

Unification Feasible: What's Next Step?

"It is our conclusion that unification of the two communities is definitely feasible and would be advantageous to both in many ways".

So concludes the report of the Unification Study Steering Committee for the city and township of Northville.

The conclusion together with reports from six sub-committees covering areas of public safety, public works, public improvements, finance and administration and planning has been presented to the official bodies of the city and township.

What happens next depends upon action of the township board and city council.

Active members of the steering committee were: City Councilman Del Black, who served as chairman; Councilman Wallace Nichols and Township Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg and Trustee Bernard Baldwin. City Manager Frank Ollendorff assisted the group in an advisory capacity, as had the late Township Supervisor R. D. Merriam.

Donald Oakes, a professional consultant, was employed by the committee to assist in development of the study.

In compliance with the recommendation of the steering committee's final report the city council has called for a public information meeting at the city hall council chambers on Monday, August 26 at 8 p.m.

At this meeting the council and the public will hear firsthand from the city-township steering committee and Consultant Oakes an explanation of their findings.

While the committee has determined that unification (the joining of the full township and city into a single city government) is feasible, its reports does not make a recommendation.

Instead, it is suggested that after conducting public information meetings the official city-township governing bodies direct the steering committee to meet again and propose methods and timing for setting forth a single community government.

Further it has been noted in steering committee studies that two methods of forming a single governmental unit are available, if it is determined that such a program should be taken to the voters.

True "unification" would require two favorable votes in the total city and total township.

The first vote would approve the idea of unification and elect a charter commission to draft a new charter. After this had been accomplished the new charter would then have to be approved by all voters within the total boundaries of the proposed new city.

If it were determined that only a portion of the township should be joined to the city, then annexation action would be required. This takes but a single vote and retains the same charter and government that now exists in the city. A favorable vote is required within the city and within the boundaries of the portion of the township to be joined to the city.

Although the township board has received the unification report, action on calling an information meeting was postponed until the special August 20 meeting.

The real "meat" of the study committee's report came from the findings of the finance committee. It set forth costs.

Specifically, it declares that a tax rate of seven mills would be needed to efficiently operate a combined city-township municipality and provide city services.

This is six mills less than the current Northville city tax of 13 mills,

700 Sign Petitions

Third Vote Scheduled

Another capacity crowd was on hand Monday night as the Northville Board of Education set Saturday, September 14 as the date for a third school election on the twice defeated 2-mill proposition.

Action by the board, required by law, was petitioned by millage boosters who in less than a week obtained a sufficient signature, of qualified Northville electors to demand another election.

Circulating 51 petitions, they had obtained 725 signatures of which 685 were found valid. They needed 516 valid signatures of the 5,158 eligible voters in the district.

Citizens circulated the petitions

when it appeared the board last week said it would not initiate a third election in view of the two defeats.

Nevertheless, Board President Stanley Johnston, in answering a question of a student at Monday's meeting, indicated that he and fellow board members would do all they could to support passage of the election question. Vice-President Robert Froelich added that the board is intent as ever to see the millage pass and that members find the petitions gratifying.

Actually, last week in refusing to itself initiate an election, it encouraged action by citizens.

A student, Rich Sechler, one of the number of citizens who spoke on the election question, was concerned that board members support the millage both as school officials and as private citizens of the district. His question and comment drew a round of applause.

Another student asked if she and others could stage a rally in support of the millage at the city hall park. After assuring her it is permissible, with the support of the city officials, Superintendent Raymond Spear offered use of school facilities in the advent of bad weather.

Mrs. Kate Edgerton urged millage boosters to speak to their neighbors, and she asked for and received board assurance that officials would speak in behalf of the proposal at any neighborhood meetings that might be set up.

Mediator Enters Teacher Talks

It looks like another cliff hanger. That's the indication of Superintendent Raymond Spear as he surveys teacher contract negotiations here with the opening of school just three weeks away.

Unless major agreements are reached in the third bargaining session of August today, a state mediator is slated to make his second appearance here next week.

"We met twice so far this month (following July's recess). At the first we resolved four or five issues (non-economic). Then, with the mediator present last Thursday,

In discussing the election date, Superintendent Spear explained that any election occurring after September 14 would be too late to get the millage spread on the winter tax rolls (if it passed) and thus too late to obtain the additional tax monies for the 1968-69 fiscal year.

Pressed repeatedly to state whether or not he felt the teacher negotiations would be successfully settled prior to the opening of school and before the election date, Spear indicated hope, but little else.

It was suggested from the audience that failure to complete negotiations before the election would cause defeat of the millage question.

Concerning the petitions themselves, Mrs. Robert Prom told board members that far more signatures could have been obtained with additional time. In view of the short time boosters had to obtain them, she said the number represented a fine effort.

One of the opponents of the millage increase voiced concern as to "how many times will this go on" (elections), whereupon it was pointed out that so long as the legally required number of citizens petition for elections they cannot be stopped.

Another citizen saw the two millage defeats as a suggestion to the board to "go easy" in spending — including what is to be paid to teachers. He said he personally could afford the increase but that others probably could not.

nothing was accomplished," Spear said. The mediator was called in by the board of education and with the agreement of the teachers' negotiation team.

Neither side has budgeted since economic packages were introduced two months ago. The then downward revised teacher proposal of a $7,500 starting salary remains on the table as does the $6,550 suggestion of the board.

Spear maintains that sufficient funds will be available — without the controversial 2-mill proposed increase — to provide "adequate salary increases." However, that is not to say teachers would consider them adequate, he admitted.

The 2-mill proposal, twice defeated by the voters and now up for another election, bears no relationship to teacher negotiations, the superintendent emphasized.

While Spear withholds comment, some officials believe proposed cuts in the curriculum could be avoided if no salary increases were granted this year. But should that happen, Northville might end up having a full curriculum but no teachers.

Another headache, so far as the superintendent is concerned, is the "high" settlement salaries of the few districts in Wayne County that already have wrapped up their teacher contracts. Six of the 42 districts in Wayne have reached this point, with the median starting salary pegged at $6,963 and the maximum BA median salary at $12,188.

The six districts that have settled include Cherry Hill, Dearborn, Dearborn 8, North Dearborn Heights, Grosse Isle, and Huron.

NEW TRUSTEE—Joseph Straub, shown here taking the oath of office from Clerk Eleanor Hammond, was appointed to the Northville township board of trustees last week. Straub fills the vacancy created when Trustee Gunnar Stromberg was named supervisor, succeeding the late R. D. Merriam. Straub's appointment actually runs until November. By garnering the most write-in votes in last week's primary he won the Republican nomination for the two years remaining in Stromberg's trustee term. There are no Democratic candidates, so Straub will win the short-term at the November election. Richard Mitchell led all Republican candidates for nomination to the two four-year terms. Incumbent Trustee Bernard Baldwin was the second nominee. Like Straub, Mitchell and Baldwin will be unopposed in November.

Disposal Authority Proposed for Area

Northville city and township officials are expected to take up soon a recommendation by an intergovernmental refuse disposal study committee that a disposal authority be established.

The committee, composed of representatives from the two Northvilles, the city and township of Plymouth, and Salem and Canton townships, made its recommendation in a recent report to member communities.

Northville township officials, appraised of the report last week, postponed making decision at its Wednesday meeting until the next regular meeting. The city, too, is expected to take up the matter at its next meeting.

Specifically, the committee recommended establishment of the authority as a jointly used sanitary landfill site can be developed by mid-1970. Furthermore, it suggested that other methods of refuse disposal, together with the possibility of working with other governmental units in the future, be studied by the authority.

Created two years ago to study the disposal question, the committee, in addition to making cost comparisons between incinerator and landfill disposal, discloses in its report that all landfills currently used by member communities will be filled during the next 18 to 36 months with no immediate disposal solutions at hand.

"The committee believes," states the report, "that the six governments should recognize the future proportions of industrial and commercial refuse and that our industrial growth will be encouraged by a cooperative municipal means of refuse disposal."

Study of costs revealed that establishment of an incinerator in the near future may be too costly to consider at this time. The committee suggests that an incinerator may provide one long time solution.

At present, however, "costs indicate that a landfill operation should be pursued."

The committee's formation was an outgrowth of an intergovernmental conference in which community officials and citizens joined together to explore various avenues of mutual interest.

Unification studies in Plymouth and Northville also eventually grew out of the conference and subsequent joint meetings.

Fish Hatchery Fire Coming Up Saturday

Northville firemen will prepare what's left of the old fish hatchery building for burning Saturday at 7 a.m. — that is, unless there's a strong wind from the south.

The huge three-story building is but a mere shambles of its former self. City Manager Frank Ollendorff announced last week that anyone wishing to remove items from the building could do so with city permission.

"It's unbelievable. They've gone through the roof and the walls. There's no stairway to the second floor. Doors, windows, shelves, bricks and bannisters have been hauled away," the manager noted. He said that some families worked as teams hauling away items by the truckload.

The remaining skeleton will be burned Saturday morning by the Northville fire department, unless a south wind prevails. The manager explained that houses immediately to the north would be disturbed by smoke.

All other sports, debate, clubs (such as art, honor society, "N", GAL and Future Homemakers) band, operetta, high school newspaper, plays, etc., have been scrapped. In addition, several new extracurricular activities the board had planned to add to the system were dumped.

The cuts do not affect, however, plans for instructional swimming during school hours. It does eliminate public use of the pool and swimming competition.

They mean, too, the elimination of a junior high school counselor and a remedial reading teacher, a high school remedial reading teacher, and an art, a physical education and a music teacher at the elementary level. Reductions in teaching supplies and travel expenditures, elimination of published

A FULL HOUSE—School Board President Stanley Johnston examines a fist-full of petitions that Monday required the board to set a third election date on the controversial 2-mill proposition. Citizens circulated 51 petitions and obtained 725 signatures of which 685 were found valid. To petition for the election, millage boosters needed 516 signatures of the 5,158 eligible voters.

Wedding Ceremony Held in Candlelight

Sharon Kay Stinson married William Peter Weidner in a candlelight ceremony in the Cherry Hill United Presbyterian Church. The vows were spoken on July 12 at 7:30 p.m. with Dr. Samuel Weir officiating.

Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Knight Stinson of Dearborn. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. William F. Weidner of Northville.

The church was decorated with shasta daisy bouquets on candelabra. Cathy McGuire, a friend of the bride, sang "Love is a Many Splendored Thing" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The other wedding music was the trumpet voluntary by Purcell. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white, floor-length gown of alecon lace. The dress was a cage styled with a chapel train. She carried a bouquet of amazon lilies with stephanotis and an orchid corsage in the center.

Mrs. Fred Trout, the bride's sister, served as matron of honor. Acting as bridesmaids were Cathy McGuire, Lisa Ross and Nancy Weidner. They wore similar long dresses of mint green dotted swiss with matching hairbows and shoes.

The bridegroom's brother, James Weidner, served as best man. The other ushers were James Juday, Gary Grys, Steve Juday and Bob Boyle.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Stinson wore a floor-length yellow crepe with a yellow rosebud corsage. Mrs. Weidner, mother of the groom, chose a blue floor-length shantung with a pink rosebud corsage.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the Chamberton room of the Dearborn Holiday Inn. Dinner was served to 140 guests from as far away as California, Chicago, and Indiana.

The bride is a graduate of Dearborn high school and Michigan

State University. She is now teaching in Haslet near Lansing. Her husband is a '63 graduate of Northville high school with a B.A. degree from Michigan State University in hotel and restaurant management. He is now working on his master's degree in marketing at MSU. After a wedding trip to Mackinac Island, the newlyweds will make their home in Sparton Village, East Lansing.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Frances Howell of Farmington and Erven Howell of Brighton. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Mike Obrenovich, 504 West Liberty Street.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of pale pink chiffon panels over taffeta. The neckline and panels were edged with pale pink and mint green flowers. Her headpiece was a Dior bow matching her gown.

Noel Sutton of Brighton was the maid of honor. The bridesmaid was Zora Labarre, sister of the groom. Both wore mint green chiffon over taffeta styled to match the bride's.

Bob Georgevich of Detroit was best man and Brian Labarre of Detroit was the groomsman.

Mrs. Howell, mother of the bride, wore white linen with blue embroidered trim and white accessories. The groom's mother wore a delphin blue silk sheath with white accessories. Both wore white corsages.

Roma Hall in Livonia was the scene of the reception for 140 guests.

A pink linen dress with white accessories was the bride's choice for the couple's wedding trip to northern Michigan.

A graduate of Leelanau High School in Glen Arbor, the bride attended Cleary College and is presently employed at the Michigan Seamless Tube Company office.

The groom, a graduate of South Lyon High School and Nebraska State Teachers College, is a science and biology teacher at the Novi High School where he is also assistant football and basketball coach.

Kensington Park Mobil Home Court will be the couple's future home.

King's Mill

A lineup of regular social events will be keeping King's Mill pretty active this next week.

On Friday evening the weekly cocktail party will be held in the clubhouse from 5-7 p.m. Two days later, Sunday August 18, is the date of a townhouse card party. This will be held from 7-10 in the evening. Finally on Monday, August 19, the Woman's club will be meeting at 8 p.m.

Bridge players attention: the sixth annual "bridge marathon", sponsored by the Northville Mothers Club, will soon get underway.

It's scheduled to begin in September and continue through May.

For working women and those with small children a women's evening group is being planned. Other groups presently anticipated are daytime women's, evening couples, and couples duplicate groups.

Schedules, rules and scoring tables for the upcoming "marathon" will be distributed by the second week of September. To be sure of receiving the schedules and rules anyone interested in participating should call the following women no later than August 31:

Mrs. Cecil Mueller, 349-0104, all daytime women's group, call in the evenings; Mrs. Jan Murany, 349-4073, evening couples groups; Mrs. Wilma Campbell, 349-3478, women evening groups; and Mrs. Rae Deibert, 349-0285.

She Wins Nursing Award

The Fabiola Award for service has been presented to Mrs. Dale Chamberlin, the former Diane Howard, a member of the August graduating class of the Harper Hospital School of Nursing. This award is given to the student nurse whose personal characteristics are most comparable to those of Fabiola, a Roman matron who placed the welfare of the sick above her own.

The award was presented on July 22 by Mrs. Muriel Pearse, Director Departments of Nursing and Nursing Education. Diane was selected as a recipient by her classmates.

Diane plans to begin working at Providence Hospital as a general staff nurse. "My long term goal is to become a missionary nurse in our country or a foreign field and serve the Lord in this way," she stated.

Diane is a graduate of Northville high school and was married on June 28. Her husband is in the armed forces and is currently serving as a chaplain's assistant. Diane now resides in Novi.

Mrs. Floyd Kupsky Re-elected Club V-P

Mrs. Floyd Kupsky of Northville was re-elected vice-president of the National All States Hobby Club during the 20th annual convention and hobby show in Durham, North Carolina.

She and her son, Floyd, Jr., 318 Yerkes, returned last week from a two-week visit to Durham and to Huntington, West Virginia.

The convention, along with the conventional displays of coins and stamps, featured such displays as old postcards with a handkerchief tucked in them, and fans made of rice-paper slits laced together which "a lady" always carried in the early 1900's.

Other items on display were iron penny banks, the tin-type postcards used in the early 1900's, and hard sugar candy made from recipes brought to America by the first English settlers.

There were several exhibits in the Hobby show shown by members of the Kupsky family; Floyd Jr. had an exhibit of all types of magnets, Jenny had an exhibit of horse post cards, and Mrs. Kupsky had two card exhibits. One was of old English Regimental cards and the other was of trains — both steam and diesel powered.

A week was spent visiting the Kupsky's older daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Messer and young Glen II in Huntington. Upon their return home, they were accompanied by the Messers who are spending two weeks visiting them here.

The antique mart, with displays of 21 area dealers, is being presented to benefit the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and to add appeal to the Plymouth Fall Festival. Sponsors are the Plymouth Symphony League, a group of women highly dedicated to the work of the orchestra and deeply committed to its future success.

Three Northville women will be among the dealers displaying their wares at the Plymouth show. Mrs. Naomi Forester of 548 West Main will exhibit figurines and objects d'art. Jean McGee will exhibit furniture and Sally Thomas from The Barn Door will have primitive furniture accessories.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. James Correll of Utica announce the birth of a new daughter, Tammie Lee. The seven pound baby was born last Saturday in Saint Mary Hospital. She is joined at home by a three year old brother, Todd. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Parmenter of 727 Thayer.

Toby, Todd, Tom, Tim, Nancy and Terry, spent the weekend here while attending the wedding of Roxanne Atchison. They now live in Wadsworth, Ohio. While here they visited with friends and were entertained by Mrs. Hugh Babbitt and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gazlay of South Rogers.

PFC. Ralph Konrad called home Sunday from Qui Nahan, Vietnam to wish his mother a happy birthday. Because charges were not reversed for the unexpected call, his parents were at first frantic with fear that something had happened to him. Later, after contact was established, the Konrads had a good talk with their son. However, they described the connection as "poor".

The soldier's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Konrad of 20314 Woodhill.

While serving with the U.S. Army Private Konrad has the official position of a lab technician, but he has volunteered several times for guard duty. This gives him a better chance to see the Vietnamese countryside, his parents explain. His temporary residence is at Qui Nahan, the major army base of the South Korean Army.

Recently returned from a five-day trip into northern Michigan are Mrs. Reed Schell of 16207 Homer and her mother Mrs. Harriet Riach. The two traveled by car to the Mackinaw Bridge, then down along the eastern Michigan coast and into Canada. Highlight of the trip was a visit to a shrine in the Redwood forest on Indian River.

Because the trip was so enjoyable, Mrs. Schell and her mother are planning several others, including one to Georgian Bay and a visit to Hawaii next spring.

Mrs. Betty Kehl and her son Barry of Yuma, Arizona are visiting Northville this week at the home of her sister Mr. and Mrs. William Davis of 719 West Main Street. Last Tuesday Mrs. Kehl was honored at a coffee at the home of Mrs. Frederick Hartt. About 15 women attended the party which was co-hosted by Mrs. Alfred Parmenter. Mrs. Hartt had met Mrs. Kehl several years ago on a trip to Arizona with Mrs. Davis. The visitors will return home at the beginning of next week.

BON VOYAGE—Photographed aboard the S.S. Ariadne at Pier 2, Miami are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Figueiredo of 9200 Chubb road. The ship was their floating hotel for the complete trip with dancing and entertainment en route. The travelers stopped in Nassau with time to enjoy the tropical way of life with swimming, sunbathing, and duty-free shopping. They sailed on to Freeport, Grand Bahama, and visited the hotels and Casino on this newly developed resort island.

New Hope Seen For Dying Elms

An American city without elms is like a baseball game without hotdogs.

With their familiar shape and graceful branches for years elms have been a favorite in thousands of towns. Their heavy branches encircle our community shading homes and tunneling the streets. Now these trees have fallen under attack. The Dutch Elm disease is taking its toll wilting trunks and yellowing leaves.

For several years it has appeared that the war was lost — but, reports Andrew Bertoni, grounds' superintendent at Meadowbrook Country Club, a new cure has been discovered that may swing the tide.

Over the last 10 years the number of elms at Meadowbrook has been reduced from 802 to 376, and another 95 will be taken down this year. This, the worst loss reported in this area, means that much of the handsome Meadowbrook landscape has been destroyed. One area of particular disaster was a circle of 11 elms just off the seventh hole. Legend has it that an Indian chief once buried his little daughter in the center of the ring; now all 11 elms have been destroyed. The challenge of the course, especially around the tough 4th hole, has also been greatly reduced.

The plague started in 1930 when a Dutch shipment of veneer logs entered the country with the bark still on them. The bark contained a mycelium-type fungus which quickly spread the disease. This fungus, carried on the feet of the elm bark beetle, is attached to eggs laid under the bark. As the fungus grows it migrates to the tree sap, killing the limb. At Meadowbrook, as elsewhere, the disease was passed through the roots of stricken trees surrounding the perimeter of the course.

Since this sickness is carried by an insect, scientists look to him for the cure. Recently a useful French wasp was discovered, which Bertoni hopes to import by next fall. The female wasp lays eggs near beetle larva, which eventually grow to attack the mature beetle. The grounds' superintendent reports that Meadowbrook is pinning its last hopes on this wasp, in an effort to salvage remaining elms.

Other means of quicker and less exotic control are urged by Bertoni as an effort to curtail the current destruction. Homeowners can help by pruning sick branches and closing wounds which serve as potential beetle-breeding places.

It is recommended that all diseased branches be burned in designated community areas, lest the insects escape from the flaming branches. Another method often tried suggests binding the trunks a few feet from the ground with a sticky cloth. Trees may be sprayed with malathion on a windless night this fall after leaves have fallen.

Still flourishing in some areas of the country, the American elm remains the most popular of shade trees. Perhaps sometime in the future the disease can be partially licked, but the custom of planting an entire town with elm trees will never return.

Sue Entz Returns From Japan Studies

Recently returned from a year at a university in Tokyo is Sue Entz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Entz of 20300 Beck Road. Sue traveled under the Great Lakes College association to Japan, where she spent nearly a year living with a Japanese family and studying Japanese culture in Tokyo.

Most of the time she spent attending classes in English with fellow Japanese students. "English is a very important language to Japanese business students", she explained. "By the time they leave school most of them have studied it for about 10 years, and they like to practice by auditing classes taught in English." Although Sue did not speak Japanese when she first arrived, she quickly picked it up.

"Highlights of the trip were not so much places I went as meeting different people," she stated. "The Japanese are by nature a very shy people, they were isolated on an island for centuries. They are difficult to meet, but once I knew them I found them even warmer than Americans."

"There is very little anti-American sentiment among the people. Although most of them are extremely anti-war, they seem to be more opposed to our government than the American people in general."

One of the two incidents that made the most vivid impression upon Sue was the time she spent on a work camp trying to erect a supply station. The foreman was really a dress-designer with no knowledge of engineering and the Americans could not speak Japanese well enough to explain why the building kept falling down, she recalls.

Her other memory is of Japanese skiing which occurs mostly in 45 degree weather. The snow melts in the day and forms a thin film of ice on top at night. Sue, who had never skied before, was doing pretty well until she slipped turned a few somersaults. "That was the most exciting part," she explains. "The Japanese thought I was spectacular. They all stopped to watch."

Next fall Sue will enter the University of Michigan to enroll in special education classes and continue her study of Japanese. After that she plans are uncertain, but she hopes to return soon to Tokyo.

In a final review of her trip, Sue says she enjoyed it "tremendously" and would "return in a minute" if she could.

Highway Funds Distributed

LANSING - The State Highway Commission has started distributing second quarter Motor Vehicle Highway Fund collections to Michigan counties and incorporated cities and villages.
Henrik E. Stafseth, state highway director, said net Highway Fund receipts during April, May and June totaled $67,060,769 an increase of $11,133,623 or 16.6 percent more than the same period of 1967.
Most of the increase is attributed to the cent-a-gallon increase in the gas tax which took effect last January 1, he said.
Wayne county's share is $4,244,800, while Oakland county receives $1,485,227.
Payments to cities and villages in this area are as follows:
City of Northville, $9,753; Village of Novi, $19,944; City of South Lyon, $4,006; and City of Wixom, $5,968.
The Motor Vehicle fund includes all state gasoline and diesel fuel taxes, and license plate fees. After deductions for collection costs and the State Waterways Commission's share, 46 percent goes to the state, 34 percent to the counties, and 20 percent to the 525 incorporated cities and villages, for use on state and local highways, roads and streets.
Under this formula, the Department of State Highways will receive $30,847,954, the counties $22,800,661, and the cities and villages $13,412,154.

Library Book Circulation Hot 'n Heavy

"Our circulation is very heavy this summer," said Mrs. Kenneth McClatchery, librarian, in regard to the number of books currently checked out at the Northville Public Library.

She said that due to the heavy circulation many books, in demand, are unavailable at present.

At the end of the summer children in grades three thru five will receive certificates specifying the number of books they have read this summer.

In recent months various reference books have been donated to the library. Some of these books are:

Two Northville Men At GOP Convention

Two Northville residents were active participants in last week's Republican national convention in Miami Beach, Florida — and both were spotted by local viewers on television as network cameras swept the convention floor.

William F. McLaughlin attended in his capacity as executive vice chairman of the State Central Committee for the Republican party. Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin, who live at 592 Reed, landed in Florida several days prior to the Monday beginning to take part in preparations and pre-convention meetings.

They returned Saturday aboard a chartered plane with Governor and Mrs. George Romney and other members of the Michigan delegation.

E. O. Weber, 20360 Woodhill, gained full delegate status when an Ann Arbor delegate, also from the Wayne II district, was unable to attend due to illness in the family. Mr. and Mrs. Weber were accompanied by their children, Carol and Karlton.

The Webers are not expected to return until later this week. While in Miami, they are visiting former Northville residents, the Hugh McKay family.

Weber, a former Northville board of education member, is district chairman for the Republican Wayne II district.

Really Tops in Cattle Division

Local 4 H's Score High at Fair

BEAMING NEIL BALKO AND HIS PRIZE WINNER, LYNDA

The Lyon 4-H club really walked away rich from the Oakland County fair held near Pontiac last week. In competition with over 150 4-H's from throughout Oakland county, the youngsters brought back 32 ribbons and three grand championships.

The club, which has been together nearly two years, has about 22 members of which over half are residents of Northville. In that short time a good deal of progress has been made, as revealed by the clubs recent success.

The grand championship for holsteins in the senior division went to Neil Balko, 17, and his prize cow "Lynda". They also won fifth place in senior showmanship. Neil's sister, Cindy, took junior grand championship with "Sherri", along with the title of reserve grand champion. Then Donna Balko won first place in the division of senior calves with "Bonnie", and copped the reserve junior grand championship.

Three more blue ribbons were won in the cattle showing by other members of the club. They were Rex Balko, Cheryl Viseyak, and Deanna Balko.

In other areas, three members scored with their prize showing of ducks. Randy Mitchel, Edmund Erdos, and Deanna Balko all won blue ribbons for their white pacon entries, and Ed and Deanna were given a chance to show their birds in the state showing later this month.

Two members took four awards with their entries in the rabbit division. Kim Balko received a blue ribbon for her angora rabbit and a red ribbon (highest) for her mixed one. Neil Nichols took two red ones for his angora and mixed rabbits.

In the area of leather work, the members also made quite a good showing. This is partly because they tooled all the exhibits by hand instead of entering leather produced from a kit. In this area Cortney Lusk and Edmund Erdos took red ribbons and Paul Taylor and Randy Mitchel won white ones. Linda Strenger received a blue ribbon for her three leather entries.

Many of the youngsters who entered the other contests had baked goods to exhibit in the food division. For their efforts, Cindy, Deanna, and Kim Balko, Neil Nichols, Karen Palinkas and Ardeth and Patti Arquette won blue ribbons. Bill Lusk took a red one, and Cheryl Viseyak received a trophy for her entry in the food for fun division.

Several girls won prizes in the area of flower arrangement. Cheryl Viseyak took a blue ribbon for her arrangement along with a state showing permit for a home grown azalea. Kim Balko was awarded a blue ribbon for her showing, and Deanna Balko a red one for her azalea.

Cheryl received exhibits in two other areas which wrapped up a few more honors for the club.

Unification Feasible

and six mills more than the one mill levied in the township.

The finance committee envisions a total budget of $874,200 to provide the new city with a 25-member police department, rubbish collection, department of public works, library and recreation, public improvements and legislative, administrative and judicial needs.

It sets forth revenues from a combined tax-base of $46 million yielding $322,000 at the seven-mill levy; gas and weight tax of $122,000, of which $71,000 would come from the township area as a result of its city status (township's do not qualify for these state rebates); $170,000 from harness racing revenues; $97,000 in sales tax returns; and revenues totalling about $42,000 from intangible and income taxes and liquor licenses, plus another $120,000 in fees, services and licenses and permits.

The finance committee, which was charmaned by Wilson Tyler working with Robert Shafer and Dr. Orlo J. Robinson, noted that a DPW budget of $238,000 would provide township residents with an improved or total DPW service under local control to include "street maintenance, snow removal, grading, dust abatement, etc."

A budget of $249,000 would provide "full police department services for the township and a much more complete and efficient program for city residents", notes the report.

In its report the public safety committee, composed of H. O. Evans, E. S. Guido, C. W. McDonald and Mrs. Donald Schwendemann, concluded that "unification of city and township police should be done as soon as possible to give both maximum protection...we feel it is not only feasible, but a necessity".

Their study showed that it would cost the township alone a millage levy of 7.85 mills to establish a police department comparable to the service that could be offered by the existing city department under the unification plan.

Exerpts from other sub-committee reports included:

Water and sanitary sewer service - "It would appear that unification of the subject systems and service would be completely feasible at any time in the foreseeable future...although at this moment there appears to be no major advantage or disadvantage to the unification of the two systems;

Public improvements (streets) - "The subcommittee believes the consideration of the matter of public improvements of streets to be of little importance in the determination of advantages or disadvantages of unification".

Public works (Maintenance) - "Unification of public works maintenance is feasible within two years or less time if necessary. There should be no adverse effect upon present township or city costs or service and conceivably could result in some improvement in both areas".

Planning and administration - "It was the conclusion of the committee that there would be advantages to the unification of the planning commission and administrative offices. However, the advantages were not considered to be sufficient, without other compelling reasons, to justify unification of the city and township".

Citizen members of the later committees were Howard Axtell, Dr. Gordon Forrer, Joseph Petrock, Clifford Jones, William Wiley, Harold Lane, Richard Marrone, Frank Whitmyer, Paul Hunt, Richard Ambler and Glenn Cummings.

Park Names Superintendent

Charles A. Damm, a member of the Kensington Metropolitan Park staff since 1965, has been promoted to the post of park superintendent.

Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, director of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, in making the announcement stated that the appointment was effective August 5.

Since September of 1962 Damm has been assistant park superintendent and previously was a member of the naturalist staff where he was assigned to the Nature Center at Kensington Park.

He replaces David O. Laidlaw, who will become director of the Authority upon Hallenbeck's retirement about December 31, 1968.

Damm was graduated from Michigan State University in 1948 and holds a G.S. degree. He majored in forestry and wildlife management. Born and raised in Detroit, he was graduated from Catholic Central High School (Detroit) in 1944. # Township Agenda Too Long to Finish

A long agenda of routine business bogged down the Northville township board at its regular monthly meeting (held Wednesday, August 7 because of the Tuesday primary election). At midnight Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg called for a motion to hold a special meeting on Tuesday, August 20 to complete the second half of the agenda.

Most time-consuming of the items considered by the board was a rundown of the proposed subdivision control ordinance as recommended by the planning commission.

Roy Russell, Thompson-Brown company engineer, listed several objections to the proposed ordinance. Basically, Russell said he believed that the township ordinance would require more time than the state act had intended for subdivision approval. He suggested to the board that "stage one and stage two" of the procedure be combined. Russell also listed a number of other proposed changes. The board agreed to have the planning consultant, engineer and attorney review the suggestions and make recommendations at the August 20 special meeting, when the board expects to act on the ordinance.

In other business the board approved the preliminary plat of Thompson-Brown's Northville Commons number three, a small four-parcel section of the total development at Six Mile and Bradner on the west side of the re-labeled Bradner.

A request by F. W. Sterner, township plumbing inspector, for a $100 per month retainer was suggested by the board. Instead, it was suggested that he should be allowed car mileage. It was pointed out that last year he had earned nearly $5,000 for approximately 21 hours per week.

A request to have the county drain commission clean out the Johnson drain because of complaints of flooding was introduced by Supervisor Stromberg. He said the cleaning must be paid through special assessment against those property owners benefiting from the clean-up. Exact cost of the project was to be checked for board consideration.

Motorist Robbed

An unidentified complainant told Wayne County Sheriff's detectives that last week he was forced to the side of the road in Northville township and robbed.

Detectives declined to reveal the complainant's name pending investigation. Their information, they said, is incomplete and that they have not been able to reach the man who phoned in the complaint.

The incident was reported as having occurred about 1 a.m. on August 8 at the corner of Beck and Seven Mile Roads.

Detectives said the bandits—"a group of white males between age 16 and 22"—forced the driver to the side of the road and then robbed him. They reportedly brandished a knife "or other weapon."

Board Adopts Proposed Cuts

budget prior to the completion of teacher negotiations. He pointed out that Schoolcraft has done so. Vice President Robert Froelich replied that colleges are governed by different laws than are elementary and secondary school systems.

Furthermore, when asked if he could discuss how much money was available for college teachers (who, like Northville teachers, are still trying to negotiate a contract) Secord admitted he could not discuss the matter.

Froelich was put on the spot by one citizen who asked why he had, before the first election, told P-TA members several times that no cuts would be made should the millage question fail. He could not remember his words at the time, he said, but indicated he may have been misunderstood. If he did say it, chimed in Johnston, "he was not."

To the question, "why not cut some secretaries or reassign some of them to other instructional assistant areas?", Spear pointed out that the system's staff of 14 secretaries represents one for every 196 students—about the same as in surrounding districts. All of the secretaries, he said, are needed. It would be educationally unsound to reassign them to other areas, he added.

School officials agreed with several citizens that extra-curricular activities are an important part of the curriculum but that the suggested cuts represent the least damaging to the instructional program—not what hurts the public most.

Treasurer Andrew Orphan

emphasized that if there was any other way of balancing the budget without trimming the program he would "be the first to say so."

Spear added that he and board members had given the matter considerable thought and study and that in the final analysis the decision of the areas in which to cut was based on what he hoped is sound judgment. He admitted, however that the curriculum adjustment would adversely affect the position in the eyes of colleges weighing applications of Northville students.

They're Really Used

Used cars? You betcha! If ever a used car was driven by an invalid aunt these fit the bill. But before you rush out and try to snag one of these beauties, forget it. The treasury of antique Model A Fords was only a temporary addition to John Mach's big Ford dealership lot Monday morning as he and the Northville Jaycees hosted members of the Model A Restorers Club as they assembled here for the start of a Grand Tour into Northern Michigan. Besides, most of these jewels today are worth several thousand more than their original price tags. See story and more pictures on Page 3-B.

During Morning Pit Stop

Historic Northville Hosts Ford's Historic Model A's

"Gentlemen, start your engines!" With that historic, thrilling command, drivers hustled to their cars but instead of roaring power it was the purr of 4-cylinders, and instead of Indy it was John Mach's Ford dealership in Northville.

Nearly a hundred Ford Model A's had pulled into Mach's for a "pit stop" Monday morning, and now, their drivers — smacking their lips over a breakfast and each richer by two quarts of oil — climbed aboard their tiny jewels and pattered off for Mackinaw

City. Mach and the Northville Jaycees hosted the drivers and their families Monday following a three-day convention of the Model A Restorers Club in Dearborn. The convention incidentally marked the 40th anniversary of the Model A, successor to 15,000,000 Ford Model T's.

Cars from throughout the United States and Canada participated in the meet, which opened Friday morning and closed Sunday.

Northville — starting point of a Model A "Grand Tour" of Michigan by many of the cars — was picked because, according to Ray Jackson of Northville, himself a member of the club, of its history with the Ford Motor Company. It was more than 40 years ago that Henry Ford built the valve plant — one of many along streams to take advantage of water power and to provide employment for some of the rural farmers.

Mach, besides treating the drivers and their families to a breakfast in his showroom, presented each with two quarts of oil and awarded radios to drivers of three outstanding cars. Winners were: Furthest away, Rief Rust of Norway; Secretary's Delight, John Gamble of Ohio, driving a 1927 Model A Roadster; and Sale Manager's Favorite, Rein C. Brueggenman of Port Huron, driving a 1931 closed cab pickup.

The drivers left the dealership in groups of 10 cars, paraded through Northville, and then headed north under state police escort to Pinconning. They were scheduled for an overnight stop at Oscoda, a parade through Rogers City Tuesday afternoon, and another overnight stop at Mackinaw City.

Yesterday the MARC members and their antique Fords were to begin their return trip home, breaking up finally at Frankenmuth following lunch.

During the Dearborn convention, thousands of Model A parts ranging from valve springs to hub caps were bought, sold and traded in a circus tent "flea market" which opened at dawn and closed when the last dedicated restorer had found the Ford script wrench, scroll rumble lid handle or handbrake button he'd been searching for to complete his "new" car.

Motorists passing Mach's dealership Monday did double takes upon glimpsing the rows of sparkling antiques parked in the company's used-car lot. A 1968 Ford clearance sale sign backed up several of the cars and sparked plenty of attention.

When engine trouble plagued one of the cars at the start of the tour, nearly all of Mach's garage crew volunteered aid — all eager to dip beneath the hood. Most were younger than the engine causing the problem. It was soon purring again.

One beauty still possessed its original paint job, another — a pickup — carried an antique-looking sign that caught some spectator's off guard, "radio and TV repair", and many sported running board luggage racks and those nostalgic rumble seats.

"The last time I saw one of those (rumble seats) my girl was inside," someone said, prompting a reply from a nearby wag, "Better take a close look, she's probably still inside."

Gleaming Model A's Parade Through Northville on Their Way into Northern Michigan

PIT STOP HUDDLE—John Mach (left) and Ray Jackson inspect one of the nearly 100 Model A Fords that pattered into the Ford dealership here Monday morning before starting a "Grand Tour" into Northern Michigan. Mach was co-host with the Northville Jaycees in providing breakfast for the antique drivers and their families, and Jackson, a Northville member of the Model A Restorers Club, was a club coordinator.

'68 State Fair Edition To Fete 'Family of Year'

The "Family of Year" will be honored at the 119th Michigan State Fair, which opens Friday, August 23, and runs through Monday, September 2 (Labor Day).

E. J. (Jeff) Keirns, State Fair general manager, said the family will receive gifts and be feted on Family Day at the fair, Friday, August 30.

The largest family in attendance at the fair that day will be chosen. Those competing will be required to provide birth certificates or other forms of identification for the children. Registration will be at the Community Arts building between 10 and 11 a.m. that day. In the event of a tie, a drawing will determine the winning family, which will be announced at noon.

The family will become the guests of the State Fair for the day. Members will receive gifts from Consumers Power Co., Unique Zippers, Personality Plus, Inc., Michigan Bell Telephone Co., and will participate in a fashion show courtesy of Montgomery Ward. The gifts will be presented in cooperation with the State Fair Community Arts Department.

In addition, the family will receive a plaque, dinner on the Fairgrounds, and free admission to all Midway shows and rides.

They will be special guests at the 8 p.m. Grandstand show, featuring the State Fair Aerial Spectacular, with trapeze and highwire artists, swaying-pole performers, and a human cannonball.

Municipal Court

Twelve men were arraigned and fined in Northville's municipal court last week.

Andrew Torok of 605 Carpenter was charged with being drunk and disorderly at Lake street. He entered a plea of guilty and was fined a cost of $30.

William Bennett of Union Lake was charged with being a minor in possession and driving under the influence of alcohol. On arraignment he pleaded not guilty to both counts, but later changed to guilty. Bennett was fined $50 and $5 cost for being a minor in possession, and $100 for reckless driving.

Charges of drunk and disorderly conduct at the Downs were made against Anthony P. Morgan of Grand Blanc and Deward E. Smith of Pontiac. They pleaded guilty and were sentenced to $40 and $4 or eight days.

From Roseville, John Goelde, Jr., was faced with drunk and disorderly charges. He pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and $12 costs or six days.

Clifford Cadotte of 33 Hillcrest was arraigned for allowing an unlicensed driver to drive on South Center. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to $25 or 5 days. At the same time Duane Cadotte was charged with driving with an expired learner's permit. He was sentenced to $10 or two days for his plea of guilty.

A mute charge of not guilty was entered for Robert Harmon of 4761 Ten Mile on charges for two separate counts. At trial he was found guilty of both under the influence of alcohol and driving without an operator's licence. On the first offense he was sentenced to $100 or 20 days. On the latter count he was fined $50 and four days plus six months probation.

When charged with allowing an unlicensed driver to drive on Taft Road at Eight Mile, Kenner Harrison of Detroit pleaded guilty. He was fined $25 or five days.

Finally, two separate charges of driving under the influence of alcohol were levied against Carl Smith of Plymouth and Eugene Nipper of 48907 West Seven Mile. Smith pleaded guilty and was fined $100 or 20 days. Nipper pleaded not guilty, but changed his plea to the added count of driving while ability impaired.

Seeks Change In Ballots

Because of confusion related to ballots in the recent primary election, Representative Louis Schmidt, who represents Northville, is seeking the establishment of a special committee to study ways of improving ballots.

Specifically, Schmidt called attention to the fact that many voters neglected to vote for non-partisan candidates because their separation from partisan candidates "was not sufficient to call electors' attention to that portion of the ballot."

In his resolution, Schmidt suggested creation of a special committee of five members of the House to study methods of improving the ballots "so as to minimize the possibility of confusion, to function now until June 1, 1969, and to report its recommendations to the legislature."

Northville Boy Gets Midwest TAR Post

While attending the Midwest Teen-Age Republican camp at North Central College in Illinois, Douglas Waldren of Northville was elected vice chairman of the Midwest TAR. He was also elected chairman of the Michigan delegation and had the opportunity of introducing Congressman Jack McDonald one evening as guest speaker.

The political camp was held in Naperville from July 27-August 1. In the course of the week Douglas learned much which he plans to relate to the Northville TAR.

The purpose of the regional TAR Camps is two fold. The first is to make the young people even more aware of the techniques of political action so that they can go back to their own area and pass this training on to other TARs who could not attend the camp.

Secondly, the camp offers an opportunity to discuss in depth the important issues and problems facing Americans today. In addition, students meet top TAR leadership from all parts of the country to exchange ideas and learn about programs that have been successful in other areas.

At the camp there were workshops covering campaign issues, campaign techniques, press relations and news management, 1968 prospects, and club organization, seminars on riots and law enforcement, Vietnam, and community action were also held.

From August 29-September 1, Douglas will be attending the Michigan TAR Camp in Fenton, Michigan. He plans to run for the office of the Michigan TAR Governor who will be elected there.

About Our Servicemen

With Attack Squadron Twenty-three, aboard USS Ticonderoga (CVA-14), at sea—Airman James C. Ritchie of Northville, Michigan, returned to the United States on 17 August 1968, from an eight month combat cruise with Attack Squadron Twenty-three, aboard the veteran Attack Carrier USS Ticonderoga (CVA-14).

Airman Ritchie contributed substantially to the success of the cruise, in its efforts against Communist Aggression in Southeast Asia.

During the eight (8) month cruise, the "Black Knights" of Attack Squadron Twenty-three flew over 2,800 combat missions, delivering approximately six (6) million pounds of ordnance on Communist military targets and supply routes in Southeast Asia.

It was only through the efficient around the clock accomplishments of tasks that might be best described as tedious, difficult and often back-breaking, performed by Airman Ritchie and his ship-mates in the squadron, that the squadron was able to operate with the high degree of success that it did.

Airman Ritchie also had time for rest and relaxation between long periods of combat operations in the Tonkin Gulf. On 9 April 1968, the ship crossed the Equator, and all those who had not previously crossed the "Line" were initiated into the Solemn Mysteries of the Ancient Order of the Deep. The ship visited such foreign ports as Hong Kong; Yokosuka, Japan; and Subic Bay, Republic of the Philippines; where the "Black Knights" had the opportunity to meet people of different cultures.

Airman Ritchie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey P. Ritchie of 821 Spring Drive. A 1965 graduate of Northville High School he entered the Navy in January 1967, and has been serving with the "Black Knights" of Attack Squadron Twenty-three since May, 1967. Attack Squadron Twenty-three flies the new Douglas A4-F "Super Skyhawk" light jet attack bomber.

Airman Ritchie wears the following awards and decorations: the National Defense Service Medal and the Vietnam Service Medal.

Writing from Berlin, Germany, where he is stationed with the United States Army, Acting Sergeant Charles T. Weiss, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Weiss of 925 Grace Street, states that his duties there are continually expanding to cover a wide range of interesting responsibilities.

Basically, his position is that of Training NCO involving the preparation for combat of some 160 enlisted men. This includes the conceiving and executing of problems in the field to challenge the troops, as well as setting up new Command Posts when changing locations. In addition, Sergeant Weiss, as the official company photographer, is in the process of making a pictorial record of all the company's activities from baseball games to brigade problems.

He requests that his address be sent along in the "hopes that some softhearted people will want to write." Here it is.

PRIZES OF $100 from the Northville Downs went to winners of their 'paint-the-fence' art contest. The entries, all students from Northville high school, were awarded their prizes after the 8th race Monday night. Judging the results was high school art teacher, Roy Pederson, who worked with the Downs in organizing the contest. First prize of $40 was awarded Charles Olewnik for his entry entitled "The Cavern". The second prize of $30 went to artists Leslie Weston and Nance Adams for their painting of "Northville the Sunshine City." Third prize went to Dan Stoddard for "Support Gun Control", and the "Flowered Wall", took fourth. It was painted by Peggy Lepper, Connie Moore, Debbie Luckett and Julie Brown. In return for their efforts, the Downs wound up with some "hip" decorations to entertain out-of-town patrons.

Tyndall Blue Zonks Teens With 'Underground' Sound

DARYL HOLLOMAN

I have but one overall comment regarding The Tyndall Blue and its performance at last Friday night's Cavern bash.

Fabulous.

Simply fabulous.

The Tyndall Blue performed as scheduled, issuing forth a performance permeated with the progressive sound of Underground Music.

This type of performance really grabbed the audience, which hasn't been done since both The Stuart Avery Assemblage and The Pack appeared at The Cavern on different dates during the early part of the summer.

Incidentally, The Pack will be appearing at The Cavern this Friday night along with The Third Power.

However, getting back to last week's performance, The Tyndall Blue became a hit early in the evening — from "Somebody to Love" to "Toad."

A marked change has come about at The Cavern which I've noticed during the course of the summer.

Applause.

The current trend seems to be that Cavern patrons are applauding rock groups which perform to the tastes of Cavern patrons.

Such was the case when The Tyndall Blue played its first number titled "Somebody to Love," a selection taken from an LP by The Jefferson Airplane titled "Surrealistic Pillow."

I don't know the name of the gentleman stationed at the double doors in the rear of the gymnasium, but I do know he was a chaperone and that he, too, was applauding with the best of them.

The Tyndall Blue did a fantastic rendition of "You Keep Me Hanging On," a selection from an LP titled "Vanilla Fudge" by an underground group of the same name.

In case you missed my column last week, The Tyndall Blue is the very group Troglodytes featured as playing

The Chambers Brothers nationally acclaimed "The Time Has Come" which is contained in an album of the same title.

The Tyndall Blue did a marvelous job on "The Time Has Come," not to mention the two selections taken from the LP "The Doors" by The Doors — "Soul Kitchen" and "Light My Fire."

Two selections were also taken from "Disraeli Gears," an LP by The Cream — "Tales of Brave Ulysses" and a universally favorite "Sunshine of Your Love."

The Tyndall Blue ended its performance with a Doors/Cream fused performance.

"Toad" by The Cream was the selection, a number featuring a wild performance by the group's drummer soloing on drums.

The performance was fused with The Doors in the sense that Jim Morrison of The Doors always performs on stage stripped to the waist, which was the case with The Tyndall Blue's drummer.

The addition of stroboscopic lighting greatly enhanced the performance — meaning that the bright flashing white light created an effect whereby one's bodily motions appear jerky in nature.

The lighting seemingly froze the drummer's motions in a series of slow motion still shots while the drum solo was constantly reverberating with little correspondence to the "slowed action" of the drummer.

Patrons were really zonked out by The Tyndall Blue's performance — whether they were listening or shaking it up, the majority if not the unanimity were applauding.

Chances are that another bash of the same calibre will be held at The Cavern this Friday night at a charge of $1.00 members, $1.50 non-members.

The featured entertainment consists of The Third Power and a group of Capitol Recording Artists by name of The Pack — formerly of Terry Knight and The Pack.

The Pack, a five man group from Detroit, has had several hit recordings and plenty of experience as to how to perform for an audience on stage.

This was quite evident when they delivered a smash performance before Cavern Patrons this past June — a smash performance resulting in a comeback by popular demand for this Friday's Cavern bash.

As for The Third Power from Royal Oak, it's a three-piece combo which has been around for over a year.

However, The Third Power has really been making it big this summer at all the clubs — and no wonder, they perform original compositions, "Top 40" selections, and Underground Sounds.

Keeping in mind that The Third Power is a three-piece group, it's my guess that their performance will include selections by The Cream and The Jimi Hendrix Experience.

Left-Handed Do-Not-Pass Signs Urged

LANSING—Dragging its feet would be an improvement over present movements of the Michigan State Highway Department in erecting "no passing zone" signs on the left side of highways. This is the opinion of Midland Municipal Judge Henry Hart who has begun a one-man campaign to improve the warning system for motorists.

Judge Hart points out that the present do-not-pass signs do not provide sufficient visibility for the motorist. Vision may be obstructed by vehicles ahead. Motorists, when passing, must look to the left lane. Snow plows throw snow to the right. He maintains that the only "logical" place for the signs is on the left side of the highway.

Studies conducted by the highway department, as well as those in other states, agree with his logic: the trouble is, no one except Judge Hart does anything about it!

TWO TEST locations in Michigan proved that driver attention to the no passing zones was improved with special pennant-shaped signs mounted on the left.

The improved signs have been used in Iowa for some time, and other states are ready to adopt the system. Judge Hart wonders out loud why Michigan drivers do not receive the same service.

Highway department officials agree the signs are effective, but they question whether accidents on hills and curves are reduced by their use. Harold Cooper, director of the traffic division, doesn't think so.

Officials also feared loss of federal highway funds since left side erection was "non-conforming." Iowa, which did not wait for federal approval and just installed the signs, did not lose funds.

STATE POLICE favor the new signs and cite traffic violations as well as accident reductions as influencing factors. Sgt. Donald Calcaterra, traffic analyst, said that state police records for 1967 show 617 accidents occurred on curves and 1,769 occurred on hills. Improper passing violations were recorded as causing 9,275 accidents in 1967. Reports of other law enforcement agencies are not included in the totals.

Sgt. Calcaterra recalls earlier service at the Gaylord post, which wrote more tickets for passing violations than any other post in the state. In 1960-61, the new system was installed on old U.S. 27. "Our citations fell to practically nothing," Sgt. Calcaterra stated.

Cost of implementing the system state-wide has been estimated at $175,000 to $250,000. Cooper states that if the system were adopted, installation would occur only at "selected locations," not throughout the entire state.

What is needed, the judge maintains, is enough people demanding the change to force the highway department to get off its present location and begin installation.

FARM JOBS paying as much as $500 per month plus such fringe benefits as free housing have gone begging in Michigan during the past year, reports the MESC. The condition is a comparatively new development which began about 1963.

That year the average pay for agricultural workers was $210 per month for married men, $108 per month for single men, excluding fringe benefits. By 1966, pay for married men had increased to $311 per month and $139 for single men. The figures represented a 47 per cent and 28 per cent increase respectively.

To compete with factory jobs and city employers, farmers have upgraded salaries, housing facilities and fringe benefits. Current figures of $500 per month for married men and $260 for single employers reflect this pressure, the MESC says. The move should improve the situation in the long run and relieve the manpower shortage within the foreseeable future.

Personal Assets Are Up, But Overhead's Climbing, Too

WELLESLEY HILLS, Massachusetts—With living costs at record levels and headed higher, all of us should take time out to determine where we stand and how we can best safeguard our assets.

If you haven't made a recent check on the total dollar value of your personal assets, you'll probably be surprised how much they've appreciated. Even if you're in modest circumstances in our affluent society, you'll discover, in most cases, that your home is worth more than when you bought it — perhaps a good deal more. Also, the high interest and dividend payments have increased the total dollar amount of your savings and investments. And, if you own land, you'll likely find it too has gained in value.

A great many heads of families whose salaries are in the low-middle bracket — which ranges from $8,000 to $10,000 — find they actually have total assets of $50,000 or more. These may include their homes, cars, savings, investments, and their equity in life insurance policies and private pension funds.

BUT THERE is another side of the coin: Our assets are indeed worth more, but a large and growing share of the gain must be earmarked for maintenance and protection costs that will preserve the value of the real property we own. The house you bought for well under $15,000 some years ago may now have a resale value of $25,000, but it is also costing you a good deal more to maintain it and to protect your investment. Perhaps, when you bought the house, you could have had it painted at a cost of $600-$700. Today the same job might easily run to $1,100 or even $1,500.

As for fire insurance: Are you covered for full value or merely for some sum which barely protects the bank's lien in the property? In this era of rapidly rising costs, your house and furnishings should be insured for full value. And your coverage should be reviewed by you at least every three years and upgraded when necessary to keep you abreast of expanding replacement costs.

Indeed, all your insurance — life, health, accident, auto liability, theft, fire — should be reviewed at least every three years... oftener if changing personal and family situations indicate new approaches. If you have children still to be educated, you may well be under-insured. If your children have left home and are on their own, could be you're overinsured.

WHERE SHOULD you keep your insurance papers, securities, the deed to your home, jewelry, or other items? Is a strong box at home preferable to a safe-deposit box in a bank, or vice versa? Fact is, for maximum safety and convenience, you need both. All your insurance papers, your bankbooks, and bank statements should be close at hand. So too should be your will, or a copy of it. Keep all these in a fireproof strong box at home or in your office safe. Your securities, property deeds, contracts, savings bonds, jewelry, and other valuables which could easily be converted into cash if stolen should be held in a safedeposit box at your bank.

You'd be surprised at the number of people — many quite well-to-do — who die without having made a will. Most just never get around to it, but a good many decided not to bother because their personal and real property was held jointly with a wife or other relative or friend. They assumed that the surviving joint owner would automatically inherit, but this is contrary to law in some jurisdictions.

The smart thing is to draw your will...NOW...if you have not already done so. But first consult your banker, your investment adviser and, perhaps, a tax consultant...When you know what you have and what your death taxes are likely to be, see your lawyer. And once you've drawn the will, keep it up to date!

The session was called by Dr. Charles Rehmus who was appointed by the State Labor Mediation Board to serve as fact-finder in the contract dispute. Dr. Rehmus is director of the Institute of Labor and Management Relations, University of Michigan.

Dr. Rehmus' appointment was made on August 1, a day after the Mediation Board received from each of the two parties formal requests for fact finding. Neither application requested binding arbitration.

Another Mother Defends Her Son

To the Editor:
My heart goes out to (A Mother in Sorrow) for I am the mother of one of these boys also.
My son has no juvenile record, he is not a criminal, but he is being treated as one.
I have met all the other boys involved. They have been in my home and conducted themselves like gentlemen.
For one bad mistake the law wants to put four of these boys away for life, including my son.
If it happened to be one of their sons, they would know the heartache I am going through, as well as the other mothers and fathers.

They didn't see my son after one week in lock-up, without even a magazine to read, nothing to do but walk around in one small square. They didn't read the letter I finally received from my son.
They didn't see the look on my son's face when we had to leave him after visiting hours. Once a week for an hour and a half.
Who will listen to five boys? Their side of the story will never be published.
The laws says they have witnesses for what the boys did. Well these boys have people on their side too, people that saw what the police did.

If these boys are guilty, the police should be guilty also.
Let the public hear the boys' story. Let the people that saw the so-called hero capture the boys speak their piece. Let the whole story be told, not just one side. This is not justice.
If it had been anyone other than a police officer involved, the boys' bond would not have been so outrageous. The amount is ridiculous and so are the charges.
I love my son very much and I know, if he is sent to prison, when he comes out, I will not know my son. He will be ruined. Why ruin five boys' lives?

Don't let these boys go to prison for one spur-of-the-moment act.
The boy did not rob the officer of his life, but if they go to prison the law has robbed the boys of theirs.
A Mother
P.S. You stated in your editor's note that the 16-year-old juvenile would not have been eligible for enlistment. If he isn't old enough to get into the army, why should the law try him as an adult?

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

economic development of the community, which by boundaries, is considered to be the school district.
The most evident truth, as we view it, is that the Northville school district and its electorate now face reality.
There is a voter revolt. Just how deeply it runs is impossible to determine. But one would have to get odds that a third election could win.
Yet, if there are "no" voters who believe the school board has been bluffing, they, too, must face reality.
And if there are "yes" or "no" voters who believe that through special contributions certain programs satisfying their special interests can be retained, they, too, must face reality.
Only a program of total support deserves consideration.
The taxpayers of the Northville public school system must face the reality that it is going to cost more money this year and in future years to provide a good (not an excellent) school program.
To suggest that two mills this year will end the need next year, or the year after, would be deception.
And until basic changes are made in the total concept of school financing, there is scant hope in a growing area like Northville that tax relief is in the offing.
The strongest hope rests with the people within the district.
They can help boost economic development; they can broaden the base of awareness and eliminate rumor that plagues school operations; they can help the board find better ways to undertake building programs; they can conduct pressure programs at the state level that could bring about changes in methods of financing; they can elect new board members, hire new administrators if they are dissatisfied with what they have; they can get voters to the polls; they can give Northville whatever kind of school system they want.
All it takes is participation. The seats at school board meetings are free.
Speaking strictly in dollars and cents, a cutback in the Northville program of education can do nothing but hurt.
The two mills saved by the average taxpayer — which amounts to about $24 a year, or 50 cents per week — will quickly be lost through the adverse publicity it will bring to our community.
Few industries, commercial developments, or concerned people care to settle in a community that offers half-a-program in its school system.
And the local businessmen who oppose the two-mill request would be wise to compare tax savings against this prospect of business lost.
In the 12 years I have been publisher of this newspaper I cannot think of one question that has been asked more often by potential Northville residents than:
"What kind of a school system do you have?"
Right now I'm trying to think of a new answer.

...But Three Citizens See A Crime

To the Editor:
To begin with let me say I do not like to see anyone in trouble, I have worked with the youth of my community for many years and had the honor to be chairman of the Youth Services, no, I am no cop per say, but I was there when your brother, so called gun man as you phrase it held the gun with the hammer cocked back at Officer Starnes' head threatening as he put it "to blow his brains out." I also was in one of the cars (my own) who gave chase when your brother so kindly took Officer Starnes "for a ride" at break neck speeds and all the while threatening his life, yes, I was the fourth car at the scene on Currie Road and I saw with my own eyes what your brother, was capable of doing and saying. I regret that you could not have been there to see your brother in all his glory, a boy who you say would not kill, with the gun at Officer Starnes head.

Yes, we said a silent prayer that your brother could be taken before he pulled the trigger and snuff out the life of the officer, a father of six children, and 2 other officers who risked their lives also to disarm your brother...our silent prayers were with and believe it or not we even hoped that your brother and the others would give up without a struggle...but give up he would not do...so these officers risked their lives to wrestle the gun from your brothers hand...and you have the nerve to say my brother would not kill, well son you were not there.

If for a moment I felt any sympathy for you, I think of Officer Starnes, his wife and six children and the other officers families who were involved and whatever sympathy I might have had for you is quickly forgotten. I would ask myself son, where I went wrong as a brother in taking care of my own. Now as to pictures, well let me tell you with the exception of wrestling the gun from your brothers hand...your brother was not touched but I did help to put Officer Starnes in the ambulance...does this answer your question.
One who was there

To the Editor:
I read the letters from a sorrowful mother and the brother of one of the accused boys. I know these boys were capable as I saw it happen. And the question was raised — was the attack provoked? Not by the police officer, as teenagers in our area respect and like him, but certainly it was provoked by an overdose of beer and liquor. Where were the mother and brother when these boys threw bottles at random in our subdivision just missing mine and other small children playing in their own front yards? Where were they when these boys drove up 10 Mile road at an excessive speed and what type of values did they get at home when they value a bright car over another human beings life?

If these boys are permitted to go into the armed service instead of receiving their just punishment somewhere our values are warped.

Serving our country is an honor not to be gained by kidnapping a police officer.

I don't feel I can sign my name as I know the younger two will probably receive no punishment and will again be let out to harass citizens such as myself but I hope this is printed in your paper.

Novi Resident

To the Editor:
I know as a mother how you must feel for your son and I assure you that your feelings are misplaced. If you could have been at the scene as I was and see how brave the "Hoodlums" (your definition by the way) are when they have a gun and have someone at their mercy as they had Officer Starnes. And you ask, 'Give them a Chance'. A chance for what, to do it again? Do you really think that what the boys did is innocent fun?
You say that Officer Starnes should get on his knees. I am sure he did madame, to thank God that his children were not fatherless at this time.

Thanks to the antics of a bunch of Hoodlums as you put it...and because his mother believes that her son can do no wrong, that day mother he did plenty wrong shall we let them go so he can do it again later knowing if he was not punished once he wouldn't be punished a second time either? On, no, mother, as the twig is bent so shall the tree grow and no one can tell me that just because he enlisted makes him a better man.
I've seen hundreds of young men who have served our country honorably and well but none had to drink and kidnap an officer at gun point for kicks. Madam I hope your son is prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law and if for an instant I felt sorry for you, I think of Officer

Starnes' wife and their six children and ask how they felt during this ordeal and whatever sympathy I might have had for you goes out the window. It is you madam who should get on your knees and ask where you went wrong as a mother and not close your eyes as to what really happened.
