

Administrators vs. Teachers — A table and thousands of dollars apart.

NEWS briefs

Northville, township's board of trustees will host an information meeting Tuesday evening on the results of the recent city-township unification feasibility study.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the council chambers of the city hall.

Invited to participate in the explanation of the report are members of the study's steering committee, the consultant and citizens who worked on special study committees.

Following the report the meeting will be open to questions from the public.

Weather permitting, the public ceremony of presentation of the newly-adopted city of Northville flag will be held outside Sunday in the city hall park.

Mayor A. M. Allen will accept the flag from a long-time former mayor and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Langfield.

High school youngsters, who submitted winning designs and slogans for the flag, will be honored in a program that will include presentations from Councilwoman Beatrice Carlson, Ed Welch, a former councilman and promoter of the idea for creation of a city flag, John Wortman, School Superintendent Raymond Spear, Mrs. E. O. Whittington and Mrs. L. M. Eaton.

The ceremony will begin at 3 p.m.

About 10 residents of the Haggerty-Six Mile road area attended the Northville township planning commission meeting last week to object to the proposed rezoning of the southwest corner of the intersection to permit construction of a service station. A petition containing 35 names of area residents was also presented in opposition. Mainly, they objected to the structure on the basis it would create a nuisance in the neighborhood.

A spokesman for the Boron Oil Company, the firm requesting rezoning, outlined plans for the station and stated that it would be properly surrounded by a greenbelt and wall. Planners will make a decision on the rezoning at their next meeting, September 24.

Mayor A. M. Allen announced Tuesday night that an agreement had been negotiated for the purchase of the Rubin Peterson property, 149 East Main street. He revealed that the city would buy the parcel, which includes the building now housing the Northville Pizzeria and a one-story multi-unit apartment structure at the rear, for $27,500.

The agreement calls for removal of the rear building upon final purchase and the vacation of the Main street building by July, 1969. The council quickly approved the purchase, which has been a long-standing objective of the council.

Ex-Township Clerk Rita Young was appointed Tuesday night by the Northville township board to the board of review. She replaces Mrs. Helen Litsenberger, who resigned.

Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg informed the township board Tuesday night that he had hired Russell Fox of Livonia to succeed Glenn Salow as electrical and building inspector.

Salow and the township board parted ways when the board established a salary (plus car expense) of $11,600 for the dual job. Salow preferred to continue on a fee basis with a ceiling of $15,000 annually.

Record Extra to Report Return to Classrooms

When will classes begin in the Northville public schools?

Not before Monday; probably not then.

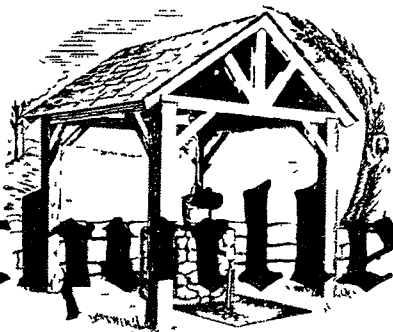

According to both administrative and teacher negotiators, classes would not resume until two days following agreement. One of these days would be required for study and ratification of the contract. The second for classroom preparation by teachers.

At press time Wednesday both negotiating teams were waiting for the return of the state-appointed factfinder. There was little hope that he would be available before Thursday (today).

An unlikely "instant" agreement would make Monday opening of classes possible.

To keep the public posted and assist parents in planning for the return of their children to school The Record will publish a special "school opening" edition if settlement occurs midway between this edition and the next regular edition, September 12. The special edition will be published immediately following agreement and should arrive in subscriber's homes and on the newsstands the day prior to school opening.

Teachers Reaffirm 'No Contract, No Work' Position

School Outlook Bleak

With teacher-board negotiation teams still locked in a stalemate Wednesday, the earliest possible opening of Northville Public Schools is Monday—if then.

Even if settlement is reached tonight, neither side sees any possibility that schools will open before Monday.

Despite efforts by both sides to resolve their differences at the bargaining table and in fact-finding sessions with a state-appointed fact finder over the Labor Day weekend, settlement appeared no closer Tuesday than it did a week ago.

Major hang-up has been a salary package, although non-economic matters also remain unsettled and of concern to both sides.

School originally was scheduled to opening Tuesday morning. Because teachers failed to report for orientation and preparation as scheduled by the board on Thursday and Friday, Superintendent Raymond Spear notified area news media that schools would be closed indefinitely.

The superintendent labeled the teachers' refusal to report Thursday and Friday as a "strike." Teachers, on the other hand, contend that since no contract has been reached with the board the previously announced schedule of school opening is not binding.

For teachers, the school calendar has been one of the issues at the bargaining table. The board refuses to recognize this issue since it contends that the present contract, which expired September 1, permits approval of the school calendar.

Monday morning after meeting with both sides, the fact-finder, George Roumell, Jr., told The Record that neither side had made any progress the previous day (Sunday) as he had hoped, and that he had recommended in the Monday meeting that teachers return to work without a contract. His recommendation included, he said, a request that the board agree to make any future contract settlement retroactive for this no-contract period.

The board agreed. But the teachers' negotiating team indicated they could not agree until after conferring with the general membership the following morning (Tuesday), Roumell said. At that time, he told The Record, teachers will decide.

"I told them that if they would return to school, I'd try to get back Tuesday night. If they don't I'm not going to break my neck. I've been working 18 hours a day and I've got other schools to work with. I don't mean by that I won't work hard if they don't return. I certainly will."

Referring to a fact-finding report and recommendation that he will write if settlement is not reached, he said "I plan to do a thorough job. I don't like to do sloppy work. It will take time."

Tuesday morning, the teachers' team took his recommendation to a previously scheduled meeting of the Northville Education Association meeting in the basement of Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church. Although the teachers' negotiation team made no recommendation, members by a hand vote, nearly unanimously reaffirmed two previous votes not to return without a contract.

In discussing the recommendation, teachers considered the possibility that their return might help win support for the upcoming 2-mill election question. However, since they did not see their return as a guarantee that voters would approve the millage, this argument lost support.

In discussing the situation Monday, the fact-finder said he could not place the blame on any one side. "There's two sides to this thing."

He admitted that his recommendation would take away some of the teachers' "muscle" (bargaining position), but he said he made the recommendation because of the damage delay of school might do to the community — and to the teachers' position.

On the other hand, Roumell said he was deeply disappointed with the board of education's position in not placing the 1968-69 budget on the bargaining table in plain view of teachers. It is done in other districts, he said. But here, teachers are at a disadvantage because they are working with figures they cannot verify, he said.

Teachers contacted the fact-finder Tuesday and learned that he may attempt to meet with the two sides Wednesday. However, Spear said he had no knowledge of such a meeting and would not be available for one Wednesday.

Roumell first met with the two sides Saturday afternoon until midnight. He barred the press, but issued periodic progress statements. Little progress was made by the time the meeting broke up and he suggested that the two sides return to the bargaining table Sunday without him.

The Sunday meeting lasted but a half-hour with no change in positions.

Monday morning, upon finding that the two sides had met only briefly and that no progress had been made, Roumell expressed extreme disappointment. It was during this short meeting with the two sides that he recommended that teachers return.

Tuesday a Michigan Education Association staff member, Dr. Arthur Rice, indicated displeasure with the Northville's city council is accustomed to hearing objections to special assessments for street improvement projects. But Tuesday night the council aired a project with a new twist — "how", not "how much" being the principle matter of controversy.

Carpenter St. Extension: Knotty Problem for Council

Owners of property in the Maplewood, Hill and Carpenter street area were invited by the council to express their opinions on the proposed extension of Carpenter street from Hill to Maplewood. The street was platted in the twenties but has never been constructed. One of the owners of the interior lots, Ivan Berdan, petitioned the city council to open the street so that the lots may be developed into homesites.

The project, which would include a paved street and water and sewer facilities, would cost an estimated $28,600 or $38,500, depending whether the street is extended full length between Maplewood and Hill or approximately half way.

The cost would be assessed against abutting properties.

William Crump, owner of property on Maplewood at the proposed site of the extended Carpenter, stated that he opposed cutting the street through from Maplewood. He pointed out that his lots would be left high above the street level, and he cited probable drainage problems for properties on Maplewood. He said he would prefer that Carpenter be extended northward from Hill, but not through to Maplewood.

Two other property owners in the area agreed with Crump's position.

But Donald Yerkes, 319 Hill street, stated that he objected to extending Carpenter from Hill.

Stuart Thomson, 974 Grace, noted that the street had already been platted, and "now it's just up to the council to decide how". Berdan said he had hoped to begin the project this fall, and although it was too late now, further delay might cause increased costs.

The council decided to study the matter at a work session and announce a decision in two weeks. City Manager Frank Ollendorff noted that under special assessment procedures two public hearings would be required to approve the project.

In other business Tuesday night the council instructed Engineer Harold Penn to complete plans for a storm sewer project extending from Northville Heights number two along Maplewood, Horton and Hill streets to Novi street for relief of drainage problems in the area. The cost of the project, estimated at $52,000, will be shared by the village of Novi under an agreement to provide a drainage system to serve an area extending into Novi.

Some question remains on the final leg of the line to the river. Engineer Penn has recommended that the original proposed path, through an easement near Allen drive in Village Green, be avoided because of numerous lawns, gardens, fences, etc., in the area. He proposes an extension of the line to a path just north of Eight Mile road.

The council has requested comparative costs for the two routes, as well as estimates on construction of a new drain under Grace Court, another flooding trouble spot.

Parents of Escapee Charged with Aiding

With a 16-year-old escapee involved in the kidnapping of a Novi police officer back in custody this week, his parents face trial on a charge of aiding and abetting his escape.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Ingall of South Lyon were arraigned in Novi Tuesday evening, stood mute, and a trial was set for 2 p.m. September 19.

Meanwhile, the examination of three other South Lyon youths involved in the case resumed this morning (Thursday) at 9 a.m. before Novi Justice Emery Jacques.

The Ingall's son, Rick Nolan, who walked away from an unguarded rehabilitation center in Oxford where he had been committed two weeks ago by the Oakland County Probate Court, turned himself in to State Police at Ypsilanti Saturday one week after his escape. He was accompanied by an attorney.

Two hours later, the same attorney appeared at the Novi police department with the parents, who, like their son, had been sought by police following a nation-wide police alert. The Oakland prosecutor had issued warrants for the parents' arrest.

Upon the advice of their attorney, neither the boy nor his parents would answer questions of police in Novi or in Ypsilanti.

Novi police said the parents disappeared from their Dixboro Road home in Lyon Township about the same time the boy turned up missing, thus leading to the warrants.

The parents have been released on $500 bond, while the boy has been turned over to Oakland County juvenile authorities. He may face another hearing, police said.

Back in court today, following adjournment of their examination two weeks ago, are Giles Carl Askins, 19, Floyd Kirkendall, and William J. Jobe, both 17.

Teachers gave their negotiating team a vote of confidence at Tuesday's meeting in Our Lady of Victory Church.

Major Hang-Up? It's Money Matter

"Thousands of dollars apart."

That's the way the teachers' negotiation team sees the economic impasse with the Northville Board of Education.

Teachers contend they cannot accurately gauge the difference between the two latest salary packages without more detailed budget information from the board.

They argue that they "are fighting only to obtain an average" salary package in comparison with the other school districts in Wayne County. Board representatives, on the other hand, maintain that they have little or no more money beyond present offers with which to bargain.

Here are the two basic proposals together with the Wayne County average settlement shown members of the Northville Education Association Tuesday morning:

Board's Offer
BA Degree $6,700 to $10,200
MA Degree $7,200 to $11,300

Teachers' Demand
BA Degree $6,900 to $10,350
MA Degree $7,590 to $12,834

Average Settlement (of 38 school districts)
BA Degree $6,938 to $10,923
MA Degree $7,604 to $12,321
Both packages call for the maximum BA and MA salaries to be reached over 11 steps. The teachers' proposal also provides for a 17th longevity step, while the board's offer reportedly provides for $11,700 at the 14th step and $12,300 at the 17th step.

Aside from the monetary differences between the board and teacher salary packages, the fact that the board presents its proposal based

Steam Blast Burns 11-Year-Old Youth

An 11-year-old Northville boy was hospitalized Friday following a freak accident in which he was burned by steam from a commercial laundry.

Tim Funke, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Funke of 46080 Bloomcrest, remains in St. Mary hospital where his condition is reported as "improving". He suffered first and second degree burns on most of his body.

The accident occurred as the youth was playing in a five-foot cement crock that carries a stream under North Center street near the Northville Laundry. Once a day the laundry releases steam into a pipe located some 60-feet inside the crock from its opening on the west side of Center street.

The youngster happened to be standing in front of the pipe as the steam was released shortly after 3 p.m. "If he had been a foot or two on either side of the pipe, he wouldn't have been hurt", R. C. Ritchie, owner of the laundry, stated.

The boy reportedly cooled his body by laying in the stream before seeking help from a resident next door to the laundry. Northville police answered the call and summoned an ambulance.

GREETINGS FROM NORTHVILLE—Members of Northville's Red Cross Chapter Thursday afternoon packed 50 Ditty Bags for servicemen in Vietnam. The Ditty Bags, an expression used by servicemen of World War I, are filled with a variety of little useful gifts, such as pens, pen-sized flashlights, pen, comb, pocket games, diary type calendars, etc. The bags will be turned over to the national Red Cross organization for mailing to servicemen in time for Christmas. The project here took place at the home of Mrs. Mae Babbitt following a dessert luncheon.

David Mulligan Takes Bride

The son of a former Northville couple was married recently in an evening ceremony at St. Robert Bellarmine church. David Carroll Mulligan married Diane Margaret Day in a double-ring ceremony performed by Reverend George T. Stromske on July 19.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll J. Mulligan of Westland, formerly of Northville. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Day of Livonia.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of candlelight peau de sois. Her dress featured a 10-foot train of chantilly lace in candlelight tone. She wore a veil of ivory with a headpiece fashioned from more of the same chantilly lace. A floral arrangement of gardenias and stephanotis over her mothers prayer book completed the outfit.

Serving as maid of honor was Marilyn Day, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Loretta and Donna Viggianelli, and Sandra Tichener, from Detroit, with Anne Marie Day serving as bride's flower girl.

Larry Spangler of Westland was the best man. Other members of the wedding party were Ronald Corey, David Day and John Stump.

Following the reception a dinner was held at the Botsford Inn in Farmington. The new couple then departed for a week's vacation in western Michigan. Upon their return they made their new home in Westland.

The new Mrs. Mulligan holds a teaching degree from Wayne State University. Her husband will become a member of the National Teacher Corps in September while attending Wayne State University working toward a master's degree in education.

Both Teens Are Seniors

'Foreign' Children Welcomed Home

Start of school marks two important homecomings for the Willis B. Hunting family of 42865 Seven Mile Road.

Here to spend a year as seniors in Northville High School are two daughters, Nancy Hunting and Nanae Koizumi, an exchange student from Japan.

Nanae, 19, arrived last week by plane with other exchange students as part of the Youth for Understanding program. Although she has not yet had time to see much of the United States, she is already finding it very different from the life she left behind.

The streets are much more colorful (at home everything is grey and brown), and the school system seems quite different, she says.

For Nancy, 18, the switch to Northville High School should be almost as different as it is for her foster sister. She is entering public high school after six years of study aboard the Shimer Beris, a converted tug boat school in Mexico.

Unique in many ways, perhaps the most amazing aspect of the private school was the total independence and rigorous living to which students became accustomed to.

The school offered an unusual program designed to instruct students in the practical adaptation to their environment. Working with Mexicans from the surrounding communities, the students produced almost everything for themselves — from growing their own food to making their own furniture.

A private, co-educational institution, the school had 18 American students of differing ages. Classes and living quarters were aboard the "Shelikof", an old Alaskan tug renovated by the students. Until recently the boat traveled up and down the Mexican coast near Los Angeles. Now, because the school has purchased a small island near the city of LaPaz, students are studying construction since each will build his own one-room house with the help of Mexicans. Once quarters are built, students will attend classes aboard ship while living in permanent quarters on land.

Subjects studied aboard the tug were similar to those of ordinary United States schools, although a good deal more stress was placed on philosophy and experiences in providing for one's self, explains Nancy. At Northville, she hopes to learn a more saleable school skill, then perhaps return to "Shelikof".

Nanae is scheduled to take regular high school classes here, including speech, Spanish, history, typing, government and newspaper — only about half as many classes she took in Japan. She has hopes of some day becoming an interpreter, and next year she plans to enter the University of Tokyo.

At home near Tokyo, she lives with her parents and an older brother, Masamu, 20, who is studying art at the university she hopes to enter next year. Her father is a designer of window displays in a local department store.

A Protestant, she will be attending the First Methodist Church while living in Northville.

FOSTER SISTERS NANAE KOIZUMI AND NANCY HUNTING

To National Delegates Garden Club to Play Host

The Northville Branch, Michigan Division of Woman's National Farm and Garden association will entertain a group of delegates that are attending the Associated Country Women of the World Triennial Conference in Lansing.

This conference is held every three years and represents 200 societies and 60 countries. It convenes next week in Detroit.

A highlight during the conference will be an educational seminar on organization and leadership; how to interest women in foreign countries in volunteer organizations that help women help themselves. Twenty foreign women, now studying in the United States, will participate in this seminar.

On Wednesday, September 11, all foreign delegates will come to Detroit by bus and be greeted by Mayor Cavanaugh of Detroit at Cobo Hall. The ladies will do some sight-seeing which will include a visit to Greenfield Village. From there a group of 38 delegates will come to Northville to visit at "Happy Acres", the home of Mrs. William Walker.

Coffee Planned For Newcomers

A Newcomers Club coffee will be held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. James Simpson, 21200 Chubb Road, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Assisting Mrs. Simpson will be Mrs. Carl Voight and Mrs. G. S. Orban.

Any newcomers to the community who desire additional information may call the club president, Mrs. Kent Mathes, 476-1649.

The first treasure hunt and couples party is slated for Saturday, September 28, at 7:30 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling one of these three persons before September 16: Mrs. Fred Mallard, 349-5656; Mrs. Martin Rinehart, 349-1468, or Mrs. Joseph Kluesner, 349-5019.

Hefty Gals Regain Figures, New Outlook

Dignity and a new, slim outlook on life is the name of the game every Tuesday morning at 10 a.m. in Main Street Elementary School.

For the past two years, local residents wishing to shed 10 pounds and more, have been attending weekly sessions of Weight Watchers, Inc., a profit-making organization which helps people learn to eat properly and maintain weight loss.

"Through re-education of eating habits, thousands of women, men and teenagers across the country, are discovering the joys of a slimmer figure and are gaining a new, slim outlook on life," officials claim.

Members must weigh-in once a month, but unlike other similar organizations, in the Weight Watchers' program, members are weighed-in privately, behind a screen. No one laughs at them or announces their weight.

This is all part of the organization's basic philosophy of imparting "dignity" into their member's thinking, says Mrs. Florine Mark, executive director of the Weight Watchers of Eastern Michigan, and who, one year ago, dropped over 30 pounds in four months to reach her present 124 pound size 8.

For a registration fee and so much a week, members can attend as many classes as they can work into their schedules. Each member sets the amount of weight they want to lose and if in 16 weeks their goal has been reached, they are graduated and made a life member—giving them the right to attend future lectures free of charge.

The lecturer in charge of the Northville classes is Mrs. Sara Adler. For further information interested persons are invited to contact Weight Watchers, 342-2844.

News Around Northville

Visiting Northville from Waltham, Massachusetts last week were Mrs. Kathleen Bryson and her daughter, Barbara. They left Sunday after a weeks vacation with the James Morrisons of 528 West Dunlap Street. Mrs. Bryson and Morrison are brother and sister.

While in Europe, the Bodnar's plan several side trips to Scotland and France. They will also be visiting with Mrs. Bodnar's brother, who she has not seen for 23 years.

Alpha Nu Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma will hold its first fall dinner meeting at the Hillside Inn in Plymouth on September 9 at 6 p.m. Members who will be unable to attend are asked to call Miss Ruth Knapp, 349-1829.

Hey Kids! VFW Plans Light-A-Bike Project

In the planning stage for several months, details for the "Light-A-Bike" project sponsored by the Northville VFW Post were announced this week.

Purpose of the project is to encourage youngsters of the Northville School District to obtain licenses for their bicycles and at the same time pick up a special tape strip that reflects light at night.

Cost of a license is 50-cents. Special feature of the project, according to VFW officials, will be the awarding of a girl's and a boy's bicycle to two lucky youngsters. All youngsters purchasing their licenses on this occasion — Saturday, September 14 — will be given tickets and two will be drawn to select the winners.

Northville police officers will be on hand for licensing, which is a requirement in the city. To be held in the police department parking lot, the licensing will begin at 10 a.m.

Novi Accidents Top Labor Day Activity

The Labor Day weekend was just that for the Novi police department, which policed nearly 30 cases including several personal injury accidents.

Six persons from one family were sent to the hospital Sunday afternoon when their car skidded from Novi Road, clipped off a guard post and crashed into a tree between 12 Mile and 12½ Mile roads.

Taken to St. Mary hospital were Lewis Paris of Livonia, his wife Ann, and four children. At least two of the injuries were considered serious by police.

Paras reportedly was north-bound on the newly paved Novi Road, which had been opened temporarily for weekend traffic, when his car hit loose dirt at the end of the pavement. Police said he lost control of the car, traveling at between 40 and 45 MPH. and the crash followed.

Novi police are still investigating an apparent injury accident that occurred Monday morning on Beck Road, south of Nine Mile Road.

Arriving at the scene, police found a car that had skidded from the road and flipped over. Blood was found inside the car, but no one was present.

Later, however, while police were still at the scene, Hugh F. Burns of Southfield appeared to say that the car was owned by his father and that it had been loaned to someone from Northville. No other information was immediately available.

Joseph V. Esser of Detroit and his 14-year-old son, Charles, were injured Sunday afternoon when their car crashed into a telephone pole. They were treated at New Grace Hospital in Detroit.

According to police, Esser lost control of his car on a curve on East Lake Drive near Angel Court and crashed into the pole. He reportedly was driving at 40 MPH.

A motorcyclist suffered minor injuries last week Tuesday night when his cycle ran into the rear of a car on East Lake Drive. Injured but not treated was Thomas Dean of Farmington.

Police said Dean ran into the rear of a car, driven by Jimmy L. Butler of Walled Lake, which was making a left hand turn from the road.

Bite Greets Novi Policeman

Novi Patrolman Frank Barabas isn't too sure that man's best friend is a dog.

Responding to a complaint last week that a German Shepherd dog was harrasing children on 11 Mile Road, Barabas pulled up in front of an 11 Mile Road home.

Children were in the yard playing — so was the dog. They ran up to greet the officer — so did the dog. Climbing out of the patrol car, the officer was "greeted" with a bite on the hand — by the dog.

He received a shot and treatment later.

The dog, licensed and owned by Eugene Reske of 24651 Novi Road, was taken to the Pontiac Animal Shelter for observation.

Later, Reske called police to report his dog missing and he, too, was greeted — with the officer's story and a warning.

American Legion

by Hazel Wright
Robert Seiting

"Fifty Years for God and Country" is the theme of The American Legion's Anniversary. The Lloyd H. Green Post No. 147 and its Auxiliary of Northville are making plans to celebrate this event throughout the coming year. Our National Organization has decreed the period of September 1, 1968 through November 11, 1969 as our Golden Anniversary.

Governor Romney has proclaimed this period as the American Legion Golden Anniversary Year in Michigan. A quote from his proclamation reads — "The American Legion, since its establishment in 1919, has become one of the great bulwarks of the American way of life through its leadership in all movements seeking the preservation of our freedoms and our free institutions. Members of The American Legion truly live up to their lofty and meaningful motto of 'For God and Country'."

The American Legion's birthdate was March 15-17, 1919 in Paris; the field of battle of the "Great War" to end all wars. Since then we have grown to 58 departments (states) including Post No. 1 Paris, France, Italy, Panama Canal Zone, Philippines, Mexico and Canada. The Department of Michigan was founded on May 24, 1919.

It has been observed that the fatherhood of the idea or the initiator of the chain of circumstances which led to the formation of the American Legion belongs to Theodore Roosevelt Jr., son of T. R. Roosevelt, President of the United States.

Those battle weary veterans of World War I wanted to continue their comradeship. They felt they owed an obligation to the widows and orphans; they wanted to serve their nation in peace as in war.

They adopted the principle of non-partisanship in politics so that no political party could influence the Legion's undertakings. Every Administration from that time has been blasted or praised according to the Legion's stand on both major and minor issues. The Legion in turn has been blasted and praised, however, it has grown to the greatest Veteran's organization in the world.

In the book by Raymond Moley, Jr., "The American Legion Story", there is a foreward written by J. Edgar Hoover. To quote from it, "Legionaires have long been in the forefront in the fight against atheistic communism — Legionaires have taken America's youth to heart — Legionaires have a belief that every person in a free society has not only rights and privileges but also duties and responsibilities."

The picture of the aging Veteran throwing paper bags filled with water from hotel windows, electric canes, and the not too sober gatherings are not the true picture of our Legion. The Lloyd H. Green Post No. 147 and their Auxiliary hope to dispel this picture by bringing our light out from the basket.

COMFORT IS KEY TO INTERIOR OF NEW RESTAURANT

On Novi Road New Restaurant Opens Here Today

A new restaurant featuring 24-hour service opens today on the east side of Novi Road opposite the Village Green Subdivision.

Owner and manager of the new facility, which together with the property and equipment is valued at $140,000 is owned by Robert Ronk of Echo Valley Subdivision in Novi. It is named The Pepper Tree Restaurant.

The restaurant is similar to the Malabu Restaurant near Grand River and Eight Mile Road, which Ronk owned and managed for five years. Mrs. Ida Boudreau of Detroit will manage The Pepper Tree.

Of concrete brick construction, the restaurant combines colonial and modern interior decorations and it features a patio-balcony along the north (entrance) and west sides. Customers enter the low balcony-patio in two locations and from it into the restaurant itself.

Inside walls feature walnut paneling, acoustical ceiling. The floor is terrazzo, with a raised rear dining area carpeted. Sterophonic music is piped in through the ceiling.

A unique feature of the furniture is the "floating" booths and tables. Custom built and reportedly the only ones of their kind in Michigan, neither the table tops nor the cushioned seats are supported by legs. Instead, they protrude from walls or partitions and are reinforced. The design makes for better comfort and easy cleaning of the floor.

Planter boxes and low partitions separate rows of booths as well as offering semi-seclusion for the raised dining area. The back wall, overlooking this dining area, will be used for hanging of oil-paintings by local artists.

The restaurant also includes a counter area adjacent to the kitchen. Above this counter is a cedar shake roof.

A blacktopped parking lot will accommodate an estimated 100 cars.

The building is situated on a 250 x 350 foot site, large enough to provide for future expansion that may take place. An estimated 20 persons are expected to be employed initially permitting around-the-clock operation.

PRACTICE UNDERWAY—An army of more than 200 boys took to the practice field last week — thus launching the long-awaited Northville Junior Football program. Under the direction of Head Coach Ed Bagdon, a former All-American, and a host of assistants, the boys are gearing up for scrimmage games at Plymouth Sunday afternoon beginning at 1 p.m. The first home game with Romulus is set for Sunday, September 15 on the high school football field.

Melanie Cole Stars In State 4-H Finals

An enthusiastic round of applause met Melanie Cole, 13, being named reserve champion in English pleasure at the 4-H finals in East Lansing. This was her 18th win this year out of 21 entries — not bad for someone competing against much older people.

Along with her title of first runner-up, Melanie took second place in equitation (riding ability). In this competition she was up against winners from every county in a class entitled "under 18".

For Melanie the contest really started on August 9 when she was named grand champion of the Cherry Time horse show in Traverse City. She then entered and won at the Wayne County 4-H Fair on August 13, thus qualifying for the state finals. Throughout the summer, she has been riding Punctuality, a 10-year-old Morgan gelding.

Melanie's mother, Mrs. Robert Cole of 356 Fairbrook, defines the pleasure as a class of performing done strictly for enjoyment. The opposite of this is Park riding, where participants are judged mostly on style and ability.

Because people aged 18 and over are ruled ineligible for the 4-H pleasure class, Melanie has already begun training to enter the Park classifications. Her new horse is a two-year-old Park Morgan named Rodchester, purchased earlier this summer.

The association is under the direction of William O'Brien and Billie Thomas of Northville.

SPECIAL MEETING

A public information forum on the findings of the City-Township Unification Feasibility Study will be conducted by the Northville Township Board Tuesday, September 10 at 8 P.M. in the council chambers of the Northville city hall.

This meeting is sponsored by the Northville Township Board. The public is urged to attend.

Money's The Problem

upon a two-year contract and that teachers insist on a one-year contract magnifies this economic hang-up. Furthermore, teachers say the second-year proposal of the board calls for an "undesirable" modified no-step increment plan. Initially, the board sought a three-year contract.

Several non-economic issues also remained unresolved. Perhaps the most important of these is the teachers' demand for an agency shop. Under the teacher proposal, new staff members who decline to join the local teachers association would be required nevertheless to pay dues to the association or face discharge by the board. The board is against this move and questions its legality in view of the conflicting teacher tenure law. Teachers contend an agency shop is legal and justified, arguing that all teachers should pay a "fair share" of the cost of bargaining services.

Other disputes include the school calendar, class preparation times, credit for outside experience, and a salary deterrent discouraging hiring of uncertified teachers.

Last week the board introduced a new concept in salaries, eliminating the built-in steps of the conventional salary schedule. According to Superintendent Raymond Spear it provided substantial raises for all teachers but eliminated "automatic" increments for teachers who advance from one step to the next or as they acquire additional years of experience. Increments, he said, are negotiable just as salary raises under a one-year contract.

The package drew so much teacher opposition that it was removed and a more conventional package substituted a few days later.

"Much of our difficulty," explained Spear, "has resulted because teachers did not specify what parts of our salary packages they disliked and wanted changed."

The NEA negotiating team chairman, Pat Bubel, contends that if there has been a breakdown in communication it is because the board's attorney earlier in bargaining did not "carry our positions back to the board". (Attorney Fred Schwarze represented the board early in bargaining, later was excused from further sessions by the superintendent, and in the latest bargaining sessions had returned to the table.)

A tentative contract agreement was reached early this week in the Plymouth School District. It provides a BA salary of from $6,950 to $11,200 in 10 steps, a MA salary of from $7,600 to $12,800 in 11 steps, $6,000 term life insurance, a sabbatical leave policy, eight-days release time for the teachers association president, and $18 per credit semester of college work.

Township Hears Sewer Expansion Plan

An informal proposal that additional capacity in the existing Wayne County sewage interceptor be given Oakland County and perhaps to Northville Township was introduced to the Northville Township Board Tuesday night.

George Bingham, director of the Wayne County Department of Public Works, said he is confident that a "mutually satisfactory" agreement between the two counties could be worked out to permit the Walled Lake area to tie into the interceptor that now extends midway into Novi.

Such a move, he explained, is indirectly related to long-range sanitary sewer plans south from the Rouge system to the southern reaches of Wayne County and perhaps involving lines stretching to Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor.

He said these long-range plans have been in the works several years but because of a critical sewage problem in the Walled Lake area — and because of the rapid development in Northville Township — they are now generating more interest.

Recent interest, he said, has given rise to a plan for more immediate relief for Walled Lake and Northville Township.

Specifically, it has been suggested as feasible possible to permit these two communities capacity beyond their present limits by using allocated but still unused capacities in neighboring Wayne County communities.

In reference to the additional capacity for Oakland County, he said it would be on an interim basis while longer range plans are firmed up and become a reality.

However, Trustee Bernard Baldwin called term "interim" misleading since Oakland County, once given the additional capacity, probably never relinquish it. Once they are using the capacity, he contended, it is highly unlikely that they could legally be "cut off."

Bingham conceded this point, but noted that the proposed agreement with Oakland might involve that county in helping Wayne pay for interceptor extensions south of the Northville-Plymouth area.

would extend the interceptor from about 10 Mile Road up into the City of Walled Lake, thus eliminating the need for an expensive proposed sewage disposal plant to service Walled Lake and the northern part of Novi.

The situation in the Walled Lake area has been termed critical by municipal and county officials. In fact, the state has cited the City of Walled Lake for pollution of its side of the lake and corrective action has been demanded.

Bingham said that by similar, carefully regulated use of the interceptor as would be required of Oakland County, additional capacity could be made available to Northville which is at or very near its capacity. He suggested an addition of 4 CFS, enough for 10,000 more people, seemed adequate for the immediate future.

Even before formal plans could be made, he emphasized, it must first be determined if it is legally possible to utilize allocated but unused capacities. Furthermore, it would require agreement of present Wayne County users. He said he now is in the process of introducing the proposal to Wayne County communities, while attorneys are investigating its legality.

fact-finder's recommendation, pointing out that the purpose of fact finding is to examine the facts and to then make a recommendation for settlement based upon his findings. His is not the job of mediation, he said.

Dr. Rice told the local teachers association that the fact-finder's insinuation that refusal to return to work might delay his work here ought not to influence the teachers' decision. He said the MEA would contact the State Labor Mediation Board to ensure that fact finding in Northville will proceed at "reasonable" haste.

Parachute Expert

Today's paratrooper chutes, for example, are lighter and are equipped with "deployment bags", cutaways to permit steering, and releases to detach the canopy upon reaching the ground — all features originally used by skydivers.

The deployment bag is a sleeve which permits slow inflation of the chute, thus eliminating the shock experienced by troopers of World War II and the Korean War. While the slots cut into the troopers' chutes are still not as sophisticated as those used by skydivers, they do permit a good deal more steering than was possible during the Korean War and earlier.

Eventually, predicts Latchford, the Army will adopt the smaller, less bulky chute used today by the skydivers. Skydivers, generally, use a 28-foot diameter chute whereas the troopers use a 35-foot chute. Originally, the larger chute permitted slower descent, but with today's modern skydiving equipment the advantage of the larger chute is lost, says Latchford.

Not at all, insists Latchford. "When I was younger and had the urge the parachute was considered a life-saving instrument only; to jump for the fun of it would have cost me my job. Later, when I'd put on a few years and skydiving became a sport, high blood pressure and the doctor kept me out of it."

Is it the fear of jumping that has kept him from using his own product?

LAURYL LaFEVRE, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ryerson LaFevre of 49191 Ridge Court, is a first-class champion. And if you don't believe it, try counting the freckles on her beaming face. John J. Fricke, Vicar
Holy Cross Episcopal Mission, Novi

Once upon a time, most churchmen stayed discreetly on the sidelines during a presidential campaign. No more. This year, as never before, religious journals, church groups, and individual clergy are deeply involved, in fact, openly involved in the election. There is much public reaction to the involvement of the Church in this area of life, and I am sure that even you have sentiments on the subject. Each of us know there is much feeling about it, and that a lot of it is hostile. Let's not deceive ourselves, my brethren. In many quarters this movement by the church into the area of national politics is viewed not only as an excursion, but also as an outright intrusion into a restricted area.

We, in America, have long nourished and cherished a tradition of separation between Church and state. This tradition has deep roots stretching back into the very founding of our country. And, if we wished, we could go beyond the year 1215 and the signing of the Magna Charta at Runnymede. The point is clear, we have this tradition. And being the slogan happy people that we are, we have reduced it, quite naturally, into a catchy little phrase... separation of church and state. When a question is raised that is of a complex nature, nothing is quite so appealing as a ready-made jingle that "soothes rather than burns." And, of course, what I am implying is that we have done more than our share with this phrase of "separation of church and state."

The truth is that too many of us have spent our time speaking about our tradition rather than pondering and reflecting upon its meaning, its implications. This, mingled with our tendency to romanticize to our liking those periods of history... long and short... about which we know nothing, has engulfed us in a cloud of confusion and misunderstanding. It would come as a surprise to many, for instance, to learn that Thomas Jefferson, a good churchman, while serving as President refused often to issue proclamations concerning religious holidays, including Thanksgiving... a practice he defended in his second inaugural address as being within the intent of the First Amendment. Contrast this to the reception accorded last year's Presidential proclamation of Thanksgiving Day.

Obviously, there is more than one point of view in operation here. This has been true of all the questions raised with respect to the First Amendment. There is a lack of historical consistency in the interpretation of our tradition. The confusion that now abounds concerning church and state is nothing more than a resultant consequence of our failure to deal with what we really mean by the First Amendment. I, for one, am sure that we must "come to grips" with the problem of separation of Church and state, and end once-and-for-all the confusion and uncertainty which clouds our attitude on the subject.

At the heart of the problem

Frightened, its wing broken, the bird was clinging to a rail when Tod found it. He brought it home, and "Racky" became its name.

Days passed and the bird mended quickly.

"Racky's getting well," the six-year old informed me one day. "Will he fly away?" I nodded.

"But I want him to stay here! I'll feed him, and let him sleep in his box-house, and take care of him—an' everything!"

"But he might want to be with his friends," I said. There was silence as the boy pondered the idea.

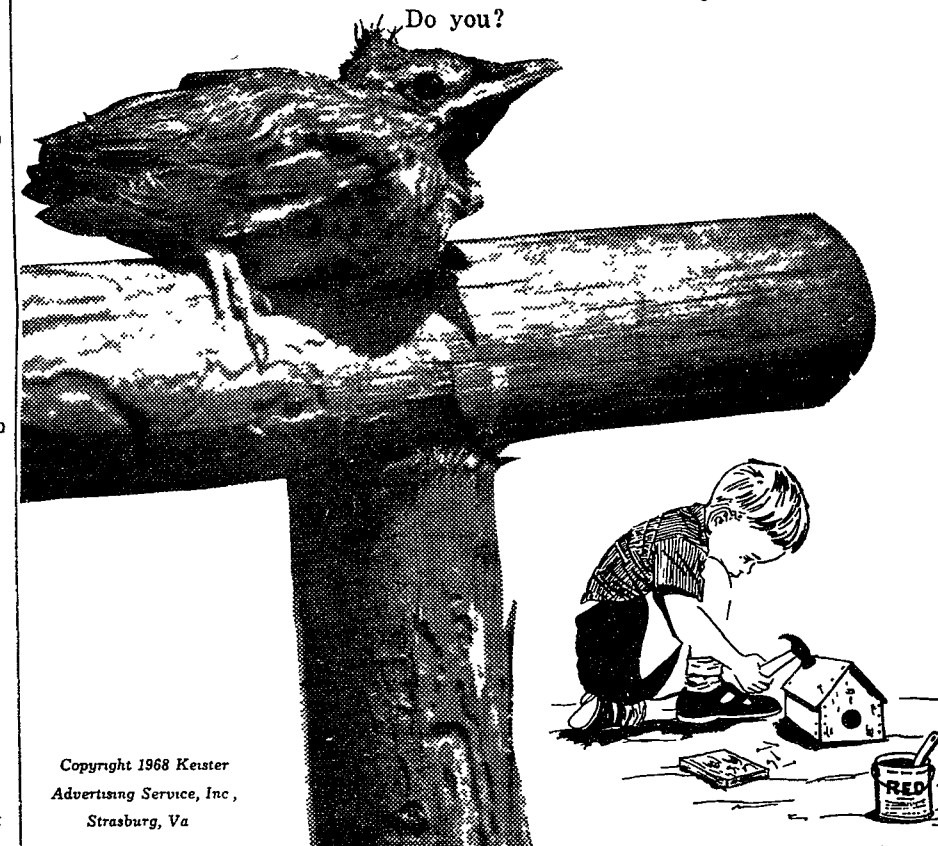

"All right," he finally said. "I'll let him go. But I bet he'd be happier here with me!"

We, too, would be happier if we knew where we belong in the complex pattern of life. God helps us discover ourselves and our place in His universe through His Church.

The child didn't know any better.

Do you?

Out of THE PAST

FIVE YEARS AGO...

Northville football coaches were wide grins as a record number of hopefuls turned out for opening grid drills. Sixty hopefuls were pushed through twice-a-day practice sessions in preparation for the opening tilt here with arch-rival Plymouth on September 13.

Initial half-day sessions for first graders, aimed at providing a more sound introduction to the first grade, were approved by the Northville Board of Education. Suggested by the elementary principals and recommended by Superintendent Amerman, the experimental program will mean that all children entering the first grade will attend school for a half-day only for the first full three weeks.

Supervisor R. D. Merriam reported that discussions have been held with both Plymouth and Detroit officials to determine a source of supply for township residents in the Five Mile and Bradner area. Merriam indicated that prospects for Detroit water were somewhat dim.

A reluctant group of property owners with little alternative consented to action taken by the city council for the proposed improvement of Orchard Drive.

TEN YEARS AGO...

Northville's city council took definite steps to thoroughly review and map out its water system and undertake a major program of improvements.

Ten candidates sought five seats on the proposed village council in Novi's special charter election September 22. The candidates were J. Philip Anderson, George Ames, Russell Butten, Burt Fisher, David Fried, Dirk Groenenberg, Dicron Taffralian, Leo Harrowood, Walter Tuck and Donald Woodward.

New principal of Our Lady of Victory school was Sister Rose Edmund, O.P., who replaces Sister Anita Marie, O.P.

Donald A. Knodle was named by the board of education to replace Mrs. George Atkinson as principal of Novi School.

Based on preliminary estimates more than 1,700 students were expected to attend Northville schools slated to open September 8.

Novi's slow registration rate for the upcoming village charter election became cause for concern because only 140 of an estimated 2,500 qualified electors had registered.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO...

The prayers of a former Northville family were answered when their 21-year old son, listed as missing in action in Korea, returned to freedom at Panmunjom. Pvt. Jack Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Andrews, was freed after 43 days as a Communist prisoner.

A three-man committee to "steer" construction of the $200,000 Northville Community Building was appointed by Village President Conrad E. Langfield and the Commission. Named to the committee were Recreation Director Wilson Funk, Commissioner Alton Peters, and Lynn Sullivan.

The village Hall began to take on a new gleam as Roy Hollis and son, James, of 516 Randolph, began putting on the first of two coats of paint. It was to take about two more weeks, Hollis said.

Northville's bluebird population increased more than 800 percent — thanks to a one-man community birdhouse campaign conducted by Harold S. Hartley. Hartley decided to distribute the bird houses after a census the previous summer turned up only three active bluebird nests in the village.

TWENTY YEARS AGO...

William F. Miller, president of the Northville Parent Teachers Association, rendered his resignation at the first meeting of the organization's executive board for this school year. He was moving in September.

George A. Dondero, member of the United States House of Representatives, outlined what Congress was doing in a speech at the Rotary Club. He considered three laws imperative: control of pollution of fresh water streams, repairing and building new roads, and temporary housing for G.I.'s at colleges and universities.

Dr. B. George Chabut, Northville's Health Officer, attended a meeting in Plymouth where he heard that rabies cases had been reported in Redford Township, Livonia (9), Canton (10), Plymouth, two in Plymouth Township and five in Northville and Northville Township. As a result, the dog quarantine was continued.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO...

Plans for the Northville Third War Loan Drive for the month of September were being rapidly woven into shape, under the guidance of Mrs. Averill Green, local chairman. She was assisted in various capacities by numerous people who had volunteered to help. S. L. Brader was in charge of the retailer's "Gallant 60,000" group, and C. R. Ely was chairman of the committee on Bond Sales to Mothers and Fathers of servicemen.

The annual dental clinic for grade school children, in progress since Aug. 12 in the kindergarten room of the grade school, was to continue through September 2, with Dr. Wolf in charge.

Major Herbert Berendt of the U.S.F.A. was the guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Exchange and Rotary clubs. Major Berendt, who had been stationed in Iceland since its occupation by American forces, gave an interesting exploitation of his experiences there.

The Blue Star Mothers planned to hold their tag day on September 4. The funds were to be used for Christmas gifts for service men (and) women.

SIXTY-FIVE YEARS AGO...

George Yerkes' aggregation of 11 Detroit business men invaded Northville and promptly smashed the Northville business men to the tune of 5 to 12. At the close of the ball game, the local team gave the Detroiters a supper at the Park Hotel.

After two years of faithful service as extra conductor on the Detroit United, Charle Blackburn was given a regular run, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Harry Weaver.

Students Win CMU Honor

Several area students were among 1,149 at Central Michigan University named to the scholastic honors list for the spring semester, officials revealed this week.

To be eligible for the scholastic honors list, a student must have an average of "B" or better for his entire college career.

$320,000 Package

Schoolcraft Inks Teacher Pact

A two-year contract between the faculty and the Board of Trustees of Schoolcraft College was ratified by both sides (August 23-24) as the college prepared to open its doors for its fifth year.

Announcement of the agreement was made jointly by Dr. Eric J. Bradner, president of the college, and Walter O. Hoffmann, psychology instructor and president of the Faculty Forum.

The agreement covers 140 faculty members, counselors and assistant librarians this year and represents an economic package of almost $320,000 over the two year period. Salary increases, salary adjustments and fringe benefits add up to a $118,000 package for this year. The total cost of the contract does not include regular increments paid to all members of the faculty bargaining unit during the two year period.

The agreement was approved by the faculty on August 23, on a vote of 69 to 9 with one member abstaining. Trustees approved the pact August 24, on a 5-0 vote. Three members of the board were absent from the special meeting called to ratify the contract in advance of the scheduled start of the academic year on Monday, August 26.

Pertinent terms of the economic package for this year are across-the-board raises of $500 for all members of the bargaining unit, upward salary adjustments of $700, $550, and $400 for faculty members hired in 1964, 1965, and 1966, and payment by the Board of an additional one-quarter of the cost of dependents group hospital and medical insurance to a total of 75 percent of the premium cost. In addition, the entire salary scale was increased by $500 to accommodate the across-the-board raises.

For the 1969-70 academic year, the contract provides for an across-the-board raise of $600, upward salary adjustments of $300, $250, and $200 for the 1964-66 faculty hires, and the assumption by the Board of 100 percent of the dependents group hospital and medical premiums.

The salary adjustments split over the two years are designed to bring faculty members hired in the 1964-66 period up to scale on the salary schedule.

Also in 1969-70, the salary scale will move up another $600, and upward adjustments in the overload and part-time teaching salary scales will take effect.

The contract provides for two basic salary schedules: one for 36 weeks covering most instructors; and one for 48 weeks covering instructors in the health careers and the highway technology program, counselors and assistant librarians.

The contract provides for four main salary tracks covering instructors with less than a masters degree, those holding the MA degree, those with an MA plus 30 graduate hours, and those holding the Ph.D. degree. The majority of Schoolcraft instructors are on the two middle tracks applying to masters and masters-plus-30.

The salary range this year for the MA schedule on a 36-week basic contract is $8,000 for a beginning instructor to a top of $12,000. Next year the range will be $8,600 to $12,600.

On the 48-week basic contract the ranges will be $10,000 to $15,000 this year, and $10,750 to $15,750 next year.

Another significant change in the contract was the detailing of evaluation procedures to be followed during the two years of probationary status for new instructors.

Contract talks began at the college last January and were sent to fact-finding earlier this month. Eight days of intensive bargaining beginning August 14, produced the final agreement.

Municipal Court

Six of the cases heard in Northville Municipal Court last week by Judge Philip Ogilvie concerned charges of disorderly conduct.

Ora Greenhoe of 111 West Main Street, Frances Loux of Detroit and Stanley Dunlow of Hazel Park pleaded guilty of being drunk and disorderly. Greenhoe was sentenced to pay $50 plus $5 or serve 10 days in jail, and Loux received a fine of $30 and $10 cost or eight days. Dunlow was fined $50 or 15 days and was placed on probation for a year.

A charge of disorderly-vagrant was brought against John Eads, (no address), for lingering near Rathburn Chevrolet, 560 South Main Street. Eads pleaded guilty and was committed to the Detroit House of Correction for three days.

A plea of guilty was entered by Harold Weeks of Livonia in response to charges of disorderly fighting in Paul's Hamburger Restaurant, 156 North Center Street. He was sentenced to pay $50 or serve 10 days and $5 costs.

Justice Court

A 28-year-old Plymouth man, arrested recently by a Novi policeman who suffered a shoulder separation in the process, was fined $50 last week for being a disorderly person.

Charles B. Hill pleaded guilty before Novi Justice of the Peace Emery Jacques Thursday and was ordered to pay the fine or serve five days in jail.

Meanwhile, Patrolman Jack Grubb, a summer police replacement, underwent surgery Friday and has been placed on three weeks sick leave.

Grubb fell while chasing Hill on foot from near the police headquarters and up Flint Street where he was caught.

The chase started when Mrs. Bert Harbin of Novi stopped at the station early in the morning on August 18 to report that a "drunk" was following her car containing her husband and brother-in-law and was threatening them. Hill followed their car to the station and when Grubb walked out to investigate, Hill jumped from his car and the officer gave chase.

In other Novi Justice Court action last week, two men were fined for speeding.

Robert J. Sullivan of Detroit was found guilty of speeding 70 in a 50 MPH zone on Grand River near Taft. He paid a $30 fine and $15 court costs in lieu of a 10-day jail sentence.

A $20 fine was paid by William F. York of Walled Lake, who pleaded guilty of speeding 70 MPH on Grand River, between Beck and Wixom Roads.

Eldon E. Pell of Dearborn, stopped by police for illegal passing, was fined $10 and $10 court costs for driving with an expired operator's license.

Who May Run for Office?

Upcoming in the very near future is the election of The Cavern Board of Directors for 1968-1969.

This is the means to become involved in the operation of a club, to become a vital part of a club's function — something which is threatening to be denied you by "the all-knowing, enlightened officials" involved in the high school level of education.

Many of you are being denied the opportunity of functioning in a club of your choice — but The Cavern holds this self-same opportunity for you because school officials haven't the direct authority to put the kibosh on this club — a club whose functions are enjoyed by many teens.

It's a club in your interest, which is guided in an advisory sponsorship capacity by The Mothers' Club — but which has the delegated power of student control.

Twelve offices are to be filled ... offices with qualifications catering strictly to the high school set.

The following are summaries of the twelve board positions, giving but a brief description of each as specified in The Cavern By-Laws — Articles IV-V: Duties of Officers and Committee Chairmen.

1. President: Shall preside at all meetings and have general supervision of Cavern dances.

2. Vice-President: Shall exercise all the functions of the president in his absence, serve as membership chairman, and keep the membership list up to date.

3. Recording Secretary: Shall take roll call and minutes of all meetings.

4. Corresponding Secretary: Shall notify board members of meetings and prepare and send out all necessary correspondence.

5. Treasurer: Keep an accurate account of all financial transactions and make regular financial reports at every meeting.

6. Refreshment Chairman: Make arrangements for getting adequate refreshments and workers for each dance.

7. Door Chairman: Schedule responsible members who know the rules to work at the door, as well as ordering tickets and other necessary supplies.

8. Advertising Chairman: Keep all Cavern activities well publicized by use of posters, newspapers, etc.

9. Entertainment Chairman: Contact bands for each dance, as well as supervise them at each dance.

10. Chaperone Chairman: Arrange for adult couples to be at each dance, as well as policemen, and greet them at the dance.

11. Decoration Chairman: Be responsible for planning decorations for each dance, as well as organizing the actual decorating.

12. Stage Manager: Shall be responsible for the care of the stage, as well as all equipment on said stage.

Be it known that it has been decreed that any and all interested parties should contact either Sue Jarvis (349-0928) or Jane Forrer (349-0348) for further information as to nominating oneself to one of the aforementioned board seats, or to show your interest in serving on a committee.

Two dances are planned by The Cavern during the month of September. They are slated for September 14 and 28.

WHAT'S BEST FOR DURABLE PRESS?

Home economists agree that durable press garments look best when dried in a clothes dryer. Housewives who already have a new gas dryer and durable press garments say they were made for each other!

The secret is in the even heat, gentle tumbling action and special cycles of the new gas dryer. Dried in the gas dryer, durable press fabrics bounce back to their original shape without wrinkles — creases are where they belong.

Why not see your gas appliance dealer today? Have him show you the automatic settings that eliminate ironing of the new durable press fabrics!

News Around Schoolcraft

Many building officials and building inspectors throughout southeastern Michigan will be heading back to school this fall to attend a comprehensive course in the application and analysis of building code principals at Schoolcraft College.

Evening College Director Fred Stefanski said the three credit hour course will concentrate on code interpretation as it applies to municipal inspection practices.

The course will meet on Tuesday nights from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. starting September 3, and continuing through December 17.

Instructor for the course is W. J. (Bill) Robinson, code correlator for the City of Detroit and administrative assistant to the commissioner of the Dept. of Buildings and Safety Engineering. Robinson is a veteran of 32 years experience in the building inspection and related areas.

Textbook for the course is the Basic Building Code of the Building Officials of America, the code used in most communities in this area, according to Stefanski. Copies of the text are available at the college at a special discount for those students who do not have a reference copy.

Although Robinson plans to pattern the course according to the needs of the students, the tentative outline includes sessions covering code administration, definitions, light and ventilation, structural and foundation loads, materials and tests, state laws and regulations and fire protection.

Richard L. Sanderson, executive director of the Building Officials Council of America, Chicago, will keynote the opening session of the course, Stefanski said.

Tuition for the 16-week course is $31.50 for residents of the college district and $55.50 for non-residents. A $10 college registration fee will be charged for all students.

Mr. Russell of Thompson-Brown Co. spoke to the question, presenting some differing viewpoints on some of the items in the act. He suggested basically that the necessary steps be minimized and that some provision be made for non-residential and multiple-family platting. Lawrence moved that the Board refer the Subdivision Control Act to the three Township Consultants for further study, seconded by Tellam. Ayes: All. Motion carried.

5. Unification. - Reports of the steering committee have been sent to all board members. They stated that City and Township Unification is feasible. The City is to hold an open meeting to acquaint its people with the contents of the report on Aug. 26 at 8:00 p.m. The Township will discuss at its next meeting the advisability of holding such a meeting for the Township people, after further study of the report by Board members.

6. A refuse disposal authority is being considered. This will include Salem Twp., Plymouth Twp., Northville Twp., and the cities of Plymouth and Northville as well as Canton Twp. A vote will be taken at the next meeting as to our entrance into the authority.

NEW BUSINESS

Sewer tap charges to tax rolls. - These are past due charges that were not paid at the time of expansion of either property. Baldwin moved that the Clerk be instructed to contact the responsible people and indicate the amounts that are due on these two cases, item number 14a47bl and 11Plap2al, and if necessary place them on the tax rolls, in the amounts of $400.00 and $1144.00 respectively, seconded by Tellam. Ayes: All. Motion carried.

Armstrong moved that the rest of the items on the agenda not acted on be moved and placed on the agenda of the August 20, 1968 special meeting, supported by Lawrence. Ayes: All. Motion carried.

Adjournment at 11:55 p.m.
Respectfully submitted,

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

For at least 10 years planners — both professional consultants and citizen members of planning commissions — have been pointing with concern to the business district facilities in the city of Northville.

They have used various means to plant the same concern in the minds of elected city officials and businessmen holding property interests in the commercial district.

Their principle worry is that the influx of people to the area will surpass the ability of the city's shopping center to serve the demand. Many believe that this has already happened; all agree that little time is left to produce visible evidence that an expanded and improved shopping area is in the offing.

The threat to the future of the city's central business district is that a major developer, unhappy with what he sees in the shopping area, will promote a new center as an attraction (and a profitable venture) to his subdivision.

Both city and township planners have been aware of this threat to the prosperity of the local business district and both have had a hand in attempting to protect it.

City planners have spent many hours designing a "new" central business district. Actually, it's a plan that incorporates what now exists with additional floor space and more convenient parking facilities.

Township planners have adopted the position that the city's commercial area is the major shopping center for the community. They have attempted to protect this position by discouraging any large commercial developments and confining shopping areas to smaller service-type neighborhood centers.

Planners are not alone in their concern; and their warnings have not gone unheeded.

Many local businesses have improved and expanded their individual operations. The Northville Area Economic Development Corporation has acquired vacant and deteriorating property in the commercial district and has it earmarked for redevelopment. The city council has cooperated by developing more parking and, in many instances, helping the development corporation by purchasing properties it has acquired.

In addition, a number of individual businessmen have donated time and effort to attracting new business to the area.

Right now, for example, a major commercial development has been designed for the Northville central business district. It's just an idea, but it's on the drawing boards and has the backing of the economic development corporation. It still has to be "sold", but it's feasible.

Despite these efforts, however, there's still concern that enough is not being done.

To some extent Northville township planners expressed this concern last week. They're well aware of the awesome number of living units now underway by major developers in the township. And they're feeling the pressures of commercial developers. They know, too, that good planning dictates an attention to good balance between residential and commercial.

Consequently, Township Planning Chairman Leonard Klein proposed a joint meeting of the city-township planning commissions so that each might discuss the future and what must be done to meet its challenges.

The township wants the city to be well aware of what's happening to its vast acres of undeveloped land; and it wants to know what plans are being made in the city to prepare for the influx.

The joint information-exchange meeting idea is a good one that could become a regular practice. Chairman Klein and his planners are to be commended for taking the initiative.

Hopefully, the meetings can provide a clear picture of the area's immediate future both from a standpoint of numbers of dwelling units and the commercial facilities needed to serve the increased demand.

How's the third attempt to pass a two-mill package for school operating funds in Northville going to come out September 14?

Citizens working on an opinion survey will tell you it's a toss up.

"The replies to our house-to-house survey are about 50-50", says Bob Bogart, who is one of 17 captains working with teams of citizens conducting the poll in the city and township.

The pollsters expect their efforts to get out a bigger vote, but they're not sure this means passage of the millage. They've had about as many "yes" replies as "no".

"It's really up to the undecided voters", Bogart noted. He also expressed hope that "a few" of the "no" voters might change their minds.

Readers Speak: 3 R's Not Enough

To The Editor:

Mr. Hicks claims a rational look at the facts is needed in regard to the school millage request. Has he taken a rational look at the facts? He says, "First, money alone does not buy a quality education..." I agree. Money alone does not. But without the money to finance a quality education one does not receive a quality education. The three R's can be learned at a relatively low cost. But the three R's alone will not get one into college or give one the ability to go out and earn a reasonable living. Unless the three R's are coupled with sciences, languages, social studies, physical education, and extra-curricular abilities, all of which cost money, students are unable to receive a decent, or "quality" education to fit in with the times.

At the time a three R's education ending in the grade school was fashionable, today's business world did not exist. Now, nearly every young male beginning his career needs a college education to support himself and his family. And colleges want extra-curricular activities! When last year's seniors made out their college applications, they were asked what school activities they'd belonged to. If the students answered "none" do you think the college stopped to consider maybe this school didn't offer any? Of course not! Everyone knows high schools have clubs. And most have the National Honor Society.

Disappointed Newcomer

To The Editor:

As a new citizen, I have become very interested and concerned about the millage increase dispute. Having lived in Northville only one week, I am of course unable to vote on September 14, but I do hope, for the sake of the children, that the millage increase will be passed this time.

I was very surprised and a little disappointed by some of the letters from citizens which I have read in The Record. The main complaint seems to come from older citizens whose children have already been graduated from school. They are concerned only with the tax increase, and don't seem to realize that their children received the best education which could be provided at the time. It doesn't seem fitting that they should begrudge today's children the same right.

Another rationalization against the increase is the age old statement, "I did not have all that when I went to school." No, but then neither did anyone else. Today's children are going to have to compete with today's children, not the children of the past, and other communities are presently providing those benefits which a millage defeat would take away from the Northville schools. Yes, take away! It is not a matter of stopping progress, or even standing still. It is out and out regression. This years students will not even have the benefits that last year's students had.

I sincerely hope that this situation will be rectified in September by a vote for the millage increase. Your children are dependent upon the outcome.

Police Brutality

NOTE—Reprinted below is a letter published in the police magazine, The Badge. It was written by the wife of a San Antonio minister.

Dear Sirs:

One of the most common phrases heard in our society and our city today is "police brutality." Perhaps I don't understand the meaning, but I would like to give you one mother's viewpoint on this subject.

To begin, I should first tell you that I have two teen-age sons, and being a mother, I cannot help but want the very best of everything for them. I am a "typical mother" in that I don't want to see them hurt by anyone. I am not a typical mother, for I see things many mothers never hear of, much less become involved in, because my husband is a minister and we see the very best and the sordid worst.

I would like for you to be brutal with my sons. Is that a surprise?

If you find them speeding in a car, please be brutal. I have sat at a hospital holding a grieving mother's hand because of someone's mistake. That was brutal. I have gone with my husband to tell a wife her husband was killed. That was brutal. I have helped nurse a beautiful teen-age girl crippled in a wreck. That was brutal. I have played organ music at funeral services for babies, teen-agers, and adults because someone drove too fast. That was brutal.

If you should catch my under-age sons with liquor in their possession, please be brutal.

I have sat all night by my husband's side trying to help piece together two under-age young men's lives, both broken by drinking. That was brutal. I have listened to the horrors experienced by another man while he was drunk and heard him recall the many jails he had served time in for this. That was brutal. I have helped feed hungry children because a drunken father didn't come home. That was brutal. I have tried to console a mother whose daughter was killed after being struck by a drunken driver. That was brutal!

If you should find my sons with drugs in their possession, please be brutal!

I have tried to help rehabilitate a woman just out of prison for shooting her husband while she was drugged. That was brutal. I have seen a handsome young man turn into an ugly one because of drugs. That was brutal. I have seen a young mother who was addicted to a drug scream and rave for lack of a "fix." That was brutal.

If you find my sons committing any kind of immoral act or carrying any pornographic materials, please be brutal! I have listened to the sad cry of a young girl who was pregnant but not married. That was brutal. I have been present when a boy and girl broke the news to their parents that they had to marry. That was brutal. I have tried to comfort a mother whose beautiful daughter was criminally raped. That was brutal. I have seen a promising young man with a brilliant future have to give it up and too young assume the responsibilities of a wife and baby. That was brutal.

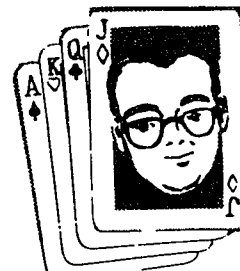

If you ever see my sons taking something that isn't theirs or willfully destroying property, please be brutal! I have walked into a hushed, sacred church that was stripped of everything that could be sold. That was brutal. I have seen a lovely, expensive home and yard completely torn up by vandals. That was brutal. I have seen a school and its marvelous equipment torn apart by other vandals. That was brutal. I have wiped a little boys tears and helped him hunt for his stolen bicycle. That was brutal.

If you should ever catch my sons doing anything illegal, please be brutal! I have come to realize that your kind of "brutality" cannot in any way compare with the brutality that comes from breaking our laws.

My husband and I have tried to teach our sons that their rights end where someone else's begin. We believe they have learned this lesson; but in case they forget, we look to you and others who influence their lives — teachers, coaches, etc. — to see that they remember.

And if you must be brutal to remind them — then please, please be brutal!

I do not want my two sons to grow into two grown-up boys. I want them to become men, able to assume their places in this world and make a good contribution to it. I sincerely hope they won't need your help; but if they do, and if you must, then be brutal.

There was nothing unusual about Hubert Humphrey's picture, although I do remember thinking that it was the first time I'd seen a picture of the Vice-President in a sports shirt.

But the woman who shares the newspaper with me — literally — refused to turn the page until she had carefully scanned the picture.

"Do you mind," I said, "I'd like to turn the page."

"Isn't that strange," she mumbled, completely ignoring my request. "Look at Hubert's shirt. Isn't that odd?"

"So he's wearing a sport shirt. So what?"

"No, look at the shirt. It's flowered or something... see, by his tie and on his collar. But look where it comes out of his coat sleeves. It's white with no flowers."

"Maybe it's a two-tone job. Let's turn the page."

"No, wait a minute. Isn't that odd. There's something wrong. If it's flowered by the tie and collar it should be flowered on the sleeves. Do you suppose it could be the photograph?"

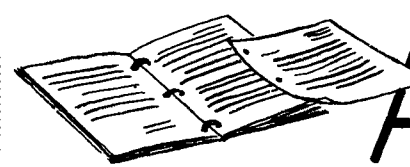

"No, and I really don't care. Forget it. He's just wearing a new kind of shirt. Let's turn the page."

"You're suppose to be a reporter, and you can't even see something odd about that picture."

Have you ever stopped to think how much this means to an eligible student? Or how much influence it might carry on a college application to be able to state one belongs to NHS? Please voters, reconsider your stands. We students can't vote — we must rely on our parents and friends to do that for us. But I know which way the vote would go if it were put to the students. We'd be willing to pay the increase if it were proportionate to our means.

Nancy McLellan

LOOSE LEAF

By ROLLY PETERSON

The police crackdown on demonstrators during the 1968 Democratic convention won't soon be forgotten by the American public. For some time to come the controversy will rage as to whether Chicago's finest were indeed within their rights in clubbing the Hippies and Yippies and innocent bystanders into submission.

Some condemn the police as being brutal. Others defend their heavy-handed tactics as being necessary for the preservation of law and order. Surely, there is no easy answer, just as surely as the Democratic process can be a painful experience.

But there is an answer and Abe Fortas, associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, zeroes in on the problem in his timely book, "Concerning Dissent and Civil Disobedience."

Fortas is not just another member of the supreme court. If for no other reason he is known because of the recent investigation of his appointment by President Johnson as Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court. But even Robert Griffin, Michigan Senator who is leading the forces opposed to Fortas' appointment, admits Fortas' qualifications cannot be questioned. He is readily recognized for his brilliant legal mind.

Clearly, Fortas has more going for him than his brilliant mind. In his book, now in paperback and printed in July, he demonstrates that he also is objective while being sensitively attuned to his times and the needs of his country.

The basic question which he addresses is not whether dissent is legal — for it is indelibly clear that the First Amendment guarantees this right — but what methods of dissent are permitted by law.

He draws the line on dissent, however, when it infringes on the rights of others. The protestor, Fortas says, does not have carte blanche to wreck havoc. And "good cause" is no defense under the law.

But just as the individual, the dissident, must abide by the law, so must the government. Police cannot take the law into their own hands, even though they are entrusted with the responsibility of enforcing it.

Fortas says: "The same principals apply to the police and officers of the law. They, too, are liable for their acts. The fact that they represent the state does not give them immunity from the consequences of brutality or lawlessness. They, like the rioters, may be motivated by long and acute provocation. It may be that their lawlessness was the direct product of fear, or of righteous anger. They may have been moved to violence by more pressure than they could endure. But they, too, are subject to the rule of law, and if they exceed the authorized bounds of firmness and self-protection and heedlessly assaulted the people whom they encountered, they should be disciplined, tried, and convicted. It is a deplorable truth that because they are officers of the state they frequently escape the penalty of their lawlessness."

And directly applicable to Chicago is Fortas' statement: "These mass demonstrations, however peacefully intended by their organizers, always involve the danger that they may erupt into violence. But despite this, our Constitution and our traditions, as well as practical wisdom, teach us that city officials, police and citizens must be tolerant of mass demonstrations, however large and inconvenient. No city should be expected to submit to paralysis or to widespread injury to persons and property brought on by violation of law. It must be prepared to prevent this by the use of planning, persuasion, and restrained law enforcement. But at the same time, it is the city's duty under law, and as a matter of good sense, to make every effort to provide adequate facilities so that the demonstration can be effectively staged, so that it can be conducted without paralyzing the city's life, and to provide protection for the demonstrators. The city must perform this duty."

In light of these two pronouncements, where does Chicago stand? What facilities were provided for a demonstration? What evidence was there of planning, persuasion, and restrained law enforcement? Little, if any.

Where's your 'nose for news'? I'll bet if it was a picture of a girl and she was wearing two different kinds of hose you'd notice it."

"Naturally, that's different. Turn the page, maybe we'll find one."

"What's so different? This is a picture of the Vice-President. That's important. There's only one of them. So anything different about him should attract your attention. You should want to know what makes him different. Now, why do you suppose his shirt is flowered by the tie and white on the sleeves?"

She was beginning to remind me of an old journalism instructor who maintained that a good newspaperman could find a story inside a discarded cigarette wrapper. (He died of lung cancer, by the way.)

I tried coming up with an explanation but it failed to please her.

"You know what I think?" she asked.

"No, what's that?"

"Well, I think he figures he's wearing clothes that will satisfy both the liberals and the conservatives."

"That's not bad," I answered, "but what about the middle-of-the-roads like me?"

"For your kind," she shot back, "well, you'll just have to hope... that he's wearing your kind of underwear. Turn the page."

Taxpayer Revolt Hits Schools

LANSING — Some 2.5 million school children are scheduled to return to Michigan classrooms this month. Many may not attend opening day. By the last week in August about 140 school districts had not reached agreement with teachers over new contracts, according to the Michigan Education Association.

This does not mean that teachers in those districts will strike immediately. Some may; others will choose to begin teaching without contracts.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS will suffer in those districts where voters have defeated operating millage. Local school boards are in the difficult position of satisfying teacher demands and maintaining academic standards while voters refuse to authorize extra revenue.

Voters in 197 districts turned down operating millage requests this year, while 339 propositions were approved. When operating millage is defeated, school boards face an immediate problem. They must either call for another millage election or reduce expenses. Increased enrollments make cost-cutting difficult, and reductions result in over-crowded classrooms, inferior programs, and loss of qualified teachers. The inconvenience to taxpayers in loss of services is often more costly than the millage.

A number of educators believe that negative votes on millage propositions do not reflect negative attitudes towards schools. They suspect that a millage vote is one of the few places remaining where taxpayers can express dissatisfaction with taxes in general.

No matter what the reasons, school children are directly affected by millage defeats. The problem must be resolved primarily at the local level.

MICHIGAN STATE Police report that 2,123 people died on Michigan highways in 1967, and 151,297 were injured. It was the seventh year in which the death toll exceeded the 2,000 mark.

Col. Fredrick E. Davids, director, comments, "This staggering loss of life, human suffering and financial waste is, at once, tragic and unnecessary. While exposure factors of more vehicles, more miles driven and more drivers continue to mount, individual attitudes and responsibilities seem to decay."

Statistics show that the average accident-prone driver in 1967 exhibited the same characteristics as in 1966. He is young, drives too fast for highway conditions, carries nine "points" on his driving record, and was probably drinking.

He caused an estimated economic loss of $405 million in 1967 alone, enough to build four Mackinaw Bridges.

LAWMAKERS introduced about 300 bills dealing with traffic safety during the last two years. More than 10 percent became law.

Jack Green, managing director of Traffic Safety for Michigan, credits the 74th Michigan Legislature with "possibly the most significant record on traffic safety in more than a decade."

Most dramatic of all new legislation is that which:

—allows police to impound your car if you're driving with a suspended license.

—makes it mandatory for you to take a "breathalyzer" test if police suspect you're intoxicated, or face license suspension.

—limits the courts' and License Appeal Boards' options in hearing appeals under the implied consent law.

—requires motorcyclists to carry helmets on their vehicles, and wear protective eye glasses or have windshields when traveling more than 35 mph.

—regulates operation of snowmobiles.

Czech Disaster to Influence US

WELLESLEY HILLS, MASSACHUSETTS — In the aftermath of the Russian sponsored and Russian-led invasion of Czechoslovakia it is clear that this disaster will influence significantly the plans and policies of the next U.S. Administration no matter who succeeds President Johnson.

The emergence of Czech independence and liberalism which culminated in the armed suppression of Czech freedom and sovereignty points up Russian insecurity. However divided the leaders of the Kremlin may be as to what course the Soviet should follow in its relations with its satellites, it is clear that fear has tipped the scales in favor of those who advocate a hard line reminiscent of the Stalin era.

For all her rank and strength as one of the world's two "super-powers", Russia desperately needs to build, with her satellites, an international community. But, through lack of confidence and lack of enlightened leadership, she has failed to knit such a community together. Obviously, her fear of permitting the light of freedom to penetrate the communist bloc is stronger than her desire for truly peaceful coexistence with her own satellites as well as with non-communist nations.

THE retrogression implicit in the Czech invasion is a cruel blow to the Czechs and Slovaks who are among the most progressive and most productive of Europe's peoples. It is also a blow to peace from which Europe and the world will not soon recover. True freedom for the "captive nations" of Eastern Europe and a sensible solution to the "German question" are again pushed into the future.

The thaw in the cold war — intermittent and erratic though it has been — is now replaced by a deep-freeze. President Johnson's hopes for "bridge-building" and President de Gaulle's championship of "detente" are replaced by mistrust, scorn, and anger as the Russian Bear licks imaginary wounds.

One of the early effects of the Czech invasion will be a cutback in the flow of trade between Western Europe and the East European communist bloc. During the past couple of years, commerce between the two sectors had been expanding apace. Indeed the promise of much more profitable trade relations with Western Europe was one of the factors in the Czech bid for greater freedom from Russian domination.

It is perhaps too soon to make a meaningful forecast of what this retrogressive step will mean to the economies of both Western and Eastern Europe. But initial curtailment of trade will have some adverse impact on productivity, employment, wages, and general prosperity in both sectors before restored confidence permits a new rapprochement.

Even if the occupation of Czechoslovakia should end relatively soon and be followed by new Soviet overtures to the West for closer trade and other ties, the bad taste will linger. Mistrust of Russian motives, now widely revived, will die hard. As a result, any plans we may have had for further curtailment of U.S. armed forces in West Germany will be shelved, peace in Vietnam will likely be harder to come by, and our balance-of-payments position could worsen.

All this is going to put the next President in something of a bind. Hope of ending the federal tax surcharge on the target date of June 30 was fast fading, even before the August 21st invasion; now the odds definitely favor extension. Once again Europe will vie with the Far East for our attention, and the road to peace and prosperity will become rockier...not only for the U.S. but for other nations as well, inside and outside the communist bloc. Look for the strain on the dollar, the franc, and the pound to increase.

COMMUNITY PROMOTION

Just to keep up with its growing population, Michigan needs 100,000 new jobs each year. Many of these new jobs develop with the natural growth of industries in Michigan. But many more jobs are created when plants and offices move into the state from outside.

That's where the Job-Makers of Consumers Power come on the scene. They are a small group of highly-qualified Michigan boosters, industrial experts whose heads and briefcases are crammed with information. We call them our Area Development Department.

Through personal visits and advertising in national business publications, these energetic men urge industry managers to move to Michigan. They tell about the many advantages our state offers to industry, and they help businessmen find sites here. Year-in, year-out. The Job-Makers of Consumers Power help keep Michigan's economy booming.

As one of the largest utility companies in America, Consumers Power knows about growth. By promoting Michigan and the communities in it, we are all growing and prospering together.
