

Capitol Building: Grand Old Crowded Firetrap

"I've picked out the ledge where I'll climb if it ever happens."
Republican Representative

Clifford Smart, occupant of the fourth-floor "pigeon coop," was echoing the sentiments of an overwhelming majority of state legislators who live in a constant fear of fire.

Not all lawmakers, by any means, are pleased with plans for a new capitol building. Neither do all of them believe the history-packed existing building should be razed. But nearly all of them agree that the present building is hazardous and many call it a firetrap.

Many legislators, particularly the veterans, have mixed emotions over plans to abandon the building in favor of a giant, new structure. They fear fire and complain about inadequate space, but they dread the passing of the building which still possesses an architectural grandeur that thousands of visitors each month find breathtaking.

Senator Harvey Lodge of Waterford, for example, says "It's a fascinating building" filled with nostalgia. He would prefer that all non-legislative offices be moved from the building, thus leaving "enough space" for the lawmakers. He sees plans for a contemporary building as a "hideous monstrosity" and he is equally opposed to suggestions of attaching an annex to the capitol that he says would destroy its graceful lines.

"With some changes this building could serve the legislature for years to come," he insists.

But Lodge knows, too, that the die has been cast. The legislature is all but committed to a new facility. Those who love the building have about only one realistic hope left: "let's preserve it... maybe for a museum."

Lodge, like Senator George Kuhn, admittedly enjoys "nicer offices" because GOP senators are members of the majority party. The better offices are awarded to lawmakers first on the

Northville Repeats Clean-Town Award

For the third consecutive year, Northville has earned itself an award in the annual National Clean Up Contest.

The National Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up Bureau in Washington, D. C. announced this week that Northville has won a Distinguished Achievement Award in competition with United States communities of under 25,000 population.

Presentation of the award will take place at a special ceremony February 25 at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Washington. The awards ceremony climaxes the 1969 National Congress on Beautification.

In announcing the award, bureau officials said "Northville citizens demonstrated an enthusiastic response to the city's 1968 community betterment effort which included such projects as special trash pick ups and code enforcement. Also, Arbor Week, a week-long planting program, contributed to beautification activities."

Councilwoman Mrs. Beatrice Carlson, who together with the city's Beautification Commission, spearheaded beautification efforts here, compiled and submitted two scrapbooks telling of these efforts. It was on the basis of these entries that Northville won its national honor.

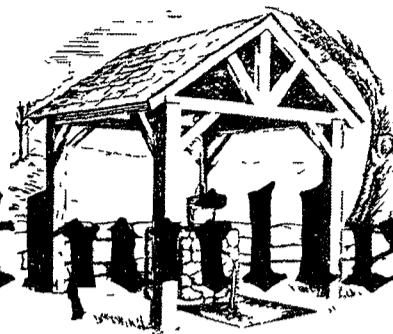

Mrs. Carlson, who will accept the award on behalf of the city, emphasized that it represents the cooperative efforts of the entire community. Keep in mind that some communities with whom we compete have paid help to conduct their programs. Ours, I'm proud to say, does an admirable job even though it's completely voluntary."

"Another thing," she added, "the contest was tougher than ever this year because they are judging only the top entries in the country. And it will become tougher each year. So if we are to continue our high standing we must exert greater effort each year."

Chairman of the commission, Mrs. Carlson had high praise for the other members. They include Mrs. L. M. Eaton, Mrs. Katherine Edgerton, Milo Hunt, Mrs. Edward Landau, Essie Nirider, Jerry Rotta, Mrs. Roy Soule, and Ed Welch.

City Creates New Post To Promote Business

Setting its sights on attracting new business to the commercial district the Northville city council Monday night decided to establish the position of "development coordinator."

Although the exact job specifications and compensation remain to be defined, the chief responsibility of the new post will be to attract favorable commercial development "to meet the shopping needs of our citizens and to maintain a well-balanced tax base".

The idea was introduced to the council at a work-session last week by Mayor A. M. Allen.

"We've spent a lot of time and money both in planning and acquiring land for an improved business district, but I haven't seen any brick and mortar", complained the mayor.

He pointed to the efforts of the planning commission in development of a master plan, which includes a central business district with adequate shopping and parking facilities for future growth. And he noted that both the non-profit Northville Area Economic Development Corporation and the city itself had taken the initiative in property acquisition within the central business district.

"Now we have to go out and do a little selling", he asserted.

Mayor Allen's proposal was given strong support by the entire council.

"I'm glad you've proposed this aggressive approach" chimed in Councilman Del Black. "We're ready to back up you".

Councilmen Beatrice Carlson, Charles Lapham and Wallace Nichols were equally enthusiastic in their support of the proposal.

Councilman Lapham has been particularly active in working with the economic development committee in seeking to interest new business in locating in Northville — within the proposed CBD area.

The councilmembers agreed, however, that the undertaking is too time-consuming and specialized in nature to successfully accomplished on a part-time basis.

Either the city or the economic development corporation holds title to a number of select sites within the business district that could be converted into productive commercial enterprises. And in recent weeks the city has reiterated its interest in acquiring the First Methodist church property, which has been placed on the market since plans for a new church facility have been announced.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff has already scheduled a series of meetings with city of Detroit and Wayne county specialists in the economic development field. From these meetings the council hopes to gain more information to be used in the establishment of the development coordinator position.

In its resolution setting forth the new position the council broadly defined the duties of the new position as "the actual attracting of developers, arranging sales, payment terms, zoning, land improvements and related items".

It was noted that the development coordinator would work closely with local real estate agents.

The manager said he hoped to find an individual to fill the position within two months.

In Pure Oil Zoning Suit

Council to Grant Hearing

On the advice of its attorney... and to avoid any legal pitfalls in a scheduled court case... the Northville city council has decided to grant a public hearing to an oil company whose rezoning request was denied by the city planning commission.

The suit, brought against the city by Pure Oil company after the latter was denied rezoning to expand its service station at Main and Wing street, is scheduled to be heard in Wayne county circuit court during the first week of April.

If the city council upholds the recommendation of the planning commission — to deny the rezoning — the case will be tried as scheduled.

But if the council should rule in favor of the petition and thus grant the rezoning, there would be no lawsuit.

The situation is unique to the city of Northville.

Under past procedure the council has not heard rezoning requests that have been denied at the planning commission level. The custom has been to receive only recommendations for rezoning. The council then has the authority to uphold or reverse the planning commission recommendation.

Legal counsel for Pure Oil company maintains that the rejected petitioner should have an opportunity to appear before the city's final authority before having to make an appeal to the court.

Northville City Attorney Philip Ogilvie concedes they may have a point.

"The enabling legislation under which the planning commission was established is silent on what happens when negative action is taken by the planning body. But it stipulates that as an advisory body its recommendations for approval must be either upheld or reversed by the city council to make the action official."

Ogilvie said it was his understanding that the authority of the planning commission to reject rezoning requests had been tested in court but that the decision had not yet been rendered.

He recommended to the council that it grant a public hearing. Otherwise, he said, the case could be thrown out by the court until a council public hearing is held. "This would only cause delay", he noted.

The council decided to follow Attorney Ogilvie's advice, but only after meeting with the planning commission Tuesday night to discuss the predicament and explain the council's reason for granting a hearing.

Council Names Mrs. Slattery

Mrs. William Slattery, 46812 Dunsay Road, will serve as chairman of the Michigan Week activities for the city of Northville this year.

Appointment of Mrs. Slattery was made Monday night by the city council. The week-long observance, highlighted by a Mayor's Exchange Day, is held annually in May.

Methodists to Start New Church This Summer

Plans for construction of the new United Methodist Church of Northville next summer are rapidly nearing completion.

Officials of the church revealed this week that architectural drawings and specifications are complete and ready for submission to contractors for bidding.

Bids for construction are expected to be let by July 1, with completion of the $500,000-plus building scheduled for the following summer.

The new facility will be located on a 4.5-acre site on the south side of Eight Mile Road at the intersection of Taft Road. It will be located just east of a barn that still stands on the property.

Aside from a large sanctuary with a seating capacity of 400 persons, the contemporary-designed facility will include an educational wing containing classrooms, a 250-seat fellowship hall, kitchen, church and church school offices, choir room, storage and mechanical equipment space.

The sanctuary will provide for a library and a ladies parlor.

Ample parking will be provided near the entrance to the site, officials said.

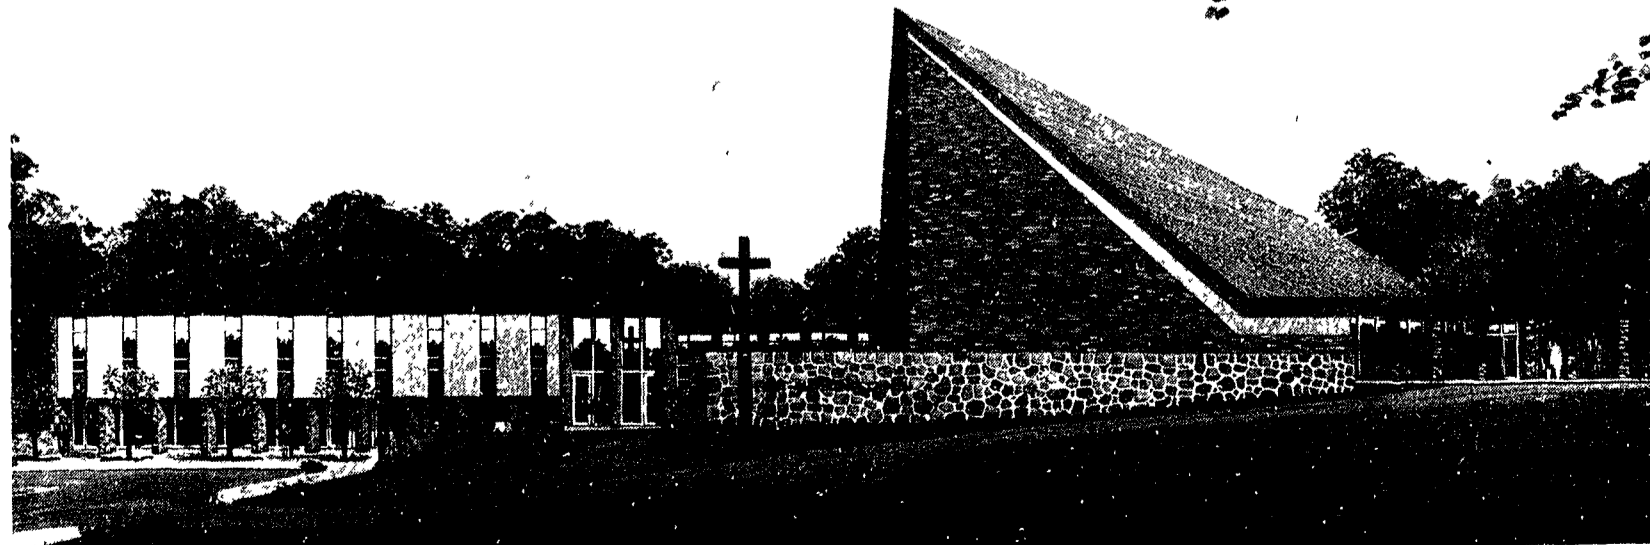

Ralph Gallagher is chairman of the building committee. Serving with him are Mrs. Paul Beard, Mrs. William Cansfield, Rev. Guenther Branstner, pastor, Andrew Orphan, Wilfred Becker, Russell Amerman, Harold Marks, Harold Penn, and the architect, William P. Lindhout.

In support of the building program, a continuing contributions campaign is underway, with a goal of $150,000 to be collected by January 4, 1972.

Heading up the three-year contribution campaign is Richard Ambler, who predicts the goal will be surpassed. This money, along with some $100,000 raised three years ago to pay for site acquisition and architectural fees and monies to be raised from the sale of the present church building and land, will be used (as a down payment) to qualify for a mortgage.

Mortgage payments can then be supported by the expected membership expansion of the church.

Members of Ambler's committee include Rev. Branstner, Amerman, Gallagher, Dan Beetler, Al Werdehoff, and Fay Waldron.

League of Women Voters

New Group Elects Its Officers

League of Women Voters for this area became a reality January 30 at an organizational meeting at Schoolcraft College. The new Northville-Plymouth LWV already boasts a membership of 60 women.

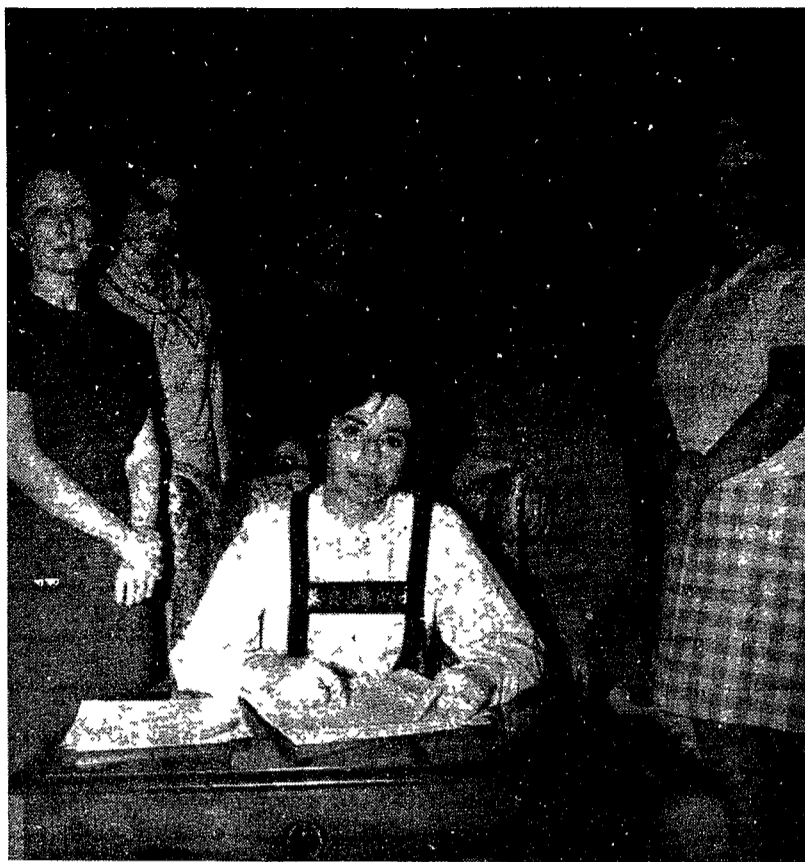

The meeting and election of officers climaxed a two-month orientation program in the two communities to acquaint prospective members with the programs and policies of the League. The Schoolcraft College meeting drew a capacity crowd of interested women who elected officers and adopted a budget and by-laws.

Mrs. Joel Rowley, A King's Mill resident and previously a vice-president in the Birmingham-Bloomfield League, was elected president. Another newcomer to Northville, Mrs. John Federspill of Northville Estates and a past president of the Livonia LWV, was named second vice-president. Mrs. Beecher Todd, treasurer, and Mrs. Earle McIntosh, Mrs. Elden Biery and Mrs. Robert Fair, directors, complete the list of officers from Northville.

Plymouth participants are Mrs. William McAninch, first vice-president; Mrs. Marvin Kornegger, secretary; Mrs. Caroline Palmer, Mrs. William McNamara, Mrs. William Congdon and Mrs. Donald Stacy, directors.

Exceeding national LWV requirements for 45 paid members, the new group begins activities as the Provisional League of Women Voters of the Northville-Plymouth Area. During its provisional period the membership will undertake a study of local government in the two communities, and will complete certain program and voter service requirements for recognition by the national league.

The newly-elected board of the League met Monday night with Mrs. Rowley to plan its schedule of general and unit meetings. The Electoral College will be the subject of the first general membership meeting set for 8 p.m. February 17 in the Schoolcraft College Waterman Campus Center. LWV membership is open to all women citizens of voting age, Mrs. Rowley stresses. Anyone interested in the new group is invited to call her, 349-5614.

In Our Town

By JEAN DAY

"MARCH WINDS" is the name of the dance being given by the Northville Jaycees Saturday, March 8, at Meadowbrook Country Club. The benefit event is a "first" for the Jaycees who plan to use the proceeds to support other Jaycee community activities.

(One of these is the annual Fourth of July parade — popular with young and old. Such parades were commonplace in the early 1900's, but are all-too-rare today except in little towns. A remembered highlight of a few years ago was the appearance of then newly-elected Governor Romney in a convertible.)

The dance itself should be a festive evening with everyone in the community invited to attend. Dancing will begin at 9 p.m. to the music of the Jerry Fenby Five.

Tickets, at $8 a couple, may be obtained from Russell Anger, chairman, 349-0068, or Fred Zillick, co-chairman, 349-4042 and also from any Jaycee member.

NORTHVILLE Woman's Club, abiding by the axiom that one good event deserves a repeat, has scheduled its second Men's Night buffet dinner and program for 7 p.m. this Friday at Northville Presbyterian Church. The event begun years ago but dropped in recent history, was revived for the club's diamond jubilee.

Mrs. Irvin Marburger of the reservations committee, who has been assisting Mrs. Donald Schwendemann, chairman, reports that 148 reservations have been received. Arrangement details were worked out at committee meetings before Barb Schwendemann and her husband left on a winter vacation to St. Croix in the Virgin Islands and San Juan, Puerto Rico. They were due to return Wednesday.

Mrs. W. P. McDermott will introduce the speaker, Robert L. White, a Detroit CPA, who is to give a humorous talk.

OUR LADIES League at Our Lady of Victory Church reports a "flurry of activity" preparing for its annual fashion show, this year called "Vogue Caprice," to be given at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 18, in the church hall.

The spring fashion preview will feature styles by Harvi's Suburban Casuals, the latest in hair fashions by Salon Rene and "make-up suggestions to complete the new look for spring" by Fashion 220.

Mrs. Denis Schwarz is chairman. Co-chairman is Mrs. Jim Bishop. Ticket information may be obtained from Mrs. Chuck Stevens, 349-2731; Mrs. Bob Taucher, 349-5458; and Mrs. Russ Smith, 349-5846.

"GRANNY'S HERBS and the Witch Doctor" is the provocative title of the talk to be given by Dr. C. Howard Ross at the guest day meeting of the Northville Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, at 12:30 p.m. Monday at Northville Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Ross, who presently is practicing medicine in Ann Arbor, is a writer for the American Medical Writers' Association and has authored many articles in the medical field, ranging from geriatrics to infant care and feeding. He is a recipient of the Swanberg Distinguished Service Award.

Mrs. Harold Schmidt is hostess chairman, assisted by Mrs. Eugene Karrer, Mrs. Paul Robinson, Mrs. William Bates and Mrs. Douglas Straith.

NORTHVILLE BUSINESS and Professional Women's Club was among those having January meetings postponed by "slick ice." The business meeting was held January 29 at the home of Mrs. A. Malcolm Allen, 900 Scott. Afterward the hostess supplied a variety of little prizes for Bingo. Refreshments were served.

Plans were made to display a handmade quilt in the window of the Little People's Shop for which club members will be selling tickets. Proceeds will go toward the scholarship given annually by the club to help a high school girl who is considering a business career.

BASE LINE Chapter of the Quarters antiques study group has received several special invitations.

The club will be guests of the DeTrotte chapter February 13 at St. Elizabeth Episcopal Church near Beech-Daly Road. The program will feature a repeat talk by Mrs. Frank Seichter of Birmingham, whose slide-program on "Outstanding Period Furniture in Detroit-area Homes" was a highlight of the state convention held last October 16 at Meadowbrook Country Club.

Former Member Mrs. Glenn Jordan, who now lives in Yardley, Pennsylvania, has invited the entire chapter of 20 members to make a spring trip to Yardley, an area rich in historic buildings and antiques.

Mrs. Jordan, who taught a class in oil painting here, writes she is hoping to resume her teaching with an adult class there and adds that she is going to take a course herself with one of the famous painters near her. The picturesque area, she adds, is the home of "scads of well-known painters."

Mrs. Jack Willis, organizer of the Northville Quester group and its first president, and Mrs. Paul Beard, a past president, have become members of the newly organized Michigan Society of Quester Past Presidents. Mrs. Charles Walker, state president, announces the state's sponsorship of the organization composed of women who have served as chapter presidents who will meet to further the work of Questers in promoting the study of antiques and the restoration of historical sites.

HOME TOUR Committee members met Monday at the new home of Mrs. David Longridge at 43646 Westridge Lane to discuss arrangements for the third annual tour sponsored by the Presbyterian Women's Association.

Although more than half-a-year away, four of the five homes to be open have been chosen.

Mrs. Longridge is chairman of the project which involves the entire community on Tour Day.

Mother's March Tops '68 Collection

Last Thursday's Northville-area Mothers' March in the annual March of Dimes campaign to fight birth defects raised $1,421, topping last year's collection of $1,356, John Steimel, Northville March of Dimes chairman, announced Tuesday.

The total will go higher, he said, as collections still are being received by Mrs. Russell Anger, March chairman, from her 13 area heads. Mrs. Anger and her co-chairman, Mrs. Ross Totten, of the Northville Jayettes, were in charge of the Mothers' March.

Delta Gamma To See Slides

The Farmington Alumnae Association of Delta Gamma will meet Monday, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Richard Boysen, 16412 Ronnie Lane, Livonia.

Slides of the history of Delta Gamma will be shown. The installation of officers and a business meeting will follow.

All Delta Gammas in Farmington, Livonia, Northville and Plymouth are urged to attend.

An additional $53.76 was raised by the jazz concert at the high school, chaired by Robert Williams. Steimel said there are tentative plans to hold a second Cavern dance benefit, the first on December 28 having been hampered by severe weather. He said the candle sale by high school students also was being extended a week.

Canisters in downtown stores and at Our Lady of Victory school also are expected to increase the Northville total. Last year's month-long campaign of activities raised $2,469.

Manufacturer's Leona Parmalee

She Ends 45-Year Banking Career

When most career-oriented young women were seeking big-city jobs, Miss Leona Parmalee finished high school and commercial college and began work for the Lapham State Savings Bank in Northville — starting a 45-year career, all in Northville, that includes the distinction of being listed in Who's Who of American Women.

As she began a month's vacation Monday prior to retirement (officially the first of March), Miss Parmalee could trace the history of modern banking in her years of service... culminating officially as secretary in the office of the Northville branch of Manufacturers National Bank at 129 Main Street.

She was the only girl employee when she began her first banking post in 1923 at Lapham's State Savings Bank at the corner of Main and Center streets. She had just completed Detroit Commercial College that year. In 1922 she was a member of the largest class — 29 members — to be graduated at that time from Northville High School.

Her various duties included posting, typing and writing letters.

Darkest day in Leona Parmalee's career terminated her Lapham service when the bank closed in 1931 in the depression Bank Failure.

"We're not going to open," serious-faced bank officers told her one morning when she came to the office and found the vault still locked. The bank officials had met the night before with the Detroit banking commission, who advised the closing.

"We were too sound to be closed," she recalled, "but others were failing all around." Hardest task was facing depositors who were losing their money, although, eventually, they were compensated for more than half their deposits, she said.

A year and a half later in January 1933 in a reorganization of Lapham's

State Savings Bank and Northville State Bank on Main Street the Depositors State Bank was formed.

Miss Parmalee was one of the seven employees hired in the consolidation. Another vivid memory is the opening of Depositors — "without one account."

Local people did have faith in the bank, she said. Her career in it brought her to the position of assistant cashier in 1942, a post she held until 1957.

In 1957 Manufacturers National Bank took over Depositors. Miss Parmalee went along. (Manufacturers was organized in Detroit in August, 1933, and Miss Parmalee's service is adjusted to that date.)

A. Russell Clarke, Northville branch manager, points out that banks "don't have too many officials in branch hierarchy" so that Miss Parmalee, while classified as a secretary, "did more."

The bank is planning a retirement dinner March 8 in her honor. It also will be a bank reunion as former employees are being contacted to attend.

Miss Parmalee's immediate co-workers in the new accounts office honored her last Friday with a pink carnation and heather corsage. Pinned to her softly tailored suit-ensemble, the corsage complemented the soft-spoken, feminine career worker. A bud vase with two red roses from personal friends was on the desk.

"I haven't any plans at all," Miss Parmalee declared when asked about the future. She added that she wanted to stay in her home at 46159 Sunset and "keep house."

She has many affiliations that could keep her busy. She is a member of the National Association of Bank Women (having graduated from the American Institute of Banking in 1958). She also belongs to the Northville Business and Professional Women and the Wesleyan Service Guild of Northville Methodist Church.

When you've been a resident of Northville since 1915, there also are many friends and family here. These include Miss Parmalee's sisters, Misses Hazel and Muriel Parmalee, who make their home at 128 South Rogers. She also has two nephews and a grandniece.

Miss Parmalee remembers coming to Northville with her parents as an 11-year-old. They operated a variety store in town for several years.

Now, after almost a half-century in offices, Miss Parmalee says she's "ready" to see what it's like just to stay home.

Town Hall Speaker He's Swashbuckling Writer

John Peer Nugent, who set up Newsweek magazine's first African bureau in 1961 and became personally involved in the unusual and exciting stories that came from the vast continent, will speak to Northville Town Hall, at 11 a.m. Thursday, February 20, in the Northville High School auditorium.

He has lived in the Congo, Ethiopia, Rwanda, Kenya, Zanzibar, South Africa, Guinea and Rhodesia. He has written for many publications, including Playboy, Saturday Evening Post and Holiday. He was chosen to write and produce a major television documentary for NBC "Great Explorations" series retracing Henry M. Stanley's historic search for David Livingstone, which took place nearly 100 years ago.

He joined Newsweek in 1956 as a political correspondent. Nugent is known as a foreign correspondent of the fabled swashbuckler school reminiscent of Floyd Gibbons.

He was chosen to do the first in the Great Explorations series because of his vast knowledge of Africa and his cordial relations with the heads of the African nations.

In traveling black Africa from one end to the other, Nugent continually dared fate.

Nugent wrote of his experiences in "C-1 Africa 999." Reviewing the book, Bob Considine called it "the wildest adventure story we've come across in a long time... the author hits hard and humorously as he picks up his reader by the ears and takes him along on a journalistic jaunt from the Congo to Zanzibar, surviving beatings, firing squads, cannibal attacks and finally, a good reporter's proudest moment, banishment for writing the truth."

A celebrity luncheon at Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth will follow the program. Mrs. Robert Lang, town hall chairman, reminds ticket holders that reservations must be made by February 14. Luncheon checks for $4 may be mailed to Northville Town Hall, Box. 93.

It's Northville Picnic Time In Florida

If you're from Northville and you're vacationing—or now residing in Florida—you can renew old acquaintances at the annual "Northville, Michigan Picnic" scheduled for Saturday, February 15 at the Community Building in Minneola, Florida.

Members of the entertainment committee for the annual get-together are N. J. Schweizer, Charles Schoutz, George R. Simmons, Ralph F. Foreman and James N. Erwin.

Dinner will be served at 1 p.m., rain or shine. Coffee will be furnished, but bring a picnic lunch and table service.

Area Students Receive Degrees

Associate degrees and certificates of program completion were awarded to 73 students, including two from Northville, at the end of the fall term at Schoolcraft College, Registrar Norman E. Dunn has announced.

Dunn said the list of graduates was the largest for the mid-year period since the college opened in 1964. Associate degrees in six areas were awarded to 66 students. Seven others earned Certificates of Program Completion.

The two students earning degrees and certificates:

Timothy Lee Krug, 510 Randolph, special education; and Linda Secord, 46675 West Seven Mile Road, elementary education.

Record Clipping Recalls Old Poem

Discovery of an old clipping of The Northville Record sparked a letter this week from Mrs. Marie Forney of Eustis, Florida.

Sending along the clipping, Mrs. Forney asked if it might be reprinted. First published on March 18, 1927 it is a poem written by Elmer Smith, then president of the village of Northville. It was prepared and read at a community St. Patrick's banquet.

Mr. Smith, ill and unable to communicate with his friends, lives at 701 Spring Drive. His poem, written the same year that Northville celebrated the 100th anniversary of its settlement, follows:

It's great to live in Northville,
Its advantages you all know;
Its hills are beautiful when green,
They are grand when there is snow.

Our industries are many,
And are very widely known;
If we go up North a fishing,
What we catch are Northville grown.

If we go down into Texas,
Just because we love to roam;
Drop into a church some evening,
Perhaps those pews are made at home.

Should you go to California,
Count the Lizzies on the way;
Every one contains a valve
Made in Northville—as you know.

It's great to live in Northville,
Where you feel you'd like to sing,
Every time you drink the liquor
Drawn from our own silver springs.

The Bell furnace is a product
That's been our pride for many a year;
Those who own one love the winter,
As there is no cold to fear.

Other towns may be as prosperous,
But the fact that can't compare,
Eddie Stinson, may be flying,
When you look up in "our air."

Let us all be boosters,
Make a town that can't be beat;
Give a welcome to the stranger,
When you meet him on the street.

It's great to live in Northville,
Where the bald heads are so thick;
That's what makes us safe from bandits,
There are so few locks to pick.

Career Night Slated Here

A Northville High School "Career Night" program, featuring some 20 business and service representatives, will be held Thursday, February 13 in the high school cafeteria, Co-op Director John Hyde announced this week.

Sponsored by the high school counseling and the cooperative vocational education departments, Career Night is open to sophomores, juniors, seniors and their parents.

The 20 persons on hand will represent more than 200 occupations, including one and two-year terminal college programs, apprenticeships, cooperative vocational training, and a few four-year college programs.

Among the occupations represented will be: cosmetology, barbering, tool and die, machine repair, electronics, pipe-fitting, data processing, health agencies, the armed forces, law enforcement, agriculture, conservation, aviation, numerous apprenticeships in industry, and a host of others.

SERVICE HONORED—Mayor A. M. Allen and Sidney Frid were presented with keys to the city Monday night by the Northville council. Reason for the presentation was their long service as members of the county board of supervisors. Until the reorganization January 1 Allen and Frid had served about a dozen years each on the Wayne and Oakland county boards, respectively, representing the city of Northville. In a reference to the high salaries recently voted by the new Wayne county board of supervisors, Allen noted "we made a little less money".

Harvard Band Taps Deibert

Glenn Deibert of Northville has been elected treasurer of the Harvard University Band. He is a member of the class of '71 at Harvard.

Managed entirely by its student members, the band has a large concert repertoire and performs at many civic and college events.

Deibert is a graduate of Northville High School, where he was active in the Debate Society, and was a member of the Honor Society. He held the state title two years in spring forensics, and was awarded the state and regional titles in American Legion Oratory.

At Harvard his major is biochemistry.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Deibert of 9825 Napier, he plans to attend medical school.

Girl Scout News

First Area Association meeting of the Northville Girl Scouts for the current school year will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. next Thursday, February 13, at the Scout-Recreation building, 215 Cady Street.

Plans will be made for Girl Scout Week, annual cookie sale, Dad's Day at Camp Linden, Michigan Week and scout day camp.

All leaders, co-leaders, committee mothers and adult Girl Scouts are invited with a prize to be awarded the troop leader with the largest troop representation. Mothers of pre-school children will have a baby-sitting service provided in the lower level of the building.

Mrs. Troy Brazell, field director from the Ypsilanti office, will present a field report. The roster of Northville troops will be distributed.

The Huron Valley Girl Scout

Council, of which Northville troops are a part, announces the acquisition by the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. of 15,000 acres of land near Ten Sleep, Wyoming, for the development of a major Girl Scout national center for program development, training and international projects.

Located in the Bighorn Mountains, a part of the Rocky Mountain chain, the site will be available for varied activities such as troop camping, camping for Scout families, workshops and seminars.

No plans have been made yet by local Scouts to go to the center, but it is expected that local Senior Scouts will qualify for encampments in the next few years, according to Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing, Plymouth, president of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

C. DAVID ARMSTRONG

Novi Jaycee Gets PR Post

The appointment of C. David Armstrong of Novi as director of public relations was announced this week by John H. French, Jr., president of City National Bank of Detroit.

In the newly created position, Armstrong will be responsible for all press and public relations and will coordinate projects such as open houses, special meetings, and various bank publications including the annual report. In addition, he will supervise the bank's civic, cultural and charitable contributions program.

Armstrong was on the administrative and publicity staff of Project HOPE for four years. His earlier business experience was with an advertising agency and in an industrial advertising department. A native Detroit, he now lives on Glen Ridge Court in Novi with his wife Sandra and their two daughters. His hobbies include golf, bridge, and music, and he is a member of the Novi Jaycees.

Mrs. Chabut Appointed

Appointment of Mrs. Elaine Chabut, 18585 Sheldon Road as a counselor for the Foreign Study League was announced this week by Dr. Lynn M. Hilton, Superintendent of the League.

Mrs. Chabut will take high school students to League campuses in London, Rome, Amsterdam, Paris and Switzerland this coming summer for a six weeks' course in history and culture. Students will study in the classroom under native instructors for four hours each morning and take related excursions each afternoon.

A sixth grade teacher at Wooddale in Farmington, Mrs. Chabut has a BA in English and history from Albion and graduate work in education from Wayne State University.

The Foreign Study League, formerly the Foreign Language League, is the world's largest overseas secondary school system with headquarters in Salt Lake City. This coming summer the League will have an enrollment of approximately 11,000 high school students in campuses in Europe, the Middle East and the Orient.

The League offers a wide variety of summer programs, including various foreign languages, music, art, comparative governments and English literature.

In Year-Round School

See Substantial Tax Savings

A substantial savings in tax dollars could result with the implementation of a year-round school program here, a Northville schools subcommittee has concluded.

In a preliminary report to the Year-Round Study Steering Committee, members of the pupils-facilities-staff and finance subcommittee estimated cost of construction — over a period of five years — could be 40-percent less under a year-round program than under the conventional school year plan.

However, the report concludes that no savings would likely occur in operational costs.

The quadrimester plan (year-round school), the subcommittee said, could lead to a savings of $7.6 million in capital outlay — based upon recent population projections.

Studies show, according to the subcommittee, that existing classroom capacity will be exceeded during the 1969-1970 school year under the traditional school plan. The quadrimester plan, however, would delay overloading and resulting new construction needs until midway through the 1970-1971 period.

Documentation of the conclusions of the subcommittee is to be introduced to the Northville Board of Education Monday night. Meanwhile, school officials have their fingers crossed in hopes of obtaining a state grant to continue year-round studies here. A grant of $20,000 is anticipated.

An official of the State Board of Education told The Record recently that an announcement of those districts to receive a special grant for year-round study is imminent.

If Northville receives the grant, officials plan to supplement studies made by the citizens' year-round committee over the past year and to conduct a professional survey of residents in the school district.

It has been estimated that even if Northville were to implement a year-round program the earliest it could become a reality would be during the 1970-1971 school year.

Cavern Bills Rationals

With a dispute with the Detroit Federation of Musicians settled, The Cavern will kick off the month of February with a bang Saturday night.

The Rationals, one of the biggest bands in the state, and the Mermaid Tavern, will invade The Cavern premises Saturday. Prices for the dance will be only $1.25 for members, $1.75 for non-members.

Later this month, the Stuart Avery Assemblage and the Frost will entertain on February 22. Coming up within the next two months will be appearances by the SRC, Munx and the 3rd Power.

Problem between The Cavern and the DFM involved the performance here of non-union members. An agreement between the two sides has resolved their differences.

Bill Introduced to Curb Salaries

A bill that if enacted would roll back the salaries set by the Wayne County Board of Supervisors Saturday was introduced this week to the Michigan House of Representatives by Democratic Representative Marvin Stempien, former Northville city attorney.

Similarly, State Senator George Kuhn, Republican representing southwestern Oakland County, has announced plans for introduction of a Senate bill to regulate county supervisor salaries.

Action by the state lawmakers comes on the heels of Wayne County's controversial decision Saturday setting supervisor salaries at $12,500 plus $40 per meeting. It has been estimated that supervisors in Wayne, under this schedule, could receive in excess of $20,000 annually.

Republican Supervisor Carl Pursell, representing Northville, Plymouth and Livonia, voted against the measure.

Stempien, the man who drafted the act that resulted in reorganization of county government on a one-man, one-vote basis, calls for establishment of a $10,000 maximum compensation — whether paid as salary or on a per diem basis — through his bill.

"My proposal," said Stempien, "will clarify the intent of the Legislature in the 1966 Act. The Act intended more than mere compliance with the Constitutional one-man, one-vote mandate approved by U.S. Supreme Court. The intent was to streamline county government, to make it more effective and especially make its officials more responsive to the general electorate."

"In pursuing these goals further, it must become the responsibility of the county board members to think first of county efficiency and moderation, to establish work schedules, rules of procedure and to determine the scope of involvement in the executive function of county government, and then to set a responsible and respectable salary, compatible with these conditions."

Stempien's bill fixes compensation for supervisors at $20 per day, regardless of the number of meetings held in a day.

Many boards have yet to make a final determination of their compensation — Oakland County among them. Ingham County has set the figure at $2,500 and Calhoun has voted a $5,000 scale. In Oakland County, according to Supervisor Lew Coy of Wixom, the battle to "hold the line" by himself and others appears to be losing out.

The "very minimum" at this point, said Coy, likely to be approved will be a $2,500 base salary plus $40 per diem up to a maximum of $7,500.

Senator Kuhn said he will introduce a bill limiting supervisors to $25 for board meetings and $50 per diem for a full day's work with a maximum ceiling of $4,000 to $5,000 per year.

"To me, this is more than adequate when you consider that county supervisors last year in Wayne and Oakland counties earned less than $500. This bill already has the support of most members of the Senate Municipalities and Elections Committee."

Concerning his bill, Stempien said he is confident it will receive "quick approval" by the lawmakers. He will ask that it be given immediate effect — an action requiring a two-thirds vote of both houses. Conceivably, it could become law within 60 days, he said.

Stempien, critical of the Wayne supervisors' action Saturday, said the estimates of the chairman's (Albert Zak) salary are far below what he could actually receive. Besides receiving $14,000 and $40 per meeting as chairman of the board, Zak also, as chairman, sits in on county drain board meetings at an additional $30 per meeting, Stempien said. "He could end up making more than the governor — something like $40,000 — depending on how many meetings he managed to attend."

"Drain meetings are held in local municipalities, some no more than 10 minutes duration. Several could be held in a community in a single day."

Northville Led Most of Way

Trojans Nip Mustangs, 51-49

CLARENCEVILLE — Trailing throughout most of the icy contest, the Trojans sneaked past the Mustangs in the last five minutes of play here Friday night to claim a two-point victory, 51-49.

A win would have boosted the Mustangs into a third-place tie with Milford — the Wayne-Oakland League quintet that invaded Northville Tuesday in quest of its second triumph over the Mustangs this season.

By winning over Northville — its third victory in conference play, Clarenceville was tied for fifth place going into its game Tuesday at Brighton.

Best description of Friday's game was "ice-cold shooting." Neither team produced an offensive attack worth writing home about. For Northville, it was the poorest scoring effort of the season. The previous Northville low was 55 points at Milford back on Friday the 13th.

Despite its below-average shooting performance, Clarenceville relished its victory — particularly in view of the Trojans' humiliating 74-48 loss to Northville on December 6.

The Trojans were down by eight-points, 28-20, going into the third stanza. With one-minute to play in the quarter, Clarenceville pulled one-point into the lead and then in the final five seconds pushed its margin to two points, 37-35.

Northville bounced back to tie the score early in the fourth period. The lead changed hands several times, with the Mustangs last leading — 41-40 — with five minutes to play.

The Mustangs pulled up to within a point of the host team with less than five minutes to play, but Clarenceville widened the gap almost immediately. At the two-minute mark the Trojans led by eight points, 43-51.

At this point Clarenceville failed to find the mark as Northville inched to within two-points, missing a couple of shots that might have tied or won the game.

Northville Coach Bob Kucher, voicing dissatisfaction with calls by one of the referees, was nicked for two quick technicals in the final minutes of play and, on the last, was bounced from the game. Junior Varsity Coach Omar Harrison filled in.

Northville Guard Stan Nirdier fouled out with five minutes to play. Two Clarenceville players, Steve Scholes and Bob Ridling, also were forced from the game with five fouls.

Altogether, the Mustangs were tagged with 19 fouls, Clarenceville 16. The Trojans converted 15 of its 27 shots for a 56-percent clip, while the Mustangs came up with 13 of 21 for 62-percent.

Forward Jeff Taylor led the Mustangs in scoring with 18 points, followed by Forward Ron Hubbard and Guard Terry Mills, each with nine. High scorer for the Trojans was Ridling with 17.

Colts Make it 11 Straight...

...Then An Even Dozen

Despite a reshuffled lineup, Northville's towering junior varsity quintet streaked to its eleventh straight victory Friday night, dumping Clarenceville 77-42.

Coach Omar Harrison couldn't be happier. With two of his starters boosted to the varsity squad, replacements came off the bench to fill the gap handily.

After leading by only three points going into the second quarter, the Colts unleashed a sizzling attack that produced a 20-point lead at the intermission, 40-20. And by the three-quarter mark, they had stretched their lead to 23 points, 58-35.

With just six games to go — including Tuesday's contest against Milford — both coach and players are admittedly aiming for an undefeated season. "If they continue to play up to their potential," said Harrison, "there's no reason why they can't do it."

Key to the Colts' success has been height. Even with the recent reshuffling, Harrison's squad gives ground to no one in this area. And it shows up in the Colts' rebounding performance. Bernie Bach, for example, is averaging about a dozen rebounds per game. Friday, despite the fact that the 6'1" star was moved from forward to guard, he still managed to pull down 19 rebounds.

With starters Rex Balko and John Balkwell bumped up to the varsity squad, Harrison moved Bach to guard and 6'4" Kerry Cushing from center to forward. Up from the bench to take over center came Jim Darnell, 6'3", and into the guard slot went Rick Sechler, smallest member at 5'10". Steve Utley, 6'2", continues to perform impressively at forward.

In another move, Harrison brought 6'2" Todd Hannert up from the freshmen squad to back up Darnell at center.

With this new lineup, the Colts turned in a well-balanced scoring attack Friday, with four players hitting double figures. Cushing was high with 18, followed by Utley with 17, Sechler with 16 and Bach with 13.

It was a big night Tuesday for both the Northville varsity and junior varsity quintets as the Mustangs clipped Milford, 68-64, following the Colts' easy 72-46 triumph.

With Terry Mills and Ron Hubbard leading the way with 20 and 18 points, respectively, the Mustangs jumped off to a slim lead in the second quarter and stayed there throughout the remainder of the game.

The score was knotted at 15 going into the second quarter but Northville had a 34-31 lead at intermission and widened its margin to seven points at the three-quarter mark. Key to the win was Northville's excellent rebounding performance.

Schoolcraft Five Splits Weekend Bill

Schoolcraft won its third game of the season Friday night, before losing their 14th the following evening in the basketball wars.

The sweet victory was the second Schoolcraft has posted over the Highland Lakes campus of Oakland — the first occurring in a non-league holiday tournament when Schoolcraft still had its top scorers. The latest triumph was wrapped in a 58-52 score.

Trailing 33-27 at the half, Coach Tom Roncoli switched to a stall pattern-going for the sure shot-and utilized a fine full-court press to throttle Highland Lakes 31-19 in the second half. Roncoli praised his squad for its fine team effort, adding that "everyone came through when extra effort was needed."

Victory was especially rewarding as Highland Lakes has wins over three teams against whom Schoolcraft has had no success — Alpena, Flint and Macomb Community Colleges.

Pacing the winners was Jim Carron with 18 points. Greg Coleman tossed in 13 and Duane Storm and Mike Kenyon added nine apiece. Walt Causey, although Schoolcraft held him to a single second half field goal, topped the Lakers with 15 points. Jim Ewing supported his efforts with 11 tallies.

Saturday night's game was not so successful, however, as a poor first half doomed the local cagers. Hitting on only five of 27 shots from the floor, Schoolcraft trailed by an insurmountable 49-19 margin at intermission. An effective second half press narrowed the outcome to 84-59, but it proved too little too late.

Schoolcraft did throttle high-scoring Pat Roach — one of last year's league leaders — in that second half, holding him to only two points. Roach led Macomb's balanced attack with 19 points, however. Support came from Jim Carter, Greg Williams and Columbus Beulah, who scored 17, 15 and 14 points, respectively.

Mike Kenyon meshed 12 second half tallies to net 15 for the night in support of Carron's fine 26-point performance. Dan Pavlat tossed in eight markers to help the cause.

But Jayvees Win

Ypsi Edges Wildcats, 68-65

One good turn deserves another, as the saying goes.

Ypsilanti Roosevelt lost to Novi in December while their JV's were whipping the little Wildcats. Turnabout was the rule in both rematches Friday night as the Roughriders varsity won a thriller 68-65 and the Wildcat JV's eked out a 56-52 decision.

Amazing accuracy from the floor won the varsity contest for the Roughriders. They hit only 14 of 25 free throws (56 per cent) to 23 of 35 for Novi (66 per cent), but meshed 27 field goals to 21 for the Wildcats. Novi, with Jon VanWagner's leg finally back to pre-injury soundness, played one of its finest games of the entire season, but just could not cope with the unerring floor game of Roosevelt.

Five Roughriders hit double figures in the balanced scoring attack. Jeff Washington led with 15, tiny but outstanding Guard Mike Luncy added 14, Jim Simpson came off the bench to hit six of eight field goal attempts for 12 points, Craig Lounsberry netted 11 and Bart Packard added 10.

Van Wagner, finally recovered from his holiday tournament injury, sank eight field goals on his way to a game high 20 points. Lee Snow came off the bench to play his best game since the tournament and netted 15 points, while Gary Boyer notched 14 markers, with eight of them coming from the free throw stripe.

Novi's junior varsity quintet put together its finest effort in whipping the little Roughriders. Their much improved game enabled them to gain revenge for an earlier loss and raise their season mark to 3-9.

Balanced scoring, the key to the Roughriders' varsity win, was also the reason for the Wildcats' JV triumph.

Five players scored all of Novi's points. Bob Vivian led with 13, Doug Schott hit 12, Doug Osborn and Tom Boyer each had 11 and Bob Pisha added nine markers. Tops for Ypsi were Jim Lounsberry with 15 points and Harry Smith with 14.

Schoolcraft Wins Swim Triangular

Schoolcraft made up for its first swimming loss of the season (last week to Henry Ford Junior College, 63-32) as Jack Washka's swimmers splashed away with a triangular triumph Saturday night at Windsor.

In defeating University of Windsor and Jackson Community College, Schoolcraft showed great depth and a strong team effort. The final score was Schoolcraft 92, Jackson 44 and Windsor 40.

Both 400 yard relay squads — the medley and the freestyle — came through with victories as did four individual swimmers who swept six events.

Big winners for Schoolcraft were Dane Trembath who won two 200 yard events — the individual medley and the breast stroke — and anchored the medley relay win and Craig Notebaert who took both the 1000 yard freestyle and the 200 yard back stroke. Bill Palmer was also impressive, aiding wins in both relay events and winning the 50-yard freestyle.

Gregg Arnold won the 100-yard freestyle and anchored the freestyle relay for another fine effort, while Bill Weier competed on both relay teams.

Little League Help Sought

Parental assistance for Novi's widely acclaimed Little League baseball program is being sought, officials revealed this week.

In an effort to generate some umpires and scorekeepers from the ranks of parents, a special meeting will be held next Thursday night at the Novi Community Building.

The 7:30 p.m. program, featuring a talk by Detective Sergeant Richard Faulkner, will be built around the theme, "Keep Kids Performing Healthy and Non-destructive Activities."

Stone's Undefeated

Northville is undefeated! It's true — in Plymouth Men's basketball competition, Northville's lone entry — Stone's Hardware — is undefeated in five games to date with nine left to play in the eight-team league.

The Northville entry in this Class B Men's League will come up against the Detroit House of Correction squad tonight.

Tim Loughman was the other swimmer on the medley squad.

U-M Football Film Scheduled

Exciting highlights of the University of Michigan's 1968 football season will top a meeting of the Northville Boosters Club next week Thursday.

A member of the Wolverine's coaching staff will be on hand to present the film and discuss the past season. Also present will be Northville's Jerry Imsland, a split-end starter on the U-M eleven last season.

Plans for upcoming events sponsored by the club, including the annual sports banquet, also will be disclosed at the 8 p.m. meeting at the high school.

But Northville Tops Barons

Redford Grapplers Win

After an easy 49-5 warmup triumph over Bloomfield Hills Andover Thursday, Northville's varsity wrestlers were flattened here Saturday in a quadrangular meet with three tough opponents.

Redford Union's powerful Class A squad walked away with Saturday's crown, compiling 96 points — 12 points better than runnerup, Royal Oak Kimball which garnered 84 points. Third was Flat Rock with 79, Northville had 50 and Whitmore Lake, with only one competitor, picked up nine points.

Only one regular showed for the Barons in Thursday's contest and he defeated Mark Griffin at 112 pounds. The results of this contest might have been different had not Griffin been weakened by a bout with the flu.

Andover forfeited to Jack Townsley's Mustangs at 95, 103 and 133 pounds as the semester break made it impossible for the Barons to muster a full squad. Winners for Northville were Ron Newby, Jim Armstrong, Brian Jones, Curt Olewnik, Randy Marburger, Bill Gregory, Pay Cayley, and Kim Marburger.

Randy Marburger copped Northville's lone win in Saturday's quadrangular — second five-team bill hosted by the Mustangs this season. Northville won the first quadrangular bout over four less formidable opponents.

In addition to Randy Marburger's decision over tough Wally Sisler of Flat Rock, Northville posted two seconds and three thirds. Runnersup were Griffin who lost a close decision to Ken Coker of Flat Rock at 103 pounds and Bill Kris who was pinned by rugged Bruce Hartrick of Royal Oak Kimball at 112.

Winning the consolation round, good for third place, were John Fialon who did a good job at 95 pounds, Newby at 120 and Jones at 138. In addition, the Mustangs forfeited the 133 pound class due to a leg injury to Olewnik.

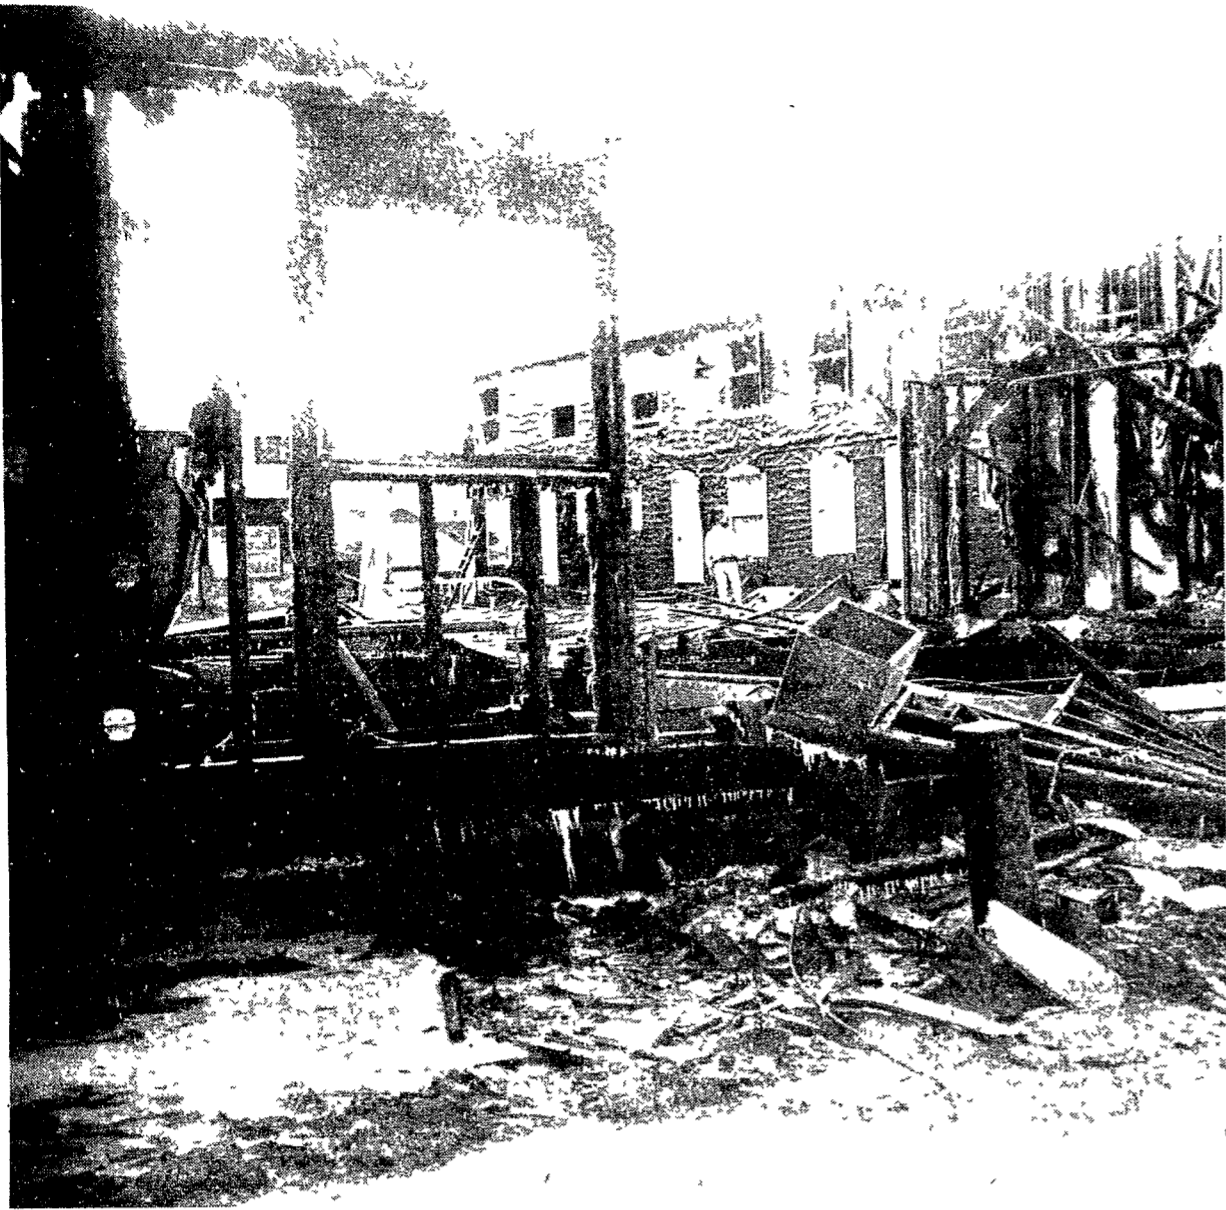

Union's Panthers won six firsts, snaring the 120, 127, 133, 145, 165 and heavyweight titles. Winners, respectively, were Bob Worley, Dan Henry, Lee Scott, Bob Fahey, Jim Kittle and Bob Qualls.

Flat Rock's Rams had the second highest total of firsts, with Jeff Bajen at 95, Coker at 103 and Dave Brown at 175 winning their matches. Kimball's Knights only won two matches, 112 pounds and 138 pounds, but clinched the second spot thanks to the greatest number of second place finishers in the tourney. Kimball's winners were Hartrick and Joel Parise

REF WATCHES MARBURGER APPLY HAMMERLOCK TO WIN

Facing icy wind and raging flames, more than 50 firemen battled the blaze that ripped through three unfinished buildings in Northville Township's King's Mill development Tuesday night. The buildings contained 21 townhouses.

Flames Rip Through 21 Townhouses Here

Whipped by icy winds, flames swept through three townhouse units under construction at King's Mill development Tuesday night causing more than $200,000 damage.

Fire fighters from four communities joined Northville's department in battling the blaze that threatened to devour adjacent occupied apartments less than 100 feet away.

The three units contained more than 20 apartments.

"All we could do was stop it from spreading to the other buildings," said Northville Fire Chief Herman Hartner. "It's a miracle the whole place didn't go up. Thank God for mutual aid (agreement between communities in which departments lend assistance to each other upon call).

"One building was already a goner by the time we got here," Hartner said as he plodded through the muddy debris.

Cause of the fire is undetermined. Firemen are baffled by the fact that flames had already eaten through much of the first unit before they were detected.

"It went up just like that," one of the King's Mills residents said, snapping his finger.

Vandalism hasn't been ruled out. Although none required medical treatment, several firemen suffered bruises in slipping on ice created by the tons of water poured on the flames. Some fell into holes in the darkness. Freezing water turned their slickers and boots into cakes of ice.

Residents of the closest occupied building were evacuated.

Stiff winds fanned the flames as they leaped to the second building more than 50 feet away and then to a third. Built in "L" shapes, the units are grouped together in the northeast section of the big development that stretches from Northville Road to Hines Drive, north of Seven Mile Road in Northville Township. More than a half-dozen other nearby units under construction were not damaged.

Each of the three units were in different stages of construction but all were framed in and two had been drywalled. Heating equipment had already been installed. Only major work remaining was the laying of exterior brick.

Tar paper covering the exterior walls added to the fire's fury.

The building in which the fire apparently originated was completely leveled, with only the basement walls left standing. Heat was so intense it twisted metal beams.

Most of the two other buildings hit by fire was reduced to blackened wreckage that will have to be removed before reconstruction can begin. Only part of one of the buildings was undamaged.

In an attempt to cap flames — visible for miles — with a blanket of water, the city of Plymouth's aerial ladder was moved into position between two of the burning buildings. Firemen from Plymouth Township, Salem, Garden City and the Detroit House of Correction battled flames with equipment from other positions.

Novi firemen stood ready at the Northville fire hall in case another fire call came in while Northville's 21 men, together with more than 40 firemen from other communities, battled the King's Mill fire.

Besides the aerial equipment, six pumps were at the scene.

Firemen were at the scene from the time the fire call came in at 8:15 p.m. until 1:30 a.m. Wednesday. Three remained throughout the night, as did one pumper, to keep watch for sparks that might erupt.

Some 30 of the 63 buildings slated in the development are occupied. The remaining buildings are under construction. Bert Smoker Company officials, developers of the project, said destruction represented a major setback in scheduling. They were unable Wednesday morning to accurately gauge the loss although they indicated that the $200,000-plus estimate is realistic.

Officials had hoped to complete the entire development this year. Whether or not this can be accomplished in the wake of Tuesday's disaster remains to be seen.

Gunman Robs Branch Bank

A gunman armed with a pistol held up the New Hudson branch of the South Lyon State Savings Bank Tuesday morning and escaped with an estimated $2,000.

It's the second armed robbery and fourth theft of the branch bank within the past three years. The bank is located on Grand River, just east of Pontiac Trail.

The gunman and an accomplice who waited outside in an idling car escaped the dragnet of Michigan State Police and other county and local police officers.

The robbers were described as two white males. They were driving a late model, white Mercury Monterey as they sped from the holdup scene, it was reported.

Mrs. Helen Meadows, branch manager, and teller Jim Topping, the only two persons present during the holdup, were forced to lie on the bank floor and were told not to get up until the robbers had made their escape.

Mrs. Meadows reported that the robbery happened so fast she was unable to trip the alarm, which would have summoned law enforcement officers. Police were hampered in their road blockade attempt because description of the car was sketchy.

State Police were notified at approximately 10:21 a.m. and immediately called for a road block of all major highways leading from the bank. The blockade was called off at 11:33 a.m. — about one hour later.

Mrs. Meadows said the man entered the bank and walked straight

Novi-Wixom District Court

January was the month that was — the troublesome organizational month — for Judge Martin Boyle's 51st District Court in Walled Lake.

Judge Boyle heard some 40 Novi and Wixom cases during the month. They include:

IN NOVI—
Frederick A. Luttman of 25653 Strathaven appeared on January 17 and demanded preliminary examination for which no date has yet been set. He was charged with driving away from Doice Ward's service station without paying for a tankfull of gas he received (in the amount of $7.98).

Oreste P. Orofino of Lincoln Park appeared on two charges on January 17. He was arrested on the seventh for improper passing and for driving on a revoked license. He paid a total fine of $60 and received a three-day sentence on the license charge which Judge Boyle suspended due to Orofino's advanced years.

Arrested for driving while his ability was impaired on January 21, Ronald A. MacInnis of Detroit appeared the same day and had a trial set for February 13.

Gilles Y. Lagace of Walled Lake appeared for speeding 45 MPH in the 30 MPH zone between I-96 and Grand River on Novi Road two weeks after his January 17 arrest. His fine totaled $28 when he was found guilty.

Billie White of Detroit was arrested for careless driving on June 23, 1968. Following a plea of innocent, trial was set for February 7 (tomorrow).

Edward J. Wedge of Grosse Pointe Woods, arrested on the same charge, was arraigned on January 27 and preliminary examination has been set for tomorrow.

Gerald E. Fulton, who was arrested on October 28, will be tried for assault and battery at a date not yet set. The resident of 49329 Pontiac Trail was arraigned on January 17 and released on $100 personal recognizance bond.

Supervisor Pursell

To Chair Rules

Carl Pursell, Republican supervisor on the Wayne County Board of supervisors representing Northville, Plymouth and Livonia, has been named chairman of the board Committee on Rules.

He was the only Republican (there are only two) to receive a chairmanship appointment by Board Chairman Albert Zak.

In addition, Pursell will serve on four other committees, including Ways and Means (all 26 supervisors sit on this committee); legislative; health, education and welfare, and law enforcement and public safety.

Little Action on Long Township Agenda

The Northville township board waded through a routine agenda bogged down by numerous items of correspondence Tuesday night.

Only board action taken was to place the part-time heating and plumbing inspector on salary, allocate $1,000 for purchase of a tractor unit from Civil Defense for hauling fire-fighting tanker equipment, approve sharing of some $2,700 in expenditures for fire equipment with the city, paying $200 annual SEMCOG dues and entering into a contract with the Wayne county road commission for three applications to control dust on township roads this summer.

The board decided to pay the plumbing and heating inspector a salary of $6,500 annually plus 10-cents per mile for car allowance. Currently, the inspector is paid on a fee basis and in January he collected some $1,400 in inspection fees. Treasurer Alex Lawrence voted against the salary maintaining a part-time job should be paid on an hourly basis.

The board became ensnarled in a long discussion over the consideration of a series of identical resolutions received from Grosse Pointe, Woodhaven, Lincoln Park and Van Buren and Plymouth townships.

The resolutions urged raising limitations on property valuations and salaries to permit more disabled veterans and senior citizens to come under tax exemption provisions.

By a 4-3 vote the board declined to join the communities in urging the state legislature to raise the exemption level.

Trustee Richard Mitchell strongly favored supporting the resolutions. "I hate to see people have to sell their houses because they can't pay their taxes," he stated. Mitchell said he thought senior citizens who had paid taxes for many years should be entitled to more relief.

Trustee Bernard Baldwin urged caution. "We've got working people raising families on less than $8,500 who are still paying for their homes and they're not entitled to exemptions," he stated. He said he didn't think the board had been given

"any demonstrated need to lobby for a change in exemptions."

Treasurer Lawrence and Trustee Joseph Straub voted with Mitchell in favor of the resolutions, while Trustee Thomas Armstrong and Clerk Eleanor Hammond joined Baldwin. Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg, who votes only in case of ties, opposed supporting the resolutions.

MANY FATHERS were among the 50 parents of Main Street Elementary School attending the PTA program last Thursday in which "The Role of the Father in the Family" was discussed by Dr. William H. Mills, University of Michigan Associate Professor in the school of education.

Stressing that fathers need to spend uninterrupted time with their youngsters, Dr. Mills said this can be a problem for fathers whose jobs take them out of town for extended periods. Another point: It is important for fathers to spend time with their daughters, as well as with sons. Week ends, he added, are good times to have family activities with children.

Mrs. Keith Wright, president of the Main Street PTA, commented that one of Dr. Mills' points called for parents to be aware why they act in certain ways: "You do with your children as your parents did with you," he warned.

basis of party control, second on the importance of their committee assignments, and finally on seniority. Seniority, of course, has a good deal to do with committee assignments.

Kuhn, now entering his third year in office, was recently moved from a "cubby hole" office to larger, more spacious quarters that double as the hearing room for the banking committee which the senator chairs.

Cognizant of the fact that he could one day become a member of the minority party, Kuhn sympathizes with those officials who must share office space.

"When I came here two years ago," he says, "I had to share an office with more than a dozen other senators."

But if Senator Kuhn thinks he had it tough, he ought to talk with his Democratic colleague on the House side, Representative Marvin Stempien of Livonia. "I was on the fourth floor the last time I was here," he points out, "but my wife pleaded with me not to take an office there this time. It's a fire-trap!"

Today, the newly-elected representative is housed in a tiny office on the third floor overlooking the House chambers and behind the gallery wall. Two people find it difficult passing each other in the hallway to his office.

"One of the first things I did when I arrived was to find the best route out in case of fire. The elevator's impossible, and running across the gallery would be suicide, so I'll probably race down to the end of the hallway and down the stairway to the ground floor."

Taking his guests to the gallery, he pointed out that when they are filled lawmakers can look up and watch the balcony sway. "And if you'd been here during last week's rainstorm you could have watched a steady stream of water falling from the ceiling."

The leaky roof, however, makes for some spectacular fireworks in the chambers. Water drips down into the chandeliers and the electric outlets and starts "sparking, hissing and sputtering like everything," says Democratic Senator Garland Lane of Flint.

If visitors decide to walk up instead of riding the single elevator to the third floor, they find themselves stumbling along darkened staircases.

Yet, for the thousands of visitors to the capitol, it is an imposing edifice. Few go beyond the central area of the building. They are confined to the centurms on the first three floors and here, as they look upward at the capitol dome, the view is breathtaking.

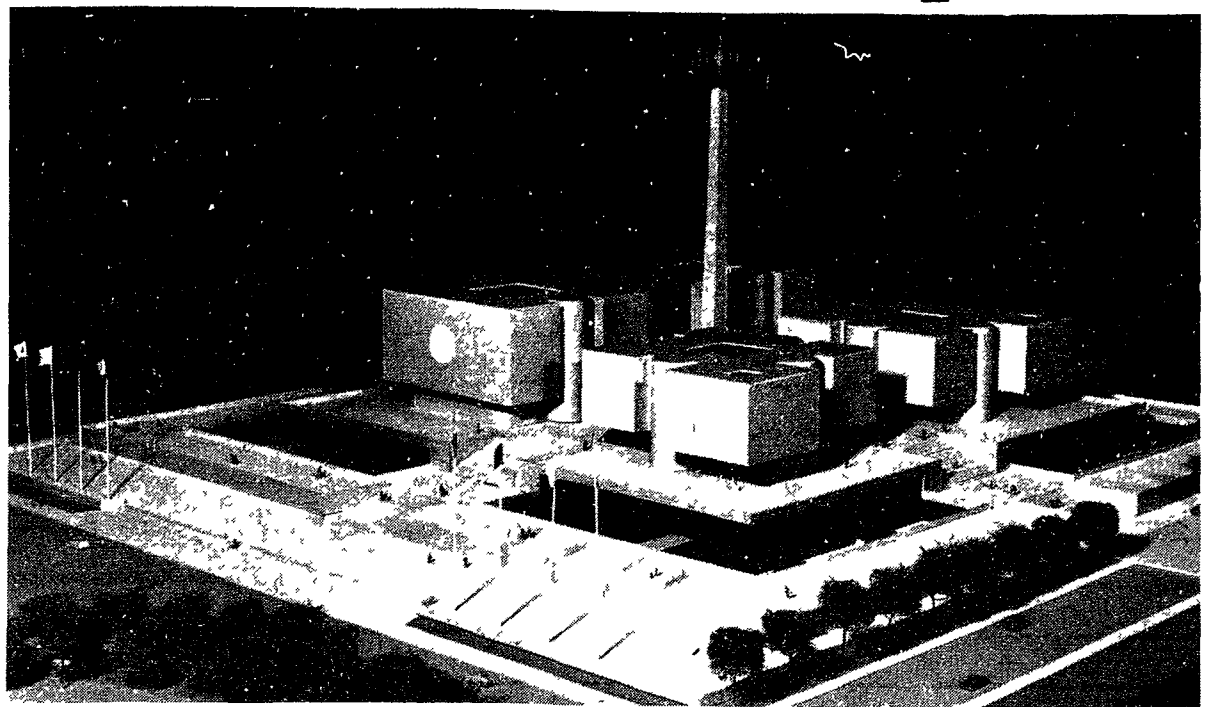

The dome area, however, is off limits — too dangerous, says the state fire marshal who two decades ago condemned the fourth floor. He ordered the metal type stored there removed. But over the years as space became more and more critical, first the secretaries ("they were lighter than the metal type," laughs Senator Lane) were moved to the condemned floor and, finally, the lawmakers themselves were moved there.

Today, some 40 representatives (all Republicans because they represent the minority party this session and a host of secretaries and bookkeepers share barracks-like office quarters on a fourth floor wing. As a matter of fact, legislators jokingly refer to the fourth floor either as the "barracks" or the "pigeon coop."

For the uninitiated stepping off the elevator, the fourth floor aisle to the legislators' open barracks area is a real challenge. The visitor must climb up and down two or three-step inclines, pass through secretarial work areas (each separated by a door to add privacy) and a number of offices.

One of those who occupies this floor is Representative Clifford Smart of Walled Lake. With plenty of seniority behind him, he was able to win a two-cubical space for himself along the outside wall. A cubical is about eight feet wide, separated by head-high temporary partitions.

"I worry about it (fire) a lot," says Smart. "It would be impossible trying to get out the door and down the stairway or elevator if a fire started."

NEW CAPITOL CONCEPT — A concept separating the three branches of state government in a single complex is suggested in this proposed model of a new capitol building unveiled at Lansing last week. While legislators' opinions ranged widely over the model, most of those involved with planning for the new building believe the three-in-one idea is both esthetic and functional. The model suggests a reinforced concrete superstructure and a polished granite skin, with the buildings rising from a podium, grouped around a beacon proclaiming the seat of state government.

OUR STATE CAPITOL.... BEAUTY OR BEAST?

Form Committees For College Drive

Organization of two working committees to take initial planning steps in a community fund raising campaign for the Schoolcraft College Arts Center has been announced by Philip Ogilvie, president of the Schoolcraft College Foundation.

Mrs. Eunice Switzer, Plymouth, and Robert Cadotte, Livonia, were named to a special publications committee with the immediate assignment of preparing an information pamphlet on the Center and the campaign.

Ogilvie also named a five-member committee to organize a speakers bureau which would help take the fund campaign to organizations, industries, businesses and individuals in the community.

Appointed to the committee were A. Russell Clarke, Northville; John Santeu Jr., Garden City; Kenneth Hulsing, Plymouth; Mrs. Switzer, and Cadotte.

At a meeting of the Foundation board at the college on January 23 trustees acknowledged a letter of thanks from Schoolcraft student Mrs. Illa Mae Boike, 22527 Kane, Detroit, for financial assistance she received from student aid funds raised by the Foundation in a campaign last year.

Three Hurt In Accidents

Three persons suffered minor injuries in three separate Northville accidents over the weekend.

On Saturday morning, Bobby Joe Warfield, 17, of Plymouth attempted to pass a car going up the hill on Eight Mile Road west of Taft Road and lost control of his car, hitting a tree on the north side of the road. He was taken to St. Mary Hospital where he was treated for a facial cut, X-rayed, and released.

Two South Lyon youths were lucky that they had guard rails to hit Saturday night. If not for the some 55 feet of guard rails they tore out on Rayson Street at Hutton Street, they might very well have gone into the stream at that point.

The driver, Kenneth L. Coleman, was uninjured, but his passenger, Michael C. Underwood, complained of head pains. Underwood refused medical attention, however.

Shortly after midnight Sunday night Raymond O. Williams of 46865 Stratford Court lost control of his car at 450 East Main and sheared off a light pole which came to rest on his car.

Detroit Edison was called in to shut off the power so Williams could be removed from his car and be taken to St. Mary for treatment of superficial facial cuts.

from the Pastor's Study

Rev. Fred Trachsel
Orchard Hills Baptist Church

I have been asked to serve on a Long Range Planning Committee for our denomination. Our purpose is to plan and prepare for 1973 through 1979. Our first such meeting was held last week. In preparation for this assignment I have availed myself of reading after those who are speaking to the 1970's. Allow me to share some of the findings from "THE NEW TIMES", by Albert McClellan. In his book Dr. McClellan takes a prophetic look at the challenge of the 1970's.

Since 1960 the average life span of man has almost doubled.

(Wouldn't it be wonderful if all persons would utilize this extension of time to live like Jesus?) In 1800 the world population stood at one billion people. A little over a century later the second billion was added. The rate of our present growth would indicate that by the year 2000 the world's population will stand at six billion. (Professor Roger Revelle of Harvard has said that he thinks the six billion will be reached by 1990, and that it will be twelve billion by 2020.)

In the 18th century about 96 per cent of the American people derived their living from the soil. Only about six per cent of the American labor force are employed on farms today. By the year 2000 it will be two per cent. At the present time the labor unions are very large and very wealthy. They have over sixteen million members and receive 433 million dollars in dues each year. The labor union will continue as a major influence on work in America.

It is estimated that cybernetics is already displacing 350,000 job opportunities each year. And so the foretaste of the 1970's is unfolded in Dr. McClellan's book. Other writers have said that television will continue to be the foremost medium of communication. New sizes from billfold sizes to wall screen size will be available by the late Seventies. Car phones will be as common as car radios. By phone one can control locks, windows, electric switches, etc. One can dial home and give the control a coded message which will turn up the heat, or turn off the oven.

But just think, the Seventies may never arrive! Some of you reading this article now will not be around when the 1970's make their debut. It is conceivably possible none of us will, for I believe strongly that the Return of Christ is imminent!

Man is living longer. More available knowledge insures a higher plane of education. Rapid strides in science along with plans for the future make for phenomenal reading. Man has more comforts and wealth. (And too often these 'things' dupe him into believing he is self-sufficient and does not need God. How crassly foolish! But with all of this we cannot hold back nor control God's Timetable. As Solomon the sage expressed it, "Man also knows not his time!" Jesus reminded his Disciples and us: "It is not for you to know the times or the seasons, which the Father hath put in His power."

The big question for each of us to answer is, Does God control my life? Joshua succinctly says it for us: "Choose you this day whom you will serve; as for me and my house we will serve the Lord!"

As someone has so aptly put it, 'Live as if Christ died yesterday, arose this morning and is coming back tomorrow!'

Wixom Plans Drug Program

Now that residents of Wixom are somewhat aware of the drug problem they face, a program to alert them to the total extent of the situation has been planned.

Narcotics and Intelligence Officer Roger DeClercq of the Wixom police has named Wixom Elementary School as the site of the high impact session on March 4 at 7:30 p.m.

Among the personnel lined up by DeClercq for the evening are narcotics officers of Michigan State Police, a pharmacist, Reverend Robert Warren of Wixom Baptist Church and Wixom Chief of Police D'Arcy Young. More details of the program will be announced later.

A Blue Star Home could be your blue heaven.

How come? Gas makes the big difference.

Better heating. Better cooling. Better cooking. Better clothes drying. Better water heating. Everything runs better in a Blue Star Gas Home because everything runs on gas. Dependable, modern gas. Clean, economical gas. Gas that saves you work, worry and money now and for years to come. That's your blue heaven.

SHRINE GUESTS — Once again as so often in the past, Shriner Albert Hackett of 40141 Eight Mile supplied the tickets and the Board of Education furnished the transportation as about 135 service girls from Northville's three elementary schools took in the Shrine Circus in Detroit. Shown boarding the bus Friday for the trip were the final contingent — the girls from Main Street Elementary — on a day so beautiful it must have been planned specifically for the occasion.

Northville District Court

A hectic first month for Judge Dunbar Davis — and his secretaries — has ended in District Court and the following dispositions in cases from this area were made:

Timothy S. Morrissy of Garder City, arrested on a warrant by Northville police on January 9, appeared January 21 on a charge of failure to display front license plates. The arrest was made on November 6. Morrissy paid a $5 fine, $5 court costs and the standard $3 judgment fee.

Each offender fined in District Court is assessed the judgment fee.

Catherine Pawlowski of 869 Horton Street paid $25 court costs and received a suspended fine for failure to yield right-of-way causing a three-car property damage accident on January 20 at Eight Mile and Horton.

Four days in Detroit House of Correction and a $50 fine were meted out to Phillip R. Coats of Livonia on January 22 when he was arrested for driving on a revoked license.

Fine and costs were suspended, but Robert T. Louis of Walled Lake spent five days in the Detroit House of Correction when the court found him guilty January 28 of obstructing traffic and causing a traffic hazard (he had parked his car crosswise of the intersection at Center and Dunlap, directly under the light) in the early morning of January 25.

Arrested on a traffic warrant from Northville by Livonia police January 25, Romaine A. Stubben of Plymouth appeared before Judge Davis three days later on two counts of defective exhaust (charged on October 31 and again on November 9). She paid a $35 fine and $5 costs in addition to two judgment fees ($6 total).

John T. Maguire of 43757 Park Road was issued a warrant for scattering refuse on January 8. He pleaded guilty at arraignment on the 14th and was fined $35.

Failure to stop in an assured clear distance on January 17 cost Donald M. Avery of South Lyon $35 and $10 costs when he pleaded guilty to the charge four days later in District Court.

Mary Sluder of 416 North Center Street paid $5 costs and received a suspended fine of $15 for failure to clear trash cans. The charge was made on January 15 and disposition came on January 21.

Kenneth P. Boor of 20297 Woodhill, who pleaded innocent on January 21 to driving 40 MPH in a 25 MPH zone on January 13 was found guilty at his trial on January 28 and fined $20 and $5 costs.

Elaine B. Adam of Plymouth pleaded guilty January 28 to uttering and publishing a number of no account checks and paid a fine of $45.

Paying $35 in lieu of four days in jail was Robert C. Nowland who pleaded guilty on January 2 to driving on an expired operator's license. The offense occurred on November 26.

Waiter S. Wenders of Milford disregarded a traffic signal on December 9 and paid a $12 fine one month later.

Walter E. Fox of 46102 Sunset was found guilty on January 9 of having driven while his ability was impaired on December 22. He paid $100.

Pleading guilty to having been a minor in possession of beer on December 27 was Howard N. Dicks Jr. of Plymouth. He paid a $35 fine and $3.50 costs in lieu of 10 days in jail at his appearance on January 9. He was also given six months probation.

Two men were assessed $100 each on January 9 after they were found guilty of driving while ability impaired. Both had had pleas of innocent entered for them upon arraignment. Raymond E. Hughes' offense occurred on December 22 while Freddie L. Sparkman of Westland was arrested on December 16. Hughes is from Walled Lake.

Two other men were fined for driving while ability was impaired during the month as well. Another Westland man, Joseph E. Bellanger, paid $100 on January 21 and Donald M. Rayle of Farmington was assessed $150 on the same day.

Sentencing Slated Today

Sentencing of William W. Curtner, 17, of Northville is to come today based on the recommendations of the Oakland County Probation Department.

Curtner, arrested in December for possession and sale of narcotics and possession of an illegal knife in the Northville drug case, pleaded guilty last Thursday in Oakland County Circuit Court, Judge James S. Thorburn presiding, to the lesser charge of possession of marijuana.

Judge Thorburn asked probation pre-sentence investigation prior to sentencing after he had denied a defense motion to place Curtner under the Homes Act (a county probationary setup for teens).

Maximum sentence for possession is five years imprisonment.

His time was the fine paid by Jimmie R. Henson of Plymouth for driving with a suspended license. He pleaded innocent upon arraignment December 27 to the offense of December 14. Judge Davis ordered him to spend two weekends in Detroit House of Correction when found guilty.

When Phillip W. Bennett of Berkley tried to renew his driver's license upon returning home from Vietnam, he found he could not do so until he paid a fine for no valid operator's license from an offense which occurred on October 26, 1966. He was fined $15 on November 21, but had neglected to pay it. When he did pay on January 16, he had the added judgment fee tacked on.

Lawrence A. David of Plymouth stood mute when arraigned December 19 on the charge of no operator's license on his person (charged November 29). Found guilty on January 21, David was sentenced to three days in Detroit House of Correction and paid a fine of $25.

Tom Short of Livonia was ordered to pay a $35 fine and $15 court costs or spend 10 days in jail for assault and battery on December 10. He had entered a plea of innocent on January 9, but was found guilty on January 28.

Also pleading innocent at arraignment was Sammy R. Smith of Plymouth on December 19. Charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors on December 7, he was found guilty on January 28 and fined $75 and $5 costs or 15 days.

An Ypsilanti State Police matter was transferred to Northville District Court for hearing on January 28. Arrested on October 5, 1967 for speeding 80 MPH in a 50 MPH zone, Duane R. Axtel of Ypsilanti (now of Lincoln Park) pleaded guilty before Judge Davis and was fined for speeding and for no operator's license in the amount of $40 and $70 court costs, along with two $3 judgement fees. He will serve 20 days in jail if he fails to pay fines and costs.

In Northville During 1968

Drink: Biggest Arrest Factor

Drinking caused more arrests by Northville police in 1968 than any other single factor.

Of the 578 adults (over the age of 17) arrested by Northville, 165 were charged with being disorderly in connection with being drunk, while 75 others were arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol (11 of these were reduced to driving while ability was impaired) and 71 were charged with being minors in possession (eight more under this age group also were arrested for this offense) of alcoholic beverages.

The total of 578 arrests was up from last year's figure of 411 and eclipsed 1966's 177 total.

Other arrests which occurred more than ten times in the year included miscellaneous traffic (53), arrests for other departments and disorderly conduct (32 each), no operator's licenses (15), assault and battery (14) and contributing to the delinquency of a minor or minors (11).

Of the above-mentioned nine offenses, all but three (disorderly-drunk, minors in possession and disorderly person) were up significantly from 1967.

Juvenile arrests in 1968 included 15 each in two areas — shop-lifting and simple larceny and violation of curfew. While the curfew violations were all in the 14-16 age group (12 boys, three girls), the other offense had ages varying from 8 to 16 with one of the four girls charged being the youngest shoplifter whereas the youngest boy picked up on that charge was 10.

Some of the other offenses for which juveniles were arrested included disorderly person (11 — of which seven boys were charged with being drunk, three with disorderly conduct and one with fighting), nine traffic violations (all 14-16 year old males, seven of them were charged with no operator's license), seven 16-year old boys and one 16-year old girl with minor in possession, and eight with unlawfully driving away an auto (six boys and two girls all 14-16).

Three juveniles were charged with glue sniffing, while three boys and two girls were accused of vandalism (ages here ranged from 12 to 16) and five boys were arrested for breaking and entering among some of the other offenses committed.

Northville police handled a number of other complaints with either a significant difference in comparison with past years or with an apparent similarity to the past to be note-worthy.

Police received 6,483 calls, 5,932 of them within the city, during 1968. This compares with 5,312 of 6,112 total calls in 1967.

They watched open doors (and windows) more closely in the business district than in the past. As a result, more proprietors were called on to secure their buildings, but far fewer breaking and enterings were charged (four in 1968, 14 the previous year). Attempted enterings and breaking into homes increased from 1967 however.

Another area of significant change was noted in escapees and missing persons — missing persons and recovered missed persons were about double the 1967 totals while escapees and recovered escapees were cut more than in half.

Major crimes — murder, manslaughter, felonious assault, aggravated assault, accosting, rape, armed robbery — were almost non-existent. However, the total of 12 (in all, felonious assault led with five) was more than double the 1967 total of five. The major problem area in this respect in 1967 — armed robbery — was reduced from four to zero this year.

Vandalism in Northville continued to show its moderate downward trend as 98 arrests were made in 1968 compared to 99 in 1967, 99 in 1966 and 125 in 1965.

Timely Income Tax Filing Tips

Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of articles prepared by the Michigan Association of CPAs on money-saving tax "tips" in the preparation of the 1968 Federal Individual Income Tax Return.

Did the rains last spring cause your cellar to flood and ruin the new playroom?

Was your wife's handbag and its contents, including $142 in cash, stolen while she was Christmas-shopping last December?

Damages to personal property by storms, floods, fires and other natural acts are known as casualty losses, as are losses due to theft. Damage to your auto is also considered a casualty loss unless the accident was caused by your own willful negligence.

On income tax returns due on or before April 15, you can deduct personal casualty losses and losses due to theft in excess of $100 which are not covered by insurance, according to C. A. Norton, president of the Michigan Association of CPAs.

Only the owner of the damaged or stolen property can claim the deduction. In the case of the stolen purse, you cannot claim the deduction in the event your wife files a separate return. In addition, you should also be able to prove that you actually suffered the loss (reported it to the police, for example) and be able to establish the amount of the loss (fair market value, cost of repairs, etc.).

Casualty and theft losses to business property which are not covered by insurance are deductible without regard to the $100 limitation.

A bad debt must be claimed in the tax year it becomes worthless. Gifts cannot be claimed as bad debts. Neither can loans to children, as the Internal Revenue Service says they must be considered gifts.

Non-business bad debts are deductible as short-term capital losses and should be reported in Schedule D and offset against short-term capital gains. These in turn are subject to the limitations on deductions for capital losses.

In the event a non-business bad debt is the only item reported in Schedule D, it can be deducted from reported income to a limit of $1,000. If it is more than $1,000, the excess can be carried over as a short-term loss on next year's return and the year following, if necessary, until it has been deducted in full.

You can deduct most state and local taxes when you itemize your deductions. This includes payments withheld from wages for state or local income taxes, as well as payments made on estimated state and local income taxes during 1968.

State and local gasoline taxes can be deducted, as well as personal property and general sales taxes.

SPEAKING

for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Northville's city council has taken the leadership in an area where many elected bodies, particularly in smaller communities, might fear to tread.

Indeed, by announcing that it intends to hire a "development coordinator" to help bring new business to the commercial area the council is taking the initiative that would be easier left to private interests.

It became obvious that a void existed where the work of the Northville Area Economic Development Committee ended.

This non-profit, volunteer group has made giant strides in helping local industry expand and in seeking out sites for prospective industrial and commercial enterprises.

Together with the city the economic development committee has acquired several lots within the central business district that should be attractive to prospective retailers.

But no one has had the time, and the professional know-how, to go out and sell Northville to desirable and urgently needed retail businesses.

At this point it is not known whether the position of "development coordinator" will be a part or fulltime post. But looking into the future it has been suggested that such a person could also direct his energies towards the attraction of industry to the area.

At the outset, however, the council hopes that definite success can be shown in helping to boost the community's commercial district to meet the needs of the fast-growing population.

The action should be lauded and supported by the Chamber of Commerce, Jaycees, Economic Development Committee, Board of Education, Retail Merchants, Township Board and the shoppers-at-large.

The results of a successful effort will mean more business for all retailers, a greater variety for shoppers and more tax base for the city and school district.

*****

"Business district" signs for Eight Mile Road at North Center have been ordered since it has been pointed out that there's no indication of the direction to Northville for east or westbound motorists on Eight Mile.

*****

Stop signs at West Main and Rogers, now a four-way stop, will soon be removed. Main street will become a through-street. It will take a little "getting use to" by motorists accustomed to stopping... so watch out for rear-end collisions.

*****

Odds seem to favor passage of the Novi City Charter February 18 thus changing the state's largest village into a full-fledged city.

If so, what happens to the five 'splinters' of township (as in Brookland Farms) left unincorporated?

"Quit grumbling," she said, rolling her hair up into one of those barb wire nets, "You brought it on yourself with all those nasty headlines."

Lunching on her words, I had to agree: his name has been a boon to the headline writer. After years of struggling to fit names like 'Nguyen Van Thieu' into a 12-count headline along comes a name like 'Zak' — a moniker that sort of drips off the tongue to fall easily into place on a line of type. And it's a name that doesn't require newsroom surgery like LBJ or JFK.

It's a ready-made proper noun that with just a little journalistic liberty a writer could easily turn into a working verb. Certainly screenwriters for Batman could find a place for it. So why blame headline writers who proclaim, 'Zak Sacks Wayne.' Or better yet, 'Zak Zaps Voters.'

Not since the A-bomb has a name made such a hit.

"It's terrible," I said, trying to restrain myself. "The gall of the guy! Flaunting public opinion and the power of the press. Imagine! He ramrodded it through despite all that opposition."

"See! There you go again," she admonished. "You reporters are all alike. No fact."

"How's that?"

"Can't you see it? Despite all the opposition from the press Mr. Zak succeeded. If you reporters hadn't picked on him he probably would have settled for less. But you had to round up all your vindictive words, put up all those obstacles, and challenge both him and the public. What else could he do? All the power of the press couldn't stop him. You turned a Walter Mitty into an honest to goodness hero."

I chewed on that for awhile and it didn't taste very good. The 'power of the press' defused? And by a balding Zak at that? Never!

"He may have won the first battle," I argued, "but can he stand the heat of what's to come?"

"Not alone," she answered. "But Mr. Zak won't be alone. People like the underdog —

Urges Parents to Set An Example

To the Editor:

This letter is directed to Carl Taylor and Jim Corcoran and also to fellow parents.

First of all, we would like to express our grateful appreciation for your efforts in exposing the usage of drugs in our school. It took a great deal of courage to do this — especially with some of your own classmates involved. Quoting from a letter in a recent editorial page, "this is an escape, just like the older generation has in its 'liquor.'" This statement is true; but why should life be so empty and meaningless that people feel they must find a way of escape through drugs, alcohol and numerous other filthy habits?

Parents, what kind of an example are we setting for our children? Do we really want them to follow in our footsteps? For some of us I say — God forbid!!

In our beautiful country of plenty, we too often strive to give our children every material gift available — forgetting the most valuable gifts of all — love and understanding. We, must first have these qualities within ourselves before we can pass them on to someone else. How can we obtain these precious gifts? The answer is found in God's Word, Matthew chapter 6: verse 33. "But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

Parents, let's unite our hearts in prayer and ask God to give us wisdom each day in guarding our most priceless possession — our children.

Sincerely,
Carole Loy

To the Editor:

Reaction to Ann L. Altman who says, "As a parent, I do not care to have my children in school with anyone who is as uninterested in school work and must prove themselves at a trial," and "The justice I speak of in our society today is to protect us from any youngster who violates."

These two ideas contain great danger for the existence of a free society. It is indeed a very sad commentary when free people feel accused persons "must prove themselves at a trial." The 'proving' lies with the accuser; otherwise, this will cease to be a society of free people. This is not a fine point, this is the whole matter — the essence of justice is the protection of the individual to the end that before penalties are handed down the accused be proved guilty beyond doubt. No less can be accepted by free men

Further, justice is not a one-sided affair — simply removing the 'taunted' from society. When guilt is clearly determined it is necessary that the action taken against the guilty be just and serve not only the rest of society in a narrow sense but serve the penalized as well. Justice, in its essence, is humane, not vengeful.

'Keep An Open Mind'

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper welcomes letters to the editor. We ask that they be received at this office by Monday noon for publication the same week and that they be limited to 500 words. All letters must contain the signature of the writer, but names will be withheld on request. This newspaper reserves the right to edit letters for brevity and to avoid profanity or libelous statements.

To the Editor:

With all due respect to Mrs. Ann L. Altman in reply to her January 30th letter. I would like to point out, one important aspect which Mrs. Altman seemed to have overlooked.

I think the old cliché, "put yourself in someone else's shoes," applies very definitely to this situation. If your children are not now teenagers, they will be later on. How would you feel if your child was expelled from school or name scandalized in the local newspaper for drugs, possession of alcohol, etc.? Knowing full well, that your son or daughter was innocent of the charge, and that the townspeople would read the paper, and jump to conclusions like you have. Aren't these children at the mercy of the press?

We must keep an open mind and by all means learn "the whole truth and nothing but the truth" before passing judgment on an individual (lest we be judged).

particularly if he's placed there by the press. They'll rally behind him just to spite you so-called guardians of justice. Take the mayor of Dearborn... What's his name... for example. There's a man who has weathered everything you've tossed at him and he's stronger than ever."

As much as I hated to admit it, she had a point. Dearborn does love Orv, and Alabama its George and France its Charlie.

"Do you mean...?"

"Precisely. Now if the press were smart," she explained, "they'd write nice things about Mr. Zak. They'd tell the people how he pulled himself up from the streets and battled his way to the top. And they'd point out that no salary is big enough for a man of his caliber. They'd support him in their editorials every day."

"Pretty soon the people would get tired of it. Then they'd get suspicious; nobody can be that good. They'd begin to wonder if he's buying reporters. And then, just when the press thinks Mr.

Zak can't lose, he'll go down to defeat."

"Reverse psychology, eh? The old 'tell 'em what he ain't' trick? Like, 'Zak's great, Zak's great, Zak's great'."

"Something like that — only you've got to put some feeling into it. You've got to believe your own words."

After thinking on it awhile, I started getting the feel of things. "You know," I said, "Mr. Zak really is a self-made man — an enterprising fellow who has climbed the ladder of success in just one year... from an $8,000 salary to a $25,000 pot of gold."

"Beautiful! Beautiful!" she shouted.

"I think I've got it! I think I've got it! I mean I really admire the man."

"After all, anyone who can come out of Hamtramck with a three-letter name has got to be self-made. Besides, you've got to hand it to him... not even Detroit's distinguished publisher-councilman, Wierzbicki, has a salary longer than his name."

Governor's First Budget Up for Scrutiny

LANSING—Michigan's legislative leaders promise close scrutiny of new Gov. William Milliken's first executive budget of $1,510,600,000.

"We'll give it item-by-item examination," said Chairman Charles O. Zollar of the Senate Appropriations Committee. "It is one of the most important spending plans in state history."

Milliken, who assumed the often crushing responsibilities of the Governor's office four hours after sending the budget to the Legislature, said the vast fiscal blueprint could be responsibly financed without new or expanded taxation.

The budget was balanced, at least on paper, and it contained the smallest fiscal year-to-fiscal year rise in expenditures, 11 per cent, in five years.

Coupled with federal funds and restricted state monies derived from highway user taxes and other special levies, it would push overall state spending beyond $3 billion.

It is keyed to a $70.3 million surplus, a $77.7 million growth in state revenues and continued economic prosperity for all income groups.

Specifically, the increase in spending over the current fiscal year is $150 million. The budget calls for cuts in some traditional programs but leaves room for increases in others.

Public education costs, up $96.5 million from the current fiscal year, would comprise more than half the total outlay. Social services and mental health account for 28.7 per cent and $432.9 million.

MOST NOTEWORTHY new programs are $5 million to start construction of a new State Capitol, $1.5 million for a state-supported community school project and $1.1 million for slum-area job training.

"This is not a year for standing still, or for retrenchment," said Milliken. "Nor is it a year for massive new spending."

On the receipts side of the ledger, Milliken's budget is based on $558.7 million flowing forth from the state personal-corporate income tax, $368.2 million from the sales-use tax, and $596.5 million from all other revenue sources.

The new budget makes no provision for tax aid to Michigan's 1,000 parochial schools. Milliken said the Legislature must find new revenue sources if it enacts such a program.

The budget covers the 12 months beginning July 1. The figures and programs finally agreed upon will be the result of negotiations between a Democratic-controlled House and a Republican-dominated Senate.

Already the lines for a stormy appropriations battle have been drawn — with Republicans announcing stout opposition to new spending and Democrats mapping plans for higher outlays.

WHEN MILLIKEN stepped forward to take the oath of office, he became only the fifth lieutenant governor in Michigan history to ascend to the governorship through a non-elective route.

As the new leader of the state's nearly nine million citizens, he will be in charge of vast, complex, confusing government machinery — one which brings both misery and glory.

His stewardship ends two years hence, unless he decides to seek and win outright election to the office in 1970. Some observers say his candidacy is a certainty — but they're not predicting the election outcome yet.

In a sentimental letter of resignation, Romney said his six years in office was a "privilege and valued opportunity. I leave... secure in the knowledge that much has been accomplished... and with full confidence that a solid base has been established for continued public interest government."

THE MID-TERM "change of the guard" has a number of interesting facets.

There will be no lieutenant governor until a new one elected in 1970 takes over Jan. 1, 1971. The constitution makes no provision for filling such a vacancy.

And while Republicans will retain control of the executive office, they actually lose some strength in the State Senate, as Milliken had the power as presiding officer of the body to cast a vote in event of a tie.

He lost that right when he became Governor.

All Area Communities Fall Short of Standard For Providing Parks

Area communities, like the vast majority of those in the metropolitan area, do not provide adequate recreational lands for their residents.

That's the conclusion of a study recently completed by the planning division of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SMCOG).

Several area communities, the study shows, provide absolutely no park areas. However, the study somehow overlooked a large park provided by the Township of Novi adjacent to Walled Lake and it does not include the recent acquisition by the city of Northville of the old fish hatchery property on Seven Mile Road.

The study shows that only 15 of the 210 local units of government in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Monroe, Washtenaw and St. Clair Counties have attained the standard of 10 acres of recreational land for each one thousand people.

On the basis of this population, none of the area communities within the circulation of this newspaper meet the recommended standard.

Of the 24 communities in the metropolitan area with a 1967 population from 25,000 to 50,000, Birmingham with 11.7 acres per thousand was the only one to meet the standard.

The report concludes: "The urgent need is for all levels of governmental jurisdiction to acquire and develop the needed additional park lands now! The time to acquire is today!... This is the best way to insure adequate parks and recreational lands for our citizens of the future."

Following is the status of local communities in furnishing parks for their residents as shown in the SMCOG study:

City of Northville — (not including recent fish hatchery property acquisition) no developed park land, 1-acre of developed park land for .2 acre per 1,000 population.

Township of Northville — No developed or undeveloped park land.

Novi — (not including the Walled Lake park operated by the township for many years) no developed or undeveloped park land.

Walled Lake — two acres of developed land, 11 acres of undeveloped land for a 3.1 average.

Wixom — 6.5 acres of developed land, no undeveloped land for a 3.5 average.

South Lyon — 12 acres of developed land, no undeveloped land for a 6.1 average.

Lyon Township — no developed or undeveloped park land.

Northfield Township — six acres of developed land, no undeveloped land for a 1.6 average.

Salem Township — no developed or undeveloped park land.

City of Plymouth — six acres of developed land, six acres of undeveloped land for a 1.0 average.

Township of Plymouth — two acres of developed land, no undeveloped land for a .1 average.

City of Farmington — 20 acres of developed land, 10 acres of undeveloped land for a 3.1 average.

Township of Farmington — no developed land, five acres of undeveloped land for a .1 average.

Stempien Gets Top Committee Appointment

State Representative Marvin Stempien, former Northville city attorney, has been named a member of the House's powerful Appropriations Committee.

Because it is considered the most important committee, dealing with finances for all areas of government, its members cannot serve on other committees.

Stempien, a Democrat from Livonia whose district includes the Wayne County portion of Northville, defeated Louis Schmidt, former Republican representative from this district, in last November's election.

(Schmidt, incidentally, still serves in a governmental capacity. He has been named administrative assistant to the state treasurer by Michigan's Treasurer, Allison Green.)

Republican Representative Clifford Smart, whose district includes the Oakland County portion of Northville, Novi, Walled Lake and Wixom, remains on the House Education Committee. But because GOP legislators lost control of the House in the November election, Smart also lost his chairmanship of the education committee.

Smart also has been named to the Conservation and Recreation Committee.

Rotary Film Explores the Unexplored

Some of the "greatest unexplored area left in North America" will be shown in the next Rotary-sponsored travelogue, "The Canadian Far West," by Don Cooper at 8 p.m. Thursday, February 13, in Northville High School auditorium.

Based on the efforts of Alexander Mackenzie to establish a route to the Pacific Ocean, the film takes viewers with Cooper over the portion of the Mackenzie trip from the western prairies to the sea.

Mackenzie, the first man to cross the continent north of Mexico, traversed such a wild and hazardous route that it was never used. However, it gave Canada its first valid claim to the West Coast and was of great importance in the subsequent boundary negotiations between the United States and Canada.

Speaker Cooper himself has an adventure-filled background. Son of the late George R. Cooper, senator of Montana, he was born and raised in the logging camps of Western Montana. He and his brother, Dennis, "logged" for ten years in Alaska before exploring the wilds of Canada.

"Many people are surprised," he reports, "to find that agriculture is wide-spread in the rolling prairies of Alberta where sugar beets and large fields of wheat are grown and cattle are raised."

In Alberta, Rotary "travelers" will view Edmonton, the capitol and site of the University of Alberta. Close by is the Indian village of Wetaskiwin where tribal dances are photographed.

Mackenzie's route carried him through much of what now is Jasper National Park. Here Mackenzie made his famous "wrong turn." Cooper points out, choosing the wrong river which led him, not to the Pacific Ocean, but to the Arctic Sea.

Tickets for the fourth program in the current travel series of six lectures are available from any Northville Rotary club member, Robert Webber, project chairman, announces, or they may be purchased at the door. The series is $6 with ticket holders permitted to use as many admissions each time as they wish. Individual tickets are $1.50 for adults. Students are 50 cents.

More of Same in Novi

Two very different police schools have been attended by two members of the Novi Police Department.

Dispatcher Ann Marchewitz (husband Raymond is with the Farmington Township department) spent all of last week at the Auburn Hills campus of Oakland Community College attending a police traffic records course.

Conducted by two professors of Northwestern University's Traffic Institute, the course was attended by police officers and chiefs of police of nearly all Oakland County police forces.

Attending from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. all five days and working the night shift was not easy, but says Mrs. Marchewitz the program was so "thoroughly worthwhile and informative that she 'didn't mind at all.' She received a certificate of completion.

Detective Sergeant Richard Faulkner has just completed a fingerprinting classification school conducted by Special Agent David C. Nesbitt of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

This course met from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday and Wednesday for a three-week period, terminating yesterday. Held at the new court house on Telegraph Road in Pontiac, the course enabled print experts of the various departments in the county to learn valuable classification techniques.
