

1969 Ushers In First Baby Contest

Male babies aren't likely to even the score between girls and boys in the 13-year-old First Baby Contest — unless of course they should be twin babies.

With the arrival last January of a baby girl, born to Mr. and Mrs. Jody Crabtree of Novi, the girls stretched their lead in the annual contest, seven to five.

The 1969 first baby will have to arrive pretty early, too, to beat the 1966 champ and current record holder, who bowed in at 12:50 a.m. on January 1. And she or he will have to go some to top last year's winner, Robin Lynn, who arrived at 5:50 a.m. — incidentally, on the first wedding anniversary of the Crabtrees.

Awaiting the '69 First Baby will be a big selection of prizes furnished by sponsoring businesses in Northville, Novi and Plymouth.

Contest rules are simple:

1. The baby must be born to parents having either a Northville or a Novi mailing address. It is not necessary, however, for the baby to be born in Northville or Novi.

2. Exact time of the birth must be verified by the attending physician.

3. All applications must be received by The Northville Record-Now News, 101 North Center, Northville, by 12 noon on Saturday, January 4, 1969.

The winner of the contest will be announced in the January 9 edition of The Northville Record-Now News.

The first contest winner in 1957 was Ruth Ann Edgin. Subsequent winners included Sherry Coykendall in 1958, Timothy McDonald in 1959, Danny Rolph in 1960, Tamara Ann MacDonald in 1961, Kimberly Ann Berger in 1962, Sherry Lynn Folsom in 1963, Mark Thomas Moran in 1964, Scott Allen Yamamoto in 1965, Ronald James Hesse in 1966, Michelle DuFort in 1967, and the Crabtree's nearly one-year-old bundle of joy, Robin Lynn, last year's winner.

Sponsoring merchants and gifts include:

Brader's Department Store, a baby blanket; Lila's flower shop, an arrangement of fresh flowers; D & C Store, a portable nursemaid; Del's shoe store, baby shoes; The Little People Shoppe, a gift certificate; H. R. Noder's Jewelry, three-piece silver set; Old Mill Restaurant, dinner for the new mother and father; Guernsey Farm Dairy, 15 half gallons of milk; Novi Rexall Drug, an all-night vaporizer; Northville Drug Company, a baby toiletry kit; Gaffield Studio, an 8 x 10 portrait of the baby; and Kroger's, 24 jars of strained baby food.

'Buys' Made in High School

Local Youths Arrested For Sale of Marihuana

★ ★ ★ Drug Use 'Kick' Concerns Officials

Use of drugs, narcotics and barbiturics by high school and college age students is rapidly becoming the "big kick" throughout the nation.

The fact that two drug groups have been uncovered in Northville within a year's time is by no means an indication that it has exploded out of proportion here, insists Northville Police Chief Samuel Elkins.

Police administrators in Novi, Farmington, Livonia, and Plymouth support Elkins' position. All report that young people in their communities are using drugs today but "not any more than anywhere else."

All take "a hard line" on its use, but in doing so they must battle a growing trend among adults to "turn their backs" and to fight periodic reports of "so-called experts" who claim that marihuana is harmless.

"I'm sure that use in Northville is relative minor," says Elkins, "but that's no reason to ignore it. Sweeping it under the rug helps no one — neither the users nor the community."

Keeping on top of the problem comes a little easier for the Northville department than for some community police agencies, primarily because of Elkins' experience in this field. A former vice-squad detective with the Inkster police department, he has passed on much of what he has learned about drugs to his officers.

But rooting out its use sometimes gives the mistaken impression that the crime is rampant, says Elkins. The same mistaken impression occurs because of the many arrests made in Northville on charges of minors in possession of alcohol, he points out. Warning youngsters rather than arresting them might maintain the community's good image, but it's a false one, he suggests.

A greater problem than the use of drugs, local and area officials contend, is the tough one of educating youth, their parents and the community about the dangers of drugs. Some communities have taken the bull by the horns, sought out respected police and medical authorities to explain the problem to the public and to suggest ways of preventing its recurrence.

Birmingham, rocked recently by an alarming increase in drug use, conducted a series of public forums on Five youths, three of them Northville high school students, have been arrested for possession and/or sale of marihuana as a result of a concentrated six-week investigation by the Northville police department.

Fearing flight by two of the youths to Florida, police officers cut short their investigation and arrested three boys and two girls last week.

Four have been arraigned and face examinations, while the fifth, a juvenile, has been committed to the Oakland County Juvenile Home.

★ Is Marihuana Dangerous? See Page 6-A. Also 'Speaking For The Record' comments Police — Page 6-B.

Charged with sale of marihuana — an offense that carries a mandatory 20 years imprisonment — upon conviction — are Ronald Edgar Gloetznor, 18, whose last known address was 24303 North LeBost Drive, Novi; William Winfield Curtner, 17 of 101 Baseline Road; Cora Blanche Beyer, 17 of 901 Carrington Drive; and a 16-year-old girl, Timothy Alan Shaw, 20 of Detroit, is charged with possession of marihuana. Conviction of possession carries a sentence of up to five years in jail.

Curtner also faces a charge of carrying a concealed weapon (an illegal knife). All pleaded innocent upon arraignment.

Examination of the Beyer girl was slated yesterday before Novi Justice of Peace Emery Jacques, Jr. She was arraigned before Northville Judge Philip Ogilvie December 23 and subsequently was released on a $500 bond.

In the Wayne county jail awaiting examinations in lieu of bonds are two of the three boys. Curtner was arraigned before Judge Clarence Reed of Southfield and Judge Philip Ogilvie of Northville on the two charges, posted bonds of $2,500 and $500 and was released. Gloetznor and Shaw, still in jail, were arraigned in Livonia. Bond was set at $15,000 on Shaw and $10,000 on Gloetznor.

Northville officers had these and other youths under surveillance for weeks following reports of drugs and narcotics use in and around Northville, which Chief Samuel Elkins emphasizes is less prevalent here than in many other communities. Under the direction of Officer Robert Pankow, auxiliary policemen reportedly made "buys" of marihuana cigarettes inside the high school from the two girls.

Subsequently, the Northville force was joined by officers of the State Police intelligence division to step up the investigation.

Police said a "buy" was made from Curtner in Northville last week and from Gloetznor, in the company of Shaw, at the Livonia Mall the same day. All arrests followed.

In making the arrests, police confiscated 90 "speed" tablets and 13 Phencyclidine (THC) tablets — barbiturics.

"We probably would have delayed making the arrests "so that we could continue investigating," explained the chief. "but we had a report that two of them were going to Florida."

Actually, investigation of reports by students and parents have been conducted periodically for two years, he said. And six weeks ago Officer Pankow was tipped off by high school youngsters that certain students were using and selling marihuana. He consequently headed the investigation that had the cooperation of the high school principal and his assistant.

Two young auxiliary policemen in plain clothes actually made contacts inside the school. The two girls and Curtner are students there, although school officials said the youngest "quit school" about two weeks ago.

Gloetznor was graduated last year. As a member of Northville's prize-winning track team last season he set a state Class B pole vaulting record at East Lansing.

Examinations of the four older youths will determine whether or not evidence indicates commission of a crime. If the court finds such evidence, the youths will stand trial in circuit court.

Among Supervisors Elect

Salary Battle Shaping Up

When the gavels banged down and the words, "Meeting adjourned," rang out recently, an era of county government came to a screeching halt in Wayne and Oakland.

Out the window went the parttime jobs of more than three hundred supervisors — 135 in Wayne and 87 in Oakland — who held offices that have existed since Michigan became a state in 1837.

Meanwhile, warming up in the county "bullpens" are members-elect of the new county boards of supervisors who will take their oaths of office later this week as the first directly-elected county legislative bodies in the histories of the two counties.

Members of these two boards were elected in the November 5 general election.

They will replace the old board made up of representatives of cities and townships. The new boards were established by an act passed by the state legislature. Members were elected from districts on a partisan basis.

Locally, two men, one a resident of Wixom, and the other a resident of Plymouth, will take over the jobs now held by a host of locally appointed or elected officials.

Carl Pursell, Plymouth Republican, takes over as Wayne County supervisor of the 25th District, covering Northville, Plymouth, Livonia and Canton. Under the old county board, eight men represented this same area.

In the 27th District of Oakland County, covering among others the communities of Novi, Wixom, Walled Lake, South Lyon, Lyon, and part of Northville, Lew L. Coy, Wixom

Republican, will assume the local district supervisor's post — that is if he survives a vote recount requested by Ray Lahti, his Democratic opponent in the November election.

As Republicans, both Pursell and Coy are minority members of their Democratically controlled boards of supervisors. In Pursell's case, he's but one of only two Republicans elected to the Wayne board from the entire county. The partisan split in Oakland County is 12 Republicans, 15 Democrats.

Supervisors-elect of Wayne County will take their oaths of office Friday, while supervisors-elect of Oakland will

District Court Takes Over

City's Municipal Court Bows Out

Northville's municipal court was officially dissolved today, and on Thursday, with the swearing in of District Judge Elect-Dunbar Davis, a brand new court system becomes a reality.

Municipal Judge Philip Ogilvie, recently named city attorney of Northville replacing Representative-elect Marvin Stempien, closed out his files today and is expected to be on hand Thursday when Judge Davis is sworn into office by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Tom Foley.

The oath of office will be delivered during a ceremony in the Plymouth courtroom in the city hall beginning at 9:30 p.m. as Judge Foley, who lives in Plymouth as does Judge Davis, will make a few remarks during the brief public ceremony. Refreshments will follow.

With the conclusion of that ceremony, the historic district court system, which wipes out the Michigan's old justice of peace setup and many of the state's municipal courts, will start dealing with local criminal and civil cases.

Judge Davis, who defeated Thomas

Healy for the district post in the November election, becomes the judicial official for the city and township of Northville, the city and township of Plymouth, and the township of Canton.

The initial court schedule worked out by Davis, calls for the district court to convene in Northville once each week — probably on Monday — to handle criminal matters growing out of state, county and local ordinance violations. Similar violations cases will be heard in the city of Plymouth one day each week, and those same kind of cases for the townships of Plymouth and Canton on a third day each week.

Civil court matters will be heard two days a week, alternating between the cities of Northville and Plymouth and the township of Plymouth. "In other words," explained Judge Davis, "one month civil court matters will be heard twice a week in one of these three communities, the next month twice a week in another, and the next month still another."

Since Canton township does not provide court facilities, cases growing out of that community — both civil and criminal — probably will be heard in Plymouth city's court. Mobile, temporary quarters are to be provided by the township of Plymouth until that community builds a new court. Unofficial plans call for a new facility near Hillside Golf Course, he said.

Drain Sewer Route Up to Homeowners

A half-dozen residents will decide which route the city of Northville will use for a new storm drain running from Maplewood southeastward to the Rouge river near Novi road.

The shortest route, cheaper by $5,000, extends through a narrow easement area between several houses. The city owns a 12-foot easement through the area, but desires to acquire 12 additional feet so that the installation of the 42-inch sewer can be accomplished without excessive damage to private property.

The council agreed at a special session Monday night to approve the short route if a majority of the residents grant the working easements. In the event they do, the contract will be awarded to Dewey Burrell for a low bid of $71,000 including engineering and inspection fees.

If residents decline the proposal, the sewer will be extended down Novi street to Eight Mile road right-of-way and then east to the stream. Another contractor would win the longer-route job with a total low bid of about $76,000.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff said one of the residents had already indicated a willingness to grant the working easement. Another was reluctant, while the others were not available. The drain will be installed this winter and is badly needed to prevent flooding in an area extending to the city's northwest limits.

In other business last Monday the council appointed J. Burton DeRusha, 46840 Dunsany, to the board of review for a three-year term. He joins Hiram Pacific and Kenneth Rathert to the body which considers inquiries on property assessments annually in March.

The council also approved a payment of $2006 as its share of the first quarter-year operation of the new district court.

The first year's operation of the court, beginning January 1, is based on population per the 1960 census. On this basis the city of Northville must pay 11.68 per cent; city of Plymouth 25.71 per cent; Plymouth township, 24.53 per cent; Canton township 15.58 per cent; Northville township 22.5 per cent.

In subsequent years each community's portion will be determined by court cases handled. Actually, local communities will pay $35,000 of the total expense and the state will pay the balance. The state, for example, pays $18,000 of the $23,000 salary for district judge.

THANKS FOR SERVICE — Friends of Northville Municipal Judge Philip R. Ogilvie interrupted his last day in court to present him with a plaque. On January 1 the new district court system replaces justice and municipal courts. While a number of persons awaiting their cases to be heard looked on,

Attorney C. D. Hill presented the plaque to Judge Ogilvie in behalf of a number of community businessmen. It read in part: "In recognition of his outstanding public service and devotion to his office from the people of Northville". January 1 Judge Ogilvie becomes Northville city attorney.

Who Says Marihuana Isn't Dangerous?

Reprinted from the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin
By HENRY L. GIORDANO
Associate Director,
Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs,
Washington, D.C.

Today, America may be "sleeping" while antisocial activity grows in intensity. Certainly this is true concerning the increasing problem of marihuana abuse.

Dozens of news clippings, editorials, and magazine articles in recent months have proclaimed the virtues of marihuana. But most writers fail to present a full and objective discussion of the other side of the coin — the side indicating marihuana abuse is harmful to the health, safety, and welfare of our society. If such writers give a complete distortion, they are indulging our communities in a very dangerous gamble. By presenting only the pro-marihuana arguments, which sell copy, the public has been deprived of the real, vital, and objective facts necessary to make an intelligent choice about marihuana.

Law enforcement officers appear to be the sole voice in the wilderness warning that today's growing permissive attitude about marihuana leads to an increase of all types of drug abuse rather than to its control. Law enforcement officers who defend society from the depredations of drug dependence have a responsibility to show to the people what is happening and correct errors and misconceptions about drug abuse.

There is nothing to prevent acceptance of this challenge, and this article will highlight points against marihuana. Marihuana is not only an extremely dangerous drug — it is a menace to public health, safety, and welfare.

When discussing marihuana, it is imperative to define the sometimes confusing terminology. The term "marihuana" embraces all the fancy and vernacular names you hear — the so-called "Mexican type," the so-called "hashish," "charas," "bhang," "ganja," "charas," "cannabis," "cannabis resins," "cannabidiol," "cannabidiol," "tetrahydrocannabinol," "pot," "tea," or "weed."

The potency of the drugs ranges from the limited effects of poorly harvested marihuana to the severe effects of "hashish" or "charas." Most of the marihuana consumed in the United States is made up of the leaves and flowering tops of the marihuana plant. To a lesser extent, "hashish" is also being consumed by the users in the United States. But whether a person is using the so-called "Mexican type" marihuana or the more potent "hashish," the potential for abuse is ever present. The only difference is that a user of "hashish" need not smoke as much to reach the desired result.

Marihuana differs significantly from the drugs in the opium family in that it does not produce addiction of the morphine type. Abstinence does not produce a physiological withdrawal syndrome in the user. However, its use does result in a psychological dependence and, according to Dr. David P. Ausubel, chronic users go to great lengths to insure that they will not be without the drug. Deprivation may also result in "anxiety, restlessness, irritability, or even a state of depression with suicidal fantasies, sometimes self-mutilating actions or actual suicidal attempts," which are all symptoms of a psychological withdrawal syndrome. For these reasons, marihuana is more often said to be habituating than addicting, although a recent investigator claims there is little difference from psychiatric point of view.

In the past, efforts to find a proper medical use for marihuana were not successful. As the American Medical Association's Committee on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence indicated, "marihuana has no known use in medical practice in most countries of the world, including the United States."

It is also interesting and significant that the United Nations 1961 single convention on narcotic drugs placed marihuana in a special category with narcotic drugs particularly liable to abuse and to produce ill effects and lacking offsetting therapeutic advantages possessed by less harmful drugs. The decision to include marihuana among other exceedingly dangerous substances was based upon the judgment of drug experts. This same convention established requirements whereby the United States maintains special measures of control over marihuana and prohibits "the production, manufacture, export and import of, trade in, possession or use of the drug except for amounts which may be necessary for medical and scientific research only."

The immediate physiological effects of marihuana intoxication include some loss in coordination of the limbs; an increase in impulse rate; an abnormal lowering of body temperature; an insatiable hunger; and inflammation of the mucous membranes and the bronchial tubes. Other effects include fantasy; exhilaration of mood; the feeling of being above reality; loss of spatial sense; a loss of timing; and an often uncontrollable hilarity over something which is not particularly amusing to a normal person. When larger doses are used, extremely vivid hallucinations often occur; there may be panic and an inordinate fear of death, illusions, and periods of paranoia. A high enough dose can result in a condition resembling toxic psychosis.

Marihuana's effects upon the operation of the central nervous system are most profound but have been the least explored by research. Little is known about the psychopharmacological aspects of marihuana, even though it has been one of the most widely used drugs in the world. However, there is still considerable literature revealing its effects are detrimental to the central nervous system. For example, Dr. Donald Louria, in his book Nightmare Drugs, states that marihuana may produce all of the hallucinogenic effects of which LSD is capable. Research conducted by Dr. Harris Isbell and associates on human beings using a natural occurring tetrahydrocannabinol of marihuana has led to the conclusion that a sufficient dosage of marihuana "can cause psychotic reaction in almost any individual."

As a result of these findings, marihuana has earned a reputation for inducing criminal behavior. Yet the manner in which marihuana causes or induces criminal behavior is not clear. It seems to vary with the individual, the dosage, and the circumstances, but a general survey of the literature indicates that marihuana may stimulate criminal conduct in any of the following ways: (1) Fortifying the courage of criminals prior to committing crimes. (2) causing general derangement and demoralization with chronic use; (3) lowering inhibitions and bringing out suppressed criminal tendencies; and (4) inducing panic, confusion, or anger in otherwise normal persons.

There are many studies which link criminal behavior with marihuana. One prominent team of researchers in India, where there has been long and widespread abuse of marihuana in all of its potent forms, concluded that "excessive indulgence in cannabis is apt to produce in healthy individuals, and more so in susceptible individuals, mental confusion which may lead to delusions with restlessness and disordered movements. Intellectual impairment as well as disorientation may show itself in various ways, such as weakening of moral sense, habit of telling lies, prostitution, theft, pilfering, sex perversion, and other degrading practices. Sometimes indulgence may release subconscious impulses and lead to violent crimes."

Earlier studies during 1939 in New Orleans disclosed that the number of marihuana users among major criminals was unusually high. Even the LaGuardia report of 1944, which is often cited in support of the harmlessness of marihuana, found that in a number of test subjects "...there were alterations in behavior giving rise to antisocial expression. This was shown by unconventional acts not permitted in public, anxiety reactions, oppositions, antagonism and eroticism. Effects such as these would be considered conducive to acts of violence." The conclusion of this study indicated that with "...the potential make-up and the right time and environment, marihuana may bring on a true psychotic state."

Another significant investigation conducted by Professor C. G. Cardikas, chief of Greece's Criminal Services, analyzed a group of 379 hashish-smoking criminals. He found that 117 of these became criminally inclined only after their habituation to hashish. Within the group there were more than 420 sentences for assaults, woundings, threats, robberies, manslaughters, and sex offenses.

The Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs recently conducted its own study. It revealed a definite pattern between marihuana usage and crime. City and State police agencies were surveyed to gather and assemble a volume of well-documented instances where criminal behavior was directly related to the use of marihuana. Several of the more poignant examples from this study are:

Seattle, Wash. — A man accidentally bumped into and spilled coffee on another at the old World's Fair grounds. The jostled person began swearing at the man who had bumped into him. He pulled out a piece of log chain and began to beat the man. Officers found the suspect in possession of and under the influence of marihuana when he was arrested for assault.

Detroit, Mich. — A 19-year-old man was arrested for murdering his 3-month-old daughter. His wife told homicide detectives her husband was a constant marihuana user and had been under its influence when he beat their infant daughter to death using his hands.

San Antonio, Tex. — After smoking marihuana for several hours, two defendants decided to settle an argument with a mutual acquaintance. They pistol whipped, beat, stabbed, and finally shot and killed the other man. Police later learned the two murderers smoked marihuana until they became "vicious" and then, immediately, went to "beat" the man.

San Jose, Calif. — During an armed robbery two teenagers, aged 15 and 17, shot the owner of a beverage shop to death. After they were arrested, the two juveniles admitted they had used marihuana before committing the robbery.

It is perfectly clear that the more people experimenting with marihuana, the greater the danger that many will not be able to handle the habit. They will associate with subcultures involved in all types of drug abuse, barbiturates, amphetamines, LSD, and even heroin. Thus, if the apparent increase in marihuana abuse continues unabated, there will be a sharp rise in the incidence of narcotic addiction.

Of course, not everyone who smokes a marihuana cigarette will become a heroin addict. But actual experience leaves little room for doubt that a large majority of addicts first began with marihuana. This pattern of graduation has been observed in the United States, the Near East and Africa, though admittedly the exact causal connection is unknown.

A recent review of this subject was made by a noted psychiatrist, who studied 80 English heroin addicts. He found that all 80 had first used marihuana and apparently considered its effects second only to those of heroin. In studying these patients, the doctor was led to the conclusion that the connection between marihuana and heroin could not be accounted for simply on the basis of the "mutual influence of availability in illegal society...." In an intensive research project conducted by Dr. John C. Ball, chief sociologist of the United States Clinical Research Center in Lexington, Ky., it was found that of 1,759 narcotic addicts examined, 80 percent had used marihuana prior to their addiction.

To many people, the thought of a large portion of our younger generation "turning on," "tuning in," and, finally, "dropping out" is a frightening one. There is no doubt that marihuana can offer some individuals "transitory pleasures. But in a world beset with problems, we need the contribution of all because the United States cannot afford to have its greatest resource — youth — dropping into a state of oblivion.

The American Medical Association adroitly summarized the position responsible citizens must take in this crisis. In its August 1968 publication, a commonsense statement about the dangers of marihuana concluded: "Only an aroused and concerned public can create, mobilize, and implement resources to deal adequately with a problem of drug dependence in all its forms. The proper stimulus must come from citizens who are community leaders aware of those needs and from professionals who apply themselves to those needs.

"Frank and forceful public discussions, focusing on the utility and inherent dangers in experimenting with drugs such as marihuana and the consequence of any subsequent psychological dependence, can act as deterrents.

"Marihuana is centuries old, but it represents a constant danger. The responsibilities of the citizen, including the physician, are clearly defined. The time to begin is now."

The challenge referred to must be met by all law enforcement officers.

Drug Use 'Kick' Concerns Officials

the subject that drew hundreds of concerned parents and youths anxious to learn ways of stamping it out.

A similar forum was conducted this month in South Lyon where school officials had begun receiving increasing reports of drug usage to put the problem in perspective.

Only recently members of the Novi Youth Protective agency contacted this newspaper in hopes of establishing some kind of answering service that could receive and answer questions about a "whole range" of problems facing youngsters of that community. "These kids must have someone to whom they can turn to in confidence without fear of reprisal. They need help, want it and we must provide it," they emphasize.

Similar pleas are heard elsewhere as drug usage becomes the "fad" among youngsters.

Dangerous as it is, drug misuse may not warrant the punitive sentences prescribed by law, some authorities contend. Ironically, although Chief Elkins considers the use of barbiturates, as uncovered here a year ago, more dangerous than smoking marihuana, punishment is much less severe for using barbiturates than for using marihuana.

Because conviction for sale of marihuana carries a mandatory 20-year jail sentence, youngsters would rather ignore its sale by friends than report it to authorities. Police officials admit that because of the stiff penalty, youngsters arrested often are charged with a lesser crime.

Despite differences of opinions on this matter by police officials, most strongly oppose those who would legalize use of marihuana. They see it, especially among youngsters, as the trigger for more dangerous kicks.

Although area police chiefs are reluctant to discuss specific cases or statistics of usage in their communities, they nevertheless agree that drugs are a problem everywhere and that the public must be made to recognize this fact. Here, briefly, are some comments of police chiefs made to this newspaper this week:

Northville — "Pot" parties have been held here and in Novi by high school age youngsters... We have had several calls from St. Mary Hospital where youngsters were being treated for drugs... You can be reasonably sure that perhaps 20 local students have used drugs at least once in the past year."

Novi — "It's definitely on the increase here... About half of our cases involve adults... With four school systems within the community it's difficult to keep tabs on all of them, so some cases are probably going undetected... Reports by students about drugs are increasing... We've made four or five arrests this year but none who live in Novi."

Farmington — "Oh, sure, we have a problem. It's everywhere. Here it's mostly among young people... We've made about 10 arrests since summer... There has been no program in the school system that I know of but our officers have met with the faculty to discuss it... Most of our problem, frankly, is coming out of the Wayne State (University) area."

Livonia — "It depends entirely upon what you call a problem — and who is analyzing the situation. There are definitely incidents of this kind, mostly among senior teens and low twenties... college-age students but not necessarily college students... I wouldn't want to say that it's increasing because we have more people working on it so naturally we've had more contacts... Certainly we don't have the problems that some suburbs have because our department has assigned more officers to it."

Plymouth — "You have this in every community... It all depends on the degree of severity that you're talking about. If you're just talking about the problem — yes, we have a problem... It's mostly among younger people... Our close proximity to colleges makes for a higher incidence among these young people."

Municipal Court Bows Out

In addition to convening court once weekly in Northville for criminal matters, Judge Davis said he will visit

Northville "for a half hour or so" at least one morning each week for arraignments. The number of these visits, he said, will "undoubtedly increase during the racing season."

Northville's probation department also will be continued, he said. A similar department will be established in Plymouth to handle — "at least at the start" — cases for the city and township of Plymouth and Canton. Denis Dildy of Northville has already been named by Judge Davis to be the overall director of the district court probation system, while Al Wistert has been named to succeed Dildy as the director of the Northville department.

Radio Stolen From Auto

Among some of the items confronting Novi Police recently were a larceny from an auto and a cut power cable.

Stolen from the auto driven by Kenneth L. Blackmon of Pontiac was his two-way Citizens Band radio with microphone and antenna. The incident occurred on December 17 in the parking lot at Paragon Steel.

Police state that entry was made by forcing the left vent window open. The case is still under investigation.

A power cable was cut between 1 a.m. and 8:35 p.m. on December 17 at Adell Industries by person or persons unknown. This is also under investigation.

Human Relations Talk Set

"Progress in Human Relations" will be discussed by Dr. Alvin D. Loving, University of Michigan professor of education, at Northville Woman's Club's first meeting of the new year at 1.30 p.m., Friday, January 3, in Northville Presbyterian Church fellowship hall.

As well as being a teacher, Dr. Loving has served as a consultant, a dean of students, a television host and an editor during a distinguished career. Promoted by the University of Michigan in 1962 to full professor, he was the first negro to achieve this rank in that institution's 149-year history.

From 1960 to 1962 he served as the University of Nigeria's first dean of students while on leave from the U of M. He served as host for a U of M television series - "The American Negro" - with the 10 half-hour programs being shown on more than 50 commercial stations across the country.

He also has taught at Wayne State University, Western Michigan University and the University of Oklahoma. He was appointed by the U of M Board of Regents and nominated by the faculty to two terms on the executive committee of the University of Michigan Flint College.

Dr. Loving served as a Fulbright professor to India in 1955-56, following the late Dr. Rasey of Wayne State University with an American team to assist Indian high school principals and the Indian Ministry of Education through the U.S. Educational Foundation in India.

From 1963-64 Dr. Loving also was on leave from the university, this time serving as executive director of the Mayor's Committee, Community Action for Detroit Youth and Youth Employment Project.

Author of articles on educational leadership, Dr. Loving is co-author of "Some Negro-Jewish Aspects in Detroit," published by Wayne State University Press.

He has received the Distinguished Alumni Award from Wayne State University, College of Education, (where he received his master's and his doctorate degrees) in 1964. Western Michigan University awarded him the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities in 1964, and he received Wayne State's all-university Distinguished Alumni Award in 1965.

Dr. Loving was educated in Michigan schools, receiving his A. B. from Western Michigan University after attending Longfellow Elementary and Cass Technical High Schools in Detroit. He taught at Miller High School in Detroit for 13 years, was a counsellor at Northwestern for three years and principal of Northrup Elementary in River Rouge for four years.

He has served as a consultant for the Havighurst survey for Chicago Public Schools, for Southern Illinois University delinquency study project and job corps center and at Wayne State in a U.S. Labor Department "Project Cause."

Dr. Loving will be introduced at the Northville Woman's Club guest day meeting by Mrs. Keith Wright.

A tea will follow the program.

Jaycees to Torch Trees In Big Saturday Bonfire

The city's Christmas trees will go up in flame this Saturday evening, January 4 as the Northville Jaycees state Operation Big Burn, the annual Christmas tree bonfire.

The bonfire begins at 7:30 p.m. However, trees will be picked up much earlier that day. Chairman Bud Adas asks people to have the trees out at city curbs early Saturday morning and the Jaycees will be by for them.

There is no charge for having your tree picked up. The project aids the city pickup crew with their work.

Chairman Adas also reminds the community to "be sure and come out to see the bonfire." Parents and children can head for the field adjacent to the Northville high school football field where the fire will start at 7:30.

Supervisor Battle

be sworn in Thursday.

Already brewing behind the scenes in both counties is the controversial question: "What should the new supervisors be paid?" It and the related question of whether or not the new board posts are parttime or fulltime are expected to spark some redhot debates as the new boards convene. A salary must be fixed by February 15 by law. Supervisors are already lining up on one side or the other of these questions - and not necessarily along partisan lines.

Republicans Coy and Pursell appear committed to the "parttime" and "per diem" positions that they took during the election campaign. Though they are members of the minority party, Coy and Pursell are expected to encounter vigorous persuasive tactics from those favoring larger salaries.

Coy has flatly refused to shift this hot potato to a "blue ribbon" committee proposed by the Democratic caucus. A vocal member of the Republican committee that caucused December 18, Coy declared he must live up to his campaign pledge to fight for a parttime board with compensation based on a nominal per diem basis. "I, for one, will not shirk this responsibility to do what I promised, so that I can honestly again ask for the support of voters in 1970," he asserted.

He and other Oakland County Republicans contend "if the board can't show integrity, fiscal responsibility and course in this first issue facing the new board, that neither can they justify the faith so recently placed in them by the voters."

To go along with any decision of the proposed blue ribbon committee, they explain, would be renegeing on campaign statements of many Republicans and Democrats.

Republican preliminary determination and projections are based at $25 per meeting, which, together with office and research time would approximate $5,000 per annum. This amount, according to Oakland Republicans "is the lowest end of the compensation spectrum suggested by any new board thus far and the minimum recommended by other agencies studying this subject."

With Pursell and William Bryant of Grosse Pointe the only two Republicans on the Wayne board, neither has any chance of introducing their own salary or chairman proposals. But that doesn't mean their votes won't count. As the battle wages between two groups of Democrats over the "limited" and the "full" salary concepts, Pursell and Bryant represent important swing votes.

According to Pursell, who has sat in on caucuses of both sides, he will back James DeSana of Wyandotte at least as temporary chairman since he and his Democratic coalition are boosting the "limited" salary concept. "I think he's the best qualified, too," said Pursell. "He appears to be a responsible Democrat."

The full salary group backing Albert Zak of Hamtramck is pushing for an annual salary of $17,500. Zak's biggest support comes from Polish and Negro blocks, according to Pursell.

"I think electing a temporary chairman - DeSana - would take the heat off this salary issue and give the board time to come up with a responsible salary," he said.

"Right now if I had to make a prediction, I'd guess that we'll end up with a compromise - probably a base salary of $6,000 with a per diem pay that might mean a total of $12,000."

Schoolcraft Foundation Seeks Auditorium Funds

The Schoolcraft College Foundation will launch a $400,000 public subscription campaign early in 1969 to raise a portion of the funds needed for a 1,500 seat auditorium-music hall as part of the proposed Art Center being planned for the growing community college.

Trustees of the Foundation, meeting at the college Thursday night (December 26) approved the campaign after Mr. E. F. Petersen, Jr., business manager of the college, outlined the Art Center project and explained the need for financing the proposed construction.

Organized by private citizens living in the Schoolcraft College District, the Foundation has been active in raising funds for scholarships and other financial aids for students during the past two years.

From its inception, the Foundation also committed itself to assist the college's building program by developing endowment and publicly subscribed funds among residents of the college district and alumni of the five-year old college.

Included in the original Master Plan for development of the Haggerty Road campus, the Art Center has been approved in concept by the Board of Trustees of the college. The architectural firm of Perkins & Will is now preparing preliminary plans for a complex of buildings to include instructional areas for music, painting, sculpture, ceramics, drama, speech and dance, as well as the auditorium.

In his presentation to the Foundation board Thursday night, Mr. Petersen said present planning calls for a complex embracing 110,000 square feet. Using spring, 1969, construction cost forecasts, he said, the architects estimate the complex will cost upwards of $4,900,000.

Of this estimated total, Mr. Petersen explained, the 1,500 seat auditorium will cost upwards of $1,650,000. It is this portion of the total project on which the college will need financial assistance from the community.

"The auditorium is designed as a performing center, not only for the instructional program offered by the college," Mr. Petersen said, "but as a hub for the cultural life of this rapidly expanding community."

"The auditorium is being designed with the capability of housing the major orchestras of the world and as a hall in which outstanding musical artists and ensembles can perform. It will also serve as a podium for leaders

George Tiefel, Pastor
Immanuel Lutheran Church, South Lyon

"It Happened at Bethlehem" — "Bethlehem Ephrath" — which one prophet called the "least" among the thousands of Judah — yet what a place! There Ruth came, who married Boaz, and became the mother of Obed. And Obed begat Jesse, from whom came royal David. A town from which kings would come!

But even long before that, in the dim past, a man and his beloved came journeying to Bethlehem: it was the patriarch Jacob, the father of the 12 tribes of Israel, and his wife Rachel, together with all their company.

And as they approached the "fruitful valley" (Ephrath) where Bethlehem lay, Rachel gave birth to the twelfth of the 12 sons of Israel. Benjamin was born.

Benjamin's birth at Bethlehem was a preview of greater things to come! For at last, when the time was ripe, Israel's greatest Son was born in Bethlehem. A man called Joseph came journeying from Nazareth with his betrothed, Mary the Virgin. And there, within the stall, the Savior of men was born to Mary.

There is another kind of journey to Bethlehem, called "repentance." And it, too, issues in a birth, a "new birth" in God. This journey is for lost and bewildered persons. The road-map is the Holy Gospel, which directs us to the place of our "new birth." There in Bethlehem, a birth took place for our sakes; God's Son was given to us, that we might be children of God also. In Bethlehem we become aware of God's determination to be a Father to us!

Have you found your new birth in Bethlehem?

"Then they journeyed from Bethel; and when they were still some distance from Ephrath, Rachel travailed, and she had hard labor. And when she was in her hard labor, the midwife said to her, "Fear not; for now you will have another son." And as her soul was departing (for she died), she called his name Benoni; but his father called his name Benjamin. So Rachel died, and she was buried on the way to Ephrath (that is, Bethlehem), and Jacob set up a pillar upon her grave; it is the pillar of Rachel's tomb, which is there to this day."

—Genesis 35, 16 ff.

THAT IMPRESSIONABLE AGE

You have to be so careful what you say to children when they're at that impressionable age.

Our neighbor has a little daughter. And, being something of a skeptic, he's been careful not to let her be exposed to religious teaching, at least not in any direct way.

But the other night she asked, "Who is God?" And, since he wants to see her grow up with the highest ideals, he hesitated a moment before he answered her question.

Then he said, "God made the world." (And he wondered why he hadn't said "God is nobody—there isn't any god.")

Her wondering eyes and pursed lips tugged at his heart. "Gosh, Daddy," she mused, "He's somebody to know!"

Whether you're a child or an adult, that pretty well sums it up. Either God is nobody—or He Is Somebody To Know!

And the church bells ring every Sunday.

Oppose Missile Site

With the controversy raging over a proposal to locate a nuclear missile base in the metropolitan area, a group of clergy and lay persons representing religious groups in Wayne and Oakland counties have joined the fight against the proposal.

The Novi-Lyon Township area was once high on the list as site possibilities, but according to United States Army spokesmen plans have shifted to the Troy-Rochester-Pontiac area.

Following is an excerpt of the statement issued by the new opponents of the nuclear missile base proposal:

We are concerned about the danger to which this local missile system location would subject the entire metropolitan Detroit population. Official government figures on the effects of a one-megaton hydrogen bomb bursting at ground level indicate that the explosion would cause a crater 250 feet deep and a half-mile wide. Pressure from the blast would knock down most buildings within a five-mile radius. The heat generated would set clothing afire anywhere within a 14.6-mile radius. The nuclear fallout would cover the metropolitan area with highly radioactive material. All this would be from a one-megaton bomb, but the Spartan warhead under discussion is supposed to be several megatons.

A local nuclear physicist says that "if there were an accident, the Detroit area certainly would not be habitable". An official of the Sentinel System Command has pointed out that "over the last 20 years of handling nuclear weapons, we have never had an accident".

College Appoints Trustee

Birmingham attorney David M. Preston, 38, has been appointed Trustee of Oakland Community College, George R. Mosher, board chairman, announced this week.

Preston was appointed to fill a vacancy on the seven-member Board which was created by the resignation of Ralph F. Tyndall in September.

A partner in the law firm of Long, Preston, and Evans, Preston finished fourth in the June election which saw incumbents David W. Hackett and Gordon C. Henderson returned to the Board and Dr. Douglas J. Collins elected to fill a newly-created seventh position.

In a field of 14 in the June election, Hackett was the top vote-getter with 15,915; followed by Henderson, 15,305; Collins, 12,996; and Preston, 10,339.

Preston will serve until the next general election in June, 1970 which is, coincidentally, the date of the conclusion of Tyndall's term.

He is past chairman, bar admissions committee, Detroit Bar Association; past member, public advisory committee, Detroit Bar Association; and serves on the legislative committee of the State Bar of Michigan.

He resides at 560 Chesterfield, Birmingham, with his wife Judith and two children, Matthew, 4, and Sarah, 1.

Senator Suggests

Amendment

Senator George W. Kuhn, representing this area, has revealed that he will introduce a constitutional amendment to allow the filling of the office of Lieutenant Governor when a vacancy is created by one means or another.

Kuhn said the new Governor (William Milliken) should be allowed to have sufficient latitude in the selection of his own Lt. Governor, subject to the confirmation of the Senate. "It is of the utmost importance that regardless of which political party is in power, either Republican or Democrat, it would provide a continuity in the administration's policy during the remainder of the term of office in which that party has been elected to serve."

"I am confident that whichever party is in control of the Senate, confirmation of the Governor's choice would be routine, unless the selection was not in the best interest of the State of Michigan. By requiring Senate confirmation, it is assured that a well qualified selection would be made," Kuhn concluded.

It's the reason to say Thanks

Thanks for being able to live and work in this fine community. Thanks for wonderful friends and neighbors. And, thanks for the privilege of serving your insurance needs. May you all enjoy a safe and happy holiday!

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

The arrests made as a result of investigations by the Northville police department and state police authorities and involving illegal sale and use of marihuana do not come as "good news" to the community of Northville.

It is not surprising, however, to law enforcement officials anywhere in the area. It is agreed that the incidence here may be minor compared to high schools in most other Wayne and Oakland county communities.

The problem is growing and it is aided by utterances of some authorities who minimize, or deny altogether, the danger of abusive use of marihuana.

A convincing rebuttal to this contention appears on page 6-A of this edition.

When the arrests of youngsters involved in the sale and possession of marihuana were complete, local officials notified the superintendent of schools and the press.

It is an unhappy situation to say the least.

Most deeply involved are the alleged offenders and their families. But their concern is not isolated; it clings to their friends, their school, their community. And somehow it casts a sickness in a collective stomach that asks, "what could have been done?", "what can be done?"

Community and school officials, parents, youngsters and the press must ponder these questions and, hopefully, solutions can be found.

Meanwhile, however, action taken by the police department of the city of Northville deserves recognition as the most constructive effort.

If there has been failure at parental, teacher, student or any other community level, it has not existed at the law enforcement level. Our department has taken the attitude that drinking and drug-use abuses will not go unchallenged if they can be found in Northville, simply because they are against the law.

Where such enforcement does not exist, a community may enjoy an untarnished reputation that in fact is ridden with cancer.

Official observers with widespread experience in the operations of smalltown police departments applaud the Northville department for its professionalism and its emphasis on continuous training.

Most of the credit rightfully belongs to Chief Samuel Elkins. But he would be the first to admit that his boss, City Manager Frank Ollendorff, must help set forth and approve the method of operation, and then find the money to make it all possible.

And finally, the manager must have a city council willing to allocate the money to support a strong police program.

Chief Elkins' officers were well trained to carry out an investigation of illegal drug use. Their ability came from countless training sessions within the department conducted by Elkins, who once served as a detective assigned to vice and narcotics in Inkster.

And it came from numerous city-paid sessions at Michigan State University, Schoolcraft College, Oakland County Community College, Wayne State University, Oakland University and from special FBI instruction.

During 1967, for example, Northville policemen averaged 100 hours per man of classroom instruction.

When Officer Robert Pankow received a tip from student informant that marihuana was being used and sold at the high school, he knew exactly what to do. The assignment was his and he led an investigation that was aided by fellow officers, auxiliary police and state police.

The investigation required expenditure of time and money. It didn't confine itself to the city limits. And its objective was to prevent the spread of an abuse that didn't limit its danger to sons and daughters of city residents, who pay the taxes to support Northville's department.

As this year ends, the community of Northville and its neighbors can look for ways to prevent future occurrences of the news that appears on page one this week.

Meanwhile, we can pay tribute to a police department that is not complacent, that ferrets out leads, that tells us we do have problems.

Their alertness may well have saved many others from involvement.

A LOOSE LEAF

By ROLLY PETERSON

New Years is a time for mulling over the past and speculating about the future, so it seems appropriate to diverge from the normal course of this column to touch discursively on things past and present.

1968 brought many things, and on the surface, more turmoil than joy, except for the Apollo 8 moon ride, the most significant physical accomplishment in man's long history. It's a truly phenomenal feat, one that should renew people's faith in the ability of man.

Who would have believed, despite the proclaimed goal of reaching the moon before 1970, that it would indeed be done? What seemed a fanciful impossibility has become a glittering reality.

Man indeed has conquered his environment. But what would happen in 1969 if he could conquer himself as well, his cupidity, prejudices and fears? In that event, 1969 would be "the Year all things became Possible".

Specifically, it would be the year in which:

All Hippies cut their hair.
—Would-be campus dissidents returned to the classroom.
—the people in Birmingham, Grosse Pointe, Northville, Novi and South Lyon, to name a few, open their doors to minority groups in true brotherhood.

—Joe Falls of the Free Press and Pete Waldemar of the News tell it as it is — all love and roses.

—the Tigers repeat as World Champions.
—the Red Wings, Pistons and Lions reverse their 1968 form and become winners.

—people pass all millage proposals and joyfully accept increased taxes as a prerequisite for a good society.

—the Arabs and Israelis embrace each other as brothers.

—citizens turn out in droves at all city council and township meetings and, in this way, actively engage in the Democratic process.

—the Red Baron and Snoopy junk their guns and live peacefully ever after.

—peace reigns over Vietnam and Biafra.

—the Ghettoes disappear and in their place lush apartments spring up over night — and rent for only $80 per month.

—no one is unemployed.

—a real Santa Claus appears and saves the time and trouble of a crashing crowds to find Christmas presents.

—everybody gets a minimum salary of $15,000 and wears white shirts.

—there are no losers on J. P. McCarthy's morning broadcast.

—women grant men their equality.

—not a traffic fatality is recorded in the nation.

—the generation gap is closed.

—LBJ takes a position as advisor to Richard Nixon.

—a new John Kennedy appears on the political scene.

—the iron curtain is raised and the peoples of Europe and Asia travel unchecked from east to west, across ideologies.

—The dream of Martin Luther King comes true "...Every valley shall be exalted, every hill and mountain shall be made low, the rough places will be made plain and the crooked places will be made straight...."

Hospital Says Thanks For Christmas Gifts

To the Editor:

Please share with your readers our thoughtful appreciation for many who remembered our patients during this past Christmas Season. There was indeed a generous supply of carefully wrapped gifts which reached our hospital, each destined for a specific patient, otherwise forgotten. While relatives and friends remembered the greater number, contributions of presents and cash, the latter used by our volunteer shoppers, made it possible that each forgotten patient receive a meaningful Christmas gift.

Amounts which now remain in our Patient Christmas Fund will be used, during the next months, by our many sections and departments to provide, as occasions arise, for similar needs of our 1,350 patients.

Our best wishes to your readers in the New Year.

Sincerely,
Louis J. Schuldt, Director

The other night the ignominious defeat of General Custer at Little Big Horn was dished up in one of those TV movies we occasionally watch in our home. That Custer was referred to as a colonel — not a general — and that the dashing American hero was portrayed as an unmerciful, bumbling army officer came as somewhat of a shock to me. But it wasn't until I read a review this week of a new book, George Armstrong Custer by Lawrence A. Frost, that I was moved to do a little searching.

(I have not read Frost's book, but not because Jake Highton, the reviewer, panned it. If Highton, a teacher of journalism, is cut from the same cloth as most of the others of his ilk, his remarks are calculated more to attract attention than impart professional appraisal. Says Highton of the book, "It would be marvelous if Dr. Frost wrote like Plimpton (Author George Plimpton).

Unfortunately, he writes like a foot doctor.")

But back to that search. Custer, it turned out, was both a brigadier general and a lieutenant colonel — the former title coming before the latter. At 23, he was a general of Civil War volunteers. Following the war, he became a colonel in the regular army. Apparently, despite his court martial in a pre-Big Horn, less spectacular battle, he remained a hero in the eyes of the public — and the press, who continued to refer to him as "General Custer" rather than his true title, colonel.

Michigan, of course, claims Custer as one of its own military heroes. That fact was etched in my mind during a brief sojourn at the now defunct Camp Custer near Battle Creek. Admittedly, I was probably brain-washed by the brass inhabiting the camp, but Custer was considered a hero long before the camp came into existence.

Sam Little, founder of The Record, a century ago was enamored by him, periodically carrying long dispatches of his victories over the Indians in The Record. And, upon Custer's death, Little made sure that his readers knew that the general hailed from Monroe — just a few miles from Northville.

Wrote Little in The Record on Saturday, July 15, 1876:

"Since our last issue the intelligence has reached the world of the death of the great Indian fighter, General Custer, with 17 commissioned officers and some 300 men, comprising his entire command, then engaged in an attack on an Indian camp. The battle was fought June 25th, 30 or 40 miles from the little Horn.... The Indians left the battleground looking like a slaughter pen, as it really was, being in a narrow ravine. The situation now looks serious...."

Two weeks later, Little after noting that "the late General Custer made his home in Monroe, 35 miles south of this village and there married," wrote a lengthy account of his courtship with the "patron saint" who eventually became his wife.

It was years later, before her death in 1933, that this same Mrs. Custer visited Northville as a speaker. Delivering hundreds of colorful and often sentimental speeches on military camp life throughout the nation was her way of improving the image of her husband among skeptics and strengthening the memories of those who held him in esteem. Judging from Record reports of the response given her here, Colonel Custer was indeed a general and a hero.

No Hurry Seen in Opening Session of '69 Legislature

LANSING—Barring a major crisis that would require hurry-up legislative action, the 1969 Michigan Legislature convening Jan. 8 apparently will start with the speed of a lame tortoise.

"We will work hard and be through by the Fourth of July," some of the leaders will pronounce. "We'll be out of here by Labor Day at the latest," others will predict. They are sincere as ever — and quite probably just as wrong.

If things follow the form charts, the Legislature will spend the first few days in session busily organizing itself, then quickly settle down to two or three weeks of inertia.

IT REALLY is not anybody's fault that little will be accomplished in the opening weeks of the session. It's just the nature of the work.

First, there is the matter of recounting the ballots in the 109th house district to ascertain who should be allowed to represent that Upper Peninsula area of Iron, Menominee, Gogebic and Marquette counties in the Legislature.

Under the 1963 State Constitution House members, through a special committee, must personally conduct a recount when a seat in that chamber is at stake.

Rep. Jack Gingrass, D-Iron Mountain, has advised the House he will file a recount petition when the 1969 session opens.

GINGRASS lost his 109th district seat by 318 votes to Republican John D. Payant of Kingsford in the November 5 election. The official certified total was 15,233 votes for Payant and 14,915 for Gingrass.

The recount delay could stall the session long enough to permit Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken to submit the state of the state message to the Legislature as the new Governor of Michigan.

Milliken will become Governor after Gov. George Romney resigns to take over as U.S. Secretary of Housing and Urban Development. But Romney won't leave office until the U.S. Senate confirms his appointment to the post, expected shortly after Richard M. Nixon is inaugurated as President January 20.

REPUBLICANS and Democrats have selected their leaders for the 1969 session. No surprises or new faces emerged from their separate organizational caucuses.

The Democrats, who will hold a 57-53 edge in the House, named Rep. William A. Ryan of Detroit as the next speaker. Rep. Stanley J. Davis of Grand Rapids got the No. 2 job of speaker pro-tempore.

Other key jobs went to Rep. George F. Montgomery, Detroit, majority floor leader, and Matthew McNeely of Detroit, associate speaker pro-tem.

Ryan, everybody's idea of a nice guy and a political liberal, won the coveted speakership in a five-candidate race. He promised to work cooperatively with Republican House members for the betterment of the state.

REPUBLICAN REPRESENTATIVE Robert Waldron of Grosse Pointe, speaker of the 1968 session, was named by his party colleagues as minority leader for next year. Rep. Martin Butth, R-Comstock Park, will serve as assistant minority leader.

Other GOP leadership posts went to Rep. William Hampton of Bloomfield Hills, minority floor leader; Rep. Hal Ziegler of Jackson, assistant minority floor leader; Rep. Russell Strange of Mt. Pleasant, caucus chairman; Rep. James Farnsworth of Plainwell, assistant caucus chairman; Rep. James Smith of Davison, minority whip and Rep. Robert Davis of St. Ignace, assistant minority whip.

State aid to education, budgetary problems and social welfare programs are shaping up as the major issues that will face the 1969 Legislature.

Milliken and the Republican leadership have said they will frown on any attempts to raise or expand taxes to pay for new programs.

Monetary Blows Rock Gold

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass. — The international monetary system has received some very punishing blows over the past year or so. A few of these could have been almost fatal, had it not been for concerted rescue measures. As a result, gold has become a focal point of interest on a worldwide basis. Demand for the yellow metal became so great that it was necessary to adopt a two-tier price system: On the one hand, the official pegged price for gold of $35 per ounce; and on the other, the fluctuating free market price for gold which has been hovering around $40 per ounce.

Despite the recent successful rescue of the franc, at least on an interim basis, the world monetary scene is marked by pronounced fear of additional financial upheavals. Many experts feel that the international monetary system, and specifically the role of gold within the framework, must be reviewed and revised if financial stability is to be achieved; that failure to do so could result in chaotic monetary conditions, and/or the world could again be faced with a restrictive international trade climate which could lead to economic depression.

Despite de Gaulle's austerity program to salvage the franc, it is questionable whether the people of France will endure its rigors for long. Now, there is also the specter of possible trouble for the Italian lira. Trouble for either or both of these currencies could spell problems for the British pound, which is still very much on shaky ground. The dollar could also be engulfed.

WHILE THERE is agreement on the necessity of revising the monetary system of the world, there is little accord on the future role of gold. It is felt in some quarters that the only solution is a boost in the official price of gold and thus a devaluation of the dollar. In other circles there are pleas for a demonetization of gold, for withdrawing gold permanently from the monetary system.

Both schools of thought can be rationally argued, and both are open to criticism. But the basic fact is that most member nations of the International Monetary Fund, including the U.S.A. are not yet ready to adopt either course as a remedy for the world's money ills.

THIS NATION'S policy (under the Johnson Administration) has been aimed at the longer range while striving to maintain continuity with the past. It is based on four major premises: (1) That gold will be retained as a monetary reserve; (2) that its official price will continue to be $35 per ounce; (3) that the world must not be dependent upon gold alone as a monetary reserve; and (4) that Special Drawing Rights (or paper gold) will be created under the International Monetary Fund to augment gold reserves and provide added liquidity.

It appears that the International Monetary Fund is moving toward a policy which will encompass these four points. However, opponents decry the plan as a stopgap measure which can only delay the adoption of a more permanent solution. Actually... the future course of world events may well dictate the remedy.

Despite the complexity of the problem, Babson's Reports believes the overall assessment points to higher gold prices eventually. But this should not be construed as a carte blanche recommendation to buy gold stocks. While odds favor higher gold prices some day, the timing is obscure. Adoption of stopgap measures could long delay a hike in gold.

Nevertheless, some feel the need to maintain a hedge in the form of investments in gold stocks. There is nothing wrong with this, provided the investor does not go overboard and provided he is willing to sit patiently with his gold stocks. Babson's Reports' strategy would be to go with either Homestake Mining, the leading U.S. gold producer, or American-South African Investment Trust, a closed-end trust with a large portfolio of gold-mining stocks. Both are traded on the New York Stock Exchange, so convenient to follow.

Group Seeks Fund For Auditorium

of contemporary thought. "Upon its completion as an integrated part of the college's Art Center, the auditorium will provide the residents of this area with a cultural focal point within convenient, easy reach," Mr. Petersen said.

Mr. Petersen explained the financial requirements of the auditorium and their relationship to the Art Center project.

"We are considering the project as being composed of two parts for financing purposes," the business manager said. "One of these is the auditorium, on which there is little likelihood of obtaining federal assistance. Of the remaining portion—that devoted exclusively to the instructional program—we now estimate a cost of approximately $3.25 million. Assuming federal and state participation in this portion, the college's share of the cost will be about $1.25 million.

"We have these funds available to us through the $3.7 million bond issue which was sold early in 1968," Mr. Petersen went on.

"We are now anticipating that the state will agree to finance one-half of the cost of the auditorium, or a little more than $800,000. The college will have to come up with the balance.

"Because other building projects are included in the $3.7 million bond issue, the college will have available from these funds only about $400,000 for its share.

"In short," Mr. Petersen told the Foundation trustees, "in order to successfully complete the project, the college must have outside help. This help can only come from the community.

"We are proposing that the Foundation undertake the raising of this amount. We feel this is a fair proposal in that the auditorium will fill a present need in the community's list of cultural assets."

Dr. Eric J. Bradner, president of the college, explained to the Foundation trustees that funds derived from local taxation cannot be used to support specific long-range capital construction projects on the campus.

"We have been authorized to levy an annual property tax of 1.77 mills," Dr. Bradner said. "This money can be used only for operation of the college, and to retire the institution's bonded debt. A portion of the millage, therefore, is now being used to pay for the $3.7 million bond issue sold this year, as well as to meet regular annual payments on earlier bond issues which were sold to finance construction of buildings already completed or underway.

"This year," the president of the 4,700-student institution said, "we are using 54 cents of every local tax dollar collected for day-to-day operations of the college. The remaining 46 cents is committed to retiring our bonded debt.

"While the Art Center is an important, and planned for, addition to the campus of a college which will enroll 15,000 students in just a few years, obviously other buildings are needed, too. Thus, we cannot commit all of our available bond money to this project.

"As it is, we will have to use at least $1,750,000 of the latest bond issue as our share of the Art Center construction cost," Dr. Bradner said.

Jan Reef, Northville industrialist and Foundation vice president, said the Foundation considered the Art Center project worthy of community interest and said the Foundation "will do everything in its power to acquaint the community with its stake in this project and the real need for community support.

"This we intend to do through a public subscription campaign which we confidently expect will raise at least the $400,000 needed by the college," Reef said.

Reef presided at the meeting in the absence of Foundation President Philip R. Ogilvie, who was detained by business matters.

Also attending the trustees meeting in addition to Reef and Dr. Bradner, were Fernon Feenstra, E. C. Imonen, T. G. Rotary, and Mrs. Joyce Ludwig, all of Livonia; Mr. Carl Johnson and Rev. Francis Wojcik, both of Northville; and Mr. Gaylord Smith of Detroit.

The next meeting of the board of trustees of the Schoolcraft Foundation will be held in the college administration building on January 23, 1969, at 8:00 p.m. Visitors are welcome!

GOODFELLOW GIFTS — Novi Goodfellows made it a very merry Christmas for several area families for whom the holiday would not have been so merry with gifts gathered with the help of girl scouts and school children. The schools contributed canned goods which were collected for the event, while three Brownie and four Junior Girl Scout troops gathered a large quantity of toys (above). The Goodfellows were very active in the collection as well, earning money for the apples, potatoes and other foodstuffs by means of their paper drive and then stuffing all the gift packages (below) for delivery, which they also took care of, on Christmas Eve.
