DOWNTOWN MERCHANTS will meet tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. to discuss ways of solving the downtown parking problems other than by the proposal presently considered that involves construction of a parking deck on Cady Street, C.A. Smith has announced. "We'd like to explore some less expensive way to solve these problems," he said.

DOG LICENSES expire Sunday, May 31, in both the city and township. Licenses may be obtained for a $2 fee from the city or township clerk's office where owners reside. Township officials will allow licenses to be purchased through June 1 before they lavy the $2 pc. Acty on unlicensed dogs. No penalty is levied in the city.

FOUR TOWNSHIP board incumbents will run for re-election, but the fifth is still undecided. Petitions have either been filed or are being circulated for Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg, Celrk Ellie Hammond, Treasurer Alex Lawrence and Trustee William Smith. Trustee Joseph Straub is still considering the matter. All incumbents are Republicans. To date Democrats have not filed for the August primary. Deadline for filing petitions for one of the five openings on the board is 4 p.m. June 16.

THE PROPOSED Steward Oldford shopping center on a six acre site on Seven Mile road directly across from the Levitt Highland Lakes development has hit a snag. Oldford was refused site plan approval Tuesday night by the township planning commission because of street locations. A letter from the Wayne county engineer of streets insists that the Oldford and Levitt entrance streets align. Planners take the position that Levitt's plan has been approved, Oldford's hasn't. Obviously irked and unable to obtain a building permit, Oldford asked where he could appeal the decision. He was told by the township attorney that the planning commission is the final authority on site plan approval and that any appeal would have to be taken to the circuit court.

Parade, Services to Honor War Dead

Northville will salute its war dead Saturday with a Memorial Day parade and memorial services at the community's two cemeteries.

Sponsored this year by the Veterans of Foreign War Post 4012, the 102nd consecutive memorial program will get underway with the forming of the parade in the Kroger parking lot, adjacent to Dunlap Street at 9 a.m. adjacent to Dunlap Street at 9 a.m.

Participating with the VFW veterans will be the VFW auxiliary, the American Legion Post 147 (alternate yearly sponsor with the VFW), the Legion auxiliary, Northville High School band, led by director Robert Williams, and the various branches of scouting represented in the community.

The high school bandsmen will be wearing their new uniform overlays for their first public viewing.

Preceding the band will be retired Northville businessman, Conrad E. Langfield. It was his donation of $15,000 that set up a fund for support and enrichment of the high school band program, and paid for the uniform overlays.

Offering the memorial prayers for the ceremonies will be the Reverend Lloyd Brasure, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

The Musketeers—a Michigan group specializing in the uniforms and weapons of the Civil War era—has been invited to join the parade march.

At 9:30 a.m., the parade will proceed east to Hutton and then north

Shapero Center OK'd; Levitt Revises Request

Northville township planners took action on two major rezoning issues Tuesday night and postponed action on a third when the petitioner revised the request.

1-Approval of the Nate Shapero request for rezoning of a 57-acre site at the southwest corner of Eight Mile and Haggerty roads for regional shopping center and business use was recommended;

2-Denial of a similar request from Leonard Brooks for rezoning of 65 acres on the northwest corner of Seven Mile and Haggerty was recommended;

3-Postponement of action on the Levitt and Sons request for rezoning to replace 350 single family homes with 500 townhouses was recommended after Levitt revised the request to retain 100 single family dwellings.

As an advisory body, planners have no authority to make zoning changes. The recommendations are forwarded to the legislative body, the township board, for final action. The board will consider the Shapero and Brooks' recommendations at its next meeting, which will be held Thursday, June 11 instead of Tuesday, June 9 to avoid a conflict with high school graduation ceremonies.

Both shopping center requests had been opposed by residents of the neighboring Meadowbrook subdivision at the April 30 public hearing. Joseph Wilkinson, president of the subdivision association, resterated the opposition at Tuesday night's meeting.

The Shapero site was recommended by township planning consultants, Vilican and Leman, as being better suited for B-3 use that the Brooks' site from a physical point of view as well as the affect it would have on existing land use patterns in the area.

Offices Closed

Newspaper offices of The Northville Record-Novi News will close at 1 p.m. Friday and all day Saturday, Memorial Day.

Regular office hours are 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily and from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. Saturdays.

Planning Consultant Donald Jones, representing Brooks, asked permission to rebutt the Vilican-Leman letter before planners took action on either request Tuesday night. He was given permission, although the motion to approve the Shapero proposal had already been made by Kenneth Sewell and seconded by J. Craig Bowlby.

Jones stated that the Shapero development did not constitute a regional center and challenged the consultants' view that the site was better suited than the Brooks' parcel. By use of maps he attempted to show that traffic patterns would be more congested at the Eight Mile site than at Seven Mile road and he further suggested that both centers should be permitted to compete for tenants to determine which would survive and develop.

But planners voted unanimously for the Shapero plan and against the Brooks' proposal. In moving to recommend denial of the Seven Mile road rezoning Planner Donald Boor noted that the property is an extension of Meadowbrook Estates subdivision and so platted, that the buffer wall dividing the center from the subdivision would be "like the China wall", and that the land can be developed residentially as shown on the master plan.

Planners decided to hold a special meeting Monday, June 22 to consider the latest Levitt proposal.

Company Spokesman Irvin Adler said that Levitt had reconsidered its request to remove all single family units due to public and planning commission reaction to the proposal.

Under the new proposal 100 single family detached homes would be constructed along the Eight Mile road border of the development as well as the easterly boundary. The number of townhouses would be reduced from 1,414 to 1,314 and the number of apartments remain at 400.

The original Levitt plan called for 350 single family dwellings, 914 townhouse units and 400 apartments.

School to Test Religion Release Time Program

School board trustees approved a pilot program for release time for religious insuruction and denied a teacher's petition for reinstatement of lost pay at Monday night's meeting.

A pilot program of release time for religious instruction of Catholic students in the district was approved for students in grades one through five.

Superintendent Raymond Spear said after discussion with building principals and representatives from OLV, it was decided students would be released one day each week from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. The program is to begin in the fall.

Spear said this time "represents the least educational time lost, since only 20 minutes is instruction time, the rest of the time is the students' regular 70 minute lunch hour."

He said if the program works out during the first semester the time could be extended to 1:30 p.m. during the second semester.

The board agreed with Spear and hoped all students from one elementary school could be released at the same time, minimizing the number of interruptions in a given building.

Robert McCauley, religious education director at OLV, said he would like the release time extended to 1:30 p.m. at the outset of the program and requested students in grades six through eight also be given release time.

Spear said he had studied the possibility for grades six through eight, but found that at "no time during the school day could time be given that would not be detrimental to education of the child." He also noted the junior high students only have a 40 minute lunch hour.

McCauley suggested that after junior high students are scheduled for the 1970-71 school year, "it may be found that 30 or 40 students have study hall at the same hour and release time could be worked out."

Board members said the final decision on whether a student participates in release time lies with the parent.

McCauley also told board members the parish has plans to hold religious classes outside of school time for

Temporary Bus Service?

Temporary bus service to the Northville area appeared possible this week following a Monday morning meeting of representatives of the city and township of Northville and Northville State Hospital with Senator George Kuhn.

Representatives were expected to work out a schedule of fees and runs and a suggested form of subsidization yet this week.

Senator Kuhn urged officials to consider the "magnanimous" offer of the Great Lakes Transit Corporation to provide immediate service on a one-month trial period, with an option to extend the service until the Southeast Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) can provide busing on a regular service within two or three months.

Everett Farr, manager of Great Lakes based in Michigan at Birmingham, offered Monday to restore the service immediately provided his company can be guaranteed a satisfactory income through subsidization.

Among those considering the proposal along with the Northville municipalities and Northville State Hospital, are the city of Livonia, Schoolcraft College, and Livonia Mall Shopping Center businessmen.

Subsidization could mean anything upwards of $10 per day for each of the participating municipalities and organizations, depending upon the number of participants.

The temporary bus service would replace that of the Northville Coach Lines, which folded late in March.

Julien R Wolfe, representing SEMTA, appeared confident Monday that the authority could reinstate bus service on a regular basis – presumably without subsidization – within a month or two after receiving funds from the state.

He noted that the governor's $2.5 million package for support of mass transportation, which early last week appeared doomed in the State House of

Opera Draws Residents

by JEAN DAY

OPERA WEEK opened Monday at the Masonic Temple in Detroit with six evening performances and a matinee scheduled by the Metropolitan Opera- and there will be Northville residents in the audience at every performance.

Mrs. Ernest J. Shave, chairman of the local Met-Overture committee and long-time opera lover, will be there with her husband every night. Her enthusiasm has spurred many others to hear opera's topflight stars.

This year Northville High music teacher, Miss Karen Lowe, is taking a high school group of students to see Saturday's matinee, "Tosca."

Included in this week's offering are two operas that are being performed by the Met for the first time in Detroit-"Norma", tonight, and Mozart's "The Magic Flute," Saturday

Dr. Harold Wright will see both as he attends tonight's "Norma" with his father, Harold Wright, Sr., and Saturday's opera with Mrs. Wright and Timo Koskela, their exchange student from Finland who will have another memory to take home July 24.

Miss Pat Dorrian and Miss Pat Bubel, high school teachers, also will be in tonight's audience. David Kenger plans to attend Saturday.

The Edward Zywiecs and the J. M. Mowats planned to attend Verdi's "La Traviata" with Pilar Lorengar Tuesday evening. Others holding tickets to operas this week are Dr. and Mrs. Charles Wheatley and Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Zayti.

Mrs, Wright, a member of the Northville committee for the Met, notes that this season for the first time in years there's the possibility of getting last-minute tickets. Friday night's performance of "Andrea Chenier" with Richard Tucker and Shirley Love, a native Detroiter, as well as the 1:30 p.m. Saturday matinee of Puccini's "Tosca" with Dorothy Kirsten had tickets available the beginning of the week.

WITH FIVE homes already set for the fourth annual Northville Home Tour sponsored by the Presbyterian Woman's Association, the committee now is at work arranging other details of the day-long event which again will include an antique sale, luncheon and bake sale... four months from now on September

Mrs. C. Thomas Sechler has volunteered to take over the job of antique sale chairman, a post formerly held by Mrs. Robert Froelich who moved to Iowa. The sale will be held at the Sechler home at 404 West Dunlap.

Mrs. Sechler is asking area residents with items to place in the sale to call her at 349-4848 so that she may plan space. (It's good that the Sechler family has a "family" phone also, or other members wouldn't get much "line" time as Mary hopes to collect a record number of consignment antiques and near-antiques.)

Mrs. Warren Fittery is chairman of the bake sale to be held at Northville Presbyterian Church by the WSCS of Northville United Methodist Church this year. Women of St. Paul Lutheran Church again will serve a luncheon at their church. Chairmen are Mrs.: E. O. Weber and Mrs. Orin Hove.

To make sure posters are ready to go up by late summer to advertize the tour the committee now is holding a poster contest for high school art students." Posters will be judged before the end of the school term and awards presented by the committee.

Homes to be open September 24 range from in-town Victorian homes of the E. V. Ellisons and the John Van Tines to the country homes of the Charles Smiths and the John Begles. Newest home is the just-completed French Normandy home of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Bauss.

OUR LADY'S League of Our Lady of Victory Church will conclude its year at a potluck dinner meeting and installation of new officers at 6:30 p.m. next Tuesday in the church social hall.

Ownership A Puzzler

Park Opening Appears Likely

Barring some last-minute hitch, Novi's "inherited" park at Walled Lake is likely to be opened this summer on a limited scale.

The city council voted Monday night to open the front portion of the park, located on the south shore of Walled Lake, primarily to permit swimming- but the cost is not to exceed $4,700 received by the city from the township in the division of assets.

Council action, which followed the recommendation of former councilman David Harrison, chairman of a council-appointed parks committee, could prove meaningless, however, if the water of the lake is determined to be polluted.

City officials have instructed City Manager Dallas Zonkers to have a test made of the lake water immediately (also of the drinking facility) to make sure it is safe.

Murder Suspect Bound Over

A 31-year-old Plymouth man was bound over to circuit court Tuesday following an examination for first degree murder and for assault to commit murder.

District Court Judge Martin Boyle ordered James Freeman bound over to circuit court for arraignment before Judge Clark Adams on June

Freeman is charged with the shotgun slaving of Marion Smith, 35-year-old boyfriend of his ex-wife, Ouida Freeman, at her home early in March. He also is charged with shooting Mrs. Freeman, who was seriously Novi police said Mrs. Freeman and Smith were sitting on the couch of her home when Freeman burst into the house carrying a 12-gauge shotgun. Freeman, according to police, shot Smith and then backed Mrs. Freeman into the bedroom where he shot her once on the thigh.

The district court examination had been postponed earlier because of an illness in the defense attorney's family.

Meanwhile, Harrison has been authorized to improve the park's parking facility, which will necessitate bulldozing of earth. This work, he explained, will be donated. Detailed plans for other short-range as well as long-range improvements of the 26-acre facility are to be formalized Sunday at a committee meeting and then presented to councilmen for consideration.

Basically, preliminary plans call for use of only the front portion of the park and the beach this summer. These plans would permit swimming by Novi residents along the park beach, and parking and some picnicking in the. park proper the Depending on those plans developed by the parks committee, swimming could be permitted from morning to dusk. Conceivably, too, the city's recreation program might use the swimming facilities instead of those at Kensington Metropolitan Park.

It has been estimated that four or five park personnel will have to be hired (this includes lifeguards) to permit even the limited park operation.

Harrison has recommended that the rear three-quarters or more of the park be blocked off until improvements are made there or until the city decides whether total park development is warranted.

The big hangup over the ultimate fate of the park is that no one (up to Monday) has yet been able to determine who has ownership of the property. Until this past year when Novi was incorporated as a city, the park was under the jurisdiction of the township. However, on the basis of initial investigation it appears to some city officials that the property, donated originally to the state by the Dodge estate, may still legally be the property of the state.

A number of councilmen, primarily Dehis Berry and Raymond Evans, are reluctant to make any financial commitments for the park's improvement and development until the ownership question is settled.

council action Monday night. Council voted 5-1 to purchase a Ford truck from Shuman Ford Sales, Inc. of Walled Lake at the firm's bid price of $5,698.

Councilman William O'Brien dissented because Shuman wasn't the low bid. He contended the contract to purchase should have gone to International Harvester of Farmington ($5,447), lowest of the bids opened the previous week.

Fellow councilmen decided not to accept the low bid on grounds that better service could be received from Shuman and because, by buying a Ford truck, the DPW could interchange parts with its other Ford vehicles more easily when making minor repairs.

Concerning the public hearing, the council set June 15 as the date for a hearing to determine necessity of lateral sewer lines in the Grand River area. This hearing is seen as legally necessary even though the city is under state order to correct pollution in the

In other action Monday, the council set sewer tap schedule for residential houses, apartments and mobile homes, and for large development pools and clubhouses; and it reappointed Kalin Johnson, Peter Alcala and James Cherfoli to three-year terms on the planning board.

Record Wixom Budget Slices City's Tax Millage

Wixom adopted a record-high operational budget Tuesday night but cut about one-half mill from last year's tax levy.

The unanimous action of the council followed a short public discussion of the proposed 1970-71 budget and a lengthy debate by councilmen themselves that led ultimately to three significant changes in the mayor's fiscal recommendation. As approved, the budget calls for a total outlay of $482,700 - an increase of $130,959 over the estimated expenditures of $351,741 during the current 1969-70 fiscal year.

While the new budget reduced the equalized millage levy from 6.88 to 6.31, it is able to generate more tax dollars ($311,700 as compared to $301,880) because of an increase of valuation within the city.

Also approved Tuesday was the sewer contract fund tax of $246,926. Mayor Gilbert Willis' original budget recommendation called for a budget increase of $104,959 - from $351,741 to $456,700. It provided for a tax levy of 5.79 mills.

Changes in the mayor's proposal added $26,000 to the budget before it was approved.

Here are two changes, each of which was approved by split council

• $14,500, originally set aside as a line item for payment to an outside firm for reappraisal of Wixom property, was switched to the contingency fund.

• $25,000 was added to the road improvement fund, changing this outlay from $50,000 to $75,000.

Hottest debate by the council as a capacity audience looked on centered around the mayor's proposed appropriation for road improvement.

In drafting the budget, Mayor Willis had reappropriated some $71,000 left over in the previous road fund and spread part of it in other areas of the budget. In defending this action, he pointed out that $50,000 is sufficient evidence that the city plans to continue its road improvement, though at a decelerated pace. He noted that the city's original five-year road program, involving the then figure of $18,000 annually, has elapsed.

Councilman Gunnar Metalla led a council appeal for the increase in the road improvement fund, arguing that it is insufficient even to meet outstanding commitments.

"without reservation. He stands head He had reference to roads in the and shoulders above any of the other Birch Park-Hickory Hills area. Using the present salary roads in these two areas, constituted a formula, his salary would be $16,440. breach of faith, he said.

Furthermore, citizens of the area, he said, had indicated to him their displeasure with the cutback possibility.

Mayor Willis replied that he, too, lived in the area and had heard no similar complaints. In fact, some citizens, he said, asked that their roads not be paved because it would speed up traffic that already endangers life.

It was suggested that roads in the area be blacktopped, without curbs and storm sewers as an economy measure. But even this, argued Metalla, would require more than the $50,000 budget figure.

Roads under consideration include Bell Cony, Maganser, Lakeridge, Royalton, Roseworth and Orland, Bell Cony and Maganser, however, are tied up in a law suit over earlier efforts by the city to install storm sewers there and, presumably, blacktopping cannot begin until after court settlement.

Willis suggested that the decision to pave or not to pave be left to the people. This suggestion does not mean a switch to special assessment, merely reliance upon the desires of the people living on the roads, he added.

Councilman Elwood Grubb argued that in view of the inflationary spiral, already built into the budget, the council ought not increase it still more with an additional road outlay. The $50,000 should satisfy the people, he who said he wanted to see the list of priorities established earlier by the council for road improvement, said, "I do feel we owe these people a certain obligation. It's just a matter of how far we go."

Councilman Robert Dingeldey agreed with Metalla that the council has an obligation to the citizens.

Dr. Vangieson said he would be 'willing to go along" with a $25,000 increase. Councilman Charles McCall agreed and moved that the increase be approved. The vote was 4-2, with Grubb and Councilwoman Mary Parvu dissenting. ******

Concerning the matter of funds for outside appraisal, Dr. Vangieson argued strongly that this work be done by Wixom's assessor and assistant to the mayor, Robert Case, who had been hired specifically for this kind of work. Case, he said, is reported to be a "cracker jack" appraiser so his services in the area should be utilized, even if it requires additional, temporary assistance.

Case's role as assistant to the mayor is "snowballing", he said, because the council and/or the mayor is calling on him to do work that ought to be handled by other department heads.

Mayor Willis explained that he suggested the $14,500 outlay for 'appraisal by an outside firm to 'expedite the work, since Case is tied up ,a good deal with other work. By splitting his assignments, the appraisal would take longer, he indicated.

Case, who said he would go along with either suggestion, noted that with two new officials (clerk-treasurer and deputy treasurer) on the job his 'assistance in this area was temporarily required. He estimated that some 80 to 85-percent of his time would be required in appraisal work should the council decide not to go to ouside appraisal.

Dingeldey emphasized that even if outside appraisal was made it would still require the supervision and time of

On this issue, the vote was 5-1, with only Grubb dissenting.

In another split vote, the council voted 5-1 to reinstate $1,000 that the mayor had chopped from the salary of DPW Administrator Robert Trombley Willis had proposed a reduction from $12,000 to $11,000, pointing out that : he had reviewed salaries of similar posts in other communities and found that $12,000 was out of line. Mrs. Parvu, who cast the lone dissenting vote, ***** Still another split vote, this time with Councilman Dingledey casting the dissenting vote, the council voted to shave $300 from the deputy treasurer's salary so that she makes less than the clerk-treasurer. The mayor's budget had proposed that the salaries of both new officials be set at $7,500.

Dingeldey had suggested that both salary figures be reduced until after these officials had satisfactorily completed a probationary status through December 1.

*******

Concerning a $4,500 Civil Defense appropriation, Dingeldey received a pledge by the mayor that this money would be used for purchase of a grassfire fighting rig if one could not be purchased with money allotted the fire department. Willis, who agreed with Dingeldey, that proper fire fighting equipment is essential, suggested the $4,500 could be used to purchase an emergency electrical power generator.

******

Major concern of citizens attending the budget hearing was that more money should be appropriated for parks and park land acquisition. Mayor Willis explained that while the budget may not reflect his similar concern, he is pledged to investigate all avenues open for this purpose, including a special voted tax earmarked specifically for parks and recreation.

Major salary changes in the new budget as compared to the 1969-70 budget include:

Attorney, from $5,000 to $6,200, assistant to mayor, from $5,300 to $7,000; police chief, from $7,760 to $12,000; fire chief, from $900 to $1,600; and police patrolmen, from $57,200 to $69,090.

Here are the departmental comparisons:

General government, from $29,840 to $32,100; elections, from $944 to $800; board of review, from $238 to $325; assessor, from $5,900 to $8,000; building inspection, from $11,100 to $25,000; general operating, from $50,807 to $58,745; staff agencies, from $23,800 to $45,620; police .department, from $93,850, to $109,940; .: fire ! department, .) from $5,550 to $13,499; public works, from $60,072 to $76,050; and services, from

Dismissals Haunt Wixom Mayor

Recent dismissal of four Wixom officials by Mayor Gilbert Willis is coming back to haunt the new chief executive.

A citizens petition on behalf of the former parks and recreation director and letters of protests from two other dismissed officials led Tuesday night $\frac{d}{d}$  An apology by Mayor Willis. -Council reversal of one of his appointments.

-A request for a written legal interpretation by city attorney.

Councilman Dr. Val Vangieson introduced a petition, containing the signatures of 162 citizens who indicated their resentment over the mayor's dismissal of Thomas Burke as parks and recreation director. Burke, the petition noted, had over the past eight years performed admirably and should be reinstated.

Mayor Willis apologized for appointing Ron Parvu to succeed Burke council consent, reintroduced him for council consideration.

Not once, argued the mayor, since becoming the chief executive of the city earlier this spring had Burke come to him to discuss the recreation department or submit a proposal. On the other hand, Parvu had presented him with a written proposal of suggested ways of improving recreation for all citizens - from the very young to senior citizens.

This "concerned young man," said the mayor, had some good ideas that deserved attention. In view of his concern, interest and suggestions, the mayor said he had little choice but to recommend him for council approval.

Council members, however, argued that interest and ideas do not necessarily qualify him for the position.

Dr. Val Vangieson argued that Parvu's appointment would lead to the total breakup of the parks and recreation commission, and that to jeopardize a working, proven commission by a single appointment would be a disastrous mistake.

The council voted to disapprove Parvu's appointment, but later when the subject of reappointing Burke came Continued on Page 8-A up Mayor Willis said he has 30 days under the charter in which to submit the name of another candidate. The matter was then dropped.

Apparently, the suggestion that appointment of Parvu, son of Councilwoman Mary Parvu, constituted nepotism was not seen as a violation of the charter by the mayor since Parvu had offered to serve in the post' without a salary.

Concerning the letters of protest from former Deputy Clerk Mrs. Donna Thorsberg and Building Inspector Ralston Calvert, who argue that since they were employees - not mayor appointees - they are entitled to severence pay, Mayor Willis directed the city attorney to write a legal interpretation of the charter on this matter for presentation to the council at the next meeting. At an earlier council meeting

Attorney Gene Schnelz had rendered a verbal opinion that both were appointees and therefore not entitled to benefits provided only for employees.

In other action Tuesday, the council unanimously approved the rezoning of the Frank Geller-William Sedler property, located on North Wixom Road near the city limits, from a residential to a business classification as recommended by the planning commission.

OLD BOTTLES-at least 150 of them-were to be the conversation topic yesterday at the May meeting of Silver Spring Chapter of Questers. Mrs. Dale Starr, who was hostess for the meeting at her home on Thornapple Lane, gave a talk on old bottles, illustrated with her "hand-dug collection."

Before moving to Northville, the Starrs lived in Glastonbury, Connecticut, and by accident found the old bottle treasures while vard digging. Mrs. Starr says "the ambers" are her favorites. She also likes to confine her collecting to bottles she has "dug" and discovered herself. A trip to Ada, Ohio, three weeks ago yielded 15 or 20 more.

This was the chapter's final meeting of its first year. Mrs. James Hayward took over as president from Mrs. Milton Holstein.

Mrs. Holstein and other chapter members, with representatives of Mead's Mill and Base Line chapters of the antiques society, were among area women attending the state meeting last week in Plymouth.

Many of the 200-plus women attending wore hats found in attics and trunks.

Chelsea 3-1. The Bulldogs bounced back with one run in the fourth, one in the seventh, and with the tie-breaking tally in the eighth. Novi collected three straight singles in the third off starting hurler Dave Lukasiak. Ron Sweeny came in to replace Lukasiak and finished the inning, giving up Novi's last two hits of the game.

McMillan was nicked for three hits, and took the pitching loss for the Wildcats.

Penrod Takes Medalist In W-O League Playoff

In a dramatic, sudden-death playoff, Northville's Jim Penrod sank a 15-foot put to win medalist honors in the Wayne-Oakland League meet Thursday.

The 17-year-old senior who will attend Michigan State University next fall under an Evans (caddie) scholarship, drew the plaudits of fans and players alike with his cool, precision play under pressure.

It marked the second year in a row that Penrod captured league medalist honors - and he won it last year in a playoff as well.

"I figured the odds would be against him this year," said his jubilant coach, Al Jones, "but he played beautifully."

Jones also was elated over his squad's third place finish behind West Bloomfield and Bloomfield Andover with a combined four-player score of 320 - a team score that would have been good enough for second place in regional competition a week earlier. The Mustangs shaved 22 strokes from Dennis Levin, a high school math and science teacher, filed a grievance asking one and one-half days pay he lost in March while visiting his sick father be reinstated.

He and Northville Education Association President Robert Sharrar contended the contract did not spell out that sick days could only be taken for personal illness.

It's, as I've said, what's to be expected from a story about an industry on the move in more ways than one. The suspense doesn't come off, the sub plots, with one exception, are unimaginative, and the characters are as humdrum as a routine flight to New York.

The exception to the rule is Helen Hayes, who, no matter what role she takes, is a show unto herself. As Mrs. Quonosett, the aging stowaway, she brings a unique character to life in the most entertaining fashion.

Mrs. Quonosett is a disarming thief. She makes a practice, or a science, of getting aboard planes without a ticket. With telltale knowledge of her adversary, she skips about the country seeing places she couldn't otherwise afford to visit.

Good public relations are foremost in the minds of the airlines and she capitalizes on it. Once she's aboard a plane, she's safe, for airlines are loathe to putting a helpless old lady off the plane and thus suffer bad publicity.

'West Point' Label No Longer Applies at Liberalized Seminary

Editor's Note: Following is the second in a series of three articles about St. John's Provincial Seminary.

******

"The West Point of the Catholic Church.'

That label, recalls Reverend Addison G. Wright, young rector of St. John's Provincial Seminary near Northville, was a popular one used disparagingly a decade ago by students when describing the seminary.

Today, a new freedom exists on campus that says "soldiering for Christ" doesn't mean spit and polish or. demeaning self-denial. Rather, it says training for Christ's work should be and is an enjoyable experience.

A decade ago, the seminarian coming to St. John's could expect complete isolation from the "outside world." He ate, studied, slept, and prayed "by the numbers".

The student who needed to shop should have done it before arriving. If he needed medical attention, he received it at the seminary - not on the outside.

On Wednesday afternoons he could leave the campus by foot - but only with a group of other seminarians and then only if he was decked out in a hot, black robe as a constant reminder to the public of his apostolic mission.

Public restaurants and movies were strickly taboo.

Visits by parents were permitted on Sunday once a month but in a visitors' room not in the students' rooms. And because visiting was infrequent, often the visiting room was crowded and young seminarians were forced (actually, it was welcomed) to sit outside in their parents' cars.

Washington's birthday was a "free day" but the seminarian had to report in at a specified time. "God help the man who went AWOL," laughs Reverend Wright, who recalls when absence or tardiness was no laughing

The day inside the seminary was regimented, too, says the rector. The seminarian was up at 6 a.m. washing and dressing in silence, and then at the signal of a bell 20 minutes later he marched in silence to the auditorium where he sat in his assigned chair for prayer. No one talked. That was followed by private, silent meditation.

At breakfast he ate in silence, then for a few minutes following this meal he could talk, even have a cigarette. There was no more smoking certainly never in the students' rooms - until following the next meal.

Following class he could take a 10-minute standing break in silence before going to the next class.

He ate his dinner in silence, too, while two students delivered prepared sermons. "A guy could get ulcers pretty easily," says Reverend Wright. There was only three places the student "should ever be found outside his class" and those were in his room, the chapel or in the library.

Students could converse at doors of their rooms at night but from 9.15 to 10:30 p.m. "was the grand silence and at 10:30 the lights went out and the student was in the crib.'

Today, students come and go as they please. Many own cars. There is no curfew.

The seminary places the responsibility of conduct on the student himself. He is expected to attend classes and daily Mass "but if he doesn't show that's his business; it will be reflected in his academic performance. He's on his own, and how he prepares for examination is his business," says Reverend Wright.

'A guy's got to learn for himself. If he's cut off from the world in which he eventually will work, he doesn't know how to cope with outside situations until after ordination. And then his service to his parish is limited initially because he must begin learning what he did not learn in the seminary.

Seminarians normally wear habits to Mass, but some may choose not to do so. They wear what they believe is suitable for the occasion.

Visitors, including girls, are permitted in the seminarians' rooms. Normally, however, female friends come with the seminarian's family. But, on occasion, a young man may have a single female friend visit him from a local parish, and it is conceivable that she may be infatuated with him and the life he has choosen for himself. If he can cope with that kind of situation, he has learned something that can be beneficial to him after he becomes a priest, points out Reverend Wright.

Seminarians should and do have girl friends just as they have boy friends, says the rector. But, he adds, the term "girl friend" means friendship as apart from the common connotation

of dating, "going steady," or courtship Neither a seminarian nor a priest should "get up tight" or feel uncomfortable in the presence of women, says Reverend Wright. If the seminarian is shielded from all contact with women, how can he effectively minister to them after ordination? he

Today, no one will "lower the boom" if a seminarian is seen in the local pizza parlor - even it he's there with a girl.

"The West Point of the Catholic Church."

That label, recalls Reverend Addison G. Wright, young rector of St. John's Provincial Seminary near Northville, was a popular one used disparagingly a decade ago by students when describing the seminary.

Today, a new freedom exists on campus that says "soldiering for Christ" doesn't mean spit and polish or demeaning self-denial. Rather, it says training for Christ's work should be and is an enjoyable experience.

A decade ago, the seminarian coming to St. John's could expect complete isolation from the "outside world." He ate, studied, slept, and prayed "by the numbers".

The student who needed to shop should have done it before arriving. If he needed medical attention, he received it at the seminary — not on the outside.

On Wednesday afternoons he could leave the campus by foot — but only with a group of other seminarians and then only if he was decked out in a hot, black robe as a constant reminder to the public of his apostolic mission.

Public restaurants and movies were strickly taboo.

Visits by parents were permitted on Sunday once a month but in a visitors' room not in the students' rooms. And because visiting was infrequent, often the visiting room was crowded and young seminarians were forced (actually, it was welcomed) to sit outside in their parents' cars.

Washington's birthday was a "free day" but the seminarian had to report in at a specified time. "God help the man who went AWOL," laughs Reverend Wright, who recalls when absence or tardings was no laughing matter.

The day inside the seminary was regimented, too, says the rector. The seminarian was up at 6 a.m. washing and dressing in silence, and then at the signal of a bell 20 minutes later he marched in silence to the auditorium where he sat in his assigned chair for prayer. No one talked. That was followed by private, silent meditation.

At breakfast he ate in silence, then for a few minutes following this meal he could talk, even have a cigarette. There was no more smoking — certainly never in the students' rooms— until following the next meal.

Following class he could take a 10-minute standing break in silence before going to the next class.

He ate his dinner in silence, too, while two students delivered prepared sermons.

"A guy could get ulcers pretty easily," says Reverend Wright.

There was only three places the student "should ever be found outside his class" and those were in his room, the chapel or in the library.

Students could converse at doors of their rooms at night but from 9:15 to 10:30 p.m. "was the grand silence and at 10.30 the lights went out and the student was in the crib."

Today, students come and go as they please. Many own cars. There is no curfew.

The seminary places the responsibility of conduct on the student himself. He is expected to attend classes and daily Mass "but if he doesn't show that's his business; it will be reflected in his academic performance. He's on his own, and how he prepares for examination is his business," says Reverend Wright.

"A guy's got to learn for himself. If he's cut off from the world in which he eventually will work, he doesn't know how to cope with outside situations until after ordination. And then his service to his parish is limited initially because he must begin learning what he did not learn in the seminary."

Seminarians normally wear habits to Mass, but some may choose not to do so. They wear what they believe is suitable for the occasion.

Visitors, including girls, are permitted in the seminarians' rooms. Normally, however, female friends come with the seminarian's family. But, on occasion, a young man may have a single female friend visit him from a local parish, and it is conceivable that she may be infatuated with him and the life he has choosen for himself. If he can cope with that kind of situation, he has learned something that can be beneficial to him after he becomes a priest, points out Reverend Wright

Seminarians should and do have girl friends just as they have boy friends, says the rector. But, he adds, the term "girl friend" means friendship as apart from the common connotation

of dating, "going steady," or courtship Neither a seminarian nor a priest should "get up tight" or feel women, says Reverend Wright. If the seminarian is shielded from all contact with women, how can he effectively munister to them after ordination? he asks.

boom" if a seminarian is seen in the local pizza parlor — even it he's there with a girl.

Today, no one will "lower the Next week: What kind of curriculum is offered at St. John's and how does it differ from that of the past.

INFORMAL STUDY — Not unlike any collegian, Terry Kerner of Ypsilanti combines relaxation with studies in his room at St. John's Provincial Seminary where students no longer are under the pressure of rigid rules and regulations.

LOSE 10 LBS. IN 10 DAYS ON GRAPEFRUIT

HOLLYWOOD, CALF. (Special) — This is the revolutionary grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Literally thousands upon thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S. and Canada.

Word of its success has spread like wildlife. Because this is the diet that really works. We have testimonials in our files reporting on the success of this diet. If you follow it exactly, you should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. There will be no weight loss in the first four days. But you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter you will lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1½ pounds every two days until you get down to your proper pounds a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 11½ pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all there will be no hunger pangs. Now revised and enlarged, this new diet plan lets you stuff yourself with foods that were formerly "forbidden", such as big steaks trimmed with fat, roast or fried chicken, rich gravies, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon fats, sausages and scrambled eggs. You can eat until you are full until you cannot possibly eat any more. And still lose 10 pounds in the first ten days plus 1½ pounds every two days thereafter until your weight is down to normal. The secret behind this new "quick weight loss" diet is simple. Fat does not form fat. And the grapefruit juice in this new diet acts as a catalyst (the "trigger"), to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food listed in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. When the fat and bloat are gone you will cease to lose weight and your weight will remain constant. A copy to lose weight and your weight will remain constant, A copy of this new and startingly successful diet plan can be obtained by sending $2 to GRAPEFRUIT DIET PUBLISHERS, 1213 Premier Way, Calgary 6, Alberta. Money back guaran-tee. If after trying the diet plan you have not lost 7 pounds in the first seven days, and 1½ pounds every two days there-after simply return the diet plan and your $2 will be refund-ed promptly and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim, attractive figure of your youth, while enjoying hearty breakfasts, innches and dinners.

Drug Fight Shifts into High

launched fight against drug abuse in Michigan shifts into high gear.

Dr. Thomas Stachnik takes over as director of the Governor's Office on Drug Abuse, an office created earlier this year by Gov. William G. Milliken.

The office began operation with just two persons earlier this year, former Grand Rapids newspaperman Alex Laggis and Betty Tablemen, a veteran state employee.

Laggis explained that the office, instead of becoming a separate operation, at first was considered as a possible addition to an existing department or agency.

"But drug abuse is a little bit of everybody's problem," he said. "I suppose it could have gone to Public Health, Mental Health, Corrections or Law Enforcement. But it doesn't really fit in with just one department.

THE MAIN PURPOSE of the office, Laggis explains, is to carry the fight against drug abuse by coordinating a massive statewide program aimed at educating Michigan citizens and encouraging and developing community programs.

It already has produced and begun distributing a 30-minute film detailing what other communities are doing about drug abuse.

Laggis also had to sift through reams of booklets and pamphlets about drug abuse published by various sources.

"A lot of this literature is pretty terrible," he said. "Kids who know anything at all about drugs will look at something like this and laugh. They know what it's all about."

THE OFFICE also is setting up a speakers' bureau to recommend speakers "who know what they're talking about and how to say it." how to say it." 'An awful lot of people who speak on drugs now are horribly uninformed," Laggis said. Laggis thinks community action programs will be the final solution to the whole drug go to schools and communities to problem. LEGISLATIVE supporters of abortion reform legislation, rebuffed by the state Senate in the efforts, have vowed to take their fight to the people in this year's elections.

"Gentlemen, if you think this issue has been laid to rest, you are in for a rude and frightening awakening," vowed Sen. N. Lorraine Beebe, R-Dearborn, a leading proponent of liberalized abortion laws.

Mrs. Beebe, the Senate's only woman member, told her fellow lawmakers "people, especially women, do not forget.'

"THIS IS GOING to be a major issue in the primary and general elections, and women have declared war," she said angrily.

Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, who was sponsor of the bill which was defeated in the Senate, says reform advocates are "spreading the word" on which seats to go after.

"It's reasonable to assume at least half a dozen new faces in the next year, and we want to make sure they are on our side," he said. "Those wanting abortion changes will make their voices heard between now and the election. There will be strong campaigns going on to unseat opponents.'

DEFEAT OF THE BILL was especially bitter for both Mrs. Beebe and Bursley, since they had devoted much of the past year to coming up with a bill they thought would be acceptable.

THE REFORM BILL was beaten by "the controlling interests of the Roman Catholic Church," says Mrs. Beebe.

"All other major religious denominations came out in support of abortion reform," she said. "But these people have been denied the right to their beliefs by the minority.'

Mrs. Beebe warned her fellow lawmakers earlier in the session that "hell hath no fury like a woman scorned."

She appears to be proving

Insurance.. A Prime Fund

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass. The insurance industry is becoming a prime force in the mutual fund area. It is offering its policyholders the security of a fixed amount of dollars and a long-term inflation hedge from equity investments in a single package. This idea has much merit from the point of view of both the individual and the issuing company, but it is not without its disadvantages.

THE NUMBER of insurance concerns offering mutual funds to their customers continues to increase. Some - like Aetna, John Hancock, and Lincoln National - have formed their own mutual funds; others have purchased existing fund managements. Examples of the latter include CNA Financial and its acquisition of Tsai Management, American General taking over Channing Financial Corp., and New England Life linking up with Loomis Sayles and Company.

Some of the small insurers have working arrangements for distribution existing mutual funds. Another interesting solution to this problem was found during 1969 when four medium-sized Midwest insurers got together and jointly formed two funds with shares to be sold only through their agents. Of course, not all insurance companies are convinced that such funds best serve their policyholders. Some still prefer annuities or other specialized plans. THERE ARE important reasons for the surge into the equity field by the insurance industry. It is an effort to regain access to some of the lost savings dollars it once had. Consumers have become far more sophisticated in terms of equity markets in recent years, and the industry is trying to capitalize on this situation. It missed the boat earlier on equity-type programs. Content with the old way of doing things, it did not comprehend the dynamic impact new approaches could have on operations. The industry now recognizes the potential of packaging equity and life insurance together.

MANY PROBLEMS have emerged within the industry because of mutual funds. One of the biggest drawbacks has been sales forces unsophisticated in the selling of funds. Most insurance salesmen have been concerned mainly with fixed dollars, and not well versed in equity-type investing. Many had grave doubts from the start about combining mutual funds and life insurance. All had to be retrained and tested before they were qualified for their new selling stint. This often meant a loss of time, both business and personal.

Highway Funds Distributed

LANSING - Motor Vehicle Highway Fund collections for the first quarter of 1970 are now being distributed to Michigan counties, cities and villages by the State Highway Commission.

State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth said net receipts in January, February and March were $132.3 million, up seven-tenths of a per cent from the first quarter of 1969. Stafseth said the small increase is due for the most part to the later date this year for obtaining motor vehicle license plates. Because of this, it is expected that up to $5 million in additional license plate fees will be reported in the second quarter.

The highway fund is made up of state gasoline taxes and motor vehicle license plate fees paid by motorists.

After deduction of Department of State collection costs, 1.5 per cent for the State Waterways Commission and $3.5 million annually for the Mackinac Bridge Authority to reduce fares on the Mackinac Bridge, 46 per cent goes to the Highway Commission, 34 per cent to the counties and 20 per cent to the state's 528 incorporated cities and villages. Area communities received the following: Brighton, $14,497; Howell, $26,943; Livonia, $326,989; Northville, $18,949; Novi, $38,365; South Lyon, $7,948; Wixom, $11,757.

Salvation Is Free!

JAMES B. WHEELER Tri-County Baptist

READ: Mark 9: 14-29

TEXT: 9:24 And straightway the father of the child cried, and said with tears, Lord I believe; help thou mine unbelief.

As I study this portion of Scripture, I can't help but feel burdened for those among us who are without Jesus Christ. Oh! If only every Father, Mother, young men and women would only cry out - Lord, I believe, help thou mine unbelief. What a miraculous change would take place in our communities.

I. Please notice two or three things with me as we look at this portion of God's word. In verse 19, Jesus said, "Oh! faithless generation, how long , shall I be with you? how long shall I suffer you (or have mercy on you)".

We should note here that in Gen. 6:3 the Lord said "my Spirit shall not always strive with man". We need to accept this as a warning signal.

II. Secondly, Jesus asked the Father how long ago since this come into him? Verse 21 the Father said, since a child. This of course is a picture of Sin. As a child, we Sin and as we grow older we continue to Sin. Though we try very hard it is impossible for us to go for very long without doing something we shouldn't. Notice in verse 22 it of times cast him into fire and water to DESTROY him.

This is just exactly what sin will do for you. Oh! the pain and torment we go through because of Sin. I think of the broken homes, the agony of Mothers as they wait for their children to come home, the disease racked bodies, and the young healthy minds ruined by drugs all because of Sin. But thanks be to God, there is hope because in verse 23 Jesus said "If thou canst believe, all things are possible to them that believeth".

III. Thirdly, notice verse 29. Jesus said this kind can come forth by nothing but by prayer and fasting.

Thank God for that. Because everyone who will believe and accept God's gift can escape the torments of Sin that destroys, for in Romans 10.13, the Bible says. "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." Salvation is free - it is the only cure - won't you accept it?

Money, money, money. Sometimes it seems that all people talk about is money. Some hoard it, others let it slip through their fingers. But, whether spender or saver, no one is unmindful of it.

Sometimes it seems as though even in church we hear too much about money. Isn't that the one place where money shouldn't be mentioned at all? No.

It isn't money that is at fault, but our attitude toward it. In earlier times, we gave of our services, trading one thing for another. Today we use money as a medium of exchange. It is the spirit in our use of that exchange, in both our spending and saving, that counts.

So, give to the church of your choice. Give generously, if you can: But Send your questions, comments, and horse show news to the "Horse's Mouth," care of South Lyon Herald, South Lyon, Mi 48178.

The following was sent in by one of our readers and is dedicated to anyone who has ever shown a horse.

"CLASS 27. COLTS, YEARLINGS. TO BE SHOWN IN HAND...ETC.

I have a handsome yearling

The nicest I could own, and everyone who sees him says, "He really should be shown!"

So, I think, they surely know, And if he is that great...to keep home is not quite fair If "Show Horse" is his fate.

Now it offends me very much (Between just me and you)to see unruly yearlings shown.

The way some people do.

And so I go most every night And take him from the stall. I'm teaching him to stand "just

And hold his head up tall. Stretch that neck - Don't move the feet

Now forward with the ears. (His manners are perfection, He never leaps or rears.)

I've taught him well; he stops "right now"

The instant I say "whoa!" The legs are straight. The tail is

The muzzle...held just so. I lead him out, and how he moves!

What liquid flowing grace. (He never takes a misplaced

So even is his pace.) He stops. He turns. And now the trot. (He never plays the fool.)

He's ready for that horse show, He is a perfect jewel.

As I said, there's no excuse

For how some colts behave. If one will take the proper

Well, we've been to our first show

What trouble one can save.

And it's quite a story. There surely is an easier way

To win some equine glory.

I thought of how he'd worked

(where I'd led him with a string) just as he broke his halter shank

Inside the warmup ring The show ring was A DEN OF WOLVES!! He'd not step through that gate.(Three fellows helped me drag him in a couple of minutes late.)

And as we passed the grandstand, (This wasn't any joke) I made the great discovery: That he wasn't halter broke! He stared at the announcer's booth! Frozen! As if he'd grown root.I pushed and tugged and there he stood. Firmly planted on my foot!

But when I put him in the line Then his all "wiggle" and "squirm." I couldn't keep him still at all,

Although I was quite firm.

Then they said to WALK HIM OUT

And he refused to budge. That is 'til we're s'pposed to

And then he ran over the Judge.

The Judge, she said, she liked my Colt.

To me she was so kind. And said she would have put him

If I had made him mind.

She said "Now, you should take him home, "And teach him to behave.

"For if one takes the proper time,

"What trouble one can save."

NORTHVILLE

for The Record

Because the communications' media have become the favorite target for every critic unable to come up with any other excuse for his own or society's failures, I dislike assuming a "turncoat" role and adding gasoline to the fire.

But representatives of a major Detroit television station demonstrated the power and the pity of the press (TV) last week in Northville.

Attracted here by a state senator facing stiff primary competition in August, the TV boys came out to cover a session purportedly called to restore bus service to the Northville-Livonia

On hand were the Northville city manager, Livonia mayor, Northville and Plymouth township supervisors, president of Schoolcraft college, a major shopping center official, and representatives of Northville State Hospital and Madonna college.

They expected some answers from the team of spokesmen including the campaigning senator, the vice-chairman of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA), an aide to the Governor, and the manager of the Michigan Motor Bus Association.

What they got instead was a long wait (too long for the Livonia mayor and Schoolcraft president), while the SEMTA vice-chairman posed for the TV tube outside the city hall.

After making a 15-minute pitch for SEMTA and an appeal to save a $2.5 million transportation state aid package the vice-chairman excused himself to "get a drink of water".

And the area officials concerned about local transportation listened instead to the state senator, who wasn't sure why DSR hadn't been invited to the mmeting. It appeared to be the only immediate hope for extended service to Northville-Livonia.

And they heard the manager of the Michigan Transportation Authority tell them that he'd start a service if the local communities would guarantee a profit (a proposition that indicates his unfamiliarity with local conditions where majority use of bus service is by state and county institutions).

Meanwhile, the questioners were assured that more answers would be forthcoming as soon as the young SEMTA vice chairman refreshed his vocal cords.

Just then I glanced out the window of the second level city hall council chambers. And there stood the young man with all the answers talking in living color to the cameras of channel 4.

The lure of TV was too much to resist. Besides, the channel 4 crew was in a hurry to get some film back to the studio. Who cares what's going on inside the meeting or if Livonia or Northville ever get bus service?

Getting a can of film back to the studio is the assignment and the channel 4 commentator demonstrated his ability to accomplish the trick.

Forty minutes later when the SEMTA official returned to the business meeting for which he had been called to Northville, the mayor of Livonia and the Schoolcraft president had departed to meet other commitments.

While the channel 4 representative was making like the Big City boy at the Hick lown meeting dragging the SEMIA spokesman around like a puppet, conscientious journalism was being conducted.

The channel 2 reporter and his crew sat through the entire meeting, as did the reporter for this newspaper. At the conclusion of the session, armed with meaningful notes, channel 2 requested a filmed interview.

Those viewers who caught the story on the TV outlet owned by the newspaper that boasts "if you read the etc., you know", may have seen it first.

But the viewers of channel 2 and the readers of The Record were accorded the professionalism that should accompany the responsibility of reporting the news.

Television is a powerful media with the unique ability of reporting news as it happens. Its influence over officials making the news as well as the public consuming it is awesome.

But abuse of responsibility can turn this power into a burlesque.

Abandonment of the basic rudiments of reporting and disregard for common courtesy are certain to produce such a mockery.

Speaking for Myself

Is Non-Resident Income Tax Proper?

YES...

In my judgment a state income tax which provides an equitable return to local government units is a preferred means of taxation. In the absence of such a program a tax on the income of non-residents who earn their livelihood in the city is proper and justifiable. The following comments are offered in support of this position:

· People who work in a city are an integral part of the city while they are at work. They identify with the city, depend on and use its services and have the advantage of the available civic, cultural and entertainment facilities.

• The cost of providing services such as police and fire protection, public lighting, sewers, water and sidewalks is greater due to the influx of non-residents who work in the city.

Non-residents who work in the city cannot realistically expect the city residents to provide these services at their own expense. Furthermore, cities must have an income adequate to preserve the benefits they provide and to permit the continuation of employment opportunities. After all employment opportunities are the reason for non-resident workers being in the city in the first place.

Richard W. Ambler Northville

NO...

The home owner today is burdened with taxes of all kinds: property taxes, federal income tax, state income tax, sales tax. Among them is the non-resident income tax.

Being taxed where one lives is understandable, since the municipality provides services, such as police and fire protection, sewer and water and paved roads for the whole family on a 24-hour basis. But taxing a person who merely works in a municipality is unfair.

Sure the non-resident receives police protection and paved roads within the city where he works. But at the same time, the non-resident is paying the city indirectly, but still in terms of real dollars and cents.

The non-resident, every time he goes to the city where he works, buys his meals and gas and normally does some shopping there. By making these purchases, he is helping the businessman increase his revenues with which he pays his property taxes and other taxes.

There is merit to the argument that we have a certain obligation to the City of Detroit, for instance, as a cultural and business center which in the first place drew people into the area. But without the people living in the suburbs the wheels of the city could not continue to turn or would not turn as efficiently.

Urges Vote Against Year Round School

Northville School District to take a I urge you and the voters of the strong stand against MANDATORY Louder, Please!

Year-Round Schools on the June 8th Advisory Ballot. I do this after studying the question at length, reading as much about it as possible, and discussing it at length with the school administration. As you also know, I submitted a list of questions to Ray Spear, in advance, to answer at the last Amerman PTA meeting. He spoke on the subject for 45 minutes, and then skimmed over the questions with evasive and incomplete answers in 5 minutes. Following his answers I urged that the people vote NO. At the last school board meeting I asked the board to delay the vote until we had full information, and was told that if the vote was not taken now the board would be boxed in.

I do not oppose Year-Round Schools in total or because I favor the traditional school plan. I think there are many ways we can use our schools to greater advantage, and at the same time save money. However, I do not feel the present proposals accomplish these two goals.

Let's first consider the primary aspects in the current proposal. There are two summer and two winter vacation periods. Scheduling will be done as FEASIBLE to give each family and neighborhood the same vacation period. This same vacation schedule will then be imposed for a FOUR (4) YEAR PERIOD. You will not change vacations each year. The program will apply to all students from kindergarten through high school. This will be required by the federal government before they will advance the conversion money for this model system. The curriculum will be changed to a quarter system rather than semesters which should improve quality primarily at the high school level. It will also allow the high school students to have better job opportunities as fewer will be out at any one time.

However at the lower levels few if any curriculum advantages will appear that would not be available under a quarter system run during the normal school year. It will avoid building some school buildings in the next ten years, and save the cost of them.

There are, however, some major disadvantages which have not been fully discussed. They are:

1. What will happen to the value and saleability of homes in the 50% of the total area having a winter vacation? I think the value will drop, and homes will be harder to sell. This in turn will reduce construction in the area, and reduce the need for additional schools. This will result in a LOSS rather than a savings to the people in the school

For a guy who gets tremors just walking into a dime store with his wife, you can imagine what happens when out of the sweet silence she announces authoritatively, "We're going

It's like the command of a squad leader as he orders his troops out of the safety of a trench into the face of the enemy.

Antiquing - it's a whirring time machine built on the principle that civilized retrogression is a status symbol. It is a Darwinian theory thrown into reverse: a money-grabbing, exhausting swing through the trees of our ancestors.

It isn't that antiquing or the antiques are so bad. It's her confounded indecision and traipsing through one shop after another in search of "something good" that not even our ancesters found useful.

Just once I'd like to pick out something.

Take the solid oak pump organ I found beneath a tubful of nuts and bolts. Now there was an antique that any guy would be proud to display in his house. The billows needed repair and the keys required replacement, but the ornate woodwork looked great even covered with dust and cobwebs. Why, even the huge mirror anchored to its top still reflected faces.

"Isn't it a beauty," I said, proud of my find. She screwed up her face and replied, "Oh, that's awful." That's her signal that further consideration is dead. But worse than finding something she doesn't like is the Big Buildup. Husbands will know of what I speak. Her hands and nose covered with antique grime, she spies a weather-beaten hutch and, for a moment, I'm sure she's having a heart attack. "Oh, it's just what I've been looking for," she squeals. "It's precious, just made for our dining

All I can see are doors hung at odd angles, drawers that fit like my high school sweater, broken hinges and missing knobs, and scarred wood hammered together with bent 10-penny nails. Take away the cardboard stuffed beneath the piece of junk and it would fall on its face.

"The guy who built that was either blind or he hoped it would prompt his wife to file for divorce.'

"But it's authentic. It's the way they built things years ago when they didn't have many tools. I've seem some just like it at Greenfield Village." "I can see what you mean: obviously, his only tool was an ax." "Oh, let's buy it. Just a little work...not too much...and it will be perfect. Can't you just imagine the families that grew up around it?" Now comes the kicker. "Maybe you're right. Yes, I think there's an odd beauty about it. And as long as I don't have to do much to it...okay, let's buy it.'

It's at this point that she gives it the last inspection and says, "It's a lot of money. Maybe we shouldn't. Besides, it's a little too tall. Let's go back to that first place. I think I saw one there that would be even better."

Some day I'm going to hang her up on one of those antique coat racks and sell her to the first customer that comes along.

Sign Letters

Two letters received in the same envelope from a "Concerned Citizen" from Kings Mill cannot be published because they are unsigned.

If the writer will come to The Record office and sign the letters, they will be published in next week's edition. It is the regularly-published policy of this newspaper to insist that all letters be signed even though names are with-held (see box on this page).

The Editor believes the writer should reappraise the content of one of the letters, however. The criticism is apparently aimed at the city police department and back-up emergency ambulance service. Any failure to respond to an emergency call in Kings Mill cannot be blamed on city forces. Kings Mill is not in the city of Northville and therefore cannot under law be served by city forces (except fire service which is jointly financed by the city and township). The slow police response to which the writer refers must have been the county sheriff's patrol, which serves Northville township along with a one-man, 40-hour-per-week township officer.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper welcomes letters to the editor. We ank that they be received at this office by Monday noon for publication the same week and that they be limited to 500 words. All 5 letters must contain the signatures of the writer, but names will be withheld on request. This newspaper reserves the right to edit letters for brevity and to svoid profanity or libelous statements.

What About Father's Rights?

What about the baby's rights? the pro-abortionists completely disregard the rights of the babies. They are not yet able to speak. They ARE alive. There can be no life at approximately nine months when the baby leaves the protection of the mother's body if there is no life begun at the conception and continued throughout life in the womb. But, in twisted thinking, value of this Life is held as nothing. The babies cannot speak.

WHAT ABOUT THE FATHER'S RIGHTS? You can speak, Fathers. On the front page of the Free Press of 5/15/70, there is a picture Its caption

It seems that in the proposed bill for abortion reform, the woman's physician must make a reasonable effort to "consult" with her spouse, but NOT to obtain his written CONSENT, IF the pregnancy was in the fourth month or later. In the first three months, the father need not even be consulted. (One wonders, "What is so magic about the three months date?) In Gov. Milliken's

Children's Problems Rest with Parents

> This is what he needed, some strong If the parents feel the education their children are getting in school is not good enough, why don't they talk to the teacher about it or supplement it themselves. All this takes is a little time, answering their questions patiently. Parents, you probably have three, four or five children to do this with, while a teacher has 25 to 30 children. With that many students, things have to be organized. Otherwise,

Urges 'No' Vote

2. Mothers of the younger children with a winter vacation (50% of the total) are going to be hard pressed to retain their sanity keeping their children busy for three months in the winter. The doctor bills and Florida vacations could offset any savings.

3. Additional indoor recreation facilities are going to be needed to keep the children on vacation busy. The schools are going to be in session and will not be available for those on vacation. We now use those schools for the summer recreation program. The city and township will have to build the facilities and operate them. This will cost a great deal of money if we build the minimum that I feel will be demanded of an indoor pool, indoor skating rink, and gym. The increased city and township taxes could and probably will offset any savings of the schools. This has never been considered by the city council and they can raise taxes without a vote of the public while the schools must have voted

4. The construction savings will be translated into bonded long term savings. This will amount to a very small reduction in additional construction millage. Remember in the last bond issue election the tax base had increased to the point that an increase in the millage rate was not necessary. This could well be the case in a substantial part of the savings projected by the school administration. You will have to pay the same or a slightly higher rate for a longer period of time. OPERATING MILLAGE FOR RECREATION IS IMMEDIATE.

5. I think the administration is dreaming if they think the teachers will not want and get at least 1/3 more money if the work 240 school days instead of 180 days. After a long review of the budget and operating expenses as well as the inflationary spiral I feel operating costs and OPERATING MILLAGE will have to go up, and will not remain the same per pupil as is projected on the Year-Round system by the administration.

Therefore, I can not see where the savings in TOTAL TAXES exists. Small savings on school construction millage and increased CITY, TOWNSHIP, AND SCHOOL OPERATING MILLAGE SIMPLY will not result in any savings to the taxpayers.

I again urge you and the voters of the Northville School district to vote NO June 8th, and tell the board we want adequate information and consideration of the TOTAL PICTURE before they make any decision on Year-Round Schools.

Sincerely yours, R. Duane LaMoreaux 292 Ely Dr. N. Northville May 24, 1970

father was not even mentioned. What has happened to the role of the father in the creation of a new life? Is the child no longer considered to be his? Women have been very fortunate in nature's plan of life. They are given the supreme privilege of bearing the new life. Most women do not feel this is a mark of inferiority. But women cannot achieve this supreme fulfillment without the father. The child IS also the father's; He has rights. You can

Regarding children without legal fathers. When I was young, it was a very bad thing to have an illegitimate child. But when I was young, I knew two families who took the illegitimate children of their daughters into their homes, raised them and shared what they had with them. Poverty and love was all they had. The daughters' lives were not ruined, nor were the lives of the families. Society did accept them. These children were given their right to life. This is the way it should be if we hold the right values. One can understand the false concerns that lead an occasional woman, under pressure, to an illegal abortion. We, as a society, should help these women to know there is a better way.

Someone has said, "Two people create a child. THEY should have the right to terminate its life." (Notice this is an individual's statement. THEY are not given the right in the proposed new law - only SHE is given the right.) IF this thinking is VALID - then look at your three-year-old child. You created him. He is so much trouble and inconvenience. His will be a crowded and troubled world. He may not have a very good life. So kill him. You created him. You have the right. IF this thinking is Valid, and it is not.

So someone says, "But before he is born, he doesn't know about life. He doesn't KNOW he's living. He is unconscious. This makes him less alive." IF this thinking is VALID, then kill me while I sleep. I have had almost fifty years of living - perhaps more than my share. The ways of the world are hard to take if you care about the weak - maybe death would be better. While I am asleep tonight, I won't know I am living. I will be unconscious. Kill me while I sleep. For Life in the womb in only sleeping for awhile, waiting for its turn at trying to live in an imperfect world.

Senator N. Lorraine Beebe of Dearborn said, "If you think that this issue has been laid to rest, you are in for a very rude and frightening awakening. Women do not forget." She used the right adjectives. There is something very rude and very frightening about this, and we must awaken to this fact. But she is so wrong to use the generalization "women" in her statement. Do not imply, Senator Beebe, that "women" are behind you. Some women, maybe. Misguided and selfish women, maybe. But most emphatically, NOT all "women" are behind you.

And, Senator Beebe, do not blame religion, either, for the opposition to your infamous proposal (You were quoted as doing this in the article.) The issue is not one of religion. The issue is life. One needs no religion to know that your proposal is against life of which we are all a tiny, but no less valuable, part.

6. Wayne County Road Commission, April 20. This letter, regarding the widening of Northville Road, was moved to be accepted and filed by Straub, seconded by Lawrence, Ayes: All.

OLD BUSINESS 1. Committee announcements. The supervisor announced that he had appointed the following two committees. Police Standards: Baldwin, Chairman, plus Mitchell and Straub. New Township and Fire Department Hall: Smith, Chairman, plus Baldwin, Mitchell and Straub.

2. Jaycees request, tabled from April 14. Stromberg read an itemized report on the money needed for the local 4th of July celebration and spoke of the increased costs this year. Baldwin moved that the township allocate $250.00 for this year's program, seconded by Smith, Aves: All.

Hammond moved that agenda item No. 6 under Old Business be discussed at this time, seconded by Baldwin. Ayes All

6. Fish Hatchery Recreation Area Stromberg stated that the board had had a meeting with the Northville City Council to discuss this matter in detail and that now we must come to a decision to either deny their request or to enter into an agreement with City to share the expense of developing and maintaining a recreations area on the old Fish Hatchery property. Straub read the figures that had been presented by the city engineer for draining and filling the ponds, making tennis courts, ball diamonds, parking areas, sanitary sewer, boat dock, benches, bleachers, fencing, etc. The approximate cost including engineering and contingencies is $134,640. There was a long discussion as to the amount and type of fill that would be used in the project. There was also the question of just what constitutes a neighborhood park. Many of the residents who were present expressed themselves as being heartily in favor of the township's joining with the city in this long range recreation project. Hammond moved that the Northville Township Board enter into an agreement with the City of Northville Council, work with them in drawing up definite plans, and proceed with the Suilding of a park recreation area on the old Fish Hatchery property for the combined use of the two municipalities. For the time being let there be a limit of $135,000 on the project. Mitchell added to the motion, Township of Northville shall request from the proper authorities a fifty percent deed to the property and a co-signature from the City of Northville." Baldwin seconded the motion. Ayes: Baldwin, Hammond, Mitchell, Straub. Smith, Stromberg. Abstain: Lawrence. Motion carried.

3(a). Building fees, tabled from April 14 Building official Kaiser was present and explained the reasons for asking for this slight increase in building fees. Smith moved to change resolution 66-12 page 1, line 36, to read "$2.00 for each thousand dollars over ten thousand." There is also to be a five dollar zoning check fee which is only to be charged if a building permit is not issued at the time of the request. Straub seconded. Ayes: All.

3(b). Electrical code. Electrical inspector Caza said that this adoption of the National Electrical Code was being requested to clarify the records so that there could be no question as to which code the township is operating under. (These national codes are updated every four or five years.) Mitchell moved to have the attorney draft an ordinance amendment incorporating these codes, to be presented to the board at the next meeting, seconded by Smith.
4. Trailers in township, tabled from March 10. Kaiser reported that he had made a survey of all non-conforming trailers in the township, had taken pictures, and had noted dates, names, addresses, etc. There followed a discussion of the proposed ordinance amendment as recommended by the planning commission in their meeting of February 24. Section 12.7 is to be amended, and the use of trailers. This amendment would make it possible to gradually eliminate them in those areas where they are presently existing under a non-conforming use. This would make the non-conforming trailer use coincide with all other non-conforming uses in the township. Ashton stated that if this ordinance amendment is passed, it becomes very clear that by removing a trailer from a lot the non-conforming use is lost. Baldwin moved the adoption of this amendment as recommended by the planning commission on February 24, 1970, seconded by Hammond. Ayes: Baldwin, Hammond, Lawrence, Smith, Stromberg. Nay: Mitchell. Abstain: Straub. Motion carried.

5. Drains-at-large. Mosher showed a map of the county drains in the township and explained the authority the drain commissioner has to assess the township for costs of the drainage district. Each drain has its own fund. In 1967 ship at-large in place of spreading it on the parcels in the actual dramage district involved. The commissioner has continued to assess the township in this manner. Smith moved that the current bill be paid on this same basis, supported by Lawrence, Ayes: All.

7. Violations Bureau. In his letter of April 14, Ashton stated that it is entirely legal for the township to establish a parking violations bureau in the township office wherein only parking violation guilty pleas would be handled. Mitchell moved that we instruct our attorney to draw up an ordinance for such a parking violation bureau for the township. In addition let the township further research, with the district judge, the matter of a traffic violation bureau for possible consideration at a later date. Seconded by Lawrence. Ayes:

NEW BUSINESS

1. Service contract. Hammond presented a request for service policies on the various office machines and stated that repairs had been quite costly during the past year. Baldwin moved that the matter be tabled and that an exhaustive study be made on all machines before a service policy be decided on, seconded by Lawrence. Ayes: All.

2. Library request. Hammond read the letter from the Wayne County Library Commission giving three options for additional services for the library, with costs. Straub moved that the township adopt the first option, which gave four additional hours of library service per week at no additional cost. He also moved to have the local library commission ask the county to assist in its survey of future needs, supported by Baldwin. Ayes. All.

3. Charter Township. The attorney rendered an opinion that a charter township decision could be put on the ballot either by resolution of the board or by petition of the people. Northville is presently an unincorporated township. Smith moved that this matter be tabled, supported by Lawrence. Ayes: Baldwin, Lawrence, Mitchell, Smith, Straub, Stromberg. Nay: Hammond. Motion carried.

4. Elimination of Annual Meeting. A letter from Ashton stated that annual meetings had been intended for small rural townships of under 5000 population where a proper meeting room could be furnished to accommodate all the people at any primary or general election. Baldwin moved that this be tabled for study and further consideration, seconded by Lawrence. Ayes:

5. Audit. Hammond moved that the board hold a special meeting to study and accept the 1970 audit reports, seconded by Lawrence. Ayes: All. Stromberg will send out notices of the date of this meeting.

6. Easement agreement-Northville Commons No. 4. Ashton stated that the only action he saw necessary was to authorize the supervisor and clerk to accept this easement from Thomson-Brown on Northville Commons No. 4 and to retain it in the township files without recording it unless Thomson-Brown fails to proceed with the plat. Smith so moved, supported by Mitchell.

7. Recommendations from Water & Sewer Commission.

a. Service charge for temporarily disused premises. Straub moved that the April 8th recommendation of the Water & Sewer Commission regarding charges for temporarily disused premises be adopted, seconded by Lawrence. Ayes: All. b. Malfunction warning. Baldwin moved that the recommendation of the Water & Sewer Commission of May 6th regarding a maifunction warning system for the sanitary sewage pumping station at Northville Forest Apartments be adopted, seconded by Lawrence. Ayes: All.

c. Fencing pumping station. Smith moved that the board approve the fencing of the Greenspan pumping station as recommended by the Water & Sewer Commission in their meeting of May 6, 1970, seconded by Baldwin. Ayes: All. d. Re-installing water meters - fees. Baldwin moved to adopt new fees for removing and re-installing water meters due to increased costs and as recommended by the Water & Sewer Commission on May 6, 1970, seconded by Straub. Ayes: All. e. Overhaul of pressure reducing valves. Mitchell moved to adopt the recommendation of the Water & Sewer Commission on May 6th to overhaul the pressure reducing valves on the line to Kings Mill and through the Wayne County Child Development Center as they are overdue for such maintenance. Supported by Smith.

Ayes: All. f. Sixteen inch tapping valve. Straub moved to adopt the recommendation of the Water & Sewer Commission on May 6th to order a 16" tapping valve for the new township water line to eliminate delay after awarding the contract for construction. Seconded by Baldwin. Ayes: All.

9. Police car donation. Supervisor Stromberg announced the receipt of an anonymous donation. Supervisor Stromberg announced the receipt of an anonymous donation from residents for the purpose of retaining the old township police vehicle as a back-up car. Mitchell moved that this money be accepted and so used, seconded by Smith. Aves: All.

WIXOM PARADE - Rain early Saturday and a constant threat of rain later in the day failed to dampen spirits for the "biggest parade" ever staged in Wixom, climaxing Michigan Week. It was a day suited for youngsters - and well it might because Saturday was Youth Day. Following the long parade that featured everything from floats to antique cars to clowns, hundreds of spectators turned out at the city hall for an afternoon of little league baseball and free hot dogs. Michigan Week Chairman Mike Leahy called it "a day to remember," noting that the bake sale of more than 250 items was sold out in 25 minutes. Through the bake sale the Michigan Week committee raised $250, to be

Members raised a number of questions regarding the pros and cons of the proposal and reported they were not satisfied with the information now available to the public. Further information was seen necessary and the questions were referred to a committee for action.

The committee, with the assistance of the Jaycette auxiliary, is researching the information published in newspapers, reviewing the minutes of school board meetings and interviewing residents, they hope, to determine additional information that should be made available to the general public so they can reach a conclusion on how to vote on the proposal.

The group reports that a special meeting was held May 24 to determine the position the club would take on the issue. Sufficient doubt exists in the facts relative to the proposal, they said. The Jaycees voted to undertake a program to further research and inform the public of the matter, spokesmen

The Jaycees have not taken a position as to the pros and cons of the proposal to date, President Magnan said, and he anticipates further information will be gathered this week that will result in the Jaycees advising the community of their stand on year-round school.

Jaycees participated in the OLV Antique Mart held last weekend at Northville Downs. The group used their booth to publicize their July 4 raffle of a trip for two to the Bahamas and to sell trash liners and dispensers. Glass blower Phil Ecklund was sponsored by the group.
