

Year-Round School: Is it Answer to Growth?

Editor's Note: Following is the first in a series of excerpts from the book "Year-Round School, Is It Feasible?" published by the Northville School District with funds received from a $19,565 grant received in March, 1969, from the State Legislature. The grant was used by the district to study the feasibility of year-round school in Northville. Included in the series are highlights from the report in an effort to further acquaint citizens with the findings of the study. Copies of the book are available on loan from the Board of Education Offices.

During the past two and one-half years the Northville Public Schools has been deeply involved in the study of the Year-Round School Concept for school operation.

The District study began in the late fall of 1967 when the Board of Education appointed Raymond E. Spear as its new Superintendent and required of him to establish goals and objectives for the Board to set sight on.

An overview evaluation of the School District was made and in analyzing its findings, it became apparent that Northville would no longer remain a quiet, slow-growing community, but rather was on the threshold of immediate and rapid development and expansion.

Such an observation was received with the primary concern of, how can we meet the educational needs of our community in light of such vast expansion as was anticipated?

The answer was forthcoming in the Board's adoption of a resolution on December 11, 1967 which was stated as follows:

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: That the Northville Board of Education, in co-operation with the Administration and the Teaching Staff and Citizens of this Community, undertake a thorough study of the feasibility of adopting the Year-Round School Program,

Adoption of this Resolution was followed by the establishment of a Community Study Committee composed of citizens, teachers, administrators and Board members and set out to answer the following nine questions:

1. What does research say about the Year-Round School?
2. How many Year-Round School Concepts are there and what are they?
3. Where are there programs operating under the Year-Round School Program? What can they tell us?
4. Where are there some schools who operated under such a program but have discontinued it? Why and what do they say about it?
5. Which Year-Round School Concept would be best for the Northville Public Schools? Why?
6. How much would it cost to operate under a Year-Round School Program? As compared to the Traditional Program?
 - a. Pupil Enrollment and Staff Needs
 - b. Facility Needs
7. What aspects of our present program would require changing? Can they realistically be changed and how?
8. What procedure should be followed, including timetable, if we moved to the Year-Round School?

9. What is the community's attitude toward the Year-Round School?

Answers to the foregoing questions were sought by four major subcommittees who worked under the direction of a Steering Committee and functioned for one year.

All materials and information gathered by the Community Study Committee were submitted in the form of subcommittee reports to the Steering Committee, and were formally accepted by the Steering Committee at its last meeting which was held on January 22, 1969.

It was at this meeting that the Steering Committee agreed to discontinue further study until such time as the School District felt need of further service. This decision was made in anticipation of favorable response from the Michigan Department of Education in consideration of the District's proposal for a State Funded Year-Round School

Williams said there would be at least one more concert, but he didn't know when. They're free.

A SECOND PUBLIC HEARING on street resurfacing, this one to hear complaints or requests for changes on specific assessments of individual property owners, has been set for August 3. According to city officials, individual assessments of homeowners, will average $68 to $70 on Allen Drive. Earlier this month the council established a 37.5 percent assessment formula for its resurfacing program. That percentage is one-half the assessment used for original paving projects in the city.

A DETROIT DECISION is still many months away on the sale of the Maybury Sanatorium property, it was reported this week following a meeting earlier between Northville and Detroit officials. City Manager Frank Ollendorff said Detroit has not yet decided how and when it will sell the property but he noted that Northville's offer to purchase acreage for a park is still on Detroit's active file. Chances are Detroit will complete a professional planning study of the property before deciding how it will dispose of the property.

Free Textbooks Would Cost District $60,000

Last week's State Supreme Court ruling that free education for public school students means free textbooks, free supplies and freedom from special course charges may cost Northville School District $50,000 to $60,000 this year alone.

Superintendent of Schools Raymond Spear said he agrees totally with the decision that students should not be charged for textbooks and other supplies.

"I have proposed two or three times to the board of education that we go after extra millage to provide books for students," Spear said, "but nothing has ever been done about it."

Spear said the ruling represents a loss of about one mill to the district.

The Supreme Court made its ruling in a case brought against the Ann Arbor school system by an Ann Arbor mother of five and a University of Michigan economics professor.

In a unanimous opinion, the high court said "It is clear that books and school supplies are an essential part of a system of free public elementary and secondary schools."

"I agree with the decision but I am concerned about two things," Spear noted. "I am concerned that we have not been alerted that this action was pending for the 1970-71 school year and, because, it is effective immediately, I am concerned with the budget," he explained.

Spear said the budget for the coming school year will have to be reworked "to assure we can meet the legal requirements of the decision."

Novi's Superintendent Thomas Dale echoed Spear's views.

"I knew the decision would be coming," Dale said, "but I did not expect it this year." Novi School District stands to lose about $20,000 or one-half mill, he indicated.

"A slash in the pocket book might be a good thing," he commented, "but every time the Supreme Court or Legislature turns around it just costs the taxpayers more. They are not acting very responsibly."

In Northville, based on an anticipated fall enrollment in the elementary grades of 1,400 students, the district will lose $14,000 in book fees alone. Each student in grades one through six is required to pay a book fee of $10, while kindergartners are charged $7.50 each.

At the junior/senior high level students purchase books at a cost of approximately $30 per student. With a projected enrollment of 1,800 students, another $54,000 is lost to the district.

Most of the $30 book charge is regained by students who sell their books at the end of the year. Business Manager Earl Busard said the high school book store took in $23,000 last year, "just breaking even."

Busard said that students who now have credit at the bookstore would most likely be able to apply it toward a book deposit, if the district's attorney determines that a book deposit can be collected beforehand. Busard said the

City Sets Hearing On Park Program

Wasting no time following receipt of recommendations last week of the committee on parks, open space and recreation, the Northville City Council Monday night set machinery into motion to implement those recommendations concerning establishment of neighborhood parks.

A public hearing has been scheduled for August 3 to consider proposals for neighborhood parks in four different locations in the city.

Citizens, particularly those living in the vicinity of the proposed park locations, will have an opportunity to express their approval or disapproval of these park suggestions at that hearing, officials explain.

Specifically, proposed park locations include:

1. Four lots midway between Maplewood and Hill streets on the west side of where Horton Street would traverse if it were extended north to Maplewood.
2. A large undeveloped lot at the northwest corner of Baseline and Carpenter streets.
3. A portion of the property owned by the Bell Telephone Company on Center Street, north of Amerman School.

4. Lot or lots somewhere in Northville Estates subdivision, located north of Eight Mile Road at the western city limits.

Negotiations for purchase of none of the necessary property has begun, according to City Manager Frank Ollendorff, and negotiations are not likely to begin, except perhaps in the case of the Bell Telephone property, until after the hearing.

"The council wants to hear what the public has to say before taking steps to acquire land," he explained.

Well Site Plan Eyed

Preliminary review of plans Tuesday night for the apartment complex development on the well site property indicated that most of the concerns of Village Green's Northville Civic Association appear resolved.

Association spokesmen indicated no major objections as Alvin B. Rottman, developer-owner, reviewed his plans for a 40-unit complex before the Northville Planning Commission. However, neither spokesmen for the association nor the planners committed themselves outside of asking questions that were answered mostly to their initial satisfaction. The plans were referred to the commission's study committee for detailed review and recommendation.

Marathon Mediation Talks Loosen Teacher Deadlock

Negotiating teams for the Northville Education Association (NEA) and the school district spent 13 hours in mediation Monday and both sides say the teaching contract should be settled soon.

Robert Sharrar, NEA president, said "Progress was made. Personally I think settlement is not that far away."

Speaking for the school district, Superintendent Raymond Spear said,

"Not a lot was accomplished Monday, but progress was satisfactory."

"Either we will agree on positions Thursday, at the next mediation session, or not. We are that close," Spear continued. "The contract will be settled Thursday or we will have to go to fact finding."

Teacher contract talks entered mediation July 14 and the teams met with the mediator for five hours.

Spokesmen have said nothing was accomplished at the first mediation session, and for a time last weeks talks were at a standstill.

Sharrar and Spear meet late last week and agreed to re-enter mediation this week.

Main items that remain unresolved are establishing a fixed teacher-pupil ratio, salary schedule, union shop, elementary preparation time and insurance coverage.

AMERMAN ELEMENTARY SCHOOL progresses despite a two month strike by the plumbers. Employees of the W.E. Schulz Company, general contractor on this job, start the brickwork on this and hope to have all the masonry work complete ready for erection of roof steel by the end of July.

Will Present Hummel Lecture

German Trip is Dream Come True

The famous work of Berta Hummel, the German nun whose paintings of children and religious scenes have gained international recognition, will be the subject of a lecture by the Reverend Miss Elizabeth Etz on September 24 at the Westland Auditorium.

What makes the lecture especially interesting is the fact that Miss Etz and her companion Mrs. Marcella Douglas, both of Northville, have just returned from a visit to the Kloster Seissen in Salugau, Germany where Berta Hummel took her vows.

"I have dreamed of visiting the convent ever since I began collecting Hummel Prints," she explained in an interview Thursday. "That was back around 1930 when Mrs. Douglas gave me a postcard which pictured one of her paintings."

Since then Miss Etz had added to her collection until she now has a complete set — 475 postcard prints — of the works of Berta Hummel. She also has accumulated a wealth of Hummel artifacts which include two original water colors, 22 figurines and several copies of the two books which Berta Hummel illustrated.

Berta Hummel, the artist, studied art at the Institute of Munich before joining the Franciscan order of nuns at the Kloster Seissen, Miss Etz explained. She died of pleurisy in 1946 at the age of 37.

"I first contacted the convent by mail in 1958," she explained. "I received a letter and two Hummel water colors from a sister Laura who had been a close friend of Berta Hummel. Sister Laura died the day after she answered my letter."

Miss Etz has framed the water colors, pictures of Mary and Christ, and hung them on the wall in her bedroom.

Continued correspondence with Sister Mary Witburga increased her desire to see the convent, she said. This spring as she and Mrs. Douglas were planning their trip to Germany they received a letter from Sister Witburga inviting them to enjoy the "simple accommodations" at the convent.

"We were thrilled so of course we accepted," Miss Etz said.

If the accommodations were simple, they were very modern and up-to-date in the 700 year-old castle that houses the convent, both women reported. "It was the old with the new," Mrs. Douglas said describing the modern kitchen and bathroom facilities in the guest house where each had her own room.

Both commented on the well-kept gardens and the modern facilities of the private girls school which are run by the 800 nuns at the convent.

"It was purely ecumenical, there were no religious differences of any sort, although we did attend mass four or five times during our three day visit," said Miss Etz, herself a Universalist minister. "The sisters were very warm and hospitable. They asked to pray for us."

During their stay the women viewed some religious embroidery and altar designs done by Berta Hummel for the convent, along with many of her original paintings which are displayed in a museum there. Miss Etz purchased about 18 Hummel prints, making her collection complete.

The trip to the convent was only part of the month long tour of Europe which the ladies made earlier this summer. Besides visiting Kloster Seissen they saw the passion play which is presented every ten years in Oberammergau, Germany — and had long intrigued Mrs. Douglas.

"We had to join a tour in order to get tickets to the play," Mrs. Douglas explained, "but it was worth it. We saw a beautiful theatrical production of the crucifixion and resurrection."

The people of Oberammergau have presented the passion play every 10 years since 1600, said Mrs. Douglas. According to legend the townspeople promised to present the play if God would protect them from the plague.

People from throughout the world came to view the German play, she said. There were scripts provided in different languages, along with bilingual study and discussion groups which the playgoers could attend.

The play ran for three hours in the morning, broke for lunch and ran for three more hours in the afternoon according to Mrs. Douglas. The viewers sit under a roof in seats surrounding the open outdoor theater. The mob scene, the betrayal of Judas, and musical numbers presented by the chorus were particularly impressive she said.

Besides visiting Oberammergau the woman traveled to Italy, France, Switzerland and the Netherlands before returning home at the end of June.

The two had been friends for many years before moving into their present home on Rogers Street in 1958. They were employed by the Wayne County Training school where Mrs. Douglas was principal and Miss Etz was teacher and chaplain.

"It was a family situation," Miss Etz said, explaining why she entered the ministry. "I majored in religious education like the rest of my family, then received a masters degree in education from Boston University. When the chaplain at the training school died I became the temporary replacement, then went on to become the permanent chaplain."

Miss Etz retired in 1964, two years after Mrs. Douglas. They have continued their active participation in community organizations, however, and are members of the Northville Woman's Club, the Northville Town Hall, and the D.A.R.

Both also belong to the Northville Spring China Painters Club, of which Miss Etz is past president. Her lecture and display of her Hummel Collection at Westland in September will be sponsored by this organization.

"I have been giving lectures for about 10 years on Berta Hummel, but now for the first time my collection is complete," she said.

When asked about future traveling plans the ladies laughed "My future plans are to stay right here," Mrs. Douglas chuckled.

News Around Northville

Four bridal showers have been given this summer for Diane Kay Ambler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ambler of 47033 Timberlane. She is engaged to marry Robert D. Smeed of Three Rivers on August 8.

On June 25 Diane was honored at a personal and miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Alfred Parmenter of 727 Thayer Boulevard and her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Forth. Friends of Diane and her mother attended.

An around-the-clock luncheon was given for her on July 11 by Mrs. R. M. Atchison and Mrs. O. J. Robinson of Northville in Mrs. Atchison's home on Rogers street. And on July 18 Mrs. William Sliger and Mrs. Paul Terry honored her with a luncheon and kitchen-bathroom shower in the Sliger home at 18439 Fermanagh Court.

Earlier, on June 27, she was feted at another shower given by friends of the bridegroom in Three Rivers, where she received a money tree.

Both the bride-elect and her fiancé will return to Central Michigan University in the fall for their final semester before graduating. She is majoring in secondary education and he in mathematics.

Paul Bedford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Bedford of 19450 Beck Road, was among some 750 high school students who attended a one-day orientation program at Eastern Michigan University last week. The students expect to enroll as freshmen at EMU in September.

During their visit they received individual and small group counseling and registered for the fall semester. A campus tour, an opportunity to meet other freshmen in residence hall surroundings and 24 hours to become acquainted with campus routines were other parts of the program.

Dan McGarry, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McGarry of 42061 Nine Mile, has just returned from a three week trip out West. He visited New Mexico, Arizona, Disneyland, Las Vegas, South Dakota and Chicago while traveling with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn A. Martin.

While in Wyoming he climbed Grand Teton Mountain to a height of 11,000 feet. His name will be inscribed on top of the mountain for having reached the top. Martin himself is a seasoned climber and has climbed in various parts of the world.

When Mrs. Thad J. Knapp of Dunlap Street celebrated her 95th birthday on July 15 she invited about 25 of her "regular callers" to drop in for an afternoon open house. Although she had asked guests not to bring presents, she did receive many lovely bouquets of flowers.

Her guests were mostly former teachers from Highland Park where Mr. Knapp was superintendent from 1910-1926, or former Northville teachers who worked under him as superintendent of Northville from 1930 until his death in 1933.

Mrs. Knapp, herself a teacher, taught in Cadillac Michigan and Highland Park, Illinois. She has long been associated with Northville as she was born here and is a direct descendent of the Randolph family.

The Northville Senior Citizens Club will meet at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, July 28 for a barbecue dinner on the grounds of the Scout-Recreation Building, weather permitting.

Since meat and dessert are to be furnished, members are reminded to bring some other type of passing dish and table service.

This will be the club's last meeting for the summer.

Dr. Hunting to Tour Europe

Dr. Willis B. Hunting of 42865 Seven Mile Road leaves August 4 for a month-long tour of Western Europe and Nigeria, on behalf of the World University and the Montessori method of early childhood education.

Dr. Hunting has planned a crowded itinerary which includes attending the International Platform Association Convention in Washington D.C., and the annual conference of the World University which begins in Washington and will be extended to Lagos, Nigeria, Paris, London and Amsterdam.

Throughout his travels with the World University Conference, Dr. Hunting will be speaking on "The Montessori Opportunity." He is a certified Montessori Director with the American Montessori Society which believes that education should begin at a very early age and advocates teaching children to further their independence with a sense of freedom.

While attending the International Platform Convention of public speakers, Dr. Hunting will hear speeches and panel discussions by day with evening entertainment by some of the nation's most famous performers. Celebrities such as Victor Borge, Ann Landers, Ralph Nader and Hubert Humphrey will be present.

At the annual conference of the World University which follows, overriding principles of the University will be discussed. The University, which was established in 1967, has as its intended purpose the establishment of 12 regional colleges in as many areas of the world, federated into a single multi-national and multi-cultural university.

Dr. Hunting has been invited to Nigeria by President Solomon Ola Gbadebo of the Remo Commercial College. He will present the concept of the Montessori system of education and assist in establishing a Montessori nursery school on the Remo College Campus.

Accompanying Dr. Hunting on the Afro-European Trip will be Dr. Howard John Zitko, president of the World University in Tucson, Arizona. Both will meet with top Nigerian administrators in finance and education and will be received by President Yakubu Gowon in the nation's capital.

Dr. Hunting has been an instructor at the Wayne County Child Development Center for the past two years. An 18 foot flat bed trailer and a portable generator were reported stolen from the Holtzman Silverman construction site in Meadowbrook Glens subdivision last Thursday.

Clothing Sought For Needy Families

Because of the lack of funds for school clothing from the Department of Social Service, many children from low income families will most likely not be returning to school this fall, because of insufficient clothing, according to LaVern Frances of the Novi office of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity. The legislature has not approved the fall clothing allowance, it was noted.

Many mothers have already started requesting school clothing from the Commission.

"Therefore, since the Office of Economic Opportunity does not have funds to assist the low income directly in this request, the West County Unit of the Office of Economic Opportunity, will in cooperation with the Novi and South Lyon School Districts, establish a back-to-school clothes closet. In order to fulfill this community need, they are requesting that the community assist them in a campaign for good used clothing for disadvantaged families."

Clothing should be dropped off at the Novi Elementary School, 26350 North Novi Road, August 17, 18, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., and the Sayre Elementary School, in South Lyon, 23000 Valerie Street, July 28, 29, 30, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

"In view of this request and need, we would, also, like to make another request, clothing be clean and useable."

Volunteer help will be needed for sorting clothing, and all help will be greatly appreciated.

For further information please call Frances in Novi at 349-6200, or in South Lyon at 437-6340, or leave a message with the secretary.

New Postal Policy Tied to Removal Of Edwin Presnell

It was a new post office department policy — not politics — that resulted in the removal of Edwin Presnell as acting postmaster of the Novi post office, an aide of Congressman Jack McDonald declared Tuesday afternoon.

In a telephone call from Washington, he cited a department letter — a copy of which he said had been sent several weeks ago to Presnell — in which it was pointed out that a new department policy calls for the removal of "non-career" acting postmasters to provide for the promotion of qualified postal employees to such posts.

There is nothing political about this, The News was told. "Jack (McDonald) couldn't be happier" that they've finally taken these patronage appointments out of the hands of legislators. "They were nothing but headaches."

Presnell, a Democrat who was appointed to the post just three days before President Nixon's Republican administration took office in January, 1969, was relieved of his duties here in May.

A city councilman, Presnell, who had purposely not publicized his removal (nor had postal authorities made a public announcement of his removal or the temporary appointment of William Rackov to replace him), told this newspaper when questioned about the rumored ouster that he is convinced some influential Novi citizens engineered his ouster as political revenge.

Presnell said his removal shortly after his re-election to the city council appeared to be more than coincidental. "Just two days after he was re-elected, a postal official interviewed local employees to determine if they were qualified to fill the post, Presnell said he learned later.

He said he had heard from "reliable" sources that his removal was "cooked up" in a local tavern and that his political enemies had urged McDonald to have him removed as the acting postmaster.

Presnell said he had been unable to get a satisfactory explanation from McDonald.

When Presnell wrote McDonald questioning him about it, the Congressman quizzed the post office department which replied in a letter passed on to Presnell, McDonald's Washington aide said.

Noting that the new policy is intended to give career employees within local post offices maximum opportunity for advancement, provided they are qualified, the department added, "No doubt Mr. Presnell was aware when he accepted appointment of acting postmaster... that it was a temporary position and his services could be terminated at any time upon the discretion of the Postmaster General."

The fact that Presnell's services were terminated, the letter stated, "should in no way reflect on his character or ability. In fact the department appreciates the faithful service performed by those who accept these temporary positions."

When there are no qualified employees available in the local post offices where vacancies exist, an open competitive examination is to be conducted so that a selection can be made, according to the department.

"A preliminary review indicates," the letter continued, "it may be necessary to require an open competitive examination (for the Novi position). However, a definite determination has not been made."

Presumably, Presnell will be eligible to take such an examination if it is required in this case, the spokesman for McDonald said.

While re-emphasizing that Presnell's removal was not political nor engineered by McDonald, he pointed out that it was political patronage that resulted in Presnell's appointment in the first place. His appointment was sponsored by Senator Philip Hart in the dying days of President Johnson's administration, he said. Yet, Presnell continued in office for nearly two years in a Republican administration, he added.

Novi Appoints Howard To Fill Appeal Board

The Novi City Council, in its regular meeting Monday night, appointed a replacement to the vacant seat on the Board of Appeals, authorized initial planning work to begin on the Randolph drain project, and gave approval to the preliminary plat of Kaufman and Broad developers in their Heatherwoode subdivision.

Joseph Howard, 23970 Woodham in Echo Valley, was appointed by a unanimous vote of the council to the seat on the Board of Appeals vacated last week by Louis Campbell.

Campbell had been appointed to a vacant council seat.

Howard has been active in the Echo Valley Civic Association and the Novi Jaycees since he moved to Echo Valley three years ago.

He is employed by Chrysler Corporation as a chemical engineer.

"We're looking for good people who will serve the community," said Councilman Campbell, "and we think Joe is one."

The long considered Randolph drain proposal was adopted Monday night as presented to council.

The resolution states only that there is a need for the drain.

Because it will cross a county line, serving both Oakland and Wayne counties, the State Department of Agriculture will be responsible for final plans and construction.

According to City Manager Dallas Zonkers, "a fair share" of the cost will be assessed against Novi property owners.

Heatherwoode subdivision, a development of Kaufman and Broad, received final approval on its preliminary plat in a continuation of a week-old public meeting.

Problems arising out of a meeting held last week in the Novi Community building involved primarily the absence of Johnson and Anderson, city engineers, and their failure, to explain objections raised over details within the plat application.

Charles Fenske, representative of Johnson and Anderson, attended Monday's meeting and assured council that all was in order concerning the plat application with the exception of a pair of letters from the State Department of Natural Resources. The letters regarded findings by the State Conservation Department and State Water Resources Board.

Edward Stulberg, vice president of Kaufman and Broad, said the letters had been received, that his office had copies of them, and that they had been delivered to city hall. City Clerk Mabel Ash was unable to find them in her files, however.

The letters were retrieved from the firm's offices and presented to council.

Councilman Raymond Evans mentioned confusion that arose last week over a Johnson and Anderson

Planning Board Re-elects Three

At a special meeting held last week Wednesday, the Novi Planning Board re-elected its officers.

Returned to office were George Athas, chairman; Kalin Johnson, vice chairman; and James Cherfoli, secretary.

The board also referred a request from Gabriel Glantz and the firm of Hanna, Zabriskie and Daron, to relocate a portion of South Lake Drive and Novi Road to City Manager Dallas Zonkers for investigation.

The proposal is to eliminate the intersection of South Lake Drive and Novi Road by rerouting traffic at Thirteen Mile Road and Duana.

The two parties own the property that formerly was the Walled Lake Amusement Park and the Walled Lake Pavilion.

The matter was given to Zonkers to collect more information.

recommendation that the Heatherwoode subdivision be equipped with curb and gutter drains rather than open ditches, despite the fact that Kaufman and Broad has complied with the ordinance under which open ditches are allowed.

Evans asked if the recommendation was in reality a suggestion that Novi change its ordinances to require curb and gutter work.

Evans complained that if this were true it should be spelled out in firmer language. Fenske said his company would draft a recommendation explaining its meaning.

Ronald Birou, former president and current board member of the Meadowbrooke Lakes Civic Association, informed the council that there are "three safety hazards between Novi and Meadowbrook roads on Nine Mile."

Birou complained of the C & O Railroad crossing between Nine Mile and Meadowbrook. He said traffic "can't be seen coming the opposite direction."

Birou also mentioned two bridges along Nine Mile which "are falling apart." He mentioned that school buses pass over them regularly and in his opinion they were unsafe.

He went on to mention a ditch on the corner of Meadowbrook and Nine Mile, along the Ingersoll Creek, that was washed out "right into the roadway."

The matters were turned over to Zonkers for investigation.

Former councilman Russell Button congratulated Campbell on his appointment to council, but complained that representation was lacking in the northern sections of the city.

"We have a subdivision council," Button said, "there is no representation north of Ten Mile."

Mayor Joseph Crupi commented that the public was free to come in during the council meetings and voice their objections.

In other business Monday night the council —

— Stated it "found no objection" to Detroit Edison Company running high tension wires over the acreage consigned to Novi as part of an earlier agreement with the conservation department. The land is located in the area of the Novi Road and the I-96 interchange.

NEW APPOINTMENT — Joe Howard will fill the seat on the Novi Board of Appeals vacated by Louis Campbell when the latter took over councilman duties last week.

Compromise May Settle Wixom Parks Controversy

Wixom's Parks and Recreation Board, swamped with a flood of resignations last week, is back on even keel this week, according to Sandra Evans, one of the board members.

A compromise reportedly has been reached satisfying both the mayor and board members.

Resignations last week of John Ruggles, Jim Nessen, Bonnie DuFresna, Fred Evans and Fred Waara were the latest in the controversy growing out of an earlier decision by Mayor Willis not to reappoint Tom Burke as recreation director. Burke had held the post for nine years.

Phyllis Russett resigned in a separate letter stating her intention to move from the area.

The letters were submitted to council at its last regular meeting, last week Tuesday. Council refused to accept the resignations and called a special meeting the following day to discuss their differences with the board.

At the Wednesday Meeting board members expressed sympathy for the displaced Burke and noted that he worked well with the group and that together the board had, and could still, accomplish a great deal.

Willis arranged another meeting, held Monday, to work out with Burke and board members a solution, saying that he was "enlightened on many things."

A compromise was reportedly reached Monday night that saw Burke in as board member, and former member Jim Nissen in as director.

Other members, according to Mrs. Evans, are herself, Bonnie DuFresna, Irene Rollo, Fred Evans, and Robert Trombley.

Vacancies still exist, however. John Ruggles was forced to resign because of working hours, Fred Waara because of personal disputes (See letter on page 2-C), and Phyllis Russett because of moving from the area.

It was reported that the names of two earlier mayoral appointees, Ronald Parvu and Max Sidor, will be withdrawn.

The matter is to be put before council at its next regular meeting for formal approval.

Police Nab Suspect In Break-In

Novi Police pursued a 39-year-old breaking and entering suspect into a road block set up by the Livonia Police early Monday evening.

Kenneth M. Milam, suspected of a breaking and entering in Washtenaw County's Webster Township, was apprehended with five watches, several antique coins and an early American dollar bill in his possession. All the merchandise was described as stolen.

At approximately 6:30, Officer Gerald Pratt had observed a 1962 station wagon parked in the road on Beck south of Ten Mile. Upon investigation the car was found to contain stereo records and a television. He was advised that the vehicle had taken part in the breaking and entry in Webster Township.

Suspecting suspects might still be in the area, Corporal Dale Gross was sent for his tracking dog, Banner. On the way to his home, Gross passed a Star cab traveling east on 10 Mile.

It was learned later that Milam had driven the station wagon to the spot on Beck where it had overheated, police said. He then walked to a nearby home, 25684 Beck Road, and asked Mrs. Sharon Cicero if he could use her phone to call a cab.

Police learned where the cab was located through the company's dispatcher. Road blocks were set up and the vehicle was eventually stopped at Schoolcraft and Newburgh roads and Milam was apprehended.

Year-Round School: Is it Answer to Growth?

Feasibility Study Grant, which was filed for in January of 1969.

The "Proposal for Grant for Feasibility Study of Year-Round Program" was submitted to the State of Michigan, Department of Education on January 7, 1969 and constituted a preliminary report of the Community Study Committee's findings regarding the Year-Round School Concept.

In addition, the Proposal established desired goals and objectives which the District wished to meet were they to become a grant recipient.

ORGANIZATION

The Northville Public School District has already devoted much time to study of a concept that would best meet the educational needs of the District. Plans studied by the committee were several forms of the Quadrimester, Trimester, Continuous Progress, Multi-Trails, Enrichment, Community-School, Extended Day. The proposed quadrimester plan was selected as the one offering potential to meet the five needs of the Northville Public School District aforementioned. The proposed quadrimester plan is based upon the division of an extended school year into four equal quarters of sixty (60) days each or quadrimesters. Students under this plan can complete the equivalent of a normal 180 day course in three quadrimesters. Hence, by staggering attendance, only 3/4 of the total student body would be in attendance at any one time. Construction of facilities for 1/4 of the student body would be eliminated, and an effective educational program could be maintained. In addition, the three other needs presented earlier in this paper could be met.

The basis for decision favoring the quadrimester plan was that it offered fuller utilization of present facilities and potential for retention and improvement of the present instruction program with apparent increase in cost because of possible savings in capital outlay.

ANTICIPATED OUTCOMES

It would be presumptuous on the part of the authors of this report to anticipate the ultimate decision of the public and Board; however, we can anticipate with a well founded basis, the following general outcome of the completion of this study.

1. Upon completion, our study will be the most exhaustive and complete of any conducted in the State of Michigan.
2. The residents of our District will have been given the total information ramification and alternatives on which to state their opinion and preference.
3. Northville will accept or reject the extended year program with full knowledge of the population expansion and school construction requirements attendant thereto.
4. Other Districts will have a well documented guide to follow should they desire to study and/or implement the quadrimester system in their Districts.

PERSONNEL WITH RESPONSIBILITY FOR CONDUCT OF THE STUDY

1. The Board of Education as a whole, as well as members of the various committees.
2. The Superintendent of Schools.
3. The Business Manager and Curriculum Coordinator, together with all other members of the Administrative Staff.
4. Hired consultants in the various areas.
5. The Steering Committee and all other subcommittees.

CONDUCTING THE STUDY

The first step in conducting the Feasibility Study was to determine areas of responsibility for each of the Central Office Staff who was to assist with the fulfillment of the foregoing charges.

Although the State Grant made funds available for the employment of a director, it was the decision of the District's Superintendent that the Central Office Administrative Staff assume the chairmanship of this study along with their regular responsibilities in order that they become totally aware of the entire Year-Round School Concept for the purpose of facilitating transition to Year-Round School in Northville should it ultimately come to pass.

The decision lead to the establishment of the Superintendent as the Study Chairman and the Curriculum Coordinator and Business Manager as Co-Chairman. Midway through the study the districts newly appointed Administrative Intern was added to the team and was named as a Study Co-Chairman.

In an attempt to best utilize the area of assignment and interest of the Co-Chairman, the study objectives were assigned as follows

Curriculum Coordinator

1. To assist other co-chairman in providing a comparison of community reaction to several possible school calendars under the quadrimester plan.

Pioneer's Great Grandson Dies

Clifford R. Cranson, 82-year-old great grandson of one of Northville Township's pioneers, died Monday, June 20, at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne. He had been ill for the past month.

Mr. Cranson was born August 21, 1887 in Waterford, sometimes referred to by historical buffs as Mead's Mill—the little section of Northville Township north of Six Mile Road adjacent to Northville Road. He was the son of Jewett and Lucy (Ramsdell) Cranson.

Members of the Ramsdell family were pioneers here, having settled in Northville Township sometime after 1827 when Dyer and Gannett Ramsdell, brothers from Massachusetts, laid claim to 3 1/2 sections of land located in what was then called Plymouth Township, later to become Northville Township.

Gannett was Mr. Cranson's great grandfather.

The Ramsdell brothers laid out what was then called the village of Waterford. The postoffice in the village, according to historical accounts, was called "Mead's Mill"—the name also of a large mill that reportedly stood on the site of the Haller Division plant of the Federal-Mogul Corporation on Northville Road.

The historic Waterford cemetery contains the remains of some of these early pioneers.

Mr. Cranson, who took pride in his family's role in the early development of Northville, was retired in 1947 from the Ford Motor Company's plant at Willow Run. He had engaged in a cabinet-making trade at his home, 218 South Center Street, until 13 years ago.

Survived by his wife, Edith, whom he married in 1928, he also leaves a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Long of Northville, and three grandchildren, Patricia, Barbara and Michael.

Funeral services were conducted July 22, from the Casterline Funeral Home, with the Reverend Guenther C. Branstner, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, officiating.

Burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery.

CHARLES L. BATT

Funeral services will be held at 9 a.m. today, Thursday, at Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church for Charles L. Batt, 421 Dubuar Street, who died Monday, July 20 at St. Mary Hospital at the age of 55. He had been a resident of Northville for the past 35 years.

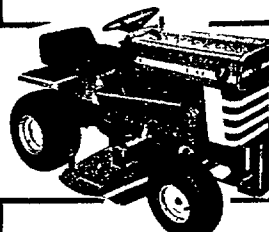

The Rosary was recited Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Casterline Funeral Home. Born January 5, 1915, in Ney, Ohio, he was the son of Florence (Deitrick) and Ferdinand Batt. Mr. Batt had been a caretaker at Eversal Farms for the past 24 years. He was a member of Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church, the Holy Name Society and the Third and Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus.

Surviving are his wife, Dortha, a son, Michael of Northville; a daughter, Mrs. Norman (Veronica) Roberts, Walled Lake; five sisters, Ethel Naveau, Defiance, Ohio; Catherine Jones, Bear Lake; Anne Halsey, Fort Wayne, Indiana; Mary Frances Phillips, Northville; Alberta Sirkus, Benzonia; and 10 grandchildren. He was preceded in death by four brothers and a sister.

Officiating at the funeral services will be the Reverend John Wittstock. Burial will be in Riverside Cemetery, Defiance, Ohio, today, at 2 p.m. daylight saving time.

Snyder Continues Climb

J.R. Snyder continued its climb this week by displacing second rated Mario Sinacola in Babe Ruth standings. Snyder rose from the cellar into third place two weeks ago at the expense of Albers-Shubnell, it handed Shubnell another defeat last week, 9-6, and went on to grab second place by shutting out Mario Sinacola 4-0.

Gary Staub engineered the Sinacola defeat allowing one hit, a single by Steve Lakari in the seventh, and six walks while fanning four men.

Dave Ward led off the first inning for Snyder with a walk. He went to second when Tom Ford was hit by a pitched ball. Both runners scored on a double by Gary Colton.

The second and third innings saw one run each. In the first Tom Shillito got on with a single, went to second on a walk given to Dave Ward, and came home on a single by Ford.

In the third Staub went as far as second on walks, stole third and came home on errors charged to the third baseman.

In the Shubnell game, last week Monday, Snyder earned its tally from seven hits.

A big five run second inning accounted for only two of the seven hits but saw three walks and a base gained by error. A double from Mike Collins scored two of the five runs.

Three previous runs in the first, plus one in the fourth, closed the Snyder tally.

Gary Colton worked the victory, allowing Shubnell six hits and eight walks while fanning 10.

In a big fourth inning Colton dealt walks to Dave Piotrowicz, Ron Frisbee and Eric Hansor. All three runners came across on singles from Roger Provo and Pat Boyer.

Shubnell batsmen also tallied one run in the first, fifth and sixth innings.

In Shubnell's upset over Snow's Standard Friday, Eric Hansor and Kevin Tobel shared the mound for Shubnell.

Hansor went five innings fanning four and walking four. Tobel relieved in the fifth and finished the game striking out three and walking four.

In the third inning Kevin Tobel socked a triple that brought in Tim Assemany, Pat Boyer and Mark Buman.

Things were quiet until the fifth when Boyer tagged a double that brought in Roger Provo and Assemany. Boyer scored from second on another triple off Tobel's bat.

Losing hurler Gene Reske loaded the bases on walks in the sixth and Ron Frisbee was able to score from third on a single by Pat Boyer.

Gene Reske looped a long homer for Snow to lead off the first inning, then things cooled until the seventh when Sean O'Brien came in on Jim VanWagner's single and Reske tripled in Van Wagner.

Wroten Brothers claimed championship of the Novi little league Friday night, by routing Party Store 20-15 in the third contest of a three game world series.

Party Store started the series last week with a 6-1 victory over the Brothers, but Wroten came back to win two in a row, one Wednesday, 15-9, and one Friday that saw them trailing through the third inning.

In that game Barry Zufelt nipped winning hurler Mike Tuck for a walk in the first inning. Singles by Mark Gross, Garry Ford and hurler Brad McQuestion brought him around. Gross, Ford and McQuestion scored on singles and errors giving Party Store an early 4-0 lead.

Wroten came back with three runs from a bases loaded situation set up by Dick Rushe's double and base worthy errors on Glen Gault and Chuck Mannilla. A single from Mullins and a fielder's choice on Don Ling cleared the bases bringing Wroten within one run of the Store.

Party Store made it 7-3 in the second as Zufelt led off with a single, advanced on Gross's single and scored with Gross on Gary Ford's double.

Reef had a wet time last week as two out of four contests were rained out in Livonia sponsored Adray — Connie Mack competition.

Both teams notched victories, however, in the two games that were played.

Northville's Connie Mack team went up against Livonia's Tom's Service Station and came away with a 5-4 triumph favorites, while the Adray nine downed Holcomb Industries of Farmington 5-1.

In Thursday's game with Tom's Service, Reef tallied three runs thanks to a single by Rich Adams, and a number of errors.

The game was uneventful until the seventh when Northville exploded with two runs. Adams singled knocking in Rick Asher, and Mills tripled, forcing Adams across.

Tom's went for two in the fifth, one in the sixth, and one in the seventh.

Back went 5 2/3 innings for Reef, giving up all four runs on two hits, and walking eight.

Reef Rained Out
In Two of Four Games

He was relieved with two out and the bases loaded in the fifth by Scott Evans who retired the side, gave up three singles in the sixth and then fanned three consecutive men.

Evans took the win.

Over in Adray competition, Reef left the bases loaded four times while hurler Jeff Taylor gave up five hits and struck out eight.

The local nine pushed across two runs in the first thanks to the bats of Taylor, who laced a double, and Stan Nirider, Barry Deal, and LaRue who each banged out singles.

In the second inning Rich Adams was safe at first on a fielder's choice. Tony Himmilspach walked, LaRue sacrificed and Taylor loaded the bases with a walk. Nirider singled to center, forcing Adams across.

Things were quiet until the sixth when Nirider tagged his third single, stole second and scored on Barry Deal's single. Deal went to third on a single by Pat Cayley and came home on Greg MacDermaid's sacrifice fly.

IT'S A LONG REACH — Terry Beemer socked a triple for Party Store to deep center in the top of the fifth during last Friday's tie-breaking thriller. Rounding third he thought better of it and made a dive back for the bag. When the dust cleared he was called safe.

In Third of Series

Wroten Wins Championship

Terry Beemer knocked in Ford with a triple.

As if to say they meant business, Party Store retired Wroten out, three up, three down, in the bottom of the second with the help of a double play from McQuestion to second baseman Gross to first baseman Kevin Fulcher. Then in the third Party Store scored three more runs, making it 10-3.

Wroten bounced back, however, as doubles by Randy Wroten and Mike Tuck plus singles by Manilla and Mullins, pushed across six runs and put Wroten in sight of a tie.

The Brothers tied the game and took the lead in the bottom of the fourth after holding Party Store to a scoreless inning. They scored three runs on doubles by Mannilla and Ling.

Party Store came back in the fifth with a tally of three, thanks to a long two-run homer off the bat of Gary Ford, the only one of the series, and Buck who tripled in Beemer.

With the score 13-12 in the bottom of that inning Wroten settled it once and for all with an eight run rally that saw the bases loaded twice.

Randy Wroten led off with a triple and Glen Gault drove him in with a single. Mullins gained base on a fielder's choice, Ling laid down a perfect bunt, and Tuck walked. Ian Burnett doubled in Mullins and Ling, and Reggie Caske walked loading the bases for the second time. Alan Kundrick singled, scoring Tuck, and Wroten came to the plate again to blast a second triple. Glen Gault pushed him across with another triple and the side was retired with the score at 20-13.

Party Store went to bat needing seven runs. They got two on doubles by Zufelt and Beemer before a double play a third to first, put out the fire.

Planners Review Well Site Plan

The association, concerned that any development of the 3.2-acre site located on the west side of Novi Road, south of Allen Drive, might destroy the adjacent open space, adversely affect the subdivision, and aggravate the Novi Road traffic problem, came up with an eight-point recommendation upon learning recently that the city had sold the property to Ruttman for development. Each of these eight points were discussed Tuesday as Ruttman discussed his plans. Of the eight, only the association's recommendation that no trees and brush be destroyed along the stream traversing the property did not appear to be satisfied by the plans or Ruttman's comments. The developer indicated that in order to provide sewer service to the complex, extension of the line under the creek to the rear of the apartments may require the removal of trees in its path. However, without an engineer's recommendation as to the line's location, Ruttman was unable to say definitely how much, if any damage might occur. He emphasized that preservation of trees will be one of his major goals.

Here are the other association recommendations. • That no unsightly rows of garbage containers creating a nuisance be permitted in the rear of the complex. • That a suitable barrier be erected in the rear parking area to prevent automobile lights from shining into the Village Green homes. Ruttman pointed out that by clustering his units, the apartments will serve as a barrier. Only in one parking area serving eight units would this not be the case, he added. However, a berm or some other suitable barrier will be erected in this location, he said. • That front and rear of the apartment complex should be of materials and design complementary to the area. • Construction of the colonial-like designed buildings, according to Ruttman, will be of harmonious brick and aluminum siding. The development is to have the appearance of a townhouse, he said. • That parking lot lights not create a nuisance but be so installed to present a pleasant effect. Gas lamps were suggested.

A lighting plan has yet to be submitted to the planners. • That overloading of sewer lines not be permitted. According to City Manager Frank Ollendorff, the line into which the complex will be tied is not part of the subdivision line and hence will cause no problems. • That a traffic study be conducted to assure that traffic problems on Novi Road not be aggravated because of entrances and exits to the development, particularly near the curve to Eight Mile Road.

It was noted that Ruttman will have to comply with all stipulations of the Oakland County Road Commission as to a deceleration lane and ingress and egress. The county had not yet been contacted. • That no fence or building be permitted on the northwest corner of the property so that easy access by youngsters to the open area used for recreation is possible.

Ruttman said his next steps following Tuesday's presentation will be to obtain engineering recommendations as per the sewer line route, to meet with Oakland County road officials, and to secure financing for the project. His plans, he indicated, will not necessitate requests for variances. The property is already zoned properly for the development. He hopes to begin construction yet this year.

The one and two-bedroom apartment units probably will rent for approximately $180 and $200, respectively, depending upon the market, he said.

In other action Tuesday, the planners approved the site plans for an addition to the Bell Telephone Company building, located on North Center Street.

Council OK's Bids On DPW Trucks

Low bids on three pieces of DPW equipment totalling $7,962.33 were accepted by the city council Monday night.

The equipment and the winning bidders were: Utility vehicle — John Mach Ford, $3,011.90; delivery van, G.E. Miller Dodge, $2,228.44; and a one-ton pickup truck, John Mach Ford, $2,711.99.

Bids also were received from International and Chevrolet dealers.

Resignations from Mrs. Kathleen Edgerton and her daughter, Miss Linda Edgerton, from the Beautification Commission were accepted with regret. The two women are moving from the community.

The council named Wilson Funk to fill one of the vacancies. It is to select and name the second replacement later.

The 5.9821-percent bid of the Manufacturers National Bank on $33,000 of bonds for the Hill and Center streets improvements was accepted by the council, which indicated the lone bid was "very satisfactory."

Public hearing on the building code amendment concerning firewalls was continued until August 3.

Following review of plans for the city's sidewalk improvement plan, the council authorized the city manager to advertise for bids. The council also authorized advertising for bids on a new refuse packer and truck chassis.

Bids were waived on cost of re-roofing the mausoleum at Rural Hill Cemetery and the quotation of $987 from Baggett Roofing & Siding, 20825 Napier Road, was found acceptable. (Bids are not required on items costing less than $1,000).

deposit would be used to insure books would be returned in good condition at the end of the school year.

Other fees charged by Northville that may be affected are junior/senior high towel and suit fees of $7 per year and shop fees and tickets amounting to $5.50 per year.

Materials fees charged to senior high students for special courses include Senior Math II, $3 per year; Typing I and II, $3 per year; geography map fee, $.50 per year; senior refresher math, $.50 per year; art fee, $1.50 per semester; biology laboratory, $2 per semester; accounting, $2 per semester; economics testing fee, $.60; and German testing, $1.65. Home economics fees are based on projects.

In Novi, the board of education recently had approved an across the board 33 per cent hike in book rental fees from $10 to $15 for students in kindergarten through grade 12. Only other fees charged are a $5 towel fee per year at the high school and a shop fee based on the amount of materials used by the individual student.

Dale said he thought the district might continue to levy the shop fee "if the student took the completed project home, or they could leave the project at school and not pay the fee."

Both superintendents feel the grade school milk and cracker charge will remain a separate fee.

Spear said he is waiting for answers from the district's attorney to two questions: What the district can charge for and what must the district provide beyond books, pencils and writing paper?

"Free public education should mean free public education and I agree with the court's opinion," Spear stated. "But if the Michigan Association of School Boards had kept us informed on the suit against Ann Arbor schools, we could have planned ahead."

Petition Drive Continues

Initial response to the Committee Opposed to Year-Round School has been encouraging, according to Angelo A. Chinni, spokesman for the group. Chinni reports contact with residents of the school district reveals a stronger opposition to year-round school than was originally anticipated. "Some residents were under the impression that the proposed plan would be voluntary," he said, "and changed their view when they learned that it would be compulsory. Others were not aware of the potentially negative effects upon property valued for a school district with a plan of its own which did not coincide with those of surrounding school districts."

At its weekly meeting Saturday, the Committee decided to continue the petition drive and a station will be set up in the Kroger parking lot from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday, July 31.

The committee is also conducting a study of the book published by the school district on the feasibility of year-round school.

Committee meetings are open to the public for the purpose of discussing objections to year-round school. Individual school board members will be invited to attend, Chinni said.

Meeting dates are published in the Community Calendar of The Northville Record. The next meeting has been set for Sunday at 8 p.m. at the James Lauer home, 326 Sherri Lane.

Salem Board Resets August Meeting

The Salem Township Board meeting, usually held on the first Tuesday of each month, will be held on August 5 instead of August 4 due to the primary elections, officials reminded residents this week. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall.

Hearing Scheduled

However, he noted that the council is convinced, on the basis of the committee's study and recommendations that neighborhood parks in these four areas are essential.

Greatest opposition to any of these four vacant locations, city officials believe, will zero in on the Maplewood site. Some homeowners with adjacent property have already indicated opposition. Their main objections appear to be that establishment of a park will disturb the tranquility of the area.

Once the council decides formally to acquire specific properties, the city manager explained, it then will begin negotiations for a "fair" purchase price. However, if a "fair" price cannot be reached, the city is prepared to begin condemnation proceedings, Ollendorff said.

In other related action Monday, the council authorized the city manager to formally urge, as recommended by the committee, the Northville School Board to purchase additional property adjacent to Moraine Elementary School for recreational open space.

Last year, Lew Coy earned $7,100 and saved almost $700,000.

Actually, $690,156.

That's the savings value of the programs he was involved in as Oakland County Commissioner. Programs that prevented needless spending of the money you work hard to earn. He also was involved in programs that encouraged wise spending to provide vitally needed services and facilities.

Even the $7,100 figured into the savings as Lew Coy fought to hold down county salaries — including his own. He wasn't there to get rich, he said. He was there to do a job.

The job he did included successful support of the building of a new Law Enforcement Complex to replace the condemned jail. It included support of the Senior Citizens program, close to $1 million in local road improvements, garbage disposal landfill, reorganization of Novi Township, purchase of the Buhl property for a county park. And more.

What kind of man works that hard and refuses to have his own salary raised? The kind we need on the Commission.

Citizens Seek Relief

Pollution, Weeds, Shacks Plague Horseshoe Lake Water, Shore

"So you think you have problems," a fellow said the other day. He then suggested that people take a little time to look at the problems faced by residents of lake front property.

"Take Walled Lake, for example," he continued. "Lakes have always attracted summer vacationers to small, narrow lots with un-winterized cabins. On that lake many of the homes long ago were filled with lower-income families needing a place to live and the resultant deterioration caused by those of too little means trying to do more than ever intended with substandard buildings is obvious on even the most casual tour."

The subject of his visit, however, was not Walled Lake. "Talking about Walled Lake merely gives me a chance to bring up my favorite problem area," he said.

"Horseshoe Lake — just south of Whitmore Lake in Washtenaw County's Northfield Township — has problems you wouldn't believe. Or maybe you would, if I started by telling you it was incorporated as a private subdivision and platted in 1925."

Two manifestations of 1925 private sub platting that remain to haunt Horseshoe residents today are 30-foot lots and 20-30 foot dirt roads. While the very real natural beauty of the lake has attracted any number of people interested in keeping up summer homes and developing suitable year-around residences, it has also attracted a number of itinerants who use the area either as a playground without concern for neighbors, as a domicile while temporarily employed or permanently on welfare, or simply as a junk car lot. Several unscrupulous real estate hucksters have purchased unliveable hovels and converted them to cash by reselling or renting them. Fire has been the only method thus far that has eliminated any of these often rat infested and windowless shacks.

It has not only been realtors who have taken advantage of the residents' seemingly hopeless plight, either. A doctor owns several substandard buildings in the area and rents them without concern for upkeep. A business woman prominent in Whitmore Lake has a windowless, weed-grown tenement lot she does nothing with, as well.

Rats, junk cars, bad roads and hovels are not the only problems. Another real blight are the outhouses without drain fields or septic tanks which pollute the lake. Algae growth is not, as yet, abundant in Horseshoe. But it is increasingly more in evidence near the outhouses.

Why can't citizens who care get hovels condemned, health menaces corrected and junk cars hauled away? Will Taggart, a spokesman for those who seek help, claims that neither township nor county "will get involved" because they point to the private nature of the subdivision.

"I want to do something, but my hands are tied," says Clarence Hanselman, the county building inspector. "Their only hope is to put pressure on the township board to pass a county resolution to establish an enforceable housing code."

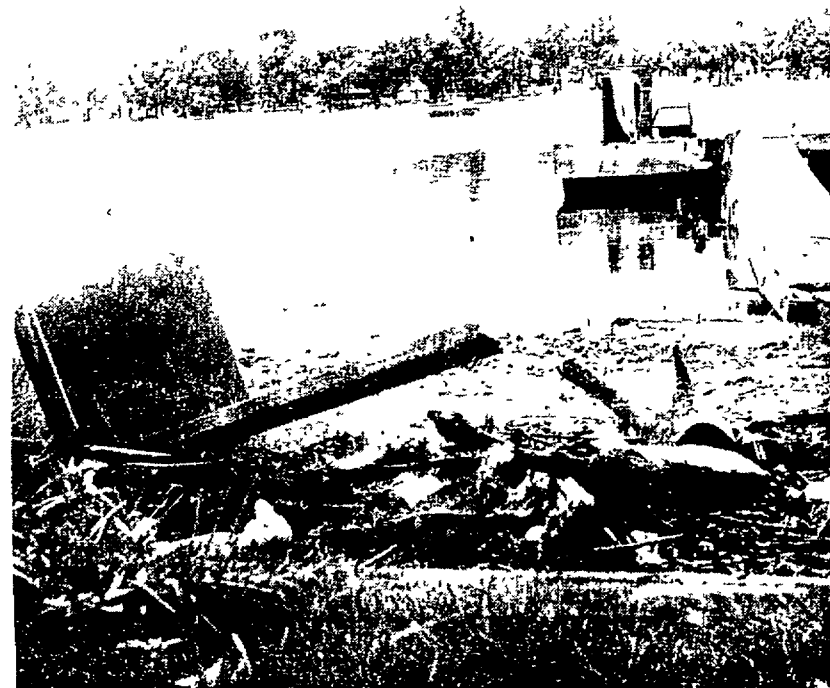

County health department head Joseph Price contends, "That marginal swampland property and small lots make up their problems. We (Washtenaw County) can't handle an urban renewal program — it must be initiated at township level. We are in there almost constantly answering raw sewage and privy complaints — which we can handle — but that's about the extent of our jurisdiction."

John Bohunsky of the Water Resources Commission points out that evidence of pollution must be obtained

Governor Race

Huber Notes Poll Gains

Voter opinion is beginning to crystallize in the race between State Senator Robert J. Huber and Mrs. George Romney for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senator. And there are straws in the wind two weeks prior to the August 4 primary supporting a recently published national magazine poll indicating that Mrs. Romney's early acceptance by voters is slipping.

These are the opinions of Senator Huber, based on his personal observations and reports from his staff. "Apparently," said Huber, "Republican voters remained uncommitted in this Senate race until they could see Mrs. Romney's widely advertised film so they could make a comparison of the two candidates."

"Now that they've seen the film, they're making up their minds."

Huber notes that a sharp upsurge in contributions to his campaign last week coincided with the end of a period of saturated television showings of Mrs. Romney's film.

"Further corroboration of the link between the Romney film and the increased support of my candidacy is typified by one letter to the Huber committee which said simply: 'Have seen Lenore's film. Here's my check for $25.'"

Huber admits most of his recent receipts have been small contributions, less than $100.

"That's the kind I welcome most," he said. "There is no implication of 'buying' a candidate for $25, whereas someone who contributes $5000 might well expect special consideration. I've said all along that my support is coming from the thousands whose names never appear in the society pages — or on police blotters. These are the citizens who want little more from government than protection of their life and property and a tax level that does not bite too deeply into their pay."

Levin: State Effort Lacking

This state's efforts in helping local communities provide meaningful vocational education for high school students who don't go to college have been totally inadequate, says Senator Sander Levin, Democratic candidate for Governor.

"We are wasting our greatest natural resources, the potential skills of our people," the 38-year-old Levin said. "Michigan has failed to develop an even halfway sufficient program for providing vocational education."

Levin, who served as State Senate Minority Leader in 1969 and State Democratic Party Chairman in 1968, said that although 70 percent of Michigan's students do not enter college, less than 15 percent of its high school students were enrolled in real and meaningful occupational training programs.

"In 1968," Levin said, "Michigan graduated some 115,000 high school students. Only the 33,000 who received some occupational preparation and the 17,000 who should graduate from college have saleable skills in today's tight labor market."

Levin said it should be the policy of the state to see that young men and women who do not continue their education beyond high school are provided with opportunities to acquire saleable skills as effectively as the present educational system prepares other young people to be college students.

Local Backs Parris

Macomb County Prosecutor George N. Parris, candidate for the Democratic Party gubernatorial nomination in the August 4 primary election, has won the endorsement of the Detroit Brewery Workers Local 181, AFL-CIO.

Karl Florio, Local 181 president, said the union's support of Parris came "after our local board enthusiastically moved to adopt a resolution to PICNIC WITH LENORE — Mr. and Mrs. William McLaughlin of Northville pose with Lenore Romney, candidate for the Republican U.S. Senate nomination, at a picnic at the Romney residence attended by 225 Republican county chairmen and Lenore campaign chairmen. Mr. McLaughlin is chairman of the Republican State Central Committee.

Milliken Confers

Michigan Governor William G. Milliken met with the Governors of 15 midwestern states in Columbus, Ohio, beginning Monday.

Milliken will make a presentation before an environmental quality panel at the Midwestern Governor's Conference.

The Governor was scheduled to return to the state on Wednesday afternoon and make campaign appearances over the weekend in Muskegon, Farmington, Saugatuck and Houghton Lake.

Milliken will make a plant tour and lunch with local civic leaders on Friday, July 24, in Muskegon.

The Governor will act as parade marshal for the annual Founder's Day parade in Farmington Saturday morning.

In the evening his campaign will move to Saugatuck for an appearance at the Venetian Festival. He will end the day at a Republican fund-raising event in Houghton Lake.

Congressional Race

Ron Hecker Raps 'Corrupt' Machine

Congressional candidate Ron Hecker (D-Liv), charging that "the system is corrupt," said that it was time to "give the power back to the people," Wednesday.

Speaking at a public meeting sponsored by the New Democratic Coalition of Livonia, at Schoolcraft Community College, in Livonia, Hecker said, "People are tired of politics that depend on an archaic seniority system, big Daley-like machines, vested-interest groups and courthouse gangs."

"I don't belong to the same party as Lester Maddox, George Wallace and Mendel Rivers. They can CALL themselves Democrats until they're purple in the face. But there's no way they represent my way of thinking."

"These men in Congress no longer speak for a constituency—they've joined a club. And the clubhouse mentality works in the following way."

The first two years, they learn where their desk is;

The next two years, they co-sponsor a bill;

After ten years, they get to be a sub-committee chairman;

And after twenty years, they become a committee chairman.

"I'm not sure we have twenty years to wait, anymore. There are too many things that have to be done now."

"When Nixon made the announcement of his invasion into Cambodia, he made it surrounded by four star generals. They were his advisors. Congress was not even consulted before the decision was executed."

"Yet, the U.S. Constitution provides that Congress shall have that power. Congress, particularly the House of Representatives, has abdicated the responsibility."

"You just can't play by the club rules, without disenfranchising the people in this country. We have to make the system more responsive to our needs. That's much more important than rules and traditions of political parties, that permitted the growth of the clubhouse mentality in the first place."

Harris Blasts Opponent's Vote On Education

Democratic Congressional candidate Fred L. Harris in the 19th district has charged that the present Republican incumbent is responsible for local school districts losing millions of dollars in federal aid.

Harris told a coffee hour on Wednesday evening, July 8 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Ryan of Farmington that Republican Congressman Jack McDonald's vote to support President Nixon's veto of education funds has deprived school districts of much needed financial help.

"I don't see how Mr. McDonald can justify his support of the Nixon veto when the Livonia and Waterford school districts in the 19th are on reduced schedules and other districts face cutbacks in the coming year," Harris said.

"Of course, we can't place education at the top priority level as long as we are spending billions of dollars in Vietnam, the Anti-Ballistics Missile system, and Supersonic Transport. I favor spending these billions for education and other needs."

"The present Congressman uses free mailing privileges for a series of loaded questionnaires which do nothing to permit the people of the 19th district to express their deep opposition to his anti-education vote."

"I challenge the present congressman to ask the question: 'Do you support my vote to back President Nixon's decision to reduce federal appropriations for education and health programs?'"

"The homeowner is the hardest hit by Mr. McDonald's anti-education vote," Harris said. "The homeowner is the one who faces higher property taxes and higher assessments to make up for the loss of federal income which resulted from the present Congressman's vote."

"Apparently Mr. McDonald felt that it was more important to save face for Mr. Nixon on his vote than to save tax dollars for the local property owner and wage earner."

State Senate Race

Kuhn Feted At Dinner

Several Senate leaders and state officials were among hundreds of persons participating in a special Recognition Dinner for Senator George W. Kuhn (R-West Bloomfield) Monday, at the Raleigh House in Southfield.

James P. McHugh of Northville is chairman of the "Friends of Senator Kuhn" group who sponsored the event. Circuit Judge Edward S. Piggins was toastmaster.

Among those giving short tributes to the senator from the 14th senatorial district were: Senator Robert VanderLaan of Grand Rapids, Senate Majority Leader Senator Charles O. Zollar of Benton Harbor, Caucus Chairman Senator Robert Richardson of Saginaw, Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and Senator Gilbert Bursley of Ann Arbor, Chairman of the Committee on Corporations and Economic Development.

Senator VanderLaan presented Senator Kuhn a resolution expressing unanimous support of the Republican senators for the senator's re-election.

The resolution, signed by all of Senator Kuhn's Republican colleagues in the Senate, asserts that he "has been a valued and outstanding member of the State Senate since 1966."

Citing his chairmanship of the Senate Municipalities & Elections Committee, his Vice Chairmanship of the Corporations and Economic Development Committee, and membership on the State Affairs, Joint Senate-House Administrative Rules, and Committee on Committees, the resolution continues:

"Senator Kuhn has been extremely forceful and active in his legislative activity and efforts to fight and alleviate violent street crime and civil unrest problems by passage of a new body of law controlling such activity."

"Senator Kuhn has made outstanding accomplishments in the field of banking with the successful adoption of a new banking code of 1969, which updates the 1837 banking law in the best interest of the banking community, share holders and depositors."

"Senator Kuhn, who has constantly strived for economy in state government, has demonstrated leadership in his efforts to help, with his Senate colleagues, reduce the budget."

"Senator Kuhn has been in the forefront of development of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority, which is charged with the responsibility of providing mass transit systems for the entire six-county area."

"Senator Kuhn has a solid background of 14 years of government experience, 10 years as Mayor of Berkley and a leader of mayors in the metropolitan area, and in the past four years in the Michigan Senate."

The resolution noted that the "State Senate recently recognized Senator Kuhn's industriousness and devotion to his legislative duties by selecting him as Senate Whip, an important leadership position for a freshman senator."

It also noted that "members of the Michigan State Senate hold Senator Kuhn in high personal regard as well as for his legislative accomplishments."

Pursell Proposes Steps To Combat Drug Abuse

County Commissioner Carl D. Pursell this week proposed three positive "action" steps that should be taken by state government as part of the effort to combat drug abuse.

"There is no easy answer to the drug abuse problem, and there never will be, but the state can be doing more than it is," Pursell said. "To begin with, there are three things I will push for as a state senator."

Pursell specified these actions:

1. Tightening of the laws governing the sale of amphetamines, the so-called "speed" drugs, such as dexedrine.

2. Use of earmarked liquor taxes to support drug control and treatment programs.

3. State leadership in coordinating the numerous public and private efforts being made in the drug abuse field.

"The latter could be the most important in the long run," said Pursell. "There are literally dozens of state, county and municipal agencies attacking the drug abuse problem and

State Representative

Stempien Prepares

Apollo 11 Display

State Representative Marvin R. Stempien (D-Livonia-Northville) has been appointed to represent the Michigan Legislature in working with a special committee making plans for the display of Apollo 11 in Michigan.

Apollo 11, the spacecraft which carried Astronauts Armstrong, Collins and Aldrin on their historic journey to the moon in July 1969, will make a 50 state tour this summer. In each state, the spacecraft, with a sample of lunar rock, will be displayed for public view. Apollo 11 will be in Michigan from August 28 to September 1.

"In order to prepare for this visit," Stempien said, "there has been established a Michigan Apollo 11 Display Committee. This committee will be composed of representatives of various state departments. I feel that it is entirely appropriate, in view of the natural and historic significance attached to the Apollo 11 craft, that the Michigan Legislature also contribute some assistance in making

Sharpe Replies To Accusations

In reply to Richard Fay's accusations that State Representative Thomas Sharpe of the 51st district was showing favoritism to large landowners by voting for the recent plat act amendment, the Howell Republican incumbent said:

"I voted for the amendment for two reasons: Number one to eliminate the need for a person to subdivide more than 10 acres and thus complicate legal descriptions through use of fractions;

"In the second place," he added, "I felt it was only fair that a person be able to subdivide four parcels of land less than 10 acres from each 80 acres. For instance, if he has 160 acres, he should be able to subdivide four parcels of less than 10 acres from each 80 acres."

Sharpe said Fay, GOP challenger from Howell, was "either deliberately distorting the truth for political purposes, or didn't understand the legal implications of the new plat act amendment."

Furthermore, Sharpe said he is not the chairman of the Democrat controlled State Affairs Committee as Fay contended. Sharpe emphasized he voted for the amendment and would do so again.

Stempien Rapped For 'Points' Proposal

Before representatives of the news media who attended a "Press Preview" of his campaign headquarters, Robert F. Swanson of Livonia, Republican candidate from the 35th State Representative District, charged his incumbent Democratic opponent, Marvin Stempien, with "placing the special interests of campaign contributors and supporters above the public interest in highway safety."

arrangements for this event."

The special legislative committee, created by resolution, includes both representatives and senators. Stempien's appointment was announced by the Speaker of the House, William A. Ryan. Representative Stempien is a member of the House Committee on Appropriations and the acting majority floor leader of the House.

Smart Views House Action

Several important education measures were enacted in the 1970 session noted Representative Clifford Smart (60th District) this past week. Some of these were proposals included in the Governor's Educational Reform Package.

In general, about half of Governor Milliken's proposals were passed by both houses in one form or another he said. The proposal for "programmatic" (state-supervised) budgeting and its companion bill permitting a 3 mill local option failed to clear either house, as did any and all versions of local redistricting bills and proposals to revamp the State Board of Education.

"The House passed an intermediate redistricting bill, sponsored by Representatives George Montgomery and Smart, and a resolution calling for a 12-16 statewide limit on school operating millage, sponsored by Representatives Folks and Smart, but the Senate took action on neither, although there is still some hope of Senate action on the school operating millage limitation in the August session," he noted.

"In addition, although not immediately applicable, the chief features of the 'Spencer Plan', which provides for the distribution of state aid in such a manner as to assure all districts equal per-pupil returns for equal self-taxing effort, have been written into the bill and will take effect in the 1971-72 school year unless altered or eliminated by the next Legislature."

"The Parochial provision was retained in the bill."

"There is general agreement that the 1971-72 provisions of the bill will require a state income tax increase to finance, but little if any agreement as to the exact size of such an increase."

Swanson specifically cited Senate Bill No. 1518 which would have allowed a bad driver to receive up to 24 "points" for violations before losing his driving privileges, instead of the present 12 points, if he held both an operator's and a chauffeur's license, if Governor Milliken had not vetoed the measure.

"I think Mr. Stempien owes the citizens of Livonia an explanation as to why he not only voted for this bill but worked for its passage through every means available to him," Swanson said.

"After all, this area has a right to be particularly concerned with the alarming increase in slaughter on our highways."

"According to the latest State Police figures, Livonia ranks fifth in the state for traffic fatalities over a 5-year period, being surpassed only by Detroit, Dearborn, Grand Rapids and Flint."

"How can Mr. Stempien claim he is representing Livonia when he works vigorously to make it twice as difficult for the authorities to remove dangerous drivers from our highways?"

"The stock argument that so-called 'professional' drivers, who use chauffeur's licenses, need to be permitted more violations because they drive more miles is patently ridiculous!"

"A professional driver should be a better driver because of his experience. And if a dangerous driver is driving many more miles than average, this just makes him that much more of a menace to the public."

"If anything, we should require those who drive for a living to be better than average drivers, not permit them to have driving records twice as bad."

Citizens Seek Relief

before his organization can step in and order county and township officials to curb it. He asks, "just how willing are the residents to solve their problem? If they are willing to spend money to hook into sewers and upgrade roads, then they can get somewhere."

Peter Kelley, township supervisor, contends that township constables cannot legally do much in the subdivision, "although we do allow them to go in any time they receive a complaint and they have been instrumental in clearing out many cars and in keeping people out of inhabitable homes." He does not have a building department — the county handles that chore — or a health department (also county) to rely on locally. Kelley strongly urges a solid homeowners' committee be formed to give the citizens a voice that can be heard by people who can help.

Constables John Reutter and Elmer Klump overstep their limits by attending to problems in the subdivision. "Somebody has to help them," both constables feel, "and we can't make some arrests and bluff some people into being better neighbors."

What are some of the specific problems Taggart, Vic Cuppetilli and others are trying to iron out?

"Why, we can't even dedicate our roads to the public," Taggart says, "because they don't meet anyone's minimum standards. Even though we pay the same taxes any resident of this township pays, the county says they cannot touch our roads. This is a sample of the run-around we get in every department on every complaint we make. The only people I can say have shown any interest in our problems are Klump and Reutter."

Cuppetilli, who lives across the lake from Taggart, points to an outhouse on his side of a property line and just a few feet from the water as one problem he would like corrected. "And how about that garage?" he asks. He then pointed out that a garage built to be used as a boat storage and launching edifice has been lived in repeatedly over the years "despite the fact that it was condemned the minute the foundations were poured."

The garage, and a building north of Cuppetilli's summer home, have both received action from the constables. They have ordered the garage "owners" to not use the structure as living quarters and not to spend nights in it. The other building, never completed, was lived in for some time, then harbored a mobile home which Klump bluffed off the premises.

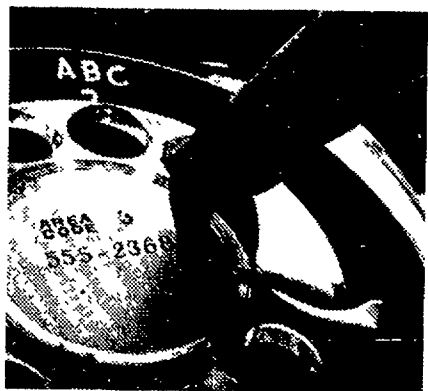

Outhouses, weeds and rats are Taggart's major complaints as they are of his neighbors who want to improve their cottages. Another source of irritation is the subdivision's private swimming access which residents contend is used as a partying and boat launching site by non-residents.

The homeowners have long asked the township and county "where do we go from here." They are taking steps to form an association (a meeting is planned for 12:30 p.m. Sunday, August 9, at the Oliver Halderman home, 8025 Lake Shore Drive to which anyone with any answers — or more questions — is invited) to give them organizational backbone.

Taggart and Cuppetilli — and several others — have stated "We can't get any action from township or county officials. Maybe enough organization will get us help from someone who does care about us."

Something is needed soon to combat Horseshoe's problems as pictures accompanying this story point out. What the help will involve or how it will come still is not known. Urban renewal has been suggested (of course, objectors say, no funds are currently available for such a project). Special assessments would require 51 percent of the homeowners' signatures to gain the subdivision needed sewer and road improvements.

And some people think horseshoes are lucky?

Detroiters to Decide if Belle Isle Should be Run by Park Authority

Should the City of Detroit lease Belle Isle to the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority?

This question is being asked of the Detroit voters in the August 4 primary election. If the Detroit electorate approves, then two additional steps will follow.

First, the Legislature and the voters of the five-county metropolitan district would be asked to provide an additional ¼ mill tax for the Authority to finance the redevelopment of Belle Isle and several other needed new metropolitan parks. This ¼ mill would be part of the five counties' property tax and may be levied outside the 15 mill limitation.

The second step would be the negotiation of a lease "acceptable" to the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Detroit and to the Board of Commissioners of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, a five-county metropolitan park district serving the citizens of Wayne, Livingston, Macomb, Oakland and Washtenaw counties.

The proposal for the "Redevelopment of Belle Isle Park" was presented to the Detroit Common Council on February 18, following several months of study by the Authority. Part of the study was a search for a block of land within Detroit suitable for a new metropolitan park easily accessible to inner city residents without private transportation. No such land was found and Belle Isle was examined as an alternative.

The Common Council, following a public hearing and a number of discussions on the proposal, placed the following question on the August 4 primary election ballot:

"DO YOU FAVOR THE CITY OF DETROIT LEASING BELLE ISLE PARK TO THE HURON-CLINTON METROPOLITAN AUTHORITY TO OPERATE, MAINTAIN AND DEVELOP IT AS ONE OF ITS METROPOLITAN DISTRICT PARKS, SUBJECT TO APPROVAL OF THE COMMON COUNCIL AND MAYOR OF THE CITY OF DETROIT AND SUBJECT TO A POSSIBLE COUNTY MILLAGE INCREASE OF A MAXIMUM QUARTER MILL?"

A vote of the City of Detroit electors is required by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority enabling act according to David O. Laidlaw, director of the Authority. The act calls for approval by local government voters before the Authority can lease or acquire property from that unit.

The Authority's suggested

"Redevelopment Plan" calls for a number of major changes and improvements on the island park, which are as follows:

1. The road pattern would be changed to give better circulation and control of traffic and parking. The more important pleasure driving and viewing roads would be retained.

2. A new bathhouse and swimming beach would be located on the south shore for the more direct rays of the sun and with the swimming area enclosed to control the water quality and level.

3. The improved nature area would be augmented by a Nature Center Building designed to accommodate many organized group visits as well as heavy public use.

4. The many cultural facilities on the island would be incorporated into a cultural activities area. New in the area would be a major structure for dancing, drama, music and arts.

5. Active sports facilities in the park would be clustered around a new fieldhouse and indoor swimming and skating building. Space was also allotted in the plan for a public marina and boat launching site if future demand makes such use desirable.

6. A visitors center and extensive improvement of picnic areas, shorelines, drainage system, night lighting and landscaping round out the picture.

The cost of redeveloping Belle Isle is estimated at $39 million spread over at least a 10-year period and Laidlaw pointed out that part of the money is expected to come from State and Federal recreation grants.

Detroit now spends about $1.5 million each year for operations, maintenance and police on Belle Isle and thus, too, would become largely the responsibility of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

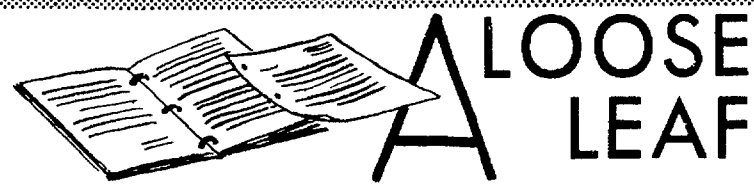

Presently the Authority is supported by a ¼ mill property tax in the five-county district of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and Livingston counties. The Authority's 1970 tax income of $4.6 million is already committed to operate and maintain its nine parks and construction of new parks already started.

Laidlaw pointed out that a representative "homeowner" in the district with a $20,000 house assessed at $10,000 pays $2.50 each year for support of the Authority as part of his county property tax. An additional ¼ mill would cost him an added $2.50 annually.

The Authority already has over 10,000 acres of park land open to the public. Among the larger parks are Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens, Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica, Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park northwest of Ann Arbor and Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville. Smaller sites include Marshbank Park southwest of Pontiac and Delhi and Dexter-Huron Parks near Ann Arbor. The new Willow Metropolitan Park, covering 1,500 acres between New Boston and Flat Rock, is under construction and open this summer for limited public use. Over 7,860,000 visitors used Authority parks in 1969 and attendance thus far in 1970 has increased.

By ROLLY PETERSON

Like some kind of magnificent animals, teeth bared and bristling for battle, the movie "Patton" leaps on the audience with a rage and vigor seldom seen on the screen.

And the guts of the picture, the heart and soul of it is George C. Scott, the bull-necked virtuoso whose talent measures a mile long and seemingly knows no depths. Any other part he has played, and with no exceptions they have been great, has to take a back seat to his portrayal of Patton.

Personally, I don't know whether Patton was exactly what I saw on the screen. But seeing as how General Omar Bradley was the chief movie consultant and a close friend of Patton's and since enough has been written about Patton and enough men know about him, chances are the movie character isn't far from the flesh and blood of the late general who ironically was killed in a jeep accident.

Some will admire Patton. Some will hate him. But no one who sees the movie can help but stand in awe of him, just as strong men hedge about openly defying the deity. Patton, as played by Scott, is that big.

From the opening prelude of Patton delivering a sardonic talk to his men to the closing scene some three hours later at the end of WWII, Patton is omnipotent and omnipresent, a man, who, in the mold of Alexander the Great, Napoleon and all other great conquerors real or mythical, is destined for greatness.

Obsessed with battle and convinced of his divine mission, Patton has no fear of mortals or what mortals may bring. His destiny is ordered by God.

When the slapping of a private and his brutal, foul candor threaten to jerk fame from his grasp, Patton, shaken, turns to God. What is His design, Patton wonders, realizing that WWII is his last chance for military glory, the last war in which men, not machines, will be decisive.

Patton, in all his glory, is brutal. To him, a man who cries is cowardly, to be separated from men of honor who have fought and lived and died. There is no second best.

As the movie states, Patton is a magnificent anachronism, a man out of the 1800's who thinks in terms of the glorious battle. Ride a white steed into the thick of battle. Kill the damned enemy, spill his guts over Christendom and puff up with pride in flag and country.

The photography and the dialogue are superb. The acting of Scott brings it all together into an unforgettable character. What else could a person want?

Lary D. VanderMolen, Democratic candidate for Wayne County Commissioner in the 26th District from Northville, recently proposed the establishment of a Metropolitan Pollution Control Center. "We need a regional approach to help solve the problems of pollution in this area," VanderMolen said. "A united effort by the leaders of the communities in this area will result in a war against air and water pollution that will prove to be effective."

Regarding the "Lucas Plan," VanderMolen charged that "crime studies have been conducted on several occasions and nothing has been accomplished. Now is the time for action in this area if we are really serious about reducing crime in the near future. We need a complete reorganization of the Sheriff's Department to bring about the necessary modernization that is needed to fight crime effectively."

"Would Mr. Stempien care to tell the public who paid the rent on his campaign headquarters in the last campaign?"

"Will Mr. Stempien tell us why he worked and voted for Senate Bill No. 1518, and what pertinent discussion he had with Mr. Wendell or anyone else from the Teamsters' Union?"

Some Comforting Words

Rev. Joe K. Bury
The First United Presbyterian Church
Brighton, Michigan

Here are some of the comforting words of peace that God has seen fit to inspire into the lives of men and women, subsequently into the pages of scripture and now they come to us from the psalmist. Psalm 46 rates a close second behind Psalm 23 in popularity and familiarity. It has been called Luther's Psalm, after Martin Luther, the 16th century reformer, who devised a hymn based on its confident passages.

'A mighty fortress is our God, a bulwark never failing, Our shelter, He, amid the flood, of mortal ills prevailing For still our ancient foe doth seek to work us woe, His craft and power are great, and armed with cruel hate, On earth is not his equal.'

Readers are invited to turn to Psalm 46: In structure, this psalm is short and simply divided into 3 parts, two of them ending with the refrain, "The Lord of Hosts is with us, the God of Jacob is our refuge," and all 3 parts concluding with "Selah" - Amen - "so be it." But within we find much of vital resource for living.

Two things we know about ourselves in this present world of adventure: 1. The tensions produced by modern life, with its technology, politics, international intrigue, floyed and tempted emotions, loneliness and despair, especially among the sick and aged, these tensions are ever-increasing. 2. Each one of us is a fallible, fragile, human being and has his or her breaking point.

This means that unless we learn to ease our tensions, and begin to live with them, they may well break us up. There is no way to avoid this conclusion. Therefore, just take notice of all the devices for coping with the tension we experience, from aspirin to alcohol, from marijuana to Geritol, from hobbies to holidays, from knitting to shuffleboard. See how widely they are advocated and advertised endlessly.

Psalm 46 expresses some other major confidences for our tranquilizer's age.

The greatest factor of our life is God. God is. How does one know? Obviously, not just by looking up into the heavens for some godly old man with a white beard and a benevolent smile and sitting on a throne. God is perceived by the eyes of faith. Our author speaks of a "refuge and strength," protective and penetrating resources to deal with the real problems of life—the intangibles of fear, insecurity, loneliness, uncertainty.

God's presence is real and genuine. Amid all the changes of life, God is firm and central—"we shall not be moved." "He will help us right early," i.e. at out particular and immediate point of need.

Verses 2-3 describe the vast, raw and dynamic powers of God in natural wonder. An earthquake, the roaring sea, the majestic mountains.

Verse 6 flashes forth the ultimate power and awe of God's judgment upon human kind. "He utters His voice, the earth melts."

Verses 8-9 speak prophetically of the future peace and the end of the times with God still in charge.

And the question is resolved—Is my life here on this earth futile and the threat of nuclear destruction inevitable, my bodily withering away final? NO! We may have HOPE.

God surmounts it all. He lives NOW through His Holy Spirit. He is a very PRESENT help to us, who would dare love and trust. "Be still," He says, "and know that I am God." This is for sure.

"The Lord of Hosts IS with us. The God of Jacob and Jesus is our refuge. We shall not fight again in vain. We shall not break. God is with us.

"Now if this God be for us, (and Jesus is evidence that He is) "who can be against us?" (Romans 8:31).

Sunday	Monday
Psalm 64 1-10	Proverbs 3 21-27
Tuesday	Wednesday
Isaiah 33 13-22	Matthew 7 7-14
Thursday	Mark 13 28-38
Friday	Saturday
Ephesians 3 7-13	I Thessalonians 5 1-11

When each new experience springs forth like a jack-in-the-box . . . and your fondest possessions are toys . . . and your chief concern is to squeeze out of every hour the last ounce of amusement — then it's fun to be surprised.

But when you've grown too old for toys . . . when life is laced with serious challenge . . . when happiness depends on a thousand social, economic and moral decisions — then surprises can be devastating!

It is elementary that our early education must prepare us for the later surprises. The knowledge, habits and skills we acquire must be adequate for meeting the unexpected as readily as the expected.

And because religious faith and moral fortitude are men's chief resources in the unheralded crises of adult life, we must nurture their development in every child.

Support, encourage, serve your church in its vital efforts to mold the character of today's youth — tomorrow's adults.

Michigan Mirror

World's Auto Center Ranks 7th In Registered Motor Vehicles

LANSING — Michigan stands seventh in the nation in the number of registered motor vehicles in the state with a total just short of 4.5 million, according to the State Highway Department.

The department said the state showed a gain of 171,496 registrations in 1969 to reach the total, which does not include more than 540,000 trailers and some 132,000 motorcycles.

Nationally, motor vehicle registrations topped the 105 million mark, for an increase of 4.5 percent. Of this total, 87 million were automobiles, nearly 18 million were trucks and 364,000 were buses.

Gov. William G. Milliken's educational reform program is receiving more and more attention around the nation.

One of the most recent indications of this is a speech

Milliken gave to the Education Commission of the States in Denver at its national convention.

Milliken, with a group of other governors in the audience, outlined his plan and told those attending that education needs to be given a higher priority.

"If this means a lower priority for other items on our national agenda, then say 'so be it,'" he said.

"If this means that the Concorde flies over the Atlantic before the American supersonic transport, then so be it."

"If this means that the Soviet Union, rather than the United States, builds an Aswan Dam, then so be it."

"If this means that a Russian, rather than an American, is the next to step first on a distant planet, then so be it."

BLUNT TALK by Attorney General Frank J. Kelley was directed at Michigan's chiefs of police during their annual convention.

He told the chiefs that one reason for the rising crime wave in the nation and the state is "petty bickering" among various law enforcement agencies.

Kelley said "There are many answers to the question" of why crime is increasing.

"Some have to do with the social causes of crime; some with how our courts are dealing with it; and some for other reasons," he said. "Many of these problems, however, lie mostly outside of our power and responsibility as law enforcement officers."

"I would like to address myself to one reason that falls totally within the power of those of us in the law enforcement community to affect it. I speak of the problem of disunity within the law enforcement community."

"We all know that it exists," he said. "Each of us is aware of petty bickering between local law enforcement agencies, of ugly disputes between prosecutors and police, of jealousies and rivalries between agencies, and even between departments within the same agency."

"There is but one beneficiary of this disunity, and that is, of course, the criminal himself," Kelley said. "The energy and time expended by law enforcement agencies in battling each other is that much less available to detect and apprehend the criminal or to prevent the crime from happening in the first place."

"In plain words," Kelley continued, "this disunity in the law enforcement community gives direct aid and comfort to the criminals within our society. In the face of our responsibilities and our sworn duties, in the face of the high cost of inhuman and material terms of crime in our society, I can only say that this disunity is unforgivable."

The attorney general said it is the responsibility of everyone in the law enforcement field to direct his energies solely toward the fight against crime.

"I am certain that within each jurisdiction positive steps can be taken to smooth out differences which presently are hampering operations," he said.

"Pride of accomplishment should be directed at a job well done and not so much at which agency has done it."

Tests Slated

At Schoolcraft

Counseling placement tests, which are required for admission to Schoolcraft College, will be given twice more before fall semester classes begin late in August.

An evening testing session has been slated for 7 p.m. on Tuesday, July 28. The second exam period will be conducted at 9 a.m., Saturday, August 8.

Counseling placement tests are a part of the admission procedure for regular — or matriculated — day or evening students; that is, students enrolled in either a definite program or taking courses which carry transferable credit.

The tests require approximately three hours to complete. They are given in the Waterman Campus Center. Persons interested in taking the tests or wishing further information should call the College Admissions Office at 591-6400.

Babson Report

Junior Growth Stocks Healthy For Longer -Term Investors

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass. — Investors seeking longer-term appreciation should consider some of the "Junior Growth Stocks" which have declined significantly in price during the 1969-70 bear market. The issues included in this category represent smaller, lesser-known companies, which are nevertheless showing solid gains and hold considerable future promise.

Such firms can be recognized by some common characteristics which include: A strong upward trend in both sales and earnings over recent years; the expectation of above-average company growth during the years ahead; reinvestment of a substantial part of earnings on a regular basis; and an above-average return on stockholders' equity.

MANY OF THESE companies were not especially well known by the investment community five or six years ago. In the past couple of years, however, investors have become aware of the satisfactory progress and future capabilities of this type of concern. Consequently, the common stocks of these companies have sold at price-earnings ratios above average, and in some instances still do. The establishments have not yet achieved a position of dominance which distinguishes top-quality growth companies, but they have the potential for entering this select group in coming years.

THE RESEARCH Department of Babson's Reports is currently recommending the following junior growth stocks: Angelica Corporation, Capital Cities Broadcasting, Kelly Services, McCulloch Oil, Prudential Building Maintenance, and Rollins Inc. Most of these stocks have declined significantly, and are now selling at prices which appear to be reasonable in view of the prospects for the various companies over the next three or four years.

Although we recognize that the prices of these securities could work still lower during any further market sell-off, we do not feel that investors should attempt to call the absolute bottom. In the past this has often proved an elusive practice, and attractive purchasing opportunities have quickly faded. Furthermore, investors should not be hasty in taking profits if these stocks should move up a few points. In the end, it will be found that patience is an investment virtue and will produce the most worthwhile gains.

WHILE OFFERING the opportunity for important longer-term appreciation, these junior growth stocks also carry an added element of risk. Despite their recent advances in both sales and earnings, in many instances the past records of these companies have not been of sufficient duration to merit a rating indicating a high degree of stability and sustained expansion. In addition, many of these issues are still selling at above-average price-earnings ratios.

The price premium is justified if it is anticipated that recent impressive records will be maintained. Should these companies falter along the way, however, their stocks would be subject to investor disenchantment.

DESPITE the unavoidable risks and uncertainties involved in any long-term projections, it is the opinion of Babson's Reports that these favored junior growth companies have the ability to achieve above average results in coming years. There is, nonetheless, no assurance that every company selected will live up to present expectations.

Hence, we advise investors to purchase several of these securities rather than to choose only one from the above list.

Use of a diversified approach will reduce risk and allow the investor to participate in more than one rapidly growing industry, avoiding overconcentration. We are convinced that a package of these "Junior Growth Stocks" bought near current levels will provide the investor with a good opportunity of obtaining longer-term appreciation.

Giant Air Show Planned at Salem

Salem Airport has a giant air show planned for Sunday.

Partly scheduled to show off the airport's new airstrip and partly intended to see how many people interested in aviation can be brought in, the show will be kicked off with a giant "fly-in" breakfast.

The new landing strip, just completed, took over 100 tons of blacktop to cover 3,020 feet of 50-foot wide runway and is called by Ronald Shoebridge and his associates, "the longest landing strip of any small airport" in the South-eastern Michigan area.

Prizes are to be given for youngest pilot, oldest pilot, pilot coming the greatest distance and to winners of drawings on all-day tickets throughout the day's program. The breakfast will be served from 7 to 11 a.m. and will feature pancakes, sausage, coffee and milk in the large concrete-surfaced hangars. Hot dogs and pop will be available all day. A courtesy car service and busing to churches will be provided from the airport whose entrance is on Chubb Road north of Six Mile.

Some of the entertainment planned for the day are helicopter rides, parachute jumps, airplane — penny per pound — rides, a U.S. Navy jet fly-over and model plane competition. A donation of $1.25 for adults ($1 for children) is asked for the breakfast, but the entertainment is free of charge and the public is invited.

A spokesman for Salem Airport indicated he expects, if the weather is amenable, some 200 aircraft from, primarily, Michigan, Ohio and Indiana. Also, if good weather is present, he predicts a crowd of some 3,000 persons.

Out of the Horse's

Send your comments, questions, and horse show news to "Horse's Mouth," care of South Lyon Herald, South Lyon, Mi48178.

Dear Sally Saddle:

My yearling Saddlebred filly has warts all over her nose, and since I'm hoping to show her at the Michigan State Fair next month, I was wondering if you had any information on warts and how to get rid of them?

Yes, warts are found quite often in young horses. Horsemen often call them blood warts or seed warts. In severe cases there may be hundreds of small individual warts on the muzzle. Warts are caused by a virus, and are spread from one animal to another by infected fences, curry combs, and other equipment around the stable. If left alone, these warts will usually disappear in two or three months. If, for any reason, they need to be removed more quickly, they may be taken off surgically. If warts are a real problem in a stable, a special vaccine may be prepared to immunize young stock against the disease.

Horses sometimes get a flat, dry, persistent type of wart inside the ear. These may be treated with oil of thuja compounds.

Remember, however, that the ordinary little warts seen so often on the muzzle of young horses will nearly always disappear without treatment.

Carol Bellenir, Northville, won first English halter, second English equitation, and fourth English pleasure at the Salty Badger show on July 11. Doris Krauter of South Lyon placed third in western pleasure in the same show.

Results of the Michigan all Morgan horse show July 11 and 12:

Dawn Detgen of South Lyon, placed third in the fitting and showing class (13 and under). Marguerite Little of Novi won first in the western show horse class riding "True Cherie," a mare owned by Basil Hiner of Novi.

David Batton of South Lyon placed second in the yearling filly class showing "Batton's Prima Donna." Kelly Batton of South Lyon won first in the walk-trot class with Carl Earehart of Northville coming in a close second.

Burt Earehart of Northville placed third in the head line class; Three year old Lesa Godfred of Plymouth placed fifth.

Exhibitors from Northville placed as follows; Mrs. Lois Godfrey received fourth junior western pleasure, fourth versatility class, third junior pleasure driving, sixth junior pleasure driving championship, fifth junior English pleasure, fourth Jack Benny class, and fourth four year old mares while riding "Batton's Bit-of-Fashion."

Danny Earehart placed second in stock seat (13 and under) and third in stockseat equitation championship. Carrie Earehart placed third in stock seat equitation and sixth in stock seat equitation championship. David Earehart placed first in stock seat equitation championship.

Wendy Marion placed sixth in children's western pleasure, riding "Miss Thunderation." Ernie Lush placed third in three year old stallions, showing "Renown."

July 25 and 26 will be the seventeenth annual Davison Horse Show held at the Davison Junior High School grounds. Saturday's show starts at 8:30 a.m. and there will be classes for quarter horses, palominos and walking horses. Sunday's show begins at 11 a.m. and half Arabians, Arabians, Morgans, western equitation and saddle seat equitation will be shown.

For further information contact W. Bryce McGinnis, 2477 South State Road, Davison.

Variety of Entertainment To Highlight Northville Fair

It's been nearly 30 years since the old Northville Wayne County Fair has been staged and a lot of changes have taken place at the "fairgrounds" since.

In 1943 the last "county fair" was held at the Northville Fairgrounds. Since then the site has become Northville Downs harness racing track.

But August 6-7-8 and 9 the Northville Fair will return. This time sponsored by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce. It's a benefit affair with proceeds going to local clubs and organizations.

"The Northville Fair", explains Chairman Robert Webber, "will give local organizations an opportunity to concentrate their fund-raising activities at one time and place".

Features of the fair will be the Hurricane Hell Drivers, Waylon Jennings country music show, the World of Pleasure Shows featuring 20 rides, a pageant of drums with five outstanding drum and bugle corps performing in competition, skydivers, helicopter rides, 4-H Club horse show, commercial and educational exhibits and numerous fund-raising booths sponsored by non-profit organizations.

And the "old Northville fairgrounds" has turned into a modern facility with convenient, paved parking and air-conditioned grandstands for comfort that oldtime fair-goers never dreamed of.

The fair will open with the World of Pleasure shows at 10 a.m. Thursday, August 6. Hours on Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be 10 a.m. until midnight. Sunday the fair will open at 1 p.m.

The official opening ceremony will take place Friday at 7 p.m. with a parade through Northville. Ribbon-cutting ceremonies will take place at the fair at 7:45 p.m. It is hoped that Governor William Milliken will be on hand for the opening.

The Northville VFW post will sponsor a drum and bugle corps competition Friday at 8 p.m. at the grandstands. Marching units will include: The Raiders from Madison Heights, 1970 VFW state champions; the Royal Lancers of Wyandotte, 1969 VFW state champions and a unit that has performed for Presidents Kennedy and Johnson; the Guardsmen from Flint, the Vanguarders from St. Clair Shores; and the Marching Diplomats from Sarnia, Ontario, Canada.

The 4-H Club Horse Show will run from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday.

Dan Fleenor's famous Hurricane Hell Drivers will present two shows Saturday night at 7 and 9 o'clock. Carl Wiseman, world champion motorcycle stunt man, will be featured in a ramp-to-ramp jump over four parked cars, while TV and movie stuntman Dan Fleenor will drive a car down the track on two wheels.

Other performers in the auto thrill show will be Bobby Lynch, Terry Davis, Bobby Plummer, Al Van Wert and the famed circus clowns.

The two-hour performance will be climaxed by catapulting of a convertible from a narrow take-off ramp 75 feet through space through a loop of fire, while another convertible is driven between the ramps and through the fire simultaneously.

Concerts to Conclude Schoolcraft Session

The best student ensembles selected from the summer music school for high school students at Schoolcraft College will present a concert of chamber music on Friday, July 24,

There is no charge for the program which will be held in the Liberal Arts auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

Original student compositions from members of the class of Schoolcraft's composer-in-residence Robert W. Jones will be featured on Monday, July 27. Student concerto audition winners will also perform at this open-air concert in the south court of the Forum, free to the public, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Individualized instruction is the hallmark of the program in which these students are participating at Schoolcraft this summer. An instructional staff of 13, many of whom are performing members of the Detroit Symphony, permits an extremely favorable six-to-one student-teacher ratio. The school is directed by Wayne Dunlap.

The closing concert of the summer school session has been scheduled for Friday evening, July 31.

EMU Offers New Program

A program of activities designed especially for women graduates is being developed by the Alumni Office of Eastern Michigan University.

Initial events have been planned for women living within a radius of 30 miles from the University but the scope of the program will be broadened as the idea catches hold, according to Bonnie L. Bowsman, Assistant Director of Alumni Relations.

First on the schedule is a golf outing beginning at 9 a.m. August 20, at Hickory Woods. Luncheon at 12:30 p.m. at the Fireside Lounge will follow.

On September 10 and 17, F. L. (Frosty) Ferzacca, Director of Athletics, will present a football seminar for women in the Tower Room of McKenny Union. The meetings will begin at 7 p.m. Refreshments will be on the Alumni Office.

A tour and seminar on furniture has been scheduled for 7 p.m., October 12, at the Holland House Village in Ann Arbor.

What has been designated as a "Wig Boutique Seminar" will be presented at The Egg and I in Dearborn at 7 p.m., November 3.

Sunday will be country music time featuring Waylon Jennings. The handsome, smooth-voiced vocalist out of Nashville has performed on radio's Grand Ole Opry, television's "Anatomy of Pop", Grand Ole Opry, American Swing Around, The Porter Wagoner Show and The Wuburn Brothers Show. Among his major recordings are "That's the Chance I'll Have to Take", "Anita You're Dreaming", "Stop the World and Let Me Off", "Look into My Tear Drops", "I Wonder Just Where I Went Wrong" and "Walk On Out of My Mind".

The 30-year-old Jennings has worked at his trade since he was 12 and is known throughout country music circles as one of the great, new talents. In 1959 the young singer gave up his seat on a plane to Buddy Holly, leader of "The Crickets" vocal group to which Jennings belonged. The fatal flight took the life of Holly.

Jennings' country music performances will be held Sunday at 5 and 8 p.m.

With the exception of the rides, Hell Drivers and Country Music Show there will be no charges for admission to the Northville Fair.

SPEAKING for The Record By BILL SLIGER

Officials of four townships (Hamburg, Green Oak, Genoa and Brighton) and the city of Brighton will meet next week to study means of forming a cooperative alliance designed to improve services and eliminate costly duplication.

The five governmental units compose an area commonly referred to as the "Brighton community."

Recently the Brighton city council adopted a resolution proposing the cooperative effort and suggesting that it would donate $500 towards formation of such a program.

The response from each of the individual units was unanimously in favor of at least investigating the possibilities.

Brighton Township Supervisor Raymond Wilcox was enthusiastic in his endorsement of the idea. He stated that "a joint governmental body to eliminate duplication" was desirable, if not mandatory, and further suggested that the five neighboring governments should investigate the possibility of employing "a city-manager type person to serve all municipalities and thus cut costs."

He pointed out that he was not proposing a larger city. "But there are alternatives that must be investigated."

Instead of building individual empires, the officials of these smaller, still-developing communities clearly see the dollar-saving advantages for taxpayers in a program of cooperative pooling of resources to solve service needs in areas involving administration, planning, police, fire, rubbish collection and disposal, etc.

It's true that such a courtship could lead to marriage (unification into a single city). But not all courtships lead to weddings...and when they do the consent of both parties is required.

And who would say that wedlock is not preferable?

Whatever the outcome, Brighton community officials deserve recognition for their objectivity and concern for the welfare of the taxpayers they serve.

It appears that a compromise has been reached in the breach between Wixom Mayor Gilbert Willis and the city's parks and recreation commission.

Last week the six remaining members of the nine-member board resigned in protest after the new mayor had refused to re-appoint Tom Burke as recreation director.

The popular Burke has served in the capacity since the highly-successful and active Wixom recreation department was formed some eight years ago.

Wixom can be proud of its program and facilities for youth activities. It is probably unmatched in this area.

If a compromise has been reached between the mayor and his commission, it should be good news to all citizens of the community.

Community recreation programs should not include political games. Personal differences and animosities of adults have no place on the ballfields.

Four out of five people complain about taxes.

Only one out of five bothers to vote in primary election.

More votes and fewer complaints might help. Remember to vote August 4.

What Does The Term 'Generation Gap' Mean?

WOJCIECHOWSKI

EDITOR'S NOTE—Two young reporters, employed for the summer during their vacation from college, were asked to write briefly their definitions and/or views of the so-called "generation gap" that we've heard so much about in recent years. The staffers, Prudence Hartt of Bradley University and Marge Wojciechowski of the University of Michigan, work at The Northville Record and The South Lyon Herald, respectively.

Television and the American press have created a gulf between youth and adults, a "generation gap" which does not really exist. There is instead a growing division between the liberals and conservatives — those favoring radical change and those who oppose it — which transcends age boundaries.

The most vocal proponents of the liberal faction come from the college campuses and the tense inner cities. They have rejected the notion of previous societies that the future should be an extension of the past or present. They stress social morality over individual morality.

The liberals are a minority, not only among the older generation but among the total number of young people. Even on campus they command at best only a small majority.

While most conservatives would agree that our society could be improved, they are relatively satisfied with the status quo. By their emphasis on personal morality they are more concerned with a man's ability to hold down a job than whether or not he is racially prejudiced.

Undoubtedly as the liberals grow frustrated, begin making more radical demands, more people will be scared back into the conservative fold. A totally new society may be unrealistic yet it is a shame that some needed social reforms may be hampered by those who try hardest to promote them.

Prudence Hartt

The term "generation gap" has been bantered around with increasing frequency the past couple of years. It isn't that the theory of the gap is something new, because it is not. The ancient Greeks complained about the rebellious youth who were destroying the establishment over a thousand years ago.

Circumstances today, as far as a generation gap goes, are no worse than they ever were. Of course there are disagreements between the young and the old, and sometimes they are violent. But there are also disagreements between the young and the young and the old and the old. Is that a generation gap within a generation? Then there are the young and the old who seem to get along quite well together.

For some reason, it is supposed to be bad if there is some conflict within a society. No one ever stops to think that if there was never any conflict, there would never have been any change, and we would still be back in the Stone Age. There always has been conflict and always will be because no one thing will please everyone. It is conflict and change that has put the human race where it is today.

It seems that everything in today's world has to have some kind of technical explanation, and in doing this, the generation gap has been blown out of proportion.

Why make a mountain out of a mole hill? The generation gap is nothing more than a simple personality conflict.

Explains Wixom Resignation

To the Editor:

After serving eight years on the city of Wixom's board of Parks and Recreation I have resigned and I wish to let the people of Wixom know my reasons. I feel that it may do some good for the city in the future.

When Mayor Willis did not reappoint Tom Burke as Parks and Recreation director, I feel that it was a great injustice to a man that has helped build the city Parks and Recreation Department to some thing more than just a name. He has held the respect of all of us on his board and has the respect of the children of Wixom. Tom Burke has always had recreation for the children in mind before we had a recreation department because he and I worked with the Y.M.C.A. trying to get a program for the youths in the Walled Lake area.

When Mayor Willis appointed someone in Mr. Jim Nissen's place on the board without asking him if he wished to continue after his term expired, I think that he would have had the courtesy to ask him if he wished to continue serving. Jim served on this board five or six years besides managing Little League Baseball and head coach of Beaver Football for six years in Wixom. He also was one of the organizers of the Elementary Basketball in the Walled Lake School District. Wixom should be thankful that it had a man of Nissen's qualifications serving free of charge. I think that it was a political and not a civic-minded reason that Jim Nissen was not reappointed.

The last and very important reason for my resigning is the treatment that our former police chief Tom McGuire received. In my heart I feel that this man received a lot of unjust treatment. When Mrs. Lew Coy got up at a council meeting and asked former Mayor McAtee what he was going to do about McGuire getting half a day's more vacation pay, I should have gotten up and let her and the people know the true facts. I worked with McGuire for about two months and the Explorers of the Boy Scouts of America, every Thursday night from 7 to 10 p.m. on his own time. This man was trying to make first class citizens of these 14 to 18 year old boys. He had men from the F.B.I. and State Police lecture to them and show movies all about how they operate and their history. Tom McGuire knew that the most dangerous age that a boy goes thru is while he is in high school and he helped them to become civic and honest minded. The time that McGuire spent with these boys more than earned that extra half day's pay because if I was on the city pay roll I wouldn't feel guilty of taking a whole day's pay for my service in operating the movie projector for him.

I once was proud of this city and still am very proud of some of the people that serve it because I know that they truly are civic minded. All I can say is that God Bless them and give them the courage to fight this country's problem which is Pollution of the Mind.

Nothing on this earth will we be able to take with us and we will have to answer to our creator for all our sins and each passing day brings us closer to him. So to the good people of Wixom, I wish to get off the ship before it sinks.

Yours truly,
Wilfred John Waara

'Why Can't Students Have A Voice, Too?'

To the Editor:

I am a student that would like to know why certain members of the board at Schoolcraft Community College seem to think that they "always know best"? They are not supposed to be fathers, but concerned open-minded individuals. Due to the fact that most of them have not been students for a few years seems to indicate that they might not "know best" about everything. I am not saying that a student or groups of students know everything. I do think some credit for intelligence has to be given.

The government of this country realized that a selected group of men with opinions was not enough. Representatives and lobbyists are allowed. Why then are students not allowed a voice, even a small one, in the operation of their school. One, or even two, students could give an idea of the students needs and wants. As it stands we are being led around with no consideration given us. How many adults would stand for it (remember the Revolution)?

The student of today is told that the non-violent, legal approach is best. But when that avenue is completely shut off how can we make you listen? We are not asking that you do what we want, or think that you should, just that you listen. Not everybody can be right all the time — some board members have the opinion that they are.

Sincerely,
Kathleen F. Martin

His Body Speaks Foreign Language

by Jack N. Hoffman

There's a nasty bruise on my ego and it hurts like blazes but I'm not going to twist my mouth into a persimmon of pain. It hurts but you'd never know it by reading my face. That's because I've learned to keep my emotions hidden.

My ego pain is the result of a book by Julius Fast, who has written an intriguing but deceiving treatise called "Body Language." Fast would have us believe that man (and woman, too) communicates emotions and true feelings, often unconsciously, by the movements of his body.

One of the most obvious examples of this body language to come to mind is the hip movement of your favorite golf pro on a particularly close putt.

You and I and other naive Sunday golfers would interpret such movement as an innocent, spontaneous command to the ball to get into the hole. Not so Fast. He puts the movement, the hip and the remainder of the body under the microscope and comes up with a whole bagful of meanings most of which are coated with sex.

Was your golf idol, for example, really flirting with your wife? And worse, did she reply in kind? Aha! And all along you thought it was body English. How were you to know that both of 'em were talking in forked tongue?

Anyway, I put down the book and, like a second grader who has just learned a new chapter of Dick and Jane and Spot, I sallied forth. I pumped up my chest, skipped across the beach, and stood in front of my sunbathing wife.

She didn't stir.

I turned my head, took a fresh breath of air and then pumped up my chest another painful notch, planted my feet apart in the sand, and pretended to scan the water while flexing my arm and hand muscles.

She moved. It was working. Fast, you sly dog, I thought.

Then she spoke. "Check the kids," she said without even a hint of amorous intent.

Undaunted, I moved away to catch my breath. This time I sucked in half of the air on the beach and returned to strike another sensuous pose.

"Is your bathing suit chaffing again?" she asked.

Without replying, I called on my last ounce of strength and sucked in the other half of the air on the beach. I was beginning to feel like a dirigible. My toes clutched at the sand.

"Oh, Mr. Atlas," she said, "unless you're trying to suffocate yourself or you want that suit to fall down right here in public I suggest you let you belly out."

It was deflating. But the real bruise on my ego came as we left the beach. Skipping along, kicking sand in the eyes of all 98-pound weaklings, I overheard a smartaleck kid exclaim to his mother, "There he goes! You know...the one I told you about. The man whose chest fell down to his stomach."

"Jerry! That's awful," she scolded. "It's not nice to talk about old people that way!"

Whatever Happened to Camping?

Here's Safety Tips For Bike Riders

As if by magic with the coming of warm weather throughout the entire country, the nation's approximately 50 million bicycle riders began appearing on streets, sidewalks and parks. Gerald E. Montgomery, Executive Director of the Greater Detroit Safety Council urges that both cyclists and motorists operate their respective vehicles defensively. In 1968, there were about 800 fatalities and 38,000 injuries resulting from collisions between bicycles and motor vehicles.

About three-quarters of the bicycle-motor vehicle collisions take place in the six-month period from April through September. According to a recent National Safety Council study, more boys than girls become involved in these collisions. The study also determined that bicycle-motor vehicle accidents were about 50 per cent more prevalent among children in the 10 to 14 age group than children below age 10. The reason seems to be that younger cyclists are more likely to ride on the sidewalks and other non-traffic areas.

The following tips should be observed by every cyclist interested in safety.

- Walk bicycles across heavily traveled intersections. To turn left at an intersection, stay to the right, dismount and walk the bicycle across one street, then head left to the opposite corner.

- If you ride in a group, travel single file, not side by side.

- Use hand signals to show the direction you intend to turn.

- If you ride at night, have a white front lamp and a red rear light in good working order. Reflective tape and light colored clothing are also recommended.

- Use both hands to control the bicycle at all times (except when signaling). Attach a basket or rack to the bicycle if you intend to carry books or packages when riding.

Mr. Montgomery feels that because a large proportion of bicycle accidents take place in residential areas, closer parental supervision is necessary. The basic problem seems to be that the average child primarily considers his bicycle as a toy rather than a vehicle. What is needed is proper safety education for the child, parental responsibility, and further awareness of the presence of cyclists by the motoring public.

W. E. Schulz Gets Contract

The W.E. Schulz Company of Northville received a $56,000 contract from the Pontiac Board of Education for the installation of foundations for expansion of Pontiac Northern High School.

Schulz Company was the lowest qualified bidder among 14 firms seeking the contract. The Board also approved a second contract for structural steel work at its Thursday evening meeting.

The Pontiac Northern project is expected to cost a total of about $5 million for all of the planned additions and alterations. The design calls for a two story addition to the academic area plus new facilities. Charles W. Sherman Associates, Inc., a Bloomfield Hills architectural firm whose principals have extensive experience in school design, created a second story addition with such innovations as a modular ceiling and demountable partition system that allows flexible planning for the future.

Schulz Co. expects to complete its work in 90 days. The entire project, however, according to Charles Sherman, president of Sherman Associates, will not be finished until last 1972.

Schoolcraft College To Get Mediator

Schoolcraft College Faculty Forum's negotiating team has announced that a mediator has been requested to appear on August 3rd.

Larry D. VanderMolen, co-chairman of the faculty team, said that "We are hopeful that the process of mediation will help to resolve some of the major issues that continue to stall negotiations. Progress has been minimal on all substantive issues, and a mediator from the State Labor Mediations Board might effectively speed up the process of collective bargaining at this time."

The Faculty Forum's negotiating team has been negotiating with representatives of the college board of trustees since January.

Coincidentally, VanderMolen recently presented a lecture, entitled "The Process of Collective Bargaining and Negotiations in Higher Education," at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

VanderMolen appeared before a seminar of graduate students specializing in higher education, directed by MSU's Professor Van C. Johnson. The Schoolcraft College political science instructor also presented a live simulation demo, strating the behavioral process of negotiations.

Don't Pollute Landscape

To the Editor:

Each election year, our office is besieged with complaints regarding the posting of political signs within the right of way of highways in Oakland County.

The laws of our State prohibit the affixing of signs to trees upon any public highway and further prohibits the placing of unauthorized signs within county rights of way. The laws provide for both civil and criminal liability for violation.

Aside from the unsightly conditions which these signs cause, and the ill feeling which is sometimes generated among candidates for office; there is an expenditure of Road Commission funds in removing illegal signs, which we feel could be better used for the maintenance and construction of highways.

We do not believe it to be the desire of any candidate for office to knowingly violate the laws of our State. Therefore, we ask your cooperation in making this information known to all campaign workers in an effort to see that our highways are kept free from all political advertisements during the election campaign.

Respectfully yours,

An amazing new ingredient now comes in this familiar package.

It's called a longer-lasting engine. Longer lasting than what? Longer lasting than our old engine, which in case you didn't know, was one of the toughest engines around. The new version is more powerful. (Top speed: 81 mph vs. 78 mph.) It has better acceleration. And most important, it weighs the same as the older version. So it doesn't have to work as hard to get you where you're going. But the generation gap ends there:

The new engine will still give you a good 26 miles to a gallon of gas. It still takes pints of oil instead of quarts. It still abstains from antifreeze. (Because it's still air-cooled.) And it's still conveniently located in the rear for better traction in mud and snow. Yes, all the things that made our old package a hit last year are back again this year. Including our old package.

No-Deposit Bottles Stiffling Incentive

In the Old Days, hard working American kids used to go along the highways picking up empty pop bottles for the few cents they could bring at the local market.

Such kids usually ended up millionaires in later life, so the story goes.

Today America may be losing one of its most important sources of future tycoons. The deposit bottle is passing away, regardless of conservationists who despise the roads and lakes littered with no deposit, no return bottles.

Even if some enterprising youngster is lucky enough to find some aged deposit bottle, he faces a tough task. Local stores report that it is common practice to pay the deposit only on bottles of a brand they sell.

Say some kid discovers a 10 oz. 7-UP bottle. He then has to call every local store until he finds one that carries 7-UP — not just 7-UP but 7-UP in 10 oz. bottles — 8 or 12 oz. won't be accepted. This might involve five or six phone calls and with phone prices what they are the kid might not get enough out of the deal for a piece of pink bubble gum.

One person, according to Joseph Josaitis, assistant administrator of the Coca-Cola Bottling Company in Detroit, is that every bottling company is making more and more no deposit bottles. Profit is the motive. It simply takes less money to make a bottle that can be tossed away than to go through the costly operations of collecting and refilling deposit bottles.

Another reason for the disappearing American tradition is that stores are less and less inclined to stock deposit bottles, since they have to pay a worker to pack the returned bottles into the back room. As a result, a store that does sell deposit bottles only take in the brands which they sell. This keeps the cost down as much as possible.

Yet the most depressing cause of our disappearing deposit bottles is public apathy. Grown-ups would rather buy a no-deposit bottle and throw it in the trash or on the highway than go to the trouble and expense of paying two or three cents a bottle. Josaitis said that Coke raised their deposit on bottles hoping that people would return them — but people didn't.

Until the public grows partial to deposit bottles or the conservation people convince the legislature to pass a bill, America's future tycoons will just have to start out in a less traditional line of business.

'IT ISN'T FAIR' says six-year-old Ricky Getzen, 761 Thayer, who echoes the complaints of youngsters everywhere that a young guy hasn't got half a chance anymore to become a millionaire—all because someone had the fool notion to manufacture non-deposit bottles to replace those fortune making kind that older folks remember.
