

REFUND PAYMENTS have been made to municipalities in the Middle Rouge Parkway Interceptor Drainage District, including the city and township of Northville, by the Wayne County Drain Commission. In refunding surplus bond and interest allocations, Drain Commissioner Henry Herrick urged recipients to use the money "for engineering studies to combat pollution of the Rouge River." The city's check was for $4,345.20, the township's for $3,374.11. Other municipalities received greater amounts, up to $30,935.98 in the case of Dearborn Heights.

A RULING by Northville's school attorney reportedly clears the way for approval of one of the hangups in the recently proposed teacher contract agreement hammered out by negotiators for teachers and the board of education. The executive council of the Northville Education Association subsequently declined to recommend approval of the proposal pending formalization and clarification of parts of the agreement. One of these was the suggested "agency shop" clause. Teachers had requested an opinion as to the legality of the clause, and last week the attorney ruled the clause legal said Superintendent Raymond Spear. Still apparently unresolved is formalization of the extra-curricular salary schedule.

COUNCILMEN REMIND citizens that discussions over proposals for neighborhood parks in the North Center Street, Baseline and Maplewood areas will resume on Tuesday, September 8. The meeting has been switched from Monday because of the Labor Day weekend. Meanwhile, the council has been presented a petition in which citizens of the Northville Heights area encourage officials to purchase property, as planned, from the Bell Telephone Company substation on North Center for a park.

NO DECISION has been made and probably won't be for a month or more, but don't be surprised if the city council decides to dump the contracted garbage collecting firm and replace it with a city-operated service. Reason: growing complaints of property owners. On Monday night the council voted to accept the low bid of G.E. Miller Sales & Service at $10,498 for a new 1970 Dodge truck on which a second garbage-packer is to be installed. Advertising for the packer is to begin immediately. Presently, the city is operating pickup service for commercial business only.

Charter Committee

Suggests Council Elect the Mayor

Charter recommendations including a provision that the mayor be elected by the council from the council will be the subject of a special "working session" of councilmen and of the four-member city charter review committee next week.

It will be the first joint meeting of the two groups since the council-appointed committee began review of the charter in January and since its recommendations were turned over to the council recently.

While the council has not yet commented publicly on the recommendations coming out of the charter study, the recommendations are not expected to be received with wholehearted council endorsement.

Should the council decide, however, that the recommendations, in part or in full, are worthy of consideration it may act to place suggested amendments on a ballot for approval or disapproval by citizens. Any change requires approval of voters.

Earliest that amendments could be voted upon probably would be next spring — at the regular city election.

The city charter, approved by voters in 1955 upon incorporation of the then village, represents the basic laws and framework within which the municipality functions.

Late last year the council, aware that some charter provisions were outdated or no longer applicable, appointed the citizens committee, giving it a free hand to review the entire document and to make recommendations for changes.

Members of the committee include Chairman John Canterbury, George Clark, A. Russell Clarke, and Jack Hoffman.

While the committee found numerous areas within the charter that could be changed to improve the charter, according to Canterbury, it divided its unanimously approved recommendations into three categories: those which are seen as having the most importance and of highest priority; those of "lesser importance" which perhaps should be left until later or at such time as there may be a complete charter revision; and those which were considered unimportant and rejected.

Labeled as the "most important" change required, under the committee's recommendations, the one is to "prescribe or require the council-manager form of government."

While Northville now operates under this form of government its charter does not specifically provide for it except through ordinance. And without the charter provision, concluded the committee, the council has the power to wipe out the council-manager system overnight without sanction of voters.

Second on its list of priority changes is a suggestion that the five-member council annually elect one of its members to serve as mayor. And further, that three members of the council be elected bi-annually — two for a term of four years and one for a term of two years.

Presently, the charter provides bi-annual election by voters of the mayor and two council members — the councilmen to four-year terms and the mayor to a two-year term. It makes no provision for a two-year-term.

While the mayor under the present

Tax Surprise Hinted As School Opener Nears

A "surprise" appears to be brewing in the school district and it isn't likely to be the student or teacher enrollment.

What may be surprising is the 1970-71 budget that members of the board of education reviewing this week in anticipation of approving the document at their meeting next Monday night.

According to Superintendent Raymond Spear, that budget will be predicated on a student enrollment of 3,202 and a teacher count of 152 when public schools open on September 10.

"It's a very minimal student increase," says Spear, up just 33 students over the 3,169 enrolled when school closed in June. The teaching staff is up 10 from 142.

Concerning the budget itself, school officials are guarding their comments but there's no hiding their optimism over what they say will be a "very realistic" budget outlay. Taxpayers, predict Spear and Business Manager Earl Busard, are going to be pleasantly surprised.

The 1969-70 budget provided a total outlay of $2,560,000. If the new budget is increased by 10 to 12-percent it would mean a total outlay of nearly $3 million.

"We are not in a position yet to say what the tax rate will be—that's a matter for the board of education to decide. But we will say this: The budget will be based strictly on millage required, not millage available."

While officials decline to speculate in advance of Monday's meeting, it would appear the school district may not levy all the millage it is legally authorized to levy.

The Record has learned that the authorized millage levy is up by more than a mill. Furthermore, the equalized valuation of the school district, which is computed with the millage rate to determine tax collections, reportedly has increased 23-percent, up to $74,908,195 from $60,908,379.

By itself that significant SEV increase would mean that a single mill will produce an additional $15,000. A mill last year produced approximately $60,000. A mill now, based on the reported new SEV would produce $75,000.

A total millage levy last year was 34.9—27.9 mills for operation and 7 mills for debt retirement.

Under the state's school bond program, the district this year will be required by law to levy 7.25 mills for debt retirement.

Also, it has been learned that the district has "picked up" a mill lost last year at the Wayne County Allocation Board table. Last year, the allocation board permitted the district to levy 7.9 mills in the township, 8.9 in the city. (Subsequently, the district levied 7.9 in both the city and the township). This year the county allocation to the district "across the board" is 8.9, the same rate it received two years ago.

Thus, the total authorized millage here this year is 36.15.

If hints by school officials prove valid, that total millage will not be levied.

However, the budget approved by the board Monday must take into account rising operational costs, teacher salary increases and, most significantly, the additional cost of supplying textbooks and supplies that formerly were paid out of rental fees.

(A Supreme Court decision recently tossed Michigan school district's an unexpected financial problem by outlawing textbook and supply rental fees. An interpretation of that ruling has been requested by the State Board of Education from Attorney General Frank Kelley to determine what specifically the "no rental fee" ruling covers. Local officials are hoping that ruling is available by Monday's budget meeting.)

Presently, the Northville School District estimates that it will have to provide up to an additional $75,000 in its operational budget to cover the effect of this ruling. However, should Kelly's interpretation include such items as all paper, pencils, workbooks, organizational dues, etc., the cost to the district could go as high as $150,000.

The present estimate of $75,000 represents 1-mill.

This estimate includes textbooks "some supplies", and paper towels,

Busard explains.

Even with this additional cost, and taking into account other operational increases, the increased SEV could mean that the budget adopted next Monday may not require the full 36.15 authorized millage.

MARKING TIME — Nobody likes to see a good thing come to an end, particularly youngsters like eight-year-old Jim Leonard, 339 North Center Street, who mark off the waning days of summer vacation and look ahead with no special enthusiasm at that September 10 day when its back to school here for public school students.

OK New Restaurant

Construction of a restaurant was given the green light Tuesday by the Northville Planning Commission as it approved site plans for the new building east of the A & P supermarket on Main Street.

Initial construction work on the estimated $80,000 development is expected to begin soon, according to city officials.

Part of the Palace Restaurant chain of more than a dozen similar establishments, the 26 x 96-foot building is to be located two doors east of A & P on presently vacant property.

Planners approved the site plan following receipt of a commitment by the builder, Alfred DiMatteo, to make

Three-Month Development Study OK'd

An agreement giving a developer three months to prepare plans and feasibility studies for the property between Main and Cady streets, east of Wing, was approved by a 3-1 vote of the city council Monday night.

(Councilman Wallace Nichols was absent).

The agreement is with the McManus Engineering company of Southfield, which proposes to develop commercial and office buildings on the 56,000 square foot site. By selecting McManus as the firm it prefers to develop the property, the council in effect said "no" to another firm, Lanphar Realty and Development Company, which proposed a similar but smaller development.

Councilman Paul Folino, who cast the lone dissenting vote, made it plain that he has absolutely no objection to McManus nor to development of the property. He said his "no" vote was based on the fact that the McManus proposal, prior to two weeks ago, had not been brought to the entire

And Mothers Cried

The Day Bedlam Broke Loose

Northville gas station owner Bill Asher, the hero, scratched his head and said, "No, guess I don't know what happened. Anything special?"

Forty-five years old now and minus some hair, Asher was typical of Northville-South Lyon area residents Friday who couldn't imagine what was so important about August 14 — 25 years ago.

Yet, 25 years ago headlines screamed, "Community Goes Wild as End of War Is Proclaimed by President Truman." And there, smackdab on the front page was Asher's picture, a little younger looking of course, on top of a headline, AWARDED THE SILVER STAR.

"Well, I'll be darn," he said. "That long ago?"

It was Tuesday evening, about 7 o'clock when "bedlam broke loose in Northville," said the streamer story in The Northville Record a quarter-century ago.

"Throughout the village, in every home, in the cars and everywhere, all ears had been practically glued to the radio with increasing intensity since Friday. Jumbled reports and confusion in Washington and other places reflected in every nook and cranny of the country. In many places preliminary celebration broke out with unofficial radio announcements of the capitulation of Japan beginning with the false United Press report, which was immediately suppressed.

"But when President Truman announced the good news Tuesday evening, while many city crowds had been celebrating for hours, Northville joined up wholeheartedly. But not without first yielding to the tight feeling in the throat, unashamed moisture in the corner of the eyes, and the swallowing of a lump in the throat — and then joy was unconfined."

A lot of home-town boys had died; many others were wounded. And, yes, some were missing and would never return. In the same issue of The Record, a story told of the sorrow in the family of Seaman Robert Stueckle, who was missing aboard the USS Indianapolis — the heavy cruiser that was lost in the Philippine Sea with her nearly 1200 officers and men.

"Auto horns sounded continually from all directions; some folks danced on the streets; the Michigan Seamless whistle blew for nearly an hour, 'til it had exhausted its steam," said the story in The South Lyon Herald.

"At short intervals the Presbyterian Church bell mingled with the other noises. Someone started to ring the firebell and now and then someone started the siren," continued The Herald news account.

"Twenty-five years ago today?" asked Ray G. Hartner of Northville echoing the question put to him as he prepared for a golfing tournament.

There are still some openings for pre-schoolers in the Novi Co-op nursery, Membership Chairman Connie Podolski announced this past week. She noted that some parents are uncertain about what exactly a Co-op nursery is.

"A cooperative nursery is a non-profit organization maintained by the parents," Mrs. Podolski explained. "They assist in the nursery under the supervision of the teacher and are actively involved in the parent programs."

Through the nursery a child participates in social, play and learning experiences with children his own age.

The big difference in a co-op nursery, however, is that parents are offered opportunities for learning to enjoy their preschool child, according to Mrs. Podolski. By being a part of classroom and playground activities parents see their youngsters in a new light. Both children and parents benefit from the warmth which comes from their interaction.

The nursery also presents programs providing information about pre-school children. This helps to improve family understanding.

During Gala days this weekend the Novi Co-op Nursery is planning to operate a duck pond. For more information people are invited to drop by the booth or contact Mrs. Podolski at 476-2083. Also, the nursery would welcome any advice that could help them obtain a used piano or used storage cabinets, she said.

Anyone interested in playing marathon bridge is invited to call Mrs. Mueller at 349-0104.

Mrs. Lena Hammond, of Northville has been appointed to the American Legion Children's Home Committee of The American Legion, Department of Michigan. She was notified of her appointment in a letter from State Commander Matthew W. Jamieson.

Mrs. Hammond was nominated by Commander Jamieson for the appointment upon the recommendation of Department of Michigan officials in recognition of her past service.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Luchtman of Orchard Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Oehmke of Mt. Clemens recently returned from a Western holiday vacation. Highlights of their trip included stops at the mission at San Juan Capistrano, Tijuana and the bull fights, Disneyland, Palm Springs and a tour of Universal Studios in Hollywood.

Also, while in Las Vegas they saw the Elvis Presley show and visited with Joey Bishop.

Potters Dan and Bebe Lotz will be featured speakers when the Christian Women's Club moves out-of-doors for their August 27 luncheon.

The luncheon will be held at the farm home of Mrs. Lucille Banks of 48434 North Territorial Road in Plymouth.

Lotz and his wife were formally in the pottery business in Tucson, Arizona. They are now on an itinerant speaking tour for Christian Women's Clubs of America. While he speaks, she forms a piece of pottery on the potters wheel.

When Deanna Bellinger graduated from Western Michigan University on August 14, she received a B.A. degree in history with a minor in political science.

Deanna graduated from Northville high school in 1966. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen B. Bellinger of 4400 12 and a half mile road.

During the graduation ceremonies honorary Doctor of Science degrees were presented to James Lovell Jr., John L. Swigert Jr. and Fred W. Haise Jr., the Apollo 13 astronauts.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Nieuwkoop of 815 Scott announce the birth of a new daughter named Jenny Lynn. The child was born on August 15 in Saint Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor weighing seven pounds and five ounces.

She joins at home a brother Jeffery, 7 and a sister Amy, 4.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pauli of Northville and the Reverend and Mrs. Peter Nieuwkoop of Lansing.

Shower Guests Kept Waiting By Early Arrival

Nine women who attended an August 13 shower for Mrs. Paul Lampela were given a special surprise by the missing guest of honor.

Mrs. Lampela didn't quite make it to the shower. Instead she was rushed to St. Mary Hospital by party co-hostess, Mrs. Ted Slabey, where at 10:42 p.m. she gave birth to a seven-pound baby boy.

Meanwhile, back at the shower the guests awaited news of the latest developments which were phoned back by Mrs. Slabey. And the baby's father, who had been out of town on business, was hurrying home to the hospital when his car ran out of gas.

"The baby wasn't due until August 26," explained Mrs. Andrew Baluh at whose home the shower was given. "Mrs. Lampela said each of her other four children were born late, and she thought August 13 would be fine."

The Lampelas have three boys and a girl at home at 401 Welch. The newest addition to the family, their fourth son, has been named Scott Andrew.

Among those attending the neighborhood shower were Mrs. Kenneth Thompson, Mrs. Robert Fair, Mrs. Jim Allen, Mrs. Ronald Tuck, Mrs. Richard Marrone and Mrs. Nelson Schrader.

Janice Baluh, home from college, helped her mother with the shower.

Clubs to Appear In Telethon

Representatives of clubs and civic organizations in Northville will appear on television this Labor Day weekend during local segments of the Jerry Lewis Telethon For Muscular Dystrophy, to be seen over WKBD-TV, Channel 50.

Invitations for on-the-air appearances are being issued to Northville clubs for the first time this year by Detroit Mayor Roman S. Gribbs, local chairman for the 20 1/2 hour long telethon.

"Too many clubs and civic groups receive too little credit for the fine philanthropic work they do," Gribbs said. "This year, MDA will have a chance to publicly recognize those hard-working organizations on TV."

Members of Northville clubs and organizations are invited to phone 863-3200 for the brochure "Put Yourself in the Picture," which gives details on arranging telethon appearances.

Penny for Four Pounds Glass Round-Up Planned

Don't stuff all those non-returnable pop bottles into your trash can.

And start saving all your empty jelly jars, shampoo bottles, glass pickle crocks and peanut butter containers.

That's the advice of officials of a "Glass Round-Up" to be held in Plymouth during the Fall Festival, September 11, 12 and 13. Used glass products will be collected for recycling by the Owens-Illinois Glass Company of Toledo, which will grind it into "cullet" for use in glass making.

Contributors will be paid one penny for each four pounds of glass collected, explained Mrs. David Van Hine, Northville, Spokesman for the drive. People are urged to save all types of discardable glass, so that it can be recycled instead of being scrapped as bulky waste products, she said.

The glass should be clean and without caps or lids, said Mrs. Van Hine.

Collection booths will be located in downtown Plymouth on Penniman across from the post office. They will be open from 3 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. of Friday, September 11, and from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, September 12 and 13.

Owens-Illinois is the same company that bought the glass collected during the Ann Arbor glass drive earlier this summer. They plan to establish permanent collection centers throughout the U.S. and one will soon open in Ann Arbor.

Sponsor of the glass round-up is LIFE, the pollution action group of the Plymouth American Association of University Women. LIFE stands for "Let's Implement Favorable Environment, an attempt to improve the quality of life for our children and our community, a spokesman explained.

The action group was formed after an AAUW study course of pollution and environmental problems last year. Mrs. Van Hine of Northville is president of the group which includes other members from this area.

Although this is the first community anti-pollution project undertaken by the LIFE group, plans have already been made for continuing action. Members of Life have met with ENACT, the Ann Arbor group that helped organize the earlier drive, and are patterning projects after this group.

LIFE members are planning a campaign to urge local stores to post phosphate content of detergents and to carry returnable bottles. They also hope to organize a speakers bureau to address local groups, to initiate a planned Parenthood Association in Plymouth and to work for more far reaching pollution legislation on both a state and national level.

GLASS ROUND-UP — Used glass products which will be recycled by the Owens-Illinois glass company are being collected by the AAUW. Here President Mrs. David Van Hine and Mrs. Ernest Moran are gathering glass waste for the drive.

Auxiliary Tells Gala Days Plans

Novi Jaycee Auxiliary has announced plans for its booth to be operated at the Novi Gala Days on August 22 and 23.

Auxiliary members will be serving ice cream cones and sundaes at their Old Fashioned Ice Cream Parlor. While enjoying a dessert, patrons will have an opportunity to obtain a raffle ticket for a hand-made afgan.

"After being refreshed take an adventuresome ride on the Moon Walk Ride, also sponsored by the auxiliary," advises Mrs. Gwynne Cherfoli, auxiliary publicity chairman.

All auxiliary proceeds from the Gala Days booth, explains the chairman, will be used for community service projects throughout the year.

Northville Resident Helped Design Pinto

Manfred Lampe knows what the 1971 Ford Pinto will look like, but he isn't talking. Lampe, a designer at the Ford Motor Company Design Center in Dearborn, lives at 417 West Dunlap.

Lampe worked on the exterior design of the company's new, sub-compact car which will make its debut at Ford dealerships on September 11.

Actually, Lampe's knowledge of the 1971 Pinto stems more from memory than from daily observation. Currently, the Ford Design Center is working on car design concepts and proposals for the 1973-74 model years. "This time lapse, which is required for tooling and testing of proto-type vehicles after clay models have been approved by top company management, is one of the biggest challenges facing automotive designers. They must anticipate public taste and buying trends by two or three years, and wrong guesses can cost many millions of dollars.

Offsetting this frustration is the knowledge that they are members of a highly select fraternity. Although Ford Motor Company employs some 436,414 people world-wide and about 244,840 in the United States, the company's cars, trucks and tractors are conceived and created by about 175 designers.

A native of Osnabrueck, Germany, Lampe attended high school there and received his bachelor of science degree in transportation design from the Art Center College of Design, Los Angeles, in 1966. He joined the Ford design staff following his graduation. His wife, the former Monika Funke, also was born in Osnabrueck.

Stillwagon Nominated

Michael Stillwagon of Ann Arbor was the Democratic choice for the Second District Congressional seat in last week's primary election.

Early reports indicated that Stillwagon's Democratic opponent, Bruce Neal, had won. However, when the count was officially reported, Stillwagon was the victor by less than 200 votes.

Stillwagon will face Congressman Marvin Esch, Republican, in the November election.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Hartley Dies Monday

MRS. CATHERINE C. HARTLEY

Mrs. Catherine C. Hartley, 61, Northville businesswoman and prominent local artist, died suddenly Monday at Providence Hospital where she had been admitted for observation a little more than a week ago.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon (Wednesday) at Casterline Funeral Home, with Dr. David Herreschof, professor of English and Bible instructor at Wayne State University, officiating. Burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery.

Born August 23, 1908 in Detroit, she was the daughter of Frank and Mary (McColl) Hursley. She and the late Mr. Hartley were married 35 years ago, and they moved to Northville in 1945.

She is survived by her son, Harold, Jr., who lives at home, 630 Randolph Street; two brothers, Duncan Hursley of Northville and Frank Hursley of Los Angeles, California; and several nephews.

Since 1961, Mrs. Hartley was owner and operator of the Hartley-Powers Gallery on Northville's Main Street. Earlier, she assisted her late husband in operating the automobile license bureau here.

Like her husband, who died in November, 1966, Mrs. Hartley was a close friend of numerous artists, writers, and nature lovers of state and national acclaim. She herself was a prominent artist, producing water color and oil paintings with a warm home-spun flare - many of which hang in area homes and business places. Her paintings, especially those that captured scenes of her community, were periodically reproduced in The Northville Record.

Her paintings also were exhibited at the rental gallery of the Detroit Institute of Arts where she was a member of the Founders Society.

Mrs. Hartley was a member of the Farmington Unitarian Church.

She was a member of numerous civic and professional organizations, including the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters, Three Cities Art Club, Ann Arbor Art Association, Ann Arbor Women Painters, and the Northville Historical Society.

While painting and her fascination with wildflowers and wildlife occupied much of her life, raising her son was her greatest love. She had looked forward with pride to the day next June when he is to receive his doctorate degree in English Literature from Wayne State University.

There are no plans to reopen Hartley-Powers Gallery, closed since her death.

Gala Days Are Comin'

Anyway you look at it — by name or by content — this weekend's going to be a humdinger as the Novi Chamber of Commerce and the Novi Jaycees co-sponsor the annual Gala Days festivities.

Gala Days will get underway at noon Saturday on the Novi Elementary School playgrounds and continue through Sunday until 11 p.m. — "or until the people call it quits."

Capping the first day will be a spectacular fireworks display, following helicopter rides, thrilling sky-diving demonstrations, "and a host of other rides and adventures in fun" to be repeated on Sunday.

"And there'll be plenty of good things to eat," promise spokesmen for the sponsoring organization.

A greased pole climb as well as game booths manned by individual businesses and organizations are all part of the fun.

Climaxing Sunday's activities will be a grand-prize drawing in which $500 will be given away in three amounts — $300 first prize, $100 second prize, and $50 for third and fourth prizes.

Schools to Open September 2

An estimated 1,900 students will return to classes when Novi Community Schools open the doors for a half-day of classes tentatively September 2.

The anticipated enrollment represents an increase of 130 students over the number enrolled when school closed in June. T. Richard Hendrickson, assistant superintendent, said.

A staff of 87 instructors will be employed, an increase of three over last year.

Though negotiations between the Novi Education Association and the District are continuing, both sides have tentatively agreed on the September 2 opening date, Hendrickson said.

Classes are scheduled to begin at 8:05 a.m. for junior and senior high students and continue until noon September 2. Elementary students will report from 9 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. A full day of classes will be held September 3, with regular dismissal times of 2:40 p.m. for junior and senior high and 3:30 p.m. for elementary students.

New students not now enrolled at Novi can register for classes by calling the school they will attend or register during the first day of classes.

A $15 book rental will be required for all students in kindergarten through twelfth grade, subject to a decision by the attorney general, Hendrickson explained.

The hot lunch program will begin September 3 with all prices increased five cents over last year. Lunches will cost 40 cents for elementary students, 45 cents for junior and senior high students and 55 cents for adults.

The tentative school calendar calls for new teachers to report August 31, all teachers to report September 1, with classes beginning September 2.

No classes will be held Labor Day, September 7; in service training days, either November 13 or 20, and April 2; Thanksgiving vacation, from noon November 25-29; Christmas vacation December 24-January 3; spring vacation April 9-16; and Memorial Day, May 31; record days, January 22 and June 11. Classes will end June 10.

HONORARY DEGREE — Speechless for the moment, Mrs. Dorothy Farah of Novi faces the mike of Channel 7's Jim Harrington. The occasion was Mrs. Farah's receipt of an honorary degree from Oakland Community College. Husband Roy Farah looks on while 11-month-old granddaughter Danielle Cloke interests herself in other things.

She's Tops in Children

College Honors Ill Mom

"For consideration of civic duties and service to the community..." read a citation by Dr. Joseph E. Hill, president of Oakland Community College, as he presented Mrs. Herbert Farah of 46950 Grand River with an "Honorary Associate of Arts."

Presentation of the honorary degree was made in Southfield's Providence Hospital where Mrs. Farah has spent the last several days undergoing treatment for what hospital officials refer to as a "long term illness."

Mr. and Mrs. Farah were named as "Foster Parents of the Year," in 1967 as a result of 31 foster children they had cared for since 1943.

In the last three years the number of children to pass in and out of the Farah home has grown to 80.

The Farahs have five children of their own.

Mrs. Farah never finished high school before her marriage in 1942 but she attended night school, got her diploma and entered Oakland Community College, at the Orchard

Ridge Campus in Farmington.

Her education was cut short by discovery of her illness.

Dr. Hill, alerted to Mrs. Farah's case, dug into the school's records and found her academic achievement outstanding.

Mrs. Farah has carried 42 credit hours with a 3.07 grade point average. Her area of study was liberal arts...her goal...completion of a sociology major at the university level.

Dr. Hill made the presentation to Mrs. Farah Thursday.

City Council Huddles Over Appraisal Plan

An executive session concerning questions raised by councilmen over a contract the city has signed with Hunter Associates, a municipal appraising firm headquartered in Farmington, took up 50 minutes of Nov's three and a half hour council meeting Monday night.

The press and public were asked to excuse themselves while the council considered findings of Councilman Edwin Presnell and Louie Campbell, who last week discussed with Hunter matters reportedly pertaining to his method of appraisal.

The Hunter firm has been hired by the city to undertake the reappraisal of real property in Novi.

Upon conclusion of the private session Mayor Joseph Crupi mentioned that its purpose had been to "clarify how Hunter's contract will be handled."

Presnell told this newspaper Tuesday morning, that the main source of confusion on the part of the council came from "differences in interpretation of the contract."

Presnell cited a written statement from Hunter to the council stating that he would make readjustment, not according to individual land values but on a percentage basis of all real property in Novi completed by January 15, 1971 and further that such readjustment would comply with all Michigan tax laws.

On-site inspection, including measurements of improvements and additions, is required for assessment. Novi has not for the last two years carried through on this requirement in 100 percent of the cases, according to Presnell. "Hunter guarantees that this will be done for the 1972 roles," he said.

Expressed by council, both this week and last, was opinion that Hunter mentioned he would do on-site inspection in the 1971 roles as part of his work to be completed by January 15.

Prior to Monday's executive session this interpretation persisted despite a manager's report dated August 6 quoting Hunter as saying he "would not be setting individual land values this year," but would instead adjust them according to general classification: residential, business, farm and utility.

The general readjustment would not require on-site inspection.

Later the council listened to a special assessment formula concerning the proposed paving of Nine Mile drafted by City Manager Dallas Zonkers.

The plan calls for residential property owners to pay $18 per foot of frontage while industrial property owners would pay $27 per foot.

The individual fee would go towards the paving of half the road with the property owners on each side paying their share.

Average projected cost to pave one front foot of the road, is $51.10, according to Councilman Donald Young.

Differences in the money collected from residential property are to be made up by industrial fees and the city, according to Zonkers.

Problems for the city are the railroad right of way east of Novi Road, of which ownership is contested, a bridge, and a parcel of road abutting the cemetery.

According to Zonkers, these areas represent $8,248 dollars worth of paving bills that the city would have to absorb.

Board Tables Bids On Middle School

Novi school board trustees met in special session Monday night to award bids for middle school construction but tabled action until Monday's regular meeting, pending further study of the near 40 bids submitted.

Trustees said they were "pleased" by the number of bids received on the project August 11. Administrators said bids received for the school came in at prices estimated by the architect.

General contractor base bids ranged from $1,313,000 to $1,465,000, while mechanical bids ranged from $888,000 to $998,000. Electrical bids were between $233,000 and $333,000 and bids for food service equipment ranged from $47,256 to $50,646.96.

Commenting on the tabled action,

Superintendent Thomas Dale said "We're spending a lot of the taxpayers money on the middle school and we want to do it right."

Gasoline and fuel oil bids were awarded Monday to Standard Oil with bid prices of $.242 per gallon for gasoline and $.1135 for number two furnace oil.

In other action, Dale told the board residents of Meadowbrook Subdivision north of Ten Mile Road had requested bus service for students attending Orchard Hills Elementary School. After discussing the matter, trustees agreed to hire a crossing guard for the Ten Mile-Quince Drive area intersection, making all elementary students in the subdivision "walkers."

Wixom Gets Diamond Lights

Four Named to Park Board

Four more seats have been filled on Wixom's Parks and Recreation Board.

Mayor Gilbert Willis, in a special meeting called Tuesday night for that purpose, appointed Robert Korthas, Pat Spencer, Marie Walsh and Thomas Ridley as board members.

The slate of appointments brings membership on the oft discussed board to nine. Willis said he will try to draft the 10th member from the High Gate section of Wixom so as to have representation in the northeast quarter.

Other members include one time Wixom councilman Gerald "Bill" Abrams as director, and Ed Ruggles, Robert Tromley, Lottie Chambers, and Ronald Parvu as members.

Abrams was appointed last week to fill the vacancy left by Jim Nissen who resigned after disagreement with the mayor.

In other business, the council accepted an offer from Jack Parcels of

White Lake and Paul Hodges of Walled Lake, contractors who have salvaged

Costume Preview Wixom Plans

Wixom's "Centennial Belles" will have a kick-off fashion show Wednesday to display costumes which will be worn as part of the Wixom centennial celebration.

The show will include all men's and women's costumes to be worn during the week-long October celebration and the days leading up to it.

All Wixom area residents are invited to participate or contribute their suggestions. Those interested should call Lillian Spencer at MA 4-2655.

Costumes to be modeled currently are on sale at the centennial headquarters at 49130 Wixom Road.

field lights from a football stadium in Detroit, to donate the lights to the city for the price of hauling them there.

"The lights are on poles with service hookups already attached," said Parcels, "all you have to do is put them in the ground and hook them up."

Hodges of Michigan Building Components will donate a truck to haul the light poles from Detroit. Cost to the city, according to Parcels, would be approximately $300.

Each of the five poles involved, according to Parcels, has four masts, each mast has six 50 watt lights mounted on it.

Price of installing the poles was recognized as the expensive part of the bargain. Estimates were taken among council members running as high as $3,000.

"But were we to buy these lights on the open market," commented Councilman Robert Dingeldey, "they'd cost us $15,000."

Murderer Still Sought by Police

"We hope somebody who was driving by at the time saw him, or somebody who might know him lives in the area," said Wixom patrolman Walter Sprenger concerning a negro male suspect being sought in the June 12 slaying of 33-year-old Melvin Handelzaltz in Wixom.

Two conceptions of the suspect based on descriptions from eight witnesses appear above. The man is described as 5'11" tall, 190-200 pounds, and 25-30 years old. Some confusion circles around the man's style of hair. Police say it could be cut in an afro fashion or it could be "a messed up processed style."

Sprenger, who is in charge of investigation, theorizes that the suspect may work in the Wixom area. "He seems to have known the area fairly well," Sprenger said.

Somebody might know something and think we have the same information, but we don't," Sprenger said. "We're checking out every clue that comes in but so far nothing concrete has turned up."

Handelzaltz, of Oak Park, an employee of the Quinn Check Cashing firm in Detroit was shot and killed two months ago by a man who attempted to steal $25,000 which Handelzaltz was carrying in his trunk.

Any citizen who has any information is urged to contact police immediately.

Day Bedlam Broke Loose

anniversary of the "war to end all wars". "I was home on furlough and I remember the noise and the crowds," said Hartner, whose picture appeared in The Record of that date concerning the second lieutenant commission he had received.

"All in all, South Lyon joined the rest of the Allied world in celebrating the end of World War II, and the end of the battles in which American boys have been killed and wounded in far-off places," said The Herald.

Wilson Bishop of Lyon Township couldn't remember the significance of the date, either. Not until he was reminded that his picture had appeared in The Herald, above a picture in which the then first sergeant was receiving a battlefield commission "for outstanding performance ... during combat" did he remember the day.

"I was still in Europe ... in Germany," he recalled. "Oh, and all that nice thick hair he used to have is gone," said Mrs. Bishop looking for the original picture. "He came home a first lieutenant," she added, proudly.

There was plenty of happiness in former Northville Police Chief Joseph Denton's home. The war was over, and his son, Captain Carlton G. Denton, had been decorated "for heroic achievement" against the enemy in Belgium, reported The Record which carried the young officer's picture.

VE Day had come and gone and decorations were starting to catch up to the servicemen in Europe. And now it was VJ Day.

There was happiness, too, in the home of Corporal Donald Showerman, just returned from the hospital and anxious to join his brother, Gordon, in their South Lyon store. "Gee, he's the best brother in the world," The Herald quoted the soldier who wore a breastful of medals and who walked with a cane because an 88mm German shell had shattered his legs.

"The Methodist Church bell rang out the news," said The Record. "Then Arnold Teshka touched off the fire siren, and car horns joined the chorus. The streets began to overflow with cars. Pedestrians flocked to the Main street and from 7 p.m. to midnight loaded cars bumper to bumper paraded thru the village.

"Trucks, dump trucks, gravel trucks, coal trucks loaded to the gills with young people joined the moving caravan. The mail truck loaded with 30 kids, the two fire trucks with sirens screaming and 50 to 60 kids with wide open mouths and waving arms added color and noise. Tin pans, iron grating, and all imaginable trash trailing from moving vehicles of all kind, added clatter, rasping, and sparking noise to the din."

And a big cartoon of the Statue of Liberty decorated the front page: "Liberty, Freedom, Peace Again."

The USS Indianapolis, reported The Record, "was lost shortly after her last mission which was a high speed run from San Francisco to Guam where she safely delivered a cargo of essential atomic bomb material." And Mrs. Ida Stueckle read and reread the War Department telegram and cried.

"Gas rationing ended Wednesday," reported The Record.

"Well, I'll be darn," said Asher filling up a tank. And the story said, "William H. Asher ... for gallantry in action ... while intense hostile small arms and 20mm fire at 50 to 200 range ... with mortar and artillery fire ... missed him by inches..."

Rationing of fuel oil, oil stoves and blue-point foods, including goods and vegetables ended, too, said The Record.

And Harry Bulmon threshed wheat on the Elkow farm, and there were only 13 days remaining to get your last half-year license plates, and thanksgiving services were planned at the New Hudson church, said The Herald.

And Mrs. Herman Ketcham of Whitmore Lake cried and read and reread a telegram she had received just a few days before the Big, Hilarious, Delirious Day.

"I guess I was happy, too," said Mrs. Ketcham - still living in Whitmore Lake and recalling the telegram that announced her 18-year-old son had been killed on Okinawa.

"I was happy because no more boys would have to go to war and die like my son. But I guess that's not true, is it?" she said.

ROLL CALL:

Present: Allen, Folino, Lapham, Nichols. Absent: Rathert (excused)

Also present: Large gathering of citizens of Northville Estates Subdivision (approx. 60); also present several residents of other areas of the city.

ACCEPTANCE OF MINUTES:

Minutes of the regular Council Meeting of July 20, 1970 stand approved as having been recorded.

APPROVAL OF BILLS:

Moved by Lapham, supported by Folino, to approve payment of bills in the following amounts:

General Fund Disbursements . . . $24,566.59
Local Street Fund Disbursements . . . 1,334.32
Other Government . . . 72,331.13
Public Imp. Fund Disbursements . . . 5,801.15

Unanimously carried.

COMMUNICATIONS:

Letter from Jerry Rotta, Senior Vice Commander, VFW Post 4012, Northville requesting permission to hold a parade on Aug. 7, 1970, at 7 p.m., in conjunction with Northville Fair, which would include Drum and Bugle Corps.

Motion by Folino, supported by Lapham, to approve such a parade. No discussion. Unanimously carried.

Communication from Northville Public Schools, regarding Council's request for Board of Education to review the acquisition of an additional 10 acres adjacent to Moraine School site. This communication to be incorporated in the minutes.

BOARD AND COMMISSION MINUTES:

Board of Appeals minutes of meeting of July 1, 1970. Minutes stand approved as submitted.

SECOND PUBLIC HEARING FOR 1970 STREET RESURFACING PROGRAM:

Mr. Lawther, Allen Drive, stated he has 42 ft. frontage and asked why he should have the highest assessment. City Manager explained average width was used in assessing odd-shaped lots.

Mr. Art Adams, 960 Allen Drive, stated he is under the impression Mr. Totten has a front number and that is the front; front door faces where his street number is.

City Manager replied that standard assessing practice is that for a corner lot the narrow side of the lot is considered the frontage. Any difference the City picks up. Average assessment is in the neighborhood of $60.00 to $70.00. Assessment is based on average width of lots.

Mayor recommended this Public Hearing be tabled until next Monday, 8-10-70, to take into further advisement.

Motion by Nichols, supported by Lapham, that Public Hearing be tabled to Monday, Aug. 10, 1970.

INFORMATIONAL MEETING REGARDING SITES FOR NEIGHBORHOOD PARKS (4):

Mayor Allen stated Council will not take any action tonight but would like to have comments of the neighbors.

The following residents of Northville Estates stated their thoughts on this matter: Messrs. Anusibigian, Hiram Pacific (Pres. Northville Est. Civic Assn.); Edward Netke, W. Windsch, Mr. Thompson, Attorney Don Severance (representing Mr. Ferris); Mr. Noffs; Mr. McCloud; Dennis Roux; Ivan Berdan; W. Slattery; Mr. Pettit; R. Marroney; Mr. Adams; Mrs. Murany, Mrs. Gellner, Mrs. Matthews (Grace St.).

The citizens from Northville Estates presented a petition signed by 67 homeowners, leaving 29 residents absent, all requesting that this matter of a park in their subdivision not be carried out. The petition will be placed in file with these minutes.

The residents generally feel that they do not need such a park; the school playgrounds can be used for that purpose. They have in mind the vandalism that will be prevalent; the lights will be needed for safety purposes; the noise and traffic involved. All these things and many more involved, make this sort of thing a most undesirable project and they are definitely against it. They couldn't stop any children from anywhere in the city from coming in to the park and can't imagine how they could cope with the traffic problem. Suggested money be used elsewhere and this matter be defeated immediately.

City Manager recommended the matter be tabled for 60 days and Council to make a decision at that time, since in his opinion, there were valid reasons to consider parks and open space needs. Also, it is possible some petitioners did not fully understand the proposal.

The next site for discussion was N. Ely Drive - Michigan Bell Tel. Co. property. Purchase of this property proposed. Lease would have to be brought back to the City Council. Negotiations are recommended by Manager with lease prepared for Sept. 8 meeting.

Third site, NW corner of Base Line and Carpenter next. City Manager read communication from Mr. Mellen explaining his reason for wanting it a good investment. Negotiations by real estate committee recommended.

Fourth site, Maplewood - Hill site discussed next. Comments were made by Mrs. Hobart, 449 Hill St., Mr. Berdan, Mr. Jendrisak, Mr. Kleusner, Mr. Thompson and Mr. Frew.

City Manager presented a lay-out of the lots involved in that area. Considering the interior area of the site, Mr. Frew feels it would require a tremendous job of police protection. Several owners objected to - their land being taken for a public use. Several thought this might be preferable to houses and new streets.

Council will meet within four weeks and come to a final decision.

CONTINUATION OF P.H. ON FIREWALLS FOR MULTIPLE CONSTRUCTION:

Motion by Lapham, supported by Folino, to adjourn this until the second meeting in August, the 17th.

Passed unanimously.

P.H. - ADOPTION OF "ORDINANCE CREATING A HOUSING COMMISSION":

City Manager read this Ordinance and recommends that it be approved and we begin appointing committee.

MOTION by Nichols, supported by Folino, to adopt the Ordinance.

Passed unanimously. Work session on this later.

SENIOR CITIZEN'S MEETING PLACE - DISCUSSION:

Mayor Allen suggested this matter should be taken up privately. Tabled for work session on Monday, 8/10/70.

DATE FOR SPECIAL MEETING:

Motion by Lapham, supported by Folino, to set a special meeting for Monday, August 10, 1970.

Passed unanimously.

MISCELLANEOUS:

REFUSE PACKER - Manager

announced bids have been requested for a 25 yard packer with double axle and also 20 yard packer with tandem axle. For Special Meeting 8/10/70.

JOHN HANCOCK INS. CO. - they have made and have completed a thorough review of our fringe benefit program and would like to meet with each employee of City. Council to be made aware of this before giving to employees. Put this on next agenda for regular meeting.

FINANCIAL REPORT - For Work Session in the future.

CHARTER REVIEW COMMISSION - Fourth Monday of this month - Aug. 24th - to meet with Charter Review Committee (send cards).

Councilman Lapham brought up the contract for the sale of one-half block which Northville Area Dev. Corp. owns in the block of W. Main, S. Wing, W. Cady and S. Center. Lapham stated that McManus & Co. is interested in the development of this property. Mr. Clarke was present at the meeting, representing Lanphar Realty Co., and he stated they would meet Wednesday morning (8/5/70) to discuss this matter to see if it is worth going ahead with. Cost figures will be worked out so they can make an offer. Folino feels we should meet with them to find out what development plans they can bring in and should wait till Thursday for results.

Put on agenda for next Monday's special meeting.

Moved by Folino, supported by Lapham. Passed unanimously.

Motion by Lapham, supported by Nichols, to accept proposal of the Northville Dev. Corp. in the block of W. Main, S. Wing, W. Cady and S. Center, for their cost less 1/2 of the profit they derived from the land since its ownership of same.

Passed unanimously.

Discussion of bill for minimum $1300.00 for police services for the Fair followed. The protection during open hours would vary from 1 to 3 men on the grounds at different hours and also protection for the parade. Bill may come to more than $1300.00.

Council felt that inasmuch as the Antique Shop is a profit making project (items will be sold to public - that the watchmen for that show should be paid by the sponsors and the police protection for the other events will be paid by the City).

No further business to come before the Council, meeting was adjourned at 11:10 P.M.

Respectfully submitted,

Hilda Boyer
Acting Clerk

WAYNE, OAKLAND AND WASHTENAW COUNTIES, MICHIGAN
TAX ANTICIPATION NOTES

Sealed bids for the purchase of tax anticipation notes of Northville Public Schools, Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, of the par value of Seven Hundred Thousand Dollars ($700,000.00), will be received by the undersigned at the Board of Education Offices, 303 West Main Street, Northville, Michigan, until 8:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time, on the 1st day of September, 1970, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read.

The notes will be dated August 15, 1970, will mature April 1, 1971, and will bear interest at a rate or rates not exceeding eight per cent (8%) per annum. Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank or trust company located in the State of Michigan to be designated by the original purchaser of the notes, which paying agent qualifies as such under the statutes of the State of Michigan or of the Federal Government, subject to the approval of Northville Public Schools. Denominations and form of notes to be at the option of the purchaser. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such notes must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

The notes shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

For the purpose of awarding the notes the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the notes from September 1, 1970 to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The notes will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the school district. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the notes or at a price less than their par value will be considered.

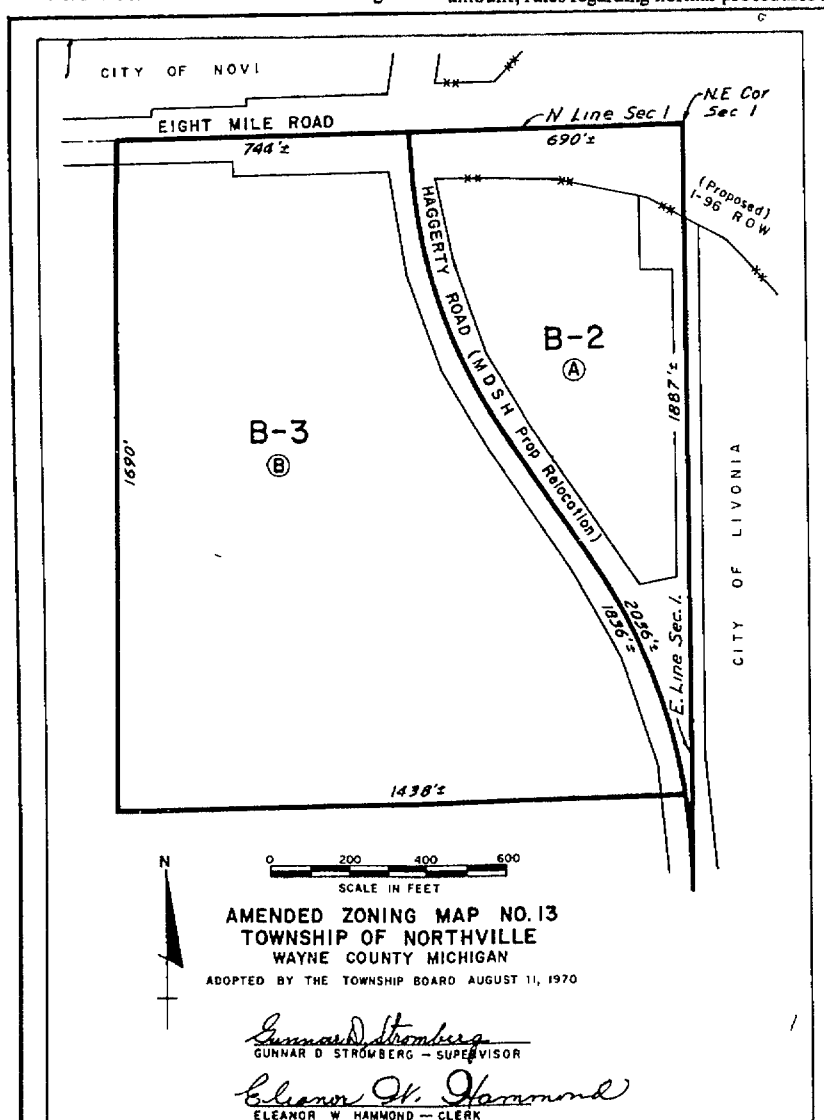

The loan is in anticipation of the Operating portion of the School Tax for the fiscal year July 1, 1970 to June 30, 1971, which tax is due and payable December 1, 1970.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of 2% of the par value of the notes, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the school district, must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the notes. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, Attorneys, 2500 Detroit Bank and Trust Building, Detroit, Michigan, which opinion will be furnished without expense to the purchaser prior to the delivery thereof, approving the legality of the notes. The purchaser shall furnish notes ready for execution at his expense. Notes will be delivered without expense to the purchaser at a place to be designated by the purchaser. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids. Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Notes."

arriving at assessments. Lot 51, Yerkes Sub. No. 2 was in question relative to size and amount of assessment, also how other lots were figured (Lot 68)

(Councilman Lapham entered the meeting)

Mr. Lawther stated he was at a disadvantage, being at the end of the cul-de-sac (problem of snow removal, traffic turn-around, etc.) and yet he was paying one of the higher assessments. He wondered if he could park one of his cars in the street with an approved permit. City Mgr. replied he did not wish to make the matter of the car permit a matter related to the special assessment. However, the permit was a good possibility and was to be approved by himself and Chief of Police.

Councilman Rathert moved, supported by Lapham, to adopt the Resolution of Confirmation for 1970 Re-surfacing of Streets Program - S.A. Roll No. 33 - adjusting the following lot assessments as follows:

Lot 32 - 74 square feet - $84.36
Lot 33 - 74 square feet - $84.36
Lot 68 - 51 square feet - $58.14
Yeas: Lapham, Nichols, Rathert
Nays: Folino
Motion prevailed.

Mr. Klueckner asked if due date was 60 days from the confirmation date as of this meeting. City Mgr. replied "yes" - that affected people will get an estimated bill and when the job is finished, adjusted bills will be sent.

REVIEW RE-PAVING BIDS: City Mgr. read the recommendations as received from Engineer Penn and also the list of bidders and their submitted bids:

Moved by Lapham, support by Folino, to award 1970 Street Re-Surfacing Program to the low bidder - Detroit Concrete Products Corp. for No. 1 in the amount of $17,609.00. U.C.

CONTRACT FOR BUSINESS DISTRICT PROPERTY DEVELOPMENT: City Mgr. reported that presently there are 2 potential developers interested in development of property on the south side of W. Main, between S. Center and S. Wing Sts. The discussion of this project was held over until this meeting to enable Mr. Clark of Lanphar Realty Co. to make his presentation. He stated that Mr. McManus was also present along with Mr. Coulter of Lewis Redstone, Associates.

Both companies made their presentations to Council; Council asked for a few days in which to make a decision and it was unanimously decided to have this matter on the August 17th agenda.

Elementary Level: Top Year-Round School Challenge

Editor's Note: Following is the fourth in a series of excerpts from the book "Year-Round School, Is It Feasible?" published by the Northville School District with funds received from a $19,565 grant received from the State Legislature. The grant was used by the district to study the feasibility of year-round school in Northville. Included in the series are highlights from the report in an effort to further acquaint citizens with the findings of the study. Copies of the book are available on loan from the Board of Education Offices.

In spite of the rapid technological advances, the social, economical and political revolutions so characteristic of our era, significant changes in education tend to come about slowly. Furthermore, education tends to go through periods or cycles in which an idea or practice long since abandoned is resurrected because of apparent needs existing in the society of the era. Such is the case with the concept of the extended school year. As made clear in chapter 2, the literature had little to offer, in fact most of literature would tend to discourage any district from attempting to resurrect the concept. However, faced with the forecast of population growth in Northville, the Concept and Implementation Committee established by Superintendent F. E. Spear to pursue study of the various concepts and recommend action was not easily discouraged.

The committee's first decision was that any extended school year plan should mean that schools would be in operation during most of the school year and should insure each child the required number of days stipulated under state law. The committee also agreed that a close look should be taken at each plan's potential for financial savings to the District before a recommendation to the Steering Committee would be made.

EXTENDED USE OF FACILITIES CONCEPTS QUADRIMESTER

DEFINITION:

School year is divided into 4 quarters of 12 weeks each with 1/4 of student body on vacation at staggered times during the year and 3/4 in attendance at all times.

ADVANTAGES:

- 1) Cost decrease if enrollment reaches an undetermined point and if acceleration and remedial aspects are limited.

- 2) Less investment in facilities and equipment.
- 3) Possible decrease in summer flood in work market.
- 4) Full year employment for teachers.
- 5) Implementation is not too difficult.
- 6) Plan has flexibility for curriculum changes.

DISADVANTAGES:

- 1) Public opposition to staggered vacations.
- 2) Maintenance problems.
- 3) Problems created for extra-curricular program.
- 4) Organization problems.

Whereas previous four-quarter plans tended to be implemented, as verified in chapter 2 of this study, for the purpose of financial savings; and whereas the original purpose for studying the possibility of Year-Round school in the Northville District was for monetary reasons — society or in this case the Community changed the focus of the study. "What can year-round school do for my child that the traditional system in operation today can't do?" This is the question most prevalent in the minds of the Northville public as they anticipate possible implementation of the Year-Round School Concept. Financial savings, of course, are a consideration in a community with the growing potential of Northville, but the tone of the community is directed more toward an answer to the question "What will you do with money saved in bricks and mortar to improve education for our children?"

ADVANTAGES OF THE FOUR-QUARTER PLAN TO THE INSTRUCTIONAL PROGRAM:

Transition from a traditional to a Year-Round Program, once the capacity of a building is reached, would make possible a more comprehensive program that could more adequately meet the needs of the individual student. Some specific advantages to the instruction that would exist are as follows:

1. No student would be locked in a course for a year or even a semester.
2. More courses could be offered.
3. Courses designed to meet specific interests of students could be compacted into 12-week non-sequential units.
4. Courses that do not adapt themselves as well to the traditional school year, such as field biology, ecology, surveying, scuba diving, sailing, nature study and numerous others, could be offered.

5. The concept of education outside the walls of the schoolhouse could be implemented in the Vocational Education department through short-term courses in a specific skill followed by on-the-job practical experience.
6. The kind of flexibility necessary to promote a good vocational program would be possible, in that students could be in school part time and on the job part time and still graduate with their peers if they attended school year round.
7. Students who hesitate taking the more challenging courses might attempt them if they knew they weren't locked-in for a year and as a result of failure, be denied graduating with their peers.
8. Acceleration or remediation would be possible if space were available in any class.
9. Drop-outs would be encouraged to continue study if they could enroll in courses designed to meet their interests, abilities and needs rather than in the traditional year course which covers all segments of a particular subject. In addition, the fact that they could work part time and attend school part-time for the full year and graduate with their peers would encourage them to continue.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS

Perhaps one of the biggest advantages of the Year-Round School lies in the possibility of improvement of the vocational education program and therefore a separate section of the chapter is devoted to it. The Northville Public Schools has at present little to offer the vocationally oriented student. This segment of the school population has no recourse other than to pursue academic programs in which they have little or no interest, drop out of school, find any job to provide the cash to buy a car on which they can spend hours — even when absent from school. The meager offerings in the present vocational program cannot be geared to preparation for jobs because of the inflexibility of the unimester structure.

EFFECT OF EXTENDED SCHOOL YEAR ON THE ELEMENTARY PROGRAM

Obviously, the greatest challenge in implementing a Year-Round School Program at the elementary level will be in the reorganization and revision of curriculum. The existing traditional program is not unlike most traditional programs in that it is graded, self-contained teaching is most common, grade level basal programs pretty much determine the curriculum, children are promoted or fail at the end of a year's work and if they fail they are forced to take another year at that grade level. Of course, like most systems, some team teaching does occur along with some individualization of instruction, but this is the unusual rather than the usual.

There are two directions for curriculum in which the elementary program could go. One direction for action would be to adopt Extended School Year and conduct the same program as presented under the traditional concept with students divided into four groups and attending three of the four quarters and teachers assigned to specific groups of children.

A second direction for action would be to take advantage of the opportunity for change and more to a CONTINUOUS PROGRESS PROGRAM at the elementary K-5 level.

The proposal is to start with a levels plan of curriculum reorganization in all skill subjects and work toward a final goal of totally individualized programs in all skill areas. Material would be broken into small units instead of the five giant units each child must digest in order to be promoted under the traditional program. The small units would require frequent evaluation and would encourage those children who need frequent reinforcement. No child would repeat a level, rather he would pursue other materials at the same level in order to be prepared to handle the next level.

The traditional grade requirements which often fail to challenge the better-than-average child and at the same time frustrate the less gifted would be eliminated. Standards, however, as established in the guides for each area would be maintained. Another desirable feature particularly to Northville is that with this type of organization, children would not leave the elementary school in fewer years than they would under the traditional program. The public has registered strong objection to accepting any program that would permit students to graduate at an earlier age except in unusual cases.

IMPLEMENTATION AT ELEMENTARY LEVEL

Implementation must be effected through the concerted efforts of all. Staff and principals would be the key personnel in charge of implementation of the Continuous Progress program. The curriculum department would act in an advisory capacity.

SECOND THOUGHTS BY NORTHVILLE

Although the grant proposal specifies a K-12 four-quarter plan, we now do not believe that the four-quarter plan is as feasible at the K-3 age level as we had initially thought. We would, however, recommend retention of the fourth quarter at this level primarily to meet the needs of those children who could benefit by additional weeks in school. The children referred to in the preceding statement would be culturally deprived children and those children not capable of achieving a reasonable number of levels or specific skills within the regular school year. Under the plan no set number of weeks for each child would be required — the child needing an additional three weeks would be in attendance just that long; a child needing four weeks would attend that length of time.

EFFECT ON STAFF UTILIZATION

The teacher is the catalyst for change in an educational program; therefore, the effect of the Extended School Year Concept on the teacher is of deep concern to those pursuing the study.

It is only reasonable to accept the fact that on a "per pupil" basis under the four-quarter plan fewer teacher positions would be necessary. However, over the extended year the number of teacher hours and the amount of money allocated to salaries should be no different under a traditional system than under the 4-quarter system. Over a period of years, some financial savings could be realized in fringe benefit payments.

An advantage to teachers of the quarter plan of Extended School Year is that it offers potential for full year employment. Long has the public cry against increased salaries for teachers been reiterated based on the argument that they are employed only nine months of the year. The part-time job argument has been used even more frequently since Master Contracts have been negotiated.

EFFECT OF YEAR-ROUND SCHOOL ON THE EXTRA-CURRICULAR PROGRAM

Extra-Curricular activities at the secondary level are extremely important to the school life of the student, to the parents and to the community. A survey of our school District in 1968 indicated that two thirds of our student body participated in some extra curricular activity — whether it be band, choral, play production, forensics, debate, club activities, class organizations or athletics. Movement into an Extended School Year would not be likely to be acceptable to the student population or the community unless participation in extra-curricular activities would be assured. We would submit that all activities would need to be conducted on a year-round basis and that student participation in competitive activities must be permitted whether or not a student is in attendance in the particular quarter.

We would not schedule students in accordance with the activity in which they are interested. All students would be scheduled under the same procedure.

SPEAKING

for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

"One of the most serious things that can possibly happen to one in a battle is to get one's head cut off."

Lewis Carroll wrote it and either the Walrus, the Carpenter or Tweedledum said it. Anyway, that's about how serious I feel this week. No sermons.

Instead, how about a game of golf.

I've never worked harder at the game than I did Sunday on television...trying to win the PGA for Arnie.

When a True Palmer Fan sees Arnie striding down the fairway, he thinks back to the Golden Days when Arnie was winning the Masters every other year; when he chipped a wedge 50-feet down the slippery 16th at Augusta for a birdie and charged to victory; when the 20 and 40-footers dropped like tap-ins; when he hit irons under, over and around giant trees to within three feet of the cup.

And you re-live the frustrations: when he had the Masters in his pocket only to skull his third shot out of a trap at the 18th and wind up with a double-bogie six to lose by one shot to Gary Player; and when Billy Casper picked up seven shots in nine holes to tie for the National Open and then beat Arnie in a play-off.

You expect something spectacular to happen when Palmer's in the game. And Sunday I hoped that another Palmer miracle might occur.

But it was not to be. And young Dave Stockton performed the miracles in scrambling fashion.

But take heart, Palmer fans. There will be another day and Arnie will return to the PGA and win the lone major tourney that has escaped him.

You Nicklaus, Player, Casper fans may argue about who is entitled to wear the crown as King of the modern day golfing tourists.

I'll take Palmer. Even in defeat he's got more class.

And at 40 he's just getting charged up.

Speaking of "old pros", one gave a performance in Northville recently that sent chills up my spine.

It happened at the Ambler-Smeed wedding when at the conclusion of the ceremony Fred Kendall sang "The Lord's Prayer".

His voice, coming from the rear of the sanctuary where he was not visible to the guests, filled the rafters and sounded to these ears exactly as the Lord would command that His prayer should be sung.

A great thrill and a wonderful wedding present for his niece, Diane Ambler Smeed.

Fred's rich voice entertained thousands of listeners for many years over WJR. The Kendalls may have another show-business star in the making. Daughter Leslie displayed professional ability as she sang for guests at the Botsford Inn reception.

Young Jack Hoffman was chortling about my answer to his question last Friday: "where were you 25 years ago today?"

I'd forgotten. He pointed out that it was the day (August 14, 1945) that President Truman announced the end of World War II. Then I remembered and couldn't believe it had been a quarter-of-a-century ago.

Hoffman said he was "hunting frogs". Taking care to point out that he was too young to have been in World War II, he wondered if I had been "young enough".

I ignored his remark and refused to cooperate when he said he was interviewing some of the "older guys" who hold fond memories of that day when all shooting stopped (temporarily).

But I enjoyed his story (page one) and I'm sure most of the "over-40" crowd will, too.

Now if he could just come up with a story proclaiming that all wars have been ended for all time, I might forget the insult.

Let's Bury Hatchet Says Wixomite

To the Editor:

I have just finished reading the letter signed by a "Wixom Citizen."

Evidently this man is not very familiar with Mr. Abrams or he wouldn't have been so unfair. I'm sure that no one, least of all Bill Abrams, is advocating military government. And I think everyone who knows Bill is aware that his only interest lies in trying to unite the people of Wixom not in duping anyone.

All a "Wixom Citizen" had to do to hear the name-calling was attend a Council meeting. I think Mayor Willis rates a big pat on the back for keeping his composure and treating these rude people with much more decency and respect than they merit.

Bill's desire to see the citizens working together is one to be admired.

C'mon folks, let's use the centennial to "bury the hatchet", (not in each other, please!) and start working together. Who knows, by the time the festivities are over, we might find our neighbors are not so bad after all.

Scare Cyclist

To the Editor:

Two weeks ago my husband and I became members of the "rat pack" and we now have a better understanding of the problems of other cycle riders. I hope I have been more courteous when I was driving a car than half of the motorists we have encountered. In one 10 block trip from one side of Northville to the other, two motorists pulled out of side streets after watching us approach, making left hand turns in front of us and one man pulled out of an alley without looking or stopping. If I hadn't anticipated this he would have hit me. I was told this all happened because people thought I was one of those wild teenage cyclists. "Big Deal". Those drivers were playing with a human life and it's time they grew up and realized it.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Charles Kling

Coy Removes Signs Promptly

To the Editor:

I hope the people in District No. 27 took note that Lew Coy's campaign signs were down the day following the election. But Lew Coy's opponent who was endorsed by Jack Hoffman and Bill Sliger still has his signs littering the country side.

Featherbedding Hits New High (Or Low)

by Jack W. Hoffman

Once upon a time the most scandalous art of featherbedding was practiced by railroads and railroad unions. I'm not so sure that's the case anymore.

For most the term conjures up the image of a guy calling himself a fireman — a guy who sits with his feet propped up on the seat of the engineer and sleeps from paycheck to paycheck.

My friend Al Markell of Northville Township, a former fireman who now pilots those monstrous diesels, will tell you as he did me long ago that such an image is a lie. "He may be called a fireman and he may no longer shovel coal but he works his fanny off and hopes, for his kids' sake, there's gonna be another paycheck," Al will say.

Others will remind you that firemen don't have a patent on featherbedding. Other industries, professions, and governmental agencies have their share, too. Like it or not, farm subsidy is a form of featherbedding. So is Medicare and urban renewal and super passenger jets and aid to dependent children and tax deductions and, yes, allowances we pay our kids.

I don't know which is worse (or better): paying someone to sit behind an engineer or paying someone not to grow wheat. But I do know now of another example of featherbedding that, for me, takes the prize — and, for gosh sakes, a piece of my pocketbook and a piece of yours, too.

The revelation came as an Associated Press dispatch out of the featherbedding capitol of the world, Washington, D.C.:

"The government is paying as much as $400 per passenger in federal aid to finance luxury cruises aboard ocean liners to such exotic ports as

Hong Kong, Tahiti, Jamaica and Bora Bora."

The payments, said AP, are part of a special subsidy to American passenger ships that has cost taxpayers an estimated $240 million over the past five years.

That's enough loot to run the Northville school system 80 years.

But that's not the good (or bad) part. It gets better (or worse) when AP gives a specific example:

"As the SS Santa Paula sailed this spring from New York to Curacao, Haiti, Jamaica and St. Thomas in the Caribbean, few of the 300 tourists sipping drinks in the Techo Bar or dining off the pale, blue-rimmed china had any idea Uncle Sam was their unseen financial angel.

"But Maritime Administration records show that $120,692 in federal aid was paid for the two-week cruise — $402.30 per passenger..."

That single two-week trip of wining and dining, my friends, cost the government (taxpayers) the equivalent of nearly six of the tax producing houses in my subdivision.

And that's not all. AP noted that there's a good bet that Congress will raise its subsidy for these ocean-going pleasure cruises.

No wonder Will Rogers said, in explaining where he got material for his jokes, "So I started reading about Congress; and, believe me, I found they are funnier three hundred and sixty-five days a year than anything I ever heard of."

It isn't that I'm against freeloading or featherbedding. That's not what hurts. What hurts is that I'm not getting a piece of the action. And worse (or better), chances are I'll never have enough money to buy a pleasure cruise ticket to enjoy the government's graciousness.

council's attention, while Lanphar had previously disclosed his proposal to the full council — and that proposal included preliminary drawings. Folino said he had not been aware of the McManus plans until two weeks ago — long after the Lanphar proposal was disclosed.

Furthermore, he argued that the larger proposed McManus development posed some parking problems that were not apparent in the Lanphar proposal. Councilman Charles Lapham, member of the council's real estate committee, took exception to Folino's statement, insisting that he had informed the council earlier as to McManus' interest in the property.

Specifically, the agreement ostensibly means McManus has a three-month option on the property. During this period it must prepare plans, drawings and feasibility studies. If the council finds these plans and studies satisfactory, McManus may enter into an agreement with the city for purchase of the property at $1.50 per square foot. During the three-month period McManus is to submit to the council monthly reports of its progress.

If at the end of three-months McManus has not completed its work but has shown satisfactory progress, the council may grant the firm an additional three-months to complete it. If the council is not satisfied, the agreement ends.

Both developers had confidentially disclosed to council likely prime tenants for their suggested developments.

In recommending that McManus be selected, City Manager Frank Ollendorff emphasized that initial proposals of both developers were "very attractive." However, preference was given McManus, he said, because it proposed a development representing the larger tax base and it suggested uses for the buildings (retail stores/offices) that are likely to be more advantageous to expansion of the total central business district.

On the basis of preliminary proposals, McManus' development reportedly would exceed $2 million, while Lanphar's would exceed $1 million.

According to Lapham efforts are being made to find another location for the Lanphar development.

Swanson Asks Bill Disclosure

Robert F. Swanson of Livonia, Republican candidate from the 35th State Representative District, has repeated his demand that his incumbent Democratic opponent, Marvin R. Stempien, make public disclosures of past campaign expenses and of current expenditures of public funds for postal bills.

"During the first five months of this year, the available record shows that Mr. Stempien spent fully $5505.60 of taxpayers' money for postage," Swanson asserted.

"More incredible yet, Mr. Stempien's postage bill for the month of June alone was $2570.24.

"Yet last year, in the entire period of January through June his total postal bill was just $719.40.

"If Mr. Stempien intends to deny that he is spending public funds for private campaign purposes, then he certainly owes the taxpayers an explanation as to why he thought the public needed to receive many times as much mail, at public expense, in a campaign year as compared to a non-campaign year.

"I, for one, do not care to be forced to contribute to my opponent's campaign through the sales tax and state income tax I pay, and I don't think the public wants either of our campaigns financed with tax dollars!"

"It's high time our election laws were enforced, for state lawmakers as well as all other candidates. Mr. Stempien still hasn't responded to my demand that he tell the public who paid the rent on his campaign headquarters in the 1968 campaign!"

Dr. Robert Geake Seeks State Post

A Northville psychologist, Dr. Robert Geake, has announced his candidacy for the State Board of Education. A Republican moderate, Geake is known as a team player and, with two notable exceptions, a staunch supporter of Governor Milliken's educational reform package.

"I do not favor direct payment of tax money to non-public schools," he states. "Not only should public schools be the first priority for public funds, but we know that wherever public funds go public control follows. Thus the independence and individuality so highly valued in our non-public schools will soon be lost as they succumb to the standards and 'guidelines' which inevitably accompany public funding."

The other exception, involves the proposal to abolish the State Board of Education. "I feel that the board, consisting of members from various parts of the state and elected directly by the voters, can be most responsive to the public," he stated.

Geake, who has been traveling quietly around the state for the past two months meeting with party leaders and drumming up support, is considered a first ballot favorite in the Republican convention to be held August 28 and 29 in Detroit. A second candidate also will be nominated to run in November for the two vacancies created by the expiration of terms of two present board members.

Geake, an educational psychologist with experience in K-12 programs, won his present post as trustee-at-large on the Schoolcraft College Board in a race hotly contested by 16 candidates.

City Charter

charter is elected directly by the people, he nevertheless is a member of the council with no greater voting power than other members of the council, has no veto, and, unlike communities with strong mayor forms of government, is not the chief administrator of council policy-making, the committee noted.

Third on the list is the recommendation that councilmen be elected on the first Monday in March in the odd numbered years.

"This," said the committee, "will permit newly elected members to become familiar with fiscal and other matters prior to working on and adopting the annual budget."

Presently, the regular city election is held every two years on the first Monday in April. Under the charter, the council must between April 15 and the third Monday in May adopt the next fiscal budget.

Concerning the charter chapter on special assessments, the committee indicated substantial change is important. "It is the belief of the committee that only the language granting special assessment authority to the council and establishing certain safeguards in respect to such authority should be contained in the charter. All other provisions regarding special assessments should be contained in an updated ordinance."

Also given top priority are suggestions concerning collection of fees, the defunct office of Justice of Peace, borrowing power, and the defunct office of supervisor.

Among suggested amendments of lesser priority are those dealing with changes in the name and boundaries section of the charter, substitution of the word "city" for "village", elimination of reference to "constable", and simplification of millage limitation wording.

Reviewed but rejected by the committee were suggestions that the fiscal year dates be changed, that salaries of councilmen and mayor be increased, that anti-nepotism section be deleted or changed, and that reference to "work sessions" or informal meetings of the council be changed.

New School Schedule Awaits Ratification

Northville's tentative school year calendar, which awaits ratification of the teacher contract, calls for opening of public schools after Labor Day—on Thursday, September 10—and closing of school on June 16, 1971.

In National Competition

Three Join State Champs

Three local ballplayers will travel with outstate Michigan champs, Redford Recreation, to do battle in national competition in Johnstown, Pennsylvania this week.

Rich Adams at shortstop, as well as moundmen John Morrison and Jeff Taylor, will accompany the Adray team on its Eastern trip, the result of which will be the championship of the All American Amateur Baseball Conference.

The three were chosen as part of a draft system which allows regional candidates to select talent from their surrounding area.

Two teams from Michigan will go to Johnstown. They are Redford, which holds the outstate Adray title, including areas outside of metropolitan Detroit, and Oakland Tool champs of the Detroit area.

Redford tore its outstate honor from the hands of Trustworthy Market on its home field in Lansing Saturday as the local team took both ends of a double hitter, 2-1 and 7-1.

In the first game Adams scored the winning run in the sixth inning when he got on with a single, advanced to second and third on a walk and a sacrifice fly, and came home on a suicide bunt laid down by Kurt Taylor of Redford.

Dale Bejerke worked that victory for Redford.

In the second game, Creig Main started on the mound but was quickly chased by Trustworthy batsmen.

Jeff Taylor relieved in the second with the bases loaded and two outs. He struck out the third batter and pitched

Handicapped Enjoy Proud Lake Outing

It was one of those sticky, sweaty summer days but under the tall pines at the Proud Lake Day Camp area some 28 children of various ages played or worked happily in the cool pine-scented air. For some, this was their first camping experience for these youngsters ranging in age from four to 14 are mentally retarded.

Their handicaps weren't especially noticeable as they played games with camp aids and counselors or tried archery with the help of a willing teacher. Maybe the arrow did fall a little short—but doesn't everyone's the first time?

The children, well supervised, are taking part in the seventh annual two-week session of Camp Courage, a camp for the mentally retarded children of Oakland County, co-sponsored by Northern Oakland County Girl Scouts and Special Education Parents' Unit, Walled Lake.

Two area residents are among the 13 adults and nine teenagers who are serving as counselors this year. Mrs. George (Ruth) Carter of South Lyon is recording her third year as canoe and nature specialist. Rosemary Cleveland of Novi is an assistant counselor with the trainable group of children.

Camp programs include development of campcraft skills (including cooking), hiking, and nature crafts, fishing, archery, canoeing, and songs and games. Activities are varied to suit the interests and abilities of the children attending, with the general objectives to help the children develop an appreciation of the outdoor world and to learn to work together with other children.

"We have plenty of volunteer workers," Mrs. Carter said. "We need more children. We try to give them the same program as at a regular camp and they really seem to enjoy it." This year besides her canoeing duties, Mrs. Carter is in charge of the equipment and arts and crafts supplies.

She and several other counselors also are providing some extra recreation for their teenage helpers. The youths had a canoe trip Thursday to the falls of the Huron River on which the day camp is located. A cook out supper topped the evening.

An overnight campout, cookout and program for parents is slated for today (Thursday) as Camp Courage concludes for another year. Next year the goal of counselors—more kids and more fun.

Bonnie Schieferstein was this year's camp director with Vicki Anderson as her assistant. As employees of the Scout Council, they were the only paid workers at the camp.

What a lot of ten-year-olds are wearing this year.

Thousands of children afflicted with Muscular Dystrophy must wear braces. Muscular Dystrophy destroys healthy muscle and replaces it with useless fat. After some time the child's muscles become so wasted that even braces will no longer support him. Later, he won't have the strength to sit in a wheelchair. Eventually, he won't be able to feed himself or even turn over in bed. His weakness leaves him so vulnerable to colds, pneumonia, or other complications he rarely survives maturity.

Scientists are beginning to penetrate the mystery of this tragic disease. Today there is some hope for the children who must wear these braces every day. That hope lies in MDAA's massive research program.

Only your contributions keep it going. Give generously.

Fight Muscular Dystrophy. Help them grow up.

Gals Capture Tourney Crown But Boys Dumped in Playoffs

Northville girls grabbed the championship in the Livonia Class 'E' (15 and under) Tournament Thursday but Northville boys took it on the chin in class 'E' and 'F' divisions of the Inner City playoff earlier in the week.

VFW Post 4012 went against Dearborn in class 'E' last week Monday and emerged nursing a 5-3 defeat. Anger Manufacturing lost hopes of class 'F' honors as Roseville dumped them 9-4 last week Tuesday.

Northville's girls dumped the Twins 11-3 in a game that saw local bats explode for 20 hits, while Barb Wilson, Northville pitcher, limited the Twins to eight hits.

Northville collected nine of its runs in two big innings the first and the fifth.

In that first inning, with two out, Sheila Corcoran kicked off a rally with a dribbling single that led to four runs off two more singles and a double by Cathy Ashby.

Things were fairly quiet until the third when a two run homer by Sheila Corcoran accounted for the fifth and sixth Northville runs.

In the fifth, two singles, a walk and two doubles — one each by Terry Durham and Terry Lapham — pushed across five runs and cemented the tournament crown.

In the Inner City tournament Northville's boys were less fortunate. The VFW effort was highlighted by a first inning homer smashed by Mark Grigg that gave the local nine an early 2-0 lead. The edge was short-lived, however, as Dearborn batsmen nicked Bart Taylor for nine hits, including two doubles and a triple.

Tim Baxter Fires

Ace at Brooklane

Tim Baxter, of 2038 Lexington, in Northville, aced the third hole at Brooklane Golf Course last week Tuesday.

The third hole is a 125 yard par 3 and Baxter used a seven iron to sink his tee shot.

He was playing with his wife Ester.

Anger Manufacturing fell to Roseville in a game marked by only two run producing innings for the local nine.

John Boland started that game and went five innings, allowing six runs on seven hits with two walks and eight strike-outs. Tom Cook relieved in the sixth. He gave up one hit, one walk and struck out one.

Anger's power turned on in the third when batsmen got on through a single and a fielder's choice and came around on Jim LaPlante's double and John Boland's RBI single.

The sixth saw the close of Northville's scoring effort as Doug Wilkins knocked in two runs with a single that left him stranded.

Snyder Splits With Shubell In Babe Ruth

Second place J. R. Snyder split with cellar-dweller Albers Shubnell in the finale of Babe Ruth action in Novi last week.

Snyder took Shubnell 10-5 last week Tuesday but Shubnell got itself together the next day and returned the compliment by an identical score.

The difference was pitching. In the first game Snyder hurler Gary Staub fanned eight, walked four and allowed six hits, handing the loss to a pitching combination made up of Dave Piotrowicz and Brian Wroten who between them gave up nine hits and one walk, but struck out only two for Shubnell.

The second game was different. Eric Hansor went the distance for Shubnell against three Snyder hurlers: Larry Taylor, Mike Summer and Tom Ford. Shubnell and Snyder each nicked the other for seven hits but Hansor fanned four while the Snyder combination struck out none. Snyder batsmen got eight walks compared to Shubnell's four but couldn't turn the trick.

In that second game, nothing Shubnell could put up went past first base, but nine runs came across in the first two innings on five singles, two fielder's choices, three walks and a stolen base.

Snyder scored two in the first and closed its tally in the fourth. Its only extra-base hit came in the third when Tom Shillito doubled and got stranded.

In the first game Snyder backed up its pitching with consistent hitting as it pushed men across in the first, third, fourth and fifth innings.

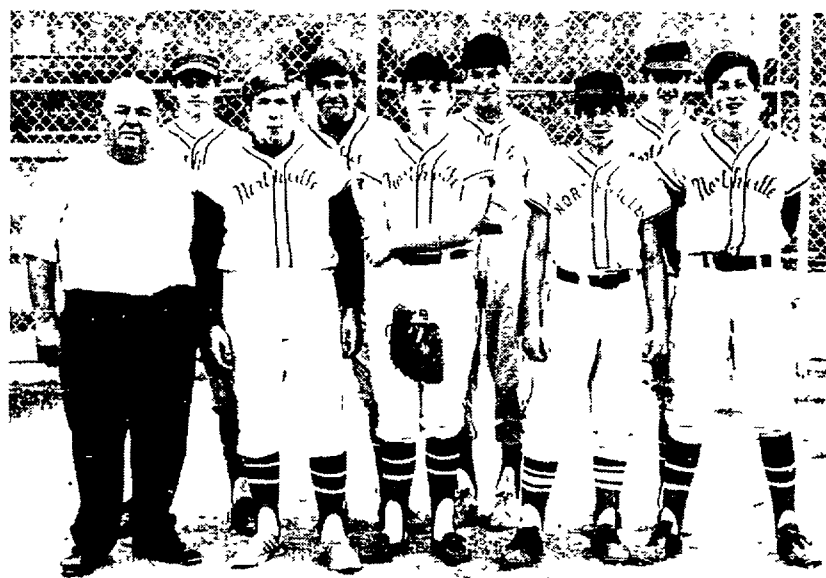

Gary Colton accented the first with a triple that knocked in one run. In the third Snyder batsmen went on to score six runs on walks and singles plus a lone double by Gary Colton. In the fourth and fifth Snyder closed its tally with three runs coming in on three singles and a fielder's choice.

Defeats Liberty Twice

Wixom Takes Softball Title

Wixom Athletics put the freeze on Liberty Tool in the first two games of a three-game playoff last week and iced the league championship in the Walled Lake Industrial Men's Softball League.

Champions in the East division by virtue of playoffs held two weeks ago, the Athletics defeated Western Champions Liberty Tool in two decisive contests, 10-5, and 9-6, last Monday and Wednesday.

Tom Burke handled mound duties for Wixom in both contests allowing nine hits in the first and eleven in the second. He gave up one walk and struck-out one in that first game but failed to fan any Toolers, or walk any, in the second contest.

In that first game, Wixom followed Liberty's big fifth inning, in which it collected all five of its runs, in the seventh by loading the bases.

Dave Byrd went to the plate in the bases loaded situation and cracked a triple to score three men.

The final tally came home when Bill Graigle drove in Byrd with a single that left him stranded on base.

Terry Jadzinski socked another triple for Wixom in a third inning effort that left him on base.

Duke Gardella took the loss for Liberty giving away 21 hits and one walk while fanning one man.

In the second game the Tool tried harder against Wixom but didn't quite make it to the 10 run mark it would have needed to win.

Wixom's consistent scoring through the second, fourth, fifth and sixth innings bombed Liberty put the game out of Liberty's reach.

Jadzinski smashed a homer for the Athletics in the fifth, forcing a man ahead of him, making Wixom's big power play of the night. Nothing else got past first base.

For Liberty, Bob Sample topped the effort with a triple that forced in two men in the first inning. Other scoring came in the second and sixth.

All-Stars Fall, 5-2

To UAW Local Friday

The Walled Lake All-stars met their match Friday at the hands of UAW local 157 as the local squad went down to a 5-2 defeat in a game marked by stellar performances by both teams.

Bob Turgin for UAW and John Lundquist for Walled Lake supplied the batting punch for their respective teams.

Season Opener

Set for Colts

Three divisions of Northville junior footballers will kick off their season for the third consecutive year Saturday, September 12 against the Westland Jets, association officials announce this week.

The Northville Colts will play in three divisions: freshman, junior varsity and varsity — all under the direction of the Western Suburban Junior Football League.

The program is for boys ages nine through twelve and includes teams from the Ann Arbor, Romulus, Livonia and Northville areas.

Harry Webster, director of the Northville Junior Athletic Association, Colt sponsors in the program, explains that 110 local boys will take part and that the program is designed to provide proper playing fields, the best protective equipment, and competent instruction.

The opening games will be held at Northville High School, with the freshman contest beginning at 5:30, the junior varsity at 6:45 and the varsity at 8 p.m.

All games are free and open to the public.

Turgin pushed across three of 157's five runs on a triple and two singles, while Lundquist knocked in both of the Walled Lake runs with a single in the third and a double in the fifth.

Bud Bretz took the loss for Walled Lake, matching UAW's performance with an eight-hit, no-walk, no strike-out record.

Walled Lake's two tallies came in the third, when Fred Koby got on with a single and came home on Lundquist's steam; and in the fifth, when John Dawe got on with a single, was pushed to third by a Koby double, and came home on Lundquist's double.

Turgin led UAW's hitting attack with a triple in the first that resulted in the first UAW tally, a single in the third that eventually put him in scoring position for the second, and another single in the fifth that set up the third UAW tally.

AT DE HO CO — Firemen from Plymouth and Salem Townships battled a blaze Monday, that despite their efforts, destroyed an entire crop of hay in two hours. The fire occurred in a Detroit House of Correction building off Five Mile Road where workers had been storing hay for just under a month, according to prison superintendent W. H. Bannan. The fire, of unknown origin, was reported early Monday morning but was still smoldering Tuesday afternoon. "It won't be completely out until we get a bulldozer and spread it out on the field," Bannan said. A pumping rig from the Detroit Fire Department was dispatched Monday night and poured water into the building all night but failed to extinguish the blaze. No one was injured.

Over Contract College Teachers See Serious Split

Despite optimistic reports by the Schoolcraft College Board negotiating team, faculty representatives claimed this week that "serious differences" on major issues still remain unresolved with only one week remaining prior to the scheduled opening of the fall semester.

Among the reported unresolved points are the teaching load, civil rights for teachers, the treatment of probationary status instructors, and divisional chairmen.

"We feel that the board's position on these issues is regressive and certainly not in the best interests of Schoolcraft teachers," said Oscar Poupart, Faculty Forum chief negotiator. "Nevertheless, we shall continue to make every effort to reach an equitable, reasonable settlement before August 24."

Poupart noted that such efforts were "made more difficult" when the board "unilaterally attempted to resolve the divisional chairman question by arbitrarily abolishing the position."

"In our opinion," said Poupart, "such action is an attempt to tamper with the structure of the bargaining unit and to circumvent the bargaining process. We will resist such attempts through all the legal channels at our disposal."

Filing of unfair labor practice charges against the college board with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission was made on Friday, Poupart revealed.

Also at issue is the question of salaries. Serious talks on a salary schedule within the range of other metropolitan community college salary schedules began Thursday, but at this point, the issue remains unsettled, said Poupart.

In line with the Forum's unanimous spring decision to await a ratified master contract before returning to work, a "faculty crisis committee" has been established to plan and coordinate activities to be used in the event that such a commitment must be exercised, he said.

The Forum is scheduled to meet tomorrow at 3.30 p.m. to hear a final negotiating report and to decide on "an appropriate course of action."

several plan changes, including the commission suggested use of reclaimed brick to enhance the colonial-contemporary design.

The property is already properly zoned, so with the site plan approval in hand DiMatteo expects little delay in beginning construction. The lot includes 94 feet frontage on Main Street.

The restaurant will face east and a 28-car parking lot. Of brick construction on all sides, the building will be accented with redwood paneling and a small amount of stone masonry, and it will include wide expanses of windows.

Plans submitted to the commission call for a seating capacity of 66 persons in booths and counter areas. It will not provide drive-in restaurant facilities.

MAYBURY INSPECTION — Frank Bennet of the Wayne County Planning Commission points out roads and other features of the Maybury Sanatorium property to James Hayne, parks division of the State Department of Natural Resources (on his right), during an inspection of the property Thursday morning. Hayne was making a preliminary survey to determine if the property meets qualification for part of the $25 million allocated state-wide for park development in urban areas. Looking on (far left) are Frank Ollendorff, Northville city manager; Carl Pursell, Wayne County commissioner; C. L. Porter, parks and recreation supervisor for Wayne County; Russ Chambers, real estate supervisor for the City of Detroit; and (far right) Gunnar Stromberg, Northville Township supervisor. Ollendorff expressed doubt later that Northville will get part of the state money for park development. Hayne, said the manager, noted that only $4 million of the $25 million is to go to the Detroit area, and already eight projects recommended by the county and projects by several other "groups" are being considered.

Two Stabbed In Gang Fight

A fight between Detroit and South Lyon youths which erupted around midnight Saturday night at a "beer party" in a field in Green Oak Township culminated in two stabbings and two beatings, according to South Lyon Police Sergeant Don Fletcher. At least three Detroit teenagers or older youths were taken by ambulance to Mt. Carmel Hospital in Detroit. Names of victims and those involved in the fracas were withheld by State Police of the Brighton Post. A total of 30 to 40 kids were at the beer party, according to reports.

State Trooper Patrick Dean said Monday night that no arrests were made and none were anticipated through his department. "If there are arrests it will have to be from charges brought through the prosecutors office," he added. Dean said the youths involved on both sides were too drunk for the police to obtain coherent stories on the incident.

Dean said the site of the action, a field on the east side of Rushton Road about a quarter of a mile north of Nine Mile Road was strewn with broken beer bottles and that several youths had scratches on chests and hands. He said no knives were found although one boy had what appeared to be a stab wound in the kidney area of his back.

"It was about a half inch long puncture and could have been a knife wound or may not have been," Dean explained.

Reportedly another youth had a puncture wound in the stomach. No report on the condition of any of the youths was available at press time.

"It was young kids and beer," Sgt. Fletcher said. "No one will say how the fight started but apparently the Detroit group broke in on a local party." Age of the youths was estimated to be from 16 to 22.

South Lyon Police became involved when the youths brought the wounded into the city to obtain aid. State Police were called as back up and sent three cars containing six troopers.

"Including onlookers, there were probably about 200 persons in the downtown area at the height of the thing," Fletcher noted. Fletcher and new patrolman Mike Miller were riding double patrol at the time the incident occurred.

"Nothing was out of control", Fletcher added. "No one disobeyed a direct order from a policeman." There were, he admitted, perhaps three fist fights in town during the uproar. "I broke one up with a billy club. It all looked worse than it was," he commented.

Fletcher added that while police were trying to bandage the injured they were sometimes surrounded by as many as 10 or 20 youths but were in no danger. "There was a lot of yelling because everyone wanted to tell their story."

Birtles Named Plant Manager

Appointment of Ronald J. Birtles as plant manager of the Formsprag Company, facility in Mt. Pleasant, was announced last week by Robert C. Buhl, works manager of the Formsprag Company in Warren.

Birtles is a former Northville resident and son of Herman Krautera of Rayson Street. He graduated from Northville High School.

In his new position Birtles will be responsible for all manufacturing, production control, and procurement at the plant. He succeeds Buhl, who previously held the position.

Birtles joined Formsprag in 1967 as a project engineer. Before that he had held various project and design engineering positions in the U.S. Army. He is an engineering graduate of the University of Michigan.

Birtles with his wife and four children will move to Mt. Pleasant for this assignment.

Trustees ratified a contract with district secretaries with a salary range of $2.05 per hour for step one clerical one personnel to $3.25 per hour for step eight clerical two personnel.

Resignations of two teachers were accepted by the board, "pending employment of a suitable replacement." Resigning are Mrs. Jeanne Dagher, high school English teacher, and Mrs. Shirley (Cunningham) McCauley, high school journalism teacher.

In other personnel matters, trustees agreed to sponsor a luncheon for all district employees on September 1 and tabled hiring a purchasing agent expediter. Dale said he did not recommend employment of another staff member for the position since "the job is not big enough to warrant a full-time person."

Car Powered by Batteries

Students to Race Cross Country Carrying Hopes for Cleaner Air

Two tons of steel and rubber soon will be purring across the country carrying four college students and, perhaps, the hopes of a pollution-minded society.

The Oakland University students, including Craig Perry of 41140 Park Forest Court in Novi, left Detroit Saturday for Cambridge, Massachusetts, where on Monday they will begin a cross-country six-day clean air race sponsored by the Massachusetts and California Institutes of Technology.

The race is an outgrowth of the Great Electric Car Race of last September sponsored by MIT and Cal Tech in which electric cars built by students were driven to the opponent's campus. But a larger intercollegiate race was envisioned by the two schools, in which superior vehicles could be entered in a well executed race.

Out of those plans came next week's rally-type race intended to encourage students to experiment with forms of propulsion and modification producing a minimum of air pollution, and to arouse interest in pollution among industries and the public.

Craig and his companions, Roy Dudley, Greg Stuk and Greg Mealy, will be driving the heaviest electric car—4,200 pounds complete with batteries—ever built in the United States.

Their car is one of 60 entries, of which seven are electric vehicles. Three other entries from Michigan are internal combustion engines from the University of Michigan and Wayne State University.

Dr. Milton G. Koenig of 46266 Pickford, Northville, an associate professor in WSU's College of Engineering, is supervising Wayne's entry: a modified 1971 Ford Capri powered by a 302 cubic inch engine.

According to Koenig, Wayne's entry boasts catalytic reactors that systematically remove pollutants from the exhaust. Another feature of the car, he explains, is a special carburetor system that permits the burning of lead free fuels.

"The car we have," Koenig says, "meets the 1980 pollution standards set up by the federal government."

Chances are, however, most eyes will be on the unique car that Perry and his companions have assembled.

Their car includes a differential, transmission and brake assembly salvaged from "a junk Corvair we bought for $75 in Pontiac," explains the Novi youth. Its electric engine is powered by 24 six-volt batteries each producing 290 amps.

An ordinary car's electrical system is powered by a 12-volt, 60-amp battery.

"You'd have to use two of our batteries to get the right voltage," explains Perry, "but the pack would power a six cylinder Ford three to five times as long as a regular battery."

Perry and his group received a National Science Foundation grant of $8,370, plus $1,500 award from Oakland University. From this they financed their car.

A $50 per week part-time salary for each of the four was provided in the grant.

"If we can build this car on our limited budget," asks driver-mechanic Roy Dudley, "and run it coast to coast, why can't the automobile industry produce something better?"

To enter the race the car must meet certain standards. It must be able to accelerate from 0 to 45 miles per hour in 15 seconds or less and it must be able to run 60 miles in 90 minutes or less without recharging.

"Our car can do all of that," Dudley beams.

Obtaining insurance for their vehicle was difficult, the youths point out. The policy finally was extended by the same company that insures all the University cars, but approval of the rear end suspension first had to be given by Joy Fair, a recognized expert in structural automotive design and a licensed racer with NASCAR.

The youths are proud of the fact that Fair described their cars as being "built like a tank."

"That was our biggest problem—suspension," says Perry. "With a ton of batteries in the back seat we had to make significant structural changes in the car's suspension system."

"Another problem was parts. Just go into a store and ask for a 400 amp fuse. It's one inch thick and a foot long. Or ask for some wire that will carry a 300-amp charge. You can't get it; lots of stores don't know what it is, or that it's even manufactured. We'd sometimes have to wait two and three weeks for a part."

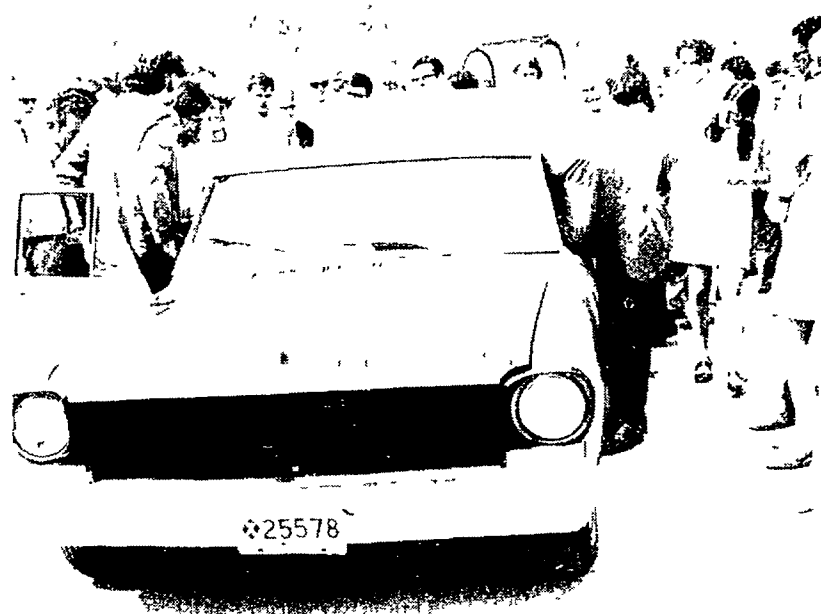

But the often exasperating problems of building the car are past; it was unveiled last week. Monday the race starts.

The youths will drive an average of

And it can be yours NOW.

Senator Sees New Hope for Abortion Law

LANSING — Highly emotional issues involving changes in the law quite often take several years before they can pick up the momentum they need to pass.

Past examples have included such items as open housing legislation, the state income tax and parochial aid.

The latest addition to the list

Love stories come and go. Usually, these days, with paper-backs flooding the market and men like Harold Robbins on the prowl, the story weaves through a whole strata of society, with the actual love story only a thread of the total scene.

Along come Erich Segal. Talented, young, a Harvard man through and through. A story is told to him about a young Harvard graduate and his wife and the tragedy that befalls them. Great Story. You ought to write a novel about it.

So Segal writes the story. Simple, it's appropriately called "Love Story." Romantic, like something out of the 17th century. No James Joyce antics. More like Ernest Hemingway, sparse and to the point. Here's the beginning and here's the end. 131 pages.

But what Segal has fashioned is a polished diamond in the rough about the love of two present-day youngsters. It is the Catcher in the Rye for the Hippie Generation, without the mystic overlay. It's a beautiful "square" story about love that young and old can embrace and understand.

Their names are Oliver Barrett IV and Jennifer Cavillari, Harvard and Radcliffe, respectively. He's from the upper crust, she's from what Barrett calls the "lotsa love Italian-Mediterranean syndrome." From the moment they meet, in the Radcliffe Library, the romance is on. She, the librarian behind the desk, immediately typing him as a prep school grad:

"Wouldja please watch your profanity, Preppie?"

"What makes you so sure I went to prep school?"

"You look stupid and rich," she said, removing her glasses."

"You're wrong," I protested. "I'm actually smart and poor."

"Oh, no, Preppie. I'm smart and poor."

"She was staring straight at me. Her eyes were brown. Okay, maybe I look rich, but I wouldn't let some 'Cliffie—even one with pretty eyes—call me dumb."

"What the hell makes you so smart?" I asked."

"I wouldn't go for coffee with you," she answered."

"Listen—I wouldn't ask you."

"That," she replied, "is what makes you stupid."

of those proposals which waited their turn and then passed may be abortion reform.

When the highly emotional issue was first brought up in the Michigan Legislature a year ago, supporters secretly said it would be three years before there was any action.

The proposal lost last year and lost again this year. It was unable to get out of the Senate either time.

But Senator N. Lorraine

Beebe, R-Dearborn, says the time may be ripe now for victory by abortion reform forces.

"It takes time for an emotional issue such as abortion law reform to be accepted," she says. "You can't forget that just a few years ago the issue was not even discussed in public. We've come a long way in just getting people to realize there is a problem here."

Mrs. Beebe heads the Senate Committee on Health,

Retirement and Social Services. She says the committee will be working this fall and winter on refining the bill that fell one vote short of passage in the Senate earlier this year.

THE DEFEATED bill was sponsored by Senator Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor. It would have permitted Michigan residents to obtain abortions during the first three months of pregnancy for any reason.

The bill would have permitted abortions beyond that period if the woman's physical or mental health were in danger or if there were a "significant" risk that the baby would be defective or impaired.

It also contained a "conscience clause" that would protect doctors or women from having to perform or have abortions against their will.

Bursley already has requested that the abortion bill be the first legislative bill drawn up for the 1971 session.

"We really think we have the best bill in the nation, now, but we will look at it again with the idea of making it even better," he says. "We will be keeping a close eye on New York to see how their law works out."

Bursley said the committee may add a section to the bill which would require the permission of a husband before a wife could obtain the operation. In this year's proposal the permission was optional.

"I really don't have any serious objection to such a provision and if it makes that big of a difference in whether or not we get the votes, I'll go along with the change," he says.

Both Bursley and Mrs. Beebe think they will have the best chance they've had in the past two years of passing the touchy issue next year.

Mrs. Beebe says she was assured of at least two more votes after the election by borderline supporters.

"I think with the elections behind the senators, they will be more likely to vote their conscience than respond to pressure groups," she says.

SHE HAS NO use for the tactic of some women's groups in lobbying against the re-election of some abortion reform opponents solely because of their position on that issue.

"I hope these women will look at the total records of the legislators," she says.

"It's not fair to judge the performance of a man on one issue alone. There are many senators who have supported constructive, progressive programs and still opposed abortion reform."

Since charity is supposed to come with victory, it would appear she really believes she'll get her bill next year.

Babson Report

Discount Outlets Gain Key Retailing Position

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass. — When "discounting" began to get the attention of consumers not too many years ago, the procedure was generally looked down upon by established department and grocery stores. But all that has been changed, and discount outlets have taken their place as one of the principal forces in the entire field of retailing.

It all began shortly after World War II when the great mass migration out of the cities and into the suburbs resulted in a new kind of store—the supermarket. As these emporiums emerged, huge single-story complexes became the norm with adjoining space for enormous numbers of autos. The large chains found that these areas meant higher profits because of more reasonable taxes and quicker turnover. Self-service operations also reduced the need for employees, resulting in the closedown of many marginal urban stores.

FROM THE EARLY food supermarkets which established themselves in outlying suburban areas came the shopping centers that attracted all types of retailers. They were drawn by the realization that customers were beginning to prefer hinterland shopping to that in the crowded cities. Traffic grew heavy, and it was not long before furniture, department, variety, hardware, and practically all kinds of stores were seeking places in the burgeoning shopping centers.

Competition became keener than ever, and rivalry is today as fierce as it has been in the history of marketing. The stamp war was one feature of competition that spread swiftly across the country. There were S & H green stamps, Top Value and Plaid stamps. But it was in the late 1950's that some supermarket and department store operators began to stress lower prices—real cutbacks—instead of give-aways such as stamps. Daily specials, loss-leader sales, regular price revisions—these became the key to successful promotion.

DISCOUNTERS, up to this time rather a segregated group with appeal for a special type of consumer, began to recognize the wisdom of trying for their share of this expanding shopping-center business. So old-time discount houses began to move in and when their technique was seen to be successful, existing department and variety chains adopted the method in more and more localities. Today many department stores still operate traditional outlets, but they frequently discover that the largest part of income is derived from their discount marts. It is a sure thing that most department and variety chains in the near future will be heading almost entirely in the discount direction as they expand their networks.

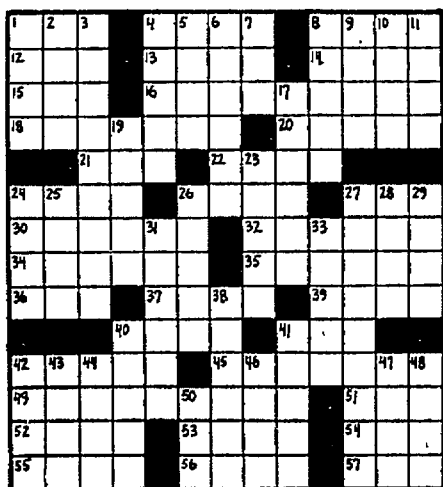

PROOF of discount superiority may be found in basic statistics. For example, in the year 1969 traditional department stores reported sales amounting to $16-$17 billion. Nonfood discounting last year, however—second only to food in the retailing industry—totaled $24-billion in sales... and this despite strikes within the industry in addition to labor problems in the trucking and wholesale fields. It is estimated that nonfood discounting employs some 800,000 people even though personnel in this line are held at an absolute minimum... revealing the spectacular growth in discounting.

Further sharp growth lies ahead, and by 1980, the industry predicts that stores of 1-million-square-feet will not be uncommon. The Research Department of Babson's Reports is of the opinion that there are investment opportunities that should be followed up in discounting. Appearing currently among the more favorable issues for longer-term appreciation are Drug Fair-Community Drug, Pueblo International, and Zayre.

About Our Four Greatest Fools in Town

Glenn Mellott, Minister
Church of Christ, South Lyon

In his many definitions of the word fool, Webster states, a fool is one "who plays the fool; to trifle," also, one who tampers; to waste time."

The Bible has much to say on the subject of fools. The mouth of a fool leads him into trouble and pain, destruction and damnation. "A fool's lips enter into contention and his mouth calleth for strokes. A fool's mouth is his destruction, and his lips are the snare of his soul." Pro. 18:6-7. These characteristics and more are seen in the Four Greatest Fools in Town. These four fools are;

1. One who says, "there is no God."

The theory of evolution, "which is the speculative part of a science," is being taught and believed as fact. The idea, (theory) is being shown over television, and is being taught in many degrees in our schools. Evolution teaches that all things come by chance and that there is no God whom the Bible declares created all things. David states, "The fool has said in his heart there is no God." Ps. 14:1.

Taking God out of our lives, leaves man on the same level as the beasts and animals of the field. Man then would have no soul only animal instincts, and living in this depraved state, as animals without soul or hope of future life, man has lowered himself to the point of chaos at which he now stands.

But with the eye of faith, and true reason, man can both see the works of God in nature and know there is a God who created all things. "The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth his handywork." Ps. 19:1.

2. One who puts all trust in himself.

If one follows the idea of evolution long enough he will soon come to see man as indispensable. Some who believe this theory have stated that "man has evolved into his own savior," and thusly needs no God only himself. Solomon tells us, "he that trusteth in his own heart is a fool." Pro. 28:26.

When men turn God out of their lives and trust only in themselves, they of course come to think all their ways are right, this is the thinking of a fool. "The way of a fool is right in his own eyes." Pro. 12:15.

We need to hearken unto the counsel of God's word and return unto him who made us in his own image. The only way man can redeem himself from the mess he has made for himself, is to return to God. "The way of man is not in himself: it is not in man that walketh to direct his steps." Jer. 10:23, Eph. 5:15-18.

3. One who thinks he stands. (Self Righteous)

I have arrived, I have achieved, I have accomplished. I have life and heaven secured. This fool should read I Cor. 5:15-18.

4. One who thinks he stands. (Self Righteous)

I have arrived, I have achieved, I have accomplished. I have life and heaven secured. This fool should read I Cor. 5:15-18.

fall." No one can stand without God.

This kind of person trusts in their personal feeling rather than what God has said. They say, "I feel in my heart I am right even if the Bible does say otherwise," again they have said, "I wouldn't take a whole stack of Bibles for what I feel in my heart." Now listen to Solomon, "He that trusteth his own heart is a fool." Pro. 28:26, again, "Trust in the Lord with all thy heart; and lean not unto thy own understanding." Pro. 3:5. Read of the rich man who left God out of his plans and lost his soul. Luke 12:16-20.

4. The fourth and no doubt the greatest fool in town is one who puts off salvation.

To you who read this article, let me close with this thought, there is a God. Even though man in his much learning can't find him there is a God. He is not a God of chance, but the God of order and plan. God desires you to put off your own self righteousness and obey his plan of salvation. God asks us all to put our trust in him and obey his commands.

God's plan for saving man kind is simple and plain. He tells us to;

1. Hear his word. Rom. 10:17.

2. Believe his word and in his son. Heb. 11:6.

3. Repent of our sins. Mark 1:15.

4. Confess Christ before men. Matt. 10:32.

5. Be buried in baptism for the remission of sins Rom. 6:4.

WHEREVER WE LIVE

Harold assured Davie and Tommy that moving day did not mean the end of life for us. In fact, we were not going to the end of the earth. Many people would still be around us. Of course, not our same favorite people . . . whom we will keep on loving even though we don't see them . . . but new friends who would find places in our lives.

And that's the way it happened.

Our new neighbors opened their hearts to us. Our boys brought school friends home with them to play and sometimes to eat dinner.

Best of all, our family found a new church home — among people who welcomed us because they loved God. Anywhere we go in our country, there is always a church where we can worship with other people.

You, too, can find one wherever you move—and right where you are now.

Out of the Horse's

Mouth

Send your questions, comments, and horse show news to "Horse's Mouth," care of The South Lyon Herald, South Lyon, Mi 48178.

The following is the prayer of a horse, a humble plea of a proud creature, which was found in an old stable in England. Let it be written into the hearts of all of us: "Beloved Master!

Provide me with food and drink and care for me, and, when the work of the day is done, give me shelter, a clean place to rest, and not too small a space in thy stable! Talk to me, for often thy voice will take the place of the bridle. Be good to me, and I shall serve thee even more gladly and cherish thee.

Tear not on the rein, nor reach for the whip on a rising grade, do not beat me or kick me when I fail to understand thee, but give me time to grasp thy intentions. Do not judge me to be disobedient if I should be slow to do thy bidding.

And when the end draws near, beloved master, when I can no longer be of use to you, I beg thee, do not let me starve and freeze, and do not sell me. Do not abandon me to a strange master who will slowly torment me to death, but be kind enough, my Lord and Master, to give me a speedy and compassionate death, and God will reward thee, here and forever.

Let me ask this of thee, and do not believe that I lack reverence if I ask this in the name of Him who was born in a stable

Amen."

Sunday, Aug. 23, there will be an open horse show at the Belleville Fair grounds.

Susan Altman, formerly of Northville and now a resident of Hartland, won: fitting and showmanship, western pleasure and western horsemanship in the senior division at the Livingston County Achievement Day, Saturday, August 8. She was showing her Appaloosa gelding, "Hannibal." Susan also took a fourth in reining in the senior division.

Several South Lyon and Whitmore Lake residents were among the winners of the 1970 Washtenaw County 4-H Youth Show held at the Rural Activities Center on Saline-Ann Arbor Road.

The Michigan Consolidated Gas Award was given to Kelly Love of Whitmore Lake.

Denise Fallot, Gary Cole, and Mark Fallot of South Lyon each placed in leathercrafts. The Michigan State Fair Community Arts awards was awarded to Debbie Bakker of Whitmore Lake, who also won in the State Show. Gay Hannan of South Lyon placed in the prose competition.
