5 Seek 2 Seats Monday

Close Race Seen In City Election

As campaigning zeroes in on the Northville city election Monday, five candidates are seeking two positions on the council while Mayor A. M. Allen runs unopposed for re-election.

Polls in the city's three precincts will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. Results of the election will be available at The Record by calling FI 9-1700 as soon as election figures have been tabulated.

Of the five council candidates only Delbert Black, completing a four-year term, is an incumbent for re-election. The other council seat is now held by Councilwoman Mrs. Beatrice Carlson, who decided not to seek re-election.

Other council candidates are William Bingley, Paul Folino, Kenneth Rathert and Paul Vernon.

Observers predict a close race because of the intense campaigning by all five of the council candidates.

According to City Clerk Mrs. Martha Milne, a total of 2,635 persons are registered to vote in the election. In the last city election two years ago, only 35-percent or 870 of the 2,468 registered voters cast ballots in electing two councilmen — Charles Lapham and Wallace Nichols — and re-electing Mayor Allen.

The two councilmen elected Monday will serve four-year terms, joining Lapham, Nichols and Allen on the council. The mayor's term is for two years.

All of the candidates are active civic participants; one is an incumbent of an elected post, three others hold appointive positions with city boards, and another was a council candidate two years ago.

Thirty-five year old Bingley, a member of the Northville Zoning Board of Appeals, has served as both secretary and vice-chairman of that board, and has been a Jaycee project chairman. A Northville High School graduate, he is employed by the Detroit Edison Company and lives at 1039 Allen Drive.

Black, 37, owner and manager of Del's Shoe Store here, won election in 1965 along with Mrs. Carlson, who led all candidates in gaining re-election. Since then he has served on a number of council committees and is presently chairman of the city-township recreation committee and of the city-township unification committee. He lives at 896 Carpenter Street.

A close third in the race for two council seats two years ago, 40-year-old Folino is a native of Northville and a member of numerous local organizations. In the 1967 council race he polled 311 votes, easily out-distancing three other council losers. An agent for the local State Farm Insurance office, he is actively involved with beautification projects in the city. He lives at 210 South Center Street.

Rathert, 47, who lives at 450 Maplewood, is a member of the Northville Board of Review. He operates the Northville Insurance Agency and is chairman of St. Paul's Lutheran Church as well as being active in several local organizations. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan.

A member of the Northville Board of Appeals since 1967, 47-year-old Vernon is an executive with the American Motors Corporation. Active in the Village Green subdivision citizens organization, he lives at 1080 Allen Drive. He also is a member of the recently organized school VIP Committee — a liaison group between the board of education and citizens.

Of all the candidates none has had more municipal experience than the unopposed mayor. Fifty-four year old Allen has been mayor since 1958, and was a village and city councilman for 10 previous years. He owns and operates Allen Monument Works at 580 South Main Street.

Qualified electors of precinct one vote in the council chambers on the main level of the city hall; precinct two votes on the lower level of city hall; and precinct three (Oakland County) votes in the multi-purpose room of American Elementary School.

Citizens Block Police Pay Plan

Riddle: when do two votes equal four votes?

Answer: when the two voters have audience support and when the voters involved face public evaluation at an annual meeting within the week.

Tuesday night Northville township board members chose sides on the matter of increasing police protection and two trustees miraculously managed to stand-off four of their fellow board members and win a motion for further study and consideration.

Trustees Thomas Armstrong and Bernard Baldwin stood alone on the board in opposing the employment on a full-time, 40-hours-per-week basis of Officer Ron Nisun. They urged the board to table the matter until other possibilities of providing added township police protection could be investigated.

Levitt Rezoning OK'd

Almost lost in the shuffle of the board's argument over police protection for Northville township was the approval Tuesday night of rezoning some 400 acres between Seven and Eight Mile roads so that Levitt and Sons can undertake a $34,000,000 residential development project.

The rezoning, recommended by the planning commission, passed with a minimum of discussion.

A Levitt spokesman said the conversion of the gravel mining-asphalt plant area into a lake-front community of 900 townhouses, 400 apartment units and 325 single-family dwellings would begin this year.

First activity will begin in the single-family dwelling area near Eight Mile road. Earth moving and grading is slated to start in October or November with the first models ready by late spring, 1970. The spokesman said he hoped 100 units would be completed in 1970 and the entire project completed within five or six years.

Annual Meeting Saturday

A tradition that's as old as democratic government, but slowly becoming more of a rarity, will be repeated this Saturday afternoon at the Northville township hall.

It's the annual township meeting, the one time that the voter can exercise on-the-spot authority over his elected officials.

At the annual meeting the Northville township board must win approval of its budget for the coming year. Voters can change, add to, or delete proposed expenditures. Among these, of course, are the salaries for board members and officers.

There are other routine matters to be considered at the annual meeting, such as board meeting nights and the depository for township funds, but the main item of business is the budget.

For 1969-70 the Northville board is proposing a budget with expenditures of $164,220. Last year the budget was estimated at $125,490, but actual expenditures were $138,259.30.

Among the increases proposed in the new budget are salary hikes for the supervisor, clerk, treasurer and deputy clerk; a provision for an expenditure of $12,000 for a police department; and the cost of the new district court service, which is estimated at $23,300.

Specifically, the supervisor's salary is adjusted from $6,405 to $7,000 annually; the clerk's from $5,618 to $6,400; the treasurer's from $5,057 to $5,820; and the deputy clerk's from $5,902.26 to $6,210.

Trustee salaries remain unchanged a $20 per meeting.

The budget is based on a one mill levy against an estimated assessed valuation of $26,000,000 thereby raising $26,000 in property taxes, some $62,000 in estimated receipts from sales tax, $9,500 from intangibles tax, $41,000 in building permits, $17,425 in returns from state income tax and other minor sources of income.

The board will also ask the voters to approve changing of the official board meeting night from the first Tuesday of each month to the second Tuesday.

Clerk Eleanor Hammond proposed the change to provide more time for preparation of bills for board approval.

The meeting will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday in the township hall on South Wing street.

Catherine Hartley

Symbolizing the risen Christ, the delicate pink, white or blue Hepatica — one of the earliest spring wild flowers — rises out of its own dead leaves. These beautiful creations of God bloom in April in most of the woods about the Northville-Novi area. These flowers are protected by State law. The watercolor painting was done for this newspaper by Mrs. Catherine Hartley of Hartley-Powers Gallery, 116 East Main Street.

Churches Plan Special Holy Week Services

Holy Week services for area faithful will climax Sunday with sunrise services, breakfasts and special Easter music and sermons in local churches' annual Christian festival in commemoration of the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

The special Easter services will follow Maundy Thursday services and Good Friday observances, including union services in both Novi and Northville. In Northville this year's hour-long union service will be held at 1:30 p.m. at Northville First Presbyterian Church with the Reverend G. C. Branstner of Northville United Methodist Church bringing the sermon, "Still the Man Nobody Knows."

The Novi union service will be at 1 p.m. at Willowbrook United Methodist Church, which will host Novi First Methodist in the Good Friday worship service. Novi Methodist will reciprocate by entertaining Willowbrook at the 7:45 a.m. Easter Sunrise Service and breakfast to follow at 8:30. In addition, Novi Methodist conducted the union Holy Communion Wednesday night. Both pastors, Reverend R. A. Mitchinson and Reverend A. V. Norris, are participating.

Holy Week schedules at Northville churches are listed below:

St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church will hold Maundy Thursday

Communion at 7 p.m. today with the Reverend Charles Boerger speaking on "The Burden of Joseph."

Good Friday service will be at 1 p.m. with the meditation, "We Were There When They Crucified Our Lord."

At 7 p.m. Friday there is to be a Tenebrae Service with a short meditation on "The Seven Words" as candles are extinguished, concluding in complete darkness.

Three Easter services are planned, beginning with a Sunrise Communion at 7 a.m. Family service will be at 9 a.m. and a Festival Communion service is to be at 10:30 a.m. with the Reverend Boerger speaking on "He Came to Wipe Away Our Tears."

The women's guild will serve Easter breakfast from 8 to 10 a.m.

Northville First United Methodist Church plans a continual Maundy Thursday Communion service from 7 to 9 p.m. today.

Union Good Friday service will be at 1:30 p.m. at Northville Presbyterian Church with the Reverend G. C. Branstner giving the sermon.

At the Easter sunrise service at 7 a.m. youth of the church will present a dialogue: "You Are There." The Methodist Men are in charge of breakfast at 7:30 a.m.

School Gets $19,565 For Year-Round Study

The Northville School District Thursday was awarded a $19,565 state grant to conduct a feasibility study of the year-round school concept.

Largest grant of its kind made in Michigan, the Northville stipend, according to Superintendent Raymond Spear, is one of six awarded in the state from a $100,000 special appropriation made by the State Legislature. Next largest grant — $19,500 — went to the Utica school system.

A comprehensive study — research program, supplementing a study conducted over the past several months by a school board-appointed citizens Year-Round Committee, will get underway yet this month. Major thrust of the state-financed study, said Spear, will be public informational program, a house-to-house survey, and an analysis of the survey to determine whether or not an extended school year or school day is feasible.

To qualify for the grant, Northville had to agree to make its finding available to other school districts in the state that might wish to consider adoption of a year-round program. Northville's earlier study of the year-round concept had much to do with the state's decision to award a grant to the local school system, officials said.

Announcement of the grant was made by Ira Polley.

Egg Hunt Scheduled

All's ready for the annual Easter Egg Hunt to be staged here Saturday morning.

Sponsored by the Northville Jaycees, the hunt will be held on the Northville High School football field beginning at 10 a.m.

In extending an invitation to the youngsters of the community, officials of the Jaycees pointed out that there will be prizes and eggs for all. The hunt will be divided into age groups, thus giving everyone a "fair chance."

If past egg hunts are an indication, more than 200 children probably will turn out for this traditional Jaycee fun event.

Beverly Claire Stone Married

The marriage of Beverly Claire Stone to Robert Davidson Lowden at Trinity Church, Newton Centre, Massachusetts, March 15 brought her parents from Largo, Florida, as her father, Roy P. Stone gave her away in the afternoon ceremony.

Williamson of Glens Mills, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Raymond J. Berberi of Boucherville was in charge of the guest book.

The bridegroom's mother wore and aqua silk worsted dress with a beaded collar and matching accessories, and a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held at Longwood Cricket Club in Chestnut Hill, Massachusetts.

Wearing a navy dress and jacket, the bride and her husband left on a skiing trip to Aspen, Colorado and then on to Las Vegas, Nevada. Their residence following the wedding trip will be 137 Maple Street in Needham, Massachusetts.

Wings Over Bahamas

Metcalf to Close Travel Series

"Come Fly With Me" is the keynote sounded in the sixth and final travelogue of this season's Rotary series.

James W. Metcalf, a Michigan native who once attended the University of Michigan, will present the motion picture travelogue "Wings to the Golden Bahamas" at 8 p.m. next Thursday in the Northville High School auditorium to close out this year's series.

Having become interested in photography in college, Metcalf entered the Professional School of Photography in Winona, Indiana, on a scholarship. Before beginning production of a series of lecture films on Western Hemisphere countries in 1953, he traveled extensively for the Army producing training films and he operated a commercial and portrait studio in Detroit.

Recently, Metcalf produced educational films for Coronet Instructional Films, Inc., General Electric Co., Cessna Aircraft Co., Heddon Bait Company, Pan American World Airways (LAD) and Walt Disney Films. Among the publishers of his illustrated travel and text books are Rand McNally and Doubleday.

Metcalf earned a pilot's license in 1960 and now flies to his lecture engagements and film assignments. He and his family have flown the length and breadth of the United States as well as making extensive trips in Canada, Mexico, the Bahamas and the West Indies.

"Wings to the Golden Bahamas" is the film through which viewers can visit these islands beginning just 55 miles south of Florida. The wings are those of his private aircraft which was used to travel throughout the 800 islands covering 4,400 square miles of the Atlantic, where Columbus discovered the New World and where history is replete with pirates.

PILOT AND PAL — James Metcalf stands beside his "friend", the airplane that not only enables him to get to his various lecture engagements, but also afforded him the opportunity to cover the Bahamas in their entirety and produce the film, "Wings to the Golden Bahamas" which will close this season's Rotary travelogue series next week. Metcalf, a Michigan native, is always glad to return to the Wolverine State for engagements.

Elegance Earns Spotlight As Town Hall Closes Season

"Elegance is as elegance does", and this applies in every sense of the word to Mme. Genevieve Antoine Dariaux, who will speak here April 17 under the auspices of the Northville Town Hall. Mme. Dariaux is directrice of the world renowned couture house of Nina Ricci.

She is author of "Elegance" published by Doubleday in 1964. Within 10 months it was already in its seventh printing. Public demand established it as the top reference book for fashion, just as Amy Vanderbilt's book is for etiquette. Her subsequent book, "Entertaining with Elegance", is also a long-standing best seller.

In her forthcoming book she broadens her scope to cover "The Men in Your Life."

Her interest in fashion first took concrete form through a talent for designing costume jewelry. Since then, daily experiences with a glamorous international clientele have only added authority to her born-to-the-manner knowledge of innate elegance.

A woman of great warmth, a sense of humor and appreciation of simplicity, she has a magnetic appeal to all women. Her experiences, first with her own successful fashion house and currently with Nina Ricci, give her words of advice a ring of genuine authority. She is refreshingly specific, practical and astutely outspoken in setting forth sound rules that cover all contingencies.

She has appeared on most of the leading radio and television interview shows including "Monitor", "Martha Dean", "Arlene Francis", and "To Tell The Truth."

In her lecture she will cover some of the more elusive "Do's and Don'ts" of attire and the current and future fashion trends — all liberally interspersed with amusing anecdotes about her exciting career and the internationally famous client-friends she has made through the years.

The 11 a.m. lecture will take place in the Northville High School Auditorium, followed by a celebrity luncheon at the Mayflower Meeting House. Reservations for the luncheon must be made by April 11.

As an added special for the upcoming lecture program, a bottle of Nina Ricci L' Air du Temps Perfume, brought along by Mme. Dariaux, will be given away. Women will be asked to deposit tickets in a box at the auditorium to determine who wins the perfume.

Tickets for next year's series of lectures will be sold at the April 17 lecture.

Officials Link New High School To Walled Lake Millage Hike

As construction of the new Walled Lake high school near Wixom continues on schedule towards a September opening, school officials see a possible kink in the opening of the new school.

It all boils down to money and an exploding student enrollment.

That's why, officials emphasize, that passage of the millage issue on April 29 is vital to the operation of the school system. On that date electors of the district will vote on a 5-mill increase and the renewal of a one-mill levy.

Located on Beck Road, near Pontiac Trail, the school is to house some 1,700 students in grades 9 through 12. Its opening, say officials, will reduce serious overcrowding at Walled Lake Central High School, Smart Junior High, and Walled Lake Junior High.

Plans call for moving ninth graders from the two junior highs and placing them with grades 10-12 at the senior highs.

Next year's enrollment in grades 9-12 will be close to 3,000 and the present Central High School, built to house 1,300, cannot accommodate all these students on a full-time basis. Similarly, although Western High School is larger than Central, the new building is not designed to house 3,000 students either, officials point out.

After a thorough study of the enrollment situation, the board of education reports that failure of the millage proposition will mean placing all 9-12 graders in the district on half-day sessions at the present high school.

Another advantage to being able to open Western High School is that it will provide greater educational opportunities for secondary students than is now available, they explain. The selection of courses will be increased from 130 offerings to 164, with many of the new courses being in the vocational areas. Welding, auto mechanics, carpentry and graphics are among the new courses.

According to Rolland Langerman, assistant superintendent, "approximately 50-percent of our students do not go on to college so the expansion of our vocational program is very important. We feel that these additional classes, made possible by the opening of Western, will do much to meet the needs of our students."

To insure equal educational opportunity for all students, pupils will be bussed between high schools so that they may take courses not offered in their own buildings. This program, say officials, will also eliminate the need for duplicating costly facilities and equipment.

Courses to be offered exclusively at Western include auto mechanics, graphics, electronics, food service, swimming and metal shop.

"At the time the bond issue for the construction of the Western building was passed in 1966," Langerman said, "the school district stressed that it would need operating monies for the school sometime in the future."

"We did not ask for operating millage then because we were not certain how much costs would increase over a period of three years nor did we know how much state aid and other income would be available at the time the school opened."

"Also, we did not need the money during this construction period and did not want to levy millage for which we had no existing need. This is in line with the general philosophy supported by the Walled Lake Board of Education for many years of not asking for money until it is needed."

Obscenity Cases Unsettled

Schoolcraft's recent obscenity case involving three students, who allegedly used obscenities on the community college campus, has splintered into three separate directions.

Evan Bassett of Plymouth was found innocent, as he had pleaded, when none of the some 23 prosecution witnesses could positively identify him in Judge James Mies' Livonia District Court.

David Sedler, also of Plymouth, was found guilty of the charge and has been referred to the probation department for pre-sentence investigation.

Also referred for pre-sentence investigation was Mark Stephens who had pleaded guilty, but had contested the constitutional grounds under which he was being tried.

Further disposition in the cases of Sedler and Stephens will follow the investigation.

Citizens Block Police Pay Plan

But Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg strongly favored hiring Nisun (who has been working on a part-time basis as a township police officer) for 40-hours at an annual salary of $9,500 plus fringe benefits.

He had the support of Clerk Eleanor Hammond, Treasurer Alex Lawrence, and Trustees Richard Mitchell and Joseph Straub.

They voted down Baldwin's

Helmet Saves Him

"If he hadn't been wearing his helmet, he wouldn't have lived to tell about it."

That was how Novi Patrolman John Johnson summed up a motorcycle accident he and Patrolman Frank Barabas investigated in the early morning hours Saturday.

Roy A. Petersmark of Farmington was driving south on Haggerty Road and hit a bump about 100 yards south of 14 Mile Road and lost control of his motorcycle at about 2:40 a.m.

"tabling motion", 4-2 — (Supervisor Stromberg votes only in case of ties) — and then Lawrence immediately moved to hire Nisun. Mitchell quickly supported the motion.

At this point it seemed inevitable that Trustees Armstrong and Baldwin would lose their battle for more time and consideration.

But there were three members of the township-appointed police study committee in the audience. Chairman Eugene Guido, along with E. O. Weber and Mrs. Constance Wilson took exception to the board's lack of attention to its report that had taken eight months to compile.

And Trustee Baldwin started to recite salaries of police officers on neighboring community forces pointing out that starting salaries were some $2,000 lower than the $9,500 proposed here. He listed Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Milan and Dexter, noting that top pay for a patrolman in Ann Arbor is $8,700, in Ypsilanti — $8,969, Milan — $6,900, and Dexter, $6,500.

Readers Speak Says Business Rules the City

To the Editor:

Studying the qualifications of our candidates for the Northville City Council, we find that three of the five men have commercial business interests in the City of Northville. Most, if not all of our councilmen, have interests in the local business community. It is our view that business is represented on our city council. Who is representing the Common Man of this community?

Should not, we, the ordinary resident of Northville have our interests represented on our city council? Northville City is fortunate in that the community abounds with talent from many professions and trades. Along with our fine men of business, we believe the voter of Northville ought to consider the possibilities of placing qualified residents on our council.

Sincerely,
Mr. & Mrs. Lawrence F. Gucken

Citizens Block Police Pay Plan

 (In the city of Northville patrolmen begin at $7,020 with a top pay of $8,710 after three years; sergeants are paid $9,100 and the position of detective-sergeant is paid $9,308).

Baldwin noted that the township has only three ordinances to enforce — trash, hunting and dogs — and that unless the township adopted the state uniform traffic code there would be very little for an officer to do.

"We'd have the highest paid dog warden in the country", Baldwin exclaimed.

The trustee also noted that adoption of the traffic code would bring with it many more responsibilities — court appearances, attorney fees to prosecute cases, record keeping and certain liabilities that come with police enforcement on a larger scale.

A reply by the city of Northville to a request for 40-hour police protection by contract for the township was reported.

It indicated that the city manager and police chief would not recommend a 40-hour service and would only consider full-time protection. It also cautioned that any such contract would have to have council approval.

The around-the-clock service would cost an estimated $70,000 per year. Guido noted that this was close to the same figure given by the Wayne County sheriff's department two years ago.

Baldwin urged getting a reply from the county on the cost of extended service.

Trustee Mitchell pointed out that the proposed salary was not higher than the Livonia or Wayne county sheriff scale and he argued that the full-time employment of Nisun was not the creation of a new police department.

"We already employ Nisun on a parttime basis. This would only be changing him to fulltime", Mitchell stated.

While Armstrong and Baldwin seemed to be losing the battle to fellow board members, the tempo of audience participation in the argument picked up and triggered a turn-about.

Weber wondered why a salary of $9,500 had been proposed. Supervisor Stromberg answered that this was what Nisun had requested. The supervisor said that "Nisun now has a political job in Livonia and would like to change".

"Don't you call this political?", asked Trustee Armstrong. He criticized the appointment without seeking competitive applications and without setting up salary ranges.

"It's like the building inspector", Armstrong recalled. He noted that both he and Baldwin had opposed a higher salary for the building inspector but that the rest of the board argued that he couldn't be replaced, that he was capable and well-liked. "Now we have a new inspector, we pay him less and you think he's great", Armstrong added.

"I think Nisun is a fine officer. But maybe we could find equally qualified people if we tried".

Guido likened the high salary proposal to the salaries proposed by Wayne county supervisors. "They're recalling them", he pointed out.

"It's a comparable situation", agreed Baldwin.

"Yes and there's an annual meeting Saturday and I'll be there", noted Mrs. Wilson.

Baldwin said the high salary for a township policeman could cause a problem for the city of Northville police department.

"That's good", retorted Treasurer Lawrence.

But Trustee Mitchell had second thoughts.

"I withdraw my second to the motion to hire Nisun", he stated.

Lawrence agreed to withdraw his motion "only if we agree to take applications for the job".

Trustee Straub, who had remained silent during the discussion except for his vote to hire Nisun, then called for a motion to appoint a committee to study the township police situation.

"Why not use the same committee we had and just have them update the material", Baldwin suggested.

Straub was agreeable, "if others can also be appointed".

It was agreed that the supervisor could appoint more members, but that the members of the two-year-old study would be encouraged to participate again.

Thus the issue was tabled pending a study.

The $12,000 expenditure for a policeman remains in the budget, however. But the budget must pass public approval at Saturday's annual meeting.

It was noted that the annual meeting will be moved to the board of education offices if there are too many citizens for accommodations at the township hall.

In other business Tuesday night the board agreed to place on the May agenda a study of charter township form of government.

Clerk Hammond made this motion noting that there is an increasing need for more money to provide services and that under a charter township millage can be increased up to five mills.

An Open Letter to the Voters of Northville

As a resident and businessman, I am genuinely concerned about the future of Northville. With the rapid movement of people to our area, it is imperative that we plan the orderly development of our central business district as well as every other area of our community. This will substantially increase our commercial property tax base, and it can also maintain the aesthetic beauty of our city.

Closer coordination among our overlapping governmental jurisdictions could be helpful in developing several proposed industrial parks. This is the area in which I would concentrate my efforts in order to gain relief for the overburdened property taxpayer.

I would like the opportunity to serve our city during this critical period. Your vote and support are needed. Be sure to vote on Monday the 7th and help get your neighbors to the polling booth as well.

Mustangs Finish Sixth at Ypsi As Stuyvenberg, Hicks Excel

Following one of the finest invitational performances in history Friday, Northville's thinclads will travel to Michigan State University tomorrow in hopes of duplicating some of Friday's efforts.

"It's going to be tough - probably tougher than even the Huron Relays," said Coach Ralph Redmond who was still bubbling over Northville's fine sixth-place finish at Ypsilanti. "There are fewer events so track coaches will pick their best boys and not worry so much about spreading themselves too thin."

But no matter what Northville does tomorrow, the sixth-place finish in the Huron Relays gave Redmond plenty of reason to be excited.

Competing against 54 schools from Ohio and Michigan, Northville equalled last year's finish by the Mustangs, who in '68 boasted a bevy of stellar seniors. This year, with a relatively young roster, the Mustangs came up with three more points than last year - finishing with a total of 26.

"Their overall performance," said the coach, "was very gratifying and rewarding. This was probably one of the best teams - attitude wise - I've ever taken to the Huron Relays."

Because of the fierce competition in the Relays, the top five schools are awarded trophies. Northville, with its sixth place finish, missed out again on a trophy but its competitors were far from being the doormat. A team must score at least one point in the Relays to win an invitation the following year - and many teams would be elated just to get an invitation.

The key to Northville's success Saturday rested in the feet and the arm of Sophomore John Stuyvenberg and Fred Hicks, senior, respectively. Together, the two athletes accounted for 15 of the team's 26 points.

Stuyvenberg, who is a cinch to set a number of new records here before closing out his career in 1971, took first place in the long jump and became only the second sophomore in the 15-year history of the Relays to cop a first place.

Even so, his winning 20' 5 1/2" mark was a personal disappointment since he already has posted 21 feet in competition at the University of Michigan. Stuyvenberg's very first jump probably would have bettered 21 1/2 feet but he fell backwards. Despite this setback he was marked at 20' 4" on the leap.

In the 60-yard dash, with 54 runners entered, Stuyvenberg finished ninth. He won his preliminary heat and barely lost out in the semi-finals in a bid for a chance at the finals. He also ran a 220 yard leg - clocked at 23.2 - with Northville's sprint medley, which finished third in a time of 3:52.1. Ecorse won the event in a time of 3:43.

Other members of that third-place medley relay squad were Glen Heffner, who ran a 440 leg, Al Earhart, 220, and Greg Marshall, 880. Best efforts were turned in by Stuyvenberg and Marshall.

Marshall is currently Northville's record holder in the half-mile (2:00.1). In the medley Friday Marshall took the baton two steps behind Mike Hugelof, West Bloomfield's best half-miler, passed the Laker on the third turn and led him by 40 yards at the finish.

One of the biggest thrills of the Relays centered around Northville's other track key - Hicks. The crowd around the pits was so huge, said Redmond, "That I couldn't see what was happening. I heard all this screaming and then one of our guys came out yelling, 'Fred's put one into orbit'."

And in orbit it was. The 6' 3", 220-pound athlete broke Northville's all time record (48' 7" set in 1957) with a put of 50' 2 1/2" - good for second place and "seven valuable points."

"We've had some big boys in the past like Jerry Biddle and Bill MacDermaid - try to break that record," said Redmond, "but they couldn't do it. And Fred could do even better before the season's over."

Northville's two-mile relay team picked up three points for the Mustangs. Participants, all running an 880 leg, were Paul Bedford, Brad Cole, Phil Kennedy, and Chris Kline. Strong legs were turned in by Bedford at 2:08.7 and Cole, who ran 2:13. Both times were outstanding for the two young competitors. Kennedy and Kline had hoped to do better.

Sophomore Rick Bell was off to one of his best two-mile races in his short career, turning the mile at 5:09, when he was forced from the event because Ralph Soppa of St. Louis High School lapped the entire field. When an athlete laps the field, only the leading runners are permitted to continue.

"It was a disappointment for Rick," said Redmond, "but he's a determined youngster and I think his showing will give him some added confidence."

Perhaps the most disappointed Mustangs were the members of the squad's shuttle relay - Dave Mitchell, Dave Veresch, Jeff Dawson, and Ed Beller. They'd run an excellent 31-second practice mark but could manage only 32.5 at Ypsi. Mitchell, according to the coach, gave the team some extra push with "a very good lead leg. I'm sure you can expect something better from these boys before long."

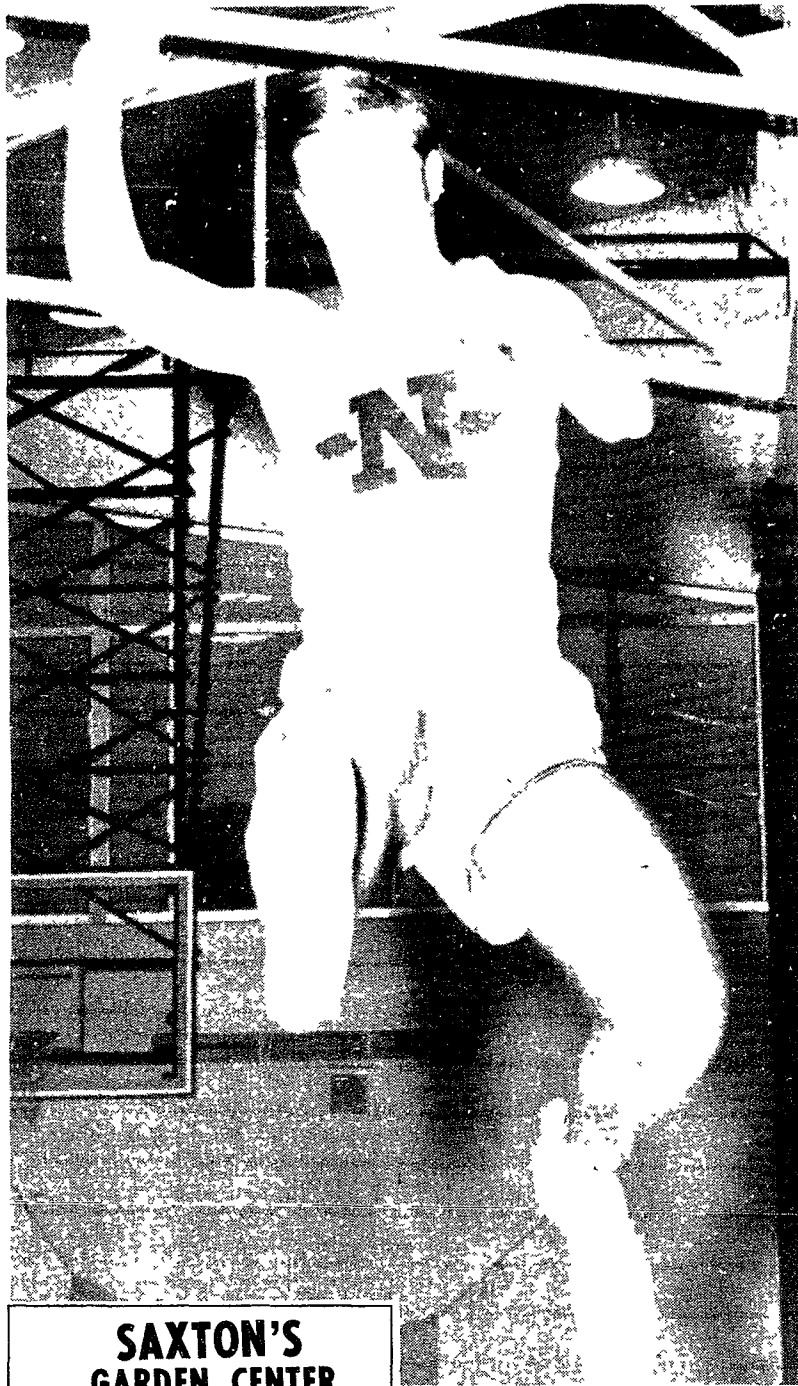

FRED HICKS SHOWS FORM THAT TOPPED SHOT RECORD

GOOD EXCHANGE - Making the proper baton exchange is a key to success in any relay event and Brad Cole's "pass" to Chris Kline was instrumental in Northville's sixth-place finish in the two-mile event at Ypsi. Greg Marshall ran the first leg and Phil Kennedy anchored this fine effort.

Kensington Park Launches Season

Kensington Metropolitan Park near New Hudson has now opened its two boat launching sites. The 1,200-acre Kent Lake in the park is one of the most popular fishing and boating areas in southeastern Michigan. Crappies, bluegills, bass and pan fish inhabit the lake.

Six boats may be launched at one time from the east launching site, where there is space for 60 cars and trailers and additional parking for cars only. The west launching site has space for 125 cars and trailers with 6 to 8 launchings available at one time at the 120-foot ramp.

There is no charge for launching, however, launching permits are required and are available at the park office. The permits are good for the 1969 season. There is a 10 mile per-hour-speed limit on Kent Lake and no water skiing is permitted. Launching hours are sunrise to 10 p.m.

Trailers, cars and boats are not permitted to remain overnight in Kensington Metropolitan Park, except for boats in slip rental spaces.

Arthur W. Stephens, 70, who has been associated with the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority as its land negotiator for over 24 years, will retire on March 31.

Stephens came in contact with the Authority in 1944, when the regional agency was purchasing land for the "Kent Lake Project", which opened in 1948 as Kensington Metropolitan Park covering 4,300 acres. Many area residents still remember "Art Stephens" as the man who carried out the Authority policy of buying land at a fair price. He obtained 96 percent of the parcels needed for Kensington Park through negotiation.

He has been involved in most lands acquired for the other "HCMA Metropolitan Parks" including Lower Huron near Belleville, Delhi and Hudson Mills near Ann Arbor, and Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica.

Only One Experienced Pitcher Mound Worries Wildcat Coach

With only one experienced pitcher returning, Novi baseball coach John Osborne predicts a somewhat dismal season unless he can bring along two other prospects.

Lee Snow is the only hurler back as he pitched in all of Novi's games last year. Last season it was fine, but this year the Wildcats face a 17-game schedule and one man can't carry the load.

Prospects for the staff are Senior Jim Poole and Freshman Bob Pisha. Osborne hopes to start Pisha with the junior varsity, but expects to need him before season's end.

Catching is manned by Osborne's two best hitters. Sophomore Tom Van Wagner, last year's RBI leader, will hold down the post with first baseman and last year's top hitter Paul Faulkner, a senior, backing him up.

Behind Faulkner at first will be Snow when he is not pitching.

Osborne has a fine double play combination in junior second baseman Phil McMillan and senior shortstop Gary Boyer.

Third base is also in capable hands where steady junior Dan Flattery returns.

The outfield is somewhat green and uncertain for the 'Cats with only junior center-fielder Rick Dale, the squad speed merchant, set. Three juniors and sophomore Bob Vivian vie for the other two posts. The juniors are Dennis Diem, Fred Cox and Paul Chamberlain.

Osborne sums up his prospects by saying, "We'll go as far as our pitching will take us. We're basically a young but experienced team. Hitting is a problem behind our top two, but our defense is fairly sound."

He went on to enumerate the hitting situation by stating that Snow has power, but is inconsistent; Boyer has the potential but had a poor year last year; McMillan and Flattery are steady but not sensational and Dale is a weak hitter who makes up for it with his speed and improving fielding. Other players are primarily untested over the whole season.

But Hurting in Distance

Hanert's 'Solid' in Jumpers

"I haven't any depth in the distance events, but I'm solid in the high jump, long jump and pole vault."

This was Novi track coach Fred Hanert's capsule summary of this year's Wildcat squad.

A solid one-two punch of Jon Van Wagner and Ken Osborn, both seniors, are cause for confidence in the vault and high jump, while Senior Don Maki, Junior John Davey and Sophomore Tom Boyer offer Hanert plenty of long jump depth.

While depth is lacking in distance events, Hanert feels he is well set in the sprints and the quarter and half-mile events.

Top sprinters are Davey and Maki, with Sophomore Lew Padgett and Freshmen Jim Wilenius (also a hurdler) and Steve Telchat backing them up. Hanert rates quarter-miler Rick Hill and half-miler Boyer as outside prospects to reach the state finals this year. Hill is a junior. Listed in the same category is junior two-miler Mark Earl.

Backing up these runners are Brad Burnham, Steve Pomeroy, Thurman Ridenour and Larry Eggleston, a sophomore, junior and two freshmen, in that order. Only miler on the squad is Junior Dan McGarry.

While the hurdles are handled competently by Van Wagner and Junior Syd Chapman, who really presses Jon, support for the pole vault and high jump events will fall to Doug Osborn.

Shot putting is a real trouble area, says the coach, as he has to choose among three untried boys, Junior Jerry Race, Sophomore Dave and Freshman Mike Morrison.

Some help in the relays will come from members of the baseball team such as Gary Boyer, Hanert added.

Best times recorded by this year's runners last season were Hill's 53-second time in the quarter mile, Boyer's 2:07.9 in the half and Earl's 10:45 in the two mile. In addition, Van Wagner has a real shot at the State Class "C" high jump record, Hanert says.

WILDCAT HOPE — Top hope for Novi track success this year in the pole vault (as well as the high jump) is Senior Jon Van Wagner, who could go to the state finals in both events. Other top prospects for Coach Fred Hanert are listed in the story above.

Dad's Tips Pay Off For Young Driver

Bobby Williams, who learned the fine points of driving and training from his father Jack Sr. as a youth on the farm near Comstock Park in the Grand Rapids area, has show harness racing fans in the Detroit area at Wolverine Harness Raceway he was an excellent pupil.

There was a time when Jack Sr., who was driving back in the mid '40s when parimutuel betting on harness racing first started, was rated as the most outstanding handler of trotters in the midwest.

Jack Sr. taught sons, Jack Jr., 39, and Bobby, 32, all he knew about the sport prior to the time he suffered a stroke and had to retire. Bobby had stables at Wolverine and Hazel Park a few years back before he shifted his activities.

But this year Bobby decided to come back to the Motor City and shipped his entire stable in from California, where he competed during the fall and early winter winning the driving championship at Bay Meadows near San Francisco.

The Wolverine meeting was only a few days old when Bobby made his presence known. He won five events during the first week, climaxing the six days with a brilliant victory behind Gaytime The Great. The win was his fifth in a row and came over Sonny Fortune, the great Michigan ace making his first 1969 start.

10 Mile at Grand River

Ground Broken for New Holiday Inn Near Here

Ground was broken last week for a five-story, 153 unit Holiday Inn Motel in Thompson-Brown Company's Farmington Freeway Industrial Park, near the 10 Mile Road-Grand River intersection.

The new motel, which will be of contemporary design, will have a dining room, cocktail lounge, meeting rooms and elevators.

Participating in the ceremony were: Mr. & Mrs. Paul McElwain of Southfield, holders of the franchise; William Bowman, executive vice president of Thompson-Brown Company; Farmington Supervisor Curt Hall and executives from Bank of the Commonwealth and from Holiday Inns of America, Memphis, Tennessee.

The motel site is just off Ten Mile Road near Interstate Highway I-96 and the proposed I-275 in Farmington at the entrance to the 250-acre Farmington Freeway Industrial Park which was developed by Thompson-Brown Company.

A helicopter landing pad, near the motel site, will make it possible for guests to reach Metropolitan Airport within 10 minutes.

The Holiday Inn is among more than 40 companies that have chosen the park for future sites. Will Schwehr, assistant vice president of Thompson-Brown Company's Commercial-Industrial Division, says the park is now 90 percent sold and he expects to have the existing acreage sold within the near future.

Opening of the Holiday Inn is scheduled for early in 1970.

With parents, brothers and sisters, and friends of Cubs and Webelos of the VFW's Cub Scout Pack 721 shouting encouragement, boys raced more than 75 hand-made racers in the annual Derby Thursday night in the Northville High School gymnasium.

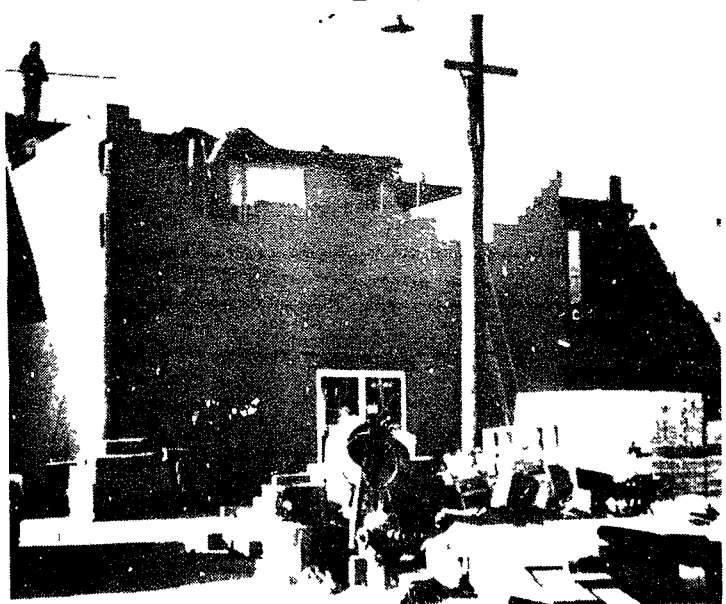

When the smoke cleared and the racing "engines" stopped, four youngsters claimed the trophies and numerous others walked away, proudly displaying ribbons.

Above, hugging their trophies over their winning cars, are (l to r) Mark Goldi, 8 of 632 Reed Court, first-place Cubs; Tad Taggart, 10 of 625 Reed Court, second place Cubs; Eric Lampela, 11 of 401 Welch, second place Webelos; and John Federspell, 10 of 21150 East Chigwidden, first place Webelos.

At the left, Bob Horner releases the starting gate for another race. Even crutches couldn't dampen the spirits of one of the racers.

Pack leader is Peter Voigt.

THE WAY OF THE CROSS
What does it mean to take the way of the Cross? This is an important question, for as the hymn writer expressed it: "The way of the cross leads 'Home'", and "there is no other way but this", that does, for, "I shall ne'er get sight of the gates of light — If the way of the cross I miss."

To take the way of the cross does not mean to "take the way that seems right unto a man which ends in death."

Every religious group in Christendom and in the world answers this question by outlining what they consider to be the way of righteousness as it may differ from the way of life taken by many and insist that the only way "Home" for the anxious soul is to take up his cross in the sense of becoming a doer of God's righteousness as it is taught and believed in that group. Thus the "Seeker" after truth and righteousness is stymied by a bedlam of confusing voices.

To get the approval of one group he must take their "way of the cross" and lose the approval of the other groups who do not agree.

Surely we do not need to take the time now to mention all of the religious groups in the world which are involved in this condition.

What is the way of the cross that leads "Home"? It is the way of surrender to God without a mental reservation. We must surrender to "Him", for He is greater than any understanding or ideology which forms in our minds and divides us from each other.

The will of God includes everything which He orders or permits for He is in charge of the universe which He has made and all the established laws governing the same. We must believe that "He is and that He is a rewarder of them that diligently seek Him."

Our will, our understanding, our way must be nailed to His will, His understanding, His way, by an act of will or purpose on our part if we would take the way of the cross, for our natural mind is not subject to the law of God neither indeed can be.

When this has been done then we must strive — "agonize" — to bring the cross member of our will into perfect alignment with His will. When this is fully accomplished we are beyond the cross at "Home" with God.

This world has been arranged for this purpose — to give us the opportunity to bring every thought into subjection to God's order. That is the reason we are baffled so many times by what God orders or permits in the natural world about us. We are in the struggle and agony of the way of the cross.

This agony and this struggle will not end until the last member of Adam's race has been brought into harmony with God for it is a program of "everlasting destruction" which God has arranged for the purpose of destroying sin. All of sin must be destroyed in us before we can be the righteousness of God in Him.

God's elect now have the opportunity to take the way of the cross by Grace — by purpose, by will, by faith. Those who have not been or are not now involved must in their own order be resurrected and compelled to go into this refining process — that sin may be destroyed and the spirit saved in the day of the Lord Jesus.

The day of the Lord Jesus is that day when the redemptive process triumphs. God hates and destroys sin but Jesus Christ loves and saves sinners.

The fact is that we are all now more or less involved in this program and those who suffer the most will love the most.

This is God's way of leveling things out. "The last are made first and the first last."

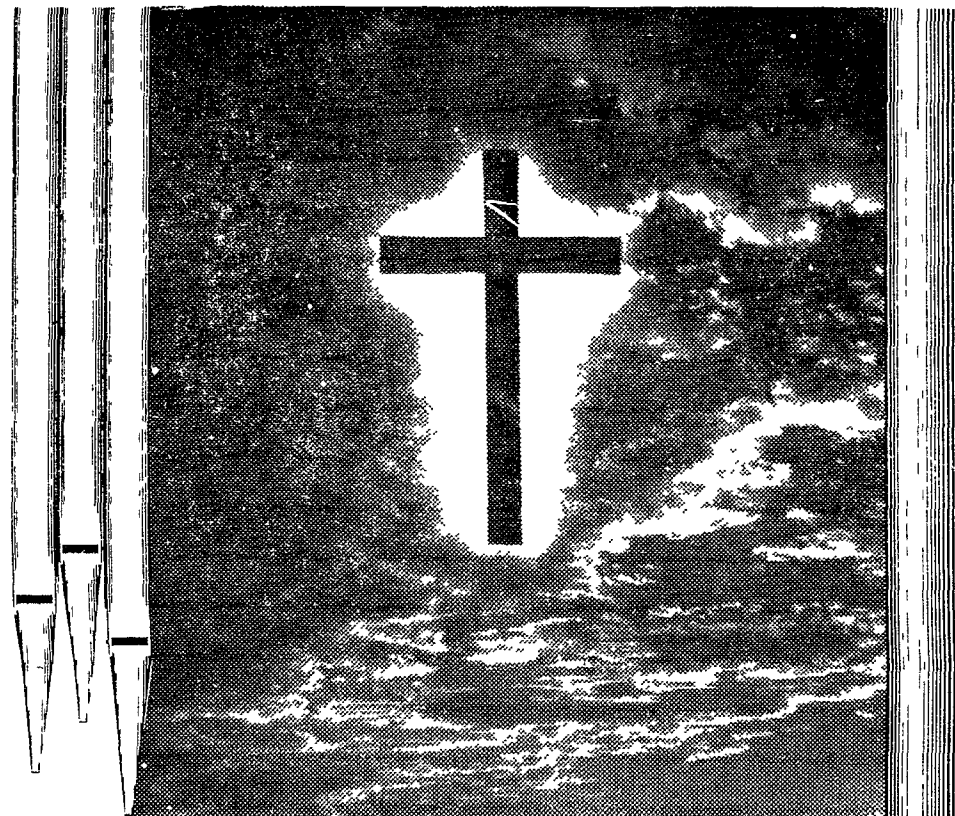

As the stars differ in glory so do all of God's creatures in the resurrection and God has a place for each one in His eternal plan and purpose. The clay cannot say to the Potter, "Why hast thou made me thus?" God is, in the experiences of life, making each one to fill a particular place.

"When our soul cries out for grace,
As life's problems we must face;
Bear us up in every test,
Let us find in Thee our rest.

May the hand of God we see
Work on our humility,
When Thy will is hard to bear
Succor us in every prayer.

Hide us in Thy secret realm
Carnal mind not at the helm.
Mind of Christ, so clear, so bright,
Oh reflect Thy love and light.

Lo, the will of God unfolds,
When His understanding holds,
Seed of God, through Christ to man.
Mold us in Thy Oneness plan."

hymn of the skies

David lived almost thirty centuries ago. He knew nothing of outer space . . . of galaxies hurtling through the void . . . of particles of energy and matter spinning their way from a one-time explosion toward the edges of the universe.

He knew only the skies of his native land . . . their lights and shadows and ever-changing drifts of cloud.

But he knew, as millions before and since, that these skies were no accident. They told him of the Mind and Heart that rules the domain of life. They told him we are not alone.

"The heavens declare the glory of God," he wrote in the 19th Psalm, "The firmament showeth his handiwork."

Through those same skies rode the star that drew men to the scene of our Savior's birth. Against those skies is always silhouetted the Cross on which He died for us.

Under those skies we'll worship together the Risen Lord.

OUT OF THE PAST — As Archbishop John F. Dearden was designated a Cardinal by Pope Paul VI last week, area Catholics and non-Catholics were reminded of Detroit's last Cardinal, the late Edward Mooney, whose body was buried in a crypt at St. John's Provincial Seminary on Five Mile Road in November, 1958. Founder of the Seminary, Cardinal Mooney had died in Vatican City while preparing to participate in the election of a new pope. Throngs of mourners dotted the roadside and the Seminary grounds during the long funeral procession. Here, in a Record photograph, the casket is borne from the hearse.

Dr. Geake Files For College Board

Northville psychologist Dr. Robert Geake has taken out petitions and will file for an at-large seat on the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees. Trustees at-large represent the five school districts served by the college — Northville, Plymouth, Livonia, Clarenceville, and Garden City. In addition, each school district elects its own representative. Northville's representative, William Secord, was elected two years ago and his term has another four years to run. Trustees are elected on a non-partisan basis for six-year terms. Geake, an administrator at the Plymouth State Home and Training School, holds three degrees from the University of Michigan. He is a life member of the National Education Association and a member of the American and Michigan Psychological Associations. He formerly served on the board of canvassers of the Northville school district and is active in local Republican Party organization work. Candidates for the Board of Trustees have until April 22 to file petitions. The election will be held June 9 to coincide with local school board elections in the five districts.

Northville Township Board Minutes

Settlement Day Meeting
March 25, 1969
107 S. Wing
Meeting opened at 6:45 p.m.
Present: Board Members Armstrong, Baldwin, Hammond, Lawrence, Mitchell, Straub and Stromberg
Also present: Attorney Ashton, Officer Nisun, Wm. Sliger
1. Minutes of Library Commission Meeting of February 6, 1969 were accepted and filed on motion of Armstrong, seconded by Straub. Ayes: All.
2. Clerk Hammond moved that the Minutes of the Water & Sewer Commission of March 10, 1969 be accepted and filed, with a second by Mitchell. Ayes: All.
3. Treasurer's Report. Hammond moved that this report be amended to show the addition of the items on page 3 of the report, making a total of $546,244.32. Supported by Mitchell. Ayes: All.
4. Publication of Budget. Ashton stated that a State Act of 1963 requires that public notice must be given six days prior to a hearing on the proposed Township budget. This notice must include the date and the time, and the place where the budget is being made available to the public for inspection. The budget itself does not have to be published. The necessary advertisement will appear in the Northville Record on March 27, 1969.
5. Proposed 1969-70 Budget for Northville Township. (see attached) Moved by Baldwin and supported by Mitchell that the proposed Township budget for 1969-70 be approved as presented by the Clerk and Supervisor. Ayes: All. It will be presented for public approval at the Annual Meeting of the Township on Saturday, April 5, 1969 at the Township Hall, 107 S. Wing, at 1:00 p.m.
6. Change in Stated Meeting Day. It was decided to present a request at the Annual Meeting to have the Stated Meeting Day of the Township Board changed to the second Tuesday of the month. The attorney reminded the Board to make provisions for a larger room for the day of the meeting in case the crowd would be too large for the assembly room in the Township Hall. Mrs. Hammond will request the use of the Northville School Board Room.
7. Township Police. The Supervisor distributed copies of the Uniform Traffic Code to the Board. He stated that he had contacted the City and the Sheriff as to possible costs of contracting with each of them for police service. The City Manager had estimated that it would be about $30,000 per year for one man, 40 hrs., supervised, with a car. The Supervisor felt that the Sheriff's costs would be somewhere in the same area, although he had not yet been able to get a definite reply from that department. The Sheriff wished to first study into the matter with the accounting department.
Armstrong brought out that in the study made by the former Township Police Committee in 1966, the cost for one man in the morning and two men in the afternoon and evening (24 hour's protection) from the Sheriff's Dept. would be about $70,000 per year. Mitchell pointed out that it was important to install our own police force so that we would not lose local control, and because the costs would be a great deal less. Baldwin felt that it was important to get costs established, in writing, from the various sources before any decision is made.

Stromberg said that he would do this and then call a special meeting if necessary. He had recommended that the Township employ Mr. Nisun on a full time basis for a forty hour week, at $9500 per year, plus the customary fringe benefits accorded Township employees.
Baldwin moved that items be added to the agenda and labeled No. 10 and No. 11, seconded by Hammond. Ayes: All.
8. Northville Record Centennial Edition — July, 1969. Since Mr. Sliger was present, he explained the forthcoming publication which is to be a booklet of about 100 to 125 pages, with representation in it of all local businesses and governmental bodies. It will be issued free of charge to all subscribers, but there will be a small charge for additional copies. Armstrong moved that the Board support the idea of a centennial paper for our historic area and that the Township subscribe to at least one page, consulting with the editor later on layout and content. Seconded by Lawrence. Ayes: Armstrong, Hammond, Lawrence, Mitchell, Straub. Nays: None. Absent: Baldwin. Motion carried.
9. Area Development Corporation — March 8, 1969. (Re: Gerald Ave.) Armstrong moved that the Supervisor answer the letter and advise the Corporation that the Township presently has a suit pending against owners of trailers in that area. We would be very glad to get together with the Corporation Committee to study the matter further if need arose. Second by Lawrence. Ayes: All. Nays: None. Absent: Baldwin. Motion carried.
10. George E. Zeuner — March 23, 1969. Stromberg stated that he had sent copies of this letter to Dr. Gyzynski and to the Northville Coach Line. Mitchell moved that, if the two offenders had not remedied their situations within thirty days, the matter be turned over to our attorney for legal action. Second by Straub. Ayes: All Baldwin absent. Motion carried.
11. Board of Education — March 18, 1969. (Re: Tax-exempt land.) Moved by Mitchell and seconded by Straub that this letter be accepted and filed. Ayes: All. Baldwin absent. Motion carried.
Meeting adjourned at 9:15 p.m.
Respectfully submitted,
Eleanor W. Hammond, Clerk

$145,000 in Checks Mailed

More than $145,000 in Social Security checks for the month of March were turned over to John Steimel, Northville postmaster, on Thursday for distribution to some 1,700 persons in the Northville area. Samuel F. Test, district manager of the Detroit-Northwest District Office, said "they aren't the Easter Bunny but these checks do represent a lot of new Easter clothes and bonnets. They also represent the rent and groceries for every month of the year because this amount comes into Northville and the township each month."

"The $145,000 received here in Northville," Test said, "is but a part of the $8,200,000.00 which is received monthly by over 1,005,000 persons in Michigan."

Urges Citizen Aid In Cleanup Drive

EDITOR'S NOTE — With the start of Clean up — Paint up — Fix up Week rapidly approaching, Northville's Beautification Commission wrote the following reminder in hopes of generating more interest in this annual project. It is directed to all citizens of the community.

Do you know that Northville was among the top 90 towns and cities of America in last year's Award Winning Towns and Cities competition? Were you able to do your part in bringing this honor to Northville last year?

Whether your answer is yes or no, why not join the 1969 Beautification Program so that Northville may retain this coveted title as one of America's most beautiful cities? Begin by answering a few questions about your home or business. Remember all homes and businesses in combination comprise the community of Northville. Each family and business is needed to make this program a success.

Look at the beauty nature has given you. Have you neglected that beauty by not properly caring for it? If you feel the answer may be "yes" lets do something about it.

Consider your yard as consisting of three parts; a public area, a service area and a private area. Is your front lawn, as presented to the public, a source of pride or is it not all you would like it to be? Is untrimmed shrubbery growing over the sidewalk and into the neighbors yard? Are the driveways and parking areas neat and free of discards? and in the private area or back yard, has the picnic table seen better days? Has the trash burner become the city dump? Have the garden shed and fences fallen into disrepair? And has the rambling rose rambled too far, and the flower garden turned into weed beds?

Very little money, a bit of hard work and a few repairs here and there can restore neatness, beauty and pride to your home. Sidewalks and planters free of litter in the business district would enhance our shopping area.

Michigan Week, May 17th, Civic Pride Day, through May 24th, is Clean-up — Paint-up — Fix-up Week. Start with the team that will again put Northville in the running for a beautiful city award and end with the most beautiful lot or business in the community. To help you do this there will be a RUBBISH ROUNDUP April 28th. Put your rubbish at the curb the night before and the City trucks will haul it away.

Before and after pictures of your projects will be appreciated for the scrap books that will be judged in Washington. Lets fill the pages so it can be said — NORTHVILLE'S PRIDE IS SHOWING.

Speaking for The Record

Black, Rathert Best for Total City

By BILL SLIGER

All elections are important, but some more so than others. And in the case of the upcoming Northville city council election I view it as probably the most vital since incorporation more than a dozen years ago.

Mayor A. M. Allen returns automatically for another two years as an unopposed incumbent.

But there are two council seats open and five candidates conducting a keenly-contested race for the vacancies.

In my mind two candidates stand out above the others.

They are Incumbent Councilman Del Black and Kenneth Rathert.

The city voter who is really interested in the future level of residential property taxes, insofar as the city levy is concerned, should rally to the support of Black and Rathert.

This is not a scare tactic. It is simply a matter of knowing exactly what is at stake.

Let's review the present city status and what has gone into its planning for the future.

Nearly a decade ago, shortly after the first city council settled down to its responsibilities and employed its first manager, it was determined that a community facing such a growth potential must by necessity adopt a master plan to cope with its increasing numbers.

While the master plan sets forth a zoning pattern that provides for orderly development in all sections of the community, its most important (and controversial) portion deals with the development of the central business district.

It recognizes that from a standpoint of taxbase, the city of Northville has little industrial potential and therefore must rely heavily upon a healthy commercial center if homeowners can hope for a relatively low tax rate on residential property.

Aside from Northville Downs, the Ford Valve Plant and a few other smaller industries the city of Northville has few non-residential sources of tax dollars, other than the commercial business district.

Specifically, the business district provides nearly one-third of the total tax base in the city of Northville. Add to that local industry and you come up with 55 per cent of the total tax base.

Until now Northville's city councils have been successful in holding the lid on its tax rate. Presently, the city levies 13 mills, although by law it could levy up to 20 mills without a vote of the people. Past councils have recognized that school taxes come from the same pockets, and in terms of priorities it has evolved by unwritten policy that education ranks at the head of the list.

Nothing on the horizon would indicate the present council anticipates a tax increase in its 1969-70 budget currently under study. Quite the contrary, a millage decrease might very well be recommended in the light of increased property valuations.

Throughout the past decade, and during the past four years in particular, the city council has made giant strides towards its avowed objective: the adoption, in principle, of the master plan for the central business district.

In a nutshell, this means that the city government is providing leadership to see that the business district has ample parking and proper traffic flow so that commercial development may take place to meet the demands of the future.

It does not mean wholesale demolition of existing buildings; it does not mean the adoption of a giant federal urban renewal program; it does not mean the creation of an inflexible plan that refuses to negotiate compromise in face of economic opportunity.

It does mean that the council has decided to take the initiative in protecting a valuable investment; it does mean that the council feels it must provide leadership if the concepts of the plan are to succeed; it does mean that the council believes (in fact, knows) that commercial interest in sites within the central business district becomes more intense as area population increases; it therefore follows that the city must be selective, must exercise care in how it disposes of areas within the CBD.

In short, the council fully recognizes that regional shopping centers will be attracted to the city's boundaries as our population grows. But it believes that the kind of community shopping center we now have can be improved enough to satisfy the needs of thousands of shoppers and therefore insure the salvation of a prosperous commercial district — serving the public with more than just commodities, but also with a sound tax base to reduce the burden on homeowners.

Take away this effort and you run the risk of mass exodus from the central business district... you invite a federal urban renewal program for assistance in a depressed area.

For those who have been closest to the city's master plan it may seem that progress has been intolerably slow.

To those who have had no knowledge of the plan it may seem that there is no progress at all.

But definite and promising steps have been taken in several forms:

First, the plan is complete after years of study and consultation;

Secondly, the city and Northville Area Economic Development Corporation, working together, have acquired a number of key parcels within the CBD which are now available either for future offstreet parking or commercial building;

Thirdly, the council has announced its intention of employing a development coordinator — a business-finder — to seek out and work with prospective commercial developers;

And finally, a new era of understanding and appreciation for the plan has been born in the minds of alert businessmen within the community who realize its importance.

This council has been highly successful in gaining the active participation of many local businessmen. And they realize that the investment is not alone for the city to make, but that a proportionate stake rests with present and future business interests.

Black and Rathert fully understand the council's program. They are both businessmen — commercial property owners — and homeowners. They have a dual concern. And they have plunged full depth into time-consuming assignments designed to bring the total community of Northville a good balance of sound taxbase for the future.

Black has proven his ability as an energetic and untiring worker for the past four years on the city council.

He stands as the perfect answer to those who criticize the businessman for not providing leadership. Black has found time for home, business, church and community.

He deserves another term; the city council needs him.

In several committee appointments Rathert has also demonstrated his ability to perform. He makes judgments based on fact, not emotion or prejudice. These characteristics win the confidence of his fellow committee members, as witnessed by his frequent appointment as chairman.

Although it is not the custom of this column to appraise candidates it does not support, mention should be given here to Candidate Paul Vernon.

If one were to rate the favorites in Monday's election, Vernon would have to be given the nod.

He's campaigned hard and he's gained strong support, particularly within the subdivision where he lives and serves as association president.

There can be no question of Vernon's qualifications.

He has billed himself as "the citizens candidate", an approach that may imply other candidates are not for the citizens.

Personally, I am deeply disappointed by this approach and his stated opposition to city leadership in development of the central business district.

Undoubtedly, the suggestion to citizens that the council is wasting taxpayer money by investing it in the development of the business district will gain favor in many circles.

I cannot believe that anyone who has studied the city's master plan program, and considers all the implications as outlined earlier in this column, would make the following statement:

"I do not believe the citizens of Northville are ready for a downtown shopping plaza that could destroy the tradition that is Northville"... or "attracting commercial and industrial developers is normally a function of the Chamber of Commerce".

Vernon has staked his campaign on this approach.

I do not believe that the drafters of the central business district plan envision "a plaza", which implies some sort of modern monstrosity. To repeat, they do believe it is an important investment to help plan and provide an area for orderly commercial development.

Further, while some textbooks may assign commercial and industrial development projects to chambers of commerce, practical experience has not followed this course.

Most aggressive communities in this state and others conduct strong campaigns to gain new business. Rising taxes on residential properties has taught government that this area is far too important to its welfare to leave to the volunteer efforts of business alone.

If Vernon is elected, I would hope that he would restudy all the objectives and aims of the council's long-standing program.

I think it is the "program for the citizens".

Bea's for Black, Bingley

To the Editor:

As you know I am not running for re-election to the City Council. However, I am very much interested in the future of Northville.

Realizing there are many very vital problems that have been studied, even need more diligent study before a decision can be made, and knowing the tremendous responsibility a Councilman has in policy making decisions, I urge all citizens eligible to vote next Monday to do so after much serious thought.

Experience on the City Council for four years is invaluable to the candidate and the welfare of the City and I urge the re-election of Del Black.

I have remained non-committed to any candidate so that all could freely solicit your support as well as mine, but now after due consideration; experience on one of the important commissions, plus other civic services and the candidate's views, I urge the election of Bill Bingley to the number two spot.

It is gratifying that there has been a competitive campaign. My best wishes to whomever the majority elects. To the other candidates I hope you will continue to be interested in some service to your city.

Sincerely,
Beatrice B. Carlson

Criticizes Story

To the Editor:

First of all, I would like to commend you on the fine job that you are doing in providing this area with its only local newspaper. Its importance as a community service and source of information cannot be taken lightly. However, in your last edition, I was very unhappy with the article published concerning the return of Rev. Cook to the First Baptist Church of Novi.

There are several reasons for my displeasure. First of all, the article as very untimely. It will be four weeks before Rev. Cook arrives and it had been requested that you wait a little while before publishing such an article. Secondly, your method of gathering information was most unethical. On several occasions, reporters called the church and several of its members in an attempt to solicit information without first asking to whom they were speaking or inquiring as to the authority of this person to act as a spokesman for the church. This perhaps explains the obvious errors made in statements such as the one concerning a former pastor, Rev. Barnes. He is not a missionary on the island of Aruba, as stated, but is the pastor of a church in Illinois. Third and last, the grammar and general organization of this article was very poor. Lack of complete information

I will feel no summer sun...

The following poem written by a friend in memory of PFC Robert John Regenhardt, Jr., killed in Vietnam on March 17, was read by the Reverend Lloyd Brasure during the memorial service at the First Presbyterian Church Saturday.

*I am not the first to die
And roads beyond bring ever more.
But I must hope that someone's son
Will speak of war no more.
I did not choose this age to live
Or seek a soldier's martyrdom.
This lonely land I barely knew —
So many miles from home.
In Spring of life and Spring of year
It is goodbye, my task is done.*

*For April shall not come for me
And I will feel no summer sun.
To live, believe and understand
Was all I sought to do,
But fate decreed it otherwise,
My cross must pass to you.
In spirit now my hand extends
To all with war distraught.
Oh grasp my hand and still the fear
That I have died for naught.*

As soon as he spoke that low baritone voice touched a memory chord and this writer was zipped back to 1939 and a Flint elementary school gymnasium. There was no doubt about it — this was the same giant of a man who 30 years ago strode into the gymnasium, his big silver badge and black boots glistening, and roared with a pumpkin size grin, Good morning girls and boys."

WILBUR LEGREE
Flint's Singing Cop

That a cop can sing isn't so spectacular — but a cop who can sing and is "still going strong" after 30 years is pretty impressive, especially for a nostalgic guy like myself who was around when the man in blue made his debut.

Last week the First Baptist Church of Wixom sent out a release informing this newspaper that a Lieutenant Wilbur Legree is to sing at the church Easter Sunday morning. A quick check with Wixom and my suspicion was confirmed — the "Singing Cop" is still singing.

So I rang up the cop who so impressed me as a youngster, finally reaching him at his home near Davison.

Of course he wouldn't remember me from the million or more youngsters he has thrilled over the years, but when I suggested he probably couldn't remember singing for an assembly of children at Cody Elementary School in Flint he laughed, "Oh, but you're wrong. You kids sat cross-legged on the gym floor. Your principal was Mrs. Robertson. How could I forget... it was the year I started all of this."

Obviously pleased with my call, he briefly reviewed what had happened to him over the years:

Wilbur Legree joined the Flint police force in 1934. Because of a "bad accident record" among school-age children, Legree was asked to set up some kind of safety program. So for six months he worked on it finally coming up with a safety singing skit that he inaugurated in September of 1939. He also was put in charge of the safety patrol program.

Mrs. Legree, who collaborated with her husband in writing much of the music used, accompanied him on the piano in those early days of the program. It was an immediate hit. Every school in the Flint system invited him to sing for student assemblies.

While it wasn't a safety song and although neither he nor his wife wrote it, the one I remember most vividly was "The Green Eyed Dragon with The Thirteen Tails". I heard Fat Bob sing it at a press conference two years ago and he couldn't come close to equalling the Singing Cop's version.

"No I don't sing that one anymore," Legree admitted. "It's a little too much for me. But do you remember 'Boys Sit on a Railroad Track'?"

You bet!

For 19 years he presented the program, moving from one public and parochial school to another and back again. In 1959 he retired from the force. By then the success of his program had attracted nation-wide attention among safety experts, and the Associated Petroleum Industry of Michigan hired him to continue singing safety for youngsters throughout the state.

In the 4 1/2 years he was with API, Legree traveled more than 30,000 miles around the state. Later he became the school safety consultant for 19 districts in Genesee County, finally moving to Big Rapids with intentions of "really retiring".

But the inactivity was too much and a year later Legree moved back to Flint to continue his Singing Cop career. Today, pushing 70, he still travels from school to school, from church to church, singing safety. And even that isn't enough; he also serves as traffic referee in Flint's probate court each Wednesday and occasionally he does some substitute teaching.

Wherever he goes, says Legree, he's always "running into someone who remembers hearing me as a youngster." Many of them are teachers and dozens are policemen.

His two children are grown and married now and his wife no longer accompanies him on his trips or at the piano. But both children and wife are a constant encouragement for the cop who won't stop singing. There are others of us, too, who hope he keeps singing forever.

Attitudes of Abortion Law Revisions Changing

LANSING — Public attitudes toward abortion law reform are changing in favor of removing some of the ancient restrictions, say two state Senators.

To reflect this sentiment, Sens. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, and John E. McCauley, D-Wyandotte, are sponsoring a pair of bills in the legislature to liberalize the abortion law.

One measure would give women the right to legal abortion for any reason, including family planning, provided the operation was performed by a licensed physician in an accredited hospital.

The other would not go that far. It would limit legal abortion to cases where the mother's physical or mental health is endangered; where pregnancy results from rape or incest; or there is reason to believe a deformed child will be born.

Bursley and McCauley said they offered the bills together to give

Plastic Industry Scores Triumphs In '68 Marketplace

BABSON'S REPORTS Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts — The year 1968 will be recorded in the annals of the plastics industry not only for the 100th Anniversary celebration, but for a dramatic turn in the price structure. Production and sales were practically in balance, while prices were firm, or even higher. This was due to a deeper inroad in established sectors and the opening of several new areas. Sales reached 15.1 billion pounds last year. Plastics now exceed production of any metal except iron and steel. They account for about 20% of the chemical industry's sales, and are the fastest-growing and largest of the major segments.

Major and most widely used plastics are the thermoplastics (materials which soften with heat and harden again when cooled). Polyethylene, polyvinyl chloride (PVC), and polystyrene are the big-volume thermoplastics. Of the seven principal markets (construction, packaging, transportation, electronics, appliances, furniture, and agriculture), the first three represent the greatest potential for growth.

CONSTRUCTION — About 25% of plastics materials produced are used in construction... for interior walls, partitions, floors, insulation, siding, shutters, translucent panels, and coatings. Because of a less rigid building code, use of plastic pipe is also increasing rapidly. Currently, some 2 billion pounds of the above polymers are consumed annually. By 1970 some 7 billion pounds, and by 1980 between 10 billion and 12 billion are expected to be consumed yearly.

PACKAGING — This is the second-largest market, with volume at 2.8 billion pounds. Within a year consumption is anticipated at the 4-billion level and double that amount by 1980. One of the sizable lawmakers a choice between going part of the way or all the way down the abortion reform path.

PRESENTLY the life of the mother must be in danger before abortion in Michigan is legally permitted. The Senators say this is unrealistic.

"The vast majority of the people of Michigan would welcome legislation on this subject for humanitarian and pragmatic reasons," said a special State study committee recently.

The committee recommended liberalization of abortion laws. It noted that several other states moved in that direction two years ago.

Bursley said he talked with doctors, lawyers, nurses, housewives, social workers, sociologists and theologians about the subject and concluded that change is badly needed.

McCauley said he would prefer the Legislature remove all restrictions because the question to whether to abort a pregnancy "is a personal one between physician and mother." He noted the bill would not impose mandatory standards on anyone.

The Senators' effort has the backing of the American Public Health Association, which reports illegal abortion is a major cause of illness, disability and death to tremendous numbers of women every year.

About 100,000 illegal abortions are performed in the United States every year, according to association estimates. McCauley said it would be "like an ostrich sticking its head in the sand" to ignore the danger they present.

Bursley said states that have liberalized abortion laws in recent years have received many applications from women in other states. He said this is indicative of the feeling of the people.

ABORTIONS are considered safe through the first 16 weeks of pregnancy by most medical experts. After that, they become more difficult.

Association officials say one-fourth to one-third of all maternal deaths in the United States are caused by illegal abortions. They say that statistically, a legal abortion before 16 weeks by a qualified doctor is safer than a normal pregnancy.

The legislative battle over the abortion issue could rival that shaping up over state tax aid to parochial schools in the 1969 session.

The Roman Catholic Church in Michigan began organizing opposition to abortion law change last fall. A group called LIFE (Life, Individual, Family, Education) was formed in parishes across the state.

The Catholic Church teaches that abortion, under any circumstance, is the same as murder in the eyes of God.

FARMS are fewer, larger and more productive in Michigan, says Dr. Karl T. Wright, MSU agriculture economist. He estimates there are now about 80,000 farms in the state, a drop of 16% from the last official census in 1964.

The amount of land tilled is dropping too. Figures indicate that 18 million acres under production in 1940 dropped to 13.6 by 1964. Wright expects the reduction to continue to 10 million by 1980.

Michigan's record is similar to other states. There is a general decline in the number of farms with farms growing larger.

EFFICIENCY in farm machinery permits bigger profits, but a farmer must have large amounts of land to work if he is to realize benefits of new methods. New techniques and careful management produce much more food and profit per acre than ever before, but they leave no room for small farmers who continue the methods of the "old family farm."

More than half of Michigan's small farmers have other means of employment. Wright says the 56%, mostly in the lower part of the state, work at jobs in addition to farm work.

applications in bottles for toiletries and cosmetics. However, once the Food & Drug Administration approves the use of polyvinyl chloride (PVC) for more applications, its growth could be dynamic.

TRANSPORTATION — Industry estimates pinpoint the use of plastics in automobiles alone at 57 pounds per car in 1967. This year 100 pounds is forecast and 300 pounds per car in the 1970's. Some 600 million pounds are expected to be produced this year, and on the order of 3 billion pounds as we enter the 1980's.

As the largest-selling plastic, POLYETHYLENE has the greatest growth rate. As a general purpose molding, it has captured the bulk of the packaging market. Sales should reach 5.4 billion pounds in 1970 and 11.2 billion in 1980 — compared with a little over 3 billion in 1965. POLYVINYL CHLORIDE (PVC) is the second largest, saleswise, and the most versatile. Major markets include baby pants, shower curtains, wall covering, and upholstery. However, food packaging has also become a big item for PVC, as well as vinyl home siding. Sales of 3.1 billion pounds and 6.9 billion are forecast for 1970 and 1980 respectively vs. 1.8 billion in 1965. Finally, POLYSTYRENE, a glassy and often brittle plastic used for kitchen items, containers, toys, and wall tiles, has carved out a large niche in large and small home appliances and in the burgeoning applications for furniture — simulated wood grains. Sales of over 3 billion pounds are forecast for 1970 and over 6 billion by 1980.

The production of plastics is not limited solely to chemical companies. A broad spectrum ranging from basic chemical producers to oil, gas, and rubber companies, and including even food and glass firms, is represented. UNION CARBIDE, second largest in the chemical group, is heavily involved in all three of the major thermoplastics. It produces more than 1,000 varieties of seven basic plastic materials catering to practically every industrial and consumer need. Profits in 1967-1968 were under pressure from reduced operating rates, heavy start-up costs, and strikes. However, Babson's Reports believes 1969 could be a turnaround year in both sales and earnings. Hence, we advise purchase of the conservative-grade common for growth and income.

Wayne County Juvenile Court Eyes New Probation Program

Plans are being made for experimental use of neighborhood residents as probation officers at Wayne County Juvenile Court in an effort to help young offenders avoid future mistakes.

The program is intended to have a double-barreled effect: to reduce juvenile delinquency, while at the same time grooming low-income persons for better-paying careers in youth work.

Plans for the one-year program, for which a $150,618 federal grant will be sought, were approved last week by the Juvenile Affairs Committee of the County Board of Supervisors. Approval by the Ways and Means Committee and the full board is required.

"I'm really excited about this concept," said Supervisor Jerome A.

Szymanski, of Detroit's 6th District. "It could help solve Juvenile Court's two biggest problems - over-crowding at the Youth Home and the heavy caseloads of the probation officers."

Juvenile Court Judge James H. Lincoln has blamed inadequate supervision and a lack of facilities for the fact that half the youngsters who come before Juvenile Court are repeaters.

The program will operate within the boundaries of Detroit's Model Neighborhood area, most of which is on the city's lower east side. Its approximate boundaries are Mt. Elliott, Jefferson, Bagley, Grand River, and Milwaukie.

Hiring of 12 residents of the area as probation assistants is proposed. They would be chosen on a basis of their apparent ability to help the youngsters, rather than on their academic and employment credentials.

At present, a master's degree in social work is required of probation officers at the court.

Each assistant would have a caseload of 25 to 40 youngsters, the number depending on whether they were boys or girls. This compares with caseloads of 100 for probation officers at the court.

The program is designed to serve about 500 youths.

The probation assistants would spend their first two months on the job in training. In-service training would continue throughout the program.

In addition, four probationers who have reformed will serve as youth interns, working with younger boys.

Three experienced probation officers will supervise the experimental group.

Juvenile Court would provide $27,775 worth of services for the project.

The full Board of Supervisors met Thursday, March 20, and gave preliminary approval to plans to clothe prisoners at the County Jail in uniforms and to hire a professional jail administrator to run the jail under over-all direction by the Sheriff.

The two items are part of a $123,750 package of top-priority improvements which were recommended in a study of the jail by the Citizens Research Council of Michigan. The package also provides for three social scientists to screen out dangerous and suicidal persons from among new prisoners.

The package will be up for final approval at a board meeting April 3.

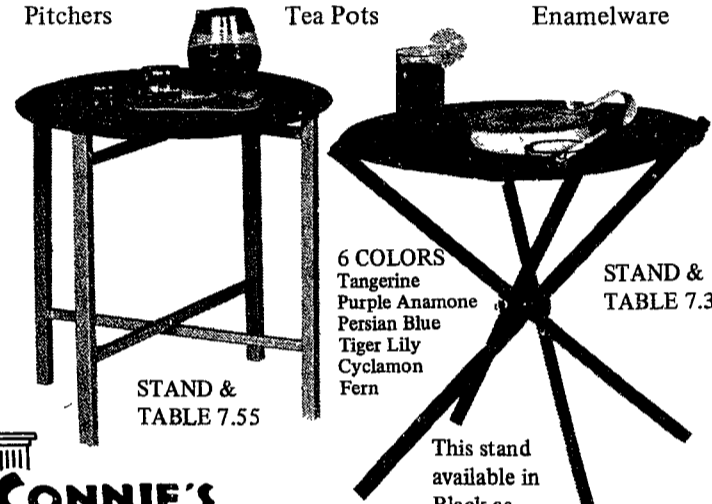

The Legislative Committee, headed by 19th Dist. Supervisor Harvey J. Beadle, of Redford Township, reviewed 14 bills which are in the State Legislature at a meeting Monday, March 17. The committee endorsed nine measures and opposed five.

The Public Works Committee, meeting Tuesday, March 18, launched a study of a proposal for a county-wide refuse disposal system. The system was recommended in a report by the consulting firm of Conser Townsend. Frank B. Swapka, Dearborn Heights, 20th Dist. Supervisor is Public Works Chairman.

Train Crash Of '07 Recalled

"The suffering, groaning and screaming were so terrible I have never completely gotten over it."

That's how Mrs. William H. Parks (Sadie) of Novi, recalls what was probably the worst accident in this area's history - a catastrophe that will be described in detail in the special July 17 centennial edition of The Northville Record.

Now 86, Mrs. Parks was a nurse on that day in July, 1907 when a train crash claimed the lives of at least 30 persons and injured a hundred more in Salem near Six Mile Road. She worked for Dr. Thomas Henry, a Northville physician who was one of the first doctors to reach the scene.

"Dr. Henry drove an old car - a Ford or a Brush - and people walking got there as fast as he did. His supplies were exhausted in 10 minutes. People streamed across the corn field bringing sheets, pillow cases, shirts, anything that might be used for bandages, comments Mrs. Parks, who is now nearly blind.

She remembers that her brother-in-law, Lee Passage, "fired the relief train that brought help from Detroit - we needed it because there was almost nothing we could do to help."

At the time she had only recently become the bride of Mr. Parks, who died last January. He was born near the Novi school on Novi Road on May 8, 1884 - the same day Harry S. Truman was born. She was born the previous year in Tawas City. They were married in Northville while she was in nurses training.

Mrs. Parks, who lives at 1980 Austin Drive, gave The Record a picture of the train accident, commenting "the younger people just aren't interested so I thought the paper might like it."

Subscribers will receive the 100-page centennial special free - but it will cost all other $1. See advertisement on Page 6-B.

College Chorale, Choir to Perform

SPOCK TO SPEAK — Dr. Benjamin Spock, nationally famous physician and author, will be a guest lecturer Thursday, April 10 in the Waterman Campus Center at Schoolcraft College. His 3 p.m. lecture is entitled, "What's Happening to America: the War and Domestic Reality", and at 8 p.m. he will speak on "Dissent and the Need for a New Politics." Open to the public the lecture admission is $1 for non-college students and staff. The program is part of the college's Humanities Series, presented by the Cultural Affairs Committee.

The combined Schoolcraft Chorale, Symphonic Choir, and the college orchestra, under the direction of Bradley Bloom, will perform Felix Mendelssohn's "Elijah," at 8 p.m., Friday, April 18, in the Lois L. Waterman Campus Center. Admission is free.

"Elijah," is one of Mendelssohn's greater successes, and exhibits his talent at its full maturity. As an oratorio its success lies in its dramatic scheme enhanced by a powerful and remarkable text.

An Old Testament prophet, Elijah lived in the days of Ahab, king of Israel. During a drought which Elijah foretold, he was fed by ravens by the brook Cherith (1 Kings xviii 6). Elijah opposed the prophets of Baal and challenged them to a contest on Mt. Carmel, where two altars were built one to Baal, one to Jehovah.

In the dramatic contest of faith that followed, Baal proved deaf to the repeated entreaties of his prophets. But Jehovah answered Elijah, according to the Old Testament, by sending fire from heaven.

Mendelssohn presents Elijah, for all his nobleness of character, as an individual with very human qualities. His task is to wrestle with titanic forces: nature, evil, and the frailty of the man in the street.

Eternal principles are stated in the oratorio by small groups of voices, angelic choirs, and in the solos assigned to the tenor, contralto, and soprano. In general, Mendelssohn used the large body of voices to state universal attitudes of humanity. The "Elijah" choruses express the emotions of mankind in general, faced with various crises and swayed always by the forces of the moment.

The first performance of "Elijah" was given Aug. 26, 1846, at Birmingham, England. Mendelssohn's reaction to this performance can be best expressed in his own words: "Nothing of mine ever went so well as the first performance, or was greeted so enthusiastically by the musicians and the public."

How Students Learn to Read Is Examined

"A few months in first grade devoted to preventing reading failure is worth several years of remedial reading instruction in the later grades" reports Dr. Rachel Brake, language arts consultant for the Wayne County Intermediate School District. Dr. Brake is currently engaged in a federal research project that examines the complex process of learning to read.

The $10,000 federal grant will allow Dr. Brake to finish a study of the effects of first grade prescriptive teaching based on weaknesses as diagnosed by Kindergarten pre-reading tests.

Major objective of the project will be to reduce the incidence of reading failure through early identification of potential reading failures and appropriate intervention before failure can occur.

Kindergarten children who are potential reading failures have been identified by tests that accurately pinpoint areas of weakness. These children, so identified, have been assigned to first grade teachers who have special training in the observation of children, expert knowledge about the kinds of weakness exhibited by failure-bound children, and special skills in developing a curriculum which meets each child's specific, identified needs.

This "reading failure prevention" study, in operation since January 1, 1968 will be continued for one year with a federally-supported grant (January 1, 1969 to January 1, 1970) and will have the following objectives:

Identify kindergarten children who have learning difficulties that are highly predictive of reading failure.

Utilize appropriate materials and develop new ones, as well as teaching strategies to be used with each child in his diagnosed area of weakness.

Conduct a prescriptive teaching program for first grade students whose test profiles predict reading failure.

Validate a group test which has predictive value.

Evaluate the effectiveness of the prescriptive treatment by comparing reading test scores of treatment and non-treatment groups.

The aim of the study is prevention of reading failure, not remediation.

Juvenile Faces Adult Court For Kidnapping

A juvenile, who took part in the kidnapping of a Novi woman in February will face justice in adult court, Novi police learned Friday.

James M. Fraser, 16, of Detroit who accompanied Kenneth W. Owens, 17, of Ionia on a wild joyride after the pair escaped from Whitmore Lake boys training school, will appear with him in Oakland County Circuit Court next Thursday.

The ruling that Fraser, who has been in and out of the youth home several times and escaped a waiver requested by Detroit police in the past to try him as an adult, is to stand trial in adult court was handed down by Junivle Probate Judge Arthur Moore.

Fraser will face three counts in circuit court. He is charged with kidnapping Mrs. Otilia H. Thompson, 45000 West Drive; with the armed robbery of Mrs. Thompson, a retired Walled Lake substitute school teacher; and with unlawfully driving away her auto. The older youth, Owens, will appear on similar charges.

District Court

Five cases were concluded last week Tuesday in Northville's branch of the Plymouth District Court in a day held mainly for arraignments. Judge Dunbar Davis fined the following offenders (each disposition includes the $3 judgment fee per offense):

Norman MacLeod of 10848 Jamestown Circle, who was originally charged with driving under the influence of alcohol on March 12, changed his plea to guilty of driving while his ability was impaired and paid $128.

Dale L. Roberts of Garden City, who was released to Northville on a traffic warrant after he was picked up by Wayne County Sheriff's Department, appeared for emitting white tail lights and was assessed $38.

Another open warrant case, that of Carl T. Howell of Livonia, came up and he was fined $48 on a charge of defective equipment (exhaust).

The other two open traffic warrants were for two Plymouth youths, Dale A. Brousseau and Robert L. Provo. Each paid $8, Brousseau for defective equipment and Provo for speeding and failure to produce registration.

The number of students so honored from Northville was one of the finest representations from community's of its size. To win honors students had to maintain at least "B" grades for two consecutive terms. They were:

Earl Cherne, Susan Conley, Kathleen Erwin, Mark Hesse, Patricia Hicks, Susan Hill, Lawrence Hurlburt, David Kerr, Susan Reinhackel, Larry Tibbos, and Carol Yahne.

Guest speaker for the morning program in Hill Auditorium was Dr. James R. Lawson of Fiske University.

In the afternoon, the honor students and their parents were guests at a tea given by U-M President and Mrs. Robben W. Fleming.

Probably the most obvious error was in the use of the phrase, "half-dozen years". The term "half-dozen" refers to a quantity of things and is awkward and incorrect when used to express a length of time. I sincerely hope that such criticism will be taken constructively, as that is how it is intended. This church and I'm sure all of the churches in this area appreciate your concern and generosity, in publicizing their activities. Surely you will agree with me that it is the duty of a newspaper staff not only to publish all significant, newsworthy events in a community, but also to assume the responsibility to see that they are timely, accurate and grammatically correct.

Miss Sandra Thomas

To the Editor:

As a senior social work major at Valparaiso University and as a resident of Northville, I would just like to say that I am interested in the educational welfare of the children in our town. As of yet I do not know the results of the special school millage election, but I would sincerely hope that at last, after three attempts, the people of Northville would realize that the future of their city depends upon the youth and then have voted accordingly.

Certainly any ordinary school system could do without extracurricular activities, art and music programs, psychologists, and good libraries, but the Northville school system is not and has not been just an ordinary school system. It has given children many opportunities to excel in many areas. We read about these children and their activities every week in The Record. Schools, now more than ever, have to educate for the total person. They can not only be concerned with history, math, and science. Music, art, recreational, and social activities should receive just as much focus. For it is the growth of the whole person that is the aim of education. I would sincerely hope that the passage of this millage is just the beginning of future cooperation and support on the part of the citizens in order to make and to keep the Northville School system a better one. Finally, I would like to see my own sisters receive an education at least equal to what I received, preferably, though, a little better! Diane Rathert

FOLINO'S FOR ALLEN

Aside from the incumbent, there is no other candidate for Northville city council who has attended as many council sessions as I have. It is my observation that the wisdom Mayor A. M. Allen brings to the council through his many years of community service needs stronger support. If elected, I intend to bring that support to the many programs for community improvement that Mayor Allen has introduced.
