Northville Fair Makes Comeback Today

Closing of the harness racing season this week signaled the "reopening" of the historic Northville Fair at Northville Downs beginning today (Thursday) and running through Sunday.

Even as horses and drivers began the trip from the Downs to the Detroit Race Course, fair participants began unloading equipment and setting up their booths and wares.

Downs Ends Record Meet

Northville Downs closed the curtain on its biggest harness racing season ever Tuesday night as the sulkies made their way to Wolverine Harness Raceway for a 60-night meet.

The Downs' 54-night meet fell just short of the $20 million mark with a total mutuel handle of $19,907,318 compared to $18,576,249 last year.

Attendance also jumped this year from 244,807 to 264,663. Credit for gains in betting and attendance was attributed to the track's new tri-level clubhouse.

The city of Northville will receive its biggest slice of the mutuel handle ever for a single meet. Specifically, the city receives 20 per cent of the five per Helicopter rides will originate from the grassy oval inside the Downs track.

Sky diving shows are planned intermittently on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Fair activities will continue Saturday and Sunday, opening at 10 a.m. on Saturday and at 1 p.m. on Sunday. They will close at midnight on both nights.

Four special events are planned during the fair. These include the VFW-sponsored Drum & Bugle Corps Competition Friday; the 4-H Club Horse Show on Saturday; the world-famous Hurricane Hell Drivers shows on Saturday; and the Waylon Jenning's Country Music shows on Sunday.

(There is no general admission to the fair grounds and midway. However, admission will be charged for the events involving the Antique Show, the Hell Drivers, the country music, and the band competition. Parking, to be provided in the Downs main parking lot and in its lot on the west side of Center Street, will be available for a 50-cent fee).

TIME RUNS OUT--As racing at Northville Downs came to a halt this week and trainers began moving out the horses, dealers began moving in their wares for the Northville Fair that runs through Sunday at the Downs. For a moment, it looked as if Northville's "Clock Man," Melvin Anderson, might be timing one of the horses moving from the Downs to DRC for the harness meet at the Livonia track. But he's really just moving in one of his prize grandfather clocks to be displayed at the fair's antique exhibit.

Teachers Weigh Agreement

Teacher Contract Settled

Settlement of the master teaching contract was reached last week Wednesday night between the Northville Education Association (NEA) and the school district, marking the earliest settlement in the history of negotiations in Northville.

Recommendation by the executive board of the teachers association was slated to be made yesterday (Wednesday) an association spokesman said. If the committee recommends approval, teachers probably will vote to ratify the contract September 8 during the first day of staff orientation. If it rejects the proposal, negotiations presumably will resume, The Record was told.

Final ratification by the school board is expected September 14.

Under the contract proposal, classes are set to begin Thursday, September 10 and the school year will end June 18.

'I think it's great,'' Superintendent Raymond Spear said of the early settlement. "I am pleased we have reached the point in negotiations in Northville where we can settle a contract without a strike."

The previous three times contracts have been negotiated (1966, 1967, 1968,) settlement was reached only after teachers went on strike.

Commenting on the contract, Spear said "It's fair and equitable to both parties."

(Meanwhile, contract talks between the Novi Education Association and the Novi School District are continui with no hint of a settlement.) both the NEA and Ner tor the dealet w t into mediation Wedne Pay at 3 'y 10 r.m. all but the salary schedule has been resolved, and the entire contract was wrapped up by 10:30 p.m.

Contract negotiations started in January and entered mediation July 14. On both July 23 and Wednesday, the teams mediated the talks themselves without the aid of a mediator from the State Labor Relations Commission.

Leading the list of terms of the new one-year contract is the salary schedule covering the 152 full-time equated teachers employed in the district. Bachelor degree (BA) teachers will receive an $8,000 starting salary with a top of $12,800 after 11 years. Masters degree (MA) teachers will receive $8,750 starting and $15,150

Park Plan Riles 'Estates Citizens

Vociferous Northville Estates property owners came close Monday night to shooting down a suggestion thot a neighborhood park be ablished in their subdivision but the city council delayed decision on the matter for 60 days.

Also, decisions on three other suggested neighborhood park proposals were delayed for a month - or until Tuesday, September 8.

All four park proposals were, recommended recently by a citizens park committee after several months of study. Monday's meeting was for the purpose of airing views of citizens in the areas of the suggested parks.

Park sites are recommended in Northville Estates, west of the Bell Telephone substation on North Center Street, in an area bounded by Maplewood, Hill, Carpenter and Horton streets or street right-of-ways, and at the northeast corner of Baseline and Carpenter streets.

Neighborhood parks have been defined as one-half to one or more acres of open space reserved for "passive" recreational activity and/or picnic and relaxation centers primarily for use by citizens within the park neighborhood.

Aside from the Northville Estates proposal (no specific site location was mentioned), only the Maplewood area proposal drew public protest.

But if there was an absence of objection elsewhere it was more than made up by the resounding protests of Northville Estates citizens who made up the bulk of Monday's capacity crowd. In addition to verbal protests, a petition containing signatures of 67 of the 96 subdivision property owners, was presented to the council urging rejection of a park there.

Basic objections included subdivision lots (one-half acre or more) are of sufficient size to make the need Continued on Page 12-A

Straub, Klein, Schaeffer Win

Pursell Ousts Kuhn; Township Vote 43%

Two Northville Township Board incumbents were eliminated from the November ballot Tuesday as 43-percent of the eligible township voters gave GOP nominations to Joseph Straub for treasurer and to Leonard Klein and Charles Schaeffer for two trustee posts

Ousted were veteran Treasurer Alex Lawrence and Trustee-appointee William Smith, and three other Republican candidates - Halton Axtell, Richard Dunchock and Wilson

In the city of Northville, where 28-percent of the eligible electors turned out at the primary polls, voters joined those of the township in supporting 'Carl Pursell's GOP upset over Incumbent State Senator George

Although the city's Precinct 3 Dakland County) gave the edge to Wesley McAtee over County Commissioner Lew Coy, the Republican incumbent won nomination district-wide. William Roberts was unopposed for the Democratic nomination in this 27th

District post. On the Democratic side of the commissioner race in Wayne County's 26th District, Larry VanderMolen of Northville Township won locally but lost district-wide to John McCann of Livonia, while former Livonia Mayor Harvey Moelke was an easy victor locally and district-wide for the Republican nomination to this commission seat.

Pursell, present Wayne County commissioner in the 26th District, pulled off a surprising victory over Senator Kuhn, Republican Senate majority whip, and he enjoyed comfortable margins locally.

Heaviest voter interest here centered on the township board races, where Straub's 290-vote margin over Lawrence, a former trustee who has been treasurer of the township since 1962, assures him election in November since there is no Democratic competition for this seat. Straub presently is a township trustee.

Next to the unopposed Republican nominees for supervisor and clerk, Gunnar Stromberg (638) and Eleanor Hammond (681), Straub led the ticket with 463.

Klein led the Republican trustee candidates with 431 votes, followed by Schaeffer with 294, Axtell 236, Dunchock and Smith tied at 223 and Wilson Tyler with 142.

Unopposed Democratic candidate for trustee, Joseph Fiorilli, polled 147

A Kings Mill resident, relative-newcomer Schaeffer won his margin of victory by out-polling all other candidates with opposition in his home precinct. Schaesser, 25, garnered 159 of his 294 votes from Precinct 2.

Klein (253), Straub (236), and Axtell (196) were heavy winners in Precinct 1.

It appeared on the basis of early returns that Lenore Romney may have run stronger in Northville than she did clsewhere in winning an apparent razor-thin nomination over her Republican opponent, Robert Huber. In the city, Mrs. Romney won her bid for the US Senate 246-202, and she was the 416-338 favorite in the

The former governor's wife lost only one local precinct, 119-204 in the township's Precinct 2.

Incumbent US Senator Philip Hart, Democrat, was unopposed.

In the 19th Congressional race, where Incumbent Republican Jack McDonald was unopposed, city Democratic voters gave the edge to H. Lawrence Wright (R) in P-2, Larry Patrick O'Neill of Livonia over his three opponents. Fred Harris of Farmington won the nomination, however.

And in the 2nd Congressional District, township voters gave the edge to Democrat challenger Bruce Neal over R. Michael Stillwagon, 89-62. Neal, the winning nominee, will take on Incumbent Representative Marvin Esch, unopposed GOP primary candidate, in November.

Neither political party candidate for state representative in the 35th District, Incumbent Democrat Marvin Stempien and Republican Robert Swanson, faced opposition in the primary.

Finally, local precinct delegate winners were:

City - Robert Freydl (R) in P-1; John Canterbury (D) in P-2; Janet McLaughlin (R) in P-3, and Angelo Chinni (D) in P-3.

AN ORDINANCE creating a low-cost housing commission, at least initially for the purpose of studying and recommending housing for senior citizens, has been enacted by the Northville City Council. Next step is appointment of five members of serve on the commission. Meanwhile, private council discussion of possible acquisition of a Northville home to serve as a meeting place for senior citizens is continuing.

A SPECIAL meeting between councilmen and members of the citizens charter review committee has been set for August 24. The council-appointed committee has completed a complete review of the charter and in a report to the council is recommending those changes it considers important. Councilmen, who were given copies of the report Monday, are studying it prior to their meeting with the committee. Should the council agree with part or all of the recommendations, proposed changes probably will be placed on the spring ballot.

HEARING on street resurfacing assessments has been adjourned until next Monday evening when the council is expected to approve, disapprove or modify specific assessments. Comments by affected citizens this past Monday were taken under advisement. Assessments average $60 to $70 per homeowner.

BID OPENING for street paving and city DPW equipment also is slated for next Monday night.

Pony-tail Gals Get A Chance

Thirteen and 14-year-old girls who want to do up their hair in "pony-tail" style can now compete in the popular pony-tail contest at the 1970 Michigan

E.J. (Jeff) Keirns, State Fair general manager, said that because of the popularity of long hair, a new category for 13 and 14-year-old girls has been added this year, making a total of five classes. The other age groups are 3-5, 6-7, 8-9 and 10-12.

Pony-tail judging, one of a series of children's contests held during the fair each year, will begin at 10 a.m. Monday, August 31, with registration at 9 a.m.

The fair runs from Friday, August 28, through Labor Day, September 7.

82 Get Degrees At Schoolcraft

Schoolcraft College has awarded degrees and certificates to 82 students who completed courses of study during the Spring Semester which ended June

Among those to graduate from this area was Mark Chadwick of 20210 Westview Drive. Chadwick received a two-year degree in architectural design, plans to pursue his studies at the University of Michigan this fall.

The many new acquaintances they made in Northville wish them a continued happy vacation for the remainder of their visit and a "Guten Flug" on their flight home.

Plymouth Fine Arts Council's new exhibit in the Detroit Edison window of the Mini-mall features pottery by Roy Pedersen, art teacher in the Northville school system. Mr. Pedersen, who graduated from the University of Wisconsin and studied ceramics there from internationally know ceramist, Harvey Littleton, lives in Plymouth. Also featured in the exhibit are paintings by Stewart Ashlee. Persons wishing information about exhibits by the council are asked to call Jessie Hudson, 453-3551, or General Chairman Joanne Hulce, 453-3858.

Winner of the free drawing sponsored by Queen's Way to Fashion after the sidewalk sale Saturday was Mrs. Peggy Seever of 380 Eaton. She will receive her choice of ladies' slacks or a jumper reports Mrs. Gloria Mayer of 47016 Elmsmere, a fashion counselor for the Illinois Company.

A former resident of Northville, Mrs. Roy Covell of California, was back in town last week visiting an old friend, Mrs. Ella Liebetreu of 430 East Main Street. During her visit here Mrs. Covell received 10 calls from old friends and accompanied her hostess on a Bob-Lo cruise with the Senior Citizens. She returned home on Tuesday.

"Exciting exhibits and demonstrations" are promised this week by the Three Cities Art Club members and invited guests who will take part in the Northville Fair.

To be staged in the Northville Downs clubhouse, they will be coupled with educational exhibits on the lower level of the new, air-conditioned

Those to demonstrate are:

Hazel Begole, watercolor techniques, for fun; Pat Scott, rug hooking; Kate Edgerton, spinning; Phyllis Swope macrame; Elise Kulick, ceramics; Grace Kabel, baskets; Jessie Hudson, batiks; and Stan Hench, pencil portraits (on Saturday only).

The exhibits will be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday through Sunday.

Touring Youths Win 'Eisteddfod'

The Musical Youth International, a group of 100 musicians and choir members currently touring the British Isles has won a total of $500 at the Teesside International Eisteddfod (Welsh for musical contest), held in Middleburgh, England, it was announced last week.

The International, composed of a 50 member concert band and a 50-member mixed choir, with which two Northville residents are traveling, took first place in the band competition, and second place in the choir competition.

Don Buckmaster, of 19677 Maxwell Road, participated in a woodwind quartet that won first place in ensemble competition. Playing first chair clarinet, Buckmaster was given the responsibility of tuning up the entire orchestra.

Robert Shafer of 18101 Sheldon Road also is traveling with the choir.

The group has received standing ovations in every concert they have played throughout the British Isles.

They will return home to give a concert Sunday evening in Ann Arbor's Hill auditorium. The concert begins at 8:30 and admission will be $1.

Many of the articles on sale will be displayed inside the barn, which Ware recently refinished into a small, early American apartment, she added.

The home itself is a charming reminder of decorating trends of the early 1800's. On the first floor the living room and kitchen area have been repancled with barn siding, accented by an antique door with one large plate glass window and an ornate wrought iron door knob.

The rooms are partially furnished with such things as an antique church pew and an old wooden kitchen cabinet. Ware himself refinished the cabinet which features a mirror, a sliding bread board and special drawers for sugar and flour, opened by white china knobs.

Teens to Assist At Virginia Health Fair

Ten area teenagers are leaving Sunday to assist in an Appalachia health fair in Virginia which is being co-sponsored by the United Presbyterian Board of National Missions and the Council of the Southern Mountains with headquarters in Berea, Kentucky.

Accompanying the youngsters will be the Reverend Timothy Johnson, assistant minister of Northville Presbyterian Church, and Mrs. Johnson.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Wheatley and their family also will be participating as Dr. Wheatley is to serve as the physician and Mrs. Wheately as nurse. Completing the professional staff will be Miss Carol Clark, a dental hygienist.

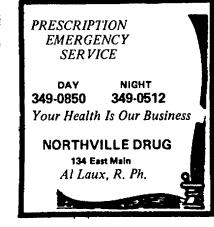

Arrangements for the Northville-area youngsters to participate in the health fair were completed by Mr. Johnson on a spring trip to the area. Last summer he organized a) work group to Tennessee. Participating this year will be Barbara Cuppett, Robin Day, Sarah Horner, John Jerome, William McGuire, Doug Mowat, John Regenhardt, Elma Sarto, Richard Shank and Jennifer Thomas. They will be headquartered at Haysi, Virginia, for their week-long expedition. The health fair, which will offer free examinations to area residents, will be conducted for three days in Haysi, for two in Clinchco and for one day in McClure. The teens will register those participating, help with blood pressure and other routine tests, and will work with teenagers from the area. Haysi is about 10 miles from the coal-mining region, Johnson explains. In preparation for the arrival of the health fair, the three communities have had advance publicity of the event, which combines entertainment with the health-o-rama-type service to draw both children and parents. The health fair for which the Haysi

MRS. MARK ANDREW BLACK

Northville Couple Speaks Vows Here

Wedding vows were exchanged by Deborah Elizabeth Golze and Daniel Rex Smith on July 18 in the First Presbyterian Church of Northville. The Reverend Timothy Johnson performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Gloze of 616 Reed Court and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Rex Smith of 48800 West Nine Mile.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin and lace. The empire styled dress was accented by short double puffed sleeves and a laced trimmed train. She carried a bouquet of daisies and yellow roses.

Rebecca Golze served her sister as maid of honor. She wore a floor-length dress of yellow taffeta with an dered overlay of silk organza.

Other attendents were Sandra Hood of Roseville, bridesmaid, Rachel Golze, junior bridesmaid and Ruth Golze, flowergirl. All wore outfits similar to the maid of honor. Their

A wedding trip to Niagara Falls Canada followed the marriage of Lois Marie Horsfall and Mark Andrew Black on July 25 in the First Baptist Church

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs, Owen C. Horsfall of 490 Orchard Drive, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Black of 896 Carpenter Street.

The Reverend Cedric Whitcomb performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decked with flowers, palms and candles. Music was provided by organist Diana Black, sister of the bridegroom, and soloist Burt DeRusha. He sang the "Wedding Prayer" and "O Lord Most Holy."

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a traditional white floor-length gown with lace flowers and seed pearl decorations. More lace flowers were repeated on the train.

White satin ribbons hung from her wedding bouquet of white daisies, gladiolus and sweetheart roses. She wore a fingertip-length veil which fell from a headpiece of pearls and flowers.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Donald Gardner, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Sue List, Cindy Beyer, Valerie King, Bonnie Woodard and Donna Brown.

They wore similar floor-length gowns of sky blue crepe with long sheer sleeves. All carried nosegays of roses and dasies and wore matching floral headpieces.

Sheri Whitcomb, flower girl, wore a dress that resembled the bridesmaid's and carried a basket of flowers and rose petals. Greg Homrich, the ring bearer, wore a white suit to match the ushers.

Robert Hines Jr. served as best man. Groomsmen were Jerry Crawford, Don Gardner, Paul Bedford, Deane Sager and Dan Meadows Extra Ushers were Brad Phillips and Dan Black, brother of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Horsfall wore an aqua floor-length gown with matching accessories and a pink and red corsage. Mrs. Black wore a light green floor-length gown with matching accessories and a similar corsage.

Following the ceremony a buffet dinner was served in the home of the bride. About 250 guests attended from Michigan, Ohio and Illinois. A wedding cake made to resemble the Baptist Church was made by the bridegroom's grandmother for the occasion.

For the Canadian wedding trip the new Mrs. Black wore a silver dress with matching accessories. Like her husband, she was graduated from Northville High School and is attending Schoolcraft College.

The new couple will make their

In Hands of Wixom Men

Stone, Clay Becomes Work of Art

Jewelry, sculpture and water color painting are the artistic "molds of mind" of two Wixom residents.

George Tuorin of 1866 Evona has been at his hobby making jewelry out of silver and semi-precious stones since his navy days when he made bracelets out of quarters and cat's-eye stones found in the South Pacific.

"We used to give them to the officers and men," he smiled.

George Weeks of 2192 Fairfield started his hobby - sculpturing - 10 years ago when he answered an ad for adult education classes at Walled Lake High School.

His interest grew into a membership in the Pontiac Society of Artists through which he met Ken Bristol, a professional artist with studios in Franklin. Bristol got him interest in watercolors.

"I picked up a lot from him, and I'm trying now to improve my technique," Weeks said last week. "Maybe someday I'll go into oils."

Tuorin, a life long Michigan resident, who is married and has three children, employs the out of fashion "lost wax process" when he fashions delicate or complex shapes out of

"I guess a lot of people don't do it anymore," he commented, "but I prefer it."

and other pieces of jewelry both for himself and his friends. "It's done," he explained, "with wax. A pattern or shape is molded out of wax and then a special mixture of plaster, much like the kind dentists use to make dental impressions, is molded - around it."

After it hardens, it's heated to between 800 and 1,000 degrees, the wax drips out and the cavity is filled with molten silver.

The heating process takes anywhere from three to 15 hours depending on the size of the mold and the complexity of the design.

Turoin also works with stones: sapphires, quartz, and opals.

"A stone can be either rounded or faceted - cut with many sides," he explained. "If it's faceted, the polishing is done on a special wheel impregnated with diamond grit." Wheels used in grinding and polishing are made from a variety of materials, including cast iron, copper and plexiglass. They may be impregnated with a number of compounds depending on the hardness of the stone.

Grinding stones is no problem for Tuorin. He has built his own machine to hold the stone against the wheel at the proper angle.

He "rough cuts" the stone with a diamond wheel to remove all excess material. Then he fastens it to an arm of his machine which permits him to hold the stone in precisely the correct angle so as to get the maximum degree of luster and brilliance from the facet.

George Weeks' favorite medium, although he started out in clay, is slate. He has taken lessons from Hazel Nauman, a sculpture and ceramics teacher from Oxbow Lake, and J. Holland, an instructor at Detroit's Society of Arts and Crafts.

"I got a good background in anatomy from him (Holland), when I studied under him at the Jewish Community Center in Detroit," Weeks reminisced.

At the Jewish center, where he attended classes in the early Sixties, he studied with live models and worked primarily in clay. It wasn't until later, after he began working on his own, that he began to experiment in slate.

"First," he said, "you sketch the design on the stone in pencil, then with a coping saw, you cut it out. After that it has to be shaped with a chisel and finished with steel wool.

"You can't hit slate with a hammer, you have to scrape it, almost push it into shape."

Weeks has been doing watercolors for the past two years. He enjoys landscapes but also does seascapes.

'Water colors are harder than oils," he noted, "because you can't go over what you've done... you'll only get a muddy texture. You can always make what you've done darker, but you can never make it lighter."

Another problem in water colors, according to Weeks, is colors running together.

"Your paper has to be dry; if it isn't and you run one color too close to any other, they'll run together."

Weeks lives with his wife, daughter, son and daughter-in-law.

Public Uses Schools More

Public use of school-owned buildings more than doubled this year over figures for 1967-68 according to a report-recently released by Northville Public Schools.

According to the report, school buildings were used by organizations a total of 1,561 times compared with 591 uses during the previous period. Though usage increased over 260 per cent there was a slight drop in money collected for use of the buildings.

Earl Busard, business manager for the district, said usage charges were reduced and a total of $5,981 was collected this year. During the previous period, $6,333 was collected.

"Generally there was more usage of the buildings by both the public and school personnel," Busard said, "and a slight loss in the amount of money gained in charges for thie right of use of the Northville Public Schools buildings."

Broken down by building, the Community Building (now the Administration Building) was used 62 times and a total of $334.72 was charged in 1967-68. In 1969-70, the same building was used only 14 times with charges of $31.20 levied. This is approximately a 77 per cent loss in usage of the building and a 90 per cent loss in charges.

At Amerman Elementary, the report shows that $94.60 was charged in 1967-68 for 277 uses. In 1969-70, $29.60 was charged for 156 uses. This is about 76 per cent loss in charges and 44 percent loss in use.

Main Street Elementary was used seven times and $80 was charged during the first period. The building was used three times and nothing was charged for use in 1969-70. This is a loss of $80 in charges and a 57 per cent drop in use.

Moraine Elementary charged nothing for its 67 uses in 1967-68. A total of $10.40 was collected in 1969-70 for a total of 173 uses. According to the report, this is a 258 per cent increase in use.

Cooke Junior High was used 51 times in 1967-68 with charges of $1,376 collected. In 1969-70, the building was used 387 times with only $616.30 charges. This represents a loss of 48 per cent in charges and a gain of 759 per cent in use.

The Junior High Annex (known as the Administration Building in 1967-68) charged nothing and was used only seven times in 1967-68. In 1969-70, $390 was charged for a total of 299 uses. This shows an increase of $390 in charges and a gain of 292 uses.

The Senior High showed a record of being used 120 times in 1967-68 with a total of $683.44 charged that year. In 1969-70, a total of 529 uses gained the 'district $1,043.50.

OBITUARIES

LAURA BASSETT

A lifelong resident of this area, Mrs. Laura Bassett of 43710 Twelve Mile in Novi, died Monday in the Farmington Nursing Home. She died at the age of 83, following a long illness.

Mrs. Bassett was born in Northville on May 11, 1887 to Charles and Naomi Downer Kent. She moved to Novi 75 years ago and married Charles Bassett on January 17, 1906.

Survivors include a son and two daughters, Mrs. Edna Eno of Royal Oak, Miss Marion Bassett of Lapeer and Kenneth Bassett of Novi. Others are two sisters, Mrs. Nettie Bolton of Plymouth and Mrs. Ralph Yerkes of Howell. She had three grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held today (Thursday) at 1 p.m. in the Harbin Funeral home with the Reverend R.A. Mitchinson officiating. Burial will be in Rural Hill Cemetery.

SUMMER JOB - One of Cindy Farnum's weekly duties in her job at the Novi City Park, is to check the water condition. Samples are taken from four different places and sent to he Oakland County Health Department for testing so that local officials can be sure that swimming water is pollution free.

Park Water Safe In Walled Lake

Novi city park on Walled Lake is "well below the pollution index," according to James Rothschild of the Oakland County Department of Rothschild, in a letter to the Novi city council recently, recommended that a permit application from Herman Bohammon to operate a bathing beach on the opposite shore of the lake from the city's park be denied because of pollution.

"The facility is heavily polluted and should be locked up and posted as unsafe for swimming," the letter read.

Final approval was granted for swimming at the city's park July 17, according to Rothschild.

"Reasons for the difference between one side of the lake and the other" Rothschild explained, "are especially in shallow water like that of the park where the sun kills much of it. Also, there is the current of the water which deposits pollution from all shores of the lake on Bohannon's property."

The city has been taking samples from its beach area weekly, said Rothschild, although this is not necessary by law.

Original samples were taken in late June and early July. Ten samples were taken from four different locations: two in the beach area and one on either side of it.

The city's samples contained 100 colonies of bacteria per 100 milliliters of water. Bohannon's samples placed "well above the 1,000 colony cut off point," said Rothschild.

Police Contract Doubtful in Wixom

Settlement of police contract negotiations remains a question mark in Wixom as the possibility of compulsory arbitration grows stronger.

Biggest stumbling block is salary a possible $100 difference that has both sides with their backs to the wall.

If neither side budges, said Assistant to the Mayor Robert Case this week, the matter probably will go to compulsory arbitration.

Such a move would mean both sides - city and police - would each pick one representative and jointly choose a third man or have the third party appointed by the Michigan Employees Relations Board.

Cost of compulsory arbitration, estimates City Attorney Gene Schnelz, would be at least $185 per day. Of this, $150 would be paid to the arbitrator and $35 to a court reporter, he Initial demands of the police association, member of the AFL-CIO, put the annual salary of a patrolman at $10,200 with three years experience in the community, according to Walter Sprenger, union steward. That demand was scaled down as low as $9,900.

The city, according to Case, who along with Councilman Charles McCall and Mayor Gilbert Willis, is handling negotiations, has offered as high as

Board Tables Bus Bids

OK Blacktop Contract, Hire Three New Teachers

Novi board of education approved a contract to blacktop high school walks and hired three new teachers but tabled approval of bids for two new school busses until the next meeting at a special meeting Tuesday.

The board also heard the report of Superintendent Thomas Dale that architect's plans for the proposed Village Oaks school are ready except for elevations to be supplied by Kaufman and Broad developers. The board approved including in the specifications alternate bids for air conditioning and carpeting.

Administrators Dale and T. Richard Hendrickson were instructed to make formal application to the Novi City Council to use the Ingersoll drain for storm water at the new school site,

In tabling action on the bus bids until the August 11 meeting, the board asked the superintendent to obtain information from other districts using automatic transmissions. Bruce Simmons expressed concern about the condition of the present fleet of busses which he had inspected that morning. He asked assurance that body rust, tire inspection and mechanical work be started immediately.

The problem of delivery delay in automatic transmission busses to order of about four months led the board to ask Dale to obtain additional information. The board also asked for investigation of the possibility of leasing or building a bus service garage so that the $100,000 bus investment can have better maintenance.

Low bid of $511.20 from Detroit Concrete was accepted to blacktop walks between the high school and the portables.

The board approved hiring Mrs. Nancy Stamp to replace Mrs. Ruth Tait as special education teacher. Miss Paula Finnell was approved to replace Mrs. Sara Sass in sixth grade, and Gary Kelly to replace Richard Elie in high school social studies. At their request Mrs. Gass and Mrs. Tait were transferred to other teaching classes. The new teachers all are Eastern Michigan University graduates.

The board also approved adoption of the Ginn and Company French text series upon recommendation of Mrs. Rosemary Crippen, French teacher, at a cost of $845 plus supplies.

The board moved to seek air conditioning bids as alternates with the thought that it may be used for a summer school program in the future.

It also instructed the architect to put in de-watering specifications for the middle school site on a unit basis. It also discussed possibility of hiring a business clerk for paperwork with contractors on the construction of the

The board repeated a request to work toward obtaining items on the priorities list drawn up by school principals. Robert Wilkins also asked that the district "actively seek and choose" teachers for positions to be available when the new schools are in operation, commenting that "how the middle school, especially, is established will determine its caliber."

LaVerne DeWaard expressed dissatisfaction with the high school's National Honor Society and asked that it be reviewed by the administration as he feels the district is "missing the board in terms of morale of students who work hard academically and do not make the society." Wilkins asked for a report in September.

Police Move Irks Mayor

Novi Mayor Joseph Crupi charged Monday night that the police association had not taken adequate time to discuss the selection of a third man to fill the compulsory arbitration board which is to decide finally the Novi police contract package.

Crupi, city representative on the three-man board, said he met with the police representative, Robert Stames, on July 15 to discuss the selection of a third man. No decision was reached at that meeting, Crupi said.

Crupi later received a copy of a letter dated July 16 and addressed to the Michigan Employee Relations Board, asking them to appoint a third

"I thought," said Crupi, "that we would each make recommendations and take them back to our lawyers for consideration, but the association, (Novi Police Officers Association), made no attempt at that."

Chosen by the state board was Mark Kahn, a professor of economics at Wayne State University.

Arbitration is slated to begin September 1.

Nine Mile Plan Told

Development Hinges on Paving

A potential city tax benefit of $1.5 million resulting from industrial development apparently hinges on the paving of Nine Mile Road, between Novi Road and Ennishore.

At least that's what the Novi City Council was led to believe Monday night. Theodore Doman of Doman Associates of Livonia and Irving Rich of Irving Rich Associates of Southfield, property owners on the north side of Nine Mile, revealed tentative plans calling for an industrial development initially involving part of 200 acres open for development. The project described by Doman, involving 47 acres, would net the city $387,000 in tax revenue, councilmen were told. While no names or description of the industrial plant were revealed, councilmen were told the plant would involve 509,000 square feet of industrial space and employ 1,018 people.

However, industrial development on this and adjacent property apparently hinges on the paving of Nine Mile Road. Cost of paving has been put at $173,000.

Argument flared between Doman and Rich and Councilman Edwin Presnell concerning the manner in which the project would be paid for.

Presnell cited a city ordinance a developer to pay 100 percent of cost of road improvement abutting his Doman said he was unaware of the ordinance but was willing to pay "a fair and equitable share." He said he was prepared to pay 80-percent of the road improvement in front of his property, with the other 20-percent to be absorbed by the city and residential property owners in the area.

Councilman Denis Berry pointed out that the city was not anxious to see anyone pay more than his fair share but that "Novi has many roads to pave and they all have their own priorities. "We simply can't afford it," Berry lamented.

Rich pointed out that, on a 15 year bond issue, the city's share of the bill would be "around the neighborhood of $2,000 per year."

Council postponed the question until a public hearing be held or August 26, determining the necessity of the improvement and the formula in which cost should be spread between industry, city and residential property owners.

In other business Monday night the council:

- Postponed action of a resolution concerning a sewer development in the area of Grand River and Novi Roads pending reports from Johnson and Anderson, city engineers.

- Directed City Manager Dallas Zonkers to ask the Oakland County Health Department to check 13 public easements on Walled Lake for Transfered from John Hendricks to Clara Tessmer a specially designated merchants license. The license allows the sale, but not the consummation of alcohol.

 Granted permission to Kaufman and Board to put individualized frames bearing the oak tree emblem of Village Oaks subdivision around the city's standard street signs within the subdivision.

- Directed Zonkers to collect all bids concerning the DPW garage and bring them before council at one time.

- Set tonight (Thursday) for an executive meeting concerning City Assessor Harold Ackley and the job he is to do in connection with the reappraisal firm of Hunter associates. The council last month hired the

Residents of Northville Township

NOTICE — This paid advertisement is published for the purpose of providing information for the citizens of Northville township regarding the proposed "Brooks shopping center," Seven Mile at Haggerty road. Hopefully, it will serve as evidence of our intentions and good faith. We ask only that township citizens, as well as members of the township board, consider the facts presented here objectively before reaching a decision on our request to develop our vacant acreage for commercial use.

SUBJECT:

Major Tax Benefits from Proposed Regional Shopping Center

As some of you may know, I have asked the Northville Township Board of Trustees to rezone my vacant land at the Northwest Corner of Seven Mile and Haggerty to B-3 to allow me the opportunity to develop a fine regional shopping center which will serve this community and the surrounding area.

The petition is now before the Township Board for a decision.

I WANT YOU TO KNOW:

- That I plan to build a beautiful enclosed mall shopping center on the far Eastern edge of the Township featuring the better quality department and specialty stores which the area deserves.
 - That I plan to construct the shopping center in such a way that will insure the preservation of the beautiful environment of the residences nearby.

- That it is estimated that my proposed development WILL CONTRIBUTE OVER $300,000.00 TO THE NORTHVILLE SCHOOL DISTRICT in real estate taxes.
- That the above real estate tax contribution will be accomplished while relieving the school system of A POTENTIAL ADDITION TO THE SCHOOL POPULATION OF 330 CHILDREN.
- Because no residences will be constructed, there will not be children added to the present overcrowded schools and no addition to already burdensome budget.

Being aware of the merits of this project, I hope that the Township Board will approve this beautiful and valuable addition to the Township and its tax rolls.

Thieves Escape But Coins Recovered

In Northville. . .

Two coin boxes, stolen when thieves broke into the Good Time Party Store on July 31, were recovered by police a few hours later but the thieves escaped.

Police were called to the scene at 4:21 a.m. when a security officer on duty at Northville Downs reported hearing a loud banging in the vicinity of the store. Police followed, then lost two men who ran from the store. The two coin boxes dropped during the

The recovered boxes contained $44,25 in quarters.

Two double-door parking meters were found by John Mickalacki on July 31 in a creek near his home at 505 Griswold. Police said the meters had been forced open and an undetermined amount of money stolen.

Another stolen bicycle was reported to police Saturday - this one by 13-year-old Joe Watson of 34! East Cady Street. The youth said the purple bike, with a five-speed gear shift, was taken from his front yard on July 29.

The theft marked the sixth stolen bicycle to be reported in the past month, police noted. Youngsters are advised not to leave their bikes unattended in yards.

A tape deck and three tapes with an estimated total value of $221 was stolen from a car parked at 129 East Main Street between 2 - 6 p.m. on August 1. Owner Wilford F. Wilson of 10247 Seven Mile Road reported the *****

A broken plate glass window on the east front door of the Spinning Wheel Fabric Shop was reported Sunday by Mrs. Virginia McLean of Northville. The window apparently was smashed by a stone sometime over the weekend.

McKeever of 1037 Allen Drive, was released on the same day.

Seven-year-old Steve Marcotte of 41427 Crabtree Lane, Plymouth was injured on July 29 when the bicycle he was driving ran into a car driven by Lenora Jean Paterson of 537 West Main Street. The car and bike were heading south along Northville road near Mynk's Restaurant.

The boy was taken by police to St. Mark Hospital in Livonia where he received treatment for a cut on his right forearm.

Three juveniles were apprehended shortly before 9 p.m. July 28 after they allegedly threw an ear of corn through a window at 523 West Dunlap Street, breaking the glass.

The youths, ages 12, 14 and 15, will appear in probate court on charges of malicious destruction of property. Two of the youths reportedly said they also had stolen two bicycles last year.

Northville police investigated five complaints of larceny from an auto July 28 and 29.

Peter Butterworth, 278 Sherrie Lane, told police unknown persons removed two rear radio speakers from the back of his car while it was parked on Hutton and Dunlap streets. The speakers, valued at $25, were stolen July 28 shortly after noon.

On July 28, Walter F. Ribant, Jr., Detroit, told police clothing valued at $42 was stolen from his car. A Plymouth man, Gerald W. Trotter, reported the theft of a cutlery set and flatware valued at $140. Both incidents occurred at the Downs.

On July 29, Nelson Stratton, 516 Beal Street, told police 20 gallons of gas had been siphoned from his car while it was parked at the Beal Street

Northville Schools Retain Law Firms

Northville school board trustees voted to retain two law firms to handle the district's business at the July 27 meeting of the board.

The firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone was named to handle general school operation problems for a flat retainer fee of $100. Handling labor relations matters for the district will be Keller, Thoma, McManus and Keller.

In other board action, Eugene Cook was named chairman of the building and site subcommittee with Trustees Stanley Johnston and Timothy Johnson serving as members. The committee was directed to look into the possibility with the city of acquiring an additional ten acres of land behind Moraine Elementary for a neighborhood park.

Trustees also agreed to release Peter Johnson from his contract teaching junior high math, subject to employment of a qualified replacement. Mrs. Linda Van Dyke, junior high art instructor, was granted a leave of absence.

Commenting from the audience, Louis Mortenson told the board he would like to see the minutes of board meetings published in the Northville Record as they had been previously.

"Not publishing the minutes is a mistake," he told trustees. "People should have a chance to read them. Now they must come to the meetings or rely on reading some kind of a write up in the paper.'

Superintendent Raymond Spear said the district's publication "Opening School Doors" is meant to take the place of minutes and that the minutes are available to the public at the Board of Education Offices once they have been approved by the board.

Also at the July 27 meeting. trustees agreed to cancel the next scheduled board meeting on August 10. The board will convene August 24 at 8 p.m. in the Board of Education Offices.

Year-Round Calendar Offers Challenge

Editor's Note: Following is the third in a series of excerpts from the book "Year-Round School, Is It Feasible?" published by the Northville School District with funds received from a $19,565 grant received from the State Legislature. The grant was used by the district to study the feasibility of year-round school in Northville. Included in the series are highlights from the report in an effort to further acquaint citizens with the findings of the study. Copies of the book are available on loan from the Board of Education Offices.

CALENDAR AND TRANSFER

YEAR-ROUND SCHOOL CALENDAR

The combination of ways that meaningful units can be arranged to enable students to obtain the required amount of instructional days within a given school year are a challenge for the imagination. Semesters, quarters, eleven months, and the summer enrichment plan offer excitement to the Year-Round School advocate.

The tri-semester plan consists of fourteen to fifteen weeks. Pupils attend any two of the three semesters with only two-thirds of the total enrollment in attendance at any one time. Instructional time within the tri-semester is the same as that of a regular semester through an adjustment in the length of each class. This adjustment can be accomplished by reducing the number of periods per day rather than extending the length of the school day.

The four-quarter plan divides the school year into twelve-week sessions. Students start school at any one of the four times, attend three of the four quarters and are on vacation the other. The beginning and ending dates of the quarters are directly related to the length of vacation periods between quarters.

The eleven months continuous progress school plan based upon a calendar of 204 to 216 days involves more student participation each year, thereby allowing him to graduate from school as much as two years early. Vacation periods within the school year are lengthened, and the entire system is shut down for one month of the year.

The summer enrichment program concept does not, to any great extent, change the traditional calendar but does extend the operation of the school during the summer months to provide enrichment and/or remedial programs.

With the variety of school organizational calendars to choose from, the District's responsibility is to choose the most appropriate one to fit the community's interest and needs. The four-quarter plan provides each student with the same number of days in session as the traditional school year, with an instructional program as effective (or more effective) than the traditional program, as well as provisions to attend an additional quarter for enrichment or remedial work. Therefore, it was the recommendation of the Steering Committee, within this feasibility study, that the four-quarter plan was the one system which was applicable and most desirable for the Northville Public Schools.

Students in all plans receive a Christmas and Easter vacation in addition to those days which are school-recog-'nized holidays, such as Thanksgiving, Memorial Day, etc.

STUDENT TRANSFER AND THE YEAR-ROUND SCHOOL

A comparison of the four-quarter calendar and the traditional school calendar raises obvious questions relative to student transfer into and out of a Year-Round School Program. Northville, in an attempt to probe into both problems and solutions in the area of student transfer, conducted a one-day workshop on April 25, 1970 for persons concerned with the Year-Round School Concept. Participating in this workshop were representatives from twenty-three Michigan School Districts and the Michigan State Board of Education.

In the afternoon session of the workshop, the groups met again, armed with the problems of the morning but now charged with the task of solving the created problems. Recognizing the ramifications of an attempt to solve ALL of the problems, each group selected only a few problems to work with. A representative sampling follows:

WILL CHILDREN FROM OTHER DISTRICTS BE ABLE TO ATTEND COURSES IN A YEAR-ROUND SCHOOL DISTRICT?

- 1. Yes. If three to five local school districts adopted the Year-Round School plan, it might solve problems relative to interchange of students for some
- 2. Tuition fees may be paid for students who go to school in another district. (Freeland students attending Saginaw pay a fee).
- 3. Another plan brought out was that no interchange of money would be needed between neighboring school districts if legislation could be arranged between them to provide for interchange of students. This would then be a paper transaction.
- 4. If a student failed a subject, it might be possible for him to make up this subject in a neighboring school by paying tuition.
- 5. It was stated that Freeland shares in a Special Education Program with two other school dis-
- 6. The discussion as to whether a student from another district would be accepted into the Northville system (or any other system) would be based upon the following:
- a. Counselor's decision as to needs of student
- b. Classroom space availability c. Tuition or fees.
- 7. By enrolling students from another district into non-sequential courses, they can fit into curriculum-planning better
- 8. Offering more non-sequential courses may create more incentive for the students in curriculum

HOW WILL ADMINISTRATION WORK WITH THE CHILD WHO MOVES INTO THE GEOGRAPHICAL LO-

- 1. Placement tests may be required to determine where a student should be placed. (Math, Science,
- 2. Conflicting school systems may have an effect upon people wishing to move into the district. Most parents investigate a school system before moving into it and they may tend to move elsewhere, where they can readily admit their children. This situation may tend to balance out in all districts, however.

- 3. Registration of students in each semester will be based upon geographical location to bring about balanced enrollment in each semester.
- 4. Enrollment of students from each geographical area should be oriented to family needs and vacation plans.
- 5. Another advantage of geographical enrollment is the adaptability to bus schedules.

THE TRANSFER OF STUDENTS IS HEAVIEST IN SUMMER; HOW WILL THIS AFFECT US?

- 1. If a student is transferred into a quadrimester system in September, he may be told that he must wait until the next quarter. This may lead to an increase of high school drop-outs. If a student is required to wait a lengthy period of time, he may not return to school for many reasons.
- 2. No problems are anticipated for those students who transfer from a small high school with limited curriculum into a larger high school with a greater curriculum variety.
- 3. The Year-Round School could promote more individualized study.
- 4. A Year-Round School system may promote greater flexibility in Vocational Education.

AREN'T THERE MORE PROBLEMS IN ELEMENTARY THAN SECONDARY?

- 1. Yes. Traditionally elementary schools have had self-contained classrooms. Thinking behind this is that children of this age need security of a single teacher. Maybe even more important than this is the educational attitude of the elementary teacher. The fact that she works only with 25-30 students she becomes more oriented to child than study matter. With the constant shuffling of teachers, since they will have the opportunity of work 1, 2, 3 or 4 quarters, this may lead to much frustration and anxiety in these young children.
- 2. Self-contained classrooms with one teacher provided security for most younger students. Change of teachers during school year could create many problems. Also more difficulty in placing children in elementary buildings.

WILL OTHER AREAS SUCH AS NORTHERN MICHI-GAN AGREE TO CHANGE THEIR WORK SCHEDULES?

- 1. Northern Michigan in past years wanted Southern Michigan schools to change schedules so they could get student help for tourist, farm and seasonal work.
- 2. We now have more population centers and these centers have new needs, such as over crowding. 3. With snowmobiles - they may tend to go for
- year-round activities in Northern Michigan.
- 4. Most desirable for industry they can't schedule all vacations between June and August - helps answer questions for industry.

WHAT EFFECT WILL TEACHER TRANSFERS HAVE ON THE PROGRAM? NUMBER OF QUARTERS TEACHERS WANT TO TEACH?

- 1. It may lower morale.
- 2. Make more jobs available.
- 3. Men extra three months of employment Women - time to travel, study, take care of
- 4. Offers an opportunity for a greater selection of teachers.
- 5. Affects current teaching staff Negotiations working conditions, etc.
- 6. More flexibility more for the individual needs
- and differences of teachers. 7. More attractive for some men - because of more
- pay and 12-month work period. 8. What about teachers who work for a whole
- year??? Do they get a pension and a third? 9. Effect on tenure teachers - sabbatical leaves -
- does offer a break from teaching. 10. Building to building - problems of management for negotiable items and grievances - what about seniority?

HOW WOULD INITIATING THE QUADRIMESTER CON-CEPT OF YEAR-ROUND SCHOOL OPERATION AF-FECT THE DROP-OUT RATE?

- 1. By starting children in kindergarten four times a year rather than once a year, the chances of early success are greatly enhanced, thus, even at this young age, children develop a positive view of school which is desirable.
- 2. There would be more remedial services available earlier, reducing chance of drop-out later.
- 3. With four quarters the opportunity would be available for youngsters to take a reduced class load where the academic pressures were shown to be too great.
- 4. In some cases, where it was necessary for a youngster to work part time, he would be able to take a reduced class load and still graduate with his class rather than becoming discouraged and becoming a drop-out.

WHAT ABOUT CLASSES NOT OFFERED DURING THE TIME A STUDENT IS IN ATTENDANCE?

- 1. Offer some classes in independent study.
- 2. Local Community College might offer some classes.
- 3. A nearby high school might be able to let the student take the class at their school - recipro-
- 4. Might attend a quarter and take just one class.
- 5. Programmed learning.
- 6. Meet with the teachers a couple of times a week for help and the rest of the time work on own.
- 7. Wait until a time when the course is offered again.

School Awaits State Money

Evaluation of Northville's request for renewal of its state-grant for year-round school study is still incomplete, state officials said this week, and a decision by the State Board of Education is "not expected before the end of the month.'

While $20,000 has been appropriated by the Legislature for continuation of the study in Northville, the decision as to whether or not Northville is to actually receive the money rests with the state board.

That decision, state officials explain, will depend on whether the state board finds Northville's report of initial studies satisfactory. Those initial related studies also were financed by state monies. While the state's decision has not yet been made, local school officials remain optimistic. According to Superintendent Raymond Spear, organization for continuation of the study should begin immediately upon receipt of the state money ("probably sometime in September"), with resumption of the study itself beginning early in October. Remaining studies will be two-fold, he re-emphasized. "First, we will determine if a specific year-round concept here is acceptable; and second, if we find that it is acceptable by a majority of citizens, we must then determine whether or not funds are available for implementation." "Contrary to what some people are saying, the board has not decided to implement a year-round program here, and even if they should decide to do so that decision won't come until after completion of the final phases of the study," he added.

Completion of the study is expected to take about six months, the superintendent said.

"I don't know how we can make it

THE BIBLE SPEAKS TO YOU CKLW 800 KC Sunday 9:45 A.M. any plainer. If we receive the money we will complete the study. And only after completion of the study will the board make a decision," It is estimated that - if the board decision is positive - implementation could not take place summer-fall term of 1972. Asked how the board will determine the acceptability of the study, Spear explained that during an experimental pre-registration of students, parents of these students will have an opportunity to reply in writing their acceptance or unacceptance of such a program as it specifically affects their children and as it affects the school district generally.

"If at that time we find that a majority of people oppose the program we will have to analyze their objections to see if any way can be found to resolve basic objections. That being impossible, the board will have little other choice but to drop the whole thing. If basic objections can be resolved, then the board must determine if local, state or federal funds are available for implementation before making a decision to drop it or go ahead.'

Even if implementation here is disapproved, the state-financed study will not have been a waste of money because, said Spear, the state will have the framework of a program that may be acceptable in some other school

NBD 'Money Museum' Goes on Display at Fair

Man's achievements in space and some of his ancient adventures with money will be featured in the National Bank of Detroit's Mobile Money Museum when on display at the Northville Fair, August 6 to 9.

This museum-on-wheels, the only one of its kind, contains examples of money used by man since the beginning of civilization. Coins from the treasuries of ancient Greece and Rome, odd and curious money such as "knife coins" and money trees will be displayed.

The space exhibit, the Mobile Museum's summer feature, tells the story of man's explorations in space through actual astronaut photographs of these events and medals that commemorate them. Scale models of a space craft and equipment are also shown.

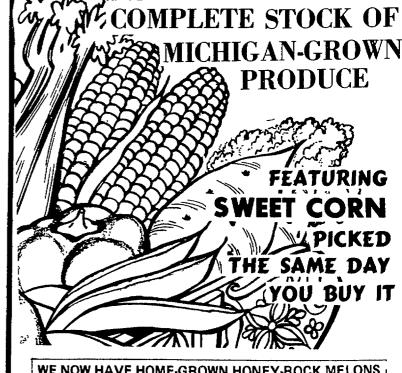

John D. Moore, manager of NBD's Northville office on West Seven Mile, said that each visitor to the museum will have a chance to win an Apollo 11 space medal.

SPEAKING for The Record By BILL SLIGER

There's a story elsewhere in this edition outlining plans for the proposed commercial development of the westerly half of the block bounded by Main, Center, Cady and Wing streets in the city's central business district.

The non-profit Northville Area Economic Development Corporation is spearheading the project and hopes to put together a package of prime commercial property that can be offered to interested developers at an attractive price.

It's suggested that the city might sell the parcel at less than its original cost, and considerably below the market value, providing a developer comes up with a commercial complex to complement the existing business district and introduce new tax base to the community.

Such a development would add a valuation in excess of $1 million and return any losses incurred by the property sale within two years, city officials estimate.

The project gives rise to a couple of thoughts.

Number one-the continuing work being carried on by the little-publicized Northville Area Economic Development Corporation.

It's composed of a group of interested city and township citizens who are trying to do something to strengthen the tax base of the total community so that the school tax burden on homeowners might be relieved by broadening the industrial and commercial tax

The group could use more active members. The news story in this edition indicates who to call to volunteer.

So if you'd like to "get involved" and help your community in the area of economic development, call one of the members whose names are listed in the news story.

The second thought that occurs from the prospect of the commercial development involves the old library building, now used by the township for its municipal offices.

As the story points out, if the township were inclined to dispose of its interest in the building, it would first have to seek voter approval of the sale.

Providing this were to be accomplished, where would the township move its offices?

I'm certain my anti-unification friends will scream at the suggestion, but why not move the township offices into the section of the city hall now occupied by the library?

It's certainly well located. It provides adequate space for township needs. It's modern. And it makes sense to have all our community municipal offices in one building.

There's good reason to believe that the township could receive attractive lease arrangement. Afterall, the city hall was constructed with a 50 percent grant from the federal government and this money belongs to all the people, not just city residents.

Therefore, any computation of rent would have to be made on a basis of half the cost of that portion of the building which the township would use.

Where else could the township hope to find such reasonable rent? And consider the convenience to the district court, which the township now uses to prosecute its cases.

And wouldn't it be far less costly to the township if it were faced only with the need to construct a fire station facility in the eastern portion of the township instead of planning a combined township hall-fire station as it is now doing?

Politically, the idea may be a bomb. But from the standpoint of convenience to the majority of the residents of the township, and cold (taxpayers') cash, it makes sense (at least to me).

What happens to the library?

A new facility would have to be provided. Space in the present library is already limited and as the community grows the use will increase to the point where a new library building will be needed. Discussions on this subject have already been conducted.

A library is a community obligation. The construction of a new library building could become a total community project undertaken by a committee seeking contributions from local citizens, business, government and foundations.

There's a big week end ahead for the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce.

Bob Webber, Art Jahn, Margaret Zayti, Dick Norton and Carl Johnson (to name a few) have worked long and hard to make the Northville Fair an interesting and successful event.

It's designed to help all local non-profit organizations conduct their fund-raising events at one time.

See you at the Fair.

Speaking for Myself

'No-Knock' Law: Good or Bad?

GOOD

On 7/23/70 the Senate passed an Anti-Crime Bill for Washington, D.C. One portion of the bill calls for no-knock police searches. From a policeman's point of view, the element of surprise is a definite asset. Under the present law the police officer, armed with a valid search warrant, gives the property owner a reasonable time to open his door before forcing an entry. This give the alleged defendant time to dispose of any narcotics. This evidence is necessary for a court conviction. Since the burden of proof rests with the police officer and the prosecutor, a lack of sufficient evidence will jeopardize the case.

The 4th Amendment guarantees a person from unreasonable search. In order to secure a search warrant, for narcotics from the prosecutor, the police officer must satisfy him that a felony has been committed. The officer must produce before the prosecutor a witness that has seen the narcotics on the premises within the past 24 hours. Because of the difficulty in obtaining a search warrant, I feel that a police officer should have the advantage of surprise on his side, (for narcotic cases only). I am certainly not in favor of a no-knock entry on all warrants.

Guess What?

Samuel Elkins Chief of Police, Northville

BAD

Private domain? My home is my castle? I shudder to think that if activities (or a person) in my home were under suspicion that my private domain could be invaded, without advance notice in the way of a knock, or permission, given to

It has always been with a feeling of safety that I could go to my home, close the door and relax, knowing that no one could enter without my permission and if anyone entered without my knowledge, it would be an intrusion or forcible entry and they could be dealt with as an intruder. The law has given the right to protect yourself against intruders.

When law enforcement is given the right to enter a privately owned building without first gaining consent to enter, we are verging on police state tactics where sanctuary is a forgotten word and self-preservation becomes a way of life instead of an instinct.

'Sham's A Shame

To The Editor:

Boards of educational facilities seem to have a common characteristic the breaking of faith with the people. The Northville Board of Education has just recently ignored the decision of the voters on the question of year-round schools and this last week the Board of Trustees of Schoolcraft College dealt the faith of the people of the College district a severe blow.

After several months and many, many hours of reviewing applicants, bringing several to the campus at taxpayers' expense, the Presidential Search Committee submitted five names to the Board for consideration as the new president of Schoolcraft College. The Board immediately added three people to the list who had been considered by the committee and rejected. Two of the three that the Board added are currently vice-presidents at the College. What makes this so interesting is that the Board has stated they will not take any definite action until September 1, 1970 which effectively limits those applicants who are from other campuses because they must make commitments generally before that

All this means a waste of taxpayer's money for a presidential search that was a farce - it means a slap in the face for each member of the search committee and thus a complete disregard for each member of the search committee and thus a complete disregard for the intelligence and sensibilities of the citizens of this area. Incidently, the Committee was composed of two representatives each from the Schoolcraft Foundation, (Mr. Clark and Mr. Reef), administration of

Wixom's Ship Shape

To the Editor:

I have heard the words despot, emperor, dictator and little Napoleon used to describe Mayor Willis of Wixom. These are not the words of clear thinking responsible people. They are the words of individuals still suffering the sting of defeat or perhaps the sudden realization that an honest return is going to be demanded for value received.

I have also heard that Mayor Willis runs city hall like a military establishment. Criticize this if you wish but under this system many wars have been won and many countries saved from a life of slavery under a dictatorship. Here again, out of necessity for the safety and well being of millions of men, this system is geared to cover all the personnel, not just a favored few. Evidence of the success it enjoys is the high priority of retired military men for such positions as Chairman of the Board of large corporations and presidents of many colleges and universities.

Have no fear, the GOOD SHIP WIXOM is in very good shape. The leaks have been repaired, most of the squeaks have been removed, the hinges have been oiled and we have an able and efficient captain on the bridge. Some of the paint is still chipped and a couple of the officers and some of the crew are prone to mutiny. However. through the diligent efforts of the loyal officers and members of the crew, the chipped paint will be renewed, the mutinous movement will be overcome and our good ship will embark on a

1: MENKINAD

BY JACK W. HOFFMAN

Like most middle aged fans of Jack Armstrong, the All-American Boy, revelation last week that our hero of yore didn't really get all his energy from eating Wheaties was staggering. It wouldn't have been any more shocking if they had reported that Captain Midnight was really a sissy who detested Ovaltine. Or that Gene Autry couldn't ride or shoot and was allergic to chewing

I can't remember when I've been so depressed—unless it was back when they kicked the great inventor, Lorenzo Jones, off the air. Or more recently when my wife announced brazenly, "That hussy, Raquel Welch, wears padded bras."

Anyway, I was about to cry myself to sleep when a member of our clan exclaimed out of the clear blue that less than five-percent of the world's population dreams in color. Don't ask me where this information originated. Just be satisfied that it put a little sunshine into an otherwise miserable day.

I've been dreaming in technicolor ever since my mother moved my bed-wetting brother to another mattress 30 years ago. Which makes me kinda special. Not because things are a little drier for me these days but because my dreams are in living color while chances are yours are in black and white.

Back before the advent of television when I huddled in front of a radio listening to the spine tingling exploits of Jack Armstrong, everything came out of the speaker in color. Jack was a dashing fellow, about my age and height and build and looks, and he wore flashy red-checked shirts, LONG brown pants, and red and white sneakers. And when he smashed unlawful characters on the nose they bled

Even the strawberries he put on his Wheaties came out strawberry and not that awful black you probably remember.

Same thing at night-after my brother's exodus, of course. My dreams were as colorful as they were exciting. When I stepped into the telephone booth to peel down to my flight uniform, Superman's cape was a brilliant red. Today my dreams may not be as exciting but they're nevertheless colorful. Whenever I bathe in $1,000 bills everything comes up green.

Coming on the heels of the Jack Armstrong-Wheaties heartache, this color report was especially soothing. It wasn't such a bad day after all, I thought, proud of my dreams. But then, pow, another devastating blow!

"I wouldn't be so high and mighty if I were you," she said. "Those people who dream a lot in color usually have pathological tendencies.'

All of which proves, I guess, that a guy can be as blue in the world of make-believe as he can in real life.

Detroiter Raps Local Merchant

To the Editor

I want to write briefly to let someone in your city know how badly I was treated by one of the clothing merchants on Main Street.

I met her & along with my younger daughter enjoyed a few hours of shopping.

Candidates Revealed For College

Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees has accepted the report of its Presidential Search Committee and named seven candidates it will interview to succeed President Eric J. Bradner when he retires next June.

Those named for interview by the board include four of the five men recommended by the search committee. A fifth was to be recommended but asked that his name be withdrawn. Three others were added by board action Thursday night.

The seven candidates to be interviewed by the board are:

Dr. John Forbes, vice president of Miami-Dade Junior College, Miami, Florida; Dr. C. Nelson Grote, dean of the School of Applied Sciences and Technology, Morehead State University, Morehead, Kentucky; Raymond Howe, director of labor relations, Dearborn Public Schools and Henry Ford Community College; Dr. Robert Keene, vice president for instruction of Schoolcraft College; Dr. Moses S. Koch, president of the Essex Community College in Baltimore County, Maryland; W. Kenneth Lindner, vice president for business Wfairs at Schoolcraft College; and Dr. Daniel R. McLaughlin, associate dean of faculty at Queensborough Community College of the City University of New York, Bayside, New Acceptance of the committee's report Thursday night culminates in action initiated last December when the board established a search committee composed of board members, administrators, faculty, student, alumni, and foundation representatives.

Committee members were approved late in January with LaRue as chairman. They included:

Russell Bogarin, Administration, Patrick Butler, Administration, A. Russell Clark, Foundation, Lowell Cook, Faculty Forum, Lawrence Gaitskill, Faculty Forum, R. Robert Geake, board, Roslyn Kellman, Alumni, Noel Little, Student, Mark McQuesten, Student, Jan Reef, Foundation, James Tobey, Alumni, and Jane K. Moehle, Ex Officio Board Member.

From approximately 240 letters of application received by the committee, 1'6 candidates were invited for interview and 14 completed interviews on the Schoolcraft campus. Two candidates cancelled scheduled interviews when they accepted new positions elsewhere.

Administrators, faculty and tudents had opportunities to meet the andidates during their visits to the ampus. Arriving in mid-morning, the andidate was given a tour of the ampus. A luncheon with approximately 10 administrators, aculty and students followed the tour. After lunch there was a discussion beriod to provide further opportunity or students, faculty and others to talk with the candidate.

I purchased a pair of trousers and two shirts for my husband, hoping the size was right. (He has been ill for more than two years & has lost much weight.)

Unfortunately for him & me I misjudged on the trousers so I drove back from Detroit (where I live) to exchange them for the correct size.

The rude distainful manner which this store owner treated me caught me completely off guard.

Tears come easy after so many weeks & months of caring for a sick husband.

I tried to talk to him but became so distraught, I had to walk out before I broke down.

I'm sorry for this man who looks for bad instead of good in the customers who walk in his store, who tends to disbelieve what they say, rather then listen with a little compassion for them, they might be telling him something.

The store is probably an advertiser in your paper & you would not want to offend them by printing this, but I had to tell some one besides my family.

Kaake, an Air Force ROTC graduate, received his bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from MSU. He is a graduate of Northville High School

A Northville resident is currently at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, where he is in the first weeks of a rigorous Officer's Training School course.

He is Neal B. Brasure of 542 West Main Street.

Brasure is a June graduate of Alma College where he majored in business administration and accounting and was a member of Delta Sigma Phi social fraternity. He has been a member of the Air Force Reserve since March.

During his 12-week training period, Brasure is studying the role of the Air Force officer, leadership, communication skills, history and work of the United States Air Force and military justice. He is participating in physical training, marksmanship and field training.

There are also drills, ceremonies and inspections.

After completing officer's school, Brasure will be commissioned a second lieutenant and will enter a program of pilot training.

A 1966 graduate of Northville High School, he is the son of the Reverend and Mrs. Lloyd G. Brasure. Mr. Brasure is the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Plant to Build New Warehouse

Clarence Hinck, Western Electric's Michigan Area manager, announced this week that the Company Board of Directors has approved the construction of additional warehouse space at its Service Center in Plymouth.

The addition will consist of approximately 110,000 square feet of floor space across the rear of the present building. Construction is scheduled to, begin late this year and be completed by the fall of 1971.

This additional space will eliminate the need for the air warehouses which have been in use for the past two years to protect cable and other material from exposure.

The new addition is to help Western Electric provide the necessary telephone equipment required for Michigan Bell to meet the ever increasing needs for telephone service.

Meanwhile, another meet will be held at Northville Downs beginning October 15 when Jackson Raceway stages its 40-night program here.

While city rebates from racing during the summer meet averaged about $3,800 nightly, winter season betting is lighter. Park Opposed for open space unnecessary, a park would adversely affect adjacent property values, city money could better be used for park development in more congested areas of the city, subdivision children have easy and safe access to Moraine Elementary playgrounds, a park would create a subdivision nuisance and possibly create additional policing problems for

In protesting the proposal, however, several citizens emphasized that they appreciate the need for parks elsewhere in the city.

Noting that a majority of property owners had signed the petition, citizens demanded the council immediately scrap all proposals for parks in the subdivision. However, City Manager Frank Ollendorff suggested the matter be delayed until the park recommendation has been more thoroughly reviewed by city officials and subdivision residents. He said not all citizens who signed the petition were opposed to the kind of park envisioned by the park study committee. Some signed it, he said, because they feared a neighborhood park meant active playfields involving ball diamonds, lights, etc.

Existing Joe Denton Park, located at Fairbrook and Eaton, was cited as an example of a neighborhood park with - aesthetic value, open space, and limited recreational activity.

In view of the overwhelming opposition, Councilman Wallace Nichols, with Councilman Paul Folino concurring, suggested the council dump the Northville Estates park proposal. "There's enough people in the city who do want parks; let's concentrate on them," he said.

Art Adams of Village Green subdivision, warned Estates residents that they "had better not count on the school" for play area for their children. The school system, he said, could fence and lock it overnight as it has the high school football-track area.

Opposition, said Mayor A. M.

Allen, "makes our job relatively easy." But he waved aside charges of "stalling" and joined other council members in tabling final decision until October.

Similar objections, primarily by owners of vacant property, were voiced concerning the Maplewood site. Here, the parks committee has recommended purchase of a minimum of four interior lots (approximately one acre).

Owners of vacant lots in the wooded, hilly area objected because of long period investments and plans to eventually develop them for homes. Others objected because turning the property into a playground could result in neighborhood nuisances.

When one resident expressed concern that the park might result in removal of trees, Ollendorff emphasized that little if any change is envisioned in the area should it become a neighborhood park. Children would continue to play on the property as they have been, he added pointing out that establishing it as a park would guarantee open space and prevent its future residential development.

Another citizen said he would favor park and even donate part of his own property - if he could be assured that the land would not become home

Concerning the North Center street park location, the council agreed to begin immediate negotiation with the Bell Telephone Company for leasing of approximately three-quarters of an acre of land in the rear of the substation. Final decision, however, will not be made until the meeting in September.

As for the Carpenter-Baseline location, negotiations are to begin here, too, with the owner, George Mellen.

Membership in NEA, though not mandatory as NEA had proposed, "will be more than a formality," Robert Benson, chief negotiator for the district said. The exact language of the section has not been established, Benson reported.

Elementary teachers will this year be required to report to school 30 minutes before classes begin and remain only 15 minutes after school, the reverse of what the policy has been.

Insurance coverage provided by the district includes Blue Cross and term life insurance of $10,000 to full-time teachers. Monthly meetings between representatives of NEA and the district will be held to discuss any concerns in the contract, Benson said. "We have an excellent contract for next year," he commented. "Provisions for salaries and benefits are fair and equitable to both parties.' Benson said he sees the early settlement as "an attitude of understanding and cooperation and a real desire by both parties to remove the threat of reaching early September without a contract."

BEGINNING OF THE END – In the fifth inning of Northville's game with Westland Thursday night, the local team's 2-0 lead slipped before a four-hit Westland rally. Here Pat Cayley forestalls the inevitable by putting out short stop Gary Battle in a bid for home. Northville lost 4-2.

Novi All-Stars Win Two. But Lose Championship Bid

Novi little league charged hard through two all-star contests last week but bounced off South Farmington National, 4-1, in a bid for the Eastern divisional championship.

After defeating Farmington International 3-1, and Holly 5-2, the local nine held South Farmington scoreless until the fifth when Farmington bats exploded for four runs on a pair of doubles and a pair of

Walled Lake East Wins All-Star Title

East Division all-stars of the Walled Lake Softball League, winners early last week over West Division all-stars, will try to stretch its superiority tomorrow when they travel to Dearborn to battle Detroit's UAW local 157 all-stars.

The East squad primed for tomorrow's contest by posting a narrow, 6-5 victory over the Western all-stars who staged a sixth-inning rally that very nearly changed the complexion of the game.

Down by three runs, the West's Bill Hedler drilled a homer to left center, driving in Dennis Olech ahead of him. With that score, however, the East bore down and put out the fire to come away with the one-run triumph.

The Eastern all-stars served notice of their intent in the top of the first when Bill Bailey, at the plate with bases loaded, uncorked a booming double that pushed across three runners. Bailey himself scored on John Fawcett's out and a single off the bat of Jown Dawe.

In its half of the first, the West's Joe Payton streaked to third when the ball got past the rightfielder and then came home on a ground-out by Jim

The East notched its fifth run in the second frame on singles by Stan Laskowski and hurler John Kolby.

In the bottom of the third, the West got on the scoreboard when Bill Penny smashed a soaring homer while Jim Pierce and Rich Ward came up with timely singles.

The East's final marker came across in the fourth when Koby came up with a run-scoring double.

Bill Penny, hurler for the West, was pegged with the loss.

Actually, when the Eastern all-stars tangle tomorrow they'll have the help of their rival Western opponents. Some of the Western players have been added to the roster and are likely to see action against Local 157.

Rick Dale smashed a triple and scored the tying run off a bunt by Dan

Radigan came back with a double from John Grills, followed by a walk dealt to Tom Waring by Novi Hurler

Lee Snow. Waring went to third, and Grills made it 2-1 when Radigan pitcher Rob Hollandsworth cracked a bounding grounder that hopped 15 feet over first baseman Denny Dean's head.

"That ball hit a stone and went right past him." said Novi manager John McMillian, "It didn't go far, but far enought to let one run in."

Later in the inning, with two out, Snow balked allowing Waring to cross the plate with the insurance run.

Hollandsworth allowed only two hits to the B-V team while fanning six and walking two. Snow gave up three walks and struck out nine.

Novi closed its season in Connie Mack with a 10-7 record.

Parsons for four runs, six hits and two walks.

Parsons fanned seven men.

Novi scored its lone run in the sixth when Gary Ford singled, went to second on a balk, and came home on the strength of Hardecki's double.

In the Holly game last week Tuesday in Birmingham, Gary Ford hurled a three-hit, three-run victory, while walking three and fanning seven.

Novi bats exploded in the fifth when Hardecki doubled in Dan Assemany, stole third and charged home on Scott Parson's single. Glen Gault singled and Ford stepped to the plate and smashed a homer 20 feet beyond the center field fence to account for Novi's final three runs.

Bob Johnson took the loss for Holly, allowing nine hits and one walk. He struck out eight men.

Novi traveled to Bond School in Farmington to nip Farmington International, 3-1.

Novi scored in the second, third, and fourth innings.

Dan Assemany walked in the second and came around on a double off the bat of Hardecki. Parson singled in the third and came around on Glenn Gault's singled. Hardecki walked in the fourth, stole second and third, and came in on Randy Wroten's single.

Cliff Racke took the loss in that game and also scored the only Farmington run. He got on through an error, walked to second and came around on fielder's choices in the fifth inning. He gave up two walks six hits and fanned three men.

Albers Shubnell Splits Two Games

Cellar dwelling Albers Shubnell upset Mario Sinacola in a razor-thin 11-10 contest last week - but Albers had little time to savor the trimph as first-place Snow Standard bounced 'em

Dave Piotrowicz led Shubnell to its victory by walking four, fanning five and allowing eight hits in the Babe

In the seventh Sinacola hurlers, leading 10-6, gave up five straight walks and hit a batter to force across five Shubnell runs that clinched the victory for Albers.

Gary Canfield and Dave Brown shared mound duties for Sinacola in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings while Graig Love relieved starter Eddy Brown in the third.

In a big second inning rally Sinacola got seven of its 10 run tally. Dave Brown and Ron Buck got on through an error and a walk. Steve Lakari's single loaded the bases and Brown scored on an error. Buck, Lakari and Butler scored on singles from Bob Brown and Roger Pelchat. At this point John Pantalone put a heavy wood on a fast ball, smashing a four-bagger that brought in Brown and Pelchat.

Snow didn't take over until the fifth inning of the Shubnell game. Trailing 3-2, it pushed across six runs on three hits, two walks, two errors and a stolen base.

Jim VanWagner and Glen Kundrick paced doubles in that inning, while Hurler Joe La Fleche cracked a Shubnell led off with one run in the first on pitcher Eric Hansor's single and stolen base. Hansor singled and stole again in the third for the second Shubnell tally. Pat Boyer uncorked a long triple in the fourth and came home on a single by Mark Buman.

Snow's La Fleche fanned 13 men and gave up no walks in gaining the pitching victory.

Reef Beats Adray Champs But Falls Victim to Westland

Northville's Reef Manufacturing slew a giant last week but lost the Posting a 2-0 victory over Redford, the local Adray League nine dropped a 4-2 decision to Westland in its last league contest. That loss iced the championship in the second round of Adray play for Redford, which finished with a 14-4 record compared with Northville's 10-8.

"We've beaten them (Redford) two out of three times," moaned Manager Art Adams. "But we lost the Westland game so they're champions of the second round."

First and second round winner Redford went on last week to take the Adray crown by beating third-round champions Hubert Realty.

John Morrison fired a three-hitter in pitching Northville to its shutout over Redford. He fanned 11 men, walked two.

While Morrison worked over the Redford battery with blazing pitches, Reef's own battery banged out five singles to push across the two runs. Tony Himmelspach scored in the third. and Morrison added the insurance run in the fourth.

The superlative performance went down the drain in the playoff, however, when Westland bounced back from a 2-0 deficit to notch the triumph in the fifth inning.

Westland's four-run rally was sparked by a four-hit barrage that chased Morrison from the mound. Besides four singles, starting hurler Jeff Taylor was nicked for one walk, a hit batter, and an error. Morrison took over with two outs and kept Westland hitless and scoreless throughout the remainder of the game.

Altogether, Northville collected six hits, three walks and committed three errors. Taylor struck out five batters, Morrison four.

Northville pushed across its two runs in the first inning with clutch singles by Rich Adams and Barry Deal. Himmelspach led off with a walk, then came home on the single by Adams, who streaked to second on the throw to the plate. Deal then stroked the single that brought across Adams. The Northville Record/1111 NOVI NEWS

CARL PURSELL TOSSES A HAPPY SIGNAL OF HIS PRIMARY VICTORY

Seek Commerial Development

City to Buy Land To Boost Tax Base

Commercial development of property on the south side of Main Street, east of Wing, drew a step closer this week as the Northville City Council approved a purchase agreement with the Northville Area Economic Development Corporation Monday.

The agreement provides that the corporation will sell its land to the city at its (corporation) acquisition cost of $98,283, less one-half the profit made in rental since the corporation acquired the land.

The city already owns part of the site, which together with the corporation's holdings, approximates 56,000 square feet.

Corporation profits to date have been put at $8,398.

City officials plan to resell the land at a reduced cost in hopes of attracting commercial development of the land that would enhance the downtown area and provide tax-producing businesses. Earlier, the council went on record

Calvert Asks Return to Job

"I have never been fired by my department head; I have been deprived of my job by circumstances entirely beyond my control."

So contends Ralston Calvert, former building inspector in the city of Wixom, who was dismissed by newly elected Mayor Gilbert Willis last spring and recently defined as a former part-time employee by the Wixom City Council.

In a letter sent to the Mayor and council this week Calvert states that he is "awaiting the opportunity to continue the work that I have been deprived of" and that he wants all renumerations and benefits that have accrued and are therefore due me."

Willis contends that the post of building inspector is an appointive one and it is therefore his right to dismiss and appoint whomever he chooses.

City Attorney Gene Schnelz has agreed that the mayor has the appointive power.

Calvert contends, however, that "I can only be fired by my department head, Robert Tromley."

Calvert charges that Wixom is in violation of its own building ordinances in the mayoral appointee Kenneth Carothers is serving as building offical without professional qualifications.

The city operates under two building codes, one stricter than the other in that it requires stiffer requirements for buildings and professional qualifications for the building inspector.

City Attorney Gene Schnelz has ruled that Wixom must abide by the stiffer code.

In a letter council received early in July from Robert Gerds, president of the Oakland County Building Officials Association, of which Calvert is a member, Gerds states his belief that a qualified building official is essential, particularly because of the growth of the city.

"It is with this thought in mind," wrote Gerds," that I do question the action taken relative to terminating a qualified individual's employment (Calvert) and replacing him with a person (Carothers) who, at least outwardly, appears to have either questionable or no qualifications whatsoever to hold the position of building official."

in agreeing to sell its share of property on which the township hall stands (opposite the city hall) in order to make the parcel more attractive for commercial development. Under laws governing townships, before the township may sell its share of the building and lot (owned jointly with the city), voters of the township must approve the sale, township board members have been advised.

Steps to move and preserve the building, for historical purposes, are being considered in the event that sale of the property becomes a reality.

With the township hall property, the land on which development could take place would stretch from Main to Cady, and from Wing east to the Paul Folino insurance agency.

Meanwhile, a sale-purchase option is likely to be approved soon (perhaps next week) with one of two developers who have voiced interest in the property.

In view of the several proposals that have "fallen through" in recent years, the city is anxious to commit an interested developer to a purchase agreement. That way, reason officials, proposals are likely to produce more than "half-hearted study" and planning by the developer.

The council is prepared to offer a three-month option at $1.50 per square foot, with a stipulation that this time period may be extended three additional months provided the developer has satisfied the council that he is moving ahead with feasibility studies, development, financing, and plans.

Latest developer-real estate persons to express interest in an option to purchase include Richard McManus of McManus Engineering of Southfield and Thomas Clark of Lanphar Realty and Development Company of Detroit,

Sale of the land at less than market value is seen by officials as an economic advantage to the city. It is estimated that the city could recoup money lost in a reduced sale price within two years through taxes on the development. If earlier estimates by other developers have any weight, development value would exceed $1 million. In addition to producing added tax revenue, the development would help maintain a healthy central business district in the face of large commercial developments outside the city officials explain.

Purpose of acquisition of land by the development corporation is, to a s s e m ble properties for industrial-commercial development that will increase the tax base of the Northville School District. By holding the property and reselling it later at or near cost, the corporation believes it can better attract good tax producing, business and industrial developments.

Besides acquiring land, the corporation and its economic committee makes concerted efforts to encourage business and industry to locate in the Northville area and, in the past, it has assisted already established industry to acquire financing for expansion purposes.

The corporation and the committee are made up of local citizens and representatives of the city, township and school system.

Persons wishing to lend assistance in the group's efforts are advised to contact John Canterbury, Charles Lapham, Robert Bogart, or Donald Lawrence.

2,000 Youngsters Fit as Fiddle youngsters, including a number from this area, invaded nearby Kensington Park Thursday morning to show their stuff in the annual Youth Fitness

Sponsored by the Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation along with the state American Legion department, the event attracted 2,000 boys and girls from 52 communities from throughout the metropolitan

The junior olympians in the colorful event competed in everything from chinning to the 50-yard-dash, from softball throwing to hop-step-and

While youngsters in this area were unable to win any of the top awards, they nevertheless demonstrated the competitive spirit characteristic of all of the participants.

The John J. Considine award, given annually in the name of the program's originator, was awarded to Southfield junior olympians for their "representation of the best in sportsmanship, conduct appearance during the track and field meets."

The day began with greetings delivered by Joseph Seavey, chief of recreation services for the Department of Natural Resources who served as master of ceremonies.

The Huron Valley Community Schools band entertained while the contestants assembled on the field. Representatives of Brighton's Jesse B. Cooley Post 235, American Legion, attended the raising of the flag.

An invocation was delivered by the Reverend Milton G. Walls of the Milford Presbyterian Church. Charles Damm, chairman of the program, presented awards to John M. May and Ernest Barnett, both of Detroit's department of parks and recreation, and to Charles Sutton, David Laidlaw, and James Pompo, all of the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority, for work done in organizing and arranging

Fetus Has A Soul

Reverend Father John Wittstock Our Lady of Victory Church Northville

Much has been written on the topic of "Abortion". I will not attempt to speak on the physiological or mental aspects of the subject but try to relegate my remarks to the spiritual aspect.

When the subject of abortion enters the conversation the question is always asked "How do we know the fetus is a living human being when there is no scientific proof?"

As a Christian, I answer, "Unless I do believe the fetus is a living human being from the instant of conception, I must deny the existence of God, the presence of heaven, and the Promise of Eternal life. Then I explain that creation, as we know it, consists of two basic parts: the spiritual world of the angels and the organic world of man. On our planet earth, life is again divided into two parts: that of man and of the animals. While both are organically similar in many respects, animals are creatures of deep habits and instincts.

Even more important, animals have no soul. If they did, man would commit murder every time he killed an animal for food. Animals, therefore, were not created equal to man but to fulfill the needs of man. Man, however, is a creature of dual nature: divine soul in an organic body. He can ascend to the highest plane of heaven — or the depths of hell. When properly analyzed, man can best be described as a sleeping angel, imprisoned in an organic body and exiled to this planet earth from our homeland, heaven. That our soul will one day inherit this birthright promised by God, is a basic belief of all Christianity.

For human conception to occur, three things must be present: a man, a woman, and a soul which God alone can provide. If both parents of the newly formed fetus have a soul, then the fetus must, from the instant of conception, also have a soul. Those who would deny this are forced to admit that woman conceives and carries in her womb, an animal - an organic creature without a soul. This is a physical and spiritual impossibility that defies every law of the universe.

Man does not pick bananas from a fig tree. An elephant does not give birth to a goat. If the fetus does not have a soul from the instant of conception, than all Christianity is a lie, God does not exist and man is only an animal. He does not undergo a transformation from the organic world of man to the spiritual world of the Abortion, therefore, is first degree, premeditated murder! "Thou shalt not kill!" Once created by God, your soul lives forever; on through eternity.

All across the nation a small group is urging state legislatures to legalize abortion. These people have succeeded in a few states already. They will continue to succeed unless you and I object strenuously. One ugly fact will not go away if we fail in this - it means that all of us become participants in this frightening business - we will all be involved in this contradiction of our most basic principles.

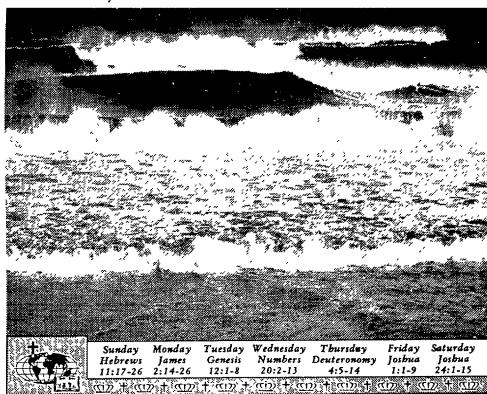

Jan Jan Wall OCEAN'S EDGE

Yesterday I saw the ocean for the first time. Jim and I had been invited to a house party at a cottage on the shore. Having recently moved East from the Midwest, I had anticipated nothing more on the drive down than a weekend of fun and games, swimming and dancing.

But I wasn't prepared for the ocean. Its grandeur and beauty stirred me. Today I walked along the beach for long hours watching the waves or searching the shore for shells, listening to the wonderful roar of the sea as whitecaps splashed around me.

Tonight as I stood at ocean's edge, the stars seemed near. Breakers crashing rhythmically sprinkled phosphorescence on the sand. For an instant I was caught within infinity. Sky, beach and tides contained me-in that moment I saw God.

I may never again achieve the clarity of that second on the beach, but someday I may. For this experience has awakened in me a longing to know more about God and the Truths the beauty of His world reveal.

Lawmakers Cool Differences Over 'Non-Public School' Aid

LANSING - The most bitterly contested issue in the Michigan Legislature in recent years has been the highly emotional battle over whether to give state funds to nonpublic schools.

The three-year controversy climaxed this year with passage of a $22 million allotment after the issue had divided every philosophical and political alliance in both chambers.

Strange coalitions of conservatives and liberals, Democrats and Republicans, and blacks and whites resulted with bach side becoming more polarized in its position as the days progressed in the recent session.

Now that the dust has settled, however, most of the people who divided so bitterly over parochiaid are ready to forget the fight and move on to other issues.

"I don't believe the parochiaid issue will have any lasting effect on the way legislators work together," said House Speaker William A. Ryan, D-Detroit. Ryan was the leader of the parochiaid advocates.

"I think once everyone sees the plan in operation they will view parochiaid as just one more service to the people of Michigan," he said. "I personally think the whole thing was overplayed and people's fears will be eased when they see it in operation."

Even the defeated acknowledge the bitterness and the on and off the floor wrangling that marked the session which ended in July. But, one of the most ardent foes says, opponents hold no grudges against anyone and won't carry any over to future sessions.

"I have no animosity toward anyone and I think I can speak for the others who opposed parochiaid as well," said Rep. William Jowett, R-Port Huron. "I am proud of the stand I took and still do not believe this is the best thing for the state, but I will abide by the will of the majority.

"We fought a good fight, but we did not win," he said. "It's time to move on."

RYAN ALSO SAID the amicable attitude means parochiaid will not be a factor in this year's, elections, something that was borne out in the primary campaigns around the state.

"I just don't think parochiaid will have that much effect on the elections," he said.

He said support or non-support of the concept will not hurt legislators at the ballot box except in extremely polarized districts.

The expressions of amicability by opponents of parochiaid toward its backers do not mean the opponents are done fighting it, however.

The opponents did secure inclusion in the bill of a provision that the legislature seek an advisory opinion from the state Supreme Court on Parochiaid's constitutionality. The court has agreed to consider the issue.

The provision also says no funds can be dispensed to private and parochial schools until the court has ruled.

"Our last hope is with the court now," Jowett said. "It's in their hands and all we can do is wait for the ruling."

MICHIGAN HAS the longest fresh-water coastline of any state in the country and, as one might expect, also has the largest registration of motorboats.

The U.S. Coast Guard says nearly 438,000 boats are registered in the state, according to the latest available statistics.

The Secretary of State's office says it expects that number to be above the half million mark by the end of the current year.

State boat registrations are good for two years and cost $5.

Figures show that aluminum boats are the most popular, with more than 160,000 of them registered.

The next most popular are plastic, which number more than 80,000.

While it was once the most popular material, wood now ranks third with 70,000 registrations.

There are 22,500 hulls made out of steel with other types making up 19,000.

More than 270,000 of those boats registered are under 15 feet in length while only eight are longer than 65 feet.

Pollution Curbs Nearing for Rouge

Efforts to end pollution of the Rouge River have advanced a step with submission of preliminary recommendations to a committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

In presenting the recommendations, County Drain Commissioner Henry V. Herrick estimated that the eventual cost of the clean-up could amount to a half-billion

However, he said he is hopeful that the Federal government will provide as much as half the funds - $250 million.

The cost would be spread over drainage districts which encompass 40-odd cities, townships and villages located in the vast Rouge River drainage basin in Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw counties (including communities in this area).

Herrick's recommendations were prepared at the request of the Public Porks Committee of the Wayne County Board. The committee received them July 31.

"The job has to be done and our committee will submit its recommendations to the full Board as soon as possible," said Commissioners nearly noon with a luncheon following. Kurt Stevens, 11, from Northville took fourth place in class 'C' Boys running long jump with a 13'7" mark. Fifth place in class 'A' girls running long jump was taken by Northville's 14 year old Shelia Corcoran with a mark "Doing her best," according to Coach Ralph Redmond, was Karen McDonald in the hop step and jump for class B girls. Karen made 23'4 3/4".

Rudy Hickey of Ecorse, public works chairman.

At the suggestion committee member Edmund Bizek of Romulus, the committee also indicated opposition to future pumping of treated sewage into the Huron River by the cities of Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Ypsılanti Township.

Bizek-suggested the county seek a court order prohibiting the discharge of treated sewage into the Huron River at Ann Arbor- Ypsilanti after a new Wayne County sewage treatment plant is built at the mouth of the Huron River in Brownstown Township.

The committee asked the Prosecuting Attorney and the County Department of Health to jointly prepare a recommended approach to the problem.

Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti are upstream of where the Huron River enters Wayne County at Belleville.

M.S. Richmond, assistant chief of the wastewater section of the Michigan Department of Health, told the committee that recreation use of the Huron River below Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti will have to be limited as long as treated sewage is being discharged into the river at that point.

"It is financially unfeasible to purify the sewage so completely that total body contact (swimming) would be safe," he stated.

Richmond also warned that state officials are preparing court orders requiring Wayne County and individual communities to build facilities to curtail pollution of the Rouge River and Ecorse Creek.

"This pollution is going to have to be cleaned up and cleaned up fast," he stated. "We will carry this all the way through the courts, if necessary. If we don't do it, the Federal government
