

Money, as Usual, Plays Key Role in Area Future

What does 1967 hold for residents of the Northville area?

So far as city, township and school matters are concerned the three persons likely to have these answers are Mayor A. M. Allen, Supervisor R. D. Merriam and Superintendent Alex Nelson.

The Record asked these officials for their predictions of problems and projects for the coming year and found out that the school district may face money problems, the city will look hard for a new north-south route through the community and the township will hope for sale of water to state hospital institutions to serve as a financing source for expansion of the township's water system.

Here's what they had to say:

Mayor A. M. Allen

The mayor listed more than a half dozen items, but placed the search for a north-south route to relieve Center street traffic at the top. "I don't think we'll complete the project within a year, but our citizens' committee study is making inroads that could take us to the point of property procurement this year", said the mayor.

While the mayor shied away from any official opinion on the subject, he pointed to development of the central business district as a close second. Proposed CBD-CBP zoning came up for its first public hearing before planners this week.

While on the subject, Mayor Allen said that the city would continue to make property acquisitions within the business district when the opportunity arose with the intent of holding the land either for new commercial development by private enterprise or for offstreet parking to serve the shopping area. He also noted that the city is in "sound financial condition and intends to remain so". Mayor Allen said he considered property purchases an investment in the future welfare of the city.

Next the mayor cited problems facing both the city and school board in providing sewer and water facilities to the new junior high school on Taft road. Costs may run more than anticipated, and in the mayor's opinion, they should be shared on the broader school tax base rather than by city taxpayers alone.

Paving North Center street is another problem that the city will probably face this year, said Mayor Allen. While it must be completed from the present end at South Ely drive to Maplewood, it should be extended northward to the city limits, he added. Meetings are already set-up with Wayne county officials to discuss extending Wing street southward to Hpes drive and the mayor believes this could become a 1967 accomplishment.

Other projects that he listed on the 1967 calendar include improving the sanitary landfill operation and possibly converting the present dump site into an industrial area, broadening the city-township recreation program to include school system participation, and further development of an urban renewal program to improve the central business district.

Supervisor R. D. Merriam

Growth in the township is an "iffy" subject, so far as Supervisor Merriam is concerned. "It all depends on the money situation", said Merriam, who noted that right now the outlook is not bright for building.

It appears a certainty that Greenspan will begin his apartments on Five Mile road and development of a new subdivision extending from Five Mile to Brad road. A proposed nursing home development on Seven Mile road across from the Northville State Hospital should also begin this year, said Merriam. The proposed Six Mile road development by Thompson-Brown company could depend largely upon the money market, while several other developments are definitely waiting for relaxed financing, said the supervisor.

The township, itself, would like to expand its water lines supplying Detroit water to the eastern half of the township. This project is a definite possibility if the state legislature provides enough money in the budgets of Northville State Hospital and Plymouth State Home so that the township-located facilities can purchase Detroit water from the township.

"The hospitals want the water and we've made all arrangements for the installation of the system, but the money must be provided in the budgets", notes Merriam. He said that the sale of water by the township to the huge hospitals is "the key to the expansion of the township water system". Merriam pointed out that revenue bonds could be issued to expand the system with the guarantee of the hospital customers.

The supervisor pointed out that expansion of the water system would necessitate the appointment of a manager for the township's water and sewer commission. Merriam has proposed the appointment of Treasurer Alex Lawrence to the post in the past, but the board has been reluctant to agree.

Finally, the supervisor noted that the board would be expanded from five to seven members in April with three new faces on the board. "I'm looking forward to a harmonious year", concluded Merriam.

Siren to Blast For CD Tests

Saturday the city of Northville will test its civil defense siren in compliance with federal regulations.

The siren, purchased some two years ago through cooperation of the Wayne county office of civil defense and the federal government, must undergo regular tests. In keeping with national policy the tests will be made at 1 p.m. on the first Saturday of each month.

The test pattern will be a warbling sound lasting one minute, followed by two minutes of silence, and then a steady sound for one minute.

There are two types of warning which may be given on the Northville siren, according to Eugene Guido, who is Wayne county's civil defense coordinator. A nuclear attack on the United States would be indicated by a three-to-five-minute warbling sound, repeated as necessary. This warning means "go to shelter".

The other signal is known as an "attention" or "alert" signal and is a steady three-to-five-minute sound. It is used for disasters such as tornados, explosions, etc. Residents may obtain more information on procedures for these alerts by contacting their officials at either city or township hall.

Guido noted that there are seven shelters in the Northville area. Locations and stocked spaces provided are: Community building (52), DeHoCo Women's Division (521), Plymouth State Home (1195), Wayne County Training School (851), Maybury Sanitorium (134), Our Lady of Providence (169), Northville State Hospital (8,000).

Guido points out that the above shelters are being increased in capacity, and stocked accordingly with survival supplies.

Parking Rezoning Hit

There was "no decision" Tuesday night at a planning commission hearing called to consider rezoning the city's business district either CBD (central business district) or CBP (central business parking).

But an audience of some 100 property owners left little doubt that it looked dimly upon the proposal to rezone sections of the business district for parking (CBP).

Owners of property earmarked for CBP zoning told planners that such action would depreciate their property values and they questioned the legality of the rezoning.

While some criticism was also aimed at the proposed CBD zoning and the overall plan for rejuvenating the city's central business district, most of the barbs were directed towards the CBP zoning. It left the impression that if planners could come up with alternatives for designating areas solely for parking, they might find public support on their side.

Under the plan for rezoning proposed by the planning commission a central five acre area within the business district would be zoned CBD, a zone permitting commercial buildings. This parcel would be surrounded by a 15-acre area zoned CBP, which would be earmarked for customer parking.

Although opinions differed sharply between planners and most property owners on the question of whether or not CBP zoning would reduce property values, the hearing progressed orderly under the direction of Planning Chairman George Zerbel.

Zerbel called upon Wallace Nichols, a member of the planning commission, to explain the CBD-CBP plan. Nichols stated that planners had undertaken the central business district plan 3 1/2 years ago after a survey concluded that area shoppers wanted an improved retail district. Nichols said that township planners had agreed that if the city developed an adequate commercial area, they would not earmark an area for a shopping center in the township. The present plan, Nichols stated, is the best of four studied and the result of several years' work. He said that by 1980 the city's population will be 8,200 and the township's 17,000. The entire shopping area, bordered by Five Mile, Chubb, 9 1/2-Mile and Haggerty, will have a population of 27,700 within 15 years. Based on these statistics, Nichols continued, the shopping area proposed with a ratio of parking area to building floor space of 3 to 1 was essential and minimal. He said CBP zoning is needed to avoid construction of buildings detrimental to the plan.

Nichols said that planners believe time is short and that if the community does not move forward with its CBD plan, outside centers will arise and bring about deterioration of the city's business district and subsequent loss of valuable tax base. Planners said their plan for the central business district will increase tax revenues to the city by more than 140 per cent.

A parade of protests followed. During the two-hour session owners of both commercial and residential properties within the proposed CBP zoning voiced objections. Attorney Edmund Verkes led the attack by claiming that zoning buildings CBP would "destroy their value". He said that the city government would "have a monopoly and pay what it wanted for the property".

Paul Folino, a South Center street resident, challenged the planners to determine the value of his house today and pay him that same amount in 10 years after it had been rezoned.

He proposed that such properties should not be rezoned now, but acquired as they become available and then zoned for parking.

Dr. Victoria Lovewell, 180 East Main street, said that zoning her property CBP (now used for business and residence) would decrease its value if she wished to sell it for another business.

Walter Kron, an attorney speaking in behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Beckel, 114 North Wing, said it was his belief that to rezone that property CBP would immediately decrease its value. How soon the value might rise again would depend upon the implementation of the CBD plan. He cited a case in Highland Park where the court determined that rezoning had depressed a property's value and deemed the act illegal. He cautioned the planners against making a legal mistake.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Welch of South Wing street questioned the overall plan. Welch asked why the particular plan was chosen and what guarantee there was that it would attract shoppers. Mrs. Welch expressed concern for the residents it would move out, where they would go and what compensation they would receive for their homes.

C. A. Smith, owner of the building housing Brader's Department store, accused the planners of "thinking in reverse". "I can't imagine changing a thriving business building into a parking site", he stated. Smith said he would sell the building if it were rezoned CBP.

Nelson C. Schrader said he had property within the business district that would be zoned both CBD and CBP. He said he had studied the plan and had decided that it would be more helpful as a guide if faced with rebuilding his buildings than what exists today. He was the only businessman to speak favorably of the plan, although four property owners in the CBD area raised their hands in support of CBD zoning. Eight opposed CBD, 30 opposed CBP and four property owners bordering the area opposed the CBP zoning.

Edward C. Mollema, 213 South Wing, called for the hand vote. He said he opposed the CBP zoning because of his belief that it would depress property values.

Zerbel said that planners had no intention of inaugurating a program that would decrease property values. But residents argued that intent and results were not always the same. He also pointed out that buildings and residences zoned CBP could continue under present use on a non-conforming basis.

Staman Gets Top Oakland Road Job

Frazer W. Staman, 62, of Novi was named chairman of the Oakland county road commission this week, upon the recommendation of the road and bridges committee of the Oakland county board of supervisors.

The appointment was confirmed Tuesday in a meeting of the three-member commission.

Staman, who has served four years of his six-year appointment to the commission by the board of supervisors, had been vice-president of the commission for the past year. As chairman, he will receive an additional $1,000. That increase, plus a regular commission increment of $500, brings his total salary to $11,150.

One of the three members of the commission has just been appointed. He is Paul McGovern of Beverly Hills, replacing Robert Felt who after 18 years on the commission failed to win reappointment by the board of supervisors. The other member is Sol Lomerson.

Staman resigned from his position as supervisor of Novi township in November of 1962 to actively seek appointment to the commission. Although there was no assurance that he would win the appointment, Staman had the support of many rural Oakland county supervisors as well as some city supervisors in his bid for the appointment. And for the four years prior to his supervisory resignation he had been chairman of the board of supervisors key committee on salaries. He subsequently was appointed, filling the vacancy created by the death of Commission Chairman Hland M. Thatcher.

Hadley J. Bachert, then clerk of the township, was appointed a week later to fill out Staman's unexpired term.

Staman lives at 26850 Wixom road.

Property owners filled council chambers for planning commission hearing on proposed CBD - CBP rezoning.

Mrs. P. Grandville Mitchell

Alma Graduates Exchange Vows

Karen Norman Wagoner and P. Grandville Mitchell, both graduates of Alma college, were united in marriage Monday evening in a double-ring ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Officiating was the Rev. Lloyd G. Brasure, pastor, and Miss Diane Brasure, daughter of the pastor and college friend of the bride, provided the music.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Wagoner of 18419 Donegal Court, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Mitchell of Hastings.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a classically styled gown of ivory peau de soie combined with Alencon lace. The little Empire bodice, encircled with the lovely lace, was designed with bateau decolletage and Victorian sleeves edged in a wide banding of sheer lace. From the lifted waist the A-line skirt blended to toe-touching length and swept to a removable Watteau train, appliqued with panels of the Alencon roses and topped with a French bow.

Her flowers were a small cascade of miniature pink roses with Stephanotis and baby's breath.

Miss Linda Wolgast of Traverse City, friend and college roommate of the bride, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. James Howell of Mt. Clemens, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Sally E. Patton of Overland Park, Kansas, cousin of the bride; Linda Wagoner of Detroit, cousin of the bride; and Judith Day, a friend of the bride.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids wore dresses of garnet silken worsted combined with ecru valenciennes lace. Little high-set bodices fashioned with crescent-curved necklines, marked at the backs with streamered bows, and lace princesses puffed sleeves, topped slender formal length skirts.

Flowers of bride's attendants were colonial cascades of pink miniature roses and pink carnations.

Miss Pamela Kuegler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kuegler of 18420 Donegal Court, was the flower girl. She was dressed in a floor length garnet and ivory dress styled after those of the bridesmaids. She carried a small bouquet of pink miniature roses.

William Smith of Troy, a life-long friend of the bridegroom, was the best man. Ushers were James Howell of Mt. Clemens, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Thomas Stebbins of Royal Oak, cousin of the bridegroom; David Ge-loneck of Warren and Jerry Pike of Livonia, both cousins of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wagoner wore a two-piece pink silk worsted dress with the bodice and top of the jacket embroidered in crystal beads with a matching small hat, and a hand-bag corsage of red roses.

The bridegroom's mother wore a light green silk worsted dress with jewelled buttons on the jacket and a small feathered hat. Her corsage was of cymbidium orchids worn at the shoulder.

Reception and dinner for 150 guests was held at Botsford Inn. Music was provided by three strolling musicians.

For their wedding trip to Canada the bride wore a two-piece wool knit in grey, covered by a grey wool fur trimmed coat, and a grey mink hat. Shoes and bag in winter white were trimmed with black alligator.

Following their honeymoon, the couple will live in Plymouth.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding and reception included Mrs. Guy E. Patton of Moberly, Missouri, aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Patton of Overland Park, Kansas, cousins of the bride; and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Mitchell of Buffalo, New York, uncle of the bridegroom.

A rehearsal party was given by the bridegroom's parents at the Hillside Inn for all members of the bridal party and out of town guests.

A program presentation by Miss Florence Panattoni, member of the Northville high school teaching staff, will highlight a dinner meeting of the Delta Kappa Gamma, Alpha Nu chapter Monday evening at Hillside Inn.

The title of Miss Panattoni's program will be "The Nature of Creativity in Dramatics." The dinner meeting will get underway at 6 p.m.

Alumnae Group Sets Meeting

The Farmington Alumnae association of Delta Gamma will meet at the home of Mrs. Dan Webster, 33521 Rayburn in Livonia on Monday at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Shirley Richardson, president of the Farmington Jaycee auxiliary will speak on "Home Safety". She will point out hidden hazards of every day living around the home.

FISH CAPER—A Siamese fighting fish apparently turned chicken last week and flew off to hiding. His bowl, sitting here on Bank Receptionist Mrs. Cleve Stroh's desk, turned up empty after doors had closed for the night at Manufacturers National Bank. His whereabouts remains a mystery.

Bank Employees Puzzled

What Happened To Fighting Fish?

Not a fin was gone, not even a cent — but the same couldn't be said for a two-inch long Siamese Fighting Fish. Officials of the Manufacturer's National Bank of Northville are mystified over the strange disappearance last week of the pet tropical fish of Bank Receptionist Mrs. Cleve Stroh.

A gift to Mrs. Stroh by Northville Attorney Cliff Hill, the fish had been a popular attraction at the bank since October. Adults, kids, all kinds of cats were attracted to him.

The frisky, purple fish called a Beta was last seen flashing about his (or her) bowl on Mrs. Stroh's desk at closing time Wednesday afternoon. The following morning he was gone.

"At first we thought some child had reached in and taken him," said Assistant Manager David Biery, "but I'm sure he was there when we closed. His water had been changed that afternoon and, as usual, was leaping happily about the bowl in the fresh water."

Suspecting that the fish had become a little intoxicated with holiday spirit and leaped out during the night, bank employees searched every inch of the floor. But no fish. Not even in the vault.

Then someone got the idea that possibly the janitor, Ira Bailey, had sucked him up in the vacuum machine while cleaning that night. But even after Ira had carefully inspected the dirt in the vacuum machine, the disappearance remained a mystery.

"We just can't figure it out; he was there when we left...now not even a trace...not even a ransom note."

Novi Man Joins Peace Corps; Off to Africa

Jack Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Boyd, 44180 Durson, has been named a Peace Corps volunteer after completing 13 weeks of training at Teachers college of Columbia university, in New York City.

Boyd is one of 85 volunteers trained this fall to expand Peace Corps work in Kenya secondary education. The group, which left for their assignments on January 3, will teach in the fields of English, history, geography, math, and science in secondary schools throughout the country.

During their training at Teachers college, the new Volunteers studied Swahili, East African history and culture, and world affairs. Technical training included teaching methods and skills and several weeks of practice teaching in New York City high schools. During practice teaching the Volunteers lived with families in the neighborhood of their schools and engaged in community service activities.

With this group's arrival, 245 Volunteers will be at work in Kenya. Other Peace Corps projects there include land settlement, agriculture and cooperatives.

SELF ANALYSIS QUIZ

How Much Do You Know About Small Children?

By Jane Sherrod Singer
Doctors, psychologists and educators, using millions of cases have found certain truths about small children. How much do you know about young children?

- | | | |
|--|------|-------|
| | TRUE | FALSE |
| 1. Real intelligence and learning does not begin until about six when most children are ready for school. | () | () |
| 2. The cooing and babbling of babies is meaningless. | () | () |
| 3. The average vocabulary of a six-year-old child who has been reared in a family which talks and reads to him is between 15,000 and 25,000 words. | () | () |
| 4. Small children should be kept in playpens so they can concentrate on one or two toys which you give them. | () | () |
| 5. Children's questions should be answered as seriously and correctly as possible, regardless of how silly they may sound. | () | () |
| 6. A parent or babysitter should not attempt to teach a child to read before the youngster has the guidance of a trained teacher. | () | () |
| 7. Small children learn primarily through vision. | () | () |
| 8. Because of the dangers of accidents, disease, etc., children should be discouraged against exploring their environments. | () | () |
| 9. Small children should be taught the correct way to play with each of his toys. | () | () |
| 10. Small children should seldom, if ever, be taken on shopping trips with you. | () | () |

ANSWERS:

- FALSE A child's brain and intelligence develops more during the years between birth and age six than ever again during his lifetime.
- FALSE His babbling is the first experimentation with speech. He learns to form words by listening to what you say.
- TRUE In addition, he has made up complex speaking rules for himself and can use all parts of speech almost correctly.
- FALSE He should be given as much opportunity and space to explore as he can safely.
- TRUE What sounds silly to you, is serious to a child. Your laughter or disinterest stifles his curiosity and cuts off an important channel of learning.
- FALSE If a child shows interest, teach him to read but do not force him.
- FALSE Children learn through all five senses, but many seem to emphasize one more than the others. When babies put objects into their mouths, worrisome as it is to parents, they are trying to learn.
- FALSE "Getting into things" is not "naughtiness" It is the outcome of an insatiable drive to learn.
- FALSE Toys should be creative, used in many ways. A box can be a house, a boat and car or any other wonderful thing.
- FALSE The outer world provides many learning experiences. Children should go shopping with you. He should know people outside the family. However, plan your trips so they will be short and not so important for you that you cannot give him your attention. And, most important of all, give your developing child love and the feeling of being wanted.

EASY DOES IT—Center Jim Peterson bags an easy bucket against Robichaud in helping Northville to its only win of the tournament.

Jim Zayti gets in position for the rebound as Glenn Deibert (32) watches the action.

Tourney Losing Mustangs Eye W-O League Title

Ever hear of losing to win a title? If history repeats itself, the Northville Mustangs may do exactly that.

Once again Northville competed in the River Rouge Holiday tournament, a veritable den of basketball lions, namely, River Rouge, Ecorse, Highland Park, Lincoln Park and Thurston. And Northville predictably was a loser, dropping two of three games.

Lincoln Park got the first crack at Northville and its 4-1 record, and pulled off an 80-65 victory. Ranking under inept play in its first tourney game, fired-up Highland Park hung the second tournament defeat in a row on Northville, 67-39.

Inkster Robichaud was Northville's final foe and the Mustangs finally found the winning formula and beat Robichaud, 51-37, to salvage one game against tough class A competition.

Two losses and a victory do not a champion make, but for the past two years, Northville has come off the losing tournament trail to hit the high road to victory in the Wayne-Oakland Conference. In fact, Northville rode to a share of the W-O title last year.

Coach Dave Longridge thinks the tournament will give his cagers the added experience, polish and primarily, the playing edge they'll need to seriously challenge for the W-O basketball crown this year. At the same time, he thinks the holiday layoff will dull the sharpness of other league teams.

The test of the Mustangs' improvement won't be long in coming. Next Friday, Northville will host Bloomfield Hills, a team that has been a title contender ever since Coach Hal Henderson took over as coach.

Although Bloomfield Hills is 2-2 in the league, there's reason for the Mustangs to be leery. Henderson has never lost to Northville. Furthermore, Bloomfield had a similar record last year before the Christmas holidays, but came back strong to tie Northville for the championship.

Victory over Bloomfield is a must, Longridge contends. "The way Clarkston is going," he said, "a record of 12-2 will definitely win the title. We have a chance of winning with no less than 11-3."

Another loss would give Northville a 3-2 league record, meaning, by Longridge's calculations, that Northville would have to win their remaining nine games. It's highly unlikely with road games against Bloomfield, West Bloomfield, Holly and Brighton, and a home game against Clarkston remaining.

That's the W-O league race at a glance before the stretch drive begins in the New Year.

Against Robichaud, a stretch of six straight points put Northville out front, 30-22 at halftime, a lead the Mustangs held throughout the rest of the game.

Forward Glenn Deibert hit a jump shot from the key to spark the spurt. Guard Dennis Mathews then took a long pass on a break and scored. Forward Jim Zayti then drove the base line, coming up underneath his man to give Northville an eight-point lead.

Northville increased its lead to 42-30 at the end of the third quarter, and sailed the game away in the fourth, with Robichaud never getting any closer than 11 points.

Center Jim Peterson led the attack with 12 points. Following him were Zayti and Deibert, both with 10 points.

"By switching to a zone just before the end of the first half, we changed the complexion of the game," Longridge said. "We gained better control of the boards."

Highland Park's control of the boards and Northville's 17 turnovers broke open what was an otherwise close game and gave the Parkers victory last week Wednesday. Northville trailed 29-24 at halftime.

"We played good ball through two and one-half quarters," Longridge pointed out, "but suddenly we started missing our outside shots and the turnovers killed us."

Northville seldom got a second shot on goal because of two towering Parkers on the front line — one who measured 6'5" and the other 6'4".

Highland Park was also fired up after a lop-sided loss the night before to Thurston. The Parkers scored only two points in the first quarter, and hot shooting Thurston (58 percent for the night) raced to an 18-2 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Dewitt Beats Cold Novi

A cold-shooting Novi team was stung with its third consecutive loss Friday night at DeWitt, 91-47.

The winless Wildcats shot 25 percent (17 of 68) while DeWitt, playing on the friendly confines of its home court, shot a blazing 57 percent (39 of 69).

"They scored 42 points on lay-ups," Coach Jim Ladd said, "and we scored 12 on lay-ups." That was basically the story of the game, with many buckets coming after interceptions.

In an effort to upset DeWitt's smooth game, Novi switched to a zone. But DeWitt peppered the nets consistently to quickly discourage the Wildcats' zone.

Novi took a two-point lead, scoring on a "scooter play" from the opening tip-off. That's the first and last time Novi led as DeWitt came on like gangbusters.

Jon Van Wagner led the local scorers with 17 points, followed by Gary Boyer with 16, Joe Morrison seven and Jim Poole four.

Novi will play New Lothrop tomorrow night on the road.

The Jayvees, coached by Milan Obrenovich, lost their second game in five outings in the preliminary contest Friday night.

Turnbull Injured Colts Dumped Twice

The Northville Colts were dumped twice in the River Rouge holiday tournament, but they made a scrapping good show before going down to defeat at the hands of River Rouge and Ecorse.

Injury to Craig Turnbull, a regular, hampered the Colt attack in their second game of the tournament against River Rouge. Turnbull lost his balance coming down after blocking a pass and crashed to the floor, breaking his left forearm. He's out for the season.

At the time of Turnbull's injury, the Jayvees were leading Rouge, 20-12. By the time Northville reserves picked up the tempo of the game, Rouge had a 33-23 lead at halftime.

"We missed a lot of lay-ups," Coach Bob Kucher said, "about 11 or 12. Seven or eight in the first period alone when we might have broken the game open."

Beaten by one-point the previous day, tourney favorite, Ecorse, came back with vengeance against Northville, whipping the Colts, 72-53. "They just beat us, that's all," Kucher stated.

But the game, Kucher said, was much closer than the score indicated. "I emptied the bench to give everybody an opportunity to play," the Jayvee coach said. "Actually, the difference was more like eight or 10 points at that time."

Robinson, whom Kucher described as the "stadiest performer of the tournament," was the leading local scorer with 21 points, Guard Stan Nirdler tallied 11.

Projectionist Dies But Show Goes On

OSCAR A. KUHN
 "The show must go on" had as much meaning to Oscar Arthur Kuhn as it has with the performing artists. Last Thursday night the projectionist at the P&A Theatre felt ill, but he placed the last reel of the film in the projector and the show went on.
 Minutes later Mr. Kuhn died of a heart attack in the projection room. The double feature, "Bambi" and "Those Callows", that carried on without a break were creations of another show business great who died recently—Walt Disney.
 The 68-year-old Northville man, who lived at 310 North Center street, was born May 10, 1898 in Chickasha, Oklahoma to Arthur E. and Mamie (Burke) Kuhn.

WARREN PRODUCTS, INC.
 Warren Products, Inc., announced this week the creation of a $1,000 scholarship and grant-in-aid fund for Northville high school graduates entering engineering school at the University of Michigan.
 The announcement was made by George, Richard and Frank Martin, brothers and owners of the sheet metal fabricating firm located at 637 East Baseline in Northville. Each of the brothers attended the U of M engineering school. Richard T. and Frank J. are active officers of the local industry. Richard serves as vice president, while Frank is secretary-treasurer. George, a resident of Detroit, is president, although he does not participate actively in the management of the firm.
 Specifically, the Warren scholarship-grant provides that "once each year in July during the fund's existence there will be awarded to the male graduate of the Northville high school system having the highest scholastic record during his high school course and entering the engineering college of the University of Michigan a grant of $1,000. The winner will receive $250 the first year and $250 each subsequent year for three years to a total of $1,000, provided he continues in the engineering college of the University of Michigan as a regular full time student in good standing. In the event that a student fails to continue his eligibility any undistributed sums otherwise due him would revert to the fund to be available for future awards."

 The award will begin this July.

Alex Nelson Sees Money Problems

While he looks optimistically at the New Year, Northville's School Superintendent Alex Nelson foresees a possible cash crisis should teachers and administrators receive substantial salary increases and should the state's bond loan formula be revised.
 "Both are possible, he indicates. "Unfortunately, it would appear that any increase in millage might be construed as salary needs, but actually this is part of the total instructional program ... and should a millage increase become necessary the blame shouldn't rest on teachers," he contends.
 Teacher negotiations are scheduled to get underway later this month, and board consideration for adjustments in administrative salaries has already begun.
 Normal increases in instructional costs, such as additional teachers, plus operation of the New Moraine elementary school — which Nelson predicts will be ready for occupancy late this month — should be offset by increased income through added tax base, increased state aid, etc.
 He estimates these increased operational costs at about 10-percent above the current operational level. This 10-percent, he emphasizes, does not include possible renegotiated increased salaries.
 The other possible cash problem involves the bond loan formula. "There is talk," he says, "that the Legislature may revise the formula so that the minimum requirement is changed from seven mills to nine mills. If this happens, we'll have to make up the 2-mill difference locally."
 Under the state loan program school districts which are presently levying a minimum of 7 mills for school construction may apply for low-interest, long-range loans.
 The loan program permits school districts to increase their building programs without increasing millage. It means that the length of a minimum millage levy is carried over a far greater period, like stretching car payments over 36 months rather than 24 to make monthly payments more palatable.
 In June of 1965 when Northville voters approved two bond proposals — one for $2.8 million and the other for a $500,000 swimming pool — the millage increased only 1.3 mills, from the then 5.7 levy to the 7-mill minimum required under the state's loan program. Without the bond program, the levy would have increased several additional mills.
 application for aid, explains Nelson, under this loan program is made annually, and locally the next application comes due next spring.

 Should the state increase the minimum levy from seven to nine, the Northville board of education will be faced with the problem of making up the difference — with or without another vote of the people.

Although Nelson sees little possibility of a 12-month school program becoming a reality in 1967—as proposed by Board President Wilfred Becker last year — he suggests that the proposal will be given plenty of consideration in upcoming months. He points out that administrative studies will continue on the possibility of implementing an additional hour in the school day. Such a program, he says, would provide some 30 additional teaching stations, lead to a better teacher-pupil ratio, permit release time for department heads, and temporarily relieve any classroom cramps that might develop.

Another proposed program that the superintendent is hopeful will gain support is a community recreation program administered through the school system. Although he holds little hope for its implementation this year, he nevertheless expects it to come before the board of education for approval or disapproval in coming months.
 Such a program — replacing the present city-township program — would be a cooperative venture between the city, township and the school system. Studies along these lines are already underway by Board Secretary Stan Johnston.

Nelson also foresees growth in student population and satisfactory progress on the junior high school and high school addition. But he does not anticipate launching of any new building programs this year, except perhaps for those already authorized under the current bond program.

Paving of Bradner Planned by County

A report that the Wayne county road commission is planning to pave a portion of Bradner road was given to the township board Tuesday night by Supervisor R. D. Merriam.
 According to Merriam, the commission has stated that it will pave the road from Six Mile to the southern tip of the proposed Thompson-Brown subdivision, charging the cost back to adjacent property owners.
 The paved road reportedly will be some 80-feet wide, sufficient for three lanes. No time schedule was revealed.
 Where the Thompson-Brown property faces on both sides of Bradner (near Six Mile), the developer, Merriam reported, will be asked to pay for the entire strip.

Further south, Thompson-Brown will be asked to pay for its half of the road and property owners on the opposite side for their half.
 In bringing the report to the board, Merriam cautioned the board not become involved in assessing procedures, pointing out that such a road will work a "real hardship" on some of the property owners.

An application for an S.D.M. (beer and wine) license for the proposed Quick Pik Food Store, to be built on Five Mile road adjacent to the Lutheran Church, was approved by the board.

Site plans for the store have not yet been approved by the planning commission, pending receipt of more details concerning building sizes. The property is presently zoned for commercial use.

A petition to create a special assessment district for sewers along three lots owned by the Northville Coach Line, Inc., 4122 Seven Mile road, was accepted and the matter was turned over to the township engineer for preparation of plans preliminary to setting of a public hearing.

The board also accepted the low bid Kenneth Rathert of Northville Realty to supply bonds for the treasurer, clerk and deputy clerk and two constables at a cost of $404.24.

An amendment to the zoning ordinance, establishing fees for review of site plans also drew board approval, giving it immediate effect.

Estimated cost of providing sewers along the southern end of Northville road dampened hopes that the sewer might become a reality. Engineering estimates put the total price tag at about $26,000. The sewer would serve five homes, and the cost would be shared by the owners.

Merriam is to report the cost estimates to the affected property owners to determine if they are still interested. A special meeting of the board was scheduled for next Tuesday evening.

"My daughter Pam was winner two years in a row of the Voice of Democracy contest," laughed M. R. Smith, "now we have something to boast about too." Smith's home at 20114 Woodhill was named the winner of the annual Christmas decoration contest sponsored by the Northville Jaycees, under the chairmanship of Ralph Long. Both the front and the rear of the Smith home was decorated with lights, including alternating colors which spotlighted the picturesque home. Smith is president of Plymouth Finance company.

HISTORY - HIS STORY OR OURS?
By this time you have probably replaced the calendars on your walls with brand new ones for the year 1967. People have had calendars for a long time, but they had not always as accurate as those we have today.

In 1582 an astronomer finally figured out the way to make the same months stay in the same seasons every year. Many countries in Europe adopted this new calendar. But almost 200 years passed before the people of England decided to use it. By that time the old calendar was eleven days out of line.

In order to make up for this error the king of England passed a decree in 1752. This decree said that the day after September 2, 1752 would be September 14. Eleven days were to be dropped. This caused a great confusion and uproar in Great Britain. People gathered in mobs crying: "Give us back our eleven days!" They thought they were losing that many days out of their lives; but, of course, they really were not.

Sometimes we, too, feel that we've lost a number of days because they seem to go so quickly. At the end of another year it is well to stop and think how we used the days and the year just gone by.

We Christians confess that we mis-spent many days in 1966, days we cannot get back. There may be momentary flashes of delight, but "we spend our years as a tale that is told," as a dream that fades, as grass that withers, as a sign that is whispered. Read Psalm 90! That's OUR story.

But history is HIS story. The fact that we change calendars within a week of Christmas and that we number years from the date of Jesus' birth can be significant. This is Annus Domini (A.D.) - the YEAR OF OUR LORD.

Every year is a year of our Lord! Each one of them belongs to Him. He gives a few to each of us - sometimes as many as threescore and ten - and we use them to create the false impression that we are the makers of history. But God is not impressed. He remembers that we are dust, and turns us back to dust.

Our story can be meaningful only as it is related to His story, and only as the Lord impresses us. He is our Creator, and when we turned our lives to destruction He redeemed us and restored us by showing up in history in the person of the Christ - the only Man who has been able to control events, defeat death, and offer everlasting life.

Our history can be His story - as He lives in us by faith, and as we live in Him - for then we live with a purpose and a goal, not simply marking time, but looking for eternity.

AN EYE ON THE WORLD

The fascination of a globe... let the eye roam over the world map... notice the different countries and continents... try to imagine what life must be like in each of these places.

Yes, every spot on the globe has its particular need. Sometimes it is a need felt in that one place alone. Yet, in a sense, every place is the same, for all countries are made up of people. And all people have the same basic needs.

One of these needs is faith - faith in a God who also has an eye on our world - faith in a God who sustains us, and who gives meaning to time and eternity. Your own life has this need. You can answer that need by attending church, and discovering the strength and joy which come through regular worship.

Whoops! The folks. And earlier than expected. So, you call the neighbor for the roll-away bed you borrowed last time. The butcher for a bigger roast. The girl next door to pick up the children. Five calls to cancel the Neighborhood Mothers' meeting. And finally, you call your sister-in-law to tell her that they've arrived. What else in your home does so much for you, and costs so little?

CRITICS AND WELL WISHERS

It's always nice to be complimented. But it's much more helpful to be constructively criticized.

It has always seemed to me that the Complaint Department of an automobile dealership is one that the "Boss" has to manage. It is the customer who decides if a business succeeds or fails and the head man should keep his ear keyed to the customer's feelings.

I'm speaking now of reasonable and justified complaints—and there are some in the best run enterprises. Most are caused by misunderstanding or oversight that could be easily rectified if the customer would bring the complaint to the dealer's attention.

If you are not satisfied with a service job on your car, or if something promised was not delivered, you are doing your dealer a service by bringing it to his attention. If he is interested in keeping you as a customer he will do his utmost to right the wrong.

Of course there is the kind of complaint that has little real substance but where our emotions are offended. Even in this case, talking it over with your dealer is more likely to straighten matters out than letting it build up into resentment.

No one is over improved on just compliments. A quality dealer is no exception. If there is something wrong, he wants to know about it, for his own sake as well as yours. See you next week.

State Must Face up to Doctor Shortage

MICHIGAN IS SADLY LACKING in doctors for its citizens. There is no hope of meeting the need unless immediate steps are taken to expand medical education facilities.

To make matters worse, an important recommendation by a blue-ribbon committee to the State Board of Education was recently ignored in a four to four vote on establishing a four-year medical school at Michigan State University.

The tie had the effect of refusing the special committee's recommendation that MSU's present two-year human biology program be expanded to a full medical training course.

PART OF THE BOARD'S hesitation to approve the new medical school request from MSU was credited to the need for an overall higher education plan in Michigan. Another factor was a proposal for an osteopathic college which is in the works.

A master plan for education might not be ready for another year and there is no firm indication when, or if, the osteopathic college will get beyond the planning stage.

Many believe the MSU request for expansion to a four-year medical school should be considered on its own merit in light of the recognized dire need for doctors in Michigan.

BOARD MEMBERS themselves appointed the special committee to deal with the expansion of medical education in Michigan as a broad concept and the MSU plan as a specific request but in context with the state's total needs.

In essence the committee recommended immediate steps be taken to expand and improve the two existing medical schools and approve without delay MSU's request to offer an M.D. degree program.

DELAY IN APPROVAL is difficult to understand. After the first of the year, two new members will take their seats on the Board of Education, a result of the recent election. Perhaps the issue will be reconsidered then.

Members of the Board which failed to approve the plan indicated that more study was necessary to fit this recommendation into an overall program. It is very hard to see how much more study will be needed before the overwhelming facts stimulate a decision in some direction to provide doctors for the people in Michigan. The question has been examined and re-examined.

Delay in providing action can only hurt everyone involved: the potential students and the profession itself. Most importantly, the people of this state.

NEW PROBLEM
SPENDING CUTBACKS ordered by the federal government have many Michigan governmental units worrying, stewing and screaming.

Potential unemployment caused by cuts in the various programs might threaten the continued prosperity of Michigan's economy. Cities are screaming because of announced decreases in spending for local urban renewal and poverty relief programs. State highway officials throughout Michigan breathe heavily because of the shorter supply of federal funds to com-

1967: Another Auto Sales Dip?

BABSON PARK, MASS. — Some executives of our own U.S. auto-manufacturing Big Three — General Motors, Chrysler, and Ford — have admitted that they expect another dip during 1967 in total output, which would mean the second consecutive year of lowering sales. Executives of firms importing foreign cars express no such doubts. Almost unanimously they predict that 1967 will be the second successive record-breaking year for their products. Does this mean a greater swing toward the purchase of foreign cars; and, if so, what is behind the switch in trend?

The question may well have more than one answer, probably a number of answers. But the essential fact is that statistics already provide a reasonable basis for the contrast between the pessimism of domestic producers and the optimism of foreign car dealers. Taking November figures (latest available), it may be seen that foreign car sales have risen an impressive 18% over those of a year ago. This compares dramatically with a decline of 7% in domestic new car sales over the same period.

While it is true that foreign car turnover represents only about 8% of the total market, there is something arresting about the fact that practically all the leading importers are chalking up gains while all our biggest producers are registering declines. If it were a matter only of restlessness or watchful-waiting on the part of the consumer public, there is no reason why both domestic and foreign auto sales should not reflect the same weakening tendency.

AS IN THE case of residential construction, tight money undoubtedly is having some adverse effect on the demand for larger, more expensive cars. The lowest-priced model made in this country is now the Rambler American, which goes for $2,073. But look at the price range for foreign models; eight out of the ten biggest-selling imported cars can be bought for less. And there are a couple of score of other foreign makes also below the Rambler American price range, even though not among those best known to the public.

plete road construction plans. MANY PROGRAMS, in other states as well as Michigan, are heavily dependent for their existence on specified percentages of federal contributions. Every year the legislature is asked to consider expansion of some existing state-federal programs and creation of new ones. This year serious thought must be aimed at these proposals. No one cares to guess when the tight federal money situation will loosen, but how to reduce spending is a problem which must be faced.

In other words, the U.S. producers have once again outpriced themselves. This happened following 1959, when foreign cars set their previous record for sales, capturing more than 10% of the total market. At that time, Detroit recognized its lack of models at the lower end of the price scale and moved in with its "compacts". These caught the popular fancy to a considerable degree, but gradually became larger and more expensive. Now it appears that the situation has come full-circle. If a buyer wants a small, inexpensive car, he can do best, he is convinced, in the import field.

THE MOMENTUM carrying sales of foreign cars upward has increased notably, and there is reason to believe that it will persist for some time to come. It is not, for example, purely the lower original cost that is helping the market for imported autos. When a family needs a car primarily for use by the housewife in shopping and for other short hauls, the woman often prefers a vehicle that is light, maneuverable, cheap to operate, and easy to park. Then there is the question of glamor. If a man could easily afford a Cadillac, he is often as likely to buy himself instead a Mercedes-Benz or a Jaguar. The exotic flavor has appeal, and this has been partly instigated by our own effort to popularize the "sports car" image in such models as the Mustang, which caught on remarkably quickly. But, now, to be really different, many buyers feel that the foreign car is the thing, whether for economy purposes or for the kind of show-off of style found in the Jaguar.

Question is: Will Detroit try again to lure away some of this market with new, small, inexpensive sports models? Best guess is that the domestic auto makers won't, unless foreign-car sales once more move well above 10% of the market. Importers will be watching.

South Lyon Native Heads Michigan Awards Group

John Calkins, a native of South Lyon, will lead the 1967 search for Michigan's Product of the Year and Agricultural Development of the Year.

His appointment as chairman of the state Product and Agricultural Awards committee was announced this week by Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern Michigan university, general chairman of the 14th annual Michigan Week, May 21-27.

A member of South Lyon's pioneering Calkins family, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Calkins, 498 North Hagadorn, South Lyon. He presently is information chief of the state Department of Agriculture for Michigan, a post he took in 1965 while living in Manistee where he was forestry information administrator of Packaging Corporation of America.

Product of the Year awards will be made following county and regional contests to be conducted by the local Michigan Week committees.

The state committee, under Calkins' direction, worked during the holiday and is expected to announce the rules and schedule for the 1967 contest later this month.

The 1966 Product of the Year winner was Pettibone Michigan Corporation of Baraga with its new giant of the logging woods, the Pettibone Cary-Lift. This was the second year running that the award went to the Upper Peninsula, the Menominee helicopter manufacturer R. J. Enstrom Corporation having won in 1965.

STRIDING IN BIG BOOTS!

"Making Electricity With The Atom And Getting Natural Gas From Under The Sea," reads like a chapter from the legendary tale of the giant lumberjack, Paul Bunyan. His superhuman feats, however, can't compare with the prodigious steps taken by Consumers Power Company in its continuous efforts to assure ample electricity and natural gas for Michigan's lower peninsula... now and in the future.

Consumers Power Company built Michigan's Big Rock Point Nuclear Plant on its own initiative, entirely at its own expense. It was the world's first high-power density boiling water reactor for generating commercial electricity. Operating at capacity, Big Rock Point is capable of supplying enough electricity to meet all the residential and farm needs of an average city of 100,000 persons.

And, to increase its supply of natural gas for Michigan's growing demands, Consumers Power gets huge amounts of natural gas from offshore wells beneath the Gulf of Mexico... wells as deep as 11,000 feet below the water and more than 5 miles out to sea!

Thus Consumers Power... takes giant steps to help keep Michigan great!

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Just for a change of pace I thought it might be a good idea to start the New Year on the lighter side by writing a column that criticizes no one, makes absolutely no recommendations for improvement and leaves the reader wondering why he read as far as he did (which wouldn't be unique).

New Year's resolutions might be appropriate. But Jack Hoffman did that last week in "Top of the Deck". And besides, I've observed that his resolutions wear about as long as shaving lather.

I might have a few words to say about the rash of gridiron clashes on television during the holidays, but Rolfe Peterson's "Loose Leaf" column picked off that plum for its change of pace.

The new short skirts might also be a subject worth exploring, but I hesitate to pass judgment until there's been more time for observation.

And I've heard a lot of people complaining about the silly TV commercials, but I've got to admit that the gag line on the deodorant skit where the guy in the locker room asks "what would you have done if I had asked for money?", and then gets a towel in the face, leaves me laughing.

Another very important topic these days is the slump of the Red Wings. But that's a slippery subject, and could lead to thin ice.

Then there's the trials of George Hamilton, what with the draft board and Lynda Bird both breathing down his neck. It's a tough decision for any guy ... choosing between Texas and Vietnam.

And all this talk about conducting the draft by lottery scares a fellow. What if they should pull out a name like Mohammed Ali, for example? Think what that might do to the morale of our fighting men.

It does seem that the government and the medical profession should adopt a new approach in its fight to reduce lung cancer. Statistics show that a record 542 billion cigarettes were consumed by American smokers in 1966. How about a campaign connecting cigarette smoking with motherhood, good books, exercise, peace and attending church?

Did you know that Hackee is another name for chipmunk? Or that an acre is 160 square rods in square measure? That's what you learn when you read the fillers in daily newspapers.

Only 10 more days and we'll all know the answer to the question of which pro football league is superior, AFL or NFL? The big clash is being staged in Los Angeles. Bet on the team with sideline oxygen masks.

I read somewhere recently where a man under fire said that it wasn't the voices of his critics that bothered him, but the silence of his friends. You've got to say this for Jimmy Hoffa: His friends aren't silent.

As a closer, a resolution: never again to wait until Tuesday morning to write my column.

Tall Order

By ROLLY PETERSON

"After the Fox" is cinematic champagne - clear and effervescent. No more, no less. But it lacks the substance which makes wine a delicate treat. In fact, there's absolutely no heady after affects, which, in this case, is exactly the desired effect.

Playing now at area theatres, this spoof of movie-dome sparkles, to be sure. What else, with Peter Sellers, the original martini man in the lead as Valuchi, super crook. He's as cool and dry as they come, squeezing every drop from every line and delivering them with the usual mug of mirth.

International police finger him as the man who will smuggle gold stolen from Cairo into the continent. They're right. Valuchi is a master mind and escape artist, a camellion who assumes disguises at the twist of a lemon and escapes the obtuse police. As Valuchi, Sellers upstages super sleuths 007 and even the latest addition to the ranks of the violence syndrom, Dean Martin.

That's the plot that affords the swipe at double-ought-seven flicks, but there are complications. Valuchi is with family, a crook with a heart. He must save his 16-year-old sister, Gina, played by Britt Ekland, a lithe starlet who fits into the pussy cat role. She's a mini-girl, a swinger who idolizes stars and thirsts for stardom. Her brother feels she is falling prey to lascivious scoundrels and comes to the rescue.

It leads to a lot of slapstick and a barrel of slaps at convention, particularly, Hollywood and its synthetic promise of stardom. When Sellers assumes the role of Frederico Fabrizi, the movie mogul and director, the fun bubbles over. Quite by accident, Valuchi hits on the idea to smuggle the stolen gold into Italy when he stumbles on a movie scene. To Arabia he goes and pilfers movie equipment from the set of a Biblical movie on the desert. Director of "After the Fox," Vittorio DeSica, is his dupe.

Valuchi, now Director Fabrizi, lacks only two stars to implement his master plan. A logical for the female lead is his sister, of course. The leading man? Tony Powell, the former boy-wonder of Hollywood who has aged but denies his wrinkles. It's a natural for Victor Mature, Tony, or Vic, if you will, will take nothing but a youthful role. There are no takers until Fabrizio happens on the scene and drafts Tony for the male lead in the movie, "The Gold of Cairo."

They go on location in Sevalco, a small Italian village whose citizens do their unbridled best to grab a bit part. All this to smuggle gold into the country. The townspeople, Gina and Tony play fools to the hoax.

Here, the writer, Neil Simon, waxes bright. The production is pure mayhem and an acid comment on today's movie themes: "Lack of communication in our society, no matter how far you run you can never runaway from yourself and man's search for identity."

In essence, Simon has distilled something from the glitter that is Hollywood. The movie, "After the Fox," qualifies as a farce.

Typical female reasoning. As sound as the watery philosophy, "Women and children first".

If we must retain this custom then why not revert too to its important companion - the dowry? A fair concession, I'd say.

Just give me one good reason why the bride should march queen-like down the aisle garnering all the attention while the king of the union should sneak timorously from some nearby closet? Why couldn't they march up the aisle together or, better still, why can't the bread-winner lead the way?

And that dirge, "Here Comes The Bride". It smacks of enough injustice to warrant a sit-in or at least a few placards.

Finally, if the bride can rate a paragraph or two about her get-away outfit, why doesn't the bridegroom get a sentence about his honeymoon attire - or at least a brief description of the double-carb Ford he's tooling to the Falls?

Cowards of the wedding ceremony, rise up! Demand what rightfully belongs to you. Remember Sir Walter Raleigh's gallant words upon casting his coat in the mud: "Monday's wash day, my lady, I expect it cleaned and pressed by Tuesday."

"The bridegroom was handsomely attired in a black Hildago tuxedo of Dacron Polyester/worsted, two-ply abrasion tested. It featured a satin framed shawl collar of molded construction, firm shoulders, lined sleeves and break-resistant buttons with locked in color. The coat was tastefully decorated with flap pockets double-piped with satin, and the vest complemented the collar. A silk cummerbund, a family heirloom given to him by his grandfather, was accented with lace and contrasting blue velvet ribbon. The all-wool, pleatless trousers, which featured hidden seams and stripes to match the ensemble facings, fell to the heels of his black patent slippers, revealing as he knelt at the altar the jet black stockings held in place by matching garters. His silk, white on white shirt featured flounced cuffs, and he wore a silver-grey cravat to highlight the entire outfit."

That's just part of a story that someday I'd like to write, emphasizing the role of the male in the wedding ceremony.

It often has occurred to me that the male is relegated to a second-class role in the wedding ceremony. Where and why this gross injustice originated escapes me, but the male - whether out of ignorance or indifference - has accepted his miserly role without a whimper.

Show me a stout-hearted man who claims his rightful share of the ceremony and I'll show you 100 who think their "I do" is sufficient evidence of equality.

Yet, these same cowards will thereafter beat their chests as heads of the family, force their names upon the woman, brow-beat their wives, angrily protest woman's entrance into business, politics, space ships and poker parties, claim first right to the family bankroll, and beget children to carry on in the same ridiculous tradition.

Oh, the incongruity of it all!
"But," argues the wife of the writer, "the bride's parents are the ones who pick up the tab. Besides, who wants to read about what the groom is wearing?"
