

Six Seek Two Council Seats

A rash of last-minute petitions this week assures city voters of a choice for two council seats in the April 3 election.

Incumbent Mayor A. M. Allen is unopposed, however.

A ruling that petitions may be filed as late as 5 p.m. March 1 extended the deadline past the previously announced February 28 date, but eight prospective council candidates who had requested petitions were polled Tuesday by the newspaper. Only six stated that they would (or had) filed the petitions.

They are Paul Folino, Charles P. Lapham, Wallace Nichols, Frank Pauli, Arthur J. Prodger and Charles Toussaint.

The six candidates will compete for four-year terms. The seats are now held by Councilman John Canterbury, who will not seek re-election, and Nichols. Other council members besides Mayor Allen are Del Black and Mrs. Beatrice Carlson.

Folino and Nichols had previously announced their candidacy.

Lapham, 33, lives at 811 Horton and is owner and operator of Lapham's Men's Shop.

Pauli is president of Kwik Lock Form Company, 279 Park Place. He is 46 and resides at 508 Gardner.

Prodger is a production control analyst for Ford Motor Company. He lives at 208 North Ely Drive and is 42 years old.

Toussaint, 36, was an unsuccessful candidate for council in 1965. He is an accountant and lives at 528 Horton.

WSU Drops Fish Hatchery

Northville City Manager Frank O'lendorf reported Wednesday morning that a Wayne State university request for the Seven Mile road fish hatchery property had been withdrawn.

The 15-acre parcel has been declared surplus by the federal government and will soon be made available either for governmental or private use.

A bid submitted by the Northville school district was denied. Both city and township officials have indicated interest in acquiring the site for recreational purposes.

Township Planners Nix Zoning Change

Northville township planners declined to change its recommendation for zoning of a 56-acre parcel on Seven Mile near Marilyn despite a request from the board of trustees that it do so.

Meeting Tuesday night the planners stuck to their original zoning suggestion for a proposed development to include a doctors' clinic, professional offices, nursing home and housing for the elderly.

But planners recommended a compromise. It is designed to make certain the proposed retirement village apartments are not developed as ordinary public apartment buildings, which planners believe would not be consistent with the surrounding area.

Specifically, the planning commission had recommended zoning of front portion of the parcel so that the clinic, professional offices and nursing home could be developed. But it withheld a zoning change from R-2 to R-M (for multiples) for the rear acreage. It had indicated that this zoning might be granted after the front portion is developed.

Attorney James Littell, representing the developer Dr. W. E. Gyzynski, had won new consideration by planners by appealing to the board. He argued that his client was willing to accept conditions restricting use of the R-M zoned area to retirement village apartments.

Township Attorney John Ashton noted that such restrictions would be legally questionable once the R-M zoning was granted.

Planning Consultant George Vilcan, who had recommended adoption of the proposed developments, suggested that an amendment could be adopted setting forth multiple classifications of low, medium and high density. He said retirement village apartments would be of low density design and would involve less traffic, fewer children, etc.

In its reply to the township board planners offered to begin work on the new amendment. A request for zoning under the new classification could then be made. It was estimated that work on the amendment would require 90 days.

Littell said it was necessary to gain complete rezoning of the area to secure financing. His request to consider rezoning now with a change to the new classification when it is adopted was denied.

In other business planners set April 25 for three public hearings. They include a request for rezoning the northwest corner of Bradner and Five Mile from residential to OS for professional offices (medical clinic), an amendment to the horse ordinance and an amendment to the ordinance governing construction of walls.

Meeting Tonight

A meeting is scheduled for eight o'clock tonight at the State Farm insurance offices of Paul Folino, 115 West Main street, for the newly-formed citizens' committee seeking alternatives to the city planning commission's central business district plan.

Ed Welch is chairman of the group. All interested citizens are invited. Among the items of business will be the selection of a group name.

Subdivisions Fight School Bus Policy

A school bus transportation policy was adopted, a junior high school dance policy was scuttled, and bids were opened on a pedestrian overpass at Moraine elementary school by Northville board of education Monday night.

In considering the transportation policy, the board met opposition from citizens representing several subdivisions within the school district.

Primary concern of these citizens was that the rules and regulations implementing the policy, specifically those eliminating subdivision "back-tracking", would mean that children in these areas would have to be picked up on main thoroughfares. This, they argued, was a very unsafe procedure.

Petitions from Joseph Fiorilli of Meadowbrook subdivision and Eugene Guido of Westview Estates were introduced to the board calling for continuation of bus service into these subdivisions.

Also heard from were mothers, who emphasized that they had attended the last five board meetings on this matter, who asked for pickup of children on Glenda street off 10 Mile road.

When it appeared the board favored adoption of the policy, Fiorilli suggested that the board consider continuing all present subdivision pickups involving "back-tracking" but that all future requests be granted only by special dispensation of the board. His "compromise" failed to win board support.

Equally adamant in their discussion of the policy were bus drivers and the superintendent of the bus drivers, Charles Kehrer, who pleaded for inclusion of the rules and regulations as part of the policy itself. They argued that without adoption, the rules could be changed — a problem they said they are now faced with daily. "Rules change day to day now," they charged. "So we don't know what we are suppose to do."

When Trustee Robert Froelich pointed out that the board would stand behind the rules and regulations laid down by the administration, Kehrer replied, "Fine, just so long as we know it will stay that way."

Fred Schwarze, negotiating attorney for the school district, advised the board against adopting the rules and regulations because such action could be challenged by the bus union with whom the board is presently negotiating.

President Wilfred Becker pointed out that the policy represented a good deal of consideration by the transportation committee. He and other board members stated they had considered cost of "back-tracking", safety of children riding buses, length of time some children must ride buses, and the safe-

Turmoil Racks School Board

Ellison Exits with Blast

E. V. Ellison, veteran administrator with nearly 29 years with the Northville school system, resigned Monday night but not before he had leveled a number of stinging attacks upon the board of education and the superintendent of schools.

His letter of resignation, effective immediately, was accepted "with regret" by a unanimous vote of the board. Ellison will immediately join the Crestwood school district in Dearborn Heights as assistant superintendent-business administration, but he and his family will continue to reside in Northville. He said the job offered by Crestwood early last month was "very attractive".

However, Ellison made it plain in explaining his reasons for the resignation before a capacity crowd in the junior high school library that he was not leaving because of a "better job."

Electrifying as it was, the administrator's attack was prompted by still another surprising public stand by Principal Harry Smith and his wife.

As the meeting opened with a call for public comment, Mrs. Smith stood up and explained that she had witnessed administrator after administrator leave the system. She then asked what the board's "timetable" was for her husband, suggesting that the board would force his resignation next.

President Wilfred Becker and Trustee Robert Froelich replied that the board had no so-called timetable for anyone. And then when her husband asked that Ellison be permitted to explain why he was leaving, the board said the matter would come up later in the meeting when the resignation would be considered.

The resignation matter came late in the meeting.

Secretary Stanley Johnston read the letter of resignation, which carried little hint of what was to come, and Trustee Donald Lawrence moved to accept it "with regret" while granting Ellison reimbursement for 17 days of accrued vacation, followed by support from Treasurer Eugene Cook who suggested that a letter of appreciation be sent Ellison. An audit was also approved, at Ellison's request, of funds under his responsibility.

Becker then gave a brief explanation as to where Ellison would be going, that his new position was a better job, that he would remain in Northville, and that he and the board had from time to time expressed appreciation to Ellison for his dedication.

Citizen Glenn Deibert also expressed his deep appreciation to Ellison for his service to the school district over the years. "This is a dedicated administrator," he declared—and the audience applauded.

Ellison, who at this point was visibly moved by the bouquets and round of applause, said he felt compelled to speak out, even though he bore no feeling of animosity towards anyone. "I do it only on the basis of spending a lifetime here. I have considerable concern about where we are going."

He said he wanted it known that his resignation was not prompted by an offer of a better job, and then listed the following reasons for his action:

---He was "fed up" with the behavior of individual board members in making administrative decisions;

---Contended that poor administrative leadership and "ruthless" behavior on the part of the superintendent (he did not use his name or title) had resulted in a break-down of the school system and resignation or removal of all central staff members — except himself — during the first eight months of the superintendent's appointment.

(Ellison also told The Record that he felt the resignations of other administrators and teachers were directly or indirectly the result of the superintendent's poor administration. He named Principals Fred Stefanski, LaGene Quay, and Keith Berkley, and Assistant Superintendent Dr. Kenneth McLeod.)

---Vacillating decisions by the board and superintendent made his role particularly difficult.

---He was tired of "witnessing a power struggle" and "double talk" by the superintendent, the assistant superintendent and the board.

---On two occasions he had been told by the superintendent that "if I go down you'll go down too".

---He was tired of seeing the board "gloss over" errors. Specifically, he cited an order by the superintendent to place funds in a wrong account. After receiving two attorneys' opinions Ellison countermanded the superintendent's order (while he was away on business) and incurred the superintendent's wrath. Their relationship, he said, had since steadily declined.

---Among the 29 questions put to the administration by the high school journalism class last year regarding investment of money, Nelson had said it was Ellison's responsibility when in reality he (Ellison) had acted only as directed by the superintendent.

---Publication of the fact that he was not given a raise two weeks ago while the superintendent and assistant superintendent were given raises was the final "slap in the face". He noted that the superintendent is receiving a raise of $1,200 and the assistant $2,500. Furthermore, he understood tentative plans called for additional raises next year but not for himself.

---After giving up the principalship of the high school for what was to be an assistant superintendent's role, he was told that the public would object so instead he was given the title of administrative assistant.

Concluding, Ellison said he was "sorry to be this brutal" but that he had finally reached a decision to speak out in the interest of the school district.

Citizen Joseph Fiorilli, who admitted he was attending his first school board meeting, immediately attacked Ellison, saying "I am disappointed in the legacy you are leaving (the community) that is aggravating to me. I resent it."

Fiorilli also reprimanded the board for "not doing your homework" so that it could display more unanimity at its meetings.

An unidentified citizen, who said he teaches elsewhere, shouted his disapproval of Fiorilli's stand, saying that he would fight to defend Ellison — at the polls if necessary.

At this point Becker stated that the board had discussed the matter with Ellison and that most members did not feel the post warranted a larger salary. He indicated that the present salary was as high as the board could go and that the board could not guarantee Ellison any future increases.

"I don't wish him any ill. He's a very hard worker," he said.

After the board finally voting unanimously to accept his resignation, Trustee James Kipfer asked for a board opportunity to conduct a "terminal interview" with Ellison to review his allegations and obtain information about the various assignments on which he has been working.

Becker appointed Kipfer, Froelich and Cook to a committee to study short-range and long-range personnel needs.

Also the board voted to hire a "temporary" secretary to fill in until the board decides what to do about filling Ellison's post.

'Intolerable Situation'

Don Lawrence Quits Board

If that familiar weather prophecy is true, Northville's board of education can look forward to smoother sailing the end of March.

Donald B. Lawrence

The month began in hectic fashion. After silently fielding a barrage of blasts at Monday evening's meeting (see story on this page) the board learned officially Wednesday that one of its own members was fed up and all through.

Donald B. Lawrence submitted his resignation to Board President W. C. Becker stating that he was "removing myself from what I consider to be an intolerable situation".

Lawrence's decision to quit had no relationship to the resignation and parting blasts Monday night by E. V. Ellison, administrative assistant.

Instead it was an expression of disappointment over board policy matters where Lawrence could not see eye-to-eye with fellow board members. He was considered to be a member of the minority in a 4-3 board split.

Although he declined comment, Lawrence admitted the "last straw" in his decision to resign was the failure of President Becker to submit a letter to the city of Northville explaining that expressions of opinion in a board of education letter to the city concerning disciplining of youths involved in bus vandalism were his (Becker's) and not the board's. At a secret session last week Lawrence threatened resignation unless remarks, which he termed offensive, were officially credited to Becker and not the board.

Monday night Lawrence asked about the letter. Becker said that a verbal explanation had been given Councilman John Canterbury, who had received the letter from the board in the absence of Mayor A. M. Allen.

Becker's action apparently satisfied other board members, but not Lawrence.

Under law governing boards of education the board must now name a successor who will serve until the next election in June. Lawrence's term has until June, 1969 to run.

The resignation means that there will be three board seats up for election next June, Lawrence's, Becker's, and Richard Lyon's.

When the Northville board was organized following last June's election, Lawrence and James Kipfer tied for the presidency. Becker and Eugene Cook supported Kipfer, while Stanley Johnston and Lyon backed Lawrence.

Board Member Robert Froelich was absent at the board election session. Becker reportedly offered himself as a compromise candidate until a full board was present to hold a tie-breaking vote. The agreement was reached in secret session.

The fact that the new vote was never conducted has been a private source of irritation to some board members.

Lawrence had served five years on the board previous to his election in June, 1965. He was transferred to Grand Rapids for one year in 1964 leaving the community in the middle of a four-year school board term. A Harvard University graduate, Lawrence heads up the systems department at Evans Products. He lives at 417 Welch road.

Following is his letter of resignation addressed to Board President Becker:

"For sometime I have contemplated resigning from the board of education. Little purpose will be served in listing the various considerations which have inclined me in this direction.

"I am of the opinion that the community is aware of the division which exists on the board and of the underlying issues. Were I convinced that the situation could change and that harmony could be restored, I would continue to serve. As matters stand my peace of mind demands that I remove myself from what I consider to be an intolerable situation.

"Please accept my resignation effectively immediately".

PACKING FOR GOOD—In the nearly 29 years with the Northville school system, E. V. Ellison has moved his office materials many times, but this week he's packing for good following his resignation Monday night. Tomorrow is his last official day in the system.

English Teacher To Study in Europe

A teacher of English and reading at Northville high school is going to jet across the Atlantic this summer with a group of students to attend classes at a campus in England.

Mrs. Carolyn Worek of 311 South Wing street has been appointed by the American Institute For Foreign Study (AIFS) to chaperone a group of high school students on a six-week European study-tour during July and August. She will be accompanied by her husband, Michael Worek, who is doing graduate work in English at the University of Michigan. They will attend classes at the University of Durham.

The American Institute For Foreign Study is a non-profit membership association of high school teachers and students interested in international education. Last summer under the auspices of AIFS, more than 250 chaperones accompanied some 2,500 students from all over the U.S. to study at 18 different university campuses in 7 European countries. Home offices of AIFS are in Greenwich, Connecticut.

Although Mrs. Worek will do no teaching in Europe — all instruction will be by local university staffs — her role as chaperone will be to act as a combination guardian, advisor, and friend. All student life in Europe will revolve around her and she will help her group make the necessary adjustment to European life. Mrs. Worek has scheduled a number of meetings prior to departure to prepare the students for the experience.

The Woreks will depart by jet from JFK International Airport in New York on July 14th for Manchester, England. From Manchester they will drive directly by sightseeing bus to Durham.

Located in the north of England on the River Wear, Durham is a cathedral city where history stretches back some 1,000 years. Parts of Durham Castle, where many of the students will be housed, date back to the times of William the Conqueror. The University itself was founded in 1833, making it the third oldest in England after Oxford and Cambridge. The curriculum will consist of courses on English literature, Modern Britain, and of such special-interest electives as the history of the Romans and Saxons in Northern England.

Among the students from this area who are planning to go with Mrs. Worek are: Cynthia Baldwin, Patricia Entz, Meredith Hartt, Charles Hughes, Elizabeth Kerr, Philip Nelson, David Poppe, Herman Wedemeyer, Jr., Ronald Wheatley, Rose Zywiec and Judith Hamrick.

According to Mrs. Worek, there are openings in the group for several more students, and anyone interested should get in touch with her.

In Our Town

By JEAN DAY

WHILE SHOVELING the dregs of winter this week Northville women are concentrating upon springlike thoughts about cabbage roses, king size — the length of hems to come — and new cars.

Actually, the new cars are in a Ford color-slide presentation to be given at 2 p.m. Friday to Northville Woman's club at Northville Presbyterian church. "Designing Automobiles With the Woman in Mind" will be discussed by Gail L. Halderman, design executive with the company's interior design office. He will relate the role we women have played in automotive design decisions — and he promises to give illustrations of possible designs of the future.

A member of the design team that received the Industrial Designer's Institute bronze medal for the design of the 1965 Ford Mustang, Stylist Halderman currently is responsible for the interiors of the Mustang, Fairlane, Ford and Thunderbird. He joined the company in 1954 after graduating from the Dayton Art Institute with a major in industrial design.

Halderman

He will be introduced by Mrs. E. O. Weber, program chairman for the day.

GIANT-SIZE crepe paper flowers and velvet roses, as well as sequin Easter eggs and tin candleholders, are among creations of the new arts-and-crafts workshop group organized since last November by the Northville branch of the Michigan Farm and Garden association. Set up at the suggestion of the state group, the workshop is being chaired by Mrs. E. O. Whittington.

"Anything we can do with our hands to beautify our homes — or souls" is the purpose of the workshops — four a year — Mrs. Whittington explains. After 40 garden club members expressed interest in the new project, a year's program was developed based upon a questionnaire of what members most wished to create. After each workshop a 10-minute demonstration is given the club at its regular meeting.

Right now these arts-and-crafts members are studying the basic principles of flower arrangement. Mrs. Whittington says their first demonstration will have to be with artificial flowers but she hopes later to use real ones.

With this being the year for the Northville garden club to hostess the annual tri-club luncheon for Northville, Rosedale Gardens and Plymouth Clubs April 11 at Botsford Inn club members have been busy creating centerpieces for the event. Mrs. Reuben Jensen, chairman of this project, already can report that her committee has completed them. Working with her have been Mrs. Donald Ware, Mrs. James Kipfer, Mrs. William Switzer, Mrs. Charles Brosius and Mrs. Alfred Millington.

Mrs. Clyde Whittlesey is program chairman for the luncheon. She will be assisted in the slide presentation program of the international flower show by Mrs. Frank Whitmyer. Mrs. William Switzer is handling tickets.

PERHAPS PROVING that Northville women's interests are keyed to cards and fashionable hemlines, two big February benefits in our town reported proceeds in excess of expectations. The fashion show given last Thursday by women of Our Lady of Victory church had a turn-out of more than 600 to see prophetic styles by Crowleys and creations for the very young from the Little Peoples shop. At a tallying board session Monday Mrs. William McDermott, show chairman, reported that not the $300 expected nor the $500 hoped for had been raised — but that receipts totaled $1,500!

Northville's Senior Girl Scout Troop 222 earlier reported that its Valentine card party was a success with more than 100 tickets being sold. The girls and their leaders, Mrs. Leonard Klein and Mrs. Fred Russell, will be spring visitors to Expo 67 in Montreal — and have the satisfaction of knowing that in part they "baked" their way. The 18 table prizes, 16 door prizes and other loaves of nutbread sold at the end of the evening all were Scout-baked.

COMINGS AND GOINGS — Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith said good-bye Tuesday to their son-in-law and daughter, Airman First Class and Mrs. James Lockwood, and their little daughter, Lorie, who left for Lowry Air Force base in Denver where he will be stationed. The Lockwoods recently were reunited when he returned from a tour of duty in France. Mrs. Lockwood (Joan) and the baby had been staying at the Smith home on Orchard drive.

Next Monday the Donald L. Nicholson family will be leaving Northville for a new home in North Miami, Florida. The Nicholsons, with daughters Donna, Barbara and Mary and Mrs. Nicholson's mother, Mrs. J. H. Budde, have made their home here at 308 Debra Lane. Mr. Nicholson, who already is working in Miami, is expected back this Friday. Mrs. Edward Angove and her family will be the new occupants of the Nicholson home.

Friends and neighbors have been bidding Mrs. Nicholson good-bye at luncheons and a neighborhood coffee. Last Thursday Mrs. Robert Massel entertained Mrs. Nicholson and Mrs. Hugh McKay at lunch.

The McKay family will be leaving their Victorian home on West Seven Mile road this spring for Miami also. With children, Mary, Fritz, and Geof, the McKays expect to live in one of the Miami suburbs.

Entertaining for the McKays begins this weekend with a cocktail-supper party being hosted Saturday evening by Dr. and Mrs. Charles Fountain and Mr. and Mrs. Orin Hove. A dozen couples will gather first at the Fountains' new home on Pickford for a champagne toast before going across the street to the Hove home on Pinebrook for dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. John Walker, who at Christmastime returned with Chris, John and Debbie to their home on Woodhill road after an 11-month stay in Brussels, were welcomed back officially by their neighbors February 18. The Arthur Hempes hosted a cocktail party at their home on Fanner court west with everyone going to the Thunderbird afterward for dinner.

Mrs. Beth Lapham returned in February from a month's trip through the South. Enroute to Baton Rouge, Louisiana, and Lake Charles, Texas, Mrs. Lapham stopped in St. Louis. Her vacation also included stops in Florida and at Vicksburg, which she admits was a highlight as she is a Civil War "buff."

AMONG BASELINE Quester club "guests" last Monday at the West street home of Mrs. Charles Ely was an elegant, lace-gowned Parisian lady. She was one of the dolls exhibited by Mrs. Ely to illustrate her paper on Antique Dolls. She was loaned by Mrs. Robert Coolman for the meeting.

Quester members also inspected Mrs. Ely's collection of more than 50 nationality dolls and Mrs. Robert Froelich's 50-year old collection of European dolls inherited from her grandmother.

P-TA to Examine Student Behavior

A special meeting to explore ways of curtailing the "deterioration" of student standards will be held on Wednesday, March 8, under the sponsorship of the Northville high school P-TA.

Purpose of the 8 p.m. meeting, which is open to the public, according to P-TA President Andrew Orphan, is to consider the problems facing the school district and perhaps consider formation of a student protective organization similar to Oakland county's community organizations of this kind.

Ideas along this line will be introduced by Principal Fred Holdsworth.

To enlist the aid of churches, professional and service organizations of the community, officers of these groups have been sent letters of invitation. They read:

"The past year our students have been involved in unfavorable incidents, some of which have received publicity in the community. These incidents indicate a deterioration of our standards. Mr. Fred Holdsworth, principal of the high school, has indicated to the P-TA a desire to discuss a course of action

She'll Spotlight Action News

Northville area women will zero in on world events March 16 through the eyes of a glamorous female foreign correspondent who recently returned from a trip to the combat zones in Vietnam.

Headlining the fourth lecture in the Northville Town Hall Series at the P & A Theatre will be Pegge Parker, free-lance correspondent who divides her time between a family, the lecture platform and the news firing line.

Following the correspondent's talk, entitled "Woman's Eye-View to World Events", a luncheon will be held at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth. Ticket holders who wish to make luncheon reservations must do so by March 10. They are asked to send their checks to Northville Town Hall, Box 93, Northville. Luncheon tickets will be mailed if a stamped self-addressed envelope is included.

As special correspondent for The New York Daily News, Pegge Parker recently viewed the shadowy areas of war. She was on the famed flattop "Coral Sea" while it was engaged in bombing operations, and she also sampled the life of colorful Saigon.

Other trips have taken her to the New India under Shastri and to the Pakistan of Ayub Khan, two areas with which she has long been familiar.

How did it all start?

Born in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, she began her newspaper career in the cigar-smoked city room of an anti-female Pennsylvania Dutch newspaper, writing a daily column of advice to teenagers.

Soon she was on her way to Washington, D. C., where she not only became woman's page editor for the Times-Herald but also pursued a modeling and fashion career. It was at this stage in her life that she was a famed Camel cigarette girl in a wartime ad that appeared in nearly every magazine in the country.

Just taking a woman was never enough for Pegge Parker, however. Soon she was reporting for the News Miner in Fairbanks, Alaska - and eager to see even more of the world.

Earnings from magazine articles eventually paid her way after the war to China where she studied Russian and traveled extensively in the most forbidden area of Sinkiang - the same place where the Chinese communists later exploded two nuclear bombs.

After American newsmen were barred from China, she was for time a vice consul at the American Embassy in Pakistan. It was in Bombay, India that she met and married a newsman named John Hlavacek. And it was here that she became the mother of five children and wrote a book-length biography of the late Prime Minister Nehru's sister for The Ladies' Home Journal.

Later she became a Time-Life correspondent, taking frequent trips to Havana. In these years she gathered material in the "sun spas" of the rich and celebrated and filled Time's "people" pages with sharply observed vignettes of the Churchills and the Kennedys, LBJ and Lady Bird, Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon.

She also interviewed Batista; later she was granted a rare visa to Red Cuba and covered that so-called "revolutionary paradise" for the New York Daily News. This last trip to Cuba was made just before the missile crisis in 1962 and her reports were heard on NBC's "Monitor".

In 1964 she and her family settled in Omaha, Nebraska where her husband began his own nightly news programs plus a weekly half-hour interview with national figures.

Here Pegge Parker resumed her life as a free-lance foreign correspondent, frequently accompanying her husband on his far-flung news jaunts which recently included a 10-week tour of "trouble spots" in the Middle and Far East.

In addition to her special newspaper assignments, she has written for such magazines as Reader's Digest and Glamour.

OUT OF THE PAST

FIVE YEARS AGO...

...With a workhorse defense plowing the way, Northville's offense galloped to the wire in harvesting a stunning 72-33 victory over a befuddled South Lyon quintet.

...Novi voters were scheduled to elect three new councilmen and indicate what they think of becoming a city and select nine members for a city charter commission.

...Post office department authorities added a fifth site for the proposed post office in Northville - on the site adjacent to the A & P supermarket parking lot on Main street.

...The city plan to impose a 25 percent assessment for street improvement hit a snag from an expected source. Specifically, the councilmen were notified that the school board (meeting in special session) objected to the six percent interest rate proposed for delayed payment of the assessment.

...Cal Cross took over ownership of Atchinson Gulf Service.

...Agents representing the federal government's National Fallout Shelter Study Survey were working in Northville to determine what degree of protection each building offered against radioactive fallout.

...A familiar figure, Jim Cornelius, returned to Meadowbrook Country Club to take over the duties of club manager.

TEN YEARS AGO...

...Envisioning a new 96-home development at Beck and 11 Mile roads were Keith Metcalf and Andrew Burgess. The subdivision was to be known as Pioneer Meadows, largest Novi development in two years.

...Novi township - through two taxpayers - started court action to invalidate the election in which Waxom was incorporated as a village. The suit was filed by Township Attorney Archie Leonard for Lloyd Croft and Vernon Spencer.

Herbert Abrams, Waxom postmaster and spokesman for the charter commission, was confident that the suit would be unsuccessful.

...The new Lincoln plant in Novi swung open its doors for business when 440 salaried employees reported to the huge new facility.

...Northville township board members tabled a proposal that the township become part of Dearborn, but not before they gave it serious and careful consideration. Proposed by Dearborn Mayor Orville Hubbard, the suggestion called for the incorporation of 15 southeastern Michigan townships plus the city of Dearborn into a single city. It would have been a 400 square mile area and would have ranked second to Los Angeles.

...The first step in the construction of the storm sewer and curb and gutter for Wing, First and Fairbrook streets got off to a flying start.

Mayor Signs Easter Seal Proclamation

A proclamation pointing up the importance of the 1967 Easter Seal drive has been signed by Mayor A. M. Allen of Northville.

The proclamation, which designates the period of February 20 to March 20 as Easter Seal Time, urges "all citizens to support the annual Easter Seal appeal to help each physically handicapped child and adult to take his rightful place as an integral part of his community."

A campaign goal of $50,000 for Western Wayne county services has been announced as volunteers complete the job of mailing nearly 200,000 sheets of Easter Seals to residents in the area.

The 1967 campaign goal is to raise adequate funds to intensify the present program which served 538 crippled children and adults during the past year.

According to Philip M. LaBo, general chairman of the campaign, "every dollar we receive will help provide services for the handicapped, and get them started on the road to good lives."

Dance Studio Opened Here

A new dance studio was opened recently at 133 East Cady under the direction of Miss Millie Turnbull.

Called Miss Millie's School of the Dance, the new business specializes in the instruction of tap and ballet and adult social dancing. Plans call for expansion next fall to include a class in modern jazz and baton lessons.

A native of Detroit, Miss Turnbull attended the Detroit Conservatory of Music and has worked under such well-known teachers as Enid Ricardeau, Julie Adler, and Norma Tayton.

She started her professional career as a dancer in the Civic Light Opera. From there she toured the Eastern United States and Canada, dancing with the Roxyettes in New York. Following night club work, she started teaching in Detroit, forming a line of precision dancers known as the Turnbulettes - a group which has appeared at USO shows, the Hudson Parade, and Detroit Lions half-time shows as well as on television.

PARENTEEN Plans Meeting

At the request of an interested group of parents who are concerned with the high school situation, the PARENTEEN COUNCIL has called a meeting for Wednesday, March 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

A discussion involving all interested parents together with the high school administration will take place in an effort to pinpoint problems and establish ways of resolving them.

Objectives of the PARENTEEN COUNCIL are to help young maturing persons maintain a high standard of conduct and to provide the incoming high school student and parent with some of the "ground rules."

Inexperience Topples Novi's 1st Varsity Bid

The curtain ran down on Novi's 1966-67 basketball season Monday.

Novi lost a lopsided, 80-39, contest to Whitmore Lake in the first round of the district tournament at Franklin High school in Livonia.

Once again, the Wildcats got into "sophomore trouble", making floor mistakes and failing to hit from the floor. That was the ball game.

The teams were running even midway through the first quarter when Whitmore Lake made its move, sprinting into a 24-10 lead at the end of the first period. Only question remaining was how big the score would be as Whitmore took a 48-20 lead at halftime.

Jon Van Wagner paced the Wildcats with 17 points. Center Lee Snow tallied 11.

In its first season of varsity play, young Novi won two of its 11 ball games.

Colts Nip Holly, Tie for W-O Title

The Northville Colts came up with a rousing, 68-63, victory over Holly in the final game of the season Friday to wind up in a tie with Clarkston for the Wayne-Oakland Conference jayvee championship.

It marks the second year in a row that Coach Bob Kucher and his cagers have gained the top rung. Last year his Colts won outright with a 13-1 record. This year's slate was 11-3, as was Clarkston's.

This year's race was a showdown. Three teams were deadlocked for first place at 10-3 entering Friday's games. Northville survived by a margin of five points, the widest spread enjoyed by top contenders.

After trailing through better than three quarters, Clarkston finally overtook Brighton and won, 59-51. West Bloomfield dropped Bloomfield Hills out of a possible tie by beating the Little Barons, 49-47.

Northville's opponent, Holly, was surprisingly tough Friday night. The young Broncos matched the Colts stride for stride through the first half, trailing by only two at halftime.

Holly peppered the nets at a scorching pace to stay within striking range. Holly hit 70 percent of its shots from the floor and was nine for 10 at the free throw line through the first half.

Only a bit cooler, Northville shot 65 percent from the field to hold a 41-39 halftime lead.

But when Holly cooled off for a short time in the second half, the Colts jumped into a 10-point lead. From there on, Coach Kucher and his boys were content to protect their margin.

Jeff Taylor, who divides his time between guard and forward, once again grabbed game scoring honors with 21 points. He tallied nine field goals and was three for three at the free throw line.

Only three other local cagers got on the scoreboard. Gregg Carr garnered 18 points on seven field goals and four of seven free throws; Ralph Robinson tallied 16 points on seven field goals and two of three free throws, and Stan Nirider scored 13 on five from the field and a perfect three for three at the line.

Taylor walked off with the JV free throw mark, connecting on 50 of 60 shots for 83 percent. Nirider was close behind, converting 36 of 49 for 75 percent.

Optimist Club Hears Attorney

City Attorney Philip Ogilvie was a guest speaker at last week's meeting of the Northville Optimist Club at the Thunderbird Inn.

The attorney spoke informally on a number of problems presently facing the city.

Also, Eldon Biery, club president, reported on the winter board meeting held at Saginaw. He was accompanied to the meeting by his wife.

The Wildcats beat West Bloomfield's 10th graders, 46-43, and Michigan School for the Deaf, 65-52.

But a losing year was expected for Novi, which has only grades nine and 10 in its high school. Next year it's predicted that Novi will have the experience necessary to be a worthy opponent as the newest member of the Lakeland C Conference.

In its final regular season finale, Novi lost to Wayne John Glenn, 84-41. John Glenn is a class A school.

Gary Boyer with nine points and Snow and Ken Osborn with eight apiece led the Novi scoring attack.

Competing against junior varsity and ninth grade competition, Novi's ninth graders posted a 5-10 season record. They lost their final game, 66-18, to John Glenn.

Only one Novi team broke even. That was the eighth graders who split in eight games. South Lyon beat them, 53-31, last week as Tom Boyer scored nine points and Doug Osborn eight.

The seventh graders failed to win a contest and finished the season with a 0-9 slate. South Lyon trounced them, 40-18, last week, with Steve Bosak scoring nine points to lead the local cagers.

VILLAGE OF NOVI
By: Mabel Ash, Clerk

WELL'S NOT WELL - Students were dismissed from school at Moraine elementary at noon Thursday when the school's well failed. A broken wire beneath the ground caused the pump to fail, leaving the facility without water. The damage was repaired and the children returned to classes on Monday. Meanwhile, preparations are underway for the transfer of kindergartners to the new school Thursday. Until now, kindergartners have been attending Amerman. Only one major project—not counting several minor unfinished jobs—remains to be completed, that being the school's multi-purpose room, Principal Milton Jacobi reports.

Sewer Charge Procedure Slated for Overhaul in Novi

Novi's method of levying a fixed sewer charge is scheduled for overhauling as a result of action taken by the village council during a special informal session Thursday of council members, interested citizens and experts.

After a heated three-hour discussion, the council unanimously passed a motion authorizing Village Attorney Howard Bond to prepare a new amendment repealing the present lateral availability amendment to the sewer ordinance.

In addition, Bond was instructed to come up with a new amendment that would include a more equitable sewer connection fee. It will be levied on present and future users who are not taxed through special assessment.

Making the motion was Councilman Joseph Crupi, long an outspoken critic of the present lateral availability fee and an advocate of a sewer payback plan. When it was pointed out that Thursday's meeting was not official, Crupi then motioned to be upheld in calling for a formal vote. The vote was 5-0, supporting Crupi.

On hand to help resolve Novi's sewer assessment problems was a host of experts, including Robert Hammell, bonding attorney; Charles Finsky, and William McDonald representatives from Johnson and Anderson, engineering consultants to the village; Howard Bond, village attorney and William Hetiker, a representative from Stratton associates, a municipal and financial consulting firm.

Instrumental in bringing the controversy over sewers to a head was Hetiker. He was pressed to talk by William Dusey, chairman of a sewer payback sub-committee. Other members were Crupi and C. A. Smith. Dusey and Smith had advised the hiring of Stratton associates at a meeting in December.

Hetiker said that a payback plan, wherein monies would be refunded to residents paying high, initial sewer taxes, was, in his estimation, illegal. But the service charges could be reduced in future years (as Novi expanded and the tax base spread), he said, which is a benefit.

Until Hetiker's statement, the likelihood that constructive action would be taken looked dim. Hot words had been exchanged that ruffled the feathers of pro- and anti-payback forces, and others in attendance.

As in the past, Crupi was the chief spokesman for pro-payback forces, primarily those from Conemara Hills, who had sparked the controversy during the past summer. He launched into a detailed explanation to point out what he called existing inequities in separate Novi subdivisions.

Specifically, he said that a property owner in Meadowbrook Lake subdivision did not pay a later availability fee of $300 as demanded when special assessment taxes are not levied. A resident in Willowbrook four in an identical position, Crupi said, paid the lateral availability fee.

Hammell and Bond responded, pointing out that the situation in Meadow-brook Lake was unique. They contended that the property owner had granted an easement across his property to the county and was granted a connection in lieu of payment for the easement right. This apparently was done without knowledge of the village.

Furthermore, they said they believed the agreement between the individual and the county department of public works had been struck before adoption of the Novi lateral availability fee amendment, adopted in 1965. "It's an unfortunate situation," Hammell said, "a goofed-up deal. But it's a one-shot deal."

When Crupi asked whether the connection had actually been made before adoption of the ordinance, Hammell and Bond said they did not think so. Contending that it had been made before amendment adoption, Crupi said he would check the records.

Crupi then attacked the availability amendment. Harrison supported Crupi: "I don't believe in a lateral availability fee," Harrison said. "It isn't fair."

Feeling that the availability fee might be scrapped, Bond admonished Crupi. He stated that the council would have to take $25,500 out of the general fund to make up revenue lost from the fee.

Crupi retorted: "That's what I've been telling you. We're losing money by sitting still, without revising the ordinance." Nettled by criticism and by what he called the council's unwillingness to take action, Crupi then said, "I'm giving up. I'm leaving this in the lap of the council."

George Adams, a resident of Conemara Hills, asked whether formula could be used to establish a lateral availability fee to equalize payments. Hammell explained that in some areas this is done, but he doubted whether levying another special assessment under the guise of a lateral availability fee was advisable.

Pressed by Crupi, Hammell explained the purpose of the fee. It is a charge for a means of disposal of waste, Hammell said. The amount of footage of pipe the user must install does not matter, he said, the fee is levied on the principle that a service is being provided.

Hetiker then took the floor. He explained the services offered by his company, Stratton associates. His proposal, he said, focused on orderly community growth, including rates and procedures to generate revenue to meet the needs of the community.

To do this, he said his company would follow a two-step procedure: First, analyze Novi's water and sewer situation and suggest recommendations, and second, draft recommendations into ordinance. Cost of the services would be $1,950 and $1,850, respectively.

There are hundreds of variables, Hetiker stated, which his company would have to weigh to arrive at a particular solution for Novi. He subsequently suggested that a payback plan involving repayment of money would be illegal.

Adams then asked how it was possible for the council to establish a sewer payback plan for Charles Lapham. (The council set up the plan at a previous council meeting and attached a 10 percent surcharge to pay for expenses incurred in administering the plan.)

In reply, Bond explained that Lapham had agreed to pay all expenses of constructing the sewer, not the village. The village, Bond, continued, simply collects the money from those tapping in and returns it to Lapham.

"What you're saying," Adams said, "is that when it's a simple situation, it can be handled; when it's a community situation, then it can't be solved."

Crupi then came up with his final suggestion, that the council scrap the present lateral availability amendment and adopt a new amendment, permitting the accumulation of funds to pay for orderly community growth.

Two-Car Crash Kills Woman, 23

A 23-year-old Ann Arbor woman was killed and two others aged 20 and 21 were injured in a two-car collision on Pontiac Trail just south of Five Mile road Monday.

Marcia R. Baru, 2203 Cram Place, Apartment 4, Ann Arbor, died at the scene of the accident, State Police reported.

She was driving alone in a late model compact car when she apparently lost control on snowy, slippery pavement; the car spun into the path of an oncoming car and the two collided, the police said.

Driver of the other car was Rose Marie Kaminski, 20, of 25250 Seeley Road, Novi, who was treated for injuries and released from St. Joseph Mercy hospital. A passenger in the Kaminski vehicle, Anne Lissa Schwartz, 21, of 23145 Novi road, Northville, was admitted to the hospital with undisclosed injuries. She was reported to be in satisfactory condition Tuesday.

State Troopers are still investigating the 4:35 p.m. accident in which they report that the Baru vehicle was traveling south on Pontiac Trail and the Kaminski vehicle was traveling north.

Seven persons were injured and three hospitalized as a result of "the classic" two-car collision at the intersection of Pontiac Trail and Eight Mile road Thursday, February 23.

Drivers of both cars and a child passenger in one were admitted to St. Joseph's hospital. They are Evelyn Sizemore, 45, and Neil Harrington, 3, of 8192 McFadden, Salem; Christine Watson, 38, of 44150 Stassen, Novi.

Hospital officials listed Mrs. Sizemore as "doing very well" Tuesday, Harrington as "good" and Mrs. Watson as "questionable", and that tests were still being conducted on Mrs. Watson.

Treated for injuries and released the day of the accident were Nancy Sizemore, 13; Mary E. Day, 12; and Barbara Brown, 61 - the latter two of 8291 McFadden, Salem, all were passengers (like Harrington) in the Sizemore vehicle.

Also treated and released was Gayle Watson, 15, of 44150 Stassen, Novi, who was a passenger with Mrs. Watson. Another passenger in that vehicle, Dale Pullman, 14, of 41119 McMahon, Novi, was not injured.

State Police said Mrs. Watson was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way at the intersection.

They described the accident as "the classic" Eight Mile road - Pontiac Trail calamity. The Sizemore vehicle was headed north on Pontiac Trail when the westbound Watson vehicle pulled into its path, they said.

Troopers said that it appeared that the Watson vehicle had stopped and then proceeded into the intersection.

Municipal Court

A 33-year-old Northville man was fined $100 Tuesday in Northville Municipal court for leaving the scene of an accident.

Gordon E. Norris, 109 Fairbrook, pleaded guilty to the charge before Judge Charles McDonald. From pieces of car found at the scene of the accident at 223 South Wing street, police said they were able to determine the type and color of car.

The car which was hit was parked on the street. It was owned by Frank H. Nunley, 223 South Wing street. The accident took place around 2:36 a.m. last Saturday.

Leonard J. Robbins of 610 Baseline road was fined $38.50 for being drunk and disorderly at Novi and Eight Mile roads. He pleaded guilty to the charge. Michael M. Reed, of Dearborn pleaded ed guilty to speeding 60 miles per hour in a 40 zone on Eight Mile road between Carpenter street and the city limit. He was fined $25 and $5 costs. In addition, Reed paid costs of $10 for disobeying the flashing-red traffic light at Eight Mile road and Center street.

Christopher J. Keyes, 17, of 142 Randolph street likewise pleaded guilty to speeding 70 in a 50 zone on Seven Mile road. He paid $20 in fines and $10 costs.

Jay T. Richard, 19, of 40205 Six Mile road, was found not guilty on a charge of failing to yield the right of way which resulted in a property damage accident at the intersection of Northville and Six Mile roads.

Case against Eugene Konrad of 20314 Woodhill was dismissed. Konrad was charged with assault and battery.

Our Legislators Report....

Representative Louis E. Schmidt: The House of Representatives spent an extremely busy week with committee work becoming more demanding as the number of bills introduced continues to mount. As of Thursday last week 393 bills had been introduced.

In Uniform

Phillip Skow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Skow of 659 Horton street, left February 7 for the Great Lakes Naval Training base, Chicago, Illinois, where he will begin boot training.

Before entering the service, Skow worked at the Casterline Funeral home. He is a graduate of Northville high school.

Daylight Savings time became one of the major topics of discussion last week when the Senate passed a bill to exempt Michigan from the Federal Uniform Time Act. There is widespread opinion on the issue. House Speaker Robert Waldron said there would be no attempt by Republican leadership to influence other House Republicans on the matter. Waldron says the members should vote by district sentiment and not on party sentiment on this controversial issue. If there is no action by the Legislature by April 1st, the Federal Uniform Time Act goes into effect. Then the state would be on Daylight Savings Time no matter what the Legislature does.

Representatives continue to have briefings on the critical revenue situation in the state. Glen Allen, state budget director, explained where cut-backs would have to be made should additional revenue through fiscal reform not be forthcoming.

Among the bills introduced last week by the House Republicans were the highway bills recommended by the Good Roads Federation. The highway bill package included a call for increasing the tax on gasoline from 6 to 7 cents a gallon. It also changed the formula for distribution of Motor Vehicle Highway funds to various units of government. Cities and villages would get 20 percent instead of the 18 percent currently in effect. The County share would drop from 35 percent to 34 percent and the state share would drop from 47 percent to 46 percent.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Rev. Robert K. Spradling
First Baptist Church, Northville

What do Christians mean when they say they believe in the verbal inspiration of the Bible? They should mean that the Bible in its original autographs was absolutely infallible, inerrant, the product of the one true God. To back up such a view, one should examine the Bible to see if such a statement about inspiration is true. For example, one of the important verses in the Bible on the subject of inspiration is II Timothy 3:16, "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness." The word "inspiration" in this verse is the Greek word "theopneustos," a word which literally means "God breathed." That is to say, the Scripture is the direct product of God just as surely as the universe and man were the product of His creative hand. Confusion sometimes arises when we assume that this word for "inspiration" means to "breathe into," for that is exactly what it does NOT mean! The popular idea about inspiration is that God allowed men to write books of the Bible on their "own hook," so to speak, and then in some mystical way "inspired" them. The Biblical term "inspiration" means that from beginning to end, the Scriptures are the work and product of God Himself. To be sure, He used men as instruments of transmission, allowing the usage of their own style and vocabulary, etc., but always God was the Person superintending the whole operation, and every word is the product of His creative will. This view is a far cry from the idea that God simply endorsed certain literature written by apostles and others.

Another important verse on the subject of inspiration is II Peter 1:19. Here, the Apostle Peter contrasts the reliability of an eyewitness account of certain Biblical facts to that of the Scripture. His conclusion is very interesting. Peter says the believer has something that is more sure than visions, voices from heaven, wonders or signs — he calls it a "more sure word of prophecy," that is, the written record of God to men — the Bible. This book is one of the really sure things in life. The Bible is true. In it, God has revealed His will and plan for man and human history. It needs to be read, believed and preached to a world that needs to hear from God.

SOAP OPERA

Those sentimental serials which accompany many a housewife's daily chores have made an important contribution to our culture. They keep us mindful of the complications of living.

You can't follow a fictional family over an obstacle course of crises without realizing that your own family, too, has its ups and downs.

Elementary in this century is the fact that life can be—but ordinarily is not—beautiful!

We live in a time that requires serious planning of our today's, and tomorrows. We ought especially to be concerned for our family's spiritual fibre . . . for the unfolding character of our children for the religious resources with which coming crises will be met.

The Church offers opportunity and inspiration in our quest of the lofty ideals of the Christian faith. The most important decision a family can make is to seek its finest aspirations through worship, religious study, and sacrificial service.

At Plymouth Bell to Construct $12 Million Facility

Ground was broken in Plymouth recently for a new $12 million telephone facility, one of the largest structures to be erected by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company in recent years.

The building will rise three stories and contain more than 91,000 square feet. The City Planning Commission recently granted Michigan Bell a zoning waiver to clear the way for construction.

According to John Kamego, Michigan Bell Manager, the primary function of the building will be to house a vast amount of switching equipment for routing incoming and outgoing long distance calls.

Mayor James Houk and Plymouth Township Supervisor John McEwen joined Michigan Bell representatives at the site in a ceremony to officially launch construction. It will be situated adjacent to the company's central office at 1360 Ann Arbor road near Sheldon.

Kamego explained that the equipment to be installed is known in the telephone business as "4A" apparatus and that it will augment similar equipment located in Detroit to serve the southeastern area of the state. The Detroit equipment is nearing its capacity, Kamego said, as the number of long distance calls to and from the area continues to rise.

Besides the equipment that will handle calls automatically, Kamego said there will be 122 switchboard positions occupied by operators for the special handling of those long distance calls not routed through the Direct Distance Dialing network.

"Michigan Bell's huge investment in this new facility reflects the continued upward trend in long distance usage," Kamego said, "and is part of the company's large construction program to keep up with demand for new service and the rate people are using it."

Michigan Bell recently announced it will spend $184 million in 1967 on new construction to expand and improve its service statewide.

Kamego said that, besides the equipment space and operator positions in the new building, it will also be the quarters for some personnel working in the company's Fort division headquarters.

The eventual employee population in the building is expected to be between 500 and 600 people, Kamego said. It will contain complete kitchen and cafeteria facilities along with a parking area to accommodate about 400 cars.

To be constructed of reinforced concrete with a "blast resistant" design, the building will measure 204 by 68 feet. Basement area is included in the plan.

The architectural firm of Smith, Hinchman & Grylls Associates, Inc., are the designers, and general construction is under contract to Darin & Armstrong, Inc., of Detroit.

Kamego said it will take about a year to complete the building itself, after which several months will be required for the installation of equipment.

The Western Electric Company, which manufactures supplies for the Bell System as well as installs central office equipment, announced that the project in the Plymouth toll center will be the largest installation ever undertaken for Michigan Bell.

At Northville State Hospital

Students Give Time, Money to Aid Patients

"Often times we overlook the generosity of our teenagers and give them too little credit for their contribution to society. These kids are tops." That's the word from a spokesman of the Northville State Hospital as he noted the monthly visits to the hospital by more than a dozen teenagers from Northville and surrounding communities. Last December a group of Northville students decided they'd like to do something for the hospital, he explained. The students decorated rooms and generally made the Christmas season pleasant for the patients.

A few weeks later they decided they'd like to give a party for one of the wards. One thing led to another until today; the youngsters make monthly visits to an all-male, closed ward. The visits are the only real outside contact that these men have with society, he explained. All 102 of them have been in the hospital from 10 to 12 years.

Last week Wednesday, for example, the students brought along a tub-full of cakes, piles of apples and cookies and other treats. They baked the cookies and cakes themselves.

Last month they treated the patients to hotdogs and all the trimmings. What started as a project by a few students has attracted the help of students elsewhere too, he said. One boy travels all the way from Grand Blanc to help out.

The Northville students who started the project are Shannon Maynard, Dave Keller, Jerry Busch, Chris Cogsdill, Darlene Skipton, Lynn Moore, Terri Arms'ead, Ann Sarnes and Gail Schue-der.

The students—including nine sophomores from Northville high school—not only provide entertainment through music, dancing, pingpong, chess, etc., they provide snacks which are purchased from a portion of their allowances.

ENTERTAINMENT—Games such as chess, scrabble, and pingpong provide plenty of entertainment for patients. In addition, the volunteer students provide music, dancing and just plain conversation for the all-male ward of the hospital. Darlene Skipton of Northville tries her hand at chess here with a patient while Carol Buzzard of Farmington and another patient look on.

SNACKS—Each month the high school students save enough money from their allowances to buy snacks for the patients. They also bake piles of cookies like those Shannon Maynard of Northville and Linda Bates of Farmington place on the snack table.

Plans for the upcoming Girl Scout cookie sale were announced this week by Mrs. William Switzer, Northville Girl Scout organizer.

Advanced ordering will start March 3 and continue through March 18, she said. Cookies will sell for 50-cents a package, with five kinds of cookies available.

Troops and their leaders offering cookies are:

Troop 565, Mrs. Doris Crishon; Troop 361, Mrs. Betty Walker; Troop 331, Mrs. Dorothy Holman; Troop 234, Mrs. Fran Schiefel; Troop 336 Mrs. Pearl Conway; Troop 402, Mrs. Nat Rogers; Troop 371, Mrs. Pat Taggart; Troop 209, Mrs. Raye Diebert; and Troop 222, Mrs. Ruth Klein.

Cookies will be delivered in April. Plans also call for a cookie cupboard to be operated soon by one of the troops.

Persons wishing to purchase cookies are asked to contact a Scout in their neighborhoods. However, Scouts also will visit homes in the community. Monies from the sale are used to equip and maintain existing camps and to establish new ones, Mrs. Switzer explained.

Is Auto Air Conditioning A Good Investment?

Judging by the number of drivers ordering it with their new cars, it is indeed. And getting more so all the time. Factory installations of auto air conditioning units in the U.S. this year are expected to exceed 25% of all new cars, and predictions are that 50% of all cars manufactured will have this accessory by 1975.

This represents tremendous growth from the 7.6% of total production in 1960. In addition, independent makers of the auto cooling units may produce half a million units for installation by dealers this year.

The time is not far off when air conditioning in cars will be as common as automatic transmissions, radios and heaters. Considering that 60% of the original investment is usually returned on resale, costs on average could figure out to as little as 25 cents a day.

That's a small investment for arriving at your destination cleaner, cooler and more relaxed. This is the case not just while driving in Northville or on the highways during the summer months but during the winter season as well as they may be tied in with the heater. Wind, drafts and road noises are eliminated while the temperature remains at the level of your choosing.

Proof of the growth of air conditioning units is the new multimillion dollar building now in operation on Sheldon road between Northville and Plymouth.

News About Schoolcraft

A formal procession of Schoolcraft college administrators and faculty in full academic regalia will open dedicatory ceremonies for the Lois L. Waterman Campus Center at 3 p.m. Sunday, March 12.

Dr. Ralph Banfield, Ann Arbor, executive secretary of the Mid-West Community College Leadership Program, will deliver the dedicatory address at the ceremony, to which the public is invited. Dr. Banfield is also professor of education at the University of Michigan, Michigan State university and Wayne State university.

The ceremony will include the unveiling of an oil portrait of Miss Waterman, who served as the first dean of student affairs at the college. She has remained active on campus as a special consultant in the college's self-study toward accreditation by the North Central association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Miss Waterman is now dean emeritus of the college.

Invited guests include presidents of community colleges, state officials, legislators, members of boards of education, superintendents and high school principals of public school districts within the college district, mayors and township supervisors, and trustees of the Schoolcraft College Foundation.

A reception honoring Dean Waterman will follow the ceremony in the lower level of the center. The public is invited to the reception.

The ceremony itself, to be held in the upper level of the Center, will begin with the formal procession. John H. Brinn, vice-president for instruction, will deliver the invocation, and Dr. Eric J. Bradner, college president, will introduce the guests.

Dr. Banfield will be introduced by Edward V. McNally, dean of student affairs.

The dedication ceremony will open with a dedicatory statement by Dr. Bradner, who will unveil the portrait of Dean Waterman. Symbolic presentation of the building will be made by a representative of the project architect, Eberle M. Smith Associates. Acceptances will be made by Harold Fischer, chairman of the board of trustees, by Dr. Bradner, and by Richard Snyder, president of the Student Senate.

Musical interludes will be provided by the Schoolcraft college choir under the direction of Wayne Duntap. A formal recesson will close the ceremonies.

The center, built at a cost of more than $750,000, was opened for student use in September, 1966. It houses cafeteria and dining facilities for students and staff, a student lounge, student activities offices, the college bookstore, the college nurse and health services, and instruction areas for the culinary arts program.

Dean Waterman joined the Schoolcraft staff in May, 1962. She came here from Delta College. Previously she had been associated with Dr. Bradner at Bay City junior college where she served as dean of women and presidential assistant.

'Word Gaps' Spark Arguments

LANSING — Gaps in understanding caused by language interpretations occur frequently in politics. They often lead to arguments of unusual proportions.

Take the use of "moderate," for example. Webster defines this as "kept within due bounds; not excessive; temperate, reasonable."

This was the term used by State Highway Department officials at the beginning of the legislative session to describe an increase they planned to propose in Michigan's vehicle registration fees: the price you pay for license plates.

A "moderate" hike in the 35 cents-per-hundred pounds of vehicle weight, combined with an increase in the state gasoline tax, would alleviate some of the present and future road-building problems of the state and local units of government, they said.

Then came the proposal to the legislature. It called for a hike to 55 cents per hundred pounds, a whopping 57 per cent increase in the levy. The gas tax would be boosted from 6 to 7 cents per gallon under the department's proposal.

"Moderate" is the word the department used and will stick with against any opposition. ***

DESPITE THE DICTIONARY definition of moderate, the proponents of the hike will have some basis for the use of the word. All things are relative. Studies indicate the proposed boost would cost the average driver about $15 per year.

High percentages aside, the department can and will righteously defend its proposal on the basis of auto registration rates in other states. Michigan ranks well below the average in these statistics.

Even the so-called moderate increase proposed would not put Michigan very far up the list relating to the cost of driving a motor vehicle.

So while linguists will have cause to argue the question of whether the hike is moderate or extreme, the department will likely have little difficulty justifying and gaining legislative approval of the 20-cent increase. ***

SERVICE WILL BE the same; only the names are being changed to more accurately describe the purpose of seven consultation centers operated by the State Department of Mental Health. Located in Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, Lansing and Saginaw, the previously existing institutions were known by the name of the city where they stood, such as the Grand Rapids Consultation Center.

With the addition of two new centers, the department announced a change in title for all seven. Hereafter, they will carry the department name, to indicate state support, and be known as the Regional Consultation Center: Grand Rapids, etc.

Two new centers will be opened in Macomb and Berrien Counties, to serve Macomb-Sanilac-St. Clair and Berrien-Cass-Van Buren Counties, respectively.

Acting Department Director Dr. V. A. Stehman said the title change would better indicate the scope of the center operations.

"Identification of a center by name such as Lansing Consultation Center could imply that the agency is either city-operated or provides services only to residents of Lansing," he said. With the new names, there can be no doubt as to the extent or source of the services. ***

MAIL VOLUME to legislators has been known to change minds on many questions.

On some legislation, a lawmaker may be influenced by a single letter from an important constituent.

One such issue has arisen this year: that of whether Michigan residents want to go on Daylight Saving Time for the summer months or stay on Eastern Standard Time the year around.

Federal legislation would put Michigan in the Daylight zone unless the legislature acts to exempt the state from the law.

Longer-daylight hours provide a big attraction to outdoor lovers. Some clergymen oppose the time change because they say it cuts church attendance. Many farmers contend daylight hours would give them a killing work day. Early risers prefer the regular time, rather than having to go to work in the dark the year-round.

Regardless of the individual's viewpoint, the lawmakers are carefully viewing every piece of mail on this question. If you never wrote your legislators before, this might be a good starting point if you have strong sentiments on the daylight hours question.

Do School Dividends Suggest Sound Tax Investments?

BABSON PARK, Mass. — One of the very biggest businesses in this country today is education. We Americans are now spending a total of $48.8 billion per year to run our schools and colleges — an increase of 124% in the last decade. Another whopping boost in costs lies just ahead.

We have always "made a lot of" education in this country — and rightly so. We pride ourselves on our fine public school system and on the freedom of choice which has permitted, also, the multiplication of private and "parochial" schools. As we have grown in numbers especially since the end of World War II, so too has enrollment in our schools increased. This year there are 43.2 million pupils registered in public elementary and secondary schools in the U.S. An additional 6.7 million youngsters attend private schools from kindergarten through high school.

At the same time, there is a chronic shortage of teachers, which has been aggravated by the rapidity of the rise in student numbers and by the fact that teachers' salaries, in many instances, have not kept pace with those of comparable professions. So the teachers have become more restless and more aggressive. And the labor unions have moved in. The net result is that we are now facing demands for much higher teachers' salaries all across the nation — demands which, even if only partially fulfilled, will cost millions of dollars more in the coming year.

Hence it is very much in order for us to ask ourselves if the sacrifices we are making to support our schools are in fact paying off. Whether we like it or not, we are all going to pay more in taxes to run the public schools in our community. Salaries of teachers will spiral, maintenance costs will rise. And we will be told that we should be doing much more for our children.

The big question is: How much more can self-supporting citizens — with their own financial problems — afford to pay, and precisely for what? Probably from one-third to one-half of what we pay each year in local taxes is used to run our schools. If we don't know exactly how this money is spent — and with what result — wouldn't it be common sense to find out?

We have currently over 2 million teachers in this country providing instruction in a bewildering variety of subjects. For the most part, they teach in school systems — whether public or private — which have made herculean efforts to modernize plant and equipment. The result is that in many American communities today there are schools that are better equipped in classroom space, in laboratory facilities, and in recreational advantages than were many of our colleges fifty years ago.

In a way, we have made a fetish of education. But, in our ambition and pride, we seem to have placed more stock in college as the end goal of education than emphasis on knowledge and how to use it to enrich our own lives and help others. In our desire to provide the "best" for our children and grandchildren, we have concentrated more on brick and mortar than on the real essentials.

Just because a school is new, or large, or has the best gym money can buy is no guarantee it will be a good school. What is taught — and how it is taught — are still mighty important. After all, quite a number of our greatest Americans have been the products of one-room schoolhouses or of modest educational backgrounds! Many years ago, the distinguished British philosopher, Herbert Spencer, wrote: "Education has for its object the formation of character." We seem to be losing sight of that concept in our highly competitive society. If this trend continues, we shall be not only financially — but spiritually — the poorer.
