HE'S MY DAD—When two-year-old Brett Netke, 21352 Summerside Court, plants a kiss and squeals, "He's my dad," it's meant as a special kind of love that children everywhere will be echoing Sunday on Father's Day.

Plant Denies Pollution

Odors Spark Complaints

Is Mergraf Oil Products Company contaminating the air or polluting the Rouge River?

The city council plans an investigation based upon complaints. But the company owner says it just isn't so.

Mergraf, located just north of the railroad near the city disposal area, manufactures industrial oils and reprocesses and re-refines industrial waste oils.

The council has received complaints about odors emitted from the plant and charges that the plant is dumping oil into a branch of the Rouge River.

Monday night the council decided to investigate the site firsthand and to call upon county health department inspectors, and the water resources commission to investigate.

Meanwhile, Mergraf owner Jack Swain denies that the firm is guilty of dumping any oil into the stream. And he declares that odors from the processing have been reduced, "at least 98 per cent."

Ironically, Swain has been cited for his contributions towards the riddance of waste oils that would otherwise cause pollution. He claims that his re-refining process means that industrial waste oils are no longer dumped into sewer systems, streams or rivers. Instead the oil is used over and over again by industry. Further, the new system devised by Swain eliminates secondary pollution problems generally associated with re-refining.

In other words, Swain claims that his plant in Northville performs its operation without producing polluting wastes.

According to Swain, Mergraf stores the industrial waste oil it gathers in earthen and concrete pits. The solids and water are removed from the oil so that it can be resold to the industry.

The water removed from the oil can be cleaned through soil percolation, explains Swain, who says his plant dumps no oil or water into the stream near his Northville plant.

A recent picture shown in an area newspaper was of a drain carrying gravel pit seepage, a yellowish water, into the stream, not oil from Mergraf, Swain claims.

"We've spent about $30,000 on vacuum and fume control equipment to prevent odors", claims Swain. He admits that sometimes something happens in their processing that causes unexpected odors but he believes that their latest preventative equipment "has this licked". He points out that the fumes are non-toxic.

Mergraf recently took over a re-refining plant in Indianapolis and plans to expand its operations there. Locally, Swain says, the plant will be confined to research development and pilot plant operation.

Swain cites his membership on the natural resources commission of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, chairmanship of the pollution control committee of the American Society of Lubrication Engineers and his testimony before Senator Muskie's committee in Washington, D.C., as evidence of his sincerity in combating pollution.

He says he'll welcome inspections from the water resources commission and the county health authorities.

Can You Vote In Primary?

If you're 21 and have been a resident of the community for 30 days and the state for six months, you're eligible to vote in the August 4 primary election.

You're eligible, that is, if you are registered.

Final date for registration is Friday, July 3. City or township residents may register at the office of the clerk in the city or township in which they reside.

Legal notices of the registration deadline appear on page 8-A of this edition.

11 File for Five Posts In Township Race

When the final petitions were filed Tuesday afternoon for the August primary election, Northville township found itself with seven candidates for two trustee seats, two candidates for treasurer and one candidate each for supervisor and clerk.

A surprise switch took place when Richard S. Dunchock, who announced last week he would run for treasurer, filed instead for trustee.

Thus the ballot will line up as follows:

Supervisor-Incumbent Gunnar Stromberg, Republican;

Clerk-Incumbent Eleanor Hammond, Republican;

Treasurer-Incumbent Alex Lawrence and Trustee Joseph Straub, both Republicans;

Trustee (two seats open)—Joseph Fiorilli, Democrat; and Halton Axtell, Richard Dunchock, Leonard Klein, Charles Schaeffer, Jr., William P. Smith, Jr., Wilson Tyler, all Republicans.

In all races except for trustee nomination in the August primary automatically results in election in November because of lack of competition from the Democratic ranks.

But the two Republicans nominated for trustee in August will be joined by Democrat Fiorilli in a three-man race for two seats in November.

The race for treasurer, now boiled down to two candidates, promises to be a keen one. Although Lawrence and Straub have frequently voted together on many split issues on the board, it is no secret that Straub has been unhappy with the treasurer's report. A retired auditor, Trustee Straub is credited with making corrections in the township's books so that settlement day acceptance of the treasurer's report could be made prior to the April annual meeting.

Lawrence has been treasurer for eight years and served as board trustee for six years prior to his appointment as treasurer succeeding the late Roy Terrill.

Only two of the trustee candidates have previous board experience. Incumbent Trustee Smith was appointed last September. He is an architect employed by Detroit Edison Company.

Tyler served as trustee from 1962-66. He was an unsuccessful candidate for treasurer in 1966. He resides at 19772 Meadowbrook and is an executive with Detroit, Bank and Trust.

Klein is chairman of the planning commission. He is an engineer and vice president of Superior Products Company.

Shopping Center Rezoning Tabled

Decision on the rezoning request to permit development of a regional shopping center at the southwest corner of Eight Mile and Haggerty roads, endorsed earlier by planners, was tabled for a month by the Northville Township Board Thursday night.

Similarly, the township board tabled another request — this one recommended for disapproval by planners — for a regional center at Seven Mile and Haggerty.

The board voted to postpone the Eight Mile-Haggerty request of Nate Shapero because it had not yet received notification of Wayne County's recommendation in reviewing the proposal. The county reviews zoning matters prior to final action at the local level.

An effort by Philip Ogilvie, attorney for residents of Meadowbrook Subdivision Association which opposes both rezoning requests, to persuade the township board to make an immediate decision failed. Ogilvie argued that residents of the township had come to Axtell, 19600 Beck road, is in the industrial relations department, salaried personnel, for Ford Motor Company. He is a New York law school graduate and has resided in Northville since 1965.

Dunchock is a registered pharmacist and owner of a drug store at Seven Mile and Telegraph as well as the Michigan Potato Chip Company.

Schaeffer is a systems' programmer for Burroughs Corporation in Plymouth.

Fiorilli is an executive with Ford Motor Company serving as supervisor of the planning and control section in the material control office.

the meeting fully expecting the board to make a decision. Furthermore, he noted that he will be on vacation at the time of next month's meeting and hence will be unable to represent his clients at the meeting.

Suggestion that the matter be placed on the agenda of a special meeting to accommodate Ogilvie was scrapped when James Littell, attorney for the applicant, Shapero, pointed out that decisions of this kind must be made at regular meetings.

Concerning the request of Leonard Brooks (center at Seven Mile and Haggerty), the applicant asked that his request be tabled until he is able to secure a new attorney. However, in requesting a delay by letter, he called the action of the planning commission "discriminatory."

The planning commission earlier had recommended approval of Shapero's request, denial of Brooks' request.

Both requests are to come up at the July 14 meeting of the board.

Committee Seeks Township Hall Site

Search for a new township hall-fire department site was formally launched this past week following a report to the Northville Township Board by a special board committee.

Spokesman for the board committee, William Smith, was authorized to look for a suitable site and to investigate the cost of hiring an architect to design and lay out suitable buildings.

In reporting to the board, Smith said initial investigation indicated that a minimum of five acres would be required for a permanent fire hall and a temporary-type township hall.

The committee indicated that while the fire hall would be of permanent construction, the township

DEDICATION — The 400-seat sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville, one of the oldest churches in the area with a founding date of 1829, was formally dedicated Sunday afternoon in a ceremony that included participation by Presbyterian and non-Presbyterian clergymen and laymen. The dedication sermon, "My Church," was delivered by the Reverend Ernest W. Dunn, pastor of Calvin East United Presbyterian Church in Detroit. It included presentation of the keys to the classic-style brick sanctuary to the building committee chairman, presentations by the choir and organist, and was followed by a reception in the fellowship hall.

NEWS BRIEFS

CITY ATTORNEY Philip Ogilvie and attorneys for Pure Oil Company presented oral arguments before the three-man state court of appeals last Wednesday (June 10). At issue is the oil company's request to build a new station at its Wing and Main street location. Rezoning to permit the change was not granted by the city. Wayne county circuit court upheld the city position after the oil company challenged the validity of the city ordinance excluding service stations from the C-1 commercial district. The appeals court decision is expected in about two months.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE — A sustaining membership drive to help raise funds for camping equipment and tents, such as the one the three Cadet Scouts are putting up here, has been launched in the Oakland County Girl Scout Council. According to Mrs. Peter Alcala, of Novi, chairman of the Southwest Girl Scout Association, camping equipment at Scout depots throughout the area is "desperately needed and we would deeply appreciate financial participation in this drive." Struggling to erect their tent are (l to r) Cadet Scouts Beth Alcala, Colleen Gorman and Pam Knish.

Seek Sustaining Members

Girl Scouts Announce Drive

A drive for sustaining members is underway this month in Novi and elsewhere in the Oakland Girl Scout Council. Goal is 1,000 sustaining members. The money received will be used primarily to buy additional tents and camping equipment for the girls.

Chairman of the drive, S.C. Richey, executive engineer for GMC Truck & Coach Division, hopes to enroll a minimum of two members for each of the 540 Girl Scout Troops in the council.

Sustaining memberships fill the gap not covered by the federated funds and cookie and calendar sales. The drive is done by agreement with the federated funds which recognize the need for Girl Scouting but cannot increase the Girl Scout allocation without reducing funds from other deserving agencies.

The number of Girl Scouts who go camping has doubled in the last four years, officials point out. Girls who went camping in 1965 totaled 3,165. Last year that number had risen to 6,357. The Council has 84 tents presently available in outdoor depots for troop use. In order to keep up with demands this number must be doubled, they said.

Northern Oakland County Girl Scouts also have many other needs such as other outdoor equipment, camperships, and conservation materials and resources.

Those who wish to participate may enroll by sending their checks for ten dollars directly to Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council, 91 South Telegraph Road, Pontiac, 48053.

News Around Northville

Patricia Anne Carroll, 116 Randolph Street, will fly to Scotland tomorrow, Friday, for a long-planned visit to a pen pal, Mrs. Mary Lynch, of Glasgow.

Although the two have never met, they have been corresponding since they were children and have been friends by mail for 14 years.

Miss Carroll, who is employed at Western Electric, will spend ten days in Scotland.

Mrs. Sandra L. Sutherland of 18707 Jamestown Circle was one of three teachers at the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College system named by students to a list of "outstanding faculty-at-large." Mrs. Sutherland teaches English.

Patricia F. Roth, 24817 Glenda, has been elected vice-president of the Theta Tau Sorority at Grand Valley State College. She was among several students at the Allendale college elected to office in sororities and fraternities for the 1970-71 academic year.

Northville senior citizens are planning another get together, with a cooperative dinner and social hour, on Tuesday, June 23 at 6 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the Presbyterian Church.

Linda Edgerton Takes College Library Post

Linda Edgerton, 571 Randolph, will be leaving July 6 for Norwich, Connecticut, where she is to set up libraries for Mohegan College on its "split" campus at Norwich and New London.

Miss Edgerton is being graduated from the University of Michigan June 26 with a master's degree in library science. She already holds a master's degree from Eastern Michigan University in elementary education and a BA degree from Wayne University.

Before returning to school this year she served as librarian at Moraine and Amerman elementary schools. Many other youngsters know her as the operator of a "children's bookstore." She has had books in her home with many being sold, especially at Christmas.

In her new position at the Southeastern Connecticut college Miss Edgerton will operate the two-section library with an assistant.

Mrs. Kathleen Edgerton, her mother, plans to join Linda later. In the meantime, the artist-craftsman has class commitments and will have a ceramics-weaving booth at the Ann Arbor Street Fair July 15-18. The Edgertons are selling the red frame house on Randolph where they have a craft workshop and home.

They already are the owners of a house in Norwich, built in 1660, the year the town was settled. A true eastern colonial with many fireplaces and central chimney, the house has been renovated already by the telephone company, which had been using it.

Life of Annual Meeting Hangs on November Ballot

It may, indeed, be "old fashion democracy" but there's apparently enough cracks in the annual meeting

Paper Drive Set for Weekend

A paper drive will be held Saturday and Sunday, June 20 and 21, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher League of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church. The league is holding the drive to raise money for new playground equipment for St. Paul's Lutheran Day School.

Any paper except magazines will be accepted, according to Mrs. William Shaughnessy, a spokesman for the league. A truck will be stationed at the school at 201 Elm Street in Northville to collect paper throughout both days.

Paper also will be collected from individual homes, she said. Anyone with paper to be picked up is asked to call 349-7195 or 349-9717.

process to prompt Northville Township officials to ask citizens to decide its fate.

The annual meeting, which has its basis in early American history, either will be preserved or abolished by citizens of the township at the November general election. Northville Township Board voted unanimously Thursday to place the question on the November ballot.

Decision to place the question on the ballot, however, doesn't necessarily mean that all board members favor the annual meeting's abolishment. Trustee Richard Mitchell made that plain when he voted with fellow members in placing it on the ballot.

While the Michigan Township Association told The Record Friday that the majority of townships in the state still conduct annual meetings, more and more of them are voting to abolish this process which probably originated in England centuries ago.

Novi Township abolished the annual meeting a decade ago by a vote of 287-232.

One of the primary objections to the annual meeting — an objection that led to its abandonment in Novi — is the fact that so few of the townships electors attend it. That argument was echoed again by Northville Trustee Bernard Baldwin at Thursday's meeting.

Because so few people attend these meetings, opponents of the annual meeting argue, a small minority of a township's citizens can actually control the financial and general policies of township government for the entire citizenry.

In 1967, for example, The Record disclosed that in the townships of Northville, Salem, Lyon, Green Oak and Northfield, a combined total of only 210 persons attending the meetings for an area having a combined population of well over 20,000 people.

Proponents of the township meeting, however, argue that this meeting is the "last vestige" of direct citizen participation in government. Its colorful historical past also motivates some proponents.

Taylor U Sends Coed to France

Cynthia Ruth Haynes, a resident of Northville, and a student at Taylor University, will spend the summer in volunteer youth work in France, through the Taylor World Outreach (TWO) program.

Miss Haynes will serve the Gospel Missionary Union, with headquarters at Smithville, Missouri.

More than 150 Taylor students will participate in such activities as youth work in Southeast Asia, as well as in America's inner cities and will work with Indian tribes in Latin America and the United States through the TWO program. This program was initiated three years ago as a means of involving students in volunteer service as a part of their college experiences.

Taylor University is a private interdenominational liberal arts college. Founded in 1846, it is the ninth oldest college in Indiana and has an enrollment of 1,350 students.

The annual township meeting, in a historical sense, is synonymous with the township unit of government itself. The two grew up together.

The name "township" is an offshoot of the word "tun". A "tun" was the "tunsceipe" or a unit where a hedge screened off an English community a thousand years ago. And the word "borough" is derived from the Anglo-Saxon word "burh", which was the enclosure protecting a house of a citizen.

At the beginning of the 17th Century these local units were so closely woven that they were used as synonymous terms for the same unit.

Discussions necessary to shape the policy of these units took place at the "town moot" or "folk moot" where the assembled townsmen made the appointment of officials.

Because English people were steeped in the tradition of township government and the township meeting, it was natural that the English colonists would carry the system with them to America. It blossomed anew in New England, particularly Vermont, and eventually spread throughout what is today the United States.

Jaycees Paint Parking Strips

For the past several weekends, the Northville Jaycees have been hard at work painting the parking strips and unit numbers on the 450 units in the Kings Mill development Project Chairman, Dick Rayborn reports the club has completed more than two-thirds of the work and expects that it will be completed next weekend.

More than 20 Jaycees at various times have been welding brushes and stencils to earn funds to carry on an extensive community assistance program this year. Committee work is in process of determining community needs and will be recommending action for the community-spirited organization to spearhead.

Northville Jayceettes held a club picnic June 15 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Morn, on Allen Drive. Arrangements were made by the committee of Mrs. Gail Morin, Mrs. Judy Totten and Mrs. Jackie Vandenberg

"Sixteen couples attended the gathering with some 30 children keeping everyone busy. Barbecue grills were manned by several Northville Jaycees under the watchful eyes of a continuously starved group. Jaycette members contributed an enticing variety of salads, refreshments and home-baked beans." Public Relations Chairman Morin reported.

The Village Green park area was used to advantage with tiny tot penny hunts and children's activities. "The successful social event was thoroughly enjoyed by all, including all the dads setting up and taking down all the picnic paraphernalia! The comfortable weather timed itself perfectly when the rain coincided with the conclusion of the event."

BOYS STATE — The 33rd American Legion Wolverine Boys State opened yesterday at Brody Hall on the campus of Michigan State University in East Lansing. Manor Seeks Volunteer Teens

An appeal for area boys and girls who might like to "bring a little sunshine" into the lives of senior citizens was issued this week by Miss Kathleen Callan, social service worker at the Beverly Manor Convalescent Home, corner of 10 Mile and Meadowbrook roads, in Novi.

"We'd like a small group of teenagers, 16 years and older, who would volunteer to serve as foster children to some of our older patients who are in need of some person-to-person tenderness," she explained.

It would require an "hour or more" of time weekly in which the teenagers would visit and bring a little cheer to these older people.

Anyone interested is asked to call Miss Callan from 10 to 3 p.m. on Saturday at 477-2000.

Lites Name New Officers

The Northern Lites study group elected new officers Monday at its last meeting before breaking for summer, held in the home of Mrs. William Brown, 200 Rayson Street.

New officers elected included Mrs. William Underwood, chairman; Mrs. Donald Scott, vice-chairman; and Mrs. John Ling, secretary-treasurer.

Also during the meeting Mrs. Harold Seden, past chairman, was honored with a corsage and gift in appreciation of her past services. The Sedens are moving soon to Stamford Lake, Michigan.

Northern Lites is an extension home study group in family living from Michigan State University. Women who are members meet monthly in homes to study subjects relevant to homemaking, such as indoor and outdoor plants.

Search Continues for Killer-Kidnapper

Search continued this week for an armed killer-kidnapper who shot to death an Oak Park man in an unsuccessful $25,000 robbery attempt in Wixom before forcing a truck driver at gun point to drive him into Detroit Friday morning.

A suspect, arrested soon after the truck was abandoned in Detroit, was questioned and released. Sought is a young Negro male.

The bizarre highway robbery attempt on Wixom Road, just north of Van's Texaco service station at I-96, left one man dead with a bullet through the back and another through the neck.

Shaken but unharmed was the truck driver, Royce J. Tennant, 54 of Fowlerville, who was forced to drive the killer into Detroit.

Pronounced dead at the scene of the shooting in Wixom was Melvin Handelzaltz, 33 of Oak Park, an employee of a Detroit check-cashing company that regularly services employees at the Wixom Lincoln plant. He died of a single small-caliber bullet that ripped through his lower back and exited through his chest. He also was shot through the neck.

Handelzaltz was driving a company car on his way to the plant where he would have cashed checks inside the factory, according to Glenn Deibert, in charge of plant security.

The trunk of his car contained $25,000 in cash.

During plant operation it was not unusual for agents of Quinn Checashers company to arrive in automobiles, he said. Armored trucks are normally used only when the plant is not in operation and check-cashing takes place outside the plant, Deibert explained.

The killer, who police believe was aware of the check cashing procedure and that Handelzaltz probably would be carrying money, tried forcing Handelzaltz' car off the roadside as he left the west-bound lane of I-96 and entered the exit ramp onto Wixom Road near the Ford plant. The two vehicles came to a halt on the shoulder of Wixom Road just north of the service station.

William Van Gordon, the service station operator, told The Novi News he heard the two vehicles bang together as they came off the ramp.

The killer climbed out of his car and, as if to inspect damage, raised the hood of his car as Handelzaltz walked up to speak to him.

Van Gordon told this newspaper he believes the killer raised the hood to get his weapon.

At any rate, the killer and Handelzaltz returned to the latter's car, a scuffle ensued inside and the gunman shot the agent through the neck. The wounded man apparently turned to climb out of the car, was shot in the back, and tumbled from the car to the shoulder of the road, police said.

Handelzaltz, who was armed, never drew his weapon, police said.

The gunman then made a U-turn in Handelzaltz' car and sped south on Wixom Road and then onto the east-bound lane of the expressway.

As the car passed in front of the station before reaching the expressway, Van Gordon fired three times at it with a gun he took from the station when he and others heard the shots moments earlier.

Legal Snag Delays Council Appointment

Scheduled appointment of a councilman to fill a vacancy on the seven-member Novi City Council ran into a roadblock Monday night, forcing postponement of council action.

Appointment, requiring at least four votes or a simple majority of the six councilmen now serving, was postponed until the return of vacationing Mayor Joseph Crupi in four weeks.

The impasse occurred when two of the five members present challenged the legality of the appointment.

Councilman Raymond Evans, joined by Councilman Donald Young, Jr., challenged the appointive process, arguing that under the city charter filling of the vacancy at this point in time must go to the people in a special election.

Specifically, he had reference to that section of the charter that reads in part:

"If any such vacancy in the position of councilman which the council is authorized to fill is not filled within 60 days...such vacancy or vacancies shall be filled for the respective unexpired terms at a special election."

The current vacancy occurred on April 4 when the council formally accepted the resignation of William Duey, then a candidate for the office of mayor. But his seat was not declared officially vacant until City Attorney Howard Bond advised the council last week of the appointive process.

It has been explained that Bond spent the intervening time gathering legal opinions on the question.

In Evans' view, the 60-day period has elapsed and the matter must go to a special election.

Furthermore, he argued Monday that if an appointment is made, in "violation" of the charter, it could result in legal questions arising over any decision that the council appointee might influence.

"Zoning will be turned down, expenditures will be questioned," said Evans. "I want to prevent the city from getting into trouble."

Young agreed with Evans, pointing out that the charger is explicit. He said he could not see how Bond could interpret appointment as anything but a charter violation.

Bond explained that any councilman appointed becomes a defacto member—legally seated until his opinions are questioned.

Although the appointment process itself is being questioned, three nominees for the vacancy were made:

- Louise Campbell, by Councilman Edwin Presnell.
- William Duey, by Young.
- Russell Button, by Councilman Denis Berry.

Following nominations, however, Young followed Evans' lead and abstained from voting, leaving only three possible votes, and then withdrew Duey's name.

Duey ran unsuccessfully for the mayor's post in the last election, and Campbell and Button were unsuccessful candidates for council.

It was explained that a vote could be postponed until a later date, at which time anyone wishing to be excused would need a majority vote of the council for such permission.

Inspection Complaint Back on Council Table

Audience participation before the Novi City Council was unusually calm Monday night as Leonard Gurka appeared to continue his complaint against the Cranbrook Building Company.

Gurka, who lives in a Thompson Brown development at 23141 Meadowbrook, has suffered due to faulty plumbing in his basement, and an inadequate sewer drainage system, both of which he claims should have been inspected by the city prior to the issuance of a certificate of occupancy.

Gurka questioned the effectiveness of the certificate and the circumstances under which it was issued.

City Manager Dallas Zonkers said that inspection of city records disclosed the city had completed its obligations in every inspection that it

In School Board Split

Cross Country Sport Loses

A proposal to inaugurate the sport cross country at Novi High School in the fall was defeated by a split vote of school board trustees June 10.

Trustee Ray Warren moved that the program be given tentative approval with the understanding that if expenditures had to be reduced "this would be one of the places among others that would be cut."

The motion, seconded by Trustee Claude Earl was defeated in a 3-4 vote, with Trustees Warren, Earl and Russell Taylor supporting the motion and Trustees Bruce Simmons, LaVerne DeWaard, Robert Wilkins and Gilbert Henderson voting it down.

Trustee Henderson said he was concerned that there was a possibility students in seventh and eighth grades would not receive five days of physical education instruction each week.

"Maybe the money can be better spent on the physical education program for both boys and girls," he said.

Superintendent Thomas Dale had told the board the estimated cost of the cross country program would be $800, with about 20 boys expressing interest in the sport.

Trustee DeWaard said the news of the "physical education program resulted in my 'no' vote. Let's investigate the possibility of an intermural program that would involve more kids at the seventh and eighth grade level."

"I'm concerned with educational excellence," Trustee Wilkins commented. "If we have the money, let's spend it to benefit education. A system of priorities must be established."

Board President Simmons told the board that "last year we went through and approved items, only to find that we were strapped all year long. I don't want to be in the same bind again."

In other action, the board opened bids on the middle school site development work and rejected bids on improving the parking lot area of the high school.

Bidding on grading the middle school site, constructing a permanent drive to the site from Taft Road and preparing the site for construction were E.T. Cook, Incorporated, Pontiac, and Groleau Brothers, Incorporated, Union Lake.

The board directed the superintendent and the architect to study the bids and, acting in the best interest of the board, to award the bid to the lowest responsible bidder.

Cook submitted a base bid of $93,914, while Groleau bid $79,385.50.

McAtee Can't Quit; Seeks County Post

A red-hot battle began shaping up this week with the announcement by former Wixom mayor, Wesley E. McAtee, that he will challenge the incumbent county commissioner for the Republican nomination in the August primary.

McAtee filed his nominating petitions just prior to Tuesday's deadline.

Earlier, Republican Incumbent Commissioner Lew Coy, also of Wixom, announced his bid for re-election.

In making his announcement, McAtee promised to wage a fair but spirited campaign throughout the district, which includes the Oakland county portion of Northville, Novi, Wixom, Walled Lake, South Lyon, Lyon Township and other municipalities in the southwestern portion of Oakland County.

Having recently suffered a mild heart attack, McAtee said he is fully recovered "and feeling better than ever."

The former Wixom mayor retired earlier this year from his city's chief executive post after eight years—longest service of any mayor in Wixom's history since that community's incorporation in 1958.

"There's just too much to be done for the people in this section of Oakland County to sit aside and hope that someone else will do the job," he said. "I sincerely believe I can be of service, and I think my experience as a city mayor together with my working relationship with officials and citizens at the local, county and regional levels, are qualifying assets."

McAtee, who lives with his wife and five children at 3031 West Maple Road, was first elected mayor in 1962, defeating the late Mayor Donald Brooks. Two years later, in 1964, he won easily over former Justice of Peace William Welke. In 1966, he was unopposed, and two years ago, he won re-election over former Wixom police chief, Frank Jadzinski.

Even before his initial election, McAtee had been a candidate for president of the then village and shortly thereafter a candidate for the newly incorporated city. He was a member of Wixom's charter commission, the village charter committee, and he has served on the industrial development commission.

McAtee owns and operates an office supply firm in Plymouth and is representative of the Howard T. Keating Company.

Development Plan Told

EDITOR'S NOTE--The Northville city council instructed its planning consultants, Parkins and Rogers, to draft a potential development proposal for city-owned property on the southeast corner of Wing and Cady streets extending north to Main street. The council is hopeful that such a proposal might interest a developer in the site, or at least attract developers to the available potential. Following is the report and drawings and submitted by the planning consultants.

SUBJECT
The site contains approximately 58,000 square feet and has frontage on Main Street, Wing Street and Cady Street. The purpose of design proposal is to indicate to prospective purchasers of the site the extent and type of development proposal that will be expected by the City of Northville as a condition of the sale of the parcel.

DEVELOPMENT
The primary development considerations for the site have to do with its orientation to the Northville CBD and the Civic Administration Center. In regards to the Northville CBD we note that the site in question is on the west boundary of the CBD with Wing Street forming the western part of the proposed circle drive. The Civic Administration center is immediately west of the site and also contiguous the proposed circle drive. These two orientations have implications in terms of proposed land use intensity and aesthetic relationships of architecture, scale and landscaping. The Civic Administration center containing a city hall, library, police and fire departments is situated in a park-like environment and enjoys a peaceful serenity which should be preserved. This tranquility is further supported by the early colonial architecture of the building. A sharp break in urban design scale and land use intensity upsetting the tranquil city hall scene is possible unless the development of the site is not made to conform to the implicit goals suggested herein.

We suggest most retail uses which utilize the total site would not be in harmony with the urban scale and type of environment now characteristic of the area and which we believe should be preserved. A professional and semi-professional environment, tastefully executed as to aesthetic ends would be the most compatible uses of the site in question. Moreover, this kind of development would afford a desirable transition from a residential environment into an active commercial environment. This need not necessarily totally exclude retail or service activities which may be accessory and supportive of an office type of building. Such uses as a barber shop and/or beauty shop and pharmaceutical, in the case of a medical center, would be appropriate uses in any building development.

DEVELOPMENT INTENSITY AND USES
For the reasons described above, we believe that most desirable use of the subject property is for a single office building or complex of buildings spatially arranged so as to produce the most pleasing architectural accomplishment. Within a promenade environment certain commercial activities would not jeopardize the lower intensity of uses which we are suggesting in this proposal.

One means for determining the intensity to which land can be put is to limit the total floor area of the building or buildings. A technique to achieve this is to establish a floor area index which is defined as follows:
The Floor Space Index or F.S.I. is the ratio of the total gross floor area of the building to the net lot area, e.g., on a lot of 10,000 sq. ft. with a Floor Space Index of 2.0, it would be permissible to erect a building of 20,000 sq. ft. floor area.

An F.S.I. by itself does not provide for any open space, therefore, coupled with the F.S.I., a minimum Open Space Index is also required to assure that the total lot area will not be covered.

In New York City, for example, Floor Area ratios range all the way from .50 to 15.0 whereas in Detroit, this technique is not employed except in multiple family districts. We are of the opinion that as low an F.S.I. as possible while maintaining market feasibility is a justifiable approach for Northville. Therefore, we are of the opinion that an F.S.I. of 1.5 is in line with the desirable land use intensity for the City of Northville. An Open Space Index of .20 would assure that at least 20 per cent of the parcel area would be left as open space, over and above what may be required for off-street parking. Off-street parking should, wherever possible, be developed in a subterranean fashion which is all the more desirable in Northville given its advantageous topography but, moreover, because of the comparatively small geographic size of the CBD. An intensive use of this small area is desirable and will help meet a growing market. Off-street parking should be outside the perimeter road or in multi-story structures.

Using the above formula, the total floor area of the building or buildings could not exceed 87,000 square feet while the minimum open space area would be 11,600 square feet. This means that approximately 46,400 square feet of the land area is available to accommodate some 87,000 square feet of building area exclusive of parking areas.

To accomplish this, three story structures would have to be constructed with the Cady Street elevation used for parking purposes. Parking space should be provided at a ratio of one space for every 400 square feet of office space and one space for every 200 square feet of commercial space. Under this formula, approximately 200 spaces would be required to accommodate a building area of approximately 80,000 square feet. Parking requirements of this magnitude would demand the usurpation of most of the ground level area; therefore, by and large, subterranean space should be made available for parking purposes or in the alternative, parking must be provided in a multi-story building.

RELATIONSHIP TO EXISTING PERMISSIVE ZONING LEGISLATION
The area in question is included within the CBD district category. According to the requirements of this district, any development proposal is subject to the approval of the planning commission. Specific requirements include the provision that an area equal to two and one-half times the gross area of the building proposed must be provided for parking. We are of the opinion that such a provision is unusually high and will deter private enterprise development in the CBD. Normally, if a 50,000 square foot office building, were constructed in Northville, pursuant to Chapter 3.14 (18), 250 parking spaces would be required which is an area of approximately 75,000 square feet; however, in the CBD area, your requirements would require an area of approximately 125,000 square feet.

We suggest that normally most cities permit the CBD to have less parking than outlying shopping areas on the assumption that (1) there is more walk-in trade and (2) the municipality assumes a responsibility to provide municipal parking lots.

Our scheme : proposal would obviously require some modification to your zoning ordinance or assurance that parking requirements will be waived. Insofar as area regulations are concerned, the design proposal does not circumvent provisions of your zoning ordinance in this regard.

CONCLUSIONS

The above represents a general guideline for permitting a reasonable use of the property in question while preserving long-term development goals of the City of Northville.

A graphic representation of the type of development which the City of Northville hopes to encourage for the property in question is provided as part of this development proposal.

Two Area Youths Die in Accidents

A three-year-old Salem youth and a 14-year-old Northville girl were fatally injured in separate traffic accidents this past week.

Robert Blankenship, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy A. Blankenship, was crushed to death early Monday evening when he ran behind a truck and out of the vision of the driver, his uncle Russell Blankenship, as he was backing a truck from the driveway of the boy's home at 9571 West Six Mile Road.

The boy was pronounced dead on arrival at University Hospital in Ann Arbor.

with her sister and three other youths plowed through the median onto the opposite lane of I-96, west of Wixom Road, and slammed into a car driven by Donald Mayer of Hillsdale.

Patrick Walsh of Detroit, driver of the car in which the victim was riding, told Oakland County deputy sheriffs that a motorist in front of him braked his car, forcing Walsh to weave out of the path. He lost control, plowed through the median and struck Mayer's car head-on, deputies said.

In the car with the Robinson girl, besides the driver, were her sister, Kerry, Charles Wysocki, and Michael Grant, both of Detroit.

Passengers in Mayer's car were his brothers, John, James and Stanley.

Injured were treated at Botsford Hospital.

Council Session
Airs Complaints

In a lengthy agenda of routine items the Northville city council Monday night decided:

—to amend its fence ordinance to encourage the board of appeals to allow variances "unless variance would adversely affect the public health, safety or welfare", but dropped a proposed amendment that would have permitted fence heights of up to six feet to the front building line;

—to postpone until July 20 any decision on a proposed amendment to the building code which would increase requirements for firewalls in multiple dwellings;

—to postpone until July 6 any action on a request for a liquor by the glass license for Little Joe's Tavern, 157 E. Main, when the police chief will be asked why he advised the council not to approve the request;

—to instruct the city manager to investigate the cost of acquiring either a new or used compactor for the purpose of rubbish collection to be used to provide service for Northville Downs and as a back-up vehicle for the city's present compactor.

The council heard criticism of its proposed fence ordinance amendment from Mr. and Mrs. George Kohs, 473 West Cady, and Mrs. Charles Roberts, 400 Fairbrook court. They protested to a provision that would permit fence heights of up to six feet from the rear of the house to the front. Presently, six feet heights are permitted only up to the rear of the house, then a maximum of four feet to the front. They also challenged the council to enforce the present ordinance, stating that a neighbor was in violation.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff agreed that a fence had been built in

Homeowner Questions Inspection

Council Hears Complaint

had undertaken on the Gurka property. It was pointed out last week that the purpose of the certificate of occupancy is to establish certain minimum requirements for safe habitation concerning the installation of water and sanitary lines, and that quality of such work is not the city's responsibility.

Councilman Raymond Evans said he did not believe the taxpayers' money should be spent for something in which it has no real authority. He said he was sure that both the city and the building inspector Earl Bailey, had learned a lot from Mr. Gurka's trouble, but wondered what Gurka wanted the city to do.

Gurka replied that he couldn't see "how you let such a builder continue." City Attorney Howard Bond pointed out that the certificate of occupancy provided for some things that were impossible to inspect, but at the same time provided a clause by which Bailey could go back and investigate inadequacy.

Bailey mentioned that the builder had agreed to repair all of Gurka's complaints; had visited the site but had not returned.

Councilman Denis Berry pointed out that the builder was showing good faith and encouraged Gurka to be patient.

It was decided to continue pressuring the builder in an effort to resolve the situation.

Questions were answered concerning the proposed Grand River-Nowi Road sewer by Chuck Fenske of the Johnson and Anderson Company, engineers for the project, at a hearing on necessity Monday night.

The proposed sewer will, if the present plan is approved, run south on Novi Road from a point just south of the I-96 expressway to a point several hundred yards south of Grand River, and from a point near the Paragon plant on Grand River, east past Novi Road. A branch also would run out Eleven Mile Road.

Exact distances and locations were not available Monday night.

Questions concerned alternatives to the plan, how it was to be paid, who it would serve, and to what locations it would run.

Bond pointed out that the state, after giving the city two extensions on its pollution citation, had ruled this summer is the deadline for beginning a clean-up of some sort. The method the state would take, it was advised, would be to take over the job themselves, sell the necessary bonds, and impose an ad valorem tax against the city to pay for them. This method was thought by some in the gallery to be better because of the lower interest rates that could be obtained on bonds bought by the state rather than the city.

Councilman Donald Young pointed out that such operations were usually paid for in units of benefit, based on the benefit derived by a single homeowner and multiplied from that, in proportion, to the benefit derived by a factory or business.

It was noted that, of the block of industry located in the area of Novi and Grand River, Paragon Steel was the chief polluter, having an inadequate sewage treatment plant. Comments from the audience suggested that Paragon be made to pay a larger share of the total bill.

Fenske said the corporation had not been approached as yet.

Price of the project was set unofficially at $727,000. This figure is based on approximately 160-180 residential taps in the area at between $2,500 and $4,000 per unit.

Upon the suggestion of Bond the council passed action continuing the public hearing one week, providing that at that time a decision would be made as to how the city should proceed and what the role of Paragon Steel would be in the final plan.

In other business Monday night, the council:

—Agreed to allow Kaufman and Broad developers to expand what is now an eight inch sanitary line on South Lake Drive to 12 inches with the understanding that enlargement must conform to Oakland County

Southern Illinois Graduates Milne

Students from 36 states and the District of Columbia—including one from Northville—were graduated June 10 from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale at the school's 96th June commencement.

The entire Carbondale campus class numbered some 3,700 graduates. Commencement ceremonies were conducted at the University's Edwardsville campus.

The local graduate of Southern Illinois was Richard M. Milne, 537 West Dunlap Street, who was awarded a bachelor of science degree.

regulations, and that taps, because of the size of the line, may not be available in the future.

It was also understood that council need not agree to anything the developers decide to build on that property.

—Resolved to introduce the retirement plan, drafted by the Maccabees Insurance Company, to the current negotiations with the police department to determine a reaction.

If the plan is not understood a consultant can be called in to explain it, councilmen indicated.

—Set permanent traffic regulations prohibiting trucks and commercial vehicles on Meadowbrook between Nine and Ten Mile Roads, and on Nine Mile between Novi and Meadowbrook Roads.

The restrictions had been established temporarily last week by Police Chief Lee BeGole. They were the result of numerous complaints that the continued truck travel on the two roads was causing excessive dust and damage to the road.

Machine Gun Charge Draws Fine

A former Northville man, Larry L. Ellsworth, now living in Ypsilanti, was placed on nine months probation and ordered to pay $300 court costs after he pled guilty to possession of a machine gun June 11.

The action came before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Donald VanAntwerp.

Ellsworth was arrested May 13, 1968, by Northville police and charged with possession of a machine gun. The FBI took over the investigation and turned the case back to local authorities in April, 1970.

He stood mute April 7 before 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis, was placed on $1,000 bond and bound over to circuit court April 30.

Twelve-year-old Ronald Meisel, Detroit, was seriously injured when he was bitten by a dog at 9:45 a.m. June 15 while delivering milk on North Rogers Street, police said.

He was treated for bites on the face, upper lip, left elbow and shoulder.

Owner of the dog, Robert Hay, 384 North Rogers Street, was ordered to keep the dog under observation for 10 days.

Paul Mickolacki, 8, of 505 Griswold Street, was bitten on the left arm and leg while playing with the family dog June 12. He was treated at St. Mary Hospital and released.

A Detroit woman, Cathy Liles, received hand cuts when she was cut by flying glass after an unidentified man broke the photo finish showcase in the lower grandstand area of Northville Downs. The incident occurred June 12 according to police.

Approximately $800 damage was done to a sign at Phil's Union 76 Station on June 13 after a youth threw a rock through the sign, breaking one side and cracking the other, police reports said. The youth has agreed to make restitution.

Reed Wilson, 111 West Main Street, reported to police someone took a coin purse containing $28 while he was at Northville Downs June 13.

Northville Downs received a bomb threat at 8:32 p.m. June 13 from a caller who said a bomb had been placed in the Grandstand area, police reported.

Police checked the area and finding nothing, cleared the area at 10:05 p.m.

VANDALS RETURN TO HIGH SCHOOL — Six walls at Northville High were spray-painted with obscenities over the weekend, a repeat of damage that was done October 25. Earl Busard, business manager for the district, and police agree that it "appears to have been done by the same people as before. The letters and words are identical." The words were painted out Monday. Windows on the east and north sides were also splattered with paint. Bristling, Superintendent Raymond Spear declared "We have some sick people in the district who have nothing better to do than spend the taxpayers money this way." Officials said it cost $500 to have the paint water-blasted off the walls last fall.

On June 11, Wardell Joseph Woods, Northville Downs, pled guilty to a charge of drunkenness and was fined $53.

Eight officers from the Novi Police Department assisted officers from throughout northern Oakland county in controlling an unruly crowd of juveniles at the Dodge Park No. 4 in Waterford Township Thursday.

A crowd of approximately 200 young people surrounded a unit of the Waterford police when they tried to arrest a minor for possession of alcohol.

An "officer needs assistance" call was issued and reinforcements from the Waterford post were dispatched.

The crowd grew to over 1,000, congregating in different areas of the park. Approximately 200 officers from surrounding departments including units of the State Police were called in.

Rocks and bottles were thrown at police units and the park was cleared with the use of dogs and tear gas.

Academy Elects

Howard L. Bergo, a Northville doctor, has been re-elected to active membership in the American Academy of General Practice, the national association of family doctors.

Re-election signifies that the physician has successfully completed 150 hours of accredited postgraduate medical study in the last three years. Members become eligible for re-election at the end of the third year following their election to membership. The Academy, the Country's second largest national medical association, is the only national medical group that requires members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

The third juvenile, who was not involved with the other two, was still being sought early this week.

RESOLUTION DECLARED ADOPTED.

Eleanor W. Hammond

Township Clerk

I hereby certify that the foregoing constitutes a true and complete copy of the Resolution duly adopted by the Township Board of the Township of Northville, County of Wayne, Michigan, at a regular meeting held on the 11th day of June, 1970.

ELEANOR W. HAMMOND, Township Clerk

It's time the Northville city council faces up to a situation that has long irritated this reporter and is rapidly becoming more flagrant at council meetings.

Specifically, I refer to the council attitude towards its city engineer.

The subject is delicate. But the council has chosen to make it public by levelling its criticism at open meetings, usually when the engineer is not in attendance.

Monday night was a classic example.

Mayor A. M. Allen and Councilmen Paul Folino and Wallace Nichols took turns at casting the swipes. Councilman Charles Lapham has also been known to join in the council game of rap the engineer.

Only Councilman Kenneth Rathert expressed confidence in the engineer's recommendations and inspections.

Derogatory remarks, fly-specking bills and changing engineering specifications in favor of its own devised shortcuts are not uncommon council actions when the discussion turns to engineering.

From this observation post the engineer is not guilty of incompetence or lack of ability. His problems are derived from the fact that he does not maintain a large staff, that he is local, that he is easy-going and permits non-experts to talk him in to permitting shortcuts.

This very week a project will be completed on Novi road that was "re-engineered" by the council. The de-celeration lane permitting easier entry into Allen drive and Convenient Shopping Center from the north will not be completed as recommended by the engineer.

Instead of a wider, paved exit for southbound traffic leaving Allen drive the corner will remain as it is. So cars will be faced with a sharper turn, they'll leave pavement, cross gravel and then drive onto pavement again.

The council reasons that when Marathon builds a service station there, it can fix the corner. The Marathon re-zoning request is in court and may or may not be granted.

From a traffic standpoint the corner won't be as safe. But the "shortcut" saved money for the city.

Fly-specking bills is a councilman's prerogative, even duty. But one wonders the purpose of such inquiries into engineering bills when all questions are dropped immediately when it is learned that the bill will be refunded by a subdivider.

Is the inquiring councilman interested in the legitimacy of the bill, quality of work, or just whether the city or someone else must pay it?

The city of Northville pays the very minimum for its engineering services. There's no retainer fee normally paid by communities for such consulting service. And specific job fees are negotiated on a lump sum basis, not paid by percentage of the cost of the project, which is normal.

With a council table of engineers it's possible that the city doesn't need the services of any professional.

If this is the case, the members should stop grumbling about engineering costs, inspection fees and save the city a bundle of money by doing the work themselves.

If not, the council should either accept their engineer's advice and pay the bills, or else get another engineer who satisfies their fancy.

Shadbrook and Edenderry subdivisions weren't even a developer's dream when Norman Shelley decided to buy a few acres out in the country and enjoy retirement.

Now the 71-year-old Shelley lives on the edge of Shadbrook and the rolling hills, trees and stream that he chose to be near have become a community of fine homes, well-to-do suburbanites and their children.

There's always the possibility that a person seeking to live out his life in serenity might resent an invasion on his privacy. Certainly in the early days of development of Shadbrook the earthmovers, roadgraders and hammering carpenters didn't enhance living conditions for Shelley.

But the wiry, white-haired Shelley welcomed the newcomers, especially their children. Early residents of the area remember how their children enjoyed visiting Shelley and riding his horse, Dollie.

Maybe it's because the Shelleys never had any children of their own; or maybe because Shelley is still young-in-heart; whatever, there's no resident of Northville Township more enthusiastic about the development of the fish hatchery property for recreation use than Shelley.

He's been waging a one-man campaign to purchase more land to widen the area to extend westward along the river to Edenderry drive, entrance to the Edenderry-Shadbrook subdivisions. There's about three acres adjacent to the 13-acre site that could be used for more ballfields, Shelley points out.

He even contacted residents of the subdivisions urging them to donate $100 each, or more, so that extra land could be purchased. He said everyone he approached was enthusiastically in favor of the idea.

And before that, when it appeared the township board might not join with the city in development of the site, Shelley made

Speaking for Myself

Sleeping Bear Dunes: A National Park?

YES . . .

Sleeping Bear Dunes is likely to wake up a dead wasteland of sandy honkytonks and private enclaves one day soon unless something is done NOW — not after the fact — in preserving this natural wonderland for the joy of all and not a limited few.

There are far too few places of natural beauty left in this nation to sacrifice any of them. Even in my lifetime, access to beaches of Lake Michigan, except in relatively few places, has become a virtual impossibility. If old views to the lake aren't marred by roadside stands, they're blocked by "private-keep out" signs. No longer will youngsters enjoy these beaches as did I just a few years ago.

No one suggests, in supporting the establishment of the Dunes as a national park, that existing property owners should be deprived of their lands. Pending bills would protect these owners against condemnation — forever — so long as they maintain their property in accordance with locally written zoning standards designed to protect the lakeshore scene.

Furthermore, private homes would not be removed from the tax rolls, thus minimizing local municipal income loss. Also, Governor Milliken has pledged state reimbursement for any temporary tax loss that may occur.

Unfortunately, while our lawmakers procrastinate in the name of "private rights," nibbling away at this wonderland continues. They do neither their constituents nor this nation a favor by continuing the delay.

Some Things Haven't Changed (School's Out)

Top of the Deck

by JACK W. HOFFMAN

Unless you want to upset a minister or show your ignorance, you'd better not address him as "Reverend." Just make it plain "Mister."

One of our minister friends got his dander up this past week when we persisted in calling him "Reverend" in print. When a staffer explained, "That's our policy," he countered with, "It's time your policy was changed; it's wrong and needs to be corrected."

It doesn't often happen that a minister can work miracles, but in this case he did. He was right, we were wrong, and from now on it's "Mister."

It took a little pamphlet, titled "Don't Say 'Reverend' Smithson!", to convince us that "Reverend" is not a title but an adjective. And chances are you've been making the same mistake in addressing ministers. As a matter of fact, we're told, that even some ministers, church bulletins, and other church literature are among the worst offenders.

This error, points out the pamphlet in quoting a religious publication, is "an odious practice which, beginning with the illiterate and unchurched, has spread in recent years until one is no longer safe from it even in the columns of metropolitan dailies or on the platforms of urban churches."

While use of the title "Mister" in addressing a minister by his last name is correct, it isn't wrong, however, to write "the Reverend John T. Smithson" so long as his full name is used. Once the full name has been established, subsequent reference by last name only should then carry the title "Mister."

Although the title "Mister" is preferred, we are told that newspaper reporters "need feel no qualms" about dropping a minister's title and calling him in print, just like other males, by his last name only.

Well, we're willing to admit our "Reverend" mistake but we're a little squeamish about dropping a title altogether, so in our newspapers ministers will join a select group, namely the deceased, who are assigned the title of "Mister."

I've never trusted dictionaries

NO . . .

The woman standing behind the desk at least was honest. She nodded her head in agreement, saying that two to three million people would be pollution of a sort and that making Yellowstone National Park a parkway hadn't exactly preserved it as a natural wonder.

Yet, there she was, a member of the conservation-minded Sierra Club passing out literature and urging the conversion of the Sleeping Bear Dunes into a national parkway that would annually attract millions of people from the Detroit and Chicago metropolitan areas.

Plans for the Dunes involve an expressway strip through one of Michigan's scenic wonders, so that people by the droves can haul trailers and bodies to the Michigan lakeshore to camp, buy souvenirs and goodies, and in short, convert a scenic wonder into a national circus.

What I'm saying is that creating a parkway is not the ultimate for preserving Sleeping Bear Dunes in its natural beauty. It is a compromise, a poor compromise. What is the difference between government development and private development? Either way what is largely raw wilderness will be plundered.

Better that the Dunes be kept in state hands, then there will be at least some guarantee of responsiveness from politicians. Witness the public uproar over putting a major road through the Porcupine Mountains. The road and other "improvements" were junked and the Porkies still remain a virgin wilderness.

Vandals Shock Northville Grad

To the Editor:

I had an opportunity yesterday, Sunday, June 14, to drive through Northville and to go past the high school.

Although I now live in Plymouth, I was a graduate of Northville, Class of '61, and I can't begin to tell you how shocked I was to see those FOUR letter words printed on the front of the school in black spray paint. They can be seen quite well from a distance and it's very disgusting and disgracing not only to the school, but the people of Northville and the students, past and present.

I was ashamed of the school from which I graduated and of the kids who did their "thing", as they call it, in the name of fun. Some fun, being destructive. Is this what the kids of today do? Well, it's very obvious that it is.

Just take a look at your high school, Northville. Disgraceful isn't it? An ex-grad,

Anti-Pollution Action Urged

To the Editor:

The pollution problem is one of great concern to society today, and is being discussed in all corners of the world. If it is such a problem why doesn't everyone who is doing so much talking about it do something to solve the problem? If all the talkers did something about it the problem would be well on its way to being solved.

"If you're not part of the solution, you're part of the pollution"

I feel Northville as well as other communities should form committees to clean up the entire city.

Youth from the schools have become active in the clean-up drives, now let's get their parents out.

Search Continues for Murderer

At the expressway rest station, located near Beck Road in Novi, the gunman turned in at a high rate of speed, smashed through five guard posts, blew the left rear tire, and came to a halt on the edge of the entrance drive.

He tried frantically to open the trunk lid, witnesses said later, but the collision with the posts apparently twisted the car frame, freezing the lid shut, according to Police Chief Lee BeGole, who arrived minutes later.

The gunman dropped the keys, then ran across the rest area lawn to the rear of the facility where he jumped into Tennant's truck, owned by the Plastics Tool Company of America of Howell, and forced Tennant to drive off.

"Keep quiet and drive," the gunman reportedly told Tennant.

Chief BeGole and Detective Richard Faulkner, answering the shooting call, noticed the car answering the radio description on the service drive as they headed towards Wixom. They stopped to investigate. Two witnesses, Sam Lazar of Frankenmuth and Joseph Pinkas of Saginaw (Pinkas is the brother of Dave Pink of Novi), who were unaware that a murder or a kidnapping had occurred, told the officers what they had seen.

BeGole ordered the witnesses into the patrol car to help describe the gunman and sped off in pursuit.

Meanwhile, other Novi policemen, state police, Wixom Police Chief Larry Beamish, and Oakland County deputy sheriffs sped to the scene. Some of them set up road blocks, others guarded the car at the rest station, some questioned witnesses at Wixom Road, and still others, including a county helicopter, joined BeGole and Faulkner in the chase.

The killer eluded capture by ordering Tennant to turn off the expressway at Novi Road to Old Grand River east through Farmington and on into Detroit, BeGole said.

In Detroit, near Snowden and Keeler, the gunman forced Tennant to stop and snatched the keys. When the gunman climbed out the passenger's door, Tennant jumped out the driver's side and ran into an alley. As he reached the alley he heard the gunman shout "halt", and Tennant jumped over a fence and dashed into the side door of a house. The occupant of the house called police.

Later, because the two witnesses had stated the gunman tried to open the trunk lid, BeGole returned and ordered the lid pried open, disclosing the money.

"He (the gunman) probably drove into the rest station, out of the traffic, to get the money," BeGole said. "But he was driving too fast and hit the posts, and ironically the crash prevented him from getting the money."

Pinkas and Lazar, who had entered the rest station just ahead of the gunman, were conferring when BeGole arrived, figuring they might later be blamed for causing the driver to hit the guard rails.

"When they told us about the 'accident' I told them to jump in, that it wasn't an accident but a murder and a kidnapping."

While BeGole and Faulkner and police agencies in Detroit and western suburbs looked for a "blue stake truck with the word 'plastic' on the side", the gunman was forcing Tennant over unfamiliar roads into Detroit.

The gunman's car, left at the scene of the murder, had been stolen in Detroit earlier in the day.

The shooting took place shortly before 10 a.m. Friday.

"Thank God I'm alive," said Royce Tennant (above) following his escape from a killer Friday. He was kidnapped and forced to drive to Detroit by a gunman who crashed his victim's stolen car on the guard posts in the x-way rest area (below) near Beck Road.

'He Kept Saying Drive Faster'

Scared Hostage Escapes Gunman

"It's the kind of experience you'd rather not have again."

That's how Royce J. Tennant of Fowlerville described his kidnapping Friday morning by the fleeing gunman who shot to death a check-cashing agent in Wixom.

Still shaking from his harrowing ride into Detroit with a black 32-caliber revolver pressed against his side, Tennant said it was the worst experience of his 54 years.

Asked if he wasn't afraid the gunman would shoot him in the back when he leaped from his truck in making his escape in Detroit, the employee of the Plastic Tool Company of America, Howell, admitted he was "scared" but figured it would be better "to be shot at long range than right up close."

Tennant was sitting in a parked company truck in the rear of the I-96 expressway rest station near Beck Road in Novi Friday morning, when the young Negro male (about 23 years old and weighing about 175 pounds) opened the truck door, waved the revolver at him and "told me to get going."

Apparently in an attempt to avoid police roadblocks, the gunman ordered Tennant to turn off the expressway at Novi Road, drive to Grand River, then east through Farmington. In the 10 Mile Farmington area, the gunman got mixed up, Tennant recalled, and a couple of times the gunman ordered him to double back.

Although Tennant was unaware during the ride that the gunman had killed minutes before in Wixom, he made it "perfectly clear" that if he didn't follow orders he would shoot him.

He never mentioned the Wixom shooting, Tennant said.

"He was quiet most of the time," the Fowlerville father of four grown children said. "He just kept saying 'drive faster'."

"When the gunman wasn't pointing the revolver at his side, he was resting it in his lap. He sat half on and half off a folded tarp that was on the truck seat, Tennant said.

The gunman obviously knew where he was going, said Tennant, and he knew most of the roads except when he got mixed up in the Farmington area.

During the ride, Tennant thought about "piling up the truck" in an attempt to escape but not once did he think about jumping out whenever the truck stopped. The gun barrel looked like a cannon, he remembered.

They passed no police cars enroute to Detroit.

When they reached the Snowden-Keller area in Detroit, the gunman ordered him to stop. He grabbed the keys and started getting out the passenger's side, "so I jumped out the driver's side and ran as fast as I could." As he reached an alley, the gunman ordered Tennant to stop, but he jumped over a fence and ducked into the side door of a house.

He told the disbelieving woman occupant of the house to call police. Reluctantly, she called, apparently believing Tennant was drunk.

Tennant spent the next several hours answering questions for Detroit detectives and taking part in a police show-up of suspects before someone finally brought him another set of his truck keys and he drove back to Howell. The gunman kept the original keys.

His wife was as shaken as much as he over the ordeal, Tennant said.

Tennant has been driving for the plastics company for about three and a half years.

frequent visits to the township hall, and board meetings, to voice his support of the project.

Right now he's discouraged. The support he had to acquire additional land seems to have dwindled and he's puzzled to understand why.

"Can't they see what a beautiful park it can be? Why don't they do it right? They'll be proud of it after it's done. I can't think of any better investment for the future than a wonderful playground for children."

Mr. Shelley has fired these questions at me. I'm passing them along to the newly-formed city-township committee which will plan the development of the fish hatchery park.

Maybe the committee can explain about costs, priorities, time, taxes, etc.

His efforts deserve more than a run-around. And, besides his sense of priorities might just be right.

"Can't they see what a beautiful park it can be?"

Novi Scraps Track Idea

The board rejected bids on improving the high school parking area after Superintendent Dale said he saw no way budget-wise the project could be done at the present time.

Trustees agreed to rebid the project at a later date when funds were available, since the cost could not come from the September bond issue designated for construction of a middle school, elementary school and site purchase.

Superintendent Dale told the board Oakland County Tax Allocation board approved the district's millage request of 8.63 mills levied in the cities of Novi, Wixom and Novi township, with an additional 1.00 mill to be levied in all but Novi township. Dale said the millage would yield a total of $982,764 for operation.

In other business, the land contract with Kaufman and Broad for the elementary school site in Village Oaks Subdivision was closed, Janz and Knight, Birmingham, was appointed to conduct the district's audit for the 1969-70 fiscal year, and the payroll account with National Bank of Detroit was extended through the 1970-71 school year.

Summer Classes Start Monday

There are still a few openings in high school and elementary summer school programs that begin Monday, June 22, and last for six weeks, Miss Florence Panattoni, curriculum coordinator for Northville Schools, announced.

American government, typing and field biology will be taught at the high school level for credit and are open to students who will be in grades 10-12 in the fall and all adults. Classes will be held at the high school.

Elementary courses include reading and math and will be taught at Amerman Elementary.

Tuition for all courses except field biology is $20. Tuition for field biology is $40. For registration or further information contact Miss Panattoni at 349-3400 before Monday.

Project Help - Ecumenism Working Here at Home

Need help? Call 349-4350.

That's the message going out this week from a newly organized group of clergymen and laymen in the Northville-Novi area who have banded together to fulfill Christ's mission.

Specifically, its aim is to provide help for "widows, widowers, or anyone living alone, to the sick, the poor, or one who has an emergency whether it be for professional referrals or household assistance for those in need."

It is not an employment agency, nor is it a money-raising or money-giving organization, a spokesman emphasized.

Most of the churches of Northville and/or their representatives together with a number of churches in Novi are already involved in the project, which is patterned after those operating in other communities such as Plymouth and Birmingham.

Called Project Help, "it is an ecumenical calling together of people ... to help and serve others in this general area who might need a helping hand."

"Project Help does not give of financial aid but is endeavoring to be a source of person to person helpfulness — confidentially and quietly — with no publicity of whom they help, how or why."

The new organization, it was explained to this newspaper, acknowledges that other groups in the community lend assistance. "But Project Help is to fill in where other groups leave off, and is to be also a 'clearing house' for services by information."

Establishment of Project Help, a Northville clergyman said, is itself an accomplishment since it has joined together clergymen, church and unchurched in a common interest. "Until now, inter-church relations have been sorely lacking," he said.

Providing service does not mean taking up "a lot of the volunteer's time. It can mean only an occasional call. The more volunteers on the list, the less a person will be called. It is not a group with many meetings. The volunteers attend only an annual meeting to exchange ideas and hear progress reports and get recruitment.

A private telephone number has been established (349-4350) to receive incoming calls for assistance. Depending upon the kind of assistance that is required, the request is confidentially referred to one or more of the volunteers working in the specific areas of service.

Neither the name of the person requesting assistance, nor the name of the person lending the assistance is made public.

Similarly, persons who may wish to lend assistance, if not through their cooperating church, may call the same number and indicate those areas in which they feel they can be of service.

For example, volunteers may wish to serve in one of the following categories:

Visit lonely, minor home repairs, dental service, transportation (morning worship, to doctor or anything very important), care of elderly in their home, care of sick in their home, housekeeping for sick or aged — or in an emergency, emergency cooking, legal services, real estate services, nursing, emergency babysitting, child care in your home for several days, daily calls to those who live alone, clerical services for Project Help, telephone service for Project Help.

More than 50 persons have already volunteered to lend assistance. Others are needed.

But most of all, those needing help are needed. Just call 349-4350.

COMING TO NORTHVILLE — Piston Coach van Breda Kolff is framed by two of his giant cagers, Erwin Mueller (left), 6-8 forward, and Otto Moore, 6-10 center.

Pistons Here Today

Coach and Detroit Pistons cagers will be in Northville today (Thursday) to conduct a basketball clinic.

The clinic, one of a series of basketball clinics being staged throughout the metropolitan Detroit area under the sponsorship of the Stroh-Ice Cream Division, will be held in the Kroger parking lot off Dunlap Street beginning at 11 a.m.

Coach Bill van Breda Kolff will be present, along with at least three of his veterans, to offer youngsters tips on basketball techniques, strategy and tricks.

Players likely to attend will be Dave Bing, Jimmy Walker, Otto Moore and Erwin Mueller.

There's also a possibility that Bob Lanier, the All-American from St. Bonaventure and the number one draft choice of the Pistons, will be in attendance.

The clinic, which will run approximately two hours, is free, and refreshments will be offered youngsters after the program along with some "special gifts."

In Novi Little League

Tractor Slips to Second

Michigan Tractor took it on the chin twice last week to fall into second place behind Party Store in the American Division of the Majors in Novi little league baseball action.

Party Store, with two losses and seven wins, edged ahead of Tractor with four losses and seven wins. Michigan Tractor suffered defeats at the hands of the Jayhawks and National division leaders, Wroten Brothers.

Here's how it went:

MONDAY JUNE 8, 1970

The cellar dwelling Jayhawks took Michigan Tractor for an 11-9 ride with the help of power from hurler Dennis Waldemeyer, who smacked a pair of triples, and Mark Ada. Tom Fortner and Doug Lebutzki, good catch for a double.

Tractor out-hit the Jayhawks 9-7, but nothing went far enough. While the Jayhawk attack included five extra base hits, Tractor came up with a single double and triple, both off the bat of Scott Parsons, who also collected a pair of singles.

Summer Rec

Nears in Novi

Novi's summer recreation schedule will open next Wednesday with a swimming program tentatively slated to be given in the city's new park facility on Walled Lake according to Douglas Thrush, recreation committee chairman.

The schedule also will consist of playground activity including baseball, volleyball, softball, horseshoes and arts and crafts to be organized at each of two elementary school playgrounds — Orchard Hills elementary and Novi elementary.

Children can be registered at either playground Tuesday, from 10 to 3, through slips given them when in school.

The swimming program will consist of two age groups. Eight to ten-year-olds will swim in the early afternoon, 11 to 15 year olds in the last afternoon. The entire activity will run from 12 to 5 Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. There will be a $1 fee.

Buses to take swimmers to the lake will load at each playground at 11:30, for the 8 to 10s, and 2:30 for the 11 to 15s.

In other action Monday, Wroten Brothers dumped Paragon, 9-6, on four hits, three of which were doubles: two coming from winning pitcher Randy Wroten, and one from Glen Gault who also accounted for the fourth hit, a single.

Paragon simply couldn't click, banging out only two singles.

TUESDAY JUNE 9

General Filters defeated Pink Builders, 10-7.

The Filters matched the Builders 10 hits but couldn't make enough of them count. Included in the Filters' barrage were three doubles by Pete Luga, Mike Luttmann and Terry Connor.

The Builders came up with a double off Jeff Pink's bat, and a triple by Bill Bailey for two of their 10 hits. Winning pitcher was Mark Mills.

Elsewhere Tuesday, first-placed Novi Party Store walked over Carl's X-Way 15-5. Gary Ford, Jeff McDermaid and Mark Gross all hit doubles, with Ford also collecting three singles. Kevin Fulcher and Biff McAllister each had a pair of singles and Jeff Lavoie came up with three singles.

The five-hit tally for X-Way included three singles and a pair of doubles by Bob Banks. Ford took the win.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10

The Rexall Rangers shut out the Jayhawks 3-0, with a pair of doubles coming off the bat of winning hurler Dave Beall.

The Jayhawks were limited to two singles.

The B-V Earthmovers bested Paragon 9-3 while out-hitting its opponent 14 to 6.

A long line of doubles and triples off Mover bats trampled the Paragon effort consisting of a triple by Lee Briggs and five singles, three of which came from Tom Vaughn.

For the Earthmovers, it was Paul Bosco with a double-triple combination, Mark Orzechawski and Tim Reske each with a double, and Jeff Pickler with a pair of doubles. Dave Lavery laced a pair of singles.

Orzechawski was the winning pitcher.

THURSDAY, JUNE 11

Hurler Scott Parsons led Michigan Tractor to a 1-0 shutout over Carl's X-Way.

Both teams had a single double.

Tractor got its off the bat of Mark Langkyl while X-Way's, Kevin Tornow got the other.

National Division leader, Wroten Brothers, fell to Pink Builders, 17-14, in other action Thursday.

The Brothers out-hit the Builders, smacking three doubles to one, but the Builders made it up and then some by laying out 13 singles to the Brothers' seven.

Matt McLaughlin collected the sole extra base hit for the Builders; doubles for Wroten came from John Pisha, Randy Wroten and Glen Gault.

Steve St. John took the win.

FRIDAY, JUNE 13

Ace Wroten Brother hurler Dennis Mullins put down Michigan Tractor in a no-hit 18-0 shut out while he and teammates were banging out 15 hits.

A double-triple combination, from Glen Gaults, and a double from Randy Wroten highlighted the Brothers' attack. Other hits included a pair of singles by Glen Gault and Reggie Casky, and a four-single performance by pitcher Mullins.

The Rexall Rangers squeaked past Paragon, 7-6, while out-hitting them 9-6.

Doubles were collected by Paragon batsmen Lee Briggs and Kurt Roderick. Paragon's remaining seven hits were singles.

The Rangers came up with six singles, half of them off the bat of Steve Wineka.

Downs 4-Win Night Caps Racing Career

When Don Hall, the 44-year-old driver-trainer of Northville, won four races in one night in the young meeting at Northville Downs, it marked the highspot of his racing before the home crowds.

Hall, who started his driving career as an 18-year-old in Ohio under the tutelage of the late George McCarney, has been a regular at Northville since the late '40s. The four bagger was his first at his home oval.

He'll never forget his early training under McCarney, then training one division of the C.M. Saunders stable at a time when the Ohioan boasted one of the top outfits on the Grand Circuit. McCarney was a strict taskmaster who made the youthful Hall adhere to all the rules for a youngster learning the fine points of driving.

He started Hall on the Ohio Fair circuit then brought him to Northville to handle the Saunders string. Hall quickly won plaudits of the crowd with the way he drove and the many winners he had—thanks to McCarney.

Later Hall went out on his own with a public stable and has been one of the better reinsmen in the Detroit area ever since.

The four victories on a Saturday night before the season's largest crowd had to be the high spot of his Northville career. He has won four at other tracks over the years but this was a first for him at the 'Downs.

At the moment he is driving some of the Saunders' horses again, two of them were among his four winners. Hall will stay at Northville for the entire meeting just as he has for more than 20 years.

A NEW DART FOR NEARLY $400 LESS. THAT'S WHAT I CALL A WINDFALL!

To be exact, Sheriff, it's $378.15 off the sticker price on this Dodge Dart. Here's how the Dodge Boys did it. First, the sticker price has been reduced on all Dart models. (On our Dart Swinger hardtop, this price reduction amounts to $187.)

Then the Dodge Boys came up with a specially equipped Swinger that includes the automatic transmission at no extra cost. It's called the Dart Swinger Automatic. And it also includes a vinyl roof, whitewalls, carpeting, and more. Add the savings of the automatic transmission ($191 on V8, $175 on Six), and you come up with a total price reduction of $362 to $378. Makes this 6-passenger Dart America's biggest compact value by far.

The Dodge Boys are driving down your cost of driving in style.

violation. He said the fence company and the property owner had been cited for the violation. No building permit was obtained for fence, he reported.

Councilman Paul Folino suggested that the council eliminate the portion of the amendment that would increase height limits and only adopt the section that would instruct the board of appeals to permit variances where no adverse effect could be shown.

Councilman Folino also moved to delay the fire wall amendment until the council can discuss proposed changes with builders, architects and drywall manufacturers.

Attorney Robert Delaney, representing the owners of Little Joe's Bar, urged the council to approve the request noting that the operators had a good record.

"The city manager suggested a postponement to permit further observation of the operation."

Councilman Folino countered "if we're going to watch this bar, then we ought to report on all of them in town".

The city manager said he would be willing to have that done, too, but that Little Joe's was the only one presently making application for a liquor license.

Mayor A. M. Allen expressed concern about the establishment itself, particularly because it provides no parking and a liquor license would probably increase traffic. Owner Joseph Nagy said "in less than two years we hope to build a new bar, if we get the license".

It was noted that the police report advised against issuance. Attorney Delaney asked if the chief could explain his reasons, so the council moved to delay action until July 6.

Downs Executive Manager John Carlo appeared before the council for help in track rubbish removal. The quantity is more than can be handled with present city equipment.

Manager Ollendorff pointed out that the city presently makes one and two calls per week at other commercial establishments in the city, but that a daily pick-up at the Downs would not provide any time for truck maintenance. He suggested that the city should acquire a back-up truck and use it primarily at the Downs.

The track would provide 10 men to collect the trash and deposit it in the truck each day, said Carlo, if the city would provide a truck and driver.

In other business Monday night the council heard strong criticism from George Kohs on several issues including: failure to remove a condemned elm tree from cemetery property next to his lot; failure to remove stumps from city property in front of his house; failure of school to trim weeds on its property; action by the city to trim school property trees; noise, litter and foul language from youngsters at evening school functions; and the permitting of three cars to be parked between the curb and the sidewalk on First street.

The council accepted the resignation of Linda Kate Edgerton from the library commission and appointed Mrs. Steve Orban as city representative on the body. Miss Edgerton will move to Connecticut to teach in a community college. July Fourth parade approval was granted the Jaycees, transferral of $40,000 to the general fund was approved, a resolution opposing a county move to turn over collection of delinquent personal property taxes to cities and townships was adopted, and the district court payment was approved.

Parade, Fireworks, Bar-b-que

Jaycees Promise Big 4th

Northville Jaycees report arrangements are nearing completion for their annual Fourth of July parade, public bar-b-que and fireworks display. Chairman of the massive project is William Broadus, with the able assistance of the full complement of the Jaycees' 45-man membership and auxiliary Jaycettes.

The parade this year will include many outstanding marching groups and bands with added attractions of precision mounted riders, antique autos and bands, Broadus said. Several Canadian groups will take part in the festivities.

Carl Pursell of Plymouth has been named as this year's parade marshal.

The Jaycees are still anxious to enter more floats from local organizations and commercial interests. Anyone desiring to enter a float is requested to contact Broadus at 349-6042. Trophies will be awarded for the best entrants in all classes established for the parade.

The post-parade activities will shift to the park behind the Northville City Hall for the Jaycee hosted chicken bar-b-que. Chairman of this project is Howard Kern, who states that the spread will consist of chickens, salads and home baked beans. The $1.75 charge for adults and $1.25 for children will include refreshments. The bar-b-que will begin after the parade and continue until the chicken is gone. Proceeds will be used to defray the cost of the parade and the finale fireworks display.

Fireworks will be the highlight of the evening with the high school athletic field again being the site for the display. The big show will begin shortly after dusk and will be climaxed with the drawing for the Jaycee-sponsored raffle of a trip to the Bahamas for two. Tickets are still available for the drawing and will be sold during the parade and at the chicken bar-b-que or may be obtained from any member of the club.

A detailed listing of the parade details will be announced later.

Oldford Solution Sought

Township board members and planners will meet jointly soon in an effort to resolve a dispute involving the site plan of the Oldford shopping center on Seven Mile Road just east of the C&O Railroad.

Stewart Oldford, representatives of Levitt & Sons, and spokesmen for the Wayne County Road Commission are expected to attend as well.

Oldford, whose site plan was rejected recently by the planning commission, appealed to the township board for the joint meeting Thursday night in an attempt to resolve the matter.

Township planners disapproved Oldford's site plan because the proposed access road through the development does not line up with the road slated in the Levitt subdivision across the road.

Planners contend that Levitt's plans, though not entirely approved, long ago set the pattern for the road.

Also, they note that Wayne County engineers insist that the Oldford and Levitt roads must align with each other.

In appealing to the board, Oldford and his spokesmen insisted that county officials are in agreement with the location of Oldford's access road but are reluctant to give formal approval because of township planners' objections.

Trustee Bernard Baldwin, who also serves on the planning commission, countered this argument by noting that the county's position was taken before that of the commission.

The real hangup, explained Oldford, is that he is ready to begin construction and because of commitments to one of his tenants he is unable to substantially change his site locations whereas Levitt, which has not yet received formal approval of its site plan adjacent to the Seven Mile Road area, is not ready to begin construction and hence could more easily change the location of its road.

While spokesmen in the central office of Levitt are willing to consider a change, said Oldford, Levitt's Detroit office refuses to budge.

Teacher Contract Still in Doubt

Negotiations between the Novi Education Association and the school board for a new master contract are entering into the second month, with both sides eyeing an early settlement.

Milan Obrenovich, representing the NEA, said this week that "Although tentative agreement has been reached on a few of the non-economic items, no agreement has been reached as of yet on any economic issues."

The two teams working on negotiations include Obrenovich and James Ladd, representing the NEA, and Thomas Dale, superintendent, and T. Richard Hendrickson, assistant superintendent, representing the school board.

Obrenovich said the two teams have been meeting "almost daily, and we are hopeful agreement will be reached at an early date."

Deadline Passes Filing

Primary Battle Shapes Up

Battles for political nomination shaped up as candidates filed for national, state and county posts before Tuesday's 4 p.m. deadline.

Locally, the stiffest race appears to be for the GOP nomination for the 14th District State Senate seat where incumbent Senator George Kuhn of West Bloomfield is facing challenges from three other Republicans, Carl Pursell of Plymouth, Al Smith of Farmington, and Donald VonRase of Pontiac.

Paul Kadish of Livonia is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for this seat.

Three other incumbents, one of them a Democrat, are unopposed. They are: Republican Congressman Marvin Esch from the Second Congressional District, Republican Congressman Jack H. McDonald from the 19th Congressional District, and Democratic State Representative Marvin Stempien from the 35th District.

On the opposite political sides of these same districts, Bruce Neal and Michael Stillwagon, both of Ann Arbor, are seeking the Democratic nomination in the Second Congressional District; Ronald B. Hecker of Livonia, Franklin Adell of Novi, Fred Harris of Farmington, Daniel Burrell of Livonia, and H. Patrick O'Neil, of Livonia are seeking the Democratic nomination for the 19th Congressional District; and Bob Swanson of Livonia is unopposed for the Republican nomination in the State Representative 35th District.

Also, unopposed for the American Independence Party nomination in the 19th Congressional District is Hector McGregor of Detroit.

The Second Congressional District includes Northville and Salem Townships; the 19th Congressional District includes the city of Northville, Novi, and Wixom; the 14th State Senate District includes the city and township of Northville, Novi and Wixom; and the 35th State Representative District includes Northville Township and the Wayne County section of the City of Northville.

In the 60th State Representative District, which includes the Oakland County section of the City of Northville, Novi and Wixom, Incumbent Republican Representative Clifford Smart of Walled Lake faces a challenge from William Todd of Holly, while Joseph St. Aubin of Milford is unopposed for the Democratic nomination in this district.

At the county level, two Republicans of Livonia are seeking their party's nomination for the Wayne County District 26 Board of Commissioners (formerly supervisors). They are Dale W. Welling and former Livonia mayor Harvey W. Moelke. On the Democratic side it's Larry D. VanderMolen of Northville's Kings Mill development, Robert E. Dwyer of Plymouth, and John J. McCann of Livonia.

The 26th District includes Northville Township and the Wayne County section of Northville city.

In the Oakland County Board of Commissioners, District 27, Incumbent Lew L. Coy of Wixom and former Wixom mayor Wesley McAtee will be battling for the GOP nomination, while William T. Roberts is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

The 27th District includes the Oakland County section of Northville city, Novi, and Wixom.

Township Hall Site

hall offices could be of modular (factory-built) construction which could at a later date be moved to a different site.

In other business Thursday, the board approved acquiring boiler insurance for the current township hall heating system (costing $175); referred a proposal to join a suburban police mutual aid pact to the township attorney; heard a report from Trustee Joseph Straub on the newly organized rubbish disposal authority; and approved a parking violations bureau authority as written by the attorney.

In discussing an election (see related story) on the elimination of the annual meeting, the board decided against including on the ballot a proposal by Clerk Mrs. Eleanor Hammond that the people also be given an opportunity to vote on whether or not Northville should become a charter township.

Most officials indicated suggestion is premature, that citizens know to little of what advantages and disadvantages exist in a charter township, that it calls for an increased tax mill limitation without earmarking millage, or that a charter township offers little more advantages than does the existing township form of government.

Mrs. Hammond contended there is sufficient time before the election for citizens to learn about the charter form of government, and that in her opinion it offers an ideal interim type government for the township.

By ROLLY PETERSON

Historically, most of the focus has been on women in their 40's and what is commonly called "change of life". But what of the man who reaches middle age (35 to 50) and finds himself in psychological turmoil over what he is doing and where he is going?

Some men have found a solution to the catatonic pace of life, the pressures of modern life, by undergoing a thorough "change of life" themselves. They tear up roots in the modern metropolis and find a different job to relieve some of the pressures.

Easy? Not on your life. The decision to change to another job means changing values. In most instances, that means breaking old ties and beginning all over again the pursuit of happiness.

Of the five men featured this week in Life magazine, all of them had been suffering from what most doctors don't even recognize as an ailment — moneyitis. The dollar had become the beginning and the ending and the seven days of the week were devoted to the pursuit of it.

The salaries of the five men — a salesman, a stockbroker, an insurance broker, a veterinarian and a policeman — ranged from $35,000 to $7,200 a year. But each was consumed by moneyitis until the decision to change came out of frustration, emptiness, discontent or self-preservation.

Change of life for these middle aged men, if anything, involved more work in their chosen new fields, whether it was work in the Yukon, schooling in Florida, managing an old inn in Maine, unloading boxes for a department store or painting on the streets of New Orleans.

But the relief from pressures and the satisfaction that comes with doing what one really wants to do sustained them at least in the initial stages of their new life. Of course, there is no assurance that they won't return to the "old" life, but the fact that they had the courage to change, at least for a little while, is itself revolutionary.

Up to now, movies and books have proclaimed the young for their rebellion against established ways of making money. They have thrown overboard the long-held belief that life must be a straight line from the cradle to the grave — which is admirable.

But the middle-aged man who changes life is likely to be the hero of more than one upcoming book, movie and play, and for good reason. Why? Because a decision made mid-stream is infinitely more difficult and heroic.

Cardboard Tags : Lifeblood Of Giant Steel Tube Industry

COLOR-CODED BARS ARE BEGINNING OF SEAMLESS TUBES

TAGGED TUBES AWAIT ANOTHER STAGE IN THEIR PROCESSING

Big steel tubes roll through Michigan Seamless Tube Corporation on schedule thanks to little cardboard tags.

Walter Rensel, assistant to the general manager of South Lyon corporation one of the world's largest producers of tubing says "tags are the lifeblood of the communications network of our organization."

What Rensel is saying is that the appropriate tag, placed on an order immediately after the cylindrical steel bars become tubes, establish the routing and scheduling for the order and allow for quality and quantity checkpoints throughout the operation.

"We start," Rensel points out, "by choosing the required number of bars requested by the customer. These bars come from one of 60 chemical analyses on stock at all times. They are color-coded on one end and numbered to correspond with the analysis."

The bars then enter the mill and are heated white-hot and pierced. They undergo a series of baths — in acid, hot and cold water, lubricants — before being cold drawn and reduced to the correct external and wall diameters.

A series of finishing processes are performed before a shipment is prepared for the customer.

Tags enter into all phases of production. The first use of tags indicates composition, reduction diameters, number of pieces and dates for completion of phases and checkpoints. An average order requires about 25 steps to completion.

Then the load of tubes is weighed and the weight figure is added to the tags. Later, tags indicate on schedule progress (green), behind schedule (red), final inspection passed (blue) and any peculiarities an order may require.

"When you handle 1,200 orders per month (3,000 individual loads) from 60 different chemical analyses," says Rensel, "you need some 'communications network' to assure that the orders pass required stations as nearly on schedule as possible."

Among the vast number of tags used are those mentioned above (the initial order tags are color-coded to represent main groupings of the 60 analyses), "hold" tags, rerouting tags, "handle with care" tags for orders having unusually thin walls, "scrap", "stock", physical test, and a whole array of other special instruction tags.

The only times tags are removed during routing are during the acid baths and trips through the annealing furnaces. Acid, obviously, would do cardboard little good, nor would 1400 degrees heat be beneficial.

Cardboard is replaced by metal only in the final phase — shipment — when a metal tag is affixed to the completed order.

It's easy to see why Rensel refers to little cardboard tags as the "lifeblood" of a huge steel tubing corporation.

A PORTION OF THE TAGS USED BY MST FOR ROUTING

Jack McDonald Seeks Re-election

Congressman Jack McDonald (R-Michigan) last week announced his candidacy for re-election to the House of Representatives in Michigan's 19th District.

McDonald, who filed nominating petitions with the Secretary of State on Friday, is a member of the House public works and merchant marine and fisheries committees, and is serving his second term in Congress.

The issues to which he has directed his activities include crime control, budgetary restraint, pollution, education, the nation's decent posture, and urban problems.

As one of five Congressmen selected by the President to introduce and lead debate on the environmental improvement legislation, McDonald has taken a leadership position in pollution control.

In education McDonald has made a proposal to establish a National Service Academy, providing higher education and technical training for young people. Graduates would receive experience in addition to their training through government service. The concept has been well received by the White House, the Office of Education and community colleges and technical schools throughout the United States.

McDonald also has sparked vigorous interest in his bill to prevent the sale of federally-compiled mailing lists to the public.

"The decisions to be made in the 70's will affect us all for generations to come," McDonald said.

"During the 60's, we sought and found solutions to many major problems," he said. "This decade will see those solutions implemented, and our quality of life improved."

"But these approaches can succeed only when the people and their representatives in government work together," he added.

"By maintaining a close partnership and open dialogue with the residents of the 19th District, I have been able to actively represent my constituents in Congress and act upon legislation in their behalf," McDonald said.

"I am grateful to the people of my district for their confidence in my judgement," he said, "and trust that my performance in the future will continue to merit their support."

A Father's Day Prayer

Reverend Gerald A. Nitoski
St. Joseph's Catholic Church
South Lyon

Lord, Our Father in Heaven, let me share in Your Fatherhood.

Let me understand and accept the responsibilities I have toward my wife and family. Mother is the Heart of our Home. I am the Head of our Home.

May my powers of reason and judgment be strengthened to lead, to guide, to direct with love and gentleness the family You have granted us in Your providence.

Give me Your divine assistance, Lord, to help my children to know You better and to love You more. We're told that example means so much more than words. Help me to live daily in such a way that I'm always a gentle man, a loving man, a man of virtue, a man of prayer, a respecter of my fellow men — all men, no matter what their creed, their color, their nationality, their state in life. Guard my tongue that I may never speak disparagingly of others. May all my actions correspond to my words, so I may fulfill my responsibility to teach my children to have love, compassion, justice, mercy towards others.

Let me teach my children to serve others. Help me to show them that love is expressed in deeds — selfless, not selfish, actions.

Help me to help them to grow into the unique persons they are. It is easy to think of them only as my children. I need help to know them as individuals, each with his own personality, not just carbon copies of me and Mother. Let me always be aware that each is different; that each must become himself. Let me not impose on them my hopes and ambitions but allow them to grow into their own unique being. Keep me from trying to live my dreams for life through them.

Lord, let me be sensitive to the needs of my children — not only their material needs but their spiritual needs as well. Let me never be so wrapped up in my work that I neglect their moral and religious growth. Teach me how to guide them to a deeper love of You and Your Word.

Let me have the wisdom to teach them the truths of our faith so that they may come to love those truths and conduct their lives by them.

Help me to be open with them, honest with them, fair with them, willing to listen to them, quick to respect them as persons. Let me always convey to them the fact that I do love them, even when I correct them and discipline them. Let me never be mean or harsh in correction and discipline.

God, Our Father, I thank you for my wife, my children, my home. May I cherish them always and, on this Father's Day and every day, be worthy of the privilege of being a Father.

LOOKING FOR GOD

Some say you find God just as well in a garden, in the woods, or on a golf course as in a church — that God is everywhere but be honest about it.

Are you not more apt to think of weeds, or mosquitoes, or a poor shot than you are of God? And after all, you have made this outing to seek pleasure.

But when you go to church, it is with the specific intention of worshipping. Here you engage in prayer, praise and thanksgiving. Here you mingle with people who are seeking God and have come to feel His presence. In the quiet beauty of a church you find few outside distractions, and you know that this place is dedicated to the service of God.

For peace and happiness which comes from really feeling God's presence, worship in the house of the Lord this Sunday — make it a regular practice.

Report Shows 1.4 Million Live in 'Poor' Housing

LANSING — NEARLY 1.4 MILLION Michiganders live in housing that is either "poor" or "very poor," according to a report drawn up by the Michigan Housing Authority.

This includes more than 500,000 persons who live in homes that are "dilapidated and ruined or close to ruin," the report said.

The federally funded report concluded that Michigan should "set a policy and begin an active program of funding, designing and helping develop new housing" for the 431,600 families involved.

It was issued through the Governor's office the same day Gov. William G. Milliken signed into law a bill increasing the bonding limit of the State Housing Development Authority from $50 million to $300 million.

THE AUTHORITY uses money raised by issuing bonds to construct housing for low and middle income families who cannot afford to construct a home on their own.

Milliken had pushed the increase in bonding capacity as one of his major legislative proposals this year.

He said its passage "will provide badly needed homes and additional jobs for Michigan residents as these homes are built."

The report said only 2 per cent of those living in substandard housing have the ability at present to purchase adequate housing "without some form of government assisted financing and/or subsidy."

THE REPORT said estimates for the next five years show new residential construction will range from a low of 60,500 per year to a high of 121,000 per year.

As a result, he continued, "current new construction is not keeping up with new family formation, nor is it affecting to any degree that part of the market in poor housing."

It said the new housing which is being built "is not affecting low and moderate income families nor minority groups."

"Every major trend examined shows new residential construction is not keeping pace with the rate of decay, nor keeping up with the number of new families being formed," he said. "In short, the basic trends are not only unfavorable, the programs to date have not changed the patterns."

MICHIGAN NATIONAL GUARDSMEN are training this summer to use riot sticks instead of guns with bayonets in riot situations.

The 36-inch long ash nightsticks, or batons as guard officials call them, are a new addition to the guard's weaponry. They were brought into use at the order of Gov. William G. Milliken after four students died from National Guard bullets at Kent State University.

"Batons are more credible than bayonets in a crowd," explains Brigadier General Floyd W. Radike, who is in charge of the training. "A CROWD KNOWS you aren't going to really use a bayonet and the guardsmen know it too," he said. "I'm sure there's never been a person impaled during the history of the Michigan Guard. But the men will use a baton and this means something to a crowd of people."

Radike was trained to use the baton by the State Police. He directed the training of guard officers early in June and the officers now are training their own units.

He said it is not difficult to learn to use the baton because the basic holds and command positions are the same as with a bayonet.

"It would probably take half an hour to learn how to use them," he said.

IN ADDITION to the new weapons being used by the guard, Milliken and the Legislature also have put on the lawbooks a new law aimed at helping control campus violence.

The new law makes it a misdemeanor for students and non-students alike to refuse to leave a university when ordered to vacate by an administration official.

"This is a clear indication of the Legislature's intention to end the disruption and destruction of property that has occurred on our university campuses," Milliken said.

Babson Report

Climbing Labor Cost Disturbing

Wellesley Hills, Mass. — One of the most disturbing aspects of inflation for industrialists is the persistent climb in labor costs, with no signs of voluntary slowing in sight. Nor is the trend rising only moderately. For the first quarter of 1970, labor costs increased at an annual rate of 8.4%, the most dramatic gain for any quarter in fourteen years. For the whole of 1969, such outlays advanced only 6.4%, a sizable rise, of course, but still considerably less than the current upsurge.

Part of the top-heavy expansion of labor costs has been due to a drop in productivity concurrent with still powerful upward pressure on pay rates. Proof of management's failure to hold costs within reasonable bounds was the pitifully small productivity gain of 0.9% for the entire year 1969, the most limited annual increase since 1956. It was not so long ago that the Kennedy-Johnson yardstick permitting raises of 3.4% a year was pegged at that rate because productivity gains of that amount were anticipated. Hence, at that time, a pay hike of such proportions could be considered noninflationary.

AFL-CIO President George Meany has voiced his apprehension over the seemingly endless upspiral of inflation and has repeatedly made it clear that he would even consider a leash on raises and expensive fringe benefits if it were accompanied by an equally stringent check-rein on prices and company profits. Since he definitely does not expect the latter, he is not going to restrain his negotiating lieutenants or call for moderation in forthcoming bargaining sessions regardless of where or when they may fail due.

The shape for things to come was revealed in the recent rank-and-file ratification by Teamster members of a 39-month agreement providing raises of some 28%. Even more spectacular was the strike-evading settlement in which the New York Times — over the next three years — granted union typographers wage boost totaling 41.7%. Next big case will involve the Auto Workers. Whether they will get as ample a settlement as would have been the case with Walter Reuther alive is an open question. But demands were spelled out well in advance by him, and his successor, Leonard Woodcock, will hold out for heavy pay hikes and costly fringes. Two further demands could also add weightily to labor costs: Pension of at least $500 a month after thirty years of service and elimination of the ceiling on living-cost hikes.

A NEW CLAMOR for wage-price controls is being heard from some quarters, reflecting the hope that inflation might be slowed or even stopped by the legal application of a compulsory freeze. President Nixon, however, has consistently rejected rigid restraints of this type. More likely is the imposition of consumer credit controls for a three- or possibly a six-month period, provided price inflation gets so much worse that something has to be done. Jawbone tactics of the sort employed by Johnson might even be resumed in a voluntary effort to hold down retail prices and pay rates.

No matter what may be tried or even if things are left to find their own level, the bulge in the cost of labor is bound to continue for some time. Hence, investors with an eye for balanced investment portfolios should have a substantial quota of securities in fields least heavily burdened with labor expenditures. Lines with a history of stable labor relations are also worth considering.

Favored in this way are banking, chemicals, insurance, drugs, petroleum, utilities, real estate, and foods. The Research Department of Babson's Reports recommends for representation in these fields. Nalco Chemical, Culligan Inc., Castle & Cooke, Beneficial Corp., Standard Security Life Insurance, Rorer-Amchem, Cities Service, Florida Power, Tenneco Inc., and McCulloch Oil Corp.

Novi Industrialist Bids for Congress

Franklin Z. Adell, Novi manufacturer, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 19th district, which includes among other communities, Northville, Novi and Wixom.

A political newcomer, Adell, 42, is married and the father of three children, and is secretary-treasurer of Adell Industries, Inc. at Novi Road and I-96 Expressway in Novi.

"I am a businessman and not a politician," Adell said. "However, I feel an urgency to raise my voice through my candidacy for Congress against the high cost of living and high taxes, and the Indochina war that has created them."

"I urge the immediate end of the Indochina war, not tomorrow, not next month, but now. We have enough economic problems in America without pouring more billions of dollars into the Vietnam fiasco.

"Our working people are better paid now than ever before, but they have nothing but bills at the end of the month. The high cost of living and high taxes are eating us up. This is a situation that must be resolved. Average folks can no longer afford to be sick or to die."

"I have the time and energy and the capacity to fight against these economic strangleholds on everybody's budget. That is my program in the campaign ahead."

Send your comments, questions, and horse show news to "Horse's Mouth," care of South Lyon Herald, South Lyon, MI 48178.

Kim Radnothy of "Ravenwood Farm", South Lyon, gave an outstanding performance at the Owosso Lions Club Charity Horse Show Saturday. She won the English Equitation class 13 and under as well as coming in a strong second in the all-age group championship where 10 teen riders performed extensive figurework.

Beginning this week, and each week hereafter, (space permitting) we will define terms having to do with horses. We shall try to keep them in alphabetical order, so that you may keep them as your Equine Dictionary:

AGORAPHOBIA: A fear of the outside. Horses develop this after confinement for over a short time in a stall. Daily exercise and a well lighted stall will often eliminate this problem.

ALTER: To castrate or geld a male horse, thus making him more easily disciplined. An altered horse is known as a gelding.

AMATEUR: One who rides or drives horses for love of the sport and NOT as a profession. He must not trade in horses as a full-time vocation. Check your American Horse Show's Association, rule book if you wish to participate in "Amateur" classes.

AMBLE: This is a slow gait; a running walk. It is a slow, smooth, gliding, four-cornered gait, very comfortable to the rider and with little elevation. This is one of the gaits developed in both the five-gaited Saddle bred and the Tennessee Walking horse.

Sunday, May 31st, Salty Badger Farm, 7429 Bergin Road, Howell, reports they held the largest, outdoor American Quarter Horse Association and Michigan Quarter Horse Association approved show. This show was double point approved and had 489 entries, this being only 14 less than the Michigan State Fair. There were 37 classes, which included a cutting horse class. Entries came from as far away as California and New York. Tom Mich of Illinois was the judge.

Starting June 13 Salty Badger Farm will have six shows - one every other Saturday. These shows will start at 10 a.m. and have such classes as halter, English and Western horsemanship (open) English and Western Pleasure (15 - under), English and Western Pleasure (16 and over), jumping (open) - and skurry jump (open) this is a timed event. Several speed and action events, plus a miniature clover leaf are also slated.

Pay-back will be paid in most classes. For more information please contact Mrs. Miller, Salty Badger Farm, 7429 Bergin Road, Howell, Michigan.
