their guard when using frozen lakes or streams during outings.

Periodically note is made by various authorities to encourage use of Michigan's official flag, which many long-time state residents would not recognize.

Governor George Romney's office has been attempting to promote recognition of the flag by providing the official banner to Michigan men serving in the armed forces.

Michigan's present flag, in use since 1911, is dark blue with the coat of arms of the state on it. The coat of arms shows two deer flanking a shield bearing the word "Tuebor," or "I will defend." Below the deer is written, in Latin, the state motto, "If you seek a pleasant peninsula, look about you." Above the shield is an eagle with wings outstretched and the federal motto, "E Pluribus Unum," or "From many, one."

At various times since the introduction in 1837 of the first state flag, Michigan's standard has shown a soldier and lady with the state seal, a portrait of Michigan's first governor, Stevens T. Mason, and the coat of arms of the United States.

SPEAKING for The Record

By Bill Sliger

It's becoming painfully apparent that there's more to selecting a school site than sticking a pin in a map at a point that indicates the center of the future school population.

There are, of course, many important factors. But one, it seems to me, has had more than its share of abuse.

This factor is equity among taxpayers within the school district.

The Northville school district includes parts of two or three townships as well as the city of Northville. The latter constitutes about half of the district.

When a school site is selected and a new school erected, this location immediately becomes a hub of activity. The site may have been an isolated parcel on an unimproved road with infrequent vehicular traffic before it was tapped for school use. But from the day building begins, it becomes as important as Main street in the business district.

In Northville all school sites but one are in the city limits. This is not unusual; that's where the center of population lies.

And for reasons of police protection and traffic control, school officials are now asking that the new, township-located Moraine school be annexed to the city.

I doubt if there's a single city councilman, or taxpayer for that matter, who would raise serious objections to doing anything within reason to accommodate the school district.

It's our system and city-township boundaries play no role at all in determining how to provide facilities for the best education possible for our youngsters.

But as pointed out above, school sites can create problems. This was evident at the joint meeting of city and school officials recently.

The new junior high school on Taft road, for example, presents deep cause for concern. A sewer line to the site may cost some $30,000. Road improvements cannot be estimated, but the job of engineering and paving Taft road will not be a minor expense.

There are unique conditions relating to the history of the selection of the Taft road site, but as the facts now stand today, the city is faced with the necessity of reappraising the priority of Taft road on its list of future improvement projects.

It should not be surprising to school officials that the city looks to the school district to bear the cost of the sewer connection. Likewise, it seems unfair that one-half the school district's taxpayers should be burdened with paying for road improvements that are needed to serve the entire district.

A similar situation developed when the high school was erected on North Center street. At that time, a decade ago, Center street was not paved north of Baseline. Luckily, the costly project did not fall upon city taxpayers. But it was only because the new Eight Mile road cut-off was being constructed at the same time and an alert city manager found out that federal funds were available for the improvement of main thoroughfares between communities. The old Novi road entrance was blocked off at the railroad, so Center street became the new connecting link with north-south traffic and thus qualified for the federal money.

Offsite problems at the township-located Moraine school — which include widening of Eight Mile at the entrance and may eventually include erection of an overpass — will be financed with total school district funds.

I'm sure a community-conscious city council will be willing to do more than its share in accommodating school district needs.

But wouldn't it be more equitable if these school-made costs were studied and determined through city council-school board meetings prior to the selection of sites so that the money could be included in the school bond issues and the tab thereby picked up equally by all taxpayers?

Bristling, he barked, "You don't want a musical instrument, you want a toy!"

My friend Frank Kochalko, the band director, methodically whittled away at my suggestions until, pared down to desperation, I tossed my cards on the table:

Look, back in high school any boy who wasn't afraid to sing in public was welcomed with open arms by the chorus director. When I volunteered, he clasped me around the shoulders and whispered excellent grades in my ear. But in college, the director nearly drummed me out of the choir when he learned I couldn't read a note. He just wouldn't go along with my devise of listening to the tenor next to me.

Well, I don't want that to happen to my kids. Even if they never play an instrument, I want them to be able to read the black dots on a sheet of music.

"That's exactly why they should learn how to play an instrument. I don't believe in singing by rote."

Okay, I said, which instrument is the least expensive?

"Student instruments have about the same basic price, anywhere from $140 to $160."

Maybe other parents can afford instruments like that, but with five little Beethovens this musical business could sack my home. I guess I need something that all five of 'em can share. What would you suggest?

"Sharing instruments seldom works out well."

What about a piano? They can share that can't they?

"Sure, there's nothing wrong with a piano. But you said you wanted them to play in the band. We've yet to use a piano at a football game. Besides, we don't give lessons for the piano player."

But what about your concerts indoors. You use one there?

"Yes, we do. But only one at a time."

It seems to me that schools ought to provide instruments for kids. You don't ask the student to buy his own microscope, his football jersey or that piano on the stage. Why not a clarinet?

"Some schools do furnish instruments. Most have quickly learned that it's a poor policy. But if we find a student who really wants to participate but cannot afford an instrument, we'll provide him with one."

"The sad thing about furnishing instruments is that the student quickly loses interest and turns it in. And nine times out of 10, the instrument's a wreck."

"But you take an instrument that a parent must buy. There's a pride of ownership, and someone at home making sure the kid's not misusing an instrument. Music students have their ups and downs. If the student who has borrowed an instrument happens to be "down", he's likely to quit. But if the parents have invested in an instrument, they're not about to let him give up so easily."

Suddenly inspired, I asked him about one of those triangular things. Couldn't my kids take up one of those?

"Sure they could. But the triangle is only one of the instruments that the drummer must play."

Well, drums can't be expensive? "Not if you want a toy. A student drum worth owning can cost anywhere from $80 to $100."

How about a little flute?

"Same thing. Flutes aren't inexpensive. Cost about $160."

What about the garbage can lids that they clang together?

"Those are cymbals. Something else used by the drummer."

Trumpet?

"Cost about $160."

Frank, you'll break me.

"You obviously know less about music than you do fishing — if that's possible."

"Can I help it if you're too cheap to invest a little money in your kids. What you need is one of those one-dollar tonettes we use. And if that's too much, I think I could dig through my shelves and find an old one you can have for nothing."

Thanks, Frank. A deal's a deal.
