

'Folkmoorts'—A Vanishing Tradition of Pure Democracy

It's an offshoot of one of the purest forms of democracy.

That's what political scientists say about the annual township meeting, which a thousand years or more ago was called a "folkmoort" where adult males gathered to discuss religious as well as civil matters affecting the English parish or township.

But the political scientists and today's township officials in Michigan scratch their heads and wonder if this ancient practice is really democratic.

More and more Michigan townships are voting to abolish the annual meeting as did the township of Novi in 1960 by a 287 to 232 vote. Even so, the annual meeting lives on in many area townships. Last Saturday meetings of this kind were held in Northville, Salem, Lyon, Green Oak and Northfield townships.

One of the primary objections to the annual meeting—an objection that led to its abandonment in Novi—is the fact that so few of the township's citizens attend the meeting. Because few attend, opponents note, a small minority of a township's citizens actually control the financial and general policy of township government for the entire citizenry.

For example, last Saturday an estimated 210 people attended the annual meetings in Northville, Salem, Lyon, Green Oak and Northfield. The combined populations of these communities is in excess of 20,000.

So what, ask proponents, is that any different than having a few electors decide who should be the state and national officials for everyone?

Andrew Nuquist, author of Town

Government in Vermont—a birthplace of the "pure" annual meeting, writes: "Regardless of a relatively small attendance at the Town Meeting, the caliber of town government is usually reasonably effective. . . . Thus, the Town Meeting remains the one place in the United States where individuals can participate directly in the formation of public policy through legislative action. The question today is whether this form of pure democracy meets the needs of modern living."

Interestingly, the annual township meeting, in a historical sense, is synonymous with the township unit of government. The two grew up together.

According to "A History of Local Government of The United Kingdom", the name "township" is an offshoot of the word "tun". A "tun" was the "tunsceipe" or a unit where a hedge screened off an English community a thousand years ago. And the word "borough" is derived from an Anglo-Saxon word "burh", which was the enclosure protecting a house — "the fortified house of the principal man."

Almost simultaneously with the development of the township came the "parish" — the church name of township — and the manor. All three were found in rural England from the time of William the Conqueror's invasion of that country to the 17th Century when English colonists settled in America. One represented ancient Anglo-Saxon England, one the medieval church, and the other Norman feudalism. At the beginning of the 17th Century these local units were so closely woven that they were used as synonymous terms for the same unit.

Discussions necessary to shape the policy of these local units took place at the "town moot" or "folkmoort" where the assembled townsmen made the appointment of the town officials. Among these officials were the "reeve" or headman; the "pindar" or common keeper; and the "beadle" or messenger.

These early meetings often took place in the open air, beneath a large tree. Some of these landmark trees eventually led to the name of English towns such as Appletree, Webbtree, and Grytree.

The town meeting suffered under William the Conqueror, who swept away many of them, establishing in their place the "vill" or village.

Because English people were steeped in the tradition of township government and the township meeting, it was natural that the English colonists would carry this system with them to America.

In New England, according to the history "American Local Government and Administration", the unincorporated town developed as the most important unit of local government. Akin to the township, it included elements of a parish and a manor. These towns were composed mostly of groups of landowners who belonged to a particular church congregation.

However, Andrew Nuquist boasts that the towns in Vermont were a "purer" form of government — more like a township — because they separated the church and civil affairs.

Nucleus of town government was the

It's Swift, Smooth Meeting in Township

Unlike some controversial sessions of the past, Northville township's annual meeting moved along swiftly, smoothly and almost privately Saturday.

About 25 township taxpayers approved a $100,000 budget, a one-mill tax levy and heard their elected officials report on township affairs.

The only taxpayer action that indicated displeasure was the adoption of a resolution declaring that it was "the desire of the electorate that the township joins the committee of 100 program."

Earlier this year the board had tabled a proposal by Supervisor R. D. Merriam that Northville township join the voluntary council of governments. Trustees Bernard Baldwin and James Tellam had expressed apprehension at the idea. At the March 7 board meeting, when it was first proposed, Tellam stated that it was his belief that the council "overlapped with the county supervisors' work" and he added he was "not convinced we can accomplish anything by joining."

Saturday both Baldwin and Tellam agreed that the issue was still open for discussion, but Baldwin warned that "change in government" is suggested.

The committee of 100 describes itself as a "voluntary organization of local governments in Southeast Michigan seeking to foster a cooperative effort in resolving problems, policies, and plans that are common and regional, with maximum efficiency and economy." It stresses voluntary participation "without power to bind any member without its consent."

Joseph Fiorilli, Eugene Guido and James Littell led the discussion urging township membership. Littell noted that the effort is for a "welfare that transcends boundaries that working together can solve." He added, "we can always go back in our shells if we don't like it."

In other business Supervisor Merriam reported that the Township may soon enter into a contract to sell water to Northville State Hospital and Plymouth State Home (see "Speaking for The Record", page 8-B).

It was agreed that township board meetings will again be held on the first Tuesday of each month, but the time has been changed from 7:30 until 8 p.m.

In addition to Merriam's report, a treasurer's report was given by Alex Lawrence and the reading of the minutes of last year's annual meeting by Clerk Marguerite Young.

Township Adds 600 Sewer Taps

Purchase of additional capacity in the Wayne county interceptor sewer system was approved by the Northville township board Tuesday night.

Specifically, the township acquired 1 CFS (cubic foot per second), which is equivalent to 600 residential sewer taps. Cost of the additional capacity in the system was $78,000. The township agreed to pay $30,000 down with the balance in five annual payments.

The new purchase brings the township's total sewer service capacity to 1700 taps.

School Board Files State Loan Fund Bid

An application for $72,811 under the state's school bond loan fund was approved by the Northville board of education in a special meeting here Monday night.

Applications of this kind are required from the district each year that it participates in the bond loan program.

According to Superintendent Alex Nelson, the district is applying for the loan under an assumption that the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission's recent change in the formula does not affect already participating districts such as Northville. Other school districts within the state have done the same, he said.

Northville has been participating in the loan program for one year.

In other action, the board voted to accept the low bid of the Industrial Furniture Manufacturing company for high school library equipment totaling $27,194. Remington Rand, which submitted a bid of $30,526 did not include shelving equipment in its bid, an architectural representative noted.

In view of the fact that the board is considering blacktopping of more Moraine school property than originally planned, the architect was asked to seek a comparison of cost estimates between blacktop and concrete for a portion of additional areas.

Preliminary plans now call for additional parking space to be located along the western edge of the entire length of the drive into the school property. The additional parking space, the board has concluded, will be needed to facilitate cars for P-TA meetings and other night-time school functions.

Plans also call for blacktopping of a playground area in the rear of the school as well as hard-surfacing or blacktopping of the present parking lot and bus-turnaround area.

The architect also is to obtain comparison costs of a concrete or a blacktopped walkway from the roadway to the school along the western edge of the proposed additional parking strip, to include a curb between the sidewalk and the parking strip.

The board also authorized Treasurer Eugene Cook to represent the school district at the convention of the National Association of School Boards at Portland, Oregon in view of the fact that he will be in Portland at the time for General Motors.

In discussing plans of the city, involving the township and the school district, for purchasing the Fish Hatchery property for recreational use, a majority of board members indicated they favored obtaining hatchery property on both sides of Seven Mile road rather than just that land and those buildings on the south side.

Their comments followed a report by Secretary Stanley Johnston that the city is considering submission of a letter of intent to purchase only property on the south side.

The government reportedly has placed a $30,000-plus price tag on property on the north side and $60,000 for property on the south side.

Reports indicate that the property may be purchased at 100-percent cost or on a 50-50 percent basis with the government sharing half. Purchase under the latter proposal would mean that the government could place restrictions on the use of the property.

The city has asked the school district and the township to share in the cost of purchasing and developing the property for recreational purposes. No formal commitment has been made by either the township or school district, however.

Deibert Cops Four-State Oratory Title

Northville's Glenn Deibert cleared a major obstacle in his quest for the American Legion national oratorical title Monday morning when he became the first Michigan school boy to win the coveted national regional crown.

Victory in the regionals held at Terra Haute, Indiana, means that the Northville high school senior has only to win the semi-finals Monday at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, to qualify for the national championship eliminations April 13 at Lincoln, Nebraska.

Competing against state titlists from Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky, Deibert also won a $2,000 scholarship, bringing his scholarship winnings to $2,500. He won $500 by taking the state title.

Winner of the national title will be given a $5,000 scholarship. Winnings on the national level are not cumulative.

By copping the regional crown, Deibert thus became the first prepster from the state of Michigan to win that distinction. Before Deibert's present string of five victories, no Northville entry had advanced beyond the state district eliminations.

Deibert is one of the 12 boys left in the contest, with four groups of three competing in the semi-finals.

Sponsoring him is the Northville American Legion Lloyd H. Green post number 147. Accompanying him to Terra Haute were Oscar Hammond, alternate national executive committee member who was representing the present state commander, and Bob Collocott, Northville post commander.

By contest rules, the 18-year-old Northville youth delivered an oration for eight to 10 minutes on the constitution, then spoke extemporaneously for three to five minutes on the subject: "Powers reserved for the states".

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Deibert of Napier road, Glenn has a sparkling forensic record. For two consecutive years he won the state humorous reading title and is a member of the varsity debate team.

This year, Glenn chose not to defend his humorous reading title. Instead, he is a member of a multiple reading group that won the district championship recently and is slated to compete in the state regional contest soon at Dearborn.

Thirty-five per cent of the city voters elected Charles Lapham and Wallace Nichols to the council Monday.

Only 870 votes were cast. The city has 2,468 registered voters. Lapham, a newcomer to city politics and owner-manager of Lapham's Men's Shop, edged out incumbent Nichols as top vote-getter. Lapham polled 465 votes to 448 for Nichols.

Paul Folino was third in the balloting with 311 votes. He was followed by Charles Toussaint, 220, Arthur Procter, 98, and Frank Pauli, 86.

Mayor A. M. Allen, who was unopposed for his fourth term, collected a total of 489 votes.

The city's record at the polls has been steadily declining in the past four years. In 1963 a lively race for council attracted 1,540 voters, which represented 65 per cent of the registration at that time.

In 1965 the turnout dipped to 1,074, or 45 per cent.

Lapham and Nichols will be sworn in tonight. Nichols will be re-assuming a seat that he was given by appointment in January when Councilman Fred Kester moved from the community.

Lapham will move into a seat that has been filled since city incorporation 11 years ago by John Canterbury.

Following the ceremonies tonight the council will move into an agenda of regular business. Normally scheduled for the first and third Mondays, this week's meeting was reset for Thursday because of the election.

Here's the tally of Monday's vote by precincts:

City Grants 77 Assessment Cuts

Reduction of assessments totaling $249,940 were granted city property owners by the Northville board of review during its hearings. City Manager Frank Ollendorf reported this week.

Of the 164 appeals, 77 were granted reductions. These included 29 in the Oakland county portion of the city for a total of $54,690 and 48 in the Wayne county section for a total of $195,250.

A special meeting of the board was held Tuesday morning to hear 10 property owners who appealed earlier decisions of the board.

According to the manager, the reductions trimmed the assessed valuation of the city from $19,164,030 to $18,914,090.

The total tax rate of the city has not yet been determined, he said.

Legionnaire Oscar Hammond congratulates Glenn Deibert on his latest oratorical victory, worth a $2,000 scholarship.

Youth Takes Lead In Record Contest

With the first week of The Northville Record-Now News subscription contest nearly completed, Ian Dingwall of 225 Ely Drive, Northville, is off to a flying start and the lead.

The 11-year-old boy earned himself $4.25 and 75 points toward a host of prizes offered in the contest that includes a 23-inch Coronado color television set. He earned those points by the second day of the contest.

Other leaders in the six-week contest include: Richard Alspaugh with 65 points; Debbie Arien, 55 points; and Janice Daniel, 45 points.

Mrs. Donald Ware, contest manager, emphasized that there's still plenty of time to enter the contest. The contest is open to individuals, families and organizations.

Buses Vandalized Again

Pranksters stuffed a soft metal substance into ignitions of six Northville school buses late Monday, temporarily crippling them Tuesday morning.

Charles Kehrer, bus superintendent, reported that three of the buses were repaired quickly and the remaining three were back in service shortly after 10 a.m.

"I don't know really what they used," he said. It may have been pieces of solder. I don't know."

The vandalism, which caused delay in transportation of some youngsters, was the second within the past two months. In February, 11 buses were put out of service when vandals damaged bus wiring and hoses. Four boys were apprehended and charged with the vandalism.

Police are investigating the latest incident.

Nurse Recalls Role in World War I

When Northville's Miss Ruth Margaret Knapp is honored with the presentation of her 50-year Red Cross nursing pin in ceremonies Sunday, April 9 in Detroit's Cobo Hall, it will be a vivid reminder for her, and many others, that a half a century has passed since the United States entered World War I April 6, 1917.

Letters announcing the upcoming honor served to recall for Miss Knapp circumstances following her becoming a Red Cross nurse March 20, 1917, after finishing nurses training at Harper hospital in Detroit and passing her state board.

Even before war was declared officially, Harper hospital had begun preparations for U.S. base hospital No. 17 located later in Dijon, France. The first unit consisted of 12 of Miss Knapp's classmates, 150 enlisted men from the Detroit area and 21 doctors under Major Angus McLean.

The Harper classmates were part of a group of 42 Red Cross nurses, Miss Knapp recalls, under the direction of Miss Emily McLaughlin, who was superintendent of nurses during her training.

This group gathered on the lawn of Harper hospital May 15, 1917, for dedication ceremonies during which it was presented with a large American flag from Mrs. Fred Alger. Two weeks later, July 2, the nurses left Detroit under sealed orders, headed by train for New York City. Each nurse, Miss Knapp remembers, had a small trunk and a huge patent leather suitcase.

The nurses stayed on Ellis Island and were taken to New York City to be fitted for uniforms—navy serge dresses, coats, hats and capes.

July 13 the group joined the Montefiore doctors and corpsmen on the "Mongolia", which had been a fruit boat and gained fame as the first boat to sink a German submarine. It steamed out of the harbor with three cannon on deck—but with no convoy.

"The food was good—we had lessons in French and life boat drills night and day," comments Miss Knapp, adding that cards and other games filled their time.

"We did not pass another boat during the crossing—the last three days before landing in England the ocean was like glass—then two torpedo boats escorted us to Plymouth, England."

Then they crossed to LeHavre, France, on a hospital boat, staying a week in a convent before arriving by train at Dijon, July 29. There, recounts Miss Knapp, the hospital building was one that formerly had been a Jesuit seminary, and then a French hospital—with 75 French patients still there.

Dinner was waiting for the American nurses, who also were welcomed with an American flag constructed from bits of cloth and red, white and blue flowers.

While she was on duty at Dijon, Miss Knapp saw this four-story, chateau-like building expanded to hold 1800 patients, then 2,000. It became the best equipped and largest American hospital in France with bathrooms and running water installed and the Red Cross supplying everything from ambulances to thermometers.

Before the hospital began receiving patients from the front, Miss Knapp says, the nurses did many things to prepare and keep busy in Dijon, an old university town between Paris and Lyon which in early days was the home of the dukes of Burgundy.

The nurses rolled bandages, made pneumonia jackets and other supplies, and helped the French nurses with their patients. They began receiving American patients off troop trains which passed at the back of the hospital. These had contagious diseases, appendicitis, etc. At one time Miss Knapp nursed 40 men from an outfit which had contacted Spanish.

As the trains passed by enroute to the front, the nurses met them, night or day, and handed out chocolate candy and cigarettes. Once, Miss Knapp thus met two soldiers from her home town of Hillsdale.

The work began when the French left and a first convoy of 500 patients arrived one night—and 500 more the next day. All were English soldiers and officers who had been at a rest camp when they were bombed by the Germans.

"We put them to bed, fed them coffee, white bread and jam," Miss Knapp remembers, adding that their English was very difficult to understand. One soldier, a patient for many weeks, delighted them by saying, "I have so much American blood in my veins (transfusions) that my arm flies up every time I see an American flag."

As more soldiers arrived, other nurses joined the group and they moved from the second floor of the building to the U.S. Army barracks where they were "buck privates" as there were no commissions.

In March of 1918 Miss Knapp was sent to Cannes, on the French Riviera, on a month's sick leave to recuperate from pneumonia. There she was on a goat's milk and egg diet!

Then, after serving a few weeks as a dental assistant, she was placed on night duty. The final nine months at the hospital were spent on operating room duty in the four operating rooms.

By summer, 1918, the hospital was filled with casualties of the battles of the Argonne, St. Mihiel and Chateau-Thierry.

"On arrival, patients, if able, were given shower baths, clean pajamas, a robe and a good bed... then bread, butter, jam and coffee... then the staff went from bed to bed changing dressings, some of which had not been changed since the field dressing station. We inserted Dakin tubes, etc., and those needing immediate care were sent to the operating room."

After the firing ceased, Miss Knapp continued, she was one of six nurses to visit the front, going by ambulance truck to Nancy, Toulon, Eprenay—and eating in a dugout lighted with church candles.

On Christmas leave in Paris, Ruth Knapp saw the Arc de Triomphe covered with sand bags and the fountains turned on again for the first time in four years to welcome President and Mrs. Wilson who passed in parade.

After the war Miss Knapp worked for a short time in Des Moines, Iowa, returning to her home in Hillsdale to receive her science and teaching degree from Hillsdale college in 1937. From 1941 until she retired in 1957 she taught health and was a school nurse in Northville schools.

"Retirement" means to Ruth Knapp regular work as a Northville State hospital auxiliary volunteer in the hospital gift shop, work with Northville Town Hall (last week addressing 800 brochures and stuffing 1,900 into envelopes)—and keeping in touch with Harper hospital to which she has presented her scrapbook filled with World War I recollections and pictures.

Miss Knapp has been a member of the American Legion for 30 years.

In the 1939 Legion convention in Detroit, she was chosen to lead the entire assembly of Legionnaires in a parade down Woodward.

In Our Town

By JEAN DAY

SPRING VACATIONS scattered Northville residents north, south, east and west—but the distinction of being both east in New York and west at Disneyland during the same week belongs to Mrs. Kinglesy Purton.

First Mrs. Purton and her husband house-hunted in the east, finding a ski chalet home on Lake Mohawk in Sparta, New Jersey. Then Mrs. Purton and the couple's four sons, Kingsley, 12, Danny, 10, Andy, 8, and Clay, 6, boarded a United Airlines plane at Metro airport for a four-day vacation at Disneyland.

Adding to the fun, Mrs. Purton confides, was the fact that the boys father, a United Pilot, was at the controls and "flew us out."

The Purton family expects to move to the New Jersey home in June.

Energetic Mrs. Purton will be missed especially in the Newcomers club in which she is completing an active year as its president. She will be presiding at a board meeting at her West Main street home next Tuesday when plans are to be completed for a steak fry to be held April 22 at the home of the Clyde Vadners on Chigwidden in Northville Estates.

Planning the outing are the Halton Axtells, William Heffners, Roger Carters and Dr. and Mrs. Dale Kiser.

The steak fry also will be an opportunity for club members to say goodbye to the Vadners who will be moving to Philadelphia. (This is another energetic, enthusiastic couple whose activities have included a full share of school and PTA work.)

Mrs. Purton hopes that any newcomers arriving in town during this traditional moving season who are not reached by Newcomers will call Mrs. James Herter, 349-4169, membership chairman.

MOVING DAYS also are ahead for Richard Hustons, who will be leaving their home in Brookland Farms for a new home they are building in Edenderry.

Last week Mrs. Huston flew with her mother to Des Moines, Iowa, to visit relatives. Children, Katie, 8, and Ricky, 9, were treated to a visit to Chicago with a cousin and her family.

FLORIDA VACATIONS helped sustain the Robert Bretz and the George Zeuners families.

Bob and Marietta Bretz with Cindy, 9, and Bill, 11, flew with Royal Oak friends to spend 10 days at Siesta Key near Sarasota.

The Zeuners, with Carol, 9, and Ken, 12, drove down to visit Mrs. Zeuner's parents at Jupiter, Florida.

The Robert Marshall family toured the Gulf region with Kim and Greg after leaving sister Tracey with her maternal grandparents in Cincinnati. They explored Biloxi which was "taken over by college boys," New Orleans, Natchez and Vicksburg—particularly interesting to Greg, who is a Civil War buff.

The Herbert Weston family found the "best snow of the year" at Boyne Mountain as they took Jimmy, Tommy and Leslie north for the last ski outing of the season.

A VILLA at Runaway Bay, Jamaica, provided sunning and golfing headquarters for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hempe who were away almost three weeks. With two other couples they shared the same villa as they had rented last year on their second trip to Jamaica.

Before returning home, the Hempes spent last weekend in New Orleans in a reunion with her brother and his wife who joined them there from Shreveport, Louisiana. Mrs. Hempe's mother, Mrs. Frank Graham, who has been visiting here and caring for the young Hempes, will be returning to her home in Shreveport next week.

A NEW "CONDOMINIUM" apartment on a golf course north of Miami awaited the William Slattery and daughter, Nancy, who was home from sophomore studies at Michigan State last week. They were joined in Florida by the Slattery's son, Tom, who has been teaching in Fort Lauderdale.

This week Mrs. Slattery is back to her duties as president of the Northville branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. National arrangements are being checked for the annual Tri-Club luncheon to be held at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 11, at Botsford Inn. Friday is the deadline for reservations with Mrs. William Switzer, 349-0628.

The program will be on the international flower show in New York. Mrs. Slattery reports that a good attendance is anticipated with reservations coming in steadily.

GARDEN CLUB members will study fundamentals of flower arranging at a special workshop session to be held at 10 a.m. Monday, April 10, at the VFW Hall. The workshop will be conducted by Mrs. E. O. Whittington. Because it is too early for garden blooms, artificial ones will be used, but Mrs. Whittington hopes to have a later session with live flowers.

Last week the Robert Bruecks, with daughters Barbara Anne and Mary Beth, flew to St. Louis where they picked up a car to drive 200 miles south to Lake of the Ozarks resort. The girls spent most of their indoor hours in the Holiday Inn swimming pool, Mrs. Brueck commented, adding that they all returned rested. She now is looking forward to Bill Blass and a Saks Fifth Avenue showing of his fashions at the final Town Hall of the 1966-67 season to be held at 11 a.m. April 20 in the Northville high school auditorium.

Mrs. Brueck added that she also intended to "hurry in" her reservation for the luncheon to follow at Meadowbrook. Reservations deadline is April 14, but reservations for both the luncheon and for next season's Town Hall series are coming in well. Mrs. Brueck, who is the TH chairman, announced that more than 100 tickets have been sold for next year in the few days they have been available.

At a TH committee meeting next Monday tickets will be taken again, Mrs. Brueck said.

THE 80th birthday of Mrs. Camilla T. Chenoweth was marked last week-end by gatherings of long-time friends and family. Mrs. Chenoweth, whose birthday was Monday, was honored at a family party Saturday given by her daughter and son-in-law, the William G. Williams, at their home on Eaton.

NORTHVILLE SENIOR Citizens will hear Mrs. Helen McCarthy give a slide presentation of the history of Northville at their meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 11, at the scout-recreation building. Mrs. John Blackburn is program chairman. There also will be a business session, refreshments and a social period.

Webb - Hazlett

A candlelight service at the Milan Baptist church was the setting for the marriage of Georgia Lea Webb of Novi and Philip King Hazlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Hazlett II of Milan February 25. The Rev. Blake Hunt performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Webb of 41480 Grand River.

For her wedding she selected a floor-length gown of French peau de soie. The bodice and skirt were trimmed with lace. A headpiece of lace and pearls held her elbow length veil, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and gardenias.

Miss Mary Smith of Tecumseh was maid of honor at Saturday's evening ceremony. She wore a floor length gown of gold taffeta and carried a cascade of white mums and green tinted spider mums. Miss Elaine Hazlett, the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. John Hazlett III of Milan, Mrs. Kenneth Webb of Plymouth, Mrs. Jack O'Hanlon of Milford and Mrs. Ralph Conrad of Novi were bridesmaids. Each wore a floor-length gown of kelly green taffeta and carried a cascade of white mums and gold spider mums. Flower girl was Elizabeth O'Hanlon of Milford. John Hazlett III, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Ushers were Jerry O'Hanlon, Jack O'Hanlon and Kenneth Webb, the bride's brothers, Harry Markham of Milan and Jerry Goodridge of Ypsilanti.

The bride's mother chose a yellow silk suit with mint green accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow roses and green tinted carnations. The bridegroom's mother chose a beige brocade dress with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations and yellow roses.

Three songs were sung by the soloist, Mrs. Mel Ott of Milan, who was accompanied by the bridegroom's mother at the organ. The songs were: "When He Gave Me You," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Ann Benjamin of Milan attended the guest book. Miss Karen Rumble and Miss Cheryl Richards of Novi helped with the gifts.

Following a reception in the church parlors, the couple left for a honeymoon trip to New York. They will reside at 3875 Judd road, Milan.

Linda Louise Shupe and Charles Ray Turner were married Saturday, March 11 in an evening ceremony at the Walled Lake Baptist church. The Rev. Gene Fry, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Shupe of 26220 Taft road, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Turner of 50000 Nine Mile road.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length, white lace gown and carried a bouquet of white mums.

Kathy Rodocker was the maid of honor. She wore a blue, sleeveless satin formal and carried yellow chrysanthemums. Flower girl for the occasion was Debra Shupe.

Lee Alan Kay was the best man and Gerald Schmitz and Tom Pruitt served as ushers.

Mothers of the newlyweds wore a yellow street dress with green accessories and a blue street dress with white accessories.

A reception was held in the bride's home following the ceremony, with approximately 70 guests attending.

For her going away outfit the bride wore a blue and white three-piece suit. They took up residence at 26224 Taft road.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Northville high school.

Swank - Davis

Susan Jeanne Swank of Northville became the bride of Christian George Davis in an afternoon wedding on Saturday, March 25.

The Reverend S.D. Kinde performed the ceremony in the First Methodist Church of Northville, which was decorated with Easter lilies, white glads and mums for the occasion. William Hughes was the organist, and Donald Valentine the soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Swank of 44900 Thornapple Lane, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian D. Davis of Southfield.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown featured Empire lines, a skirt of white crepe, and a bodice of white satin etched with roses. Her gown included a chapel train, shoulder length veil and a crown of lace and seed pearls.

Miss Kathryn Lee of Northville was the maid of honor. She wore a blue crepe Empire gown, with a bow accenting the bodice. She carried deep pink long stem roses.

Bridesmaids were Patricia Swank, sister of the bride, and Lesta Stanley of Pontiac. They wore blue crepe gowns and carried light pink long stem roses with a cascade of spring rye and pink ribbons.

Serving his brother as best man was Edward Davis, a student at Central Michigan university. Ushers were Fred Joles of Mt. Pleasant and Fred Gosnell of Flint.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Swank wore a blue lace street dress and pink roses, while Mrs. Davis chose a deep pink crepe and lace dress and white roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Richards Fellowship Hall. Among special guests were the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. W. R. Witt and Mrs. H. M. Swank; Mr. and Mrs. Forest Swank and son Jon of Loudonville, Ohio; the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Coleman of Southfield; and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Atkinson of Bay City.

For her wedding trip to Northern Michigan, the new Mrs. Davis chose a green wool suit, beige accessories, and a corsage from her bridal bouquet. The newlyweds will live in Howard City where Mrs. Davis is now teaching.

The bride was a January graduate of Central Michigan university at Mt. Pleasant, and the bridegroom is presently attending Ferris college at Big Rapids following discharge from the United States Air Force after serving six years.

Northville Gets Two for One

'Trade' Bolsters Net Hopes

There's no hiding the glimmer of joy in Coach Dick Norton's eyes. Responsible for his new found euphoria is an off-season exchange that has made the Northville netmen as strong - if not stronger - than last year.

Last year, if you recall, Northville won the Wayne-Oakland Conference championship and posted a 13-5 season mark.

The exchange, the way Norton views it, was two for one, with Northville coming out on the long end. Northville lost one of its prime racketeers, Steve Quay, through transfer and he's now a member of the Spartan tennis squad.

Kalamazoo more than filled the gap, however, by giving Northville the Alexander boys, Senior Mark and Sophomore Dane. Both have won starting assignments, Mark as number two and Dane as the number three singles man.

Jim Long, number one last year and the defending W-O singles champ, retained hold of the top spot, but not without a battle. Mark Alexander pushed Long in the pre-season challenge matches held earlier this week before conceding. Last year, Mark Alexander is reported to have competed in the state finals.

Dane Alexander edged out Veterans Randy Burnett and Bruce Durham for the third singles spot.

As a result, Burnett will team up with Ken Boerger in the number one doubles team. The number two combination will be Durham and Jonathon Eberhart.

Norton feels, however, that the same problem that plagued Northville last year will loom up this year - lack of depth, especially in the doubles. "We have doubles problems," the coach said, "especially in non-league matches, because of no depth." In the conference we won't be so bad."

The rules for awarding points make the difference. In non-league games, teams must play four singles and three doubles, one more in each category than the league demands.

Forced to play four singles, Norton said he will stick with his big three and probably move Eberhart into the fourth singles spot. Chuck Skene, a newcomer who has performed well in practice, will slide into Eberhart's vacated spot to team with Durham in the number two doubles. Boerger and Burnett will remain as the number one doubles tandem.

Still, Norton must field a third doubles team, and this is where problems crop up in non-league play. He will have to go with inexperienced hands. But, Norton states, non-league competition is the place for experiment to get prepared for the W-O.

Three singles men and two doubles teams required in conference competition is the reason why Norton is picking his boys to be top contenders for the league title.

Norton cautions, however, that the opening matches will tell the true story of how strong Northville is. And one of the first two matches will be especially significant.

Northville will pry the lid off the season today when it hosts Walled Lake at Cass Benton park. Walled Lake, a team that Northville whipped 6-0 last year, doesn't figure to be too strong this year, Norton advises.

Tomorrow, however, Howell will come to town. An all-veteran squad, Howell is expected to give Northville a tussle and to prove a better indicator of things to come.

"We beat them twice last year," Norton said, "both times by 6-1. But don't let that fool you. They were young and inexperienced. With a year behind them, they should be tough."

Northville's Long should remember Howell's number one man well. He beat Long twice, providing Howell with the only team points it garnered last year. The battle between the two top men shapes up as one of the matches of the year.

The matches at Cass Benton park are scheduled to begin at 3:30 p.m.

Single Point Outshines 13 In Track Scoring Puzzle

When is one point better than 13 and 3/4?

In golf and cross country, sports in which the lowest point total is a mark of superiority.

But it also holds true in track where excellence is determined in the reverse order. At least, according to Coach Ralph Redmond, it does, when weighing Northville's performance in the Spartan Relays against their showing in the Huron Relays.

Northville scored only one point last Friday at East Lansing, 13 and 3/4 the previous week at Ypsilanti.

How does Redmond figure? The field of competition wasn't appreciably tougher, it was the system of scoring that made the difference. Otherwise Northville might have scored higher.

At EMU, points were given to the first eight places. At MSU, the first five were awarded points.

The only event in which Northville broke into the elite circle was in the shuttle hurdle relay. The team of Senior Jack Crawford, and Juniors Jim Peterson, Randy Simpson and Ron Gloetzner posted a time of 31 seconds, good for fifth place. That's an improvement of 4/10 of a second over their EMU mark.

This alone was enough to raise the spirits of Redmond. Last year, Northville was strictly no show in the hurdles, team or otherwise, in or out of the Wayne-Oakland Conference. Two local prepsters, especially, are expected to battle it out for Northville points - Simpson and Gloetzner. Both ran their legs of the relay in :7.5.

Another heartening performance was turned in by Peterson in the high jump. The versatile Mustang bettered his Huron Relay mark by three inches, soaring to 5'8" for an eighth-place finish. He tied Ed Purifay of Ecorse, who copped the high jump at EMU with a jump of 5'8".

Peterson's mark is only 3/4 of an inch off the Northville high school record, one Redmond expects the growing junior to equal or break later this year.

Northville's spring medley relay team, which copped a second in the Huron Relays, was foiled by a decision made before the running of the Spartan Relays. Tournament officials determined that the sprint medley would be composed of two 440 legs and two 220 legs, not as in the Huron where there were two 220 legs, a 440 and an 880.

The 880 run gave Northville's Bill Harrison enough time to speed past four runners and into second place. Although Harrison passed four runners at East Lansing, he didn't have enough time in the 440 to catch the front runners.

Al Eberhart ran the other 440, and Ron Gloetzner and Crawford both ran a 220. Northville finished eighth in a field of 75 schools competing in the tournament.

Gloetzner, Northville's best in the pole vault, cleared 11' but failed to place in the event.

"Gloetzner is capable of going higher," Redmond said, "but he's trying out a new 150-pound sky pole which bends differently from the thermo-flex pole he's used to. But Ron's picking up confidence and once he masters the new pole," Redmond continued, "I expect to see him clear 11'6" or 12'."

Turning in a respectable mark of 9:24 in the two-mile relay was the team of Sophomores John Pauli and Phil Kennedy, Freshman Paul Bedford and Junior George D'Haene. A time of 8:24 won the event. "They're young," Redmond said, "and did a very good job, considering their youth."

Redmond also praised the performance of Sophomore Bob Hicks in the shot put. He heaved the shot 35 feet, three feet farther than in the Huron Relays.

This week, Redmond said he'll have his boys working hard in preparation for the opening duel meet Tuesday against South Lyon at Northville high school. The meet is scheduled to begin at 4 p.m.

"From what I saw at MSU," the Northville coach said, "I expect South Lyon to be strong in the sprints, the low hurdles and in the 880 relay. They'll provide a good warm-up for the duel meets to follow."

April Showers Bring Blues

"We're biding our time" is the tune Golf Coach Al Jones is singing - to a blues beat.

The weather has put a damper on things, including practice.

Brooklane golf course was open only one day as of Monday, Jones said, and even then, the course was wet. Brae Burn and Meadowbrook country club have not opened their courses to linksters this year, let alone prepsters.

Furthermore, Jones is on the lookout for a new driving range. Brooklane, where the Northville high school golfers previously practiced, has shut down its driving range.

All of which does not help Jones in getting his golf squad in shape and sizing up new talent.

For beginners, the golfers will use the cage at the high school to oil the rusty hinges. In addition, while other teams will be swinging into action next week, the linksters won't T-off until April 17.

Democracy in Action?

Annual township meetings are considered one of the most democratic, historic forms of government in the United States. Nevertheless, university political scientists at both Ann Arbor and East Lansing question their effectiveness on grounds that so few citizens of a township attend them. For example, approximately 25 persons turned out Saturday for the Northville township meeting (above) of the community building. The township has a population of more than 5,000 people. For the story on the Northville meeting see Page 1 of The Record. Stories on the history of the annual township meeting appear on Page 1 of both The Record and The News, and a story on the Salem township annual meeting appears on Page 8-A.

PASTOR'S STUDY

Rev. R. A. Mitchinson
New Hudson Methodist Church

When men, women, and children are dying to preserve freedom and stop the onslaught of Communism in the world, Christians must face the fact of war realistically. To simply say that war is contrary to the will of God doesn't seem to be enough. Certainly, we are called upon to respect the commandment "Thou shalt not kill" and the teachings of Jesus in the Sermon on the Mount. However, Jesus said a great deal about man's responsibility to his neighbor, making it crystal clear that we are called upon to get involved and sacrifice our very lives in order to preserve the lives of others; in short, the neighbor—every man. To fail to act when danger strikes then would seem as contrary to the will of God as war itself. Jesus did not in his own time lash out with the intention of harming anyone, but he did take a certain initiative to bring about change and resist evil.

One thing that should be of a great concern to us is giving encouragement to our thousands of soldiers from this country and others, who out of bravery and conviction sacrifice themselves for the freedom of the world. You can say that war is contrary to the will of God, but where does that leave these people who have left the comforts and safety of home and community to do what they think is right. So much of the time we seem to be saying that what they are doing is unchristian. Yet, I might venture to say that what many so-called Christians are doing and saying today is far more unchristian and damning.

Henry Kolbe wrote an article during the Korean conflict entitled "The Christian's Dilemma in Wartime" in which he suggests that if the primary or intentional act of the soldier is to kill, then the Christian must oppose military service. However, if the intentional is to preserve our home, family, and country, then the soldier's act has to be thus judged. It is impossible then, to say that participation in war for these reasons is unchristian. It does not seem that it is the will of God that other people's lives are destroyed, and, therefore, any such operation should not be permitted to go unchecked. To quote from Kolbe's article directly.

"For surely it ill behooves a Christian to be so concerned with his own welfare that in order to keep his own hands unspotted from violence he should permit others to suffer or die."

Those who oppose war on the basis of its being unchristian must be given the greatest of respect, but at the same time nonpacifists must be respected for their views. To quote Georgia Harkness in her book Christian Ethics,

"...there ought to be no name calling or imputing of bad motives to conscientious fellow Christians. To charge a pacifist with lack of patriotism or with cowardice, or to call a non-pacifist Christian a militarist or a warmonger, accomplishes nothing except to reveal one's ignorance and arouse bad feelings."

Today many thousands who are holding on to their Christian principles while participating in war need our support, and we must be careful when we denounce the evil of war that we do not condemn brave men.

There is no doubt in my mind that we must follow the teachings of Jesus as far as humanly possible, but at the same time it is hard to believe that in the face of aggression we are to do nothing. To do nothing to protect ourselves and others from open aggression indirectly involves us in taking part in the killing of innocent people. To place this on a lower level, you who are parents have been born with an inner compulsion to protect your children. This is God's will. Certainly, if you fail to do this and harm should come to your children because of your lack of responsibility, it would be hard for you to justify your action.

Any thinking individual recognizes the futility of war in this modern age and that everything possible should be done to prevent war in order to preserve mankind. Whether pacifist or non-pacifist, we must be willing to present a united front and work harmoniously to bring about a lasting peace.

Evangelists Speak in Novi

A series of services are being held in the Novi community building on Sundays at 7:30 p.m. and Fridays at 8 p.m. through the month of April.

"Services are quiet and reverent," a spokesman emphasized, "and our only text is the Bible and our creed Jesus Christ."

The services feature evangelists Miss Wilma Linton and Miss Helen Seidel.

Why do people with hard-to-heat rooms turn to electric heat?

It's pure and simple

Electric heat is the clean, modern heat—no flame, no fumes. It's a snap to install—costs less, too—because it's more compact and needs no flue. And only electric heat is 100% efficient: the heat is created right where it's used. It's also economical. You can buy an attractive, low-operating-cost unit for as little as $35-$40 (plus thermostat and installation). And we're talking about a unit that can turn a 12' x 20' polar region into a tropical delight. Just dial the warmth you want, and you get it. Give us a call. We'll send an Edison Heating Specialist to discuss equipment, installation, and operating cost with you. No obligation, of course.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. If you go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When Jimmy Clark crowned the tiny church with the steeple it touched my heart.

Incidentally, I admire Jimmy Clark and I am interested in everything he does. When he brushes his teeth or rides his tricycle, or climbs the sliding board at the playground I admire his concentration and his careful workmanship. And when he cuddles into his Daddy's lap at bedtime or walks hand in hand with him up the church steps on Sunday he looks like an angel.

I think you have guessed it by now, haven't you? I'm Jimmy's mother—and a doting mother at that. I think Jimmy could accomplish just about anything... doctor, lawyer, merchant; why he might be President some day.

But whatever he becomes, I want him to be a good man; strong and true of character, firm in his principles. I want him to have God as his partner. That's why I go to church every Sunday and take Jimmy. It's the best insurance I know for a happy and fulfilled life.

The young students, survivors of regional elimination tests in electricity-electronics, automotive service, power mechanics, and drafting, will be required to solve a series of working problems such as "bugged" engines and electronic equipment, and drafting board posers.

The test of skill and ability begins at 1:30 p.m.

The competition is sponsored by the Michigan Industrial Education Society, and is staged in conjunction with the MIES annual convention at Cobo Hall, Detroit, April 6-8. Winners will receive awards at a luncheon for the finalists at Cobo on Saturday, April 8.

Coordinator for the competition is Delavan W. Sipes, electronics instructor at Schoolcraft.

In charge of the individual competition categories are Arthur J. Oeltmeier and George Clark, automotive instructors at Schoolcraft; power mechanics and automotive service; Ferron Feenstra, chairman of the technical division at the college, electricity and electronics; and Richard J. Reinhold, architecture instructor, and Leo J. Bigos, drafting instructor, in drafting.

Student competitors include eight from area high schools. Campus tours, conducted by members of the Schoolcraft Student Senate, are scheduled for competition spectators between 12:30 and 1:15 p.m., Friday.

Displays and demonstrations of industrial and technical facilities and equipment at the college, will be on view from 1 to 4 p.m.

Abortion Bill Sparks Little Debate

LANSGING — Abortion and sterilization should be very controversial subjects. But Michigan lawmakers find, so far, this has not been the case.

When State Senator John E. McCauley, D-Wyandotte, introduced a bill to legalize abortion and sterilization under specified circumstances there was brief argument over whether the bill could be considered this year.

Senator Robert Richardson, chairman of the Judiciary Committee to which the bill was assigned, said his group already had a full calendar. The committee probably would not have time to properly study this measure because it would draw so much controversy, he stated.

Richardson suggested it be sent to the Health Committee, which has fewer bills. His idea was turned down.

McCauley's proposal, patterned after similar laws in other states, would permit abortions upon recommendation by a county prosecutor and three physicians if the pregnancy resulted from rape or incest.

Sterilization of either men or women would be allowed because of physical or mental health considerations or the family's economic condition.

McCauley describes his bill as a "humanitarian" proposal.

Many doctors of high reputation are now performing these operations despite the risk to their professional standing, he said.

Only a sprinkling of mail was received after the bill was made public. In a letter to the Senate committee the Michigan Council of Churches put itself firmly on record in support of the legislation.

Concern has now shifted over this bill which, if passed, could be one of the most significant changes in Michigan law enacted this year.

Richardson was first concerned that his committee could not give proper attention to the proposal because of its controversial nature.

The concern in many quarters now is that Richardson's committee will bypass the measure this session because there has not been adequate public sentiment.

Michigan's income tax, if one is signed into law, will probably be accepted reluctantly by the state's citizens. It might be some consolation to know that they have company among citizens of other states.

According to a study of the State Revenue Department, 35 states now have an income tax. All except that in Indiana are on a graduated scale with the percentage of tax increasing as income increases.

Of the graduated programs in other states, some start as low as 1.5 percent and some go as high as 12 percent. Variations in exemption and deduction allowances make the taxes nearly impossible to compare in any general way, the department study emphasizes.

There is consolation in the knowledge that 26 states and the District of Columbia have both sales tax and income tax.

The real issue is that Michigan simply needs more money than present programs generate if the state is to function at the level its people indicate they expect.

Who wants to reduce substantially the funds for schools, both at local and college level? Who wants to relieve the state of its welfare responsibilities and dump these back on individual counties? Who wants to lose ground in treatment of mental health? The answer seems to be "very few."

Yet nearly 75% of state budget is made up of these three categories. Lawmakers are faced with the very real problem of raising money to finance the expenditures which they have authorized. And much of the funds authorized have been approved following pressure from citizens and citizen groups.

One can judge the conscientious legislator as compared with the more politically motivated by watching the voting record. A man who votes for all the expenditures and none of the taxes leaves something to be desired when he is measured for responsibility. This is the way, for it permits him to tell one group of constituents that he voted for what they want and another group that he voted for no taxes.

Legislators who face the full problem of both expenditure and income honestly are of infinitely more value to the people they represent. This is the more difficult way, but it is the way which has a significance for the state.

There can be little doubt that Michigan citizens will be paying more in taxes in 1967 than they did in 1966. The question is how it will be collected, and when the collection will be accelerated.

Says '66 Was Good Year For Farmers in General

BABSON PARK, Mass. — Although not all farmers had a good year in 1966, by and large agriculture did very well. Farm income rose to new high ground and export volume was encouragingly large. This year the outlook for farmers is not quite so rosy; nevertheless 1967 promises to be good over all and generally profitable.

The Agriculture Department reports that 257 million acres will be seeded to 17 major crops in 1967, if farmers stick to their planting intentions. This would be 3% above last year's acreage. In spite of expected heavy increases in corn and sorghum plantings, it looks as if total feed-grain production would dip some 7 million tons from the goals set earlier by the Administration.

Although farmers plan to up corn acreage this year by a hefty 7%, there is no guarantee that this would result in a proportionate output gain. Size of the final outturn will be determined by the rate of yield per acre. Our forecast is that total corn supply in the 1967-68 season (crop plus carryover) will be less than 5 billion bushels, and will top actual demand by only a nominal margin.

ASSUMING FARMERS persevere in their intentions to rebuild cattle herds — and chances are good that they will — outbacks in cattle and calf marketings later this year may just about cancel our expected heavier-than-year-ago hog runs. To put it another way: Whatever increase we see in hog output this year will not make for larger total livestock production.

Over the next couple of months slaughter of steers and heifers will continue heavy, reflecting the large numbers still in feedlots. This will tend to limit cattle price upturns well into May at least. Even so, the bulk of factors suggests that cattle prices during the second quarter will average a bit higher than in the January-March period.

It is widely expected that agricultural prices will be higher this year than in 1966, but close examination of supply-demand trends indicates this will not be so. Best bet is that the average of farm-product prices in 1967 will actually show a small decline. Much larger corn and soybean crops, and a sizable upturn at least in wheat output, will mean lower quotes for these items. Hog, poultry, and egg prices also promise to be down from last year. And these projected price declines are unlikely to be offset by higher quotes for cattle, dairy products, and perhaps some selected grains.

Of course the larger farm productivity in prospect will result in some increase in total receipts from agricultural marketings. A new record for gross farm income seems to be in the making. Realized net will be a different story, however, for farmers' expenses are rising rapidly. Labor costs, machinery prices, and taxes are all trending up. As a consequence, farmers' realized net income this year may be off from 1966 possibly by as much as 5%.

Farmers and others who depend on farm purchasing power for their own bread and butter cannot fully insulate themselves from the impact of higher costs. But they can become more prosperous by keeping abreast of the economic and technological developments affecting agriculture. They must be prepared for a further decline in the number of farms and for additional increases in farm size.

Make no mistake about it, farms having less than $20,000 in product sales annually are on the way out. But larger farms will become still more highly mechanized and more profitable. And the market for feed, seeds, and equipment will grow far beyond current expectations.

Sap's Flowing

The maple sap is running! Residents of southeastern Michigan can see it on a maple tree on Aspen nature trail in Kensington Metropolitan Park near New Hudson.

Park naturalist Lee Curtis has devised a "Taste It Yourself" exhibit on a maple tree. By turning a small petcock, visitors can let a few drops fall into their mouth.

Persons who have never tasted maple sap before may be surprised to learn that it is not really very sweet. Only after the water is boiled off does the maple sap become syrupy and taste sweet.

This exhibit may well be in place only as long as the sap flows, which may be two or three weeks.

Naturalist Curtis says that "No pancakes are furnished."

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

A project that has been high on the list of Township Supervisor R. D. Merriam for nearly three years is finally coming into focus.

A letter of intent received last week from the state department of mental health makes the proposed sale of water to Northville State Hospital and Plymouth State Home and Training School a near certainty.

The result of the negotiation will be a system of water lines in the township's southeastern section that will provide water to a wide residential area.

On the basis of assurances that the state-owned institutions will purchase Detroit water from the township when it is available, definite steps can now be undertaken to start financial and engineering plans for the project.

Supervisor Merriam points out that the revenues from the sale of water to the two large hospitals will finance the project, estimated at some $500,000.

Plans call for installation of a water line from the Detroit main on Eight Mile road across Meadowbrook country club to Marilyn road, then south along Marilyn to Seven Mile road and across Northville State Hospital property to Six Mile road and finally west to Sheldon road thus "looping" the line by rejoining the Detroit main, which runs through the city of Northville.

The new township water line should bring water to the proposed Greenspan and Thompson-Brown developments in the Six-Mile-Bradner road area as well as adjoining areas along Six and Seven Mile roads.

Supervisor Merriam is hopeful that actual work on the installation of the system can begin by late fall.

He points out in addition to the fact that revenues can pay off the cost of the installation, Wayne county has indicated it will back the township in guaranteeing the bonds, a feature that will lower interest rates.

The prospect of water service should be good news to present homeowners in the area, some of whom have experienced water shortage problems. It is also certain to attract new development and enhance the value of vacant land in the area.

A proposed "unification" study to include the city and township of Plymouth, Canton township and the city and township of Northville may have some reasonable aspects, but we suspect ulterior motives.

The idea was advanced in conjunction with the second Plymouth Community Leadership Conference, which will be held Saturday at Schoolcraft college.

Primarily, the conference was called to discuss progress of a joint governmental police study and a joint incinerator study.

Apparently, the thought was then advanced that unification of the governments of Plymouth City and township and either all of Canton township, or that portion in the Plymouth school district, should be considered.

The proposal was given support by the Plymouth township supervisor "provided Northville city and township is included".

Surprisingly enough, both Mayor Allen and Supervisor Merriam have expressed interest in the proposal. But Merriam admits privately that Northville was brought into the picture as a "smokescreen". And I presume he means by this that the advocate of a five-community unification study knows the odds of bringing five communities together are roughly 2 1/2-times as slim as uniting two governmental units.

The idea of broad community studies to solve problems, such as incineration, is a good one.

But I cannot believe that we are ready for polygamy.

First we should foster a courtship within our own community. Hopefully, it would point up the desirability of a marriage that might gain acceptance.

N.E.D. Dir. Slaps N.R.'s Short Name Preference

The Ed: The N.R. (Northville Record) I see by your esteemed column of recent date you look with a favored eye on those Corporate bodies whom you can put into the shortened dress of a news headline. But you look askance at those other organizations whose corporate names defy shortening of their alphabetical hem lines.

To cite your example it sounds as if you were setting your CAP for the Committee of Area Progress, but you have no time for the Northville Area

Economic Development Corporation, which from the standpoint of a head line, lacks style, class, adaptability. Admittedly the trend in fashion is the Mini-skirt, and in the news headlines is to the abbreviated alphabetical shorts, but let's face it, you can't change nature. There are some whose personality comes through quite well if you put them in levis, as to some others, the less said the better. Perhaps it is our cross that The Northville Area Economic Development Corporation seems to be in the latter category.

However, there are a number of points in favor of your argument, the most compelling of which is that you are the only paper in town. In addition the N.R. (Northville Record) has a sustaining membership in our Organization (meaning it pays more for its membership) and is practically the sole source of our publicity. So it would appear then you are merely indulging in a little bit of self-criticism.

Based on these considerations I'm sure any member of our Organization would be happy to sit down with you (make a date) to see what could be done to add to our Corporate appeal.

As only one member of our Organization I would ask you to listen to my built-in prejudices to alphabetical fripperies. I must confess to a little irritation when the alphabetical designation is given without accompanying translation. Two examples: there is SNVCC which I believe has something to do with non-violence, but which has the opposite effect on me. Then there is NAACP which by this time has come to mean No Action on Adam Clayton Powell. Question: How can our Corporation keep its corporate personality in this alphabetical shuffle?

Without in any way belittling the CAP let me say the Northville Area Development Corporation stands for area progress too — and more. But rather than stand for everything we try to stand for something definite like Northville; the Northville Area — consisting of Northville City, Township and School District. We stand for a balanced community; The Economics of Payrolls, and the bringing of these elements together to see what develops.

Turning to your complaint it would seem that the bone in the throat here would be Economic Development. In my view Economic Development is revealing and definite, but the stumble word is Area. It would be easier to re-write the headline than it would be to consolidate the governing bodies, and thus let the single word Northville, as in the prefix for Record stand for the whole area without effecting a complete personality change. Thus by striking Area you come up with Northville Economic Development Corporation which can be abbreviated to N.E.D. The N.E.D. Co. This is just a tentative attempt to meet your merited criticism. It is a subject on which some other members of the corporation may have some thoughts too.

Respectfully yrs,
H.B.P. Dir. N.E.D. (Harold B. Putnam Director ECTERA)

Ed's Note—Altho not a Dir. of N.E.D., this Ed. feels obliged to pt. out that the NR did as much (probably more) to hide well-meaning, but slow-acting, community leaders into finally forming N.E.D. than any individ. or org. in town. The NR knows the N.E.D. story well and has plugged it (and even defended it) as well as invested time and money in it. I regret that our intended compliment to CAP offended N.E.D. Dir. H.B.P., who has, incidentally, also contributed much to the success of N.E.D.—WCS.

Teacher Says Some Confused

To the Editor,

It has come to our attention that some community members are confused about the present state of "Teacher-School Board" Negotiations.

As has happened before, the specifics of the situation are not known. Anyone who is interested in the facts can call Don Brown, President of Northville Teachers Association, at PA 2-8575 or Pat Bubel at GL 3-2185.

Dislikes Games of Chance

To the Editor:

We notice with interest the reports indicating planning is underway for the PTA Carnival, held annually for the benefit of Northville schools. We wish to register our strong objections to the practice of having games of chance in connection with the carnival. It seems a crying shame that we should teach our children the habits of gambling from their earliest age and the false idea that trophies are won by the turn of a wheel or fall of a number. Not to mention the fact that they are also taught that it is permissible to waste one's money in the chance of winning a prize.

A letter written by a prison inmate and published in The Christian Science Monitor of August 12, 1965, bears out this point.

It is also our understanding that there is a provision in the national PTA Constitution which specifically states that there is to be no gambling in connection with this organization. Your serious consideration of this matter is requested.

Sincerely
Mr. & Mrs. Mark C. Larkins

It's all rollicking good fun, a smash comedy hit from Broadway, a bit of Americana, so they say. Truth of the matter is the clichés heralding the coming of "The Odd Couple" didn't miss the mark by far. One is thoroughly drenched in belches of laughter by the time the curtain comes down on the final play of the University of Michigan's Professional Theatre Program.

But when all's said and done, "The Odd Couple" is hardly a play conceived in innocence and dedicated to the proposition that life is a bowl of cherries. And this is where the advanced billing falls short. Under the panoply of bearish repartee is a solid shaft of criticism aimed directly at the American male and indirectly at the heart of America — marriage.

"The Odd Couple," you see, is two men, not two women. Because of his profligacy, the bullish Oscar Madison has been divorced by his wife, Blanche, leaving Oscar free to indulge his puerile whims, like getting together with the boys to play cards and raise hell. Felix Ungar is the milquetoast daddy, that poor boob who's more woman than man. But don't blame Felix, the emasculated American male.

He's the victim of rigorous toilet training, by his own admission. Whimpering, simpering Felix has been given the heave-ho by his spouse because of his impeccability, his penchant for cleanliness that borders on insanity. Self-effacing Felix and ebullient Oscar strike an agreement, connubial at that. Felix will keep house for sloppy Oscar and together they'll make beautiful music.

They do, until bliss blows up as familiar marital peccadilloes come back to haunt, like ghosts from marriages past. The where have you been bit when you knew the dinner was ready and a telephone was close by. The silent treatment. An incongruous situation, calculated to bring laughs — and it does — but it's a deadly business, too, baring the American male as an inept slob, on the one hand, and an emasculated patsy, on the other.

All of which does not detract from the play. In fact, it's the rack upon which the hat of comedy hangs. But there is something wrong with the matter. Playwright Neil Simon, whose Broadway hits have established his continuing celebrity, is a little too rife with the punch line. "Couple" comes dangerously close to a comic night club act, with every line taut with clever twists. Over the long run — two hours — the flip line pales and the play is buoyed up by dramatic surprise.

Top of the Deck

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

While instructing my children in the skillful maneuvers of putting a kite into the air over the weekend, my father reminisced a little about the times his children flew "home-made monstrosities."

It was enough to spark an almost forgotten terror.

Like so many dads in the Thirties who counted pennies as folks counted dollars today, mine took to building most of his children's toys — kites included. The practice became so ingrained that even after labor became more plentiful he continued to make toys. Even today my own children are recipients of these marvels.

Hobby horses, rockers, trucks, wagons — you name it, he made 'em. And they were better built, finer looking toys than the boughten kind, even though his children wished secretly for those in the store.

But it was in the area of kite-building that my father excelled — not so much in craftsmanship as in originality. He built all kinds; there were little ones, three-sided and five-sided ones. But his specialty was the "Russian Monster", a giant billboard with an ugly face that scared kids for blocks around.

With the first breezes of spring a sort of demon-like madness possessed him as he gathered materials for the "new" monster. No amount of pleading would sway him. "This one will be bigger and better and meaner than last year's," he would chortle, certain that no neighborhood kid could match the product his children would fly.

Just the thought of him down in the basement putting together the monster kept our normally kids-filled, noisy yard strangely empty and silent. Even his own children had to muster courage to descend into that basement laboratory where he huddled over yards of heavy meat-wrapping paper, cane poles, and a can of blood-red paint.

The five-sided monster was about five feet high and nearly four feet wide. Its framework was of split-in-half cane poles and the sides of heavy carpenter's twine. It featured my father's own brand of "bellybands" that pushed the kite's chest out and accented the bearded, teeth-filled face of the Russian.

(I think dad got the idea of the face from a photograph of my grandfather showing him in his Russian army uniform).

The day of the christening was always a momentous one. Kites suddenly disappeared from the skies, fields emptied, and a hush fell over the neighborhood. It was always a windy day — it had to be in order to get the monster airborne. But once in the air, it was there to stay. (I remember tying it to the back-porch rail while taking time out for supper).

Few knew of the terror one felt in holding the heavy line that anchored the monster to the ground. It's debatable which end of the line made it tremble so. There was the constant fear that the pilot would suddenly be lifted heavenward, and there was that nagging fear that it would rip from the hands of the pilot, leaving him to answer to its creator.

Each year brought innovations. There was that terrible, whistling noise caused by a paper belt across the monster's face, the 20-foot long tail with a tin can fastened to its end, there was the parachute drops, and the special bridle that made the monster dive on command.

As the years passed and his children grew older, monster building became less and less exciting until finally, my father put away his materials and ideas.

Last weekend as he reminisced, something stirred within him and for a moment I thought he might head for the basement. But it was only a teasing memory, properly left to his own children to grow in size and ferocity.
