

Major Pollutant: Domestic, Not Industrial Waste

Water's So Bad Here Even Wading is Hazardous

If you are permitting your youngster to wade in Northville area streams or lakes you could be jeopardizing his health.

Although state and county officials aren't issuing any general warnings, their tests and findings over the past four years, while inconclusive, suggest that the Middle Rouge, its branches and adjoining lakes are "contaminated" beyond acceptable limits for body contact.

Questioned by this newspaper Thursday and Friday, officials at two offices of the State Water Resources Department and officials of the Wayne County Division of Environmental Health admitted the water is "not good" but their own criteria for water condition indicates the water is bad and, in fact, polluted.

Swimming and diving is out of the question, they agreed.

Asked for a list of diseases that could result from wading in polluted water, a county health officer said it is unlikely that any disease would result unless a youngster happened to swallow some water or if an open cut came in contact with the water. Even then, it could not be stated definitely that a youngster has a greater chance of getting sick than he might if he drank bad water elsewhere, he said.

Pressed for an answer, however, he indicated that while it is unlikely a youngster could possibly pick up some form of typhus, dysentery, or even hepatitis.

"Just because of water exceeds criteria for body contact, does not necessarily mean the water is hazardous to health," he added.

Most serious and widespread pollutant is sanitary sewage waste—and not industrial waste as some citizens have suggested, officials emphasized. And causes cannot be attributed to any "one, two or three" locations, they agreed, but rather "it's a problem all along the river."

While they did not elaborate, they indicated steps are being taken at the county and state levels to increase investigation and to develop satisfactory correctional programs. One of these suggested solutions apparently includes plans for extending lines and increasing sewer interceptor capacities in Wayne and Oakland counties, one official said.

The Record found, however, in speaking with officials at state and county levels, that they are not fully aware of POLLUTION TESTS — Barney Wagar (left) and Richard Kaiser, officials with the Wayne County Air Pollution Control Division, set up testing devices Friday on and near the Mergraf Oil Company as a means of verifying and identifying "rotten eggs" odors.

Air Pollution Charged

Rotten Egg Smell Wrinkles Noses

Air pollution, explained the Wayne County Health Department this past week, not only can sting the eyes and congest the lungs but it can wrinkle noses, too.

And right here in Northville insist citizens—and police—there's a "rotten-egg" smell floating around that would make even a defective nose quiver.

"If it disturbs people it's pollution," declared spokesmen for the county's Air Pollution Control Division, which last week cited Mergraf Oil Company of Northville for "permitting the escape of offensive odors."

The violation, according to the county, occurred on Monday, August 17. But complaints of smells have been reported periodically for more than a year.

Numerous such complaints are filed with the police department—and they've been made by some people who live a half-mile or more from Mergraf's plant located at 175 Railroad, on the east side of the C&O tracks opposite the historic town well.

For example, on August 29, 1969, Hurd Sutherland of 418 West Dunlap was one of several citizens who complained of an offensive smell late that afternoon.

Furthermore, Consumers Power Company was notified of a "gas odor" but upon investigation found the odor was "sulfur" and not gas and that it was heaviest in the north and west sections of the town.

Out of those complaints came a court summons. But on September 30 the case was adjourned without a date.

A month earlier, a similar complaint of odors in the Beal-Johnson street area led to a court summons but it, too on July 22 was adjourned without date.

Court spokesmen said no dates were set because Jack Swain had indicated steps were being taken to correct the situation.

Last month another summons was issued to Swain, major Mergraf stockholder, to appear in court August 11. Swain pleaded not guilty and trial was set for October 20. Specifically, Swain is charged with violating an ordinance that prohibits emission of odors which are generally agreed to be obnoxious to any considerable number of people at their places of residence or work.

The violation notice issued by the county says Mergraf permitted "the escape of offensive odors from pumping water on the ground from an oil settling pond."

"It is your responsibility to determine why this violation occurred and to take the necessary steps to prevent its recurrence," reads the county violation notice sent Swain August 18.

"A permit for the alteration or addition of air pollution control equipment is required from this division," the notice continues. "A written report must be submitted within 30 days stating what steps you are taking to comply with the regulation."

"It's ironic that we (Mergraf) should be cited for air pollution when really ours is a pollution control business," Swain told the Record. "We're refining oils that otherwise would be dumped or burned to become a major pollutant."

According to Swain, since reports first started coming in about offensive odors, more than $30,000 worth of special equipment has been installed to eliminate odor-making Mergraf one of the nation's refinery leaders in control of odor. Even so, added Swain, additional steps (installation of some $20,000 worth of stainless steel pipe and another cooling condenser) are now being taken to prevent even small emissions.

Commenting on the county's violation citation, Swain explained that School Shaves Millage; Unprecedented in State

In a move unprecedented by any other school district in the state, Northville board of education unanimously approved a tax levy of 33.9 mills for 1970-71 — 2.25 mills under the authorized levy and one mill less than last year.

Though the school district is authorized to levy a total of 36.15 mills, only 33.9 mills will be levied to meet the near $3 million budget. The budget will be reviewed at a public hearing September 14.

According to Earl Busard, business manager, the millage reduction is possible because "state aid per pupil remained at $232.30 while our state equalized valuation of the school district has increased 23-per cent, up to $74,908,195 from $60,908,379."

By itself the SEV increase means a single mill will produce an additional $15,000. A mill last year produced approximately $60,000 and a mill this year, based on the new SEV, will yield $75,000.

The total millage last year was 34.9 — 27.9 mills for operation and 7 mills for debt retirement. Under the state school bond program, the district this year will be required by law to levy 7.25 mills for debt retirement. A reduction in the operating millage to 26.65, bringing the total millage to 33.9. Breaking down the operational millage, 8.9 comes from the county and 17.75 is voted.

Even with a decrease in millage, the school district will collect $2,539,385, an increase of $413,683 over last year's tax yield of $2,125,702.40, Busard explained.

Also, he said the district has "picked up" a mill lost last year at the Wayne County Tax Allocation Board table.

Last year the allocation board permitted the district to levy 7.9 mills in the township, 8.9 mills in the city. The district decided to levy 7.9 mills in both the city and township. This year the county allocation to the district "across the board" is 8.9, the same rate the district received two years ago. Thus, the total authorized millage in the district this year is 36.15.

But when tax bills go out the decrease in millage is not likely to be reflected in the total tax figure, generally speaking, officials explain, since tax bills will most likely increase more than the one mill decrease.

Responding to questions from trustees, Superintendent Raymond Spear said the "educational program in the district will not be jeopardized because of the millage reduction and the loss of about $150,000 through millage not levied."

New programs have been added this year while physical education, art and remedial reading teachers, dropped from elementary schools in 1968, have been reinstated, Spear explained.

"We could have cut the millage to 32.9" Spear said, "if it had not been for the Supreme Court decision on free textbooks." Approximately $75,000 will be spent by the district (one mill) through providing textbooks, paper, pencils and other materials required by the ruling.

"We can operate a sound educational program with the 33.9 mill levy," Spear commented.

Responding to questions concerning the discontinuation of instrumental music at the fifth grade level Spear said it was "not because of lack of funds but rather lack of adequate staff. I do not think the district is large enough to require a third full-time instrumental music teacher at present."

Spear also said the Supreme Court decision requires school districts provide band instruments to students interested in instrumental music.

"This results in approximately a $200 expenditure per student," he explained. "The ramifications of the ruling will be studied during this year. We will be offering instrumental music in grades six through 12 this year. We will have to make some decision next year when fifth graders become sixth graders and the district will have to purchase additional instruments if band is to be offered during school hours for credit."

Even with rising operational costs, administrative and teacher salary increases and most significantly, the additional cost of supplying textbooks and supplies that formerly were paid for by students, the district will be able to decrease millage to 33.9, 2.25 mills less than what they are authorized to levy, without jeopardizing the educational program of the 3,202 students in the district.

THREE Northville residents will be attending the Republican State Convention tomorrow and Saturday at Cobo Hall as official delegates. Elected as delegates at the district GOP convention in Plymouth were Dr. Robert Geake, 48525 West Eight Mile Road; E. O. Weber, district chairman, 20360 Woodhill Drive; and Lawrence Wright, 40241 Fairway III Drive. Four from Plymouth were elected delegates, and seven from Plymouth were chosen as alternates.

EXPRESSING DISAPPOINTMENT, County Commissioner Carl Pursell told The Record that last week's hearing on what should be done with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department (abolish, alter, or expand it) was attended by representatives of only three municipalities (Northville Township was one of the three) and the resulting discussions were too inconclusive to suggest the kind of action needed. Instead, Pursell recommended that the commission committee hold another hearing—placing emphasis on the importance of municipal participation—at a time and date when more officials can attend. The date of this second hearing has not yet been set.

FOLLOWING the lead of the city council, the Northville Area Economic Corporation voted last week to hold open the sale of the Main-Wing street property for a three-month period to give the developer, Richard McManus, time to prepare plans and to show satisfactory progress on his proposal for commercial-office development of the property. Also, the corporation approved the sale of its property to the city at cost $98,283, less one-half the profit accrued through rentals at the time the property is sold to the developer.

STUDY OF PROPOSED city charter changes recommended by the council-appointed charter committee began this week by council members following a meeting Monday night with the committee headed by Chairman John Canterbury. Council must now decide if all or some of the suggested changes should be placed on a future ballot for public approval or disapproval. The committee's number one recommendation suggests that the charter specifically provide for the manager-council form of government. Presently, this form of government is provided by ordinance — not by charter.

Ambler-Smeed Vows Said by Candlelight

In a candlelight setting of pink and white flowers, Diane Kay Ambler became the bride of Robert Dale Smeed Saturday, August 8 at the First United Methodist Church of Northville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Ambler of 47033 Timber Lane, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Smeed of Three Rivers.

Performing the 6:30 p.m. ceremony were the Reverend Guenther Branstner, pastor of the church, and the Reverend S.D. Kinde of Clio, former pastor here.

Organ music was provided by Mrs. Richard Somers, while Daniel Smith, friend of the bride, sang "More", and Fred Kendall, uncle of the bride and former soloist star for Radio Station WJR, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white organza floor-length gown with a self train. It featured a bodice of Venice lace and a pink satin waistband. A shoulder length veil of net was accented with white daisies. She carried a white basket of pink and white roses, mums and daisies.

Nancy Ambler, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, wearing a floor-length gown with a full navy chiffon skirt and white organdy long sleeve bodice with a pink satin waist band. She carried a white basket with blue and white flowers.

Bridesmaids, who wore similar gowns, were Roxanne Casterline and Lynn Kendall, both cousins of the bride, and Sandy Forth and Carol Jameson, friends of the bride.

John Brackett of Three Rivers, friend of the bridegroom, was the best man, and serving as usher were Rick Ambler, brother of the bride, Jeff Smeed, brother of the bridegroom, Greg Pappas, and Arthur Forth.

Honored guests at the wedding were the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. R. S. Atchison and Mrs. Sherrill Ambler her 100-year-old great grandmother Mrs. Mark Ambler, and the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Dale Morgan of South Haven.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Botsford Inn in Farmington, with some 180 guests attending.

For her wedding trip to Myrtle Beach in South Carolina, the bride chose a pink linen sleeveless dress with navy accessories.

The newlyweds, both of whom will be attending Central Michigan University this fall, will be living in Mt. Pleasant.

Tickets Ready For Home Tour

Thursday, September 24 is shaping up as a pretty big day for women of the Northville area.

The fourth annual local homes tour is slated for that day, sponsored by the Presbyterian Women's Club. The tour, which will include visits to five homes, will begin at 10 a.m. at the First Presbyterian Church. Tickets may be purchased then for $1.50 each.

The tour will run until 4 p.m. with a break for lunch from 11-2.

Also on tap for the 24th is a bake sale, sponsored by women of the United Methodist Church, and an antique and flea market sale at the home of Mrs. Thomas Sechler, 404 Dunlap. The Presbyterian Women's Club is sponsoring the sale.

Owners of homes on the tour agenda for this year include Dr. and Mrs. Charles B. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Bauss, Mr. and Mrs. John VanTine, Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Ellison and Mr. and Mrs. John Beagle.

MRS. DONALD JAMES PRATT

Northville Teacher Wed in Ann Arbor

A Northville school teacher, Kathryn Lynn Schleede, became the bride of Donald James Pratt Saturday afternoon in a double-ring ceremony at Saint Mary's Chapel in Ann Arbor.

Performing the wedding ceremony was the Reverend Joseph Kuntz.

The bride, who teaches second grade at Amerman Elementary School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Schleede of Ann Arbor. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pratt, also of Ann Arbor.

Bouquets of white flowers with pink sweetheart roses and white daisies banked the altar for the ceremony. White pew bows completed the church decorations.

Organ music was provided by John Courter, who played selections by Bach, Frank, Jongen and others. Soloist Miss Cynthia Richards sang "The Lord's Prayer," "The Wedding Song," and "Instrument of Thy Peace."

Julianne Pratt of Seline, the bridegroom's niece, served as flower girl. She wore a long dress of pink dotted swiss and carried a basket of pink and white daisies.

Ralph R. Bozell II of Ann Arbor served as bestman, and ushers were Robert Pratt, brother of the bridegroom, William Anderson and Peter Bick.

Both mothers designed and made their own dresses for the wedding. The mother of the bride wore a pink lattice eyelet dress and coat with a matching brim hat of crocheted straw. Mrs. Pratt wore a navy silk coat and dress ensemble with a navy straw hat.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at Inverness Country Club in Gregory. Approximately 160 guests attended from Michigan, Ohio and New York.

For a wedding trip to Northern Michigan the bride changed into a navy print dress with red accessories.

She earned her B.A. degree at Michigan State and has taught school for two years.

The bridegroom is a secondary teacher at Churchill High School in Livonia. He received a B.A. degree from the University of Michigan.

The couple will make their future home in the Fairbrook Apartments in Northville.

OLV, St. Paul's Open in 2 Weeks

As the lazy days of summer slip away, administrators at Our Lady of Victory and St. Paul's Lutheran School are making final arrangements for the opening of school. Classes at St. Paul's will begin Tuesday, September 8 and at Our Lady of Victory on Thursday, September 10.

Approximately 280 students are expected at OLV according to Principal Joseph Kalwinski.

Students in grades 1-8 will report for a full day of school from 8:40 a.m. to 2:55 p.m. They are asked to go directly to the classrooms which have been pre-assigned to them.

Also children are asked to bring their own lunch to school, but those living near-by may go home for lunch.

In addition to a $12.50 book fee, pupils at OLV will be charged a tuition fee. Tuition is $150 one child and $225 for two or more children coming from families who belong to the parish. For those who don't belong to the parish the fee is $200 for one child and $300 for two or more children.

As in the past girls will be required to wear school uniforms which may be purchased at Braders. Boys are expected to wear a shirt and tie with slacks.

New families to the area who wish to register their child at Our Lady of Victory are asked to call the school at 349-3610. This year the school has adopted the same calendar as the Northville Public Schools.

Teachers at OLV will be: grade one, Sister Jeannine Therese; grade two, Mrs. Dorothy Becker; grade three, Sister Marie Florence; and grade four, Mrs. Mildred Madigan.

Teaching grade five will be Mrs. Virginia Mulligan; grade six, Mrs. Irene Clarke, grade seven, Phillip Schwartz; and grade eight, Sister Rose Genevieve and Sister Siena.

Paul Laboda will direct the music department and Mrs. Sam Kunst is the new librarian.

Meanwhile, classes at St. Paul's Lutheran School will begin two days earlier, with approximately 65 children attending grades one through eight, estimates Kenneth Lehl, school principal.

School will begin with a regular day of classes from 8:30 a.m. to 3:10 p.m., according to Lehl. Pupils will be required to go directly to the homerooms that were pre-assigned to them by mail.

New classes will be offered this year for pre-school and kindergarten-age children at St. Paul's. Children who will be four by December 1 will qualify as preschoolers, and those who will be five by December 1 qualify for kindergarten. The classes will be taught by Mrs. Kenneth Lehl on Monday through Friday from 8:45 to 11:30 a.m.

Linda Lemon Tours Europe

A Northville resident is broadening her knowledge of world cultures by spending three months touring seven European countries.

She is Linda Lemon, of 102 South Rogers.

Miss Lemon received her Bachelor of Arts degree in social work from Michigan State University in March.

She began her tour of Europe on June 25 and will return to the U.S. late in September.

Among the countries Miss Lemon has already visited are England, Germany, France, the Netherlands and Spain. She is now traveling in Italy and will visit Greece and return to England before flying home.

She has visited many of the major European cities including London, Paris, Amsterdam, Madrid and Rome, and she will visit Athens. She has also toured much of the European countryside and has met many interesting Europeans.

Miss Lemon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Lemon. She is a 1966 graduate of Northville High School.

As usual there is no tuition charge for children of church members, Lehl said. Others may enroll for $270 a year. Each child in grade one through eight will be charged a $15 registration fee. However, kindergarten enrollment is free.

All children enrolled in the pre-school program will be charged $10 a week. Students are advised to bring their own lunches to school, although there are tentative plans to start a hot lunch program later this year, Lehl said. There are no uniform or dress regulations.

Anyone wishing to register for the 1970-71 school year at St. Paul's is asked to contact Lehl or the school offices at 349-2568.

Teaching along with Mrs. Lehl will be Mrs. Wayne Loontjer, grades one and two; Wayne Loontjer, grades three through five and Kenneth Lehl, grades six through eight.

Plans for opening a new day-care center in Novi under the name, River Road Children's Nursery, were revealed this past week.

Owned by Mrs. Ruth Pawlowski and under the direction of Mrs. Judy Brenner, the center will be located in the former Methodist Church building at 43489 Grand River. It will employ three teachers.

Licensed, the center will care for children 2½ to 5 years old for full and half days between the hours of 7 a.m. and 6 p.m.

The center will officially open on September 1 but officials are taking applications this week. The center telephone number is 349-6190.

Northville Announces Book Store Hours

Bookstores at Northville High and Cooke Junior have announced hours students may pick up books for the coming school year.

A book deposit of $25 at the senior high level and $15 at the junior high level will be required of all students. The deposit is refundable, according to administrators, when the student graduates from high school or at the end of each school year if requested by parents.

Credit students have at the book store will be credited towards the book deposit.

At Northville High, seniors may obtain books Friday, August 28, from 7:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.; juniors, Monday, August 31, same hours as above; sophomores, Tuesday, September 1, same hours; freshman, Wednesday, September 2, same hours.

Students who are unable to pick up books at the designated times may obtain books on Thursday, September 3, from 7:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Other supplies will be distributed when school begins September 10.

3 Complete Orientation

Three local students are among the 3,400 freshmen who have completed orientation programs at Western Michigan University this month. They are Stephen Jackson and Kathleen Shobe of Novi and Linda Collins of Northville.

Under the guidance of 51 upperclassmen who served as counseling aides, student leaders and residence hall staff members, the freshmen took preliminary tests, toured the WMU campus and had a brief taste of college life for two days at the university.

First classes for the 1970-71 school year at Western Michigan begin at 8 a.m. on Monday, August 31.

Teachers Map Strategy Sunday

With less than a week before the scheduled opening of schools, teacher contract negotiations remained unsettled as the Novi Teachers Association called for a meeting Sunday of all faculty members.

"We'll be reviewing contract talks to date," explained NEA spokesman Milan Obrenovich, "and we'll probably discuss and perhaps take some action on what steps should be taken if the contract is not settled by the opening of school."

The meeting is scheduled at 7 p.m. in the high school commons.

"Right now I'm not very optimistic," said Obrenovich, who along with other NEA bargaining representatives, met from 10 a.m. to 7:15 p.m. Monday with school board representatives, MEA Ellis English, professional negotiating consultant, and Gordon Lee, mediator.

The meeting broke up, said Obrenovich, with little or no progress being made on the yet unsettled issues. These include class sizes, salary, professional improvement, agency shop, staff size reduction procedures, life insurance, and extra duty compensation.

Lee informed the bargaining teams that he will be unable to return to the bargaining table until Tuesday—the day before school is slated to open, Obrenovich said. Unless teachers and the board "can get together without him" talks will not resume until then, he said.

Schools Set to Open In Novi on Wednesday

With Novi Community Schools tentatively set to open Wednesday, September 2, administrators and the Novi Education Association are meeting in mediation this week, hoping to settle the master contract for the 1970-71 school year. Both sides have tentatively agreed on the opening date.

An estimated 1,900 students are expected to return to classes Wednesday for a half-day of school, an increase of 130 students over the number enrolled in June.

Classes are scheduled to begin at 8:05 a.m. for junior and senior high students and continue until noon on Wednesday. Elementary students will report from 9 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. A full-day of classes will be held Thursday and Friday, with regular dismissal times of 2:40 p.m. for junior and senior high and 3:30 p.m. for elementary students.

The hot lunch program will begin Thursday with lunch prices of 40 cents for elementary students, 45 cents for junior and senior high students and 55 cents for adults.

A $15 book rental will be required for all students in kindergarten through twelfth grade, subject to a decision by the attorney general, T. Richard Hendrickson, assistant superintendent, explained.

New students not now enrolled in the Novi schools can register for classes by calling the school they will attend or register during the first day of classes.

Building principals are Roy Williams, Novi Elementary, 26350 Novi Road, (349-2945); Mrs. Ester McDonough, Orchard Hills Elementary, 41900 Quince Drive, (474-0518); Robert Youngberg, junior high, 25549 Taft Road, (349-5155); and Gerald Hartman, senior high, same address and phone number as junior high.

No school has been scheduled for Labor Day, Monday, September 7.

Walled Lake Consolidated Schools will open September 2 with a full day of classes. Approximately 10,700 students are expected to enroll in classes, an increase of 420 over last year.

Students not now enrolled in the Walled Lake district should register daily before 3:30 p.m. at the school they will attend.

UMMM GOOD — Five year old Timmy Geer of 25928 Sierra ignores those around him long enough to take a big hunk of cotton candy. The sugary stuff was only one of the goodies that could be had at the 1970 version of Gala Days. The weekend festival sponsored by the Novi Jaycees and the Novi Chamber of Commerce drew crowds Saturday and Sunday, despite a day long drizzle Saturday.

Citizen Raps Secret Sessions

Quoting from the city charter, Philip Cozaad, 24308 Hampton Hill Road, Monday night questioned the legality of closed Novi council meetings from which press and public are excused.

Speaking during the audience participation section of Monday night's agenda, Cozaad told councilmen: "It states specifically in the charter that all council meetings shall be open to the public and citizens shall have a reasonable opportunity to be heard, and it embarrasses me to be asked to leave."

The Novi Council has held two such meetings in recent weeks — one a meeting requested two weeks ago by County Commissioner Lew Coy to discuss "a matter pertaining to land values," and the other last week reportedly called to discuss questions concerning the Hunter Associate contract for reappraisal work.

Mayor Joseph Crupi explained Monday that the private meeting requested by Coy concerned a proposal for an area-wide hospital. (See related story).

On both occasions the public and press were asked to excuse themselves.

Councilman Denis Berry, in answer to Cozaad mentioned a need for privacy. "There have been in the past, and probably will be in the future," said Berry, "several occasions when we find it necessary to discuss personalities within city government. Rather than embarrass those personalities in the press we'll discuss them in private."

Wixom Seeks Play Talent

Talent is being sought by the Wixom Spectacle Committee.

Gerald Abrams, in charge of the group planning a "spectacular" to depict the Wixom of 100 years ago, announced this week that his group is actively recruiting Wixom residents to perform in the production.

The play, written and directed by the John B. Rodgers company of Fostoria, Ohio, a company specializing in centennial celebrations, will highlight Centennial Week in Wixom October 17-24.

Material for the play will be submitted by the centennial committee and actual direction will be handled by a representative of the Rodgers company who will live in Wixom and handle a cast of local talent.

Abrams encourages anyone interested to contact Mrs. Helen Tillman at 624-5318.

Low Bidders Get Contract For School

Contracts for construction of the Novi Middle School were awarded to low bidders Monday night by unanimous vote of the school board.

The board also voted to provide temporary transportation for children from the Meadowbrook Glenn Subdivision and to set up a memorial scholarship fund in memory of Ellen Louise Lyke.

General contracting work for the middle school was awarded to Harry D. Osgood and Company for $1,313,000. Osgood submitted the low bid out of 13 trade companies whose bidding ranged up to $1,465,000.

Pending final vote on a contractor the board reviewed communication from the United Pacific Company recommending the Osgood Firm. United Pacific stated that Osgood had contracted to build a municipal library in Romulus and three school additions in Rochester with results "100 percent satisfactory."

The Osgood work force of 40 men will be available to begin building the middle school on November 1, it was learned.

Separate contracts for mechanical work and electrical at the middle school also were awarded Monday night. The board voted unanimously to accept the low bids of Evans Plumbing and Heating for $888,000 and the Stecz Electric Company for $232,689.

Also, the board voted to provide temporary transportation for children living in Meadowbrook Glenn Subdivision pending arrangement for adequate safety measures. The decision was made on the advice of Superintendent Thomas Dale following a direct appeal to the board by parents from Meadowbrook Glenn.

"The measures which have been proposed here do not provide for the

Wixom Councilman Resigns

City Councilman Charles McCall, unsuccessful candidate for mayor this past spring, has resigned from the Wixom Council.

The surprise resignation came in a letter to the council at its regular meeting Tuesday night. In the letter he gave "personal and other reasons" for stepping down from the post he has held for the past two years.

The resignation was accepted unanimously.

Mayor Gilbert Willis, who had defeated McCall in the mayoral race to fill the seat of Wesley McAtee, later told this newspaper he had not talked to McCall and had no definite idea of the reasons behind his move.

CHARLES MCCALL

"This hurts particularly bad," said Willis, "because McCall had been working with Robert Case (assistant to mayor) and I on police negotiations."

A replacement will have to be appointed within 60 days, according to City Attorney Gene Schnelz, by a simple majority vote of council. The mayor has issued a request that all those interested in the post submit their names to his office for consideration.

McCall won his council post in 1968, piling up more votes than any other candidate. In April of this year, with two years still to serve on the council, he made his unsuccessful bid for the mayor's post against Willis.

McAtee had retired after eight years in office.

In other council business Tuesday, the council learned of a $10 million multiple housing development tentatively planned in Wixom by Edward Rose and Sons, Detroit developers.

John Shaheen, representative for Rose, gave council members an outline of plans to develop 22 acres at the southwest corner of Pontiac Trail and Beck Road with 1,162 dwelling units.

The units, according to Shaheen, would be owned and leased by the

Professor Enters Novi Police Talks

Mark L. Kahn, economics professor at Wayne State University, has been appointed as the third member of the compulsory arbitration board slated to wrestle with Novi police contract disputes.

Kahn, 49, has his B.A. from Columbia and his M.A. and Ph.D. from Harvard. He has been involved in arbitration since 1952, and has experience in a wide range of fields. He has worked in the airline industry, the brewing and printing industries as well as chemical and automobile parts manufacturing.

"I've probably worked with a total of 450 cases in 18 years," Kahn estimates.

Although he has specialized in airline disputes for the last five years, Kahn feels confident that he is prepared to handle the problem in Novi.

"Basically what I do is make a judicial decision," he says. "And it's made within legal boundaries with consideration given to what one party

Exchange Student Dies in South America

Funeral services will be held Saturday, August 29, at 1 p.m. in Casterline Funeral Home for 18-year-old Ellen Louise Lyke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wardell Lyke, 46300 West 12 Mile Road. Miss Lyke died Saturday, August 22, from injuries received in a motorcycle accident in Recife, Brazil, South America.

Miss Lyke, a 1970 graduate of Novi High School and honor student, was an exchange student in Brazil, having left the United States on June 22.

She was born January 5, 1952, in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and moved to Novi 14 years ago.

She was a member of the student council at Novi High, National Honor Society, having been on the honor roll throughout school, and the Spanish Club.

Miss Lyke was registered to start the fall term at Michigan State University and served as a volunteer at Pontiac State Hospital where she worked as a secretary for the Director of Nursing in Radiology.

Surviving are her parents, her grandmother, Mrs. Geneva Lyke, Copenish; and three sisters, Mrs. William (Rebecca) Maddox, St. Paul, Minnesota; Alison and Jennifer, at home.

Officiating at the services Saturday will be the Reverend Charles F. Boerger, St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Burial will be in Oakland Hills Memorial Park.

Regional Hospital Plan Told

A regional hospital is reportedly planning for this general area according to an announcement made at Novi's regular Council meeting Monday night by Mayor Joseph Crupi.

The project has been undertaken, according to Crupi, by a team of doctors, the majority of which are from Grace Hospital in Detroit. They will form the nucleus of the staff, he said.

The hospital reportedly is planned as a 200-bed unit serving the Bloomfield Hills - Wixom - Walled Lake - Novi - Farmington area.

Development estimates have been placed as high as $10 - 12 million. According to Crupi, a proposed site has been pegged at 12 Mile and Haggerty Road in Farmington township. The area is ideal because of sewer and water facilities that already exist there, said Crupi.

Possible hang-ups in the as yet unsolidified plans could be approval by the Metropolitan Hospital Authority, he indicated.

The MHA, according to Crupi, takes as one of its tasks the placement of hospitals in the metropolitan area, giving consideration to the density of population and need in any individual area.

"The MHA," Crupi said, "will gauge its approval on whether or not the community demonstrates a desire for the facility."

Concern arose on the part of the public attending Monday night's meeting as to whether or not such a hospital would become an economic burden on the community.

Councilman Donald Young mentioned that "if they are run like businesses, on a pay as you go basis, municipal hospitals can be self-supporting."

After the evening message there was a Baptismal service. Baptized were Tommy LaPlante, Jim Whyte, Melissa Lewis, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Karshnick.

A better mowing machine has been acquired for use on the church property. The old one was traded in plus a cash difference which Mr. Chisholm contributed.

The ladies processed corn and other foodstuffs last week for Missionary Internship in Farmington.

Louise Whyte wishes to express her thanks for thoughtfulness and prayers during her recent hospital confinement.

The churchwide fellowship was held Friday at the church grounds. A word of thanks to those who provided the foodstuff, and especially to the men who did the cooking and preparing.

The Sunday School bus is in working order again due to many hours of work by Les Thomas and others.

The Christmas decorations in the vestibule of the church are to remind the churchfolks that "Christmas in September" for our missionaries will be September 13. The evening service on that date will be dedicated to that event and shared with representatives on the mission fields. The message will be about the Advent of Christ and the music will also be in keeping with the Christmas theme and will be taped and sent to the Gospel representatives abroad. The offering that night will help provide a joyous Christmas for them.

HOLY CROSS EPISCOPAL CHURCH MISSION

The Reverend Harding conducted the 11:15 morning service and he was assisted by Brad Uber, also happy to have as Layreader his brother, Richard Harding from Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Harding and family are visiting Reverend Harding and family for a few days. This is the first time they have visited each other in four years.

In the absence of the organist the minister lead the congregation in singing.

The pastor reminded the congregation to please try to attend St. Stephen's Church in Hamburg August 30 at 2 p.m. when the Historical Society Plaque will be dedicated by Bishop Emerich of St. Paul Cathedral in Detroit. The plaque commemorates 125 years of service in the community.

Please contact Mrs. Nancy Liddle 349-2219 if you have anything, or any ideas for the bazaar. Mrs. Marcia Hooser president of the E.C.W. also wishes the members to know that the E.C.W. is selling cook books. Samples of some may be found in the case in the Narthex of the church.

NOVI REBEKAH LODGE

Eight members of the Independent Rebekah Club met at 10:30 at the Hall on Monday for another day of sewing for the coming bazaar. Frances Denton was the hostess.

They are scheduled to meet again next Monday August 31st to work on things for the bazaar. They are asked to bring their own sandwich and sewing materials.

BLUE STAR MOTHERS

The Novi Chapter 47, Blue Star Mothers will hold their September meeting at the home of Hazel Mandilk on West Road.

The following mothers were present on Sunday, August 23 at 2 p.m., Gala Days, to receive the American flag from the Lt. Edmond Gamble Auxiliary No. 4626. V.F.W. Detroit: Marie LaFond, Lottie Raley, Hazel Mandilk, Lucy Needham, Dolly Alegnani, Lois Lehner, Betty Sigbee, and Hildred Hunt.

MINUTES OF AUGUST 11, 1970

Meeting called to order at 8:05 p.m. by supervisor. Present: Stromberg, Hammond, Mitchell, Smith, Straub.

Also present: Consultants Ashton and Mosher, the press, and 14 visitors.

Absent: Baldwin, Lawrence.

In the minutes of July 14, paragraph 2, page 3, Smith said it should read, "as shown on Levitt's original approved plan - 400 apartments, 914 townhouses and 350 single dwellings. Levitt is to make such adjustments to site plans in rearranging the original units to satisfy the difficulties incurred in the land structure." Mitchell moved to accept these minutes with changes as above, seconded by Smith. Ayes: All.

Mitchell moved that the minutes of July 15, 1970 be accepted, seconded by Smith. Ayes: All.

Mitchell moved that minutes of two meetings on July 23, 1970 be accepted, seconded by Straub. Ayes: All.

Mitchell moved that the clerk's financial report be accepted, seconded by Smith. Ayes: All.

Smith moved that the monthly receipts report be accepted and that all current bill be paid, seconded by Straub. Ayes: All.

Smith moved that the planning commission minutes of July 23 and July 28, 1970 be accepted, seconded by Straub. Ayes: All.

Straub moved that the water & sewer commission minutes of July 1, 1970 be accepted, seconded by Smith. Ayes: All.

CORRESPONDENCE

1. RESOLUTION, CITY OF ROMULUS. The clerk read this resolution regarding hospital authorities. Straub moved that it be accepted and filed, seconded by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

2. DISTRICT COURT COSTS. Since copies of Ashton's opinion on courts costs had been sent to all board members, he simply added the suggestion that the board support a proposed house bill that seeks to amend and clarify the statute. The $5000 that had been allocated to the expense of operating the district court will not be necessary in this fiscal year. Hammond moved that the board contact the state senator and representative, and ask them to actively support the passage of this bill that seeks to amend the district court statute. The motion was seconded by Straub. Ayes: All.

Mitchell moved to accept the attorney's report on court costs, seconded by Smith. Ayes: All.

Mitchell made a motion that the board re-allocate $5000 that had been budgeted for the district court, and since it had been originally intended for law enforcement, it now be put into the police budget, seconded by Smith. Ayes: Hammond, Mitchell, Smith. Nays: Straub, Stromberg. Motion carried.

3. TERRITORIAL CONSTRUCTION CO., FINAL ESTIMATE. Hammond read a letter from Mosher Associates indicating that the work had been completed and that the board should pay the final estimate (No. 5) to the Territorial Construction Co. for work on the Plymouth State Home water line. Mitchell moved that the letter be accepted and that the bill of $759.76 be paid, supported by Smith. Ayes: All.

1. Mitchell moved that agenda item No. 3 under old business be studied with item No. 1, seconded by Smith. Ayes: All. The clerk read a letter from the Northville Area Development Corp. requesting the board to put the question of sale of the Township Hall on the ballot in November so that the piece of land in question could be freed for

NOVI BOY SCOUTS

Novi Boy Scout Troop No. 54 also received an American flag from the Lt. Edmond Gamble Auxiliary No. 4626 V.F.W. Detroit. The following scouts were present for the ceremony:

Adults - Harold Sigbee, Richard Kortez and Hank Meyer.

Boy Scouts - Peter, Tom, and Butch Meyer, Duane Kortez, Ron Frisbe, Tom Bell, Steve Lindley, Mark and Matthew Bumann, Jeff and Craig Davey, and Dennis Quinn.

Novi Boy Scouts are planning a camp out and will go canoeing on the Huron River. September 5-6-7, Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

The Boy Scouts will now be meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Community Building.

NOVI CUB SCOUTS

Novi Cub Scouts Pack 54 on Friday August 28, will be treated to some free fun at the Oasis Miniature Golf course, 39550 Five Mile Road, east of Haggerty Road. This will be the Pack's third summer activity. Members of the Cub Scout families are welcome. However, they will be charged. The hours, 6 through 9 p.m., are reserved for the Novi group. In case of rain, the Scouts may have the golf course on Sunday, August 30, 1 through 4 p.m., for the same activity.

On Monday, August 31 all committee members are kindly asked to attend an important committee meeting at the Laverty home at 7:30 p.m.

Schools will open their doors here on Wednesday, September 2. Classes will begin at 9 to 3:30 p.m. Kindergarten will run from 9 to 11:30 a.m., for the morning sessions and from 12:55 to 3:30 p.m. for the afternoon sessions. Classes in the junior high schools will be held from 9 to 3:30 p.m. Senior high school classes will run from 7:45 to 2:20 p.m.

Since it may be necessary to close school during the year because of heavy snow, ice or equipment failures, residents are urged to tune in to one of four radio stations after 6 a.m. for up to date information. The four stations are WJR-760, WXYZ-1270, WCAR-1130 or WKNR-1310 on your dial.

On Sunday, August 23 the Bogart family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wagnitz of Wixom Road. It marked the first time in seven years for such an occasion. With the nice day it turned out to be, 55 persons attended, coming from Frankfort, Illinois, Plymouth, Webberville, Dearborn Heights, Fenton, Highland, Milford and Walled Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Melvin from Kentucky were weekend guests at the home of Miss Audrey Roach, 49700 South Pontiac Trail.

Twins, a boy and a girl, were born to Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bergner of 3190 Branch Drive, on August 9 at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. The baby girl, named Dawn Lynn, weighed 6 pounds, 4 ounces and the baby boy, named Douglas William II, weighed 5 pounds, 8 ounces. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gootee of 30158 Bretton, Livonia, and Mr. and Mrs. Erwin F. Bergner of 12390 Hyne Road, Brighton.

development. Hammond moved that the attorney be requested to prepare a proposition concerning the sale of township property that could appear on the ballot on the 7th General Election in November, 1970. Seconded by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

2. In Baldwin's absence, Straub moved that Baldwin's report on Police Standards be tabled until the next meeting, supported by Hammond. Ayes: All.

3. FIRE HALL AND TOWNSHIP HALL. Smith gave a report on his search for an architect. He presented brochures and letters from various firms which gave their qualifications and fee structures. It was again suggested that the committee contact Plymouth Township as to the possibility of our joining with them on fire protection as is done in this area with the city of Northville.

Mitchell moved that the board contract with Ralls, Hamill and Becker of Plymouth to prepare a preliminary study for the proposed construction of a Fire Hall and Township Hall, for a fee not to exceed $7500, supported by Smith. Ayes: Hammond, Stromberg, Mitchell, Smith. Nays: Straub. Motion carried.

4. FISH HATCHERY. Straub reported that the State Department of Natural Resources would be ready to sign a contract this fall and it will run for 3 years...It is estimated that $56,000 will be spent in the three years, with 80% of same, or $44,000, being paid by the State. The other $12,000 will be allocated between the City and the Township of Northville after September. This amount will take care of the tennis courts, one ball diamond, the storm sewer, camping area and toilets. The City would like our engineer to meet with theirs to study the water and drainage situation in the area.

5. SHAPERO REZONING, TABLED FROM JULY. Before any action was taken, Mr. Max Katzen, representing Brooks asked that his statement be made a matter of record and said, "For the purpose of protecting the record in the event of litigation on the Shapero petition for rezoning, we object to the granting of the Shapero petition for rezoning in the event that similar rezoning is not also granted to Brooks for his parcel, among other reasons on the grounds that the Shapero rezoning is arbitrary, discriminatory, unconstitutional, and constitutes illegal 'spot zoning'." Ashton read recommendation from the planning commission on May 26, 1970 regarding the Shapero rezoning. Smith moved that the board approve the rezoning of Nate Shapero's property on the southwest corner of 8 Mile Road and Haggerty Road in accordance with the planning commission's recommendation on May 26, 1970. Supported by Mitchell. Ayes: All. This recommendation was made on the basis that

1. The land involved is very low, and it would be extremely difficult to develop as an R-1 area, plus the fact that a major highway exchange will pass in very close proximity. 2. It would be difficult to develop as a one-family residential area. 3. The proposed relocation of Haggerty Road will cut through the property and act as deterrent to the development of residential property. Smith moved that the preceding motion be amended to be effective immediately upon publication, seconded by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

6. BROOKS REZONING. Stromberg announced that since the special meeting of July 23, a petition had been received with 145 signatures of township residents who favor the rezoning to Regional Business, of the Brooks property. Letters have also been received regarding this rezoning, from Representative Esch, Don N. Jones, and D. P. Boor. The township attorney stated that the Brooks people had been given full public hearings and other opportunities to present their case, but that they might have a few moments to make a brief statement at this meeting. D. Jones, representing Brooks, requested that Vilean be asked to meet with his client and the planning commission and the board. D. Jones also representing Brooks, felt that some new discovery might develop if all these men and boards could sit down together once more to discuss the matter. Smith moved that the rezoning request of Leonard Brooks be tabled until the next meeting, supported by Mitchell. Ayes: Mitchell, Smith, Straub, Stromberg. Nays: Hammond. Motion carried.

7. LEVITT REZONING. Mr. Adler stated that there were a few new facts: 1. Smoker will be building to the north of 8 Mile Road above Levitt and that the roads are already planned to be aligned. 2. The Levitt people have yielded a 194 foot road change to Oldford. 3. Levitt has picked up the remaining "out" parcels with tentative agreements, to round out their property holdings. The recommendation from the planning commission in regard to the Levitt rezoning was read. Smith still objected to what he calls imbalance between units. From the audience, Shaeffer stated that a co-op often brings friction between owners as well as many management problems, which he has seen demonstrated in Kings Mill. He felt that this much larger development would present even more such problems. Adler replied that the density at Levitt's Highland Lakes would be less than half that of Kings Mill and that 43% of the land will be green space and lakes. Straub moved that the board accept the recommendation of the planning commission on June 30, 1970 and approve the rezoning from R-4 to RM-1. The planning commission gave as a reason that extreme topographical problems in the area would lead to unsatisfactory development of single family units, and also there will be impact from the potential multiple zoning across Eight Mile Road. Motion seconded by Hammond. Ayes: Hammond, Straub, Stromberg, Nays: Mitchell, Smith. Motion carried. Straub moved to amend the previous motion to take immediate effect upon publication, seconded by Hammond. Ayes: Hammond, Straub, Stromberg. Nays: Smith, Mitchell. Motion carried.

NEW BUSINESS

1. EASEMENT FOR LEVITT OFFSITE SANITARY SEWER, SEC. 2. This easement agreement has been reviewed by both the attorney and the engineer and found to be in order. Straub moved that the supervisor and clerk be authorized to accept and execute the agreement as presented, supported by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

2. The clerk reported that returns of the August 4, 1970 Primary. The township had almost a fifty percent turnout for this election, very unusual in a Primary.

3. C OF D's. Smith moved, because money is accumulating in the checking account in the treasurer's absence, that Clerk Hammond be authorized to write a check for $50,000 and purchase one C of D with it for the Water and Sewer Fund, supported by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

Meeting adjourned at 11:18 p.m. Respectfully submitted, Eleanor W. Hammond, Clerk

Citizen Raps Secret Sessions

There's nothing in the charter that says we can't adjourn at any time and if necessary, from now on, we'll do that."

Mayor Crupi noted he can call a meeting whenever and wherever he likes, providing he has permission of the council.

The charter states that at least 24 hours notice be given. This requirement may be avoided, however, if written waiver can be obtained from all members of the council. Time and place are designated by the mayor or any two members of the council.

But the charter also states that "all regular and special meetings of the council shall be open to the public and citizens shall have a reasonable opportunity to be heard."

The Council moved to accept the second lowest bid received last week concerning the truck hoist for Novi's DPW garage.

Action came in the face of a letter from Plymouth Tank and Fabricating Company, former holder of the bid, failing to follow through on its quotation.

The letter complained that the company had bid on a 2,400-pound hoist instead of a 3,600 pound as per specifications.

City Manager Dallas Zonkers assured Council that the figure of 3,600 pounds had been mentioned in their specifications and charged that the mistake was on the part of the Plymouth company.

The higher bid is from Parks Installation Company of Milford and involves an expenditure of an extra $338. Plymouth's bid was $3,487, while that of Parks was $3,825.

Council adopted a resolution making it mandatory for companies submitting bids involving sums over $1,000 dollars to enclose a 10-percent forfeiture fee.

"This has caused us an inconvenience," said councilman Louie safety of children in our subdivision," Bill Ziegler, spokesman from Meadowbrook told the board.

He was referring to an earlier move by the board which authorized placing a crossing guard at the end of Quince Drive as an aid to children crossing 10 Mile. Ziegler was concerned by a hill which blocks vision of the intersection by drivers heading West along 10 Mile up to a distance of 324 feet.

Students of all ages may ride the school bus until adequate safety measures are provided by the city and county, it was decided.

At the request of former high school students, the board also voted to create a memorial or scholarship fund in memory of Ellen Louise Lyke, a 1970 high school graduate who died Saturday.

The action was motivated by a letter sent to the board and signed by the class of 1970, requesting that a scholarship fund be established in the name of Miss Lyke. The letter was co-signed by Jim Wachtel, Kathy Romanow, John Lyon and Kris Tamm.

In other action Monday night the board -

- Voted to accept the low bid of 4.6 percent interest on a $300,000 note in anticipation of taxes which will be collected in December. The bid was submitted by the Citizen's Commercial and Savings Bank of Flint.

- Approved the purchase of two cellos for $398 from the Anderson Music Company of Dearborn, two electronic calculators for $1,050 from Monroe Calculating Company, and 11 microscopes for $1,370.25 from Benz Microscopes.

- Contracted food service equipment from the Great Lake Hotel Supply Company for $47,256.

- Accepted the insurance bid for workman's compensation of the Talmay Insurance Agency at an annual premium of $2,933, and the bid for complete insurance from the Frazer Stamen Company for $1,419.

Insect Ends 17-Year Sleep

A rare cicada insect which spends 17 years of its life underground was discovered last week by Michelle Matheus, 9, who found it clinging to a tree near her home at 21472 Hombury.

The grey-green locust type insect had just emerged from a small brown shell and as the family watched it "literally grow before our eyes," explained Mrs. Virgil Matheus.

The children identified the cicada after seeing one in St. Louis last spring, Mrs. Matheus said.

The bug spends 17 years of its life underground snuggled inside a brown shell about the size of a June bug. A mature insect breaks from its shell and in about five hours "grows" to the size of a locust with about a four-inch wing spread, she noted.

The Matheuses hoped to donate their find to some interested entomologist.

Campbell, "If they had some money to lose, they'd be more careful."

Councilmen agreed that legal action taken against the Plymouth company would cost more than the difference between the two bids.

The problem of where to get the money to pay for them stymied council action on city limit signs proposed for main roads along Novi's municipal boundary.

The signs would cost $31 each if the city were to buy 15 of them, according to councilman Campbell, who has been investigating the problem in recent weeks.

The signs under consideration measure 48" by 36" and possibly can be mounted on existing posts presently occupied by Novi's old village limit signs, Campbell said.

It was suggested that money to pay for the signs would have to come out of road improvement funds, but Zonkers and councilman Donald Young both pointed out that the signs would have nothing to do with either highway improvement or traffic control, the two purposes for which road improvement monies may be spent.

Zonkers was ordered to make a report to council next week as to the classification the signs would fall under in the budget, and what category the money could be drawn from.

Northville Police Blotter

Police recovered a stolen car on Gerald Avenue Monday at 11:50 p.m. just over an hour after it was reported missing by its owner, Keith Forsell, 137 North Center Street.

Forsell told police the car was stolen from a parking lot on West Main Street at approximately 10:30 p.m. When the vehicle was recovered a table radio, tool box and miscellaneous tools were missing.

A fire at the doorway to Northville Drug Store, 134 East Main Street, was apparently the work of arson, police report.

The fire was discovered at 7:40 a.m. Tuesday. According to reports, firemen found paper and magazines burning. Damage was estimated at $119.92.

No charges were filed against a 21-year-old youth who was committed to Northville State Hospital Saturday afternoon for 48 hours after he reportedly went on a rampage after using drugs.

According to police reports, the youth, who admitted to a doctor to have taken LSD earlier in the day, attempted to enter a locked car and when questioned by the owner, demanded the owner to take him away.

The youth was subdued by two men and police were called. Police reported the youth had thrown a lamp through the window of his home, entered his home with a loaded .30 caliber M1 carbine and damaged furniture in another home before he was turned over to police.

An Ann Arbor man, Mark P. Appleby, was ticketed for careless driving and failure to produce vehicle registration after he hit a parked car in front of 111 North Center. The accident occurred shortly after 2:30 p.m. Friday.

According to police, Anna Niziol, Flint, a passenger in the parked car, received minor injuries but did not require medical attention.

Vandals caused more than $200 damage to Northville High sometime between August 20 and 21 when they broke two windows in the teachers lounge and attempted to pry open a soft drink machine. Couch cushions were also damaged, police reported.

Three-year-old Erin Gucken, 307 Sherrie Lane, was treated for hand injuries after she was bitten August 21 by a dog owned by James Stevens, 286 Sherrie Lane. No tickets were issued.

Police investigated a possible break-in at 257 Hutton Street on August 20. Though a window screen had been removed, no signs of forced entry could be found.

Ten-year-old David J. Boor, 20297 Woodhill, was bitten on the right thigh and left leg by a brown and black dog at 3 p.m. August 19. According to reports, the incident occurred on Yerkes between Beal and Johnson streets. The youth was treated for injuries and released. The dog is still at large.

Gary Puckett, 118 West Cady Street, told police August 19 that his blue Schwinn bike was stolen earlier during the week.

Police apprehended three juveniles between the ages of eight and 11-years-old August 17 after they broke a street light globe on Pennell Street. Parents of the youths agreed to pay for the damage estimated at $21.47.

Telephone wires were cut and ketchup was smeared on a window at the Rathert Building, 160 East Main Street, sometime between August 15 and 17. An incorrect location was reported last week.

Township police recovered a car stolen from Redford Township. The car, found abandoned on Ridge Road, was recovered Saturday evening.

Thomas W. Fagan, 46120 Fonner Court East, told police golf equipment and clothing valued at more than $100 was stolen August 13 from Meadowbrook Country Club.

Fourteen-year-old Kevin Herter, 46327 West Seven Mile Road, was treated for back injuries after he was bitten by a dog owned by Robert Letarte, 45861 West Seven Mile Road. The incident occurred August 17 at 6:30 p.m. No tickets were issued.

A 14-year-old youth was recovered by township police at Haggerty and Seven Mile roads Monday afternoon. According to reports, the youth walked away from Hawthorn Center.

What about Vietnam? What about the draft?

These are the questions heard most often by our congressmen when they visit their home districts to talk to their constituents.

Monday I talked to Jack McDonald, personable young congressman from the 19th district which includes the city of Northville, Novi and Wixom. Now a veteran of two terms in the U. S. House of Representatives, McDonald is preparing for another campaign this fall.

He's concerned about Vietnam, too. But he thinks President Nixon has moved as fast as possible in troop withdrawals, and he expects continued, steady reductions in the number of American soldiers in Vietnam.

McDonald believes there may be a breakthrough soon in the Paris talks, too, and it's his theory that the North Vietnamese are aware that a peaceful, equitable settlement can be gained more readily with Americans than South Vietnamese.

It's McDonald's attitude towards the draft that impresses me most. He'd like to see a volunteer army, but first he'd like to see the service (all government service) upgraded so that it offers an attractive alternative to young people seeking careers.

Probably because of Vietnam, military service is not one of the top career choices of young people today. Quite the contrary. Poor pay coupled with a poor public image have been responsible for making most forms of government service unpopular with many youngsters.

McDonald has an idea to change this. He submitted his plan to a group of educators, government specialists, military men and finally scraped up enough money from industry to have a feasibility study made of the program.

The results of the study are now at the White House. The program has the endorsement of several key administrators close to the President and McDonald's hopeful that with administration backing he can introduce the legislation and win approval in the House and Senate.

He proposes to establish a National Service Academy.

It would offer a free two-year program of study in community colleges throughout the nation to any boy or girl who would enter some form of government service for two years following college.

Many of the youngsters might choose a government hospital, a branch of the federal government, or a job in state or local government. Or they might choose some branch of the military service.

But their college training would prepare them to fill badly needed technical positions. McDonald says we're about a million technicians short in the armed services and at least that many in private industry.

Graduates would be free to return to college, stay on the job or enter private industry at the completion of their two-year stint in government service.

In the case of military service, where McDonald says there are 10 technicians for every man with a gun, the training would qualify the youngsters for higher rank and consequently higher pay because of their newly-acquired ability.

And in addition to eliminating the draft, the National Service Academy program would help upgrade government service at all levels.

It would be a costly program. In addition to paying tuition to the numerous accredited community colleges, the government would also provide funds for technical facilities and buildings under the McDonald plan.

Training youngsters to treat the ill, handle a transit, read weather maps and blueprints could never be as costly as the training that teaches to kill.

And isn't that what the youth have been saying?

Secret sessions (referred to as "executive" sessions by elected officials who feel compelled to call such meetings) breed distrust.

This should be reason enough for elected bodies to avoid the practice.

But I note that the Novi city council has used the device twice in the last few weeks.

One citizen protested when the council asked the people and the press to "leave the room" in the middle of a regular session.

But the council defended the action and suggested that it could and would be repeated under certain circumstances.

The secret-session crutch can become habit-forming. It can also be fatal to the most well-meaning body as it loses its public confidence.

Careful reading of the Novi city charter would indicate that secret sessions were never intended ... that all meetings, special or regular, shall be open to the public, and that all meetings should be given proper notice.

It can be interpreted differently. But you wonder why an official would want to look for the loopholes.

No...

As a former newspaper reporter who is now a practicing attorney, I have had a unique opportunity to see both sides of the question.

Generally, my experience has been that the press makes a conscientious effort to separate fact from opinion. The better papers confine opinion to the editorial page, while sticking to the facts in their news stories. Instances of deliberate and malicious distortion of the facts are rare in American journalism.

However, it should be noted that a reporter's perspective can and often does differ from that of other viewers of an event. Every man sees life against a background of his own experiences, heritage, emotions and education.

Probably the most subtle kind of "bias" one finds in the press involves the selection and display of news stories. Without tampering with the facts themselves, a newspaper can create a crime wave, reheat the cold war and even minimize the mini-skirt — all by the selection and display of the news.

In short, newsmen tend to be a dedicated lot of real professionals who delight in puncturing stuffed shirts and prying information out of public officials who prefer to operate in secrecy. Thus they perform a valuable public service. As far as it is humanly possible, they seek to present facts and not opinion. If they occasionally fail, it is a cheap price to pay when weighed against the public service performed.

Speaking for Myself

Press Slants The News?

Yes...

Slant the news? You bet; nearly everyone agrees that the media is guilty of the practice.

Ironically, however, this newspaper could not find anyone to author the position.

But when we posed the question: "do newspapers slant the news?", the immediate reply from many of those queried was "certainly".

The media critics point out that the editors exercise choice of material used and how strongly it may be emphasized.

And even within the articles themselves one position (the favorite of the reporter) may be given clearer presentation than the argument the reporter personally opposes.

Journalism's claim to objectivity outside its editorial and personal column feature pages was accorded little credence.

"Who are you kidding? You know darn well that you can't completely exclude the human element from news presentation or reporting".

"The news is slanted, make no mistake about it! You can find examples every day in the different ways opposing newspapers handle the same story...slanted to their respective viewpoints!"

(We don't enjoy writing our own obituary. If there is a reader who would care to sign his name to a few more examples of "slanting the news", send them to "Speaking for Myself" in care of this newspaper).

Air Force Runs Out of Rocks

by Jack W. Hoffman

It started when my laughing wife, who was wrapping garbage at the time, pointed to a newspaper story and quipped, "I knew they'd run out of rocks sooner or later."

And there, right next to the entrails of the fish I'd pulled out of Lake Nichwagh and partially hidden by potato peelings, was this fascinating news story headlined, "AF officer draws reprimand for newspaper clip exercise."

(It has been my experience that some of the most interesting reading occurs between the kitchen and the garbage can).

Anyway, the story was a beaut. It told of an Air Force officer who has been reprimanded because he ordered 10,000 photographs of a general to be carved with razor blades from 10,000 copies of the Lackland Air Base (Texas) newspaper.

Somehow or other the newspaper inappropriately had carried the general's picture between an article telling of the introduction of soul food in the base mess and an advertisement for blue jeans. Anyone who has been or is in the service knows you just don't insult a general's dignity and get away with it. But apparently the officer was unaware of the dastardly deed until a superior brought it to his attention.

Probably with the threat of a court-martial hanging over his head, the beleaguered officer ordered 15 enlisted men, armed with the razors, into day-long action. While the order may have saved the general some immediate embarrassment, it triggered a stinging blast from a United States Senator who complained to the Secretary of the Air Force about the waste of taxpayers' money in Operation Removal.

Anyway, when my wife and I finished laughing — she over the size of my fish and I over the news story — we returned to her initial comment.

"What's this got to do with rocks," I asked.

"Well, you know when I used to write about the military exercises I was on at Lackland (she's a former WAF)? I'm a little ashamed to admit it but they weren't quite as exciting as I may have hinted. Our big mission was to pick up rocks all over that base. But no matter how many we picked up they seemed to reappear the next day. The gals in our barracks were sure the commanding officer had a crew scattering rocks around by night and ours picking them up by day."

I was still puzzled so I repeated the question.

"Well, my guess is that those rocks finally wore out what with all the picking up and laying down. So they had to look around for some other kind of military exercise."

"You mean?"

"Yes, exactly. Those 15 guys — or gals — were ordered to cut out those pictures by day and they had another crew standing by to paste them back in at night."

Readers Speak

To the Editor:

In an article (Speaking for Myself) appearing April 23, 1970 concerning Art I neglected to attribute the definition of art as "a selective re-creation of reality according to the artist's values and view of existence" to its author, Ayn Rand. Miss Rand in her many writings has completely defined and examined art and its effect on our daily lives. It was improper of me to represent this definition as my own though. I am in full accord with it and Miss Rand's philosophy.

Shaheen pointed out that a rezoning request had been denied by the planning commission in July.

"They'd like us to keep our units down to an average of 10 per acre, but we can't sell them that way," said Shaheen whose average figure per acre was 17 units.

A special hearing was granted the developer for September 15, pending proper filing of petition and payment of fees. The council and members of the planning commission also agreed to accompany Shaheen on a tour of developments the company has in Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo.

Council also listened to a report from Committee Chairman Joseph Leahy on the outcome of Michigan Week.

Leahy said that out of $825 collected a balance of $108 existed as of this week.

In other business Tuesday night, the council

Calvert has in recent weeks petitioned council for a severance pay hearing with no success.

—Put off, until a special meeting to be held Tuesday, (September 1), the question of whether to borrow money for the purchase of parks and recreation land on a bond program, or to ask for a 1/2 mill increase per year from the taxpayers.

hear the issues as well as arguments presented by lawyers representing each side.

They will then go into an executive session in which two of the three votes will constitute a final decision.

Although Kahn admits that his position may influence the deciding vote, he contends a unanimous decision is possible.

"The city and police are stuck with what we come up with," he explains, and "this gives both parties incentive to reach decisions on their own."

Kahn, whose salary as an arbitrator is $150 a day plus expenses, expects a settlement to be reached by the middle of September.

He was appointed by Robert Howlett, chairman of the State Employment Relations Committee, who "is a man very familiar with those around the state who have arbitration experience," says Kahn.

When the board goes into arbitration each party will stand on its last concession, according to Harvey Wax, attorney for the Novi Police Officers Association.

The points under contention are outlined briefly below.

— Manpower, the police want five additional men and one police woman.

— Wages, the police want $12,500 for a patrolman with three year's experience on the force. The figure is ceiling. The city has offered $10,100.

— Pension plan, as of now the police department is operating without a plan although both parties have agreed to the necessity of one and the city has offered a possible plan.

— Shift premium, additional money to be paid for working midnight or afternoon shifts.

— Longevity, to take effect after five years.

— Cost of living, built-in increments tied to the cost of living index.

— Mileage reimbursement to officers who must use their own cars in any instance.

— Vacation, a third week after six years service.

— Additional life insurance.

— A raise in uniform cleaning, maintenance and replacement allowances.

— Association business days, used by union officials to conduct their business.

— Right to negotiate pay for policewoman clerical help.

'Free Band Instrument' Ruling May Force Music Change Here

Even before the shock wave caused by the recent State Supreme Court ruling that school districts may not charge for textbooks and supplies had quieted, an interpretation by the attorney general has ruled school districts must also provide band instruments for all students participating in instrumental music.

"We estimated the original ruling cost us $75,000," Superintendent Raymond Spear said. "The cost of providing band instruments is prohibitive. Before the week is over we will have to come up with another way of offering instrumental music."

According to the interpretation, school districts may not charge general or registration fees, course fees or materials ticket charges or textbook and school supplies fees for any required or elective courses.

"School districts may charge fees," the interpretation says "for extra-curricular activities when students are not graded or evaluated and academic credit is not given, or for any activity in which participation is not required for obtaining a diploma."

At present, students participating in instrumental music are given credit for the course and graded on their work.

The interpretation further states "School districts may charge for damages or loss of school property when such property has been provided to students without charge."

"School districts may require students to place a deposit to cover damage to textbooks, non-consumable materials and supplies provided free by the school district. These deposits must be reasonable and refundable."

Spear said the district has established a book deposit "based on a portion of the cost of materials used by students during the year."

Elementary student deposit will be $5; junior high $15; and senior high $25. No deposit will be levied at the kindergarten level. The deposit is refundable upon graduation or at the end of each school year, if requested by parents. Any damages "beyond the expected wear of a textbook for one year" will be taken out of the deposit only after the parents are notified, Spear explained.

According to the attorney general's interpretation, "School officials may determine the quality and quantity of school supplies such as textbooks, paper and pencils that are reasonable for the use of pupils, and determine the length of time such materials shall be provided. Likewise, students may voluntarily bring their own school supplies for any curricular subject."

"School districts may require a person to pay for adult education courses offered by public schools, provided that the adult is not earning credit toward a high school diploma. School districts may charge for summer school except where such activities are a part of a regularly scheduled year-around program. School districts may require fees for clothing and food which are offered during the regular school program."

Items that must be provided by districts free of charge to students for any required or elective course are pencils, paper, crayons, textbooks (regular and supplemental), band instruments, weekly readers and other periodicals required for classroom use.

No charges may be made for towels, locks, lockers, shop materials, drafting supplies home economics materials, workbooks, materials in science classes, book rental, school educational trips that are required for course credit, vocational or special education classes.

Districts may charge students for class or organizational dues, admission to sports activities, dances and plays, student activity cards on a voluntary basis, fees for external tests such as National Merit and college entrance, deductions for damage or loss of school-owned books and non-consumable supplies;

Lunches, yearbooks, football and gym shoes, swimming suits, bus transportation for non-resident students, school sponsored educational trips not required for the course, vaccinations, summer school courses when not part of scheduled year-around program, caps and gowns and insurance fees.

during school afternoons, with students attending half-day sessions in the morning. The change results from a state ruling requiring students to be in attendance 180 days. Previously no school was held during the conferences.

Also new this year is a pilot program in release time for religious education at Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church.

Elementary students will attend religious classes once each week from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. The day is to be decided by the principal of each school.

Sixth graders will spend one morning each week, from 8:05 a.m. to 10 a.m. Seventh and eighth graders will be split in two sections, from 10 a.m. through their normal lunch hour ending at 11:45 a.m., and from their lunch hour until 1:30 p.m.

Board OKs Policy On Damage Deposit

School board trustees approved a damage deposit policy Monday night covering students in grades one through twelve, refundable at the end of the school year or upon graduation provided all books and materials have been returned in good condition.

The deposit in grades one through five is $5, grades six through eight, $15, and grades nine through twelve, $25. The figures are based on a portion of the cost of non-consumable materials used by the students.

Abstaining from voting was Trustee Glenn Deibert who was "opposed to the establishment of any damage deposit."

Business manager Earl Busard explained the money would be put into an escrow account and would remain the property of the students and not of the school district. Any students who have existing credit at the bookstore would receive credit towards their deposit, he said.

Deibert suggested that the "district levy a half-mill and put it in escrow rather than establish the damage deposit."

Commenting after the motion had been past, Angelo Chinni, 300 Sherrie Lane, said he objected to the deposit because he does "not want to be penalized for the small percentage of people in the community who will damage property."

Lawrence Gucken, 307 Sherrie Lane, asked the board members to "go one year without a deposit and see what the total value of the damage is at the end of the year."

Both men questioned what would happen to the interest accrued by the funds in escrow and asked the students be given a "percentage back on their deposit, like the utilities do."

Trustees agreed to seek a legal opinion from their attorney on the matter.

In other business, board members —approved use of the high school athletic field by the Northville Junior Football Association, —signed an agreement with the Wayne County Child Development Center by which state aid for students at the Center is received from the state through the school district, —accepted the resignation of Mrs. Betty Sellers, elementary reading improvement instructor, due to family illness,

—ratified the revised school calendar calling for school to begin September 10, and —set a special meeting for September 1 at which bids will be opened on $700,000 in tax anticipation notes.

Want the higher interest of a certificate with the convenience of a passbook? Then move your money to Manufacturers. Open a 5 3/4% Time Deposit Account with a two-year maturity... and get a passbook instead of a certificate so you can watch your savings grow.

Start with a deposit of $500 or more and get 5 3/4% compounded continuously. Additions of $50 or more can be made at any time. Each deposit matures in two years.

Want a shorter maturity period? Manufacturers also offers a 5 1/2% Time Deposit Account in passbook form with a one-year maturity. Minimum deposit is $500; additions of $50 or more may be made at any time.

So if the combination of high bank interest and passbook convenience appeals to you, move your money to Manufacturers—"that's my bank."

OBITUARIES

MARIE ANN STOIANOFF

Marie Ann Stoianoff, 22, of Salem died suddenly Wednesday, August 19, at her home. She was born July 10, 1948 in Cleveland, Ohio.

A graduate of South Lyon High School and a student at Eastern Michigan University, she was to complete her studies for a teacher's certificate in history and English in January, 1971.

She was the Past Worthy Advisor of Rainbow for Girls, Northville Assembly 29 and a member of the South Lyon Rebekah Lodge. She was employed in the dietary department at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The daughter of Mrs. Anna Stoianoff of Salem and the late Vasil Sarin of Cleveland, Ohio, she was the adopted daughter of the late Peter Stoianoff of Salem.

Survivors are: her mother, her grandparents in Yugoslavia, an aunt, Mary Zander of Plymouth; four cousins, Bronko Zander of Northville, Nicholas Zander and Blaz Zander, both of Plymouth, and Luba Basne of Detroit. Other survivors are five cousins in Bulgaria and a godchild, Jimmy Zander of Plymouth.

The funeral was held at the Salem Bible Church Saturday, August 22, at 1:30 p.m. with the Rev. Ivan Speight and Rev. Harry Richards officiating. Interment was in the Salem-Walker Cemetery in Salem Township.

Arrangements were made through the Ebert Funeral Home in Northville. A memorial service by the South Lyon Rebekah Lodge, 485 was held Friday evening at the funeral home.

HULDA BUSBY

A former Northville resident, Hulda Louise Busby, died suddenly August 16 at her apartment in Santa Barbara, California.

Mrs. Busby was the widow of Dr. Lauren Fletcher Busby who was known for his outstanding services in the field of tuberculosis control in Santa Barbara County. He was a senior physician at W.H. Maybury Sanatorium here prior to moving with his wife to Santa Barbara in 1945. He died in 1960.

Surviving Mrs. Busby are three daughters, Mrs. George S. Harms, Jr. of Santa Barbara, Mrs. Ray Dunning, Jr. of Goleta, California, Mrs. Rosemond McFerran of Davis, California; one sister, Mrs. Adrian Bernier of Long Beach, Washington; and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted from the Welch-Ryce Associates Chapel and at All Saints By-the-Sea Episcopal Church of Santa Barbara on Thursday, August 20. Burial followed at the Santa Barbara Cemetery.

GWEN CARR

Mrs. Gwen Laure Carr, a housewife and mother of four, died suddenly on August 19 at Botsford Hospital after an illness of two days.

A former Northville resident, she was born in Redford on July 18, 1929 to Henry and Sybil Dewey LaClare. A substitute teacher in Northville, she attended Alma College and the University of Michigan where she majored in speech and education. From 1961-1967 she lived in Northville with her husband, Dr. Donald Carr. Both were active members of the First Presbyterian Church.

Survivors include Dr. Carr and three children, Laurie, Scott and Jeff who are now living in Bloomfield Hills. A fourth daughter, Mrs. James Butcher lives in Pontiac.

She had a sister, Mrs. Sylvia LaClare Langfield, a brother, Henry Harrison LaClare Jr. and one grandson.

A memorial service was held on August 21 in Bloomfield Hills. Instead of flowers the family asked that donations be made to the Michigan Heart Foundation.

ESTHER FLINN

Funeral services were held Monday, August 23 in the Harbin Funeral Home of Novi for Mrs. Esther Elmira Flinn of Osprey, Florida. Mrs. Flinn, 87, died suddenly of a heart condition on August 19.

She was born on December 20, 1882 in Melbern, Arkansas to James and Jesse Hatchins Rice. On December 6, 1905 she married William H. Flinn who died 10 years ago.

Mrs. Flinn moved to Florida from Detroit in 1966. In Detroit she was a member of the Westlawn Methodist Church.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Edith Baker of Osprey, Florida and Mrs. Alice J. McCollum of 45750 Eleven Mile Road. She had three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The Reverend Benjamin Holms, retired minister of Westlawn Methodist church, officiated at the funeral. Mrs. Flinn was buried in Crok Crooks Cemetery in Troy.

GAIL ENDERS

A retired supervisor at the American Motors Corporation in Detroit, Mr. Gail C. Enders Sr. of 46920 West 12 Mile, Wixom, died August 24 in Annapolis Hospital in Wayne. He was 76 years old.

Born in Three Rivers, Michigan on June 5, 1894 he was the son of Jacob and Mary Evans Enders. He first came to this community 34 years ago and was a member of Novi Oddfellows. Mr. Enders retired from American Motors in 1957 after working there 26 years.

He is survived by his wife, Gertrude, and four children. They are Mrs. Donald Knodle of Fowlerville, Gail Jr. of Taylor, Glenn of Gainsville, Florida and Lanny of Wixom.

Other survivors include brother William B. Enders of Addison and sisters Mrs. Verna Billman of Akron, Ohio and Mrs. Ruby Gause of Oak Park. He had 11 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be August 27 (today) at 10 a.m. in the Casterline Funeral Home with the Reverend Robert A. Mitchinson of New Hudson United Methodist Church officiating. Burial will be in Oakland Hills Memorial Park in Novi.

Credit Union Plan Revealed

An open federal credit union may soon be formed for people who live or work in the Walled Lake area. Anyone interested is invited to attend the first organizational meeting on Thursday, August 27 at 7 p.m. in Walled Lake Junior High on Pontiac Trail.

Featured speaker at the meeting will be John Parker, local agent from the credit union bureau of the department of Health, Education and Welfare. Dick Young from the credit union league will also speak, followed by a question and answer period. "Young people in particular would benefit from such a credit union which would help them obtain low cost auto insurance benefits," officials point out.

COMMEMORATING WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE — Looking at the new six cent stamp that goes on sale today, Thursday, is Mrs. John Federspill, member of the board of directors of the Northville-Plymouth League of Women Voters, and Elmer Balko, assistant Northville postmaster. The stamp, which was issued Wednesday in Adams, Massachusetts, commemorates the 50th anniversary of the ratification of the 19th amendment, women's suffrage. The Massachusetts town is the birthplace of Susan B. Anthony, pioneer crusader for women's rights.

Picnic Climaxes School

The Novi United Methodist Church Friday climaxed a very successful Daily Vacation Church School with a special program and a family picnic on the back lawn of the church, the pastor reported.

According to the Reverend Albert E. Hartoog, pastor, the School Director Mrs. Roger Pelchat reported an average attendance of 49 for the five days of the project. In addition there were 13 teachers and workers who were in attendance faithfully each day.

As a mission project the boys and girls took up a special offering amounting to $13.65 at the last session of the school. This will be sent to a school in Korea attended by Chung-In-Ai a little girl who is supported by one of the families of the Novi Church.

Science Program Completed

Forty Detroit area high school students completed a unique summer science program at Wayne State University last week which is attracting nationwide attention.

One of the program's participants is Professor David R. Cook of Wayne's biology department. He lives at 28855 Summit Drive, Novi.

Started four years ago to interest inner-city students in scientific careers while providing them with summer jobs, the program was broadened this summer to include 10 students from outlying and suburban schools.

The Wayne project originated in WSU's Physics Department in 1967, and now includes the chemistry and biology departments. It has been reported in a number of national scientific journals and a British magazine, and has inquiries from City University of New York, Indiana University, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, and others.

The University of Western Ontario in London, Ontario, created a similar program for 25 Canadian Indians this summer, based on the Wayne State program.

"Our purpose is to interest these students in scientific careers," said Dr. Leonard O. Roellig of Wayne's physics department and director of the project since it began four years ago.

"But the most important factor is that we have meaningful work for the students to perform," Dr. Roellig explained that the students are assigned tasks which are necessary and require additional knowledge.

The students are assigned to

Curricular Change

School Offers 'Open' Courses

Courses open to all students with sections designed for the individual's ability is just one of the curriculum changes made during the summer, Florence Panattoni, curriculum coordinator announced.

"At the high school, the humanities program is going to be one of the most interesting and exciting courses we've had," she said. "English, history, art and music will be taught as a semester course with four instructors handling the program."

Other courses instituted this year on the phase level idea (sections designed according to students ability) include Reading Skills, The Old West, Mass Media and Creative Writing. According to Miss Panattoni, previously many courses had only been open to advanced level students.

"There will be room for independent study, seminars and lectures in all areas of the English department," she commented.

Science will be taught in every grade at the elementary level, with ecology built in to the curriculum. No texts will be used, Miss Panattoni said, rather science program kits have been developed for use by the teachers. Supplementary texts and material will be available in each class.

Secondary level science is project oriented, designed for student involvement. New this year is Project Physics, taking a humanistic approach to the subject, designed to meet the needs of a greater cross-section of students. "There will be tremendous student involvement in the science area," she commented.

Team teaching will be emphasized at the junior high level.

New courses in the home economics department include Bachelor Foods, Home Design, Child Development, Advanced Foods and Clothing Design.

Power Mechanics, Welding and Electronics have been added to the industrial arts program. "The department will also be holding a careers night program, something not done before," Miss Panattoni said.

In the business department, Notepad and Business Law have been introduced into the curriculum.

A wind ensemble and additional section of sixth grade band have been added to the music department. Instrumental music in the fifth grade has been discontinued, Miss Panattoni said.

Additional art, music and remedial reading teachers have been added at the elementary level. A remedial reading teacher will be employed at each school while art and music teachers will be shared between elementary schools and the Cooke Junior High Annex.

Extra sections of kindergarten have also been added, with a total of nine sections in the district this year.

Tax Notes OK'd

The Municipal Finance Commission, has approved $300,000 of tax anticipation notes operating current fiscal year for Novi Community School District, it was announced this past week.

Attorney General Frank Kelley said, "The proceeds will be used to meet necessary expenses until taxes are collected. These notes are to be dated September 1, 1970, are to be due April 30, 1971, and will carry a maximum interest rate of 6 percent per annum."

Besides Kelley, who is chairman of the commission, other members are Allison Green, state treasurer, and John W. Porter, acting superintendent of public instruction.

been cut, and the battery yanked out.

Ronald Cuda, field representative for the 7-11 Food Stores, had a case of keys taken from the front seat of his car as it was parked Thursday in front of the 7-11 Food Market at 24111 Meadowbrook Road, police reported.

A total of $450 was taken from the home of Frank Jansen, 39700 Grand River on Wednesday while he and his wife were away on business, police reported.

According to police, the Jansens were entering the driveway of their home when they surprised the thieves, who fled leaving behind various items they had attempted to steal.

Police have the matter under investigation.

Two separate battery thefts occurred over the week-end. The first was reported Saturday by Margaret Goodling of 1635 West Lake Drive. A 12-volt battery was stolen from her car as it was parked in front of her home. Police report that the theft took place sometime after midnight.

The second theft was discovered Monday morning by Guy Head, owner of the Head Construction company, currently doing sewer construction on West Lake Drive. Head's loss consisted of two batteries, each weighing 100-pounds, and $20 worth of tools. Total loss was estimated at $189, police reported.

Mrs. Hugh Rader, of 41329 Llewellyn Road, reported Friday the theft of $350 from her home

Latex HOUSE PAINT

$6.97 Your house stretches and shrinks with variations in temperature and humidity. It's this expansion and contraction that most often causes house paint to work loose, crack and peel. The flexibility of Sun-Proof Latex House Paint enables it to resist the stress and strain that ruptures an otherwise sound paint film. It resists cracking, peeling and flaking ... lasts longer and saves you money! Come in today for a free color chart.

They Express Views

'1970 budget makes possible...reinstatement, of some of the 1968 cuts...'

Raymond Spear
Superintendent,
Northville Public Schools

The Board of Education, Administration and Teaching Staff of the Northville Public Schools are pleased to have an opportunity to bring you greetings in the Back to School Edition of The Northville Record.

With negotiations completed between the District and the Teachers' Association, and the beginning of the final year of a three-year contractual agreement between the District and all classified personnel (exclusive of secretaries), the Board and Administration have finalized a required budget for 1970-71 which reflects a sound educational program and, at the same time, offers taxpayers a financial relief unobtainable over the past several years.

It is heartening to note that in 1968, just two years ago, our budget required a program reduction of some $100,000 (representing two mills). Our 1970 budget makes possible the meeting of all increased costs, reinstatement of some of the 1968 cuts and, at the same time, permits the District to levy two mills less for operation than has been legally authorized by the voters of the District. This reduction is primarily the result of increased revenue, due to an increase in the District's State Equalized Valuation (S.E.V.) and the recently approved 1970-71 State Aid allocation of the State Legislature.

The summer months have found us all busily preparing for the September 10th official opening of the Northville Public Schools' doors.

Buildings have been carefully cleaned to a high polish by our custodial and maintenance staff.

Records and files have been brought up to date and readied for school opening by our fine secretarial staff.

Bus engines are humming, and the wheels are ready to roll. Cafeteria personnel are ready to put the kettles on.

Teachers have been engaged in travel, summer college attendance and/or vacationing and home duties needing attention.

Building Principals have been working on 1970-71 class scheduling, along with preparing for implementation of new programs and meeting the needs for increased enrollments. Last-minute efforts are being given to assure the availability of supplies and materials for students and teachers on the first day of classes.

The Board of Education and Central Administrative Staff have been overseeing the Building Program; finalizing details for new programs and expansion of existing programs; dealing with final budget preparation; implementing the recent Supreme Court decision which requires public schools to furnish books and supplies free of charge; and clearing up odds and ends which were carried over from the 1969-70 school year as well as setting sights on areas needing careful consideration during the 1970-71 school year.

It takes a great deal of planning and careful implementation to make your schools operate efficiently and effectively. The combined efforts of all members of the Staff of the Northville Public Schools have readied your biggest and best tax investment, your child's education, for what we hope will be a most successful school year.

Should you have unanswered questions, please feel free to call your Building Principal or the Superintendent's Office.

We look forward to another fine year of working together in meeting the educational needs of your children.

the findings or investigations of each other's offices.

One Wayne County official, for example, in describing the condition of the Middle Rouge said "it is generally good up at Walled Lake but becomes increasingly worse as it passes through Northville and Wayne County." He was unaware that the state had cited the City of Walled Lake for pollution of the lake and Novi for pollution of the stream years ago. Nor was he aware that expensive sewer programs are underway in both these communities to correct these violations.

"It is understandable," explained another official, "that he wouldn't be aware of a problem in another county."

Similarly, some state officials are not aware of tests being conducted this summer by Wayne County on the Rouge and its tributaries in the Northville area.

Also, description of water condition by different officials are not wholly in accord.

Michael Andrews, public health officer for the county's environmental health division, pointed out that his office has been conducting extensive tests of streams and lakes here this summer. Tests have been made on stream water at Novi Road, Griswold, Park Place, River Avenue, Randolph at Eight Mile and behind the fish hatchery park property as well as on water at Waterford (Six Mile) and Phoenix (Five Mile) lakes.

Curtis Lake (or Silver Springs Lake on the Levitt property), only natural lake in Wayne County, was not tested, Andrews said.

While testing is incomplete and inconclusive, he indicated that preliminary findings show that stream and lake water is barely within the acceptable limits for partial body contact (boating, fishing, trapping, and wading) but far beyond the acceptable limits for total body contact (swimming and diving).

However, John Bohinsky, Michigan regional engineer at Lansing, who referred to the state's survey of the Middle Rouge in 1966, said the water at that time was unfit for either partial or total body contact. "And there's been little change," he said, "to indicate that the condition should be any better today. If anything, it's probably worse."

He indicated tests of stream water south of Eight Mile Road far exceeded partial body limits.

In fact, Bohinsky said, the water condition in 1966 was so bad it was unfit for fish and waterfowl.

(Interestingly, since then a fish restocking program has been carried on at Phoenix Lake by still another governmental agency.)

Officials were not certain into which of the two categories wading should be placed—partial body or total body contact. Pressed for an answer, they appeared to agree it probably should be classified as partial body contact since the nose and mouth do not come in contact with the water. In the Northville area most body contact with the water is by wading.

If Bohinsky is correct, fishing and even boating could be hazardous to health.

Bohinsky conceded that the 1966 tests were taken just after a rain storm when the greatest pollution through the sewage overflow takes place.

While tests locally showed evidence of body waste, conditions south in Wayne County were considerably worse. "In some places elsewhere in Wayne County, the show-up of such waste was so extensive 'you'd have to call it raw sewage,'" the Record was told.

Another state official played down the 1966 tests "because they were taken at the worst possible time (after a storm)."

Wayne Deniston, health official at the state's downriver office, said most of the sewage problems occur at some 17 or 18 overflow points along the sewer interceptor. One of these is located at Phoenix Lake, he said.

He described an overflow point as a "safety valve" that opens during a storm to let off flow greater than the capacity of the sewer line.

"No matter how hard you try," said Bohinsky, "it's awfully difficult to prevent storm water from getting into sanitary sewer lines." These storm waters, particularly as in the case of the flood two years ago, seep into the sanitary sewer lines, overload them and eventually get back into the streams and lakes at the overflow points as a mixture of storm water and domestic waste, he said.

Septic tanks of some homes, particularly in the Wilcox Pond area of Plymouth Township, empty directly into the stream, Deniston said.

Neither county nor state officials are aware of any similar discharges of sanitary sewage wastes into the streams here by homes or businesses. However, The Record has received an unconfirmed report of contamination of the stream running on the south side of St. Paul's Lutheran School. City Manager Frank Ollendorff explained that this report probably referred to a line break that occurred recently but which was immediately repaired.

Although county and state officials agreed that the major pollutant of the stream as it passes through Northville is domestic or human waste, they have no evidence to indicate where violations may be occurring locally. And since the closest "overflow point" is located downstream at Phoenix Lake, contamination here by such sources can be ruled out, they indicated.

A number of industrial business places named in the state's 1966 report as contributing to the contamination of the Rouge have "pretty much cleaned up their problems," said state officials who make periodic checks.

Parmenter's Cider Mill was listed in that report but its problem was quickly solved, the state said.

Little or no pollution of the stream is contributed by the Ford Valve Plant or by Federal Mogul's Haller Division in Northville Township, officials said.

Complaints that several months ago led to an investigation of an overflow storm sewer from the Mergraf Oil Company property into the stream near the town well led to installation of a "separator" that according to both county and state officials "appears to have stopped" the flow of oil into the stream.

Nevertheless, Bohinsky said the state will begin a geological survey soon to determine if oil waste products at Mergraf are contaminating ground water as some officials suspect.

Asked about Novi plants on or near the stream or its branches, state officials indicated that where industrial waste problems existed in the past satisfactory correctional programs have been developed. Inter-Lake window's installation recently of a pollution control device was given as an example of voluntary correctional steps taken by some Novi plants.

No pollution at the Paragon Division and General Filters plants in Novi has been detected recently, the state said.

According to County Commissioner Carl Pursell of Plymouth, who spearheaded investigations of Mergraf Oil that led to installation of the oil separator, the Middle Rouge pollution problem has been placed in the lap of the county drain commission and it is presently engaged in preliminary studies for corrective programs. The drain commissioner, he said, met with federal officials this month and has been discussing possible solutions with other governmental agencies as well as the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

(Not long ago representatives of the Army Corps of Engineers visited The Record office and obtained photographs of the 1968 flood occurring here. The photographs, they said, were to become part of a study of flood conditions along the Middle Rouge.)

The commissioner said his own investigation of water condition along the Middle Rouge supports Bohinsky's observation that the water is polluted and perhaps unsafe for even wading.

However, he said many more tests must be made to accurately gauge the condition of the water and to pinpoint causes. Additional samplings are likely to come out of the drain commission's studies and suggested solution programs, he indicated.

Pursell, who recommended that the drain commission be given the responsibility of developing a correctional plan, following hearings on the matter, said the drain commission is perhaps best able to coordinate the intergovernmental support that will be needed to clean up the stream and adjoining lakes. A coordinated effort under a single agency is essential, he said.

He noted that the drain commissioner in making refund payments two weeks ago to municipalities in the Middle Rouge Parkway Interceptor Drainage District urged municipalities to use the money "for engineering studies to combat pollution of the Rouge River."

The city of Northville's check was for $4,345.20, the township's for $3,374.11. Other municipalities received greater amounts, up to $30,935.98 in the case of Dearborn Heights.

'We Offer You Some Security in Our World Today'

Thomas Dale
Superintendent,
Novi Public Schools

Our world today is often frightening to children. Change within our society, at times, "takes place right before our eyes" as if we were watching a condensed movie version of some historic event. That's the rapid, hectic pace of living today and growing children are not immune from it. Nor are our growing children separated from society's rapid pace since they, too, are part of society.

The growing child observes things around him. He makes little mental notes of them. Sometimes he makes big mental notes of them, when he's really impressed.

If he likes the things he sees, he is pleased. If he dislikes the things he sees, he is hurt or angry. And, so, his life goes.

If change takes place too rapidly the growing child becomes unsettled. He doesn't know what to make of events and he often becomes frightened and insecure.

You have experienced the same process in your growing up.

But, did you ever stop to think about one stabilizing factor which was a large part of your growing life? The answer is school.

Throughout your teeming years school was the place that never changed. Sometimes you did things differently from days or years before but the outcome was the same, learning about countries, learning about people, learning about things. You thought, you processed, you refined and finally out popped solutions.

You loved school and at times you hated school. It gathered you with your friends, it taught you things, and at the same time, underneath it all, it gave you some security.

Soon we will open the doors again for another school year. If you're going back to school we offer you some security in our world today. If you're out of school we've given you much already. Either way, Novi schools wishes you good fortune in the ensuing year.

Denmark Official Visits Here

Robert Shafer, 18101 Sheldon Road, is hosting A. P. Tage, a civil defense worker from Denmark, in his home.

Tage is one of 33 civil defense officials touring U. S. civil defense headquarters in Washington, Battle Creek, Boston, Atlanta, and other U. S. cities. He will be interested in the status of civil defense in Northville.

Shafer is one of the Musical Youth International hosts for the 33 members of People to People — Scandinavia while they are in Michigan. The MYI band and choir will tour Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Poland, Germany, and The Netherlands in 1971.

Northville High School students are among those selected for the summer tours each year in auditions held in Saline, Michigan, Sarnia, Ontario, and other places in the Great Lakes area. The last Saturday in September and all the weekends in October will be used in 1970 to select the 50 girls and 50 boys for the 1971 band and choir.

For the third year, Ed Downing of Huron High School in Ann Arbor has been chosen as the band conductor. For the seventh year, Ray Voorhees of Fenton High School has been named choir conductor.

Appointments for auditions may be made by contacting Mrs. Lester McCoy, 7443 East Michigan Avenue, Saline, Michigan, telephone 429-9734. She is the executive director of MYI, which has performed at national capitols in Mexico, Canada, Japan, the U.S., and European nations, as well as on television, live at two world's fairs, and in major concert halls and cathedrals.

Margaret Becker of Northville was the winner of the first Bursley — Eisenhower awards. State Senator Gilbert E. Bursley of Ann Arbor annually presents a plaque and a certificate authorized by the Eisenhower family to the writer of the best essay about the MYI tour and its role in international understanding. Mrs. Mamie Doud Eisenhower is the Honorary Chairman of the Board of Directors of MYI.

Musical Youth International regularly wins international competitions and the highest possible praise from music conductors, church leaders, and government officials wherever the 100 goodwill ambassadors age 16 to 18 perform.

Buildings at Peak Capacity

With the opening of Northville schools Thursday, September 10, nearly all buildings will be operating at peak capacity since the plumbers strike set back construction of additions to schools by approximately three months.

Construction at Cooke Junior High Annex has been completed with the school ready for the opening date.

Main Street Elementary construction has been completed except for final plumbing. The building entrance, new first floor office, team teaching room, kindergarten room, faculty work area and renovation of the multi-purpose room have all been completed.

Moraine Elementary will be operating with one less classroom until completion of construction, expected in early spring. The classroom was removed when a corridor to the new seven room classroom wing was constructed.

"Art classes will most likely be held in the centrum," Superintendent Raymond Spear said. "The building will be over-taxed when it opens."

Amernan Elementary will also be operating at maximum capacity but Spear said he sees no major problems. The addition, including multi-purpose room, four classrooms and four team teaching areas, should be completed in the spring.

Expansion of the library at Cooke Junior High is completed, as are new shower and locker facilities and the faculty work area. Seven new classrooms and the instrumental music area should be ready by early spring. Spear said he sees no problem with over-crowding at the school.

Northville High will be the hardest hit by the construction delay. "The utilization will be beyond capacity," the superintendent commented, "with the auditorium, band and vocal rooms used as academic classrooms."

Classrooms along the glassed central corridor are expected to be completed by late November or early December. As they are completed, classes will be moved, with existing rooms remodeled. The building will be completed in late spring.

Anticipated enrollment in the district is expected to top 3,202, an increase of 33 students over the June closing figure of 3,120. Elementary student population is estimated at 1,392 with approximately 460 students in each school. About 220 kindergartners are expected September 10, 42 fewer than the 262 fifth graders who were enrolled in June.

Junior high students (grades six through eight) are expected to number 760 while 1,050 students are expected at Northville High.

Ten new teachers have been hired by the district bringing the total staff to 152. Three teachers have been added at the elementary and high school level while four positions dropped in 1968 have been reinstated. Our teacher has been hired for each of the following classes at the elementary and sixth grade level: remedial reading, art, music and physical education.

Top Tiger Moves Up

Northville's Fred Holdsworth, drafted in June by the Detroit Tigers, is already making his mark in the Tiger organization.

The hard-throwing right hander was recently moved up to Detroit's Lakeland, Florida (Class A) farm club after posting the best won-loss and earned run average with Bristol (Rookie Class) of the Appalachian League.

The top pitcher in the Wayne-Oakland Conference the past year, Holdsworth had a 5-0 log and a 1.45 earned run average with Bristol before being promoted.

Holdsworth, who was valedictorian of the '70 class, is scheduled to enter the University of Michigan in the fall. At Northville High he starred in football and basketball, as well as baseball.

Bristol was languishing in fourth place. Lakeland is in second place in the Florida State League.

St. Germain 5th in Open

A strong finish in the last two rounds earned Northville's Jim St. Germain $550 and fifth place in the Michigan Open at Bedford Valley Country Club last week.

The Meadowbrook assistant professional fired a three-under-par 69 Saturday and finished with a par 72 Sunday for a total, five strokes off the pace set by winner Wally Burkemo, the ex-national PGA champion and four-time winner of the Michigan Open.

Amateur George Catto of Wixom finished well up in the field with a 303 total, while Ernie Burgess, also an assistant professional at Meadowbrook Country Club, skied to an 86 in the final round for 312.

Fires Ace

A Southfield man, Burton Kaye, shot a hole in one Thursday morning at Brooklane Golf Course in Northville Township.

Kaye, who carded a 35 for his nine-hole round, used a nine iron in shooting his ace on the 132-yard sixth hole. The shot was witnessed by his partner, Rick Siegel.

It was Kaye's first hole in one in four years of playing golf.

Cross Country

Practice Set

Northville athletes will take their suits out of storage next week in preparation for the cross country season opener against Dearborn Crestwood September 15.

Coach Ben Lauber has scheduled the beginning of practice for 9 a.m. Monday morning at the high school gymnasium.

"Any boy showing up Monday" said Lauber, "will have to have a completed physical form. These can be obtained in the high school office during regular hours 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m."

"We'll be concentrating on the two mile," said Lauber, "getting our runners in shape — for that will be important."

Lauber said he expects toughest competition this season from Clarkston. "They had a good record last year and they'll have quite a few lettermen returning this year. All and all they should be quite tough."

Grid Hopefuls Sweat Out Early Drills

Drills and buckets of sweat were the order of the day at Northville and Novi high schools this week as recruits began early workouts in anticipation of the 1970 grid season that opens September 18.

(Northville hosts Plymouth and Novi travels to Hartland in the openers).

This is the first year the Michigan High School Athletic Association has permitted practice during the final week in August, and both squads are taking full advantage of the bonus within the ground rules of the MHSAA. Rulings limit equipment to helmets, shoes and balls with no physical contact.

In Northville, Head Coach Alex Klukach hustled a 49-man turnout through a week of two-a-day drills with emphasis on conditioning and "getting assignments straight."

"We're going to get them in shape this week and run some passing and running plays next week when we can use some more equipment and we've got our pads," said Klukach.

"We're about average on returning experience," the coach commented early this week in noting the return of 12 lettermen.

"I think our strong point will be our defensive team," he continued. "We've got a lot of experience there and we shouldn't have many problems."

But lack of depth in the backfield may spell trouble, the coach admitted. Backbone there will Bernie Bach. "He's a good receiver, and we hope he can do the job for us," said Klukach. "But we just don't have the backs this year that we usually have."

Bach, a 6' 2", 200-pound senior, played tight-end last year and is slated to perform at fullback this season.

"As far as our line is concerned I think we'll be able to stay with people more this year than last. We were light last year but now we're a little heavier."

In that line, Klukach pointed to returning lettermen Doug Boor, Chuck Cook, Scott Evans, Steve Knapp, Steve McIntire, John Murtha, Richard Ruland, and Bob Stoddard, who together average 189 pounds in six-foot frames.

The quarterback position is still up for grabs. "We've got three contenders," said the coach. "Steve Utley (6' 2", 180), Brad Coe (6' 2", 175), and Bill Andrews (5' 10", 155)."

Each is capable, according to Klukach, but "I have no idea who'll make it and who won't."

The league season is still several weeks away, but Klukach sees the October 16 clash with Bloomfield Hills Andover as the Mustangs' greatest challenge. "They've always been big and they've got a lot of returning talent this year. They'll unquestionably be tough to deal with."

The Mustangs would like to avenge the 24-0 swamping at the hands of the Barons last year.

Optimism prevailed at Novi as Coach John Osborne pushed his football hopefuls through drills.

"After a summer, conditioning definitely will be a weakness, but we're not bad off," he said.

Pleased with the school's biggest turnout—51 prospects—Osborne is using the extra week of practice for cementing fundamentals and working out offensive and defensive formations with his more experienced players.

"Generally, though, we're taking this week slow—building up legs and endurance. But the pace definitely will pick up next week and even more during the last two weeks (before September 18)."

Next week will be important, he said. "We'll have our pads then and will be able to get down to working twice a day."

The Wildcats are spending this week in one-a-day sessions for two hours each afternoon.

"Our biggest trouble is going to be the holes in our offensive backfield and offensive line resulting from graduation," Osborne said. "We lost two tackles, a guard, an end, and a center and we just haven't any depth to our backfield. That's what we've got to build—depth."

Osborne is counting on performances by returning lettermen Tom Boyer, Tom Van Wagner, Bob Pisha, Bob Vivian and Steve Bosak.

"Boyer (5' 10", 150) at quarterback is quick and should help us a lot," the coach observed. "And Van Wagner (5' 8", 195) at offensive guard and defensive line-backer is a strong boy. He's put on a lot of weight over the summer and he should see some good action. He's a point we'll have to build around in our offensive line."

Pisha, a junior at 6' 3", 218, is short on experience, admitted Osborne. He broke an ankle early last year but "he was doing good until then and we look for him to do a fine job this year at defensive tackle."

"Our 'Monster Man' is Steve Bosak," said Osborne. "He's 5' 8", 150 pounds and fast, and we can put him about anywhere." Bosak also is a prime candidate for a kicking position, added the coach.

Vivian (6', 161), a senior, had a "fine record" at defensive end last year, according to his coach, and "we're counting on him this year to keep it up."

Although he didn't win a letter last year, Terry Auten, a junior, wrestled at the junior varsity level and, according to Osborne, "has been lifting weights all summer. He's at 6' 1", 217 pounds now and should be an excellent prospect."

Osborne also is counting on Gary Collins and Pat Boyer, both of whom are returning as sophomores.

Collins (6' 180) played varsity ball as a freshman and the coach plans to make good use of him as a linebacker. Boyer (6', 156) "will serve well as a running back," said Osborne.

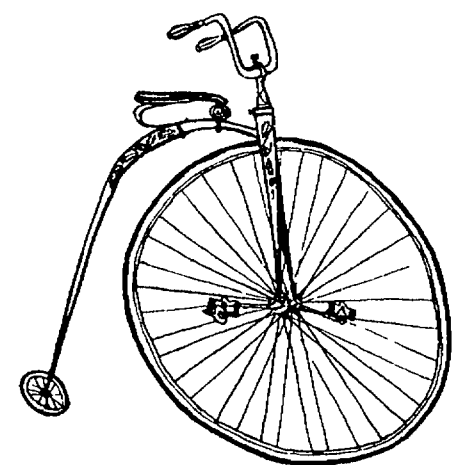

BUSHED, A WINDED MUSTANG TAKES A BREATH DURING EARLY DRILLS

NAME OF GAME — "Grab it any way you can," says the coach and Novi recruits follow word with deed. It's only practice the first day of four weeks practice before the season opener with Hartland September 18, but the idea is to learn to catch and hold the ball.

Salaries Boosted For Administrators

Salary scheduled for 11 administrators in Northville School District were announced this week by Superintendent Raymond Spear.

Increases over last year range from $1,500 to $2,700. Compared with increases won by teachers in the 1970-71 master contract, Spear said "The minimum raise, is lower than that for administrators, but the maximum is greater."

A teacher who holds a masters degree and was on the tenth step last year earned $12,416 and will earn $15,150 on the eleventh step this year, an increase of $2,734. Beginning bachelor degree teachers earned $7,475 last year and will earn $8,000 this year, an increase of $525.

Salaries include Spear, $25,000 compared with $22,800 last year; Florence Panattoni, curriculum coordinator, $18,600 up from $16,700; Earl Busard, business

"Nobody is more concerned about pollution than we," said Swain, who is co-author of a pollution control book (Industrial Oily Waste Control) and a member of state and federal pollution control committees. "We're working closely with county and state officials to eliminate even the possibility of ground or air pollution."

But even with the best equipment, he admitted, "we'll still have the 'idiot factor' to contend with." He defined this factor as the 'idiot' who accidentally turns a wrong valve at the wrong time.

Mergraf refines some 6 million gallons of industrial oil—primarily from General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—each year. It also operates a plant in Indianapolis.

Much of the material refined the same kind of oil that in the past several years was dumped along roadsides and into streams by so-called illegal phantom dumpers. (Three years ago a truckload of waste oil was dumped into a branch of the Rouge in Novi, resulting in the killing of wildfowl and fish). "That's the kind of pollution we're preventing," said Swain.

Northville police records show that one or more odor complaints were made on July 7, July 8, and August 29 of 1969, and on June 12, June 13, July 2, July 22, July 24, July 25, August 3, August 5, and August 7 of this year.

Most of the complaints were made late at night or early in morning.

Last month, for example, Mrs. Della Gustaff of 350 Debra lane was awakened by the odor at 1:35 a.m. Five minutes later Mrs. Edgar Wilder, 615 Grace Street, also was awakened and called police.

Earlier, Norman Frid, 374 North Rogers, who signed a complaint, said he went to bed smelling the odor at 10 p.m. and that by 12:30 p.m. it had become so bad that it irritated his throat.

Most of the complainants, said Cliff Andrus of the county's air pollution control division, describe the smell as "rotten eggs" indicating the presence of hydrogen sulfide. Swain, however, said there is no hydrogen involved in the plant's refining process.

"Our difficulty," Andrus explained "has been that by the time we receive the complaint and arrive at Northville the odor has disappeared. Frankly, we've not been able to definitely pinpoint the problem. We're continuing our investigation."

On Friday representatives of the county division began a testing program at and near the Mergraf property that, reportedly, will verify the presence of odor and help determine the chemical process causing the odor.

Meanwhile, spokesmen are urging residents who find their noses quivering from foul smells to report the times, places and their names to the police department.

"Police have our number and are instructed to call us any time of the day or night if the odor is persistently offensive."

Stimulate Your Mind! Join Great Books Group

Liberal education is that precise training that stimulates and exercises the intellect. It makes you think clearer, read better, speak to the point and listen with profit.

This invaluable adult training is available to all citizens of Livonia, Plymouth, Farmington, Redford, Northville, and Garden City... without cost... through Livonia's Great Books Group, sponsored by the Livonia Adult Education Department and the Livonia Library.

"Great Books" is the name for a course of Adult Education study that brings "liberal arts" training or "training of the intellect" within the grasp of every adult American regardless of prior education training. It is based on the sound truth that the mind like the body, to be healthy, must continually be nourished, challenged and strained. But unlike the body, the minds growth need never stops.

First meeting of this series is Thursday, September 17, at 8:15 p.m., at the Carl Sandburg Library, 30100 Seven Mile Road. The reading for discussion that night is Melville's, Billy Budd, Foretopman. Come and register at this meeting or call Val Kastner 349-4757 or Barbara Burgess 421-1736.

reach contractual accord," said Dr. Bradner. "My office will provide complete information about the resumption of the fall semester activities at Schoolcraft College just as soon as revised schedules can be established."

Meanwhile, teachers began picketing the school Monday.

According to Larry VanderMolen, spokesman for the Schoolcraft Faculty Forum, faculty bargaining agent, teachers voted "overwhelmingly" to withhold services (strike) without a contract.

It was in view of that action and probably to prevent last-minute postponement, Thursday that the college president early this week postponed all school activities, including both day and night classes and teacher meetings.

With formal negotiations not scheduled to resume as late as Tuesday afternoon because the state mediator has called for a cooling off period, still unresolved are several non-monetary issues, VanderMolen said. These include, he explained, "preservation of current professional right including faculty involvement in decision-making, academic freedom, and job security."

While formal negotiations were not scheduled to resume, a college spokesman told The Record private, informal negotiations may take place prior to formal resumption.

THE SOUTH LYON
HERALD

Wed.-Thurs., August 26-27, 1970

JUST A HOBBY - South Lyon's Dan Wilkow, right, and Novi's Norm Rust, left, have an interesting hobby. They and an ever increasing number of men and women from all areas and all occupations, all across the country, have taken up skydiving. Why? "If you've done it...you know why," says Wilkow.

FROM ON HIGH - A Bird's (sport parachutist's) eye view from 7,000 feet.

AT 7,500 FEET - Norm Rust, of Novi, takes one last look back into the airplane before diving into space. He's had 700 jumps with no malfunctions.

LAST STEP - It's a long way down for Dan Wilkow who none the less keeps coming back for more. He's been doing this since 1961.

Middle Age Bracer

Tonic for Boredom: Try Diving into Space from Plane

Have you ever been on a one way street—with the arrow going the wrong way?

Sometimes for a skydiver—sport parachutist—clinging to an airplane strut 7,500 feet off the ground the arrow points down and he begins to wonder about one-way streets.

He's got two choices: crawl back into the plane or let go.

If he chooses to follow directions he could be traveling 120 miles an hour—that's 1,000 feet in six seconds—before his chute opens.

Dan Wilkow, of South Lyon, a member of POPS (Parachutists Over Forty Society), has been following directions for years, and setting an example for those "youngsters" who fear middle age will be boring.

POPS is a national organization for those over 40 who refuse to retire to the more conventional modes of entertainment.

Wilkow, 43, with 302 jumps under his belt, claims the sensation changes every time. "It defies explanation," he says, "It's like doing the thing which you enjoy most in the world. How are you going to tell somebody who hasn't done it how you feel? If you have done it...you know," he adds.

Another area jumper is Norm Rust of Novi. Being only 38, he's not a member of POPS but he has 700 jumps to his credit.

He can't describe it either. When you ask him he sits with a quizzical look on his face and says simply: "Freefall, before you pop your chute is the whole thing; you're just lying out there flying, you have complete control over your body and movement."

The two recall a description offered by another jumper some time ago. "She said 'Wilkow smiles 'It's just like there's God and me out there, with nobody else'. That's corny, but it's something like that."

Wilkow took up the sport in 1961 when, as a pilot owning his own plane, he hired out weekends to fly jumpers from a drop zone in Marshall.

A drop zone, Wilkow explains, is any field complying with standards set by the United States Parachutists Association (USPA) that trains novices to jump.

"I'd been flying since 1943," he says. "I always was an airplane kid. When I was about 10 we used to go over to Burns airport (then at Plymouth and Telegraph in Detroit) near where I was born and watch them take off and land... I've always loved planes."

Rust notes he had been jumping since 1963 when some friends got him interested enough to go to a drop zone formerly near Old Plank Road.

"I tried it, and I've been doing it ever since," he says.

Sport parachutists jump competitively in events throughout the country, according to Wilkow.

Contests in accuracy as well as form are sponsored throughout the year by the USPA.

"In a style meet for instance," says Wilkow, "you start out at 7000 feet parallel to some fixed point on the ground, usually a line laid out by judges. You get points on the time it takes you to complete a series of maneuvers in free fall."

For instance, Wilkow continues you can do a 360 degree right turn, then a 360 degree left turn, then a back loop - that's called a right series. Usually you do two right, or two left series for your showing.

The fastest time gets zero points and is considered base. One point is given to a jumper for every 1/10 of a second over base that it takes him to complete his showing," Wilkow explains.

Accuracy jumping is more difficult, according to Rust.

A jumper leaves the plane at 3000 feet and is judged on how close he can come to a 10-centimeter wide target set on the ground. "That's about five inches across," says Rust.

In national and international competition, a jumper is judged on overall performance, Wilkow points out, but the contests are held separately and there are titles to be won in each.

How do you learn?

A novice jumper must make five "static line" jumps before he can do his first free fall. A static line is a cord sewn into a jumpers pilot chute and connected to the airplane by approximately eight feet of slack.

"An experienced jumper pulls his rip cord, thereby opening the pack and letting his pilot out. The pilot fills with air and yanks the main out of the pack," Wilkow explains. "A static line is for a student in case he panics and forgets to pull his rip cord, the static pulls it for him."

After the static jumps, the student makes several jumps in which he has to pull his rip cord before the static line pops his chute.

"There's only about eight feet of slack so there's not much time," Wilkow notes. "The purpose of the exercise is to show the jumpmaster that you have presence of mind to handle yourself in an emergency."

Licenses are issued by the USPA. Classes run A thru D with 10 jumps required for a class A, 30 for a class B, 80 for a class C and 205 for a class D.

Wilkow points out that USPA standards are not enforceable as law. He explains that the Federal Aeronautics Association, (FAA), the federal body regulation sport parachuting, is much more lax.

"According to the FAA," Wilkow explains, "You don't have to have a static for your first jump, you do need a licensed pilot to fly you, and a licensed packer to pack your reserve, but you can jump without instruction."

How dangerous is it? According to Rust and Wilkow the sport is easy: "all you do is fall out of the plane and remember to pull your rip cord."

"The biggest danger," says Rust, "is getting your lines tangled. If that happens, and it's bad enough, sometimes you have to cut the line and go down on your reserve chute."

"You can also get a Mae West," adds Wilkow.

"That happens sometimes when a line goes over your chute causing it to bloom out on two sides," he explains.

"When your chute opens, there's a primary shock. Your lines stretch, like elastic, and you snap back, that's your secondary shock. Sometimes between the primary and the secondary a line will actually loop over the chute and if it doesn't slide back off you'll have to cut it."

"Whether or not it's dangerous," he continues, "depends on whether or not you're careful and whether or not you can keep your head."

The two were among a group of jumpers that performed at the recent Northville Fair and at last weekend's Gala Days in Novi. They enjoy it, they intend to continue it, and neither has any problem "keeping their head."

Who was it said life ends at thirty-eight, or maybe forty...?

GOTTA BE RIGHT - Both Wilkow and Rust pack their own main chutes. Reserves must be packed by a licensed rigger they say. Here Rust begins the process of straightening rigging and chute folds.

SNAPPING UP - Norm Rust, of Novi, knows his chute must be packed right, he does it himself.

Cozy Lodge In-The-Woods

THE SPORTSMAN

Outdoorsman? Here's a lodge you'll love! They're designed for the wilderness. Rustic. Rugged. Durable solid white Cedar. You never have to putter around these lodges. Weathering improves them. Virtually no maintenance. Pick your spot. In hunting country. Or where the fishing is best. We'll erect it in a hurry. And you can forget it except to enjoy yourself in your great out-of-doors retreat. ATH lodges are for sportsmen.

This newspaper will arrange for you to receive full information. Write Box 402 in care of The Northville Record, Northville, Michigan 48167, or phone 349-1700 and ask for details to be mailed to you.

'Make-Believe' Infects Society

Are we living in a world of "make-believe"? Too often we slip into this world, perhaps without realizing that we are great pretenders.

One of the news columnists occasionally writes about "his government", pretending that for a day he would run the country. He is indulging in the fantasy world of "make-believe". When you visit movie sets, you will see this illusion business carried out by the professionals. You see a whole house, a rain storm, a ship at sea, a mountain scene, a cruising automobile, even a man or a woman, but then fall back to the place of judgement of others (God's right alone), or depending on our own opinions rather than the Spirit of Christ and the words of Scripture to guide our actions. We suddenly think we can go our own way without Him; this is the great pretension, the great "make-believe" that is a kind of self-deification. We must accept ourselves as He does, sinners whose desire for forgiveness leads to a repentant attitude. We must know that in Christ we know God's eternal grace, His gift to us who need help.

If we wish to enjoy the world of

"make-believe" as entertainment, let us do so. But never let it be said that we offer ourselves to God, but only that part that shows. It must be the whole person, the whole soul, the whole life, and they aren't as they appear to be—all is not true or real. "Make-believe" is part of our world. "Make-believe" we know.

This "make-believe" world of fantasy, of pretension, infects our whole society, and the people in it. We must examine ourselves and see how much we are pretending to be someone that we aren't. We make a Christian profession, unite with Christ's Church,

This is Mary Sue. She has nice clothes and good food. I know, because sometimes I help feed and dress her.

What she doesn't have is a mother and a father. Oh, she has parents, but they're judged unfit to care for her.

Things must have been pretty bad for her at home. It took a long time to win her trust. The day she smiled was a major triumph for us all.

I'm a teen-age volunteer at a foundling home operated by our church. For most of the youngsters, this is the first experience with love and kindness, good food and clean clothes. Now I realize how important is our church's mission work.

Your church interprets God's love in its ministry to the sick and starving, the aged and the dispossessed.

Support your church. Find joy in serving others.

Apollo 11 Module, Moon Rocks

On Display at State Capitol

LANSING — It has been more than a year now since Americans watched their television sets transfixed as Neil Armstrong took mankind's first step on the moon.

Michigan residents will have a unique opportunity at the end of August to take a personal look at the 'capsule, in which Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin E. Aldrin, Jr., made their ride to and from the moon.

The six-ton Apollo 11 Command module "Columbia" and a moon rock sample will be on display at the State Capitol in Lansing Aug. 28 through Aug. 31.

Each of the four days it will be open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

THE MODULE is on a tour of the 50 states, and Michigan is the 20th state it will visit.

It will come here from Indianapolis and will go to Columbus, Ohio, from here.

Officials at the National Aeronautics and Space

Administration (NASA), who are sponsoring the tour, say 40,000 to 50,000 persons can be expected to view the exhibit in Lansing.

THE SPACECRAFT exhibit is being transported in a 40-foot long trailer van which has side panels that fold out when the display is set up. Visitors pass over two walk-through ramps on either side of the Apollo 11 spacecraft to view the interior through hatch windows.

It's back to school time in Michigan again and if the best estimates of the state education department are correct about 2,190,000 children will be swarming through the doors of Michigan's public school system. The projected total enrollment is an increase of only 20,000 over last year's enrollment—an indication the massive increases in the numbers of children which have hit schools in recent years may be on the wane at least for a while.

THE CURRENT estimate is a sharp drop from the original department estimate put forth back in January when it was estimated 2,220,000 students would be attending public schools this year.

The state Board of Education revised this downward to 2,210,000 in the spring and the Legislature dropped it to 2,182,000 when it drew up the school aid bill.

There are a variety of reasons for the variations in estimates. Among them are in-migration and out-migration to and from the state, dropouts and the enrollment of non-public schools. Department experts say that in times when the economy softens, dropouts increases as more persons feel compelled to quit school to take a job.

AT THE SAME TIME, more families may move into the state because of a belief that jobs can be found in Michigan.

A weak economy which throws more variables into the picture just makes it harder to figure.

If a sampling taken recently on the Mackinac Bridge holds true for the rest of the time, more boats go over the Mackinac Bridge than under it.

The Bridge Authority conducted a survey of vehicles crossing the bridge during a 48-hour period and found that 1,205 of the 16,605 northbound vehicles were either pulling or carrying boats.

It said about the same ratio existed for southbound traffic—meaning more than 2,400 boats went over the Mackinac Bridge.

During the same period only some 240 boats actually went under the bridge on water, the commission said.

Recognizing the need for advertising on television does little to cushion the ire with which I receive many of them. More and more I am driven to the action that my father took: install a button that would enable me to short circuit the sound without disturbing the picture.

The most noxious of commercials currently appearing on the tube has to be the Winston cigarette advertisement, which proclaims, "What do you want, good grammar or good taste?"

The remark, as everybody knows by now, is a rejoinder to purists who insisted in years past that Winston's original commercial, "Winston's taste good like a cigarette should" was indeed bad grammar. It should have read, "Winston's taste good as a cigarette should."

True enough. According to the Oxford English Dictionary, the use of "like" in this context is "vulgar or slovenly." "As" is the appropriate word.

Personally, I knew use of the word "like" was wrong shortly after the commercial came out. Not that I'm a purist. Somebody else pointed it out to me, and I went scurrying to the dictionary and also casually flipped through a few grammar books. So the Winston people were wrong. But I still didn't mind the old commercial. Matter of fact, I liked the use of "like".

The Winston folk must have been aware of their goof shortly after the commercial came out. And there must have been some red faces. But that didn't stop the commercial. For years, Winston stuck with it, and, as I'm told, became the most popular cigarette in the business.

After all those years (perhaps five? ten?), Winston about a year ago decided to put the record straight. On came the new commercial (I refuse to repeat it) and on came my irritation. Why suddenly acknowledge what has been obvious for so long? It's an insult to one's intelligence.

Upon noting my anger at the mere mention of the commercial, a friend of mine offered an explanation. "You're mad, aren't you," he said rhetorically. Mad. I was livid. "But you think about it, anyway, don't you?" he replied.

My friend had a point. And then again, he didn't. If it's the intention of the Winston advertising people to make people remember their product at any cost, then they have suffered the ultimate — loss of a potential customer.

Now to that button. . .

Babson Report

Textile Prospects Look Good

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass. — Certain groups of stocks traditionally tend to advance and fall ahead of the overall market. One of these is textile securities. Assuming this characteristic again asserts itself, textile stocks before too long may become good purchases for short-to-intermediate-term capital gains. Despite its current problems, the textile business still has attractive potential in many markets, such as wearing apparel, home furnishings, industrial products, commercial usage, and carpeting and upholstery for all types of transportation vehicles.

In 1969, the top fifteen U.S. publicly owned textile corporations experienced a record business year. Combined sales managed to hit $6.67 billion, an increase of 7.1% over the 1968 level. Net earnings, however, were cut into by capital improvement expenditures and widening import problems.

RECENT studies indicate rapid changes in population, with the 25-30 age group expected to increase some 60% or more over the next few years. This should be extremely stimulating for the fashion business since people in that age bracket are highly Clothes-conscious. But, as the major mills enjoy an increasingly broad product mix, it should be noted that currently apparel comprises less than 50% of all large mill production.

There are many other bright spots in the textile picture. For example, knitted, tufted, or woven textiles for the home are growing at the rate of 15%-20% a year. Most diversified textile firms are particularly aware of the value of sophisticated marketing techniques and seek steadily stronger consumer outlets for home-furnishing items such as sheets, pillowcases, bed spreads, towels, linens, decorative fabrics, and carpeting. The outlook for these lines is especially promising because of escalating new family formations and still high disposable incomes.

In industrial and commercial buildings, wall-to-wall carpeting is becoming a commonplace in new construction as well as being used to cover surfaces which had required frequent cleaning and buffing. Carpeting gives a look of greater richness and beauty, and over the years it is less expensive to maintain than hard floors. Another expanding sales area is provision of modern and stylish interiors for autos, planes, trains, buses, and other vehicles.

THE DEVELOPMENT of specialty products is a factor worth watching in textiles. Today textile manufacturers sample an average of 20-30 fabric structures each week. Emergence of better products from this research will be the best answer over the longer term to the grinding competition from foreign products. When considering this significant industry, one must not think only of new materials but also of other related growth fields, such as coated fabrics.

The rapidity and degree of the textile industry's revitalization depend on the outcome of the fight to impose some form of restraint on foreign goods. At this writing the issue is still in doubt, but of all the beleaguered domestic industries textiles seem best situated to gain at least temporary relief from low-cost foreign products. Such assistance would give our companies time to get out of lines most vulnerable to foreign rivalry, to upgrade and streamline productive facilities.

THE RESEARCH Staff of Babson's Reports feels that Burlington Industries will be one of the leaders when the uptrend is re-established. It has the worldwide contacts, the reputation and know-how, the capital to become a true international giant. Hence, Babson's Reports is recommending purchase of the common stock of Burlington Industries.

Biggest State Fair Ever Opens Friday

With the biggest lineup of talent and exhibits in its history, the Michigan State Fair opens tomorrow (Friday) and runs through Monday, September 7 (Labor Day).

It's the top entertainment bargain of the year. A million are expected to attend. They'll see and hear free of any extra charge:

—The Music Shell shows, featuring big-name stars.

—Sixteen horse shows in the Coliseum.

—The Grandstand shows, including the Hurricane Hell Drivers and the Mark Wilson Show.

—Livestock and crop exhibits

—Fine arts and community arts exhibits, demonstrations, and shows.

—Commercial exhibits.

—Children's contests.

—A Fairgrounds full of music and fun.

E.J. (Jeff) Keirns, State Fair general manager, said the lineup of entertainment stars "is the best we've ever had."

The list includes Johnny Cash, the living legend, who'll perform in front of the Grandstand on Monday, Aug. 31, at 4 and 8 p.m.

On the fair's first weekend, the Music Shell will feature radio-TV star Art Linkletter; the Young Canadians, a sparkling group of youngsters who sing and dance up a storm; and the Friends of Distinction, a unique new singing group.

Paul Revere and the Raiders, with Mark Lindsay, will perform Sunday through Tuesday, Aug. 30 — Sept. 1, and Charley Pride, a top country star, will be on stage Monday through Wednesday, Aug. 31 — Sept. 2.

TV and movie star James Darren will appear Sept. 3 and 4, along with the Three Degrees, a singing and dancing group. The final three days of the fair will find Roy Clark and the stars of the TV show, Hee Haw, and Oliver, the popular singer, on stage in the Music Shell. On Sunday, Sept. 6, the Fifth Dimension will make a one-day appearance.

The Grandstand shows will feature the Hurricane Hell Drivers the first five days of the fair (through Sept. 1), and Mark Wilson and the Magic Land of Allakazam all through the fair.

In the Coliseum, there will be at least one free horse show each day, with ponies, Percherons, Appaloosas, Morgans, and Arabians being put through their paces by top riders and drivers. The Detroit Mounted Police will perform at each show. For the first three days, through Sunday, Aug. 30, Arthur Godfrey and his trained horse Goldie also will perform.

Michigan's farmers will bring in their top beef cattle, dairy cattle, swine, sheep, rabbits, pigeons, and poultry.

In the Community Arts Building, bakers and seamstresses and painters and sculptors and hobbyists will show their work.

Continuous demonstrations will take place on the Community Arts revolving stage—needlepoint, flower arranging, decoupage, cake decorating, and other arts and crafts. In the auditorium, there will be fashion shows, cooking demonstrations, and even shows telling how to lose weight (with all those cookies around?).

Again this year, the fair continues its theme "Consumer Meets Producer," with state and commodity agencies striving to show the city dweller how his food and clothing are produced by his country cousin. Meat and dairy products will be on display, as will fruits and vegetables.

Many commercial exhibits also are scheduled at the fair.

Of course, the Gay Midway will be in full swing for all fun lovers. The traditional rides such as the merry-go-round and ferris wheel will be there, along with a number of new rides and shows and Tombstone Territory, a re-created Old West village where stunt men hold "shootouts" at intervals during the day.

For the very young, Kiddieland will offer rides that are a bit tamer, along with a collection of young farm animals to see and pet and other attractions.

Every day at the fair is considered Agriculture Day by the State Fair. However, each day has been given a special designation:

Friday, Aug. 28—Grand Opening, with a downtown Detroit parade starting at 11:30 a.m. at the Fisher freeway and moving south on Woodward to Fort Street.

Saturday, Aug. 29—Veterans' Day, with drum-and-bugle corps, marching units, and a ceremony at the Veterans' Monument. It is also Salute to Canada Day.

Sunday, Aug. 30—Religion Day, with a Sunrise Service in the Music Shell at 8 a.m. A second Sunrise Service will be held at 8 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 6.

Monday, Aug. 31—Old Timers' Day, with gifts and special events for the senior citizens.

Tuesday, Sept. 1—Children's Day, Fair Managers' Day, and Farm Bureau Day, with special events scheduled for each group.

Wednesday, Sept. 2—Queens' Day, with the crowning of Miss Michigan State Fair 1970 by Governor Milliken after finals in the Music Shell in the evening.

Thursday, Sept. 3—Governor's Day and Legislators' Day, honoring our elected officials. Also a special salute to agriculture.

Friday, Sept. 4—Family Day.

Saturday, Sept. 5—Michigan Mayors' Day.

Sunday, Sept. 6—International Day, with performances by various ethnic groups.

Monday, Sept. 7—Labor Day, and closing day of the 1970 fair.

Gates at the State Fair will be open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. General admission is $1.50, with children 8 to 12 admitted for 50 cents and children under 8 admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

The State Fairgrounds is located at Woodward and Eight Mile, Detroit, convenient to expressways and major arteries. It is served by the DSR public transit system.

750,000 Trophies Await Anglers

1970: It's Year of The Salmon

Although the Chinese Calendar lists 1970 as the "Year of the Dog," Michigan fishermen will find this is definitely the year of the salmon.

And what a year it should be.

For the first time since salmon were planted in Great Lakes tributaries four years ago, more than one million adult coho and chinook will be available for catching in Lakes Superior, Michigan and Huron.

If Department of Natural Resources officials are correct, approximately three-quarters of these adult salmon will become prized trophies or sumptuous meals before coho and chinook runs are completed.

"The major attraction for anglers will be giant chinook that will weigh up to 50 pounds," explains Jerry E. Fisher, Automobile Club of Michigan touring manager. "Early reports of chinook weighing 80 to 90 pounds being sighted show salmon fever is spreading quickly, if not accurately."

Coho fishing pressure once again will be heaviest along Lake Michigan, where over three million fish were planted in the spring of 1969 compared to only 500,000 in both Lakes Superior and Huron. In all, 24 streams will have coho runs this fall.

Mature chinook runs will be heaviest in five streams—the Big Huron River and Cherry Creek along Lake Superior, the Ocqueoc River along Lake Huron and the Muskegon and Little Manistee rivers along Lake Michigan.

The best chinook catches will be from 1967 planting since they were planted when the fish were 1½ years old and generally they take three to four years to mature. Coho usually mature at three years.

Lake Michigan salmon will be larger than those in the other lakes because of the abundance of their food supply—alewives and smelt. Although some chinook will run between 35 and 50 pounds, most will be between 15 and 35 pounds. Coho will be in the eight to 18-pound range.

The largest chinook was caught earlier this month; it weighed 35 pounds and was taken in Lake Michigan off Muskegon. The biggest coho weighed 21 pounds and was taken in 1967 from Lake Michigan near Manistee.

This year salmon fishing activity began to peak in July on Lake Michigan, with activity on all three lakes expected to be highest later this month and into September as coho and chinook gather for spawning runs at the mouths of streams in which they were planted. The runs extend through early November.

Salmon season ends December 31 on most small streams while it is allowed year-around on major rivers and the Great Lakes.

Although the Department of Natural Resources estimated that 175,000 salmon were caught in 1969 on Lake Michigan, compared to 100,000 the preceding year and only 35,000 in 1967, results from Lake Huron were disappointing. The worst lamprey attack on Lake Huron fish in 20 years and the commercial netting by Canadian fishermen of 35,000 to 40,000 salmon, about 50 percent of the adult coho population in the lake, left anglers with poor to fair sport fishing.

Half the problem has been solved as all but one Lake Huron tributary has been chemically treated to rid lamprey from the lake. Only the Au Sable River should be a major producer of lamprey; it will be treated for 1971. Previously Lake Michigan was treated chemically with successful results.

Among more liberalized rules approved by the Natural Resources Commission is the raising of the legal size of salmon fishing hooks for inland waters to three-quarters of an inch, that measuring between the point of the hook and shank. The larger hook size is considered better for taking the large chinook. Last year's limit was one-half inch.

Salmon still may only be taken by conventional hook and line fishing. Anglers who foul-hook salmon under this type of fishing may again keep these fish as part of the daily creel limit of five.

The outlook for 1971 appears even brighter, especially for coho fishing. There were 4.2 million coho and 2.2 million chinook planted this spring. The coho will be available for catching in 1971. Approximately 500,000 coho were planted in both Lakes Huron and Superior with the remainder placed in Lake Michigan tributaries. A total of 1.5 million chinook were planted in Lake Michigan with 600,000 in Lake Huron and 150,000 in Lake Superior.

First Federal Offers Trip to New York

The First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Livingston County is offering its member, neighbors and friends an escorted deluxe week-end tour to New York City, October 23-25. They have asked the local travel agent Edwin D. Phillips, Sr. of Phillips Travel Service, South Lyon to arrange and escort the tour.

The group will fly from Detroit Metro Friday morning on a United Air Lines Jet to New York City and will enjoy two nights in the heart of Times Square at the Hotel Edison, flying back Sunday night. The tour will also include transfers from airport to hotel and return, orchestra seats to two Broadway stage shows, reserved seats for Saturday matinee in Radio City Music Hall, Gray Line tour of lower Manhattan, guided tour of Lincoln Center, two breakfasts, and all baggage tips.

Your choice of two seats to Broadway stage shows is from this impressive list: "APPLAUSE", "BUTTERFLIES ARE FREE", "COCO", "FIDDLER ON THE ROOF", "FORTY CARATS", "HAIR", "HELLO DOLLY" (with Ethel Merman), "LAST OF THE RED HOT LOVERS", "PROMISES PROMISES", and "1776".

Information and reservations are available from the First Federal offices in Howell, Brighton or South Lyon, or Phillips Travel Service in South Lyon.
