New Supermarket Planned Here

Plans for a major new supermarket in Northville were revealed this week as the city planning commission set a public hearing on a complimentary zoning change request.

C. E. Fisch, vice-president of the Chatham Company, a metropolitan supermarket chain, announced plans to purchase 116,000 square feet of property on the west side of North Center Street, opposite C. R. Ely & Sons Garden Center, for development of a large facility.

The announcement follows several months of behind-the-scenes efforts by Mayor A. M. Allen and Councilman Charles Lapham to attract Chatham to Northville.

Purchase of the property for the proposed supermarket, now under option, is contingent upon obtaining the required zoning (C-2, commercial from R-2 residential), site plan and building approvals.

The planning commission Tuesday night, upon the recommendation of the city manager, departed from its normal procedure of submitting the zoning request first to a commission subcommittee for review and set the matter for public hearing on August 26.

Approaching option expiration prompted the early hearing.

According to Fisch, plans call for construction of a 21,000 square foot supermarket to begin in early spring of 1970. Additional supporting stores aggregating up to 7,000 additional square feet may be included, he said, but plans for these units have not yet been developed.

Of the 24 Chatham stores now in operation (two others are slated to be opened this year), the proposed Northville facility will be one of the largest, he said. Design of the store, he indicated, will be influenced by the character of the community.

The proposed supermarket will have 348 front footage along Center Street with a varying depth of between 324 feet and 354 feet.

It will require the removal of four homes now on the site.

According to Fisch, the proposed new supermarket will be similar to the Chatham facilities located at 12 Mile and Telegraph roads. Closest Chatham stores to Northville are located in the Livonia Mall and at Five Mile and Merriman.

The Northville facility will not look like either of the latter two stores, he said, because these were existing facilities purchased by Chatham, now a 25-year-old company.

If past practice holds true, Chatham will purchase and develop the property, then sell it to an investment company which in turn leases to Chatham.

During Monday's council meeting when the plan was first publicly revealed, Councilman Paul Folino extended the council's appreciation to both Allen and Lapham for their efforts and voiced hope that the plan can be realized.

CBP Plan, Decision Tabled Two Months

Council decision on the controversial Central Parking District (CBP) was delayed for two months following a public hearing here Monday night.

Northville councilmen adjourned the hearing until October 6 so that thorough study of protests, comments and recommendations voiced during the past several months can be made prior to approving or disapproving the plan.

Almost overlooked in Monday's delaying action was the disposition of the related Central Business District plan. Decision on that plan had been postponed until completion of the CBP hearing. Presumably, the council will decide both issues at the October 6 meeting.

While Monday's objections to the CBP came only from citizens attending the hearing, it is known that at least three council members have reservations about it.

As explained by City Manager Frank Ollendorff, the revised CBP proposal of the city planning commission includes the inside periphery of the area bounded by Wing, Cady, Hutton and Dunlap streets. It now excludes, however, a number of existing business properties that lie outside the proposed CBD and are pegged to remain in a C-2 (retail business) classification.

Purpose of the plan, explained Ollendorff, is to provide as near as possible a three to one parking ratio for the business district. He noted, however, that the planners had modified the CBP plan after hearing objections by businessmen that the CPD designation would be "very detrimental" economically.

In modifying the plan, he said, planners had to weigh the recommended parking ratio against preservation of existing businesses and to reach a compromise that came close to satisfying both positions. Even so, the compromise falls short, providing less than a two to one ratio.

Major objection, which were surprisingly few, was voiced by Walter Krone, representing the Earl F. Beckels of the Heritage (antiques) House, 114 North Wing Street, which is pegged for CBP zoning.

He asked members of the council, "How much money would you be willing to invest in a piece of property that cannot be used for any purpose other than parking or possibly continuing as an existing non-conforming use? I think if you can answer that you are willing to buy, that it is good property, then you've got a good plan. But I think that with all the property available in the city which is zoned for commercial purposes nobody in his right mind is going to buy property that can be used only for parking.

"For that reason it is our position that the proposed CBP is not in fact a rezoning but in effect is taking someone's property."

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ward, 127 Cady, echoed Krone's remarks. "I think it is ridiculous to expect us to approve something like that (CBP)," said Mrs. Ward. "As he said, 'what can we do with the property?' You can't make an income off it."

Similarly, Michael Mandolia, owner of the Northville Pizzeria, 149 Main Street, voiced strong objections to the CBP in a letter that noted the adverse affect such zoning would have on his property.

Council Appoints Two New Planners

Two new members of the Northville Planning Commission were appointed by the city council Monday night to fill vacancies created by recent resignations.

Named to the seven-member body were David Biery and Kenneth Kaestner.

Latest of the commission resignations—third in recent weeks—was submitted by Warren Stoddard, whose letter of resignation was accepted Monday with the stipulation that he be sent a letter of appreciation.

Stoddard, in explaining the reason for his resignation noted his length of service and that implementation of the master plan for which he had worked is now underway. However, he also indicated that the commission has been "emasculated" by the city attorney's recent ruling that permits overruling of commission recommendations by the council.

Other recent resignations have been submitted by George Clark and Harvey Ritchie.

Another commission appointment to be made soon will be a new professional consulting firm. According to City Manager Frank Ollendorff, a committee studying this matter has narrowed the field to two planning consultants and will make a recommendation in the next week or two.

The present consultant is Waldemar Johnson of Waring and Johnson.

BOOMING SUCCESS — They came in all sizes and shapes — an estimated 20,000 of them — for Northville's annual sidewalk sales Saturday. The huge turnout, largest in history and much larger than officials predicted, took advantage of the variety of bargain sales that included everything from apples to zippers.

AN ERA ENDS — Once one of the nation's foremost institutions for the care and treatment of tubercular patients, Maybury Sanatorium was formally closed Thursday as the few remaining patients were transferred to another hospital. Only supervisory, guards and maintenance personnel remain. The new fence and gate at the entrance signal the end of nearly a half-century of medical history here and pose the question, What happens to the property and buildings owned by the City of Detroit?

NEWS BRIEFS

DON'T BE SURPRISED if the city's ad-hoc parks plan committee recommends tonight that the city purchase a larger than expected portion of the 900-acre Maybury Sanatorium property. Committee members are leaning towards a plan, involving creation of an authority to make the purchase, that could include nearly 250 acres in addition to a number of large buildings. As the city nears formulation of a purchase proposal for submission to the City of Detroit, the Northville Area Economic Development Committee last week adopted a resolution urging the city, township and school district of Northville to consider formation of a joint building authority for purchasing of Maybury property for schools, parks, recreation and open spaces. Similarly, the Northville Township Planning Commission last week Tuesday voted to urge Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg to investigate the possibility of township participation in land purchase.

THE RECOMMENDATION of the Northville Township Police Study Committee is expected to be a topic of discussion at next Tuesday's meeting of the township board. The committee approved its recommendation by a vote of 7-2 and is to be introduced at the board meeting, according to Chairman Eugene Guido, who declined to release the contents of the recommendation prior to its presentation to the board.

EIGHT RIFLES and five pistols and revolvers valued at $1,500 were taken early Wednesday morning from Northville Hardware, 107 North Center. Patrolman Ronald Wankowicz, making a routine check at 3 a.m., found the plate glass broken out of the back door. Owner of the store, Claude Smith, was called and an inventory of the store showed the firearms missing.

THE CITY COUNCIL waived a charter stipulation Monday evening in voting to permit two councilmen, who operate insurance agencies, to submit bids for Workmen's Compensation insurance City Manager Frank Ollendorff requested the action "in the interest of the city", noting that in the past only two or three bids for this kind of insurance had been received and the two local businessmen who have since become councilmen—Paul Folino and Kenneth Rathert—usually submitted low bids. Another departure from regular procedure will be the opening of these bids at a public council meeting instead of by city personnel.

Officials Tread Lightly

Sex Education: Bee in School Bonnet

The subject is now a common one — if not a popular one — for area school administrators, traditionally common and popular for students and apparently uncommon amongst adults.

The subject is sex education — more specifically, a formal program in schools on sex — with citizens from area districts seemingly in favor of maintaining a status quo of "yes, we have no program" or reluctant to express their favor for change.

Administrators at Northville, Novi, Brighton and South Lyon public schools report that they have no sex education program as such although the subject is considered in relation with other courses such as biology, physical education, etc.

However, no one claims that his present piece-meal offering in total would compare with a formal sex education program.

Corresponding to a trend

statewide, the subject presently is common at school board and parent association meetings oftentimes causes people to squirm in their seats wishing that somehow the matter could be resolved without any person having to resolve it. School board members seemingly would like an administrator to bail them out on the issue while administrators seek some policy direction from their boards.

Northville Public Schools' Superintendent Raymond Spear sums up the administrator's position: "It's the parents right to say what we teach; it's the educator's right to say how."

Sex education definitely is a "what".

Brighton Public Schools recently completed — and abandoned — a pilot program in sex education for its middle school and just recently handed down a "let's wait and see" directive to its new superintendent, Robert Lone. The program was for a select group of sixth, seventh and eighth graders with administrators maintaining contact with parents in order to measure results and reactions.

Apparently deciding that it wasn't presently a workable plan in its system, the board decided to drop — rather than maintain or expand — its sex education program.

Spear observes that Northville is participating in a federally-funded metropolitan study of sex education but he emphasizes that it is only doing so to keep informed on teaching methods in case the district should decide to institute a program. The Northville Public Schools' board of education authorized Spear to participate in the project two years ago.

The superintendent emphasizes that the institution of a sex education program in his system will be the result of a policy decision by the board.

"Before anything is done in this area, it will go before the board," he observed. "The board authorized our involvement in this study."

Other administrators explain that materials for teaching in sex education have undergone radical changes in recent years and that few educators feel qualified to teach a subject which remains undefined for its classroom application.

"Truthfully, we just don't feel that we have people capable for teaching in such a program," one superintendent reveals. "It's an area which is changing so that the colleges aren't able to properly prepare a person to teach the subject."

Mrs. Swank Gets Torch Drive Post

Mrs. William H. Swank of Northville has accepted a leadership post for the residential campaign of the 1969 Torch Drive.

Mrs. Swank has been appointed a division chairman responsible for the "Thanks a Million," door-to-door canvass in Northville and Northville Township.

She will enlist, train and organize workers for the 21st annual United Foundation campaign scheduled October 14 through November 6.

Benefiting will be nearly 200 health and community services in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties.

Annually, the residential campaign brings in more than $1 million of the Torch Drive total and provides every household in the tri-county area with information about the UF and its services.

It also offers housewives, the retired and the self-employed — all those not able to give at work — an opportunity to make their contributions.

Mrs. Swank has worked in earlier Torch Drives as a doorbell ringer and neighborhood chairman. She holds a bachelor of science degree in education from Kent State University, Kent, Ohio.

In addition to her campaign activities, she is a member of the Northville Women's Club and the Northville Historical Society.

Mrs. Swank and her husband, a metallurgist with U. S. Steel Corporation, have a married daughter, Mrs. C. G. Davis, and a teen-ager, Pat.

"Thanks a Million" is the theme for this year's residential campaign which last year accounted for $1,032,215 of the $29,309,546 Torch Drive total.

Does Anyone Have An Unused Piano?

Somewhere in the Northville area there must be a good-but-silent piano just taking up room space that could be used by patients and therapists at Northville State Hospital.

This is the hope of Northville State Hospital Auxiliary which is seeking donations of a number of items needed at the hospital. Record players, television sets, pine-type picnic tables, outdoor folding chairs and other patio furniture also are on the "needed" list.

In a recent survey of needs of the hospital's eight buildings the auxiliary also found that a small refrigerator would be welcomed by Mrs. Doris King in the admission department to keep cold milk and juice available for incoming patients, many of whom haven't eaten for some time.

Anyone with such items to donate is asked to call Mrs. L. M. Eaton, auxiliary president, 349-1707, or Mrs. James J. Sugrue, Jr., vice-president, 349-1229.

Mrs. Eaton explains that the survey was made as the auxiliary has monies earned through operation of the hospital gift shop. With so many buildings needing equipment the auxiliary, assisted by Mrs. Jean Bachelder, director of volunteer activities, is hoping to find donations to help fill the requests.

The Fieldbrook unit, which receives patients from this area, is especially in need of a record player and patio and lawn furniture, Mrs. Vivian Ayers, therapist, told the auxiliary.

Teens Return From Tour

Five Northville teenagers returned home Sunday from a five week singing tour through Japan and the Western United States. The young people toured with the Musical Youth International Choral.

The organization sponsors an annual tour for selected high school students from ages 16 to 18. Northville participants included Stacey Evans, Pat Jones, Jeanice Dagher, Bob Shafer and Douglas Waldren.

It's Rock Hard but Fun

She Plays Drums with Combo

When you're only averaging four hours of sleep a night, playing in a rock combo, it seems like pretty hard work. But if you make it it's worth it — it really is.

That's the word according to Susan Schlief, a 1967 Northville graduate, who is now playing drums with a band at the Steering Wheel in Detroit (formerly the Act IV). She's a member of the "Sophisticats" now in their eighth week of appearance at the Wheel, located across the street from the Fisher Theater.

Besides its nightly appearances at the Steering Wheel, the group recently appeared on television — "The Morning Show" — and was interviewed for a feature story by Tempo magazine.

For Sue the road to success has been paved with diligence and hard labor. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Schief of 43540 Six Mile Road, she joined the group playing drums while she was still in high school. At that time the group played mostly for local teen clubs, including the Cavern Teen Club in Northville.

In the fall of 1967 Sue left the band and entered Schoolcraft College to pursue a career as an airline stewardess. Last year she rejoined the "Sophisticats" replacing drummer Wayne Waters who was inducted into the service.

Since then Sue and the other three "cats" have slowly progressed through the channels of show business. They are George Heyman, 22, and Kathy Lindsey and Ginger McKinney, both June graduates from high school.

Originally, George and Kathy started the group six years ago, forming their own duo guitar act. They chose the name Sophisticats just "because we're like cats, you know," and began playing in teen spots around Ypsilanti. They added Ginger about three years ago, and then Susan and Wayne.

Although all four members take turns in the spotlight, Kathy is usually the lead vocalist. She plays lead guitar and violin. George, too, plays lead, rhythm and bass guitar and often serves as a background vocalist. Ginger, the organist, supplies background vocal accompaniment, while Sue handles the drums, the tambourine and sometimes serves as a dancer.

Together they meet and practice in Kathy's basement, writing some of their own songs and all of their own arrangements. "We start out in kind of a jam session," Sue explained, "and work it and re-work it until it comes out."

Although the Sophisticats haven't completely established their own sound yet, they do have a definite style which makes their music distinctive. It's a cross between jazz and hard rock, patterned after groups like "Blood Sweat and Tears" and "Tea Garden and Van Winkle."

Still they are trying to develop their sound by playing a variety of music for a wide range of audiences. At the Steering Wheel, a club that attracts young auto racers, the combo plays violin music (Summertime) during the dinner hour and branches out into fast music (Guitar Boogie and Look to Your Soul) later in the evening. For their next engagement at the Golden Falcon, a student club in Ann Arbor, the "Sophisticats" plan to concentrate more on hard rock.

In preparation for their numerous engagements, the group exerts hours of heavy practice. For them a typical day begins about 8 a.m. when they all meet to begin practicing. In the afternoon they meet with their manager, hair appointments and for more practicing. At 5 o'clock they are due at the Steering Wheel, and the performance lasts until 4 a.m. every morning. In between there are photographs, make-up, costumes. Yet, "until this summer all three of the girls were in school."

Where future plans are concerned, members of the group are a little vague. Lately they've been looking into advertisements and they expect to do a little traveling this winter. In January they're booked for a return appearance to the Wheel. "We don't want to make a record until we've perfected our sound," Sue explained.

Records or not it's likely a lot more will be heard from the Sophisticats.

Hunger Hike Set Sunday Afternoon

Sole power, the shoe leather type, comes to Northville Sunday August 10, with a "Hunger Hike" sponsored by St. Paul's Lutheran Youth Group.

The "Hunger Hike" was organized locally by the youth group to raise money to stamp out starvation in the United States and foreign countries.

The hikers will carry cards that are punched by a member of the "Hunger Hike" steering committee for every mile hiked. The cards showing the mileage will be returned to the sponsor who pays the hiker for the trip.

So far 50 hikers of all ages have signed up for the 20-mile hike, with at least an equal number of businessmen, merchants and friends as sponsors. One marcher was reported to have three sponsors.

Amounts pledged range from 5 cents to $2 per mile.

The hikers will assemble at 12:30 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, at the corner of Elm and High streets.

The hikers will move down High Street to Main and Center, along Edward N. Hines Drive to the Nankin Mills picnic area. They will return by the same route to the township limits, up Northville Road to Waterford Bend where a short worship service will be held.

Check points have been set up at the Haggerty Road ball park and the Nankin Mills picnic area. Here cards will be punched for the miles hiked. Two shuttle cars will travel the route, picking up those who cannot continue and providing food and water.

The money collected in Northville will be sent to the International Walter League (Youth Group) Headquarters and distributed from there to needy areas of the United States and throughout the world.

Four areas receiving the money are a self-help program in Latin America, India and Africa; immediate food, shelter and economic help for Greenville, Mississippi; help for Appalachia and Biafra.

Donors can specify which area they wish the money be given to or the money can be split four ways.

Everyone is invited to participate in the hike as a sponsor or as a hiker.

The "Hunger Hike" has been endorsed by numerous local civic and business leaders.

For more information contact Pat Long (349-0084), Colleen Deibert (349-0285) or Lynne Rathert (349-5497).

Two Hurt as Truck Hits Car on Novi Road

Two women are listed in fair condition at Botsford Hospital, Farmington, after a car-truck accident Tuesday at 9:10 a.m. The accident occurred at the intersection of Ten Mile and Novi roads.

Mrs. Effie M. Killebrew and Mrs. Grace Waterman, both of Howell, were injured when a semi-dump truck, driven by James Barnes, Detroit, hit them broadside.

Novi police said the car, driven by Mrs. Killebrew, was signaling for a right turn but was traveling in the through lane.

The truck, hauling a load of scrap lumber, started to pull into the right lane. Barnes said he did not see the turn signal because a car between the two vehicles blocked his vision. He thought the car was making a left turn.

The car pulled in front of the truck, was caught broadside, pushed through the intersection and clipped off a tree. The trailer overturned but the car and cab remained upright.

Mrs. Killebrew was treated for a dislocated collar bone, cuts and bruises. Mrs. Waterman sustained a broken ankle, cuts and bruises. Barnes was not injured.

Novi police remained at the scene until 11:30 a.m. The Novi fire department was called to hose down the area because the car's gas tank was ruptured and the fuel tank of the truck was sheared off. Two wreckers hauled the vehicles away.

Barnes was ticketed for improper passing.

Three Councilmen Face Assessments

Whoever it was that said public officials receive special favors had better talk to three of the five members of the Northville City Council.

Names of Councilmen Paul Folino, Wallace Nichols and Kenneth Rathert are included in a list of property owners to be asked to either replace or construct new sidewalks on their properties.

Introduced by City Manager Frank Ollendorff Monday night, the 1969 sidewalk improvement plan calls for construction or replacement of 4,000 square feet of sidewalk throughout the city at a total estimated cost of from $2,500 to $3,000.

It includes all or a portion of walks which the manager has found to be cracked, chipped and in unsafe condition and areas in front of new homes.

Of the 4,000 square feet, 1,800 of it is considered city responsibility either because it is located at intersections, is located in front of city property, or because sidewalk damage was caused by trees growing on city property.

Ollendorff explained that all sidewalks in the city had been surveyed and that those listed for the 1969 improvement program were found to be in need of immediate repair.

Sidewalk repair and replacement is based on 100-percent assessment of the property owner except where it involves city responsibility as outlined above. Property owners can either have the work done by a private contractor or by the city.

Upon receiving the improvement plan, the council unanimously adopted an initiatory resolution which provides that each affected property owner be notified.

Northville Rotary Draws Plaudits

The Northville Rotary Club was praised Tuesday by District 640 Governor Hugh Archer, who visited with the board of directors and committee chairman prior to speaking to the general membership.

Archer, who hails from Dearborn, heads up Rotary clubs in 44 communities in the district, which is unique in that it covers clubs in both Canada and Michigan.

The governor in reviewing Rotary's structure and purpose nationally as well as locally, said the Northville club is one of the "finest and best balanced clubs" in his district. He praised the club, its officers and members for their community service and especially their youth service work.

He noted, too, that the club in addition to its community service also is involved in services on an international level. Presently, he said, a slide and tape program telling "our story" is currently being shown to Rotary clubs throughout the world as a means of improving international relations.

The club's public relations director, Delbert Black, announced plans this week for the club's annual picnic for members and their wives. It is to be held August 19 at The Willows in Cass Benton Park, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

"George Lockhart is chairman of the event," said Black, "and he promises another fine evening of entertainment."

Edison Engineer Enters 40th Year

Ralph F. Timmins, municipal lighting engineer for Detroit Edison in the Northville area, will be honored by the company this month upon his 40th service anniversary.

Timmins, who lives at 9828 Westmore, Livonia, joined the Edison company in August, 1929. He is a member of the Illuminating Engineering Society.

CBP Plan Tabled

Krone asked if affected property owners were expected to become "parking tycoons" or was the property considered for public parking.

Ollendorff answered: "What the planning commission is suggesting is that the property be zoned for parking, leaving it open to the present owner, or to the developer of a new business who must provide three to one parking ratio, or to the city which has been continually buying properties, or to existing businesses desiring additional property. Until the present owner wants to sell, the present owner can continue the use he has."

Earlier in the hearing, a letter was read from the Northville Chamber of Commerce that recommended that the business district should remain on Main and Center streets as much as possible and that sufficient flexibility be built in the plan to allow commercial development in each of the main CBP sections.

Mrs. Marie Bonamici, 740 Fairbrook, an officer of the Northville Historical Society, asked if there was "any ideas" of saving the old library building (now the Northville Township Hall) since it is located in the proposed CBP district.

A. M. Allen, who pointed out that much of the property surrounding the old building is owned by either the city or the Northville Economic Development Corporation and is likely to be developed for some commercial use in the future. "At that time I'm sure there will be ample time to make some provision for the building either on that site or some other site."

While it was not discussed at the hearing, a separate proposal of Delbert Black and George Clark, suggesting elimination of the CBP designation and broadening the CBD zoning, will be considered by the council before it reaches a decision, according to the mayor.

Northville Council OKs Office Zoning

Establishment of a professional office zoning district was approved by the Northville City Council Monday night following a public hearing.

The district only sets up regulations for the zoning classification and does not spell out any specific area within the city.

Only objections to the ordinance came from Harley and Robert Cole, who found its restrictions too confining for those developers who might wish to build on a single lot.

However, officials emphasized that the ordinance was designed to be restrictive since the district is intended to be in those areas lying between commercial and residential properties.

While providing an appropriate zoning for professional office developers, the ordinance offers adjacent homeowners special protection.

Developers who cannot meet requirements for setbacks, buffers and parking under this ordinance, it was explained, can either appeal the matter or seek less strict C-2 (commercial zoning).

City Manager Frank Ollendorff said he plans to recommend "three or four areas in the city" for this zoning classification. He did not reveal them, noting only that they are close to residential areas and need to be "highly protected."

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Eleven cities in the state of Michigan now employ the use of an income tax to help support the functions of their respective local governments.

Without exception these communities adopted the income tax because additional revenues were needed to boost badly sagging finances and support ever-expanding public services.

It's highly possible that the Northville city council will recommend an income tax for our local community beginning January 1, 1970.

A report from a council study committee is pending. So the decision depends upon the committee recommendation, the council's attitude and public response.

But if an income tax is proposed for the city of Northville it will not be because local finances are short or services are being expanded and more money is needed.

Instead, and quite uniquely, the proposal will be made to provide a new source of income; it will offer the council (and public) a choice between two types of taxes.

Essentially, the income tax will be proposed as a relief to the property tax.

Preliminary study reveals that an income tax levied in the city of Northville would produce the same amount of money now raised by levying between eight and 10 mills ($8 to $10 of tax per thousand dollars of state equalized assessed valuation).

Altogether, the city of Northville levies 11.4 mills annually ($11.40 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation) against local properties to provide monies to help run the city government.

Thus with the introduction of an income tax it would be possible to reduce the property tax in the city from 11.4 to possibly three mills or less.

When it comes to talking about any new reform proposal designed to provide tax relief in any area, the first question that pops into every taxpayer's mind is: "sounds fine, but how do we know that it's not just another tax to be piled atop what we already have?"

Good question. The best answer probably lies in the fact that, in Northville at least, the council already has the authority to almost double local taxes without a public vote. The millage limit for cities in Michigan is 20 mills. As mentioned above, Northville levies 11.4 mills.

So additional income could be quickly and easily obtained by the council simply by increasing the property tax by a mill or two. And, as a matter of fact, this has been done in previous years.

Further, if an income tax is proposed, there's good reason to believe that the council might adopt an ordinance limiting the property tax to perhaps 10 mills so long as an income tax is levied.

Unfortunately, we're talking about a very small segment of the property tax when we discuss the city levy. It's less than one-third the tax levied against properties to support our schools.

Yet I believe it is a constructive step in the right direction. The income tax would provide some relief for many homeowners now smarting under extremely high property taxes. And it would set the standard for payment on a basis of ability to pay — through earnings.

In many instances the income tax opens up a whole new source of income hitherto untapped for support of local government. By state law every resident of the city levying an income tax must pay one per cent of his taxable income, non-residents employed in the city must pay one-half of one per cent.

While the council has the authority to adopt an income tax, there's also provision for the public to call for a vote on the issue.

It could develop that this fall Northville city voters will be asked to make a choice between two tax sources.

To some it may seem like the choice offered by the judge to the condemned man: "which do you prefer, hanging or the firing squad?"

Schaefer's Conviction Prompts Aid

To the Editor:

Thanks to you and Sally Burke for more and better coverage on Operation Understanding. This is the third or fourth or fifth article you've given us on the subject — covering one phase of the program or another.

Let me correct one thing: our participation this summer insofar as the usual routine of last summer and winter, has not been at all approximated, for personal reasons. Andy and I have, however, attempted to make up for that loss in other ways, particularly of a public relations nature. I think the important thing that should be mentioned is that it was Stan Schaefer who first introduced us to this important program and it was Stan who prompted us to get into our cars and go. It was his belief in and hopes for Operation Understanding that gave us the moral fuel necessary to steer our cars in the right direction.

We have never regretted having the courage of Stan's convictions, nor had he. He listened with great interest to any progress made in this area and was particularly gratified that Northville, if only in a very small way, has understood the necessity for progress beyond the perimeter of its own boundaries.

Thanks again
Mary Kelly

To the Editor:

The Northville Jaycee Auxiliary would like to take this means of thanking those who supported our Annual project on the Fourth of July, Northville Little Miss. The Little Miss was chosen by a penny vote which was collected in canisters placed in the local stores. We would like to thank the merchants who displayed the canisters, the merchants who donated gift certificates, and those who supported the project with their penny votes.

The proceeds from the project have been designated for Project Concern. This is a District Jaycee Auxiliary Project. This money, raised by our auxiliary, will be sent to help a family in Tennessee or Mexico. It will be used to provide free medical and dental care. With this project we feel we are putting our pennies to good use.

To the Editor:

Thank you so much for the gift of the Centennial number of the Record. It brought back many memories to me as I was born in Northville about the time many of those pictures were taken, and have lived here all my life but for 17 yrs. between 1926 & 1943.

What a wonderful job you and

Thank you again.
Mrs. M.F. Meaker

When C. Harold Bloom, 710 West Main Street, saw this picture in The Record's centennial edition he thought he recognized the little guy holding the hand of an adult. Well he might. It's Harold. And to prove it he rummaged through the attic of his home and came up with the Little Lord Fauntleroy straw hat he was wearing in the 1908 picture. The old gentleman with the cane is Harold's grandfather, James Beaty. Harold's holding the hand, he thinks, of Peter Barley who operated the blacksmith shop, behind the group, with Jarvis Plamer (extreme right). The shop was located on the north side of Main Street, just west of where the C. Harold Bloom insurance agency is located today.

Great men move in strange but similar circles.

And if you don't think so, friends, just read on and eat your hearts out.

It began a week or so ago when a reader of another newspaper expressed dismay and some repulsion upon learning that "poor children actually sleep on beds that have only one sheet."

Social workers who daily see kids living in rats' nests with neither beds nor homes probably were amused by the reader's statement.

But my mother, if she read the article, probably is hiding in the closet with embarrassment. She used to be a single-sheeter, you see, having raised her children between a sheet and a blanket.

She may never speak to me for publicizing this fact but, frankly, I cannot recall that it ever meant a hill of beans to her children that they were deprived of two sheets. It never occurred to us then that two sheets were necessary for either comfort or hygiene. As a matter of fact, had she tried to slip us between two sheets we probably would have questioned her sanity.

And we weren't poor. We weren't rich, either. I'd guess we were someplace between the outhouse and a four-burner stove.

Anyway, the subject of single sheets so interested me that I surveyed some of my friends. To my utter amazement most of them stated, quite emphatically, that they always had been two-sheeters. Furthermore, they indicated that during their childhood their young friends also enjoyed two sheets. And it wasn't a luxury, they noted, "but the way of life."

Sleeping between a blanket and a sheet must have been terrible, they said while expressing sympathy for those of us who were shortsheeted.

Their comments were stunning. Either they were short on memory or I'd been deluded all those years. It was like learning that Mary's little lamb was really a goat.

I nibbled on their comments awhile, trying to recall how terrible single sheets really were. And sure enough, the more I thought about it the itchier and the more repulsive those single sheets became. I remembered sleepless nights and horrible childhood nightmares caused, no doubt, by single sheets.

After working myself into an appropriate state of self-pity and a good rash, I decided to drown my sorrows.

"What's bothering you, Mac?" he asked. Whereupon I spilled out the awful truth.

"Hey, Charlie," he shouted across the room, "this guy used to sleep in a bed with only one sheet."

Even in the darkened room my face must have beamed bright red. I wanted to hide under the stool. But Charlie lifted a heavy head off the table, gave us a blurry look, and said, "Zat so. Good for 'em. Make three of us good guys then."

"Three?" I asked curiously, impressed by his natural intelligence.

"Yup. You and me and ol' Abe."

"Abe?"
"Thaz right... Abe Lincoln...our President."

Like I said: Great men move in similar circles.

Oakland County First

Flying Lawman Crimps Felon's Style

Patrolman Terry Cranston flies helicopter for the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

What's so unusual about that? Oakland County, boasting the largest and best equipped Marine Safety Division of any county in the nation, according to its chief, Lt. Don Kratt, was the first law enforcement agency in the state to have its own helicopter.

Purchased May 26 from Enstrom of Menominee, a subsidiary of Purex Corporation, at a cost of $47,220 nearly all of which was donated by 12 county businessmen in a six-week drive by Kratt, the helicopter has already logged 150 air-miles.

Not only the first in use by a law enforcement agency in the state, this helicopter is also the first non-experimental model equipped to land on water.

"This ability to land on water has given us rescue capabilities beyond dreams of most departments," Cranston maintains. The chopper can not only land, but can remain afloat for long periods of time. If necessary, it can also hover at a very low altitude over water.

Kratt commented, when asked about the machine's value when opposed to its initial cost, maintenance and upkeep and fuel consumption, that "if we can use it to save the life of a single child, it will have more than paid for itself."

Cranston added that "the arrest of a single felon can also mean that much from the public safety viewpoint." He went on to tell how he had used the 'copter to apprehend a youthful car thief just the evening prior to the Friday session with the Herald-Record-News reporter.

"He had fled to a cornfield when we pulled him over. We couldn't get in with any of our cars. I was able to circle the area and, with the great visibility the machine offers, spot the suspect and order him to walk back to the highway."

Equipped with the public address system that makes believers of lawbreakers beneath the helicopter, the machine also is radio-equipped in the same manner as any of the sheriff's department cars.

Another feature adding to the machine's many fine points is the recently added dragline equipment, enabling the pilot to play a major role in on-water lifesaving operations.

Often piloted alone (Cranston is, so far, the only licensed 'copter pilot - he also flies airplanes - in the department), the overworked patrolman says he hopes to see other men trained in its operation. He is presently attempting to get Patrolman Stan Clark licensed. Clark, a department dog-handler and diver, accompanies Cranston when he can.

Kratt said that the County Board of Auditors, who control the equipping of the sheriff's department, has asked that the helicopter prove itself within a year. "We're sure it will and when it does, we want at least two more of them and a fixed-engine (six passenger) plane for the department as well," he told the reporter.

Oakland County personnel feel they need all the water safety equipment they can get with the numerous lakes and nearly inaccessible acreage. This machine has another real advantage in the county, Cranston points out. "I can fly from county line to county line in 10 minutes if I am airborne at the time I receive a call," he declared.

Of course, one problem is getting to the county-owned Oakland-Pontiac Airport where the machine is kept and getting it airborne. "It isn't bad when the call comes to me at home," says Cranston, "because I live near the airport and can be in the air within 20 minutes of a call. From downtown (the Telegraph Avenue county jail location) it can take considerably longer."

Cranston's statement was verified as he returned the reporter to the central Pontiac office. He received a call to take the helicopter up, but brought the reporter back downtown first.

Enstrom won the Michigan Product-of-the-Year award for this Model F-28A in 1965. Since the Oakland County purchase, the Upper Peninsula company has taken orders for three of them from the New Jersey State Police. Cranston said that both Bell and Hughes machines were tested, but that Enstrom best suited him and the department.

Cranston stressed that the 'copter is not used as a hospital or prison transport due to the liability aspects.

Kratt praised the pilot for keeping fuel costs down around $165 per month, despite the air time. Maintenance can be costly, but Cranston does much of it himself including a grease job and oil change at intervals of less than 25 hours (air time).

It appears that the county has taken a real step forward with the addition of this machine. "We believe that we have had fewer boating accidents this year," Cranston says, "and that some of the reason is our increased ability to arrest violators."

Mustangs '69 Opener With Plymouth Here

A 1969 Mustang varsity football schedule slated to open at home September 12 with neighboring rival Plymouth was announced today by Northville High School Athletic Director Bob Kucher. The eight-game season features contests every Friday through October 31 with all but a October 10 encounter at Bloomfield Hills Andover to begin at 8 p.m.

Head Football Coach Al Klukach, entering his fourth season with a 12-11-1 record, reports that equipment will be issued to candidates on August 22—the Friday before practices begin August 25.

The Mustangs last season were 5-3 placing fourth (at 3-3) in the Wayne-Oakland Counties League. The Mustangs will open with traditional rival Plymouth here on September 12 and host Livonia Clarenceville on September 19. Homecoming will be on September 26 with Northville playing Milford before hitting the road with games at West Bloomfield, Bloomfield Hills Andover and Clarkston, respectively.

Brighton visits here October 24 in the annual Parents' Nite Game with the Mustangs concluding their season October 31 at Waterford, All but the Plymouth game are Wayne-Oakland Counties League contests.

Coach Art Paddy's West Bloomfield is the defending W-O champion after having posted a 7-0 mark last season.

The Mustangs last year defeated

Plymouth, 20-13, in their opener and ran their string of victories to three before losing three-in-a-row — the first to West Bloomfield, 21-6. The local team won its last two games of the season for a 5-3 mark allowing it to open in 1969 with a modest two-game winning streak.

Northville last fall out-scored its opponents for the total season, 146-85, while posting two shutouts.

Klukach's staff this year will be bolstered with the addition of Chuck Shonta, Eastern Michigan University alumnus and formerly a player with the American Football League's Buffalo Bills. Shonta actually was hired as an assistant coach last summer but, because of a millage defeat in the early fall, the district was forced to eliminate the position.

Other members of Klukach's staff will be Dick Willing and Ralph Redmond.

Okay, Waddles, Take It Off

Just like it was yesterday — and, oh, how I wish it had been — I can recall the day I began to realize it was catching up with me: my ability to eat large portions of food was surpassing my ability to burn it up.

In other words, I was getting f-a-t which is commonly misrepresented in terms of "putting on a little weight lately."

And I guess it's time (45 pounds later) to do something about it — at least admit it and clear my conscience and then maybe get serious about "dropping a couple of pounds by putting my mind to it."

For how many times have I said that if I really wanted to, I could cut down to a trim 220 (that's take away 25 from the present total) and do the things I used to do — like run across the street when the occasion warranted with an athletic swagger. And I can't remember having to get up a half hour earlier in the morning just to tie my shoes ... but maybe I don't remember so good anymore.

I take that back — touch my toes I can't, but remember I can and things aren't as good as they used to be.

I realized the turning point about seven years ago when we got our team pictures back for the frosh basketball team at college. There I was in the front row with a big grin on my face and — after a second take — it was discernible that what later justifiably was described as a beer belly was budding.

In fact, it looked as if I'd stuck the basketball under my jersey except, no, there it was on the captain's lap. And if I remember correctly — and again, I'm afraid I do — the reason I had the grinning mug was because just before the photo session had started, me and another guy had polished off the several bags of popcorn left in the machine from the weekend.

That first year at college, eating all those potatoes and rolls in the cafeteria, had been the turning point as I sacked on 15 rounding pounds — "just around the edges," I explained when friends observed: "Why, Don, haven't you...?"

Mackers Win Two, Then Bow Out

ANN ARBOR — A good thing came to an end here Tuesday for Reef Manufacturing of Northville.

The recently-crowned Livonia Connie Mack League Nationals champion, a favorite here in district play after two victories earlier in the week, suffered a pair of emphatic setbacks — 11-4 and 13-3 — to Ann Arbor's Baskin-Robbins on Tuesday.

The losses dropped Reef from the tourney allowing Ann Arbor to advance to state competition beginning today (Thursday) in Marshall.

"Things just got away from us," Manager Art Adams recounted later. "The gates just kind of boomed.

"It's kind of tough but the kids never quit on us," he added.

Northville entered the finals with a 2-0 mark in the tourney while Baskin was 2-1. Two defeats served to eliminate both Westland and Godfrey Moving & Storage of Ann Arbor earlier in the week.

The Mackers start was no sign of things to come as they grabbed a 2-0 lead in the second inning of the first game while fastballing righthander Fred Holdsworth blanked Baskin on one hit in the first four frames.

But the Ann Arbor entry scored once in the fifth before exploding for 10 runs in the fifth. Reef, meanwhile, was unable to score again until the seventh when it rallied for two.

An error, a sacrifice, John Munson's double and a single by Pat Cayley accounted for Northville's two runs in the second. Munson, Jeff Taylor and Denny Fisher all singled in the seventh for two more scores.

Baskin-Robbins' big sixth included three walks, two wild pitches, two doubles and a single.

Holdsworth, a stalwart for Reef throughout the season with his speed and exceptional control usually his strengths, walked four and struck out eight. He was relieved by lefthander Bob Hollandsworth, an addition from Phillippi Service of Livonia, in the decisive sixth.

Munson and Rich Adams each had two hits for Reef in the first game as both swatted a single and double.

Baskin was in apparent control throughout the second game after jumping off to a 5-0 lead in the first inning. Reef scored in the bottom of the first and added two runs in the fourth but Ann Arbor rallied for five in the fifth and three more in the sixth accounting for its 13-3 margin.

Denny Fisher, also formerly of Phillippi, started on the mound for Northville but was relieved by Jeff Taylor in the first. Taylor hurled until the sixth and he had six strikeouts and two walks.

Hollandsworth entered the game in the sixth and finished on the mound.

Baskin used an error, two walks, a double and home run to account for its five runs in the first.

Fisher had two singles for Northville.

The loss concluded a season which saw Reef march to its league title and compile an overall 14-4-1 mark. Holdsworth concluded the regular season with a perfect game as Reef defeated defending champ Redford Big Boy, 2-0, on July 29.

Assume Favorite's Role

Reef Debut Impressive In Ann Arbor Tourney

ANN ARBOR—Early tournament victories-one a wild extra-inning affair Sunday-established Reef Manufacturing of Northville as a favorite here before Connie Mack competition continued this week Tuesday.

Coach Art Adams' club entered the finals of double-elimination trourney Tuesday with a 2-0 mark while rival Baskin-Robbins of Ann Arbor was 2-1.

Reef won its opener Saturday defeating Westland 2-0 as righthander Fred Holdsworth hurled a five-hit shutout. Later Saturday Baskin-Robbins blanked Godfrey's Moving & Storage of Ann Arbor, 9-0, with the two winners slated to meet Sunday.

In an extra-inning affair finally decided by a bases-loaded walk, the Northville entry edged Baskin-Robbins, 6-5, in 10 innings. Also on Sunday, Godfrey eliminated Westland, 3-2, before falling out itself later Sunday when it lost to Baskin, 3-0.

Reef, remaining in the winner's bracket, only had to play once Sunday and Adams will have Holdsworth rested for the finals. Baskin-Robbins will have to defeat Northville twice to claim the district championship.

The state tourney is slated to begin Thursday in Marshall.

The two victories boosted the Mackers' season mark to 14-3-1 which includes a Livonia Connie Mack League title. Based on the only meeting of Reef and Baskin-Robbins on Sunday, Tuesday's finals appear nearly even with Northville earning a slight advantage because of its interval between games while the Ann Arbor club must win.

Holdsworth, who has been brilliant all year in sandlot competition, also will be rested from Saturday while Baskin's ace-Pete Jamison and Rick Deller, both worked Sunday.

Reef jumped off to a fast start in its tourney debut Saturday scoring a run in the first inning against Westland with Doug Mills' lead-off double combining with singles by Holdsworth and Stan Nirider for the tally.

Nirider was involved in the only other run also as he doubled in the third before scoring on Steve Utley's single.

Holdsworth allowed five hits, one

New Hudson Golfer

Swats Hole-in-One

New Hudson's Russell Gardner aced a 120-yard drive on 16 at Brooklane Golf Course on Friday using a nine iron.

The shot, witnessed by greenskeeper Bob Carter and Pete Ferguson, reportedly hit in front of the green, bounced to the pin and in.

Gardner lives at 60501 Grand River Avenue. Brooklane, an 18-hole par three course, is at Sheldon and Six Mile roads.

walk and struck out 11 over the seven innings. Utley also had two hits at bat-both singles.

Sunday's contest with Baskin, however, opened in favor of the Ann Arbor club as it got away to a 3-0 lead going into the bottom of the fourth. Reef then rallied to tie the score, but Baskin scored once more in the fifth and held a 4-3 lead entering the last inning of regulation play.

Northville tied the game, 4-4, in the seventh, Baskin and Reef both scored once in the eighth and Northville finally rallied again to score the deciding tally in the tenth.

Adams sent John Munson and southpaw Bob Hollandsworth to the mound Sunday-both players had picked up along with Dennis Fisher-for the tournament. Munson played for Redford Big Boy during the regular season while Hollandsworth and Fisher were both members of Phillips Service of Livonia.

Each team advancing to district competition can add three players from its league, according to Connie Mack rules.

Ann Arbor committed seven errors Sunday while Reef made four in a loosely played contest. Munson doubled in the fourth to drive in one run while the other two scored on errors.

An error in the seventh allowed Reef to send the game into extra inning while a walk tied it up in the eighth and a walk issued by Deller in the tenth with the bases loaded scored the deciding run.

Munson's double Sunday was the only extra-base hit while teammate Pat Cayley had two singles.

Defeat Finishes Season

Anyone who just watched Northville Merchants conclude its 1969 Stan Musial Baseball League season by battling second-round leader Redford before losing 2-0 probably wouldn't believe that it was their eighth consecutive defeat.

And that they finished, despite being a close second best to the best in their final outing, 5-23 for the summer.

Sunday the difference between Manager Bill Primeau's Merchants and defending champ Redford was Eastern Michigan University righthander Tom Berryman who pitched hitless baseball for six-and-one-third innings before giving up an infield single in the seventh to Gary Fox.

Berryman struck out four and walked three in his duel with the Merchant's Bill Diemer who allowed only five hits while fanning five and walking two.

The contest was scoreless until the third when Redford scored twice on two singles and a double.

Last week Monday the Merchants fell to a late rally by Village Rambler, 10-6, with the auto sales scoring seven runs in the last two innings. Mike Kisabeth pitched for Northville striking out four and walking four.

The Merchants took a 1-0 lead in the opening inning of the Rambler game and then added two scores in the third. But Village Rambler scored three times in the third to tie the score before falling behind again when Northville tallied twice in the fourth and once in the fifth.

The Merchants held a 6-3 lead entering the sixth when Rambler rallied for four. The Livonia Club came back in the top of the seventh to score three additional runs while blanking Northville over the last two frames.

Paul Deedler and Jerry Imstand each had a pair of singles in the Merchant-Rambler tilt.

Last week Wednesday the Northville entry fell again to a late rally as Plymouth K of C scored five times in the fifth and sixth inning for a 5-3 decision. The Merchants had jumped into a 2-0 lead in the third as Deedler singled home Ed Klisz.

Deedler, Imstand and Don Cuicchi each had two singles in the game. Diemer and southpaw Harry Swyston pitched for Northville allowing four hits between them while Diemer had five strike-outs and Swyston two.

Sunday's defeat at the hands of Redford extended the Merchants losing string to eight. Their last victory was July 24 when they defeated Village Rambler, 8-7.

Forty-two-year-old Stanton L. Schaefer, whose active professional and civic life was cut short by cancer, died Saturday at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Funeral service for the young lobbyist in the Michigan Legislature was held Tuesday at Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church, following a Rosary service Monday evening in the chapel of Casterline Funeral Home.

Born March 5, 1927 in Detroit, Mr. Schaefer was the son of Kenneth M. and Alice Cavanaugh Schaefer, who are now living in Birmingham.

His wife, Andrea, daughter of Orlow Owen of Northville, survives at home, 47000 West Six Mile Road, as do three children, Stacey Ann, Patrick Owen, and Andrew John.

Also surviving is a sister, Mrs. Jan Fraser of Silver Springs, Maryland.

Mr. Schaefer, who had lived in Northville for the past 16 years, graduated from Baldwin High School in Birmingham and was a physical education graduate of Michigan State University. As a lobbyist and manufacturer's agent, he represented several state associations including the Association of General Contractors of America and the Michigan Savings and Loan League before the State Legislature.

Appointed to the Michigan Youth Commission by former Governor G. Mennen Williams, he served in this capacity for several years.

A World War II veteran, he was member of Our Lady of Victory Church, the Waterloo Hunt Club, and the Detroit Press Club.

Following the funeral service Tuesday, officiated by the Reverend Fr. John Wittstock, burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery here.

ANOTHER HIT — For the fourth time in 10 years, a car has ended up in the house at 594 South Main, at the intersection of Seven Mile Road. Ransom L. Rochon, 18396 Jamestown Circle, lost control of his car Monday at 1 a.m. Police reports indicate Rochon was traveling west on Seven Mile in excess of 50 MPH. He lost control of his car and it plowed through a steel barricade, slammed through a concrete block porch and smashed into the front side of the house causing an estimated $2,500 damage to the building. Skid marks 110 feet long were found at the scene. Rochon, who refused medical attention, was ticketed for careless driving.

Police & Courts

A Birmingham man, William A. Clemmons, told police unknown persons took $450 from his pocket July 29. Clemmons noticed the money missing when he went to place a bet at the Northville Downs.

Police are investigating a case of grand larceny which occurred July 29 at the Downs. Equipment worth $300 and $40 in cash was taken from the St. Lawrence Barn tack room.

Vandals caused $50 worth of damage at G. E. Miller Sales and Service July 27. A beer bottle thrown at cars in the parking lot shattered the rear window in a Dodge van.

An unknown vehicle traveling east on Eight Mile Road cut across the westbound lane July 29. The car hit a guard rail, clipping off two wooden poles. The incident is still under investigation.

Police towed away an abandoned vehicle July 31. The 1959 blue Chevrolet had been parked in front of 318 Pennell for three days. Residents called police after they saw a man return to the car, remove the license plates and flee.

Violation of a city ordinance against littering was investigated July 29 after reports of passengers in a car throwing bottles on the roadway. Investigating officers were unable to locate the car which was seen near Novi Road and Park Grove.

Buddy Spencer, 19254 Gerald Avenue, reported his bike was stolen from the porch of 235 Church Street. He had parked the bike there for storage and when he returned to pick it up last week, it was missing. It is a Rollfast bike with white handle grips and no fenders.

A pizza knife worth $35 was stolen August 4 from Dino's Pizzeria, Novi Road. A waitress said two men came into the restaurant and while she was in the back, she heard the cash register ring.

No money was taken but she discovered the 24-inch knife missing.

Mrs. John Vantine, 371 East Main, reported to police a hole was shot in a large window of her home. The incident occurred sometime between August 2 and 4.

Police investigated a report of breaking and entering at the Racing Commission building at the Downs August 2. A door was found open but it was not determined if anything was missing.

Shortly before discovering the open door, police reported seeing a man walking on Center Street near the Downs with a brown box under his arm.

An accident at 2:05 a.m. August 4 sent one man to the hospital.

David E. Sprunk, 47105 Stratford, was treated at St. Mary Hospital after the car he was driving collided with a telephone pole at 496 West Cady. He was treated for lacerations of the nose and chin and released.

Sprunk said he reached under the seat for a pack of cigarettes and lost control of the car.

No skid marks were found at the scene and no tickets were issued.

Morris W. Stothers, Garden City, was arrested August 2 and charged with fleeing from police. Police had attempted to stop him for a broken head light.

Stothers was also charged with improper license plates and violation of the financial responsibility act.

Thomas M. Wade, Milan, was apprehended August 3 and charged with leaving the scene of a property damage accident after he backed into a parked car.

Wade was picked up after his vehicle overturned in a field off Seven Mile.

He was also charged with driving a suspended license, drunkenness and destruction of city property. He unbolted a bed from the floor of his cell in the city jail and tried to turn it over.

Carol L. Johnson, Walled Lake, and Gerald R. Williams, 318 Pennell, paid $38 each for traffic warrants. Eric A. Hansen, Detroit, paid $33 for a traffic warrant.

Charged with trespassing, a Detroit man, William M. Dinner, paid a fine of $38.

Three Car Crash Injures Two Here

The Northville Road — West Seven Mile intersection was the scene of another injury accident last week.

A three-car pile-up July 30 at 3:15 p.m. sent Edward Smith and his brother Paul to St. Mary Hospital. Both are Inkster residents.

Edward is undergoing treatment for chest bruises and his condition is listed as "good". Paul was X-rayed for possible arm injuries and released.

Wayne County Sheriff's Department investigated the accident. They reported the Smith car, traveling westbound on Seven Mile, stopped for the flashing light and then proceeded. The car was struck by a vehicle going north on Northville Road.

Driver of the second vehicle was Thomas Gibbons, Livonia.

Smith's car was pushed into the path of a vehicle driven by Floyd Dolmadge, Plymouth. Dolmadge was traveling south on Northville Road.

The Sheriff's Department said Smith failed to yield the right of way. No tickets have been issued and the accident is still under investigation.

Western Electric Display Marks Firm's Centennial

Western Electric Company, observing its centennial anniversary this year, will celebrate the event locally with an exhibition in the Livonia Mall today through Saturday, Staff Associate Aubrey Downs announced this week.

The exhibits will portray the company as it developed over the years from a small electrical shop to the major supplier of the Bell Telephone System.

Manning the exhibits will be attractive Western Electric girls who will provide handouts and literature for interested spectators. Technical exhibits will be demonstrated by men who will answer questions regarding the company and its operation.

Northville area residents, including the many employees of the Western Electric plant in Plymouth, are invited "to stop by and see us."

Enrollment Hits 1,182

A Summer session enrollment of 1,182 students — an increase of 130 over last year and the highest ever for the session in the history of the college — has been reported by Schoolcraft College Registrar Norman E. Dunn.

The enrollment was significant in another way than simply setting a new high for the summer session, Dunn said. Technical-vocational course enrollment for the period reached 50 percent of the total student body, highest ever for the career curriculums at Schoolcraft.

Dunn said there has been a steady increase over the years in the career programs enrollment in virtually all formal sessions of each academic year, and added the technical-vocational enrollment topped 40 percent for the first time with the 1968 fall term enrollment.

A LOOSE LEAF

By ROLLY PETERSON

Piecing together what happened on July 18 on Chappaquiddick Island is no mean feat, for not all the facts are known, nor are they likely ever to be, unless an inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne is indeed begun in the state of Massachusetts, or unless the facts are indeed clearer in Senator Edward Kennedy's mind and he decides to elaborate on statements already made.

Yet, America's two major weeklies, Time and Newsweek, undertook to do exactly that last week — to recreate, insofar as the facts are known, what happened after Ted Kennedy and Miss Kopechne left a cottage on Chappaquiddick Island.

More conclusive than anything that the two magazines say, however, is the indelible fact that Newsweek, after years of working in the shadow of Time, has emerged as the better of the two weeklies.

Time and Newsweek both work with essentially the same facts — Ted Kennedy's belated police statement, his 17-minute television broadcast, brief comments from one of the "Boiler Room" girls, and sketchy comments from a hotel co-owner who was the desk clerk that fateful night, from a ferry boat deckhand, and from a part-time deputy sheriff.

Both magazines reach basically the same conclusion: that Kennedy's chances as a presidential candidate in 1972 are nil, that many crucial questions about the incident and primarily Senator Kennedy's failure to report the accident remain unanswered, that the Kennedy myth of infallibility has now been shattered.

Time, unnecessarily, goes beyond speculation into the arena of gossip, as if grabbing at straws to create the impression of thoroughness. Newsweek, meanwhile, takes a comprehensively hard but human approach — and comes off more responsible and enlightening.

"As for women," Time says, "there are countless rumors in Washington, many of them conveyed with a ring of conviction. Some who have long watched the Kennedys can say with certainty that he often flirts with pretty girls in situations indiscreet for someone named Ted Kennedy. At the same time, he and his wife Joan are rumored to have had their troubles."

Time continues to relate that on one occasion last summer Ted Kennedy was seen in the company of "another lovely blonde" on Aristotle Onassis' yacht, then Time apologetically says, "Such incidents might be recounted about innumerable people in Washington and elsewhere; it is only the Martha's Vineyard tragedy that suddenly makes them seem pertinent." Indeed?

Time even goes so far as to quote a sick joke, although it has no pertinence. "One sick joke already visualizes a Democrat asking about Nixon during the 1972 presidential campaign: 'Would you let this man sell you a used car?' Answer: 'Yes, but I sure wouldn't let that Teddy drive it.'"

Newsweek steers clear of innuendo and unwarranted speculation and yet documents a convincing case. And even outstrips Time for factual reporting. Reporting of the hotel owner's statement is a case in point. While Time has Russell E. Peachey saying Kennedy's suit coat and trousers "appeared" dry when the senator requested the time at 2:25 a.m. at the hotel, Time failed to mention, as Newsweek did, that Kennedy was "standing some 40 to 50 feet away, in the shadows near the foot of the stairs..."

The Irish Hills—Popular Area Entertainment Stop

Traveling between Clinton and Cambridge Junction on US-12 in northeast Lenawee County finds you surrounded by the popular resort area of the Irish Hills. The Irish Hills Tower is a major landmark denoting the hub of attractions which includes St. Joseph Shrine (upper left) along with numerous antique shops and popcorn wagons (bottom) along the way. And someone has hung up his shingle announcing that at his shop — where he's apparently pushing his line of crickets — the sportsman can purchase bait around-the-clock. Travelers are advised to allow enough time for congestion on the highway caused by heavy traffic — both motor and pedestrian. The Irish Hills is less than two hours from the Northville- Novi-Brighton-South Lyon area.

... Just Look About You

A Drive-A-Long Leisure Paradise

It's a little bit of rural America plus the man-made attractions recreating days gone by plus plenty of small lakes framed by hillsides in piece and quiet. It's a popcorn-candy apple-hot dog stand every few miles plus a friendly tavern and a state park.

It can excite the young and relax the old.

It's a live bait sign, emphasizing crickets as a specialty, and announcing that the business is open 24 hours—assurance, in itself, that the fish there bite around the clock.

It's a strip of US-12 and it's the Irish Hills with wooded hills a-plenty cuddling around attractions smothered in carnival atmosphere.

The Irish Hills, an area commonly identified as a strip along US-12 in southeastern Michigan's Lenawee County, offers attraction-upon-attraction along the winding roadway which, unfortunately, multiplies the driving problems as autos (and people) casually make the rounds.

Walter J. Hayes State Park, located between the highway and US-12, is a center of attraction along the strip between scenic Clinton and Somerset. The 654-acre facility includes access to both Wampplers and Round Lake, a beach and bathhouse and outdoor center and camping sites.

The park has numerous attractions neighboring it along US-12 ranging from area transformed to the wild west—featuring real live bandits robbing a stagecoach right before your eyes—to a peak into prehistoric times with monsters sticking their heads through the tree tops.

And lakes—big lakes, little lakes, twin lakes and hard to get to hardly-used lakes—are everywhere with enough area to provide a spot for all water sports.

US-12 actually crosses the southern portion of the state from Detroit to New Buffalo with access from southeastern Michigan at numerous points along the popular route.

Antique shops and restaurants housed in historic structures are frequent throughout the hills with a large auto speedway—attracting thousands on race days—located just west of Cambridge Junction. St. Joseph Shrine is a favorite visit while the variety of other attractions in total seemingly offer something for everyone.

And the expense? It can simply be the cost of gasoline plus a handful of hot dogs or it can include elegant dining and a carload of novelty items. The scenery, of course, is a major attraction and it's priceless.

Facts for Traveling

HOW TO GET THERE: The Irish Hills surrounds a section of US-12 in the northeast portion of Lenawee County so residents from southeastern Michigan can visit the area by intercepting the highway at Detroit, Ypsilanti, Saline or Clinton and traveling westward. The area is less than two hours from the Northville- Novi-Brighton-South Lyon area with most direct access at Ypsilanti.

HOW MUCH WILL IT COST?: Actually, expenses can vary with the budget and a variety of activity. Fees for use of W. J. Hayes State Park are standard — free on a season pass or $1 for one day — plus camping rates. Commercial attractions are generally priced within reason while food and other accommodations range from cheap to expensive.

what's a funny place for a phone?

That depends a lot on your sense of humor. If splashing through the house to answer a telephone leaves you a little cold, then perhaps there is nothing funny about an extension telephone in the bathroom or dressing room.

Extension telephones save steps and let you do your telephoning from where you are.

Call your Michigan Bell Business Office or ask your telephone man. For as little as ninety-five cents a month (plus tax) you can have an extension telephone in any funny old place you'd like.

Where's Critics of Drunk Driving?

LANSING — If automaker critic Ralph Nader could show a feature in cars which could be connected with 24-percent of fatal accidents in the state, the public would be demanding that corrections be made.

But when figures show that 24-percent of highway deaths are connected with drunk driving, there is very little public-reaction. The public reacts no more when told that 72-percent of drivers involved in fatal accidents were drinking to some degree before the accident.

Those who doubt the involvement of the John Birch Society in the anti-sex education campaign whose effects now are being felt in Michigan need look no further than the group's own publications to satisfy their doubts. Again and again this year, the group's bulletins have spoken of the need to combat sex education programs in any shape or form.

The drive is being spearheaded by groups calling themselves MOTOREDE committees. MOTOREDE stands for Movement to Restore Decency.

The January society bulletin said there is "one more urgent requirement" for MOTOREDE committees besides merely organizing.

"That requirement is organized, nationwide, intensive, angry and determined opposition to the now mushrooming program of so-called sex education in the public schools," it said.

NO MORE ACCURATE description of the organized opposition in Michigan could be found than "intensive, angry and determined."

The same bulletin described sex education programs as a "subversive monstrosity" and a "filthy communist plot."

It said sex education programs have three "communist objectives"

"A final assault upon the family as a fundamental block in the structure of our civilization.

"To destroy one whole generation of American youth.

"To help all of the other forces at work to destroy completely the very concept of morality."

The February bulletin devotes more than five pages to "The Principles and Purposes of the Movement to Restore Decency" and offers pamphlet reprints of the article.

PAMPHLETS SPEAK first of a "contemporary breakdown of morality and manners." It then asserts: "By far the most dangerous and disastrous step in this whole program to promote degeneracy is the present increasingly widespread efforts to introduce 'sex education' into our schools all the way from kindergarten through high school."

The pamphlet also said, "We do not believe that the current drive for sex education is even intended by its originators and promoters to provide a needed and beneficial service in the schools. It is their sinister objective instead to create an unceasing and dangerous obsession with sex in the minds of our children."

The April bulletin says, "Already, from several parts of the country we have received reports of major victories in various efforts to keep sex education out of schools and in the home where it belongs. And this is just a beginning."

SEX EDUCATION AGAIN pops up in the May issue of the bulletin. The society says the basis of all sex education programs are "communists who are determined to use an artificially stimulated prepossession of sex during school years as a means of destroying the character of a whole generation of American youth."

The bulletin concludes by saying that it expects membership of MOTOREDE committees to be made up of only 10 percent society members.

"The remaining 90 percent will consist of good citizens drawn from every level and division of American life, who are seriously concerned about the future of their children and of their country," it says.

AT LEAST ONE statehouse official doubts that former Gov. George Romney would even consider running for the U. S. Senate in 1970. That's Gov. William G. Milliken.

Sources close to the Governor say Milliken considers the chances of Romney coming back to run for the Senate "very small."

The Governor, who has ruled himself out of the race for the Senate, does consider Supreme Court Chief Justice Thomas E. Brennan as a "possibility," however.

As for Milliken himself, it's assumed by everyone he'll run for his present office.

Babson Report

Railroads Give Top Priority To Technological Advances

WELLESLEY HILLS, Massachusetts — Creation of a Department of Transportation at the Cabinet level in the Federal Government is symbolic of the growing awareness of the need for a unified transportation industry to meet the requirements of an internationally oriented industrial nation.

The important role that American railroads see themselves playing in this new concept of a total transportation facility is indicated by the high priority that railroad management has given during the past twenty years to incorporating advances in mechanical and electronic technology to their operations; integrating as much as possible with the trucking air freight, and ocean-going cargo industries for their mutual benefit; and at the same time, satisfying the increasingly complex demands of shippers.

MAINTAINING a current location status report of its rolling stock has always presented problems to rail carriers. At one time, it frequently took a matter of days and even weeks to locate a misdirected shipment. Furthermore, one railroad may have had a freight yard of uncommitted tank cars, for example, while another carrier a few hundred miles away was in dire need of such equipment.

These problems are being solved today by the development of Automatic Car Identification (ACI) and Tele-Rail Automated Information Network (TRAIN). The electronic computer is the basic component of both of these systems. ACI will provide instant information as to location and destination of every car in its system, together with pertinent data concerning its cargo. This information is available not only to the railroad concerned, but, through TRAIN — basically a central electronic storage bank — to all Class I railroads which carry 99% of all our rail freight and passengers.

AN EARLIER innovation was the "piggy back" flat car to enable trans-shipment, primarily of automobiles in the early stages, between motor freight terminals. This played a great part in the development of containerization techniques involving trans-shipment of cargoes using all modes of transportation from point of origin to destination.

Among other things, the "piggy back" has led to the vital link that the railroads are just beginning to establish in the Europe-Orient "land bridge." This is the revolutionary concept that embodies using rail container flat cars traveling across the U. S. to carry cargo moving between Europe and the Far East.

As shippers in the European and Far Eastern markets see the savings to them in the use of this route, vital new revenues should accumulate to the railroads. The potential market seems important enough to justify intensive development of this concept.

A MAJOR factor in the realization of this "land bridge" has been the many mergers of American rail companies. These have been consummated only after months and even years of waiting for ICC approval and, in many cases, approval by the Supreme Court. Perhaps the next step will be a relaxation of Federal regulations governing the extent to which the various increments of the transportation industry can participate in joint ventures. If this happens, it would represent a revolution in the overall transportation industry.

Because of the improving status of the railroads and the much brighter long-range outlook, we are maintaining "hold" positions on the securities of the leading companies. Babson's recommends buying Norfolk & Western common for income and growth potential. Penn Central common is also recommended for longer-term appreciation. Although most of the issues have not fared well in this year's downtrending market, the industry does have a brighter hue: Patient holders could be well rewarded as the railroads begin to reap worthwhile benefits from the many forward steps they have taken in late years.

What? You don't know the Boogaloo? And your teen-age swinger never heard of the Fox Trot?

You'll both get a chance to get hep at the Dance-In, a "bridge-the-generation gap dance", at the 120th Michigan State Fair, which runs from Friday, August 22, through Monday, September 1.

The dance will be held at 1 p.m. on Family Day at the fair. That's Friday, August 29. Site will be the Gazebo, which is located in the Coliseum Grove.

"Joy and Sorrow"

"Laugh and the world laughs with you, weep and you weep alone."

The world loves a jovial person. It is popular to be witty. To be a little hilarious is not commonly regarded as a fault.

It is well to emphasize the value of a cheerful disposition. Religion can become too long faced. It is well to remind ourselves that the gospel of Jesus is good news.

However, we face the fact that life consists of both joy and sorrow, pleasure and pain, health and suffering. Sorrow is like the rain.

The Bible reminds us that Jesus knew the meaning of sorrow. We are told that upon one occasion, "Jesus wept."

been called a "man of sorrows." Upon the cross he felt so utterly alone that he cried out, "My God, why hast thou forsaken me."

The question that arises is this—How many followers of the Master meet such experiences when they come? There are three ways. First, sorrow may be hidden.

Second, sorrow may sometimes be shared. St. Paul said, "Let every man bear his own burdens" but he also said, "Bear ye, one another's burdens."

other person or persons in whom we may confide. To share our sorrows with one who understands and has a sympathetic heart may be a great blessing.

Finally, Sorrow may be used constructively. Jesus used his sorrows for redemptive purposes. The tragedy of our world is not entirely that it has become a vast Gethsemane.

Sooner or later suffering becomes the lot of every human being.

We may bear it and that is brave. We may share it and that is helpful.

We may use it and that is Christlike.

Sunday Mark 1:29-39 Monday Mark 2:1-12 Tuesday Mark 2:18-28 Wednesday Mark 3:7-35 Thursday Mark 4:35-41 Friday Mark 5:35-43 Saturday Mark 6:7-13

The kids in the grandstand are yelling, "Strike him out!" and our young pitcher is going to do exactly that. This is his day for a shut-out game... his day to win.

He's feeling pretty good about it, and who's to blame him? But what if things had gone the other way? What if some other boy had been warming up in the bullpen, about to have taken his place? But he is a well-balanced youngster, and he would have taken that in stride, too.

He has learned about being a good sport, about regard for his fellow men, and about many other equally important things in Church. For, like thousands of other American youngsters, the Church already plays an important part in his life. That is one reason why his parents have faith in the fact that he will grow up to be a pretty fine man.

Meteor Shower Near Peak

Perseid shower, the annual "downpour" of meteors, will reach its peak around August 10, according to University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

"The astronauts have just completed a first visit to the moon, and yet we here on the earth have visitors from outer space every day, millions of them, known as meteors or shooting stars," Professor Losh notes.

"The annual Perseid shower provides as many as one shooting star every minute, compared with perhaps one per hour on an ordinary night, the U-M astronomer explains. The best time to watch them is from midnight to dawn. Although they may be seen in any part of the sky, their paths, when traced back, seem to intersect in the northeast where the constellation of Perseus rises around 10 p.m.

Most shooting stars are no bigger than a grain of sand, Prof. Losh says. These pieces of iron and stone plunge into the earth's atmosphere at the speed of some 40 miles per second. Most of them burn themselves out in the plunge, and those that survive the fall are called meteorites.

"Today we believe that comets and meteors are related. What created comets is not known, but because there are comets we have meteors," Prof. Losh says. "These swarms of debris are probably provided by the gradual disintegration of comets, and this swarm of particles that produces the Perseid shower is believed to be more or less uniformly strewn along its entire orbit, and is of about equal intensity each year."

Also, at the beginning of August, the planet Mars and Antares are found directly toward the south as darkness comes, Prof. Losh notes. "On August 11, Mars will pass a little more than a degree north of Antares, the planet being about six times brighter than the star."

The U-M astronomer adds, "One should locate and become acquainted with Mars, for popular speculation points to it as the next target after the moon for space exploration by man." Pictures of Mars were recently sent to earth by Mariner 6.

Community Fun Events Coming Up

More than seven dozen Michigan community events, including fairs, art festivals, Indian pow-wows and boat races, are being readied to add to family vacation fun during August, according to the Michigan Tourist Council's Summer Calendar of Events.

Among the August events listed in the calendar are the U. P. Championship Rodeo, August 2-3, Iron River, the Blessing of the Watercraft, Menominee, August 3; the Water Festival, Pentwater, August 7-10, the Yankee 600 Auto Race, Michigan International Speedway, Irish Hills, August 17, the Danish Festival, Greenville, August 23, and the Pere Marquette Pageant, St Ignace, August 29-31.

The calendar lists art fairs and shows for Blanchard, August 2; Iron Mountain—Kingsford, August 2-8; Wyandotte, August 7-9, and at Charlevoix, August 9.

More than 50 fairs are featured in the Michigan Calendar of Events for August, including the Ionia Free Fair, Ionia, August 1-10, the Northern Michigan Fair, August 11-16, Cheboygan; the U. P. State Fair, Escanaba, August 12-17, and the big Michigan State Fair, Detroit, August 22-September 1.

A canoe race will be held on the Pere Marquette River, Scottville, August 17; Indian pow-wows are scheduled for Hastings, August 9-10, and at Cross Village, August 10.

A copy of the Michigan Calendar of Events, listing vacation travel activities for the summer may be obtained without charge by writing the Michigan Tourist Council, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing 48926.
