ANYONE WHO has tried his hand at operating one of those amusing devices that pick up prizes knows about the special body English, even tongue twisting, necessary to succeed. This unidentified boy knows about it and is trying his best at one of the popular amusement stands at the Northville Fair last weekend.

Levitt Rezoning OK'd; Brooks Center Tabled

By split votes Tuesday night the Northville Township Board approved the Levitt & Sons rezoning petition and tabled a decision on the Leonard Brooks regional shopping center zoning request.

Levitt was granted its request by a 3-2 vote, while decision to table the Brooks petition was given a 4-1 green light. Meanwhile, the Nate Shapero, rezoning petition, also permitting a regional shopping center was approved without dissent.

Treasurer Alex Lawrence, still hospitalized, and Bernard Baldwin were absent.

In still another split vote Tuesday, the board voted 4-1 to hire a consultant to prepare preliminary planning for proposed fire hall and township hall facilities, presumably to be located in the Six Mile-Bradner Road area.

If studies and plans are sufficiently complete to suggest board action by next month, the matter may be placed on the November ballot either as a proposition to go ahead with one or both projects or as a proposition to increase taxes to cover construction costs.

Before voting to retain Ralls-Hammill-Becker of Livonia to prepare the preliminary plans, the board unanimously decided to place on the November ballot a question asking voters if the township should sell its share of the present township hall (old library building) which is owned jointly by the city and township.

Trustees William Smith and Richard Mitchell — particularly Smith argued against granting Levitt its second rezoning request on grounds that the request was made purely for the developer's own economic interests and, in their opinions, the rezoning would adversely affect an otherwise well-balanced subdivision of single homes and multiples.

Also, Charles Schaeffer, GOP nominee for the township board, spoke against granting of the rezoning primarily because a greater concentration of people, living close together in multiples could cause neighborhood friction and management problems. He cited his own development, Kings Mill, as an example of the friction and management problems that should be avoided elsewhere.

Responding to these arguments, Irving Adler emphasized that Kings Mill cannot be compared with the Levitt development since Levitt (Highland Lakes), even with the substitution of multiples for originally intended single family homes, will have a far less density than Kings Mill — so much less, in fact, that the density will be only slightly greater than would be required if the entire site were developed in single family homes.

Adler also stated that he has never tried to hide the fact that the revised plan was prompted by economics. He noted that the original request for revision indicated that the project, as then being engineered, represented a substantial financial loss to Levitt.

Smith took the position that Levitt, one of the nation's largest developers, must have known what it was getting into when it first sought and received initial rezoning.

Earlier, the planning commission — after several sessions with the developer in which revised house-multiple unit plans were developed — recommended approval of the rezoning.

As approved now, the zoning will

Township Gets Court 'Bonus'

Northville Township is enjoying a $5,000 "bonus" today—thanks to an interpretation that the township has no financial obligation to support the district court.

The $5,000 was budgeted for court support but upon learning of the interpretation from its attorney, John Ashton, and from District Court Judge Dunbar Davis, the township board Tuesday night voted to transfer the $5,000 to its law enforcement account.

Stromberg advised against the transfer, pointing out that, as stated by Ashton, the interpretation is still subject to a ruling by the state Attorney General and could possibly be reversed. Strongly urging the transfer was Trustee Richard Mitchell.

According to Judge Davis, the township has no financial obligation since the court does not sit in the township, even though township cases are processed through the local district court in the city.

permit Levitt to build 130 single family homes, 1,306 townhouses and 400 apartments. Originally, Levitt proposed 350 single family houses.

The Brooks rezoning petition, which would permit development of 700,000 square-foot regional shopping center at the northwest corner of Haggerty and Seven Mile roads, was tabled to permit the board time to consider Brooks' request that he be given an opportunity to face his "accuser" — Planning Consultant George Vilcan, who opposes the Brooks rezoning.

Both Vilcan and the planning commission has recommended that the rezoning petition be denied.

Spokesmen for Brooks hinted Tuesday night that given an

City Finds It's Feast or Famine

"It's either feast or famine," quipped Councilman Charles Lapham Monday night as the council faced making a decision on which of two developers should get the green light for development of the property southeast of Wing and Center Streets.

As matters turned out the decision was postponed until next week, with plans calling for private meetings with both developers this evening (Thursday).

Lapham's comment was sparked by the fact that over the years, the city and the Northville Economic Development Corporation have repeatedly attempted without success to attract a bona fide developer for the property, stretching from Main to Cady and from Wing east to the Folino Insurance Agency. Now, within a period of a few weeks, two developers have indicated a desire to move ahead with planning, studies and financing.

Most of the property in question — some 56,000 square feet — is either owned by the city or by the Development Corporation.

Both developers already have spent several weeks in making private studies and preliminary plans and, in fact, reportedly have lined up tentative commitments from prime tenants. Names of these tenants, though revealed to council, have not been made public.

The developers in question are Richard McManus of McManus Engineering of Southfield and Lanphar Realty and Development Company of Detroit.

McManus proposes a development of some 60,000 square feet of commercial and office buildings, while Lanphar's proposes a development of commercial and office buildings with

Initial Success Assures Another Fair in 1971

"There's no doubt in my mind—it was a great initial success and there will be another, even bigger and better fair next year."

That's the word from Robert Webber, chairman of the four-day Northville Fair that came to a close Sunday after attracting upwards of 50,000 persons from throughout the area—and some from as far away as California.

Webber reported that the executive board of the Northville Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the fair, will meet tonight "to review the fair while it's still fresh in our minds. Hopefully, we'll be able to isolate some of the problems and avoid them next year."

The Chamber, said Webber, has not yet been able to determine the financial success of the fair and probably won't be able to do so for a week or more. But, the chairman added, "I'd guess we (Chamber) will just about break even."

Prior to the fair, Chamber officials had hoped a small profit would be realized so that this money could be used to expand next year's event.

Even if no profit is realized, said Webber, this first fair "has got to be a great start. We've learned a good deal and what we've learned should help make things run more smoothly next year."

Webber said planning for the 1971 fair will begin immediately.

Meanwhile, questionnaires are to be sent to participating organizations this year asking for their comments and suggestions.

"I want to extend my thanks to the citizens of our community and to the organizations who helped make the fair a success," said Webber. "I, and the other members of our committee, especially thanks the Northville Downs and John Carlo (Downs executive manager) for use of the Downs facilities and parking lots and to Harley Cole for permitting us to use his parking facilities."

While a number of organizations reported they had less financial success than they had anticipated, others were enthusiastic.

The PTA Council, for example, were left with a large quantity of unsold food. Some 400 dozen hotdog and hamburger buns were donated Tuesday to Mother Waddle's inner-city food kitchen, spokesmen reported.

Repeated thrills of the fair were the performance by local area skydivers. They came up with individual accuracy jumps, three-man exits from the plane, jumps with smoke grenades, and demonstrated a new type parachute, having a 30 MPH forward speed and nicknamed the "Flying Mattress."

Jumpers included Fred Wickham of Detroit, Dan Wilcox of Livonia, Steve Fairchild of Birmingham, Gerry Kelly of Farmington, Norm Rust of Novi, Bill Jordon of Orchard Lake, and Dan Wolkow of South Lyon. Wolkow furnished and piloted the plane except when he was jumping.

The antique show failed to attract the anticipated local spectators, a

School Buildings On Target—Busard

Although the opening of school is less than a month away, the myriad of construction and renovation projects underway here are not expected to create any major problems for students or teachers, according to school officials.

Actually, a number of projects are already or nearly completed, and all major school additions are "on schedule," says Business Manager Earl Busard. "Frankly, we're pleased with the progress despite one or two setbacks."

Among the latter was a two-months plumbers strike that curtailed building activity at the high school.

While remodeling of classrooms at the high school will be incomplete when school opens, he explains, that work which has been started will not interfere with instruction nor cause any great inconvenience. Remodeling work will resume when additional new classrooms are put into service sometime in December, thus freeing existing classrooms for additional work there.

Little of the construction elsewhere, except possibly at Amerman Elementary, is expected to create any crowding. Even before construction began, enrollment projections at Amerman indicated the school would be filled to capacity this fall — before additional classrooms are completed.

Of the projects included under the $1,935,622 architectural contract, here is a summation of construction:

HIGH SCHOOL

Because a utility line had to be moved by plumbers, construction here was delayed because of a plumbers strike. However, construction on this $681,670 project is still within the time schedule.

Construction includes 16 additional classrooms — including a chemistry lab and a biology lab, renovation of 15 classrooms, expanding the band room to include facilities for vocal music, converting of the old bus garage to a crafts classroom, additions to boys and girls lockers, a new health room, a new wrestling room, a new gymnasium roof exhaust (for ventilation) system, and "gang" toilet facilities.

Eleven of the new classrooms are expected to be ready for occupancy in December. When this occurs, it will free existing rooms for completion of renovation work.

Woman Held For Stabbing

A Westland woman, Mrs. Bernadine Stanley, stabbed last week at Northville State Hospital, was reported in good condition Tuesday at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

Late Monday police apprehended Mrs. Mamie Weatherspoon of Detroit and charged her with assault with intent to commit murder. Arraignment was pending.

According to state hospital spokesmen, Mrs. Weatherspoon allegedly stabbed Mrs. Stanley in the back with a paring knife following or during an argument over a disciplinary action last week Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Stanley, dining room supervisor, reportedly had asked Mrs. Weatherspoon, an employee in "K" building, to carry out an assignment or be sent home. The argument followed.

Following the incident Mrs. Weatherspoon fled the premises, spokesmen said.

Mrs. Stanley was rushed to St. Mary where she underwent surgery for removal of the knife.

NEWS BRIEFS

FOUR MEMBERS of a five-member newly established city housing commission were named by the city council Monday night. The fifth member is to be named next week. Appointed this week were Dr. Wilbur Johnston, John Stuart, Mrs. Nancy Schoultz, and Rodney Grover. Primary concern of the commission is to study and possible establishment of low-cost housing for senior citizens.

A "MASKED BANDIT" sparked a riot at the Detroit House of Correction and disrupted power service to hundreds of homes in Northville and Plymouth Sunday night. Inmates rioted, resulting in minor injuries to more than a dozen prisoners and damaged windows, bedding, and chairs, when the prison was plunged into darkness by a raccoon that got tangled up in electrical works at Detroit Edison's substation in Plymouth Township. Male inmates also broke into the prison commissary during the blackout and reportedly stole $4,000 worth of cigarettes and candy. The raccoon was electrocuted. DeHoCo is located on Five Mile Road—with facilities for men on the south side in Plymouth Township and facilities for women on the north side in Northville Township.

LOCAL OFFICIALS will join Wayne County Commissioner Carl Pursell and representatives of the Natural Resources Commission in a tour of Maybury Sanatorium grounds this morning (Thursday). The state reportedly has voiced interest in Northville's hope to acquire a portion of the property for park purposes. Also, it has been suggested, although nothing of a concrete proposal has been advanced, that perhaps part of the property could be acquired for a state or regional park.

APPROVAL of the tentative new teachers contract—hammered out by negotiators for teachers and the board of education two weeks ago—has not yet been given by the executive council of the Northville Education Association. The council has informed Superintendent Raymond Spear that it is withholding its recommendation to teachers for ratification until after language of all sections of the proposal has been satisfactorily formalized.

Local Man Takes Bride

MR. and MRS. THOMAS L. FROUNFELTER

In an evening ceremony at the Mancelona Methodist Church Thomas Leigh Frounfelter took Susan Jean Ladensack as his bride.

They were married on August 1 at 7 p.m., with the Reverend Helen Jackson performing the double-ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ladensack and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. L.E. Frounfelter of Northville.

Bouquets of white and pink gladiolus and white mums were used as decorations for the ceremony. Music was provided by soloist John Hyde, former Northville teacher, who sang "Can't Help Falling In Love," "One Hand, One Heart," and the "Lord's Prayer." Cary Belcher played the organ.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother Charles. She wore an A-Line wedding gown with a front panel and chapel length train of Chantilly lace. An elbow length veil fell from a Juliet Cap trimmed in seed pearls and matching lace.

She carried a prayer book with a floral arrangement of orchids and stephanotis.

Serving as maid of honor was Marcia Ladensack. She wore an A-line gown of dark pink dotted swiss trimmed in Chantilly lace with a velvet bow and streamers. Her flowers were a floral arrangement of pink majestic daisies.

The bridesmaids were Debra Ladensack, Nancy Ladensack, Sandy Norton, Debra Frounfelter, Sally Ray and Sherry Beebe. Their outfits resembled the maid of honor's in a lighter shade of pink.

Serving as ushers were William Forsyth, William Sliger, Paul Cleveland, Donald Twiss, Roger Kline, Robert Anderson and Michael Grant. Other attendants included Shelly Anderson, flower girl, and Eric Norton, ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ladensack wore an outfit of pink silk shantung. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in blue silk shantung.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Masonic Temple. About 200 friends and relatives attended from Mancelona, Traverse City and Northville.

For Junior Miss Pageant

Talented Gals Sought

School won't begin until next month but the search for talent is already underway.

Northville Jaycees are seeking contestants for the fifth annual Northville Junior Miss Pageant, tentatively scheduled for October in the high school auditorium.

The Pageant is open to all high school senior girls, and it consists of a five-part evaluation of girls' accomplishments and achievements rather than a bathing beauty contest, emphasizes David Van Hine, chairman of the Pageant.

According to Van Hine, at least 10 contestants will be required to conduct the colorful local pageant. To date, four girls have already volunteered to be contestants, he added.

Any high school senior girl desiring to participate as a contestant is urged to contact Van Hine—at 349-3015—by this weekend. "Don't delay and miss out on this once in a lifetime opportunity," the Jaycee spokesman said.

In the four years the local Jaycee chapter has sponsored this event, twice its winners went on to claim additional honors at the regional and state levels. And all four of its previous winners earned regional praise for their performances.

The winner of the first Jaycee Junior Miss Pageant here, Pam Smith, went on to garner laurels elsewhere in the state and eventually was named to represent Michigan in national competition at Mobile, Alabama.

Likewise, Leanne Steeper, winner of the local pageant two years ago, proved to be a popular choice. She won in regional competition before narrowly losing in state competition.

Other local winners have included Deniece Bidwell and Lynn Tuikka.

Aside from the coveted honors, contestants have an opportunity of winning prizes that include college scholarships.

Judging at all levels of competition is based on scholarship, mental alertness, poise and appearance, creative and performing arts, and youth fitness.

News Around Northville

An excursion to Kensington Park is planned for the Northville Senior Citizens Club on Wednesday August 19. Transportation will be provided leaving from the Scout-Recreation Hall at 11 a.m. and returning home about 3:30. Each participant is reminded to bring his own picnic lunch.

"Potter's Clay" presenting religious rock music will appear on August 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the South Lyon High School Cafeteria. The free performance, to which Northville residents are invited, is sponsored by the South Lyon Methodist Youth.

Scattered showers throughout the summer have been given for Susan Marie Yoder and Mark Hessee in prelude to their wedding Saturday.

She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Yoder of 20189 Whipple Drive, and her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hessee of Nine Mile. Both graduated from Northville High School in 1967 and will begin their senior year as political science majors at the University of Michigan this fall.

On June 30 the bride-to-be was honored with a miscellaneous luncheon shower in the home of Mrs. Robert Lang, 1051 Linden. Serving as co-hostesses were Mrs. O.J. Robinson and Mrs. Frank Pauli.

The luncheon was followed by a dessert shower on July 16, in the home of Mrs. Richard Martin. Mrs. William Secord was co-hostess of the miscellaneous shower.

Friends from Northville and Ann Arbor attended a cook-out in honor of the future bridegroom on July 31 in the home of Sue Murany of Northville. The cook-out was followed by a luncheon at the Round Table on Tuesday for the Miss Yoder and her bridesmaids. The luncheon was given by Mrs. William Martin.

Northville's Dr. Victoria Lovewell, traveling with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Doud of Saginaw and their granddaughter Monika Lee of Ann Arbor, attended the Van Cliburn Concert at the national music camp in Interlochen on August 1.

A total of 238 Hillsdale College students earned academic dean's list honors for the second semester of the 1969-70 school year according to Associate Academic Dean Earle H. Munn.

Among those students are 22 who achieved all-A grades. To qualify for dean's list recognition students must earn a B or better grade in each of their subjects.

Among those named to the current dean's list at Hillsdale College is Stanley E. Nirider, a freshman, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Essie Nirider of 985 Grace Street. He is a graduate of Northville High School.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Gibson, Sr. of West Six Mile Road recently returned from a three-week tour of Italy where they visited their son, Sergeant John H. Gibson, Jr. and his wife, Nancy.

Sergeant Gibson is stationed with the United States Air Force security service at San Vito del Normandi, just outside of Brindisi. The junior Gibson's line is in the small village of Ostuni, about 15 miles from the base.

He and his wife leave later this month for a 30-day tour of Europe, returning to duty in September. They are due home in April, 1971.

Area Residents

Additional Tests

Set At Schoolcraft

In response to many who have been unable to take counseling placement tests for enrollment this fall, the Schoolcraft College Admissions Office has announced a special testing session for 7 p.m. Monday, August 17.

Placement tests are required for the admission of regular or matriculated day or evening students. These are students enrolled in either a definite program or taking courses which carry transferable credit. The tests take about three hours to complete and will be given in the Waterman Campus Center.

BIRTHS

An eight pound four ounce baby boy has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Moore of 19630 Maxwell. Daniel Erik entered the world last Monday at the Sinai Hospital in Detroit. His arrival home is awaited by two brothers, John, 5, and Mark, 3.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Marler and Mrs. Helen Moore of Livonia.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brinker of 24440 Mill Stream in Novi announce the birth of a new 12 pound son named Matthew Vincent. The child was born on August 8 in St. Mary Hospital of Livonia. He joins three older brothers at home.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Alec Brown of Linden, Michigan.

Engagements Told

CATHY E. CARR

STEPHANIE MILLS

Mrs. Veda Mills of Mancelona, Michigan and James Mills of Beulah, Michigan announce the engagement of their daughter, Stephanie Kay, to William D. Forsyth.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Forsyth of Northville.

The bride-elect, a 1969 graduate of Mancelona High School, is employed by the law firm of Mundstock and Richardson in Detroit. Her fiancé, a 1967 graduate of Northville High School, is a senior at General Motors Institute in Flint.

The couple plan a January 2 wedding.

An April 24 wedding is being planned by Cathy E. Carr and Gregory L. Krist. The future bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Carr of Maude Lea Circle, and her fiancé's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Krist of Eleven Mile Road.

He is presently employed at Action Cycle Sales in Union Lake, while she works as a receptionist with Pyles Industries in Wixom.

Pastor to Talk On Civil Strife

"What the Bible Says About Civil Unrest" will be the title of a message delivered Sunday at the regular evening service at the First Baptist Church of Northville.

In the message, the Reverend Cedric Whitcomb, pastor, will answer four questions: 1. What are the causes of civil disobedience? 2. What does the Bible say about civil obedience? ("The Bible has much to say about obeying human government and this question will be answered straight from the Word of God," says the pastor). 3. What are some examples of civil disobedience in the Bible? ("There are situations in the Bible when men disobeyed their governments — what do they mean to us today?") 4. What does the Bible say we are to do in light of all that's going on around us?

"There are two classes of people in our government today and each of them must act in a different way," explains Pastor Whitcomb, who will conclude his message by telling what this action must be.

Also scheduled Sunday evening will be congregational singing and special music.

The public, invited to attend, is reminded that a well-staffed and equipped nursery is available for babies and toddlers two years old and younger.

Alpha Nu Chapter, and Miss Ada Fritz, fifth grade teacher at Main Street Elementary School.

In addition to daily business sessions, the six-day convention included the awarding of $62,000 in graduate scholarships to 19 members and six foreign educators and of the international educator's award to an outstanding woman author for her book on education. Winner this year is Lisa A. Richette, Philadelphia attorney and author of Throw Away Children.

Also announced at the traditional birthday luncheon on August 5 were the names of two women for international honorary membership—Mrs. Patricia Nixon, of Washington, D.C., and Mrs. William Kletzer, former national president of the PTA.

On the social side the program featured several receptions, tours of the Northwest, an authentic salmon bake on the Oregon coast at Gearhart and a banquet with Edith Green, representative from Oregon, as speaker. Delta Kappa Gamma was founded 41 years ago in Austin, Texas by 12 dedicated women educators. Their purpose was to "unite women educators of the world in a genuine spiritual fellowship."

Today there are more than 2,200 chapters with a membership of more than 110,000 women. Only this year the first chapter outside this continent was organized in Oslo, Norway, honoring 21 educators in Sweden, Finland, Denmark and Norway.

Girls Attend Twirling Clinic

Cathy Yee of 53963 Nine Mile Road and Nicki Workman of South Lyon have both been attending the baton twirling and cheerleader clinic held at Eastern Michigan University from August 10-14.

The clinic is being conducted by Mary Evelyn Thurman, internationally known clinic director, teacher and judge. In February, 1969 she was elected by the National Baton Twirling Association as the "Teacher of the Year."

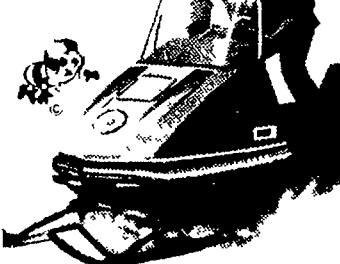

All phases of cheerleading, baton twirling, majorette work and a concentrated pom pom course are covered by a trained teaching staff at the camp. Daily competition was held in each division for those wishing to participate. Competition is based mainly on the variety of new material which the students learned at the clinic.

Panattoni, Busard Panel Participants

Two administrators from the Northville school system were among a select group who attended a national conference at Columbia Teachers College in New York City last week.

Earl Busard, business manager of the Northville system, was one of 27 people from across the nation who attended the work conference dealing with problems and changes in education as they relate to business. The conference ran from July 26 - 31.

on the list of speakers to address the business seminar.

Upon his arrival, Busard said, he was asked to speak on Northville's study of the year-round school system later in the week.

The talk centered on what Northville had done and what it intended to do before making a decision on whether or not to adopt the year-round plan, he said.

Northville's curriculum coordinator, Miss Florence Panattoni, was among 31 participants in a curriculum workshop which ran from July 26 - August 7. New curriculum and teaching methods, contract teaching, and the changing role of schools in our country today were covered at the workshop.

An invitation to the conference was made following recommendation from the state level, Busard explained. "We don't know exactly who recommended us."

The assistant superintendent from the Utica school system, was the only other person from Michigan invited to attend the one-week conference.

Suprisingly, Busard found himself

place for the largest stuffed animal class; in lower left three year old Alice Schifflow of 20212 Woodhill clings (is clung to by?) her entry which took first for the cutest stuffed animal. An opening parade marches down Main Street, top, on its way to the Scout Recreation Building where judging was held, while Linda Prom (bottom) of 967 Allen Drive holds her 85-year-old first place winner in the oldest doll contest. At top right, Kevin Schrot, of 47900 West Seven Mile shows off his first place ribbon while his "most unusual" pet quacks. In middle right, Kevin (in rear) joins Dick Yeager of 18103 Pinebrook (front) in Mat Koenig's (center) home-built trailblazer wagon. Mat lives at 46266 Pickford. David Kenser of the recreation department, dons coat and tails (bottom right) to lead the parade.

GETTING READY — Beverly Paisley of 120 North Wixom Road, Co-Chairman of the Wixom Centennial Committee, fits Chairman John Parvu with a centennial hat. Single hoop dresses, like the one Mrs. Paisley is wearing, and hats similar to Parvu's as well as other costumes and decorations went on sale Monday at the Committee's headquarters, 49130 Pontiac Trail.

Wixom Citizens Don Costumes

Plans for a gala week of celebration, including a professionally produced and directed play featuring local talent and depicting the early life of Wixom, are well underway for the community's 100th birthday to be observed in October.

The festivities will run through the week of October 17-24 and will include ceremonies dedicated to ladies, senior citizens, merchants and industry in Wixom.

There also will be parades, a centennial Queen contest, an ox roast, a fair and a beard contest.

Highlight of the week, according to John Parvu, chairman of the centennial commission, is a play written and directed by the John B. Rodgers production company of Fostoria, Ohio.

"The Rodgers company specializes in materials used in centennial celebrations like the one we have in Wixom," Parvu explained. "They are writing a play on the basis of information we give them and they'll send a professional director to live in Wixom for four or five weeks and recruit people from the community to act in it," Parvu said.

The week will begin with a kick-off dance on Saturday, October 17.

Following, on the 18th will be a special church service to be held in the First Baptist Church at 620 Wixom Road. Services will be followed by an old time ice cream social at the church.

An old fashioned, outdoor flea market will highlight merchant day on Monday, the 19th. Area artists will sell their wares, and "as many merchants from the Novi, Northville, Walled Lake, Milford area as can be recruited will sell their products in an open air street sale," said Parvu.

Ladies day is Tuesday with a fashion show and luncheon planned.

On Wednesday Wixom's industry will open to the public for open houses and plant tours.

The first showing of the "historical spectacular" will be Wednesday night followed by second and third showings Thursday and Friday.

Senior Citizens day is Thursday and a centennial carnival also will open. The carnival will continue through Saturday.

Friday's plans are as yet indefinite.

Saturday, the final day of celebration, will be Youth day. A parade — including Shriners, antique cars, floats, decorated bicycles and "any group interested in preservation of the past" — will kick off at 10 a.m., according to Parvu.

There also will be judging of a centennial beard contest Saturday.

Preparatory to the week's celebration, every Friday, starting tomorrow, will be "dress up day," said Parvu.

"Anyone who wants to can make their own costumes, or else buy them at the commission headquarters 49130 Pontiac Trail," Parvu explained.

The costumes went on sale Monday for between $13 and $22 for a woman's dress, $1.25 for a bonnet, $5 for a man's top hat and $1.50 for a tie.

Members of the committee will be in costume during the week of the celebration and also on each dress up day. They encourage anyone who can to join them.

Judging for Centennial Queen will be held on Wednesday of the big week. The contest is open to all Wixom girls 17 to 24, whether married or single.

Winner will be chosen on the basis of tickets to the historical production sold. The winner will receive a trip to an as yet undetermined vacation spot, for herself and a companion.

Money from the ticket sales will go into the centennial fund.

Board Denies Garage Appeal

The Novi Board of Appeals, in its monthly meeting last week Tuesday, denied the request of Jack Wikman, of 16220 Taft Road, to build a garage in front of his home.

The denial came as a result of opinions issued by City Attorney Howard Bond, and City Planning Consultant Vilican-Leman and Associates.

The city ordinances on which the opinions were based, say that accessory structures may not be built on what is designated as the front yard of any residential dwelling.

Reasoning behind the ordinances, according to Robert Shaddock of Vilican-Leman, is in the purpose of a front yard as defined by the city.

"A front yard is to provide open space set back from the road," Shaddock said, "and an accessory structure built in front of the residential home uses up that space thus defeating the purpose."

Flea Market Opens at Park

Franchise Expositions Incorporated, Detroit owners of the Walled Lake Amusement Park property on Thirteen Mile and Novi Road, report that a flea market and antique sale will be held there weekly in the 15,000 square foot skating rink building.

The weekly activity will begin Sunday, August 23 and will run from 12-6 p.m.

During the week, two sessions of roller skating will be held daily, except Sunday, from 2 to 6 p.m. and from 7 to 11 p.m. Admission will be charged for skating.

Gabriel Glantz, president of Franchise Expositions, said admission to the flea market is free, but those selling their wares will be charged rent.

Controversy Stirs More Resignations in Wixom

The Wixom City Council was besieged with another round of resignations at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

Councilmen received two letters in which city officials resigned: one from Kenneth Carothers, Wixom building official, and the other from parks and recreation board members. The latter was signed by Jim Nissen as director, and Bonnie DuFresne, Irene Rollo, Tom Burke and Fred and Sandra Evans as members.

All resignations were accepted.

Carothers mentioned the maligning of his character and the questioning of his qualifications as well as the fact that he didn't feel he could keep busy enough in his job to merit the full time salary he was receiving.

"I sincerely hope," said Carothers, "the man you (Mayor Gilbert Willis) appoint to take my place will not be subjected to the many inferences and insinuations, all unfounded, that were leveled against me."

Willis's appointment of Carothers to replace former building official Ralston Calvert of Walled Lake resulted in a controversy that has involved council since spring when the new mayor took office.

Latest rounds in that controversy included a council definition of Calvert as a part-time employee, taking him out of the class of department head and at least, theoretically, out of the mayor's appointive power, and a letter to council from Calvert stating that he is awaiting "the opportunity to continue the work that I have been deprived of due to circumstances entirely beyond my control."

Following the parks and recreation resignations Willis made his fourth attempt at an appointment to the directorship of that board.

Gerald Abrams of 49361 Wainstock was accepted by council as director of the board which, like the post of building officer, has been a thorn in the mayor's side since last spring when suddenly and unexpectedly he failed to reappoint nine-year-director Tom Burke.

Other appointments to the directorship have been Ron Parvu, who is now a member, Max Sidor, and Jim Nissen who said in an earlier interview that he felt he had "made an effort to hold the groups together," but that "it just hasn't worked out."

Nissen resigned his post only minutes after he got it at the meeting of July 28, when the mayor reportedly ignored a prior agreement by appointing Lottie Chambers, Ron Parvu and Ed Ruggles as board members.

Nissen said at the time that he and the mayor had agreed to discuss board appointments before they were brought before the council and that no such discussion concerning Chambers, Parvu and Ruggles had taken place.

Willis said later that week that he believed the board "should take in all layers of the community," and that his appointments had been made merely to fill the vacancies.

The 10 member board now has six seats filled: Abrams, the director; Robert Tromley, who was reappointed at that July 28 meeting; Fred Warra, who resigned earlier in the month but whose resignation was never officially accepted; and Chambers, Parvu and Ruggles.

In other business Tuesday night the Council:

—Decided to take the police dispute over salary into compulsory arbitration.

"I guess that's the only way out," commented Councilwoman Mary Parvu.

—Directed the assistant to the mayor, Robert Case, to "prepare alternative programs to accommodate hardship cases in the November 1 deadline for hook up to the sanitary sewer system for the city of Wixom."

Case said there are elderly citizens and widows in Wixom that "want to DRIVER STILL ALIVE — According to Wixom police, Kenneth VanDerKooi of Zeeland, Michigan, owner of his own truck, is still alive after an accident Monday morning that engulfed his truck in flames, and drove another truck from the highway. Fire and police officials from Novi, Wixom and Oakland County, blocked off I-96 just east of Beck Road for over an hour. Ernie Allen of Detroit was the driver of the other truck. "I just saw him coming in my rear view mirror, next thing

I knew, I was in the ditch." Allen said VanDerKooi struck his truck from behind. Wixom police report that VanDerKooi was taken to Botsford General Hospital in Farmington and transferred from there to St. Mary in Grand Rapids. Novi and Wixom fire departments combined in an effort that was "a Godsend" according to Wixom patrolman Walter Sprenger. "We wouldn't have been able to do anything without them."

City Council OK's Bid For DPW Garage Hoist

Novi City Council set a public hearing and okayed a bid from the Plymouth Tank and Fabricating Company for a hoist in the new DPW garage, during its regular meeting Monday, convened late because of a joint session with planners.

Council action setting a public hearing on the Grand River, Novi Road sewer came after a minimum of discussion on the resolution which had been referred to City Attorney Howard Bond and City Engineers Johnson and Anderson in recent weeks for reports.

The improvement is to be paid through a special assessment district, with no cost assessed against the city at large. The estimated cost is $728,000.

Public hearing was set for September 2.

A bid in the amount of $3,487 from the Plymouth Tank and Fabricating company for a hydraulic hoist to be installed in the new DPW garage on Grand River was accepted.

City Manager Dallas Zonkers noted that the firm could install the hoist in the garage before the concrete floor was poured pending council approval.

Council also transferred $8,419 from the building fund to pay expenses already incurred in the building of the garage. The money will be used for land improvement, road construction, and the cost of the building.

In other action Monday night the council:

—Expressed confusion over the services outlined in the contract of Gordon B. Hunter Associates, a professional appraisal firm that has undertaken the reappraisal of Novi property.

According to the City Manager's report of August 6, Hunter "will not be setting individual land values this year," but will instead adjust them according to general classifications: residential, business, industrial, farm and utility.

According to one council source the wording in the contract is ambiguous and does not state that Hunter will go into a home and inspect property as council had understood.

Councilman Edwin Presnell volunteered to go to Hunter's Farmington office with Councilman Louie Campbell to discuss differences and obtain a statement in writing outlining the firm's procedures and objectives.

—Listened to a preliminary report on the budget as related to city spending from city comptroller Frances Gow.

Coy Requests Secret Meeting

Just prior to adjournment of the Novi City Council — Board of Appeals joint meeting Monday night, County Commissioner Lew Coy asked for a private hearing with the two bodies.

It's a matter concerning "land values," Coy said, "that I can't talk about in front of the public and press."

Mayor Joseph Crupi adjourned his body, Planning Commission Chairman George Athas adjourned his, and Crupi asked for the public and the press to excuse themselves.

The private meeting took 12 minutes and Coy had no comment when the meeting ended.

Gala Days Just One Week Away

Gala days are here again in Novi.

The annual celebration, sponsored by the Novi Jaycees and the Novi Chamber of Commerce is scheduled for the weekend of August 22-23.

Activities and attractions slated for the gala affair to be held at the Novi Community Building, include a fireworks display, a greased pole climb, game booths, helicopter and pony rides, and a $300 grand prize drawing. Second prize in the drawing is to be $100 and third and fourth prizes of $50 each are also to be given.

Tickets for the drawing can be sold by any interested group, those desiring information are urged to contact Dean Baynard at 349-4329.

Booth space for the event is still available, according to Todd Price, Gala Day chairman, those interested are urged to contact Norm Somers at 349-0122.

NOVI BOY SCOUTS

Novi Boy Scouts Troop 54 will also be presented with a flag by the Auxiliary on Gala Days.

NOVI GOODFELLOWS

The Novi Goodfellows plan to have a meeting August 20 to discuss their activities for Gala Days. They will be serving meals and lunches and they sponsor games.

NOVI REBEKAH NEWS

Ten Rebekahs met at the home of Mrs. Hildren Hunt on Monday to sew for the bazaar. Much was accomplished. They plan to have another sewing work shop in the near future.

Wixom News

GRACE BYRD 624-1714

Mrs. Bertha (Frank) Robinson of 3064 Potter Road returned home last week after spending three months in the White Hall Convalescent home. Mrs. Robinson was active in the Sunshine Social group in Wixom and Walled Lake Eastern Star before her illness.

A little party was given Tuesday from 2-4 p.m. for the four and five-year-olds who will be entering kindergarten class this fall, at the Baptist Church. Mrs. Clara Banfield, Catherine Flowers, Mrs. Helen Warren, and Mrs. Pat Wilson had the honor of entertaining the little ones.

Traveling to New Haven Sunday for a family reunion, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wagnitz enjoyed visiting with their brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wagnitz from Phoenix, Arizona, whom they hadn't seen for two years, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wagnitz from Alliance, Ohio. The reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Rodanhisler, their sister.

Derexa Smith flew to Quincy, Indiana this past week where she plans to spend a few weeks visiting an aunt and grandmother. Here, at home her sister, Alexis Smith, is preparing to return to the University of Michigan in September. Alexis is a sophomore this year and is majoring in elementary education.

Pastor Robert Warren and family spent this last week at the youth camp at Camp Co Be Ac, where he was the Bible teacher for the young people. They returned home Saturday.

Mrs. Isabella Taylor of Charms Road enjoyed the summer visiting her daughter in Fairbanks, Alaska. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Shouse and daughter arrived here in April from Alaska, and Mrs. Taylor traveled with them on a trip through the western states. Mrs. Shouse participated in the International bowling championship tournament on July 31 in Tulsa Oklahoma before motoring back to Alaska.

With our community's big centennial celebration just around the corner, Mayor Gilbert Willis and city councilmen issued the following proclamation:

"Whereas, the year 1970 marks the important milestone of the beginning of the 100th year of the founding of Wixom; and

"Whereas, this important milestone provides an opportunity to focus our attention on the struggles and sacrifices of our forefathers and the growth and progress of our community and,

"Whereas, it is the desire of the citizens that this important milestone should not go by unrecognized;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that we, the mayor and council of the City of Wixom, County of Oakland, State of Michigan, and each and every citizen of the entire area, join together to commemorate this auspicious occasion in fitting celebration to our children and forefather of yore, which festive jubilation shall begin the week of October 18th to 24th, 1970, and continue until September 17th, 1971...."

OFFICIAL NOTICE OF SALE

$300,000.00

NOVI COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT

TAX ANTICIPATION NOTES

Sealed bids for the purchase of tax anticipation notes of Novi Community School District, County of Oakland, Michigan, of the par value of $300,000.00 will be received by the undersigned at 25549 Taft Road, Novi, Michigan, until 8:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time, on the 24th day of August, 1970, at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read.

The notes will be dated September 1, 1970, will mature April 30, 1971 and will bear interest at a rate or rates not exceeding 6% per annum. Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank or trust company located in the State of Michigan to be designated by the original purchaser of the notes which paying agent qualifies as such under the Statutes of the State of Michigan or of the Federal Government, subject to the approval of the Novi Community Schools. Denominations and form of notes to be at the option of the purchaser at the time of delivery.

The notes shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

For the purpose of awarding the notes the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the notes from September 1, 1970, to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The notes will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest dollar interest cost to the municipality. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the notes or at a price less than their par value will be considered.

The loan is in anticipation of the Operating portion of the School Tax for the fiscal year July 1, 1970 to June 30, 1971, which tax is due and payable December 1, 1970.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of 2% of the par value of the notes, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the notes. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of the purchaser's attorney approving the legality of the notes, to be secured at the purchaser's expense. approximately 27,500 square feet of space.

Both propose, as suggested by the council, buildings of Early American design. Front of the McManus development would face on Cady, while the front of Lanphar's development would face on Main. The former would require removal of the old library building (township hall), while the latter - at this point in studies - would preserve it.

Both developers express confidence in Northville's future and, on the basis of preliminary investigation, are fairly certain financing for the project could be secured. Total estimated value of the McManus development, including land, would exceed $2 million, while the Lanphar development would have an estimated value of more than $1 million.

Lanphar has offered to sign a purchase agreement, which would provide for payment of $1,000 to the city with an option to purchase within 180 days at a $1.50 per square foot price. On or before the end of 180 days, Lanphar would submit plans and specifications for its proposed development and the city would then have 30 days to review and approve or disapprove them. Within 180 days of approval Lanphar would consummate purchase of the land. Should Lanphar fail to submit its plans within 180 days the $1,000 would be forfeited. Under the agreement, if the city finds the plans unacceptable, Lanphar would have the option of changing them to satisfy the city or to withdraw the offer without loss of the $1,000.

McManus suggests no formal purchase agreement but rather an informal "partnership" with the city in which the developer, drawing upon its own professional staff of planners and architects, would work with the city in mutually developing a plan suitable to Northville's tastes. The developer further suggests that within a three-month period the city would be notified if it finds the plan economically feasible and worthy of additional expense in investigation and planning.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The City of Northville will receive sealed bids for a new brush chipper until 11:00 a.m., Friday, August 21, 1970 at Northville City Hall, 215 W. Main St. Specifications are available from the City Clerk at the above address.

ENACTMENT OF ORDINANCE

City of Northville

A Public Hearing was held by the Northville City Council on the following ordinance amendment and said ordinance was duly adopted by a unanimous vote of the Northville City Council on August 3, 1970:

Title 11, Chapter 10 - "An Ordinance Creating a Housing Commission for the City of Northville, Michigan"

Sec. 10-101 - Pursuant to Public Act No. 18 of the Extra Session of 1933, as amended, a commission is hereby created in and for the City of Northville, Michigan, to be known as the "City of Northville Housing Commission".

Sec. 10-102 - The City Manager of the said City of Northville is hereby directed to appoint the members of the said City of Northville Housing Commission with the consent of the City Council as soon as possible after this ordinance shall take effect.

Sec. 10-103 - The City Clerk is hereby directed to cause this ordinance to be published as soon as possible in the Northville Record, published in the City of Northville, Michigan, and to be posted in three public places in the City of Northville.

POLICE BLOTTER

Vandals hit Northville High School twice last week inflicting several hundred dollars worth of damage.

On August 3 Donald Eustice of Southfield, foreman of a construction company working at the high school, reported that someone had dismantled the exhaust system from a lift tractor and smashed a window in the trailer used as an office. The destruction occurred sometime between July 31 and August, 3, causing about $200 worth of damage.

Two more broken windows were reported last Wednesday by Lewis Bulman, high school custodian. Bulman reported that a concrete block was thrown through two windows on the East side of the high school office sometime during the night.

The right rear window was broken on a car, owned by Frank Hykal of 760 Horton Street, early Saturday morning while it was parked in Hykal's drive way.

Three more stolen bicycles were reported by area youths last week. Brian Briggs, 15 of 321 Yerkes, reported on August 8 that his bicycle was stolen while parked in front of the restaurant near the Downs parking lot.

On Sunday James Paul Leonard, 8 of 339 North Center reported his bicycle was stolen while parked in his yard. Also, Jerry Peterson, 8, of 19665 Meadowbrook, reported missing a bike from the parking lot at the Northville Lanes on August 6.

Another broken window was reported to police by Jennie Briggs of 321 Yerkes Street. The window was in the rear of her house.

A 1968 Oldsmobile, "abandoned" in the parking lot behind the Board of Education offices, was traced by police to owner Zenella Lindsay of Westland on August 6. She had reported the vehicle stolen on August 3.

A large plate glass window at the Spinning Wheel Fabric Shop, 146 East Main was broken sometime Thursday night reported Mrs. Virginia McLean. Estimated cost of the window was $300.

At least five people had articles stolen from the trunks of their cars, parked in the Northville Downs Parking lots last week. Owners reported that thieves gained entry by twisting and jimmying the locks on the trunk.

Selman Phillips of Farmington reported a spare tire and a wheel were stolen from his car on August 3, and Elizabeth Mades of Royal Oak reported a similar theft from her car on August 4.

On August 5 Dale W. Walworth of Flint reported that a spare tire, a wheel, a jack and some bolts and nuts to hold the wheel in place were stolen when the trunk of his car was forced open.

Other auto larcenies on August 7 were reported by Franklin T. McWhorter of Detroit and Theodore John Heckler of 18410 Fermanagh Court. Among the articles stolen from McWhorter was a .22 calibre Smith and Wesson revolver, a tire and some fishing equipment. Heckler was missing a raincoat, tire, and golf equipment.

Finally, Roy Allen Kuckenbecker of 43714 Dorisa Court reported someone attempted to break into his auto on August 7 as it was parked at the Downs parking lot. Although it was evident that the lock had been tampered with, entrance was not gained.

Harry Crafts of 46825 Chigwidden reported on August 8 that vandals had thrown a firecracker into his Detroit News paper box.

An escapee from the Wayne County General Hospital turned himself in to Northville police on August 9. Leo Roy Sissen, 26, of 410 North Center was returned to the hospital by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

When Debra Ann Staebler, 15, of Ann Arbor was injured in an auto accident on August 2, the car she was riding in collided with one driven by Lucille Deakins of Southfield, not Harry Jackson of Allen Drive as was previously reported. It was Jackson who reported the accident to the police.

Miss Staebler suffered head injuries and was taken to St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor for treatment.

FIRE CALLS

August 6, 3:46 a.m., 543 Dubuar Street, barn fire in rear of property.

August 6, 4:35 p.m., 421 Horton Street, garage fire.

In Novi. . .

Joan Subert of 39444 Nine Mile in Novi reported Friday a spare tire stolen from her car while it was parked in front of her home. Police said that the trunk lock had been removed.

Mervin Free of 25885 Sierra Drive reported an abandoned car in front of his home Sunday morning.

Upon investigation, the car, a 1966 Volkswagen, was found to have been stolen from Livonia. Police reported that the car had been vandalized.

Police were summoned to the home of Genevieve Smith, 235 Eubank, when it was reported that she took nine pain pills. She was sent to Saint Joseph Hospital in Pontiac for treatment.

Ruth Fry of 1355 East Lake reported Saturday a breaking and entry at her home.

Police investigating found no sign of forceable entry. Twenty-five dollars in blank money orders, as well as $100 in change was reported missing.

A Farmington man received "serious injury of the left leg," and a Pontiac man was trapped in his truck for over an hour Tuesday afternoon when the two, both truck drivers, collided, on Novi Road south of Grand River, according to police.

Paul Lubinski was taken to Botsford Hospital with leg injuries he sustained as a result of a left turn he attempted in front of Donald Haring of Pontiac.

The two collided and Haring's foot became entangled with the clutch pedal of his vehicle.

According to Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole, "We had to take it slow and easy, or else, in my opinion, that man would have lost his foot."

BeGole credited citizens on the scene as well as the K and H equipment company of Novi Road which provided porta-power equipment with which Haring's foot was finally freed, with "excellent cooperation."

In Uniform

Private 2 Edwin Beller has completed eight weeks of training at U.S.A.T.C.A. in Fort Knox, Kentucky, where he was in the armored tank division. He has also completed three weeks of intensive training in ballistic missiles at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Beller is now a "Redeye" missile gunner. Redeyes are guided missiles that protect ground troops from jet plane strafing. Presently, he is enjoying a three-week furlough at home before embarking for his tour of duty in Germany.

His brother, First Lieutenant Robert Beller has completed airborne infantry training at Fort Bragg, North Carolina and jungle training in Panama. He is now stationed at An Khe in the central highlands of Vietnam, where he arrived on July 19. He is attached to C. Company, 4th Infantry Division.

Both are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Beller of 771 Horton Street in Northville.

Novi Teacher Talks 'In Critical Stage'

With the opening of school less than three weeks away, teacher contract negotiations are fast reaching the critical point, spokesmen for the Novi Education Association report.

"Unless things get moving immediately we will have little recourse but to call for mediation," says Milan Obrenovich, who heads up the teachers' bargaining team.

A counter salary offer was introduced to the board of education early this week, and teachers were awaiting the reaction of the board to that offer before deciding whether or not to call for mediation.

Major hangup in negotiations are the economic matters, says Obrenovich, who insists that the teachers' latest salary proposal is in the "ballpark" in comparison with neighboring school districts.

That latest offer calls for a BA minimum of $8,080 to a BA maximum of $13,285; and an MA minimum of $8,700 to an MA maximum of $14,715.

The board's latest offer, introduced August 3, put the BA minimum at $7,700 and BA maximum at $12,290, while the MA minimum was pegged at $8,470 and the MA maximum at $13,070.

Both proposals are based on an 11-step salary schedule.

Other unsettled issues, according to Obrenovich and teacher negotiator James Ladd, include:

- Establishment of class size (teacher-pupil ratio).
- Teachers demand for a $10,000 life insurance policy.
- A new article on orderly procedure for staff reduction should such reduction become necessary in the future.
- Payment of tuition for teachers taking college credit beyond their degree levels.
- An agency shop clause.

Tentative agreement has been reached on a school calendar. That calendar calls for new teachers to report to school on August 31; all teachers to report on September 1; half-day of classes on September 2; and the first full day of classes on September 3.

Negotiations began in May and, according to teacher representatives, early stages "were disappointing" but movement by both sides in recent weeks "gave us a little more optimism."

Now, however, teacher negotiators contend that unless a satisfactory counter salary offer is made by the board "we probably will call for mediation."

HOT WEEK — Two garages were destroyed by fire in Northville last week Wednesday. The first at the home of Wilfred Becker, of 543 Dunbar, was burned to the ground as volunteer fireman battled the blaze Wednesday morning. The garage contained a workshop and "old things collected for sentimental value, according to Cris Becker. The second (below) was reported by Geneva Lemmon in the garage behind her home at 504 Horton. The building was destroyed before fireman could extinguish the blaze.

"Your suggestion that the township should consider moving its offices into the library area of the city hall was a good one, as far as it went," Russ Amerman told me last week.

The ex-superintendent of schools wondered why it wouldn't be a good idea to preserve the old Methodist church, which will be abandoned when the new edifice is completed on Eight Mile road, by relocating the community library there.

"And the fellowship hall and kitchen area of the church could be turned over to the senior citizens' organization for their meetings," he added.

There's no question that the Methodist church is a beautiful structure; the woodwork in the sanctuary could not be duplicated today. And the active senior citizens do need a facility where they can hold meetings and dinners.

But Hurd Sutherland, a member of the city-township library commission, had another idea. He thinks the community building would make a better library.

What about the board of education offices? Move them to the Methodist church?

At any rate a few wheels are turning. The reaction of most people, both city and township residents, has been that city-township offices in the same building would be a decided convenience and advantage for taxpayers.

As one person put it, "we'd have all the scoundrels in one building when we had a complaint. It'd be tougher for them to pass the buck."

People traveling abroad are receiving a friendly warning from the U.S. Department of State.

Rachel Hill of Northville's Travel Plans agency notes that agencies are now instructed to include an officially printed notice with all overseas tickets entitled "Drug Arrests Abroad."

The notice points out that there has been "an alarming increase in the number of arrests of young Americans abroad on illicit drug charges." Specifically, it states that 556 young American travelers were under detention in foreign countries on charges of possession, use, or trafficking in illicit drugs as of June 1970.

That's an increase of nearly 300 per cent over last year.

Of particular concern to the state department is the fact that the penalties involved are severe, and that prison conditions in some countries are primitive.

There's very little U.S. officials can do to help those arrested. And prosecution of offenders is being intensified. The penalties range up to death...with six years in jail plus a heavy fine being the rule for mere possession of narcotics or marijuana.

The warning is intended as just that...not as a suggestion that Americans going abroad would necessarily be more prone to drug usage.

But nearly all the U.S. nationals arrested on drug charges are under 30 years old...youngsters who apparently are under the impression that in foreign countries use of drugs is condoned.

I-96 from Lansing to Farmington is one of the state's targets for removal of illegal billboards.

The state highway commission estimates there are several hundred such signs along Michigan's 1,400 miles of freeway system. (And some 38,000 along all state highways.)

The crackdown is under a 1966 law which bars signs within 660 feet of the right-of-way of an interstate or primary highway.

The state has taken action to remove 19 signs along the 55-mile I-96 stretch. In 14 cases there has been compliance, two more will follow shortly, two are subject of discussion of their legality and one is in litigation.

More power to the state!

More beauty for the motorist.

YES...

Yes, I believe a city should have some control over how the business section looks. However, it must start with a plan carefully thought out as to what is desirable and possible for a town of its size.

Being interested in history—and especially in Northville history—I believe, for example, that buildings on Main and Center streets in my town should not be torn down nor replaced. Rather, they should be kept in good repair—kept as they were originally built on the outside. Behind the facade they can be as modern as tomorrow.

Northville had a good start with the design of the city hall, scout-recreation building, and the post office. If the City Fathers, here and elsewhere, would stick with the styles of 1830 to 1900 on the outside so that the town design has a little unity of appearance, Northville and other communities like it could present a great deal more appeal to the public than does Franklin—and look at the reputation of that town. We have many beautiful old homes, and if the business section could be kept in the style of the homes we would have an interesting town that would attract people from all over.

New Church Disgusts Serviceman

To the Editor:

From what I understand a certain longtime resident of this charming community was asked what she thought of the new Church. "What new Church?" "Why the one across from the A&P of course." "Church ... I thought that was a Bank." Now I'm aware what's been done, won't be, and couldn't be changed, but being a member of the Church, and a son of one of the oldest families in this town, I feel it's my business to ask the Church and civic leaders just what in the H— they've gone and done.

Having had a previous engagement in a Southeast Asian country, I wasn't able to be here for the meeting concerning demolishing the oldest Protestant Church building west of the Allegheny Mountains. If I had you fools can bet that I'd have done my best to stop you. Have any of you bothered to go around to our neighboring towns, because if you have you couldn't have helped notice how many businesses, homes, (and that's neighborhoods without the adornment of not so picturesque a supermarket in the middle of them), and even Churches have gone out of their way to restore the buildings they had, and are even building new ones to look as though they had some kind of character, not absolutely tasteless things made with fronts of wavy sheet

Times sure have changed.

Back when I was a kid thoughts of girls were repulsive ... and dangerous. Even if, on occasion, some gal (she usually was a matronly teacher) made me tingle a little my mother resolved the situation by clouting me on the side of the head with a scolding, "You keep your mind off girls and on arithmetic."

(Sometimes when I come home at night now and find one of those TV wives with a splitting headache and a herd of screaming kids I wish I had followed a mother's advice. At least today I'd be able to count the number of kids in our family).

But that was yesterday. Today kids apparently have love affairs when they're hardly out of diapers.

My youngest son, who still carries toads around in his pockets, is typical. "Joey's in love," his mother announced recently, adding matter-of-factly, "and so is Jennifer."

"Look at the card Jenny is sending her boyfriend," she beamed proudly. I almost blew my stack.

The card — one of those arty things you can buy in almost any store — read, "Loosen your Libido! I will be up tonight! Happy birthday lover."

Now if you are a typical parent and you had discovered such a card in the possession of your second grader, pray tell what would be your first reaction?

Chances are it would go something like this: Run, not walk, to the nearest dictionary. And then, aghast at what you've found, you probably would make an observation or two. Such as:

"That's awful ... terrible, as a matter of fact it's downright disgraceful. And worst of all, it doesn't seem to bother you at all."

"I don't know why you're so upset," she replied. "It's just a funny, innocent card. It doesn't mean anything. I was going to show you the card that Joey is sending but after the way you've carried on over this one I'd better not."

Her hint of another card gave me the same feeling I had 17 years ago when the Army assured me that the atomic bomb they were going to touch off over my head was "perfectly safe."

"Another card!" I exploded. "Joey's sending one, too?"

Trembling a little and fearing the worst, I snatched the card from her hand and read, "Happy birthday to the boss ... from all your nutty employees."

My first reaction was puzzled relief. But dwelling upon it awhile, I grew uneasy and took my concern to the son in question.

"Joey," I started.

"Not the birds and bees, again," he interrupted.

"No," I said. "This is more important. This card of yours ... it bothers me a little. Take it from your father: let the woman have the upper hand and you're in for a heap of trouble."

"What woman?" he asked.

"Your girlfriend ... the girl you're sending this ridiculous card to."

The kid with the toads in his pockets screwed up his freckled face and put his dad down: "That's not for no girl; that's for my boyfriend. He's the boss of our gang. Nobody can beat him up."

Speaking for Myself

Should Cities Control Store Front Design?

A commission should be formed of people who have enough interest to study the period and to know what is correct. Then they should be given some authority to approve or disapprove remodeling plans.

NO...

There are many examples of communities which have chosen to adopt a style of architecture, but for South Lyon I can't see it.

If an architectural design is selected by a city, there should be some significant historical background to justify it. I would be opposed to any city ordinance dictating style of architecture.

If a choice must be made, I would prefer that each commercial building be an expression of the personal tastes of the owner.

metal or green plastic building blocks. How odd it seems to look at the new Presbyterian Church complete with his and her doorways and think that the fellow and his family that did most of the campaigning for this monstrosity are no longer residents here in Northville.

From what I can gather, one of the major complaints about the old building was that it only held about 300 people, but then it was admitted that, by rearranging the seats you could easily fit 350 in there. How many are there now? About 400, at quite a bit more expense. Or how about the complaint that the foundation might just cave in at any time? Can you explain then why did it take three weeks instead of the estimated three days to tear it out? Also why did a qualified stone mason say that it could and probably would have lasted 500 years, also it seems he said the old foundation could easily hold the weight from the new steeple that was talked about? Or maybe the local contractor that crawled around in the rafters and came to the conclusion that they had grown as solid as iron over the years?, or do you really feel better with plastic beams over your head, while the sun streams through your genuine Blenko glass windows instead of the memorial windows given in memory of the pioneers that established the Church.

In this age of people seeking to find some kind of permanence in things, how did you allow yourselves to destroy one of the very few things that had any value in this sleepy little village. Also, how can you justify the money spent on yourselves in such a manner when there are people right here in paradise valley east of the tracks that can't afford to eat more than once a day. Oh, I see, you can't believe that sort of thing could happen here, well it does. I really don't think I'd be very surprised if the next time I come around here from a tour of duty, I found that you'd paved the Main Street with Green Stamps as an approach to a new gas station super-market complex on the site of the old spring.

More Than $2,000 Made

To the Editor:

In the thank you note I sent in for the American Cancer Society on July 30, the figures for the amount we made were wrong. Either I didn't write the right amount or else it was misprinted. I am sorry if I sent the wrong figures, but we made over $2,000.

I would really like the people to know that each year they have increased the income on each crusade. Thanks again everyone for being so helpful.

Citizen Protests Developer's Request

To the Editor:

In answer to Mr. Brooks full page ad on his proposed development, we would like to give a few reasons why we do not think this center should be allowed to be built here. Mr. Brooks has waved tax money as an enticement for others in the township to step forward on his behalf. However, we're afraid that they haven't considered some of the things that this money is going to have to be used for. We will have to update our small town facilities to cope with the added business. One state agent, when told of the proposed center remarked, "If they have only a one-man police force and are planning a center like that, they are in trouble." The local police are on call to answer any personal thefts or accidents there. The salespeople at the Livonia Mall are often approached for robbery, or even worse, as they leave work. They often find their gas tanks empty. This isn't unusual, because all sorts of people are drawn to these centers. Shoplifting is rampant because large stores cannot possibly keep up with a movie theater, although it has been situated away from the stores to relieve some of the juvenile traffic in their area. It is backed up against our subdivision.

There is also the ever present drug abuse. This is a natural place for it to be peddled. The traffic situation getting off and on Seven Mile anywhere around here is going to be a hazard. While Mr. Brooks sees his beautiful stores in the future, we see the above mentioned things that will affect the whole community.

We, as private property owners, object to this development for the following reasons. We bought our land as a place where we wanted to build our homes and raise our families. For a lot of us this meant a major investment. We bought next to land that was platted residential. Mr. Brooks bought land he knew was

Out of the Past

ONE YEAR AGO...

Bel Nor Drive-In restaurant, a popular eating spot for area residents in the past 12 years, closed. Owner Mrs. Walter Belasco announced that the Northville-Seven Mile road corner had been leased to Shell Oil Company.

Trustee Thomas Armstrong resigned from the Northville Township Board in disagreement with the board's handling of the report made by the police protection study committee and presented by Chairman Eugene Guido.

A letter from the State Department of Education threatening the Northville School district with possible loss of state aid if students from tax-exempt property were not admitted to the school system met with disfavor from board members.

About 29 young hunger hikers joined in the hunger hike sponsored by St. Paul's Lutheran Church Walther League to raise money for hungry people in our nation and the world.

Contractors began demolition of the First Presbyterian Church sanctuary on Main Street with removal of the huge bell. Officials reported that the bell would be installed in a new steeple being built on the new sanctuary.

FIVE YEARS AGO...

Dr. Kenneth MacLeod, Northville's assistant superintendent of schools, submitted his resignation to the school board. He had accepted a position as professor of education in charge of student teachers at Adrian college.

The question of where to build the new swimming pool was answered by the Northville board of education. It was to be attached to the existing high school.

Experiencing the biggest influx of business in its history, Foundry Flask and Equipment company of Northville announced plans for a three-phase expansion program.

TEN YEARS AGO...

Hospital night at Northville Downs Wednesday, August 3, netted Community General Hospital about $1,000. According to the Hospital administrator Calvin Monfils, some 1,400 tickets were sold.

Completion next month of an addition to Haller, incorporated located at 16580 Northville road, will nearly double in size of the present plant, owner John Haller revealed. The steel and concrete addition, which is located on the southeast side of the present plant, represents an increase of approximate 12,500 square feet.

The Community General Hospital auxiliary was planning a Theater Benefit Night Sunday, September 11, at Northland Playhouse. Tickets were for the evening performance of "Good-by Charlie" a comedy starring Eve Arden. All proceeds were to go to the purchase of hospital equipment.

Five June graduates of Northville high school were scheduled to take to the gridiron at Pontiac in the first annual Oakland County All-Stars Classic. They were Blaine Ashby, Wade Deal, Bill Juday, Fred Mitchell and Dave Nash.

Assessments Get Council Approval

Assessments, some of which were adjusted slightly, were approved Monday night and the city council immediately accepted the low bid for resurfacing work on Allen Drive, Grace and Lake streets.

After approving the assessment role, the council accepted the low bid of Detroit Concrete Products Corporation of Novi at $17,609 for general resurfacing and $2,948 for surfacing at street intersections.

Since the low bid came in several thousand dollars lower than estimated, City Manager Frank Ollendorff told council members and members of the audience that assessments are likely to be run lower than now established. In that event, he explained, affected property owners would receive rebates after work is completed.

Resurfacing is expected to begin within two or three weeks.

Other bids came in from Ypsilanti Asphalt Paving of Ypsilanti, $18,934.80 and $4,799; Washtenaw Asphalt Company of Ann Arbor, $20,444.15 and $4,495.25; and Cadillac Asphalt Paving Company of Southfield, $30,858 and $5,027.

The latter bidder was disqualified because the bid was based on a variation of specifications.

Also accepted by the council Monday night was the low bid for installation of sidewalks. The contract is to go to Padula & D'Orzio of Detroit, at $7,294.15 for work on Cady, North Rogers and Orchard Drive, and at residential. But, he didn't build. He held his land for speculation. We don't blame anyone for wanting to make as much money as possible, but not when it is at the expense of other people losing money on their property. There has to be just laws to protect the private citizens rights. That is why we have a township board to make such decisions. They have already denied Mr. Brooks a rezoning because his property was so close to residential. He now offers 80 whole feet to act as a buffer between his parking lot and us. This is supposed to take care of all the noise, artificial lighting, and traffic we will have seven days a week. One of Mr. Brooks representatives warned that if this doesn't go through, they just might put up $10,000 to $12,000 homes. We welcome them. He also says that this won't depreciate our homes. He should have told that to the lady who came by last week asking about property around here. It didn't take her long to leave when we mentioned the proposed center. Naturally this is going to bring down the value of our land. Some of the homes will be within 80 feet of the parking lot.

We are fortunate enough to have a township board that hasn't played more value on one man's wealth, or on future taxes, than they do on a private citizen's rights. We just hope and pray that they won't be swayed by Mr. Brooks cries of unfair and discrimination. Yes, we're against it. If he were in our position, he would be too. He bought that land at a low price, and stands to make a considerable amount by using it for residential. We do not feel guilty for trying to save our homes.

Mr. & Mrs. R. Ruffner
Northville, Michigan

remember and not having been politically involved nor licking my wounds of defeat it is hard to determine whether I should laugh at Mr. Abrams and his letter or feel only pity that he could have reaped so much from this free country and make a statement that a militant government is a good type of government. Is this what the backers of Castro tried to feed the people and succeeded in making it into government because they were given a lot of pacifying double-talk? After listening to this type of talk from you and yours for the past thirty some years it is apparent to see that logic in obtaining a free world is not yours.

Of all the illogical lip-work of how dishonest all of our past mayors and his employees have been since this city began I have never once seen you or any of the Willis backers furnish anything but here-say. Even today since YOUR man got in, there still isn't anything but supposition. Now it would seem that the essence of honesty doesn't necessarily become a fact because a man has been voted into office by a majority of people have been talked into believing he is so. Wouldn't you say he is going to have to prove this?

Mr. Abrams, you insult the intelligence of the voter to place the blame of all those who do not agree with you. You know? The local yokels are no longer in this town for you to dupe into believing exactly what you want them to believe.

Perhaps ex-military men have held very high positions in many different types of work and far be it for me to knock the military but usually those men take off their uniforms and put them in moth balls when they are finished and act like leaders instead of followers. Don't you think it is time Mr. Willis took off his uniform and took on his duty as a leader instead of a Boatswain's Mate taking orders from his superior officers?

If Mr. Willis wants recognition in this town by all the people, then he is going to have to act like a Mayor instead of what you said he is being called. Personally I haven't heard him being called any of those things you say but perhaps I don't travel in the right crowd.

Shopper Praises Store's Performance

To the Editor:

In regard to the letter in last week's paper from a very unhappy customer of one of the clothing stores in town, I would like to add this comment.

Today I had occasion to return two shirts to Freydl's, shirts which I believed to be of defective material.

Mr. (Chuck) Freydl was most gracious and businesslike in the manner in which he handled the situation. I, and many other I know, have always found this type of congeniality to prevail in his store.

I think his way of handling business matters should be recognized, and will, perhaps, offset the rudeness shown to people by some others who think business to be more important than people.

Sincerely,
Mrs. E. Corcoran

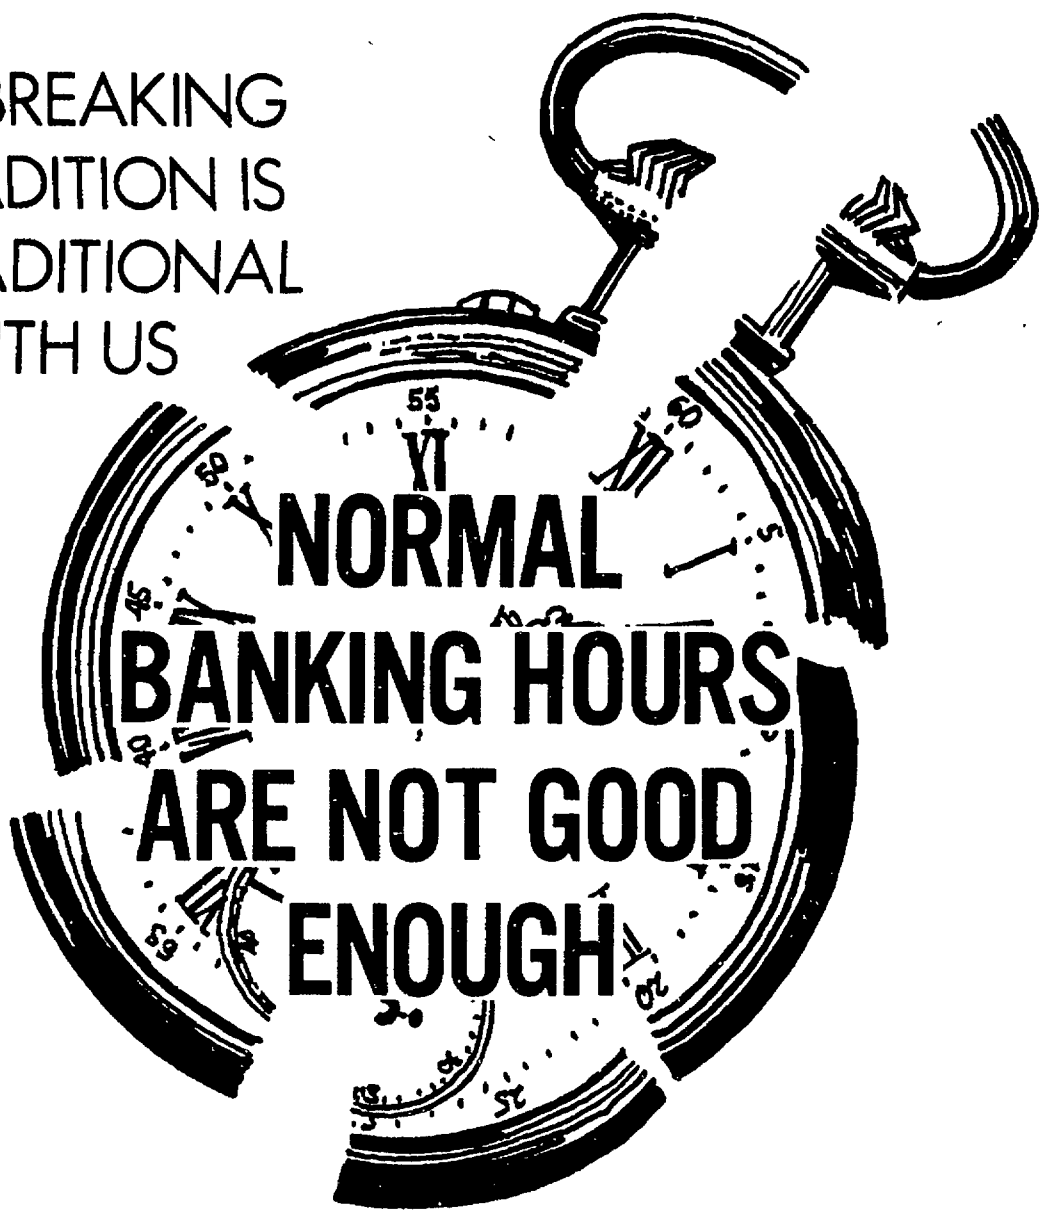

To all the people who expressed enough confidence in me to nominate me for Treasurer of Northville Township I wish to say . . .

THANK YOU

Slo-Pitch Action

Lumbermen Upset 'A' Leaders

Northville Lumber upset League 'A' leaders Northville Drug 9-5, last week Wednesday to take the top slot and an ill-fated position against League 'B' Champs, Northville Lanes, in Men's Slo-Pitch.

In other action, Lanes held on to its league lead by whipping Plymouth State Home 16-13 and South Lyon Jaycees 15-7, while Northville Drug collected two victories from Perkins Engines and Plymouth State Home, and the home dealt Novi Inn a 11-10 defeat.

Here's how it looked.

MONDAY, AUGUST 13

Northville Lumber set itself up to take first place away from Northville Drug with a record boosting 8-2 victory over Newcomers Club II.

Carl Hunt worked the mound for the Lumber and allowed five hits and one walk.

Lumber batsmen tallied their eight runs off eight hits, one of which was a looping homer by Rick Pyle in the third inning.

Northville Drug and Casterline demolished Perkins Engines 17-4 in a power effort marked by three homers by Steve Juday and one by Larry Walker.

Jim Stevens hurled that victory, giving up four runs on seven hits with no walks.

The Drug men collected 20 hits.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 14

Plymouth State Home defeated

Novi Inn by a narrow one run, 11-10 margin in a game that was forced into extra innings.

The big run came for Plymouth in the eighth inning when Ray Courter socked a double and scored on John Slezak's single.

Butch Staupfler engineered that victory with a 12 hit two walk record.

Northville Lanes defeated the South Lyon Jaycees 15-7 with the help of homers by Ed Bray, Joe Humphries, Marv Fodor, Jerry Feina and Ken Kujala.

Ron Nickrand, who took pitching laurels, limited South Lyon to nine hits, two of which were homers.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 15

Northville Lumber pulled off a 9-5

upset over League leader Northville Drug and Casterline.

Lumber power was spearheaded by Jeff Crawford, Joe Lineman and Rick Pyle, all of whom socked homers.

Bill Yoder led Drug batsman with a seventh inning two-run homer.

Bill Hopping led the Lumber men in their victory, allowing only four hits and putting the Drug through four scoreless innings while giving up three walks.

Northville Lanes whipped Plymouth State Home in a narrow 16-13 contest which saw Ed Bray blast the lone Lane home run in the second inning.

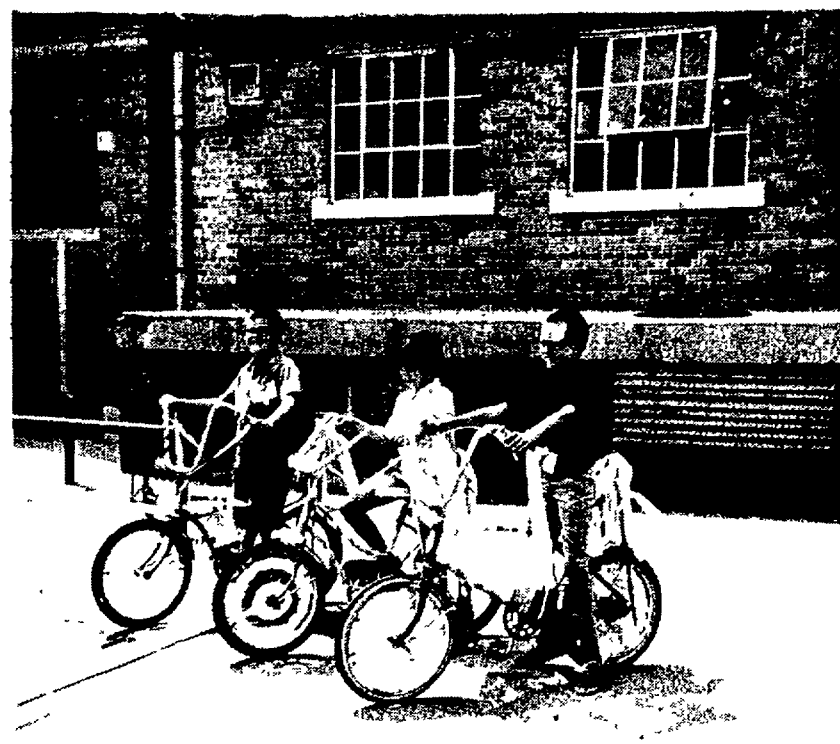

Nickrand worked that victory, giving up 19 hits, while his own team collected 21.

Ed Anger led the Plymouth batsmen with a long homer to start off the first inning.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 16

Northville Drug took Plymouth State Home for a 7-4 ride with the help of a homer by Steve Juday in the third inning that set the tone for Drug batsmen as they collected eight hits.

Plymouth batsmen collected 12 hits of which only one, a double, got past first base.

WILL GO TO BOB-LO — Winners from the two Novi Recreation bicycle decorating contests received tickets to the recreation program's annual Bob-Lo trip to be held tomorrow. From Novi Elementary, the winners are (from left) Danny Main, 9, with first place; Joy Benson, 8, in second; and Bill Ward, 10, in third. Not pictured are the winners from Orchard Hills: Danny Bunker with first, Denise Koeing in second, and Billy Coon in third.

In Novi Babe Ruth Race

Snow Standard Keeps Grip on First

Snow Standard remained at the top of the heap this past week through four games (and a forfeit) in Novi Babe Ruth action.

The Ruth leaders demolished Albert Shubnell 18-3 last week Monday and then went on to take both ends of a double-header with Mario Sinacola — 9-3 and 7-3 — the following day.

Meanwhile, second-place Snyder squeaked past Sinacola, 3-2, and got the benefit of a forfeit when Snow failed to muster a team.

Joe LaFleche hurled Snow through giving up 22 walks while retiring 17 men.

Gene Reske took over for Snow in engineering the 18-3 victory over Albert Shubnell. He walked four and fanned seven.

The Shubnell team nipped him for six hits, but only Kevin Tobel got to second base.

Tobel worked against Snow on Shubnell's mound and came within a hair of Reske's strike-out performance, fanning six and walking eight.

He allowed 12 hits, enough to set the stage for Snow's lopsided triumph.

Jim VanWagner, Reske and Tom Karch provided the wood for Snow, with four, three and two singles, respectively. Joe LaFleche smacked a double in the early part of the game.

Tom Ford was the hero for Snyder against Sinacola last week Wednesday, doubling in the sixth inning to drive across the tying and winning runs, 3-2.

Snyder started its scoring in the third when Ford came around on a single, two stolen bases and an error.

Sinacola tied it in its half of the third when Eddy Brown walked, advanced on John Pantalone's single, and scored on two more walks dealt by pitcher Gary Colton.

It began to look doubly bad when in the fifth Sinacola pushed across another run on walks and an error.

But then Larry Taylor walked for Snyder, and Bob Faucher pushed him to second with a single, setting up the two-men-on situation for Ford's double.

Colton gave up seven walks and fanned 11, while Dave Brown worked for Sinacola, giving 10 walks and striking out six.

Standings in Babe Ruth as of the end of last week are as follows:

	W	L
Snow Standard	9	3
J. R. Snyder	6	4
Mario Sinacola	4	8
Albert Shubnell	3	7

Goelzer Enters Rifle Contest

The National Rifle Association of America has announced that Norman Goelzer of 22692 Ennishore Drive, Novi, will compete in the 1970 National High-Power Rifle Championships to be held August 16-24. The National Championships are conducted by the NRA staff and volunteer assistance from the one million plus membership.

In the National Championships there will be over 100 individual and team events, which fall into three main categories, Smallbore Rifle, High-Power Rifle and Pistol. This year's matches are expected to draw more than 2,000 competitors.

The NRA also conducts a course for junior shooters and those desiring to become rifle marksmanship instructors, as well as an NRA Police Instructor School. Dates for the National Championships are: Pistol and Revolver, August 2-6; Smallbore Prone, August 8-12; Smallbore Position, August 13-14; High-Power, August 16-24.

Shriners Get Local Assist

Leo Harrawood, 24042 Willowbrook Drive, will be assisting the Detroit Tigers team physician Dr. Russell Wright, when the Shriners stage their Shrine Night program at Tiger Stadium on August 25.

Between games of the Tiger-Angels two-night double header the Shriners will present a colorful costumed extravaganza featuring a marching band, an oriental band, kiltie band, drum & bugle corps, motorcycles, Keystone Kops, mini-bikes, mini-autos, clowns, a horse troop, and others.

Proceeds of Shrine events help support their 22 hospitals for crippled and burned children.

Dr. Wright, whom Harrawood will assist, is chairman of Shrine Night.

For Michigan Open

St. Germain Leads State Qualifiers

Northville's Jim St. Germain stroked a two-under-par 70 at tough Plum Hollow Monday to lead a field of 174 golfers seeking one of the 50 spots open in next week's $10,000 Michigan Open at Bedford Valley Country Club.

The rookie professional, now an assistant to Paul Shepherd at Meadowbrook, breezed to a six-stroke margin over his nearest competitors. He shot steady nines of 35-35.

St. Germain won a golf scholarship to the University of Houston after gaining two straight state high school medalist titles at Northville. He completed his college at Eastern Michigan University and turned professional last summer.

In the meantime St. Germain credits Shepherd, along with his father, C.J. St. Germain, with being most responsible for building and improving his game.

"I'm hitting the ball better than ever," St. Germain noted Tuesday. He said he still hopes to make the professional tour. To do that he must qualify next month in Akron for the Tournament Players Division school. If he completes that hurdle, the finishing school for tour aspirants will be held in Tucson the first week in November. At the completion of the school training another tournament is held and only the top dozen in the large field of hopefuls is permitted to join the tour in quest of the big money purses.

Ernie Burgess, also an assistant professional at Meadowbrook, made it a two-fer for Northville in the Open by qualifying with a 78.

Walled Lake Title On Line in Wixom

A best of two games playoff for the Walled Lake men's Softball league championship was to be played this week at Wixom between the Wixom Athletics and Liberty Tool.

The two teams are title holders in their respective East and West divisions by virtue of divisional playoff triumphs during the past two weeks.

Ironically, both teams finished second in their regular season standings. But when the two top teams in each division squared off in best-of-two playoffs, the regular season winners lost their top status.

Wixom earned its East division crown by nipping Michigan Building Components in two of three games. The two teams were tied with one game each when Wixom clinched the "Pennant" with a 3-1 triumph last week Wednesday.

Gridders.. Physicals Due Now!

Athletic directors from both Northville and Novi High Schools report that the deadline for physicals required for the fall football season is fast approaching.

Robert Kucher of Northville said earlier this week that according to a ruling from the Michigan State High School Athletic Association, no boy will be admitted to junior or senior athletic practice, or issued equipment without a physical.

In Northville, for those interested in varsity football, physical forms must be obtained from the High School office, filled out by a private physician, and turned into Head Coach Alexander Klukach before practice starts August 24.

The High School office is open daily from 8 to 12 and from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

Kucher went on to say that those interested in junior high football must have their physicals in by September 10.

At Novi High School, physical examinations will be given August 20, at 1:30 p.m., in the school gym, according to Athletic Director John Osborn.

The physicals will be for all varsity and junior varsity football candidates.

If Northville Booster Club members appear especially interested in the progress of the new combination toilet-storage-concession stand building at the high school there's good reason.

The club is the "general contractor" on this school financed project.

Under an arrangement with the school system, this project which normally might have been contracted out to a private company, was given to the Booster Club at a price of $6,500 and it in turn has subcontracted the job out.

"We think it is an excellent way to get a good job done, and, besides, any profit made by the club goes towards backing of the school's athletic program," explained the school's business manager Earl Busard. "From the standpoint of the school, the $6,500 price is a good one in view of the size and construction materials."

Similarly, negotiations are underway between the school and the Northville Football Association for construction of the new football field press box.

Both projects were included under the school's bonding program for additions and improvement to school buildings and grounds throughout the school system. They, along with a number of other smaller projects, were not included under the contract with the architect for major construction. "They were excluded," Busard said, "because we believe by contracting the work out ourselves we can save the taxpayer some money."

The concession stand building, constructed of steel and concrete blocks, is located at the north end of the football field midway between the two sidelines to permit easy access by fans on either side of the field.

The football scoreboard is slated to be re-erected on top of this 40 x 18 foot building. Construction is more than half completed.

Construction of the press box, above the "home" bleachers on the east side of the field, is expected to get underway soon with completion before the first home game in October.

Other work at the athletic field compound is completed, Busard reported. This work includes road paving, fencing and grading-seeding of the "plateau area" between the football field and the baseball diamond.

The latter is planned as an area for physical education programs at both the high school and junior high school.

Football parking, which formerly was provided on the plateau, will be prohibited there this fall. Fans will be required to park instead at the high school, Amerman Elementary or at Cooke Junior High.

Construction of the long-awaited tennis courts at the high school are expected to be completed before the "paving season" ends this fall. They will be installed, as originally planned, on the site where buses last year and earlier were parked — just west of the high school parking lot.

Six courts will be provided, and it may be possible that they can be flooded in the winter for ice skating, Busard said.

Nets for the courts are already available — in fact, said Busard, they've been available for more than a decade. Because construction of the courts was delayed at the time of the high school's construction the nets were stored and never used.

School buses are now parked in a new bus compound, which includes a new bus-maintenance garage, located west of the football field.

CHAMPIONS — Northville Lanes, champions of Men's slo-pitch, are (standing from left) Ron Nickrand, Tom Topper, Ed Bray, Jerry Fiema, Frank DeFrancischi, Dave Biery and John

Rutherford. Kneeling in front are Ray Allen, Bob Smith, Joe Humphries; batboys Ray Allen, 11, and his brother Tom, 8; Don Salsbury, Manager; Marv Fodor, and Ken Kujala.

Takes Tourney Crown

Lanes Downs Lumber

League "B" champion Northville Lanes buzz-sawed its way through Northville Lumber, 9-4 Thursday, to snatch the Northville tournament title in Men's Slo-Pitch softball.

Savoring its championship here, Lanes travels to Wyandotte tomorrow for a crack at the Inner City Tournament crown in competition with other top Detroit Metropolitan teams. First up: Ecorse.

Despite the Lumbermen's 10 to 9 hitting edge, Lanes lost no time in notching its victory Thursday night. Lanes bats came to life in the second inning, with a double by Ray Allen that drove home Ken Kujala with the first run.

In each of the third and fifth innings, Lanes uncorked four runs on a combined total of eight hits to make it 9-1 going into the sixth.

Lumber played catch-up ball in the top of the seventh, after going down one-two-three in the fifth and sixth innings, but the rally fell short. Lumber did, however, manage to slice the lead to five runs before some superlative Lanes outfield performance put out the fire.

A smashing homer by Rick Dale and two singles off the bats of Don VanNingen and Bud Dye — who blasted a four-bagger for Lumber's first tally in the four — sparked the Lumbermen's rally in that final effort.

Hey Kids! Derby Slated Saturday

With guarded optimism, the Northville Jaycees are still hoping to hold a modified soapbox derby here Saturday morning.

"It's still touch and go," reports Jaycee Chairman Al Tilley, "because we've had relatively little response. But unless we find that a greater number of youngsters might participate later the action will take place Saturday."

On that basis, Tilley urges all youngsters who have been planning to participate and those who would like to take part but have not yet indicated their desires to contact him immediately at 349-6286. "That way we can call each youngster should it become necessary to postpone the event."

Barring a change in date, the derby will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday on Maplewood Street—located northeast of Amerman Elementary School.

Unlike the soapbox derby programs held elsewhere, rules for the local event have been modified so as to permit a greater number of youngsters to take part.

Open to youngsters between the ages of 7-16, with emphasis on those between 7-12, the derby rules permit entry of any non-motorized four-wheel vehicle with a minimum of three-feet in length. Under this loose requirement, youngsters may enter wagons and miniature cars. However, excluded are skateboards.

Trophies are to be awarded for first, second and third places, the Jaycee spokesman said.

"We want to make this a fun event in which a greater number of youngsters can participate," he explained. "By minimizing rules we think kids will have more fun."

FAIR OPENER — The Northville fair was officially opened Friday, though some activities began Thursday, with a ribbon cutting ceremony at an entrance to the Northville Downs grandstands. Doing the honors is Mayor A.M. Allen assisted by Township Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg. Also on hand for the occasion are (l to r) City Manager Frank Ollendorff, Downs Executive Manager John Carlo, (Stromberg and Allen), Art Jahn, Chamber of Commerce president, and Fair Chairman Robert Webber.

spokesman said, but some visitors came from California, Kentucky, New Jersey, Ohio, Illinois, and New Hampshire. Local winner of a gift certificate in this exhibit was Leann Steepes.

Spectators who may have been less than enthusiastic when they turned up at the VFW-sponsored drum and bugle corps competition Friday night went away amazed at the professional abilities of the performers.

Webber praised the local VFW post for bringing the show to Northville, especially in view of the fact that arrangements were begun less than a month ago.

Pageant director was John Agnello.

First place award went to the Royal Lancers of Wyandotte, 1970 State American Legion champion band; second to the Marauders of Madison Heights, 1970 State VFW champions; third to the Guardsmen of Flint; fourth to the Marching Diplomats of Canada; and fifth to the Vanguards of St. Clair Shores.

Spectators were given a special treat when a precision marching drill team, The Turks of Ypsilanti, performed on the track in front of the stands. Bands performed on the track infield where they had to march within grid marks to meet competitive qualification.

Turnout for the performance by the Hurricane Hell Drivers was "fabulous," said Webber. But relatively few attended "a really great performance" by the country music specialists on Sunday.

For the Hell Drivers performance, spectators waited in lines stretching from the east entrance of the grandstands almost to Center Street.

Ray Asher, manager of the World of Pleasure Show (midway rides), told fair committee members, "It was an unusually well-behaved crowd. Even those with long hair who came on motorcycles conducted themselves well."

Because the 4-H sponsored horse show ran from morning to early evening, spokesmen were unable to estimate the number of persons who watched. Some watched, left and returned later. Nevertheless, response was enthusiastic.

classroom locations will permit better departmental grouping, Busard explains.

Much of the window walls along the interior court are to be removed (west and north sides) with the construction of new classrooms along and on the former center court area. Part of the court will remain, however, with the exterior brick walls of the new classrooms facing it. Removal of window walls is expected to reduce heating costs.

COOKE JUNIOR HIGH

Construction includes six additional classrooms, additional locker room facilities, new band room, a paint room addition to the shop, new loading dock and storage area, enlargement of the library by conversion of one existing classroom.

Locker room construction is expected to be completed prior to the opening of football season, and all other construction appears to be meeting the February completion schedule.

AMERMAN ELEMENTARY

Construction includes eight additional classrooms and a new multi-purpose room.

Also, the existing multi-purpose room will be converted to an instructional materials (library) room, and the existing library will be converted to two small group instruction rooms.

Final completion is scheduled for April, 1971, but some of the new facilities are expected to be ready for occupancy about November 1. Cost of the Amerman and Cooke projects combined is $828,121.

MAIN STREET ELEMENTARY

Renovation work here is expected to be completed by August 31 — including the annex gymnasium where new lights, acoustical ceiling and walls are being installed.

Renovation at the school also includes additional toilet facilities, conversion of four classrooms to two large group instruction centers by using folding doors, moving the offices to the first floor, redesigning the existing office area into a teacher's lounge, repairing and updating the front entrance, converting two classrooms to a second kindergarten, and carpeting of kindergarten rooms.

MORaine ELEMENTARY

Construction of a centrum facility containing seven additional classrooms, additional parking space, conversion of one room to two small instructional centers, and a teacher's lounge.

Work is expected to be completed by January or February, with some new facilities available in December or early January. Cost of the Moraine and Main Street projects combined is $425,831.

Among the projects completed, underway or about to begin that are not part of the contract with the architect are:

Bus maintenance garage and compound; fencing and paving of Main Street playground; annex window replacement; athletic field fencing and paving; grading and seeding of the athletic field "plateau"; conversion of Main Street, Amerman, and high school boilers from oil to gas, replacement of sidewalks at Amerman, carpeting of all kindergarten rooms (except Main Street where carpeting is part of the overall contract), additional electrical outlets and upgrading of wiring at Main Street and the annex.

All of the above work has been completed.

Still to be completed — outside the architect's contract — are:

Fencing of the Eight Mile overpass at the high school, paving of old Baseline Road behind the school, reroofing of Main Street Elementary, installation of steps up the side of the hill at the high school overpass, additional steps to the junior high school from the athletic field, installation of sidewalk along Cady, and caulking and painting of all Main Street Elementary windows.

opportunity to face Vilican, in a meeting before township board and planning commission members, Brooks may be able to pry loose some information that could support the Brooks' proposal.

Vilican has repeatedly refused to meet with Brooks' representatives when contacted by telephone and by letter, spokesmen said. Such a refusal by a planning consultant is "completely unnatural," they added, noting that the consultant was absent both Tuesday and at the previous public hearing when their arguments were made. "We cannot accept Vilican's apparent position that there is no merit to our case."

Clerk Eleanor Hammond reminded Brooks' representatives that Vilican serves only in an advisory capacity — that it is the board that makes final decision and that decision is not necessarily based on the consultant's recommendation.

Smith said he disliked the idea of putting the consultant on "the witness stand."

Other board members saw little value in re-opening public debate over the pros and cons of the proposal if nothing new is to be disclosed. However, at the suggestion of Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg, the board voted to table the matter. Meanwhile, the supervisor is to confer with the township attorney, planners, and Vilican to determine if a meeting as suggested by Brooks is of any value.

Mrs. Hammond cast the lone dissenting vote on tabling. She favored taking immediate action, either to deny or approve the rezoning.

Earlier in Tuesday's meeting, petitions containing the signatures of approximately 145 township residents in support of the Brooks proposal was introduced to the board.

There appears to be little doubt, on the basis of comments made by representatives of Brooks, that the matter will go to court should the board deny the request — primarily because they contend that he would not have received the same consideration as did Shapero, an adjacent property owner whose petition for similar rezoning was approved earlier in Tuesday's meeting.

Shapero proposes a regional shopping center of smaller size at the southwest corner of Haggerty and Eight Mile roads.

Denial, in view of approval of Shapero's petition, would be "unconstitutional, discriminatory, and spot-zoning," a Brooks spokesman declared.

Concerning the fire-township hall matter, Smith, who chaired a board committee that interviewed and sought quotation of fee schedules from consultants, said preliminary investigation by his committee suggested a permanent type fire hall and a modular, (factory built), movable township hall.

The former would be of from 4,000 to 5,000 square feet in size, containing a garage, storage, police and fire offices, training room, kitchen, toilets, and hose drying facilities. The latter would have approximately 3,600 square feet of space and contain offices, storage, conference room, toilets, air conditioning and adequate lighting.

Trustee Joseph Straub opposed hiring the consultant until after the township had discussed again with Plymouth Township officials the possibility of establishing a jointly operated fire hall, similar to the arrangement the township now has with the City of Northville.

Ralls-Hammill-Becker will be paid on an hourly basis, not to exceed a total of $7,500.

take advantage of the opportunity we have," he added.

Councilman Denis Berry asked how a day-care nursery would fall under the classification professional office, and Planning Commission Chairman George Athas notes that it was a private school to which people would pay a fee for services.

In other action during the joint meeting, the council and the board agreed on restrictions concerning flashing advertising signs on model homes in new subdivisions.

An ordinance was amended restricting such signs to a non-flashing variety, of either roof or ground type, to be inoperative between the hours of 10 p.m. and 8 a.m., to be used for not more than two years from the time sales in the subdivision begin.

It was specified that should the developer feel the need for such advertising after the two years has elapsed, an extension could be requested from the Board of Appeals.

Models may have only one sign and it may be no larger than 50-square-feet in area.

4-H Horse Show's A 'Beaut; Attracts 424 Entries Saturday

B-1

The Northville Record THE NOVI NEWS

The Brighton Argus

THE SOUTH LYON HERALD

Wed.-Thurs., August 12-13, 1970

Visitors at the Northville Fair were treated to a bonus Saturday when they discovered a two-ring horse show in progress. Four area 4-H Clubs, the Roamin' Riders, Double-N Riders, Saddle Tramps, and Plymouth Bridle Club put on the event.

The judges were Keith Forbush, himself a 4-H leader from Inkster, and Floyd Cline of Ann Arbor. There were a total of 424 entries in the day-long show.

The show was the brain child of Veronica (Mrs. Eugene) Olewnik of Northville, who wanted a horse show where area youngsters could participate and have fun without competing with the professional breeders and trainers who crowd the larger shows approved for "points" by the Michigan Horse Show Association.

Seeing the project as a natural for 4-H sponsorship, she took her plan to the Wayne County 4-H organization leadership in Belleville which declined interest, citing the complexities of finding qualified judges and publicizing such a large undertaking on short notice. But local 4-H leaders had faith in Mrs. Olewnik's dream and banded together to sponsor the show.

It was not limited to children, however.

The show attracted 252 horse entries from as far away as Utica and Grosse Isle. Riders came from even farther away and included one from Wheaton, Illinois and another from Apopka, Florida. But the prize for travel distance among show participants would have to go to 15 year old Susan Green, now living in England. A former resident and 4-H member in Northville, she is in town visiting her grandparents on Napier Road.

A noteworthy two-man exhibit of oil paintings and photography will be held in Howell, Michigan, from Saturday, August 15, through Sunday, August 23. The exhibitors will be James D. Ross, fine arts painter, and D. James Galbraith, photographer.

Sponsored by the Livingston County Historical Society, the exhibit will be held at 611 East Grand River, the Howell offices of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Livingston County, co-sponsors of the exhibit. Hours will be 1-4 p.m., including Saturdays and Sundays, with no admission charge.

James D. Ross and D. James Galbraith share more than the slight coincidence of given names. The work of one complements that of the other. A mood or feeling quickly captured by the photographer's lens may extend into the dimension of an oil by Ross. An impression very softly brushed into an oil painting may be sharply delineated in a photograph.

Ross's paintings are primarily landscapes of the American scene and reflect on much of an era that is fast passing away — the small abandoned farm, the one-room schoolhouse, the old grist mill.

Only through the loan of several of his oils from private collectors is such a comprehensive showing of his work now possible for the Howell exhibit.

One of the highlights of this exhibit, Ross's first in his own home town, will be the showing of four paintings of an old Pennsylvania stone gatehouse, entrance to a DuPont estate.

The four seasons of the year are painted against four different views of the old gatehouse. On loan from four different collectors, it is the first item these oils will be shown together, to be viewed as a single unit.

A native of Howell, Ross has only recently returned here and re-established residence after living several years in the east. Ten of those years were spent in New York City, where he worked in commercial display and design, also in advertising and magazine art. In 1959 he began to concentrate on the fine arts.

D. James Galbraith will be exhibiting a very extensive collection of both color and black and white photographs. A well-established talent in his field, he is chief photographer for the Livingston County Press, also current vice president of the Michigan Press Photographers Association. In addition, he is constantly active in free-lance work throughout the state.

Those who have delighted in Galbraith's photography in newspapers will find many of their favorites to enjoy all over again, in the original. But the major part of his exhibit will be in stunning color, photographs so imaginative in concept that there seems to be a touch of magic in their imagery. All are of rural scenes, of the surrounding countryside, and were done only this spring and summer.

Galbraith has been a consistent prize winner of the Michigan Press Photographers Association, also the Michigan Professional Photographers Association, with many 1st and 2nd place awards to his credit from 1954 to the present.

An exceptional honor, he was chosen in 1966, as one of only eight photographers in the entire country, to study at the Leica Institute in New York City.

Prior to moving into the country near Brighton in 1967, Galbraith lived in Ann Arbor, and his fascination with the greats of the theater led him quite naturally to a very dedicated effort with the internationally famous Ypsilanti Greek Theater during the years of its existence.

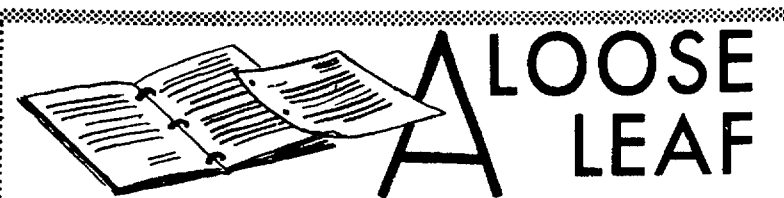

His photographs of Dame Judith Anderson, a world legend in her time, and of the late Bert Lahr were chosen for publication in 1967 issue of INTERNATIONAL ANNUAL OF THE THEATRE ARTS. Other Galbraith photographs on the theater have appeared in LIFE, LOOK, TIME, PARIS MATCH, THE LONDON TIMES and THE NEW YORK TIMES.

By ROLLY PETERSON

What exactly is happening, I don't know. And chances are neither do other adults over 30 and many young people (17-29) who are the "in group." But Woodstock (entertainment?) is upon us with all its manifestations, good and/or bad.

The latest blowout was Goose Lake, which for me, at least, makes Woodstock more relevant and makes me wonder in this column what in the heck is happening. Trying to penetrate the meaning of Goose Lake, near Jackson, Michigan, is like trying to jump inside a state of mind.

I'm not bemoaning the present state of affairs among young people. They're not all going to hell. But within the past four years, the scene has changed so drastically, I find myself, along with millions of other Americans, looking on in wonderment, as if the world is spinning too fast.

Hash and Grass and mesc are foreign to me. According to reports, there was a plentiful supply of these drugs (for want of a better word) floating around Goose Lake. No secret about it.

My immediate question is, why the need to get high? Groove on the music, fine, but leave the drugs alone, especially LSD and the hallucinators. Swing with it, but don't get out of it.

Then I talked to a college-age person, trying to get at some answer.

"I would have liked to have gone myself," he says. Drugs don't have a special appeal for him. "After all, there are worse things than grass and hash and mesquite," he says.

"I would have liked to hear the bands and see what's happening," he explains. "They have some really good people playing there."

So he, like many others, would have liked to be in on the experience, to see what's happening and swing with the music. Probably there were thousands of others like him at Goose Lake.

Then I began remembering what it was like when I was his age or a little younger. I didn't think too much about what was happening. I wasn't thoroughly rational about what I did. The important point was to enjoy myself by whatever means agreeable, instinctively, to me.

Getting served before 21 was the in-thing then. I realized it was wrong. But I never classified myself as a juvenile on the prim rose path when I sipped a little, and a little went a long way in those days. Psychologically, I would get high by just being in the presence of my peers, beer or alcohol.

So what's different about this generation? Nothing. The same motivation is there. Drugs have simply supplanted alcohol as the Saturday night kick, that little extra, glamorous because it is forbidden.

Consumption of alcohol was illegal then as it is now. Drugs are illegal. Both were then and are now deleterious. They are harmful, to a lesser or greater extent, depending upon the individual situation. Both are to be condemned, emphatically.

Put in this light, I'm not alarmed. But I'm still greatly concerned.

Shooting Star Spectacular

Natural Fireworks on Tap

A partial eclipse of the moon and the year's biggest meteor shower are among this month's astronomical highlights, according to University of Michigan astronomer Hazel Losh.

The lunar eclipse, caused when the earth's shadow passes across the moon's surface, will occur on August 16. Only the upper part of the moon will pass through the shadow. The eclipse begins at 9:18 p.m. EST (10:18 EDT) and will reach its peak at 10:24 p.m. August also marks the annual Perseid shower, this year's most spectacular display of falling stars, Prof. Losh said. "These trails of light may be seen for two or three weeks, but it is around August 10-12 that they reach their peak."

The natural fireworks will amount to about one meteor flash per minute during the peak. These "shooting stars"—some lasting up to five seconds—are caused by bits of stone and iron, often no bigger than a grain of sand. Entering the earth's atmosphere at about 40 miles per second, most of them burn away well before reaching the ground.

Astronomers believe that the tiny particles in meteor showers are the remains of comets that have disintegrated. Prof. Losh said the swarm that produces the Perseid shower is probably rather evenly strewn along its long elliptical path around the sun. This results in a uniform shower every year, the U-M astronomer explained.

Kroger Marks 87th Birthday

Kroger Food Stores in this area are celebrating the 87th anniversary of the founding of the company, which is now the third largest food chain in the United States.

The late B. H. (Barney) Kroger opened the first tiny Kroger grocery store on Cincinnati's riverfront in 1883. And even though Kroger had some revolutionary ideas about quality, ("In order to succeed," he said, "a merchant must be more particular than his most particular customer"), he began in an era that makes 1970 look pretty good.

In those days, modern standards of cleanliness and quality were unheard of. There were not too many canned foods, and those that were available were far below the quality shoppers take for granted today.

But except for a few fruits and vegetables, such as apples or potatoes which could be stored over the winter or dried, there wasn't much choice. Home-canning was still a risky business.

Kroger was one of the few grocers who insisted on inspecting and tasting canned foods before he purchased them. Today his informal on-the-spot tests have developed into an extensive scientific quality control program which checks the quality of Kroger foods from the farm to the store shelf.

It was the Cracker Barrel Age. Crackers (which usually became soggy and dusty before the barrel was empty), pickles, butter, sugar, tea and coffee, and dried fruits were sold in bulk. Flour was bought by the barrel since most housewives rose before dawn each day to start the wood-burning fire in their kitchen range and bake fresh bread for breakfast.

Northville Fair's A Smash Hit

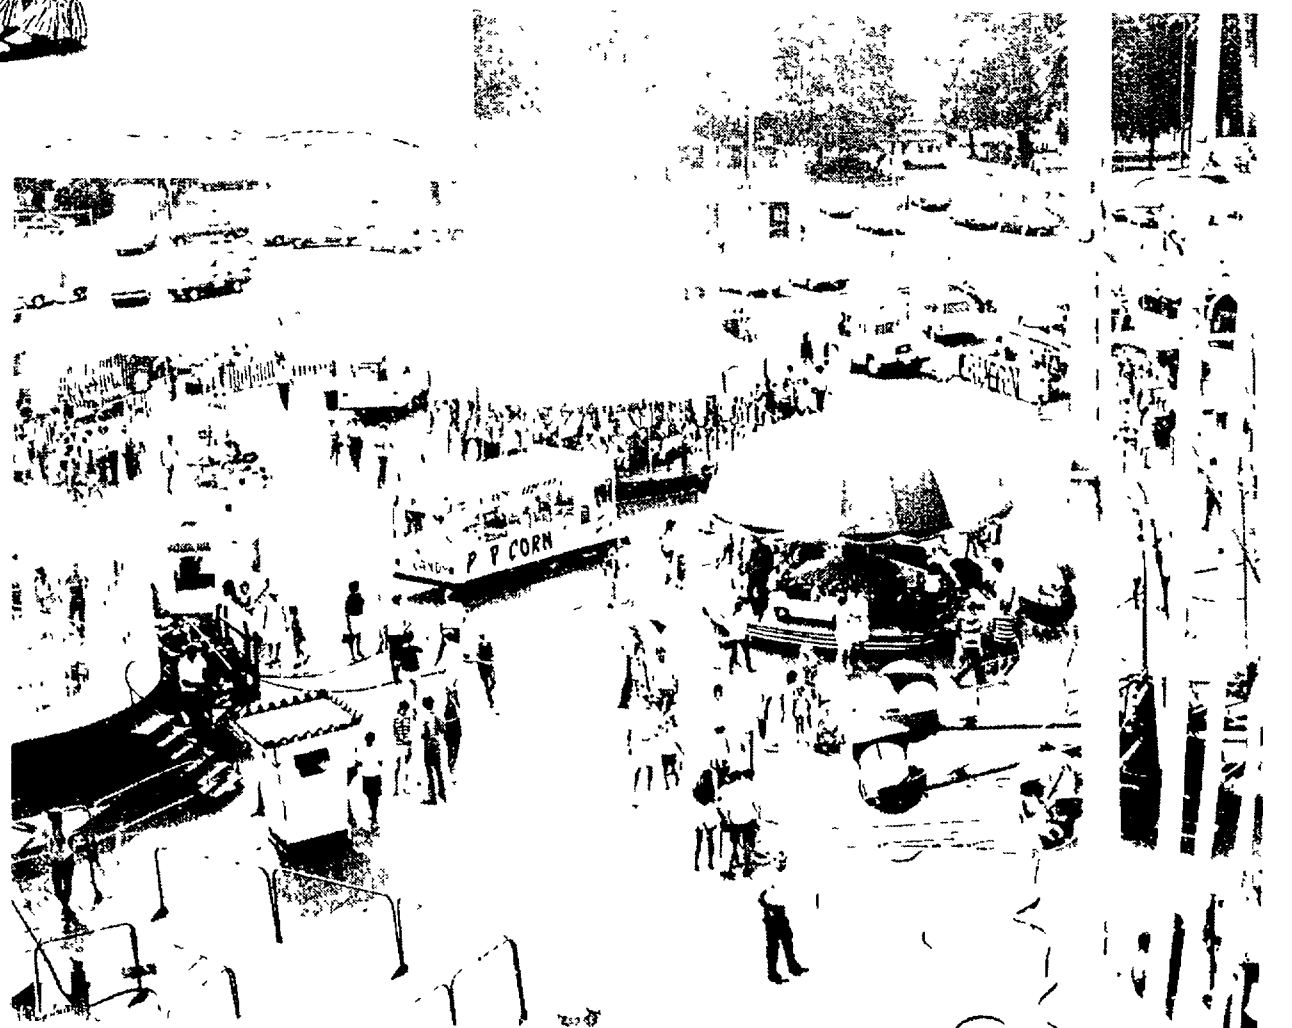

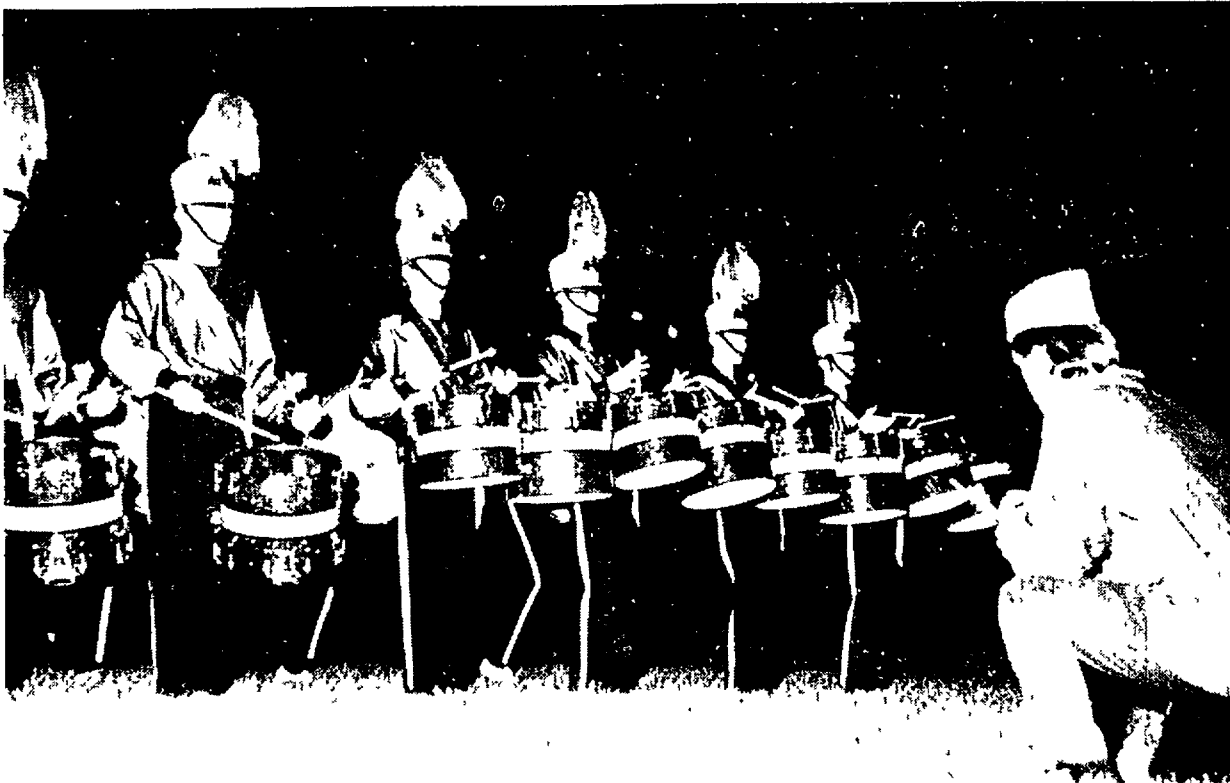

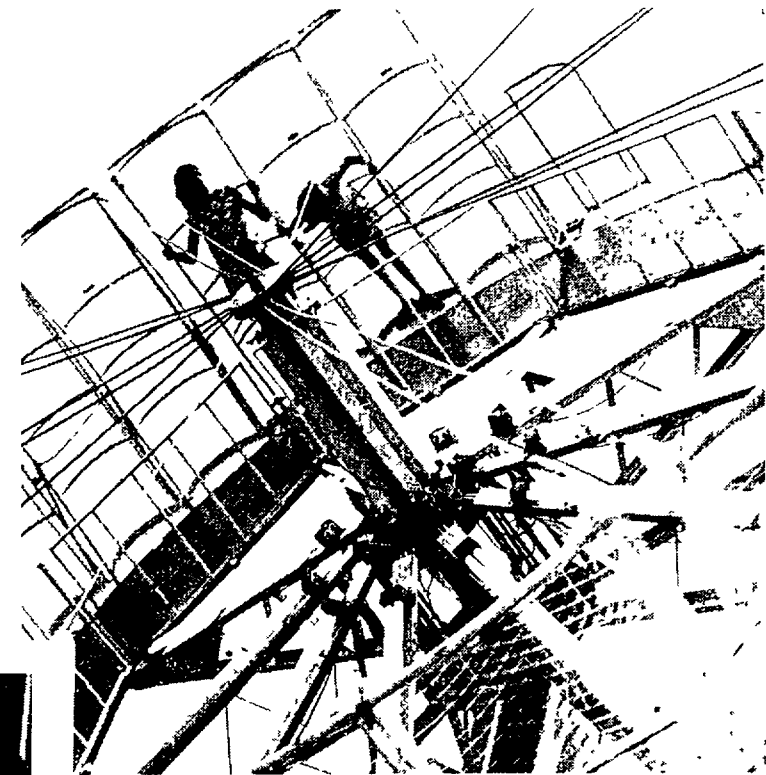

"A real smash!"
There doesn't seem to be a more appropriate way to sum up the four-day Northville Fair, revived after a quarter of a century in mothballs, this past weekend.

When Fair Chairman Robert Webber says it was a "smash", he means it. Beginning with his own second-hand car that ended up a smashed piece of rubble (above) in a "three swings for a quarter" booths.

Called the Wayne County Fair back during World War II when it was abandoned for lack of manpower, the new version drew thousands from throughout the metropolitan area.

Held at Northville Downs, where incidentally the old fairs were held on what then was the "Fairgrounds," the jammed packed spectacular began Thursday with the opening of thrilling carnival rides, bounced back with more of the same Friday along with organizational booths and displays, sky-diving, a parade, a fascinating VFW-sponsored drum and bugle corps competition, reached a high-point Saturday with a breathtaking show by the world-famous Hurricane Hell Drivers, and a day-long horse show, and it closed out Sunday with another scoop of everything plus a swinging adventure in country music - Grand Ol' Opry style.

It's difficult to estimate, says the jubilant fair chairman who predicts a bigger than ever fair next year, but upwards of 50,000 probably attended the Chamber of Commerce sponsored event.

Dignity: Worth Of The Individual

Rev. Ralph G. McGimpsey
St. Paul's Episcopal Church
Brighton, Michigan

In the United States we have prided ourselves for nearly two hundred years in the belief that "all men are created equal and endowed with certain inalienable rights."

Yet as we venture deeper and deeper into this super-automated age we are tending more and more to lose sight of these principles.

The dignity of the individual is constantly being eroded. "Impersonalness" seems to be the name of the game. More and more, modern man is being forced to give up his name for a number.

The worth of the individual is also under attack. It appears to be geared to the diploma or degree he holds from an accredited institution of learning, the amount of work he can put out in an hour's time, the type of house he lives in, the car he drives and the recreation vehicle he tows.

More and more emphasis is being placed upon material things and less and less upon the spiritual. The tragedy of this is that when we lose sight of the spiritual qualities of man, we also lose sight of his dignity and worth.

We also lose sight of the fact that we are all children of God be we white or black, rich or poor, on the right side of the tracks or the wrong side.

Our Lord not only preached but demonstrated that we are all children of God in His earthly life. In a very real sense He sought to honor the dignity and bolster the worth of the "unlovable" of society. In the most unlikely people He saw some good. He went out of His way to give comfort and support to the so-called "disadvantaged."

The idea of dignity and worth is not limited to the unlovable, the disadvantaged, or the poor, however. It applies to all of us, regardless of our station in life. We all have a compelling desire to be loved and accepted.

Most of us want other people to like us (dignity), and accept what we have to offer (worth), but because of our own self-centeredness (sin) we tend to overlook these needs and desires in our fellowman. This is the nature of man but man has the power to do something about it.

As Christians we need to meet our neighbor where he is and not where we are. We need to minister to his needs and not try to use our neighbor to satisfy our needs. Jesus was a very loving and compassionate person.

He was also a very scholarly person. But He never once said to His followers, "As soon as you come up to my level and have as much love, compassion and knowledge as I do I will befriend you and help you." Rather, He tried to bolster His followers.

He tried to help them restore confidence in themselves. He tried to help them understand that they were worthwhile.

Man is more than a machine. He is a human being possessing physical, emotional and spiritual qualities. When one or more of these qualities is suppressed he becomes less than a full human being and acts accordingly. Life is too sacred to be reduced to a serial number with a punch card personality; or is it?

TURNABOUT

Folks used to wonder what Grandpa Brown and I had in common. He must have been close to eighty when I was just a kid. But I remember him as one of the best friends I ever had.

He was a wonderful old man, with a simple, native wisdom. We used to go fishing together, and he would talk to me about God and Faith and Love. I remember he said people shouldn't wait until they're in trouble before going to Church. "When you're happy," he told me, "take time out to offer a prayer of thanks."

The Church had acted as a balance for him during good times, and a bulwark during bad times.

Down through the centuries the Church has made great Christians out of unassuming people. They in turn have transmitted the blessings of the Church to oncoming generations. I hope I can bring Grandpa Brown's faith and wisdom to others, as I was impressed by him.

Inflation Possibility Staggeres Imagination

LANSING — MOST PEOPLE know that inflation has been chipping away at their paychecks for quite a few years at various rates.

But some calculations released recently by the Michigan Savings and Loan League are enough to give a jolt to even the least concerned person concerning what inflation can do.

League figures show that if the current 6 percent inflation rate continues for the next 30 years, a family with an income of

And the house price would not be the only shock.

Based on standard mortgage terms today, you'd have to come up with a $29,406.40 down payment in 2000 and take out a mortgage for $117,625.60. If mortgage interest rates stayed pretty much the same for the next 30 years, the monthly payment on a 25-year loan would be $914.43.

A FURTHER BREAKDOWN shows that under a 6 percent inflation rate, a $10,000 income this year would be worth the same as $13,382 in 1975.

In 1980 it would be up to $17,908 to purchase the same things and by 1985 the amount would have risen to $23,965. In 1990 it would be up to $32,071 and in 1995 it would be $42,918.

The prospect is bad enough for someone who would be holding down a job during such a period. But for the poor unfortunate living on a pension or other form of fixed income, it could be disastrous!

THE MICHIGAN Liquor Control Commission has a distinction which is quite rare in these times of rising inflation and increasing public payrolls.

In 1936 the commission, which controls Michigan's $1 billion alcoholic beverage industry had nearly 1,100 employees. Today, despite the fact its business has increased eight-fold since 1936, its total employees now number below 800.

The commission was created in 1933 following the repeal of prohibition. It controls the purchase and distribution of all alcoholic beverages—liquor and wine—that have an alcoholic content of 16 percent or greater.

ALL DEALERS licensed to sell liquor and wine must purchase it from state stores. The commission operates warehouses at Detroit, Lansing and Escanaba and 90 other liquor stores.

In addition, it licenses 25,000 stores, restaurants, bars, taverns and private clubs where liquor, beer or wine is sold by the bottle or glass, and it enforces all liquor laws.

The commission's Detroit warehouse is the largest of its kind in the country. More than eight million cases of liquor and wine move in-and-out-of the 144,000 square foot warehouse annually.

$10,000 per year today will need $57,435 to maintain a comparable standard of living in the year 2000.

THE LEAGUE based its estimate on a simple statistical calculation in which it adjusted a family's income upward 6 percent each year on a compound basis to keep pace with the rising cost of living.

In the first four months of 1970, the cost of living increase actually was slightly above 6 percent per year.

"There is some complacency about the present rate of inflation," said the league in an accompanying statement. "But the American People ought to understand what the long-run, catastrophic effect of chronic and substantial inflation will be."

"WHILE INFLATION has squeezed elderly and retired persons the most in recent years, these figures foreshadow the kind of financial chaos that faces young couples if the present inflation trend is not checked," it said.

In a breakdown of smallest items, the league said a $20 bag of groceries would cost you $114.87 at the supermarket in 2000. A $500 color television set would be priced at $2,871.72.

The $3,000 standard auto of today — and this is nowhere near a luxury car any more—would cost $17,230.35 in 30 years if the inflation rate continues.

For the prospective home purchaser, the shock is even greater. Under the 6 percent inflation rate, a home costing $25,600 today—the median prices of all American homes—would go for a whopping $147,032.

Signs of Labor Union Marriage Grow

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass.

Most top union authorities would like to see the United Auto Workers brought back into the AFL-CIO, and there are signs that such a reunification may actually be on the way. The return of this innovative union would add 1.4 million members to the Federation's existing 13.6 million in 121 affiliates. This would, of course, mean a shoring up of the power of organized labor, plus a substantial and welcome increase in the flow of dues into AFL-CIO coffers.

It was not much of a surprise to anyone when UAW leader Walter Reuther took his group out of the Federation in mid-1968. He and President Meany of the AFL-CIO had long held different philosophies as to the best ways of operating.

Reuther — fiery and considered by many to be of radical bent — wanted labor to be fully involved in social problems in order to gain the loyalty of the progressive element, the young, and minority groups. Meany tended to be more conservative, willing to win out by practical maneuvering rather than by head-on attacks.

IN THE 1960s, the animosity of Reuther toward his superior Federation officer seemed to grow more intense than ever. His charges of backward, old-fashioned tactics became more frequent. Reuther contended that the policy-making executive council of the AFL-CIO included no representatives of government and white collar employees, who have for some time been making up the most rapidly growing section of organized labor. Then came his abrupt withdrawal from the Federation, joining the independent status of the Teamsters which had been expelled from the AFL-CIO in 1957.

AFTER WALTER Reuther's death last spring in a tragic plane crash, Leonard Woodcock was named to fill out his term as UAW president. This brought the first possible opportunity for contemplating reinstatement of the Auto Workers in the Federation, since Woodcock obviously did not feel the same hostility toward President Meany as had Reuther. In fact, Woodcock recently visited the AFL-CIO offices to discuss national health insurance, and this was the first time in two years that any UAW bigwig had been in the Federation's headquarters.

Should the UAW be absorbed back into the "house of labor," it is certain that Woodcock would be given a seat on the executive council. But it should be noted that those closest to him claim he has no serious ambitions toward higher office, as did Reuther. It is said that he wants only to achieve a highly satisfactory agreement with the Big Three in the automotive field this year. Then he will be content to bring his experience and knowledge to the council, and probably be undisturbed if somebody else aims for the highest-echelon position when that is vacated by President Meany, who is 76 this month.

THE TALK of such a re-merger has thus far been mostly in Washington, and primarily behind the scenes. Woodcock himself has denied that there is yet any such intention, and adds that nobody in Detroit is talking about it. It is obvious — and natural — that his prime concern at this time is not to carry his UAW back into the Federation; it is to draw up an agreement that will provide his members in the auto firms with sizable wage increases and widened fringe benefits. Such a success would make for prestige that might considerably ease the re-entry into the AFL-CIO with his 1.4 million men.

NOW AND again there has been talk of the Federation's accepting the Teamsters back eventually, if corruption were entirely stamped out. But this is not so likely in the foreseeable future. James Hoffa, still in jail for jury tampering, will be president until his term expires in 1971. Until that time there is no chance of reaffiliation; what happens thereafter remains to be seen.

Out of the Horse's

Send your questions, comments, and horse show news to "Horse's Mouth", care of The South Lyon Herald, South Lyon, Mi 48178.

The 17th annual Fleming Creek Riding Club Horse Show will be held August 16 in Dixboro (one-half mile North of Plymouth Road on Dixboro Road in the Fleming Creek Riding Club Arena

Starting time - 10 a.m. sharp (rain or shine) The judges will be Robert Morgan, Galesburg, and Miss Margaret Mucaria, Trenton There will be trophies in every class and money paid in many Entry fee's are from $1.00 to $3.00. For further information contact Mrs. Joann Sherman, 3121 Braeburn Circle, Ann Arbor, Phone 971-5335.

Doug Seay, a well known Blacksmith in this area, suffered a broken leg on July 29 while working a horse at the Woods and Water Farm, South Lyon.

Doug was hospitalized for about one week, but is now recuperating at his home.

Results Hillsdale Show:

David Earehart, Northville won the Morgan Western Pleasure riding "Pebbles" Earehart placed 2nd, Morgan Pleasure Driving with "Taffy Tail"

Melanie Cole, Northville riding "Rochester" placed 1st in the Junior Morgan English Pleasure.

Miss Andy Eckler, Plymouth riding "Niles Calico Lad" won 1st 4-H Pleasure, 1st Saddle seat Equitation Championship

What about the old saying the "Evil One" will not enter where a horse-shoe hangs above the door, provided it hangs correctly? Its shanks must never be turned downward; they must point up, because not only is evil to be banished, but good fortune is to be summoned. If luck rains down, it should have a way of falling into the horseshoe, lest it drop to the ground where it cannot be held

This charm is most effective if the horseshoe was found by chance and the person did not have to look for it

Why is this so? The story goes a saint of the church once enacted a promise from the Devil to shun all places where a horseshoe is hung. It seems that the Devil came to the English Lord Dunstan who had previously been a blacksmith and asked him to shoe the hoof of his cloven foot. Dunstan agreed. But in the forge, he lashed the Devil to the anvil and began to thrash him mightily with the forge hammer. The Devil moaned and groaned and cried for mercy. Finally Dunstan promised to untie him if he would swear never to enter a place again where a horseshoe hangs. The Devil swore it, and to this day every owner of a horseshoe is safe from the "Evil One."

"Streaky Flash," owned by Fred Knorn of South Lyon, made a good showing at the Quarter Horse Show at the Tuscola County Fair over a recent week-end. "Streaky" placed second in Western pleasure, third at halter and third in reining.

At the August 9 class A show at Anchorville, "Streaky" placed first at halter and stood reserve champion gelding. He was also first in western riding and fourth in reining. The performance of this week-end brought "Streaky" within one point of obtaining his National AQHA Champion status.

Dallas Prieskorn of South Lyon, riding "Ojibway," place first in reining at the Tuscola County Fair.
