have taxed the local drainage system (see story on this page). There's little time to dry out and make repairs. Tuesday night a flash storm hit Northville again. It lasted less than half an-hour this time, not long enough to flood but with such force that two large trees were felled blocking the city's main arteries—South Center street near the Downs (top left) and Main street near the grade school (top right). Both trees fell at about 5:30 p.m. Center street was cleared within 45 minutes, while it required two hours on Main street. At the height of the downpour water expladed out of a manhole at Cady and Center like a miniature gusher (below). There were no injuries reported locally as a result of the storm. In Wixom, however, a 16-year-pld Detroit girl, Karen Solin, was killed when struck by lightning. She was in a rowboat in Loon Lake when the storm hit the Wixom area at 3:20 p.m.

A Northville service station was closed over the weekend and reopened Monday under temporary management following the arrest of eight men accused of a $100,000 gasoline credit card fraud.

Closed and then reopened was the station at the corner of Main and Church streets, which had been operated by Howard Hester, 38, of Detroit. Arraigned in Recorder's Court last week, Hester faces examination August 2 on charges of conspiracy to cheat and defraud and to violate the Michigan credit card law.

Operating the station temporarily until a permanent dealer can be named to replace Hester is Harvey Justice, who operates his own station at Six Mile and Farmington.

Hester and seven other Wayne and Oakland county men were released on personal bond following their arraignment. Only Hester worked here. No other local employees were implicated.

William Long of the fraud division of the Wayne county prosecutor's office told The Record Tuesday that all eight men were members of a ring that obtained lost or stolen credit cards of Michigan motorists and used them to charge off accounts with Standard Oil.

Long said the Standard Oil company cooperated with the prosecutor's office in launching the investigation three months ago when motorists complained that they had been charged for merchandise and service that they had not purchased. In addition, several tips about illegal use of credit cards were reported, Long said.

He said Hester was one of the persons who "rented" a stolen card to write off a Standard Oil bill. Charges for service or merchandise never sold were written against the cards, Long explained, and the receipts were used by the service station suspects to pay bills to Standard in lieu of cash.

The cards themselves, he said, were found or stoleh. They were passed around to members of the ring, sometimes at a rental fee of $75, Some cards, he said, were obtained by having someone go to a station posting as a motorist who had lost his card. Looking over the lost cards in the dealer's possession, he would memorize one of the names and return later - when another attendant was on duty-and give the memorized name. Some attendants then gave up the cards without asking for identification.

Hester's brother, Robert, who also was arrested, operated two stations elsewhere in the county, Long said. Bernard Pyne of South Lyon, a former tank truck driver for Standard, also was arrested.

Sidewalk Sale Set for August 19

Northville's annual "sidewalk sale", sponsored by the Retail Merchants Division of the Northville Community Chamber of commerce, is scheduled to be held on Saturday, August Organizations wishing to participate in the day-long event and reserve sidewalk space should contact Gerald Stone, FI 9-2323.

It was a stormy night Monday for Northville's city council. At least most of the conversation concerned storm drains and sewers, and a host of citizens were on hand to let their displeasure known.

They complained about flooded basements, washed-out yards, 'underculverts and unwanted ponds.

The predicament tested the tempers of some, particularly the mayor, who lashed out at the city engineer in a rare display of anger.

Normally placid, City Engineer Harold Penn took exception to some of the charges and flatly told the mayor he was wrong. Equally cool City Manager Frank Ollendorff also found some, of the criticism too sharp as he pointed out that the city's "trouble spots' during storms have been "reduced to only

All of the drainage problems center around the northwest portion of the city where new developments and higher land have increased and accelerated the rate of water flow southward through the rest of the city.

The source of some of the problems is outside the city limits in Novi, another aggravation to the council.

But Monday night the drainage discussion was triggered by a complaint from Roger Harrison, 851 Carpenter, who told the council that his basement had been flooded by sewage last week end "when there was no rain". The heavy June 28 rain had also flooded Harrison's basement. He said he did not believe that the sanitary sewer, which runs along an alley behind the Carpenter street homes, was adequate.

Harrison's basement and another on Carpenter have frequently been flooded. Engineer Penn said he would check the line, but that it was his belief that the troubled basements were only one foot above the line and that "flatness"

Host of Issues Remain In Teacher Negotiations

With contract disputes outweighing agreements on non-economic matters, teacher-board negotiators for the Northville school system will return to the bargaining table tomorrow in an attempt to iron out rough edges of economic proposals and counterproposals.

Specifically, all or parts of 64 economic demands probably will be reviewed - although it wasn't entirely clear to either side at the close of last Saturday's meeting to what extent nonsalary type matters will be discussed.

Teachers requested that both sides plunk their salary proposals on the table, but the negotiators for the board argued that they cannot propose a salary scale without also considering the cost of all related economic matters. On the basis of accomplishment, the two sides appear to be little closer to settlement today than they were at the close of school.

Some of the underlying differences which seem to prevent settlement of individual items include:

- Teachers contend that clauses agreed upon in last year's contract have been "doctored up" with legal verbage in administrative counter proposals, thus forcing teachers to move slowly as they attempt to interpret wordage that may or may not adversely affect their

- Contending that legal phraseology is necessary for protection of both sides, the board's team sees the teachers' proposals as one-sided, with rights of the teachers spelled out but with written responsibility of the teachers missing.

- Teachers say counter-proposals of the board negotiators represent a step backwards from last year's master contract in that they add conditions to items agreed upon last year. 4

- Board negotiators contend that teachers' demands, in many cases, are unreakonable and are presented with little or no justification.

Only recently returned to action following a short hospital stay for an arm infection, PFC Strange was serving with an infantry unit that had spent 133 days in the field --- longest of any unit in Vietnam, his father

He was scheduled to fly to Manila soon for a brief rest period and a long-awaited phone call home, his mother added. He was to return home on leave "about Thanksgiving", with his discharge slated for next May.

Drafted into the Army last year, PFC Strange had only recently been awarded the coveted Combat Infantryman's Badge. He had been in Vietnam nearly eight months.

Although his parents tried to discourage him, the soldier quit school here in the 11th grade after nearly two years in the Northville school system where he had been active in sports for a short period.

After leaving school, he worked for two Plymouth firms before entering the service.

"He's going to have a full mill-tary funeral," Mr. Strange promised himself. "He would have liked that. But we can't make any funeral arrangements because we don't know when his body will arrive." (Residents may inquire about the arrangements later through the Casterline Funeral Home).

Besides his parents, PFC Strange is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Diane Gorshe and Mrs. Virginia Reimann of the same address, and a brother, George Kelly.

On the porch of their modest frame home where the parents looked at their son's picture, the mother held out the picture. "Take it and use it...but bring it back, please, it's all that we have now".

"Horses First... Women Second"

Beads of sweat trickle down around your ear, your knees feel a little wobbly, your heart throbs, and your hands ache gripping the leather reins.

You're a teenager of 17 and you're inching up towards the starting line in the first harness race of your life.

The crowd buzzes, your horse snorts, but snuggled down in the sulkies around you the older drivers are silent like yourself.

There's that split second when some. thing flutters in your stomach, when the horse's muscles flinch and then you're off! Off on a brand new adventure that grabs hold and refuses to let

That's how it happened to a Zeeland (Michigan) youth, who five years later is building an enviable record for himself among many mentwice his age and a generation older in experience.

Terry Buter, now 23, is a confirmed driver who currently is racing at The Northville Downs. He's not the youngest driver around, but he's certainly one of the most promising. Missing two weeks of prime racing time to get in some training at the National Guard camp at Grayling, he's still managed (as of Friday) to finish in the money 17 of his 26 starts here, including seven wins, five seconds and five thirds.

Take a handsome, single guy like Buter, who once shared pitching duties with Jim Kaat, now of the Minnesota high school basketball team, and who spent two years in college.

Add a desire to teach history, stir in some honest modesty and then try to figure out why he says emphatically,

The answer appears only after he starts talking in glowing terms of his grandfather, Nick Brower, and father, Glenn R. Buter. His grandfather trains horses out of the fairgrounds at Holland, his father is now a vice-president for Mail Pouch Tobacco company living in Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

"Grandad got me started. He'd take me with him to the county fairs where his horses were running... There are a lot of horses in the Zeeland area so I started rubbing horses as a groom.

"Then grand-dad let me jog my first horse. He was one of the best in Michigan - Billie Counsel,"

Despite this early contact with horses and racing, high school sports garnered much of his interest in the Dutch community that spawned several outstanding professional athletes. Kaat and another pitching ace, George Zuverink, are examples.

And Northville residents will recall that it was there that former headfootball mentor, RonSchipper, and his sidekick, Donald "Dutch" VanIngen, now junior high principal, grew up, and where former Northville Athletic Director Al Jones got his coaching start.

Buter, with Kaat, was a pitcher for the Zeeland Chix, But it was in basketball that he really excelled, carrying the Zeeland colors, brown and gold, to an all-state basketball team.

Today, he's wearing silk of the same colors as he sails around the oval at The Downs.

Following graduation from high school, Buter was eager to become a teacher-coach so he entered Grand Continued on Page 10-B

Former Northville Man Takes Bride in Detroit

Pamela Sheridan and D. Howard Sherman were united in marriage Saturday afternoon in the Gratiot Avenue Baptist Church, Detroit. The bridegroom is the son of the Howard Shermans, former Northville residents now living in Charlevoix.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorraine Sheridan of Detroit, wore an ivory silk organza, princess style gown with chapel length veil.

She carried white miniature carnations and white sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Donald Ayotte of Detroit, the matron of honor, wore a peach floor-

Bridesmaids, wearing mint green empire dresses, were Alice Sherman of Charlevolx, Janet Savage of Washington and Lynn Turner of Detroit. They carried orange miniature carnations and ivy in white wicker bird cages.

Best man was Robert Oust of Marquette. Ronald Sherman of Charlevoix, Larry Cunningham of Oak Park and Stuart Timmerman of Waterford served as ushers.

Gordon Ayotte was ring bearer and Karen Ayotte was flower girl. She wore a white silk organza, floor-length dress and carried a basket of orange miniature carnations and ivy.

A reception was held that evening in the English Room of the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

The newlyweds will be moving to Marquette where the bridegroom plans to finish his education at Northern Michigan university in September.

New Principal Named For Wixom Elementary

The Walled Lake school board recently announced the appointment of Mrs. Elaine Fox as principal of the Wixom elementary school, succeeding Miss Ethel Mugler.

Formerly, Mrs. Fox taught second grade for one year at the Wixom elementary school. That was when she first joined the system in 1957.

Miss Mugler was named principal of the Dublin elementary school, thus officially signifying the end to her nine-year tenure as Wixom elementary school principal.

Mrs. Fox has been in the Walled Lake school district continuously for nine years.

Following her short stint in Wixom, she was transferred to the Decker elementary school and taught there for seven and one-half years. In January of 1966 she was selected as the district's reading consultant, a post she held until her recent appointment.

A 1954 graduate of Wayne State university, Mrs. Fox has a bachelor of science degree in elementary education. She majored in social studies and , is presently working on a master's

Races Tighten in Knothole Loops

No less than three teams are battling for first place in the Knothole softball league.

The Cubs surged into first place when the Tigers lost their first game of the season, 3-2, to the Cougars and barely edged the Colts, 9-8.

Ken Skelly and Greg Fritch combined to hold the Tigers in check in the Cougars' victory.

Eight runs on four walks and four hits gave the Tigers a lead which they barely protected against the Colts. The key hit was Jeff Johnson's double.

The Colts, however, scored first when Fred Meyers singled Bill Bloomhoff home. Later, the Colts tied the game on walks and Joe Moreland's single, but couldn't hold the Tigers.

Meanwhile, the Cubs were winning their only ball game, a 5-2 victory over the Rams. A four-run fourth inning, highlighted by Kurt Stevens' clutch hit, enabled the Cubs to overcome an early Ram lead.

The Panthers also made a bid for first place, winning two games in convincing fashion. They scored a total of

but it was a big one.

They beat the previously undefeated Yankees, 3-2. Jerry Van Hellmont picked up the win as he and Dave Johnson hit and fielded superbly.

That victory put the Cubs in first

The last place Indians then tagged the Yankees with their second consecutive loss, 11-8, as the Yankees were victimized by their own shoddy fielding and wild pitching.

In the last inning, the Yankees bunched four straight hits, climaxed by Ken Worley's triple and Bob Smith's double, but the raily fell short.

As the Yankees were floundering, the Dodgers won two straight to surge by the Yankees into second place.

Rich Rushlow hurled both wins. The first was a 10-2 victory over the Giants. In addition, Rushlow doubled and tripled with the bases loaded for six runs batted in.

The Dodgers then beat the Indians, 19-4, by scoring five runs in the first. three in the second and exploded for 11 in the third on a multitude of errors.

The Angels, likewise, posted two wins during the week,

They edged the Athletics, 6-4, by scoring six times in the first inning. Scott Cummings hurled a no-hit, 10-0 victory over the Giants as Steve Gurney's double with the bases loaded gave the Angels all the runs they needed. Bob Cummings later also doubled with the bases loaded.

Jim Hostetler's Clout Gives Braves Key Class F Win

the victory.

Jim Hostetler's grand slam home run and the one-hit pitching of Hugh 4 Jones lifted the Casterline Braves into a second-place tie with the Ely Oilers in the class F league.

The Braves beat the Oilers, 6-4, last Thursday.

Still, Bill's Market clung tenaciously to first place by winning two games last week to preserve an unblemished, 8-0 record. The Braves and Oilers are

The four-run blast was Hostetler's second homer of the year, and Brave Manager Jim LaRue called it "probably the most important hit so far this season." It brought the Braves back from a 4-2 deficit.

LaRue explained that the game was "must" for the Braves because the team finishing in second place will get a shot at one of the post-season tournaments. Had the Braves lost, the manager said, they would have been "all but Joe Boland started on the mound for the Braves and gave up four runs because of control trouble. Jones came on in the second and gave up only one hit the remainder of the game.

The Braves picked up two in the first when Bart Taylor reached base on an error and scored when Rick LaRue ripped a single off Oiler Pitcher Ken Lach, who has struck out as many as 16 in one game. LaRue then stole second and scored on a wild pitch, making the score, 4-2, Oilers.

Lach then threw hitless ball for four innings.

In the sixth, however, three straight Brave singles by Jones, LaRue and Boland set the stage for Hostetler's fence-clearing home run. Later in the inning, Jeff Moon doubled, but was left stranded.

In the last inning, Jones set the Oilers down in order to pick up his first win of the season. The only Oiler hit off him was a long double to center.

Lach was tagged with the loss. Earlier in the week, the Braves dumped the Northville Orioles, 6-0, Moon got the win by striking out 12, and yielding only two hits, singles to Wally Reed and Bill McDonald, Brad Cole was the losing pitcher.

Leading hitters for the Braves were Jones and Boland, who each had a Moon had a hit apiece. The Orioles rebounded last Thursday. Behind the crafty pitching of Joey Bishop, they posted an 8-3 victory. In

Flying Birds Challenge Phils for First Place

The Spagy T-Birds came out of nowhere last week to challenge for the lead in the Western Wayne county class

The Birds are in second place, just one game in back of undefeated Phil's Pure.

Inspired baseball and an unexpected reversal accounted for the Birds sudden iump from third past University Litho, the Plymouth entry which had figured to give Phil's the most trouble.

First, the Birds pinned a 5-1 loss on University Litho.

Then they beat the Plymouth Jaycees, 9-5, to make it two wins in two starts during the past week.

Touching off the upsurge, however, was the reversal. The Birds had lost two games earlier this season, one to Ministrelli, 4-0, and one to Phil's, a narrow 6-3 scrape.

But a post-game check turned up. the fact that Ministrelli'used a 16year-old pitcher, who recorded the win against the Birds. It was against league rules which restrict play to youths 15 and younger.

That fact wiped a loss off the Birds' record and gave them a 6-1 mark. Meanwhile, Phil's easily won its only game of the week, a 15-0 whitewash of DiPonio.

Pitcher Fred Holdsworth, who has given up only one run in 28 innings for a 0.25 ERA, handcuffed DiPonio on two hits. He struck out 10, and not a runner advanced past first base.

Brian Myers led Phil's eight-hit attack with a double and a single. Terry Mills had two singles and Holdsworth, a double. In addition, Rich Adams and Holdsworth each scored three times.

In other games, Gloom's Insurance eked out a 7-6 victory over WCCDC, Ministrelli beat the Plymouth Jaycees, 6-4, and Bloom's, 10-4.

Jitters gripped the Novi All-Stars Monday night before an overflow crowd and the result was predictable.

They dropped a 10-5 decision to Holly on the Novi school diamond. That marks the third year in a row that Novi has lost in the first round of the Little League tournament.

Although only four errors show on the record books, it was costly mental mistakes that ultimately spelled defeat for Novi - failure to cover the bag, holding the ball, making the wrong play.

Shoddy fielding actually nullified the 10 hits that Novi banged out, which was two more than winning Holly got against Pitcher Tim Assemany.

Holly's defense, on the other hand, was air tight with the exception of two throwing errors in the first inning. What's more, Holly had a boy named Bill Quick going on the mound.

Large for his age, the fast balling left hander who has reportedly never lost a game in his life kept Novi from mounting any real threat. He struck out five and only walked one.

Assemany, who had trouble finding the plate at times, struck out seven and walked four.

Centerfielder Jim Van Wagner found Quick's pitching to his liking, Van Wagner clubbed two ringing doubles that scored one run apiece.

The Novi Little League's top hitter, Joe LaFleche, also had two hits, a double and single.

After scoring two runs in the third inning to take a 2-0 lead, Holly broke a tight ball game wide open when it tallied five times in the fourth inning - all after two men were out.

Determined, Novi bounced right back and scored three runs in the top of the fifth inning, making the score 7-3.

But Holly squashed Novi's comeback hopes in its half of the fifth by scoring three more runs for a 10-3 lead. Novi's two runs in the sixth and final inning simply made the score more respectable.

Here's how Novi scored its runs: In the fifth inning with one out, ing. "Dropping the line might relieve the problem, but this would be very costly", Penn stated.

He suggested a relief sewer down Hill street.

"I'm getting a little tired of having these complaints time after time without satisfaction", Mayor A. M. Allen replied. "I want an engineering report with recommendations. If not, we'll just go ahead and put in a line that will do the job? Li Councilmen Del Black and Wallace Nichols agreed that it would be "better to make proper corrections" than try to save money on "a patch job".

Manager Ollendorff has stated that he "has given up" on trying to solve what he believes to be the problem infiltration of storm water into the line. Major sources of leakage cannot be found. He has recommended a 1 1/2block relief sewer on Hill as the best

Mayor Allen aimed his ire at the engineer again after Andrew Pelto, 1087 Grace court, complained that culverts were not large enough to handle water drainage through the area. He said that a 48-inch and a 36-inch culvert were directing water to a single 36inch culvert, which "won't handle the Penn maintained that the second culvert (48-inch) was installed to relieve an inadequate narrow culvert. The 36-inch culvert below had "always handled" the flow and it had not been increased by the new installation, he explained. Mayor Allen argued the point and persisted that a 36-inch culvert could not handle the drainage from a 36 and 48-inch.

Councilman Black said he thought Penn had "made his point very well". Penn further noted that the culverts are designed for 10-year rains and that the June 28 rain had been a "100-year rain". He pointed out that larger drains for rare rains could be installed, but the cost was high.

Two residents of Northville Heights subdivision number two, Jim Stevens and Doug Horst, then turned the water conversation to a pond bordering on their subdivision. They ask that a drain be installed to remove all the water. Manager Ollendorff said such a project would cost $1,000 and that the depth of the pond had been reduced so that it no longer touched the yards of the residents.

"It's still a fact that the water's in Novi", Councilman Black pointed Councilman Charles Lapham said that he believed the city had "fulfilled its obligation" by draining the pond so that it no longer was a danger to the property owners. It was also pointed out that Novi village officials had declined to enforce an ordinance for removal of the standing water 'because they've had no complaints from Novi residents".

In closing the subject the council promised to pursue efforts to bring about drainage of the area through a new development in Novi.

Fear was expressed Monday night by Mayor Allen that a Novi road subdivision development just north of the city's borders in Novi was not providing adequate drainage facilities. A check Tuesday by the city manager, however, revealed that the proposed culverts were being coupled with an existing drainage ditch alongside Novi road and that the installation had Oakland county approval.

In other business Monday night the council:

--approved rezoning of lots in Millview subdivision (Butler-Pennell area) from R-2 to R-1;

-- passed an ordinance creating a sanitary sewer district area along the city's western boundaries from Taft to Beck road providing for an additional $160 sewer tap fee to provide payback funds for a portion of cost of sewer installed by Thompson-Brown company along Randolph street;

--set August 7 public hearing date to consider rezoning lots northwest of Main and Rogers street from R-2 to R-1:

--told Pure Oil company representatives to take their request for a public hearing on rezoning to the planning commission; City Attorney Marvin Stempien explained that company had previously been denied a hearing by planners, not rezoning refusal, and that any new information should go to planners so that a hearing might be considered: the company wants to rezone site of its station and property to east at Main and Wing from C-2 to C-1 so that a new facility may be constructed;

-- gave final acceptance to Randolph street sewer installation and the Detroit water system connection;

--okayed transfer of old "junior police" funds into recreation fund for junior gun club program;

--heard the manager report that the city ended fiscal 1966-67 with a $30,000 deficit, which has been budgeted into the 1967-68 budget.

Local Laundry Changes Hands

A longtime Northville business and building changed hands with the announcement this week of the purchase of Northville Laundry, 331 North Center street, by Harvey P. and Richard C. Ritchie.

The brothers, owners and operators of Ritchie Bros. Launderers-Cleaners, Inc., 144 North Center street, acquired the family laundry business from Acel Dayton, Edwin Male and Walter Stamann.

They also purchased the building from Cyril and Sidney Frid.

The Ritchie brothers intend to operate both facilities specializing in shirts and dry cleaning at their original location and handling family laundry at Northville Laundry. In addition to complete family laundry facilities the business provides two delivery truck

The Northville Laundry building was constructed by the Frid brothers in 1934. They operated the laundry until 1946 when they sold the business but retained ownership of the building.

Dayton, Male and Stamann will remain as employees of Northville Laundry. Ray Sudz and Homer Williams will continue as route salesmen for the firm.

Terror Stalks Ride Amusement Park

A 16-year-old Wyandotte girl escaped serious injury Saturday when a safety belt came loose on a ride called "the Loop-to-loop" at the Walled Lake

Amusement park. Chyerl Wills of Wyandotte was taken by ambulance to Botsford General Hospital where she was treated and released. There were no fractures, a Botsford doctor said, but she did suffer a severe blow to the head and was obviously shaken up.

According to Novi police, Chyerl was riding the Loop-to-loop, a cylindrical tube that can be rocked while spinning, with her father at approximately 2:30 p.m. when her seat belt unfastened.

Police said she was thrown freely inside the tube until the operator, Charles Lukas of 200 Angel drive, Novi, quickly brought the ride to a halt. The Wyandotte girl was then thrown out of the ride onto the platform.

Lukas later told police that he fastened the seat belt securely. Investigating Officer George Biggs pronounced the ride safe.

The Wills were attending a picnic of the Great Lakes Steel corporation of Ecorse. The company's medical supervisor was on hand to treat the young

State Aid Jumps In Northville, Novi

Northville schools will receive an increase of more than $30,000 in state aid payment during the 1967-68 fiscal year, Business Manager Earl Bussard revealed this week.

The increase is a result of the newly enacted state aid proposal at Lansing.

According to Bussard, Northville will receive a net increase of $30,676 - or about 3/4 of a mill - based on the new state formula and a projected enrollment of 2800 students by the September census date.

That formula, he explained, calls for a 5-percent increase in state aid from $280.50 to $294.53 per child. However, this increase is offset somewhat by a 5-percent increase in deductible millage, he added.

Based on an estimated fall enrollment of 1300 students and the new state aid formula, Novi will receive a state aid increase of $12,300, according to Novi Superintendent Thomas Dale.

Despite these basic disagreements. both sides have indicated a willingness to "give and take." The only catch appears to be that each side feels it is doing most of the "giving" and the other side most of the "taking."

Tomorrow's meeting will be held from 6 to 11 p.m. Other scheduled meetings include Saturday, July 22, from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m.; Friday, July 28, from 6 to 11 p.m.; and Sunday, July 30, from 1 to 5

Chief negotiator for the board of education is Acting Superintendent Raymond Spear, while Miss Pat Bubel heads the teachers' bargaining team.

Work Session Slated Tonight

A special work session of the board of education will be held tomorrow (Thursday) in the basement of the administration office beginning at 7:30

Discussion will include a priority list for building or property improvement projects, future use of the old junior high school building, and perhaps plans for appointing a permanent superintendent of schools.

There's a distinct possibility that having one of its "best years", says John Miller, owner of Green Ridge Nursery in Northville.

Miller means that the beetles are taking a heavier toll than normal and that the Dutch elm disease is spreading to many trees that have been protected for years.

Best way to reduce the spreading, Miller reports, is to cut down the dead and dying trees that harbor the beetles.

The Northville nurseryman blames the heavy winter snowfall without frozen ground that produced an exceptionally good growth year.

"The beetles have stayed around longer this year and have sustained their attack on new growth", he ex-

Fifty-three of his Republican colleagues have joined Congressman Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor) to urge President Johnson to fill nine vacant Ambassadorial posts in Africa. In a letter to the White House, the Republicans pointed out that the United States had no Ambassadore in Cairo for the ten weeks preceding the Mideast crisis. This "obviously must have had an adverse impact on the effectiveness of U.S. diplomacy," they said. They added that "the lesson for the U.S. policy in Africa is clear."

The Congressmen cited Ambassadorial vacancies in Burundi, the Central African Republic, Chad, The Gambia, Senegal, Sierra Leone, Togo, Botswana and Lesotho. The last two are newly independent countries surrounded by the territory of South Africa. No nominations have been made by the President for any of the posts.

The Republican letter pointed to trouble spots in the Congo, Nigeria, Rhodesia and South Africa and commented that the failure to maintain progressive relations with African States results in an inability "to shape the future rather than merely to await Senate Bill No. 306, a Conflict of Interest statute - allows members of bank boards and financial institutions to serve on school boards or local governing bodies by declaring the extent of their so-called "Conflict of Interest" and with a two-thirds vote of that governing body.

Other legislative measures sponsored by Senator Kuhn and signed into law by the Governor were: SB 104 regulating the use of glue by minors and the penalties for glue sniffing, SB 216 revising and consolidating the Plat act; SB 377 regarding voting machines and penalties for possession of master key

Since the opening of Congress the Administration has talked about asking for a tax increase. At first there was little push for one. Certainly, circumstances did not warrant a tax hike.

During the first part of the year business suffered from slumping sales. To prime the economy new tax credits were required and the Congress responded by restoring the seven percent investment credit.

Then, too, the budget presented to the Congress showed no signs of any cut-back in non-essential areas. The Administration suggested that we could support both guns and butter and proposed even bigger domestic programs. Fortunately, the Congress to date has not agreed with this view and most of the domestic appropriation bills have been trimmed significantly.

Now, a fiscal crisis is upon us. And to offset it the President is determined to obtain a tax increase. When the request comes, however, most educated guessers predict that it will exceed the six percent talked about in January. The crisis stems from the cost of fighting a war in Vietnam. The justissued report of the Joint Economic Committee notes that "total spending on the war in Vietnam during the fiscal year just ending will double the Administration's original estimates. And there are already signs that actual spending on the war in the upcoming fiscal year may again appreciably outrun first estimates."

In short, the budget predictions are about half of the actual costs. And the bill must be paid.

The Congress may have to approve a tax hike. But, there is a mood here that indicates an even stronger unwillingness to raise taxes if the Administration does not cut back susbstantially on the domestic programs.

Secret memos from the President to agency heads demanding a 15% across the board reduction have been reported in the press. Yet, it is also reported that for all practical purposes most cuts will amount to only 8%.

Something must be done and the time will soon come upon us to decide whether we can sustain domestic programs at the same time we are waging a war in Vietnam. Perhaps, the first step should be more honest reporting from the White House as to what the American taxpayer will have to pay to sustain either one or both.

Smart...

With the 1967-68 fiscal year already 12 days old, the legislature gave final approval to the budget to cover state expenditures in the coming 12 months. The total state budget, as approved in a House-Senate compromise, totals $1.1 billion.

The extended negotiations over fiscal reform, which was passed on the eve of the new fiscal year, delayed action on the appropriation bills until after July 1. Since the taxation bills were passed so late in the session they will not begin to produce new revenue until October 1. This caused the estimated income from the package to decline and also forced the state into a smaller budget than had been recommended by the Governor.

With revenue for the 1967-68 monetary year expected to total about $1.2 billion, the newly approved budget of $1.1 billion is tight and leaves little room for miscalculation on expected

Despite the budgetary restrictions imposed by the late passage of fiscal reform, improvement in some essential state services have been possible because of the newly revised state tax structure. Many of the increases are of a phantom nature, however, since they will be absorbed by natural growth and so do not reflect actual increased spending.

Northville Man Clubbed, Robbed

Without College Contract

A Northville man was reported clubbed unconscious and robbed of $500 to $600 last week Tuesday in the barn area of Northville Downs. Al Smith, 27121 Sunset street, suffered a large bump on the back of his head and abrasions on his right cheek and forehead, but refused hospital treatment. He told police he was awakened at 4 a.m. by horses making noise in a barn across the road from the tack room where he bunked. The barn is located in the River street barn area. Smith said he found the large door to barn "G" ajar. As he was sliding sideways through the small doorway opening, he was knocked to the ground by a sharp blow on the back of the head.

When he attempted to rise - and got as far as his knees - Smith was struck on the shoulder, knocking him down and out, police reported Smith as saying.

A search of the area did not uncover a weapon or clues. Smith's wallet, money clip and papers were strewn on the barn floor, police said.

Reporting the incident at 5:01 a.m. was Curtis Moore, a night watchman at the Downs.

The case is still under investiga-

Betting Rate Up at Downs

Northville Downs is gaining on last year's record betting rate. Good nights Friday and Saturday brought the average nightly mutuel handle at the local harness track to $278,497. That's 4.9 per-cent behind the $292,896 pace set last year for the first 39 nights. The Downs' meet runs 54-nights this year through August 2.

Earlier the mutuel handle had trailed last year's average by 13 per cent. On Friday and Saturday betting hit $364,826 and $371,712, respectively.

Temperatures were not so high, however. Chilly weather prompted use of electric heating installations in the grandstand on both evenings.

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The length of a man's legs need not frustrate the strength of his purpose. By crawling one day, we are able to climb another.

There may have been spiritual giants like Saul of Tarsus who, in one overpowering experience, turned from violent resistance to fruitful service for Christ

But there have been Doubting Thomases also . . . men and women who gradually, and only with the patience and help of God, found themselves in faithful service.

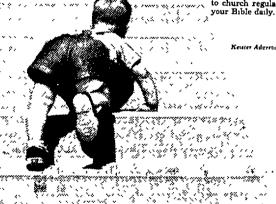

Don't be surprised, then, if an occasional visit to church has brought no remarkable change in your

All FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citzenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. PASTOR'S STUDY

It's a curious thing the way we mortals respond to the mercy of God. Remember the lesson Jesus taught us right before His Passion at the Last Supper?

He wrapped a towel around Him and took a basin of water and went around to wash the Apostles' feet. This was the time when He was going to ordain them priests. When He was going to put into their care His Body and Blood, His life.

This was the time when He was going to give them the Eucharist in which the divine economy, the divine exchange of His divinity for our humanity, is perpetuated. And in order to establish a context in which to make this gift, Jesus performed this ministry of service -

this very humble, almost unpleasant task, of washing the dusty feet of the Apostles. When Jesus came to St. Peter, his response was so human. "Lord," he said, "Lord, You washing my feet? I will never let You wash my feet."

And the humble Jesus said, "Peter, if I don't wash your feet, you won't have any business with Me at all. You will have nothing more to do with me." Then the startled Peter butted in once more, "Lord, wash then not just my feet, but my face and my hands and response we make to the economy of the Incarnation is like Peter's response to the Lord when He wished to wash Peter's feet. Jesus is saying to us that all of our humanity, everything we are and everything we do, is caught up in the divine exchange. In accepting our ordinary tasks, our life in all its tediousness and boredom, we are opening up ourselves to the gift of divine life. Our response to this is that our life is too ordinary. Jesus is telling us that He wants to make Himself present in us.

He wants us to be Hisbody in the world.

He has no other hands with which to bless, no other feet in which to carry the Gospel than our hands and our feet.

He wants us to know that the ordinary things we do, from rising in the morning to making a luncheon, sitting at a desk, working at a drill press-all of these things are Jesus living in the world now; not because they are secular actions, not because Jesus needs to make cups of coffee or work at a desk, but because he needs to be incarnated in humanity according to the human conrifices acceptable to God. Through Jesus Christ and together with the offering of the Lord's Body they are fittingly offered in the celebration of the Eucharist." Our response is like Peter's. Lord Jesus, we say, our life is so ordinary. We want to see You as our Lord. We married and family life, his daily occupations, his physical and mental relaxations, if carried out in the Spirit, and even his hardships in life, if patiently borne, all these become spiritual sac-want to see You with us in our humanity, but we want to see You doing great and noble deeds in which we can be proud of You. But our ordinary tasks at the office, in the factory, in the kitchen are too humble. We do not want you to be present in us this way. And what does Jesus say to us? Just what He said to Peter. "My brothers and my sisters, if you will not permit Me to be present in your ordinary tasks, in your daily life, then I cannot be present to you at all, because then you obviously do not understand my gift of divine life in human flesh." Sure, Peter wanted Christ, he wanted Jesus to be near him and with him and friendly to him. But he wanted to make himself acceptable to Jesus. His feet were dirty and Jesus came to wash his feet. But because his feet were dirty, Peter wondered how he could possibly let the Lord wash such filth. And Jesus performed an action which has great sign value for us; for in washing Peter's feet, in cleaning the man, in making him acceptable Jesus indicated how impossible it is for us to make ourselves acceptable to Him.

News Around Schoolcraft

Students planning to apply for admission to Schoolcraft college as regular students this fall, were reminded this week that the deadline for completing the application procedure, including the college counseling test, is Tuesday, August

The reminder came from Director of Admissions Barbara Geil, who also announced the schedule for the counseling test which is required of all applicants.

Test dates have been set for Thursday, July 20, at 7 p.m., Saturday, July 29, at 8 a.m., and Saturday, Aug. 5, at 8 a.m. The tests will be given in the Lois L. Waterman Campus Center, Miss Geil said.

Application forms include a test date reservation blank, Miss Geil explained. The test will not be given after the Aug. 5 date, she said. Applicants will have until Aug. 8 to complete other requirements of the application proced-

Students who do not wish to apply for regular status may enroll in a limited number of courses in the evening program without going through the regular admissions procedure, Miss Geil explained.

These students need only to come to the college during the fall registration period, Aug. 28 through 30,

W. Kenneth Lindner, vice-president for business affairs at Schoolcraft college, was one of four directors of a two-week work shop in community college accounting and finance at Mixhigan Technological university, Houghton, July 10-

Sponsored by Michigan Tech's institute of accounting research and the junior college management research committee of the Association of School Business Officials of the United States and Canada (ASBO), the workshop attracted finance' administrators from public two-year colleges throughout the country.

Directing the workshop with Lindner were Dr. Robert W. Pax, chairman of ASBO's junior college committee and assistant superintendent of business for the Ventura, California county junior college district; Dr. Joseph Ondrus, business manager of the J. Sterling Morton high school and junior college, Cicero, Ill., and Sam B. Tidwell, director of Michigan Tech's institute of accounting research, and professor of business.

Among the subjects on the workshop program was the recently completed uniform accounting manual.

guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Coffer at a birthday dinner honoring Mrs. Coffer at Skippers Table Friday morning. WILLOWBROOK COMMUNITY CHURCH

Friday evening July 21 the EUB Willowbrook church will have an adult "Faith at Work" weekend retreat at the Lakeside Camp. The retreat will continue through Sunday evening, July 23. Lay teen leaders from other cities and states will share their personal witness of what has happened since they asked Christ to direct their lives. There will also be workshops on Christian living and small talk-it-over groups. Rev. Paul Stuckey will direct the retreat. Rev. Stuckey is currently editor of "Friends", a weekly Junior High magazine and "Youth Leader", Sunday school teaching guide. Friday and Saturday evenings at 7:30 p.m. general assemblies will be open to everyone, for those who cannot be there the entire weekend can feel free to dirve in.

Beginning Sunday July 23 will be the Church Lakeside Assembly week which goes through July 30 with Sunday school and worship services both Sunday mornings. Also 2:30 and 7:30 services Sunday afternoon.

The week day schedule begins each day at 7:30 a.m. There are aslo activities following breakfast at 8:15 for children attending. Lunch at noon and dinner at 5:30. Everyone is encouraged to take part in this week's activities.

Rev. Arthur Norris is counciling this week at the Church Jr. Hi Camp at School Lake, Lakeside Camp grounds near Brighton. This camp is for seventh and eighth grade boys and girls.

Tuesday July 25 there will be a special WSWS Missionary Rally with special missionary service from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. followed by a missionary fellowship tea at 3:30.

Looking ahead to Sunday July 30 when they will be having the EUB annual outdoor worship service at 10 a.m. Following the service there will be the All Church Family picnic at noon at ~ the local church. Hot dogs and hot beverages will be provided. Each family is asked to bring a passing dish and own cold drinks. NOVI METHODIST CHURCH

Mr. David Sobrepena, guest student who is taking graduate work at the University of Michigan was the speaker at out that a representative in Northville would serve to conduct a dropout study a to administer questionnaires, to follow up with interviews when required, to collect data, and to meet from time to time with other personnel in the county working on this study. Mr.

Spear also pointed out that one of our staff members who is undergoing an extensive leadership training program during the summer months will also need a field experience within the School District during the 1967-68

school year, and that this study could well fit into the field experience needed

by this member of our faculty. Mr.

Cook suggested that we check with Schoolcraft Community College to be sure we are not running at cross-mended Board Policy No. 2210 regarding principals' salaries and contract terms be approved as amended. Motion carried. Mr. Kipfer raised question regarding the formula established in the proposed Board Policy No. 2210. Mr.

Spear indicated that the principals understood that the formula was part of the schedule, Mr. Cook and Mr. Johnston indicated that the index served only to establish salaries rather than as a part of the Board Policy. Mr. Jacobi expressed concern that if the board changes the Policy, then principals' acceptance of Contracts is not in accord with the principals' understanding upon signing their individual contracts. It was recommended by Mr. Froelich that the motion be withdrawn and the pro-

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

PLANNING COMMISSION TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE NORTHYILLE TOWNSHIP ZONING ORDINANCE

To amend Article V of the Northville Township Zoning Ordinance from R-M MULTIPLE - FAMILY RESI-DENTIAL DISTRICT to RM-1 thru RM-2 MULTIPLE FAMILY RESIDENTIAL DISTRICTS.

At a meeting of the Northville Township Planning Commission to be held in the Northville Township Hall on July 25, 1967, a Public Hearing will be held at 8:00 p.m. to consider the following:

RM-1 thru RM-2 MULTIPLE-FAMILY RESIDENTIAL DISTRICTS PREAMBLE:

The RM-1 thru RM-2 MULTIPLE-FAMILY RESIDENTIAL DISTRICTS are designed to provide sites for multiple dwelling structures to both satisfy the needs of people seeking this nature of facility and to generally serve as zones of transition between the nonresidential districts and lower density single-family districts. The multiple dwelling is further provided to serve the limited needs of the apartment type of unit in an otherwise single-family residential community. SECTION 5.1. PRINCIPAL USES PER-MITTED?

"In a Multiple-Family District, RM-1 thru/RM-2 no building or land shall be used and no building shall be erected except for one or more of the followng specified uses, unless otherwise provided in this Ordinance:

a. All principal uses permitted in the One-Family Residential Districts with the lot area, yard and floor area requirements equal to at least the requirements of the abutting, least restrictive One-Family District.

b. Multiple-family dwellings, including two-family districts.

c. Accessory buildings and uses customarily incident to any of the above SECTION 5.2. USES PERMITTED ON a. Nursery schools, day nurseries and child care centers (not including dormitories); provided that for each child so cared for, there is provided and maintained a minimum of one hundred (100) square feet of outdoor play area. Such play space shall have total minimum area of at least one thousand (1,000) square feet, and shall be fenced or screened from any adjoining land with planting. Any use permitted 'herein shall not be permitted in the interior of any residential block.

SPECIAL APPROVAL: The following uses shall be permitted subject to the conditions herein after imposed for each use:

b. General hospitals, except those for criminals and those solely for the treatment of persons who are mentally ill or have contagious disease, not to exceed four (4) stories when the following conditions are met:

(1) All such hospitals shall be developed only on sites consisting of at least five (5) acres in area.

(2) The proposed site shall have at least one property line abutting a major thorofare (a thorofare of at least 120 feet of right-of-way, existing or proposed).
(3) The minimum distance of any main or accessory building from bounds ing lot lines or streets shall be at least one hundred (100) feet for front, rear, and side yards for all two (2) story structures. For every story above two (2), the minimum yard distance shall be increased by at least twenty 20

(4) Ambulance and delivery areas shall be obscured from all residential view with an obscuring wall or fence six (6) feet in height. Ingress and egress to the site shall be directly from a major thorofare (a thorofare of at least one hundred and twenty (120) feet of rightof-way, existing or

(5) All ingress and egress to the offstreet parking area, for guest, employees, staff, as well as any other uses of the facilities, shall be directly from a major thorofare.

c. Convalescent homes, not to exceed a height of two (2) stories, when the following conditions are met:

(1) The site shall be so developed as to create a land to building ratio on the lot parcel whereby for each one (1) bed in the convalescent home there shall be provided not less than fifteen hundred

(1,500) square feet of open space. The fifteen hundred (1,500) square feet of land area per bed shall provide for landscape setting, off-street parking, service drives, loading space, yard requirements, employee facilities, and any space required for accessory uses. The 1,500 square feet requirement is over and above the building coverage area.

(2) The proposed site shall have at least one property line abutting a major thorofare (a thorofare of at least 120 feet of right-of-way, existing or proposed).

(3) The minimum distance of any main or accessory building from the bounding lot lines or streets shall be at least one hundred (100) feet for front, rear, and side yards when abutting residential districts, and fifty (50) feet when abutting non-residential districts. (4) All ingress and engress to the off-street parking area, for guest, employees, staff, as well as any other uses of the facility, shall be directly from a major thorofare. (5) A four foot six inch (4' - 6") obscuring wall or fence shall be provided on all those sides which abut a One-Family Residential District. d. Accessory buildings and uses customarily incident to any of the above uses. SECTION 5.3. AREA. BULKAND YARD SETBACK REQUIREMENTS:

salaries for sixteen (16) cafeteria positions; and a budget allocation of $2590 for salaries for four (4) lunch hour assistants, with the individual salary rates for each category to be determined by the Superintendent. Motion carried. Mr. Kipfer raised the question as to whether this was a change in policy, in that in the past individual salaries have been presented to the Board of Education. Mr. Spear pointed out that this did represent a change in policy, however, the Board of Education would be advised as to the salary schedules established for the non-certified personnel represented in this

President Becker introduced for discussion the Appraisal of the 10-acre site on Bradner road that was developed by Treadwell Real Estate Company at the request of the board. Mr. Johnston indicated that the Appraisalis good and 'represents a fair evaluation, but questions the expenditure of $50,000 for a new school site. He further indicated that a school located in that area will serve primarily to help builders sell the homes and that Thompson-Brown should give further consideration to a reduced price. Mr. Froelich gave support to this position. The board requested that a letter be sent to Thompson-Brown, builder for this area, expressing the general attitude of the board of education relative to the price of this property, and also that a copy of the Appraisal be sent to them and that Thompson-Brown be asked to make an offer to the Board of Education for sale of this property. It was suggested by Miss Edgerton, teacher, that the Board of Education give consideration to requesting local organizations within Northville to lend support to the Board of Education regarding their position on the Bradner road site.

Motion No. 627, by Mr. Lyon, supported by Mr. Martin, that the Job Specifications for the District's Business Manager be adopted as revised. Motion carried, with Mr. Froelich registering a "no" vote. Mr. Kipfer questioned the placing of transportation and maintenance under the direct supervision of the Business Manager. He pointed out that earlier consideration by a Board committee indicated that these two areas might come under the supervision of a new position, Mr. Cook suggested that the new Board rec "evaluate the above concern of Mr. Kip, fer in terms of total job specifications and alignments for the School District. Mr. Froelich requested a clarification of the arrangement of the job specifications, pointing out that it did not appear that the job specifications as set up flowed properly. The amendments to the job specifications as published were as follows: Under A, Selection, Item 1 was changed to read: "The Business Manager shall be appointed by the Superintendent of Schools, subject to the confirmation by the Board of Education." Under C, Duties and Responsibilities, b (1) should read: "Liaison -State Department of Education and elected or appointed representatives of the state and local government as related to the financial operation of the District." The final change was the addition of one statement at the end of the job specifications, which reads: "The Business Manager is to be a member of the Board's negotiation team." Motion No. 628, by Mr. Kipfer, supported by Mr. Cook, that the Administration's recommendation to award fleet insurance to Citizens Mutual Insurance Company by the Northville Insurance Company, effective July 1, 1967 through June 30, 1968, in the amount of $2,370.66 be approved. Motion carried. Mr. Froelich inquired as to why the wide range in the two bids received for fleet insurance, noting that the second bid was almost $2000 higher than the one recommended. Mr. Busard pointed out that all companies who were asked to bid were aware of the Northville Public Schools School District's experience during the 1966-67 school year, and suggested that the low bidder might be willing to take a chance that our experience during the coming year will be

They say a camel is the creation of a committee appointed to build a horse.

Admittedly, committee studies frequently bog down, are lost forever or become "filed" in that bottomless storage cabinet kept by official bodies for whom studies are made.

But I look with new hope for better things from the committee appointed to study the feasibility of unification of the city and township of Northville.

First, the act of creating such a committee gives recognition to community consolidation as a possible common solution to problems that accommodate growth.

There are a number of persons who deserve credit for this first step, but foremost among them must be Supervisor R. D. Merriam in the township and Mayor A. M. Allen in the city.

The "sitting down together" to discuss a subject previously considered taboo comes at their direction and under their leadership.

Secondly, the composition of the initial committee suggests that a study will be made and that meaningful conclusions will be reached.

STRICTLY FRESH

Some girls marry a man they can lean on and end up walking all over him.

The fellow who says women are poor drivers never steered an overloaded shopping cart through a crowded supermarket.

Hubby comes home fried but it's his wife who gets burned up.

A pessimist is delighted when he is disappointed.

Kids nowadays must puzzle over that "childhood innocence" poets used to write about. Trustees Bernard Baldwin and Gunnar Stromberg are township appointees to the committee, while Councilmen Del Black and Wallace Nichols represent the city.

Donald Lawrence, president of the Northville Area Economic Development Committee, is the fifth member.

Councilman Black was the committee's choice to serve as chairman.

It was obvious at the get-acquainted meeting that some differences of opinion exist. But they were discussed frankly and resolved by compromise.

Each member had a slightly different idea of how such a study might be undertaken. They ranged from a study group composed almost entirely of area citizens to one that would be prepared by hired consultants.

There were differences in determining starting points, too.

It was finally agreed that too many technical details must be determined to rely solely on volunteer citizen groups; and that a strictly professional report might border too much on the "textbook" side to accurately reflect local conditions.

It was decided that experts in such studies would be sought out, but they would be closely guided by the five-member supervisory committee.

With the assistance of the consultants, and as information is compiled, a formula will be devised for bringing in more citizens so that they may study and evaluate the facts.

The study will not be an attempt to justify unification. Rather, it is an attempt to determine whether or not there are advantages to be gained through unification, what they are, what area of the township (if any) should be consolidated with the city, timing, costs, etc.

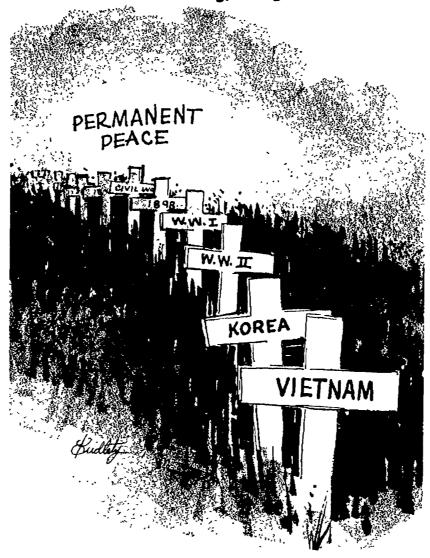

As one member of the committee put it, "unless there are advantages and they are attractive to the people, there won't be unification."

Obviously, there are many areas where a cooperative city-township effort could either improve, expand or economize on services now provided.

The study may reveal more; it may also reveal a host of disadvantages that are not so obvious.

But this is the purpose of the studyto get all the facts.

It's a Long, Long Road

College Teachers Back Negotiators

To the Editor:

This is in answer to Dr. Bradner's statement about negotiations at School-craft College,

1. We do not seek more money than is available to the College. We seek a system where faculty salaries are determined before all other items are taken off. Presently, these salaries are budgeted on the basis of what money is left. We do not believe this is fair or reflects the interests of educating neo-

2. All offers by the Board's negotiating team have been explained to the faculty. No formal vote on them was taken because the faculty indicated, through an extensive survey conducted by the faculty negotiating team, what they wanted. The faculty team has been negotiating on this basis. It seems that the Board's negotiating team cannot understand that the faculty supports the faculty negotiating team.

3. It is true that a faculty member can teach additional classes for extra pay. Two things are not explained by Dr. Bradner, however:

EDITORIS NOTE: This newspaper velicanes letters to the editor. We ask that they be received at this office by Monday noon for publication the same week and that they be limited to 500 words. All letters must contain the signatures of the writer but names will be withheld on request. This newspaper reserves the right to edit letters for brevity and to avoid profunity or libelous statements.

a) pay for extra work is such that a teacher gets only a fraction of the base rate of pay. (I get just 58% of my base rate — most employees get 150%, or time-and-a-half for overtime.)

b) When overtime work is made a necessity, it greatly impedes the process of keeping up-to-date in your academic field and so tends to lessen a teacher's effectiveness because time away from the classroom is necessary for this purpose.

4. The statistics on salaries fail to reflect three things at least:

a) how salaries of the administrators relate to those of teachers. (The primary function of a college is teaching - not administering.)

b) this barely reflects a cost-of-living adjustment - in some cases it does not.
c) only those in the highest grade can possibly earn enough to reach what is supposed to be Michigan's average income per capita ($3219), and onlyothose with but one child.

5. The position that raising the tuition would penalize the students and jeopardize the fundamental concept of make low-cost education available to all becomes less meaningful when it is understood that these concerned administrators think nothing of overloading classrooms when another sound principle of the two-year community college is individual attention for the student.

6. Finally, the sense of justice that adheres to the principle that one party to negotiations has the only proper sense of what is fair, equitable and in the interests of the people smacks of paternalism, We are definitely opposed to that.

Luther B. Kleckner Instructor, Schoolcraft College

One sure way of becoming a movie star without really trying—finance your own company, install yourself as president and of course, place yourself in the lead. To make it top drawer at the box office, hire on a string of stars popular in their own right. This was Bob Hope's strategem in "Eight on the Lam."

Hope Enterprises undertook this comedy farce, Hope assumes the lead and independently funny people — Phyllis Diller and Jonathan Winters — and easy-to-look-at females — Shirley Eaton and Jill St. John — fill up the marqee. Inflate the ego? Hedge against red ink? You bet.

But beyond that the results are deadly indeed. Like, where did the laughs go — with the Wild Goose on a honk—because they're simply not evident in "On the Lam."

Hope is hopelessly inept as Henry Dimsdale, the sugar-coated daddy of seven motherless children. He scowles through his repertoire of the mutter and flip line, but they're both frayed badly through ill-timing and weak acting.

Hope isn't alone in his ineptitude. As the thick-skulled detective sergeant, Winters tries to conjure up humor of Winter's past, including an appearance as his sweet mother, but it's no go. Diller, the frouzy female, is a zany baby sitter on an adolescent spree. She simply fizzles as she fuses over nothing.

Not all is lost, however, as Shirley Eaton and Jill St. John parade their delightful wares across the technicolor screen. Admittedly, their fort is not acting, but then, they made no pretense of it in the first place.

Playing the part of the school marm engrossed in kids, Miss Eaton as Ellie Barton is definitely not the old maid type. She's the marrying kind with strong maternal instincts, ready to leap after Hope and his seven help-less urchins.

Miss St. John is ready to leap too at the beck and call of money. She's the dumb dame, Monica, who trips lightly after any big daddy with a bank roll.

Written by Bob Fisher and Arthur Marx, the story is hackneyed and the dialogue dull. The story focuses on Hope, a struggling laborer in a bank (what he does we never know) who slips on a banana peel into $10,000 in a super market parking lot. Will he or won't he do the honest thing and provide a good example for his children?

Give the money back. Not on your life. His children, as any red-blooded American would do, urge daddy to keep the money. Principled Hope watches the newspapers for any reports of lost money, and when none appear, he spends it on sensible things - toys, dresses, a station wagon to replace a mini VW, and another house.

But the get-rich-quick dream backfires when the bank auditor detects the embezzlement of $50,000. Immediately, G. G. Pomeroy, the white-haired and respectable bank president, fingers Hope as the prime suspect because of his sudden spending habits. The race is on as Hope bundles his kids into the wagon and off they go for remote Phoenix, Arizona.

Not long ago, Hope, who perennially MC's the Academy Awards, laughed off his inability to win an Oscar. No wonder. The alternative is tears.

by JACK W. HOFFMAN

It all started with an innocent "wouldn't it be nice," blossomed into a scheduling nightmare, and finally "turned out for the best," said John Hopkins of Northville as he eased his exhausted frame into the chair.

"I'm ready to do it again," he sighed, "but I'm not so sure my wife feels the same way."

John's an old Kiwanis buddy who makes his home over on Northville's new washboard called Randolph and who teaches French at Plymouth high school. He married a pretty, little French girl who used to teach French in the same school system. Together, the two of them spent several months in France a couple years back.

With such close ties with France, the suggestion that "wouldn't it be nice" to sponsor 10 or 12 French students in a visit to the United States for a few months came about quite naturally.

A French cousin visiting John's wife, Marie-Claire, last summer, and who incidentally teaches English in Paris, suggested she be allowed to do the spadework in arranging the visit upon her return. So when cousin Gilberte left for home, the arrangement was left at that.

What with the passage of time and increased activities that included the addition of a new baby and a Great Pyrenees puppy, Hopkins and his wife sort of forgot the arrangement. With no word from cousin Gilberte they assumed it was forgotten on the other side of the ocean as well.

Then smack in the middle of final exams a few weeks ago CousinGilberte wrote that she had contacted a French priest who was making trip arrangements for a group of students. There also was a note from the priest, Father James, with essentially the same information—only in his note the number of students had suddenly ballooned to about 40, with 10 to stay in homes here for eight weeks and the remainder to stay overnight before continuing on to other parts of the United States. Father Jammes added that making arrangements here "should be quite easy for you."

Even 10 students with so short of a notice and with exams taking up his time would have been a bit awkward, recalls my friend. But 40! Even for overnight! That's an army, not a group, he thought. And to make matters worse John had no idea who the students were, where they were arriving, and he hadn't even begun looking for homes for them!

Stunned, John fired off a cable to Father Jammes, pleading for particulars. Three days passed, but no answer. Then in desperation he sent a letter by air special delivery to cousin Gilberte asking her to contact the priest immediately. Meanwhile, John pleaded for foster homes in a Plymouth newspaper article, which inadvertently stated the 10 students would be here for eight months instead of eight weeks.

"I figured we wouldn't get any response because of that 'eight months' bit, but the response was overwhelming. We got more than enough foster parents for the 10 students who will live here and for the 30 who were to just stay overnight."

Eventually — just a week before the scheduled arrival of the students — John got a few more details from Father Jammes. By then things seemed to be shaping up.

The students were to arrive by plane at New York early in the morning on July 12, immediately board a bus and arrive in Detroit later the same day. John, Marie-Claire and members of his language class would meet the students at Detroit and return them by a Plymouth school bus. On the way back to Plymouth Maire-Claire was to "pairoff" the students and foster parents so by the time the students arrived in Plymouth everyone would know where to go. The foster parents were to wait at Plymouth where other members of John's class would entertain them until the arrival.

Everything went smbothly until John got word — after leaving for Detroit — that the bus never met the students in New York and that the French students had spent the night in hotels, lobbies, etc., waiting for new bus transportation. So out went calls of apology to foster parents along with the new arrival time the following morning — July 13 — "about 10 a.m.".

So with foster parents waiting the second day in Plymouth and John and his small but enthusiastic welcoming committee waiting at the bus depot in Detroit, the third act opened. Also at the Detroit station, with cameras poised, were television crews ready to film the arrival.

One, two, three hours passed but no students. Frantically and fast losing his composure, John called New York where the bus company said it had no record of any students and had no idea on what bus they were traveling.

Meanwhile, back at Plymouth, worried foster parents called Detroit wondering, probably, if John had really made any arrangements at all.

More calls to New Yorkand, finally, the bus company reported it had "found" the bus. It was on its way, via Buffalo, and would arrive "a little late." Also, two of the students, instead of waiting overnight with the others, "left on their own hook" and, John learned later, made their Chicago destination safely.

At 1:30 the bus finally pulled in, and an hour or so later the students were united with their foster parents.

"They were the nicest bunch of kids you'd ever want to meet," said John, who with his wife interpreted the exchange of French and English for parents and students. "By the time the overnight students were to leave the next day their hosts didn't want to give them up. It was a real tear jerker."

"A week ago if you'd have asked if I'd do it again," John volunteered, "I would have said 'never', but now, well most of the students were girls—between 18 and 22— and really good A. lookers,"

Enough said, John.

Tourists' Dollars Boost State's Business Climate

LANSING — Over a billion dollars were spent by tourists in Michigan during 1966. Using the "tourism mul-" which shows that each dollar spent is "respent" three and one-third times before leaving the community or state, the tourist industry was directly responsible for marketing about $3.5 billion in goods and services.

William T. McGraw, director of the Michigan Tourist Council, estimates that the 1967 season will easily top last year's figure. The tourist industry, second only to the state's manufacturing industry, expands by about 10% annually. In five years the industry has increased more than 50%; from $650 million to the present level. Michigan ranked fifth among the states most visited in 1966. Indications this year, however, seem to assure Michigan's moving closer to the number one spot.

or another. More than 40,000 establishments in Michigan are directly involved in serving the needs of tourists. Many Michigan companies engage in the manufacture of sporting goods, automobiles, travel trailers, food products and other commodities which result from tourist spending. Property taxes from cottage owners who live out-state bring in public monies with little or no accompanying demand for governmental services, Gasoline and sales taxes provide revenue for highways and schools. In 1966 tourists paid more than $70 million in direct state taxes.

Tourism affects everyone in one way

INCREASES in tourism can be generally attributed to many factors; more leisure time, more spendable income, better transportation, facilities, etc. Rapid growth in Michigan's tourist trade can be attributed to a unique method of promotion, maintains the Michigan Tourist Council.

Michigan links together the state efforts with those of regional, local and individual programs to exact the most from its promotional expenditures.

The Michigan Tourist Council policy board is composed of five members appointed by the Governor and the four secretary-managers of Michigan's regional tourist associations. Entirely state-supported, this organization promotes and advertises tourism generally throughout the state with a budget of $751,431.

The four regional associations, Up-per Michigan, West Michigan, East Michigan and Southeastern Michigan operate on a match-money basis from state and local funds. Each association assesses dues and promotes its individused only for promotional purposes, not for administrative costs.

The 1966-67 budget called for $375,-000 from individual business firms and $176,000 from the state for regional association operations.

Additionally, local businesses and chambers of commerce work locally to promote tourist business. About $3 million will be spent in 1967 for this purpose.

Neither the state nor regional associations act as "policing agencies." Their sole function is to promote tour-1sm. Complaints are referred directly to the establishment involved. No threat of expulsion from the association or punitive measures can be used, although letters accompany the complaint and point out the need for cooperation. There are comparatively few complaints, says the Council.

ONCE A SEASONAL business, the tourist industry has grown into year round activity. Skiing brought 270,000 persons to Michigan's ski slopes last winter in addition to several hundred thousand ice fishermen, snowmobile enthusiasts, sightseers, etc. Skiers alone spent more than $28 million, an increase of 30% over the 1965-66 season.

In the face of stiffer competition from other states, the tourist council has requested increased funds for the 1967-68 fiscal year. A goal of 1.5 billion recreation dollars by 1972 can be reached, notes the council, by "advertising and publicizing Michigan's vacation advantages with imagination and efficiency."

Increased funds are also requested for regional budgets and the transfer of highway information lodges from the highway department to the tourist council has been asked.

Other suggestions include: creation of a Michigan State Department of Travel, anti-litter messages be put on all one-way beverage containers, an expanded appropriation be granted to the Historical Commission, tax exemption be granted from certain items used in preparing lodging facilities, and permission be granted to townships to use tax funds for tourist advertising pur-

Battle Lines Drawn On Tax-Hike Proposal

BABSON PARK, Mass., -Will Uncle Sam be taking a bigger tax bite out of your paycheck before the end of 1967? By January 1968? In his State of the Union message last January, President Johnson recommended a tax surcharge of 6%. Since then, neither LBJ nor the Congress has shown any insistence on upping the federal tax take. But the truce is about over. The tax-hike battle will soon be joined amid sounds of

Our government's New Year has just begun. It will end June 30, 1968. Economists, legislators, accountants, financiers - and just plain citizens who have been watching the U.S. spending spree shift into high gear -are shocked by the prospect of a federal deficit that may hit the $30-billion mark for this fiscal year.

Despite this towering evidence of budget mismanagement, our Administration and our Congress continue to amble along a path of business-asusual. Here and there you hear of the upcoming deficit as the "greatest in peacetime." Unfortunately, the nation is engaged in one of the biggest, though undeclared, wars in our history.

Remember the days of President Franklin Roosevelt? He took office at the depth of our most severe depression, His "brain trust" (that was before the time of the Council of Economic Advisers) recommended that he spend a great deal more than would be taken in through taxes. This was called "priming the pump." The idea was that the additional dollars spent by Uncle Sam would find their way into consumers' pockets, and hence "prime" the business "pump." Hopefully, prosperity would be restored.

Both President Roosevelt and his advisers were sorely disappointed. Business and employment did pick up slowly for some years; but there followed the severe depression of 1937-1938. Unemployment climbed back to a staggering 9 million. It did not subside substantially until World War II vastly stimulated demands both abroad and at home. Despite controls, higher taxes, and price ceilings, wartime deficits created huge additions to U.S. money supplies. At the end of hostilities, our tremendous monetary expansion provided a broad highway to inflation. Wages and prices truly exploded.

RIGHT NOW it looks as if we are going to have a repeat performance. The Federal Reserve is upping the money supplies of the nation at an 8% yearly clip. This at a moment when the government is heading toward a $30billion deficit. The combination of an easy-money policy and a huge "pump priming" makes a renewed surge in prices almost a certainty.

That is what all the "hollering" will be about in the weeks just ahead. The "kickoff" was done the last week in June by Mr. Martin, head of the Federal Reserve Board, calling loudly for an income tax increase. Then Mr. Ackley, top man in the President's Economic Council, got into the bigger-

Despite the formidable support and prestigious names plumping for increased income taxes, there is no guarantee yet that Congress will vote them. . .at least not soon. Many legislators are not convinced that rising money supplies will produce an automatic pickup in total business. They do not agree with the Council of Economic Advisers that the coming fourth quarter will bring a sizable upsweep in sales and profits.

More important, the opposition points to the Council's earlier belief that a business recovery would be under way by early July. Congressmen and Senators ask themselves: "What if business does not surge ahead in the fourth quarter? If a new boom fails to "catch on," we may be blamed later for having killed the goose that lays the golden business eggs." That is why we predict that an early tax boost will be hard to come by. The bigger-tax advocates may win in the end; but the battle will be drawn out. And the actual levy may not be effective before the turn of Rapids junior college. Then at the conclusion of his two years there, he went back to racing 'for the summer' to earn some money to continue his schooling.

"I had a good season, so I just kept racing."

Naturally, he explains, his parents were unahppy that he didn't stick to his studies. But being racing enthusiasts themselves and knowing how the "bug" can take over, they understood. From the very start, he adds, "I tried to follow dad's advice: 'Always look for advice from somebody that's doing better than you"."

And look he did. He "Second trained" for Frank O'Mara, one of the leading drivers in the Chicago area, and kept his eyes on the moves of other top

In the summer of '62, after traveling to Columbus, Ohio for his driving examination for the United States Trotting association and the Michigan Harness association, he climbed aboard a sulky at the Lake Odessa fairgrounds for that first race. His grandfather's horse, Miss Flo-Win, was out front. It was a two-heat race. The first time out, with heart pounding and stomach fluttering, he finished fourth. But by the second heat things calmed down. He finished first. "It was a great day."

Since then he's had more "great days", racing hundreds of horses. Most of his racing until this year was spent in the Chicago area. His appearance here this season is his first. He started racing in March at Wolverine, and he'll finish the season at Maywood, Ill-inois in December.

A weekend commuter between his grandfather's home at Holland and Barn 16 at the Downs, Buter — like many harness drivers — doubles as a trainer. Locally, he's operating what horsemen call a "public stable", training and driving horses of a dozen or more owners. And in the winter at Holland, he assists his grandfather.

It's the fact that he's a trainer first, a driver second that he credits much of his success at racing among men with more experience. "Training horses and driving them, too," he says, "you learn minute habits that another driver might not know. You're able to place them in field that's best suited for 'em. Picking the race for a horse is an important part of racing and winning."

What's it like - this world of training and driving horses?

"It's fun, but it's work, too," he says. His day starts early, about 5 or 6, looking after the horses in his charge, making sure the groom's done his job and talking — always looking for driving advice. Each morning he jobs the experienced horses, teaches on-and-off track manners to the "green" ones, and keeps a close eye on the habits and condition of all of them. Jogging usually ends about 1 p.m., followed by lunch.

In the afternoon there's more work around the barn, maybe a softball game ("I like to pitch softball") with the other drivers and trainers, and then usually a two-hour nap before supper and the evening's races. He may be driving one, two, three horses, or even more in a single night. All, usually, will be from his own stable, although he occasionally may "catch-drive" a horse for someone else who "might come asking."

After suting up in his brown and gold silks, he personally warms up the horse he will be driving. Then, if he's in the first race, his horse must be in the track paddock by 7:30. There, while waiting for the race, he may talk to other drivers and, taking into consideration the condition of his horse, the track, and the weather, he'll map out in his mind how he will run the race. Out of his memory comes bits of information about his own horse, the other horses and their drivers.

And then it's out on the track for those pre-race butterflies that never really disappear even after years of experience.

If he wins, there's always the thrilling moment in the winner's circle, the trip back to the paddock for the "spit test", and then, if there are no other races, it's back "home" to Barn 16 for a night's rest. If he loses, there's still the trip back to the barn, a little dejected, perhaps, but a little wiser, too.

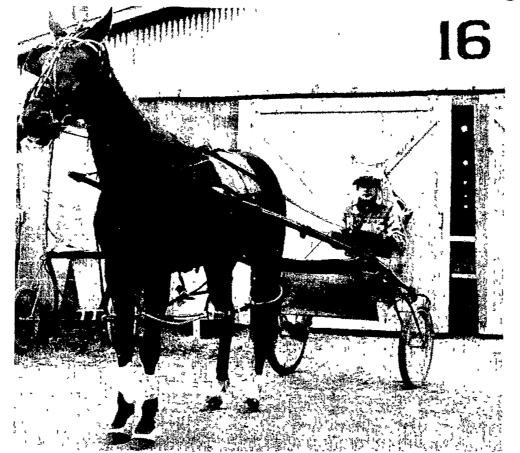

What about his future?
"Well, I'll probably keep racing
oh, someday I'd like to finish college and then maybe teach history."

and then maybe teach history."

Meanwhile, he'll continue his studies on the track, asking advice from those who are doing better, and date Holland girls on weekends — but only after the horses are bedded down.
