Revised CBD-CBP Plan Certain to Get Approval

It's not definite yet but a compromise CBD-CBP plan has all the earmarks of receiving quick Northville City Council approval at its next meeting.

The council Monday night directed City Attorney Philip Ogilvie to prepare a zoning amendment encompassing the compromise plan that appears to satisfy both the council and citizens.

Big difference from the controversial plan recommended by the planning commission is the elimination for the time-being of much of the area originally slated for a Central Business District classification. Basically, the compromise proposes that CBP be limited to those downtown areas that presently contain parking lots, that are slated to become parking lots soon, and that now contain non-conforming businesses.

Excluded from the compromise CBP plan are numerous businesses that will remain in the C-2 business classification. These include among others businesses east of Manufacturer's National Bank on Main to Hutton, the Spinning Wheel Building on east Cady, Long's Plumbing on Dunlap, the Heritage House antique store on Wing, and the township hall (old library) on Wing.

Among the non-conforming use businesses slated for CBP zoning is the building that houses Northville Collision on East Dunlap Street.

Exterior boundary of the CBP district is Dunlap, Wing, Cady, the Presbyterian Church parking lot. Hutton Street business is to remain in a C-2 classification.

Inside the CBP boundaries but including only those businesses in the core of the downtown section is the proposed Central Business District (CBD). These business properties will be rezoned from C-2 to CBD under the proposal.

It was explained that the CBD zoning permits a greater variety of businesses than does the C-2 classification. Primarily, these additional uses include personal service businesses such as barber and beauty.

DR. ERIC BRADNER

Schoolcraft President Set to Retire

Dr. Eric J. Bradner, president of Schoolcraft since its founding in 1961, has announced plans for his retirement as of June 30, 1971, when his present contract expires.

In a letter to the college Board of Trustees, Dr. Bradner offered to assist the Board in selecting a successor during the coming months.

Prior to coming to Schoolcraft, Dr. Bradner served for 12 years as Dean of Bay City (Mich.) Junior College. During his tenure at Bay City, the college grew from an institution of 340 students to a peak enrollment of 1,700 equated students.

Trustees of Schoolcraft called Dr. Bradner to northwest Wayne County in the spring of 1961 to direct the

Engineering OK'd For Griswold Project

Preliminary engineering of the proposed Griswold Street extension was authorized by the Northville City Council Monday night with approval of a contract with Harold Penn.

The contract, which does not include inspection or survey work, calls for a price of $3,736 for engineering of the extension of Griswold from Main to Beal.

Engineering cost for the eventual widening of Beal Street to South Main was put at $4,068.

Still to be decided is the exact route of the extension and whether it should be a regular four-lane concrete pavement or a boulevard. Exact cost of the project hinges on the route and its width.

It is estimated that approximately 18 privately owned parcels of land will have to be purchased by the city to permit the extension. To date only one parcel — the Herman Hartner, Sr. house and property — has been purchased.

Total estimated cost, based on tentative routes, has been put at between $300,000 and $400,000.

The council decided to return the matter to the commission over the objections of Councilman Charles Lapham who argued that a "drawing" of a proposed house is insufficient to guide the commission. What needs to be done in view of the commission's past action, Lapham said, is for the council to decide whether the property should be maintained for single family homes or changed for multiple-family development — not to decide the value of an architect's rendering.

The city manager and Councilmen Kenneth Rathert reported that initial meeting of city and township officials to consider the establishment of a planning forum produced the consensus that joint discussion of mutual planning matters should be pursued. The proposed new body is to have no authority to make decisions but rather it is a discussion group aimed at keeping municipalities informed of each other's plans.

A rezoning request, tabled more than a half a year ago pending receipt of additional information by the applicant, was referred back to the planning commission upon presentation of an architectural rendering of a proposed duplex home on the east side of Center Street, opposite the high school property.

If the multiple zoning is eventually granted and the property is split properly it could house two such duplex homes.

The planning commission originally denied the applicant, John Badalutz of Plymouth, a hearing but the council ordered its own hearing then tabled the matter because insufficient information was supplied it.

A request by Paul Steencken for compensation for filling of his property line to meet the city's new grade level on Randolph Street was referred to the city attorney and city engineer for research and recommendation.

Local Bank Buys Tax Notes

In a special session Monday, the Northville School Board awarded the bid for $510,000 worth of tax anticipation notes to Manufacturers National Bank, the only bidder.

The notes were sold at a rate of 4.98 percent per annum to the Northville branch. Total interest on the notes due April 1, 1970 will be $10,582.50.

The motion, moved by Eugene Cook, board secretary, and seconded by Richard Martin, board vice-president, met with unanimous support from the board.

Proceeds from the sale of the notes will be used to meet operating expenses until school tax collections begin coming in after December 1.

Thieves Take Drugs From Doctor's Office

A large quantity of drugs was stolen from Dr. Heinrich H. Handorf's office, 455 Park Place, between October 4 and 5.

Among the missing items are 22,000 phenobarbital tablets used as sedatives and several hypodermic needles.

Entrance was gained by using a crowbar to break the rear door lock.

The drug room and three examining rooms were ransacked, according to Northville police reports.

Michigan State Police were called in to assist the Northville department in taking fingerprints.

Drugs taken from the office include thyroid tablets, thiamine, anestrone, tetracycline, digitoxin, tetanics, mumps and polio vaccines, penicillin and allergy serums.

No estimate of cost was given for the missing drugs.

The case is still under investigation by the police.

WATCH YOUR TURNS—Motorists will have to adopt new driving habits when coming into the business district of Northville. A "no left turn" sign has been installed at Main and Center streets restricting left turns off Center street for both north and south bound traffic. Chief Samuel Elkins has tabbed the intersection as the number one accident corner in the community. Since 1966 there have been 33 accidents at Main and Center, 22 involving left turns.

NEWS BRIEFS

FIREMEN BATTLED a three-alarm barn fire at Wayne County Child Development Center, Five Mile and Sheldon, at 4:30 a.m. Wednesday. The fire completely destroyed one barn and scorched two others. Northville and Plymouth Township fire departments and firemen from the Center brought the fire under control. Late Wednesday morning the barn continued to smolder. Arson is suspected and the fire is under investigation. Plymouth Township fought two other barn fires in the same area early Wednesday morning. They responded to the Center's alarm from the scene of one of the other barn fires.

PUBLIC HEARING on a proposed green belt ordinance recommended by the planning commission has been slated for November 3.

PAPERWORK FOR INCORPORATION of a sanitary landfill-incinerator authority involving the city and township of Northville, the two Plymouths and Canton Township is expected to be completed within two weeks. Once the corporation has been established it will begin exploration of properties for purchase for either a landfill or an incinerator.

NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP residents who seek police assistance by either the Wayne County Sheriff's Department or the township's police officer are asked to call a new number, 349-6666, day or night. Whenever Township Officer Ron Nisun is unavailable the call is automatically switched to the sheriff's department. Previously, Nisun was reached at the regular township hall number while the sheriff's department was reached through an Enterprise number. Persons wishing to speak with officials on non-police matters are advised to call 349-1600.

THE RAILROAD DEPOT, now being leased for storage by Northville Laboratory, may be razed if arrangements can be worked out between the city and the C&O Railroad. Attempts to remove the building were started at the suggestion of Mrs. Beatrice Carlson, chairman of the Northville Beautification Commission, who has noted that the decaying old building presents a potential hazard and a community eyesore. Reports indicate that cost of restoration is prohibitive.

WITH THE CITY DUMP now filled, officials will soon decide its eventual new use. To be decided will be how much of the property should be sold and how much retained for DPW use and if bids for the property should be received or if it should be sold at a price likely to attract industrial development. Meanwhile the property is to be appraised and soil borings are to be made to determine what parts are now buildable.

But Joe Refuses to Quit

Shoe Repair on Way of Blacksmith

Once upon a time every city had two or three shoe repairmen. Even small communities could boast of at least one of these artisans. Not any longer. They've gone the way of the blacksmith.

Joe Revitzer is the exception.

He's been hammering and shaping shoes for half a century and, now pushing 70, he has no thought of putting away his tools. "What would I do if I stopped?" he asks. "No, I'll just keep going until my health runs out."

Robust and still able to put in 50 hours of hard work regularly each week, Revitzer has operated a business here longer than any active Northville businessman. He first hung out his shingle in 1923, several years after working as an apprentice in Redford.

A Hungarian immigrant who crossed the ocean at age 12, he wore his first pair of shoes when he stepped ashore, scared but confident of what the New World would bring him. For the first 11 years of his life, he wore only boots. Then he apprenticed in Hungary as a shoemaker, making his own first pair of stiff-leather "clodhoppers" for the journey to America.

To earn his room and board as a teenager, Revitzer worked as a farmhand. He kept his foot in his chosen trade, however, by repairing the shoes of fellow farm laborers and occasionally repairing leather equipment.

Eventually, he left the farm — now part of the City of Detroit — and, in 1920, became an apprentice at Redford where he worked for three years.

The year 1923 was an important one for the young man. In June he took himself a wife and in the fall he opened his first shoe repair shop in Northville. His long tenure in business is exceeded only by that marriage which produced one child, four grandchildren.

Revitzer's first shop was unpretentious, occupying a small part of the frame building that stood where Ramsey's Bar is now located on Center Street. He shared the building with a tire repairman and competed with a number of other shoe repairmen who then operated businesses here.

Three years later, he moved his shop to the north side of graveled Main Street into what was then called the Elliott Building and what today houses The Little People Shoppe. "The basement had been a bowling alley," recalls Revitzer, "and I had half of the room and Lee Shipley operated his barber shop in the other half. Upstairs, Elmer Smith (former Northville mayor) had a real estate business and Bill Elliott had a grocery store."

In 1930, after Smith (and later

'Cathedral' Room Setting for Wedding

Deborah M. Carter became the bride of Douglas B. Earl in an afternoon ceremony last Saturday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Carter, 40960 Ten Mile Road, Novi. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Earl, 40670 Ten Mile Road, Novi.

The 2 p.m. ceremony in the Carters' cathedral-ceiling family room fulfilled the bride's wish to be married at home. The Reverend Albert Hartoog, of Novi United Methodist Church, officiated. Mrs. Walter Thompson provided wedding music at the piano.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of lace over taffeta with full sleeves, gathered at the wrists. Pearls adorned the star-shaped headpiece that held her shoulder veil of illusion. It was loaned, as a bit of family sentiment, by the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Jack Carter, Jr. The bridal bouquet was white chrysanthemums and orchids.

The bride's cousin, Paula Pruett, came from Oak Ridge, Tennessee, to be honor maid. She wore an aqua brocade dress. Her flowers were white, centered with red rosebuds.

Devereux Earl, the bridegroom's brother, was best man.

For the ceremony and reception following for 60 guests, the bride's mother wore a blue crepe dress while the bridegroom's mother chose an aqua knit costume.

The bride wore a navy coat with white accessories as the couple left on a wedding trip to the AuSable River resort. Both the bride and her husband are 1969 graduates of Novi High School with the new Mrs. Earl being the first graduate to receive her diploma in the school's first graduation ceremonies.

In Our Town

By JEAN DAY

WHEN CHILDREN — and the understanding of them — are the topic, Northville parents turn out to hear. This was proved again last week when Northville Cooperative Nursery Play Group had 64 out of 65 parent families represented at a program discussion of "Children as Individuals."

Of course, the cooperative also had an outstanding authority in her field, Mrs. Luella Lutz of Wayne State University children's nursery, as its speaker.

Emphasizing the differences in little children, Mrs. Lutz advised that they not be "pushed" into activity. If they don't wish to listen to a story or to paint a picture, they shouldn't have to at preschool ages, she stressed.

Mrs. Lutz, who lives in Pinckney, is an advocate of the unstructured-type school. Both of Northville's cooperative groups, which meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday or Tuesday and Thursday mornings in the Scout-Recreation building, are of this type.

Under the direction of their teachers, Mrs. Francis Gazlay, Mrs. Glenn Diebert and Mrs. Lawrence Bemish, the nursery groups took field trips last week to Applecrest Farms.

The next monthly meeting of nursery parents is to include a book and science fair as a fund raising activity November 6.

Anyone wishing to place a child's name on the cooperative's waiting list is asked to call Mrs. Jane Brown, 349-0401. The nursery sessions are two or three day and are for children from three to five.

IT'S TOWN HALL today with television personality Virginia Graham launching the 1969-70 season at 11 a.m. in Northville High School auditorium. She is to be introduced by Mrs. Nelson Hyatt, new TH chairman.

The star, who had her own "Girl Talk" program on television and who also is a lecturer and author of wit and charm, was due to arrive Wednesday afternoon from New Orleans for her first Detroit-area talk this season. Her early arrival should save her Town Hall escorts Mrs. Hyatt and Mrs. Jack Doheny some of the last-minute worries that their predecessors have experienced.

Miss Graham, who holds a master's degree in journalism and who majored in psychology and sociology, is the author of "There Goes What's Her Name," "Don't Blame the Mirror," and — most recently — of a cook book, "The Last Day of the World." She is to speak on "Are Women at the Point of No Return?"

Town Hall board Monday voted to depart from previous tradition and to sell individual tickets at the auditorium door today for the 11 a.m. lecture. They will be $5.

A TOUR of the Englis estate and the Arboretum in Ann Arbor is set for members of the Northville Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association for their October meeting next Monday.

They are to leave by tour bus from the Northville Downs parking lot promptly at 11 a.m. with members to enter the parking lot at the Church street entrance. It is a guest day with members reminded that they are to "brown bag it" by bringing a sack lunch for themselves and their guest. Tea and coffee will be provided by the chairman of the day, Mrs. Hiram Pacific, and her committee, Mrs. Eugene Guido, Mrs. H. J. Frogner and Mrs. Harold Schmidt.

"Deck the Halls" — the holiday flower show and sale to be held in the Northville VFW hall — is definitely slated for FRIDAY, December 5, the Northville Branch of the WNFGA announces.

FIVE QUESTER members from the Base Line Chapter of the antiques society are planning to attend the state fall council meeting October 15 at Hillcrest Country Club near Mt. Clemens.

Mrs. Thomas Lovett, chapter president, will be going with Mrs. Leonard Klein, Mrs. George Spencer, Mrs. George Miller and Mrs. William Crump.

A highlight of the all-day meeting will be a discussion of "Historical Staffordshire" by Mrs. Peter Chandler, authority and collector who is to illustrate her talk with examples from her own collection and with visual aids. Bernard Trinity, founder of the Macomb County Museum, will speak about the museum's history. Because of the unlimited facilities of Hillcrest Club, Mrs. Charles O. Walker, Jr., Michigan Quester president, has opened the meeting to guests and prospective members, Mrs. Lovett noted.

'It's A Nice Change, But ...'

Four Exchange Students View America Differently

Four seniors, two boys and two girls, are lending an international flavor to Northville High this year.

Participating in the Youth for Understanding program, they come from Holland, Finland, France and Germany.

Regina Kramer, from Leeuwarden, Holland, is staying with the J. Cecil Morins, 996 Allen Drive. Angelika Maiwald, from Grossenkneten, Germany, is making her home with the Fredrick Sterners of 21255 Beck Road.

The boys are Timo Koske, Helsinki, Finland, who is staying with the Dr. Harold Wright family, 19850 Westhill, and Jean Fay, Paris, France, who is living with the Robert Shafers, 18101 Sheldon.

They heard about Youth for Understanding through their schools and applied, were chosen and arrived in Northville during the latter part of August.

All four are in the United States for the first time.

The students speak English fluently. Jean said he has had seven years of English in Paris. Regina also speaks German and French. Angelika speaks Latin and French, and Timo, German and Swedish. Regina and Angelika attended schools with enrollments of 300, while there were 1,000 students in Timo's school and 3,000 in Jean's.

The students are impressed with the physical size of Northville High and have found it difficult to make it between classes in the allotted time.

"Americans are always in a hurry," they said. Jean said he is used to having 15 minutes between classes. Here he has only five, Angelika agreed.

"Back home we had time to have an apple or a snack between classes," she said.

In Germany students take 11 or 12 courses a year, though their class schedule will not be the same each day. Nine courses are required in France, 14 in Finland and 13 in Holland.

The four said they like American schools "because you can choose the courses you want to take," but wished students here would be required to take a foreign language.

The courses they have found most interesting at Northville High are psychology, mass media and speech.

Music and clothes styles are the same, the students found. "Rock is more developed here than in Paris," Jean thought. The girls said clothes are more expensive here, but the boys just laughed.

None of the schools the students attended had dress codes.

When the subject of food came up, the reaction from Jean was immediate. "Here everything goes on one plate! In France, I'm used to having each course served on a different plate."

Angelika dislikes canned food and having the big meal in the evening. "In Germany we only have bread and sausages in the evening."

Timo and Regina disagree on breakfast. Timo really likes American breakfast, while Regina would rather have toast than "cereal drowned in milk. But I love the milk in America."

Dating in America is completely different from what the students are used to. They say couples go steady and go out alone in America "while groups of us go for walks or on picnics back home."

"In Holland we do not go steady," Regina said. "We date others, though we may have one boyfriend. And in Holland the boys open doors for you even in school. Here they are not so polite. Maybe on dates, I don't know."

Language problems? "At first," said Angelika, "when someone said 'She's cool or neat,' I didn't know what they were talking about."

Slang has been a problem for all four.

"And slacks," commented Regina, "I didn't know what they were. I called them a pair of trousers."

The four are a bubbly group, impressed with the supermarkets, boutiques, football games, the hills and trees around Northville. For Angelika, Northville is big. For Timo, Regina and Jean, it is small compared to their homes.

"We enjoy it in America. It's a nice change," they agree. "But only for a year," they add.

'Quiet Day' Service Planned

A "Quiet Day" service is scheduled for noon Tuesday at Northville United Methodist Church by members of the Women's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild as they participate in the annual "Call to Prayer and Self-Denial."

Theme of the 1969 Call, sponsored by the Women's Division of the Board of Missions of the United Methodist Church, is "Let the Earth Bring Forth," from Genesis 1:24. It emphasizes not only the need to feed the hungry today but also to teach them new ways to bring forth from the earth food to meet their needs in years to come, the national board explains.

During the Call Methodist women throughout the United States focus interest on mission study, with the offering for special world and national projects, and a deepened spiritual life.

More than 1,250,000 women in 36,500 local groups in all 50 states join the observance.

The Call to Prayer Quiet Day is planned for meditation, prayer and a silent meal.

Library Gets Globe, Detroit Edison Study

Friends of the Library officially presented the Northville Public Library with a world globe at the meeting of the Library Board Thursday, October 2.

The 24 inch globe rests in a floor standard and can be turned at any angle. Mrs. Helen McClatchey, Northville librarian, reports that an added feature of the new globe is that it can be recovered by the company to keep pace with changing political boundaries.

The globe was purchased with proceeds from two used book sales planned and carried out by The Friends of the Library. The group's originators, Mrs. Virginia Orban and Miss Linda Edgerton, expressed their appreciation for the donations of books and the time given to manning the sales by many interested citizens.

The pair revealed that plans are underway for a series of paperback sales on special subjects of interest to parents and homemakers. These will be announced later.

Mrs. McClatchey reported another gift to the library at the Thursday night meeting. The Detroit Edison Company has presented a copy of its two-volume study, Developing Urban Detroit Area Research Project.

The set covers Parts I and II of a three-stage, five-year project undertaken in 1965 by the Detroit Edison Company in cooperation with Wayne State University and Doxadis Association of Athens, Greece.

Purpose of the project is to analyze, understand and explore the growth patterns, potentialities and future requirements of the major urban area influenced by Detroit which comprises 37 counties in Michigan, Ohio and Ontario.

Citizens concerned with the development of our Northville area will find these volumes a mine of information, the librarian said.

CAR Reports Heard Here

Plymouth Corners Society, Children of the American Revolution, heard reports on the regional meeting in Columbus, Ohio, and on two state board meetings, held in Marshall and Battle Creek, at the October meeting at the home of Jacki Merwin, president.

Mimi Merwin, first state vice-president, gave the reports, adding that members also had an opportunity to see some of the Marshall homes which had been on the city's home tour the week before.

Mrs. Richard Hurlburt of Brighton, new senior society president, was introduced. She will be president for two years. New local society officers, in addition to the president, are Blair Robinson, vice-president; Paul Lovett, chaplain; Terri Lapham, secretary; Thomas Lovett, treasurer; and Mark Robinson, registrar.

Members brought used clothing and coupons to be sent to mountain schools in the Carolinas. They also worked on posters to be used during Patriotic Education Week, October 12-19, in area schools and stores.

Any children in the area who had an ancestor who fought for or supported the American cause in the American Revolution are eligible to join the society. Interested persons may call Mrs. George Merwin for information.

A 12-year state employee, Boynton is regional director of MSEA region 8 which includes part of Wayne County. He is married with two children and attended Wayne State and Detroit Institute of Technology.

The 64 resolutions passed give the new board members and MSEA staff a mandate to proceed with activities during the coming year. MSEA does not consider itself a union but rather meets with the Michigan Civil Service Commission on a "meet and confer" basis.

All in Favor Do Something

It was along this side just a few weeks ago that yours truly, said a few words concerning the merits of this community formally establishing a recreation program. And it was elsewhere in this newspaper within recent times that Novi Community Schools indicated its interest in "getting together with the City of Novi Council to consider matters of mutual concern."

Now it's here along this side again and I'm going to try to associate the two ideas—getting councilmen and trustees together and getting the recreation program done. Please read on.

But Novi Community Schools has offered to help and no better will be the time than now to carefully sit down and decide the recreational needs of the community. Now is the time to start and take advantage of state and federal funds to build a program which will grow with the community rather than waiting and falling so far behind that doing a good job becomes impossible.

Actually, at the outset a recreation program doesn't require great expenditures of money. It's five years from now that the costs will become phenomenal—and the need greatest—if we don't have the foresight to begin now.

Essentially, with the Board of Education's cooperation, we're off to a good start because immediately we inherit facilities which we don't have the money to duplicate just for seasonal use. And with facilities—playgrounds and gymnasiums—an ambitious director with some student assistance finds himself able to build a basic program one season and grow on that foundation in summers to come.

State and federal agencies are working hard to provide funds for use in establishing or maintaining programs in communities such as ours. And we owe it to our children, the parents of whom are providing state and federal recreational funds through their tax dollars, to give them a program when the need is evident and all we have to do is put the pieces together.

In a young community like this there are young parents available and willing to donate time in studying recreational alternatives and deciding a plan. And during summer months there are capable adults—students home from college, teachers on vacation, etc.—who could and would direct such a program at a nominal cost.

And most important, there are youngsters who want—and who need—something to do and who deserve the best something we can provide them.

Court Orders Township Action

Demands Division Of Assets

Novi Township has been ordered by Circuit Court Judge William Beers to proceed immediately in a division of assets with the City of Novi—a legal decision which possibly will represent a turning-point in a lingering dispute between the two governments.

City Attorney Howard Bond informed City of Novi Council on Monday that Judge Beers had decided the case earlier the same day, less than a month after the city had filed a show-cause suit against the township demanding justification for delays in dividing assets since the two governments have been reorganized.

Attorney Emery Jacques, Jr., counsel for the township, had argued before Judge Beers that the statute requiring division of assets did not apply in the township-city case claiming that the township had an option for entering into the action.

Previous to the judge's decision, the township had been negotiating with city officials and offering the division of assets in return for fire protection, according to Supervisor Leo Kalota.

Bond explained that Judge Beers ruled the statute did apply and then, upon the city attorney's request, had ordered that the township proceed immediately. Bond observed that he did not expect an appeal on the decision.

"Howard, I propose trying to get together with them and if not, then getting together with our people and deciding our position and presenting it in court," Mayor Joseph Crupi explained.

The mayor, with occasional assistance from Councilman Denis Berry and under the counsel of Bond, has met with Kalota on the issue with a late September session resulting in an agreement by the township to allow the city to expand upon its use of the City-Township Hall. Mayor Crupi has emphasized that the city is anxious to resolve the division of assets so that it can either expand or relocate cramped administrative offices.

The mayor scheduled a meeting yesterday (Wednesday) with Berry and Fire Chief Fred Loynes in order to study the value of fire equipment.

According to Kalota, the city has offered to extend fire protection to the township at a cost of six-and-one-half mills. A mill is a dollar in taxes for every thousand dollars of assessed valuation.

New Wixom Official

Veteran tax official Robert E. Case assumed duties in the new position of assessor and assistant to the mayor in the City of Wixom on Monday following his appointment by Mayor Wesley McAtee. Case, 43 and a native of Battle Creek, formerly served as assessor for the City of Dearborn Heights and has worked in property tax assessment on state, county and local levels since his graduation from Michigan State University in 1956. He and his wife, Gwenn, have one son and four daughters and presently are residing in Dearborn Heights with plans of relocating in Wixom. Case had been at Dearborn Heights for five years.

Return to Hit Wixom Office

Back-Again Bandits Strike

The Wixom Credit Union has two regular patrons whose regularity is giving Manager Jim Price headaches.

The union, located on Wixom Road near I-96, was robbed about noon Tuesday by two armed bandits matching the descriptions identically of two armed bandits that robbed the Wixom Credit Union September 19 — less than a month ago.

According to Price, personnel at his office on Tuesday was the same as it was September 19 and the bandits apparently were the same two that got away with $4,500 in mid-September. The amount of money taken the second time around remains undetermined, the manager reported late Tuesday.

Wixom City Police Chief Thomas McGuire explained that the bandits — both Negroes and armed with black automatic pistols of an unknown caliber, used a similar method of operation fleeing the scene in a green 1967 Cadillac which State Police found abandoned later under the I-96 Wixom Road viaduct.

McGuire observed that the Cadillac had been stolen out of Detroit and that the bandits apparently switched cars under the viaduct while police were transmitting bulletins for area departments to be on the lookout for the 1967 model.

Detectives from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department were called to the scene to investigate for fingerprints on the abandoned car and the cash boxes which the thieves handled and left in the office.

The chief emphasized the difficulty in overcoming bandits after they strike at a location just a short distance from an expressway.

"By the time we get the call, they're already on the expressway and traveling at 70 miles-per-hour, they're out of the city in a couple of minutes and out of the area shortly thereafter," he explained.

Descriptions of the two men were that they both looked to be about 35 and were wearing black hats. One stood about five foot and had a ruddy complexion and thin mustache and was wearing a black jacket. The second man was about six foot tall, lighter complexioned with a full mustache and dark suede jacket.

The last time clerks at the office saw the pair, they were headed for the viaduct, McGuire reported.

In the previous holdup, employees noticed that the twosome were particularly nervous. Price, this time probably particularly nervous himself, observed that on Tuesday the bandits appeared more poised.

Some Days. . .

Holdups are indeed trying times for credit union managers and Jim Price proves to be the rule, rather than the exception. In fact things became so frustrating Tuesday for Jim Price, manager of the Wixom Credit Union, that he hastily scrawled a note announcing that his business was closed until the next day.

It seems that the credit union, victim of a pair of bandits on September 19, was held up again about noon Tuesday ... by the same pair. Amount of the loss was undetermined late Tuesday.

The bandits, reported as shakey during their first encounter at the office, this time operated in a more poised manner, a more-shaken Price observed afterwards.

Sewer Rates Appear Headed for Increase

Sewage disposal rates to the City of Novi apparently will be increased by nearly 50 percent beginning the first of the year, according to indications from Detroit Metropolitan Water Services.

Intentions of increasing the rate by 32½ cents per 1,000 cubic feet have been revealed by DMWS in a letter to the City of Detroit Common Council asking that the action be taken in order to finance pending improvements to treatment facilities.

The City of Novi, with Oakland County serving as its agent, presently receives sewage disposal services from the City of Detroit at 80-cents per 1,000 cubic feet. Presently averaging about 950,000 cubic feet per month, the new rate would increase costs by about $3,700 per year for the City of Novi.

Water services officials report that indications are that the Common Council will delay action on the proposal until after the early November election. Stipulations in several community contracts require notification of rate increases by as much as 90 days in advance and according to area administrators, such notices have been circulated apparently with the understanding that they could be amended if the council action delays or denies the proposal.

Novi is one of 52 suburban communities serviced by DMWS with the proposed rate increase designed to affect both suburbanites and residents of the city.

Local residents presently are charged 16-cents per 1,000 gallons with the proposed increase likely to hike their rates to 22½-cents per 1,000 gallons.

A letter dated September 16 was sent to the Common Council explaining that additional revenues are necessary for a bond issue proposed in making major improvements for "a real assault on the pollution program" within the next 15 months.

According to a DMWS spokesman, state and federal officials are pressing for improvements with threats of denying financial grants if a future review "does not show that we are proceeding expeditiously and with sincerity" on improvements. Originally, a November, 1970 deadline had been established for the improvements but previous delays have forced DMWS to request an extension.

The water services spokesman also explained that DMWS revealed in 1966 that rates would be increased throughout the system for the project adding that it was stated "the amount would depend on inflation and grant money available."

Further delays might jeopardize monies from grants, the spokesman emphasize, and might also cause project costs to be increased beyond present estimates by continuing inflation.

Vandalism Continues Heavy

After receiving an estimate of $1,440.84 to replace 30 broken windows at Cooke Annex and Main Street Elementary, Northville Public Schools reported more windows broken last week.

Fifteen windows of various sizes at Northville High School were broken with quarter inch steel shot, according to Northville police. Replacement value was estimated at $600. Windows in double doors in the gym area were broken with small ball bearings or .22 calibre shot. No replacement cost was estimated.

Northville Swim Club reported three windows broken by rocks the last week Thursday. Damage was also reported to window screens and an electrical meter.

Ralph Westervelt, 1044 Allen

Drive, reported the theft of his daughter's bike. The 1968 AMF blue bike without a license, has been missing since Friday.

Northville police investigated a complaint of vandalism last week Tuesday. Trash was placed on a porch at 901 Jeffrey Drive and set on fire. Minor damage was caused to the porch floor.

Cook's Standard station, 302 East Main Street, reported $360 was stolen from a cash register between 11 p.m. October 4 and 2:15 a.m. October 5.

There were no signs of forced entry.

Seven reports of property destruction were investigated by Northville police over the weekend.

Two cars parked in the VFW lot October 4 were damaged when paint was thrown on them.

Robert A. Batt, 535 Reed Street, reported yellow paint on the front end and windshield of his car, while Arthur E. Bisbee, Union Lake, said black paint was thrown on the back end and rear window of his car.

Marathon Service Station, 480 East Seven Mile Road, reported two windows broken in an overhead door October 5. No entry was gained to the building.

Eggs were reportedly thrown at homes. October 4, vandals threw eggs at a home and car at 765 Grace Street. October 5, eggs and tomatoes were thrown at a home, and lawn at 43714 Dorisa Court.

Damage was reported to a house at 311 East Main Street, October 5, when a car went over bumper blocks in the A&P parking lot and rolled into the house. No cost estimate for the damage was given.

A home at 1042 Canterbury was damaged October 4 when rocks were thrown at it.

An attempted larceny of a motorcycle was reported October 6 by John McGuire, 401 North Rogers Street. A young male was chased away three times when he tried to remove the bike.

COURT NEWS

Two men were each fined $53 on charges of drunkenness by Judge Dunbar Davis in 35th District Court last week Thursday.

James Edward Smith, Detroit, and Robert O. VanSickle, Novi, pled guilty to the charges. Van Sickle's fine was suspended by Judge Davis.

Michael E. Brazen, Detroit, paid a fine of $38 on charges of careless driving.

A Plymouth man, Merrill R. Williams, was fined $18 for allowing a minor to drive.

Local Man Wins Contest

Big Ten football teams took it on the chin last weekend and so did enthusiasts who entered the weekly football contest sponsored by The Record and cooperating merchants.

Two misses by John Hlohinec of 529 Randolph Street was the best entry, earning him the $10 first-place money. Taking second place with three mistakes was Thomas Lang of 225 North Ely.

In third place, also with three misses, was Norman Boerger of 220 Elm Street. Norm wasn't as close in guessing Detroit's 28-21 victory over Cleveland as was Tom.

Toughest matches to guess for entries in last week's contests included Iowa State over Illinois, Missouri over Michigan, Notre Dame over Michigan State, and Syracuse over Wisconsin.

Council Begins Plans for Land

Site preparations for future development at the City of Novi's newly-acquired three-and-one-half acre parcel on Grand River Avenue may begin yet this fall, according to indications at Monday's session of City Council.

Councilman Edwin Presnell proposed that City Attorney Howard Bond be directed to make a conditional possession arrangement to allow the city to begin clearing brush and balancing the land while the formal transaction for the $46,000 building and parcel is being completed.

Presnell emphasized that by burning back the brush, the city could begin preparing the land for future development. Mayor Joseph Crupi revealed that he had proceeded in acquiring the property - including a large ranch-type house - from Frank Hunt at 45700 Grand River Avenue, just west of Taft Road.

The mayor, in disclosing plans for the acquisition, explained that the area initially would be used for the Department of Public Works which presently has offices in the basement of the City-Township Hall and stores its equipment in a rented garage. He indicated that the offices would be located in the existing structure and also inserted "possibly other administrative offices" will be housed there.

Presnell on Monday informed the council that the residents have indicated their willingness to have the city begin clearing the property while the transaction is in the process of being finalized.

In other business Monday, the Mayor Crupi directed Councilman Denis Berry to act with Controller Francis Gow and Treasurer Geraldine Stipp in studying the possibility of purchasing new equipment in revising the administrative bookkeeping system, tabled action on bids for a new police car until next week with a recommendation requested from Chief Lee BeGole concerning a proposed trade-in on the vehicle and decided to refer a road drainage problem in the Walled Lake area to the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

The council also decided to have repairs estimated at $1,015 completed on one of its large DPW trucks by O'Green Ford Sales, Farmington, unanimously endorsed a new personnel policy and formally made the appointment of Dallas C. (Barney) Zonkers to succeed Harold Ackley as city manager.

Bills totaling $86,764.46 were also approved for payment.

Ackley presented the mayor with a report from Mrs. Gow and Mrs. Stipp stating that their departments would require additional help and overtime in order to complete winter tax billings. The two administrators explained that the city also had the alternatives of jobbing the work out or of purchasing special equipment which would expedite processing.

Ackley observed that it would take a private business approximately six months to program its equipment to handle the billings eliminating the possibility of jobbing the processing out because of the need to mail the statements in December. The mayor asked for a volunteer from the council "to spend a couple of days this week" with Mrs. Gow and Mrs. Stipp in reviewing equipment available.

"The tax department is something that is growing by leaps and bounds and I think we should do something at this time," Ackley observed. "I think we need a machine of this nature and December 15 (deadline for compiling taxes) is coming on pretty fast."

The lowest of three bids received for a new police car was $2,245.95 with trade-in by Colony Chrysler-Plymouth, Plymouth. But councilmen decided to table action on the bids until next week asking that BeGole be directed to report on the merits of retaining or trading in one car of the fleet against the purchase of the other.

Colony's bid on a Plymouth, was lowest - with or without trade-in - while John Mach Ford, Northville, and Shuman Ford, Walled Lake, also submitted bids.

Berry supported keeping the older car for use in the detective bureau while Councilman William Duey stated that maintenance and insurance might make the cost of operation for the car prohibitive on the basis of its need.

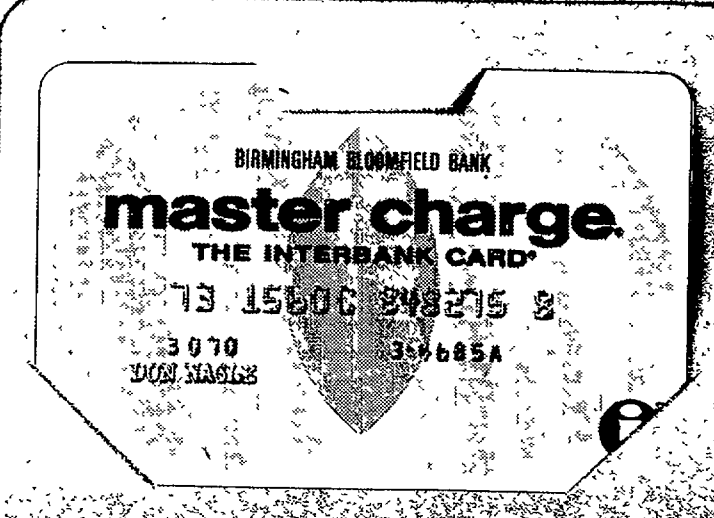

An appeal from a citizen for improved maintenance of Iva Street, near Novi Road in the Walled Lake area, was referred to the Oakland County DPW after councilmen agreed that drainage from Novi Road, under the control of the county, was creating the problem on Iva.

Estimates from O'Green and Shuman were also received for repairs on two large DPW trucks with the council deciding to have one overhauled by O'Green at a cost of $1,015. Mayor Crupi explained that one of the trucks would be needed to complement a new one under order for winter snow removal.

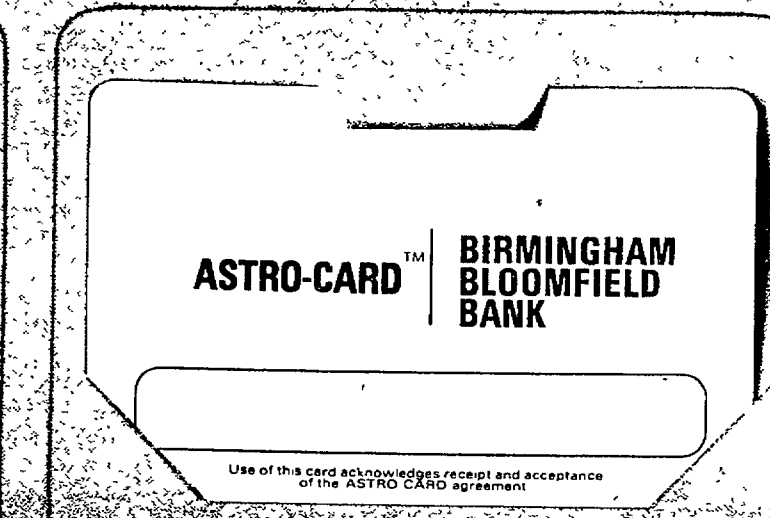

The mayor revealed a preference to purchase a second new truck but observed that delivery couldn't be made until after the snow season.

The council unanimously passed resolutions appointing Zonkers, who was present at the session, to replace Ackley who has been offered the position of assessor. Zonkers is expected to assume the duties of city manager in November but Ackley has not indicated if he'll become assessor.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Although it is already the target for criticism, I believe the report by the Governor's Commission on Educational Reform gets right to the heart of the problems plaguing Michigan's schools and offers reasonable and workable recommendations for improvement.

It is a bold report that singles out most of the trouble spots. It does not recommend a patchwork cure, but reshapes the total structure of the present system and fixes the responsibility for providing an equal opportunity for every child in Michigan to learn.

The report sets as its objective the "child benefit principle" and does not exclude the non-public school student.

I do not believe the report contains a single new idea; but it sets forth in writing, and officially, recommendations for educational reform in Michigan that have been given lip service by concerned citizens, educators and politicians for the past decade or more.

Now that the opportunity to take action has been set squarely on the line, we shall witness where sincerity and personal preference for status quo part.

Basic in the report is the recommendation that the responsibility for providing equal education opportunity in the elementary and secondary grades must rest with the state.

Under the present local-district property tax system, Michigan children are not given equal and adequate education opportunities. One would not have to look further than the local districts of Northville, Novi, Walled Lake and South Lyon to determine that educational opportunities vary sharply. And if comparisons with districts outside this area were made it would be discovered that our children are both better and worse off than others in Michigan.

Among the highlights of the educational reform report are the following:

- abolishment of the politically-composed state board of education along with the board-appointed state superintendent of public instruction with replacement by a state director of education appointed by the governor;

- elimination of intermediate school districts replaced by 10-15 regional education areas with responsibility for special education, vocational and technical education, bus service, centralized purchases, data processing, etc.

- further consolidation of local districts into larger K-12 districts;

- a uniform statewide property tax, replacing the local school district property tax, lower than the present average in the state and providing equitable distribution on a classroom unit basis;

- a concentrated effort to help pupils with learning problems in the early grades particularly in basic reading and arithmetic skills, the extent of which to be determined by an immediate statewide evaluation of the total state educational program;

- salary support for certified lay teachers of secular subjects in established non-public schools with a maximum allowance not to exceed two per cent of the total public school budget.

The report hints that an increase in the state income tax will be needed to provide adequate funds, but it does not specify this. It confines itself to providing funds for operation of schools and does not mention construction of buildings and provision of teaching tools and facilities.

Obviously, there are areas within the report that are open to debate, that are vague, that may be too narrow or too broad. But most important, the reform package offers property tax relief, a more equitable use of tax dollars, and a better opportunity for statewide equality of education.

That's a giant step.

It now remains for the state's citizens and their elected legislators to act on the recommendations and bring true reform to Michigan's educational system.

I've always suspected the stories released by the conservation department. Now I'm sure.

Some joker wrote in my hunting rules pamphlet that more deer are roaming our state today than in the "good old days." To make matters worse, he suggests my friends and I have a "sporting chance" of harvesting one of these white-tailed animals.

After 15 consecutive years of chasing these illusive critters with a bow and arrow, I think I can make at least one much more accurate prediction than the conservation department: 1970 will mark the 16th consecutive year in which this animal will escape unscathed.

The deer is the safest animal afoot when we invade the Northern woods. In fact, he has a better chance of bagging one of us than we him. Take Calvin Kern, for example (you take him 'cause we want no part of him). Cal spent the better part of one day last weekend building himself a castle of a blind in a cornfield near Hale, then settled back to await the deer.

The blind was so well camouflaged that even the farmer couldn't see it. Just about the time Cal began his normal afternoon siesta, one of those corn gobbling machines chewed up two rows of corn and his blind. For one horrible moment, just before glimpsing the frightened nimrod galloping into the woods, we figured he was seasoning the ensilage.

But back to the conservation department and its suspicious stories. Besides its rules book, the department recently passed along a tale about Frank Stebbins, the Iron County trapper who has a heart bigger than Androcles, the Roman slave who plucked a thorn from the swollen paw of a wild lion.

While checking his coyote trapline, Stebbins came upon a grouchy bear that, having managed to get a paw tangled up in a trap, was anxious to express his gratitude. Not wanting to shoot the animal nor wishing to accept a clawshake, Stebbins decided upon a bold experiment.

Armed only with a five-foot branch, the trapper approached the bear, now thrashing about in anger because his foot was smarting something fierce, and began scratching the animal behind the ears with the tip of the branch.

The conservationist swears the bear became completely docile when stroked with the branch. In fact, the bear rolled over on its back and covered its eyes with its front paws, enabling Stebbins to unfasten the trap. Freed, the bear ran about 40 yards, stopped, growled its thanks, and then disappeared into the woods.

The same department that said there are deer roaming through Michigan and that predicted my friends and I had a "sporting chance" of bagging a whitetail this season, also passed along that story of the Michigan Androcles. Need I say more?

Speaking for Myself

Should Drinking Age be Cut?

YES...

It wasn't long ago that I turned 21 and graduated from the "spot nose kid" complex into the adult syndrome. And marvey-do, I did it without a drop of alcohol. All the fun was gone — it was now legal for me to drink.

I spent the first 20 years of my life in Wisconsin where the legal age for beer is 18. Weekends, the bars were full of "foreigners" from surrounding 21-year-old states. Unfortunately, many of the kids made the long drive home in a coffin.

Serving beer and liquor to 18-year-olds legally in Michigan would cut down on the number of accidents between here and Toledo. Traveling two blocks home is much safer than traveling home from a bar an hour's drive or more away.

The kids are going to drink, whether it's legal or not. There will be a way for them to get liquor, don't fool yourself. And anything is easier to control once it's legal.

Wouldn't you rather have your teenagers drinking at or near home rather than in a neighboring state or in a car parked in a cornfield?

Sally Anne Burke

NO...

"How can you support the lowering of the voting age on the one hand while opposing the lowering of the drinking age on the other?" I am asked. "If 18-year-olds are old enough to vote certainly they are old enough to drink."

Logically, perhaps, my conflicting views cannot be defended. But equally indefensible is the somewhat paralleling view that because an unmarried, teenage girl is biologically able to conceive a child she ought to be able to have babies at her pleasure without raising society's eyebrows.

I am simply of the illogical, old-fashioned school that, rightly or wrongly, believes drinking ought to remain taboo for those under the age of 21. And none of those phony arguments that "18-year-olds are going to get their booze one way or another anyway" will convince me to change my mind. I am just not ready to accept the pessimist's view that the only way to stop crime is to legalize it.

Furthermore, that our neighboring states have blundered in permitting 18-year-olds to drink doesn't mean we must compound stupidity by duplication. Adam did that awhile back and has been covering up for his mistake ever since.

'Sick City', Reporting Disturbs Him

To the Editor:

After much thought and deliberation I feel compelled to write to you for a number of reasons. Probably the greatest single reason is my deep concern for the "sickness" that is engulfing Northville — the sickness of dissension, distrust and controversy, not only between citizens and government, but between Northville government and our neighbors.

Even though we have been acquainted for a relatively short time, I believe you are a dedicated and fair-minded person who must share my concern. That is why I am taking the liberty of writing you to express my views, frankly and openly.

I have never attempted to rebut your "Brutus" editorial on the eve of our election last April although it was unfair and unwarranted. The questions asked by the Record to provide you with material were also unfair and, since the election, irrelevant. Statements from my responses to the questions were taken out of context and distorted by your personal opinions but I accept that this is your editorial privilege. I believed then, and still do today, I would have served Northville well as a Councilman by providing stability and leadership to help alleviate the unrest that is so prevalent today. I'm sorry you didn't feel the same way but I bear no grudge.

Another reason for my writing is to explain my activity regarding the Shell Oil Company and Marathon Oil Company requests to build gasoline filling stations in Northville.

At a Zoning Board of Appeals meeting several weeks ago I supported the Shell request for permission to build a gasoline filling station on the Bel-Nor property. Unanimous approval, with some easy-to-live-with restrictions, was given by the Board to Shell. No accounting of this has appeared in your paper.

The Marathon Oil Company issue, however, was a different story. As you will recall, at a public hearing on Tuesday, April 23, 1968 the City Planning Commission unanimously voted to deny the rezoning request by Marathon Oil Company to permit a gasoline filling station at the intersection of Allen Drive and Novi Road. After the opinion by our City Attorney gave them the "right," Marathon appealed to the City Council. Following much discussion, including offers to compromise, a suggestion that the City Council might decline the Marathon request if the Northville Civic Association would absorb the litigation costs and furnish our attorney (this asinine suggestion was declined at a closed meeting between the Council and Directors of the Northville Civic Association), suggestions for concessions by Marathon that were asked for by the Association attorney, etc., the City Council approved the rezoning request. When the issue came before the Zoning Board of Appeals as required by the Zoning Ordinance, eight of the nine members were present. The vote was four ayes and four nays so the request was denied. The City Council is now in the position of (1) overruling the decision of another City Commission by refusing to contest the inevitable court action or (2) acknowledging a mistake and doing everything possible to win the case.

I opposed the Marathon request from the beginning, representing the Northville Civic Association before the City Planning Commission and assisting the attorney before the City Council. My reasons were very simple — many, many people, and not only those living close to the proposed site, just didn't want a gasoline filling station at that location and repeatedly prevailed on me to oppose it in every way possible. This I did, not because I necessarily agreed with them, but because I felt an obligation to the people. While opposing the rezoning I made recommendations for use of the property, a use that would be more beneficial to the total citizenry.

Recognizing that (1) the concept of good planning today is to provide a buffer such as multiple dwellings between heavy traffic generators (Novi Road) or commercial development (Novi Township) and residential areas and (2) the city-owned well-site property is, by itself, a white elephant, I proposed:

Rezoned the property now owned by Marathon Oil Company (C2 at that time) to R3.

Offer the well-site property for sale to be developed as R3 zoning.

Because the city owns the property and can impose any reasonable restrictions as a condition of sale, purchase rights would be given to the buyer with the most acceptable site plan.

Encourage the purchaser of the well-site property to also purchase the Marathon parcel. This would not have been difficult because the two parcels together provide an excellent building site with much natural landscaping beauty. Units would begin at Allen Drive and extend along Novi Road, across the stream to the southern border of the well-site property.

With control of the type of development (possibly similar to Fairbrook Apartments), the total result would be a much greater tax base than can possibly be realized with the now contemplated development plans and without adding substantially to the school burdens. All of the citizens would benefit and the development would be palatable to abutting property owners.

Because Marathon is now the owner of the key piece of property, implementing this plan would be very difficult but I'm surprised none of these facts ever found their way into newsprint.

I just wanted to get some things off my chest and I hope you accept them in the spirit they are intended. It would be wonderful to sit down together and discuss our individual views on current issues because I believe that reasonable men, equally informed, seldom disagree.

Have People, Need Funds

To the Editor:

Thank you so much for your beautiful news story on the Foster Grandparent Program. We very much appreciate your interest in the program, and with such good publicity we feel certain of community support.

Because of your coverage, we have received many inquiries, and several more applicants who would like to become a part of the Plymouth State Home Foster Grandparent Program. Hopefully, the government will see fit to endorse the expansion of the project with adequate funds to acknowledge these applicants and thus increase our amount of Grandparents to a total of 50.

So many children are in need of a special friend and visitor, and so many seniors are in need of a "reason for being." We are obviously not wanting for program participants — young or old. Our cry is a funding increase, enabling these potential candidates to join the program, and we can only make known our needs and wants by telling the Foster Grandparents story over and over again.

We thank you for your support and your time spent viewing the program, filming it and writing about it.

Shoe Repair Dying

Orlo Owen) vacated upstairs quarters and Revitzer moved up and in. Six years later he moved directly across Main Street and into the building where his shop still is operated.

Just like the hitching post that stood outside his shop, shoe repairing is fast disappearing. It is estimated that in the past half-dozen years more than 4,000 shops have closed in Michigan alone. The remaining shops in Western Wayne County can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

"It's just cheaper to buy a new pair of shoes than to have the old ones repaired," admits Revitzer. "Old-fashion piece work can't compete."

Some large department stores and shopping centers are opening shoe repair shops, he explains, but "they're doing it only as a service for customers who buy other things. It's not profitable even for them."

Revitzer is able to keep going only because so many other shops have closed. "They come here to my place from all over just because there isn't many places left to go. As a result I've got more work than I had years ago. Old customers come in, people I've known for years, and they remember the old days and the old prices."

Sometimes I'll do their work and lose money just because we are friends and they've done business with me for years. But you can't do that forever and expect to keep the business going."

Aside from economics, the demise of shoe repair shops results in part from the changes in shoe construction. For example, more and more shoes are being made of artificial leather — materials that make manufacture of shoes relatively inexpensive but that make repair next to impossible, Revitzer explains. About 70 percent of women's shoes are made of plastic material today, he estimates.

Despite the revolutionary changes in shoe construction, development of new mechanical techniques in repair, and the passage of time, Revitzer's shop still smells and looks much the same as it did when it first opened. Rows of shoes line the shelves, raw leather hides are piled like newspapers beneath a bench, and the same bank of buffers and grinders that greeted patrons more than 40 years ago still spin out work and memories.

Even Revitzer's hand tools, a craftsman's link to the past, still occupy a shelf. "I seldom use them anymore," says the repairman who made his own first pair of shoes, "but I just like to have them around. They make me feel good."

CBD-CBP

shops and dry-cleaning establishments. These businesses exist now as non-conforming uses.

Included in the compromise is the stipulation that those business properties slated for CBP classification must be purchased by the city at a "fair" price if their owners put these properties on the market. If the city is unable to purchase them, the zoning is to revert to its original classification so as not to jeopardize continuation or expansion of those businesses. Even under the new CBP zoning, however, existing businesses may continue to operate as non-conforming uses.

According to councilmen the CBP compromise satisfies totally the recommendations made two weeks ago by the City Parking Committee. The CBP district along East Cady (excluding the Spinning Wheel) could contain the double-deck parking structures recommended by the committee.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff has explained that parts of the C-2 district could later be rezoned either CBP or CBD. Councilmen, at work sessions, had concluded that it is premature to zone it to CBP at this time because the council has not yet decided whether some properties should be set aside for parking or business and because the city does not have sufficient monies to purchase these properties for parking, he said.

Basically, the council concluded that it would be unfair to owners to rezone existing properties until the city is prepared to purchase them for parking, Ollendorff explained. So what the compromise does, he added, is to delay rezoning as recommended by the planning commission. It does not rule out rezoning in the future.

Approved unanimously was the temporary transfer of $20,000 from the city's general fund to the water fund to pay bonds due for the water tower and related water facilities.

Old Library's Life Not in Jeopardy

Sit tight, don't worry, there's no plans afoot to tear down or move the old library building (now the township hall) on Wing Street.

That basically was Mayor A. M. Allen's response to concerns expressed Monday night by Mrs. William Cansfield, president of the Northville Historical Society, over the disposition of the building under the proposed CBD-CBP plan.

Following remarks by Mrs. Cansfield, the Society presented petitions containing hundreds of signatures of city and township residents—including children — urging preservation of the 125-year-old building on its present site as a community museum.

When and if plans for the property are proposed, the Society will be the first to be notified, the mayor asserted. Should it be determined later that the property should be included in some commercial development, Allen said, "I'm sure the community is big enough to work out an arrangement to preserve it."

It was noted that disposition of the building and property rests with both the city and the township since they own it jointly.

Plan Census by Mail

The 1969 census of agriculture will be conducted entirely by mail with no census takers involved, Nick Smith, Chairman of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said today.

Swimming Resumes

Northville's community open swimming program has begun and will continue through the school year with the high school pool open from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday nights and from 1 to 3 p.m. Saturdays, the Northville Board of Education announces.

Admission is 50 cents for students and 75 cents for adults. Everyone using the pool must bring his own suit and towel and all females must wear a bathing cap, according to Ben Lauber, swimming instructor, and Earl Busard, school business manager.

Children under eight years old should be accompanied by an adult.

The program is scheduled to continue through June, closing only on holidays and evenings scheduled for home basketball games.

Bradner to Retire

formation of a new community college district intended to serve an area of 125,000 people. He was appointed president of the college in January, 1962, shortly after he had directed a successful campaign for the formation of the College District.

He spent the first three years of his assignment planning, assembling a staff, and guiding the building of the campus. The college opened its doors in August, 1964, with an enrollment of 2,018 students, a full-time faculty of 42, and with three buildings completed.

During its fourth year of operation, in March, 1968, the college was admitted to full membership in the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools as an accredited community college.

This fall Schoolcraft admitted more than 5,500 students, had a full-time faculty of nearly 150, and its campus had grown to eight buildings, with a ninth nearing completion, and a tenth on the planning boards.

The son of a Methodist minister who headed west from his native Michigan, Dr. Bradner was born in California. After completing secondary school in California, he attended Occidental College and received a B.A. degree in 1928. He received an M.A. degree in Western American History from Northwestern University in 1932, and was awarded the Ph. D. degree from that institution in 1942. Post doctoral work in college administration has included study at the University of Southern California and Stanford University.

Dr. Bradner began his teaching career at Macomb, Illinois, High School in February, 1933, after one year as reference librarian at the Newberry Library, a large historical library in Chicago. In 1936 he moved to Harvey, Illinois, to teach in the Thornton Township High School. In 1939 his work was divided between teaching in the high school and in the junior college in that community.

Two years later he became purchasing agent for both institutions, an assignment which involved purchasing of educational supplies and management of stores for a high school and a junior college of approximately 3,800 students. During this time, Dr. Bradner taught history in the junior college on a part-time basis.

COMMENTS & RECOMMENDATIONS

The school board is an American invention. It is practically unknown overseas and where it does exist it is powerless to act.

In Michigan your Board of Education plays an important role in providing the community with better education. As a nation of "equal opportunity" we have not yet fulfilled the promise of our founding fathers. There is a great need to extend truly adequate financing to all school districts so that the quality of the educational programs can be assured.

But financial support alone is not enough! We must also have:

1. A school board composed of intelligent, honest, devoted citizens who understand their function.
2. Excellent leadership in all schools.
3. Quality teachers - teachers who are experts in their own field.
4. A community that places education high on their list of needs and places proper emphasis on all phases of the school system.

With our continued rapid growth in the Novi District we must look to the future and:

1. Obtain adequate sites for future school buildings.
2. Plan and construct - 1 Middle School and 1 - Elementary School within the next two or three years.
3. Continue study and evaluation of the curriculum and make changes that may be necessary to bring the system up to date.
4. Obtain adequate financial support to provide staff specialists in needed areas.
5. Improve classroom instruction.
6. Continue the orderly expansion of the Novi Community School District.

Baldwin moved to recess the meeting for five minutes, supported by Lawrence. Ayes: All. Meeting recessed at 9:10 and re-opened at 9:15.

Baldwin then said he had contacted Mr. Klein who asked that his name be withdrawn from further consideration for the appointment. Stromberg proposed that since Mr. Klein had withdrawn, the whole board might vote for Mr. Wm. P. Smith, Jr. Baldwin moved that the board unanimously appoint Smith to the office of trustee to fill the vacancy created by Armstrong's resignation on August 12, 1969. This term continues until the 1970 election. Seconded by Lawrence. Ayes: All.

Mr. Smith will be sworn in at the October 14 meeting of the board.

Mr. Ashton commented that the board would now need to make arrangements to appoint a new member to succeed Mr. Smith on the planning commission. He also explained that in reference to the upcoming election on December 8 only property owners or their spouses can be allowed to vote on the millage proposition; however, all registered voters may vote on the rezoning referendum.

Lawrence moved to adjourn at 9:30 p.m., supported by Straub. Ayes: All.

Powerful Champs Batter Mustangs

Mustang hopes of upsetting defending Wayne-Oakland League football champions West Bloomfield went up in a cloud of dust Friday — a huge cloud of dust caused by a brutal running game which demolished Coach Al Klukach's squad, 40-14.

Playing away from home for the first time this season and on the heels of an impressive performance the previous week,

Win First of Season, 34-14

Jayvees Stun St. Thomas

The Little Mustangs exploded for 20 points in the first period and added two more touchdowns during the remainder of the first half in coasting to a 34-14 victory over the Ann Arbor St. Thomas jayvees last week Tuesday. The local jayvees are now 1-2 for the season.

Scoring to conclude its first three drives, the Little Mustangs played reserves throughout the last three quarters with Coach Pete Johnson reportedly impressed with the general performance of the team.

Next game for the Little Mustangs the Mustangs on Friday were unable to launch a successful drive until late in the third period after trailing 32-0.

Laker Coach Art Paddy's unit, meanwhile, ground out 323 yards offensively in breezing to its third conference victory without a loss this season. Northville is now 1-2 in the W-O and 1-3 overall and travels to Bloomfield Hills Andover this Friday afternoon to play the undefeated Barons.

Game time will be 3:30 p.m.

The Lakers, running counters with ease off both tackles throughout the contest, marched in to score on its first drive and added two more touchdowns in the first half to claim a 24-0 lead at intermission with just about everything decided but closing time.

The home team rushed for 198 yards in the first two periods as compared to the Mustangs' 41 which was supplemented only slightly by seven yards gained on the ground. And the visitors' passing game in the second period went out of order with Quarterback Rich Adams, too often forced to throw the bomb, connecting on only one of eight — and that one a misfire into the hands of a West Bloomfield defender.

But ironically it was the passing game that gave the Mustangs their brief moments of success in the last half with Adams combining with Co-Captain Terry Mills for short scores in drives that featured successful aeriels' at crucial points.

The Lakers rambled on its first series from their own 49 in to score in 10 plays with junior Halfback John Hugulet crashing over from the one. Quarterback Bill Bullock then passed to Halfback Randy BeVier for the two-point conversion.

West Bloomfield regained possession with about three minutes to play in the first stanza after the Mustangs' second drive lasted only four plays. Hugulet gained a majority of the yards in the 70-yard drive although it was sophomore Dave Carey scoring — the first of two TD's for the underclassmen — on a 10-yard scamper. Bullock ran the two-point conversion himself.

The Lakers began their final scoring drive of the first half with 5:51 to play on the Mustang 47. Four plays later Carey busted over from the five and Bullock passed to End Glen VanGorder for the extra two points.

The Mustangs failed to move the ball inside the West Bloomfield 40 during the first two periods.

An interception by Halfback Dan Corcoran halted the Lakers' initial drive of the second half but then minutes later the home team took possession of a partially-blocked Dave Coe punt on the Northville 30. A short dive by Carey and a face-mask violation against the Mustangs took the ball down to the 12 where two plays later Halfback Kim Woodruff scored off an inside reverse from the nine. Junior Halfback John Sopko ran for the two-point conversion.

The Mustangs' scoring drive began with the ensuing kickoff and climaxed after 10 plays with Adams tossing to Mills to score with 2:21 remaining in the third stanza. Adams then passed to End Fred Holdsworth for the two points.

Adams connected on short aeriels during the drive to both Mills and Coe and Corcoran also contributed some valuable short yardage inside the 10.

The Lakers' final scoring effort began midway through the last period on their own 45 and required 10 plays before Sopko found daylight on a dive from 32 yards out. BeVier ran for the points after.

The Mustangs then proceeded to rally for the long night's final drive following the ensuing kickoff. Coe, a workhorse rushing for the visitors throughout the game and impressive when he was given room in which to operate, ran for 10 yards on a slant off tackle on the first play and then came back and rushed for 10 more taking the ball to the Laker 35.

Two plays later Adams passed complete to End Bernie Bach for 17 yards and then hit Holdsworth for eight punting the ball on the West Bloomfield eight. Coe took a pitch and swept to the five and then Adams tossed to Mills with the little halfback hauling the ball in one-handed for the score. Adams' pass for the conversion was incomplete.

Mustang End Fred Holdsworth (dark jersey) and West Bloomfield defender Dave Carey move to a pass thrown by Quarterback Rich Adams in the third period of Friday's contest. Holdsworth caught the pass, one of several thrown in the Mustang's first drive for a touchdown, but West Bloomfield won the contest, 40-14. Coach Al Klukach's squad travels to Bloomfield Hills Andover this Friday to play the undefeated Barons in an afternoon contest to begin at 3:30 p.m.

Bedford Leads Way As Harriers Win 5th

Mustang Paul Bedford turned in his best performance of the season last Thursday leading Coach Ben Lauber's cross country team to a 18-43 decision over Waterford Mott. The harriers, entering the week with a 5-1 dual meet record, will run on Saturday in the Clarenceville Invitational after having competed against Bloomfield Hills Andover here on Tuesday.

Bedford posted a 10.38 against

Mott on Thursday while teammate Rick Bell was second with his 10.40. David Wright, Guy Dixon and Phil Guider were fourth through sixth, respectively, while Wayne Enders was eighth and Paul Boerger ninth.

In other competition last week, the Mustang harriers defeated Lutheran West, 23-34, on Tuesday. Bedford and Bell also led the unit against West finishing second and third, respectively.

'Cats Resume Season In Pink With Blues?

Wildcat Head Football Coach John Osborne isn't sure whether a break in the middle of your schedule is a good thing or not. And he probably won't know for sure until the results are posted Friday after his team travels to Whitford to resume the 1969 season.

"We didn't have a particular good week in practice last week," Osborne observes on one hand

top 'Cat

WILDCAT JUNIOR lineman Tom VanWagner has been designated by Coach John Osborne's staff as the outstanding performer from the Chelsea game September 26 — the last outing for the team which is now 1-2 for the season. VanWagner excelled both offensively and defensively in the contest, Osborne explains, and he has also led the team in practices this week in preparation for resuming its schedule at Whitford.

MUSTANG CO-CAPTAIN Terry Mills has been selected Mustanger following his performance in last Friday's game against West Bloomfield. Mills, a senior tailback, accounted for the Mustangs' two touchdowns in the contest on passes from Quarterback Rich Adams.

noting that the Wildcats "didn't have anything to point to on Friday."

And on the other hand he explains: "But the break came at the right time for many of our players who were hobbled with injuries."

But the obvious fear is that the team, rested and in good health, may be flat coming off of an idle Friday and this week's opponent seems capable of playing pretty good football regardless under the direction of its exceptional quarterback.

"We know that Whitford has a good football background," Osborne reports. "We were able to watch them last Friday and they looked to be well-coached and poised."

Off and Rushing

Despite the fact that the Ferris State Bulldogs have been less than impressive in their first three games, Northville's Mike Zayti — a second-season regular as a halfback in his junior year — personally has been providing some superb performances for Coach Bob Leach. In the season-opener September 27 at Wayne State, Zayti smashed the Bulldogs' single-game rushing mark with 31 attempts for 135 yards. And then the following week against Illinois State, he ran 18 times for 58 yards. The Bulldogs this Saturday play at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

MUSTANG DEFENDERS Brian Myers (52) and Tom Hutcherson pursue West Bloomfield Quarterback Bill Bullock during the first half of Friday's game there. The Lakers and Bloomfield Hills Andover, the Mustangs' opponent this Friday, remained undefeated and tied for the lead in the Wayne-Oakland League.

Last Shot at Contender

Mustangs Head for Hills And Second Unbeaten Foe

The Bloomfield Hills Andover game every other year is a little bit different for Coach Al Klukach's Mustangs in that its an afternoon affair when hosted by the Barons. And this season's encounter, slated by Bloomfield Hills on Friday, is different for another reason in as much as the Barons are undefeated and represent one of the few remaining opportunities for the Mustangs, now 1-2 in the Wayne-Oakland League, to influence the conference race in their new role of spoiler.

The contest begins at 3:30 p.m. and a victory necessary in order for the Mustangs to keep hopes alive for a better-than-.500 season. And Andover needs the decision itself to remain in contention with West Bloomfield for the W-O title.

Coach Bob Kefgen's Barons, unscored upon until Milford chalked up eight points last Friday, are 4-0 overall and 3-0 in the league although they have both Clarenceville and West Bloomfield remaining on their schedule.

Klukach and his squad, meanwhile, will begin the weaker portion of their schedule following the Andover contest with games slated with Clarkston, Brighton and Kettering—the three of which have only two wins amongst them.

And so if the Mustangs are going to beat any of the big names it has to be the Barons. Milford, upset by the local team, 12-8, on September 26, apparently has dropped from with

contention for the title after falling last week to Andover, 24-8.

But coming off their crushing setback at West Bloomfield only to battle another W-O power is anything but enviable circumstances.

"They'll probably play better defense than we've seen so far this season," Klukach reports concerning Andover. "They run a pretty much balanced offense—run and pass."

"Physically we came off the West Bloomfield game okay," the coach adds. "But I think it was just a case of them coming to play and us not."

And of course Klukach's staff have been attempting to make the psychological repairs necessary following the emphatic loss which came on the heels of an inspiring victory over Milford.

Four Semesters Split Vacations

Some Northville students could be enjoying their school vacation on the ski slopes rather than the beach if the year-round school plan is adopted.

The plan chosen by the Northville Year-Round School Study Committee as best meeting the needs of this community is the quadrimester plan. This plan would divide the school year into four equal quarters of 60 days each, rather than the current two semesters of about 90 days each.

Under the quadrimester plan each student would attend three quarters each year and vacation during one quarter. To realize the benefits of this arrangement, 75 percent of the student body would have to be in school during each quarter.

The Study Committee felt the four quarter plan had advantages over any of the other half dozen plans studied with the objectives of Northville schools in mind.

Northville needed a plan which would provide more classroom space at less cost, while it would also be possible to continue or improve the present curriculum.

Park Honors James Cash

A Novi man was among 71 employees who were presented service pins recently by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

James Cash, who lives at 56555 Eleven Mile Road, was presented an award for 22 years of service with HCMA. He is the fleet equipment superintendent at nearby Kensington Metropolitan Park.

Several others from this area were similarly commended for service. They included:

Matthew Schlitters of South Lyon, Jack Boldt of Walled Lake, Lewis Underhill of New Hudson, and three Brighton residents, Frank E. Campbell, Cecil F. Fisher and William Oakley.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS TO YOU

"QOTE 560 K"
Sunday 9:45 A.M.
HOW EXPANSIVE IS YOUR LOVE?

Advantages of the quadrimester plan include savings in future investment in school facilities and the possibility of more flexible and extensive curriculum offerings. The plan will also provide a greater opportunity for students to obtain vacation employment and full year employment for the teachers.

The Study Committee found the quadrimester plan could be put into operation more easily than any of the other plans studied.

Balanced against these advantages is public opposition to staggered vacations for students, problems created for extra-curricular activities and a necessary adjustment in the school's maintenance program.

The most difficult of the disadvantages to overcome would be the possible opposition from parents and students to a vacation plan which would require a fourth of the students to be on vacation each quarter of the year.

"In order for the plan to be workable, it must have community acceptance and support," Raymond Spear, Northville school superintendent said.

It would also require the assistance and cooperation of business, industry and community agencies as well as the faculty and staff of the school system, he said.

The biggest job the Study Committee has is making it possible for all these groups to weigh the implications of year-round school, according to Spear.

"We have no intention of trying to sell this plan to the community. However, we do want to give everyone the opportunity to evaluate the merits of this plan and to be aware of its shortcomings," Spear continued.

REP. WILLIAM HAMPTON GOP Leader To Speak Here

Representative William Hampton, House minority floor leader, will be the featured speaker at the October meeting of the Greater Northville Republican Club, officials announced this week.

A likely candidate for Lieutenant Governor, Representative Hampton holds the number two Republican leadership position in the state House of Representatives. He is in his fifth year in the House.

Club officials said the guest speaker is expected to discuss legislative matters — past and present, including some of the recommendations of the Governor's Commission on Educational Reform.

Because of widespread interest in Representative Hampton and his topic, the Greater Northville Republican Club urges all area Republicans to attend.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. on Thursday, October 16 at the Northville Township Hall on Wing Street.

Intern Continues Study

John A. Swallow, teacher of industrial education at Hawthorn Center, has recently entered into the second phase of the Leadership Development Program for Administration of Vocational and Technical Education.

This program was started several years ago by the University of Michigan in cooperation with the State Department of Education in response to the growing need for qualified persons to fill administrative positions in vocational and technical education. The program provides for the identification, selection, and development of persons with high potential for leadership roles in the administration of local programs of vocational and technical education.

Swallow, one of 20 Michigan teachers and administrators selected from 193 nominees, began his internship with the opening of school this fall.

During his internship, Swallow will be engaged in a variety of experiences in Northville. The purpose of the internship is to help him acquire a knowledge of his own school and the community and to provide experiences in various leadership roles under supervision.

The program is structured so as to provide the intern with some administrative responsibilities and to enable him to benefit from association with experienced administrators. It is hoped that the intern will gain insight into the power structure of the community and that it will provide an experience from which the intern can assess his strong and weak points. The internship program is also designed so as to give the intern visibility in the community and to assist him in gaining professional stature in the local school system.

College Slates Seminars To Mark War Moratorium

Schoolcraft Community College has scheduled seminars, a memorial service and a workshop in support of the October 15 moratorium.

The activities at Schoolcraft are part of a nationwide moratorium designed to show support of ending the Vietnam war.

Angelo Chinni, philosophy instructor at Schoolcraft and spokesman for the moratorium, said

"It is really marvelous how the moratorium is taking shape. Many people have talked about the Vietnam war, but now they have a chance to do something about it and they are."

Faculty members will hold seminars from 8 a.m. to noon October 15. Topics, discussion leaders and the place may be obtained from the college. At press time, details were not available.

Memorial service and a rally will be held at 1 p.m. on the Schoolcraft mall. Student groups supporting the service and rally include the Student Senate, Masque Players, Pax, Student Activities Board, Newman Student Association and the New Veterans' Coalition.

Workshop for peace has been set for 8 p.m. Mark Ethridge, Jr., editor of the Detroit Free Press, will be the featured speaker. At the workshops people will also be asked to act for peace.

Sign up lists for the November 15 march on Washington will be available. Anyone interested in circulating petitions is urged to attend the workshop.

All the activities planned at Schoolcraft College are open to the public without charge.

The organization of the moratorium observance at Schoolcraft has been a cooperative effort among the faculty members and the student body.

Planners Approve Chatham Site Plan

Site plans for the proposed Chatham Market were approved by the Northville Planning Commission Tuesday night at an unusual public hearing.

The hearing, normally reserved for zoning matters, was held on the site plan because of the wide interest in the development slated for the west side of Center Street, near Rayson. Few citizens attended, however.

Plans call for a building area of 21,000 square feet, with a parking area of 94,452 square feet in the front and two sides of the proposed concrete and brick structure.

The facility will include a deceleration lane along Center, with two entrances and egresses off of Center. Also stretching across the front of the property, just inside a re-routed sidewalk, will be a planting berm. Six-foot high brick and concrete retaining and screening fences are planned along both sides of the facility, with an eight-foot brick and concrete screen wall along the rear of the property. Only the residential side of these fences will be bricked.

Lone objection of a citizen came from Leonard Bogotaitis, who, as on previous occasions, attacked establishment of the commercial development in a residential area. His remarks were not aimed at the site plan itself.

Concern was voiced by both the audience and the commission over the proposed roof top condenser unit, part of an interior air conditioning system. Chatham representatives said the roof top unit would be attractively shielded and that the noise level created by the unit would be no greater than the street noise.

One of the unique features of the plan is the provision for lighting of the parking lot. Mercury vapor lamps are to be mounted along the interior of the screening walls with beams pointed inward so as not to disturb adjacent residential properties. Shorter than normal (24-foot) light poles with shaded lamps are planned in the interior of the lot.

In other business, the commission approved the design of a canopy erected over the rear entrance to Spagy's Grocery.

The commission also elected Thomas Wheaton chairman of the commission, succeeding William B. Heffner, Jr., who resigned effective October 1 because of his business transfer to Milwaukee. The council has not yet acted on the resignation, nor has it selected a replacement.

ANTIQUES IN THEIR ORIGINAL SETTING

Live drama is a thing of the past on television. "On the spot" drama died with Studio One about 15 years ago and never will be revived, except for an infrequent special. The reason: Why do it live, sweat over hot cameras and risk a slip-up when the show can be taped, reviewed and edited to a sharp hone?

So what ABC is doing with its "Premiere Series" is perfectly natural. Every Tuesday night a different cast gets top billing in a 90-minute movie.

The form is hardly new. What is new and refreshing, however, are the plots, which for two weeks running have combined imagination with good dramatic sense. The result has been some spanking good drama.

The first movie-drama focused on a group of blind persons en route to South America for a special conference. Their plane crashes in a mountainous area, with only the blind passengers surviving.

Among the survivors, all members of a therapeutic group, are an insecure doctor, a husband and his pregnant wife, a veteran of the Vietnam war who turned and ran in battle, a skittish girl guitarist and singer, an attractive woman and her domineering father, and an embittered middle-aged man.

Only in unity can they survive the elements and find their way out of the wilderness before a gathering winter storm hits. Under duress, however, true personalities surface and threaten to tear the group apart as they grope in darkness.

You are invited to attend a Dedication and Groundbreaking ceremony for additional Sunday School facilities Sunday, October 12, 1969 at three o'clock in the afternoon at the Salem Congregational Church, 7961 Dickerson Street, Salem, Michigan. Offering received for proposed building. Refreshments will follow the service. Please consider this as your invitation to share in this occasion.

Last week's drama, as futuristic as "if" was imaginative, had the same ostensible objective - that of baring human emotions and personalities under abnormal circumstances. And the one ingredient that pervaded "The Immortal" was man's cupidity.

The story revolved around a man who possessed blood containing antibodies that enable him to fight off all diseases and make him eternally youthful. The miracle of his blood is discovered when he unwittingly donates blood that is transfused to an extremely selfish and powerful millionaire.

Played by Barry Sullivan, the aging millionaire pulls out all stops to capture and hold the donor. He is thrown into a comfortable cell, complete with modern conveniences and is guarded closely. But the unusual donor escapes and the manhunt begins.

What the movie had to say about man and his present obsession with youthful appearance and life is just as engaging as the drama itself. The movie clearly states that man will do anything to retain his youthfulness, not only the man who is excessively greedy, but also those more humane and closest to us.

Pioneer Day Sunday

Old Farm, Past Culture Revived In Unique Waterloo Museum

The tall, willowy woman with grey flecking her hair sat in the ancient rocker while a small, electric heater threw off the only heat within the dining room. She was talking of the thing, which, under her devoted leadership, had been nurtured to life - The Farm Museum.

"We didn't want to have just a collection of things," said Mrs. Sidney (Hatty) Beckwith, a long-time resident of nearby Stockbridge and the founder of the Waterloo Historical Society which created and supports the museum.

"We wanted to put everything into context to tell the story of a forgotten culture. We wanted to make the museum speak, so young people could learn what life on an old farm was like and old people could relive their memories."

The Farm Museum does exactly that - brings life to a Michigan Farm as it was in the 1800's. It hasn't been easy. Long hours donated by volunteers have been spent restoring the old, Victorian home and digging up facts to make everything authentic to the core.

Located on Waterloo-Munith road in Jackson County, The Farm Museum will be open for only one more day before the Waterloo Historical Society puts the farm to bed for the winter. The last day will be this Sunday, from 1 to 5 p.m., when friends of the museum gather together for the annual Pioneer Day.

Old-fashioned molasses cookies will be baked all afternoon in the brick oven out back; music will be furnished by the oldest organized band in Michigan, the Waterloo Band;

Use of old-fashioned tools will be demonstrated; soap will be made, butter will be churned, spinning, weaving and corn husking will be demonstrated; quilts will be displayed;

Plants, baked goods, jellies, garden produce and needlework will be on sale. And, as is the custom at the Farm Museum, cider and doughnuts will be served.

Proceeds from admissions - 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for children - will be used this fall to restore the new carpentry shop and tool shed, which, Mrs. Beckwith said, hopefully will be open for the first time next year when the museum doors swing wide on May 30th for another three-month summer season.

The activities planned for Pioneer Day are typical for the Farm Museum, where commercialism is frowned upon in deference to authenticity. After all, authenticity has been the society's hallmark ever since it was organized in 1962, specifically to create and support the Farm Museum.

Mrs. Beckwith tells of the museum's beginnings. The Michigan Department of Conservation in 1962 sought some one, some organization that would restore the old Ruehle family home that the department had purchased as a part of the Waterloo Recreation Area.

The last Ruehle son had died in 1961. The home and out buildings were dilapidated and the grounds were overgrown because the family had neither money or strength to maintain them. Yet, the farm was one of the last old farm homes in the area and so the department thought it might be saved.

The search ended with Mrs. Beckwith, who had been active with Lansing Historical organizations. She called friends, got them interested and the restoration of the old Victorian home began.

"It was largely a grandmother project," Mrs. Beckwith explained. Older women in the area got their gumption together and tackled the inside of the house, cleaning, shining, plastering, wall papering and painting.

A local man skilled in carpentry was hired to help restore the outside. He fashioned shingles for the roof by duplicating the old shingles that hung to it. Men were hired to paint the brick exterior portion of the old home, built in 1854, and the wood el extension, built in 1885.

The out-buildings, too, were restored: the ice house, the milk cellar and the windmill. A new bake house, modeled after the crumbling original, was built.

Perhaps the biggest chore was furnishing the old home. The historical authenticity of each item brought into the home was checked out before being accepted. Most items were donated by generous area residents.

The lion's share of restoration has long since been finished. But the work of operating the museum and adding those quintessential touches continue, always with an eye to making the museum a living tribute to an age long past.

For Mrs. Beckwith, the farm is much more than a museum, a consuming passion or a labor of love. It has been the hearth over which old friendships have sparked anew and new ones have been kindled. The farm, in short, has brought the community closer together.

from the Pastor's Study

Some Cliches Are Crutches

Guenter C. Branster
Northville First United Methodist Church

"You never call on us except when you want money" is the common complaint a lot of fine churchmen will be hearing soon. As most churches come to the time of year when they seek pledges to their 1970 budgets it may be well to examine this familiar cliché.

It should hardly be surprising that money is considered a part of our Christian commitment. Nor should a person who has made that kind of a commitment be startled when someone asks him to state what minimum goal he would set for the coming year. We left the barter system behind many centuries ago. Since money is portable self, what the Church is asking for is something very personal ... something of yourself. After all, that's what Christian commitment is all about!

It would be a terrific experience if each of us could spend some time in urban ghettos, college work, in South America, the tumult of the Congo, teaching in an English speaking school in Warsaw, assisting a pastor in East Germany, or doing kitchen work in a home for the aged. The list of possibilities in our denomination alone would cover pages. But how could each of us accomplish that without first going thru the alchemy of a checkbook, then air mailing ourselves, in a real sense, to the field of service.

That's what church budgets are all about. But sometimes our imaginations take a vacation when we look at columns of figures. This is the way all concerned members of local churches can get involved ... thru portable self, via the checkbook and offering plate. Which is not to say that this should be our only involvement.

A church is involved in the world. True, there are some provincial and ingrown local churches who maintain a few pet projects to justify their existence, but mostly they provide an atmosphere where they may bask in mutual self-righteousness. This may differ widely from their "official" definition of the Church. And, as we have so often seen, woe to the man who challenges their pious lethargy.

Let me share with you from Martin Carlson's recent provocative book, WHY PEOPLE GIVE. Carlson, assistant to the president of the Lutheran Church in America, offers some telling insights.

"Karl Menninger points out that to be able to give money away is indicative of mental health. 'Generous people are rarely mentally ill people.' On the other hand stinginess is often a sign of neurosis. It is a mental attitude that bears little relation to the amount of money a person may have. The person with millions may live in just as desperate fear that he won't have enough as the person who will be thrown out on the street if the relief check doesn't come in time to pay the rent. Menninger said to one patient: 'What in the world are you going to do with all that money?' The patient replied, 'Just worry about it, I suppose.' The doctor went on, 'Well, do you get that much pleasure worrying about it?' 'No, but I get such terror when I think of giving some of it to somebody.' The terror was real."

Carlson continues, "This neurosis can be carried still farther, until it falls into a masochistic pattern which invariably operates along the following lines:

(1) The individual provokes a situation in order to be refused.

(2) He does not see that he provoked the situation. All he sees is the other person's aggression, which he fights with righteous indignation and in a spirit of self-defense.

(3) The person pities himself because of the injustice done to him. This pattern is apparent both in the refusal to part with money (whether to pay a bill or to give) and in the accumulation of money. When this situation exists the person is usually constitutionally unable to give a civil "no" to a request for money, even to pay a bill: he explodes in his refusal. Consciously he thinks this marks him as not being a sucker. Unconsciously it furnishes the badly needed sense of not being a passive masochistic weakling."

It is true to my experience that the persons most involved in a local church are also the best contributors to its work. It is not really clear to me whether they are involved because they give generously, and wanted to see what was being done with their money, or, whether they got involved, saw the real needs, and began to give generously. Probably the stimulus has come in different ways to different persons.

If a man eats in a restaurant, and leaves a tip for the waitress, it matters little to him whether the food was good, the service prompt, and the floor clean. If he didn't like it, he doesn't have to go back. It's quite a different matter if he has an investment in that restaurant! Then the food, its flavor and quality are a real issue. Are the waitresses effective, or surly and slow? He cares about those things! He has an investment.

So it is with the Church. If a man sends in an occasional "tip" he really doesn't care much what the church does with it. He feels he has done a kindly and charitable thing ... and that's that.

But the man who gives generously out of his means ... he is apt to care a great deal about his investment. When we give to the Church, we're not giving God his share. That has the ring of cheerfully dividing the loot. The Christian viewpoint of stewardship is that it's all a trust from God. And we are the stewards ... custodians, if you please, of all that we have. This is a stewardship concept that goes beyond the pocketbook to include our time and talent as well.

Hear that knock on your door? Some good, concerned, committed layman has taken an evening out of his busy schedule. But not to talk to you about money. What they really want is YOU!

Portrait of a MIXED BLESSING

Here is the River — to some an avenue on their trek westward — to others an obstacle to be crossed.

Today it brings shiploads of needed supplies to the towns along its banks, carries their products to warehouse and factory.

Tomorrow it can escape those banks, leaving death and destruction in its wake. For the River must be ruled by man!

Yesterday it brought pure water from mountain streams to thirsty lips. Then somebody made it his gutter.

Like all our mixed blessings the River can help or hurt. It is just one of those gifts of God whose value will always depend on our good sense and initiative, our respect for God's intent and our concern for the needs of others.

Call it a by-product if you please — but one of the results of faithful religious worship and service is that so many mixed blessings become real blessings!

All-Electric Society Seen

An all-electric society by the year 2000?

Ali B. Cambel dean of the Wayne State University College of Engineering, foresees the possibility of a virtually all-electric economy within 30 or 40 years. This would mean, of course, a vast increase in electrical power consumption and assumes remarkable future development of electrical power generation capabilities.

More electrical power. Less air pollution. Less water pollution. Solutions to such problems are slow to appear, usually requiring decades of research and development. But Dean Cambel feels these problems can be overcome by regulatory legislation and by technological innovations already available.

"We can develop preventive steps in our new megalopolises as they grow," says Cambel. "The basis of these would be greater utilization of electrical energy."

"An effort should be made to reduce the useless dissipation of energy in the form of heat," the WSU dean advises. "Thus, whenever possible, electronic tubes should be replaced by transistors which require less energy to operate. Another measure would be the replacement of all incandescent and fluorescent lighting by chemiluminescent panel lighting. Appliances such as dishwashers and washing machines would be replaced by ultrasonic cleaners. This would circumvent the need for drying machines which spew out unnecessary heat and dust, would make unnecessary the drying cycle in dishwashers and would reduce noise and vibration pollution."

"All cooking," in the society Cambel envisions, "would this cut down on unnecessary heating of the atmosphere and thus reduce the air-conditioning load, but because of its speedy action would give the housewife extra time to be devoted to creative activity."

"Individual buildings would be prohibited from having their own heating and cooling systems. Instead, all buildings would be electrically heated and cooled. This would result in improved cleanliness, and no fuel trucks would obstruct congested streets."

The WSU dean also foresees "transportation that would be vastly improved. Within cities only electric cars would be allowed above ground. People who want to travel by automobile would lease highly perfected pollution-free vehicles outside city limits. Intracity travel would be limited to underground electric or pneumatic trains."

He Builds 1970 Model

A Wayne State University student has joined Detroit automakers by coming out with his own 1970 model auto. But it's not for sale.

The prototype automobile -- the Ginetta G-12 -- is a sleek red hand-crafted road racing special GT built by Richard A. Petit, 35, as his master's degree project.

It's not likely they would sell too many anyway: They figure the car is worth about $56,000.

Petit and Conley, both of Allen Park, took 1,200 pounds of special clay, several hundred board feet of lumber, fiberglass and other materials, $8,000 in cash and about 9,600 man hours of work and turned them into a work of art. Literally. The car won a blue ribbon in the industrial design section of a Wayne State art exhibit.

The men value their time at $10 an hour. "We each spent an average of at least 30 hours a week for 20 months in actual construction of the car," says Petit. That's $48,000 worth of time and sweat, in addition to the cash outlay.

Northland-Like Complex Seen Here

A Northland-like development looms in Northville Township's future, according to the crystal ball of TALUS, planning arm of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

And in the opinion of Irving J. Rubin, director of TALUS, development of this scope will occur, in one form or another, with or without the assisting role of local government. A rapidly urbanized community will demand it, he said.

The development — labeled a "multi-purpose center" in TALUS preliminary regional plan for the five county metropolitan area — is one of 60 such centers seen for the wide region by the year 1990.

Rubin gave Northville and Plymouth newsmen this definition of a multi-purpose center:

"It's sort of like Northland! right now in that you have a major regional shopping center coupled with growing office space and development of high rise residential buildings. Across the street you've got another satellite shopping center which also has a theatre. It might (I'm not saying Northland will) include a community college campus, with cultural facilities of some sort. It (multi-purpose center) doesn't have to have all of these elements but the term is meant to distinguish it from the traditional shopping center that consists of nothing but retail opportunities."

Rubin, noting the trend in similar developments elsewhere in the nation, sees the multi-purpose center as a "kind of community center where the action is." In some cases, he added, these multi-purpose centers "might include light industry."

Rubin said the population, by or before 1990, in and around Northville will demand such a development and "these needs will exist come hell or high water. They will be met somehow by the market either in a fragmented fashion with a shopping center here, some offices, here, and some other stuff here, or they can be met in a multi-purpose center which would be a more rational approach to it."

The preliminary TALUS plan, he said, suggests to the local government that it recognize that these demands will exist and that the best way to provide for it both from a regional and local standpoint is to encourage multi-purpose development.

"If some major developer should pick up a huge chunk of land, say, 'by golly this is the way I want it done' and then begin providing these kinds of buildings, he alone might make it happen. On the other hand, local government can encourage or discourage this kind of thing. The opportunity is there, the needs will be generated. It's basically a question of whether the local government chooses to try to encourage development in a center, which would be the more rationale, efficient way, or permit it to happen as happens in far too many communities such as in Livonia."

Unless some changes are made in Livonia, said Rubin, "we'll probably have regional shopping centers everywhere where two mile roads cross."

"SORT OF LIKE NORTHLAND"

'Lily White' Zoning Stirs Planner's Ire

Communities that zone primarily for costly home sites and that fail to provide adequately for low-income families do an injustice to themselves and to the metropolitan area of which they are a part, TALUS Director Irving J. Rubin charged last week.

He referred indirectly to Northville Township in his discussion with Northville and Plymouth newsmen.

Such zoning, he suggested, is made under the guise of good planning when really it represents legal discrimination against blacks and/or poor whites.

Failure of "high-class" suburban communities to provide for this kind of housing is the biggest single problem confronting the metropolitan region, said Rubin. Ultimately, this kind of discrimination could lead to new laws that force local communities to accept their responsibilities in the overall regional picture.

While emphasizing that he has not yet made any recommendations along these lines to the Legislature, he indicated that state changes in the community "zoning game" must be made and Federal monies must be dangled in front of the community's nose to convince it to change its "lily white" course.

"Given a choice," said Rubin, "a community will zone itself in such a manner that it attracts clean, neat, high tax-producing, low smoke-producing industry. Everybody wants research type, computer oriented operations like the stuff over in Southfield. Nobody is anxious to have big, dirty, smelly factories unless they can tuck it away in the corner where the prevailing winds blow it away from the rest of the people."

"A community also will zone itself so that it will attract middle and upper middle income white folks even though this generally means lots and lots of kids. They will zone themselves, generally, to exclude poor people and black people."

Under the present setup he said, local services must be funded largely out of money captured within the community through the tax base. "And as long as this is the way the game is played, we can preach, weep and wail and nothing will happen. A couple of changes are needed:

"One, to say to a community that you can't incorporate unless you include X square miles so that we avoid

NEWS BRIEFS

THE STATE's Department of Natural Resources has recommended to the legislature that Northville receive $44,581 in state aid for development of its fish hatchery park property, state officials told The Record Tuesday. "There's no guarantee Northville will get the money, however. "We've just recommended it should receive that much," said a Natural Resources spokesman. "It's up to the legislature to approve or disapprove it." Northville made two applications under the $100 million recreation fund approved by voters last year. One was for development of the fish hatchery property, to include tennis courts, and the other was for assistance in purchasing Maybury Sanatorium property. The latter was not included in the Natural Resources recommendation. City Manager Frank Ollendorff had applied for $57,000 for the fish hatchery project and for approximately $200,000 for the Maybury property.

NORTHVILLE SCHOOL BOARD has voted unanimously to reject an offer from the Boron Oil Company to purchase property from the school district. Requested for purchase was a half-acre corner parcel of the high school property at Center and Eight Mile roads. Meanwhile, Boron is making a bid for a station site at the northeast corner of Eight Mile and Taft roads.

DETROIT has decided to let the next administration decide the fate of the Maybury Sanatorium property, according to Detroit Controller Bernard Klein. Mayor Cavanagh, he said, has postponed sale of the property, leaving the matter up to his successor and the reorganized Detroit Common Council, who takes office in January. Klein earlier indicated that he hoped to wrap up the sale before he (Klein) leaves office. The city has formally requested to purchase some 200 acres of the property, while the township will vote in December on whether it should make a similar purchase.

NORTHVILLE SCHOOLS' anticipated enrollment figure of 3,634 students won't be met this year. Raymond Spear, superintendent of schools said Monday 3,120 are currently enrolled in the district, with an estimated 3,400 projected when schools close in June. The reason for the lower than anticipated figure is many of the proposed subdivisions within the district have not been started or are behind on construction schedules.

Township Board Back at Full Strength

With a full-seven member board on hand for the first time in two months, township officials waded Tuesday night through a lengthy agenda ranging from a liquor license to sewer rates.

First order of business was the swearing in of the new township trustee, William Smith, who was appointed by the board earlier to fill the seat of Thomas Armstrong, who resigned last summer over recurring dispute with fellow members.

Smith was a member of the planning commission before taking the board seat. A replacement for the now vacant planning post is expected to be made soon by the board, following a recommendation from the commission. The commission still has one other board representative in its ranks — Trustee Bernard Baldwin.

Following a request by Philip Ogilvie, attorney for the applicant, the board unanimously voted to recommend to the Liquor Control Commission that the tavern license of Brookland Golf Course be changed to a Class "C" (liquor by glass) license. Ross Northrop, owner, disclosed plans to enlarge his clubhouse facilities, and his attorney stated the bar would be operated only during golfing hours.

Approved also was a 5-cent increase in sewer rates by local residents to offset a corresponding increase charged the township by the county.

The board also voted to accept and maintain the sewer pumping station on the Greenspan subdivision property, to reject a proposed consent judgment with the Boron Oil company relative to a proposed service station at Five Mile and Haggerty roads, and to waive sewer tap fees for Donald Thomson pending completion of proposed enlargement of his car wash and construction of a laundrymat on Northville Road near Seven Mile Road.

Among matters discussed or tabled were a proposed firearms ordinance, a request for police service for Maybury Sanatorium property, and a weed control ordinance proposal.

Cost Fixed For School Remodeling

Cost of remodeling Main Street Elementary is pegged at a tentative figure of $102,258, according to information revealed at the Monday night meeting of the Northville School Board.

Of the total preliminary cost, $65,816 is architectural cost, $19,942 is mechanical and $16,500 is electrical.

Included in the remodeling will be repairing the main entrance, providing an additional kindergarten, creating new restrooms for teachers and students, converting a pair of classrooms into a flexible area for large group instruction, improving acoustics and lighting in the gym, improving the bus loading facility and consideration of faculty parking area.

Preliminary plans are expected to

Park Cost Sharing With City Shelved In Split Board Vote

Hope the city might have harbored in the cost of developing the fish hatchery property for park purposes took a nose dive Tuesday night as the board indicated at least temporary reluctance to commit itself.

After defeating a motion to pay up to half of development costs by a 4-3 vote, the board decided instead to investigate the per capita contribution the township might be able to receive through the state's new parks bond fund program before considering the matter further.

It was apparent from board discussion, however, that some members have strong reservations about contributing money for the 10-acre city facility (located in the township on Seven Mile Road).

Voicing objections to the specific motion to contribute up to half of the estimated cost ($14,000 annual for five years) and challenging the value of the facility for maximum township use were Treasurer Alex Lawrence and Trustees Richard Mitchell, William Smith and Joseph Straub. On the other side of the coin were Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg, Clerk Eleanor Hammond, and Trustee Bernard Baldwin.

Discussion and the resulting action followed a report by Baldwin on city plans for development of the property at a total estimated cost of $94,500 -- beyond the $23,000 already invested by the city in land, purchase and improvements. Development, Baldwin reported, would include tennis courts, parking, drainage, picnic area, foot paths, toilets and shelter, foot bridge, play equipment, ball diamond, and ice-skating pond improvements.

Proponents of township participation emphasized that close to half of the youngsters now using the facility live in the township; that the township ratio probably will increase dramatically in the next few years; that the Northville recreation program, now jointly financed by the city and township, is in need of physical facilities, and that more youngsters than city youngsters live near to the park.

Opponents, on the other hand, argued that the township already enjoys the county park system in the township; that this park system is "next door" to the fish hatchery property; that the facility does not serve youngsters in other parts of the township; and that the board should consider establishment of small, strategically located parks throughout the township rather than put all its "eggs in one basket."

Concerning a study for location of small parks throughout the township, Mitchell moved that such action be started but he failed to find support for his motion.

Car Goes Visiting In Neighbor's House

Some days it just doesn't pay to get up in the morning.

Mrs. Donald Austin, 543 Reed Street, probably felt that way last Thursday morning after her car shot across the street and buried itself in the Walter Murphy house at 576 Reed.

No one was injured, fortunately, except for the car, the house, and Mrs. Austin's pride. She and her 10-year-old son were the only occupants of the car. The car moved out of the Austin driveway at about 7:45 a.m., its accelerator stuck and the runaway station wagon roared across the street, over the curb, across the lawn and smack-dab into the Murphy house.

The car plunged halfway into the basement utility room and the impact ripped down the adjoining recreation room wall.

Police shut off the gas line at the meter and DPW Director Bud Hartner was called in to shut it off at the street to prevent an explosion. Before the car could be removed, the house was shored up to prevent it from caving in. There was no estimate of damage.

Later that same day (about 3 p.m.) cab driver James E. Walker got out of his Star Taxi vehicle to help a passenger load groceries. The extra courtesy didn't pay because the unbraked vehicle promptly rolled backwards into the large windows on the south side of the Kroger building.

No one was injured. Two windows were smashed and the metal window frames were damaged. Damage was estimated at between $500 to $1000.

All-Electric Society Seen

An all-electric society by the year 2000?

Ali B. Cambel dean of the Wayne State University College of Engineering, foresees the possibility of a virtually all-electric economy within 30 or 40 years. This would mean, of course, a vast increase in electrical power consumption and assumes remarkable future development of electrical power generation capabilities.

More electrical power. Less air pollution. Less water pollution. Solutions to such problems are slow to appear, usually requiring decades of research and development. But Dean Cambel feels these problems can be overcome by regulatory legislation and by technological innovations already available.

"We can develop preventive steps in our new megalopolises as they grow," says Cambel. "The basis of these would be greater utilization of electrical energy."

"An effort should be made to reduce the useless dissipation of energy in the form of heat," the WSU dean advises. "Thus, whenever possible, electronic tubes should be replaced by transistors which require less energy to operate. Another measure would be the replacement of all incandescent and fluorescent lighting by chemiluminescent panel lighting. Appliances such as dishwashers and washing machines would be replaced by ultrasonic cleaners. This would circumvent the need for drying machines which spew out unnecessary heat and dust, would make unnecessary the drying cycle in dishwashers and would reduce noise and vibration pollution."

"All cooking," in the society Cambel envisions, "would this cut down on unnecessary heating of the atmosphere and thus reduce the air-conditioning load, but because of its speedy action would give the housewife extra time to be devoted to creative activity."

"Individual buildings would be prohibited from having their own heating and cooling systems. Instead, all buildings would be electrically heated and cooled. This would result in improved cleanliness, and no fuel trucks would obstruct congested streets."

The WSU dean also foresees "transportation that would be vastly improved. Within cities only electric cars would be allowed above ground. People who want to travel by automobile would lease highly perfected pollution-free vehicles outside city limits. Intracity travel would be limited to underground electric or pneumatic trains."

He Builds 1970 Model

A Wayne State University student has joined Detroit automakers by coming out with his own 1970 model auto. But it's not for sale.

The men value their time at $10 an hour. "We each spent an average of at least 30 hours a week for 20 months in actual construction of the car," says Petit. That's $48,000 worth of time and sweat, in addition to the cash outlay.
