MRS. MILLIKEN
Wife of Governor

Downtown Northville will receive its first street-scrubbing in two years Saturday, designated as Community Pride Day and the opening of Michigan Week.

In preparation for the arrival Monday of Linden Village President and Mrs. Keith Wenger, the Northville fire department assisted by Girl Scouts will wash the streets.

Mrs. William Slattery, Michigan Week chairman, announced that another distinguished visitor of the week will be the wife of Governor Milliken, who will be in town at 3 p.m. Thursday to meet high school young people who will be taking over City Hall offices during the Salute to Our Youth.

After the streets are washed early Saturday morning, local Campfire Girls in old-fashioned costumes will sweep the downtown sidewalks and dust off trash cans.

Community Pride Day Chairman Beatrice Carlson pointed out that a special project of Brownie Troop 205 is the planting of petunias in five barrels on the south side of Main street under the direction of Mrs. George McMullen, troop leader.

Throughout the downtown the hanging baskets, refurbished by the Northville Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, are to be in place again.

While Mayor A.M. Allen and Councilman and Mrs. Kenneth Rathert represent Northville in Linden Monday on Our Government Day, Linden's newly-elected president and his wife and official party will be welcomed at Northville City Hall by Mrs. Slattery.

They first will tour Northville High School facilities, escorted by Principal Fred Holdsworth. They then will be escorted back to city hall officially by the Northville High School band under the direction of Robert Williams where a flag ceremony by Girl Scouts of Troop 371 led by Mrs. Charles Lapham and Mrs. Donald Pratt is scheduled for 10 a.m.

Mayor Pro-Tem Wallace Nichols

will present the key to the city to the Linden president. The Reverend Lloyd Brasure of Northville Presbyterian Church is to give the invocation. City Hall ceremonies are being arranged by City Clerk Martha Milne.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff is to take the visitors on a tour of the city hall facilities including the library. The League of Women Voters again this year will host the coffee hour at city hall.

Northville's official welcoming party will include Mrs. Nichols, Councilmen Paul Folino and Charles Lapham and their wives.

With the visitors they are to walk to the Presbyterian church so that the Linden guests can see displays by local organizations in downtown windows arranged as part of the Heritage Day (Tuesday) observance. The displays will remain in place throughout the week.

Superintendent of Schools Raymond Spear, Rotary president, will preside at the Rotary-sponsored luncheon at the church. The program is to be a talk by the Linden village president. Following the luncheon John Carlo, Northville Downs executive manager, has invited Northville officials and their wives and the visitors to tour the Downs. A community tour will follow.

The downtown window displays, Mrs. Slattery pointed out, also serve to emphasize Livelihood Day as local merchants cooperate to share pride in their businesses.

Thursday city offices will be taken over by local young people in the Salute to our Youth Day. Mrs. Milliken is expected at 3 p.m. from Plymouth, where she is addressing a state meeting of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

Wind-up of the 1970 Michigan Week in Northville will be the two-day antique show and country fair Saturday and Sunday being sponsored by Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church at the Downs.

NEWS BRIEFS

UNLESS A STRAY CAT is found by Wednesday, May 20, three-year-old Richard Lancaster, 632 Horton Street, faces a series of 14 rabies shots. Richard was bitten by a black and white stray cat Sunday afternoon near Horton and Lake streets. His mother, Mrs. Donald Lancaster, asked that anyone seeing a cat matching the description contact her at 349-4984 or call the police at 349-1280.

IT'S ALMOST LIKE musical chairs at the school's Main Street complex. The basement of the board of education gym has been turned into a conference room, with plans for one-third of the gym to be used for storage and receiving. The remaining area will be used for Annex gym classes, presently sharing the Main Street Elementary gym. The storage area at the Annex will be converted into shop and band rooms, now occupying classrooms at Main Street Elementary.

THE TIGHT LID clamped on negotiations between representatives of Northville teachers and the board of education was lifted slightly this past week as Superintendent Raymond Spear admitted, "There are too many things on the bargaining table for this late in the year." Though neither side will publicly reveal demands and counter proposals, it is no secret a large number of economic and non-economic issues are being discussed. Chief negotiator for the board of education this year is Robert Benson, while Cy Nichols heads the teachers' team.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS appeared before the Wayne County Tax Allocation Board on Friday, presenting the school's preliminary budget of $2,800,000 for the 1970-71 school year. The figure is approximately $268,000 higher than the budget for the present year, Earl Busard, business manager said. Preliminary allocation figures will be released by the county May 18.

THREE CANDIDATES will vie for two four-year terms on the board of education in the June 8 election. Candidates include Incumbent Stanley Johnston, Reverend Timothy Johnson and Martin Rinehart. Voters will cast ballots for two of the candidates and also be asked for an advisory vote on year-round school concept. In Novi, Incumbent Ray Warren is unopposed for a four-year term on the board.

DEDICATION CEREMONIES for the new sanctuary of Northville First Presbyterian Church have been postponed until the middle of June, the building committee announced Saturday after an inspection. The change from May 17 was made, it said, "to allow ample time for completion of all aspects of construction and other necessary details." Delay in the delivery of equipment, including ventilation fixtures, also has necessitated the change.

Year-Round School

Board Approves Ballot Wording

Wording of the year-round school advisory question was approved by the Board of education Monday night, but at least one board member expressed doubts over whether the question should go on the June 8 ballot.

Voters will be asked to vote on the following question: "If educational and economic advantages become evident, would you cooperate with the board of education in implementing a full year (quarterly sessions) school program in the Northville Public Schools?"

"The vote may support what we already know," Trustee Dr. Orlo Robinson said, referring to the survey of parents which showed a majority favored the year-round program.

"If voters say 'no,' it may not affect our ultimate decision due to economic factors," he said.

The final decision on year-round school rests with the board.

The question "should not be put on the ballot at all," Dr. Robinson continued, "because some people do not have adequate information (on year-round school) and will just vote 'no.'"

Superintendent Raymond Spear said there are "four points necessary for us to make the decision: analysis of the survey results, public reaction through the vote, pre-registration and scheduling of students and funding to bring about orderly transition to year-round school."

"When the scheduling information is available to the community then we may get more voters to say 'yes,'" Dr. Robinson said.

Spear said parents will be given post cards to "say if their child's schedule for four years is acceptable or unacceptable to them. This should be done in less than four months."

Trustee Glenn Diebert said he would "like to feel the maximum number of voters had an opportunity to express their opinion."

Dr. Robinson again expressed

City Taxes to Take Dip

Taxes will go down in the city of Northville this year.

Don't reach for your eye glasses. It's no typographical error. The word is D-O-W-N.

In an age when the use of four-letter words is the vogue in many circles, "down" has become almost extinct in governmental vocabularies.

But City Manager Frank Ollendorff insists the new budget that will be presented for public and council approval next Tuesday evening will provide for a tax cut.

It's not much, but it's a reduction.

Specifically, the proposed 1970-71 city of Northville budget calls for a tax levy of 10.3 mills, down from 11.5 mills for the 1969-70 year.

While on the surface this would appear to be a 1.2 mill decrease, that's not the case.

Actually, city of Northville assessments (against which millage is levied) will be increased this year in the Wayne and Oakland county portions of the city between 9.5 and 10 per cent. The reduction in millage rate is just slightly more than 10 per cent.

Thus by a slim margin of less than one-half of one per cent, the city is reducing its tax rate against property owners.

This year's (July 1, 1970-June 30, 1971) tax levy will bring in some $267,600, about the same as last year. But there have been some additions in properties, which means that each individual property owner is paying somewhat less. (A budget summary appears in a public hearing notice on page 10-A).

There are two chief reasons for the city's ability to hold the line on taxes. Collections from state sales, intangibles and income taxes will be up due to the new 1970 census figures that will be used this fall.

And secondly, anticipated returns from parimutuel betting at Northville Downs are up 25 per cent (from $280,000 to $350,000) because of extended winter racing.

Other costs will be up, however. County library charges will be up 25 per cent, from $13,000 to $16,000. Expenditures for track and special police will also go up.

The budget also calls for the city to keep its promise to reduce water rates back to the original level after expenses for water system improvements have been paid. January 1 this year rates were boosted 70 per cent to pay off the improvement obligations. The new budget proposes that the rates will be reduced 70 per cent beginning January 1, 1971.

Salary increases are proposed for all employees, about 6 to 8.2 per cent for the city's 32 fulltime and 60 part-time employees. The budget also calls for a pay hike for the city manager from $14,000 to $15,500 and for the police chief and DPW director from $12,000 to $13,000.

Negotiations are still underway for police salary hikes but it's proposed that top pay for patrolmen be increased from $9,700 to $10,500.

Capital improvement expenditures proposed include $50,000 for parking lots, $28,000 for park construction, $48,000 for new park acquisition, and $92,000 for street construction (Wing and Griswold extension), repaving of eight streets and paving west Baseline behind the high school in conjunction with the school district.

Township Votes to Join City On "Hatchery" Development

The Northville township board decided Tuesday night to join with the city in development of the 13-acre Seven Mile road fish hatchery property for community recreation use. The vote was 6-0 with Treasurer Alex Lawrence abstaining.

In its motion to approve the action the board set a $135,000 ceiling on development costs and asked that title to the site be placed jointly in the names of the city and township.

Aside from Treasurer Lawrence, who maintains development costs will run two-and-one-half times the city's estimates, the strongest critics of the proposal were Trustees Richard Mitchell and William Smith. Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg, Clerk Eleanor Hammond and Trustee Bernard Baldwin spoke out in favor of the project.

Perhaps a dozen citizens in the audience also displayed support for the recreation expenditure.

Lawrence confined his criticism to the high cost of development, which he has estimated at $350,000. He said his 30 years of experience in land filling projects in industry was his basis for the estimate.

Smith criticized the handling of the site to date.

"It appears to me someone has been playing around there. What's the program for improvement? Where's the fill from?" Smith asked. He also criticized the "neighborhood" aspect of the site, pointing out needs in other areas of the township and noting that in his own area (Plymouth school district) recreation is provided by the school system and funds included in the school taxes. The trustee also concluded that the development was in opposition to the township's own master plan.

"I can appreciate that most of the people here are from the general area of the site, and that we need recreation, but all the township will pay and this is just a neighborhood park," Trustee Smith contended. Mitchell's main concern, however, was that the township have equal equity in the site if it entered into a joint project.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff, who was in the audience, said the city would have no objection to this. He noted that the deed stipulated that the site could only be used for community recreation or title reverted to the federal government.

Trustee Bernard Baldwin challenged Trustee Smith's criticisms of the project. "I think we should be participating in these decisions that reflect the costs. We shouldn't sit as an outsider. We should be in there helping provide the figures, deciding how long to take in development based on the resources of our respective budgets. Instead of engineering and re-engineering the city's proposals, we ought to get involved with them," Baldwin stated.

Supervisor Stromberg and Clerk Hammond urged a vote on the proposal, both noting "it's a beginning to our recreation needs" and noting that in a joint project the township will have an equal voice in development plans. Clerk Hammond made the motion and suggested the $135,000 ceiling "for at least the present". Baldwin seconded the motion. Mitchell added the provision calling for joint ownership of the site.

Together the city and township will receive a $43,000 grant from the state for development of the site. If city estimates are correct, approximately $90,000 in costs would remain for the two governments to divide. It has been proposed that each would appropriate approximately $15,000 annually over a three-year period for completion of the project. Present plans call for tennis courts, ball diamonds, sports field, ice skating, miniature golf course, fishing and boating pond, picnic, camping and wildlife areas.

DSR Busing Plan Studied

A proposal by Supervisor Carl Pursell that the Detroit busing operation (DSR) extend its Plymouth service to the Northville area is now under serious study by DSR.

Pursell made his proposal when reported negotiations for the purchase of the defunct Northville Coach Lines failed to materialize.

Several weeks ago, following the closing of Northville Coach Lines, Senator George Kuhn called a meeting of local city and township officials to inform them that sale of the defunct company was imminent and that he was prepared to expedite resumption of operation by the new owner. He declined to reveal the name of the buyer pointing out that such disclosure might disrupt negotiations.

"We've heard nothing about negotiations or from Senator Kuhn since then," Northville City Manager Frank Ollendorff reported this past week.

In his proposal to DSR, Pursell suggested that extension of the

Four Lecture Series

Town Hall Tickets Go on Sale

Tickets for Northville Town Hall season 1970-71, which opens October 8 with Sam Levenson, now are on sale, Mrs. Nelson Hyatt, chairman, announced this week.

At $10 for the four-lecture series, the 10th anniversary program is expected to be a sell-out.

Other programs are a TowBari fashion show November 12, WJR Kaleidoscope Host Mike Whorf March 11, 1971, and Wine Consultant Walter W. Rosenberg April 22, 1971.

The lectures will be at 11 a.m. in the Northville High School auditorium with celebrity luncheons again to be held afterward at Lofy's in Plymouth. They will be $3 with advance reservation.

Anyone in the area not on the Town Hall mailing list for its brochure, and especially newcomers, may call Mrs. Hyatt, 349-4896, Mrs. Philip Wegeng, 349-0484, or Mrs. Jack Doheny, 349-0908, to have one sent.

Sam Levenson, who was called "America's greatest living humorist" by the late Carl Sandburg, was chosen to lead off the anniversary-year series because of his humor's universal appeal. A humorist in the purist sense of the word, his stories have roots in experiences common to all as they are about family, about education (he's a former school teacher), about religion.

He earned his first money telling stories while he was a high school teacher in Brooklyn. After nightclub appearances, he was invited to appear on the Ed Sullivan show. Offers poured in after that with the humorist later taking over Arthur Godfrey's show for nearly a year.

More recently he became an author with his first book, "Everything But Money," making the best seller list for 56 weeks.

The TowBari fashion show is being presented by the 18-year-old women's specialty shop, located at Cherry Hill and Outer Drive in Dearborn. Owned and operated by Peggy Potzger, who scours the New York market every four to six weeks for the "look of couture" at medium-to-better prices, the shop offers jewelry, scarves and handbags to accessorize each costume. The shop is known for smart, understated fashion and stresses good taste. Mrs. Hyatt notes that the shop also has a boutique of unusual gifts with each gift box tied with shocking pink velvet ribbon.

Mike Whorf, host of the WJR Kaleidoscope program at 11:10 a.m. which is repeated at 9:10 p.m. Monday through Friday, came to Detroit's Goodwill station in March, 1964.

Born in Boston in 1932, he was educated in Provincetown schools. He entered the U.S. Air Force in 1951 and was assigned to the Armed Forces Radio Service. While in the Air Force, he took college courses with the United States Armed Forces Institute.

He began his commercial broadcasting career as a staff announcer in Austin, Texas, shortly after being discharged as a sergeant in 1954. From 1955 to 1964 he was affiliated with stations in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

He joined the WJR announcing staff and became host of Kaleidoscope in 1964, blending dramatic narrative with recorded music and sound effects.

His contribution to Kaleidoscope has been a special talent for writing, producing and presenting through the medium of his resonant voice an unlimited variety of subjects. The quality of the station's mail and enthusiasm with which listeners write bears out the fact that Kaleidoscope is one of the most talked about programs in the Great Lakes area.

Mike Whorf is the son of John Whorf, internationally known water color artist.

"Add more sparkle to your life through the bubbling enthusiasm of Walter W. Rosenberg, proprietor of the Wine Shops, Incorporated," the Town Hall board suggests. It plans to follow the well-known wine consultant's talk with a wine-tasting luncheon following his lecture, April 22.

More than 5,000 students have been exposed to a variety of wines in his wine appreciation course. He has been titled official sommelier of J.P. McCarthy's WJR Focus program by virtue of his many appearances. He is president of the Marchant de Vin Wine Taster's Society with wines both his vocation and avocation. His talk is "Woo Your Mate With Wines."

Cornerstone Treasures Found Here

The cornerstone box of Northville United Methodist Church, placed in the present building near the sanctuary doors on Dunlap Street 85 years ago, this week was opened to reveal a variety of well-preserved church history.

The tin box, larger than the usual cornerstone box of today, yielded old coins, one dated 1683, the Michigan Manual, Bibles and a Hymnal, several newspapers, including The Northville Record of July 2, 1885, and pictures.

In fine, handwritten script was a list of the church's 142 members, beginning with the Ambler family, and also names of 25 probationers. Pictures included those of John Marshall VanEvery, minister, and interior and exterior views of the original frame church.

Mrs. Warren Fittery of Northville was among 10,000 United Methodist women from 50 states and overseas attending the 1970 Assembly of the Women's Society of Christian Service and Wesleyan Service Guild in Houston, Texas, May 7-10.

"Choose Life" was the theme of the assembly which brought United Methodist women together for study, discussion, inspiration and fellowship and which was designed to focus attention of work in missions, Christian social relations and other areas of church work.

The 1970 assembly was the first to be held since the 1968 union of the former Methodist church and the former Evangelical United Brethren church and their women's organizations. During the past 30 years the women's groups have given more than $300,000,000 to missions and causes at home and abroad.

State Co-op Council Taps Mrs. Wilkinson

Mrs. William R. (Karen) Wilkinson was elected president Monday of the Michigan Council of Cooperative Nurseries at the council's annual conference in Lansing. She will head the 9,000 families who participate in cooperative nursery programs for the coming year.

"Realizing that learning occurs as the child interacts with the world around him, I will be working toward creating a better world for all children," she explained.

Mrs. Wilkinson grew up in Washington, D.C., and attended Albion College. After graduation, she taught math, Spanish and French in Dearborn schools.

"Cooperative nursery presented an opportunity for my first child to become part of a group that offered a positive, enriching experience that would provide skills needed in later life," she said.

"I quickly discovered that one of the greatest benefits I received was being in touch with the school and its program designed for learning of three and four-year-olds," Mrs. Wilkinson explained.

"An opportunity was provided for me to observe my daughter's social and physical development in this new situation."

"But the unlooked for bonus was almost the first opportunity to broaden my own social contacts from the daily confines of a young mother," she said.

"As I attended the parent education programs, speakers presented me with new insight and understanding into the growth and development of the pre-school child."

Mrs. Wilkinson was a member of Cray Nursery in Detroit for three years, a member of Northville Cooperative Nursery, vice-president and area coordinator for Greater Detroit Cooperative Council and vice-president and conference chairman for the annual conference in Lansing this week.

The Wilkinsons live at 45871 Fermanagh.

Births

From Florida comes news of the birth of a daughter, Rebecca Lynn, to Second Lieutenant and Mrs. Wilson Grier on May 4. The baby, their first child, weighed six pounds, seven ounces at birth.

Mrs. Grier is the former Penny Peterson. She moved to Florida last fall where her husband is stationed with the U.S. Marines.

The baby's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Allan Peterson of Northville and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Grier of Columbus, Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Juday of Livonia announce the birth of a daughter, Jill Christine, April 18 at Annapolis Hospital. The baby weighed eight pounds, three ounces at birth. She joins two brothers, Jeffrey, 3, and Brad, 2.

Mrs. Juday is the former Janet Wilson. Grandparents of the new arrival are Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wilson, 21644 Connemara, and Mrs. Richard Juday, 304 Lake.

and Mrs. William Smith, Tuesday afternoon.

All meetings of the LWV are open to interested women citizens in the area. Additional information may be obtained by calling the membership chairman, Mrs. Milton Holstein, 349-4909.

Mrs. Edward Hancock, local LWV first vice president and chairman of the League's study of financing education in Michigan, announced that LWV members throughout the state have reached agreement on strong opposition to state aid for non-public education.

They will now begin action of oppose present legislation, senate bill 1082 and house substitute bill 1082, she said. These are the school-aid bills in which sections embody aid to non-public schools. Chapter II of both bills would grant aid to non-public schools by providing funds for salaries of lay teachers teaching secular subjects in non-public schools.

According to Mrs. James Atkinson, president of the League of Women Voters of Michigan, "Chapter II of both bills is a form of legislative arm twisting. We are forced to permit financial aid to non-public education, or we will have no new school-aid bill. There is no alternative."

"It is our feeling that at this point to stop the proposed non-public school aid provisions of these present school-aid bills, we must oppose them in their entirety," Mrs. Atkinson stated.

League members are aware, she said, that they will be placed in the position of opposing a bill which also provides aid to public schools.

"However," Mrs. Atkinson stressed, "we must speak out against being forced to accept aid for non-public schools in order to get additional money for public schools."

League members will not take part in the present petition drive to sponsor a constitutional amendment prohibiting aid to non-public schools, Mrs. Hancock said.

"It was the consensus, of our membership, that shared-time programs, bus privileges, and auxiliary services for non-public school children be continued as currently defined by law," she stated.

Homes Sought For Exchangers

The club also reminds students there are openings for studying in Germany, South America, Scandinavia, Netherlands and Philippines. Students must apply by May 15 and may call Mrs. McCurdy for further information.

Novi's cooperative education students will host their employers at a banquet Wednesday, May 20, at 7 p.m. at the Hillside Inn. Theme for the evening is "Today's Dreams, Tomorrow's Realities."

Certificates will be presented to employers for their cooperation throughout the year, John Ishler, director of the program, said.

"A bunny rabbit?" he asks — not with a sob in his voice, not with any very special emotional display, just with a decent respect for his cotton-tailed friends. With a perfect 4.0 grade point average, Denise Taffalian has been named valedictorian of Novi's second graduating class. Carol Bruce has been named salutatorian, earning a grade point average of 3.94.

The girls will lead their class of 103 seniors in commencement ceremonies Tuesday, June 9.

Denise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dicon Taffalian, 46153 Grand River, has been accepted at Adrian College. She is undecided about her major.

Carol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

During her high school career, Denise has been active in sports, participating in basketball, volleyball, softball, track, and ski club. She was a cheerleader for two years, a member of French club and on the newspaper staff.

Carol is currently president of student council and has also served as its vice-president and secretary. She was the recipient of the Soroptimist's citizenship award earlier this year, member of the drama club's scenery crew, delegate to Girls' Nation in Washington, D.C., and girl's Speaker of the Week at United Nations during Pilgrimage for Youth, both last summer.

Both Denise and Carol are members of the National Honor Society.

Wixom Mayor Dismisses Four

Four Wixom officials have been fired and their replacements appointed by the city's new mayor.

And in a 4-3 vote, in which Mayor Gilbert Willis cast the tie-breaker, the council named a new publication in which it will place its legal advertising.

The new appointments were announced by the mayor at Tuesday night's council meeting as a capacity crowd that spilled over into the lobby listened and voiced their approvals and disapprovals over the dismissals and the publication designation.

Dismissed were Clerk-Treasurer Elizabeth Waara, Deputy Clerk Mrs. Donna Thorsberg, Building Inspector Ralston Calvert, and Parks and Recreation Director Thomas Burke.

Appointed as replacements and sworn into office yesterday were Miss June Buck, clerk-treasurer; Mrs. Virginia Zancanella, deputy clerk; Ronald Parvu, parks and recreation director; and Kenneth Carothers, building inspector.

The mayor also named Sergeant Larry Beamish acting police chief, and reappointed Robert Trombley to head up the DPW department, Fire Chief Robert Potter, and Civil Defense Director Neil Taylor.

X-Way Crash Kills Driver

A 41-year-old Detroit man was killed and a 48-year-old occupant of his car was seriously injured early Monday morning when their car struck a concrete overpass abutment on I-96.

Pronounced dead at the scene was the driver, Donald A. Gray. Hazel Ann Boyer of Livonia was seriously injured and rushed by ambulance to Botsford Hospital.

According to Novi police, Gray's car first smashed into the guard rail and then struck the abutment on the C&O railroad overpass, west of Novi Road about 2:40 a.m. Monday.

The impact completely demolished the car, throwing the occupants into the back seat of the 1965 Cadillac. Police said the speedometer was stuck at 90 MPH, leading them to believe that was the speed upon collision.

Empty and partially filled beer cans were found in the automobile, police said.

Willis declined to reveal his reasons for the dismissals.

When questioned first as to whether the "rumor" that Calvert had been "let go," the mayor said "it's not a rumor but fact." Later, when quizzed about the status of clerk and deputy clerk, he said only that they would not be reappointed.

Mrs. Waara had been an employee of the city for eight years, Mrs. Thorsberg for five. Both actually submitted resignations two months ago, charging sex discrimination after council denied their salary increases. But the then mayor, Wesley McAtee refused to accept the resignations.

Even before the meeting got underway, a member of the audience praised Calvert and asked that the invocation be re-read in his honor. Later, Calvert spoke emotionally, pointing out that he had not been informed of his dismissal until 3:30 p.m. that day. He called the action "shameful and irresponsible."

Asked about his pre-election statement that he would conduct a departmental investigation, Willis said the analysis of the department is proceeding but that problems he faced upon taking office have hampered him in concluding that investigation rapidly.

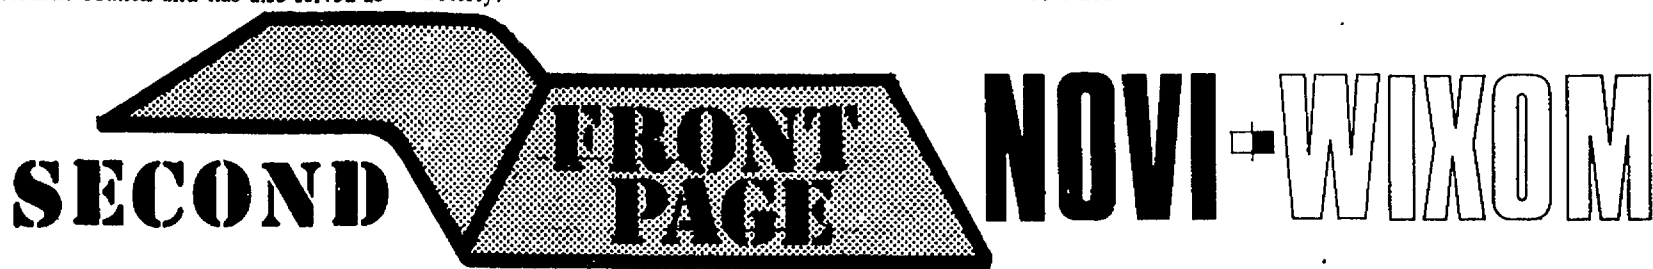

The mayor added that he was under no legal obligation to air his reasons for dismissal actions. His statement was challenged by a citizen who reminded the mayor of his pre-election comments that open communications between the public and the city hall are essential.

Concerning a question as to whether dismissed officials are to receive severance pay, Attorney Gene Schnelz indicated that the charter made no specific provision for this practice, and Willis said he doubted such action would be taken.

Much of the public discussion revolved around the publication designation, with citizens present about evenly divided in favor and against retaining The Novi News.

When the council took up the matter, Councilman Gunnar Metalla moved designation of The Novi News, pointing out that because a newspaper does not endorse a candidate it is no reason "to start acting like South American countries" and resort to

Novi, Wixom to Fete Guests

Mason, Hudson Get Michigan Week Salute

Wixom's observance of Michigan Week, starting Saturday, will involve a full schedule of activities—including what reportedly will be the "largest, most impressive" parade in its history.

Meanwhile, Novi has trimmed its observance of the week to revolve around the visit Monday (Our Government Day) of the mayor of Mason and his wife.

Visiting Novi along with Mayor Allen Shapley and his wife Jane, will be Mason Councilman Frank Guerrero and his wife Betty. Novi Mayor Joseph Crupi and Mayor Protem Denis Berry will be visiting Mason during the day.

According to the chairman of the program, Mrs. George Athas, and her co-chairman, Mrs. Geraldine Stipp, the Mason officials and their wives will arrive at the city hall at 9:30 a.m. to be greeted by the Novi High School band.

The visiting dignitaries will tour the city, high school, Adell Industries and Guardian Photo and then be feted at a social hour at the home of Councilman and Mrs. Donald Young, Jr.

Later they will be honored at a Michigan Week dinner (by invitation only) beginning at 6 p.m. at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth. Speaker for the occasion will be Wayne County Probate Judge George Bashara, whose topic will be on drugs.

Exchanging officials with Wixom on Monday will be the City of Hudson's mayor, Edward P. Wolf, his wife Phyllis, and Councilmen Gerald Spray, his wife Lynn, and Ray J. Curran and his wife Carol.

Visiting Hudson that day will be Wixom Mayor and Mrs. Gilbert Willis, Councilman and Mrs. Val Vangieson, Councilwoman Mrs. Mary Parvu, and Councilman Elwood Grubb.

The Hudson officials are expected to arrive in Wixom at about 9:45 following by ceremonies at the city hall at 10 a.m. Festivities will include a flag raising ceremony by the VFW post, a presentation by the drum and bugle corps, and presentation of the city key to Mayor Wolf by the Wixom Elementary School king and queen. Refreshments will follow.

Host and hostess for the occasion will be Councilman and Mrs. Robert Dingeldey. Planned for the day are tours of Walled Lake Western High School, the GM Proving Grounds, and the DPW garage and sewage treatment plant, and the Idea Home in Highgate on the Green subdivision.

The visitors and their hosts will be luncheon guests of the Ford Lincoln plant, and that evening they will attend a social hour, hosted by, Toebe Construction Company, and a dinner at Calico Kitchens restaurant beginning at 6:30 p.m. Entertainment for the evening will be supplied by the Sing Out-Walled lake, a group of junior and senior high school singers.

Napier Road Future Told

Novi Revises Highway Plan

Several zoning amendments, including the revision of the Novi highway thoroughfare plan, were approved Monday night in a joint meeting of the city council and planning board.

Changes in the highway plan, recommended by the Intercounty Highway Commission (representing seven Detroit metropolitan counties), included

- Increasing the right-of-way on Napier Road from 120 feet width to 204 feet.

- Decreasing the right-of-way on Haggerty Road from 204 feet width to 120 feet.

- Decreasing the right-of-way on Pontiac Trail (in Novi) from 204 feet width to 120 feet.

Most of the discussion centered around the Napier Road change, with Franklin Meyers, executive director of the Inter-County Highway Commission, explaining that Napier is to become a major thoroughfare between M-14 in Washtenaw County to I-96. Eventually, this thoroughfare is to extend from Ypsilanti to Fenton, he said. No time-table was given.

Such thoroughfares, it was explained, fall just below freeways in size and importance. Under this criteria, Napier eventually is to become a six-lane divided pavement.

Asked if reports that Beck Road is to become a major thoroughfare, Meyers and a representative of Oakland County's highway planning division said there is nothing in planning through 1985 to substantiate such reports.

Planned construction of the north-south freeway just east of the Novi boundary accounts for the decision to reduce the size of the Haggerty Road right-of-way, it was explained. This freeway, to run parallel to Haggerty, is expected to replace much of the traffic originally envisioned for Haggerty.

Planners recommended the changes without objection, and the council voted 5-0 to approve them.

Hearing on a proposed amendment aimed at restricting signs on model homes — specifically eliminating flashing illuminated signs — was continued to August 10 by a split vote of both the planning board and the council.

Most officials agreed that additional study of the proposed amendment was necessary, perhaps including restrictions for all illuminating signs and considering, too, a subdivision representative's suggestion that the present law restricting such signs on a model home to one year be modified.

Planner Robert Bretz voted against

Board Offers Funds For Sewer Lateral

The school board made plans Tuesday night to offer the city $100,000 toward the construction of a sewer lateral to the school site on Taft Road and Eleven Mile, provided the city can guarantee the sewers will reach the school in January, 1972.

Earlier the board had said they could contribute approximately $60,000 towards the $190,000 cost of the lateral. The money was originally earmarked for a sewage treatment plant at the middle school. Another $40,000 plus would have been used for tap in fees.

Superintendent Thomas Dale said of the board's offer, "To do it any other way would cost more. We must expedite the sewer project. We have no other choice."

The middle school, originally set to open in the fall of 1971, will now open when the sewers are installed, even if it means the building will lay idle for a time, board members explained.

Ultimately, the board said they can save money on the building — at least $30,000 for not installing a temporary holding tank and $120,000 by bidding the project in July of this year, rather than waiting until later in order for the school and sewers to be completed at the same time.

The board unanimously authorized Trustees Ray Warren, Robert Wilkins and Claude Earl and Assistant Superintendent T. Richard Hendrickson to negotiate with the city council for the sewers.

Trustees were in agreement that top priority must be given to installation of the lateral to the school.

In other building action, the board agreed bids for the elementary school in Village Oaks should be let no later than August, and agreed to sell back to Kaufman and Broad a triangular corner of the elementary school lot and 15 feet of walkway along the west side of the property.

Trustees agreed to ask Kaufman and Broad to construct a six-foot high fence between the walkway and the school property.

Board members tackled the request for religious instruction release time from Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church and directed the administration to work out a method of shared time in accordance with the state law.

SEWER INSTALLATION—Traffic in the Walled Lake area of Novi is being re-routed or slowed as installation of lateral sewer lines proceeds "on schedule." Similar installations are occurring in the City of Walled Lake. The lines are part of a multi-million dollar program which includes a sewage disposal plant in Novi off West Road. The project is under the jurisdiction of the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

Northville Man Ed Welch Gets Talks in Detroit Sales Award

Marion Szczepanski of Northville, president and technical director of International Diamond Tool Company here, was the featured speaker at a dinner meeting of the Detroit Engineering Society in Detroit Tuesday.

His topic was "Diamond Drilling of Concrete and Demonstrations of Dry Diamond Drilling."

Szczepanski discussed technical and economical aspects of concrete diamond drilling, pointing out the advantages of "diamond drilling over sleeving."

His company's recently developed dry diamond drilling of concrete will be demonstrated, and potential capabilities and limitations will be emphasized.

International Diamond Tool Company is the only manufacturer of diamond bits that also is in the contract drilling field.

Szczepanski spent 1½ years in the notorious German concentration camp Auschwitz during World War II and was involved with the underground activities of the Polish Home Army, culminating with the Warsaw Uprising in 1944.

During his 12 years of university studies in Poland and England, he gained several academic degrees including a master of science degree from the University of London.

He came to the United States in 1957 and in 1962 organized International Diamond Tool.

Author of the book, "The Brittleness of Steel", recognized throughout the world as a major scientific contribution, he is a member of numerous professional organizations in the United States and Europe. He and his company are listed in "World Who's Who in Finance and Industry", "Who's Who in the Midwest", "American Men of Science", and numerous other publications.

Vets to Sell

Poppies May 21

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4012 will hold its annual Buddy Poppy sale Thursday, May 21.

Post Commander William Widmaier and in-coming Commander William Durham, committeemen and volunteers join in asking the community to support its annual poppy sale.

"Our slogan 'Honor the Dead by Helping the Living' is more meaningful today than ever before," Widmaier said.

VFW poppies have been sold since 1922 and are made by disabled veterans. Proceeds from the sales are used for the relief of the disabled, their dependents and orphans of war.

A large portion of the proceeds goes to the support of more than 200 orphans at the VFW National Home at Eaton Rapids, Widmaier said.

"The sellers will be on their corners from sun-up to sundown May 21," Durham said. "Give. It's little enough to ask for those who have really sacrificed."

Ed Welch of Northville, a salesman at Bob Dusseau Ford dealership in Farmington, has been elected to the Lincoln-Mercury Division's "200 Club," E. J. Cremins, division district sales manager, announced this past week.

The Northville resident's "outstanding 1969 sales record has placed him in the top 15 percent of all Lincoln-Mercury salesmen," Cremins said.

"We are fortunate to have men like Mr. Welch representing our products with such professional excellence and dedication."

Welch, honored at a dinner program in the Latin Quarter Saturday night along with others elected to the select group, lives at 222 South Wing Street.

Jaycees Plan Auction Here

The Northville Jaycees have announced plans to conduct an auction sale of donated and consigned household, hardware and clothing goods to be held at the Northville City Hall on Saturday, June 13.

This year's Sale will mark the second event of the Jaycees' expanding program of community service activities "to make Northville an ideal community to live in."

Last year the Jaycees' first auction was moderately successful despite a rainy challenge that tried hard to wet the spirits of this enterprising group. The 1969 auction netted slightly over $200 which was invested by the chapter in various community projects. This year, the proceeds of the auction will be used to help finance "the biggest 4th of July parade the Jaycees have ever held in this area." Funds also will be used in assisting the Northville Recreation program and the development of Ford Field.

Due to the problems of acquiring though goods that are saleable, the Jaycees are inviting the assistance of the community and local merchants to donate items on a consignment basis.

The goods should be priced by the donor at a realistic value at a minimum price they would sell the goods for. The Jaycees will then attempt to auction the goods at a sales price in excess of the pre-set or reserve price. For each sale, of goods consigned to the Jaycees in this manner, the Jaycees would appreciate a donation of 20 percent of the sales price.

Co-chairmen of the project are Mr. Dennis Dildy, Ph. 349-4746 and Mr. Cecil Morin, 349-5707. Both may be contacted for additional information and are available to arrange pick-up of donated items. "The Northville Jaycees are anxious to make this a successful yearly event and strongly desire the cooperation of Northville residents. The Club will not be able to accept or handle any animals or livestock, however," they point out.

Ford Lights Up

Although work by Northville Jaycees and other volunteers continues, revitalized but unfinished, Ford Field got its baptism Monday night as the Mens Softball League (under lights) got underway.

Linden, Mason, Hudson

Here's Sketch of Visitors' Towns

Populations of the communities with which the cities of Northville, Novi and Wixom will exchange mayors during Michigan Week range from 6,000 to 1,500 but all of them have common "small town" atmospheres.

Northville will exchange with Linden, a Genesee County village of 1,500 population; Novi will exchange with Mason, the county seat of Ingham County having a population of 6,000; and Wixom will exchange with Hudson, a Lenawee County city with a population of 2,546.

Here's a thumbnail sketch of each of these three communities:

LINDEN — Located approximately 17 miles southwest of Flint, Linden is a suburban-resort like community located in a concentrated lake area. It is governed by a president, elected by the people for a single year, and six trustees who serve three-year staggered terms.

The current president, Keith Wenger, was elected this past spring after serving three years as trustee. He was the village building inspector for five years, a member of its planning committee for six years. He is self-employed in the home improvement, real estate business.

Linden has four employees, a volunteer fire department serving the village and surrounding townships. Its school district, having a student population of more than 2,000, covers several municipalities.

Presently in the process of installing lateral sewers throughout the village (a $2 million project), it takes special pride in its 95-year-old municipal building, which up to a quarter-century ago was a thriving mill that generated the community's electricity.

Members of the board of trustees are Roth Little, Theodore Hibard, Justin Steele, William Brown, William Auker, and Kenneth Sharpe.

MASON — Located 12 miles south of Lansing, Mason is governed by a mayor, six councilmen and a full-time paid city administrator. They are: Allen Shapley, mayor; Frank Guerrero, Robert Sheldon, James French, Jon Jenkins, Donald VanderVeen, and Carson Minshall; and Warren S. Wright, city administrator.

It boasts a volunteer fire department with 18 men and two trainees; a police force of a chief and seven officers; a new junior high school, intermediate board of education building (just outside the city but soon to be annexed), and a new road commission building. A large new apartment project is expected to get underway soon.

The Mason School District serves Mason and the surrounding area, with three elementary, junior and senior high schools, all located in the city.

It is the home of Wyeth Labs, manufacturer of baby food; Wolverine Engineering Company, maker of funeral vaults; Dart Container Corporation, maker of coffee cups; and Gordon Industries, a small forging company.

The city has 32 full-time paid employees.

HUDSON — Located 18 miles east of Hillsdale, 18 miles west of Adrian, Hudson was incorporated as a city in 1893, but still is primarily a rural community with a number of small industries.

Its charter was revised this past year, providing that the mayor be elected by the seven councilmen from the ranks of the council. Previously, the mayor and six councilmen were elected directly by the people. It has had a manager form of government since 1956.

Hudson boasts a 20-man volunteer fire department; a consolidated school district including a high school, junior high school, and three elementary schools, one of which is located in nearby Clayton; a financially endowed library; and a 25-bed hospital.

Hudson has 26 municipal employees, not counting the fire department and elected officials. It moved into a new municipal building just three months ago — a new building financed by a building authority and leased by the city.

Fortune A. Valorie is the manager. Joining the mayor, Edward P. Wolf, a farmer, in the visit to Wixom will be Councilmen Gerald Spray and Ray J. Curran, a former mayor.

THE WINNERS—Mayor A.M. Allen picked the winners in Kountry Katerer's six-week-long grand opening celebration, which ended last Saturday afternoon. Proprietor Al Burling holds the jar containing the winning tickets, while four of the five prize-ticket holders wait to see which one gets first choice of the six grand prizes. First winner was R. A. Stenger (second from left). He chose the Hitachi color TV set. Ralph Byars (left) won second choice and selected a stereo record player. Mrs. Robert Reynolds (not pictured) won an electric clock, and Charles Carrington (next to Mayor Allen), who had two winning tickets in the grand prize drawing, selected luggage and a $25 gift certificate at Del's Shoes. Grover Kirby (center) won a coffee service set. Kountry Katerer, 140 N. Center street, conducted the contest to introduce its catering, pizza and dinner carry-out service.

Wixom Council

political retribution. The News, he said, has criticized occasionally all three administrations of the city, himself included, but editorial comment ought not be stifled.

The motion was put to a vote, with Robert Dingledey and Charles McCall joining with Metalla in supporting The News. Dr. Val Vangieson, Elwood Grubb, and Mary Parvu voted no, with the mayor voting no also to break the tie.

The same vote was posted in support of a free circulation publication mailed to all Wixom homes.

In casting his vote, Dr. Vangieson said he personally favored The News but that since it appeared the majority of people preferred a change he would abide by their wishes, particularly in view of the fact that still another designation could be made within weeks if the new publication is unsatisfactory.

In other action, the council awarded a road oiling contract following a report by Dr. Vangieson that his investigations showed that oiling would not cause pollution provided care was taken in its application.

Seeks House Seat

Livonia Democrat Ronald B. Hecker, 35, this week announced his candidacy for U.S. Representative in the 19th Congressional District. His campaign, he stated, will be based on the priorities of peace, full employment, racial justice and a healthy environment.

He was active in the Michigan Conference of Concerned Dems, a peace-oriented wing of the Democratic party that supported Eugene McCarthy and Robert Kennedy in the 1968 election. He also is a member of the New Democratic Coalition, a group that has been involved in Vietnam Moratorium activities and now is concentrating on electing peace candidates.

Now vice-chairman of the 19th Congressional District for the Democratic Party and chairman of the Livonia Democratic Club, Hecker has been on executive boards of district and local party clubs. In 1954-56 he served in the U.S. Army and was stationed in Europe. He is a graduate of Central High School, Detroit, and attended Detroit Institute of Technology, 1957-58.

for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

One of the faithful readers of this weekly effort once told me he thought it would be an improvement if the column were shorter.

The other one agreed.

In an effort to accommodate such constructive criticism and still fill-up the allotted space, this week's column will consist of a number of brief items.

Tuesday night Northville Township Clerk Eleanor Hammond presented a convincing argument for eliminating the annual meeting.

It isn't that the clerk doesn't appreciate the intent of the old town hall meeting system that dates back to the beginning of our democratic form of government. It's just that too few people attend and the so-called voice of the public is not being heard.

She noted that the Saturday afternoon session held annually in April attracted 53 people this year. Thirty-four were interested citizens, seven board members, two outside visitors, a couple of county and state officials and a few consultants. The meeting cost the township $350.

After a township reaches the population of 5,000 it can abolish the annual meeting by a vote of the people. Most townships have done so.

The board may decide to place the issue on the August or November ballot.

I think it would be a good idea.

If supporters of Wixom Mayor Gilbert Willis expected him to come into office and start sweeping with a clean broom, they have not been disappointed.

Gone after the mayor's first month in office are the police chief, treasurer, acting clerk, building inspector and recreation director.

The smile on Northville City Manager Frank Ollendorff's face comes from the proposed new budget which he has prepared for council approval.

Although ever-so-slight, it provides for a tax cut.

The manager and council deserve recognition and a taxpayer salute for their approach to the budget.

They did not ask "how many mills can we levy and how much money will it provide?" Instead a determination of need was first made. Then the necessary millage to provide this need was calculated. And "surprise", it was a tax cut!

*****

As School Board President Richard Martin sees it, the June advisory vote on the year-around school program is not a poll to determine whether or not Northville should adopt the extended school year system.

Instead, it's an invitation for advice on whether or not the board should continue to pursue the proposal and obtain more information.

"Right now I think we know three or four times as much about the year-around school program than any school district in the country. But we don't know half enough", Martin stated.

He hopes the district can get support to go ahead and do more exploring, seek state funds for more studies, so that "we can tell the public who will get hurt and who won't and how education will or will not benefit"

YES...

The Constitution of Michigan provides that every person has a right to bear arms for the defense of himself and the state. This provision, frequently misinterpreted, does not prevent reasonable regulation of handguns by our Michigan Legislature and as a result, numerous statutes governing the carrying and use of firearms have been passed and are now on the books.

The question now arises as to the adequacy of these laws. My answer is that they are adequate if properly implemented. However, implementation primarily in the hands of local police departments has been far from perfect and thus additions to existing statutory laws are absolutely necessary.

(1) Present statutes provides any person desiring to purchase a pistol must obtain a purchase permit from the local police department. This is fine but the statute should also require that such person be fingerprinted, his background checked for mental disorder, etc., and that a three-day waiting period be required prior to purchase.

(2) After purchase registration is required by law. However, a statutory fee of $10 should be set to cover costs of registering handguns. This will absorb some of the expense and would permit the creation of a special bureau of the state police to handle firearms, thus enabling local departments to cut down their paper work and get more men on the street.

(3) Concealed weapons permits are sought after in many cases as a status symbol and have little or no connection with need. Since many local officials are all too easy in this regard, this type of permit also should be turned over to the proposed firearms division of the State Police.

Speaking for Myself

Do We Need Stronger Handgun Laws?

Rolland Bringle, Sr.

NO...

My answer is a resounding "NO", just as our forebears answered with the Second Amendment of the Bill of Rights before considering adoption of the Constitution. Why? Because fresh in memory then as now, stalked the grim reminder that throughout History the primary step in stripping every vestige of personal rights from a subjugated people is to rob them of all defenses.

No matter what the pretext for "strengthening" gun laws this may be the first move toward total confiscation of all firearms. One overworked pretext is the time proven fallacy that it will curb crime. The books are full of Laws now regulating every conceivable use of guns so further "strengthening" must restrict guns, per se. Crime reports indicate that the criminal will always obtain weapons, so by denying the citizen a gun you help the criminal.

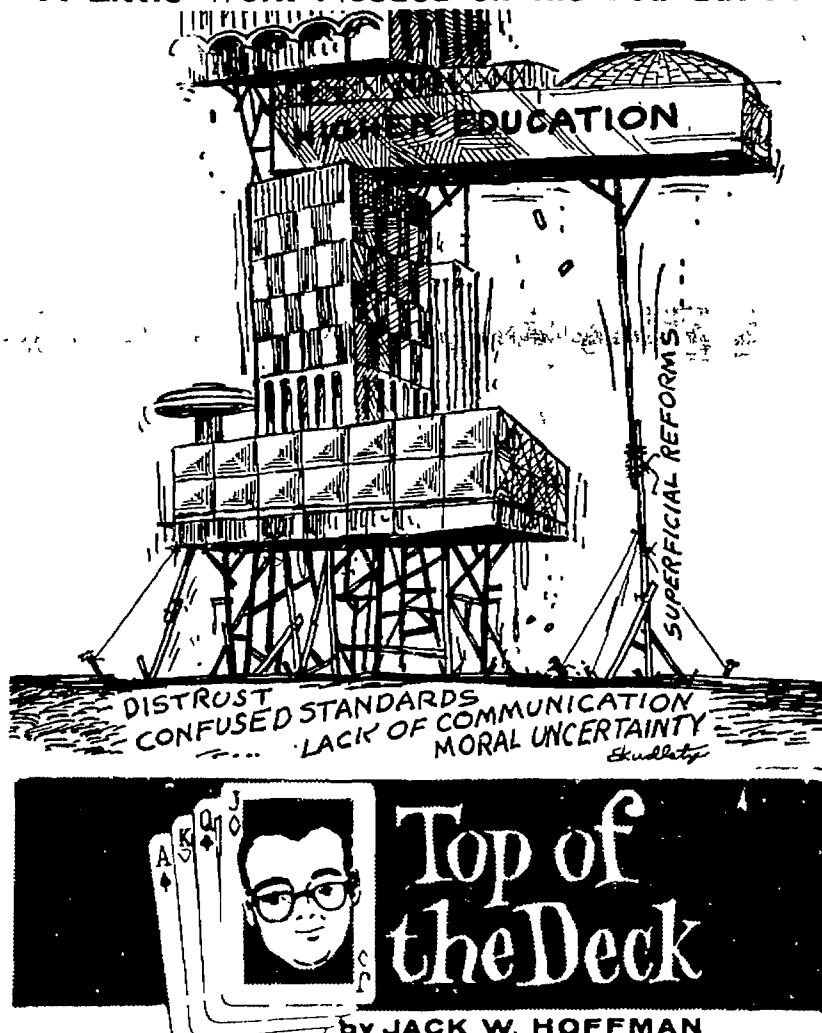

But there is another reason why I oppose gun legislation. I call it "Peace of Mind". It comes from the knowledge that you own a gun; that it is adequate, handy and ready even if (hopefully) it may never be used.

In the light of World unrest and multifarious disrespect for all Laws, hardly anyone can escape fears and anxieties. Our forefathers knew fear firsthand, yet their world was no more turbulent and the disregard for Law was no more rampant then, than now. One senses their concern however when they speak of "tranquility" and "Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness."

Therefore I conclude that today as then, men seek peace of mind and freedom from fears. Some may rely on a watch-dog, a barricade, or a far off less populated area. Others will feel safer with the silent guardian that has befriended Americans for almost 2 centuries.

A Little Work Needed on the Foundation

I saw a horse pulling a wagon near Detroit the other day. It was a ordinary horse and an ordinary junk wagon. And the driver was an ordinary dirty junk man.

They were so surprisingly ordinary I almost rammed a telephone pole skidding to a halt to watch them pass. Other motorists joined me, and for a few minutes we savored some memories of what my daughter mockingly chooses to call, "those awful olden days."

The wagon was piled high with ordinary junk, and the weight made the metal wheels squeak and the horse sweat. But neither seemed to mind. They and the junk man obviously were nearing the end of an ordinary day's work.

When the dirty driver drew alongside, his sweating horse chomping on city-grown weeds, and he on tobacco, the junk man tossed us a juicy smile and for a fleeting moment I was certain he had traveled my street before.

"Nice day, ain't it," he said. "Yes, it sure is," I answered, really meaning it. "Hold up a minute."

"Can't do it," he called back. "Can't block the cars," and then he was gone.

The horse long ago moved over for the automobile, history and my daughter remind me, but it doesn't seem so long ago that the dirty junk man rode down our street. It was only awhile ago, I'm sure, when the milk wagon passed our house and when that big grey stopped in front of our place long enough to let the iceman shoulder a 50-pound square of ice into our kitchen.

Olden days? my dear. Perhaps. But "awful"? Never.

Ask Curtis Larrimie or Blackie Smith or Mary Baldwin or some of the other "olden people" who used to share your father's block.

They'll tell you there was something special, certainly nothing "awful", about the horses and drivers who traveled our street. They'll remember hitchin' rides atop crates of milk and sneaking under a wagon's wet canvas to grab a handful of ice chips. And they'll tell you that watching a team of horses pull a plow through the neighborhood gardens was no less exciting than your experience last week in watching a bulldozer level the yard of another new house.

They'll remind you, as I have, that your todays soon become the "olden days" and, if you're lucky, an ordinary junk man may cross your path.

Readers Speak

Belts 'Beer Hill'

To the Editor:

As a long-time Northville resident, I am sure you are familiar with the area of Hines Park known as "Beer Hill." Of course, anyone new to the area can immediately recognize the "site" by the mounds of beer cans and wine bottles that adorn the slopes of what the Park authority refers to as the "Ski Area" every Saturday and Sunday morning. I'm not new to Northville, but being fairly new, to King's Mill I'm already dreading summer on the Hill.

By now some of your readers are probably wondering what I'm complaining about. I'm complaining about noise—not just screaming and yelling and screeching tires, but the car horn signals that go on from dark until early morning. I'm complaining about litter—not just the empty cases and cans that litter both sides of the Park Drive, but all the broken glass that makes this section of the Park a potential danger to the children and pets that play there, as well as the bottles that the party-goers decorate the King's Mill courts with on their way back to their cars. I'm complaining about trespassing—not just the careening of carloads of kids around Jamestown Circle, but the parking of these kids' cars in the residents' courts so that the kids can make their "getaway" without being spotted by the infrequent patrol car.

Perhaps the most infuriating complaint is that when one inquires whose jurisdiction covers "Beer Hill," the Sheriff's department claims responsibility, yet says they can't do anything about the people that use the King's Mill lots (even on resident's complaint!) because King's Mill is private property. So what do we do? Frequently, the men in our court ask trespassers to leave, but what about the courts with primarily retirees or wives home alone in the evening? Does King's Mill have to form the same type of patrol that Plymouth's Hough subdivision once used to keep carloads of careening kids out?

I've grown up in Northville, and its only been four years since I attended Northville High, so I realize that asking for an end to "Beer Hill" is probably asking for the impossible, but a little peace and quiet is certainly worth a try. I'm sure that the people involved in the Hill parties wouldn't like the same type of activity in their driveways and backyards any more than we do.

Thank you,
Kings Mill Resident

Adult's Praise

To the Editor:

Today, although it seems to be the fashion to criticize young people, I would like to give my thanks to three young men who have proved themselves to be highly responsible and considerate citizens.

I had the unfortunate experience to have my car sideswiped in Northville while attending a show. The person doing the damage left the scene. These three young men, who saw the accident, took the time and trouble to leave me a note with the license number of the other car. They also went to the police station to report the accident for me.

I am extremely pleased that I am able to praise such consideracy and responsibility among the "younger generation."

With Our Servicemen

A former South Lyon High School student, Sp/4 William P. Nissen, presently with the Airborne Rangers in Vietnam, recently sent his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Nissen of Wixom, a copy of a poem he composed about his unit.

His address is: Sp/4 William P. Nissen 384 52 4321, Co. N (Ranger) 75th Inf., 173rd ABN BDE, APO San Francisco, Calif. 96250.

The poem follows.

"AIRBORNE RANGERS"

Danger is the name of their game.
They fight for freedom in our country's name.
Far into the jungle is where they roam,
They seek the enemy in his home.
They go in teams of five men each,
There is nothing impossible or out of reach.
Blending like shadows in the jungle green,
Faces sweaty, bodies lean.
Moving as cautious as a jungle rat,
Ready to spring like a jungle cat.
Moving in puddles or jungle streams,
The girl back home in distant dreams.
They think of being home one day,
They know not why they choose to stay.
At home there is a protesting mob,
But they stay and fight and do their job.
When they find the enemy they beat him bad,
It makes them happy but also sad.
When it's over their spirits soar,
But in a day's time they are ready for more.
They give their hearts for years, months and days,
Never asking for any praise.
They are men who live with uncommon dangers,
They are the men of the Airborne Rangers!

Specialist Fourth Class Daniel L. Cobb, stationed with the Army in Vietnam, is now home on leave.

A 1968 graduate of Northville High School, he joined the Army in 1969.

Rotarians Hear Boost for Fair

Out drumming up enthusiasm for the revival of the Northville Fair, Robert Webber Tuesday outlined preliminary plans to follow Rotarians in a slide presentation at the Presbyterian Social hall.

The fair, sponsored by the Northville Chamber of Commerce, is to be held at the Northville Downs on the August 8 weekend.

Webber, who noted that many community fairs in the state place heavy emphasis on agriculture, pointed out that the August fair here will combine professional entertainment and rides with community educational demonstrations and fund-raising booths.

While admission to the fair will be free, he explained that admission will be charged at the shows to be put on by Hurricane Hell Drivers, and the Waylon Jennings country music show, to offset the cost of bringing these crowd pleasers to Northville and for advertising. Hopefully, these admission charges ($1.50 for adults, 75-cents for children) and parking fees will provide a "little" profit — all of which is to be used in making a bigger and better fair the following year, he said.

The Downs is providing its facilities, including the new clubhouse free of cost, and is charging only for utilities, cleanup and policing.

Big plus in favor of the fair, he explained, is that it will permit local clubs and organizations to concentrate their fund-raising activities at one place and at one time. The annual PTA fair, for example, is expected to be replaced by some kind of fund raising project at the Northville Fair, he explained.

All of the local organizations are encouraged to participate, he said, pointing out that with use of all of the Downs property there will be plenty of room for all of their activities. Only the Optimist Club has formally revealed what it plans, Webber said. The club will take over the second floor of the clubhouse in a gigantic antique show.

Space will be set aside for all other organization fund-raising booths, along with large areas for inside and outside commercial displays. The first floor of the clubhouse is to be used as an educational exhibition room, featuring demonstrations in arts and crafts and displays by schools and colleges.

Eighteen fun-rides are to be set up in the parking lot adjacent to the grandstands, where also many of the commercial displays and organizational booths are to be located.

Persons watching the Hell Drivers, an internationally famous "show on wheels," will sit in the air-conditioned, enclosed grandstands or stand outside along the track fence. The cars and their drivers will perform their stunts on the track.

The country music show will be held inside the grandstands, with a stage set up in front of the windows overlooking the track. This inside show, explained Webber, will give spectators a better view and permit them to get the full impact of the music.

Among other activities under consideration, Webber said, will be a ribbon-cutting opening ceremony, perhaps with an appearance of Governor Milliken, a horse show, a demonstration by the Walled Lake firm that has a hand in experimenting and manufacturing of power packs that lift men into space, and military displays and demonstrations.

Parking will be provided on the Downs' property on the west side of Center and at the extreme eastern and northern portions of the parking lots.

The August fair in considered a revival of the old Northville Wayne County Fair that attracted people from throughout Michigan. The last county fair was held in 1943—then in its 27th year. That last fair featured educational and defense displays, a victory garden exhibit, poultry and livestock shows, a parachute drop, rodeo, fireworks, and speeches by Lieutenant Governor Eugene Keyes and other political leaders.

"Conditions incident to the war and the very acute manpower shortage," were the reasons given for ending the fair during World War II.

Novi Police Blotter

Murder Exam Postponed

The Walled Lake district court examination of James A. Freeman, 31, of Plymouth, who is charged with the murder of his ex-wife's boyfriend, was postponed indefinitely last week, Tuesday because of a serious illness in his attorney's family.

Freeman is charged with the shotgun slaying of Marion Smith, 35, early in March at the home of his ex-wife, Mrs. Ouida Freeman, 26930 Taft Road.

Novi police said Smith and Mrs. Freeman were sitting on the couch of her home when Freeman burst into the house carrying a 12-gauge shotgun. Freeman, according to police, shot Smith and then backed Mrs. Freeman into the bedroom where he shot her once on the thigh. She was hospitalized.

Police are seeking vandals who broke a number of large windows in the front of Novi High School early last week, causing several hundred dollars worth of damage. A red brick, similar to those used in construction at the nearby First Baptist Church, was found inside the school and a beer bottle was found at the base of another broken window.

William C. Roberts of Hazel Park was sentenced to three days in jail Thursday after he pleaded guilty of driving while his operator's license was revoked. He was arrested in Novi on April 22.

Also sentenced to three days in jail for driving while his license was revoked was Michael C. Murphy of 46162 Sunset. Police arrested him on April 22 while driving east on 10 Mile Road.

Michael C. Ridley of Detroit, arrested February 7 for carrying a concealed weapon (a small pistol) in the vicinity of the Convenient Food Mart on Novi Road, was sentenced to two years probation and ordered to pay $200 probation fees upon pleading guilty in Oakland County Circuit Court.

of a reduced charge of "attempted" carrying a concealed weapon.

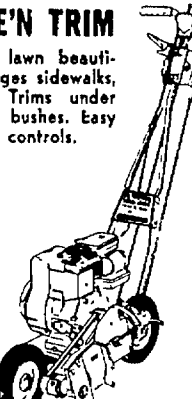

Six Novi patrolmen were readied for action Friday as Detective Richard Faulkner joined Farmington city and township police in scouting the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College when a rumor persisted that demonstrating youths planned to storm the Farmington municipal offices as part of their anti-war activities. Demonstrations were non-violent, however, and occurred only on the campus, police reported.

The alertness of Cecil Beebe of Herb's Standard Service station, corner Grand River and Novi roads, may have nipped the illegal sale of a $3,500 sports car engine last week Wednesday.

A Detroit man, contracted to transport engines from the Car Craft engines plant in Brighton, approached Beebe, apparently believing he was the "contact" to whom he was to sell the engine for $200. Beebe called police, who held the "suspect" for questioning and confiscated the engine. No charges were filed since the crime had not been completed.

Battle Goes to Wire

Novi Thinclads Nip Ypsi

Novi thinclads were savoring two victories and an impressive finish in the Tecumseh Relays as they prepared to battle arch-rival South Lyon Tuesday.

The Wildcats crushed Dundee 87-31 last week Tuesday, nipped Ypsilanti Lincoln in a thrilling 61½ to 56½ meet Thursday, and then came up with a fourth place finish Saturday competing against nine Class C schools in the Tecumseh Relays.

Enroute to their victories and relays finish the Wildcats posted or tied a number of school records.

Most thrilling of last week's performances was the triumph over Ypsilanti.

Novi was trailing going into the low hurdles as the meet neared an end. Jim Wilenius came through with a first, Syd Chapman a third to narrow the gap to 51½ to 43½. Mark Earl placed first and Dave Miller second in the two mile to trim Ypsi's lead to 52½ to 51½, and then in the 220 yard sprint John Davey streaked to a first to knot the score at 56½ going into the final event—the mile relay.

Through the first two legs of the relay, Novi's Brad Burnham and Steve Pelchat were just a few steps behind Ypsi. Dan McGarry grabbed a narrow lead in the third leg, then in the anchor position Larry Eggleston held on until midpoint when Ypsi's runner edged in front of him and streaked across the finish outfront. But the track official ruled, after earlier warning the runners, that Eggleston had been cutoff too sharply and blocked in his lane, thus giving Novi the relay and the meet record.

*****

In overall dual meets for the season, Novi's record stands at four wins, two losses. In conference play, the Wildcats are 3-2.

*****

In Saturday's Tecumseh Relays, the Wildcats broke or tied three school records in placing in eight events. Syd Chapman tied his own record in the 120 yard high hurdles; Dan McGarry set a new school record in the mile run; and Rick Dale and John Davey tied the school's 100 yard dash record.

Wildcat Nine Splits Pair

Novi knocked off Dexter Thursday, spoiling the Southeastern Conference nine's bid to move within a game of league-leading Lincoln.

The 4-3 loss at the hands of the Wildcats dropped Dexter into a second-place tie with Milan two full games off the leader's pace.

For Novi, the narrow victory was sweet medicine, coming on the heels of a error-packed loss to arch-rival South Lyon last week Tuesday, 12-3. The Wildcats trail the Lions by one game.

In winning over Dexter, Novi took advantage of every opportunity presented by Dexter's fielding and its own clutch hitting. The victory went to Bob Pisha, who was relieved in the sixth by Phil McMillan. The losing hurler was Greg Ianni.

On the first play of the game, Dexter's rightfielder dropped a fly ball and set the stage for Tom VanWagner's run scoring double. Then in the second frame, Ianni walked two batters and Rick Dale singled one of the runners home.

Novi scored two runs in the third on five walks and a squeeze play. Ianni was lifted, and reliever Jim Aseltine set down the next 10 men he faced to put out the Novi fire.

Dexter collected four hits, committed one error, while Novi settled for two hits and committed three errors.

NOVI: 1 1 2 0 0 X
DEXTER: 0 0 0 2 0 1 0

Novi baseball players would just as soon forget all that happened after the first inning of their game at South Lyon last week.

The Wildcats managed to grab a 2-1 lead in that opening inning. But in the second, they saw the score tied and in a wild third inning, marked by "all kinds of mistakes" they saw the Lions score seven runs without a hit. Walks and errors accounted for most of the South Lyon runs in that explosive seventh.

VanWagner, who started for Novi and was relieved in the third by McMillan, was nicked with the loss, while South Lyon's hurler, Tim Cash, took credit for the victory.

South Lyon produced their 12 runs on seven hits while committing just one error. Novi scored its three runs on five hits, including triples off the bats of Rick Dale and McMillan.

NOVI: 1 1 1 0 0 X
SOUTH LYON: 1 1 7 1 0 2 X

Novi's junior varsity squad also split their games, winning 7-3 over South Lyon and losing 12-6 to Dexter.

JH Posts
62-47 Win

Record and near records were posted by Northville Junior High School track men last week as the local thinclads rolled past Pierce by the score of 62-47.

Pierce picked up seven firsts and Northville just six, but Pete Johnson's youngsters won the two all-important relay events and slammed both hurdles to take the meet.

Blair Robinson continued to blaze a trail in the 60 yard hurdles, streaking across the finish line in 60 seconds flat to break a record 9.0 time he set a week earlier.

Running for the first time in competition, Bill Pettit was clocked at 61.7 in the 440 yard run — just 1.1 seconds off the school record.

Greg Hildebrand tied the school record in the pole vault event, vaulting 8 feet, 6 inches. In another near record time, Ken Ely ran the 330 yard dash in 46.5, just .9 off the school record set a week earlier by teammate Steve French, who is nursing an injury.

Northville's 880 relay team (Joe Bishop, Dave Muccino, Howard Kriss, and Bob Bloomhuff) missed the school record by four seconds but the time of 1:51.8 was the best in the three years that Johnson has been at NJH.

Mustangs Win Big in Cardinal Relays

"It was the finest week of track competition we've ever had at Northville," beamed Coach Ralph Redmond Monday as he reviewed the Mustangs' victories over Plymouth and Walled Lake and a trophy-winning first place in the Cardinal Relays at Michigan Center.

Saturday's showing at Michigan Center (near Jackson) represented one of the best team performances turned in by a Northville squad, according to the coach.

Competing against 17 Class "B" schools in the invitational, the Mustangs piled up 28½ points to edge East Jackson, which took 22 points for second, and Holt, which finished third at 18.

Out of 12 relay events, Northville scored in nine, including a Cardinal Relay record-breaking long jump mark that netted the Mustangs its only first place. The three Northville jumpers, piled up a combined jump of 62' 7"—breaking the record established by Michigan Center in 1964 by better than three feet.

In that long jump event, Northville's ace John Stuyvenberg broke his own school record and became one of only two Michigan high school athletes to hit or better 23 feet this year. His jump was 23 feet even.

But the big surprise of the event was the 21' 2" jump of Dave Mitchell, his best career mark (previous best 19' 6" at Clarenceville Relays). "I was especially pleased here," said Redmond, "because it capped a steadily improving performance by Dave." His jump is the second best (next to Stuyvenberg) in Northville history.

Jim Darnell, who "was a little off his best pace," got off a jump of 18' 5" to round out Northville's performance.

Northville's second place finish in the distance medley relay was the real crowd pleaser. With Paul Bedford running the mile, Larry Firman the 880, Guy Dickson 1½ miles, and Rick Bell the two mile, the Northville quartet crossed the finish at 25:01 to beat the previous record of 25:25. The winning time, however, established the new record at 24:54.

Hundreds of fans roared their approval as Dickson took the baton in his leg, some 250 yards behind, and finished 250 yards in front.

Stuyvenberg, Mitchell, Darnell, and James Carter took second in the 440 yard relay with a time of 45 seconds flat, just off the winning time of 44.9.

In another second place finish, the Mustangs came up with a surprising performance in the high jump with all three local athletes sailing over the crossbar at 5' 6" without a miss. Even the winning team failed to match that effort. Northville's combined height was 16' 8" (winning mark, 17' even). Rick Pickren led the way with a jump of 5' 8", while Jim Armstrong and Stuyvenberg each jumped 5' 6".

Third places were posted by Northville in the shuttle hurdles, shot put, and the 880 relay. In that latter event, run by Stuyvenberg, Mitchell, Darnell and Carter, Northville was clocked at 1:34.0 (winning time, 1:33.8).

Brad Cole, Dave Veresh, Mitchell, and Rick Pickren teamed up in the shuttle hurdles with a combined time of 1:00.6 (winning time, 1:00.2), and Brian Meyers, Rick Ruland, and Bob Stoddard came up with a combined put of 134' 7" (winning put, 141 feet).

Placing fourth in the mile relay were Dave Wright, Gary Putrow, Wayne Enders, and Phil Guider in a time of 3:38.8 (winning time, 3:32.0).

Finally, Wright, Guider, Cole and Enders placed fifth in the two mile relay with a time of 8:38.8 (winning time, 8:30.0).

Prior to Saturday's relays, the Mustangs bombed Plymouth 77-41 last week Tuesday, and downed Walled Lake Western, 71 1/3 to 44 2/3.

NORTHVILLE'S TROPHY WINNING THINCLADS

Milford Shakes Up Northville Lead

Northville's perch atop the Wayne-Oakland League standings wobbled precariously this week as the second-place Milford ballclub blanked the Mustangs 3-0 and set the stage for a rough and tumble W-O finish.

The Mustangs still cling to first by half a game, sporting a 9-2 league mark, while the Redskins are breathing down their necks at 8-2.

Coach Chuck Shonta insists his squad must win all three of its remaining games, including today's tough one against Andover, to sew up the W-O crown. Even then, Milford could make it rough if, it finishes the season with all victories. The Redskins have four games remaining, including a make-up contest.

Besides today's Andover game, the Mustangs must still clash with Clarkston and Clarenceville. They end the season next week Thursday.

Although Northville's pitching held up here against Milford, with Ace Fred Holdsworth suffering his first loss of the season, its battery simply could not cope with Milford's fiery southpaw, John Morrison.

Firing a fast ball and mixing it up with breaking curves, Morrison gave up just two hits to a team whose hitting has been a constant W-O threat.

Holdsworth was nicked for five hits and he walked five while still keeping his blazing strikeout performance intact. He fanned 15 Redskins, but Milford came up with the hits when they were most needed. They scored two in the third and one in the seventh.

Northville threatened in each of the first three innings but left men stranded on all three bases.

*****

Monday was a bad day for the Mustangs, but Thursday and Saturday the sun was shining on the local club.

Northville blanked third-place West Bloomfield Thursday, 5-0, and then handed Brighton a 9-3 licking on the Bulldog's diamond.

Holdsworth, who is 9-1 for the season, gave up just two hits while striking out 16 batters to take pitching credit for Thursday's victory. He walked none.

The Northville pitcher also got three of the Mustangs' 10 hits, driving in three runs in four trips to the plate. Terry Mills, Northville's leading hitter who commands a .400 average, came up with two hits in four trips.

*****

Rich Adams blasted a three-run homer in the top of the fifth at Brighton, and Holdsworth came up with a four-bagger in the sixth to highlight Northville's hitting. Both blasts went over the centerfield fence. But it was Mills again who led the hitting attack, with a double and a single in three times at bat. Adams went 2 for 4, driving in five runs, while Holdsworth went 1-1, walking three times.

While Northville's battery was pounding out eight hits, Pitcher Bernie Bach was hurling his way to another victory. He gave up six hits, walked three, and struck out 11.

Northville scored three runs in the first, two in the third, three in the fifth, and one in the sixth, while the Bulldogs came up with all three of their runs in the third inning.

Golfers Cop Redskin Repeat

Northville golfers avenged an earlier loss at Milford by trimming the Redskins 182-186 Thursday at a home match on Brae Burn's back nine.

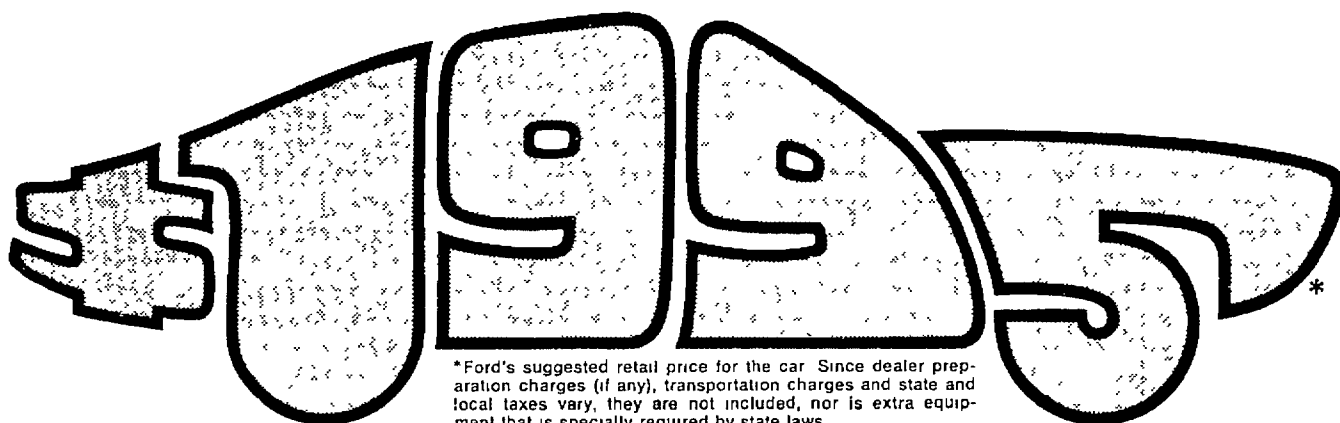

The victory gave the Mustangs a record of three wins, five losses and a tie going into Monday's meet with the Wayne-Oakland League powerhouse, Brighton.

Northville defeated Milford, despite the absence of its top golfer, Jim Penrod, a senior who has been showing plenty of improvement in recent outings.

Another senior, Ken Neisch, took up the gap, however, firing a 44 to lead both squads. He was followed by John Hlohenic and Andy Walter, each of whom carded 45's, and Steve Pauli at 48. Milford's low score was a 45.

In other recent action, Northville dropped a 218-212 match with Redford Union and a 182-173 match with Bloomfield Andover.

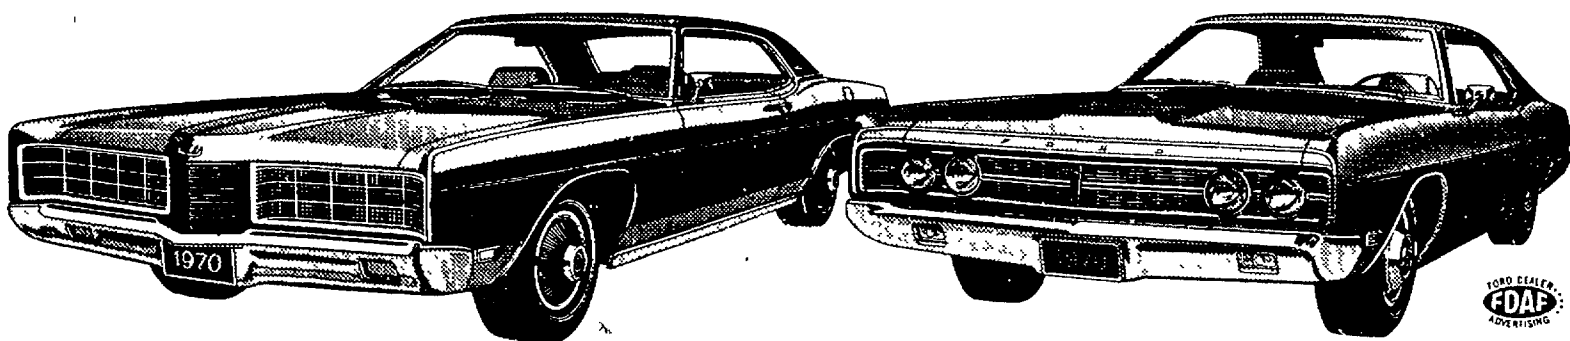

Penrod led the Mustangs against Redford, shooting a 41, and he was tops also against Andover with a 40.

Township Hall Committee Named

The Northville township board waded through a lengthy agenda Tuesday that extended the session until midnight. Most time-consuming item was the decision on the fish hatchery recreation proposal (see story elsewhere), but action was also taken on a host of other considerations.

Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg announced appointments to two study committees. Trustee Bernard Baldwin was named to chairman a committee on police standards with Trustees Richard Mitchell and Joseph Straub. A township hall-fire study committee will be headed by Trustee William Smith and composed of Trustees Baldwin, Mitchell and Straub.

Appointed to the board of review filling a vacancy caused by the resignation of Donald Robinson was Lawrence Wright. Trustee Straub was named as delegate to the newly created area disposal authority with Trustee Smith to act as alternate.

At the suggestion of Police Chief Ron Nisun the board decided to establish a bureau for collection of parking violations where a guilty plea is entered. This would allow the township to receive such funds that now are collected by the district court. It was also proposed that the township discuss with the district judge the possibility of collecting all its traffic violation fines where the charge is not contested. Chief Nisun said this could amount to $1,000 per month, although there would be some clerical expense.

After some discussion the board decided to adopt a recommendation of the planning commission which would eat trailers in non-conforming use in the same manner as other non-conforming residences.

Trustee Mitchell voted against the motion on the basis that he did not want to be responsible for moving someone from a home in which they had resided for 20 years or more.

The issue came up as a result of a court suit in which the township attempted to remove trailers in the Gerald avenue area that it maintained were illegally in use. The area is zoned industrial and original trailers used for homes there are considered non-conforming.

Township Attorney John Ashton pointed out that the proposed ordinance would prohibit moving and replacing of existing trailers, thereby perpetuating the non-conforming use. He explained that the court had criticized the present ordinance and said the township should decide whether it wants a trailer court on the site or for it to eventually become an industrial site as it is zoned.

Under the new ordinance trailer residents can remain under their present non-conforming status, but they cannot replace, move or repair their trailers if more than 50 per cent destroyed by fire. This same condition applies to other facilities in non-conforming use.

The amendment was approved 5-1 with Trustee Straub abstaining.

In other business the board approved a recommendation to keep the library open one hour later until 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, but declined Sunday hours. The city council had taken the same action. Discussion of a vote on charter township status was tabled although it was noted that the board has the authority to place the question on the ballot.

The board also accepted an anonymous gift for $500 to keep the old police car and use it as a back-up facility for the new township police car.

The admittance includes a chance on a drawing Sunday night for door prizes donated by local antique shop owners with one of the prizes being two original issues of The Northville Record dated April 12 and December 20, 1873.

Mrs. Ollie Nan Smith, general chairman, said that the large downs parking lots will have such fair-type attractions as sketch artists, a popcorn man, mini-garden shop and demonstrations of glass-blowing, spinning, and folk dancing. These are being sponsored by local service groups, including scouts, Jaycees and the Northville Historical Society.

Snacks, lunch and dinner will be served in the old restaurant area of the downs as the new clubhouse is not complete. They are being prepared by Mrs. Neil Suddendorf.

concern that voters did not have enough information on year-round school to vote on it.

"I don't see why we should be concerned about going to the people. They know more about year-round school than lots of things they are asked to vote on," Spear said.

The question was approved by a vote of 5-1, Dr. Robinson dissenting and Trustee Stanley Johnston absent.

In other action related to year-round school, the board voted unanimously to authorize Spear to apply for a renewal of a grant from the state in the amount of $19,000 to continue study of year-round school.

Spear said the money received from the grant would be used to pre-register students for four years.

*****

The board also authorized a change order not to exceed $18,000 for foundation construction at the high school. Spear said the bond issue did provide funds for change orders and would not require funds to be taken from other areas.

One teacher resignation and three contracts were approved by the board. The resignation of Mrs. Marjorie Sliger, third grade teacher at Main Street, was approved.

Contracts for Miss Jeree Bachelor, third grade Moraine; Miss Kathryn Schleede, second grade Amerman; and Mrs. Judith Pariseau, third grade Amerman; were approved. All three teachers did intern work in the system this year.

Novi Oiling Angers Council

To oil or not to oil was the big question Monday night as the Novi council took the city manager to task for ordering the oiling of a number of city roads without a policy change by the council.

Result of the tiff is that Manager Dallas Zonkers has been directed to investigate the pros and cons of oiling from road experts and to report his findings and his recommendation to the council.

Presumably, the council may change its long-standing policy of chloriding streets if Zonkers' findings and his recommendation can substantiate a change.

The council was miffed because, after he received a petition from Meadowbrook Road residents containing a substantial number of signatures of those desiring oiling, Zonkers ordered the oiling of Meadowbrook without waiting for the council to decide the matter after considering the petition signatures that it had requested.

Although the council two weeks ago indicated it probably would order the oiling of Meadowbrook if a large percentage of property owners so requested, it withheld formal approval pending receipt of the petition. Zonkers assumed receipt of the petition meant at the city hall not necessarily at council table and, because property owners were demanding immediate dust control, he ordered the oiling.

In the eyes of the council, however, he compounded the problem by ordering the oiling of several other roads while the oil tanker was in the city. Changing from chloride to oil, councilmen contended, is a policy matter that necessarily must involve the council—not an administrative one.

Novi's standing policy to control dust with chloride is based on past council belief that oiling damages roadbeds, besides causing inconvenience to housewives who must cope with oil tracks into their homes.

That assumption, based on past information supplied the city, was shaken somewhat Monday when former councilman, Russell Button, an engineer, was asked his opinion. Button said, "I think you are splitting hairs. I really don't think it makes a whole lot of difference."

Damage to roadbeds isn't likely to occur until after repeated oiling over a long period of time, he said. However, he advised that care must be given that no excessively heavy applications be made, causing runoff and pollution of streams and lakes.

Concerning the direction that Zonkers obtain the opinions of road experts, Button said the result may be of little value because while one expert may prefer chloride another may favor oil.

Zonkers apologized for his actions after Mayor Joseph Crupi concluded the matter with this admonition: "If something smells of a policy decision don't do it until you've consulted the council."

Highway Plan Revised

the long continuation, arguing that it will prolong existing problems that need immediate attention. Councilman William O'Brien, who also voted against it, had suggested that the sign restriction portion of the amendment be adopted but that that portion of the amendment dealing with the one-year restriction be tabled. Other councilmen, however, pointed out that the one-year restriction is part of the present law and therefore inclusion of a tabling action in the motion was unnecessary.

Following the continuation action, the council then voted 4-1 (O'Brien voted no) to appoint a committee to review the sign ordinance in respect to illuminated signs and to report back to the council in two weeks with his findings.

The proposed amendment permitting bonified farms, located in residentially zoned areas, to continue (even if the land is sold) was recommended for approval by the planners and then approved 4-1 by the council. This "grandfather clause", it was explained, is intended to exempt farms that may have been included in residential zoning of large sections of undeveloped land in the community.

O'Brien, who favored the amendment, nevertheless voted against it because in his opinion a sentence in it could be misinterpreted and thus ought to be reworded.

Still another amendment was approved unanimously. This one provides citizens can by initiatory petition, containing signatures of 15-percent of the registered voters, request rezoning by the council and, if denied by the council, to put the question on the ballot. Purpose of the amendment is to provide citizens with the right to request rezoning of property which in their opinion conflicts with the nature of surrounding lands.

Are women unhappy? is a question that often pops into conversation, particularly since the woman's liberation movement has gathered steam and taken on the proportions of a national movement.

Asking the question is a little like wading into American involvement in Vietnam. There are no blacks or whites. No, it's not that simple. Grey is the prevailing color.

The responses vary (just more than one person.) Like women, it seems no two persons agree. Then there's a further consideration infinitely more difficult to answer. If women are not happy, then why not?

That's the question we asked and on this page are some of the answers we got.

Gynecologist....

A leading Ann Arbor gynecologist, Dr. Gena Rose Pahucki, doesn't think women are any more unhappy today than they ever were.

"There are lots of unhappy people in both sexes", she commented. "The criteria for unhappiness is the same for everyone, male or female — total pre-occupation with self and little interest in other people."

Dr. Pahucki doesn't believe that woman's total role should be house-oriented, although she admits that many young women are tied to the home because of small children.

"I think all young mamas ought to get out of the house even one day a week", she advises her patients. "And that's without the baby. A young woman ought to have that one day to do exactly what she pleases. A day to herself almost makes things tolerable."

"To be happy, women have to do something that they genuinely feel is worthwhile", she believes.

What about drugs? Do many women request 'happy' pills to settle jagged nerves?

"Probably about forty percent of the people I see request or are on something like a tranquilizer," she answered. "Lots of time I send them to work."

"It's true that women, especially those whose children are in school, have a lot more free time", she added, "and they need something to occupy them. Things in the home are easier because of mechanical advances."

"A woman today doesn't need to bake a cake from scratch. Why should she when she can make one just as good from a mix?"

"The woman who finds herself in that predicament — having too much time on her hands — should get out and do something. If she can afford volunteer work, fine. Otherwise, she ought to get a job if housework is no longer satisfactory."

"It'll get her mind off herself and make her more attractive to others."

"After all", she concluded, "happiness comes from inside."

Young Mother....

The young mother looked like she was about 16 years old even though the oldest of her four children was almost seven. She was dressed in bell-bottom slacks and a colorful T-shirt, and was waiting in a laundromat for her washing to dry.

"Unhappy?" she laughed, "Me? Are you kidding? Who's got time to be unhappy?"

About that time, her three year old daughter tugged at her leg and got a giant smear of chocolate on Mama's spanking white slacks. "Yech!" she said, "See what I mean?"

After the kids were settled she got back to the question. "Well, I'm not really what you'd call weeping sad", she said. "Sometimes I get a little blue, but most of the time I enjoy my kids, my house and my husband."

"Every once in a while, I feel, you know, kind of abused, or I look in the mirror when I'm particularly tired and ask, 'Who are you?'"

"That's the only part I don't like sometimes", she went on, "the part that makes you ask who you are. You know, if the kids are pulling you one way and your husband tugging at you — well, sometimes you feel lost in it all."

Has woman's role changed?
"That's what they say", she sighed. "Women are liberated, they have more free time. That's what my mom always tells me. 'You don't have to iron as much; you've got cake mixes, you've got a mixer to beat them with, and I know she's right."

"But that doesn't seem to give me any more time to just be myself. There's still the tug and pull, pull and tug."

"When the kids are older I know it'll change and sometimes I can hardly wait. Then I see Tim (the seven year old) and here he is already a big brother and in school and I remember when he was Terri's age (she's 18 months) and I want to slow everything down."

Struggling with the laundry basket and the baby while the seven year old opened the door and managed the three year old and a five year old girl, the young mother left the laundromat. "Right now", she called back, "I'd take instant grownups."

Male Booster....

"Gimme, gimme, gimme! Entertain me, entertain me!"

That's the cry of the emancipated woman, according to Kahlil Samra, journalist and head of SEAM, the Society for the Emancipation of the American Male, based in Ann Arbor.

Samra, who says he doesn't dislike the "weaker sex", feels that they have caused great unhappiness in the American male with their new quest for freedom. He blames women for the fact that three out of four of all suicides are committed by men.

"The problem is that homes have become battlegrounds rather than sanctuaries. Women do violence to their biological role when they try to become psychologically male," he surmised.

The reason for the rising number of divorced, widowed, bachelored and deserting men, Samra claims that the conflict between the sexes is "emasculating the American male".

Samara pointed to the Oriental and Mediterranean civilization where he thinks families have a more gracious style of living as the ideal way of life. "There a woman is given more respect", he said, "because she remains a woman."

"If women here would follow the example of the Oriental woman they would be happier," he said. "Their children wouldn't be chasing a baseball 50 hours a day, and Daddy wouldn't be slipping out to the bar with the boys so often."

"Most of them are spoiled and lazy", he said, "with little experience in giving of themselves. Of course there are women who must work, but they should do so only under the most trying circumstances when it is absolutely necessary."

In the perfect society, Samara said, only women who are widows or spinsters should work. "Supposing no-one wants to marry her — well, then naturally she has to work."

35 Year-Old Mother...

"I read the Feminine Mystique", the 35-year-old mother of three said, "and it fit then, so I believed it."

"I do think women are unhappy when their families are young and finances are low and they don't think it will ever end. For one thing, I don't think women are always given a fair shake, especially when they're bringing up very young families on very limited incomes."

Like many of the women interviewed in the over-30 bracket, Peggy thought that women would be happier if modern magazines wouldn't picture them as down-trodden.

"For a long time there", she said, "all you ever read was how monotonous housework was. I don't think enough emphasis and appreciation is placed on motherhood. When you have a child it's a great responsibility and if it was held up as something wonderful, as it should be, it would be great for a woman's esteem."

"A woman, for instance, can decide to breast-feed her baby", she added, "and that's a wonderful thing, but no-one gives you credit anymore for doing those womanly things."

"The mother is the one who has the job of shaping ideas and personalities and that shouldn't be taken for granted."

"I can decide what I want to do: Do I want to go to work? Do I want to paint? What kind of work would I like? Or do I just want to stay home? My husband can't afford the luxury of such decision-making."

"I think women should consider that, too, when they're bemoaning their lot in life. More women ought to be close friends with their husband and be appreciative of what he's doing."

"He's got the big headache. I wouldn't want to be in his shoes."

Is It Good for Man to be Alone?

Reverend James Andrews
Full Salvation Union

"It is not good for man to be alone."

Our understanding is limited by the framework of thought in which we live.

We cannot think as God thinks. If we could it would be possible, no doubt, to conceive of the whole human family living in one physical body as when Adam was first created; and it seems to be God's purpose to again produce an habitation for man wherein all who are made "One" in answer to Christ's prayer will live together in the "New Jerusalem."

Adam's physical body was the original creation of God where all the human family lived. That was their residence.

But God decided that such was not good. Even though in that condition of existence there would have been no murder, no covetousness. In fact, the Law of God could have been kept in a perfect manner. But there would have been no individual, personal life as we now know it.

God said that such a state was not good and changed our condition. Therefore we know our own individual existence as it is now realized and with that individual existence has come the possibility of division and with division has come all the sorrow, bloodshed and woe that has been the common lot of us all.

Separated as we are from each other it is possible for every man's hand to be turned against his neighbor.

This is not an ideal state and God is at work to separate all works of iniquity from His creation. Sin and evil must go.

Marriage — the joining of two persons together in holy matrimony is in the wisdom of God one of the ways in which God would lead us to that state of perfect oneness in God's mind envisioned by Christ in His prayer, "That they all may be one, as Thou, Father, art in Me and I in Thee, that they may be made one in us, that the world may believe." What a challenging, exciting and purposeful life it is when two people are joined together by God in this way and for this purpose!

"What God hath joined together let not man put asunder."

This means that man should not interfere with God's purpose. And it is for each one of us to become consciously aware of what interference we may be generating to disrupt and disturb God's purpose in this regard and then to abandon it and give it up.

The family and the church are God's institutions. Who but God can build a family, and who but God can build a church? These are sacred relationships and should not be treated lightly, but reverently and in the fear of God, for their purpose is to make us One in God's mind.

Each institution is to help and complement the other until we all arrive safely home in that "New Jerusalem" where as God and Christ are One all of us are likewise perfectly joined together in God's love.

Until this is realized, true and abiding happiness cannot be found.

Let us all remember this. Let us not only wish all married couples all joy and happiness on their wedding day, but let us pray for them — that God's purpose in their lives may be fully realized.

Oh, God, grant that it may be true!
