

FISHIN' FOR FUN — Northville went fishing for more community recreational fun this past week as six "good size" largemouth bass were placed in one of the city-owned fish hatchery ponds. Stocking of the pond (a hundred or more bluegills will be placed here by the conservation department yet this week) is an attempt by city officials to provide another recreational activity for Northville youngsters — namely fishing. But before kids can test their luck they'll have to wait awhile until the pond's officially open, cautions Robert Moe as he sizes up one of the bass.

Only Deibert Files For School Seat

Glenn E. Deibert, present trustee on the Northville Board of Education and only candidate to file for the post in the upcoming June 9 school election, informally was welcomed to his second term by fellow board members Monday.

Since he was unopposed by the filing deadline at 4 p.m. Monday, he is virtually assured of the second term — a term that gave evidence of beginning with the district in good personnel and financial shape.

Business manager Earl Busard reported that Northville is the second school district in the state to receive approval for an advance on state aid and will get $262,000 June 15, saving about $11,000 in bank interest charges and carrying the district at least until September 5.

The board approved hiring of nine teachers, all replacements, for next year upon recommendation of Superintendent Raymond Spear. To date the district, he reported, has had 25 teacher resignations, a figure less than that of the last two years. Twelve teachers previously were hired for next year at the April meeting.

Spear indicated he was not concerned about filling remaining vacancies as the office has received many calls and more than 600 applications. Some of the interested, he

Chamber Eyes Annual Meet

Claude W. Coates, director of community planning for Vilcan-Leman, Inc., will be the featured speaker at the annual election meeting of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce Monday evening.

The dinner meeting, which will get underway at 7:30 p.m. at the Thunderbird Inn, will include the election of new officers.

Coates' appearance was scheduled to coincide with Government Day festivities here during Michigan Week. Vilcan-Leman is Northville Township's professional planning consultant.

City Millage Cut, Tax Hike Seen

A millage reduction appears likely — greater possibly than even recommended by the city manager — but don't look for a reduction in Northville city taxes which are on their way up.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff, who recommended a budget calling for a 1.4 millage reduction from 13 to 11.6, was directed by the council Monday night to trim the millage even more if possible.

Under the manager's proposed budget, an average tax increase of less than five-percent is predicted — even with proposed cut in millage.

Increase in taxes despite the millage reduction results because of the factors that are to be applied to local assessments, the manager explained (See related story). If the present tax rate was maintained in view of the assessment factors the average tax increase would be closer to 25-percent, he said.

Should the millage be reduced even more than recommended by the manager, the increase in taxes would be correspondingly less.

Ollendorff emphasized that although city taxes are expected to increase less than five-percent, local taxpayers can expect more like a 25-percent increase in their total taxes because of increase in school and county taxes.

The manager's recommended budget, which calls for an overall increase of $60,107, is based on an estimated SEV of nearly $24 million. Last year the overall budget, including all categories, was $905,693. The proposed budget outlay is $965,800.

The budget provides for a general fund outlay of $517,200, up from $510,701 in the current fiscal year; $136,600 water fund outlay, down from $139,992, a $260,000 public improvement fund, up from $210,000; and a street improvement fund of $52,000, up from $45,000.

General fund revenues include property tax, $286,700; state returns

(income tax, sales tax, liquor licenses, intangibles), $70,700; local permits and fees, $58,000; sales of miscellaneous service (more than half from furnishing track police service), $89,800; and improvement fund services, $12,000.

Biggest single factor for the increase in the general fund, the manager explained, is an increase in wages and salaries.

The large anticipated increase in public improvement funds results from the extended racing season at Northville Downs this year. The city's share of state reimbursement of Downs revenue is earmarked for public improvement and long-term capital outlay.

Michigan Week Salute

Northville Hosts Otsego

Northville will join with communities throughout the state next week in a salute to "the land of opportunity" as part of the 16th annual Michigan Week festivities.

Locally, a wide range of activities are planned beginning this Saturday — "Community Pride Day" and concluding the following Saturday — "Youth Day", under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Slattery.

Highlighting the week-long festivities will be the exchange of officials between the City of Northville and the City of Otsego on Monday, which is appropriately called "Government Day."

Mayor A. M. Allen and Councilman Charles Lapham will visit Otsego.

Arriving in Northville at 9:30 a.m., Mayor and Mrs. Donald Hunsaker and Commissioner and Mrs. Frederick Baldwin of Otsego will be first greeted by High School Principal Frederick Holdsworth followed by a brief tour of the high school.

Arrangements for the Otsego officials' visit here were made by Clerk Mrs. Martha Milne.

From the high school the visitors will be escorted to the city hall by the high school marching band, under the direction of Robert Williams.

At approximately 10 a.m. Girl Scout Troop 371 will participate in a flag raising ceremony, followed by the invocation by the Reverend Timothy Johnson of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Extending the city's official welcome will be Mayor Protom Wallace Nichols and other councilmen and officials. The band will present several musical selections.

Following the initial welcome the guests and their hosts will move inside the city hall for a coffee hour hosted by the Women's League of Voters and a tour of the building conducted by City Manager Frank Ollendorff.

An informal "council meeting" will take place in the council chambers with Mayor Hunsaker and Mayor Protom Nichols presiding.

At 11:30 the guests and their hosts will walk to the Presbyterian Church, viewing Michigan Week displays in store windows along the way.

The Northville Rotary Club will host its annual Michigan Week luncheon program at the church, beginning at noon. Rotary Vice-President, Raymond Spear will preside. Guest speaker for the occasion will be Peter Ponta, Ford Motor Company executive. In addition, the Rotary Club is planning to make some special, surprise awards.

Following the Rotary luncheon program, the official party will tour sections of Northville, including the Ford Valve Plant and the Northville Downs.

Later that evening, the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce will conduct its annual membership meeting, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Thunderbird Inn, with emphasis on Michigan Week.

Kicking off Michigan Week here on Saturday will be an open air "flea market", sponsored by Our Lady of Victory Church.

On Wednesday, "Livelihood Day", a Michigan Week Women's Tea saluting Northville women's organizations and service groups will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. in the social hall of the Presbyterian Church. (See Jean Day's "In Our Town" Column on Page 2-A).

Northville school bus drivers will be feted at an "appreciation supper" as part of Michigan Week festivities beginning at 6:30 p.m. that evening at the junior high school.

Thursday, May 22 "Education Day", a Michigan Week poster and essay contest is planned for school children by the Northville Beautification Commission. A display of winning posters and essays will be shown at the city hall.

Finally, an open house is planned at the Cavern's new teen clubroom facilities in the old junior high school on Saturday, May 24 "Youth Day." The teenagers hope to have one of the club rooms ready for public viewing. The Cavern's fund-raising campaign continues throughout the month of May, and a special table display by the Mother's Club, which sponsors the youth organization, will be shown during the Michigan Week tea on Wednesday.

Township Hires Fulltime Officer

Northville township employed a 40-hour-per-week police officer Tuesday night at an annual salary of $9,500.

The action came after heated debate and a series of 4-2 votes with Clerk Eleanor Hammond, Treasurer Alex Lawrence and Trustees Richard Mitchell and Joseph Straub lined up against Trustees Thomas Armstrong and Bernard Baldwin.

Now on a fulltime basis enforcing the township's ordinances is Ron Nisun, 39, a former Livonia constable who has served as a Northville township police officer on a parttime basis for the past three years. His salary was made retroactive to April 14, when he left his Livonia job as officer for the district court. Since April 14 he has been working for the township at an hourly rate of $3.

Armstrong and Baldwin, who described Nisun's salary as "right out of sight", maintained that the board had promised to postpone any action on employment of fulltime police service until a board-appointed citizens' committee completes its police study.

"We left the impression with the public that we'd await results of the study before taking action on this matter. Now we're disregarding this by hiring a fulltime officer at a rate out of line with all neighboring communities and adding insult to injury by making it retroactive", Baldwin protested.

Mitchell didn't see it that way. He insisted that his only reason for delaying action on changing Nisun from parttime to fulltime status was to check out information given by members of the study committee which indicated that the state police

Factors Hike Assessments

Barring any changes by the state, Northville assessment factors will be 1.25 and 1.226, Oakland and Wayne County officials revealed this past week.

In the Wayne County portion of the city, where the factor was put at 1.226, the recommended state equalized value was pegged at $15,929,150 or $2,936,050 more than the local assessment.

In the Oakland County portion, where the factor was set at 1.25, the recommended SEV was put at $8,000,212.

Northville Township's SEV was put at $30,549,130, requiring, no factor. It is up $4,438,590 from last year.

Neighboring Novi, where county officials found local assessments higher than 50 percent of true cash value, a rare negative factor of .91 was ordered. Novi was the only community in Oakland County to receive a negative factor, thus reducing the local assessment by $4,790,165 to $48,433,880.

Weston was given a factor of 1.18, boosting the local assessment of $37,365,100 to $44,090,818.

Local Officials to Confer

Rumors Fly over Maybury 'Sale'

What once was one of the nation's finest tuberculosis treatment centers is becoming, locally, an issue of major proportions.

Maybury Sanatorium, owned and operated by the City of Detroit, is slated to cease operations by the end of the year and Detroit officials say the property will be sold.

What will become of the property has long been a concern of local township and school officials. Rumors have circulated for years but it is only in recent months, with the announcement that the sanatorium will be closed, that impending sale of the property has gained credence.

Located on 900 acres lying between Seven and Eight Mile Roads, west of Beck Road in Northville Township, the property disposition will be the center of discussion as members of the township board and the school board meet jointly next Monday night.

Among unconfirmed reports relative to what might happen to the property when sold are:

* New Detroit, Inc. is considering the property for low cost housing for the underprivileged of Detroit. The rumor has been denied but persists.

* The property and existing buildings may be turned into a retirement center or convalescent home.

* A private developer is considering purchase for a subdivision of "small acreage" homes.

It is no secret that the Northville school board is considering purchase of up to 40 acres of the property for a future school site. Several school inquiries have gone to Mayor Jerome Cavanagh's office which has been non-committal.

Nor is it a secret that the school board is still actively considering initiation of condemnation proceedings at the urging of Business Manager Earl Busard. The business manager contends that since the property is now only being used partially and since the Detroit mayor has declined to respond positively to the board's inquiries condemnation is a very real possibility.

Presently, the sanatorium, which in 1950 housed nearly 750 TB patients, is caring for 160 patients — 30 of them children as the sanatorium is gradually being phased out of operation, according to Dr. Paul W. Reagan, who replaced Dr. W. L. Howard, retired Maybury director.

Dr. Reagan, who lives in Northville township in a home on the Maybury property, told this newspaper that it is common knowledge that Maybury has been on Detroit's list of surplus property for about eight years.

Recently, the Detroit Common Council, in axing Mayor Cavanagh's proposed budget, came up with a budget of its own that provides for the sale of Maybury.

Questioned by this newspaper, Detroit Councilman Philip VanAntwerp confirmed that the sale of the property is imminent but that no commitments have been made since the sanatorium is not scheduled to be closed completely until January 1, 1970.

Announce Engagements

CAROL LYNN MOORE

Announcement is made of the engagement and summer wedding plans of Carol Lynn Moore and David Earl Kahler by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie C. Moore, 230 Lake Street. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Kahler, of Walled Lake.

The bride-elect and her fiancé both will be June graduates, she from Northville High School and he from Novi.

A July 26 wedding date is set.

JANET JOYCE HOOPER

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hooper, 20601 Westview Drive, announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet Joyce, to Lawrence G. Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Olson of Plymouth.

The bride-elect is a Northville High School graduate. Her fiancé is a graduate of Plymouth High School. Both presently are attending Eastern Michigan University.

No wedding date is set.

Hi Mom!

Greeting from Vietnam

"Hi Mom!"

That greeting Sunday from Vietnam was about the best Mother's Day present Mrs. Warren F. Doyle, 45192 Galway Drive, could receive from her son, Marine Private First Class Glenn G. Doyle.

The unexpected call came at 1:30 p.m. Sunday from Da Nang and was relayed by two ham radio operators, one overseas and one in the United States.

Mrs. Doyle especially welcomed the call as the family hadn't heard from Glenn, who is in communications work, for five weeks. Mrs. Doyle says she was so excited when the ham operator contacted her to say he had her son on his radio that she doesn't know where the ham relay originated.

The Marine asked to be remembered to Northville friends and told his mother he hopes to be returning the beginning of September.

Musician-Composer To Speak May 22

An outstanding musician-composer and an antiques authority will share the May program of the local chapter of Christian Women's Clubs of America following luncheon at 12:30 p.m. next Thursday, May 22, at Lofy's Restaurant in Plymouth.

Mrs. Beatrice Bush Bixler, widely known soloist, musician and composer of sacred music, will be featured in all three roles. She is best known for her compositions, "I Am Not Worthy" and "Life Is a Symphony."

Her songs appear in the Singspiration Books. She has recorded an album and is known to local women from Winning Women Retreats.

A special feature of the program will be "Living With Antiques" by Mrs. Lucille Banks, an authority on Shaker period furniture who does live with antiques in her home on Territorial Road in Plymouth.

All women of the area are invited to attend the inspirational-special interest program and are asked to telephone reservations by noon Tuesday to Mrs. Frank Martin, 349-2759. A nursery is available.

Talk to Bridge 'Generation Gap' Tonight

"The Generation Gap" will be bridged in discussion at the May meeting of the Plymouth Branch of the American Association of University Women at 7:30 p.m. today at Plymouth Junior High West when Dr. Elizabeth M. Douvan, associate professor of psychology at the University of Michigan is to be guest speaker.

Dr. Douvan is a recognized authority in the area of adolescent psychology. Her writings have focused on social mobility and personality development. She received her AB degree from Vassar College, her MS and PhD., from the University of Michigan.

She has participated in several national studies for the University of Michigan Institute for Social Research and has served as study director in the Survey Research Center. She also has served as an officer of the Society for the Psychological Study of Social Issues, a division of the American Psychological Association.

A brief business meeting and installation of new officers will precede the program. Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. Arthur Domalski, chairman, Mrs. Donald Bowe, Mrs. Wendell Miller, Mrs. Robert Dinsmore and Mrs. Glenn Davis.

WHEN A PARTY is for every woman in Northville, how many cookies do you bake? That's the feminine sort of problem committees working on the Michigan Week Salute-to-Women reception to be held from 1 to 3 p.m. next Wednesday at the Presbyterian church have been solving.

Since the event especially honors Mrs. Beatrice Carlson, newly retired city councilwoman and long-time beautification worker, it should be as well attended as Mrs. William Slattery, Michigan Week chairman who originated the idea, and her workers hope.

Mrs. Alex Johnson, Northville Woman's Club member who took on the task of cookie-coordinator, finally settled on a figure of 132 dozen (or 1,584 cookies.) They are being baked and donated by members of Woman's Club, Northville Town Hall, King's Daughters and the Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

One high light of the afternoon will be the presentation of a corsage to Mrs. Carlson by Mrs. Mabel Cooley on behalf of the Northville Business and Professional Women. As Mrs. Carlson was founder and always-active member of the group, this ceremony holds special sentiment.

Planning to be on hand are all four of Mrs. Carlson's daughters, including Carrel (Mrs. George Noomie) who is making her first visit here in five years from Tallahassee, Florida.

Other daughters, all of Northville, are Betty (Mrs. John Gibson), Harriet (Mrs. Edward Landau), and Shirley (Mrs. William Nuottila). Mrs. Carlson also has a son, Art.

"She's always doing for everybody; so its wonderful everyone's taking time to thank her — we're all awfully proud of her, and she is so excited," commented Mrs. Gibson as she looked forward to the reception for her mother.

Mrs. Carl Bryan has been coordinating Northville Woman's Club arrangements for the Salute to Women Wednesday. Club President Mrs. Blake Couse has arranged for members to preside at the tea and coffee services at the table for which Mrs. E. O. Whittington is creating the floral centerpiece.

Mrs. Robert Brueck is in charge of the tea serving committee with Newcomers furnishing coffee.

Mrs. John Begle, representing the Northville branch of the Farm and Garden Association, is in charge of hostesses who will greet arrivals and ask them to sign the guest book.

Displays of projects, scrapbooks and activity pictures of Northville's women's organizations will be arranged around the church fellowship hall.

Display chairmen and their organizations include Mrs. George Merwin, DAR; Mrs. Nelson Hyatt, Town Hall; Mrs. William Crump, Woman's Club; Mrs. Frank Ollendorff, Newcomers; Mrs. Cass Hoffman, Mothers' Club; Mrs. Oscar Hammond and Mrs. W. H. Cansfield, King's Daughters; Mrs. Leonard Klein, Questers; Mrs. Peter Lindholm, Jaycettes; Mrs. Joel Rowley, League of Women Voters; Mrs. William Switzler and Mrs. Gene Cushing, WNFGA; Mrs. Donald Ware and Mrs. Ernest Shave, Overture-to-Opera.

Joan Whitmyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitmyer, 46935 Dunsany, and a sophomore at Northville High School, is among the participants in "An Afternoon with the Arts" program of the Livonia Youth Symphony Society to be held Sunday from 3 to 6 p.m. at Stevenson High School.

This will be the third year that Joan has played with the Livonia group. Its "Appreciation Concert" is to be at 4 p.m. during the afternoon program which will include exhibits of early Americana, an antique sale and arts demonstrations of lominages and sandcastings.

Mrs. Whitmyer explains that the exhibits are being added as the society hopes to expand the spring event into a fine arts type festival. She adds that Joan is the only Northville student in the Livonia Youth Symphony but hopes that such publicity as the arts program will alert other music-minded families to the fact that it is available to young area musicians.

The Whitmyer family has just returned from a late-spring vacation near Knoxville, Tennessee. When the Whitmyers' son Alan finished his sophomore year at University of Michigan the end of April, he and his dad, with some friends, took a repeat four-day hike along the Appalachian Trail. Joining them later was Mrs. Whitmyer with daughters Joan and Jan, a fifth grader.

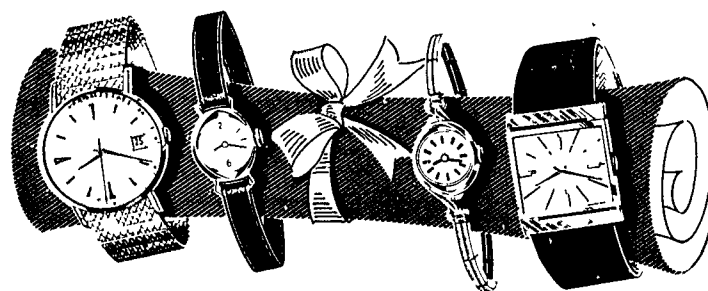

OTHER LATE spring vacationers are Mr. and Mrs. George Weiss who were in Nassau last week on a combined business-pleasure trip. Enroute home, they stopped in Hialeah, Florida, to visit Mrs. Weiss' mother, Mrs. Ella Welch, and sister, Mrs. John Thacker, and her family.

A Nassau vacation during Easter recess gave the Richard Hustons a glimpse of international celebrities. As they waited in the Nassau airport, they saw Mr. and Mrs. Aristotle Onassis arrive to see Mrs. Rose Kennedy, who had been visiting on the Onassis yacht, off. In the party were the former Jackie Kennedy's children, but, reports Mrs. Huston, the most-eyed figure was Mrs. Rose Kennedy in a white sharkskin pantsuit.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lyon returned Sunday from a two-week vacation on the sunny island of Guadalupe, a French possession near Puerto Rico.

In Salute to Michigan PTA's Brace for Big Week

Northville schools are observing Michigan Week with arts and science festivals of student achievement being scheduled by PTA's during the week and the annual PTA carnival set for Friday, May 23, at the high school.

Northville High School's Spring Festival of Arts and Science will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday with many classrooms and laboratories open for parents to inspect student work.

In the mechanical drawing section will be displays of architectural drawings and scale-model homes. In the home economics rooms students are to model clothes they have made. There also will be examples of cake decorating and exhibits of handcrafts, including needlepoint, embroidery, knitting and crochet. English, science and art classes also will have student displays.

PTA officers stress that all parents of high school students are invited. There also will be a PTA election of officers.

Moraine Elementary School's annual spring Children's Achievement Night, sponsored by the PTA, is to be held at the school at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday, May 22.

A musical program will be presented in the multi-purpose room under the direction of Mrs. Joan May, vocal music teacher, and George C. Berryman, Jr., director of the fifth grade beginning band.

A special display of student art work will be set up in the school's west centrum under the direction of Mrs. Doris Krauter, art teacher.

New PTA officers for the coming year are to be named at the meeting. Mrs. David Pink will become president, succeeding Mrs. Edward C. Kelly, Jr. Others are Mrs. James Bishop, vice-president; Mrs. Lawrence Meyer, secretary, and Mrs. John Cooper, treasurer.

Births

Northville friends of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mazanec, former residents now living in Birmingham, are learning from a feminine, pink-print announcement that there's "a new pink bloom" on the family tree.

Their daughter, Jennifer Lynn, was born April 17 and weighed eight pounds, three ounces. She joins brothers Greg and Matt.

The baby's mother, Sharon Mazanec, was a writer for The Record.

parents are invited to a spring music program, sponsored by the PTA, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. First, second and third grades will participate in the program under the direction of Mrs. Sandra Craig. Mrs. Betty Knapp will direct the glee club and rhythm band. The fifth grade band under the direction of George Berryman also will play.

Before the Amerman program a sale of children's books will be held under the chairmanship of Mrs. Karl Knott.

Officers for the coming year will be named. They are Joseph Petro, president; Mrs. Kenneth Kaestner, teacher vice-president; Mrs. Lawrence Gucken, secretary; and Duane LaMoreaux, treasurer.

In recognition of Michigan Week, Amerman students have been asked to bring five cents each to purchase a crab apple tree for each grade. The trees, which are the official tree of Northville, are being planted on the school grounds.

A Michigan State flag, to fly under the American flag at Amerman, will be presented to the school by Senator Gilbert Bursley in ceremonies at 9 a.m. Monday, May 26. The flag previously flew over state buildings in Lansing. Senator Bursley, who is vice-chairman of the senate education committee, made arrangements for the acquisition.

Cooke Junior High school scheduled its PTA festival of arts program, "Salute to the Sixties," for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 14, in the school cafeteria.

News Around Northville

Mrs. Joel Rowley, president of the provisional Northville-Plymouth chapter of the League of Women Voters, is attending the Michigan state convention of the LWV this week at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit as representative of the area's new chapter.

Mrs. Jim Spagnuolo, 113 East Main Street, was called to Saginaw Tuesday as her sister, Sister Helen, is hospitalized with an illness there.

Connie Tegge, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Tegge, 16580 Franklin Road, returned home Friday from a week-long trip to New York City with her college roommates after being graduated from the University of Michigan May 3.

She is affiliated with Theta Sigma Phi, national women's journalism fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Green, 126 East Cady, returned this week from Florida, where they have a winter home at Delray Beach.

"Preparing Foods for the Freezer" will be the study topic at the May meeting of the Northern Lites Family Living Study group, which will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the home of Mrs. A. E. Heath, 526 Orchard.

The study lesson will be presented by Mrs. Harold Seden and Mrs. Harold Marks.

Past Matrons Plan Luncheon

Past Matrons' Club of Orient Chapter O.E.S., will meet at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 21, at the home of Mrs. William Monroe, Plymouth. Mrs. W. H. Johnston will serve as co-hostess for the dessert luncheon and business meeting.

For Flea Market Saturday

Whistling Calliope Coming

An open air flea market, similar to those put on in Europe, is luring over 125 artisans, and dealers in antiques and used items to Northville this Saturday.

The market is being sponsored by Our Lady of Victory Church as a prelude to Michigan Week May 18-24. It offers a kaleidoscope of treasures from apple head dolls to zoological animals on burlap.

As a special attraction, folks can enjoy the Detroit Edison's calliope; a musical wagon consisting of 53 whistles and played like an organ.

Antique admirers can search through a wide variety of goodies — such as a pair of 15th Century brass stirrups from the days of the conquistadors, mechanical banks, cranberry glass, pewter spoons, a tavern table and primitives.

For the hungry eye, there will be an old-fashioned church lunch, homemade, penny candy, fudge and baked goods of all kinds — and that includes hot Texas chili, too!

Scattered throughout the colorful booths will be such artistic endeavors as paintings on barn wood, rocks, canvas, paper, milk cans and lunch pails. Some of the children in Sister Kay's eighth grade class at St. Agnes School in Detroit are selling the fruits of their labors — in ceramics.

Among local groups exhibiting are the V.F.W. Women's Auxiliary, Mothers' Club, Quilters, Boy Scout Troop 731, C.A.R. (Children of the American Revolution), Jaycettes and Northville Historical Society.

Mrs. Dan Conley, general chairman of the open air market, Mrs. Keith Ehrenreich and Mrs. Gordon Smith, along with their committees, have been working on the event since February.

"This is our first try at a flea market," comments Mrs. Conley, "and I couldn't believe the wonderful response in booth sales. The parking lot is large but we're almost overflowing into the streets. Next year's market is in the planning stages already, only this time there is talk of having it at the Northville Downs Race Track."

The Old World Flea Market is open free to the public. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the church parking lot off Main Street. Rain date is May 24.

Newcomers Eye Big Crowd

Northville Newcomers Club, which has scheduled its spring membership coffee from 10 a.m. until noon next Thursday at King's Mill clubhouse as a Michigan Week event, is hoping to have about 200 members and prospective members attend.

New officers of the club will be announced. Presidents of other local clubs have been invited to attend. Mrs. Harry Odle, special projects chairman, will tell of Newcomer activities.

The club's new book, "Things To Do and Places To Go in Northville and Surrounding Areas," will be on sale.

Baby sitting is to be available in another room of the clubhouse. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Dale Kiser, 349-5579.

Book Review Tops Agenda

Members of the Northville-Plymouth Branch, Woman's International League for Peace and Freedom, will hear a review of "The Great Fear in Latin America" at their May meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the home of Mrs. Hurd Sutherland, 418 West Dunlap.

Mrs. Clara Dickerson is to review the book by John Gerassi. It is an open meeting with all interested women invited.

New officers for the coming year are Mrs. James Perna of 208 Debra, president; Mrs. Clara Dickerson of Salem, vice-president; Mrs. James Miller of Plymouth, secretary; and Mrs. Milton Rowe of Plymouth, treasurer.

Girl Scouts Plan 'Wash-up'

As its contribution to Michigan Week in Northville, Senior Girl Scout Troop 222 has volunteered to wash all the trash receptacles in the downtown area on Civic Pride Day — this Saturday. The girls plan to hold their "wash up" about 10 a.m.

For the remainder of the day they will be manning a booth at the OLV flea market where youngsters can be "made-up."

Northville's Cooke Junior High Girl Scout Troop 371 will participate in Mayor's Exchange Day-Michigan Week ceremonies Monday, marching with the band to the city hall where the Girl Scouts are to conduct the flag raising ceremony.

Leader of the troop is Mrs. Charles Lapham with assisting co-leaders, Mrs. Stanley Croft and Mrs. Donald Pratt. Participating girls will be Diana Flis, Nanette Croft, Pat Mahoney, Sharon Crishon, Terry Lapham and Jennifer Thomas.

Talk to Center On Housing

How citizens of suburban areas can help with housing problems of Metropolitan Detroit will be covered in a talk by Conrad L. Mallett, recently appointed director of the Detroit Housing Commission, in a program at 8 p.m. tonight in the Schoolcraft College Little Theatre in the liberal arts building, sponsored by the Northville-Plymouth League of Women Voters.

He also is to discuss fair housing laws and provide information about housing needs. A question-and-answer period will follow the talk.

Local LWV President Mrs. Joel Rowley emphasizes that the meeting is open to all interested citizens of the area, whether prospective League members or not. Preceding the guest speaker, Mrs. George Mink of Plymouth, chairman of the local LWV Human Resources Committee, is to present a brief resume of the league position supporting equality of housing, education and employment.

For 'Our Town' Carnival

Fun Filled Midway Planned

New and old attractions from a nickel-slide and hoop-la to the fish pond and ring toss will be drawing Northville youngsters to the junior and senior midways at the "Our Town" PTA carnival from 4:30 to 9:30 p.m. next Friday, May 23, at the high school.

Sharing senior midway space in the Northville high school gymnasium will be the white elephant booth. The junior midway is to be in the school multipurpose room while spaghetti dinner will be served in the cafeteria from 4:30 to 8 p.m.

The carnival committee, headed by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Al Pfeleka and Mrs. John Heckerl, will be seeking white elephant donations next week. They ask that items be sent to school with youngsters with all glass or china dishes to be wrapped.

No clothing is to be sent, but dishes, pots and pans, children's games and even dress patterns are welcomed. One free carnival ticket is given to children bringing donations.

Because of the popularity of this booth at last year's carnival, the committee is hoping for a variety of donations, such as the mixer and

Water Show

To End Tonight

The concluding water show performance by girls at the Wayne County Child Development Center will be held this evening (Thursday) at the Center pool beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Initial performances were held Tuesday and Wednesday.

Announcement was also made this week that the Center's annual spring concert will be held early in June. Details will be spelled out later, a spokesman said.

TREE FOR MICHIGAN WEEK — A beautiful big Sycamore tree was planted at Joe Denton Park this past week in time for Civic Pride Day — kick off for Michigan Week this coming Saturday. The tree was donated by the Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, which each year enhances the beauty of the community through its civic improvement committee. Representing both the civic improvement committee and the Northville Beautification Commission, Mrs. L. M. Eaton turns the shovel as Mayor A. M. Allen, Michigan Week Chairman Mrs. William Slattery, Garden Club Vice-President Mrs. William Switzler, and Mrs. Charles Ely, chairman-elect of the improvement committee. The tree was purchased under the city's cooperative program in which the city will share part of the cost for larger and more expensive trees with Northville residents.

DAR to Meet Next Monday

"Mastodons to Motor Cars" will be the program topic of the May meeting of Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter, DAR, at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the home of Mrs. Norman Saunders, 12176 Amherst Court, Plymouth.

Program speaker is Mrs. A. A. Moore. Dessert chairman for the evening's refreshments is Mrs. Arlie Fairman.

Meet Tuesday

The annual election meeting of the Northville Historical Society will be held next Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ruth Starkweather, 48265 West Seven Mile Road.

One of the oldest homes on Seven Mile Road in Northville Township, the Starkweather home is a living reminder — inside and out — of Northville's past.

Mrs. Starkweather, past president of the club, is chairman of the club committee that will display antiques at the high school during the PTA Carnival. She will show some of her own special pieces that can be seen Tuesday night.

One of the interesting stories about the Starkweather property, which once was a large active farm containing prize horses, is that run-away slaves from the South were hidden away in one of the Starkweather barns.

Anyone interested in seeing the Starkweather home is invited to attend the 8 p.m. meeting Tuesday.

new "hucklebuck" game.

Senior midway attractions include hoop-la, run by the Jaycees; nickel-slide, N Club; Roll-a-Score, GAL; spill-the-milk, auxiliary firemen; two cane rack games, Northville Rotary and VFW; hula hoop, Rotary.

Other inside booths will be the cookie booth of the Northville Cooperative Play Group headed by Mrs. Dale Kiser and the Candy Store of Mothers' Club, chaired by Mrs. Robert Boshoven.

Plans still are being formulated for a cake walk under the direction of the PTA. Anyone willing to serve as chairman is asked to contact Howard Meyer, 349-3045, special events chairman with Earl Westnick.

Serving as senior midway chairmen are Ted Westphal and Bill Heffner. Junior midway chairmen are Bruce Griggs and Ted Heckler.

Donate Book

In the conviction that Northville's prime export is youth, the Christian Social Concerns Commission of the First United Methodist Church, has added a top resource to the high school library.

The newly issued compilation, over 1500 pages in length, is titled "Financial Aids to Undergraduate Students 1969-70". It was placed in the high school library this week. Potential college and university students will find it a rich source of assistance.

The volume is indexed by states and by fields of study. Each college and university is considered in detail, complete with addresses and persons to be contacted for further information.

All types of aid are discussed, including scholarships, grants-in-aid, loans, and campus jobs. The existence of the book was known, but the exact title and publisher were researched by Mrs. Sullivan, chief librarian at Northville High School. John Hobart, chairman of the local Christian Social Concerns Commission, expedited purchase of the book through the local church.

Alcoholism Battle Never Ends For Woman Seeking A Cure

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article about the Brighton Hospital for alcoholics is the first of a three-part series, written by Dianne Buell of our Brighton Argus staff. The names of the persons who have undergone treatment have been changed, but the stories are real. Next week another case will be presented. The final article will present the viewpoints of the hospital professional staff.

"Once an alcoholic, always an alcoholic," said the tall, attractive woman as she sat in a stuffed chair at the Brighton Hospital for Alcoholism. "Alcoholism is a physical condition as well as a mental problem, and you never get rid of it," she stated.

Margaret, a 31-year-old divorcee, is one of thousands of women who annually become addicted to alcohol. In fact, while the rate of alcoholism among men has stayed constant the past few years, the rate among women increased an alarming 10 to 25 per cent.

Margaret's path has been a rocky one.

Her married life began when she was very young.

"I was immature, my husband was immature and our children arrived quickly. We couldn't even cope with ourselves much less with each other, babies and life in general."

Margaret classifies her first bouts with liquor as "social drinking."

"My husband was in a public relations job, and both of us felt that we should drink for business reasons.

"I was in the process of realizing that John and I had entered into a very bad marriage. Instead of having enough insight to seek help and improve the situation, the foundation of our relationship kept crumbling bit by bit, adding to my feelings of failure — as wife, as a mother and as a human being."

Then John's job demanded that he be out of town, sometimes as long as two weeks' duration.

"I was lonely," quotes Margaret, "and I couldn't cope with anything by myself. This was the start of my excessive drinking. One thing led to another."

"I was drinking so much I was having blackouts. One of my children would talk to me mentioning something we had discussed the day before and I couldn't remember even having heard about it."

"I lost contact with my husband, with my children and the world. I didn't care about anything, least of all myself."

Margaret's excessive drinking continued for six years.

"I killed off a fifth of sauce every day, and by the sixth year, even straight liquor wasn't strong enough for me."

"As my drinking increased, my husband's patience decreased," Margaret said that her relationship with her children declined steadily, adding to her feelings of failure.

"And the more feelings of failure, the more drinks to be taken to kill the mental 'pain'!"

Finally a close friend of Margaret's talked her into going to Brighton Hospital for Alcoholism.

"He was very concerned, we had been close all through childhood, and he told me either I go to the Brighton Hospital on my own, or he would see that I was committed."

When Margaret was admitted, she was in deplorable physical health. Brighton Hospital first restored her to a good physical state. She regained her appetite for food, and snapped back to relative normalcy within a few days.

"My mind cleared and I became coherent. I was fed nourishing food, I was given freedom to roam the building and grounds, and I realized the fact that every patient in Brighton Hospital suffers the same sickness as me. It was a comfortable place to stay."

Then came the intensive lectures, based on the principles of Alcoholics Anonymous, where the patient could relate with other alcoholics who have the same hurdles to jump. Margaret was intensively counseled by the hospital's psychologists, and she received spiritual therapy.

"I found comfort in the chapel at Brighton Hospital, which by the way is a chapel that was built for youths at Henry Ford's Camp Legion several years ago and given to the hospital. It is the world's first chapel especially for alcoholics."

"There was plenty of recreation at the hospital, and the surroundings are very homey, including a library and a lounge."

After 18 days of rehabilitation,

Margaret received her release from the Hospital.

"I vowed as I walked through the outside doors of that hospital that I would never, never take another drink."

By seven o'clock that evening, Margaret was drunk.

Her drinking continued for six months.

"Why my husband let it go on that long, I'll never know," says Margaret. "Again I entered Brighton Hospital. Again I received the intensive physical, mental and spiritual treatment offered by the hospital, and again I returned home — to the bottle."

It was at this time Margaret's husband filed for divorce. The court awarded John the custody of the children.

"It stated in the decree that when I would go to this out-of-state hospital for alcoholics and stay not less than two months, and when I could give up drinking, then I could regain the custody of my children."

This time the venture was successful, because Margaret says she finally realized that she was destroying herself.

"Up until this time, even the threat of losing my children forever wasn't enough to make me give up drinking. I resented my children, because if it weren't for them, I could be boozing it up."

"The two times I went into Brighton, I didn't go of my own accord. I disguised my reasons for going as being for the sake of the children, or that I didn't want to be committed, or that I owed it to John. I didn't go to help myself."

"The out-of-state hospital almost released me after a month, but at the last minute changed their minds, and I'm so glad, because I know now, as I look back, that I hadn't committed myself to really giving up drinking after that first month. It was the second month that finally let me find myself and the ability to cope with being an alcoholic."

Margaret left the out-of-state hospital two years ago. She regained custody of her three children.

"I haven't had a drink since, and now my children are very proud of me. We kid a lot about times past. An alcoholic must have a sense of humor, this helps keep away from the bottle."

Margaret says one vital thing she learned to accept the last time she was hospitalized was that she should feel ashamed for the way she drank, "But I should not, cannot feel guilty. Alcoholism is a disease, and it is no different than the diabetic who must limit his intake of sugar."

When asked if her drinking has caused the unstable marriage or if it was the other way around, Margaret said,

"I feel it was the realization that I had entered into a bad marriage and felt I had no way to better the situation. I found it was easier to blot out my problems and the world in general with the bottle than it was to try and solve our problems."

Margaret not only had to conquer her drinking problem, but was faced with battling mental illness.

"It's really tough because you not only have to work out your emotional hang-ups, but you have to throw away that very dependable crutch."

Margaret attends Alcoholics Anonymous faithfully at least once a week if not more.

"When the alcoholic gives up A.A., he gives up his freedom because no alcoholic can stay away from liquor by himself. And no one feels more singled out, more rejected than an alcoholic. Being with others facing the same problem gives the alcoholic a moral boost that is unbelievable."

According to Dr. John Bethea, Medical Director at the Brighton Hospital, "nine times out of ten, when we admit a repeater and ask him when he quit drinking, we find it is within a very short time after he stopped attending A.A. meetings."

Margaret has lectured at various hospitals, for various groups and has been giving layman counseling to others traveling her previous path.

She is now living as normal a life as an alcoholic can live.

Refusing drinks and telling outright why she refused them proved difficult at first, but according to Margaret, "If you start lying to the public it becomes easy to lie to yourself. Once you've succumbed to that, you're back to the bottle."

Although she's a very attractive woman, the lines around Margaret's eyes betray the personal hell she has lived — a hell that is still only an arm's length away.

HOSPITAL? Neither the lovely exterior nor the functional interior reminds the visitor of the standard hospital but within these walls the crippled lives of men and women are mended. It is here that "Margaret" struggles to win her battle over alcoholism.

Holy Cross Pastor To Take New Post

The Reverend John Fricke, pastor of Holy Cross Episcopal Church in Novi and rector of St. Stephens Church in Hamburg, will soon become the Canon and Sub-Dean of the Episcopal Cathedral in Omaha, Nebraska. He has announced to his congregations here that he and his family plan to leave about June 13.

The new position will be a challenge for Father Fricke, because the parish in Omaha includes 1200 communicants. His church here numbers just over 100 communicants.

Father Fricke graduated from Seabury Western Theological Seminary in 1965 and became pastor at Holy Cross soon after that. He commuted from Detroit until January, 1968 when he and his wife, Ann, and three daughters moved to the new rectory on Lynwood.

A replacement for Father Fricke has not yet been selected by the governing body of Holy Cross.

For Mission Work

Father McGuire Off to Hong Kong

The Rev. Thomas McGuire, 29, a Maryknoll priest from Northville, has been assigned to the Maryknoll mission work in the British Crown colony of Hong Kong.

Ordained in 1967 and currently assigned to the Maryknoll Development House in St. Louis, Missouri, Father McGuire is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. McGuire of 240 Orchard Drive.

On Sunday, May 25th, Father McGuire will take part in the annual Departure Ceremonies at Maryknoll, New York.

During the ceremonies, which are held in the seminary quadrangle and beside the flags of all the countries in which Maryknollers serve, Father McGuire will receive his mission crucifix from the Reverend John J. McCormack, superior general of Maryknoll, which is located in New York.

The Most Reverend Peter L. Gerety, coadjutor Bishop of Portland, Maine, will be the guest speaker at the ceremonies which are witnessed by several thousand people.

Presiding at the ceremonies will be the Most Reverend Joseph M. Pernicone, auxiliary Bishop of New York.

For the next two years Father McGuire will attend the New Asia University, Hong Kong, learning the language and culture of his mission country.

Maryknoll has had missions in Hong Kong since 1921, and today 28 priests and two Brothers serve six parishes and two outstations. With hundreds of refugees coming into the teeming colony, the resources of the missionaries are greatly strained to provide food, shelter and medical aid. In Hong Kong, Maryknollers distribute surplus food, and conduct schools, clinics, home industrial cooperatives, school lunch programs, credit unions, social service centers and housing projects.

Father McGuire entered Maryknoll in 1962 after graduating from Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit where he received his bachelor of arts degree in philosophy.

City Tightens Reigns On Parking Permits

It's going to be tougher to get special on-street parking permits come June.

That's the message city councilmen received from Northville City Manager Frank Ollendorff Monday night as he reported that the overnight parking ban had reduced accidents and increased efficiency of snow plowing and street sweeping.

Ollendorff said that effective June 1 "more rigid interpretation of 'hardship' will be employed."

An estimated 60 special permits are currently out, giving homeowners the right to park cars on the street because of driveway size, etc. However, "in numerous cases the problem could be solved by driveway widening at relatively little cost," said Ollendorff. "All permittees have been notified by letter that we expect them to take all reasonable steps to negate the need for a permit by June 1."

Also, on the date, those receiving permits will have to pay a $1 per month "token" fee to cover a portion of the cost of issuing permits.

Councilman Paul Folino, while agreeing with the manager's plan, suggested that out-of-town overnight visitors be given special consideration.

Ollendorff explained that current practice permits such consideration if the homeowner calls the police department in advance of his visitor's overnight stay. Furthermore, City Attorney Philip Ogilvie, former municipal judge, said that often times the judge will dismiss parking tickets where such "guest" parking is found legitimate.

The city manager emphasized that no one but the judge may dismiss a ticket once it is issued — not even the police chief. Such a policy, he said, prevents ticket-fixing practices.

Crash Mars Prom Outing

A 17-year old Northville High School senior was injured in a two-car collision at 6:30 a.m. at the entrance to the Wayne County Child Development Center on Sheldon Road.

Duane Butler of 21405 Summerside, told Wayne County Road Patrol deputies that he and Nancy Funk, 17, of Northville were returning home from Northville High School's senior prom when his car collided with a car leaving the training school grounds, driven by Rose Ann Provencal, 23, of Northville. Neither Miss Funk, nor Miss Provencal, were injured.

Butler was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia, where 24 stitches were required to treat a leg cut.

Fund Shortage Blamed State Home Faces Crisis

A "freeze" on all new hiring pending reduction in staff is underway at Plymouth State Home and Training School here in an effort to bring the budget into balance by the end of the fiscal year.

In a report issued this past week, Medical Superintendent Homer F. Weir, M.D., said that although the budget was "supposed to be able to support 964.2 (staff) positions for the current fiscal year, this has not been so because of factors over which we have no direct control."

"We calculate that our actual staffing strength for the remainder of the year will be 941. Quite obviously, this will have a severe impact on the quality of care we are able to provide which at best will be custodial in nature."

The state facility is located in Northville Township.

Since July 1966 the institution has lost 60 staff positions, which means, said Dr. Weir, "if we had been given sufficient funds to support the number of positions which had been authorized our staff strength would have been at 1,025 positions."

He said it would require $426,000 additional funds to support the number of positions authorized.

Contrasted with the freeze on staff is a "tragic" increase in the number of young children admitted to Plymouth's nursery program, he noted. Because the Varran Nursing Home lost its license, Plymouth was required to admit nine residents from that home.

"These young children," he said, "were admitted to our nursing program, a program which was already housing more residents than the facilities were designed for. This situation is particularly tragic in that we had submitted a request to reduce the nursery program by some 30 beds to bring our capacity into line with legal requirements (80 square feet per bed)."

"Adding to the problem, of course, is that no additional funds are provided for food, clothing, etc., which means that these costs must be absorbed from our current budget, which, in effect, further reduces the level of care for all of our residents."

"Perhaps most important of all is the fact that no additional personnel were furnished when an absolute minimum of four additional patient care personnel would be required over a 24-hour period for seven days a week."

Dr. Weir charged that this situation represents a "backward step."

He said Plymouth was forced to eliminate its temporary care program for retardates. Because of this, he noted, the severely retarded mongoloid teenager placed on a plane in Alabama to be returned to Detroit could not be accepted. Small community based residential facilities, each for from eight to 15 individuals, are urgently needed in Wayne County, he said. "The development of such facilities would make it possible to utilize our facilities much more effectively."

"IT PAYS TO BE WELL-GROOMED"

SPEAKING

for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

A local businessman asked me last Wednesday "how the township public hearing turned out last night".

I told him that there were so many citizens there to protest rezoning for multiples that the meeting had to be moved into the more spacious board of education offices.

"What's the matter with those people. Don't they know that more people means more business?", he queried.

I remember having seen the businessman at a city public hearing the night of the township hearing. Jack Hoffman had covered the township hearing while I attended the city session.

"Why didn't you go to the township hearing?", I asked.

And, of course, he pointed out that he wanted to enter his protest against CBP zoning at the city hearing.

All of which proves the wisdom of the words of City Planning Chairman George Zerb, who pointed to the futility of calling for a hand vote at a public hearing "when only those opposed to the subject under consideration bother to attend".

As important a role as public hearings play in the democratic processes, they can become depressing, especially to a reporter.

It makes you wonder if anybody ever reads the newspaper. Can they really know so little about what's been front-page news for half-a-dozen years? Do they really think that the CBD plan means tearing down existing buildings and undertaking a wholesale urban renewal program and creating a modern shopping center monstrosity?

Don't they agree that as times change, as more people arrive, something must be done to expand and improve shopping accommodations if local business is to gain any portion of the total money-flow increase?

Certainly, regional shopping centers will sweep off much of the cream, but we can't let them steal the milk too!

So a plan is necessary. A plan that retains the good, discards the bad and preserves a prosperous tax base for a community otherwise devoid of huge industrial tax plums.

Anyone who thinks the average, energetic Northville merchant isn't doing well financially, just doesn't know much about business. And anyone who thinks it isn't in the interest of the total community as well as the local businessman to lay plans for improvements to accommodate more shoppers hasn't looked at current (short-range) population projections.

And anyone who thinks that city planners or councilmen are devising schemes to steal anyone's home or property, or to ruin the attractiveness of our small-town image, just hasn't attended many council or planning sessions.

In reality, if our leaders sit on their hands much longer in this matter of planning for the future of the city's commercial district the critics can have a field day in a couple of years.

They can complain about rising residential taxes caused by depreciated commercial property values — all because city officials didn't provide parking or attract enough new business to at least maintain a protective competitive position against shopping centers — which follow people as sure as it rains in Indianapolis in the summertime.

As one expert planner recently told a group of local businessmen, "it may be too late already".

I'm now convinced that planners would be best advised to get the CBD ball rolling by tossing out the proposed CBP zoning. Enforcement of the 3-1 parking ratio within the CBD will provide enough protection to assure success of the plan.

If the CBD-CBP plan were proposed for a raw piece of land, planners would have the best idea — far and away. But there are existing buildings to be considered and CBP zoning creates a cloud that cannot be over-looked by the owner of the buildings in question.

Emphasis should now be placed on establishing a circular drive — using Cady instead of a new artery on the south, at least on a trial basis. City, business and track interests should start cooperating in the creation of more off-street (or double-decked) parking facilities. Without convenient parking business cannot attract more customers and Northville Downs cannot hope to boost its mutual handle.

And the city can't expect to reap bigger tax revenues.

And outside interests, which are now looking at and around Northville, will take a second look at a CBD plan that promises an atmosphere conducive to doing business.

Angry Citizens Hit 'Slum' Label

To the Editor:

Your article about "Multiples opposed to Township" that appeared in the May 8th issue of The Northville Record was read with mixed emotions by the residents of Kings Mill.

Political suicide was committed by R. Robert Geake in describing us as an 'exportation of the problems of the City of Detroit.

Any area is a potential slum area, given the right set of circumstances and the necessary length of time.

As far as being a community of transients, this statement could be true of all of us, as none of us are immortal.

But taken in another concept of the word, transients are usually people of little or no means, staying in one place only a short time and really not caring how they leave the area.

The residents of Kings Mill are in the middle and upper income groups and could hardly be classified as having little or no means, to which the merchants of the City of Northville could attest. They have purchased their Co-Op homes and are concerned citizens about many things, including, civic and community affairs, the appearance of their homes (and we don't consider them an 'eyesore'), and articles that appear in newsprint that degrade them.

Any new undertaking has its growing pains, and it may be necessary, in the not too distant future, for someone 'to eat crow.'

To the Editor:

Some comment has been made recently about Kings Mill being a "slum". It is to be presumed that those making this statement have something in mind in the way of slum clearance. If Kings Mill is not all there is to be desired it is because it is not completed. We expect to be a responsible community. It would be wise to not eat the cake until it is baked.

The residents of Kings Mill would like to point out further that there exists here considerable interest in the subject of City-Township Unification. On the evening of April 22 we conducted a forum. Frank Ollendorff, Gunnar Stromberg, Wallace Nichols and Leonard Kline were here. We had numerous visitors. In all, about one hundred were in attendance. The Record was informed but chose not to report the occasion. Kings Millers showed a profound interest in this subject.

I speak for myself and not other

Kings Millers when I say it would be wise for everybody to seriously consider unification. Let the statement stand by itself for now. But, if slums is your worry — don't worry about Kings Mill. Worry about your own place.

John Wortman

To the Editor:

In reply to the township meeting reported in The Record of May 8th.

We greatly resent the implication that Kings Mill is "a potential slum, a community of transients." We have moved to Kings Mill from Northville, having lived there for over 50 years. We moved here because we wished to — not because it was to become a slum — not because it was cheap. We have many of our Northville friends of 20 years or more who are our neighbors here.

People who blow at public meetings should really know what they are talking about. We like living in Kings Mill and have met some very nice people. At least I do not have to go around my yard picking up pop and beer cans, candy and gum wrappers, etc., etc., every morning after the well brought up children of Northville have distributed them so thoughtfully on the grass.

I do not and will not consider myself one of "the least desirable groups, socially and economically" quote from Robert Geake.

Many of us here in Kings Mill feel that some people certainly owe us an apology.

To the Editor:

Last week's edition of The Record indicated an outstanding advancement in recognition towards our fighting men. Their column has now advanced from the last page, lower left; to the last page, upper right.

With this recognition toward their merits and valor while defending our nation's Constitution, commitments and policies, this column may soon advance to a point mid-section — perhaps alongside the column that recognizes speeding tickets during their growing years.

A rightful spot was devoted to our top scholars last week, but somehow as read of Sgt. V. N. Sickle's actions and subsequent recommendation by our United States Army, for the Medal of Valor, I wondered why our community wouldn't be just as proud and interested to read this account alongside?

Of course when we don't support our young people in school, when we seldom, if ever, offer a prayer for our servicemen, it is perhaps too much to ask their "Voice" to support them when they fight and die for the principals that make the American way possible.

Television specials have been coming on like locusts this year, with almost every conceivable subject being treated. Some have bordered on the sensational side, such as CBS' explosive documentary on United States involvement in chemical warfare research, production and stockpiles.

In this maelstrom of specials a much milder subject is likely to get host. But anyone who knows anything about cats and the mystery that surrounds their eccentricities wouldn't have missed Friday's NBC hour-long special on "Big Cats, Little Cats."

The program was a combination of Ripley's "Believe It or Not", the Encyclopedia Americana on Cats, and a Walt Disney animal narration. "Big Cats, Little Cats" was an entertaining revelation no matter what your knowledge of felines.

Deep-throated Lorne Greene began his narration as any good cat story would begin — with facts about cats, all types. There are 28 million as pets in the United States, five million more cats than dogs. Cats' eyes, always a focus of attention and a source of mystery, admit 10 times as much light as the eyes of humans. Cats have 290 bones and 579 muscles. There are 35 breeds of wild cats.

But facts didn't tell the story of cats Friday night and particularly their relationship to man, which began no-one knows when. Ancient lore has it that domestic cats first appeared on Noah's Ark. "The Lion sneezed and the cat appeared to hunt mice."

Egyptians elevated the cat to godhood around 5,000 B.C. They were given the same burial rites as Egyptian kings and are still being unearthed in a mummified condition, with jeweled presents and other sacrificial memorabilia lying alongside them in ancient tombs.

Through the years, the cat's relationship to man has changed little, although cats may not be deified in the same respect. Instead, they are pampered and loved with the same missionary seal. And mystery still surrounds them.

Room 8 is one such cat. The kids in Room 8 of a California school classroom have adopted Room 8 as their cat, ever since he walked into their classroom years ago. Strangely, he appears only when school is in session, leaving at night and during the summer for no one knows where. Attempts have been made to follow him, yet he retains an aura of mystery by continually eluding his pursuers in the hills of California.

More fascinating than the domestic cats and the wild cats are the big cats who have been domesticated. No count was given, but the number of big cats being raised as pets in the United States is surprising, if not alarming.

Even more fascinating than the big, domesticated cats are the people who own them. Like owners of small cats, they view cats as a "vital defense against loneliness." As one big-cat owner put it, the big cat, unlike humans and smaller cats, loves humans out of sheer love, not out of any dependence on them.

It is this relationship between all cats, big and small, and cat owners that is more mysterious than the cats themselves. But it is no wonder that man has proclaimed this week as "Cat Week" in honor of the animal whom he reveres.

Farmers may be scarcer than hen's teeth today but they still make a pretty big dent in the economy of our state.

And on this the eve of the 16th annual Michigan Week celebration, the state's director of the Department of Agriculture, B. Dale Ball, reminds us that although only about one out of every 100 citizens operates a farm, agriculture is the second largest source of income in Michigan, generating an annual $2 billion industry.

Michigan, he boasts, ranks fifth or higher in the production of more than 20 farm products. Its farmers, he adds, produce this gigantic crop on the smallest number of acres since 1880.

For those of you who like statistics consider the following:

- Michigan ranks first among the 50 states in the production of dry edible beans, red tart cherries, eastern white winter wheat, cucumbers for pickles and hothouse rhubarb.

Those dry beans produced in Michigan last year would fill 6.6 million bags — 100 pound bags that is. Last year, too, Michigan produced 100,000 tons of tart cherries — more than half of the nation's total production.

- Michigan ranks second in the production of blueberries, sweet cherries, and prune-plums.

Last year's blueberry crop hit 25 million pounds, and its 13,000 ton crop of prune-plums brought growers an estimated $1.4 million.

- Michigan ranks third in carrots, celery and spearmint.

Mint, by the way, brings in the best money per pound of any crop — $8.12 a pound in '68. Kalamazoo over a century ago was the birthplace of the United States commercial celery industry.

- Michigan ranks fourth in apples, asparagus, pears, maple syrup, strawberries, and red beets.

Asparagus — first vegetable to be harvested from Michigan fields in the spring — was worth $3.5 million to growers last year, while maple syrup on many farms is the first cash crop. A total of 72,000 gallons worth $425,000 to producers was collected from the state's sugar maple trees in '68.

- Michigan ranks fifth in snap beans (processing), cauliflower, cottage cheese, tomatoes (fresh), grapes and beet sugar.

Biggest producer of beet sugar is the Saginaw Valley, and the largest sugar factory east of the Mississippi is located at Bay City.

A heavy frost last year ruined a big share of the state's grape crop but even so we managed to produce 23,000 tons for juice and jelly — not to mention that distillery in my father's basement.

- Michigan ranks sixth in production of cantaloupe, sweet corn, peppermint, and onions.

Interesting, the state's most urbanized county — Wayne — is the chief producer of sweet corn and much of it is grown right here in our backyard.

- Michigan ranks seventh in milk, ice cream, and green peppers.

About 19 percent of what the housewife spends on food is represented in milk and dairy products. For the farmer it was worth over $250 million last year — the largest single source of farm income in the state. About half of the production is sold as bottled milk.

- Michigan ranks eighth in honey and tomatoes (processing).

It stands to reason that with so many fruit trees around the state that we'd also have a pretty big bee population. Last year's workers from 120,000 bee colonies produced nine million pounds of the sweet stuff at a value of $1.4 million.

- Michigan ranks ninth in the production of cabbage.

- Michigan ranks tenth in snap beans (fresh), slicer cucumbers (fresh) and field corn.

What Ball is trying to tell us, I guess, is that while patting ourselves on the back next week for living in a 57,022 square-mile state ranking seventh in population, we ought to salute one of our minority groups — the Farmer, or the guy that made us part of the majority.

Models Open Saturday in $40 Million Subdivision

A new $40 million dollar community, Northville Commons, developed by the Thompson-Brown Company, will have its grand opening on Saturday, it has been announced this week by Robert H. Carey, president of the firm.

At the same time, Northville Township Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg has proclaimed the period May 17 to 31 as "Northville Commons Weeks" in honor of Thompson-Brown Company's outstanding contributions to the Northville area.

The 411-home community is located on 336 acres at Six Mile and Bradner roads in Northville Township.

Northville Commons actually is a community within a community, featuring well-planned recreational facilities, multi-family dwellings and a proposed 15-acre shopping center, office center, as well as an eight-acre site for an elementary school.

Ten model homes, to be open for public inspection beginning Saturday, are individually designed. Carl Gaiser, professional designer for Thompson-Brown Company, said he made every effort to insure the "creation of a community of uniquely-styled homes set within a quaint village atmosphere so prominent in Northville today." He pointed out that the model homes were individually decorated and furnished to capture the flavor of true country living.

To create this variety in housing styles, Thompson-Brown Company selected five of its outstanding builders to design and build the homes in Northville Commons. The builders include: Cranbrook Homes, Inc., of Ferndale; Thomas Franke Construction Company, Farmington; Nosan Building Corporation, Southfield; Rottman Construction Company, Southfield; and, Serwat Building Company, Inc., of Northville.

The tremendous economic boost to Northville and surrounding areas will be evident as Northville Commons grows, Carey said.

Studies made by the Bureau of Building Marketing Research in Chicago show that the additional purchases generated in the first year of home ownership are equal to between five to 10 per cent of the purchase price of the home.

Each home will create one full year of on site employment for 2.8 persons.

In addition to jobs for building employees, Northville Commons will create work for employees of the many and varied special trade contractors such as: plumbing, heating/air conditioning, electrical, masonry, roofing, painting, etc.

The new development will not only add to the tax base of the community, but will also add general revenue which exceeds the cost of the services required to maintain added police and fire protection, costs of schools and other government services.

Northville Commons also will induce new commercial and other construction in the area. With the growth of the community, additional shopping centers and commercial structures, new schools, churches, recreational and other beneficial community facilities will eventually follow, Carey said.

The ten models include The Cumberland, a four-bedroom, two-and-a-half bath, colonial type structure, The Villager, a four-bedroom home with a library and two-and-a-half baths; Manor House which has four bedrooms and paneled family room; The Lexington, a three-bedroom, two-and-a-half bath and formal dining room; The Cambridge, four bedrooms, two-and-a-half baths, paneled family room; The Concord, a four-bedroom, ranch style, The Mount Vernon, with four bedrooms and paneled den with closet and bath; The Brookfield, three-bedroom ranch with paneled family room and beamed ceiling; The Salem, a two-story, four-bedroom model with paneled den; The Pinehurst, which has three bedrooms and formal dining room.

Another feature of Northville Commons is its 30 acres of parks for its residents. In addition there is a community picnic shelter and tennis courts. The community also will have several miles of bicycle paths weaving through the area.

All utilities are underground eliminating telephone and electric light poles.

Northville Commons is the fourth Thompson-Brown Company commons development which the firm pioneered in Farmington's Canterbury Commons in 1965.

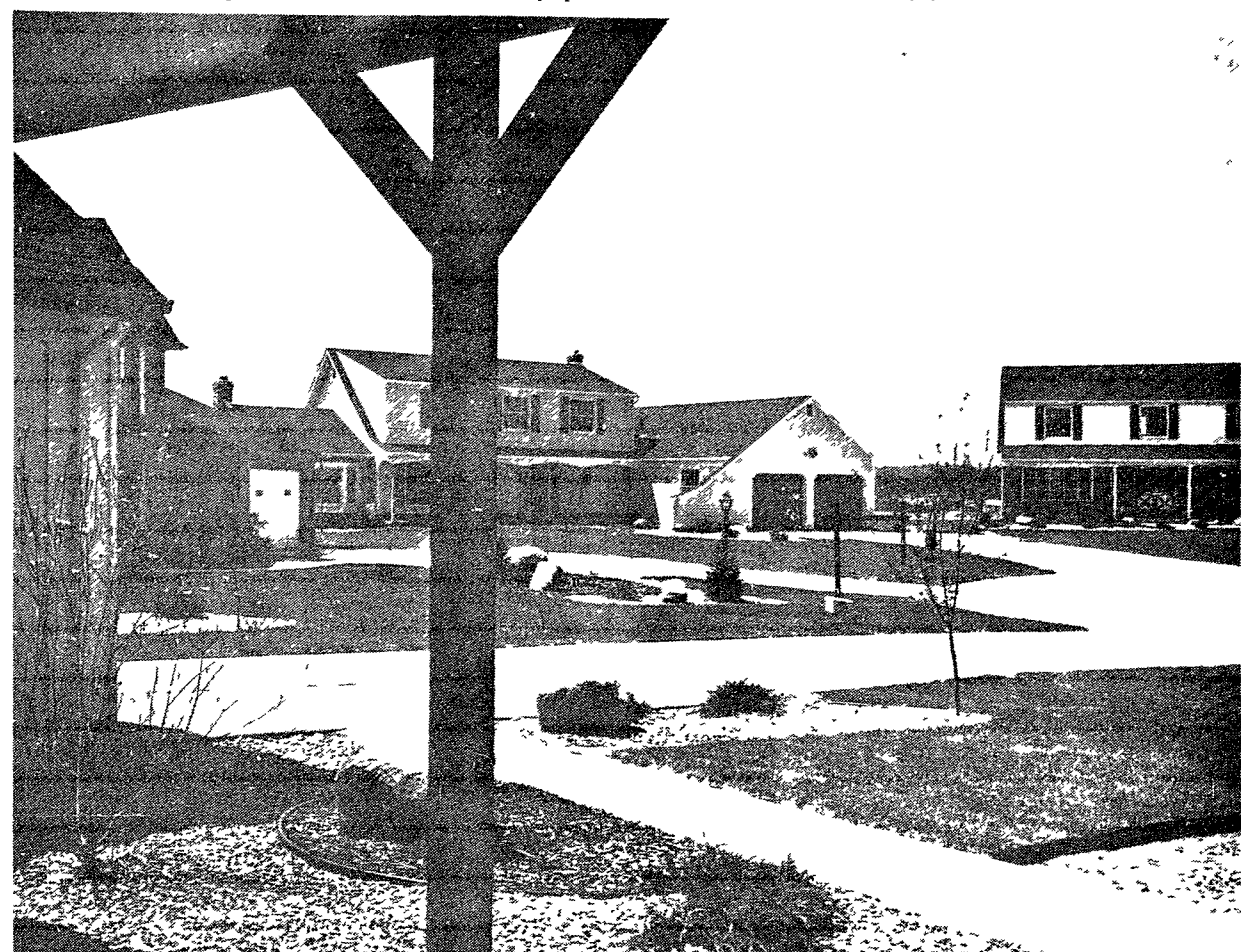

CREATED by Cranbrook Homes, Inc., The Cumberland features a U-shaped kitchen, a paneled family room with beamed studio ceiling and two-and-a-half baths with vanities.

SERWAT Building Company created this home, the "Pinehurst", which features two-and-a-half baths with double sinks in main bath, a formal dining room and paneled family room with beamed ceiling.

THIS LEOPARD-decorated game room is one of the features found in a model created by Cranbrook Homes, Inc.

A VIEW of some of the attractive homes to be found in Northville Commons, a new community developed by the Thompson-Brown Company.

These are among the ten models which are available for public inspection beginning Saturday, May 17.

Cooke Junior High students, from left, Bev Wistert, Anne Price, Jennifer Thomas and Diane Flis, smile their pleasure. They won the award in the Salute to Youth program Sunday at Ford Auditorium sponsored by the Downtown Detroit YWCA and 60 other Detroit agencies. This was the only school award given and was the first time Northville entered the contest for outstanding youth. Their teacher is Mrs. Diane Evans.

Grand Opening! by Thompson-Brown

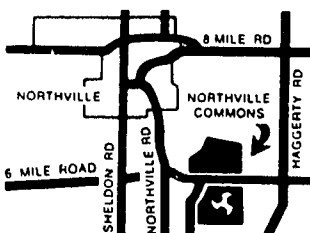

Northville Commons—336 acres of rolling farmland with an elevation so high you can actually see Detroit's skyline!

When you enter Northville Commons you'll see beautiful scenery in every direction. You'll also see that the traditional homes, situated on large lots, fit perfectly in this setting.

Thompson-Brown, famous for their open-space concept, have developed thirty of the prettiest acres into exclusive private parks for you and your entire family. You'll enjoy hiking over miles of picturesque walkways. Picnic areas within easy walking distance. Tennis courts that convert to skating in the winter, provide year-around recreation. A basketball pad, shuffleboard and children's play plots give children safe and spacious places to play. And a large, covered shelter with fireplace is perfect for parties or family cookouts. In addition, eight acres have been set aside for a school.

Northville Commons is close to I-96 and I-94 freeways. Come out for the Grand Opening. See 10 completely furnished and landscaped homes with up to five bedrooms. Prices start at just $42,900. Stefanski Gets New Position

Appointment of Fred Stefanski of Northville as director of Community Services at Schoolcraft College has been announced by Vice-President for Instruction Robert Keene.

Stefanski joined the Schoolcraft staff in 1966 as director of the Evening College. He formerly served as principal of Northville High School.

Keene said Stefanski's appointment to the newly created position reflected the college's growth in the area of community service and was a major step in expanding the college's activity in this area.

Stefanski will retain his administrative responsibilities in directing the evening college program at the college, Keene said.

In his new role, Stefanski will also work with representatives of industry, business, government, and local organizations to determine community needs in terms of types of programs, and will have primary responsibility for developing specific programs to meet the needs identified, Keene said.

Stefanski will also coordinate the community service program of the college with public school systems and other institutions and agencies in the college district.

A citizen advisory committee organized by Stefanski has been at work since last fall developing plans and possible programs for the college's community service program.

Members of the committee representing Northville are Robert Bogart and Mrs. Gladys Evans.

ANOTHER FIRST — Novi High School, which will graduate its first senior class this year, came up with another first recently with election of the school's inaugural National Honor Society. Membership, an honor given by the entire faculty, is judged on a scholastic average of "B" or better, leadership, service, and character. A student must rank high in all four areas to be considered for membership. Sponsor of the new organization is Calvin F. Schmucker. Members shown here (l to r) are: back row, Eunice Reuter, 11th grade, Jan

Harbin (11), Carol Bruce (11), Diane Krezel (11), Candy Zarish (12), Judy Durling (12), Melinda Needham (12), Denise Tafralian (11), Pat Erwin (12), Denise Ward (11), and Kathy Vusick (12); middle row, Marjorie Marquie (12), Karen Padgett (12), Sue Presnell (11), Barb Bernhardt (11), Marguerite Little (12), JoEllen Steinberger (12), Beth Newbegin (11), and Ellen Lyke (11); and front row, Thom Holmes (12), Jon VanWagner (12), and Rolf Parta (12). Missing is Gary Boyer.

Northville Girl Takes Honors

More than 1,000 St. Olaf College students, including one from Northville, were honored for high scholarship at the college's annual honors convocation May 1.

The local student is Judith K. Stockhaus, 46070 Bloomcrest Drive.

It's Unauthorized

Paragon Walkout Sparks Dismissals

A walkout last week by more than 70 production employees of the Paragon Division of Portec, Inc., in Novi has been described as unauthorized by Shopmen's Local Union No. 508, International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers, AFL-CIO.

All the employees who walked out were dismissed by the company, and the union upheld the dismissals. The company notified workers of their dismissal by telegram over last weekend. All of the terminated employees worked the afternoon shift.

A company spokesman said Tuesday, that no strike action is involved because the employees were legally dismissed in accordance with the contract between the company and the union.

A group of pickets, representing the dismissed workers, have been picketing the plant since Monday, but there have been no incidents. Work is proceeding normally.

A spokesman for the 70 dismissed employees presented a list of demands to the company last week. The demands included hiring more blacks for management positions and free bus service for employees.

Last Friday afternoon, two busloads of employees came to the plant, punched in, milled around inside the plant for a few minutes, then punched out and left the premises, a company spokesman said. The dismissal notification followed.

The Paragon Division of Portec, Inc., manufactures railroad auto-carriers and heavy structural steel construction units.

Senior to Study In France Next Fall

Northville High School senior Ronald E. Wheatley, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wheatley, 44875 Thomapple Lane, will be attending college next fall in France at the University of Grenoble.

Announcement was made this week that he has been accepted by the American Institute for Foreign Study to participate in its overseas program.

At Grenoble he will carry a full schedule of college-level liberal arts courses, with special emphasis on language, history and culture of France, and will receive college credits.

The University of Grenoble, founded in 1339, is one of the most popular universities in France, having nearly 25,000 students, including 5,000 foreign students from 85 different countries. The city of Grenoble, located on the two banks of the River Isere near the Italian border, is a rapidly growing metropolitan area of 250,000. It is known as a city of unexpected views and contrasts — "where a mountain stands at the end of every street."

The American Institute for Foreign Study, located in Greenwich, Connecticut, is a nationwide association of students and teachers interested in studying and traveling abroad at lowest practical cost.

According to an AIFS spokesman, applications still are being accepted for the Institute's full-year programs in Austria, Britain, France, Italy and Spain. Graduating high school seniors and college students who might be interested should apply directly to admissions officer, American Institute for Foreign Study, Greenwich, Connecticut.

RONALD WHEATLEY

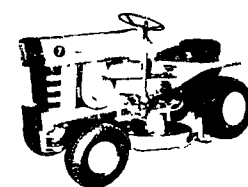

Hay Wins Award

Ralph L. Hay III, Northville, was named winner of the Fisheries and Wildlife Club Award presented last week at the Honors program for students in Michigan State University's College of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Ralph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hay Jr., 383 North Rogers, is a senior majoring in fisheries and wildlife at MSU.

This recognition goes to the Fisheries and Wildlife Club member with the highest grade point average. Ralph has attained a 3.76 grade point average out of a possible 4.0.

SPEAKING for The Record

City and township public hearings held simultaneously last week (Tuesday evening) topped our Record front page last week and the stories were carried-over to the back page (side by side).

It's been reported that some readers, particularly in Kings Mill, confused the two stories and, when continuing their reading of the township hearing from page one to the "jump page", mistakenly thought that several businessmen, listed as opposing CBP zoning, were those at the township hearing saying unkind things about Kings Mill.

These businessmen didn't attend the township hearing on rezoning for multiples. And I'm sure local merchants are happy to count Kings Mill residents among their customers.

The Record has always encouraged these Townhouse dwellers to become active citizens of the community. That's why we have made a special effort to see that every newcomer becomes a reader of The Record.

NOVI HIGHLIGHTS

MRS. H. D. HENDERSON 349-2428

Mr. & Mrs. Kenneth Faulkner wish to announce the arrival of a new baby boy at their home on West Eleven Mile Road. He was born April 28th at St. Marys Hospital, and he has been named, Daniel Raymond. Daniel has three brothers, Chris 14, Scott 11, and Jack 8 years old.

The paternal grand parents are Mr. & Mrs. Raymond Faulkner of Kansas City, Kansas, and the maternal grandmother is Mrs. Florence Walls of Coffey, Missouri.

After spending four of the winter months at their winter home at Englewood, Florida, Mr. & Mrs. Ray La Fond have returned to their home in Novi.

Mr. & Mrs. Douglas Goik and children of Detroit were the mothers day guests of the latters parents, Mr. & Mrs. Louis Tank.

On Monday Mrs. Louis Tank attended a charity luncheon with her daughter, Mrs. Douglas Goik at the Whittier Hotel in Detroit. The luncheon was for the benefit of the Samaritan Club.

Mr. Kirt Bailey and sons, Bill and Larry and Mr. & Mrs. Tom Bailey had a family dinner at the home of Mr. & Mrs. Derek Sumerville and family at Walled Lake on Sunday. The occasion was to celebrate Mothers Day and the fourth birthday of Brian, the son of the Sumervilles.

Mr. & Mrs. William Fox and daughters, Robin and Lori, and the mothers of Mr. & Mrs. Fox, Mrs. Fredricka Fox of Commerce, and Mrs. Anna Washburn of the Oakhill Nursing Home in Farmington, had their mothers day dinner at the Canopy in Brighton.

Sunday evening Mr. & Mrs. Ronald (April) Pastor of Garden City and Mr. & Mrs. Richard (Holly) Elie of Ypsilanti were the guests of the latters parents, Mr. & Mrs. William Fox. May 11th was also the sixth wedding anniversary of Mr. & Mrs. Ronald Pastor.

Mr. John Gotro and Mr. & Mrs. Kenneth Cook had dinner on Mothers Day at the home of Mr. & Mrs. Dale Cook in Milford.

Mr. & Mrs. Lyle Gattrell of West Eleven Mile Road, spent Mothers Day with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. & Mrs. Richard Clink, in Dearborn Heights.

Mrs. Hildred Hunt went to Howell on Monday to visit Mr. & Mrs. Marvin Macomber. Mrs. Macomber is very ill at the Green Briar Convalescent home there in Howell.

On Mothers Day, Mrs. Hildred Hunt and Mrs. Maybelle Greer of Northville were the dinner guests of Mr. & Mrs. Leslie Mitchell.

All of the children and grand children of Mrs. Arthur Heslip were home on Mothers Day except son, Michael, who is in the service and stationed at Fort Knox. Several were home for dinner but in the evening all were there for dessert and coffee. Out of town members of the family were from Battle Creek, Manchester, Plymouth, South Lyon and the Novi area.

Mr. & Mrs. Ed Behrendt entertained their children and grand children on Mothers Day this past Sunday. They were Mr. & Mrs. John Leavenworth of Wayne, Mr. & Mrs. Tom Darling and son, Tommy, of Belleville, Mr. & Mrs. Bill Gray and daughter, Dianna of Ypsilanti, Mrs. Carolyn Quinlan of Royal Oak and Mr. & Mrs. Floyd Darling.

The women of the Novi Heights Association had their Spring tea at the home of Mrs. J.D. Mitchell on Whipple St. this week. Mrs. Lawrence Boyd assisted as co-hostess.

Mrs. Jack Roeder of Clark St. volunteered to baby sit for the small children during the tea. It was very much appreciated by the Association.

Week end guests of Mr. & Mrs. Lloyd Coleman were Mr. & Mrs. Donald Sasse and family. Mr. & Mrs. Richard Sasse and Mr. & Mrs. Richard Sasse and Mr. & Mrs. Floyd Drowes all from Midland. They came to attend the wedding of the Coleman's son, Jerry who was married Saturday night.

Mr. & Mrs. John Klaserer Sr. are back in their home on Beck Road after spending the winter months at their winter home at Dunedin, Florida. Visitors at the Klaserer home on Mothers Day were their sons, John Klaserer Jr. & family and William Klaserer and family, and a nephew, James Klaserer and family from Birmingham.

Mrs. Harold Henderson was the guest of her son and daughter-in-law Mr. & Mrs. Ed Rix of Plymouth on Mothers Day. They went to Lansing where they picked up Mrs. Rix's mother, Mrs. Flora Brice, and they had dinner at a Swedish Restaurant at Waverly and Michigan Ave.

Mr. & Mrs. Gerald Race & sons, Ronny and Gerald Jr. were Mothers Day guests of their parents, Mr. & Mrs. Russell Race. The Russell Races went into their church in Detroit in the morning.

Methodists' New Services Start Tonight

Beginning tonight, members of Northville United Methodist Church will not have to make the difficult Christian choice of staying home for the weekly inspiration of church services-or escaping for a week-end's relaxation to the lakes and woods of Northern Michigan.

A "Weekender's Worship" will be held at 8 p.m. today at the church with the Reverend Guenther C. Branstner, pastor, giving the sermon he will preach the following Sunday. The service, however, will be less formal than the Sunday morning one.

"The church must meet the needs of the society today and be as flexible as possible," announced Reverend Branstner, himself a Michigan cottage owner.

The church will begin summer Sunday schedule with a single service at 10 a.m. and church school at the same hour. The Thursday and single Sunday services will continue through the early fall.

About Our Servicemen

Soldier Cited for Heroism

A former associate with Salon Rene' here, Specialist 4 David Dunning has received a Army Commendation Medal with "V" Device for heroism in Vietnam.

The citation reads in part: "...distinguished himself on (February 6) while serving as a gunner in defense of Camp Panther. When his base camp came under intense enemy mortar attack, (Specialist Dunning), disregarding his own safety, braved the fusillade of flying shrapnel to place effective counter mortar fire upon the enemy, remaining at his position throughout the attack despite the great threat to his own life.

"(His) heroic actions are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, the 9th Infantry Division and the United States Army."

The citation for Specialist Dunning, now stationed at Bien Phouc, was signed by Colonel A. P. Hanket, acting chief of staff.

Fireman Louis Steven Chismark, USN, now is on a two-week leave visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Chismark, 27421 Meadowbrook, Novi.

A graduate of Northville High School, he attended Central Michigan University for two and a half years before entering the Navy February 28. He has just completed basic training and will report Tuesday to Great Lakes service school for machinist's mate training (Class A) in preparation for entering the Navy's nuclear program.

Second Lieutenant Forrest L. Pretzer, who has been living with his family in Northville while completing work on his master's degree at University of Michigan, now is leaving for Vandenberg Air Force base in California where he will be engaged in the Satellite research program at the base.

A 12-year career serviceman with the U.S. Air Force, Lieutenant Pretzer joined the Air Force after attending Northville High School. In service he earned his BS. degree at Auburn University in Alabama and then was commissioned. He then began his work toward his master's degree at U. of M.

While living in Northville Lieutenant Pretzer served as a Little League football coach last season.

He is the son of Mrs. Theresa Kohler, 410 West Main. His wife and children, Gayla Lee, 7, and Robert Wayne, 5, will be joining him in California.

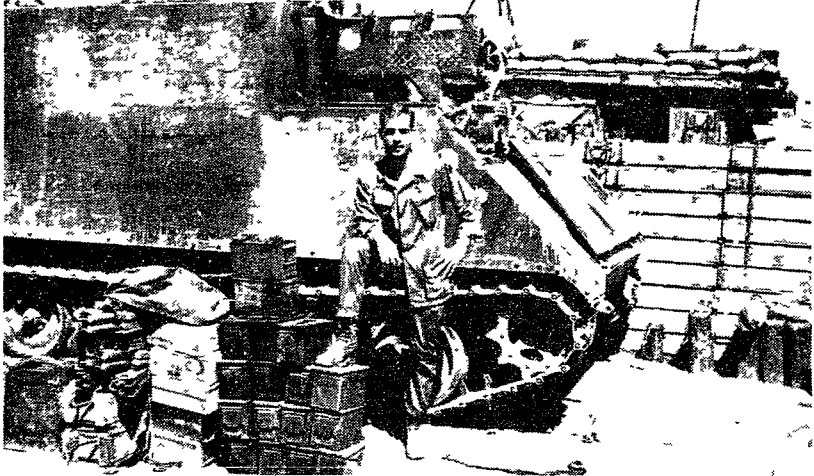

News concerning two sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Myers, formerly of Northville and presently residents at 46805 Betty Hill Lane, Plymouth, reached The Record this past week.

Son Michael D., a lance corporal with the United States Marine Corps, reports that he is now at DaNang, stationed at an ammunition dump that was completely destroyed by fire on April 27.

Sparks from a nearby Vietnamese grass dump triggered the blaze. There were no injuries. Presently serving tours of guard duty, he writes that he would like to hear from any of his old friends "or even new ones." His address is: L/Cpl. M. D. Myers, 2451256, Ammo Co. Supply Bn., 1st F.S.R., F.L.C., ASPI, F.P.O. San Francisco, California 96602.

Son Kenneth, a specialist fifth class with the United States Army, is stationed at an Indian Gap Reservation post, working in the quartermaster's office. He just returned from 12 months of duty in Korea. His address is: Sp/5 Kenneth Myers, RA-54972806, Hqtrs. Co., USA G/I GMR, Annville, Pennsylvania 17003.

For Concert

Annual Northville High School spring band concert will be held at 8 p.m. today at the school. Several student conductors from the senior class will conduct the program which has been arranged by band officers.

They report they have chosen some of history's great composers for the program of classical, modern and Latin American music. President Gus Wedemeyer titled the program "A Splendiferous Cocktail." Other officers are Stacey Evans, secretary-treasurer; and Cris Becker, librarian.

Parents and friends are invited to stay afterward for refreshments and a reception for band members. A donation will be accepted.

Poppy Sale

Slated Here

Next Week

"Lest We Forget — Wear a Poppy," annual message of the American Legion Auxiliary, is the theme for local preparations of a joint poppy committee of the two organizations who will mark Poppy Days, May 22-24, here next week.

Preparations for the annual sale started nearly a year ago, the committee notes, as thousands of disabled veterans in hospitals and convalescent workrooms throughout the United States assembled and packed poppies from materials furnished by the American Legion and its auxiliary. The work is considered valuable occupational therapy, in addition to giving the disabled the "encouraging experience of earning money once again."

All contributions, by mail or during the street sale, are used for local relief programs, hospital programs and other services to needy or disabled veterans and to widows or orphans of deceased veterans.

The local poppy committee asks residents to wear "the symbolic tribute to the men who have given their lives to the cause of their nation and its people.

A CAVERN CONTRIBUTION from Northville Veterans of Foreign Wars and auxiliary this week takes the teen-age club's May fund drive a quarter of the way to its $6,000 goal. Novi Boosters

Tap Radtke

Robert Radtke has been elected president of the Novi Athletic Boosters, replacing out-going president Charles Boyer.

Lester Ward was elected vice-president; Mrs. Marja Killeen, secretary; and Gerald Pomeroy, treasurer.

The new officers will be installed May 22 when the club meets in the high school commons at 8 p.m. Highlights of the past year's athletic events will be reviewed and plans will be discussed for next year's activities.

Little League

Practice Starts

Senior division boys of the Novi Little League, ages 13 to 15, will practice Saturday morning at the Novi High School, beginning at 10 a.m. sharp, league officials announced this week. Work has been started on the new fields on Taft Road.

Northville Loses 4th by Single Run

"It's frustrating — but I guess that's the way it has to be."

That's the way Northville Coach Dick Willing viewed his squad's fourth one-run loss Monday — this time a 3-2 decision at the hands of Milford which earlier in the season defeated the Mustangs, 4-3.

Going into Tuesday's make-up game with Brighton, the varsity nine had a 11-4-1 record. In the last three of its four losses Northville was either tied or ahead going into the final inning of play.

And that's the way it was Monday afternoon at Brighton. The two teams were knotted at two runs apiece in the seventh and they stayed that way until the bottom of the ninth when one of the Milford batsmen hit to the wrong field — a drive that landed fair by a foot along the left field line — scoring the winning run.

Jeff Taylor who went all the way for the Mustangs in being nicked for the loss, scattered five hits, struck out 13 and walked three in a fine exhibition of pitching. Although Northville out-hit Milford six to five, the Mustangs were unable to muster the punch when it was needed most.

In the fourth and sixth innings Northville had men at second but couldn't bring them home, in the fifth, Dave Coe tripled but couldn't score, and in the fifth Stan Nirider was stranded at third.

Northville scored its first run in the top of the first when Nirider gained first on an error, stole second and then raced home when Taylor doubled to right.

In the third stanza, Nirider and Terry Mills singled and were camped on base when Pat Cayley singled home Nirider for Northville's only other run.

Milford got its first two runs in the bottom of the third.

Novi Schedules Sports Banquet

Novi High School's annual Athletic Banquet has been scheduled for May 28 at 7 p.m. in the Commons.

The banquet will honor Novi's outstanding athletes, especially those who are members of the first graduating class.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Charles Wachtell, director of special education for Toledo schools.

Wachtell served with the armed forces for 20 years and has played football for the University of New Mexico and the University of Toledo. He has been instrumental in sending deserving boys to these universities.

Tickets to the banquet are $3 each. Contact the Novi High School for additional information.

in picking up his third shutout of the season as the Mustangs blanked West Bloomfield on the opponent's diamond, 6-0. Holdsworth, who has given up only two earned runs in 47 innings, struck out eight and walked two.

In the first, Nirider bunted down the first base line, stole second and third and then came home on a pass ball.

The Mustangs scored three more in the fourth. Bernie Bach walked, Rich Adams and Coe bunted, scoring Bach who had moved to third on an overthrow to second. Then with two outs, Mills grounded to the shortstop who threw over the first baseman's head allowing both Coe and Adams to score.

Two other runs were produced in the seventh. Mills singled, Cayley walked, and Taylor was safe on an error to fill the bases. Holdsworth then hit an infield grounder and Milford failed to nip Mills at the plate. Later, with two outs, Coe singled home Holdsworth.

Strike Outs Still Plague Novi Nine

Just when Coach John Osborn figured his Novi varsity nine had shed its strike-out habits, the Wildcats' performance at the plate came back to haunt him early this week.

Playing heads up ball — defensively, Novi piled up a total of 21 strikeouts in losing to Chelsea, 3-2, Monday and then downing Ypsilanti Roosevelt Tuesday, 5-1.

Against Chelsea the Wildcats collected just three hits while going errorless in the field, and against Ypsi they managed to pick up six hits, again playing perfect ball in the field.

Lee Snow, who walked five and struckout five, was tagged with the Chelsea loss. All three of Chelsea's runs were produced in the third inning on four straight walks and a single. Best efforts at the plate for Novi were turned in by Snow, who tripled to score one run and then came across the plate for a second, and Gary Boyer who tripled and singled.

Jim Poole was the winning hurler at Ypsi, fanning five while walking only one.

Roosevelt led by one run until the top of the seventh when the Wildcats exploded for all five of their tallies. Dan Flattery led off the inning, gaining first and then second on an error and Paul Faulkner singled.

Then with one out, Boyer squeezed home Flattery to tie the score. Dennis Diem singled, driving across two runs. Snow walked and Tom VanWagner sliced one through the shortstop scoring two more runs.

Wildcats Swamp Nine Teams To Nail Down Tecumseh Relays

In what may have been the most important victory in the short history of Novi high school athletics, the Wildcats completely overpower nine Class "C" schools Saturday in running away with the coveted Tecumseh Relays crown.

The Novi thinclads ground out 84 points — 40 more than second-place Morenci and 44 more than third-place Madison — in posting the triumph despite mud-filled pits and a rain-slick track at Tecumseh.

For awhile Saturday morning it was doubtful the Relays would be held, but rather than postpone it officials elected to go ahead despite the rain and cold.

And nobody could be happier than Novi Coach Fred Hanert that the event went ahead as scheduled. "They (Novi athletes) were marvelous," the elated coach said. "I couldn't be happier with the way these fellows have come along in such a short period."

Hopefully, the victory at Tecumseh will put the thinclads in the right frame of mind for the regionals at Flint Central next Saturday, he said. "I'd like to see as many boys as possible qualify at Flint for the state meet."

In winning Saturday, Novi chalked up points in every event but one — and that one, the two-mile relay, the Wildcats did not enter.

Five of Novi's markers were for first place, including the Tecumseh Medley Relay — the host's special half-mile race.

None of the times or distances were especially good because of the weather, but Coach Hanert was particularly pleased with marks in the 120 yard high hurdles, shot put, and the shuttle hurdle relay.

Jon VanWagner, who notched two firsts, shared in another first, and a second, splashed home in 17 seconds flat in the 120 high hurdles, followed by Syd Chapman in third at 18.2.

Two freshmen, Jim Wilenius and Steve Pelchat, together with Steve Pomeroy, who hadn't run a shuttle hurdle leg before, teamed up with Chapman to take an upset victory in the shuttle hurdle relay, surprising their coach almost as much as the opposing runners. The local relay squad was clocked at 59.5.

In the shot, where Lev Tafraian and Doug Keith have been tossing the school record back and forth over the past several weeks, Tafraian came up with his school's latest record with a first-place put of 43' 11". Keith's put, also besting the previous Novi school mark, came in with a second at 43' 10".

Other firsts were notched by John Davey, who sailed 18' 10" into a pool of mud and water in the long jump, VanWagner, who high jumped 5' 4"; and the local medley, 880 and mile relay teams.

The medley relay squad, which was clocked at 1:45.4, included Gary Boyer, John Davey, Don Maki and Rick Dale, running in that order. In the 880 yard relay, Dale, Gary Boyer, Maki and Davey churned home in 1:40.2. And in the mile relay it was Tom Boyer, VanWagner, Pomeroy and Hill clocked at 3:47.0.

In the pole vault event, where stiff winds limited the best vault to 9'9", VanWagner finished second with a vault of 9' 6"

Other marks included a fourth in the long jump (18' 2"); John Davey, fourth in the 100 yard dash (11.3); Dan McGarry, third in the mile run (5.10); and distance relay team, Tom Boyer, Hill, Larry Eggleston and Mark Earl, third (12:21.2).

Novi JH Tops Northville

Gary Collins picked up three first places last week Wednesday to spark Novi's junior high school track team to a 66-43 victory over Northville at Northville.

Novi won nine first-place events, five seconds, and nine thirds. Northville came up with four firsts, eight seconds, and two thirds.

Collins took first in high jump (5' 0"), first in shot put (40' 2 3/4"), and first in the 100 yard low hurdles (12.9).

Here are the other individual results

Long jump — VanWagner, N-first (17' 3"); Karsh, N-second, and Findling, Nv-third. High jump — Law, N-second; and Boyer, N-third.

Pole vault — Lukkari, N-first (7' 9"); Witek, Nv-second, and Vivian N-third.

Shot put — Forrester, Nv-second; and Broquet, N-third.

60 yard high hurdles — Boyer, N-first (10.0); Pickren, Nv-second, and Miller, N-third.

60-yard dash — Sweeney, Nv-first (7.5); Stevens, N-second; and VanWagner-Karch, N-third.

75-yard dash — Dye, N-first (9.3); Findling, Nv-second; and St. John, N-third. 440 yard dash — Law, N-first (61.2); Forrester, Nv-second; and Lukkari, N-third. 100 yard low hurdles — Greggs, Nv-second; and Hansor, N-third.

100 yard dash — Sweeney, Nv-first (11.4); St. John, N-second; and Ferris, Nv-third.

220 yard dash — VanDrie, Nv-first (26.7); Findley, Nv-second; and Karch, N-third.

880 yard relay — Northville, first (1 57.8); Novi (2 00.5).

440 yard relay — Novi, first (51.2), Northville (56.5).

Injuries Hurt Mustangs

With two key athletes missing from action, Northville thinclads wound up in last place in a triangular meet here Thursday with Edsel Ford and River Rouge.

Ford claimed the meet, piling up 73 points while Rouge came up with 44 and Northville 31.

"I think we could have taken Rouge," said Coach Ralph Redmond, "but John Stuyvenburg, who was nursing a sliced heel, and Glen Heffner, who also was ailing, could not take part.

Here's how Northville scored its points.

Jim Armstrong took fourth in the pole vault (10' 6"); Fred Hicks was first in the shot (49' 4"), and Brian Myers was fourth in the shot (40' 10").

Third in high jump (5' 6") was Rick Pickren; Rick Bell took second in the two mile run (10.31), Rick Lamp finished third in the two-mile even (10 40.5); and Paul Bedford and Phil Kennedy finished third and fourth. (4 50.0 and 4 59.0) in the mile run.

Jeff Dawson took third in the high hurdles (16.3), Pickren fourth (16.9); Greg Marshall was first in the 880

(2:04); Greg VanDrie fourth in the 440 (56.8); Brian Dyke fourth in the 100 yard dash (10.8); and Dave Mitchell fourth in the low hurdles (21.8).

Northville's mile relay team — including Marshall, Kennedy, Bedford and VanDrie — finished second with a time of 3:43.

Rain dampened the Shafer Relays at Southgate Saturday but after half of the teams — including Northville — left the track to return home, officials decided to hold the meet anyway with the remaining teams.

To the Editor:

The Northville Planning Commission has planned Northville off the map. Our town is to be destroyed for the name of progress. There are few towns like ours left, people are paying money to visit Williamsburg and Greenfield Village to see what we have right here. Northville is quaint and historic, but we have something that no amount of "tax dollars" can replace, it's called heritage. We can give our children a pride and heritage in the town they live in. There is not much pride to be derived from a shopping center as against show places such as the old library, the opera house and Fish Hatchery, the last two which have already been destroyed.

Drive around Northland and Westland and ask yourself if you would like to live there. Is Northville ready to turn into a shopping center. Is Dunlap ready to take the heavy traffic it now has and add all the traffic from Main Street? Every mother with children will be ready to move and just who will buy these big old homes? Not many couples without children. Are the people on Main Street ready to give up their right of way and drive three blocks extra just to get home when Main Street is closed.

Let's think about the outsiders that the Planning Commission wants to bring in, who are they? Will they care about keeping our city clean? Will they care about protecting our children?

Please don't be one of those people who says "Don't worry about it, it can't happen" or "It will take 10 to 20 years". The town has already made payments on 7 pieces of prime land and our tax dollar is going to pay for the interest. Residents, are you willing to buy this prime land for this giant parking lot? Are you willing to pay for the construction, grading, base and black top for these parking lots? Are you ready to buy the extra parking meters, plus hire at least two more police officers? They will be needed to maintain these meters and to collect the pennies these meters will add to our tax dollars.

Just about everything east of the bank on both sides of Main Street will be destroyed for this giant parking lot. The entire block from Dunlap to Main and from Wing to Center will be a giant parking lot plus all the giant parking lot at Northville Downs. It is going to cost over a million dollars for this giant parking lot and not much to go park for. I have never found parking a problem yet. I am a little concerned about the parking lot that we have already put money into on Wing Street that is empty all day, every day.

Residents, do something before we are known for the town that has two Race Tracks, one around a gigantic parking lot and one at the Downs.

Sincerely & Concerned
Mrs. G. Smith

To the Editor:

Be-Be-Beep, Be-Beep — Road Runner here again!

Did you get that bit of the city council turning over a little ditty I wrote to them with regard to the honorable mayor and the city (non-resident) Inspector Salow to the city attorney?

I had requested the memo be published — didn't see that! If they want to sue I will have more later on "Behind the Wallpaper." Right now let's clear up one matter! Why would any resident — especially a business man, write a letter to a council if he did not know he had a valid reason?

After the "SS" man made his unethical speech in front of five (5) women customers and stated untruths not befitting any person let alone a public employee, it not being my size was against me. I would have thrown him out of the place. I did order him off. I have been working with the bar-bells in case I get another chance.

Be-Be-Beep, Be-Beep!

"SS" used our sign as a reason for his command performance. Told everybody in attendance Dr. Sparling never operated from our place of business, we couldn't and never took out a building permit to do the basement. I told him we painted it and the other jobs were probably 35 years old. Partitions, etc. He, "SS" of course, took exception to this and told me I was in violation and not telling the truth and he would see me in court!

Be-Be-Beep — Be-Beep!

Now the audience was really getting their ears full, better than "Laugh-In."

About this time little Bruce had his fill of "SS" making him out a liar in front of all his lady-friends yet! So I backed him up the stairs and out the door and I am just giddy with joy that all those lovely little ears heard the display of the American Tragedy.

Now I called the manager of the ball team. Ollie Oop would be gone till Monday.

Well, I must go to the mountain and have audience with the King. I called him on the horn down at the tomesstones and he of course was already informed of the "Laugh-In" from "SS" and had deaf ears to little ole-me-so up the phone he hangs. This was cute — right in my good ear! Easier to crawl in a vault and come out when the sun is shining. Be-Be-Beep, Be-Beep!

So they wonder why business people don't come to Northville? They must be joking! No midget raceway, or all the other revamping of physical appearances are going to attract business or keep the ones they have until a change in atmosphere and altitude is achieved from the top on down. This too will come to pass! cooperation is the word — it's a two-way street!

When this production goes on stage don't miss it — could win an Oscar.

Have you got your tickets yet to the June production of "CBD Loves CBP". Don't miss that — it really beats TV — better than the "Beverly Hillsbillys". This production is under the able direction of George Goebel — with not too many supporting actors! Be-Be-Beep, Be-Beep

Meeting Dates For City Changed

Dates of two upcoming Northville city council meetings have been changed, officials have announced.

Next week's meeting will be held on Tuesday rather than Monday because of the Mayor's Exchange program slated Monday. And the public hearing on the proposed city budget, originally scheduled Monday, will be held May 26.

One of the items to come up for discussion at next Tuesday's meeting will be the matter of public sale of the Reuben E. Peterson property.

and county sheriff would not provide local service if the township hired its own fulltime officer.

Mitchell said he checked with the state and county authorities and found that the township would receive the same service from these agencies even if a fulltime officer were to be employed.

Straub agreed with Mitchell's position. He said the only reason he had made a motion to await the study committee's findings was because of the "erroneous statement that the state police or sheriff would pull out if we hired a policeman".

Clerk Hammond insisted that the township needed the service and that the hiring of Nisun was an immediate, not long-range answer.

Lawrence, who introduced the original motion to employ Nisun fulltime, and Mitchell, Straub and Mrs. Hammond pointed out that citizens at the annual meeting had refused to cut the police budget. They said this was proof the citizens want a fulltime officer.

Baldwin disagreed. He said the public had been promised a police study report before any action would be taken. He said the vote to retain the police budget was made "so our hands wouldn't be tied".

Armstrong and Baldwin tried unsuccessfully to block action on the action. It took an attorney's ruling to allow the issue to be discussed after Baldwin protested that it had been tabled. Armstrong insisted that the board had agreed to take applications for the job. Baldwin asked to see Nisun's qualifications. Baldwin wondered why any action was necessary. "The supervisor has already hired him fulltime" (since April 14 at $3 per hour). They also insisted that the board was making decisions it had promised to make based upon the police study.

Mitchell said that the township could still join with the county in a police contract and the county would use the township's officer. He said that hiring Nisun did not take away from the importance of the police study.

Baldwin accused Mitchell of making "a personal study" on the police matter and denying the study committee the right to reach certain conclusions. Mitchell said this was not true, and reiterated that the township could enter into a contract with the county and still keep Nisun.

A two-year-old study proposed a contract with the city of Northville for police protection. Mitchell, who is a member of the new study committee, has indicated at board meetings that he favors a contract with the county. Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg has also been publicly quoted as favoring a police contract with the county.

Stromberg, who may vote if he wishes, did not take part in the Tuesday night's debate. He has maintained a policy of voting only in case of ties.

Armstrong made a final effort to stop the vote by suggesting that the township continue to employ Nisun on an hourly basis until the study committee makes its report.

But Lawrence called for the motion and it passed, 4-2.

District Court

Three Northville residents were fined for violations Tuesday by 35th District Judge Dunbar Davis.

William F. Burt, 56, of 393 First Street, was fined $103 for driving while his ability was impaired.

John R. Couch, 18, of 410 North Center Street, was released on $1,000 bond and examination set for May 19, at 2 p.m., on a charge of using a motor vehicle without authority and without intent to steal.

Mrs. Teresa Kohler, 410 West Main Street, was fined $28 for permitting her 16-year old son, Robert Diehl, to be on the street after the city's midnight curfew.

Because the defendant admittedly acted hastily and without cause, assault charges brought by George Clark against a young Northville man were dropped Tuesday in Northville District Court.

In other business in the meeting that lasted until midnight the board:

— heard Fred Casterline report that a new state law effective July 1 may make it necessary for him to seek payment guarantees for city and township ambulance calls if he is to continue service;

— approved B-2 zoning for construction of an auto-wash on Five Mile near Haggerty;

— approved the preliminary plat for stage two of Greenspan subdivision number two on Bradner road;

— retained the firm of Draugelis and Ashton as township attorneys for another year at the same fee of $400 quarterly for attendance at meetings and $30 per hour for legal work;

— decided to take action to change the name of Canterbury court in Northville Colony subdivision to avoid confusion with a similarly-named street in the city;

— read a reply from Plymouth township estimating cost of providing fire protection in the southeast portion of Northville township at $20,000 annually;

— approved a salary hike for the building inspector, who also serves as water and sewer department superintendent, from $10,160 to $11,523 plus car allowance and fringe benefits; and proposed a hike from $3,000 to $4,500 per year for the electrical inspector providing he works three half-days per week instead of two half-days. The inspector has asked for a boost to $6,500, Supervisor Stromberg reported.

Police Investigate Conspiracy Case

Novi police are investigating a conspiracy case involving four persons.

The quartet are charged with conspiring to obstruct justice, and obstructing justice, by attempting to bribe a major witness in a criminal felony case.

One suspect, Gordon Gabbard, 23, of Detroit, has been arrested on both charges and is being held in lieu of $10,000 bond in Oakland County Jail.

Gabbard, according to Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole, was paroled from the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson six months ago, where he was serving a term for statutory rape.

Detective-Corporal Gordon Nelson said that warrants have been issued for two additional persons and other charges will be added, with a major arrest expected in the near future.

Novi detectives, led by Detective-Sergeant Richard Faulkner, have been working with the Oakland County Prosecuting Attorney's office on the case.

Corporal Nelson said that one key witness in the case was removed from his Novi home, Saturday night, for safety's sake, and is now lodged in an out-state motel, under police guard.

OBITUARIES

Youth Lose Friend As Allen Buckley Dies

Youth of Northville lost one of their best friends with the sudden death of Allen John Buckley, 65, of 425 Yerkes Avenue, on Monday.

Funeral services for the life-long Northville resident, who died at his home, will be held at 2 p.m. today (Thursday) at Ebert Funeral Home, with the Reverend Timothy Johnson officiating.

Born March 20, 1904 in Northville, he was the son of John and Jean (McLean) Buckley. On May 28, 1924 he married Laura Trufant, who survives him. Other survivors include a son, Richard of Farmington, and two grandchildren.

Mr. Buckley, who retired in December, 1965 as a research engineer for the Ford Motor Company after 42 years of service, was one of the prime movers in the formation of the Northville Boosters Club. He served as a scout master and was active in support of other youth organizations.

A 1923 graduate of Northville High School, he was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville, Masonic Lodge No. 186, F&AM, and the Ford Motor Company Oldtimers Club.

Burial will be in Rural Hill Cemetery.

HARRY P. TAYLOR

Funeral services for Harry P. Taylor, 340 Pennell Street, who died Tuesday at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor, are being arranged by Casterline Funeral Home.

Mr. Taylor, who had been ill for some time, died, at the age of 77. He is survived by his wife, Cora.

1—Card of Thanks

Our sincerest thanks for the kindness extended to us by friends and neighbors at this sad time of our lives, the loss of our dearly beloved Emerson.
The Family of Emerson Viles H-20

I would like to thank all my friends and neighbors and Blue Star Mothers for the lovely gifts and cards during my stay in the hospital.
Mrs. Joseph Gardella

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Allen parents of Michael J. Allen wish to express our deepest thanks for the many kindnesses shown the family and Mike during his last illness. The many cards sent and prayers offered in all the churches were of great strength and help to Mike and his family. We wish to express sincere thanks to each and everyone and a special note of thanks to those who contributed blood. We especially commend all the teen-agers and their sense of loyalty and comradeship. We now realize how many fine and considerate young adults we have in our community.
H-20

1—Card of Thanks

I wish to thank my friends and neighbors and the Oddfellows and Rebekahs for their cards and gifts sent to me while I was in the hospital.
Mrs. Harry Webster H-20

A warm thank you for the many Get Well and Birthday cards sent me while I was in the hospital. A special thank you to the VFW Auxiliary, Rebekahs, Eastern Star and members of the Methodist Church for their many remembrances.
Hazel Kluck H-20

2—In Memoriam

In memory of Francis Larson. Most wonderful Husband, Father and son. A year ago you left this world of work, worry and of pain. God willing may we in the future be together again. Loving him, missing him.

He marvels at the majesty of the clouds and the vastness of the sky. He thrills at the reflections cast upon the water by the rainbow palette of the setting sun. He is awed, humbled—yet, at the same time, fiercely proud.

His feelings contradict each other. For he knows he is a small creature dwarfed by the overpowering glory of nature, yet, at the same time, a man—a man created in the image of God.

Of course, we all need to be humble, but we also need to be proud. In one sense we are insignificant, and in another we are all-important. The problem lies in finding the proper balance between the two.

To understand the whole man—the all of you, you must turn to His Church where God is forever revealing the mysteries of His universe. Here we are taught truths that have endured throughout the ages. Here we must come if we are to find the proper balance in life.

Rev. Cedric Whitcomb
First Baptist Church of Northville

This is the day of long working hours, overtime and oftentimes an extra job for Dad. Or, in addition to Mom's homemaking chores, she takes on a job of several hours a week outside the home. These extra jobs are sometimes to "make ends meet," sometimes to provide the means necessary for that added luxury or to pay for anticipated college expenses. Work always has been and always will be, a very vital part of our lives.

There is, however, one thing for which we cannot work, but it can be the most valuable of all our possessions. The gift was provided at extreme cost, but to us it's free, and that's a home in heaven in the presence of the Lord. To know our sins are forgiven and know that we have a reservation in heaven is the most priceless thing we can possess. We can't work for it!

Ephesians 2:8,9 tells us this, "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works lest any man should boast." To be saved from the penalty of our sins (salvation) is a gift that cannot be worked for, earned or achieved. We receive it as a gift just as we do a gift from a loved one at Christmas or some other special occasion.

There are five reasons why we cannot earn or work our way to heaven. Let's share them together.

(1) Salvation is a gift. God loved us and expressed His love in the gift of His son to die for our sin. A gift is not earned, it is received simply by accepting it.

(2) We are saved by grace. Grace means, God does for me what I cannot do for myself. In saving us from our sin, God does for us what we, by working and planning, are unable to do for ourselves. Grace glorifies God, but works glorify man.

(3) If we could be saved by works, works would be the method of our salvation, however, Ephesians 2:10 says, "For we are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works..." Good works are the object of our salvation not the method.

(4) Ephesians 2:10 says, we are God's workmanship. If we could save ourselves we could boast of what we did. This would be contradictory to God's plan for saving people from their sin.

(5) Man works for temporal gifts. They may last a long time but they are not eternal. "For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord" (Romans 6:23).

According to the Word of God it is impossible for a man to work his way into heaven. We can work hard for many things in this life, but eternal life is a gift and comes only through receiving Jesus Christ as your own personal Savior. Its one thing to acknowledge Him as the Savior of the world, but quite another thing to receive Him into your own life and claim Him as your very own personal Savior from sin.

You can receive Him by confessing your sin to Him and inviting Him into your life. "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved" (Romans 10:13). Why don't you let Him save you? Do you have reservations in heaven?

Affluence: A Big Garbage Problem

WELLESLEY HILLS, Massachusetts — As a consequence of our nation's enormous industrial output the high level of affluence, we are faced each day with the formidable task of disposing of more than one million tons of solid waste. In the past, what we have done with our waste and garbage was to dump it on some unused piece of land or into a nearby body of water. For reasons of health and aesthetics alone this was never a good means of disposal, and it becomes even more unacceptable as the population grows and our natural resources dwindle.

Adding to the disposal problem are the increased durability and the decreased salvage value of a great many goods and packaging materials. With the majority of our cities already running out of nearby land fill sites, it is obvious that new disposal technologies are vitally necessary in order to cope with the gigantic and still mounting waste disposal problem.

One of the more novel approaches for disposing of waste is that of compressing garbage into building blocks. These blocks are coated with steel, concrete, or asphalt for use in building, road, or airstrip foundations, and retaining walls. It is claimed that the compression destroys all microorganisms, resulting in a sterile, odorless building block.

ANOTHER method of adding value to waste is being tried by the U.S. Public Health Service. In this experiment, sewage sludge is added to compost to make it more valuable as a fertilizer and soil conditioner. It has also been suggested that railroads use unit trains to haul trash for burial in remote areas, perhaps to fill in worked-out quarries or mines.

The packaging industry, in response to the litter and waste disposal problem, is turning its efforts to making packages that are more disposable or degradable, and even self-destructive.

Dow Chemical, among others, is working on a bottle that will disintegrate after it has been emptied. Other companies have similar projects under way. It is thought that such a self-destructing container may be in use in 1970.

American Maize-Products is heading on another tack, by making the packaging part of the food. This long-established manufacturer of corn products has developed an edible packaging film that is now being used commercially in the baking industry; the film is made of soluble, high-amylase cornstarch.

WHILE SOLUBLE or self-destructing packaging is one answer to the waste disposal problem, it is not the ideal solution. Recycling or reclamation of waste to recover natural resources is the ultimate goal. Along these lines, Reynolds Metals has set up a reclamation project in Florida where empty aluminum cans are collected and processed for reuse by secondary aluminum producers.

Ford Motor's San Jose, California assembly plant has a machine (developed by Pan American Resources) that converts waste packaging materials into combustible gas and charcoal.

Children Becoming Smokers, Too

LANSING — Health hazards notwithstanding, cigarette smokers are getting younger, and younger in Michigan, a recently-completed survey of 951 school children shows.

According to the study, many youngsters begin puffing at age nine, and some as early as six. Some eighth graders in a Detroit area school claimed they smoke marijuana or know classmates who do.

The survey was conducted by teen-agers under auspices of the Youth Advisory Council, an arm of the Governor's Youth Commission of Michigan.

Interviews were conducted at 75 schools in 25 cities, with concentration on schools in Detroit, Reed City, Southfield and Almont.

Among major findings were:

—About 13-percent of those questioned said they were now smoking.

—Fewer than half of the pupils said their schools were teaching about the relationship between smoking and health. Some of this teaching, they said, took place in informal rather than classroom instruction.

—The relationship between smoking and health was given as the main reason for not smoking. About 16 percent of those interviewed specifically mentioned the possibility of cancer as a reason for not smoking.

—More than 70-percent of the pupils said either their mother or father or friends smoked. The children were more likely to be smokers if their parents, brothers or sisters or friends smoked.

—About 59-percent of the smokers were boys and 41 percent girls. Boys made up 55-percent of those interviewed.

Only a few said they smoke up to one-half a pack or a pack a day. About half the pupils who said they are not now smoking reported they have tried it, and about 95-percent said their parents would not approve of smoking.

Most of the youngsters could remember a favorite cigarette commercial on television, and most mentioned "the music and humor" in the jingle. A majority also remembered seeing television commercials against smoking.

DR. JAMES SWEINHART of the University of Michigan School of Public Health said the survey indicated education about smoking should start at the grade school instead of high school level.

"It shows we haven't been doing a good job in the schools on smoking education and should do something about it," said John Doherty of the Michigan Health Council.

"We've got to start education at a lower age level, try to deglamorize smoking and get mom and dad to set a better example," added Robert Waite of the Michigan Division of the American Cancer Society.

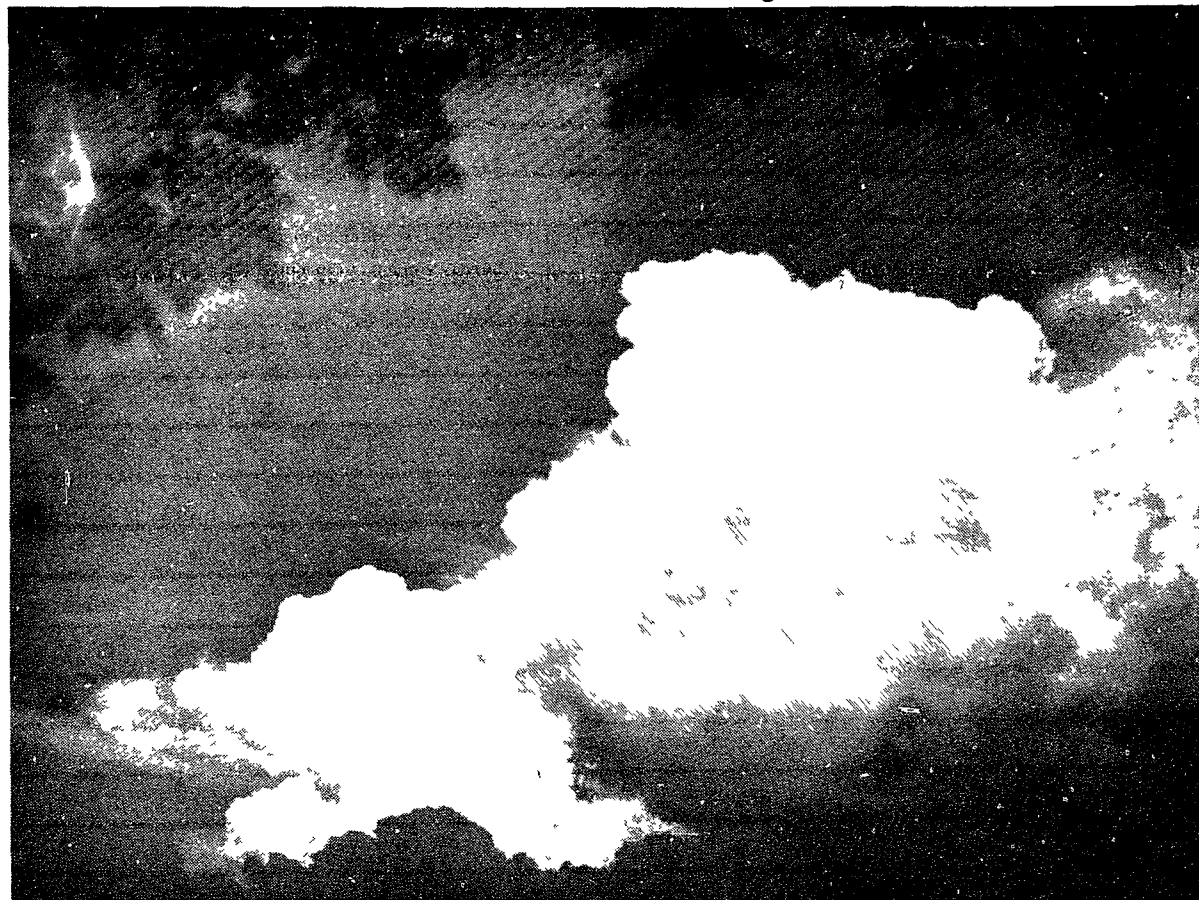

Dr. Erwin P. Bettinghaus, assistant dean of communication arts at Michigan State University, said the survey cost only $200 to $300 and took 2 1/2 months to complete.

He said it showed that while Michigan law specifies the schools shall conduct informational sessions on smoking and drug usage, less than half the students interviewed said their schools do teach this. They claimed that "no smoking" signs in hallways and other "informal" reminders are the extent of their instruction.

HOW MANY cigarettes does the average 9-12-year-old smoker consume? "About three to five a day," according to Bettinghaus. Some, however, said they average half a pack daily.

"But you have to remember," Bettinghaus added, "that the average 10-year-old doesn't have the opportunity to smoke that much. So if he could find the time to smoke, he would be in the same position as a heavy smoker."

Nature's Heavenly Canopy

One of nature's most beautiful handiworks are the clouds that blanket the earth's surface. They're especially challenging for the amateur photographer. Knowing when to snap the shutter and where is important as demonstrated by Carvel

L. Clark in this picture that balances leaves against trees. Don't forget: this newspaper offers $5 for each of the black and white pictures published. Send us one of your pictures today. All will be returned whether they are used or not.

Herald's Herald

How about that, I've finally achieved the status of average!

In 1920, according to the Department of Commerce, the average working woman was 28 and single. Today, she's — years of age and married. (You can fill in the age blank from your imagination.) Regardless, let it be known to all, I fit.

Anyway I better enjoy this new standing while I can because at the end of the week I'll be celebrating (?) another milestone or is it millstone? Suffice to say it will put me over the edge of average.

I've never been average in anything before and I just don't know how to act. Should I go around acting just a little superior to all those young chicks who haven't arrived in standard statistics. Maybe practicing humility would be more appropriate from one of my advanced age.

This is probably the only time I'll ever fit into the "average" category. When families were supposed to consist of 4.2 persons, there were already five of us. While the "average" TV viewer was watching variety and comedy shows, I was hooked on old movies, even westerns.

It's not bad enough that I've never been "average," I have never been unique either. When they are handing out awards for something special,

I never quite fit. Is there a prize for being mediocre?

At the Mother and Daughter Banquet, I was way too old for the youngest mother and of course way too young for the oldest mother. Then I couldn't fit into the "mother with the most teenagers". My two only seem like four, which was the magic number.

Obviously, I couldn't be the mother with the most kids in college. There are days when I doubt I'll even get mine out of high school. As one friend quipped the other day, he had at one time envisioned having to build a college in order to ensure his son's enrollment.

I've never even hoped to achieve success in the ultimate classification of having the most children. We're content with three offspring and only hope to survive through their "formative years".

I feel that each and every one who has achieved the raising of a large family deserves a medal for bravery and anything their children can do for them will be like putting a band aid on a wounded dirigible. It just won't be enough.

Well neither average or unique, I had a lovely Mother's Day and hope all you other overworked and underpaid household staff members were as fortunate.
