Wayne State Gets Nod

School District Denied Fish Hatchery Request

DEAD PONY—This dead pony and four dead goats were found Monday on a Taft road farm operated by David and Orville Hamilton, both of whom face trial next week on charges of cruelty to animals. Humane Officers said the animals died of starvation.

Of Cruelty to Animals

Brothers Face New Charges

Two brothers who escaped prosecution last summer on animal cruelty charges because of a legal loophole are back in court again on similar charges.

David and Orville Hamilton, who maintain a Novi farm on which a dead pony and four dead goats were found Monday, stood mute upon arraignment Tuesday afternoon before Justice of Peace Robert K. Anderson.

Their trial was set for Thursday, February 16 at 1:30 p.m.

Specifically, the Hamiltons are charged with cruelty and for failure to bury dead animals. They have since agreed to dispose of the animals, Novi police said.

The animals had starved to death, according to Humane Officer Marshall London.

Last summer Justice Anderson tossed out similar cruelty charges against the brothers because London had failed to secure a search warrant before searching the farm, located at 23633 Taft road, just south of 10 Mile road.

"This time we were very careful," London said.

Upon receiving a citizen's complaint that a dead horse was lying near the Northville has lost its bid to acquire the government-owned fish hatchery property located on Seven Mile road.

Still bidding for the property is Wayne State university, which proposes to use the abandoned facility as a laboratory for the study of water pollution.

The property involves 15 acres and several frame buildings, together valued unofficially at from $75,000 to $125,000. The government has not put a price tag on it, however.

Word that Northville's application was "not approvable" was received last week in a letter to the Northville school system from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

US Congressman Jack McDonald, questioned by The Record, confirmed that the school district's application had been turned down.

Rumors that the application of Wayne State university also had been rejected and that the property would be put up for public auction are untrue, McDonald said.

He said that the Surplus Property Division of the HEW on February 3 recommended to the General Services Administration that the property be awarded to Wayne State. Recommendations of this kind, he said, are usually carried out by GSA.

The next step, McDonald explained, will be for GSA to assign the property to HEW which then actually turns the property over to the university. However, he indicated that GSA has the final word on the property and can, if it desires, award the property to someone else.

Northville's city council, anxious to obtain the property in view of the school district's failure to get it, has indicated that it will do all it can to obtain it through GSA. (See related story on this page).

A spokesman for Wayne State university told The Record that its most recent word from HEW indicated that its application is still being considered. However, he said the university is itself "taking another long, hard look" at its application in light of its budget. Northville's application, HEW said, was unsatisfactory because it did not provide for a day-care center for the training of retarded children—for which the government had indicated it would give top priority.

At the instruction of the board of education, Superintendent Alex Nelson on January 9 sent a letter to HEW reaffirming the district's original application.

That letter followed lengthy discussion of the matter by the board in which members expressed displeasure with the government's position.

The government had suggested that the district would find itself in a more favorable position to acquire the facility if it (the school district) would reserve the bulk of the property for an educational center for mentally retarded from the northwestern part of Wayne county, to be staffed by the Livonia school system and "completely" financed by the government.

The remaining smaller portion of the property (about 25-percent) would have been, under this proposal, used by the district for its own academic and extracurricular activities.

The proposal would have meant that Northville would "rent" that portion of the facility to be used by the mentally retarded. At the end of a 10-year period, the property would have officially come under the ownership of the Northville school district, which then, could legally ask the day-care center to vacate the premises.

This latter supposition, board members agreed, might be easier said than done. A day-care center, after 10 years, might become too entrenched in the facility to "up and leave" without a fight, they reasoned.

City Still Hopes To Obtain Site

Although the action was not unanimous, the city council decided Monday night that it should make every effort to acquire the 15-acre fish hatchery property.

The council learned that the school district's application had been ruled ineligible.

Both city and township officials had expressed interest in obtaining the Seven Mile road property when the federal government announced that it would be turned over to General Services Administration for disposal as surplus property. The area is divided by city-township limit lines.

But last spring city, township and school officials decided that the chances of acquiring the site would be stronger if the city and township supported the school request. The city, however, informed GSA that it desired the site for recreational and public use (with the township) "if for any reasons" the school application were denied.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff told the council Monday night that GSA now has but one qualified application...from Wayne State University for use as a laboratory for pollution study (see story on this page).

Councilman John Canterbury proposed that the council authorize the manager to contact GSA officials to determine whether or not applications from the city and township would now be considered. "If it appears that they're all ready to award the site to Wayne State, I think we ought to make some political contacts", Canterbury stated.

Mayor A. M. Allen agreed and proposed that both he and Councilman Canterbury call U.S. senators and congressmen.

Councilman Wallace Nichols agreed that this would be the proper procedure if the city wants the site, "but I wouldn't buy it", stated Nichols. The newly-appointed councilman (he was named last month to succeed Fred Kester) further criticized the council for "not knowing how much the site would cost and not having a ready plan of proposed use".

Other councilmembers pointed out that cost of the site would be one-half appraised value, that a plan was not formulated because of deferring to the school district.

In other business Monday night Harley Cole, 248 South Center, criticized the council for its treatment of his son, Robert, who had contracted with the city for removal of snow from city sidewalks. In action taken last week the council cancelled the contract. The elder Cole said his son would not "shirk his duties" and charged that the city had been late in its payments. He also singled out Councilmen Del Black and Wallace Nichols for criticism, saying the latter had accused his son of lying and that Nichols had been familiar with the contents of the contract before voting for its termination.

Manager Ollendorff defended the council action saying that he had recommended cancellation on the basis of failure to comply with the contract. He said only one payment had been delayed, and that when the council had met with the contractor earlier to air complaints and seek improved performance.

Mayor Allen also defended the council action and claimed that snow could have been removed if cleaning had started earlier.

The council rescheduled a public hearing on a new subdivision ordinance for March 6 and for a beautification ordinance for February 20.

An application by the Eagles Lodge, 113 South Center street, for a liquor and dancing license was approved by the council, although Councilman Del Black cast a negative vote. Application for a "resort class C" license by Northville Lanes that would permit sale of liquor by the glass 10 months of the year was postponed until a clearance report is received from the police department. The applicant, Angelo Cadioli, explained that the proposed cocktail lounge at the South Center street bowling alley would be in a room separated from the alleys and drinking would be confined to that area.

Time's Running Out On Winter Tax Bills

With but a few days remaining before the deadline, tax collections are "running behind" in most area communities, officials reported this week.

Deadline for paying winter taxes without penalty is Tuesday, February 14. Following that date, a 4-percent penalty may be invoked by local treasurers for late payments. Northville township residents have until February 28 to pay their taxes without penalty.

On March 1, delinquent taxes are turned over to the county, which adds another 1-percent per month penalty to those required by the local municipalities.

Northville Township Treasurer Alex Lawrence reported collections through Monday of $440,510.16—or 59.2-percent of the total levy minus excess of roll. The total tax roll is $743,680.51.

In Novi township, Treasurer Duane Bell reported collections of $466,898.60—a little over half of the tax levy of $923,120.88.

About 95-percent of the winter taxes in Wixom have been collected, Treasurer Mrs. Elizabeth Waara reported. Collected through Monday was $851,483.18 of the $881,297.50 total levy.

Northville city officials reported collections of $280,407.17 in both the Oakland and the Wayne county portions of the city. That's more than $400,000 short of the total levy of $673,604.92.

License Plate Deadline Near

Northville-Nowi area motorists were reminded this week that the deadline for purchasing license plates is fast approaching.

Managers of the secretary of state offices in Walled Lake and Plymouth reported purchases as "lagging". To avoid waiting in long lines, motorists are urged to buy their plates now.

Because the Northville branch was closed earlier this year, plates must be purchased elsewhere. The branch office in Plymouth is located at 181 West Liberty, one block south of the C & O depot, and the office in Walled Lake is located at 141 East Walled Lake drive near the Chevrolet dealership.

The respective managers of these two branches, Bob Dwyer and Bob Wiseman, emphasized that motorists must bring with them their certificates of insurance and either their automobile titles or registrations.

Land Reassessment OK'ed by Township

A program to reassess all land in Northville township was approved Tuesday night by the township board of trustees.

The action was recommended by Township Supervisor R. D. Merriam, who noted that the township had not undertaken reappraisal since 1958. Vacant land was reviewed and reappraised in 1961.

"For the last few years the county has added some $200,000 to the general tax role to make up for under-assessed land", the supervisor explained. Merriam recommended a program of reassessment employing the aid of county tax officials and an independent appraiser.

Under the new state constitution all property assessments (on land and buildings) must be based upon 50 per cent of market value. If assessments are not set at this level, the state multiplies the total tax role by the difference between actual assessment and the 50 per cent level. This is called an "equalization factor".

Merriam pointed out Tuesday night that this factor, which was 1.28 this year, could be increased next year. Because the township's greatest assessment deficiencies involve land, application of the equalization factor creates inequities which penalize the average homeowner most, Merriam noted.

The supervisor said that the assessment program would begin as soon as possible and would require several weeks. He said that the new assessments would be recorded before September 1 so that they would be used for the 1967-68 winter taxes.

Merriam told the board that while land assessments are low and not consistent in the township, building values have been termed realistic at about 40 per cent. He noted that both land and buildings will be raised to the 50 per cent level, as required by law, but that the land increases would come about on an individual basis, while building assessments would be increased across-the-board from 40 to 50 per cent. He said this should result in the elimination of an equalization factor.

Board members voted unanimously to approve the assessment program, although Clerk Marguerite Young was absent due to illness.

A similar program of reassessment is currently underway in the city. Land is now being reassessed, while buildings will be reassessed this summer.

For other township board action Tuesday night, see page 5-A.

Cavern Craves Home of its Own

"A Cavern's just not a club without a home".

That pretty well sums up the predicament of Northville's ambitious and energetic teen club — The Cavern.

Sponsored by the Mothers' Club and guided and advised by its representative, Mrs. Gordon Forrer, the year-old Cavern has been "getting by" holding dances at the Community Building.

"But what we'd really like is a place we can legally loiter", says one of the Cavern-ites.

They're looking for an old building, a house, a big garage... almost anything that can be renovated and become "their own" headquarters.

It would be a place to playing pong, pool, to sit and talk and relax, and to hold dances.

Several other communities have come up with teen club quarters, points out Mrs. Forrer. Romeobuilt its facilities with donations. A farmhouse was donated to the Farmington teens, while donations were used to acquire and renovate the Birmingham club.

Encouragement has been received from the Northville Optimist club, which has expressed interest in helping The Cavern find a home.

About a dozen teens have been active in The Cavern organization. But the dances have averaged attendance of nearly 300.

The school system has cooperated in permitting the group to use the Community Building, but many times it is difficult to schedule dances because of other activity commitments.

Those closest to The Cavern firmly believe it has been a highly successful and worthwhile undertaking. They know that there has been some criticism of conduct at the dances — there have been fights in the parking lot and instances of drinking.

"But in the main the kids have co-operated wonderfully", says Mrs. Forrer. The club officers enforce regulations strictly, and most youngsters abide by the rules.

No one is permitted to enter if they have been drinking, though this is a difficult rule to enforce; no one can leave the dance and return, and loitering outside is not permitted.

Besides club officers, The Cavern has three police officers and two adult couples at the dances. "I'm usually there, too," adds Mrs. Forrer, who says there never has been any serious trouble.

Chief Samuel Elkins upholds Mrs. Forrer's statements. "The only problems we have is with a few individuals. They're either drinking or fighting in the parking lot", says the chief.

It's the chief's opinion that The Cavern keeps the kids off the streets, gives them something to do. "We may have to bar consistent troublemakers," he added.

Mrs. Forrer and Chief Elkins agree that a building in the business area would be most ideal for Cavern headquarters.

If you have any ideas, they'd be welcomed by Mrs. Forrer... and The Cavern.

Mrs. Richard Shumacher of Holland, Michigan, matron of honor, wore a burgundy velvet, floor-length gown with an oval neckline and short sleeves. She carried a cascade of pink roses.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Daniel Bibby of Royal Oak and Miss Marilyn Koral of San Francisco, California. Miss Sarah Howes of Birmingham, the bride's cousin, was a junior bridesmaid. All wore gowns similar to that worn by the matron of honor.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Lenny Sadro of St. Clair Shores. Edward Mall of Ann Arbor, brother of the bridegroom, Jerry Lawrence of St. Clair Shores, and Daniel Bibby of Royal Oak were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Campbell wore a pale blue and silver knit dress, with blue accessories and pink roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a cream lace dress with pink accessories and pink roses.

Some 200 guests from Ohio, Royal Oak, Birmingham, Grosse Pointe, San Francisco, Warren and Northville attended a reception at the church. The reception room featured a floral center piece of white mums, daisies and heather.

Special guests included the bride's grandparents of Detroit.

For her going away outfit the bride chose a white wool dress with a white wool coat.

The newlyweds will live in Detroit.

In Our Town

By JEAN DAY

EVERYTHING IS coming up roses this week for the Our Lady of Victory "Breath of Spring" fashion show to be given at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, February 23 in the church hall.

For several days, though, it seemed to Mrs. William P. McDermott, general chairman, and Mrs. Albert Kalin, co-chairman, that the tremendous tissue paper roses the women of the church had been making all winter to transform the social hall into a spring bower were going to wilt unseen. The store originally scheduled to present the style show had gone out of business.

However, Crowley's of Detroit has agreed to tell the full spring story — and even include "a smattering of summer." As the result of an Action Line appeal by one of Flo McDermott's committee, Mrs. Emme Halstead, Crowley's fashion coordinator, will commemorate the show in which the complete silhouette line — in coats, dresses, suits — will be shown on professional models.

OPENING the OLV fashion show will be a presentation of styles for the very young by the Little People shop of Northville. Twenty children of the church will show styles described by Mrs. Kingsley Purton.

Also cooperating in the fashion benefit is Rene of Salon Rene. Hair fashions for four adults and two teenagers will be demonstrated. Prizes of the evening will include a wiglet and a $50 gift certificate. Tickets for the fashion showings and dessert are available from women of the church at $1.50 and 50 cents for children 16 and under.

A VALENTINE TEA and fashion show will mark the ninth birthday of the Northville State Hospital auxiliary at 1:30 p.m. next Tuesday (Valentine's Day) in the A cafeteria of the main building. The fashion show will be given by patients who have been sewing at weekly sessions directed by three auxiliary members.

Mrs. Robert Lang, auxiliary president, announces that the birthday program will include a progress report on the chapel now under construction. This is to be given by Father Lederman, N.S.H. Catholic Chaplain. At Christmas, Mrs. Lang reports, the auxiliary donated $500 to the chapel fund, bringing its total gifts to $1,500.

Mrs. Charles Rattliff, tea chairman, is being assisted by Mrs. Charles Fountain and Mrs. Jack Doheny, who are doing the hearts-and-flowers decorations. Presiding at the tea services will be Mrs. Dewey Horning, past president, Mrs. Philip Nauman, Mrs. George Schueder and Mrs. Kendall Kaufman.

Let's you think the auxiliary is a social organization, note Mrs. Lang's tally that 65 auxiliary volunteers worked 547 hours at the hospital in December.)

THE FUN of a New Orleans - type Mardi Gras costume ball has been chosen by the Plymouth Theatre guild as its theme for a winter party to be given Saturday, February 18, at the American Legion hall in Northville. The guild is inviting Northville and Plymouth friends and "just everyone in these communities who likes a costume-party good time" to join the party from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Mrs. James McNeiece of Northville, a guild member who has starred in many of the group's plays, is handling local arrangements and has a limited number of tickets available at $7 a couple. They also are on sale at Salon

Rene and by Mrs. Denis Schwarz, 349-3129. The Monterays, a quartet which has just finished a two-year club engagement in Detroit, will play. Jerry Richards of Plymouth is soloist for the group.

The midnight supper will feature hot roast beef. Set-ups will be furnished. A highlight of the party will be prizes for outstanding costumes.

GARDEN CLUB members, whose love of living greenery brings them together, turn their attention to house plants when the weather registers sub-zero.

Members of the Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association will hear an expert tell how to acquire that green thumb with house plants at their Valentine tea program to be given at 12:30 p.m. Monday in the Presbyterian church fellowship hall.

Mrs. Reuben Jensen will be hostess for the meeting with Mrs. R. Douglas Lorenz in charge of tea arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Paul Hughes, Mrs. Howard Whipple and Mrs. Paul Schulz.

Mrs. Herbert Dyer of Detroit, a lecturer on many phases of horticulture for the Michigan division, National Farm and Garden association, will be the speaker. Her talk will stress the ease and care in growing of house plants. She has promised to bring her own examples, including African violets and some not-so-familiar old-fashioned plants. At the conclusion of the program these "valentines" will be shared with lucky members.

NORTHVILLE SENIOR Citizens club has scheduled a business meeting, program and refreshments for Valentine's Day — 7:30 p.m. Tuesday — in the scout-recreation building. Mrs. Beatrice Carlson is in charge of the program, which was arranged by last year's program committee.

The new program chairman is Mrs. John Blackburn. Other committee appointments announced by Merritt Meaker, president of the club which is starting the new club year with 161 active members, are:

Lee Eaton, trips; Howard Fuller, transportation; Mrs. C. N. Ely, social; Mrs. Percy Angove, cards; Mrs. Hattie Angell, registration; John Blackburn, bowling; Mrs. Marie Travis, scrapbook. Mrs. H. A. Boyden, retiring president, will be publicly chairman. On her retirement the club presented Mrs. Boyden with a floral arrangement in appreciation of her efforts toward its record growth.

SHADBROOK SUBDIVISION'S third annual progressive dinner also will have a valentine motif. Mrs. Lawrence Finney, party chairman, reports that she has 62 reservations for the party this Saturday evening.

In what has become a generous tradition, five couples will open their homes to host dinner courses while those attending make a donation to the Northville State Hospital.

Hosts this year are the Edward Taubs, cocktails; Robert Harrison, soup-and-salad; Larry Robertsons, main course; Jack Doheny, dessert; and the John Stuarts, after-dinner. Assisting Mrs. Finney with arrangements are Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Donald Hagge.

NORTHVILLE SKIERS compensate the shoveling at home by enjoying the hills of white whenever they can. Last week end the Herbert Westons skied the slopes at Boyne Mountain and visited Petoskey. The Richard Huston family of Brookland Farms also skied at Boyne Mountain.

Nearer home, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Fountain and the Virgil Matheuses and their families chose the hills at Brighton ski club, which is attracting so many area residents.

Conser's Open Their Hearts, Doors to Homeless Children

CONSER'S AND THEIR FOSTER CHILDREN

A Northville couple has been chosen the Catholic Social Services of Washtenaw County's "Foster Parents of the Year".

They are Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Conser of 16240 Northville road, Northville township. Their selection was made by the Foster Parents Group at a recent meeting of the club.

The Conser's are one of the first foster families to be licensed through Catholic Social Services. In addition to being foster parents to many children whose natural parents are either temporarily or permanently unable to care for them, the Conser's have raised nine children of their own.

They also have many grandchildren living in the area.

According to club officials, the Conser's "are the kind of people who go through life helping others in a quiet sort of way. They aren't 'joiners' but give of themselves on a one-to-one basis."

In the public area, however, the Conser's also have contributed. Each year Mr. Conser is a collector for the Archdiocesan Development Fund, while Mrs. Conser bakes cakes and helps with suppers at Our Lady of Victory Church in Northville.

Mrs. Conser also served as chairman of the Torch Drive in Northville six years ago, and she has been an active Red Cross Grey Lady.

The Conser's are always busy helping people. For example, two friends of theirs immigrated from Puerto Rico last fall and had to leave their two oldest children in Puerto Rico when they came to the United States. They assisted their friends to work through the immigration department's details and regulations and the children were reunited with their parents this past Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Conser have contributed to the agency in many other ways besides foster parenting. "Mr. Conser worked in the agency remodeling and renovating, spending evenings and weekends," officials said. "They have been responsible for referring individuals in need of counselling service to the agency for professional help."

The Foster Parents Club selected the Conser's unanimously according to these three criteria:

- Length of service with Catholic Social Services, in Washtenaw county,
- Flexibility and cooperation in working with the agency.
- Amount of service rendered to the community and to the agency.

Licensed with the agency since 1963, they have cared for nine newborns for various lengths of time, two unmarried mothers, one toddler, one physically handicapped child who has shown marked and progressive improvement, and two handicapped children described as "dull" and "unadoptable" by the hospital in that period.

"The Conser home is located in a large, woodsy setting on the outskirts of Northville. The home is a charming, older residence ideally suited for a large family."

In recalling the Conser's immediate response for help, one social worker remembers when she called the Conser's looking for an immediate home for a teenager. Mrs. Conser said, "bring him right over - our home is always open."

"More recently, they were called at midnight about an emergency infant placement. The result - another child accepted with no questions at 2 a.m. This again reveals the professional way in which the Conser's work in cooperation with the agency. At any hour of the day or night, with or without notice, and whatever the difficulties the child might have, the Conser's are ready with love and a home."

It is this kind of human compassion that results in the common practice at the agency, when the foster care workers are looking for a placement for a "problem", to say: "The Conser's would be the ideal home."

TOP POSTERS-"All of them were outstanding", Mrs. Harold Hartley said upon judging posters made by Our Lady of Victory students to publicize the upcoming OLY fashion show. The three top winning posters, shown here, were made by Connie Mohr (center), first; Patti Johnston (top), second; and Ren VanEe (bottom), third. Those receiving honorable mention were Cecile Olewnik, Sandra Hartshorne, Jackie Hartner, Debbie Mullen, and Susan Olynczak.

MOTHERS CLUB TEA-Over 50 guests attended the Novi Mothers club tea held Tuesday morning and afternoon at the community building. Shown here enjoying coffee, cookies and conversation are (l-r) Superintendent Tom Dale, Mrs. Royal Snow, Mrs. Ester McDonough, Orchard Hills school principal, and Mrs. James Wilenius, club president. Mrs. Snow is a charter member of Novi Mothers club. Chairman of the committee that arranged the tea was Mrs. Edward Olah.

SERVICE AWARD-Mrs. Robert Arlan, 1966 winner of the Northville Jaycette Community Appreciation Award for her service to the community, was presented with an engraved plaque at a meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce last week by Jaycettes president Mrs. Charles Ely, Jr.

PRACTICE - Getting in some practice for their upcoming AAUW play to be staged in Plymouth Saturday, are Mrs. David VanHine (left) and Mrs. Charles Heiney.

AAUW Plans Fairy Tale Play Next Saturday

A stage adaptation of Hans Christian Andersen's famous fairy tale, "The Princess and The Pea," promises to delight youngsters from the Plymouth, Northville, Livonia area on Saturday, February 18.

The Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women will present this popular story in original dramatic form in the Plymouth high school auditorium. Performances will be given at 9:30 a.m., 11:00 a.m., 1:00 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. The hour-long play is geared to the interest of the four to nine year old child.

Tickets have always been sold out early for past productions, so it is advisable to purchase them early. They are now on sale in the Plymouth and Northville schools. Tickets may also be purchased by calling Mrs. Conrad Krankel at 453-4454, Mrs. Richard Doherty at 453-2626, or Mrs. John Campbell at 427-8941.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING-Discussing state Democratic politics with Gerald Freedman, Farmington chairman, and James Haas, Novi Democratic delegate (right), is State Democratic Chairman Zolton Ferency. The meeting took place last week in Farmington.

Elderly Housing Zoning Appealed

An appeal to the township board by Attorney James Littell for reconsideration of action taken by the planning commission resulted in a referral back to planners by the township board Tuesday night.

Specifically, Littell, who was representing Dr. W. E. Gizynski, objected to the failure of the planning commission to rezone the rear portion of some 56 acres on Seven Mile road near Marilyn from R-2 to R-m (multiple dwellings).

Littell reviewed the entire history of the project that dates back to 1962. He noted that the land is not useable for development without sewer facilities and that this installation has now been completed through an agreement between Dr. Gizynski and the township whereby Dr. Gizynski finances the project and receives payback funds from a portion of future tap fees.

The attorney noted that the project, including the sewer installation, has always envisioned construction of a doctors' clinic, professional offices, nursing home and housing for the elderly, who would receive treatment from the clinic.

Littell pointed out that the final approved plat had received the recommendation of the township's planning consultant and that the rezoning request had been given a public hearing in November. He said objections had not been strong and that there had been no discussion of deleting the request for R-M zoning in the rear of the property for elderly housing. He said this point was first raised at planning meetings in December and January.

In action taken January 31 the planners recommended to the township board that "office services" rezoning be permitted in the front portion of the land on Seven Mile road and that R-M be granted on the portion to include the nursing home. But the planners deleted the northerly 1,620 feet, earmarked for multiple dwellings. It remains zoned R-2, single family residential.

Littell said this action grants use of 15 acres of the area for development. He said the rear 16 acres cannot be used because of fall-off and that the center 25 acres, where multiples were planned, are now unusable because of the failure to rezone.

He said the project was consistent with long-range township planning, that it was not harmful to surrounding area and that it had the approval of the township's planning consultant. He asked the board to use its authority to grant the rezoning.

Planners had rejected the rear area R-M zoning because of possible traffic problems.

In their rejection of the R-M zoning planners noted that the land was "a very narrow parcel, penetrating deep into the section... which would become a traffic problem... and would preempt zoning of the area... which is now established for single family zoning."

The board agreed to refer the matter back to planners for reconsideration.

Dr. Gizynski appeared at the meeting and told board members that the project would cost some $5 million dollars and would require several years to complete.

In other business the board denied a request to reduce bond requirements for Earl McIntosh for landfill of Glen Meadows, approved three dust treatment application for unpaved roads next summer, approved one-fourth payment of cost of crossing guards at Moraine school (but called for a review of this practice with the school system) and upheld planning commission action denying a petition from Crew's Die Casting Corporation for permission to operate a landfill at Waterford Lake.

Moraine Opens Smoothly After Lengthy Delay

Opening of the new Moraine elementary school, located on Eight Mile road west of Taft, came off pretty smoothly last week after a lengthy delay, Principal Milton Jacobi reported.

Some 250 children and 10 teachers are occupying the greater portion of the still incomplete building, with 100 kindergartners tentatively scheduled to move in by the end of the month, he said.

Presently, the kindergartners are attending classes at Amerman school where other Moraine-bound pupils had attended until transfer last week.

Jacobi, in a special bulletin to parents, has asked that they call the school prior to picking up their youngsters because of temporary parking problems at the new school.

Mrs. Forrer Appointed

The appointment of Mrs. Gordon Forrer, 46995 West Main, to the Northville recreation commission has been announced by R. D. Merriam, commission chairman.

The commission, which oversees the community recreation program now directed by Robert Prom, is composed of two city, two township and one school board representative. Merriam said all members of the commission had agreed to the appointment of Mrs. Forrer and that it would become official at a recreation meeting later this month.

News Around Northville

Rev. Charles F. King, wife Jean, and three children Karen, David and Gayle have returned to La Paz, Bolivia after spending five weeks on furlough. Rev. King has spent four years under assignment from the National Council of Churches serving the only English speaking church in La Paz. He returns for another 16 months. Part of his vacation was spent here in Northville visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. King of 19911 Woodhill.

David Hay, son of David Hay of Northville, graduated from Bowling Green State university, Bowling Green, Ohio, on January 28 with an MA degree.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Konrad returned during last Thursday's snowstorm from a flying trip to Los Alamos, New Mexico, where they visited Mr. Konrad's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Gordon E. Hansen. His sister is recuperating from a serious automobile accident.

Mrs. James McNelece of 20145 Woodhill drive gave two humorous monologues on behalf of the Plymouth Theatre Guild for the program of the Newcomers club of Plymouth luncheon which was held at Lofy's, February 2.

Ceramic works by two Northville teachers will be on display through February 26 in the Michigan Craftmen's council exhibition at the Bloomfield Art association gallery in Birmingham.

Several ceramic works are entered by Roy Pederson, Northville high school art teacher, and William Case, grade school art teacher.

The exhibit, which includes entries in glass, metal, textiles and wood as well as ceramics, will be open from 2-5 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday.

A testimonial dinner honoring Llewellyn S. Hughes of Livonia will be held at the Masonic Temple in Plymouth on Saturday, February 11.

Hosts for the occasion are the Royal Arch Masons of Plymouth. A special invitation to Masons from Northville has been issued.

Officers of the Northville Newcomers club met at the home of Mrs. Robert Cartwright, social chairman, on Wednesday morning, February 1 to make plans for their annual couple's bowling party.

The bowling party will take place at Northville Lanes on Saturday, February 25 at 7:15 p.m. The group plans to bowl three games and then all are invited to the Robert Cartwright home, 47000 Seven Mile road for refreshments. Persons wishing to attend are asked to call Mrs. Hal Axtel at 349-5959.

Patients Fete Mother To-Be

In the two years that Mrs. Lucinda McQueen of Novi worked at the Novi Convalescent Home, 26245 Novi road, she became a favorite of the elderly patients there.

So it was only natural when it was announced that she was expecting her first baby, these same patients were elated and wanted to show their joy over the upcoming event.

Turning to Mrs. Donald Haney, administrator of the home, for assistance, the patients planned and perfectly executed a baby shower. Mrs. McQueen was invited back to the home last week for the special occasion, receiving the congratulations and inexpensive but meaningful gifts from her elderly friends during a two hour party that included cake, ice cream and bingo.

Clarenceville Wins Prelude to League

"It was good for wrestling, good for the kids."

In those words Jack Townsley, Northville wrestling coach, summed up Saturday's wrestling activities that saw Northville, Clarenceville, Clarkston and Bloomfield Hills hook up in the precursor to a Wayne-Oakland league.

Competition among league schools will begin next year, Townsley said, with the four schools attending Saturday's quadrangular forming the nucleus. Brighton will also floor a mat team and there are possibilities of others, Townsley reported.

Aside from a regular schedule of wrestling matches, the W-O will hold its first formal tournament, although a trophy was awarded Saturday to the

Schoolcraft To Host Musicians

The two-piano team of Allen Shaffer and Albert Travis will present a recital at 11 a.m. today (Thursday), in the library at Schoolcraft college. The program is open to the public.

Shaffer, a member of the college music faculty, is organist and choir master at St. John's Episcopal church, Plymouth, and is presently a doctoral student at the University of Michigan.

Travis, formerly on the Schoolcraft faculty, is now devoting himself fulltime to graduate study at the University of Michigan. The two pianists appeared with the Plymouth Symphony last October when they performed the Poulenc Concerto for Two Pianos.

Programmed for the library recital are two groups of compositions for two pianos: Allemande by Couperin; Sheep May Safely Graze, a transcription from a Bach cantata; Fugue in D Minor, from Bach's The Art of Fugue; and Mendelssohn's Rondo Capriccioso.

The piano duets, in which the players will perform on one piano, are also on the program. They are: Liebeslieder Waltzes by Brahms, and Ravel's Mother Goose Suite.

winner, Clarenceville.

The Trojans tallied 192 points, 19 more than Northville. Bloomfield Hills scored 70 points for third place and Clarkston 61.

Due to the fact that they didn't meet required weight classes, Marty Richardson (Northville's lone undefeated fighter) and Bob Baber did not compete.

First place winners were Chuck Keegan, 95 pounds, Tom Wright, 120, and Heavyweight Dan Conklin.

Northville had a host of second place winners, including Jim Armstrong, 103; Chuck Olewnik, 112; Curt Olewnik, 127; John Tam, 133, a transfer student; Don Sass, 138; Dale Ashby 154, and Bob Beason, 180. Winning Northville's lone third was Rick Suckow, 145.

In a duel meet last Thursday, Northville pulverized visiting Redford Union, 31-13, to boost its season record to 7-4 with four matches remaining on the schedule.

Keegan, 130, Curt Olewnik, 133, and Ashby, 145, pinned their men to win five points apiece. Richardson, 120, Sass, 138, Beason, 180, and Heavyweight Conklin won by decision. Gron-din, 95, and Al Earehart fought their men to a draw.

8th Grade Paces Novi Cage Teams

Novi's eighth graders are the winningest team in Novi with a 4-3 record. In their most recent outing, the eighth grade beat Milford Highland, 42-34, with Tom Boyer scoring 20 points.

The Novi ninth grade, which also plays junior varsity games with teams made up of freshmen and sophomores, sports a 4-7 record. Northville's frosh edged Novi Monday, 75-62. Pacing Novi in the hard fought game were Rick Dale, Doug Schott and Rick Hill, all with 15 points.

The Novi varsity has a 1-6 record, and the seventh grade is winless in seven starts.

RACING TROPHY - Lloyd Spencer (right) of Northville accepts a trophy from Charles Coon, secretary and treasurer of the Michigan Harness Horseman, at the annual banquet held in Detroit recently. Spencer owns Sunny Fortune, two-year-old of Michigan champion trotter, winner of 20 races last year with earnings of over $18,000.

Northville Sets Eye On JV League Title

Like their varsity mates, the Northville Colts will go to the post tomorrow night against Clarkston in an effort to pull a title out of the fire.

Coach Bob Kucher's JV's will have to upend Clarkston, the leader of the mythical junior varsity derby in the Wayne-Oakland Conference. Clarkston reportedly has a 10-0 mark; Northville is 8-2 in the league.

Clarkston beat Northville, 66-59, in the first game at Clarkston in a game conspicuous for fouls, especially by Northville. Clarkston converted 22 of 39 free throws.

The Colts jumped their record to 8-2 by beating two opponents with relative ease within the week.

Brighton provided the stiffest opposition Friday, when it rebounded from a 40-20 halftime deficit and cut the margin to 52-43 at the end of three quarters. But Northville outscored Brighton, 18-12, in the final period to post a 70-55 victory.

An inside-outside combination led the Colts to victory over Brighton. Forward Jeff Taylor, playing low against the zone, scored 23 points, and Guard Stan Nirider, playing his best game of the season, fired 19 points through the nets, primarily from outside. Gregg Carr scored 14 points.

For the third game in a row, the Colts shot better than 80 percent at the foul line, converting 18 of 21 attempts.

Carr and Center Ralph Robinson led the Northville rebounding.

The Colts are now 10-4 overall.

Mustangs Beat Milford; Nip Brighton in Thriller

Two wins within the past week kept Northville's slim title hopes alive in the Wayne-Oakland Conference.

Brighton, a determined ball club, almost sent Northville down for the full count Friday night. But Northville came back twice to eke out a harrowing, 64-61, victory in overtime.

Two identical in-bounds plays in Northville's back court gave Northville the impetus that carried it to victory. With everyone breaking toward the ball (a natural inclination), Captain Jim Zayti turned tail and raced for the Northville basket at the opposite end of the court, took a high arching pass and bagged the layup.

The score was 54-52 Brighton with only seconds left in the game the first time Northville tried it. Zayti's two-pointer tied the game, forcing the overtime.

With the teams fighting frantically for the lead with 1:13 left in the extra period, Zayti once more broke and scored. The play gave Northville a 60-56 lead which Brighton couldn't overcome.

"It was the key play," Coach Dave Longridge said, pointing to Zayti's second break-away score.

For the Mustangs, coming from behind is nothing unusual. In the six conference games they have played since Christmas, they have come from behind in four games and narrowly missed duplicating the feat against Clarenceville.

After leading through the first half, Brighton had to put on a comeback of its own in the fourth quarter to wipe out an eight-point Northville lead. The Bulldogs did it by dominating the backboards and getting more than one shot on their offensive board.

"They were bigger than we were," Longridge said. "The more we look at it, the more we've come to realize that we must be the smallest team in the league. Only West Bloomfield is about our size."

Brighton floored a team that averaged 6'3" on the front line, including forwards Randy Needham and Mike Leuker and Center Rick Wellman.

Driving force on the ball club, however, was Guard Larry Loramie, who paced the Brighton attack with 22 points. His elusive dribbling and ball hawking provided the spark that almost brought victory to Brighton.

Through the first half, Northville fell behind Brighton and had difficulty in sustaining an attack, just as in the Clarenceville game. Brighton led, 18-15, at the end of the first quarter and 27-24 at halftime.

Forward Glenn Deibert, Zayti and Peterson teamed up in the third quarter, however, to send Northville into a 39-35 lead at the end of the period. Zayti scored six points, Deibert five and Peterson four in the frame.

Northville threatened to break the game wide open at the beginning of the fourth period as Zayti scored two successive baskets for a 43-35 lead. But Brighton then began its rugged backboard play and finally forged ahead, 50-49, on Needham's rebound shot. Only 24 seconds remained in the game.

Peterson tied the score at 50-all with a jump shot, but Loramie dribbled half court for a layup to once more give Brighton the lead. Zayti then scored on his first in-bounds play to tie the game at 52-all with only five seconds on the clock.

Brighton called time out to set up a potential winning shot, but Northville pressed in Brighton's back court to tick off vital seconds and Loramie's last-ditch shot caromed off the rim, sending the game into overtime.

Loramie scored off the tip for a 54-52 Brighton lead, and Deibert drove moments later for the tying bucket. Then, with Northville pressing, Peterson intercepted a pass and scored for a 56-54 lead.

Wellman got the equalizer on a rebound, but Guard Joe Andrews dribbled in from the free throw line to score and when Brighton failed to score and knocked the ball out of bounds, Zayti fired in the break away bucket to give Northville a 60-56 lead, which it preserved.

A string of nine points in a row at the beginning of the fourth quarter gave Northville the impetus it needed to defeat visiting Milford, 67-56, Tuesday night.

With Northville leading 49-43, Center Jim Peterson ignited the splurge by scoring on a layup. Joe Andrews scored on a baseline drive, Glenn Deibert flipped in a jump shot, Captain Jim Zayti added a free throw and followed with a dog shot before Milford could score.

Northville extended its lead to as many as 16 points in the period, and Milford, scrapping all the way, just couldn't overcome the lead.

Until the outbreak, Northville had difficulty gathering its forces. The Mustangs, in fact, had to come from behind to wipe out a four-point deficit in the second quarter. They led 31-25 at halftime.

Zayti hit for 24 points, followed by Peterson with 16 and Nelson Hyatt with 10.

Fouls crippled Milford's attack. Forward Don Hill, the Redskins' top scorer, sat out most of the second half with four fouls and quickly garnered his 5th when he returned to action late in the fourth period.

Sparkling the Milford scrapping offense was 5'6" Guard Bob McFarland, who stole the ball repeatedly to keep Milford in the game.

W-O Championship Up for Grabs Friday

Can anybody beat Clarkston? Is there a way to stop Dan Fife? Who will be the champion of the Wayne-Oakland Conference?

All of these questions will be answered tomorrow, Friday, night when the Clarkston Wolves invade the Northville high school gymnasium to play Northville.

Starting time for what most people consider the game of the season in the W-O is 8 p.m.

For Northville, it will be the last chance to avenge an earlier, humiliating, 84-49, loss to Clarkston and the last chance to salvage a remote chance of gaining a tie for the league title.

Unbeaten on the season and in league play, Clarkston is sporting 10-0 league mark. Northville, 8-2, is holding firm to second place.

If Northville wins, it will have an outside chance to catch Clarkston - providing another team defeats Clarkston and Northville wins its three remaining loop games.

Victory would ensure Clarkston a tie for the conference title. Clarkston would be 11-0 and Northville 8-3.

To win, Northville will have to do what no other team has done this season - stop Fife. He has led the Wolves on a rampage of victories (11 in all) by scoring 33 points per game and directing the attack.

In their previous clash, Northville held Fife to a mere nine points in the first half, but against reserves, Fife went berserk, scoring 21 points in the second half and finishing with 30. When Fife wasn't scoring, he was leading Clarkston's devastating fast break.

Fife's not the only ball player on Clarkston's team as Northville found out in the first encounter. In their anxiety to cover the Clarkston ace, the Mustangs slacked off against Guards Tom Allen and Randy Nicholson, who pumped from 10 to 15 feet and garnered 18 and 13 points, respectively.

Furthermore, Northville will have to contend with Mark Richard, a 6'4" center, who, along with Fife, led Clarkston in dominating the boards in the previous game with Northville.

"We're going to be patient," Coach Dave Longridge slated. "We're going to wait and see. We're not going to force it. And we'll have to get our share of the backboards."

Clarkston downed Clarenceville, 69-54, last Friday, but the game was close until the closing minutes, Longridge said. Fife got 34 points.

In other games played in the W-O Friday, Bloomfield Hills continued to show signs of rounding into top shape as it walloped Holly, 72-53, and Milford squeezed past West Bloomfield, 67-62.

fence bordering the property, London secured a search warrant from Justice Anderson Monday morning.

His search later Monday disclosed two dead goats on the second floor of the barn, two on the first floor and the dead pony in a field south of the house and barn.

Besides the dead animals, the Hamiltons own 31 other horses, two dogs and nine pigs which also are kept on the property.

Orville Hamilton, according to London, said he had been feeding the 32 horses eight bales of hay daily. "A single horse," London said, "could easily eat a bale a day."

London said the other animals "didn't look too good", but the pigs seemed a lot healthier than the 59 he saw on the farm last summer. At that time David Hamilton had insisted they were well fed. He had been feeding them grass and water taken from a nearby drainage ditch.

"These pigs get all they want to eat. Once a day I cut grass for 'em," he said upon his arrest last summer.

During his investigation last summer — the hottest day of the year up to that point — London also found several dogs chained inside the barn, which he said were obviously underfed. None had water.

According to London, the farm property on which the animals are kept is owned by the Rosann Investment company of Toledo, Ohio. "The brothers told me they had just received an eviction notice because the property is to be subdivided, so I guess they'll be leaving."

David Hamilton lives in Plymouth. His brother has been living in the house on the Novi farm property.

Slaps City for 'Poor' Snow Removal

To the Editor:

I cannot sit quiet any longer I must speak out about the snow removal here in Northville. Having just recently moved into Northville from the north I am really shocked and somewhat bemused at the antiquated, halfhearted or simply improper system of snow removal here in town. I am not an expert in heavy equipment or profess to know all the problems encountered by the public works department. However, I can see a problem involving the public safety. The streets have not been properly plowed out, another heavy snow and I daresay we'll be in a real pickle! Fire equipment may have problems getting to a fire let alone finding all the hydrants, unpainted, blocked by snow.

School children are forced to walk in the streets for lack of a sidewalk. Using brushes for snow seems like a costly inefficient manner of sidewalk snow removal. The city of Mt. Pleasant, Michigan has two small Ford tractors with V plows at sidewalk width which they use to keep sidewalks open. The city has a road grader which if properly equipped with a dozer blade in front, a 10' or 12' wing on the side, a deeper blade in the middle could, with experienced operator, open our streets and keep them that way. Perhaps proper plows on city dump trucks would be better.

One fire untamed — one person struck down in the street due to a lack of a sidewalk, and the money NOT spent for city owned equipment will seem a trifle.

Let's take that hard look at the city problem. Let's get city owned equipment that can do the job of snow removal and be used in other seasons as well. A city ordinance rigidly enforced 12 months of the year prohibiting on street parking is needed. This is paramount if you expect to be plowed out before everyone starts to work.

Of vital concern to the public safety of our citizenry is the proper, quick and efficient removal of snow from city streets. Let's not expect anything less.

Republicans to Hold Lincoln Day Potluck

Northville area Republicans are invited to attend a "Lincoln Day" potluck supper to be held on Sunday, February 12 at 5 p.m. in the Northville Community Building.

The supper is being sponsored by the Greater Northville Republican Club to provide an opportunity for Republicans in this area to meet one another and enjoy a social evening together.

Mrs. Betty Wilcox, dinner chairman, notes that the whole family is invited and suggests that those attending bring their own dinnerware and one dish to pass for each two people in the family. The club will provide hot coffee.

William F. McLaughlin, vice chairman of Republican State central committee and a candidate for re-election to that post, will deliver the keynote address. McLaughlin, a resident of Northville, served as general chairman of the Republican election campaign last year. He is credited with having had a principle role in restoring unity to the party after the 1964 election defeats.

Louis Schmidt, newly elected Republican state representative, and Republican Senator George Kuhn will also be present to meet and talk with those in attendance on an informal basis. Newly elected Congressional District Chairmen, Mrs. Delores Corey of the 19th, and E. O. Weber of the 2nd, will also be introduced, along with other city and township officials.

Leonard Klein will serve as master of ceremonies.

Dislikes Publicity

To the Editor:

Now that some calm has been restored re: the dope incident, I wish to make some observations. I too feel that the reaction of the local press, and the school and city officials was way out of proportion in relation to the facts of the case. A case in point, which reflected over-reaction bordering on hysteria, was in printing a picture showing marijuana confiscated in another city. By what stretch of the facts could this have been relevant to the actual situation here in Northville? In sum, the effect upon the local citizenry could not help but be somewhat panic-inducing, considering the total PUSH made in reporting the incident.

It is not a question of having to deal with the problem, publicizing the seriousness of the matter, and doing something about it. The extent and magnitude of the response is what is disconcerting. One could not help feeling that it could have been handled more soberly and with greater concern for the possible effect the exaggerated furor might have on both the youngsters involved and their parents. All in all, as towns and cities go, the citizens — and their offspring — of Northville are a decent lot. The publicity given the dope incident can best be described as a job of "overkill."

Other commitments prevented me from attending the January 26th meeting at which the film "Youth in a Fix" was shown. I am in favor of such showing in that the youngsters may be induced to reflect upon the harmful end results of flirting with dangerous drugs. I believe that the school should now follow up its campaign against harmful substances by showing two more films: one that shows the physical damage that may result to the lungs and other body systems by smoking tobacco, and the damage to the brain and liver that may result from ingesting alcohol. Though we adults are less than paragons of virtue with regard to smoking and drinking, and though we may be shown to be somewhat hypocritical to be inveighing against these harmful practices, nevertheless we should be consistent by showing that alcohol and tobacco smoking can also be harmful to the individual's health, as are addictive drugs.

Snow, Ice Doesn't Stop Area Mothers March

Despite heavy snows that hampered some collections, area communities reported "good results" in the annual March of Dimes campaign that concluded last week Tuesday.

Mrs. James Wilenius, who echoed the sentiments of other area chairmen, said she was "real proud of the job done" by participating Novi mothers. Collections totaled $325.88 in Novi.

Wixom-Walled Lake Chairman Mrs. R. W. King reported collections of $1,269.80 in the combined communities of Wixom, Walled Lake and Commerce township.

Response to a call for solicitors in Wixom was poor, she admitted, but "hopefully we'll have more volunteers next year." Persons who may wish to join the March in Wixom next year are asked to call her or the Pontiac campaign headquarters, FE 8-0411, now, Mrs. Hiram Pacific, Northville's Mothers March chairman, said the response in her area was good. She reported total collections of $1,027.66.

In addition to this money, $100 was raised through a dance, sponsored by the Northville Cavern teen club, and $35.73 from a faculty basketball game, the American Legion's March of Dimes representative, John Steimel said. March of Dimes canisters have not yet been collected.

WILL THIS YEAR'S NEW CARS BE THE BEST BUY OF ALL TIME?
They may well be — for two big reasons.
Both have a strong effect on the price tag.
They are the new safety features to be built into next year's models and up-coming demands of labor unions for higher wages.
Singly, either could normally trigger a price increase. Combined, they make a substantial price rise next year virtually inevitable.
In addition, inflation is continuing to raise the cost of all things in our economy. This year alone the Consumer Price Index rose 3.3 percent, the greatest increase since 1957.
United Auto Workers demands this Fall call for a substantial wage rise over the previous agreement.
The single most costly safety innovation — and one being most researched by the Auto Industry concerned with increased manufacturing costs — is the so-called "Swearingen" dashboard.
The principle of constructing the dashboard calls for extrathin gauge steel covered by thick padding to absorb impact energy.
In addition, anti-smog devices due on next year's models, are slated to add $40 a car to prices.
You don't have to be a clairvoyant to realize that prices under strong inflationary pressure are due to rise next year.
This year's new cars could indeed be the best dollar value of all time. Buy wisely from a reputable, service-minded dealer.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Pastor Fred Neal
Salem Congregational Church

I thank my God upon every remembrance of you. Philippians 1:3

Webster defines memory as "the power of the mind to retain knowledge of past events". While the degree of the ability to recall past events varies with individuals, all have some degree of memory. Personally, I believe that our "memories" are a gift of God and not a product of a vague evolutionary process.

The Apostle Paul in writing to the Philippians church had pleasant memories concerning them. Remembering them he paused and thanked God for them. The relationship which they enjoyed was a very close one as evidenced by what Paul wrote in Phil. 4:15 "Now ye Philippians know also that in the beginning of the gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no church communicated with me concerning giving and receiving, but ye only". The people of Philippi had stood by Paul and supported him when apparently all others had forgotten him. Little wonder Paul could write, "I thank my God upon every remembrance of you". All his memories concerning them were pleasant ones.

By the first of March I will have moved to Fruitport, Michigan, where I will become the pastor of the First Congregational church of that city. I am sure at that time, my wife Janice and our five children will join me in saying concerning the congregation at the Salem church, "We thank our God upon every remembrance of you". We have many friends and loved ones to whom we will find it difficult to say "good-bye".

It has been a real pleasure working with a group of believers whose stated constitutional purpose is primarily to win the lost to Jesus Christ; preach the gospel of the grace of God; to maintain public worship; to study and teach the whole council of God; to administer the New Testament ordinances; to defend the faith once for all delivered to the saints; to encourage a deepening of the spiritual life in every believer in Christ; to encourage the cause of missions in compliance with Christ's commandment to evangelize the world; and to exert as far as possible a christian and moral influence in the surrounding community.

With these thoughts in mind as we prepare to depart from Salem we are confident that our memories concerning Salem and our friends here will be pleasant ones. So to all of you at the Salem Congregational Church we say once more; "We thank our God upon every remembrance of you".

At Northville

Presbyterian Church Appoints 2nd Minister

A second, full-time minister will join the First Presbyterian Church of Northville early in May, church officials announced this week.

He is Mr. Timothy C. Johnson, presently a senior student at the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, who will assume the title here as assistant minister of education and youth work upon graduation late in May. He will assist the Rev. Lloyd Brasure.

Mr. Johnson will be the first full-time assistant assigned to the local church. Previously, student ministers had worked part-time during summer months. For the last several years Mrs. Florence Schulz has served as part-time Christian Education director.

A native of Harbor Beach, Michigan where his father, the Rev. Charles Johnson, is pastor of the Presbyterian church, Mr. Johnson was graduated—as was his wife, Ann—from Alma College in 1964.

Mrs. Johnson, the former Ann Jeffries, is a native of Manistee.

Mr. Johnson was a guest preacher here two weeks ago at which time he was introduced to the congregation.

Area Church Women Plan Prayer Services Friday

World Day of Prayer services are planned in both Northville and South Lyon tomorrow (Friday).

Christian women of the Northville-Novu area will observe World Day of Prayer in a special service at the First Presbyterian church of Northville at 1 p.m., while those from the South Lyon area will hold services at the United Presbyterian Church of South Lyon beginning at 2 p.m.

The Northville service will include participants from the Presbyterian, Methodist and the Willowbrook Community churches. United Church Women chairmen of their respective churches are Mrs. L. M. Eaton, Mrs. Paul Beard and Mrs. Leon Blackburn.

Participants in South Lyon include St. Joseph's Catholic Church, the First Baptist Church of South, New Hudson Methodist Church, the South Lyon Methodist and the Presbyterian church.

In Northville, the service has been observed for nearly 40 years. It was originally sponsored in that community by the Northville Women's Club.

Similar women's groups will be meeting tomorrow in 125 countries on five continents at various times during the 24 hours of the first Friday of Lent.

The service of prayer and worship was prepared by Her Majesty Queen Salote Toupou of the Tonga Islands. The theme for this special service is "Of His Kingdom There Shall be No End."

Women throughout this area, regardless of their Christian beliefs, are encouraged to attend one of these two services. The Presbyterian church in Northville is located at the corner of Main and Church streets. South Lyon's Presbyterian church is located at the corner of Lake and Wells streets.

Bishop to Speak At St. John's Presbyterians Plan Recital Service Here

The Rt. Reverend Archie H. Crowley, D.D., sufragan bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan, will administer the rite of confirmation in St. John's Episcopal Church, 574 South Sheldon road, Sunday afternoon.

Thirty candidates will be presented by the rector, the Rev. Canon David T. Davies and the assistant, the Rev. Robert S. Shank, Jr. at the 4 p.m. service.

Following the service, a reception will be held in honor of the confirmands as well as to afford the people an opportunity to greet Bishop and Mrs. Crowley.

The public is invited to attend.

Rt. Rev. Archie Crowley

Presbyterians Plan Recital Service Here

A special dedication service and recital will be held at the First Presbyterian church of Northville on Sunday beginning at 5 p.m.

Presenting an organ recital will be Samuel Chizmar, who will be introducing the new organ stops and chimes recently added to the church organ.

A memorial dedication also will take place with the introduction of a complete new sound and recording system including tower speakers that project organ chimes into the business district. The dedication is in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Johansen, parents of Mrs. Rolf Batzer, and of Mr. Carl Bryan.

The organ prelude will feature "Now Thank We All Our God" by Bach, followed by a choir anthem, "Almighty God of Our Father" by James.

Other numbers will include: "Carillon" by Sewerby; "Rhythmic Trumpet" by Bingham; "Noel for Flute Stops" by D'Aquin; "Chorale in A Minor" by Franck; Anthem "Beatitudes" by Evans, with choir and featuring baritone soloist, Dean Sanford.

Recital numbers will feature "Three Antiphons on Verses from Song of Solomon by Dupre"; "The Majesty of Christ" by Messiaen; and Toccata in D Minor" by Bevin.

The public is invited to attend.

When Abraham Lincoln sat quietly reading a book, it's doubtful that he ever imagined that one day his giant, brooding statue would be a national landmark, and that he would be known throughout the world.

Basically, Lincoln was a simple man, his nature as essentially rugged and rustic as the log cabin in which he was born. His life, from beginning to end, was a hard one, physically, mentally, and spiritually. Yet, throughout terrible trial, he never lost his faith in God.

Lincoln wasn't "born religious." Faith came to him the hard way, just as everything else did. But once he had found it, his devotion knew no limit. Most of the great men in our country's history have been devoted. Why? Because experience has shown them that no man can go it alone. That we, all of us, need God's guidance.

The place to seek that guidance is in the church of your choice.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

FORM VETS CLUB—In an organizational meeting at the American legion building here Sunday, veterans attending Schoolcraft college organized the Schoolcraft College Veterans association, affiliated with a national organization, and elected officers. The club is the first in Michigan to be formed at the community college level. Made up of veterans with two or more years of service, the primary purpose of the organization is to assist veterans in readjusting to civilian life particularly at the college level. New officers of the club are (l to r) Gary Hinkle, sergeant at arms; Al Goss, treasurer; Robert Kerr, president; and Cass Kershaw, secretary. The vice-president, Joe Koppel, was unable to be present for the picture.

News About Schoolcraft

Introduction of a new two-year cooperative program to train highway technicians for the Wayne County Road Commission and the Michigan State Dept. of Highways was announced this week by Schoolcraft college officials.

The two highway agencies expect to enroll more than 40 employees in the program when the fall semester begins late in August, according to Jon P. Adams, dean of technical-educational instruction.

Most of the students will be recruited from among June, 1967, high school graduates. All will have qualified under either state or county civil service and will be employed by one or the other highway agency before entering the program.

Half of the student highway technicians recruited by the county road commission will spend the first semester of four months in the classroom, while the other half begin a four-month workcycle in a field assignment related to the program. Then the groups will alternate until each student completes four classroom semesters.

Students recruited by the SHD will go to school for two consecutive semesters, then be given a field assignment before returning to class for two more semesters to complete the program. Both highway agencies will pay their student technicians during the work cycles.

While highway technology programs are not new in Michigan - Lansing Community college, cooperating with the SHD, started the first one in 1957 - it is a new venture in southeast Michigan with its sprawling network of highways.

In fact, the growing pressure of highway construction in Wayne County combined with a short supply of civil engineers led to the development of the curriculum at Schoolcraft.

Impetus came from the Wayne County Road Commission, which had watched with interest the operation of the training program at Lansing Community College, and later at Ferris State college and Michigan Technological university.

Austin L. Myers, personnel officer for the road commission, explained the county agency's interest this way:

"Competition for civil engineers is keen. We felt that we could better use the skills and manpower of our professional engineering staff, if we trained a corps of semi-professional technicians who would serve in an important supporting role."

The county road commission now has a staff of 155 civil engineers and some 2500 sub-professional assistants. The commission has responsibility for 750 miles of primary roads, another 950 miles of local roads and 80 miles of freeway. Another 87 miles of freeway are either under construction or on the drawing boards, according to Myers.

As preliminary talks progressed an advisory committee of representatives of the college, the County Road Commission, the SHD and the civil service agencies involved began to work out details. For the program's first year, the SHD expects to enroll 20 to 25 students, the county road commission about 20.

County Road Commission representatives on the advisory committee are Warren J. Worth, assistant highway engineer; Thomas J. Fidge Jr., personnel and public relations officer, and Myers. SHD representatives are John A. Overhouse, training engineer director; and John F. Meyer, training officer.

Jerry Stone, personnel examiner, Michigan Dept. of Civil Service; and H. Richard Rice, chief of recruitment, Wayne County Civil Service Commission, also serve on the committee, and the college is represented by Dean Adams, and Joseph A. Borgen, assistant to Adams.

According to Myers, the County Road Commission will contact student counselors in every public and parochial high school in Wayne County in its recruitment program. Students interested in enrolling will be given civil service examinations to establish an eligibility list for hiring.

"We intend to concentrate on the 1967 high school graduating class," Myers said, "but we will certainly consider any of our present employees who qualify and who want to enter the program."

PHYSICAL EDUCATION—Working drawings are now being developed for a physical education plant—shown here as an architect's model—for Schoolcraft college. The $2,000,000-plus complex will house a main gymnasium to seat upwards of 2,500; an auxiliary gymnasium, swimming pool with a diving area and balcony seating for 400; a wrestling room, handball courts, gymnastics area, classrooms, faculty offices, and other facilities for a complete physical education program.

Schoolcraft Buys Land for Parking

Schoolcraft College trustees Wednesday night (Feb. 1) authorized the purchase of a 4.8 acre tract of land immediately south of the campus from Mr. and Mrs. Volle S. Byrn, 18000 Haggerty road, for $40,000.

The land will be used to develop a parking lot at the south edge of the campus.

The land acquisition was the first since the college purchased its present 139-acre campus site on Haggerty road in August, 1962.

Trustees also awarded a $68,050 construction contract to W. J. Howard and Sons, Inc., Ferndale, for remodeling the former student center to provide office space for the Office of Student Affairs.

In another action, the board authorized opening of the college library on Sunday afternoons for a 12 week period starting February 5, and allocated $500 for salaries for a librarian and an aide to staff the library during the extended hours.

The Byrn property includes a home on a tract that has 170 feet of frontage on Haggerty road and which runs east 1,263 feet. College Business Manager W. K. Lindner said the site gives Schoolcraft land needed to develop a large parking lot at the south edge of the campus adjacent to the sites of a new classroom building, to be opened in the fall of 1968, and the proposed physical education plant.

In addition to staff and visitor parking areas, the college now has only one major parking site for its commuting student body—a paved area for 1,200 cars at the north end of the campus.

Remodeling of the former student center is to begin immediately, Lindner said. Completion is scheduled for May 22. The building will be modified to accommodate offices of the Dean of Student Affairs, offices of admissions, the registrar, counselors, veterans affairs and student placement officers.

The office of student affairs is now housed in the administration building. The present project is one of two remodeling programs scheduled for 1967. The second will modify the administration building to provide needed working and office space for the president's office, the business office and the office of instruction.

Lindner said the second project will begin when the new home for the Office of Student Affairs is completed.

The W. J. Howard & Sons bid was the lowest of four opened by trustees. Other bidders were Smith & Young Construction, Inc., Wayne, $70,556; Degenhart & Daly Construction Co., Inc., Ferndale, $71,000; and Zervos Construction Co., Detroit, $72,600.

Water Pollution Meeting Slated

A project aimed at elimination of stream pollution will be unveiled in a meeting at the First Presbyterian church of Northville Friday evening beginning at 8 p.m.

Featured speaker will be Wayne Denniston, regional sanitation engineer for the Michigan Water Resources Commission, who will discuss ways of combating water pollution in the Northville area.

Jaycees, Boy Scouts and community leaders have been invited to attend. Chairman of the project is Plymouth Jaycee Jerry Hazlett, who with fellow Jaycees and 12 Boy Scouts last year worked two days in cleaning up the bed of the Rouge River near that community.

"We learned one thing in those two days," Hazlett says. "This is a project the entire community should be aware of, and one in which they should help."

Members of the Northville Optimist club have been invited to attend a Father-Son Banquet in Livonia on February 20 as guests of Optimists in that community.

Cheers for MSU Medical School

LANSING—Cheers went up in many quarters recently when the State Board of Education took its second vote and approved expansion of Michigan State University's College of Human Medicine to a degree-granting institution.

Earlier the Board deadlocked on the question, with its dissenting members saying they needed further information before allowing MSU to expand its operation to a four-year curriculum culminating in the medical doctor degree.

The Michigan Health Council was one of several sources which came forth with information hoping to sway the Board toward approval of the MSU request to establish a full medical school.

SOME 140 Michigan communities were listed by the Council as seeking at least one medical doctor and several in many cases. An additional 55 communities notified the Council of a need for some 120 medical specialists to serve in various health facilities.

Most of these requests to the Council's placement service were specifically for medical doctors, noted John Doherty, executive director of the voluntary health organization.

With specific remarks discussing the acceptability of osteopaths in many of these Michigan communities, Doherty asked the State Board to act quickly and independently on MSU's request. This the State Board did.

Another major factor in the minds of those most concerned with the Board's recent action was the future of a new $300 million Detroit Medical Center complex spearheaded by Wayne State University's School of Medicine.

A Wayne group together with representatives of Detroit hospitals put together the Center plan to create a vast core area of facilities for medical care plus teaching and research in the field.

Vastly expanded hospital facilities plus new structures for Wayne's medical school meant that Michigan's already critical need for doctors would be increased as the Medical Center complex was constructed. It would be of little value to have new hospitals without doctors to staff them.

WITH MICHIGAN'S ratio of doctors to population already too low, concern was great that the State Board would withhold approval of MSU's medical school request pending receipt of full plans for an osteopathic college in the state. These plans are not yet complete.

Following the Board's first vote, those concerned with the shortage of medical doctors sought to emphasize that the need for trained medical personnel was a separate question.

Most of the medical profession in Michigan has little quarrel with the osteopaths. Michigan happens to have more osteopaths practicing than most states because it is one of the few states where insurance companies will cover an osteopath's services.

The concern was that the State Board would weigh the osteopathic college request against Michigan State's medical college application and that the already substantial need for M.D.'s would increase because of the delay.

DAR to Honor 'Good Citizens'

The Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will honor this year's Good Citizens at a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Donald Sober on February 20.

The Good Citizens Contest has been on the approved list of national contests and activities of the National Association of Secondary School Principals for the past twenty years and is offered to any public accredited high school that wishes to select its most outstanding senior girl.

The local chapter of DAR will present each of the following girls with a pin and certificate of achievement at this time:

Nancy Larson, Alba high school; Dorothy Minton, Alpena high school; Nancy Lower, Cheboygan high school; Yvonne Edgar, Garden City high school; Kaye Milton, West Senior high school, Garden City; Mary Pehlike, Mackinaw City high school; Lynn Tiilikka, Northville high school; Mary Vallier, Plymouth high school; and Janice Hutchins, South Lyon high school.

A welcome report which could mean more efficient legislative activity this year came from the Republican Senate leadership at the start of the current session.

It would probably strike most casual observers as unimportant and unnecessary. Majority leader Emil Lockwood simply said he would not approve any blanket excuses for absences from sessions.

In previous years when the roll was called, the absentees were listed and the Majority Leader would propose to excuse all absentees from that day's session.

Obviously there is no precedent for this kind of activity in private business or industry.

LOCKWOOD'S POSITION, although possibly prompted by the fact that his party holds a slim 20-18 majority in the Senate, simply means that each Senator is responsible for being present every day unless he is either ill or away on official business.

With all the talk in recent years about lawmaking being a full-time job in Michigan it just makes sense that the legislators should all be conscientious about being on tap to work, as other businessmen are expected to be.

True, most legislators have been regular in attendance but the absentees frequently were chronic in the habit and Lockwood's removal of the blanket excuse should do much to eliminate this malady.

'High Living' Hurts Nation's Economy

BABSON PARK, Mass. — Babson's Business and Financial Forecast for 1967 warned readers that some of the greatest dangers in 1967 might develop in the foreign economic field. With the first month of the year only now gone, it is possible to get a clearer glimpse of the likely trouble spots. Foremost among these are international financial difficulties. Strangely enough, the cause of these is to be found right here at home.

A nation, just like a person, may fall into financial hot water. The citizen who spends more than he earns may get by for a while by adding to his current income from savings. But when he has exhausted his assets, he must either borrow, or cut back on his way of living. And if he borrows while continuing his unbalanced budget, it will not be long before his credit becomes worthless. Then he has to toe the line, or go bankrupt.

Since a nation is far more complex than an individual, it takes much longer before a country, living beyond its means, reaches the end of its financial rope. The U.S. still has a lot of that rope left. However, we do live in a community of Free World nations who subscribe to the capitalistic rules of earnings statements and balance sheets. Hence, our failure to live within our means as a body politic for 16 of the past 17 years is raising more and more suspicion among other nations.

Well, you say, if we have been getting away with such high living for such a long time, why should we run into big trouble in 1967? Why didn't we last year ... or why not next year, perhaps? The answer lies in a bunching this year of unfavorable financial trends and attitudes in our relations with other nations of our Free World community.

First and foremost is the Viet war. With half a million men in Southeast Asia, we are forced to spend a great deal more for foreign materials ... in Japan for instance. Additional defense outlays abroad for 1967 will run half a billion dollars above 1966. With air fares abroad sharply cut and the attraction of EXPO 67 in Montreal, U.S. tourists should add almost as much as the war to 1967 foreign spending. We may make some net gains from exports of goods; but with imports also piling higher, with foreign investments likely to rise, and with lower interest rates in the U.S. raising doubt as to other countries' keeping their accounts here, our deficit in international payments for 1967 may hit $3 billion or more. This would follow last year's big bulge in our foreign-payments deficit of more than $1 billion.

IT IS NO WONDER that our Free World neighbors are moving ever closer to drawing a line around our international financial activities. This may be the year they will do it; for the opportunity exists in two cases. First, England must repay a billion dollars to the International Monetary Fund in December. Since the U.S. is in debt to the Fund, Great Britain cannot use dollars to meet her debt. She will have to use currencies of countries not indebted to the Fund. This will certainly embarrass the U.S. It will give France and her friends on the Continent a chance to "trade" with Washington; the Europeans will surely demand more say in running the IMF.

Second, Britain "wants in" on the Common Market. France's de Gaulle is making noises that sound like he does not want his neighbor admitted. But while the General talks about not letting England join, he is probably drawing up conditions for her admission. Among these may be a further revision of the International Monetary Fund's regulations ... aimed at cutting down on both England's and the U.S.' power to dictate the Fund's policies. He figures: Why should the U.S. — a debtor to the IMF — have the biggest part in world money councils?

Of course any European moves to curb the U.S. spending spree abroad will be greeted by howls of dismay in Washington. The cry of "Ingrate" will be hurled at France, Italy, Holland, etc. But — in the long run — our country may be thanking the Europeans for having saved the dollar from eventual unilateral devaluation.

Here's what owners have to say about White Sale Fords bought in previous years:

Michael Trupiano, Detroit, Mich. Price paid for my '66 Custom 500 was a good buy. You can tell the car is solidly built by the way it feels.

George Jagodzinski, Toledo, Ohio. I had the appearance of the car, the way it was equipped and the price it is a '66 Custom 500. Very reliable.

Ruth Nichols, Farmington, Mich. I like the way my '66 All the extra two White Sale Fords you know you're getting value.

Jack F. Carr, Marion, Ohio. When you drive 30,000 miles a year you appreciate a car that is a '66 Custom 500. Very reliable.

H. George Bailey, Southfield, Mich. Ever since I bought a bargain and my '66 looks like a much more expensive car. The extras sold me.

John F. McPherson, Findlay, Ohio. My '66 was an excellent buy. Special features give it a different look. Vinyl seats are made for travel with kids.

Harold Wagner, Delphos, Ohio. My '66 is a 1967 travel trailer. And with kids you need vinyl seats.

Edna M. Beck, Chelsea, Mich. I've taken two trips to California in my '66 Custom. It's a pleasure to drive — holds the road even in a prairie crosswind.

A. C. Lenhard, Livonia, Mich. My last two cars were Fords but the '66 was the best ride. The vinyl interior is childproof too.

Larry Moore, Defiance, Ohio. I was a buy my '66 saves on gas and the ride is smooth even on rough roads.

Robert C. Arreck, Jr., Ypsilanti, Mich. It's a lot of car for the money. I've got 15,000 miles on my '66. It always starts and it's easy on gas.

SPEAKING

for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Word that the Northville school district's application for the 15-acre fish hatchery site had been declined left city and township officials wondering this week whether or not time still remains for their applications.

The school district learned by letter last week that its proposed use of the site — as a nature study center and recreation area — did not constitute an eligible program of use under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's program of disposal of surplus real property.

School officials had been informed that an application to use the property as a center for mentally and physically handicapped children and for biology and natural science curriculum would have qualified. The board, however, declined to approve such an application.

Now it appears that the only eligible application belongs to Wayne State University.

City and township officials, however, are still not willing to give up on acquisition of the site. They note that their applications — submitted to the General Services Administration, agency handling the disposal of the property — indicated definite interest in acquisition of the property for recreational and public use. Both applications, however, granted priority to the school district, providing its application qualified.

Had the school district gained assignment of the property (or should WSU be granted the site) there is no charge involved. These applications were made through HEW and involve use of the land for educational purposes.

But city and township applications for recreational use must be considered by another government bureau — the Department of the Interior.

Fewer strings are attached to acquisition for recreation, but there's also a charge — one half appraised value.

Most council members wish to pursue acquisition of the property to the ultimate. They're ready to apply whatever political pressure possible if attention is not given to their original request (for consideration in the event the school's bid was disqualified).

Township Supervisor R. D. Merriam has also stated that the township maintains its original interest in acquisition of the property for recreational purposes and would be willing to cooperate with the city on the same financial basis that the two governmental units now conduct the community recreation program.

The efforts of the city and township to acquire this property should be given full community support. If the site were maintained merely as an area to enjoy and observe the beauty of nature and open spaces, it will one day (too soon) become an attraction within the community.

As a final resort, should the property be awarded to WSU, local officials should use whatever means are at their disposal to seek the cooperation of the university to ensure proper use and development of the area.

As City Manager Frank Ollendorff points out, the area remains as a part of the community and is subject to certain zoning regulations existing within the city and township.

Wishing won't make it so.

Nor does it make Shakespeare's "Love's Labor's Lost" a viable and meaningful play in the twentieth century. Not even the talents of John Fernald, director of the repertory company of the same name, can revive this verbal ornament, this playful piece, and make it living drama.

In fact, Fernald, it would appear, works under the illusion of popular thought — that Shakespeare, being the master dramatist, could not produce anything less than a dramatic masterpiece. In his introductory note on the program, Fernald intimates, if he does not say, as much.

"The joy of the play springs from Shakespeare's realization that all of verisification and brilliance of allusion is by itself only a sterile exercise, and that the rewarding aim for a dramatic poet is towards an insight into the nature of human kind."

There is no denying the "brilliance of allusion" or "the agility of verisification" in "Love's Labor's Lost," for this is the play's most conspicuous accomplishment. Shakespeare, in fact, shows that he had no peer in his verisification, his use of the conceit (an elaborate and extended metaphor).

But brilliant allusion and agility of verse do not a dramatic masterpiece make. It is made, as Fernald says, through a delicate combination of these things and "insight into the nature of human kind." For today's audience, "Love's Labor's Lost" does not provide this penetrating insight into man's nature, for the conceits defy even the most erudite mind.

Nursing a hangover, penniless, stranded in a strange town, the young man pocketed the telegram and headed back to the bar.

Spilling his story to the bartender as to how he'd "blown" the last dime of his expense account, how in desperation he'd wired his penny-pinching uncle for more money, and how his uncle had wired back "you're fired," the 18-year-old freshly retired newsprint salesman pleaded for help.

"Kid, you look terrible. Here's two-bits. Get yourself a shave and then we'll talk about it."

So the kid got himself a shave, came back for a free lunch and a courtesy drink or two and was discussing the situation with his new-found friend when the keeper of the bar spotted a guy boarding a streetcar out front.

"That's Burt," he said. "Maybe he could give you a job."

Whereupon the kid flew out the door, skidded up to the stranger, and pleaded for employment. Burt mumbled something that sounded like "yah" and was gone.

"I think I got the job. But what's he do?"

"Don't know exactly," admitted the bartender, "but I see him a lot over in the pool hall near the old Courier Building."

One thing led to another until finally the kid marched into the Evansville Courier office and announced, "Burt just hired me."

Amused, the reporter — "guy by the name of Clark Salmon, who later gained some fame as managing editor of a 'sheet' in New Orleans," surveyed the fresh kid and asked, "can you work a typewriter?"

"Nope."

"Well, you got just three hours to learn. Burt will be back then and if you don't know how to work it you ain't got a job."

And that's how Tom Munce, 79-year-old publisher of The Brighton Argus, got his start in journalism.

Now it was a Sunday afternoon and here was this smart-alecky college educated reporter digging into his past.

"But what's there to write about? There's nothing. I'm nobody special."

More than a half-century of ferreting out the news behind him and ol' Tom pretends he can't smell the story.

No doubt about it, Tom's lived a greater story than any he's ever pecked out "two fingered" on his typewriter machine.

Born in Louisville and raised in Washington, D.C., by a father who served on the Confederate's side during the Civil War and who had "wound holes" as big as your thumb, and by a mother who started a factory in the forests of the Rockies only to see it go up in smoke, Tom became city editor of the Evansville (Indiana) newspaper by the age of 19.

"Things happened fast in those days."

A couple of years later he was city editor of The Louisville Courier Journal, subbing as a reporter on the Journal's sister paper, The Times.

He became fast friends with the founder of the Journal, a guy by the name of Henry Watterson — same fellow who published a Confederate army newspaper from the back of a horse-drawn wagon during the Civil War, and Arthur Krock, the Journal's managing editor whose name later became synonymous with The New York Times.

While at Louisville, he married a pretty young woman who still shares his home on the shore of Lake Brighton. From that city he migrated to St. Louis, got himself a job again as a newsprint salesman, got fired again, and then joined The St. Louis Post Dispatch.

It wasn't much later when he and his wife — and the start of a family that today includes seven living children, 16 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren — found themselves in Houston without enough money to buy breakfast. But his "pecking" ability got him a job on The Post, put them back in the chips and about five years later they were heading back to Louisville and the Journal.

About this time he hooked up with a man named Glover Watson, who was selling speculative land in a Michigan town called Dearborn. He took a job as Watson's publicist and headed for Detroit.

When Watson's money ran out so did the job.

Tom joined The Detroit Free Press, working under another newspaper giant by the name of Malcolm Bingay, who gave him the "kiss of death" one day by complimenting him for one of his stories. "Any time he told you did something good, that meant you were about to get the ax, so I left and joined The Mirror."

When the Mirror was about to fold, Tom took a brief job running a politician's campaign and then joined The Detroit Times, where he hung on until about a dozen years ago.

Most men would have called it quits, but not this old codger. At the age of 66, he went into a printing business with a friend, later established the Livingston County Farm Bureau News, joined the Argus and found its then manager "disagreeable", left and joined the Livingston County Press and finally came back to the Argus where he's spilling out weekly yarns today.

So the college educated reporter, who wasn't even an idea when ol' Tom was playing poker with guys you read about in journalism books, packed up his notes and headed for his car on a Sunday afternoon only to find that the cops had hauled it away for blocking the road.

Tom's wife screamed at a policeman over the phone, "People have been parking out in front for 30 years and no-one's hauled a car away before."

Imagine, and Tom doesn't think he's worth a story.

College to Host Young Musicians Next Saturday

The first of more than 4,000 senior and junior high school musicians from Wayne, Monroe and Washtenaw counties will descend on the Schoolcraft college campus Saturday morning for the annual District 12 Solo and Ensemble Festival.

Largest event in the state in terms of secondary school student participation, the District 12 competition will involve more than 1,000 scholastic musicians at Schoolcraft, and another 1,000 a few miles away at Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, in the senior high competition on Saturday.

The following week, Saturday February 18, 1,000 junior high musicians will compete at Schoolcraft while still another 1,000 will be performing for the judges at EMU.

Arrangements for the mass competition have been coordinated by Roy E. Ernst, band and orchestra director at Livonia's Franklin High, who is District 12 secretary for the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Assn., the sponsoring agency.

Top rated performers will win the opportunity of competing in the state music festival in March. Solo performers on all band and orchestra instruments, as well as the piano, and instrumental ensembles are involved in the annual competition.

Ernst is careful to point out that in terms of numbers of students actually participating, the Festival outranks either the annual Science Fair or the state basketball tournament, two other major competitive events for secondary school pupils. District 12 does not include Detroit schools, Ernst explained.

"Furthermore," Ernst adds, "the District 12 Festival is larger than the state competition. In fact, in sheer numbers of young musicians qualified to compete, our district has grown to the point where this year for the first time we have had to use two sites for the festival."

"We selected Schoolcraft because of its central location and because being a community college its campus is compact, a fact that helps materially in organizing and conducting the Festival. We intend to continue to use community colleges for the district competition in the future."

Judges for the competition are college and university music faculty members. Although there is no formal recital program during the competition, the public is welcome to attend the performances of the soloists and ensembles, Ernst said.
