Mr. Circus Man

He Still Sparks Lots o' Smiles at 88

When the circus comes to town, 88-year-old Al Hackett is a busy man. "I enjoy doing things that make others happy," he said as he left for the Shrine Circus Tuesday with Northville's safety boys and service girls.

And this year, as in the past, he will bring smiles to over 500 people as he takes them to the circus as his guests.

Monday he took his fellow residents of Arnold Home in Detroit to the circus. "The only catch was that no one over 11 would be allowed," he joked. Tuesday he accompanied Northville children and today, Thursday, Novi children will be his guests.

Hackett has been taking Northville and Novi elementary children to the circus for so many years he can't remember when he hasn't.

At 88 he isn't about to slow down. "I still get a big kick out of life." Last year he visited England twice and has plans to relate his experiences to Northville's Masonic Lodge.

A native of England, he came to the United States when he was five. In 1925 he and his wife purchased property on Eight Mile Road near Meadowbrook Country Club. Building most of the home himself, he lived there until last year when he moved to Arnold Home.

In September he was honored for 60 years of membership with the Masonic Lodge. Hackett has been a member of the Knights Templar since 1927 and a Shriner for almost as many years.

He accompanies each group to the circus, while enroute explaining the role the Shriners play in helping crippled children.

"I like to see the children enjoying themselves," he said happily.

Tax Collections Up As Deadline Nears

Although a number of large taxpayers have yet to be heard from, tax collections in the city and township of Northville appear to be "slightly ahead" of collections at this time last year.

Monday is the deadline for payment in the city, while February 28 is the deadline in the township.

An estimated $941,879 of the $1,424,389 tax roll in the township had been paid through Sunday, according to Township Treasurer Alex Lawrence who noted that payments are expected soon from some large taxpaying businesses.

Some 1,800 tax bills were mailed out in December.

Total collections in the city through Friday were put at $636,377.43. The total tax bill is $699,544.41.

Here's the city breakdown for collections through Friday:

Wayne County — County, $51,620.50 real and $4,666.66 personal; school, $274,624.64 real and $22,948.88 personal; Schoolcraft College, $13,883.38 real and $1,160.10 personal.

Oakland County — County, $33,927.72 real and $169.99 personal; school, $217,008.63 real and $1,090.25 personal; and Schoolcraft, $10,974.74 real and $55.12 personal.

Collections by the city do not include taxes for the city. The latter are billed in the summer, with the city serving as the collection agency for the county, Northville school district and Schoolcraft in the winter.

Taxes in the township include those designated for the county, the Northville and Plymouth school districts, Schoolcraft College, and the township.

Levitt Shopping Center OK'd

Rezoning for a 13-acre convenient shopping center, second such proposed development on Seven Mile Road, was approved unanimously by the Northville Township Board Tuesday night.

The request was made by the Iliad company, a subsidiary of Levitt & Sons.

Located on the south side of Seven Mile Road several hundred feet east of the recently approved Oldford shopping center, the Levitt complex represents a scaled down version of what the developer first proposed in requesting rezoning of nearly 33 acres. Specifically, the rezoning changes 13 acres from a multiple dwelling classification to a business district, leaving the remaining 20 acres designated for multiples which Levitt plans to develop at a future date.

William Voss of Levitt re-explained Tuesday that the proposed development for the site will include a number of convenient type stores. He specifically mentioned a supermarket, small department store, quality restaurant, bank, professional offices, and a number of smaller shops such as men's clothing or record facility.

To be built in a cluster arrangement close to Seven Mile, with parking on either side, the development is to be screened from the multiples in the rear by a natural woodlot and stream and in the front by an earth berm. A walkway is to be provided between the proposed multiple development and the shopping center, he said.

Voss said current plans, which could change depending upon the money market, call for construction to begin sometime in 1971.

When a citizen suggested the shopping might find competition detrimental in view of the nearby Oldford center, which drew board approval several weeks ago, Voss said his firm is convinced its plan represents an economically sound investment, particularly in view of the proximity of its huge proposed subdivision on the opposite side of Seven Mile. "We are willing to take any economic risk," he asserted.

Trustee William Smith reaffirmed an earlier contention that proper ratio of total floor space to parking, green belt, etc. necessarily requires larger parcels of land than may formerly have been considered adequate for such centers.

The Levitt proposal, pegged at a 1 in 6 ratio (100,000 square feet of

Saturday Vote Carries 'No Tax Hike' Theme

Bond Issue Covers School Additions

With school districts in Michigan and neighboring states eyeing Northville's bid before bond method, one of the last but most important steps will be taken Saturday, when voters go to the polls to approve or disprove the $2.7 million bond issue.

Using the previously untried bid before bond method, Northville school district "voters know exactly how much the planned projects will cost and will be getting everything they vote for," Superintendent Raymond Spear said.

Bids for the additions and renovations to five of the district's school were opened January 22 with selected bids totaling $1,935,622. Other projects approved for inclusion in Saturday's bond issue bring the figure to $2.7 million.

Spear is confident the bond issue will win voter approval. "People must realize," he said, "if we are going to continue to meet the physical facility needs of our children we must be ahead of student population growth and not behind it."

"Once we fall behind in building needs, we are forced to play 'catch-up' and that will not let us provide the educational facilities the students need," he warned.

Added facilities at the schools will accommodate nearly 1,000 more students, while bringing all existing buildings up to date.

In constructing additions and not new buildings, school officials have cut down on building halls, office space and heating plants.

Additions to Moraine Elementary will include a flexible teaching facility for 200 students, seven additional classrooms, instructional materials center, teacher-planning work area and visual aid storage area.

Planned for Amerman Elementary are four self-contained classrooms, four team teaching classrooms, multi-purpose room, enlarged library and instructional materials area and speech and reading instruction centers.

Remodeling of Main Street Elementary will include an additional kindergarten room, teacher work center, large group instruction area, additional wash rooms, improved multi-purpose area and a centrally located office.

Cooke Junior High plans call for seven additional classrooms, instrumental music facilities, shop storage space, physical education storage, receiving depot, shower and locker facilities for boys and girls, instructional materials center and enlarged faculty work area.

Additions and renovations to Northville High include earth science laboratory, chemistry laboratory, two drafting rooms, hygiene classroom, arts and crafts room, two language classrooms, nine English classrooms, eight social studies classrooms, five math classrooms and a vocal music room.

Other projects in the bond issue are bus garage, improved parking and playground facilities at Main Street Elementary, screening high school overpass, improvement of the athletic field, stadium and roadway at the high school, walkway improvement at Main

JAMES KIPFER

Familiar Face Back At Board Table

In one of its shortest meetings of the year, Northville Board of Education appointed James Kipfer to fill a vacancy on the Board of Education; discussed Saturday's bond election and cancelled its February 23 meeting.

A former board member from 1960-68, serving as its president in 1964-65, Kipfer was unanimously appointed to fill the vacancy created when Robert Froelich resigned to accept a position with Central College, Pella, Iowa.

Trustee Glenn Deibert, in making the nomination, said the board had discussed several candidates and selected Kipfer for three main reasons:

"Since the remainder of the term is only five months," Deibert said, "he (Kipfer) can be an effective contributing member immediately without the learning process every new board member must go through."

Also cited was Kipfer's previous experience with building programs in the district that can be "a valuable asset in getting the current program launched."

Deibert also said Kipfer has indicated "no desire to run for a regular term on the board in the June, 1970, election. The board feels the June election should be an open election and hopes that several interested, concerned citizens who want to become involved will come forward to run for the vacancy in June."

"An appointment at this time of anyone else," Deibert continued, "would give them the recognized advantage of 'incumbent' and lessen the chances for an open election."

The nomination was seconded by Trustee Dr. Orlo J. Robinson.

Andrew Orphan, board treasurer, questioned the "custom of the board that board members be divorced from

"It costs nothing but your vote" is the slogan Northville school administrators hope voters remember Saturday — Valentine's Day and date of the $2.7 million bond election.

Slated for voter approval or disapproval are additions and renovations to five of the district's schools, adding enough classrooms for nearly 1000 more students — at no increased cost to the taxpayer.

The polls will be open in the Junior High Annex (old junior high) gymnasium, 405 West Main Street, from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m.

The building program can be accomplished without an increase in taxes, Superintendent Raymond Spear said, because "of the increasing valuation of our school district and the more favorable provisions of the School Bond Loan Program."

The board of education decided to keep the construction figure at the $2.7 million figure so increased taxes would not be required to meet principal and interest payments, Spear said.

School officials are concerned with an apparent lack of interest among the 5,466 registered voters in the district.

The question is open to all registered voters, property owners and non-property owners alike, though some speculate that only slightly over 1,000 voters probably will go to the polls.

Elementary school principals have been conducting a "Get Out and Vote" campaign and valentines reminding voters of the election were sent out Wednesday.

NEWS BRIEFS

SCHOOL CLINICS COMING — Both Fluoride and German Measles vaccine will be administered in Northville school clinics. Dr. Paul Babas of the Wayne County Health Department visited here Tuesday to set up dates. Fluoride teeth treatments will be given in four treatments for $5 to pupils in kindergarten, second, fifth and eighth grades beginning in two weeks. Parents will receive forms next week. German Measles injections will be available for youngsters in kindergarten through third grades by mid-March. Dr. Babas warns parents planning to have children inoculated that other injections or antibiotics cannot be given less than six weeks before or after the vaccine.

RECOMMENDATION that the northeast corner of Eight Mile and Taft roads be rezoned from residential to local business to permit erection of a Boron Oil Company service station has been sent to the city council by the Northville Planning Commission. The zoning change request won unanimous approval of planners after Boron adjusted its plan to encompass more property than originally considered. Meanwhile, the commission is considering the request of former planner, Dr. Dale Kiser, that property lying between Northville Laboratory and Fairbrook Apartments be rezoned from a residential to a professional office classification.

THREE POLICE OFFICERS have recently resigned from the Northville Department. Patrolman Ronald Wankowicz, on the force for three years, submitted his resignation in December, leaving to join another police department. This week Patrolman Roger Rathburn left his post of five months to return to work at Rathburn Chevrolet. Sergeant Charles Martin, with the department for 19 months, submitted his resignation this week, effective February 17.

WEATHER-WILLING, construction should be under way soon at the site for the new Northville First United Methodist Church on Eight Mile Road. The Reverend Guenther Branstner reported Tuesday that the concrete footings have cured so that blocks can be laid.

Local Buildings Shown

Slides Examine Architecture

"Our Town: Our Trust" will be the topic of the Northville Historical Society's open meeting on preservation of local buildings at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday, February 18, in the city council chambers.

Professor Richard Daugherty, who teaches development of American architecture in his American history classes at Macomb Community College, will point out architectural details of Northville buildings in a film presentation.

The meeting has been moved to the city council chambers so that everyone interested in the community may attend. The historical society stresses that it is not necessary to be a member to attend.

With two slide projectors, Professor Daugherty plans to show pictures of national historic buildings with comparable Northville ones. He visited Northville in December to take the slides which he is using.

During his visits here Professor Daugherty pointed out that interested communities can get help from both the National Trust and the Michigan State Preservation groups, but he suggests that the best restoration programs are those instituted "by the municipality itself."

He pointed out that Franklin, Michigan, "which doesn't have a building as fine as the double-wing Greek Revival on Main Street, has declared itself an historic district." (The house cited is at 376 East Main and is slated for destruction when Griswold street is extended. It now is owned by the city. City Manager Frank Ollendorff has a list of interested citizens when it becomes available for moving.)

Romeo, Michigan, the professor's home, he said, is now considering the historic designation.

will speak on Northville architecture at an open meeting of the Northville Historical Society at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday in the city council chambers.

Professor Daugherty's slide presentations point out architectural details which identify and date buildings. High points of periods from the colonial to the present are shown.

Believing that each architectural period has its own "masterpieces" Professor Daugherty is a preservationist, pointing out Northville still has buildings from other periods worth saving, but that someone has to be interested in seeking that preservation.

In Washington, D. C., League of Women Voters of the U. S. have announced a new national position in favor of the direct popular election of the president and vice-president and the abolishment of the present Electoral College system.

The action was taken by the league's board of directors after 78 per cent of the leagues voted in favor of the motion. It marks the beginning of a national effort for a constitutional amendment.

Mothers March to Record

BY JEAN DAY

MARCHING MOTHERS who have been collecting for the annual March of Dimes fund-raising drive to fight birth defects turned in a record total for Northville by the February 2 deadline.

Mrs. Russell Anger, Mothers' March chairman for Northville for the second year, reports that she turned in $1,353 dollars at deadline and subsequent returns and checks will take the total "close to $1,400." Last year's march garnered $1,337.

It was more than "luck," however, which took the total over the previous record for other communities reported lagging collections this year. Mrs. Anger and her co-chairman, Mrs. Ross Totten, had the organized efficiency and early planning of the Northville Jaycettes to cover the area.

THE DAR luncheon of the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter at noon Monday at the home of Mrs. Thomas Lovett, 46018 Pickford, honors 11 recipients of the DAR Good Citizenship Award, including Deneice Bidwell, Northville High School senior and this year's local DAR Good Citizen.

Also to be honored from this area will be Marsha Dragan of South Lyon and Lynn Sandmann of Plymouth. Others come from as far as Alba and Berkley.

The DAR Good Citizens, traditionally honored during February - Citizenship Month - are seniors chosen by their classmates or by teachers on the basis of dependability, truthfulness, patriotism, self-control and personality. Local choices then take tests for state title.

Monday's program will be on American Indian affairs. Mrs. David Christensen is luncheon chairman.

The DAR award is another laurel to come to Deneice Bidwell who earlier was named Northville Junior Miss in the Jaycee-sponsored competition.

That honor, however, almost was lost to any Northville senior girl this year as several arrangements fell-through before the talent competition finally was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cass Hoffman, who offered it as the committee was experiencing difficulty finding a location-with-piano. The Hoffmans hesitated to do so as their daughter, Patty, runner-up in the contest, was in competition.

However, the contest was well worth continuing as a college scholarship is offered as well as a chance to become Michigan Junior Miss who wins more than $1,700 in scholarships and prizes.

NEWCOMERS Night-at-the-Theatre is set for 8:30 p.m. Saturday, February 21, when Northville Newcomer couples will be entertained with the presentation of "Mame" by the Players' Guild of Dearborn at the playhouse at Outer Drive and Monroe.

An after-theatre party and sandwich buffet will follow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Fitzpatrick, 18157 Pinebrook. On the party committee are Mrs. Charles Ayers, Mrs. Richard Virnoche and Mrs. Lee Laruwe.

They report a few tickets still are available at $8.50 a couple.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Ayers, chairman, 349-1710, by this Saturday.

Membership in Northville Newcomers Club is open to anyone living in the city or township three years or less. It is designed to develop friendship and acquaint new residents with the area. Those interested may call Mrs. James Haywood, 349-0408, membership chairman, or Mrs. Frank Ollendorff, 349-0794, president.

BUSINESS and Professional Women of Northville won the district attendance award for the second consecutive time at the district meeting held Sunday at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth, having 40 per cent of the membership present. Thus, the Northville club still keeps the "Nike" attendance award.

Mrs. A. M. Allen, president, explains that if the chapter wins the award at the next district meeting in April, it's the chapter's permanently. She hopes to get all members out for that meeting.

MEAD'S MILL Chapter of the Questers antiques society voted to change its February meeting to Wednesday, February 18, to attend the open meeting of the Northville Historical Society.

Mrs. Dumont Hixson opened her Victorian home at 512 West Dunlap for the January meeting of the chapter when Miss Jean Pike, program chairman, listed upcoming plans through the May meeting.

Tips for Dinner

Easy Oven Meals Pamper A Budget

Oven meals are not only convenient, but they are also economical.

Oven meals are those in which all the foods "cook" at the same temperature. There are three types.

1. All food is cooked for the same length of time; at the same temperature. Just set the oven control and the cooking begins immediately.

2. Food is cooked at the same temperature, but the cooking time varies. Start with the longer-baking foods and add the remainder of the meal.

3. If your range has an automatic oven timer, place food in the oven several hours before cooking begins, set the automatic timer, and when you return from shopping or a meeting, you'll find an appetizing meal. Be certain to select foods that can withstand room temperature for a few hours without spoilage or discoloration. All food should be well chilled before placing in the oven. Frozen foods are perfect for this type of oven meal.

TIPS ON OVEN MEALS

• Ground meat and fresh fruit should never stand for any appreciable time at room temperature.

• Avoid, especially in warm weather, casseroles using milk, eggs, ground meat, poultry, and pork if they are to stand long before starting to cook.

• Do not preheat oven when you put in foods which are to be cooked automatically.

Mrs. Arleen H. Arnold, district extension agent, suggests area homemakers try a timed oven meal of meat patties, lima casserole, hashed potatoes, and peach dumplings. Cooking time is 30 to 45 minutes with an oven temperature of 400 degrees.

Here's how to prepare each

MEAT PATTIES

1 lb ground beef
1 t salt
1 C tomatoes

LIMA CASSEROLE

½ t salt
2 T. butter
1/16 t pepper

(1) Combine all ingredients and place in baking pan or dish. (2) Keep the vegetables covered during the cooking process.

HASHED POTATOES

½ t salt
1/16 t pepper

(1) Slice cold (cooked) potatoes in shallow pan. (2) Season with salt and pepper; add butter. (3) Cook in uncovered pan or baking dish.

PEACH DUMPLINGS

6 peach halves, canned
4 T granulated sugar
½ t butter
¼ t cinnamon
Pastry for one pie crust

(1) Roll pastry to 1/8 inch thickness and cut into six squares, large enough to hold a peach half. (2) Place peach half on each square of pastry and fill the hollow with a mixture of sugar, butter, and cinnamon. (3) Fold corners of pastry over peach and twist together. (4) Prick crust to allow steam to escape and bake in greased pan.

MR. AND MRS. DENNIS JOHN NILES

Esch - Niles Vows Said by Candlelight

Nancy Elaine Esch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman E. Esch, 15765 Haggerty Road, became the bride of Dennis John Niles in an candlelight ceremony January 23 at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Livonia. Pastor Winfred Koelpin officiated at the altar decorated with baskets of mums and gladioli.

The bridegroom is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Butz, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

The bride's traditional gown of Chantilly lace was fashioned with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. Lace tiers formed the chapel train. A petal lace headpiece adorned with seed pearls and crystals held her elbow-length illusion veil. She carried a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis with greens.

Diane Eckles of Plymouth was honor maid. Bridesmaids were Sharon Esch of Jackson, Karel Kaiser of Royal Oak, and Marge Minestrelli of Livonia. Kimberly Flavin of Novi was flower girl. All wore long A-line gowns of apricot saki, trimmed with matching lace. They carried arrangements of orange carnations.

Gary Niles of Wayne was best man. Ushers were Herman M. Esch of Jackson, Phil Koelpin and Michael Puckett of Livonia, Steve Homanchuk of Wayne.

For the ceremony and reception following for 200 guests at the Plymouth VFW hall the bride's mother wore a light yellow lace dress and coat. The bridegroom's aunt chose a blue silk shantung suit. Both wore orchid corsages. Guests attended from Minnesota and Missouri as well as Michigan cities.

For a wedding trip to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands the new Mrs. Niles changed to an orange velvet dress and brown accessories. She is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University. Her husband is a graduate of Michigan State University. They will make their home in Livonia.

Featured at Men's Night

Christian Women Host Singer

Marty Karl, a member of the famous Mariner's Quartette on the Arthur Godfrey show and now a Canadian minister, will be featured speaker at the Men's Night dinner meeting of the Christian Women's club of this area at 7:30 p.m. February 26 at Lofy's Restaurant in Plymouth.

The Reverend Karl will relate his experiences as a member of the Quartette, America's first interracial entertainment unit.

Following four years' singing in the U.S. Coast Guard, the Mariners compiled a record of more than 7,000 radio and television appearances and charitable affairs. They made five major record albums and more than 100 single records, including a gold record. They entertained at the first Inaugural Ball of President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The Quartette was with the redheaded, controversial and always unpredictable Godfrey for seven years, until suddenly and without warning one April morning in 1955 Godfrey "cut the mooring lines and cast the Mariners adrift."

Of this seeming catastrophe, the Reverend Karl now says, "It was the best thing that ever happened to me as no life has ever been so satisfying and good to live as the life I now lead."

In 1962 he moved his wife, Mezzo-soprano Alma Bedrit, and their five children to Hamilton, Ontario. He became minister of music and directed the choir of the historic Philpott Memorial Church. He presently is executive director of the Harbor Rescue Mission. The ministries of the mission include a hostel for homeless men, a rehabilitation program for both alcoholics and non-alcoholics, a family shelter, a women's and children's shelter, called Inasmuch House. There also is a family assistance centre, a workshop program and the Christian Life Counselling Service.

Music still is a very important part of the ex-entertainer's life, which he incorporates into his preaching and lecturing. He is trained in both operatic and concert fields with 15 years' study and more than 20 years' professional experience.

At the Men's Night dinner, the Reverend Karl will recall his experiences as a member of the quartette and tell what it was like to work with Arthur Godfrey and to associate with the great of show business, sports and politics.

For reservations and additional information, members and interested area women are asked to call 349-2759 by February 23.

'MARINER' MARTY KARL

Speaker Urges New State Criminal Code

"Jackson (prison) is running out of space," warned University of Michigan law professor Jerold Israel as he spoke on the need for passage of a new state criminal code at the annual men's night program of Northville Woman's Club last Friday.

Israel, who received his law degree from Yale University in 1959, was a member of the committee working on the code which will be coming before the legislature this coming term.

Our penal law, he pointed out is really the basic framework conceived in 1846 and revised in 1931 - and filled with obsolete provisions, including many for train robberies and treatment of Indians.

"In 1846," he continued, "we didn't have credit cards; so there's no provision for their violations, and trespassing was thought of in relation to farm land, not in terms of sit-ins at universities."

Social gambling, even in one's home, he said, is a crime under present law as nudist camps also are "indecent exposure."

Professor Israel, related the difficulties in eliminating even outmoded provisions and trying to catch inconsistencies, stressing that "it's important that laymen can read and understand" the law. To point up the variation in sentencing under criminal codes, Professor Israel listed state variations. "For lying to the conservation department, the penalty is five years; to the race track commission, six months; to the insurance commission, 15 years."

"The penalty for torturing a child is ten years, but the penalty for consensual rape of a person 15 years old or under is life," he said.

Problems of revision, the professor said, are that the legislature is too busy, but wants to look at all portions - The state legislature doesn't have the staff or time and this affects its ability to deal with any subject.

Most revision, the U of M professor reported, was in technical aspects and updating as the commission felt it knew too little about drugs to deal with this. He added that gambling laws were little changed except to recommend provision for social gambling. He said adultery and consensual private homosexuality were not considered crimes by the committee, but the legislature has "put them back in."

Professor Israel said his thinking on drunks was that this problem also should be out of police hands and out of the courts, where it is most time consuming, and suggests that "they not be put through the prison system."

Such current problems as the abortion law have been separated from the criminal code, he pointed out, and are being considered separately.

Part of the problem at arriving at compromises in law, the professor concluded, lies in the fact that "this is two different states - Wayne and Detroit and the rest of the state."

He suggested that annual revisions be made to the criminal code, rather than piecemeal law to correct situations as they come up. Thus, he said, inadequate provisions such as the obscene calls law which does not make allowance for the middle-of-the-night phone call with no voice on the other end of the line (and no violation for silence) could be avoided.

Years Erode Origin of Cupid's Message

by Sally Burke

Saturday is the festival of hearts, the day of romance; sign a valentine and you've taken a chance.

In olden times the customs of the day were taken quite seriously, with young men and women choosing a partner for the next twelve months.

There was a time when saying, "You are my valentine" meant "I offer you my companionship of affection and love for the next year and I am willing to consider marriage with you."

Alas, today the messages and gifts sent and received are but a greeting and not a proposal.

Why is February 14 specially set aside for love and how did St. Valentine get involved?

Pure coincidence seems to be the only answer. Geoffrey Chaucer once alluded to an old saying that birds began to mate on February 14, the day St. Valentine died in 270, persecuted at the hands of Roman Emperor Claudius II.

Others say before his execution, Valentine wrote a kind note to the daughter of the prison master, signing it "From your Valentine."

But the most plausible explanation goes back to ancient Roman times.

The Romans annually celebrated the festival of Lupercalia on February 15 in honor of the pastoral god Lupercus, equivalent to the Greek's Pan.

On the eve of Lupercalia and as part of the festivities, young people held a celebration of their own, declaring their love for each other, proposing marriage or choosing partners by lottery for the new year, beginning March 1.

The youth festival, with its pledge of love, stood under the patronage of goddess Juno Februta. When Christianity came to the empire, worship and patronage of pagan gods was abolished, though the festival continued as love was still in fashion.

The only aspect of the celebration that was changed was the patron. Juno Februta gave way to the Christian saint of the day, who just happened to be St. Valentine.

In countries with a Roman background, the details of the games of chance and choice of mates for the new year continued until the Middle Ages, while other countries merely celebrated St. Valentine as the patron of lovers.

The American custom of sending valentines is unknown in the Northern European countries. It is thought the custom came to America from England in the mid-1700's, where it had developed as a substitute for the ancient "choice" of partners.

This, then, is where the seemingly innocent "you are my valentine" comes in. The proposal, though no less sincere, was delivered by messenger.

Each component of the hand-fashioned card held a special meaning.

To My Sweetheart
on Valentine's Day
Nothing can express my thoughts
And deepest feelings, too

Ribbons were symbolic of romance since the times of knighthood when men rode into battle with a scarf given to them by their fair lady;

Lace comes from a Latin word meaning "to snare" or "noose;"

Cupid was one of the gods of mythology whose name in Latin means "desire;"

Cherub is a descendent of Cupid;

Rose, the most popular flower in the world, spells Eros, the goddess of love, when the letters are rearranged,

A woman's hand, adorned with a frilly cuff and a jeweled ring, denoted femininity;

Birds stood for fidelity, as they choose one mate for life,

And violets, well if you believe a patch grew outside the prison window of Valentine, that he picked them and sent them by dove to his loved one's, then you are the infatuated lover February 14th were made for.

Today, cards holding a sincere message are harder to find than the humorous type. Merchants sell fewer old-fashioned cards with point blank "I Love You's" scattered among the cupids, roses, ribbons and what not.

For a lesser price you can obtain a humorous card, saying between the lines you care enough to remember, while not committing yourself with those three little words.

Messages range from "Don't be too surprised if you find yourself falling madly in love with me - you're only human," to the equally sarcastic "I'm yours, all yours - for heaven's sake, stop cringing."

Though there is a wide selection of ready-made cards to choose from today, don't assume lovers are any less imaginative than in years gone by.

To help the literary youth who wrote and decorated their own valentines, a book was published in 1797 called "Cabinet of Love or Cupid's Repository of Choice Valentines."

While praising their beau's originality and sincerity, fair damsel never knew the book became a best-seller - on the fiction list.

High School 'Homemaker'

Lois M. Horsfall has been named Northville High School's 1970 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow.

Selected on the basis of her score in a December 2 homemaker knowledge and attitudes examination for which a record 646,041 senior girls in 15,040 of the nation's high schools were enrolled, she is now eligible for state and national honors.

cookie sale chairman for the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, announced this week.

Girl Scouts will take orders for cookies during the 16-day period beginning February 20 and will deliver cookies from April 13 through 25.

This year the sale is especially important to the Girl Scouts, Mrs. Abbott points out, as the council goal has been set at 300,000 boxes of cookies, an increase of 3,000 boxes over last year's total sold. Council profit of 21 cents a box will be used partly to further develop Camp Linden, the scouts' year-round camp in northern Livingston County.

The scouts presently are conducting a public fund campaign to raise $600,000 to develop the camp, but they need the profit from this year's sale to take care of other camp development costs not included in the goal.

In addition, council profits provide camperships for needy scouts, help pay expenses of older scouts selected for national and international opportunities, and cover some operating expenses connected with camp operation.

"Camp Linden is really important to our local scouts," says Mrs. Abbott, explaining "Some attend resident camp there in summer and many go week-end camping there with their troops. Because they've worked so hard to sell the cookies that helped pay for the camp, they feel it really belongs to them."

CANDIDATE JILL HALL

Threats Don't Detour Jill Hall's Candidacy

Despite threats warning her away, Jill Hall came to the meet-your-candidates forum for Wixom City Council candidates Monday night.

"These threats have been made by someone who is either very sick or very bitter," Mrs. Hall alleged. "Needless to say I am not guilty of the slander against me. And I am not going to back out as a candidate."

Mrs. Hall is one of eight candidates in the race for three open council seats. Tuesday's primary election will narrow the field to six for the April 6 general election.

Mrs. Hall said she received telephone warnings this past weekend telling her not to attend the Monday meeting "if you know what's good for you."

She said she couldn't determine if the calls were from the same person.

Also over the weekend four supporters of Mrs. Hall claimed they found anti-Hall letters in their mail. Mrs. Hall termed the letters "vicious and slanderous."

Monday afternoon Mrs. Hall asked the Oakland County sheriff's department to investigate. Oakland detectives subsequently sent the letters to the state police crime lab for analysis.

After the Monday meeting, which she attended with her husband and four-year-old daughter, Mrs. Hall said she discovered a letter threatening her. "It was with the mail that had come earlier. I didn't notice it until we got home," she explained.

According to Mrs. Hall the letter told her "to drop your campaign if you don't want your background smeared all over." She turned the letter over to Oakland detectives.

"I'm not worried about what they might say about me. If they had anything they would have used it already," she said. "But I'm worried about what they might do. This is beginning to scare me."

Mrs. Hall has been a vocal critic of the Wixom government, zeroing in specifically on Mayor Wesley McAtee and Police Chief Tom McGuire.

McAtee is retiring April 15 after eight years as mayor. McGuire is an August, 1969 appointee of McAtee and the council.

Mrs. Hall deliberately bypassed McGuire in taking her complaint to the sheriff's department. "Considering the problems I've had with him, I didn't think it would be a good idea," she noted.

McGuire said he read of the threats against her in The Pontiac Press Monday afternoon and ordered extra protection for the Monday night meeting.

"I'm offended because she didn't call me. But if we can do anything at all, the department is at her disposal,"

Presnell Raps Developers

Novi Settles on Density Rate

A compromise zoning amendment that slices the number of multiple units per acre permitted in Novi, but that hukes the original proposal won council approval Monday night.

By an informal consensus poll, the planning board first gave the proposal the green light and the council then voted 6-1 to approve it, with Councilman Edwin Presnell dissenting.

Presnell favored the original reductions as recommended by the planners. That recommendation was considered several weeks ago at a public hearing and then tabled pending further study. Developers had attacked the original recommendation as being far too restrictive.

Since that January hearing and before Monday's reopening of the hearing, council and planning board representatives reached the compromise proposal that finally drew formal approval.

The compromise closely resembles provisions in Novi's "old" most restrictive multiples zoning district (R-4) and is more restrictive than Novi's former most lenient multiple zoning district.

Here's a comparison of those densities:

•Old R-4 — one-bedroom, 10.9 units; 2-bedroom, 7.3; 3-bedroom, 5.4, and 4-bedroom, 4.3.

•Old R-2A — one-bedroom, 14.5 units; 2-bedroom, 9.7; 3-bedroom, 7.3; 4-bedroom, 5.8.

•Originally proposed density reduction of R-2A — one-bedroom, 8.7 units; 2-bedroom, 5.8; 3-bedroom 3.5; and 4-bedroom, 3.5.

•Compromise adopted and now law — One bedroom, 10.9; 2 bedroom, 7.4; 3 bedroom, 4.4; 4-bedroom, 4.4; and 5-bedroom, 4.0.

In other action Monday, the council took steps to implement the zoning amendment and also approved amendments pertaining to the M-3 general manufacturing district and the R-3 mobile homes district.

The manufacturing amendment provides that a building or masonry wall not less than eight feet high must be located between outdoor junk, scrap, salvage or storage yards and their adjacent property or public street.

Concerning the mobile homes district, the amendment provides that all lots shall contain a minimum of 6,000 square feet, but that this

Urban Renewal Key To Wixom Primary; Election on Tuesday

The proposed urban renewal plan for Wixom could be a deciding issue in Tuesday's primary and the April 6 general election. Several angry citizens demanded a referendum on urban renewal Monday night at the meet-your-candidates forum in Wixom Elementary School.

Eight candidates for the city council will be on the ballot Tuesday for an election which will eliminate two. Some of them agreed with the audience Monday in opposing urban renewal.

"I don't think we need it," declared James Dutresne. "It's going to hurt a lot of old people and cost us a lot of money."

The council is currently studying a project which would be financed by both the federal (75 per cent) and local (25 per cent) governments.

Mrs. Jill Hall was the first to rap the proposal. "I think private enterprise can do a better job without it costing the taxpayers," she said.

Mrs. Lottie Chambers, incumbent councilwoman, hedged on supporting urban renewal. But she criticized Mrs. Hall's statement, "Sometimes the developers don't pay people what they should get for their homes."

Members of the audience repeatedly asked that the question be taken to a popular vote.

Aside from urban renewal, no other issue was involved in major debate. Before the question-and-answer period, the candidates summarized their backgrounds and qualifications but did not elaborate on platforms.

The eight candidates are Robert Dingledey, Bill Van Gieson, Earl Madary, Elwood Grubb, Mrs. Jean Cronin (who missed the meeting because of illness), Dufresne, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Chambers.

The two mayoral candidates are not in the primary but advance directly to the April 6 election. Registration deadline for that election is March 6.

Polls will be open 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday at Wixom City Hall. Based on previous primaries, about 300 people from a registered total of 847 are expected to vote.

CHIEF TOM MCGUIRE

Coy Joins Criticism Of Chief

Oakland County Supervisor Lew Coy (R-Wixom) fired another volley against Wixom Police Chief Tom McGuire Monday night.

Speaking at the city council meeting, Coy added his voice to a citizen group seeking McGuire's ouster. "I supported this police chief in the beginning, but now I doubt my own wisdom in going to bat for him," Coy said.

McGuire has been under attack for conducting a 100 mph test run, for allegedly handcuffing a prisoner to a pole and allegedly issuing a gun permit to a juvenile.

Coy's statement drew indirect criticism from Mayor Wesley McAtee, who gave a special post-meeting speech to a crowded audience of 60 people.

"I'm personally fed up with what's been going on. This constant bickering is reflecting on the city and the people of Wixom," McAtee noted.

"I hope that people here might grow up and go on about the business of making this a better city."

Two of the charges leveled against McGuire were settled, at least officially, at the meeting.

Richard Hall, husband of candidate Jill Hall, read a letter from Mrs. Homer Lewis claiming McGuire gave her 16-year-old son a gun permit. McGuire

Protestors Lose Out As Rezoning Passes

Despite vehement protests of some Orchard Hills property owners, the Novi City Council by a 4-2 vote approved the rezoning Monday night of 15.8 acres of property for multiple housing development west of Orchard Hills elementary school.

Action by the council at a joint hearing of the council and the planning board followed a 6-1 recommendation for approval by the planners.

The planning board, in considering the rezoning request of Practical Home Builders, voted also to require the developer's future site plan be considered at a public hearing. Site plans normally do not require public hearing except by request of the board.

Main objection of nearby homeowners was that the development could aggravate an existing flood problem.

A representative of the Meadowbrook Lake homeowners also voiced concern over the flood problem, but indicated he found no objections to the development provided the developer installed flood control devices simultaneously with development construction and if planners required a public hearing for site plan approval as an added protection for citizens.

The lone planner to vote against the rezoning recommendation was Ronald Cowden.

On the council, it was Edwin Presnell and Denis Berry who voted against approval. Presnell, who tangled repeatedly with Practical's representative, Eugene Katz, said he opposed the rezoning on grounds that it would create a hardship on the already overcrowded school system and because the multiple development represented a potentially dangerous flood control problem.

He was critical, too, because Practical would not contribute part of its land for either a school site or municipal park.

In addition to the acreage rezoned for multiples, Practical already has acreage to the north — stretching to 10 Mile Road for multiples, and it proposes to develop 168 homes north and south of the school and situated between the multiples and adjacent Orchard Hills subdivision.

Altogether, Practical owns or controls 94 acres in the immediate vicinity.

Particularly irritating to citizens of Orchard Hills was the fact that Practical intends to compute its multiple density by using acreage that is owned by the firm but unbuildable because it lies within a flood plain.

Apparently, citizens were unaware that utilization of unbuildable property to compute density, called planned unit development in some communities, is lawful.

The unbuildable land within the multiple district involves an estimated five acres.

In response to citizen objection to this procedure, Katz pointed out that his firm will stand behind a promise made Orchard Hills homeowners earlier not to build more than 300 units. Even this figure may be high, however, in WIXOM MEETING — Lew Coy (seated, center) made a point of criticizing Police Chief Tom McGuire at Tuesday night's crowded city council meeting.

Paving Plan Up for Council Vote

they should pay their way," Berry said.

Mayor Joseph Crupi and other councilmen had feared the ordinance might work a hardship on property owners on the other side of the road from a development. Crupi warned these owners would have to pay part of the cost of paving the other half — even though their benefit might be minimal.

Crupi suggested Presnell first consider a formula for assessing these property owners.

Presnell replied, however, that the city should enact the legislation now and decide later on the special assessment.

The city of Westland, which Presnell used as a precedent in introducing his idea, passed a similar ordinance in 1965 but is just now facing the problem of assessing the other side.

Mayor Eugene McKinney told this newspaper that Westland has required developers to put the money in escrow while the roads awaited paving. Westland is just starting a major road-paving project.

McKinney found fault with the escrow procedure, pointing out "$50,000 put aside in 1965 isn't worth the same to us today because of inflation."

Livonia, which recently dropped a similar ordinance, required developers to pave access roads immediately, creating a network of half-paved roads.

"This is always a problem," McKinney admitted. "You'd like to go in immediately and get both sides paved but you can't always do it."

Police Arrest Youth For Carrying Pistol

Novi police arrested Michael C. Ridley, 19, of Detroit February 7 for carrying a concealed weapon. Police said they had received a tip on Ridley and a description of the car in which he was riding.

Police stopped a car answering the description on Novi Road east of Eight Mile Road. A search revealed Ridley and a pistol, according to police.

Ridley was arraigned February 9 and held on a $1,000 bond. His examination date was set for February 20. The charge is a felony.

Police have solved the dynamite case at Novi High School. A stick of dynamite, found January 20 in a wastebasket of the school, was put there by a student, Police said, the student discarded the dynamite "with no intent to do damage." No police action is being taken.

Shirley Thorpe, 17, of 23951 Willowbrook, Novi, suffered facial lacerations when her car bumped into the rear of a standing line of cars February 4.

Because of the icy road condition, Miss Thorpe couldn't stop in time when several cars lined up at Novi Road and 10 Mile Road waiting for the light to change. She smashed into a car driven by Walter Colley of Belleville, pushing Colley's car into one driven by Chester Sugierski of Livonia.

Miss Thorpe was taken to Botsford Hospital in Farmington and released the same afternoon. Her car was demolished, police said.

We Salute Our Scouts ... During Their Week

We are proud of our Boy Scouts. They have helped our community by helping our people, you and me. During Boy Scout Week, February 7th to 13th, we particularly want to salute the activities of our local Scouts, and thank them for a job well done. "America's Manpower begins with BOYPOWER."

LWV Explains Election Ballot

EDITOR'S NOTE: The League of Women Voters is a national, volunteer, nonpartisan organization established to encourage informed citizen participation in government. This ballot information was prepared by the provisional League of Women Voters of the Northville-Plymouth Area and is published by The Northville Record as a public service.

All registered voters residing in the Northville School District are eligible to vote in the February 14 Special Election.

There will be two official ballots for this election. One yellow for non-property owners, and one white for property owners. The votes will be recorded separately.

In the past, bond proposition elections have been restricted to property owners because of Section 6 of Article II of the Michigan State Constitution. It provides, in effect, that to be eligible to vote on a bond issue or a tax limitation increase extending for more than five years, a voter must not only be a qualified elector but must also own property assessed for taxation or be the husband or wife of such a person.

The United States Supreme Court in two recent decisions has held that somewhat similar provisions in the statutes of the states of New York and Louisiana are contrary to the equal protection clause (Amendment 14) of the United States Constitution and therefore are illegal and unenforceable.

It is possible that the courts, applying these decisions in Michigan, might rule that all qualified electors (whether owning property or not) should be allowed to vote on bond propositions and that, unless approved by majority vote of all qualified electors, the propositions are not legally approved.

By permitting all registered electors to vote February 14, and recording the vote separately, the legality of the election can be upheld in any event. This action is taken by the Northville School Board to assure the sale of bonds, should the proposition be approved by the voters.

All ballots will be deposited in the same box, and then will be counted separately after the polls close.

In order to pass, the bond issue needs a majority of the total "yes" vote, as well as a majority of affirmative votes from property owners. On the other hand, if the majority of non-property owners vote "yes", and property owners cast a majority of "no" ballots, the issue would fail regardless of the total vote. Likewise, the issue will not pass if a majority of all voting electors vote "no" even with property owners casting a majority of "yes" ballots. In other words, non-property owners cannot pass the bond issue, but they could defeat it.

In the 31 recent elections held in Michigan, in which both property owners and non-property owners have been permitted to vote on bond or millage issues, none has been defeated by non-property owners, although several have not passed because of a majority of "no" votes from property owners.

Paper ballots will be used for this selection. Make your vote count. A spoiled ballot does not count.

According to Michigan election laws two lines must cross within one of the squares which appear on the ballot. Do not use a check mark, use an X

☐ ☒ ☒ WRONG

If you place your mark in the wrong square, you cannot exchange your ballot. Erasures are allowed, but the incorrect mark must be removed completely. The faintest mark in more than one box spoils the ballot. Do not write on the ballot.

Instructions appear on paper ballots — read them and follow them.

Elections in Northville have been won or lost by as few as five votes. In the last school millage issue there were 27 spoiled ballots and the outcome was decided by 52 votes. Remember — make your vote count.

Novi Scouts Treated to Circus

Acrobats, aerialists, elephants, and wild animal acts, were some of the highlights of the Shrine Circus enjoyed by 46 Cadette Girl Scout Troup 924, sister Scouts, and members of their families Saturday.

This year's trek marked the fifth visit the troop has made to the Shrine Circus. Most of the girls discovered the "big top" when they first attended in 1966 and since then, the circus has become an annual event.

The Cadettes received their tickets to the show partly through their active participation in the Girl Scout annual calendar sale and through the donation of tickets by Rob Muncey, Peter Alcala.

Novi Scouts attending the circus were Beth Alcala, Beth Chismark, Mary Emmons, Patricia Emmons, Christine Glennie, Colleen Gorman, Pamela Knish, and Joanne Kopke. Walled Lake members of the troop included Cheryl Lynn Gilstrap, Deborah Harmon, Sandra Howie, Julia Peters, Barbara Roumay, Linda See, and Lois Tucker. In charge of the group was Mrs. Peter Alcala and her assistants, Mrs. Glen Harmon and Mrs. Bud Roumay.

Chaperoning and providing transportation were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gorman, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Knish, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas See, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Daugherty, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Kopke, and Mrs. Roy Howie.

Cadette Troup 924 is a member of the Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council and has been active since December 1965.

Threats in Wixom Revealed

McGuire said. "If she doesn't want me to handle the case, I'll assign someone else."

"This may sound corny — but she is exercising her freedom of speech. And if she is prevented from speaking out, then where will it stop? I may not agree with what she says, but I will defend her right to say it."

Mrs. Hall received police protection at her home on an unrelated case in December but has not yet asked for protection again.

Several supporters cheered her announcement to remain in the council race Monday night. Before that she outlined briefly her platform which includes a point in favor of hiring city residents for city jobs.

This was apparently a slap at McGuire who was recruited from Washington D.C. In addition to Mrs. Hall, two other candidates knocked McGuire.

Earl Madary, an ex-city policeman who resigned five years ago, claimed "the trouble isn't with the police department, it's with the department head." He would not elaborate.

Elwood Grubb, an incumbent councilman, explained "hindsight is better than foresight" in answer to a question about McGuire's hiring.

Later Grubb insisted he did not want McGuire to become a political football in the campaign, as McGuire had previously charged. "I don't like politicians who campaign with the slogan they're going to sweep house," Grubb explained.

Arthur Cronin, president of the Wixom League of Voters which sponsored the forum, cautioned the candidates not to use "cheap, low-down, dirty politics" in their campaigns.

Mrs. Hall has filed a complaint with the Michigan Fair Election Practices Commission. She has denied her attacks on the government were politically motivated.

"I criticized the government before I knew I was going to run for council," she added. "I think it's the citizen's duty to find out what's going on. I can't help it if these clowns keep making mistakes."

Talks Begin On College Contract

The Schoolcraft College Faculty Forum has resumed formal negotiations for a new master contract with the board of trustees.

Negotiating teams for both sides have been meeting to draft final details for procedures to be followed in negotiations.

Chief negotiator for the board of trustees is W. Kenneth Lindner. Other members of the team are Fred Stefanski and Robert Battista, attorney of the firm of Butzel, Eamon, Long, Gust & Kennedy.

The Faculty Forum is represented by chairman Oscar Poupart, co-chairman Larry D. VanderMolen, Norman Wheeler, Gary Herschoren, Lois Mattson and Stuart Bloom, president of the forum.

The faculty recently submitted its non-economic proposals for the consideration of the board. Both sides have established June 30 as a target date for reaching a new master contract settlement.

Density Decision

requirement can be reduced to 5,000 square feet if 1,000 square feet of property is developed for park and recreation area for common use of park residents.

Also, an amendment to the R-2 ordinance (two-family units) was approved, provided that all such units must have a minimum lot size of 11,000 square feet and must not have less than 100 feet of width.

Presnell, who has been highly critical of developers because of what he charges is the developers' concern for maximum profit without regard to community effect, was irritated by letters and literature from developers critical of local government he claimed they were either irrelevant or intended to influence council decision.

In today's society that demands more "elbow room", developers shirk their responsibilities, make their money and leave behind problems created by their developments to start anew in other communities, he charged.

He was particularly bitter when a representative of the building industry suggested, in writing, that a thorough re-evaluation of the master plan be undertaken and that the building industry is prepared to help pay for such a study.

"I would not accept one penny," he declared, pointing out that while the master plan is several years old it nevertheless represents a substantial investment of money, study, and time.

Mayor Joseph Crupi, who along with other councilmen suggested the offer of help in such a study be considered, said he hoped "this council and the planning commission will not be restricted to its past actions," meaning that periodic re-evaluation of the city's planning goals is essential in view of changing community needs and demands.

Novi OK's Zoning Change

view of the city's new density maximums established by the council earlier in the meeting, he admitted.

Another objection voiced by citizens involved roads in the proposed multiples development. Specifically, they argued that although preliminary plans for the development showed no roads from it to adjacent Orchard Hills, plans could be changed because of fire or traffic regulations. Fearing such roads could create additional traffic in their subdivision, Orchard Hills citizens noted that once the rezoning was approved they lost all hope of preventing such roads into their area.

While both planners and councilmen said they are aware of the existing flood problem, they took the position that a developer could not be held responsible for problems on adjacent property. It is, however, the responsibility of city officials to prevent the new developer from adding to the problem, they pointed out, and this can be done at the time of site approval.

Furthermore, they pointed out that they must consider the "best land use" for the property and, in doing so, a multiple development appears to be justifiable because it will serve as a buffer between single family homes on the east and industrial development on the west.

Lew Coy Joins Critics of Chief

had explained previously he became confused between the father's name (Homer Mossip) and the son's name (Michael Homer) is issuing the permit. McAtee rebutted Mrs. Lewis' letter by reading a letter from Mr. Lewis, who asked that the issue be dropped "because it has been blown completely out of proportion."

Councilwoman Lottie Chamber's complaint that McGuire had been paid for two extra leave days last year was dismissed after a written explanation from City Attorney Gene Schnelz.

Schnelz said McGuire was entitled to three days instead of the three and a half he was paid for, but Mrs. Chambers did not dispute the extra half-day.

The question of McGuire's moving expenses, which also has been a point of conflict, was referred to next meeting because of Councilman Howard Coe's absence.

SPECIAL SCHOOL ELECTION

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION OF THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF NORTHVILLE PUBLIC SCHOOLS
WAYNE, OAKLAND AND WASHTENAW COUNTIES, MICHIGAN TO BE HELD

FEBRUARY 14, 1970

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF SAID SCHOOL DISTRICT:

Please Take Notice that a special election of the qualified electors of Northville Public Schools, Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, will be held in the Cooke Annex School Building (Old Junior High), 405 West Main Street, in the City of Northville, Michigan, on Saturday, February 14, 1970.

THE POLLS OF ELECTION WILL OPEN AT 7:00 O'CLOCK, A.M., AND CLOSE AT 8:00 O'CLOCK P.M.

The following proposition will be submitted to the vote of the electors qualified to vote thereon at said special election:

Shall Northville Public Schools, Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, borrow the sum of not to exceed Two Million Seven Hundred Dollars ($2,700,000) and issue its bonds therefor, for the purpose of erecting, furnishing and equipping an addition or additions to and remodeling each of the following school buildings: Northville High School, Ida B. Cooke Junior High School, Moraine Elementary School, Amerman Elementary School and Main Street Elementary School; constructing and equipping a bus maintenance garage; constructing and equipping additional athletic facilities at the high school; constructing and equipping playground facilities, and developing and improving existing sites?

Section 6, Article II, of the Michigan Constitution of 1963 reads in part as follows:

"Whenever any question is required to be submitted by a political subdivision to the electors ... for the issue of bonds, only electors in, and who have property assessed for any ad valorem taxes in any part of the district or territory to be affected by the result of such election or electors who are the lawful husbands or wives of such persons shall be entitled to vote thereon ..."

Several recent United States Supreme Court decisions have indirectly raised questions as to the validity of the above constitutional provision. For this reason, all resident qualified school electors who are registered with the city or township clerk of the city or township in which they reside shall be allowed to vote on the proposition of borrowing and issuing bonds of said school district. The votes cast by those electors who have property assessed for ad valorem taxes within the district or are the lawful husbands or wives of such persons and the votes cast by registered electors who do not have property so assessed will be tabulated separately.

This Notice is given by order of the Board of Education of Northville Public Schools, Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

An Excuse For Voting "YES"

Two contrasting reactions following a defeated school millage request in Northville in 1968 remain clear in mind.

They support a theory that no matter what strategy is employed in pre-election campaigning for passage of tax spending projects, there will always be excuses for voting "no".

This is not intended to imply that valid reasons for casting negative votes do not exist in any election seeking permission to spend public monies. It merely suggests that we humans need reasons as defenses, especially if we suspect (inwardly) our real motives are not those we use for excuses.

For example, in post mortem evaluation of the election one reason given by several voters for not supporting the millage request in 1968 was that they did not know the school would be forced to eliminate extra-curricular activities if the request failed.

On the other hand, another voter told me quite frankly he opposed the millage because of the threat to curtail extra-curricular activities if the proposition did not pass.

"Can't stand blackjacking tactics," he explained.

There is the chance, therefore, that by revealing what might happen if voters do not approve the proposed $2.7 million bond issue Saturday in Northville a certain block of voters will feel threatened.

Conversely, no mention of the consequences of failure could result in an equal number of voters not yet sufficiently concerned to vote "yes".

It's a Mexican standoff.

So what will happen if the school building program goes down the drain Saturday?

You're right. The need for classroom space will stay right here to plague us. What's more, an $80,000 architect's bill will remain. And it'll have to be paid off in 18 months.

(The bid-before-bonding procedure is almost pure profit for taxpayers, if they approve the building program. If they don't — never — the drawings that are done ahead of time so that you know exactly how much you have to pay for what you want, become expensive dust collectors.)

But back to the need. The district can get by with its present facilities throughout most of the 1970-71 year without the additions. But by the 1971-72 year, the need for more space will become critical.

Obviously, to be prepared for the critical need when it arrives, construction must begin this year.

So there it is, Mr. and Mrs. Voter.

Call it a threat if you like. Pretend the doctor is lying and you really don't need the operation.

But look around you. The district's growing. New people are moving in. And already some of the existing facilities, particularly the high school, are over-extended.

Yes. If the bond issue proposal to construct 38 new classrooms to our existing buildings fails Saturday, the school board will probably "hit us over the head" with another request for the same in several months.

Unless you have a better idea, the best excuse for voting 'yes' is that our schools need the space.

Speaking for Myself

Party Consensus: Good or Bad?

Good . . .

The most important goal of the two major political parties is successful election to office. However repugnant it may seem, it is incumbent upon the party, therefore, to pick a popular candidate — a candidate who does not necessarily have the best political credentials but one who can win office.

Selection of the candidate for party backing through the primary process may indicate the candidate's popularity among his own constituents but it says little for that candidate's popularity among opposing party members or, more importantly, among the independent voters.

Rank and file participation notwithstanding, it can be logically argued that not only is the primary device and a drain on financial sources but that people are more likely to vote party philosophy in the primary and neglect the most important question, "Can he win in the general election?"

Party leaders with political savvy can, through consensus choice weigh both philosophy and popularity, pool its resources, and concentrate on winning office. If this kind of consensus be bad, why party support for Governor Milliken or Senator Hart?

Jack W. Hoffman

Bad . . .

Many people are disgusted with "backroom political deals"—and justifiably so. They feel left out, alienated from the political process.

And one of the shoddiest political moves, which is bound to alienate more people, is the picking of a consensus candidate. To put it mildly, it reeks to high heaven and makes any maneuvering behind closed doors at political conventions look glamorous by comparison.

Choosing a consensus candidate is hardly a democratic process. To save money through elimination of an expensive primary fight and to avoid party division, party bigwigs get together and pick their man.

In doing so, the mucky-mucks are placing themselves above the people. They are making a decision that the people should rightfully make by voting in a primary.

Any party that picks by consensus deserves the rancor of the people and defeat at the polls.

Urges Tax Structure Reform

To the Editor:

With the school millage election just a few days away I think it is time for the people of the district to stop and think about the whole taxation structure as it presently exists.

Before having my say, so to speak, I want to make it perfectly clear that

Thoughts of Man's Worst Enemy

by Jack W. Hoffman
Being a cynic of sorts, I cannot help but believe that the current emphasis on pollution control by our government is the matador's cape to distract attention from the Vietnam war. Certainly, the politician finds it expedient to take up the cry and join the masses. And who can blame him? Politics requires a good public image.

Hopefully, public diversion from the war problem will be short lived and the current widespread attention to pollution will not soon be forgotten.

Concerning pollution some thoughts come to mind:

•The argument from the generation past ("You should be thankful for those smokestacks because they mean your livelihood") is disappearing, but it is interesting to note that while the industrial giant polluting whole towns may be slapped with a $150 fine, a young man who smokes marijuana and thereby harms his own body may be jailed for several years.

•A daughter recently asked, after reading an article on pollution, if it is really true that there are fewer butterflies today than when I was a youngster.

If you are like me, you've never really given it much thought. And when you do consider the question, the answer's a little frightening and awfully sad. Have we, in a single generation, watched an evolutionary phenomenon?

•While discussing, somewhat in jest, an ecologist's recent contention that air pollution will soon blot out much of the sunlight and that within a decade or so city dwellers will be required to wear gas masks to survive, I heard this remark by a pilot friend:

"You know, sometimes lately when I'm up flying early in the morning when the sun's just right, I've suddenly come across this thin dirty cloud. When I fly through it my plane sucks in all kind of soot and ashes. The strange thing about it is that you

I'm not against a building program for the schools for I'm sure it's needed. However, I do feel that the time has come for the taxpayer to place some controls on the state and local, officials and agencies, who at the present time have the power to change the tax equalization factor or assessed valuation of property without the approval of the voter. This gives these officials and agencies a "carte blanche" access to the taxpayers pocketbook and the taxpayer can't do a thing about it. It is impossible for him to plan his financial affairs with any degree of accuracy for he never knows when the equalization factor will be changed or the property reassessed. The poor devil living on a fixed income really suffers and has little recourse even though he may have supported the millage proposal.

Why can't limitations be placed on changing the equalization factor? Maybe the factor could be reviewed every 10 years and if changes were needed they could be approved by a vote of the people.

Property assessments as they are presently constituted tend to penalize the person who takes care of and improves his property while the slum-type owners are rewarded with reduced taxes. Is the private ownership of a home a worthwhile goal of Americans today or is it better for all of us to become tenants? I for one would like to continue to own my own home but I'm afraid the present system of taxation is going to eventually drive most people into some type of developmental living.

Encouragement in the form of tax relief should be given all single home owners, but only on the home he occupies. Senior citizens should receive additional relief as they get older.

Possibly a graduated scale to reduce the assessed valuation at various age levels as long as they or their spouse owns that particular home. Upon sale of the home to a new owner it could be re-evaluated.

I'm not claiming that these suggestions are foolproof or that they will solve all of the problems but I do think it's time something is done.

I have never voted against school millage yet and I probably won't this time but the temptation is sure there to say to yourself "Now's my chance to get even." I think these kinds of thoughts will be in the minds of many of the voters as they go to the polls. When will our elected officials begin to provide the leadership for solving these problems? The well can run dry.

A. J.

*** No Tax Hike Draws Fire

To the Editor:

With the election approaching there are several points that do not strengthen my confidence in the proponents.

We have the flat statement that the proposed issue will not increase the size of the tax bill for 1970-71. I should hope not. We were bludgeoned into a 2-mill increase with the attitude on one hand that the schools would discontinue their afternoon babysitting and might even drop publication of minutes of meetings. On the other hand we were faced with repeated elections until we voted yes.

Now to a person acquainted with conventional budgeting, the 2-mill increase to a 33-mill levy translated to a 6 percent increase. Consequently, when the equalization hits our increased value for an approximate 25 percent increase, to maintain the 6 percent increase in revenue in dollars, it should be possible to decrease the millage.

But our school administration or school board does not operate this way. They have accepted the bonanza with no apologies.

In addition to an approximate 25 percent increase we are told the present proposal will not increase the tax bill. No, but it already has. It is the self delusion we practice when we trade in an automobile. We tell ourselves we are taking a worn out, obsolete and disreputable vehicle and trading for a new super model and our monthly payments do not increase — but we do not remind or admit to ourselves that they will continue for an additional period.

And to add insult to injury, the minutes of meetings are gone and in exchange we are blessed with a propaganda, public relations job. How does this house organ compare in cost? We know how it compares in public relations.

Hurd H. Sutherland

EDITOR'S NOTE — Originally the superintendent and school board indicated that publication of official minutes would be resumed if the three-mill (not two) operating fund increase were approved last March. It was apparently decided later, however, that "Opening School Doors" would be a more beneficial means of communication. Such "house organs" are popular with school officials in many districts. Some publish official minutes in addition to their own publicity circulars. They find the latter provides a media for distributing school news as they wish it to be presented. Official minutes are dry reading. In addition they record some actions where emphasis is not desired. In general school officials feel that news reporters cover these details in "free" news stories and that their money (taxpayers' money) is better spent in accentuating the positive, as they see it, and attempting to improve school-community understanding. Cost of the "Opening School Doors" house organ is about $340 per issue for printing and mailing, not counting whatever preparation time is required. Three have been published since October. When the district published minutes they ran between $150 and $200 per month depending upon length of minutes.

Opposes Lower Voting Age

To the Editor:

Once again we are hearing from the "liberals" that the voting age should be lowered. Aside from the fact that the argument, "we're old enough to fight therefore we are old enough to vote" is patently ridiculous since some countries have used boys and girls aged 10 to fight their wars, there are other, more serious reasons for not only not lowering the voting age but making the rules much tighter than they now are. Incidentally, when armies can be conscripted by government force (which is obviously contrary to the fourteenth amendment), any age limitation involved is purely subjective.

For good reason, namely lack of property and indeterminate earnings, 18 year olds are unable to make a binding contract. By their daily actions they demonstrate their immaturity, not only in radical action such as a dope, demonstrations and rock festivals but also such inane activities as poor driving records, getting married without adequate economic background and general unwillingness and inability to accept the consequences of their actions.

Granted, we the elders have given them little to learn from. We advocate the use of force to achieve our ends — the young use it. We talk altruism — they act it. We give tacit approval to Socialism and Fascism — they go, all the way and espouse it. We approve redistributing privately earned wealth — they take it.

The "liberals" advocating the reduced voting age have checked the statistics and think they will be able to sway the young and thus assure themselves of reelection. In this way they think to have their pet proposals put into effect. They should be careful. The young still retain some rationality though the elders have tried to stamp it out.

Over the years we have gradually eliminated all restraints on the uncontrolled gang warfare of total democracy. First we got rid of the election of senators by the state legislatures. Then we eliminated the property qualification for voting. Next came the elimination of the poll tax which proved local interest. A few years ago the literacy test was eliminated so voters don't even have to know the issues except as others see it and finally state legislatures were forced to the "one man, one vote" rule which made federal control absolute.

Now it is proposed to lower the voting age so that the most vocal and the least valuable, from the standpoint of the creation of wealth through earning and investment, are given total power over those who provide the country with its sustenance. It would make more sense to make the voter qualification dependent on some objective standards such as property ownership (real property), $5000 in the bank, a high school education and a steady job. It is patently ridiculous to invest the vote concerning the disposal of someone else's income in the illiterate, those on welfare and those not paying taxes themselves.

Urges School Vacation Cut

To the Editor:

I recently received a page from a December issue of your paper referring to the full-year school plan under consideration by the Northville Board of Education. I assume it was sent to me because of my 10 years of work on revised school calendars, and, since my comment has been invited, I'd like to reply through your paper.

First, let me compliment everyone involved for the very high calibre preparation and presentation of this material. There is widespread interest in full-year calendars all over the country, but I have rarely seen as good an approach. While there are many arguments supporting these plans from the standpoint of other aspects of American life — most importantly, just now, as an anti-inflationary measure — I believe the board has properly limited itself to your local situation, and the interests of children, parents, and teachers.

I have only one suggestion to offer. In my experience, most families with a thorough understanding of the subject prefer a schedule that eliminates the long (approximately three month) vacation entirely, in favor of shorter and more frequent holidays.

A plan which offers 12 weeks of study followed by a four week vacation, or nine weeks of study followed by three weeks of vacation, all year round, offers — in my opinion — better educational opportunities for the child and more leisure options for the family. In terms of cost or operation it has no advantage over the quarter system you have been asked to consider, but most families feel that a three month holiday is too long at any season, and almost intolerable in the off-seasons of any but very temperate climates.

While you are making the big step toward revision of an antiquated and wasteful school calendar, why not take the added little step of abandoning the three month vacation altogether?

Sincerely,
Mrs. Charles S. Liebman

Northville, Novi Matmen Eye Tournaments

Light - Weight Wildcats Fight Against Ignominious Fate

Despite an uninspiring won-loss record this season in dual meets, Novi's wrestling team is not necessarily doomed to finish at the bottom of the Southeastern Conference standings.

Because the conference has not yet set up a round robin schedule for all teams, the wrestling championship is decided strictly by a one-day tournament instead of dual meets.

That tourney will be Saturday at Ypsilanti Lincoln, a last minute change from Dundee. All eight conference schools will have teams there.

This will be Novi's first appearance in the tourney after logging a 1-10 record in its first year on the mats (not including Wednesday night's meet with Saline).

Dexter and Chelsea rank as the favorites, both far above Novi's potential. Dexter whopped Novi, 50-5, and Chelsea shut it out, 52-0, in dual meets earlier this season.

Even though Chelsea won by the bigger score, Novi Coach Rick Trudeau is picking Dexter for the title. "Dexter has got one of the best Class B teams in the state," he praises. "It has more depth than Chelsea and is just a better overall team."

Trudeau, however, isn't making any predictions about his own team. He is hoping for four possible medalists, though only two seem likely.

They are the Ford brothers, Pat and Tom, who anchor down the 123-pound and 98-pound classes, respectively. Two other possibilities are Bruce Simonson at 115 and Stan Jackson at 130. Pat Ford is just recovering from an injury and may not be quite up to par.

Tom Ford and Terry Auten were the only two Wildcats with good matches in last Saturday's quadrangular at Fowlerville. Ford took a second, and Auten — who fights at heavyweight — place third. Jackson also took a third, but by forfeit.

Novi (46) finished last in the quadrangular behind Charlotte (143), Fowlerville (130) and Howell (87). None of the other teams are from the Southeastern Conference so the meet gave little indication of how Novi might do this Saturday.

The conference tourney will award points to the first four places on a 10-8-6-4 basis.

Novi has basically a freshman-sophomore team i.e. actually a junior varsity team. The only upperclassmen are junior Greg Budlong at 175 and senior Jim Wachtel at 185.

This emphasis on the younger wrestlers is reflected by Novi's record in the lighter weights compared to the heavier weights. The Wildcats have won 46 per cent of their matches in weights 98 through 130. But they've won only 12 per cent of their matches in weights 137 through heavyweight.

"We're building for the future," smiles Trudeau. "We'll have a lot of experience in a couple of years."

If Pat Ford is going to capture a conference title this year, he'll have to beat one of the top 123-pounders in the Class B — Randy Bates of Dundee. Bates is one of two Southeastern wrestlers who figure to do well in state competition.

The other is Dennis Brown of Chelsea, a top contender for the state heavyweight title in Class B.

Novi's two most recent meets were both losses: 31-19 last Tuesday to Airport and 52-0 last Thursday to West Bloomfield.

'Loser' Mustangs Try For Quick Turnabout

If Northville's wrestlers can stay untracked they could do some damage in Saturday's Wayne-Oakland tournament at Clarenceville.

The Mustangs don't figure to be among the leaders in the eight-team tourney, but they'll be jockeying for position in the middle of the pack.

They broke a five-meet losing streak Tuesday night by downing South Lyon, 29-17. That gave them a final 4-6 dual meet record for the season.

Waterford Kettering, the defending champion, and Clarkston are rated the teams to beat in the conference. The top four wrestlers in each weight class will receive points on a 10-7-5-2 basis.

Northville Coach Jack Townsley has been shifting some of his matmen around in the final meets — a strategy that has worked almost to perfection.

Specifically he lowered the Griffin brothers one weight class each and both won back-to-back matches. Their string started in the Milford meet last Tuesday, when Northville lost a tough one, 27-19.

Mark won at 107 pounds with a 14-3 decision, and David won at 115 by 4-3. Out for most of the season with injuries, Mark is just getting into shape. He is the team captain.

Ahead 19-17 with only two matches to go against Milford, the Mustangs missed an upset when David D'Haene (185) and Mike Dresch (heavyweight) got pinned.

Jim Armstrong had put the Mustangs in front earlier with a pin at 130. And Rich Lamp rallied them from behind for the last time with a pin at 175.

The Griffin brothers again led the assault in the South Lyon meet. Mark gained a pin in 0:54 at 107, and David took a 7-0 decision at 115.

Armstrong and Lamp also captured matches at 130 and 175, respectively.

But the margin of victory came when Randy Marburger scored a pin at 155, Mike Petteys scored another pin at 165 and D'Haene won by forfeit at 185.

The Griffin brothers, Armstrong, Lamp and Marburger are expected to do the best for Northville in the tournament.

FLYING THROUGH THE AIR - With the greatest of ease, Rick Hill (44) of Novi goes up for a layup leaving Doug Woolard (21) of Milan flatfooted. This was one of the few times Novi got the jump on Milan in an 82-59 loss last Friday.

Milan Zeroes in on Title

Saline, once a contender for the Southeastern Conference basketball title in its own right, became a spoiler last Friday by depositing Dundee, 74-59. The upset left Milan all alone in first place with only three games left in the round robin schedule.

Milan thrashed last-place Novi, 82-59, (see related story) to go a game ahead of Dundee. Milan has two comparatively easy games left before tangling with Dundee in the season finale February 27.

Milan beat Dundee earlier this year, 74-60.

Ypsilanti Lincoln did Saline a favor by surprising Chelsea, 63-61, and South Lyon knocked over Dexter, 76-67, in two other conference upsets Friday.

Saline's victory gave it an outside chance for a title tie if Milan slips along the way. Wes Gall again paced Saline with 20 points with Wyman Osterhout adding 12.

Don DeSmith scored 16 for Dundee, which fell behind, 29-14, in the first quarter and never caught up.

Ken Wright converted two free throws with 10 seconds remaining to provide Lincoln's winning margin. Al Napier had 16 points and Butch Meggitt and Vernon Porter each netted 13 for Lincoln.

Jim Wojicki pumped in 22 and Ron Sweeney hit for 17 in the losing Chelsea effort. Chelsea trailed the entire game.

Dave Brandon, the conference's leading scorer, fired in 34 points to spark South Lyon. Greg Ianni collected 24 for Dexter. A big 26-point second quarter put it away for South Lyon.

About To Be Fried, Too

Wildcats Pressed, 82 - 59

Novi's basketball team goes from the firepan into the fire Friday when it goes to Dundee.

Novi got thrashed by Southeastern Conference leader Milan, 82-59, last Friday. Now the Wildcats face angered Dundee, which lost an upset to Saline and must win Friday to stay alive in the title race.

Except for the first three and a half minutes, Novi wasn't in the same game with Milan. The game got off to a slow start as the Big Red got burned several times on travelling calls.

With the first quarter almost half gone, Novi led, 4-2, on a free throw by Bob Vivian and a three-point play by Phil McMillan.

The Wildcats played catch-up with Milan for the remainder of the first quarter, as the tempo picked up fast. Milan was in front, 19-5, at the quarter turn.

Then 12 consecutive points at the beginning of the second quarter put the game out of reach. In the first six minutes of the second period, Milan outscored Novi, 21-6.

Doug Woolard, who finished the game with 20 points, scored 14 in the first half and rested most of the second half. He went to the bench with 1:23 left in the first half, looking exhausted.

Even though he played pivot, Woolard was a key man in Milan's fullcourt press which rattled and wore down the less rigorous Wildcats.

"We practice against the press every week," lamented Coach Jim Ladd. "But when we get in a game, we just can't stand up to it."

Even when it wasn't pressing, Milan continued to run on Novi, often getting down court with a three-to-two or two-to-one advantage.

Tom Boyer, a second stringer who tossed in 11 points in the fourth quarter, led the Wildcats with 13 points. Rick Dale followed with 12 and McMillan added 10.

*****

Novi's junior varsity failed to hang onto a 17-16 first quarter lead and lost to Milan, 58-50, last Friday.

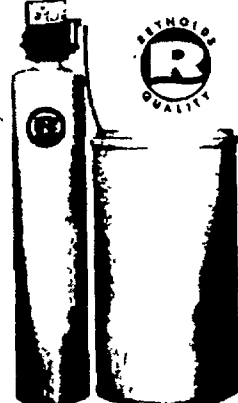

Mike Morrison was the only Wildcat to tally in double figures, canning 11. Darrell Love pumped in 17 for the Little Red.

Mustangs Upset Brighton, 59-55

The Northville Record/ THE NOVI NEWS

SPORTS

A defensive monkey wrench was tossed into Brighton's point-scoring machinery here Friday night as the Mustangs rolled to a 59-55 upset victory and moved a notch closer to second place.

The victory was the fifth straight for the Mustangs, second hottest quintet in the Wayne-Oakland Conference. They stayed even with third-place West Bloomfield at 7-3.

Brighton, a pre-game favorite having knocked off the Mustangs on December 19 by 12 points, 58-46, dropped two full games behind league-leading Bloomfield Hills Andover but still clung to second place in the tightened loop race (see related story).

Friday's contest was a "must game" for the Mustangs who didn't disappoint their jubilant coach, Bob Kucher. "It was a well played game, an intense game, and our players were determined to win."

And win they did: by crippling Brighton's reputed offensive machine — the fast break, and by successfully coping with the Bulldog full-court press Northville's scrappy defense forced the Bulldogs into one of their poorest scoring exhibitions of the season.

Northville took a first quarter lead, maintained its edge through the third period, and then successfully fought off a fourth-quarter Brighton rally to clinch the victory in the closing seconds of play.

"That's one of the great things about our team since the holidays. We're coming on strong, refusing to quit before the game's over," said Kucher, who coached at Brighton six years ago before coming to Northville.

Especially pleasing for Kucher was the fact that the Mustangs held their own — "and even added four points" — without the full services of their ace scorer, Ron Hubbard, who was benched late in the second quarter with four fouls and who did not see action again until the fourth quarter.

Hubbard turned in 19 points — the eighth consecutive game in which he has taken scoring laurels.

Key to Northville's victory, other than its defensive floor play — generated in large measure by the alert, scrappy performance of little Terry Mills, was the Mustangs' performance on the boards. Brighton's victory earlier this season over the Mustangs was tied to its superior rebounding. But Friday night that superiority was shattered as the Mustangs matched the Bulldogs' performance.

Bernie Bach, Kerry Cushing and Steve Utley drew the praise of their coach for their rebounding performance.

Although Northville led most of the way and had an eight-point margin in the third point, the game wasn't decided until the last 13 seconds.

*****

Balanced scoring was the keystone to the Northville Colts' 50-40 triumph over the Brighton junior varsity five Friday night.

With Brad Cole leading the way with 22 points, three other Northville players picked up a total of 25 points. Scott Evans came up with nine, followed by Todd Hannert and Bob Kirt, each of whom scored eight points.

To The Rescue

Friday's game between Northville (white) and Brighton (dark) was a defensive struggle. On the right, Bernie Bach (54) drives in for a layup only to be blocked by Dave Harmon (51). Coming up on the left is Ron Hubbard (20), Bob Musch (41) and Kerry Cushing (14) and on the right is Bruce Ritter (25). Directly below, Rich Adams (10) takes a rebound off the defensive board for Northville. He outreaches Ritter (left) and Harmon (right). Northville won to stay alive in the Wayne-Oakland title chase, 59-55.

See more pictures of Northville-Brighton game, page 9-B.

Tough Road Ahead?

Andover Still Leads

Northville has completed phase one of a formula which could salvage a share of the Wayne-Oakland basketball championship for the Mustangs. But Bloomfield Hills Andover has got to co-operate by losing three of its last four games.

Judging from Andover's 76-61 thumping of Waterford Kettering last Friday that doesn't seem too likely.

Andover faces Clarenceville, Northville, Brighton and West Bloomfield in that order.

Next Tuesday's showdown at Northville should be a barometer on how tough things will be for Andover in the final stretch.

Right now things seem pretty easy, thanks to Northville's 59-55 upset over Brighton Friday, which put Andover two games up on Brighton (see related story).

West Bloomfield remained even with Northville, three games out, by crushing Milford, 76-59. Clarenceville jolted Clarkston, 65-55, in the other game.

Andover grabbed an early lead, increased it to nine points by halftime and was never in any trouble. Dick Souther connected for 28 points to top all scorers. Jerry Bell and Terry Weiss managed 12 apiece for Kettering.

Don Johnston, West Bloomfield's leading scorer, went eight points over his average with a 28-point performance against Milford. Johnston also hauled down 20 rebounds for his best night of the season.

Gary Neighbors collected 18 and Mike Monnier added 17 for Milford.

West Bloomfield charged into 44-21 halftime lead and coasted the second half.

Clarenceville emerged from the conference cellar to join three other teams in a fifth-place tie. Bob Riddling canned 21 and Mike Duman 16 for Clarenceville. Don Brown scored 16 for Clarkston.

Northville Swimmers Ripple River Rouge

River Rouge may have the state's best basketball team in Class B, but it doesn't have a swim team that can compare to Northville's.

The Mustangs overwhelmed River Rouge, 73-32, last Tuesday for their sixth victory in seven dual meets.

Coach Ben Lauber used Tom Thompson and Ed Zywiec, who have been winning two events a meet, only once against River Rouge. Instead he substituted freely with understudies, especially freshmen.

Lauber, however, will have to be quite a bit more cautious with Dearborn Riverside, which is coming to Northville 4 p.m. Tuesday. In a previous splashdown, Northville squeezed by Riverside by taking the final event.

Lauber's chances for something like a local dynasty took a dive upward last week when the Northville 7th-8th-9th grade team toppled Redford Hilbert and Redford Pearson in a triangular meet at Redford Union. The team scores were 54 to 40 to 34, respectively.

Northville won the medley relay with a team of Chris Sweaney, Bob Zimmerman, Wendell Wegeng and Rich Alsbaugh.

Final score: Northville 73, River Rouge 32.

Around the Courts

Northville girls split a pair with two Livonia teams last week, on both the varsity and junior varsity level. On Wednesday the varsity edged Bentley, 30-27, and the junior varsity crunched Bentley JV's 16-4. Linda Wilson, who finished with a game high of 18 points, clinched the varsity game for Northville with a three-pointer.

On Friday Stevenson nipped the varsity, 21-20 despite Linda Wilson's 12 points. And the junior varsity lost, 16-13, to Stevenson JV's.

*****

Northville's 8th graders dropped a 42-39 decision to Redford Hilbert, negating Todd Eis' 10-point effort last Thursday. The loss left them with a 3-2 record.

Colleges Name Area Grads

Names of five Northville area residents were among those whose degrees have been confirmed by the University of Michigan regents.

The list submitted to this newspaper included:

Constance Crump, 46735 Timberlane, bachelor of arts degree in economics; Mrs. Mary J. Freydl, 221 North Rogers, bachelor of arts in speech; Frances R. Murphy, 576 Reed, bachelor of arts in fine art painting; Joseph J. Richards, 37986 Tralee Trail, bachelor of science in natural resources; and Carol Klopfenstein, master of music in performance (French horn).

Commencement ceremonies were held in December in U-M's Hill Auditorium, where the graduates heard Senator Philip A. Hart of Michigan.

Under a policy of the university, official announcement of students receiving degrees is not made until after the U-M regents have made them official by confirmation.

Altogether, the university confirmed the awarding of some 2,300 degrees this winter to students being graduated from 18 colleges and schools.

Associate degrees and certificates of program completion were awarded to 79 students, including several from the Northville - Novi area, at Schoolcraft College on completion of the fall semester which ended

December 31, Registrar Norman E. Dunn has announced.

Dunn said 75 students earned associate degrees, two earned certificates on completion of two-year programs, and two others received certificates on completion of work on one-year program.

The local graduates are: Gretchen Ann Vahlbusch, 48025 Rushwood Lane, basic business; Kathleen A. Matatall, 46141 Sunset, associate in arts; Kevin McClain, 937 Jeffrey Drive, associate in business studies; Mark Lipa, 911 Spring Drive, associate in general studies; and Gary C. Pratt, 20990 Lujon, associate in technology.

Mary Godfrey of Northville was one of 872 students who completed work for degrees last month at the University of Iowa, officials announced this week.

She and the other January graduates will be invited to participate in the spring commencement exercises scheduled May 28.

Daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Godfrey of 385 Eaton Drive, Mary received her M.S. degree in dental hygiene.

Five other Michigan students, none from this area, also were awarded degrees. Altogether, students from 39 states and 19 foreign countries received degrees.

Teachers Go to School, Too

Students had a day of vacation while Northville's teaching staff and administrators spent Wednesday, February 4, in workshops designed to help them better meet the needs of their students.

At the elementary level, teachers began curriculum day viewing a film "Team Teaching in the Elementary School." The film, produced by the Institute for Development of Educational Activities, attempts to teach techniques for successful team teaching. A reaction panel followed the film.

"Let's All Experience Language" was the title of the morning workshop conducted by William Tillman, curriculum director of the Lamphere Schools and director of IDEA Demonstration School in Madison Heights.

Tillman is a consultant for Oakland University and is presently working with Dr. Harry Hahn's program for improving reading and language arts teaching. The program is being conducted in Northville and other districts in the state.

In the afternoon, four Elementary workshops were conducted. One workshop, conducted by Gerry Perrett, was designed to bring full utilization of all equipment in the district. Under the direction of Thomas Dunn, Wayne State Media Center, teachers were involved in working with transparencies and learning projector techniques.

Laminating processes were learned under the guidance of Robert Stafford of the Wayne County Intermediate School District Assist Center. In the fourth workshop, conducted by Mirium Teichner, individualized reading programs were explored.

Secondary teachers met under the direction of Fred Holdsworth, high school principal, Ronald Horwath, junior high principal and Paul Osborn, president of NEA, and department heads responsible for the day's activities.

Two short films presenting critical problems met by today's teachers opened the day, followed by discussion panels.

Flexible scheduling was examined in a program directed by David Amerman, principal of Livonia's Franklin High, and Audrey Becker, instructional materials center director.

Out of the program came five conclusions: (1) certain specific needs in educational programs can be best met by a more flexible schedule; (2) gradualness of implementation is necessary; (3) administrator, teacher, student and community acceptance of involvement and responsibility is vital; (4) the form of flexible scheduling adopted must be unique to the needs of the particular school; and (5) continuous evaluation is a must.

Afternoon secondary programs were geared to departmental evaluation and revision planning workshops.

Both elementary and secondary programs were arranged by Miss Florence Panattoni, curriculum coordinator for Northville schools.

the district, 65 percent of the people contacted said they knew of the building program.

"This suggests to me," Spear said, "that 65 percent know why we are involved in the building program. We are a growing district and will continue to grow."

Spear voiced fear that some voters may favor the planned construction but will not cast their vote, relying on other voters to pass the issue for them. Nevertheless, he is "very confident the bond issue will pass, and it will be approved by a greater margin than anything in the last five years."

The last building construction proposal was approved by voters 608 "yes" to 276 "no" in June, 1965. Included on the ballot were Moraine Elementary and Cooke Junior High. About 22 percent of the registered voters went to the polls.

buildings, window replacement at Main Street and the Junior High Annex and repairing the Main Street roof.

Voters will be asked to approve the building program as one package, with a "yes" vote indicating approval of the bond issue.

Pending voter approval Saturday, the calendar for the building program includes:

March 3 - bond sale approval from state;

March 16 or 17 - bond sale;

April 1 - construction begins on all projects;

April 1, 1971 - all projects completed.

Spear said construction schedules call for a minimum of classroom interruption. The new facilities will be constructed first, with classes moving into the additions before any remodeling of existing facilities is undertaken.

Many classrooms are planned for completion by September, 1970.

Architect's drawings of all projects are on display at the board of education offices, and drawings of new facilities are also shown at the respective school.

Citizens Wary of Bill of Rights When Asked to Sign Petition

EDITOR'S NOTE: Many adults are critical of today's educational process, charging in some instances that students learn too little about their government and hence are unprepared to assume an adult role in society. But what about the adults? Howard Kohn, a recent University of Michigan journalism graduate who has joined the staff of this newspaper, was assigned the job of sampling a cross section of area communities to determine how much adults know about their government. How he went about it and his findings are disclosed in the following article.

Petition

Whereas we the people of the State of Michigan, having suffered in a number of grievances at the hands of the Government of the United States, do hereby petition the Congress to accept the following demands and to furthermore charge itself to enact the following legislation:

ARTICLE I

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

ARTICLE II

A well-regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed.

ARTICLE III

No Soldier shall, in time of peace be quartered in any house, without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

ARTICLE V

No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

ARTICLE VI

In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusations; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

ARTICLE VII

In Suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury, shall be otherwise re-examined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

ARTICLE VIII

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

ARTICLE IX

The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE X

The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

'Are you sure you're not one of these SDS types? Some of this stuff sounds like that Power to The People baloney.'

by Howard Kohn

What would you do if someone came to your door and asked you to sign the Bill of Rights — without telling you it was the Bill of Rights?

If you're like a lot of people you probably wouldn't sign. In fact, you probably wouldn't even recognize it.

I showed the Bill of Rights to 28 people in Northville, Brighton, Novi, South Lyon and Wixom. Only four figured out what it was. Not one signed it.

Perhaps some of the fault was mine, and not the Bill of Rights. One South Lyon woman tried to use her broom like a bayonet as she pushed me out the door. "I've had enough of you hippies," she shrieked. "I'm not going to sign any damn petition of yours."

She was one of six who refused to even read the petition. Most people seemed suspicious but not hostile.

I told people I was from Ann Arbor and represented a student-teacher group collecting signatures throughout the state. I said we had no political affiliation and only believed in individual freedom. I deliberately picked out homes which covered the entire economic strata, from lower to upper.

"Are you sure you're not one of those SDS types?" asked one Novi man. "Some of this stuff sounds like that 'Power to the People' baloney. Are you sure you didn't just get some fancy lawyer to make your junk sound good?"

He sounded smugly sure he'd discovered my secret.

I was going to tell him the truth but I didn't think he'd believe me.

"What's this part about the militia for?" questioned one Northville man, referring to the Third Amendment.

"Well, ah..." I stuttered, thinking maybe the Bill of Rights was too old-fashioned after all.

"Hmmm, I guess it's to keep Army troops out of people's homes when there's a riot. There were some complaints like that in the Detroit riot of 1967," I finally offered.

"Let me tell you, son," he said, handing the petition back. "I was in Detroit then and that wouldn't have been such a bad idea."

A Northville woman challenged me about the Fourth Amendment. "I thought we already had a law like that," she said. "The government doesn't go around snooping in people's homes."

I didn't even hesitate this time. "That all depends on whether the FBI thinks you're worth a wiretap. The government snoops on some people."

"And Congress just passed a bill that permits the police to walk into your house without knocking."

The woman didn't hesitate in replying, either, "Yes, but that's in the case of criminals." She didn't sign.

A Wixom man asked me to sit down and spent a half-hour telling me what was wrong w my petition.

"You've got a pretty gc

LOSE UP TO 10 Lbs IN AS FEW AS 10 DAYS ON FANTASTIC NEW TV DIET

Learn the secret of TV's little will-power, no pill, no exercise reducing formula. This marvelous diet is literally taking the country by storm as the pounds simply slip off while you eat your fill of the delicious foods on the list. It is the one diet that really works for most overweight people.

A well known TV personality, who appears weekly, had tried numerous diets with no success. He lost 60 pounds in a little over 60 days on this fantastic new diet. A noted novelist lost 9 pounds in 5 days. She says, "I don't have the time to go to health farms and relax that way to take off weight. That's why this particularly fast-acting diet is the right one for me." There is no question that most overweight people need the shock treatment of having their eating clearly defined by a specific diet plan which takes off pounds speedily and dramatically. If you are one of the normal 95%, this diet will definitely take off that excess poundage in a hurry no matter how many times you might have failed in the past. It can rest your mind for you for the rest of your healthier and more beautiful life.

This is not a citrus fruit diet. If you want to lose weight fast, but on a scientifically sound basis, act now as you may never have this same opportunity again. Send 2 TO THE NAPCO CO., DEPARTMENT M, BOX 1398, GRAND ISLAND, NEBRASKA 68801. You may obtain additional copies for your friends and relatives at $1 each.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE. We are so confident that this diet will help you that we make this offer. If, after trying the diet plan for 10 days, you have not lost at least 10 pounds, simply return the plan and your $2 will be returned promptly and without argument. Guarantee five day delivery.

What Faces Food Shoppers? Exactly What You Want

What's ahead for food shoppers during the coming year?

— More variety and higher quality of food products.

— Greater convenience in food shopping and preparation.

— Improved handling methods and more efficient service in stores.

That's how N. A. Sawall, vice president of the Detroit retail division of Kroger Food Stores, sees it.

"Customers today have broader and more definite tastes than their parents or grandparents," Mr. Sawall says, "and it is essential to find new ways of giving them exactly what they want to find in their supermarket."

For Kroger, this means not only new supermarkets (5 are planned during the coming year in this area) but also some 15 major remodels designed to stretch store walls by utilizing multi-deck display cases to provide more shelf space in the same floor area, along with improved facilities.

It also means using new tools, such as data processing, to help make merchandising decision, Sawall says.

To help demonstrate the complexity of the decision faced daily by supermarket managers and merchandisers, Sawall points out that modern Kroger food stores carry in the neighborhood of 8,000 items (compared to 700 in the 1930's). This translates into roughly 200,000 individual cans, cartons and containers per store.

And hundreds of new items make their appearance each year, each vying for space on store shelves.

"In the competitive world of the nation's biggest business — food — it is a necessity to anticipate and serve better the needs and wants of customers," Sawall says.

Kroger already maintains what has been called the most sophisticated data processing network in the food industry. The system utilizes 7,000 miles of high-speed communications lines, which link Detroit and the company's 25 other retail divisions with the central data center in downtown Cincinnati.

Computers are helping to get products to store shelves faster for customers, and they may also help solve that old problem of waiting in the checklane in the near future.

A major breakthrough in the checkstand bottleneck will be development of a practical system of coded price-marking that can be "read" and computed automatically as fast as products pass by.

A working model of such a checkstand has already been developed, Sawall notes, and will probably make its appearance within the next year or two.

But Sawall doesn't foresee widespread use of the completely electronic supermarket in the near future, with pushbuttons replacing baskarts or homemakers shopping from their kitchens via television. Women still like to see firsthand the steak or tomatoes they are buying, he says.

Perhaps the biggest change in supermarketing in the next few years could come as a result of experiments in feeding man in space, says Sawall.

Freeze-drying of foods, needing only water to restore to natural taste and texture, or irradiation, which may one day allow Mom to keep a steak or fresh strawberries on the pantry shelf for months, could revolutionize the traditional concept of the food store.

Another area which will continue to show improvement is that of packaging. Particular emphasis is being placed today on easy-to-open cans or packages with built-in feature of re-use, convenience, or easy disposability.

Improvements in transportation will have an increasing influence on foods carried in supermarkets during the next few years, Sawall says.

Already, he notes, fresh strawberries in January and year-round fresh corn-on-the-cob are taken for granted by shoppers. And now such items as fresh watermelon slices in the middle of winter are joining them.

All in all, says Sawall, it looks as though the big winner in the supermarket world of the next few years will be the customer.

She and her family will be eating better food, more conveniently and easily prepared and packaged ... and chances are they'll be doing it for a smaller portion of their take-home pay than ever before.

Sawall points out that probably a third of the items on your supermarket bill have nothing to do with daily sustenance.

Not so? Try these ... hosiery, light bulbs, paper products, toothpaste, hair spray. They're just the beginning, but all are included in the "food" budget.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the average American shelled out only about 16.5% of take-home pay for food in 1969. It's the lowest percentage in history.

That means that even though prices are up, wages have risen even more, Sawall says. And in the U.S., it takes fewer hours' work to "earn" the food we eat than any place else in the world.

II. Section 30.96 of the Brighton Ordinance Code shall be amended by inserting after the words "appropriate conditions and safeguards," the words "and after public hearing as provided in Section 30.103," so that the amended section shall read as follows:

JURISDICTION

30.96 The Board of Appeals may, in specific cases and subject to appropriate conditions and safeguards, and after public hearing as provided in Section 30.103, determine and vary the application of the regulations herein established in harmony with their general purpose and intent, as follows:

III. Section 30.96(a) shall be amended by deleting all that which follows the words "To permit the structures or uses requiring the approval of or within the power of the Board of Appeals under the provisions of this Ordinance" so that the amended Section 30.96(a) shall read as follows:

30.101 The City Council of the City of Brighton may, from time to time, on its own motion or on petition, after a public hearing as provided in Section 30.103, amend, supplement or change, modify or repeal the boundaries or regulations herein or subsequently established but only after submitting same to the City Planning Commission for its recommendations and report.

VI. Section 30.102 of the Brighton Ordinance Code shall be deleted from Chapter 30.

(a) Written application shall be filed with the City by the persons seeking the relief, accompanied by the payment of the fee if required by the City of Brighton. Under no condition shall said fee or any part thereof be refunded for failure of said request to be granted by the City Council

(b) The City Manager shall thereafter fix a reasonable time for the public hearing and give due notice thereof to all persons to whom any real property, any part of which is located within three hundred (300) feet of the premises in question shall be assessed and to the occupants of all single and two family dwellings within three hundred (300) feet, such notice to be delivered personally or by mail addressed to the respective owners and tenant at the addresses given in the last assessment roll. ## 'Mothers Should Stay At Home with Children'

Oscar K. Allen
First Baptist Church of Brighton

In all of life's problems, there seems to be one that lingers in my mind as being the greatest of all. This is the problem of sin. The Bible says that "sin is the transgression of the law." Certainly, this is talking about the law of God and should not be taken lightly. Most of the time this is exactly what we do.

The sin of unbelief is one sin that cannot be forgiven. Again, the Bible says, "without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sin." This tells us that those people who have not believed in the bloodshed of Christ will not receive salvation.

The sin of selfishness is a sin that also gives much trouble in life. People are so wrapped up in themselves they will not take time to even think or consider their fellow man.

The fact that we have so many wives working today, I believe, in most cases is because they are trying to get ahead of the "Joneses." As a result, mothers are leaving their children in the hands of baby sitters. Regardless of what people say, I believe that a child wants his mother when he comes home from school. It is important that a mother be waiting to receive her child as he comes in from school.

Another sin which I think is causing us much trouble is the sin of taking the name of the Lord in vain. When we mention this most people will assume that this is regarding people who have never become Christians. On the contrary, I believe Christians are the ones who are most guilty. For you see, "Christ" is the name of God. Therefore, when a person accepts Christ as savior and Lord he accepts Christ as his name — "Christian". After this happens, many people will not even make an effort to live like Christ. They come to be in a backslidden condition. They are a reproach to the name of Christ. This is taking the name of the Lord in vain.

I believe that after a person accepts Christ he will want to do whatever he can to help others. Therefore, he will not be selfish. When he begins to think of others he will be doing the work of Christ. As he is doing the work of Christ he will not be taking the name of the Lord in vain.

Have you believed in Christ?

Every Man a Philosopher

Everybody holds some view about life and its meaning. Whatever confronts us in our daily round is the substance out of which we weave our "philosophy of life."

But merely to have an isolated thought or an opinion does not help us find a foundation on which to base our entire lives. We need encouragement and guidance.

The message of the Church has been, through the ages, concerned primarily with the deeper meaning of life. It lends wisdom to those who are striving to relate themselves to the total pattern and purpose of human existence. It helps us maintain a reasonable stability amid the flux of human endeavor and events. It helps us relate the totality of all that has been, is now and ever shall be.

Let the Church help you weave these golden threads into the finished fabric of life.

Mustangs Upset Bulldogs . . .

REACHING skyward for the ball to open the second half of Friday's game are Northville's Kerry Cushing (14) and Brighton's Dave Harmon (51). Waiting for the ball are Ron

BATTLING for possession beneath the net, two Brighton players — Bruce Ritter and Dave Harmon — try to edge out Northville's Bernie Bach (extreme right).

DAVE HARMOK (51) attempts to block a Northville shot late in the second quarter of Friday's game between two league rivals. In the foreground is Mustang Rich Adams (10).

Wow!
Northville 59 - Brighton 55
South Lyon 76 - Dexter 67

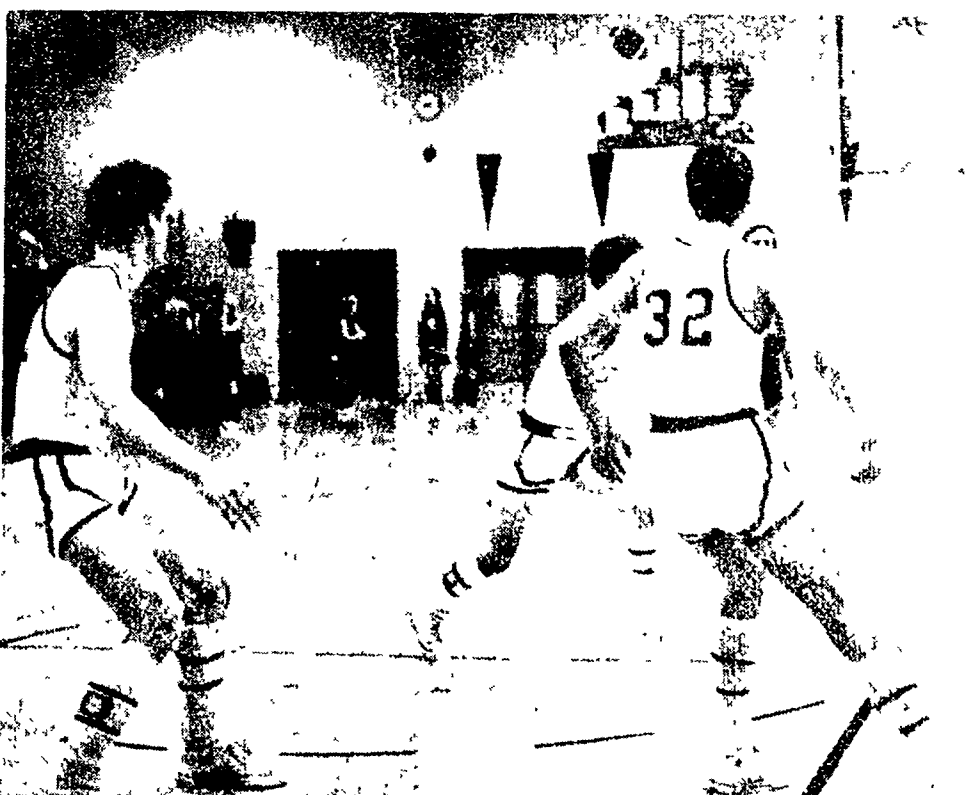

TOWERING Kerry Cushing (14) pulls down one of many Northville rebounds as Steve Utley (44) sneaks a hand into the action and three other players — Carl Roberts (55), Bernie Bach (54), and Dave Harmon (51) await the results.

. . . And Lions Surprise Dexter

A LOOSE ball skids from the hands of fallen Bernie Bach and Rich Adams (left) prepares to scoop it up as Steve Utley (44) watches the action.

SOUTH LYON sophomore Jim McIntosh (53), 6-4 forward, sets himself for a long two-pointer over the head of Mike Kinaschuck (32), Dexter's 6-2 forward.

State GOP Plans Election War Chest

LANSING — Michigan's Republicans plan a war chest of $1,268,000 to help finance their candidates in November elections.

The budget was drawn up by the GOP State Finance Committee and comprises nearly 50 per cent of the party's total budget for the year.

The party leaders aren't saying what priorities they are putting on the various races, however. Reliable estimates put about $1 million of it on the U.S. Senate and gubernatorial races with the remainder in the other races around the state.

THIS ISN'T the only money the various candidates will be spending.

It is generally conceded that a race for governor or the senate costs about $1 million now days.

That's a lot of money for a job that pays $40,000 a year (the governorship) or one which pays $42,500 a year (the senate). There are, of course, many more advantages to holding office than the financial ones.

FORMER GOVERNOR George Romney's chances for the presidency were damaged more than any other single thing in 1968 by his now infamous "brainwashing" statement.

He illustrated recently at a news conference he hasn't forgotten the term, and that he's still just a little sensitive about it.

"I'm very proud of that particular term," he told a questioner.

In a rather stern tone he added, "I think history will show that I was using an accurate term at the time. Dean Acheson (former secretary of state) has confirmed that he was also brainwashed."

"So I'm not one who apologizes for having used that term," Romney went on. "I told people what I think, and I meant it."

"I made up my own mind with regard to the Vietnamese conflict that we made a tragic mistake, and I voiced that for over a year in less dramatic terms; and nobody paid much attention until I used that particular term."

"And I'm glad I did because nobody has forgotten it," he said. "I hope they never do."

Romney probably will get that wish. The word "brainwashed" has already earned a place in the folklore of American politics.

THE BIRTHDAY of Abraham Lincoln is February 12, and the Republican Party has seen fit to observe this date for many years by holding "Lincoln Day" fund raising dinners throughout the country.

The number of dinners increases during an election year, and this year is no exception.

The GOP have scheduled a total of 32 "Lincoln Day" dinners in Michigan this year, and they will occur as late as the last day of the month.

The most called upon speaker for these dinners is Gov. William G. Milliken, who has signed up for a total of eight during the month.

Assistant national chairman Elly Peterson has accepted five invitations.

A total of 13 other speakers have been signed on to fill out the other 19 dates.

A 28th per cent increase in the state's seven major fruit crops means that a total of 594,000 tons was produced in 1969 as compared with the previous year. But low prices, shortage of harvest laborers and unfavorable market conditions caused growers to abandon about 22,500 tons of mature fruit.

A look at some of the figures gives an idea of the bounty which resulted from the season.

Apples: 680 million pounds; 23 per cent above 1968.

Tart cherries: 105,000 tons; a 5 per cent increase.

Sweet cherries: 23,000 tons; up 31 per cent.

Grapes: 40,000 tons; a whopping 75 per cent increase over the smaller crop in 1968.

Peaches: 95 million pounds; more than double the crop a year previous.

Pears: 24,000 tons; more than double the record low 1968 crop.

Plums - Prunes: 14,500 tons; 12 per cent over 1968, but 3 per cent behind 1967.

Taxpayers in Michigan have some consolation in the knowledge that residents in nine states pay more to their state governments.

National average for the states is $338 for each man, woman and child. Michigan people are taxed at the $367 level. New Yorkers pay the most: $503. California is next with $488. People in Nevada and Hawaii pay $429 and $421 respectively.

Cheapest states from the tax load standpoint are Arkansas ($200 per person) and Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama and Texas. Per capita rate there runs about $250.

One thing is certain as death: taxes will be going up, and chances are good they will be going up fastest and furthest in the states which are now the lowest, if those states are to progress.

Babson Report

Publishing Stocks Look Brighter

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass. — The last couple of years have not been particularly bright ones for publishing stocks. After outpacing the rise in the Dow-Jones Industrial Average by a wide margin through the greater part of the '60's, publishing issues turned "sour" in mid-1967 when publishing companies' earnings growth began to taper off.

The earnings slow-down was largely caused by a drop in Federal Aid to Education and excessive book inventories brought about by an unprecedented level of textbook returns. While President Nixon's anti-inflation program will likely hinder federal appropriations for textbooks for some time yet, the inventory problems of 1967-68 appear to have been overcome.

Thus, the Babson staff feels selected publishing issues now present attractive purchase opportunities for long-term growth. Out favorites at this time are Addison-Wesley Publishing Co. near 16 (OTC) and Grolier, Inc. near 25 (NYSE).

SALES of textbooks depend primarily on two factors: (1) The number of students enrolled in schools and colleges; and, (2) the dollar amount spent on textbooks per student. Current forecasts point toward modest increases in elementary and high school enrollments over the next decade and a more marked increase in college enrollments. According to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, total enrollment should approach 62,000,000 by 1977-78, a 7.3 per cent gain over the 57,500,000 students enrolled in 1968. Total college degrees earned during this period are expected to increase about 40 per cent, as a much greater percentage of the population goes on to earn not only college degrees but advanced Master and Doctorate degrees.

Publishers of elementary texts, though not expected to enjoy the same favorable enrollment trends over the next few years, should benefit from rising per-student expenditures. Also, as the present large population of 20- to 25-year-olds marry and form families, the number of births should again begin to rise and elementary school enrollments should show a renewed burst of growth in the second half of this decade.

ANOTHER factor pointing toward greater growth in textbook dollar sales is the increasing average yearly amount paid for books per student. In addition to rising prices for books, dollar sales are expected to continue to be stimulated by increasing requirements, i.e., where one book once did the job, now several books and assorted reference materials are required.

College students paid an average of $19.98 for textbooks in 1955. By 1960, this figure had risen to $27.02. And, in 1968, the amount had jumped to $41.79. There seems little doubt but that this trend will continue.

A POWERFUL stimulant to textbook sales at all educational levels is provided by the U.S. Government through its substantial programs of Federal Aid to Education. In 1966, particularly large federal funding resulted in a 21 per cent boost in textbook sales over the previous year. Since then, in an effort to brake inflation while spending heavily on the Vietnam war effort, the federal government has cut back on its spending for education.

While Federal Aid to Education funding seems likely to

The coldest Michigan winter in several years plus much snowfall attracted record or near-record use at most Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority parks during the month of January.

Over 368,800 visitors used HCMA facilities last month

Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford had over 165,000 visitors in January, 1970, compared to 117,000 in January, 1969. This tops the previous high of over 119,500 set in January of 1966.

The HCMA parks in Washtenaw County reported over 10,731 visitors in January

Out of the Horse's Mouth

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column is for people who are interested in horses or ponies and those who may have questions about them. Send your comments to: "Horse's Mouth," South Lyon Herald, South Lyon, Mi. 48178.

This week we have a letter that I'm sure will be of interest to our younger readers:

Dear Sally:
I would like to tell you about my 11 hand, 2 inch Welsh pony "Dusty's Lover Boy." Last summer I showed at the Salty Badger Shows, and won over 15 awards in jumping. Competing against horses, over half these awards were firsts.

The highest he has jumped is 5 feet. Now the judges disqualify me because I've grown taller and heavier and my feet dangle on the ground when I ride my pony.

Dusty also placed in various Western and English classes.

Rita Wissusik
12855 Spencer Road
Milford
age 13

Thank you Rita for the nice letter. We're sorry we don't have a quick solution to your problem. We want to wish you luck in obtaining a larger mount, so you may continue your horse showing.

"Feed in small amounts and often." has been a rule long followed by horseman who refrained from once a day feeding of horses.

"Hay before grain" is another rule often followed.

Studies conducted by the Morris Animal Foundation have verified the correctness of the two statements and explain why many healthy and fit horses develop digestive upsets and sometimes laminitis.

Much of the digestive action, especially in the cecum and large intestine, is accomplished by bacterial action. When a horse is on pasture or being fed small amounts and often, these bacteria by the billions are multiplying and constantly at work, like a manufacturing plant. If the horse does not eat, the bacteria start to die after a few hours. If food is withheld for 10 to 12 hours or longer, these bacteria die off to such a degree that the stomach is incapable of normally digesting a big or even average feeding. The reason is simple. The "factory" cannot get back into full operation until the bacteria have had time to multiply and increase sufficiently to re-establish normal digestive operations.

When this happens, what might be termed abnormal bacteria get into the act and abnormal actions take place, results ending in digestive upsets, such as colic, laminitis, and other related conditions. This is especially true if the horse, after several hours of fasting suddenly consumes a full feed of sweet feeds or grain concentrates. It is better to give him something first, such as hay, that will be consumed more slowly and gives the normal bacteria population time to build up to meet its work load.

document here. Did you write it yourself?"

"No, I didn't," I assured him.

"Now this part about giving everybody a jury trial (Seventh Amendment), that's going to cost a lot of money and slow up the courts something awful. And they're already way behind.

"This part about excessive bail (Eighth Amendment). I know a lot of liberals are upset because these black militants have to pay such a high bail, but I think you've got to leave these things up to the discretion of the judge.

"But I do agree with this about cruel and unusual punishment. I saw a television program about the chain gangs in Georgia. There's a national disgrace. And some of these prisons...something's got to be done."

I thanked him for taking time to talk about it. I didn't have the heart to tell him what the petition really was.

A young Novi woman seemed genuinely upset that I endorsed the petition. She stopped reading after the Second Amendment and said, "You're not from the National Rifle Association, are you? Or from the John Birch Society?"

"No, ma'am," I answered lamely, totally unprepared to answer that accusation.

Later two South Lyon men almost signed the petition because of the Second Amendment. "If I was the kind of guy that signed petitions, I might go along with you," one guy winked.

A Brighton woman said she agreed with giving more power to the states (Tenth Amendment), "but if that means I'm for the state income tax, then forget it."

I probably looked a little bewildered when I left some homes.

I'm not sure which conclusion is more accurate: people are so sure of the government, they think they don't need something like the Bill of Rights; or people are so suspicious of the government, they think the incognito Bill of Rights is another trick.

Maybe they don't care what the government does, as long as they don't have to pay more taxes.

I don't know.

One older Brighton woman, who explained she and her husband recently came to America to join her married daughter here, recognized my petition immediately.

"We are showed this by the immigration office. They told us that we should learn all about the American government. My daughter, she wants us to become American citizens.

"But they did not tell us that we had to sign for it. We didn't know, how you say, that it had expired."

By ROLLY PETERSON

I suppose its totally natural, since we are submersed in our own problems and those of our country, to think that the American influence is pervasive, that the world waits outside our door and watches through the windows to see what's going on.

One would think that this is especially true of our northern neighbor, Canada, a largely unsettled wilderness, a nation, by our massive standards, still in its infancy. After all, the child mimics the parent, looks to him for guidance and if not, at least takes the cue.

It never ceases to amaze me, then to turn on Canadian television and see creative pieces that seem totally un-American. They are singularly Canadian, almost European in their mature treatment of subjects.

A new, five-part series put out by the CBC network strikes me in this manner. The series is called "The Manipulators" and features one-hour programs on Wednesday night which focus on a probation officer and the problems he encounters in connection with his parolees.

Two of the programs have been shown so far and, although strikingly different, both of the stories have approached the problems of the parolee with a certain candor that can only be called Canadian.

The first episode started off as a documentary of sorts, briefly telling of the circumstance between the probation officer and a particular parolee. He is a dope addict, hooked on heroin, who has just been released from prison.

The parolee's fate rests with the probation officer, his perceptiveness and his ability to reach human beings. What the officer says, goes. This is the peculiar quality of the relationship. If the officer is a martinet, he could drive the parolee back to prison.

The second story was about a professor teaching in one of the Canadian high schools. While drunk he drives his car into an embankment and injures his passenger. The professor is given a probationary sentence.

Now it's the probation officer's job to reach the parolee who is particularly defensive and denies he is in need of help. Not until the defensive barriers are broken down can the officer give the parolee the help he needs, psychiatric help which he must seek out himself.

Perhaps the stories themselves are not unique. They involve conflict and all stories do. But the problem of probation is treated in a low key, serious manner without resort to melodrama which oftentimes typifies American attempts at similar quasi-fictional stories.

Besides the candor and simple unraveling of the plot, there is something else that sets Canadian productions apart. It's the absence of commercials, which gives the story a chance to seek its own end without blaring fanfare every 10 minutes.
