

Court Ruling May Jeopardize School Band Programs

School administrators don't like the idea but they concede the possibility that instrumental music may one day become a competitive extra-curricular activity similar to high school football.

Instrumental music — and for that matter other "borderline" instructional activities — may be hanging in balance because of the State Supreme Court's recent ruling that materials must be provided free for public school children.

In fact, the effect of the ruling is already being felt locally.

Because school districts, under this ruling, must provide free band instruments, Northville School Superintendent Raymond Spear believes band and other non-required subjects will necessarily have to justify each school expenditure.

Administrators, he suggests, will be forced to weigh per-pupil advantage against expenditure. In other words, administrators must ask: Does the number of participating students, in comparison with the total school enrollment, justify purchase of $200 instruments? Can this money be better invested in subjects where larger numbers of students are involved?

That is not to say school administrators view band as an unimportant part of the instructional curriculum. On the contrary, area administrators contacted by this newspaper unanimously agree that band is very beneficial and should remain an integral part of the instructional program.

However, they also agree that the Supreme Court ruling may jeopardize instrumental music and, because of the financial burden the ruling places on school districts, it could possibly mean that because of economics band may be turned into an extra-curricular activity to be held after school.

Some administrators believe the ruling could force band directors to discourage all but musically talented to take up instrumental music.

In the eyes of one band director, the ruling may seem to benefit the student on the one hand (provision of free instruments) but it becomes discriminatory on the other since not all students will be given the opportunity to participate even if he has desire and a willingness to join a band program.

As a matter of fact, there is good reason to believe that free instruments may not be beneficial but actually work to the disadvantage of the student, according to South Lyon Band Director Frank Kochalko.

Basis for the belief that band may become an extra-curricular, after school type activity is the court interpretation that provides that districts "may charge fees for extra-curricular activities when students are not graded or evaluated and academic credit is not given, or for any activity in which participation is not required for obtaining a diploma..."

In other words, financially pressed districts may use this method of avoiding the expense of purchasing band instruments which cost an average of $200 each.

Some school districts in Oakland County have already initiated or are considering this method of coping with the ruling, says Farmington Assistant Superintendent Marinus Van Ameyde. His own district, however, faces no immediate problem, he explains, because the district in the past provided free instruments. Also, many of the students who will participate in the instrumental program there (beginning as early as the fourth grade) already own their own instruments.

Van Ameyde's chief concern at this point is that the Attorney General's interpretation of the ruling is too vague to permit districts to accurately predict what may happen.

Specifically, he refers to the word "reasonable" in the interpretation. He asks: Does this mean, for example, that a school district can provide a single reed or mouth piece for four or five students? Can more than one student

APPROVAL of a purchase agreement, at the appraised price of $11,200, was given by council Monday night for a parcel of property at 345 Cady east of Church Street. With that purchase the city will have tied up five of the nine parcels along the proposed extension route of Griswold Street from Main Street south across Cady to Beal Street.

DEMOLITION of one of the two buildings on Cady east of Center Street, where the city plans to erect a double-deck parking structure, is nearing completion. Earth leveling for the Cady Street level of the parking deck is expected to be completed yet this year, with construction not likely to begin until early next year.

CITY COUNCIL will meet Tuesday instead of Monday because of the Labor Day weekend. High on the 8 p.m. agenda will be continuation of discussion relative to proposed neighborhood park sites in the city. Only site likely to come up for some kind of formal decision by the council concerns that Bell Telephone Company land, adjacent to Bell's substation on North Center Street.

FINAL LEGAL arrangements preliminary to blacktopping of Baseline, between the south side of the high school and the Eastlawn Convalescent Home are nearing completion. School officials are hopeful the road improvement will be made before the fall is out.

CONSTRUCTION of Chatham's supermarket on Center Street is expected to begin yet this year, with completion slated for early June, according to Charles F. Heiler of the company's real estate department. Tuesday night Heiler received the planning commission's approval for a 25-percent enlargement of the proposed facility—from 21,200 square feet to 28,000 square feet. Recent marketing surveys, said Heiler, indicated that enlargement of the delayed facility is advisable. Also, Chatham received commission permission to substitute a poured concrete, imitation brick, screening wall for a brick wall.

Teacher Contract OK Seen as Sure Bet Here

With Northville Public Schools ready to open doors to an anticipated 3,202 students Thursday, September 10, members of the Northville Education Association (NEA) executive board have recommended the proposed contract for ratification.

The action came Tuesday afternoon following a report from the NEA to the administration on faculty personnel who will be needed to work an extended school year. (Instructors, such as librarians, whose jobs require them to work more days than other teachers.)

NEA members are slated to meet Tuesday at 7 a.m. in the Presbyterian Church for a ratification vote while the board of education is expected to approve the document at its September 14 meeting.

Superintendent Raymond Spear and NEA President Robert Sharrar said they expect the contract "will be ratified by both parties."

This will be the first year teachers will ratify the master contract before they are to report for work. Previously negotiations were still being conducted.

Sharrar said he is pleased "with the economic gains made in the areas of fringe benefits and midway in the salary schedule. The working relationship between the association and the administration has also been strengthened this year."

"The board of education is pleased to offer to the teachers for ratification a contract which we feel will enhance the educational opportunities of the children in the district," Spear said. "We are also pleased that the financial conditions of the contract can be made putting Northville teachers in a good position in the area, while at the same time being able to return two mills to the voters this year."

Both commended the work of Robert Benson and Cyril Nichols, chief negotiators for the district and association respectively, for "bringing the contract about during the past six months."

Agreement on the proposed contract was reached July 29, marking the earliest settlement in the history of negotiations in Northville and the first time settlement was reached without a strike.

Leading the list of terms in the one year contract covering September 7 through September 5, 1971, is the salary schedule for the 152 full-time equated teachers employed in the district. Bachelor degree (BA) teachers will receive an $8,000 starting salary with a top of $12,800 after 11 years.

Masters degree (MA) teachers will receive $8,750 starting and $15,150

Levitt Turns Pits Into Beauty Spots

What's going on out at the gravel pits?

If you ever viewed the terrain between Seven and Eight Mile roads where Manning & Locklin and Sheldon Hayes have conducted mining and asphalt operations for many, many years, you wouldn't recognize it now.

In a few short months one of the giants of the construction business, Levitt and Sons—a subsidiary of I T & T—has transformed the pock-marked, moon-like surface into a gently-graded, rolling country-side that looks like the future site of a golf course.

Four lakes add to the beauty; only the asphalt plant and a small mining operation continue in the southwest portion of the 400-acre parcel to remind one of what once was. These must be removed by November, 1971.

Meanwhile, Levitt and Sons, and especially its vice-president in charge of Michigan development, Irwin Adler, is determined that Highland Lakes will become a showplace for casual, carefree suburban living.

Adler believes that he has something to prove—first to his company that took somewhat of a skeptical view of the idea of developing a community of homes in a gravel pit, and second to many critics in the community of Northville who have heard big city developers make promises they did not deliver.

In three months Adler's enthusiasm has engulfed the crew that he has charged with the responsibility for developing Highland Lakes. More than 100 workmen using a battery of huge earth-moving equipment (looking like Patton's desert tank corps) have installed sanitary sewer lines, carved-out roads, moved close to a million yards of earth, dug a new lake and graded the shores of three existing lakes.

They've also dug and poured a dozen basements for townhouses, promised to have 60 more by October when several models are scheduled to

Fact-Finding Continues

College Strike Goes Unsettled

Opening of classes of Schoolcraft Community College was still indefinite early this week as unresolved teacher contract issues remained in the fact-finding stage.

Schoolcraft registration and classes, originally slated to start last week, were postponed indefinitely in the wake of a teachers' strike triggered by failure of negotiators to reach a contract settlement.

The Record has learned that should the current fact-finding process "run its full course" it could continue for two weeks. However, teachers and the board of trustees could decide to return to negotiations prior to completion of fact-finding.

Even after a settlement is reached, which according to one college spokesman could be "tomorrow or weeks away," it is estimated that it will take another week to gear up the machinery for classes.

Teachers, meanwhile, are adamant in their demand that the board offer what they label as a "minimal" non-economic package. Larry VanderMolen, spokesman for the Faculty Forum, emphasized that teachers have offered to accept the language of last year's contract in lieu of improvement of non-economic issues.

Negotiators for the board, meanwhile, have made no public comments relative to the teachers' arguments.

With economic issues reportedly wrapped up, the basic unresolved issues involve, according to VanderMolen, are academic freedom, job security, and faculty involvement in decision making.

Early Copy

Deadline for classified advertising for next week's newspaper has been moved up to 1 p.m. Saturday because of the Labor Day holiday on Monday.

News and all other advertising copy should be submitted no later than 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Offices of The Northville Record — Novi News, The South Lyon Herald, and the Brighton Argus will be closed on Monday.

General Taylor To Speak Here

General Maxwell Taylor launches what promises to be an extremely thought-provoking season of lectures at Schoolcraft College September 10.

Schoolcraft officials have revealed that the scheduled talk by General Taylor may be cancelled if a teacher contract settlement is not reached soon.

General Taylor, chairman of President Nixon's Foreign Relations Advisory Board will present "Some Lessons from Vietnam."

General Taylor is a former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and a special advisor to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

Stuart Bloom, chairman of the Cultural Affairs Committee, has announced the names of many outstanding speakers for the remainder of the lecture series.

In October, Julian Bond, a Negro state representative in Georgia, will discuss the collision course in a divided America.

In November, world famous Anthropologist Dr. Ashley Montagu will present "The Natural Superiority of Women."

Future speakers also include Professor Seymour Melman, professor of Industrial Psychology at Columbia University, Dr. Robert Rienow, an ecologist, consumer advocate Ralph Nader, and Dick Gregory, civil rights leader.

General Taylor's talk will be presented in the Waterman Campus Center at 8 p.m. There is no admission charge for Schoolcraft students and faculty. A charge of $2 at the door is required of the public and there is a special $1 student admission charge.

A DREAM COMES TRUE FOR LEVITT'S IRWIN ADLER

Novi Man Takes Saginaw Bride

Saint Casimir's Catholic Church in Saginaw was the setting for the August 29 wedding in which Barry Stephen Campbell took Marilyn Kay Frost as his bride. The Reverend Father

Stephen J. Kozak officiated at the afternoon ceremony. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Frost of Saginaw and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Stephen Campbell of 41191 Quince in Novi.

The bride approached the altar in a white empire styled wedding gown of dotted swiss over taffeta. The dress featured a bell skirt and long puffed sleeves, trimmed with Venice lace on the bodice and the neckline. An illusion veil was secured by a lace headpiece, and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations.

Matron of honor was Mrs. James B. Frost, sister-in-law to the bride, Miss Bonnie Hoffman, cousin of the bride, and Miss Susan Furiat served as bridesmaids, with Miss Lori Campbell, sister of the bridegroom, serving as junior bridesmaid.

The flower girls were Michelle Frost, the bride's niece, and Miss Sherry Hernandez, cousin of the bridegroom.

All wore floor-length dresses of yellow and white dotted swiss over taffeta. They had bell skirts, long puffed sleeves and a high neckline trimmed in Venice lace. Matching picture hats and cascade bouquets of green carnations completed their ensembles.

Serving as best man was Private John Campbell, brother of the bridegroom. Groomsmen were Jeffrey Patzwaldt, cousin of the bride, James Campbell, cousin of the bridegroom, Thomas Campbell, brother of the bridegroom, Scott Frost, nephew of the bride and James Campbell, brother of the bridegroom.

Ushers were Ronald, Michael and James Frost, brothers of the bride and Ronald Campbell, brother of the bridegroom.

About 350 guests attended a reception following the wedding held at Falcons Hall in Saginaw. Then the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in the South. On their return they will make their new home in Saginaw.

Gown Features Daisy Trim

Rhonda Lee Bongiovanni and William Joe VanderWoude pledged their marriage vows on August 15 before an altar banked with white gladiolus and yellow pomps.

They were married at 6 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church of Northville. The Reverend Gunther Branstner performed the double ring ceremony for which music was provided by organist Mrs. Richard Somers.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Samuel Bongiovanni of 131 Walnut Street and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal VanderWoude of Grand Rapids, Michigan.

The bride wore a white floor-length gown of rayon with a high collar and bell sleeves. Embroidered white daisies were used to trim the bodice, sleeves and full train.

The daisy theme was repeated in her bridal bouquet, a nosegay of white daisies, carnations and sweetheart roses. She wore a fingertip veil attached to a simple cap made of satin and lace.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Linda Wood of Brighton, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were cousin Sandra Bongiovanni and Patricia Bishop of Northville, and Mary VanderWoude of Grand Rapids, sister of the bridegroom.

They wore yellow floor-length dresses of cotton blend with short puffy sleeves and a white satin ribbon around an empire waist. Each wore a yellow bow headpiece and carried a nosegay of yellow daisies and white carnations.

Thomas VanderWoude of Grand Rapids served his brother as best man. Ushers were Dale Daverman of Grand Rapids, Greg Myrha of Illinois and Kenneth Gonzeroort of Grand Rapids, cousin of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for 130 guests in the church parlor. Friends and relatives attended from Northville, Plymouth, Kalamazoo, Ann Arbor, Inkster, Ypsilanti, Brighton, Grand Rapids, Lansing and Dearborn.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Bongiovanni chose a two piece sleeveless suit of navy blue and white with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations and yellow sweetheart roses.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a light blue sleeveless brocade dress, with a corsage of yellow carnations and white sweetheart roses. For a wedding trip to Northern Michigan the bride changed into a two piece burnt orange dress with white accessories.

Both she and her husband attended Western Michigan University where he is a member of the Western Michigan basketball team and the honor fraternity, Omicron Delta Kappa.

They will make their new home in Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Engaged

RONNELL RUTH LEE

The engagement and approaching marriage of Ronnell Ruth Lee and Daniel C. Mansfield is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lee of 25940 Sierra Drive in Novi. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Clayton Mansfield of 44009 West 12 Mile Road.

The bride elect is a 1970 Novi High School graduate and is employed at the Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Company in Farmington.

Her fiancé graduated from Taylor High School in 1967 and is now employed at the Data Processing and Engineering Company in Livonia.

A February 12, 1971 wedding is planned.

Orient Chapter

Meets Tomorrow

Orient Chapter No. 77, Order of the Eastern Star will welcome six new members on their Advanced Officers' Night, tomorrow in the Northville Masonic Temple at 7:45 p.m.

Preceding a business meeting on Friday, September 18 the Past Matrons' Club of the Chapter will present a memorial service at 7:30 p.m.

Bagpipes Add Special Touch

Gaelic music and a bouquet of clover and Queen Anne's lace set a Scottish theme for the wedding which united Susan Eugenia Reed and Michael Christopher Gleason in marriage August 14.

They were married in an evening ceremony at the Martha Mary Chapel at Greenfield Village with Mr. Allan R. Sturdivant performing the ceremony in a candlelight setting of white gladiolus and pink mums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reed of 545 Randolph Street and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Morley Gleason of Troy.

The Scottish music from an organ and bagpipes played during the ceremony had special meaning for the bride and bridegroom since they first met when he began teaching her to play the bagpipes.

The bride approached the altar in a gown she designed and her mother made. The gown was fashioned from ivory peau de soie and featured long fitted sleeves, a V-neckline and a chapel train. An ivory lace overlay on the bodice was trimmed in pearls.

A floor-length illusion veil fell from a crown-like headpiece trimmed in matching lace and pearls. It was designed by Mrs. Reed. The bride carried a hand-picked floral bouquet of clover, carnations and Queen Anne's lace.

Serving as Matron of honor was Mrs. Linda Phillips of Pennsylvania, and bridesmaids were Cecelia VanValkenburg, and Patricia and Elaine Gleason. They wore similar blue dresses and carried bouquets of pink carnations and dark pink gladiolus.

Kenton Smith served as best man, and ushers were Douglas Reed, and William and Brian Beggs.

The mother of the bride chose a rose colored dress and a pink corsage for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink dress and a white and pink corsage.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the Lovett Hall Ballroom at Greenfield Village. About 150 guests attended from Canada, Pennsylvania, and Michigan.

The bride changed into a navy blue suit for a month's wedding trip through the Southeast, the South and the Middle West.

News Around Northville

Viltasser Hummel, mother of the deceased German artist Berta Hummel, has written a letter to Miss Elizabeth Etz following Miss Etz's visit to the Kloster Sessen in Salugau, Germany where Berta Hummel served as a nun.

The letter is dated August 5, 1970 and reads: "Dear Miss Etz! During my visit here in Sessen Sister M. Witburga delivered your lovely, friendly letter to me. It was translated into German. Thank you from my heart for your greeting and particularly for the nice things about my daughter (Berta) Sr. Innocentia. I am enclosing with this a memorial card with her picture and also one of her with her parents.

With the best of greetings and wishes. Viltasser Hummel."

Miss Etz, who has long been a Hummel enthusiast, visited the convent for a few days earlier this summer. The letter and picture will be on display along with her collection of Hummel prints when she lectures on Berta Hummel at Westland Auditorium on September 24.

William Sylvester of Randolph Street celebrated his 80th birthday with a dinner party on August 29 at the home of his close friends, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Biddle of Nine Mile. The party was attended by about 50 friends and relatives.

Sylvester came to the Northville area more than 30 years ago and was formerly employed at Maybury Sanatorium. He is a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Navy Airman Eugene D. Osaer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry R. Osaer of 46605 Seven Mile, was graduated from Aviation Electrician's Mate School at the Naval Air Technical Training Command in Jacksonville, Florida.

The Northville Spring Chapter of China Painters will hold its first meeting of the year at the Plymouth Credit Union in Plymouth on September 10.

Mary Stricker, club member from Walled Lake, will teach members her techniques in painting for-get-me-nots. The lesson is at 10 a.m., followed by lunch and a business meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Krieg, of 22000 Beck Road had a surprise luncheon Sunday, August 23 for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Krieg of Plymouth, who celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary.

There were 42 guests present from as far away as Charlotte, Battle Creek, Plymouth and Lansing. The Krieges were also surprised with several congratulatory telegrams during the luncheon.

Birth Announcements

Following the baptism of their newest member at the Erin Presbyterian Church in Roseville, the family of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Blackburn of 456 Orchard drive met for a family reunion last Sunday in Roseville.

The new baby, named Michael Leslie, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Noble Smith of Roseville. Born on June 11 he joins at home three brothers, Noble III, 7, Brion Lee, 5, and Gregory, 3. Their mother is the former Priscilla Blackburn of Northville.

Other members of the Blackburn family who attended with their families were daughters Gale and Susan and son John.

Guests will be the Reverend John Wittstock and the Reverend John Wyskiel, assistant. All women of the parish are invited to attend the pot luck.

Those attending are asked to bring a dish to pass and table service.

Patricia Ann Higgins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Higgins of West Main Street, recently returned to Northville after spending ten weeks on the island of Mt Edgecumbe near Sitka, Alaska.

While in southeastern Alaska, Miss Higgins was an instructor in the Oil Orientation Program teaching adult basic education to Eskimo and Indian men. The 87 participants in the program were from 37 different areas of Alaska.

Besides teaching 60 hours of adult basic education, Miss Higgins prepared 15 students to take the General Education Development high school equivalency exam. Ten of the students passed all five parts of the exam and were awarded high school equivalency diplomas.

Miss Higgins, a May graduate of Aquinas College in Grand Rapids, will return to Grand Rapids this fall.

The 10 week orientation to the oil industry program, held on a former World War II Navy base, was a joint effort by the Department of Labor, State of Alaska, Division of Vocational Education, Department of Education, State of Alaska, Bureau of Indian Affairs, US Department of the Interior; and eight major oil companies.

Members of the Spagnuolo family were on hand Monday night to greet Eugene Melbourne, Jr. who flew into Metropolitan Airport following 21

To celebrate Melbourne's completion of army duty a family dinner party is planned for this Sunday at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Spagnuolo of 113 East Main Street. Relatives from Canada, Kentucky and Colorado will be among those attending.

The Senior Citizens will resume their regular meetings on Tuesday, September 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the Scout-Recreation building. A business meeting and social hour are planned.

Four members of the Northville Teenage Republicans worked as pages during the Republican State Convention in Detroit on Saturday.

Representing the Northville group were Mari Egbert, Allison Lamb, Leslie Brasure and Sue Northrop.

As pages the girls were assigned to serve as messengers for the Friday evening district caucuses. Later they worked to ready the platform documents for distribution Saturday morning.

The girls distributed information for candidates during the convention, took part in candidate demonstrations and helped where they were needed.

After the convention the girls said they felt the convention "served as a catalyst, motivating the Northville, TARs to work in the next few months to insure the election of the Republican Party slate in November."

Historic Gowns Come to Life

All of the fashions unveiled to Michigan women this fall will not come from the salons of Paris and New York. America's past will make its contribution, too.

The Republican National Committee has selected Michigan as the first stop on a nationwide tour of 19 past Presidential Inaugural Ball gowns, all hand-sewn recreations of the originals.

Models for these gowns will be chosen from among women residing in the locale of each event, including one representative from the Northville-Plymouth Republican Club branch.

She is Marsha Starr, wife of industrialist James E. Starr of Plymouth. Mrs. Starr is president of the Plymouth Garden Club and GOP ways and means chairman.

She will model an inaugural gown at a champagne brunch and fashion show at 11 a.m. on Tuesday, September 15, at the Hilton Inn in Ann Arbor. Cost of the show is $10 per person.

Ann Arbor is one of five Michigan cities which will host the historical fashion show between August 26 and September 26. The gowns also will be shown at GOP fund-raising events in Traverse City, Kalamazoo, Flint and Bloomfield Hills Township.

Mrs. William G. Milliken, Michigan's First Lady, has agreed to model one of the gowns, the copy of Mrs. Mary Todd Lincoln's Inaugural selection, at each of the five locations.

In addition to Lincoln, the styles of 18 other Presidential eras will also be presented. They include George Washington, John Adams, James Madison, James Monroe, John Quincy Adams, Martin Van Buren, James K. Polk, Millard Fillmore, Ulysses S. Grant, and James A. Garfield.

Also Benjamin Harrison, Grover Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Woodrow Wilson, Warren Harding, Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover.

General chairman of the Michigan tour is Mrs. Edwin W. Deer of Birmingham, vice chairman of women's activities for the Michigan Republican State Finance Committee.

Two Troy designers, Donald Nagel and David Zeese of "Fundamentals," 2351 Cheswick Drive, were commissioned by the Republican National Committee to do the actual reproduction work.

Don Millers Mark Golden Anniversary

Fifty years of married life were celebrated Friday by Mr. and Mrs. Don Miller of 310 First Street. They were married in Birmingham, Michigan on August 28, 1920, and have spent all of their married life in Northville.

About 57 friends and relatives joined them in marking the half century of marriage with a buffet dinner. Guests came from Redford, Garden City, Dearborn, Livonia, Whitmore Lake, Ann Arbor, Metamora and Northville.

Four generations of Millers were present including son Gerald, his wife and two daughters visiting from Juno, Alaska. Also present was the Miller's daughter Catherine Donna Sanford of Whitmore Lake and their sons Linwood of Livonia and Roger of Northville.

Miller, who retired in 1960, was formerly employed by the Twin Pines Milk Company. Both he and his wife are active members of the First Baptist Church of Northville.

The ceremony was attended by the Golden Knight Color Guard also of post No. 4626, who performed precision drills.

Mother Gets Scholarship

The 1970-71 Jane K. Moehle Scholarship, a full-tuition grant sponsored annually by the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW), has been awarded by Schoolcraft Community College to one of its students.

The recipient is Mrs. Arnold E. Collins of Livonia. A mother of six school-age children, is majoring in mathematics and plans to go into secondary education.

In announcing the award, AAUW President Mrs. David Van Hine, 556 Langfield, explained this is the first year the grant has been awarded in Mrs. Jane Moehle's name. Mrs. Moehle, chairman of the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees, is an active AAUW member and former president of the group. The Plymouth AAUW has sponsored a Schoolcraft scholarship since 1964.

The scholarship is open to any woman in the Northville, Novi, Plymouth or Livonia area who plans to attend Schoolcraft College, Mrs. Van Hine said. Application must be made through Russell Bogarin, the college's director of financial assistance.

GETS SCHOLARSHIP — Christine M. Tamm, 18, of 40530 Rock Hill Lane, received a four-year scholarship on Saturday, August 22, from the H. T. Ewald Foundation. Ted Ewald, right, made the presentation at foundation headquarters in Grosse Pointe Park. Miss Tamm, a graduate of Novi High, will study at the University of Michigan, and was one of 12 Detroit area high school graduates to be honored. Awards are based on financial need, scholastic record, and the character of the applicant determined through interviews and letters of recommendation. All applicants were in the upper one-half of their class.

Northville Girl Weds August 8

Jeanette Lee Mortimer and Alan Leo Kivela pledged their wedding vows on August 8 in an evening ceremony at Saint John's Episcopal Church in Plymouth. Canon David T. Davies performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Mortimer of 18238 Jamestown Circle and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kivela of Covington, Michigan.

Following the ceremony about 80 friends and relatives attended a reception in the Standish room of the Mayflower Hotel. The new couple then left for a wedding trip in Canada.

They will make their home near Marquette, Michigan.

Four Perform At State Fair

Four local area students are among several hundred of Michigan's best high school musicians — instrumental and vocal — performing in 16 free concerts at the Michigan State Fair that opened Friday and continues through Labor Day.

The 105 member Michigan State Fair Honors Choir is new this year. E. J. Keirns, State Fair general manager, explains: "For a number of years the State Fair has honored top school band musicians by inviting them to play in the Michigan State Fair Honors Band. This year, in addition to the band, we are having a choir to honor our top young high school singers."

Local members of the choir are Barbara Cuppelt, second soprano, who lives at 18262 Arselot; John Fair, baritone, 404 Welch Road; and James McNiece, tenor, 20145 Woodhill Drive. Also, Don Buckmaster, 19677 Maxwell, demonstrated his talent with the clarinet in his performance with the honors band on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The choir first performed yesterday (Wednesday) and will present concerts again today and tomorrow at 3 and 6 p.m. in the Music Shell and at 8:30 p.m. in the Coliseum.

PROUD WINNERS — Beaming the pride of the victorious are (from left) Mrs. Edward Johns, winner of 54 holes medalist play in the women's league at Meadowbrook Golf and Country Club, Mrs. Kenneth Martens, second place, and Mrs. C.H. Scott Jr., third. Mrs. Johns is tasting her third consecutive victory.

The kickoff of the ladies program for the centennial got underway this past week. There was a very good turnout for the meeting at the city hall. Mayor and Mrs. Gilbert Willis dressed in their centennial clothes, and several ladies of Wixom modeled their pretty dresses. Children's dresses are also available. The Wixom centennial celebration is set for October 18-24.

The final outdoor service of the summer at the Baptist Church will be held Sunday, September 6 at 7 p.m. Colored films will be shown titled "Weekend of Champions."

"Operation: Somebody Cares" is to begin September 10th. Area residents may be called upon sometime during the following three weeks by someone from the Wixom Baptist Church. They will be passing out pamphlets, attractively written and interesting to read, to each home. Homes to be reached will be in Wixom, New Hudson, portions of Milford, South Lyon and Walled Lake.

The Baptist Church softball team won the championship playoffs in the Oakland Church League.

Wednesday evening, September 9th, from 7 to 8:30 p.m., will mark the beginning of the fall program for Family Night at the church. Pioneer Girls will begin two new groups for girls, one for the second graders and one for senior high.

Mr. Jesse Byrd has been moved to the Beverly Manor rest home at Ten Mile and Meadowbrook roads in Novi. He has been a patient in St. Mary's Hospital since August 2.

Mr. Berie Dean returned home from St. Joseph Hospital in Pontiac this past weekend. He had been hospitalized by a recent heart attack.

Zonkers to Get Assessor's Job

City Manager Dallas Zonkers will take over city assessor duties from Harold Ackley when the latter retires in November, it was decided by council Monday night.

Zonker's duties will be to work with the municipal appraising firm of Gordon B. Hunter in the "office work" concerned with the reappraisal of Novi property for which the Farmington firm was hired.

"He will go over the rolls Hunter is now compiling, total each page, sign it, and be responsible for it to the Board of Review at their March meetings," said Councilman Louie Campbell who recommended Zonkers for the post at the regular council meeting.

Zonkers has had assessing experience in Hudson Michigan where he was assessor and manager for one year, and in Jackson Michigan where he was assistant to the assessor.

Zonkers is, however, uncertified. For this he will have to take a course being conducted for 15 weeks at the Auburn Hills Campus of Oakland Community College. The course begins September 1.

Ackley is to retire November 1 from the post he has held since Novi was incorporated as a city.

Earlier in the meeting the council accepted for ownership and maintenance the newly completed Buckingham Court sewer system.

Contracted and paid for by the residents of Buckingham Court the sewer serves six homes in the area and was, until the city accepted it, a private system unable to hook up to Novi's

Wixom to Decide Tax Hike Question

Wixom Mayor Gilbert Willis was authorized by the council Tuesday night to draw up a resolution calling for a 1/2 mill tax levy over the next three years and bring it before them for final approval.

The money, some $75,000 expected to accumulate over the three year period is to be earmarked for park development and land acquisition.

The resolution must go before the electorate on the November ballot and it was necessary for a course of action to be decided upon no later than Tuesday.

The council had two ways to go in its search for parks and recreation monies, "either request a bond issue for a specific number of years and a predetermined number of dollars, or put a millage proposal for a predetermined number of years before the public," Willis said.

Council decided early to ask for a millage hike from the voters.

"We could collect millage each year, put it into a special account and allow it to accumulate," said Councilman Gunnar Mettala, "and I don't think the money we're asking for is great enough to justify the expense of floating bonds."

Councilman Robert Dingeldey agreed: "People understand a millage issue easier and since we can't do anything without money I suggest we get it first and then float a bond issue if we need to."

Willis took the position that people are willing to tax themselves if they think they are getting something for it, and he recommended a 10 year program.

Councilman Val Vangieson agreed: "If we go any less than five years, we're only getting our feet wet."

Dingeldey preferred a shorter period, noting, "I'm interested in selling the proposal and you're more apt to get people to vote for a short term package than a long one."

A compromise was reached and council set the time at three years. The mayor will prepare a resolution and reportedly will bring it before the council at its next regular meeting.

Before adjournment Tuesday night, the council noted, but took no action on the resignation of Virginia

9 Mile Paving Gets Green Light

Approximately 2,950 feet of Nine Mile, running east from Novi Road, will be paved as a result of action taken by the city council last week Wednesday at a public hearing.

The controversial improvement which will include open ditch drainage, means construction of a 24-foot wide concrete roadway with eight foot shoulders. Council, following the hearing, adopted a resolution signaling the necessity of the improvement. A second hearing establishing the assessment will be held later.

Cost has been estimated by Johnson and Anderson, city engineers, at $53 per running foot, or $156,350 total.

The running foot cost will be split by benefiting property owners on each side of the road, according to City Manager Dallas Zonkers, so that the individual pay only for that footage which abuts his property and runs to the center of the road. This cost is pegged at $26.50 per front foot.

Residential home owners in the area, which with one exception is zoned industrial, derive a special consideration.

For the property on which they have a home or garage, plus any area in between, plus a 20 foot sideyard, they are assessed $16.00 per front foot with the city picking up the extra $10.50 tab.

Anthony Sinacola and his neighbor Frank Bosak are the only land owners affected. Part of Sinacola's land is zoned multiple residential (apartment houses). Other land owners are industrial developers. A cemetery, bridge and a C&O railroad crossing also are located on Nine Mile, and the city is to pick up the assessment for these, Zonkers said. "This is my residence," declared Sinacola last week, "and whether I want to sell or not, I'm forced to sell in order to pay for that road. This is setting a precedent and soon the people of Novi will have no choice but to go along."

Sinacola estimated his share of the bill at $23,000.

Zonkers admitted that precedents were indeed being set. "Ratios in regard to payment that we use here will influence future road improvement programs," he said.

Zonkers was unable to estimate the city's share of the bill.

Construction would probably begin in about six months, the city manager said.

Novi Teachers Ratify New Contract Sunday

School opened yesterday in Novi just one week after a surprise teacher contract settlement was reached and three days after teacher ratification.

Settlement came last week Wednesday afternoon when negotiators for teachers and the board of education met throughout the day without the presence of the mediator.

"Overall, I think it is a good contract," said Milan Obrenovich, Novi teacher Association spokesman. "It is weak in the class size area, but much improved in the salary area."

The board of education is expected to ratify the contract at its September 14 meeting. Teachers voted overwhelmingly (54-3) in approving the one-year document at a special meeting Sunday night that originally was called to discuss what earlier had been a deadlock in negotiations.

The settlement calls for a starting BA salary of $8,000 that climbs to $13,125 after 11 years. Last year the starting BA salary was $7,300 with a maximum of $11,600 after 11 years.

The new MA salary schedule starts at $8,700 and climbs to $14,565 after 11 years, as compared to a range of $7,950 to $12,250 last year.

New in this year's contract is a provision for orderly reduction of staff should either budget or reduced enrollment make a staff reduction necessary. Also, the contract provides that students with physical, mental or emotional problems be offered special classroom experience with competent personnel.

A major disappointment to teachers was the Novi Teacher Association's failure to win a formal concession from the board in limiting teacher/pupil class loads. However, the board has agreed to work to control class size, said Obrenovich. Should this informal commitment fail to satisfy teachers, class size is likely to become the number one priority next year when the contract is renegotiated, he said.

Obrenovich said some classes in the system have an enrollment of 36 to 38 students, with facilities built to accommodate some 28 students.

The settlement last week came as a

Novi Chamber Meets Tonight

A general membership meeting of the Novi Chamber of Commerce will be held tonight (Thursday) at the Rosewood Restaurant, 46077 Grand River, Acting Secretary Florence Harris reminded members this week.

Dinner is planned at 7 p.m. with the business meeting following at 8 p.m. Members and interested business men and women are urged to attend.

surprise to some teachers — and many parents because the mediator, Gordon Lee, had been unable to influence a mutually satisfactory agreement. Just two days prior to settlement, after a fruitless day-long bargaining session,

Obrenovich had indicated, "I'm not very optimistic."

At that time he had noted the mediator was not scheduled to return to the bargaining table until the day before school opened. Unless teachers and the board "can get together without him" talks would not resume until then, he had said.

But on Wednesday, the two sides resumed negotiations and the new contract was hammered together.

The new "Saratoga Trunk"...fine dining in Victorian splendor.

Saratoga Reopens Today

Boasts New Image, Name

For Pete Phillips and Dick Stoychoff the opening of Saratoga Trunk today marks the realization of a long-held ambition. . . to operate a fine dining facility designed exactly as they visualize it should be.

Saratoga Trunk succeeds Novi's well-known "Saratoga Farms", which was purchased principally by Phillips and Stoychoff three months ago. Since then the Grand River restaurant has undergone complete rebuilding.

The new owners employed Architect Ronald Mayotte to design the exterior and Muriel Hulsey for interior decorations. The theme is Victorian, the era of plush dining cars. And to emulate this the decor is rich in color (deep red) and design with the high-back Pullman booths a feature of the main floor lounge.

Total seating capacity of Saratoga Trunk is 160 with a dining room on the main floor in addition to the lounge and a second lounge downstairs.

Piano entertainment will be featured nightly as background music for diners.

Phillips and Stoychoff have been associated in business for 15 years. But Saratoga Trunk is their first opportunity in the restaurant and lounge business. Grand Time Restaurant and Lounge at Grand River and Oakman has been owned by his family for 32 years.

The emphasis at Saratoga Trunk is definitely on fine food and atmosphere, although the customer will find his favorite beverage readily available. An all-new kitchen has been installed featuring the latest stainless-steel facilities. And food will be served in lounges as well as the dining area.

Beef stroganoff, tenderloin tips, chicken ala king, baked Swedish meat balls will be regular menu features, while a full luncheon menu will offer three specials daily.

Saratoga Trunk really opened yesterday (Wednesday), but not to the public. All employees were on duty and everyone "pretended" that the "Trunk" was open for business. Hopefully, explained Phillips, the dry-run will help prevent too many slips when the first real customers show up.

Novi's newest dinery will open daily (except Mondays) from 11:15 a.m. until 2 a.m. and on Sundays from 2 until 9 p.m.

Salute to Dorothy

Without fanfare, or week-long celebrations, or dancing and bands in the street, a "truly concerned citizen will have her day."

So said the Novi City Council Monday night in taking the unique action of proclaiming today (Thursday) Dorothy Farah Day in Novi. (See proclamation on Page 10-A).

NOVI HIGHLIGHTS

BY MRS. H.D. HENDERSON

A family dinner at the Canopy in Brighton was held Saturday evening August 22nd, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Harry Geistler of Redford Township on their 50th wedding anniversary.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Collins and (daughter) of Aspen Drive; Mr. (son) and Mrs. Ralph Geistler of Redford; Mr. and Mrs. John Christensen (daughter) of Austin, Minnesota; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Secrist (niece) of Urbana, Illinois; and grandchildren Robert Collins and his fiance, Nancy Smith and grandsons Gary, Michael and Jon Collins.

On Sunday an open house was held at the Ralph Biesler home in Redford Township. There were 90 friends and relatives present.

Albert Coburn, Jr., formerly of Dixon Street, now of Sharonville, Ohio, was the house guest of Gregg Alkema over the weekend.

Mrs. Anthony Stabele (Brenda Coburn) and son, Mark, and Brenda's sister, Raye Coburn, are visiting relatives and friends in Novi.

On Monday Mrs. Stabele and son, Mark and sister, Raye Coburn, were the luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Race. Brenda's husband is in the U.S. Navy and serving over seas.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor W. Rix of Falls Church, Virginia, arrived at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. H.D. Henderson of Fonda Street, Monday afternoon. They also will be visiting the Edward Rixes in Plymouth and the Rand O'Learys on Five Mile Road for several days.

Luncheon guests of Mrs. H.D. Henderson this past Thursday were the members of her card club: Miss Helen Watkins, Mrs. Ruth Starkweather and Mrs. Marie Nutter of Northville, and Mrs. Gertie Lee of Walled Lake and Mrs. Russell Race, Twelve Mile Road.

Kevin Trickey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trickey, Jr. of Tecumseh, is spending a few days with his aunt and uncle and cousins, the Duane Bell family.

Visitors at the home of Mrs. Marie LaFond this past week were: on Wednesday, luncheon guests, Mr. and Mrs. James LaFond and Mr. and Mrs. Cosby of Detroit; last Monday, Mrs. LaFond's nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joe LaForest of Windsor Canada were visitors.

Approximately 35 members of the United Methodist Church had a picnic for their minister, the Reverend Albert Hartoog and his fiance, Mrs. Vera Harris, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilkins last week on Tuesday. Mr. Hartoog and Mrs. Harris will be married September 12 at the Beaver United Methodist Church. The honored guests were presented with a gift by their Methodist friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William MacDermid and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ortwin made a trip to Tecumseh last week on Thursday where they spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trickey, Jr.

The fore part of last week Mr. and Mrs. William MacDermid and son, Jeffrey, spent several days in the Upper Peninsula. They visited the Soo Locks, and Dr. and Mrs. William Barber and children at Pickford, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Dye and other friends at Manistee. Also, they went to see the Tahquamenon Falls.

At the Cedarcrest Lutheran Church in Union Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Putnam, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Conrad were among the guests who attended the wedding of Miss Ruth Dowell and Mr. Jack Smith at a seven o'clock ceremony, Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller of Rose

City are visiting their children, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Orzechowski and sons, Robert, Mark, and Mike.

The Harold Millers are staying with their grandsons while the Orzechowskis take Stanley's sister, Stella Farkas, back to her home in Pennsylvania. Stella had been a guest of her brother and sister-in-law for the past three weeks.

For the past two weeks Penny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Marchetti, has been the guest of her sister and brother-in-law, Corp. and Mrs. (Sharon) Neil Josephson in Norfolk, Virginia.

Corp. and Mrs. Josephson are having a five day leave and are bringing back sister, Penny, and will be visiting the latter's parents.

On Sunday, Mrs. Lucille Weeks of Novi Road entertained at a birthday celebration for her uncle Mr. Laney Wheeler of Farmington and a friend, Mr. Tom Park of Walled Lake. Guests were present from Novi, Farmington, Walled Lake and Norfolk, Virginia.

After two weeks of vacation, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kirkwood are back home again arriving this past Saturday.

They took the Lake Superior Shore Drive up to Wawa, Canada. From Wawa they went to Chapleau, then on to Camp Paquette on Wagon Lake. After leaving the Camp they took the River Road to Thessalon, Bruce Mines and then stopped off at the Soo.

The Kirkwoods were surprised to learn that the proprietors of Camp Paquette, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Blocher, are niece and husband of Mrs. Laney Henderson of Novi. They also met the sister-in-law, Mrs. George Tobias of Alto, who is spending some time with her daughter this summer.

last Sunday afternoon to take Linda to Columbia Bible College in South Carolina. On their way they stayed Sunday night at the pastor's mother's home in Charleston, West Virginia.

Wednesday evening they arrived in Reidsville, North Carolina at their former pastorate, the Community Baptist Church, where Mr. Cook spoke. Their eldest daughter, Loretta, flew in from Europe where she will spend the summer months with the Open Air Campaigners, and join her parents in Reidsville. After leaving Reidsville they will go to Columbia, South Carolina where Linda and Loretta will enroll in Columbia Bible College. It will be Linda's first year and Loretta's third year. The Cooks return this weekend.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hicks on Ripple Creek Road were the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Petri of Detroit, and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wade of Harper Woods.

UNITED METHODIST CHURCH OF NOVI

The pastor of the Novi Church will be attending the Methodist School at Albion College this week, leaving Monday morning, and returning Thursday evening. In an emergency he can be reached by calling Albion College.

Administrative Board meeting is scheduled for September 10th at 8:30 p.m. Mr. Hartoog would like to have all members of the administrative board at this meeting.

The Novi Senior Citizens will meet at the church on September 9th at 10:30 a.m. Bring a sack lunch. All folks from the area are welcome.

Pastor's meeting: See the invitation on the Bulletin Board inviting the entire Novi Congregation. The pastor and Mrs. Vera Harris will be married September 12th at 7:00 p.m. in the Big Beaver United Methodist Church of Troy.

The Women's Society of Christian Service: Wednesday, September 16 - 12:30 p.m. They are presenting "Luncheon is Served" at the Novi Community Building. Tickets are now on sale from members. Free Baby Sitting service will be provided for mothers of pre-school children in the church nursery.

The altar flowers this past Sunday were a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Blackburn given to the glory of God and in honor of Mrs. Blackburn's birthday.

Chancel choir rehearsals at 8 p.m. on Wednesday.

HOLY CROSS EPISCOPAL CHURCH MISSION

There was a good representation from Novi's Holy Cross Church attending the dedication of a 125 year service plaque at St. Stephens Church in Hamburg this past Sunday.

The Rt. Reverend Richard S. Emrich, Bishop of the Diocese of Michigan was present for the service. He confirmed two persons and blessed St. Stephens three sets of Eucharistic Vestments, given in memory of Mrs. Vincent Dis., blessed a Bible given in memory of Mr. Bert Smith, and also received the presentation of an Historical Plaque presented by the Michigan Historical Society, which was represented by Dr. Louis VanderVelte. After the service refreshments were served.

Holy Cross will resume at regular hours next Sunday. Holy Eucharist at 7 a.m. Morning Service, 11:15 a.m.

Registration for Church School will be held on Sunday, September 13 at 11:15 a.m.

The organist on Sunday was Mr. David Marsden, organist and choir master at St. Timothy's Church, Toronto, Canada. Mr. Marsden is the brother-in-law of the Vicar.

The first meeting of the E.C.W. will be held on Tuesday September 8th. at 8 o'clock at the church.

Mr. David Marsden and family are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harding for a couple of days.

Soloist in the morning worship service was Mrs. Bernice Stewart, singing, "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked."

Visitors in the Worship Service were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Webb and family of Novi, and an exchange student, Leanne Megens, of Best, Holland. Miss Megens will be here one year and is staying with her exchange sister, Karen Clarke, on 13 Mile Road.

The Sunday evening message and Wednesday evening Bible Study were taped by Pastor Cook.

Several women, headed by Mrs. Ruth Norwood had a workday Monday at the mobile home on Haggerty Road readying it for the intern couple arriving this week. The interns are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Frink and two children from Roanoke, Virginia, who will spend a 7 month term here.

Mrs. Marty Maxwell is in charge of another group of women who will work a few hours at Missionary Internship in Farmington on Thursday helping prepare the dormitories for the incoming missionary families. Lunch will be served.

The college young people leaving for their respective schools are Linda Lippert, Cedarville College in Ohio; Linda Cook, Columbia Bible College, South Carolina; Virginia Munro, Detroit Bible College; and Dennis Diem, Cleary Business College.

The 13th of September has been set as the date for the Missionary Christmas Service. The program will be taped, along with personal greetings from the church and sent to missionaries in different parts of the world. The evening offering on that date will be used for Missionaries Christmas gifts.

Ray Warren substituted for Dan Thomas as the adult Sunday School teacher last Sunday.

NOVI REBEKAH LODGE NEWS

The Independent Rebekah Club had another sewing-bee at the hall on Monday. They are working on articles for the bazaar in October.

Several Novi Rebekahs served a dinner to the relatives, following funeral services for Mr. Earl Enders on Thursday of this week.

After the summer vacation Rebekah Lodge meetings will be resumed on Thursday, September 10 at the Rebekah Hall in Novi.

BLUE STAR MOTHERS

Chapter 47, Blue Star Mothers are having their monthly meeting today (Thursday) at the home of Hazel Mandik on West Road. Bring own sandwich and table service. Dessert luncheon will be served. The mothers are all busy working on their bazaar projects for Wednesday, October 14th.

Novi Police Blotter

Marie Grimm of 23685 Meadowbrook reported Monday that her children had found a 26" girls' bicycle at the southeast corner of Marlott and Meadowbrook, according to police.

A tombstone dated November 26, 1833, was found lying face down on Beck Road, some 300 feet north of 10 Mile, by Louis Clarke of 45500 11 Mile, approximately a month ago, according to police.

Clarke had the stone for the month thinking it was a granite slab, police report. Clarke didn't look at the underside where the inscription was located until this past week, he said.

The inscription reads:
Temperance S
Daughter of J S Crane
Died November 26, 1833
Aged 11 years

Police are conducting investigations in an effort to determine where the tombstone came from.

A window was broken and an unknown number of tape recorders were stolen from Novi Junior High School some time Sunday night or Monday morning, school officials reported.

Thieves apparently gained entry to the building through one of the back doors, and to the store room where the tape recorders were kept, through a wire enforced window, police said.

Exact tally of the losses cannot be taken until an inventory is completed, according to school officials.

Isobel May Henderson of 44520 12 Mile suffered minor bruises when her car collided with an illegally parked car on East Lake Drive Thursday.

Eleven officers from Novi and Wixom formed part of an area police force pressed into action during the recent disturbances in Royal Oak.

The 16 man unit, made up of men from the Milford and Wolverine Lake departments as well, worked at the processing station on 13 Mile and Woodward at which 88 people were booked during the eight hours they were on duty.

"People were brought in and searched, photographed and booked," said Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole. "Our most important job was keeping security, which meant keeping curiosity seekers out, that meant everybody from newspapermen to city officials," BeGole concluded.

Police administered emergency oxygen to Karen Pickel at her home at 23035 Balcombe last week Tuesday after being called by her family.

Miss Pickel was transferred to Botsford Hospital by ambulance after her breathing had resumed.

A total of $706.00 was reported missing by police from the home of Mike Liliashak, 41238 Llewelyn last week Tuesday.

The theft reportedly occurred sometime between 7 and 9 p.m. Entry was gained, police reported through a sliding door on the southeast side of the home.

TOMBSTONE FOUND

Missing was a Nikon 35mm camera with leather carrying case, a portable Sony tape recorder, a bone handled, multi-blade jack knife, and a black leather change purse containing 45 cents in change.

Ten bottles of propane gas, each 4 1/2 feet tall, weighing 70-90 pounds and valued at $35 dollars were taken from the shoulder of Grand River where they had fallen from a delivery truck, Thursday.

John A. Klaserner of 21274 Summerside, superintendent of Vicete Tool Company of 25241 Grand River told police he observed a truck, delivering for the Northwest Propane Gas Company, pull out of the companies parking lot with its rear door open.

Klaserner pursued the truck in his own car, caught it and advised the driver, Ray Barget of Farmington, of his loss.

According to police, Klaserner, on his way back to the plant, saw two men loading the tanks into the back of a blue and white Chevrolet pick-up truck.

The pick-up, driven by two men, sped off.

COURT NEWS

Louis Dean Martin, 18, of Walled Lake was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $250 in connection with a breaking and entering at Inter-City Press two months ago. Martin was sentenced last week by Judge Martin Boyle in the 52nd District Court.

Patricia Shelman of Detroit pleaded guilty to possession of narcotics before Judge Martin Boyle of the 52 District Court last week Tuesday. Her sentence was postponed until October 2.

The charge grew out of police action on July 23 in which her companion Eugene Boykin, also of Detroit, was charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

Boykin also ordered to appear last week Tuesday, failed to present himself and a warrant was issued for his arrest.

Upon investigation, police learned that Boykin's real name is LaMarr Eugene Cheeves.

Northville Police Blotter

Vandals broke a door window at Goodtime Party Store, 567 West Seven Mile Road, setting off the burglar alarm Monday at 10:50 p.m.

Police investigating at the scene found a large rock inside the building but nothing was reported missing.

A ten-year-old youth was recovered Saturday at 5:30 p.m. after he walked away from the Wayne County Child Development Center. The youth, who was found at 130 West Main Street, was returned to the Center.

Kamuron Grguro, 7, of 369 Maplewood, was bitten on the right forearm by a dog as he walked in front of 376 Welch Monday at 1:30 p.m. He was treated by his mother for injuries. Owner of the dog, Carl Wheeler of the Welch street address, was not ticketed.

Northville township police, assisted by city police, recovered Nichole Raven, an escapee from Detroit House of Correction. Police found the woman walking on Northville Road at 11 p.m. Saturday. She was turned over to Wayne County Sheriff's Department who returned her to the House of Correction.

Mrs. Nancy Riggs, 18511 Jamestown Circle, told township police she surprised two male subjects who attempted to take her husband's motorcycle shortly before 3 a.m. August 25.

The two men walked over to the motorcycle and, according to Mrs. Riggs, were going to load it into a pickup truck, when they saw her watching them. The suspects escaped.

Thieves broke into a home at 20005 Westview Drive and took a typewriter, portable television, radio and hypodermic syringes, township police reported. The theft occurred Friday between 6:15 p.m. and 12:30 a.m.

The kindergarten playground at Moraine Elementary School, 46811 Eight Mile Road, was flooded after vandals turned on an outside water faucet. The incident was discovered Sunday shortly after 9 p.m. and township police estimated the faucet had been on for three or four hours.

A fire Monday evening caused extensive smoke damage to the David B. Jones' home at 44575 Thornapple Lane.

According to Fire Chief Herman (Bud) Hartner, the fire started about 10 p.m. in a davenport in the lower level recreation room. Fire damage was limited to the recreation room but smoke caused damage to the rest of the home.

Firemen remained at the scene for two and one half hours. No one was injured.

Vandals threw a rock through a porch window at 659 Novi Street, police reported. The damage occurred August 24 during the evening.

Northville township police are in need of two used foot lockers (steamer trunks) to be donated to the department.

Township police chief Ron Nisun said the trunks will be used for storing blankets, oxygen and other emergency supplies in the police cars.

If you have a trunk you no longer need call Nisun at 349-1600.

FIRE CALLS
August 25 - 8:12 p.m., Northville Downs parking lot, mini-bike on fire.

COURT NEWS
A reduced charge of driving while ability impaired resulted in a $128 fine for Harold R. DeWaulf, Bloomfield Hills.

The action came August 25 before 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis.

Robert W. Collopy, Plymouth, was fined $50 and placed on one year's probation on a charge of drunkenness.

On August 18, a South Lyon man, Eddie C. Cook, was fined $128 for drag racing.

Cooke JHS Assembly Set

Cooke Junior High students will begin the first day of classes Thursday, September 10, with an assembly at 8 a.m.

Sixth graders will meet at the Junior High Annex on Main Street. Books will be issued during the first day of classes.

Seventh graders will assemble in Cooke Junior High gym on Taft Road and eighth graders will meet in the cafeteria.

Seventh graders whose last names begin N-Z may obtain books from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m. and from 12:30 p.m. to 3 p.m. at the junior high bookstore today, Thursday.

Students who did not get books during specified times earlier this week may obtain them from the bookstore during school hours when classes begin September 10.

Teacher Contract OK

after 11 years. In the previous contract, BA range was $7,475 to $11,427 and MA from $8,200 to a top of $13,564.

Teachers will receive extra credit pay of $350 for 20 hours beyond a BA degree and $200 for each group of 10 hours until MA plus 30 hours is reached.

The contract also allows teachers to be granted seven years of outside experience (on the salary step schedule) when transferring into the district. Previously only six years was credited.

The total budget for extra-curricular activity pay is up 16 per cent from an allotment of $24,000 for the 1969-70 contract year. A committee of NEA members and administrators was established to set salaries for each extra-curricular post.

Teachers who serve as substitutes in emergency or non-emergency situations will receive $6.50 per hour, as provided in the contract compared with $5 per hour last year for emergency situations only.

Membership in NEA is not mandatory, and any teacher in the district has four choices: join NEA, not join and pay an amount equal to dues to NEA, pay an amount equal to dues to the welfare fund or if the teacher objects to paying the money on political or religious grounds, this must be stated in writing to the NEA and board of education within 31 days of employment.

This year any non-tenure teacher who is dismissed may request a hearing before the board of education. Previously hearings were limited to tenure teachers.

Elementary teachers will this year be required to report to school 30 minutes before classes begin and remain only 15 minutes after school, the reverse of what the policy has been.

Insurance coverage provided full-time teachers in the district includes Blue Cross and $10,000 term life insurance.

Geake Named GOP Nominee

A Northville man, Dr. Robert Geake, won a first ballot victory at the Republican State Convention in Detroit Saturday to become a nominee for the State Board of Education. With four candidates to choose from, the 1,597 delegates gave Geake a 2 to 1 margin of votes over his nearest opponent, Mrs. June Shadda of Ferndale.

At the convention the party also nominated candidates for lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, supreme court justice, and the three major university governing boards. All will appear on the general election ballot in November.

Geake had the active support of leading area republicans, including E. O. "Bud" Weber of Northville, chairman of the Wayne County Second District party organization, state representative candidate Robert Swanson, state senate candidate Carl Pursell, Congressman Marvin Esch, and James F. O'Neil of Livonia, the only Republican currently serving on the State Board of Education.

This Camp's A Home For Fun Loving Finns

A summer vacation resort in the middle of Oakland County?

One hundred forty acres of residential homes, vacation cottages, a dance hall, summer school facilities, a sauna bath, and the "cleanest lake anywhere around here?"

Jack Karell, chairman of the board of directors of Wixom's Finnish Summer Camp, points to his community in the northeast section of Wixom and beams affirmations.

"We have 30 to 40 permanent residents here" he said "They're mostly retirees who have settled in the camp but the rest of the area is for summer camping."

The Detroit Finnish Co-operative Summer Camp Association, whose 253 members come from the southeastern Michigan area, supports year round sports and recreational programs, including dancing, swimming, baseball and summer school classes. It maintains Sun Lake, a sewage-free, natural lake situated in the middle of the property, and keeps up the grounds that includes fields and wooded trails.

"We run quite a business in the winter" Karell said "Everybody, even 65 year old retirees swim," in the icy water.

Each member of the association owns two shares of the association, entitling each to a vote in association business.

"Along with his two shares each member also gets an annual twenty-four hour work assignment. This helps the regular caretaker keep the camp up" Karell explained.

The association is an outgrowth of Detroit's now defunct Detroit Finnish Educational Association, which in 1925 elected a committee to locate a site which could serve as permanent summer camp for Finnish residents of the Detroit area.

Prior to this the Educational Association, an entirely Finnish organization, had been renting various parks and lakes to serve as summer-long retreats.

In June of that year the group purchased the Wixom area property - approximately 100 acres - for $32,000. Following purchase members of the association began to develop it.

Now, 45 years later, the summer camp is an attraction for any Finn who cares to join the association. Membership requires only that one be Finnish or have Finnish blood and that two current members sponsor him.

According to Karell, most of the 253 members not living within the camp have summer cottages there. These are small, designed for summer living and regulated by stipulations set up by the camps seven-man board of directors.

The board, according to Karell, also supervises the collection of taxes from home and property owners and payment to the City of Wixom.

"Any decision of the board may be revised by the association at either of its semi-annual meetings," said Karell.

A native Finn, Karell moved to the United States in 1957.

He settled first in Livonia when after five months his wife's aunt persuaded him to move to the camp.

Karell, his wife, and their two children lived inside the camp for two years until he was able to buy a house on land of his own.

Club to Display Riding Skills

The Klentner Pony Club, which includes members from this area, will perform riding and jumping demonstrations Saturday at an all-pony show at the Klentner Riding Academy located on Hiller Road in Pontiac.

Persons wishing to enter pony classes are asked to call either 363-5305 or 363-0009. English and bare-back classes are scheduled for the full day of events getting underway at 10 a.m.

OBITUARIES

PHEBE BIERY

A lifetime resident of this area, Mrs. Phebe S. Biery of 116 High Street died on August 28 in the Plymouth General Hospital. She had been ill for two months.

Mrs. Biery, 79, was born on November 12, 1890 in Novi to George and Catharine (Hugger) Goddell. She was a member of the first Baptist Church in Northville, Orient Chapter No. 77, order of the Eastern Star, and the Kings Daughters.

She was preceded in death by her husband George in 1956. Survivors include three daughters and a son. They are Mrs. William Black of Illinois, Mrs. J. H. Willis of Ohio, Mrs. Catherine Lee of Detroit and Elden Biery of Northville.

She had 21 grandchildren and 49 great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday, August 31 at the First Baptist Church in Northville with the Reverend Cedric Whitcomb officiating. Burial was in Novi Cemetery.

JOHN HAYES

John L. Hayes, 81, of 28905 Broadmoor, Livonia, died on August 29 in St. Mary Hospital, Livonia. He had been ill for the past several months.

Born in Ontario, Canada on August 12, 1889, he was the son of George and Leticia (Falconer) Hayes. A retired carpenter, he was a member of St. Matthew's United Methodist Church in Livonia.

Mr. Hayes was preceded in death by his wife, Nina, in 1957, and a son, John Jr., in 1965.

Survivors include three daughters and a son. They are Mrs. Russell Proctor of Livonia, Mrs. Dorothy Hinkle of Plymouth, Mrs. Albert Olson of Livonia and Donald Hayes of Livonia. He is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Margaret Baker of Winnipeg, Canada. He had 14 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held September 1 at the Casterline Funeral Home, with the Reverend Paul T. Hart of St. Matthew's officiating. Burial was in Grand Lawn Cemetery, Detroit.

JOHN S. KAISER

John Samuel Kaiser, 57, Northville Township building official for the past two years, died suddenly August 27 at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. He had worked here the previous day.

Mr. Kaiser, who was born in Canada on September 25, 1913, lived at 8814 Farmington Road in Livonia. Besides his wife, Veva, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Cora Hendry; four sons, Michael J., John W., Stephen J., and Robert J.; two daughters, Linda K. and Susan B.; and one brother and one sister.

He was a member of the Masons and the Elks. The latter conducted a Sunday evening service in his honor.

Funeral services were conducted Monday morning at the Manns-Ferguson Funeral Home in Livonia, with the Reverend Michael Halcomb, pastor of the Chandler Park Drive Baptist Church, officiating.

SUN-PROOF® FOR THE HUSBAND WHOSE IDEA OF "GETTING OUT" DOESN'T INCLUDE PAINTING THE HOUSE.

Your wife says, "Paint the house before you do anything else this summer." So what do you do? As little as possible. That's why you need Sun-Proof Latex House Paint. It does as much as possible. To begin with, it normally allows you to skip priming completely. Further, it stretches and shrinks with your house. Which eliminates cracking and peeling. Also, a special paint film resists air pollution, smog, and mildew. This all means that your paint will last up to four years longer. So you spend less time painting and more time relaxing.

SUN-PROOF the husband's easy way out.

25 years in the making.

We'd like to thank the makers of the other new economy cars for giving us such a nice head start.

It gave us time to develop an inspection system so ridiculously scrupulous that it expects every VW to pass 16,000 examinations.

It allowed us to find out (at a reasonably scientific pace) how we could double our horsepower without doubling the cost of your horsepower. (The VW still gets about 26 miles to the gallon and requests only a smidgen of oil.)

It permitted us to work on things that didn't even have to do with the actual making of the car. Medi-car, the Volkswagen Diagnosis System, for example. Electronic equipment that can spot trouble in a car before it gets to be trouble. When you buy a new VW, you get 4 free Medi-car checkups.

Of course, it took great fortitude to resist squandering our time on phony styling improvements.

The beetle looks just as good (or bad) as it did 25 years ago.

SPEAKING

for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Labor Day week end offers the last chance to relax before resuming the routine of school days, club meetings, back-to-business.

It is, therefore, one of the busiest periods on the highways, and also one of the biggest killers.

Our traffic safety experts constantly remind us that we shouldn't try to cram too many miles into too little time, not to drive when we're tired, to avoid peak traffic periods, etc.

Their words become more meaningful when you witness a fatal accident on the highway, or when you narrowly escape a collision. Suddenly you begin to drive as though your life depended upon it.

Of course, it really does—your life, your family's and the lives of the other end-of-summer vacationers.

September, despite its beauty and mild temperatures, strikes me as one of the saddest months—the end of summer, the beginning of fall and winter, back to the routine...so drive carefully, don't make it even sadder (more sad?).

Vandalism has no season, just different forms.

Taxpayers foot the bill for hundreds of broken street signs each year.

Now it looks as though township taxpayers will have to buy a new American flag...if Supervisor Stromberg can figure out a way to raise the flag up the pole.

Vandals cut the rope when they stole the flag from the tall flagpole at township hall.

Stromberg's hoping that the fire department will practice ladder climbing at township hall and re-rope the pole.

For a "recession" it's been one of the busiest building summers in memory in this area. Additions to schools are chiefly responsible for the activity.

But there are many other area landmarks—the clubhouse at Northville Downs, the addition at Del's Shoes which now houses Lila's Flowers (have you looked inside?), the really complete transformation at Saratoga Farms (now Saratoga Trunk) in Novi which promises to become one of the area's fine places to dine, the First Methodist church, the remodeling of the First Presbyterian church, new apartments on Eight Mile at Taft, residential developments by Kaufmann-Broad, Thompson-Brown and Levitt in the Northville-Novl area, a sewage disposal plant and system in Novi, numerous service stations and facilities (particularly in Novi), as well as small industrial plants.

Area residents out for a drive should take a look at Levitt's Highland Lakes project. There's a new entrance road at Curtis Lake on Eight Mile road that handles traffic nicely.

As reported elsewhere in this edition, the old pit area is rapidly disappearing and the site has taken on the looks of the development it promises to become.

The change is truly amazing, especially if one can remember what the area looked like just a few months ago.

The book-deposit controversy which has engulfed all school districts reminds me of a recent published interview with U.S. Commissioner of Education James E. Allen.

He stressed a "Right to Read" program as most important in education and stated that "I have issued a challenge to the educational community to see to it that reading is well taught, that no boy or girl leaves school without having acquired the skills and the desire to read, because so much of the educational opportunity for the young person depends upon his ability to read."

Admittedly, fees are important, especially where they cause a financial hardship.

But where were the hues and cries when remedial reading was cut from the budget? How important are books (or fees) when the expert teaching needed to "acquire the skills and desire to read" these books is shelved.

Sadly, the only public rumble that resulted from a cut-back in the Northville public education program two years ago was a drive to raise funds to promote sports and extra-curricular activities.

Onward and upward.

STRICTLY FRESH

Summer romances that begin on the beach often wind up on the rocks.

Never be late for an appointment and you'll spend an awful lot of time waiting for the other party to show.

Vacation time is when you go away for a little change and come back with none at all.

If ants are so industrious, how come they spend the summer picnicking?

MARVIN L. ESCH

YES...

There is no question that all citizens owe it to their country to defend it when national survival is at stake. Freedom carries with it an equal responsibility. At the same time, however, it is the rich heritage of our democracy that people are free to determine their own fate within the broadest possible context. This responsibility to defend and the freedom to choose, in times other than a major war, are not at odds.

It is my strong belief that military service, just as all other governmental service, should be chosen on a voluntary basis. Recent Presidential studies show that a volunteer military, adequately paid and efficiently used, will give us the defense force we need while protecting individual freedom of choice.

The draft, we must remember, is inherently unfair and always will be as long as one young man is compelled to serve in the military and face death while his buddy remains safely at home getting a head start on his career. This gross inequity alone justifies abolition of the draft but its corrosive effect on the national spirit removes any doubt.

Marvin L. Esch
U. S. Congressman
2nd Congressional District

EDWIN D. PHILLIPS, SR.

NO...

As long as our Government is committed to certain national responsibilities and requires military personnel in so many different countries I firmly believe that the Draft law should be continued.

With all its faults our democratic system of government in the United States has been the best in the world. We vote to elect people of our choice to run our affairs. When these duly-elected legislators pass laws it is our duty to support and live by these laws. If we don't like the laws passed by the men and women we elect we can write to or speak to these men and women trying to influence them to change the law — or we can elect new men and women at the next election.

Sure, many people are opposed to the Draft for personal reasons — but it is the law of the land, OUR LAND and if our senators and congressmen upon recommendation from the President, the Department of Defense and the State Department are convinced that we need the draft it should be continued.

Edwin D. Phillips, Sr.
South Lyon

Top Of Deck

by Jack W. Hoffman

She was just a stray who came to visit us in South Lyon and who insisted on tagging along whenever the moving van took the family to a new home.

Frankly, she was a confounded nuisance who periodically cluttered the house with the fruits of her adventures with a half-dozen anonymous lovers.

She tipped over Christmas trees, dug holes in the couch, chewed nipples off baby bottles, left gobs of hair on the boys' bed, dirtied on the neighbor's lawn, chased bears in Canada, insisted on coming along whenever we visited out-of-town relatives, and clawed like a tiger whenever someone dragged her towards the tub.

And, good gracious, she had the parting audacity last week to up and die right there on our front porch in the early morning sun and I had to sneak around the house and bury her under the lilac bush before the kids were up.

The fact that she was a kids' dog who couldn't care less about adults made matters worse. What with all my clumsy clanging around with the shovel the kids were soon up and carrying on as if it were an Irish wake — and I don't think she had an ounce of Irish blood in her.

Before long the boys were hammering together a marker, our eldest daughter locked herself in her room where she was probably scribbling sentimental poetry that her parents will never see, and the other girls were planting flowers.

In the hushed silence that later settled into our home, one of the kids noticed the stray's clean, dry dish and made the adult observation that a smelly dish of chopped liver and horsemeat isn't so awful after all.

That's when it occurred to me that nuisances are really pretty important ingredients of the family.

After all, noise and mischief and bickering and muddy shoes and bad report cards and torn clothing aren't really so awful.

My own mother not so long ago had tried to convince me that retirement isn't everything it's cracked up to be. "A house that grows up with shouting kids," she had said, "gets to be a pretty lonely place when the shouts are gone."

So in the end, the nuisance that had invaded our house left this important reminder: kids are the loveliest creatures on earth.

Asks Book Deposit Boycott

To the Editor:

I would like to register my disgust with the gentlemen on the Northville Public School Board who stubbornly refuse to recognize the intent of the law of the State of Michigan. The majority of the board has seized upon a loop hole in the law that allows them to charge a reasonable damage fee for books and has determined that every high school student should pay twenty five dollars.

Quoting your paper "refundable at the end of the school year or upon graduation provided all books and materials have been returned in good condition." "Business Manager Earl Busard explained the money would be put into an escrow account and would remain the property of the students and not of the school district."

How naive does Mr. Spear, Mr. Busard and the board think the citizens of Northville are?

If the money is the property of the students why collect it?

Who will determine if books and materials are in good condition?

What if the student disagrees with the school interpretation of good condition and demands his money (his property) back?

What if a student damages more than $25. in one year? The policy now states $25 for all five years.

What determined that $25. is a reasonable fee?

How many business hours by the school staff will be wasted in the recording of who paid the fee, whose books were damaged and who demands their fee returned?

Why doesn't the board admit that the intent of the law is free materials?

I have talked with Mr. Spear on the telephone asking WHAT THE POLICY IS REGARDING PARENTS WHO REFUSE TO PAY THE FEE. Mr. Spear who admitted writing the damage fee policy stated that no child will be refused admittance to school because of their parents refusal to pay and a policy has not been set in regard to what to do with that situation. SINCE THE LAW STATES THAT A CHILD CANNOT BE REFUSED ADMITTANCE, I CAN UNDERSTAND WHY MR. SPEAR HASN'T SET THE POLICY. Mr. Spear stated that if a good percentage of parents refused to pay, the damage fee policy could be changed.

I hereby encourage parents not to pay this fee.

It is unreasonable, unnecessary and will waste more time and money than it will save.

It is against the intention of the law.

Frankly, if the school board needs more money they can reduce administration salaries (which Mr. Spear admitted were high), stop paving parking lots that are then barricaded so they cannot be used, and organized their staff and systems to efficient use.

By the way, it is true that the

Calls for Recognition Of Coach Ben Lauber

To the Editor:

Even though this is my first and probably only letter, I hope it is good enough for a deserving coach. I hope it's understood that my thoughts are not knocking other sports, but that my primary reason for writing this is that I feel this coach deserves recognition because of the sports he is handling and what he is doing for them. The coach is Mr. Ben Lauber and the sports he has coached beautifully are cross country and swimming.

Although I was on the cross country team for a short while and stopped because of a job, I was on the swim team the full season. From this I got to know Mr. Lauber quite well. The cross country team had been disbanded for a year before he started because of its poor showing. From this Mr. Lauber built a fresh, new team, working with only one veteran and his team achieved a remarkable won-loss record with two boys going to the state meet.

Concerning his attitude of working us, he let us express our desires, worked us and built us up around our desires so that we would do well. He worked on our confidence, building us up to the point where each of us believed in ME; that was the word that motivated us, that each of us had to do the job ourselves. He taught us to not depend on one person to do the job, but that each of us had an individual part to do. Even though each of these sports were team sports, he built up each of us as an individual within a team, and that makes a team. These same things applied in swimming. Out of forty young men on our team, only two or three had swum on a swim team before. From this we posted a 12-2 mark against teams that were actually better than us. It was really the motivation and desire we got from our coach that made us win almost every meet we had. It's funny to see a coach

Firm Battles Odor Problem

To the Editor:

Your article in the August 27, 1970 issue of the Record was accurate and factual and we appreciate the opportunity to present our side of the problem.

However, we would like to expand on the facts presented.

In the first place we wish to note that not all odors reported were generated by our plant. In some of the cases the plant was not operating and hence was not producing odors.

Nevertheless, we have been responsible for odors which we claim are not toxic or dangerous to health.

However, it is not our intention to emit any odors, no matter how innocuous. It is not our policy to damn the public but rather to please the public.

As further background on our basic pollution control activities in the oily waste field we must explain that we have developed a new process for handling these wastes. This process is of great interest to the State and Federal Water Pollution Control Agencies since it eliminates the secondary pollution problem of oil re-refining. In this process oil, which would be dumped into streams or sewers, burned or dumped on the grounds is re-refined for re-use. This not only effects the most efficient disposal of a waste, processing for re-use, but conserves a natural resource. With this process waste oil produced by the automobile companies and their suppliers, upon which most of us in this area are economically dependent, can be handled to avoid the great air and water pollution which, in the past, has been part of automobile production.

These companies have spent large sums on waste water treatment plants to handle the large volumes of water used in the manufacturing of automobiles. As an example, the Hydra-matic Division of General Motors, our neighbor in Ypsilanti, processes 800,000 gallons per day of process waste water. The oil left amounts to approximately 2,000,000 gallons per year. Many years ago this oil would have gone into sewers or streams. Today it comes to our plant for reprocessing and re-use.

Our new process went through the laboratory and pilot plant phases two years ago. But, when translated to production practice, problems which were not apparent earlier, became evident.

As the Record Article points out, we are spending appreciable sums to eliminate these odors. Despite the complaints noted in the Record, our plant has operated over 90% of the time with no odors. We believe the equipment now being installed will allow us to operate with zero emission of odors. In addition, at the suggestion of the Wayne County Air Pollution people, we are investigating devices now being engineered which will cover the human element.

Therefore, we wish to state firmly that it is not our policy to "allow" the emission of unpleasant odors and that we are taking all engineering steps now known to completely prevent these odors. As you noted, we are working very closely, as we always have, with the State, County and City authorities in this and other pollution control matters. As you have further stated, we are in the pollution control business and therefore have a far keener awareness of the problems, the scope, the technology and the pressing need for solutions than the average industry or even the average citizen.

Yours very truly,

Instrumental Band Jeopardized

use the same instrument? Can a school district 'reasonably' prohibit youngsters from taking expensive instruments home for practice?

"There's just too many unanswered questions at this time," he declares.

Farmington, says the assistant superintendent, will not charge a deposit for band instruments or other materials furnished by the school for students. That district, he explains, believes the cost of collecting and administering deposits would be as great as replacing lost or damaged equipment or materials.

Similarly, no deposits will be required in Plymouth schools, reports Assistant Superintendent Mike Hoben.

"We don't like it," says Hoben in reference to the court ruling, "but we're trying to adapt ourselves."

Hoben says Plymouth has placed about $70,000 in its budget to cover the cost of purchasing some of the necessary band equipment. This amount is expected to fill the need at the starter (sixth grade) level where youngsters are just entering the band program.

Hopefully, additional money will be added in subsequent years until sufficient free instruments are available from elementary through the 12th grade, he says.

Overall, the cost to Plymouth of the court ruling (including instruments, texts, etc.) is $190,000 this year.

A former football coach, Hoben opposes the idea of making band an extra-curricular activity such as football. He sees this step as an undesirable method of circumventing the intent of the law.

"We want band to remain an integral part of the instructional program," he asserts.

Hoben, who says his district can justify the $70,000 expenditure because it has allocated some $187,000 for machine shop equipment serving fewer students, points out that most school districts are reacting more to the timing of the ruling than to the ruling itself.

Acting Superintendent Rolland Langerman of Walled Lake echoes the sentiment of other administrators that, the ruling, as it relates to band specifically and to other materials in general is nebulous. "It's to the point now," he declares, "that we need an interpretation of the interpretation."

In Whitmore Lake, where financial provision for purchase of only 10 instruments has been made, a different method than the refundable deposit is in force. Students there are required to pay the cost of repair or replacement. Grades, report cards, even graduation may be withheld until payment is made.

Cost there of the ruling this year has been placed at $30,000.

According to Whitmore Lake Superintendent Edward Heathcote, the ruling means, for example, the school district will provide free only the cheapest wood for its shop classes. Students desiring quality materials will be required to buy them.

With interpretation of the ruling leaving many unanswered questions for administrators, Whitmore Lake is attempting to establish its own "reasonable" interpretation. For example, that district has taken the position that students will receive nine pencils per year. That means about one pencil a month.

In South Lyon where the minimum cost to the school district because of the court ruling has been put at approximately $60,000, the district already has been forced into an extra-curricular band program on a limited basis.

According to Superintendent

Donald Burns, band will become an extra curricular activity for elementary and junior high school students in South Lyon this year. Students at this grade level will be required to purchase their own instruments since there will be no grading or evaluations.

At the high school level, instrumental music will remain part of the instructional program. Most, if not all, students at this level already own their instruments as they do in Northville.

The school district will, however, continue to supply instruments in hardship cases. Also, it will continue to supply free the larger, more expensive instruments.

There is little doubt, says Burns, that the court ruling will place pressure on the schools and specifically on the band directors to discourage all but the musically inclined or gifted children.

Furthermore, Burns agrees with Spear that school districts must necessarily take a closer look at expenditures for band programs.

South Lyon, like Northville, will initiate a refundable deposit system this year, charging $5 for elementary children and $10 for sixth through 12th grade students. Northville's policy calls for $5 in grades one through five; $15 for junior high; and $25 for senior high.

Both Burns and Spear contend there is no evidence to support the belief that students take as much care with free materials as does the student with his own furnished materials.

In fact, there is more evidence to support the theory that the youngster who must provide his own school materials, band instruments included, takes better care of it, says Spear. Requiring a deposit, while not covering fully any loss that might occur, places some responsibility on the student that is really part of the learning process, he explains.

Spear agrees with Band Director Kochalko, who maintains that the youngster who buys his own musical instrument not only takes better care of it but he is encouraged by parents to apply more study effort and is less apt to "give up" the first time he has a bad day or when another activity interests him.

Spear, who defends Northville's refundable deposit system as a "reasonable" charge in view of past experience, points out that an alternative available locally would be to increase the millage rate. However, he views this method (through taxes) of recovering lost and damaged texts and equipment as unfair since a taxpayer could be paying for losses not made by his own children.

In Brighton, Superintendent Robert Lone has reluctantly recommended making instrumental music for grades five through eight an extra-curricular activity.

At the high school level, band is to remain a credit subject for the 1970-71 school year but beginning next year it, too, will become a non-credit course if funds are not available to purchase the necessary equipment.

It is estimated that cost of necessary band equipment, if the court ruling was fully enforced, would be $50,000 in Brighton this year.

Cost of the court ruling, as it affects all areas of free materials, has been put at upwards of $120,000 in Brighton.

Novi expects little or no difficulty this year over the ruling as it affects band, primarily because instrumental music at the elementary level previously was a voluntary, extra-curricular type activity in which students purchased their own equipment. Thus, the program there will continue unchanged, says Superintendent Thomas Dale, with elementary students purchasing their own equipment. The district will continue to provide some of the larger, more expensive musical instruments, but most students at the high school already own their own equipment, he adds.

Dale points out that his district will continue to operate as it has in the past until a clarification is handed down on the many unanswered questions.

There is little doubt in Dale's mind that the ruling could be detrimental to instrumental music, resulting probably in mediocre quality of music programs.

Novi, says the superintendent, will require a $10 refundable deposit at the junior-senior high school level (grades 7 through 12) but it will require no deposit at the elementary level. The $10 deposit is the same amount the school previously charged for rental.

Blames Wixom Unrest On Old Accusations

To the Editor:

In answer to Mrs. Carother's letter about not knowing Mr. Abrams very well. This citizen has known Mr. Abrams and his family for many years and has also been subjected to their unsubstantiated accusations against each and every past administration.

Your assumption that I don't attend the council meetings is just as wrong as your first. Do you really think that the people have no right to question the Mayor's integrity when he has pulled some of the boners that he has? Was it right when you and some of the others in this town accused, smeared, and harassed the past administration? When you set out deliberately dragging innocent people through the mud? Is it more right that Mr. Coy stand up and dig up old dirt and make foundation accusation against in a small school have such great desire for creating a great team. We also sent ten boys to the state Class B meet where we placed tenth out of forty some teams in our first year there!!

But I want to make it clear why I am writing this letter at this time and what for. It's not to bolster Mr. Lauber's abilities, because the kids that work under him know what they are, but to make sure that you people just realize what he's doing. It's just that these kids need the support that football and basketball get, because these kids and the coach are really showing what they've got!! These kids do deserve the recognition and so does the coach!! And don't worry about the teams falling apart because only four people graduated, one being me. I just hope you people will give this coach and his teams full support this year so that they will keep it up. Thank you very much. I'll just sign off with what my teammates called me...

a certain councilman just to further his political career? Sure didn't hear anyone stand up and ask for peace and harmony then. Why? Because you people feel that it isn't what is being said, it is who is saying it! The mayor is being harassed? So what's new?

Do you REALLY think that a Centennial is the answer in bringing this city back together? If you do... you're wrong. To label these people as "sore losers" or that "they're licking their wounds of defeat" makes you just as wrong as you are saying they are. When YOU people started all the hate in this city, you turned neighbor against neighbor and friend against friend and the end results is HURT... Hurts that are going to take a long long time to heal. When you and the Abrams and some of the others use this holier-than-thou attitude I find it very sickening. Why don't all of you start living by the golden rule "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you" instead of "Do unto others before they can do unto you?" The Vernon Spencer notice in the paper is a good indication of what I am referring to.

administration staff has school cars? It would be less expensive to pay mileage when traveling on school business. Mr. Spear told me that it was easy for him to spend $150,000. millage, implying that he actually was trying to save the district money by this damage fee. He asked if I wasn't in favor of the school district earning the interest that the damage fee would, in its escrow account. Well, I'm not. I'm not in favor of this policy. It's an example of "let's take all we can get." I hope other parents will fight it also.

This Home's A Goldmine Of Fascinating Antiques

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the first in a series of articles concerning the homes included this year on the Presbyterian Woman's Club homes tour scheduled September 24. The writer is Prudence Hartt, a college student who works summers at The Record-Nowi News.

The Victorian decorating theme which has become so popular among home decorators got a 30-year head start in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Ellison, 552 Dunlap Street.

When the Ellisons moved into their old Victorian home 28 years ago they considered themselves lucky for two reasons. Besides finding an authentic home setting for their cherished heirloom furniture, they discovered a real "goldmine" of antiques stored in a garage behind the house.

Immediately they began working to make their home a genuine replica from the Victorian period. Now the fruits of their labor will be displayed during the upcoming homes tour.

Externally the house reflects an elegant warmth of decorating trends from the middle 1800's. Nestled among several large shade trees the straight, vertical lines of the outside are softened by filigree gingerbread molding which borders the screened-in front porch.

Indeed the porch itself gives visitors a taste of what to expect inside. Four slender wrought iron chairs from an old ice cream parlor surround a tall round table in one corner, done in tones of olive and black. And a comfortable cane chair, an antique which the Ellisons remodeled in olive and white sits opposite the table.

"In the summer we eat out here almost every day," Mrs. Ellison reports. I like to sit in the big cane chair and catch the breeze while I'm sewing."

Indoors the olive tones are again used to accent a blue and beige color scheme. The floors are covered in a soft blue-grey carpet which Mrs. Ellison describes as "federal blue" making a subtle contrast to the pale, sand-colored walls in the living room.

The most striking feature about this room is the elegant heirloom parlor set which Mrs. Ellison's great grandparents purchased about 1850. The set includes a loveseat, a rocking chair and six straight dining room chairs which the Ellisons have refinished and upholstered in shades of blue and olive.

Another especially interesting piece is a huge black antique desk which came with the house when the Ellisons bought it from Dr. Guy Filkins. On its shelves are displayed several interesting collections of old books, antique toy cars and antique banks.

"I've collected just about everything at one time or another," laughs Mrs. Ellison. Her fascinating collections of everything from old toys to antique pictures to white ironstone kitchen utensils which are displayed freely throughout the house.

To the left of the living room is a smaller room done in blue and white wall paper which Mrs. Ellison calls the front parlor. Perhaps the prettiest room in the house, it is furnished with vintage Victorian furniture of the 1870 era which includes a small curved sofa and a thread cabinet which she made from an old optometrist's glasses case.

Tones of sand and federal blue are repeated in the dining room whose most prominent feature is a large bay window. Displayed on the sills is Mrs. Ellison's collection of Torpedo patterned impressed glass, manufactured about 1880. Some of the glass has been passed down through members of the family, Mrs. Ellison explains.

For the homes tour she plans to set the dining room table, giving visitors a chance to examine her Limoges pattern china from France, 1880. Each piece of the ten-place serving pictures a different bird and butterfly against a white background.

The large paneled kitchen is divided into a cooking space and eating informal area which contains a comfortable antique Victorian table and chairs painted a bright cherry red. Added attractions are a collection of Miesen cooking utensils and an antique baby high chair.

Upstairs the Victorian theme repeated in variations of the color scheme of blue, olive and beige. More antiques were used to furnish the master bedroom, a guest room, and the separate bedrooms of the two Ellison twins, Melinda and Sherry, 15.

It is the personal association between the Ellisons and their home which distinguishes it from other colonial homes in the area. Many of the antiques have been passed down through several generations on both sides of the family, bringing with them delightful stories of family history.

Add to this the fact that the Ellisons have done almost all of the refinishing and decorating themselves. Mrs. Ellison sews extensively and has made most of the brocade trimmed chair covers and draperies herself.

Ellison himself has always been interested in carpentry and woodworking. A former high school principal and shop teacher, he is now employed as assistant superintendent of schools in Dearborn Heights. Their oldest daughter, Lynn, is married to Northville Police Sergeant David LaFond.

"I'm having a real love affair with this house. I don't think I would ever want to leave," Mrs. Ellison says. Now others are invited to view the labors of her love during the upcoming homes tour.

The Elroy Ellison home -- Dunlap at Rogers -- stands framed by stately trees.

College Talks Break Down

Negotiations have broken down between administrators and faculty members at Oakland Community College after an 8-hour session Saturday in which "nothing was accomplished," spokesmen said.

Both sides will enter fact finding this Saturday. George Roumell has been appointed fact finder. In 1968 he served in the same capacity during negotiations in Northville.

According to faculty spokesmen there "are a half-dozen major items still on the table, including salaries, distribution of part time faculty personnel and the total number of students an instructor is expected to teach."

The faculty is also objecting to the college "mailing out contracts on an individual basis to teachers" rather than allowing teachers to bargain collectively. Members of the faculty are collecting the contracts.

Student registration has not been affected by the breakdown in negotiations and classes are scheduled to begin Tuesday, September 8. A faculty meeting has been set for 8 p.m. Monday at which the instructors will decide what course of action to take if the contract has not been resolved.

14 Runners Seek Berths

A week and a half before the slated opener with Dearborn Crestwood Mustang Head Coach Ben Lauber seems pleased with his cross country team.

"We had 14 boys come out," Lauber said, "and some of the new boys look like they're going to place right up on top with the returning lettermen."

Lauber referred to David Wright, Rick Bell, Wayne Enders and Guy Dixon as experienced letter winners.

"David Johnson and Bill McIntyre ran junior varsity last year as freshmen," the coach commented, "and we expect them to spend their first year with the varsity quite profitable."

"Bell did fine in the two mile last year against Brighton. He and Paul Bedford (now graduated) tied for first place with a 10:17.

"I look for most of the other lettermen to place right up around the eleven minute mark."

About his rookie crop, Lauber said he expected good things from Mike Ivey and Curt Saurer.

"Both look very promising "Ivey because of his experience (he ran the ¼ and the ½ mile last year) and Saurer because of his determination."

Eighteen high school teams have entered the 1970 Schoolcraft College Cross Country Invitational scheduled for Saturday morning, September 19.

Co-Champions Garden City West and Farmington will both be back to defend their title. They will be joined by 15 teams - including Northville - they competed against last year, as well as Clarenceville which did not compete in 1969.

Schoolcraft Athletic Director Marvin Gans has set a 10 a.m. starting time for the Invitational to be run over the two-mile course along Edward Hines Drive in Cass Benton Park. This year's meet is the fifth in a series dating back to 1966. Redford Union took top honors the first year and in 1967, and in 1968 North Farmington was champion.

Stevenson's Doug Curtis holds the meet record of 10:21 which he set last year. Prior individual winners were Larry Williams of Farmington, 1968; Jack Clark, Franklin, 1967; and Doug Norris, Garden City East, 1966.

In addition to the teams mentioned, those competing this year are Bentley, Farmington, Bishop Borgess, Wayne Memorial, Edsel Ford, Dearborn, John Glenn, Stevenson, Thurston, Plymouth, Churchill, Franklin, and Garden City East.

THE SPORT OF KINGS—True champion style (ingenuity?) got Bill Williams out of the tough spots Saturday. His awkward chip was to bounce off a tree and roll out of the ruff to within a good shot of the green. Maybe Bill's blessed after all.

She used a driver in aicing the par 3, 166-yard 10th hole. According to Club Manager Ben Northrop, it was "about the fifth hole-in-one we've had this season." Others have aced the fourth, fifth, sixth and 16th holes, he said.

Mrs. Livingston's hole-in-one was witnessed by her son, Larry.

Golfers Smack Ball 72 Years

When Don Thomson tapped in his last putt to take top honors at Salem Hills Golf Course Saturday, it signaled the conclusion of another season for Northville's oldest and perhaps most popular golf league.

The Northville Golf League, which Saturday climaxed its season with an annual tournament, has been in existence for more than half of Thomson's lifetime. It was launched in 1948 at Bob-O-Link and has moved from course to course over the 22 years.

Only two of its original members still make the nine-hole rounds each Tuesday during the 20-week season. They are Ed Welch and Bill Williams. Welch is secretary-treasurer of the league.

The league, as in the past, draws its memberships from a wide variety of professions, businesses and trades-ranging from educational and medical fields to sales and industry.

In taking low gross honors (79) in Saturday's tournament, Thomson grabbed his third title of the season. He also turned in the low gross average for the regular season (41.18) or an even 700 strokes. And he and Emory Kimball were first flight winners.

Low net winner in the tourney was Bob Prom with 69.

Second flight winners during the regular season were Phil Ogilvie and Bob Bogart.

And receiving the consolation prize, titled "We Tried," were Ted Heckler and Leonard Klein.

At a banquet following the rain-washed tourney, Stan Johnston stepped down as league president after four years and Tom Hughes was elected to replace him. Thomson and Ray Spear were named vice-presidents.

65 Meadowbrook Tankers

Swim 310 Miles in 8 Days

Summer madness took hold at Meadowbrook Golf and Country Club in Northville Township last week as a "Mad Man's Marathon" saw the club's 65 member swim team stroke 310 miles non-stop in eight days.

The Meadowbrook tanksters, all aged between 5 and 18, worked in three hour shifts around the clock each member spending between 10 and 20 minutes in the club's pool.

Starting gun went off at noon two weeks ago Saturday as five year old John Uzelac hit the water and Helen Heuer finished the 21,816 lap last Sunday at noon.

With its eight day workout, the club took over possession of a unofficial record formerly held by the Birmingham Country Club.

Birmingham staged a seven-day, 3 hour marathon last year that went 300 miles.

"We slept in locker rooms, in deck chairs, in cars, just about anywhere except the greens," said Leslie Kendall, lifeguard at Meadowbrook, of the "Madman" swimmers. "There were two parents and two lifeguards on duty every night," she continued, "and during the day two lifeguards were on regular duty by the pool at all times."

Team coach Dave Segraves never had any worries about pulling out in mid-week.

"With all the publicity we got," he grinned, "everybody was so gung-ho, we could have gone for two weeks.

If it had rained, Segraves continued, "we would have gone through it."

What's the difference...swimming marathons are water logged anyway.

LIKE A FISH—Mike Uzelac pours it on during the Meadowbrook "Mad Man's Marathon. He and members of his team carried Meadowbrook to the throne of area marathon swimmers. With endurance and a gung-ho attitude the 65 member club went for 192 hours non-stop.

ALMOST THERE - Cecily Hayward takes the water in the closing rounds of last week's endurance trial. In eight days, she and her 65 team members went a total of 21,816 laps of Meadowbrook's pool.

Raymond Mason, 23983 LeBost, requested the council to lower the speed limit on Beck Road to between 25 to 35 miles an hour.

Mason reported that Paul Bosco of B-V Earthmovers, Novi contractors will donate time, men, equipment and land for a little league play area on his property at 25805 Beck Road.

"With all the kids that will be in that area," said Mason, "the speed those cars come along is dangerous."

Zancanella, deputy treasurer, and the Mayor's replacement of Ruth Merrill.

A resident of Wixom the mayor's appointee has done "quite a few years teaching in the field of general business and is familiar to the job," said Willis.

Willis expressed his disappointment Tuesday night at the lack of response from Wixom citizens concerning the council seat left vacant by Charles McCall.

"I had hoped," said Willis "that there would be greater interest shown on the part of citizens interested in the governing of their own city."

Administrators Form Union

In an election conducted by the Michigan Employment Relations Commission August 21, Schoolcraft College administrators voted to become a bargaining unit for the purpose of collective negotiations with Schoolcraft's Board of Trustees.

The election was supervised by State Elections Officer Hugh Dorrian. It resulted in an 11-4 vote in favor of negotiation rights for the Schoolcraft College Association of Administrators and Professional Personnel. With the exception of one who was on vacation at the time, all administrators who were eligible participated in the vote.

The association, according to its president, Patrick Butler, will remain an independent unit without state or national affiliation. Membership in the Association is limited to administrative officers other than the president, vice president, dean, business manager and administrative assistant to the president.

It is believed that Schoolcraft's administrators are the first of any community college officials in the state to gain official bargaining status.

Gallery Gets A New Name

Hartley-Powers Gallery, business place of the late Mrs. Harold Hartley, has re-opened under a new name and a new owner-manager.

Mrs. Marie Bonamici reopened the business, closed since the death of Mrs. Hartley August 17, under the name of The Sunflower Shop on Thursday. The shop is located at 116 East Main Street.

The shop will feature imports, crafts and health foods. It will continue to carry paintings but a smaller number of them. Specials will include batiks and handbags by Mrs. Jessie Hudson of Plymouth; pottery (until she moves) by Mrs. Kate Edgerton, weaving and stained glass by Mrs. Mary Ann Beltz; jewelry and leather accessories by Mrs. Bonamici, and wooden bowls by Gordon Keeler of New Hampshire.

The shop, first ever operated by Mrs. Bonamici (although she assisted Mrs. Hartley), will be open each weekday afternoon, except Monday, and all day on Saturday.

Mrs. Bonamici lives at 740 Fairbrook. Her husband is an executive with the National Bank of Detroit in Plymouth.

Bosco said he will be able to begin work "in a couple days." The delay is caused, he said, by a strike of equipment operators from local 324 of the International Union of Operating Engineers. Bosco said he would be able to obtain a special permit from the union and that work would begin as soon as he did.

The council directed Zonkers to order the police department to determine the necessity of lowering the speed limit and to what speed.

In other business Monday night, the council:

-Passed five bids on a front end loader to the city manager to check against the specifications and report back next week with a recommendation.

-Further ordered Zonkers to question the fire chief concerning reported recklessness of his men in answering fire calls.

Councilman Denis Berry said he was able to observe "four near misses" from his council seat as the fire department answered a fire call Monday night.

Named to Teach Lyn Bourne

H. Lyn Bourne of 551 Reed, will teach an amateur mineralogy course this fall at the Rochester campus of Oakland University as a part of its adult education evening program. The course is the result of a request by Harry Longacre, a Pontiac resident, to the Division of Continuing Education.

Bourne is a geologist with the E. C. Levy Company of Detroit and is involved with exploration for construction aggregates. Prior to his present assignment, he performed mineralogical research for Owens Illinois, a major glass producer.

Area adults interested in attending Bourne's course or any of the 200 evening courses beginning the week of September 21 may obtain the new Fall Term Catalog from Oakland University's Division of Continuing Education, Rochester. Phone 377-2000, ext. 2171.

Committees Set for Board

Appointments to sub-committees of the Northville Board of Education were announced August 24 by Board President Dr. Orlo Robinson.

Trustee Richard Martin was named chairman of the curriculum and systems sub-committee with Dr. Robinson serving as member. Chairing the personnel committee will be Trustee Glenn Deibert with Trustee Eugene Cook, a member of the committee.

The physical facilities sub-committee will be chaired by Cook with trustees Stanley Johnston and Timothy Johnson serving on the committee.

Chairman of the finance and budget committee will be Andrew Orphan with Martin serving as a member.

Appointments to the committees run through June, 1971.

Madrigal Club Holds Tryouts

The Madrigal Club of Detroit begins its 55th year of music presentations this fall, under the direction of conductor August Maekelderger.

Try-outs for the all-woman choir will begin Thursday, September 10 at 8 p.m. in the youth lounge at Covenant Baptist Church, 18700 James Couzens (near Seven Mile).

Women with the ability to sing and sight-read music are encouraged to call Mrs. Kent Mathes, a local member, at 349-7334. Rehearsals will be each Monday evening from 7:45 to 9:15 at the Covenant Baptist Church. Concerts will be given in December and April.

be completed and landscaped along with a $500,000 community clubhouse that will include swimming pools and tennis courts.

Altogether Levitt plans to construct 130 single family homes (along the eastern borders of the development between Meadowbrook country club and Curtis Lake), 1,306 townhouse units and some 650 apartments. Four hundred apartment units will be erected within the 400-acre ex-gravel mining site. These will be located near Seven Mile road overlooking "Lake Success," the largest body of water in Highland Lakes. The other 250 units will be on property directly across the street (south of Seven Mile road) where a shopping center is also planned.

Adler explains that the rental units (apartments) will be divided from the individually-owned units (townhouses and single family houses) by Lake

Success. Families owning their homes will have their own community center with swimming pool facilities and tennis courts. Apartment dwellers on both sides of Seven Mile road will also have smaller clubhouses and pools.

Everyone will have access to the lakes which will be landscaped along the shores, feature docks for sail boats and fishermen and walking paths for those just seeking exercise.

Adler expects the community of some 2,086 living units to be completed within five years, "but this depends on sales," he adds.

He's predicting a fast start, however, with paved roads and models ready in October.

"Northville will be proud of Highland Lakes, the people who live here will have the finest community in Michigan, and our company will make money on the project."

That's Adler's flat prediction. His men believe him; he's at the site every day to remind them.

Book Group Forms Here

Popular best sellers will be the books first discussed in a new book discussion group which is forming in Northville. The group hopes to get underway with a first meeting in September.

Leading the discussions will be David Longridge, assistant principal of the high school. Anyone wishing to join is asked to call Longridge at 349-0551.

A LOOSE LEAF

By ROLLY PETERSON

Writing about pet peeves can produce some pretty ho-hum reading. But for the writer at least it's a safety valve, like blowing your mind before it blows up in some irrational act. Like kicking in the TV set, which I might regret later.

So we come to the matter at hand. Sports announcers or sports casters, take your pick. Good ones are scarce.

I was reminded of that fact Sunday when two professional football games on different channels, came over the tube. There was my old nemesis, Frank Gifford, on the color end of the play-by-play.

Gifford. He might have been an all-pro halfback with the New York Giants, but as an announcer he flops. It's simply a matter of no guts. Don't go out on the limb, don't say anything controversial, play it safe with innocuous remarks. Make a mistake, pull in your horns.

George Cantor of the Free Press once took off after Gifford and rightly so after Gifford had made Vince Lombardi of the Green Bay Packers into a nice fatherly type after "the Pack" had ripped another opponent. Everybody knows Lombardi is "a martinet" when it comes to football.

Perhaps Gifford, and other sports announcers for that matter, have to walk a tightrope or lose their jobs with the networks. If so, is the job really worth it?

Harry Carey, the former voice of the St. Louis Cardinals—and one of the most colorful announcers in a long while—was canned when he had differences with the men who paid his salary. What Carey did was voice some observations which were critical of the Cardinals.

Bob Reynolds of WJR, disgusted with the mistakes the Lions were making which resulted in penalties and killed many drives, aired his disenchantment openly a few years ago. It was a rare display. He said what everyone was thinking; he called it as he saw it.

But even Reynolds has backed down. He roundly criticized Bo Schembechler for bringing his entire Ohio staff with him when he came to Michigan. Confronted with the new Michigan coach in person, Reynolds turned to syrup, treated Schembechler as a long lost friend—and didn't bother to ask why he didn't hire more Michigan coaches.

Not that Reynolds or any other announcer has to be obnoxious in confronting a sports figure. But why couldn't a simple question be asked, why couldn't differences be aired, and yet the men remain friends or friendly enemies.

So it goes in the announcing business, as this writer sees it. A lack of candor. Sudden flip-flops to avoid error or loss of a job. Worse yet, silence to avoid controversy.

Not all announcers are polywogs. Take Larry Zimmer

SEMCOG Compiles Drug Info

Agencies Listed That Offer Help

In the wake of growing drug abuse problems in Detroit and its suburbs, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) this week announced compilation of programs available to combat drug abuse.

The 59-page booklet was financed in part through an urban planning grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

It covers those programs available through three main sources — law enforcement agencies, school districts and social service agencies.

Focusing on the regional problem, SEMCOG points out that records of police, courts, social agencies and research studies indicate the drug abuse problem has become "massive" in the suburbs as well as the central city.

"Within the City of Detroit alone," says SEMCOG, "health and law enforcement officials estimate at least 10,000 persons are addicted to narcotics or dependent on dangerous drugs. The total of all drug abusers in Southeast Michigan is said to be as high as 50,000."

SEMCOG quotes the Governor's Special Committee on Drug Dependence and Abuse estimates that $40 million is annually spent by addicts.

SEMCOG takes the position that with the increase of addiction, "our communities must also pay for increased services. Police departments request more funds for the enforcement of drug laws; school districts request financing of workshops and seminars on the prevention of drug abuse; health and social agencies seek support for the treatment and rehabilitation of addicts.

"Thus the magnitude and urgency of this problem has brought about the need for both a massive commitment of resources from all levels of government and coordinated action among those various agencies working on the control, prevention, and treatment of drug abuse."

Purpose of the inventory, explains SEMCOG, is to "assist individuals, citizen groups, and agencies concerned with the ever-increasing problem of drug abuse that is confronting all of the communities of Southeast Michigan."

Here is a synopsis of a few of these programs:

Numerous police agencies provide one or two programs dealing with drug abuse beyond the enforcement of laws. These programs are Request and Respond (RR) in which the department will deliver speeches to community groups on the problems of drug abuse and Analysis Anonymous (AA) in which the department will provide analysis of unknown chemicals.

Under the latter, a citizen interested in finding out what an unknown substance is follows this procedure:

1. Bring the suspected plants, tablets, powders, capsules or liquids to the police department where he will be given a number for identification (since he need not identify himself).

2. The narcotics bureau of the department will analyze the material and identify it. Within a few days, the person telephones the bureau and is told what the substance is, its effects and suggestions as to what he should do with the substance.

Area departments providing one or both of these services include the Livingston County Sheriff, Howell Police Department, Oakland County Sheriff, Novi Police Department, Wixom Police Department, and Wayne County Sheriffs Special.

Among the school districts that last year had or that plan to have a special drug use/abuse program other than part of the health curriculum as required by the State Department of Education are:

Hartland Consolidated Schools, Brighton Area Schools, Novi Community Schools, Walled Lake Public Schools, Plymouth Community School District.

Among the many agencies that will provide assistance are:

Livingston County Mental Health Board; Narcotic Addiction Rehabilitation Coordinating

In memory of my husband, Harvey P. Lefler, who passed away one year ago today, September 5, 1969.

SO BADLY MISSED One year ago you left me behind Contentment here I cease to find. I search for your presence That I may come near And I listen for your voice That to me was so dear.

Time has seemed long since you left me alone. My heart is so sad since you have been gone.

The walls of my home are so still and bare They were so joyous and happy when you were here.

God in his mercy saw fit to take you home And leave me here to travel on. But we'll meet again in a glorious affair

"Coward!"

STRICTLY FRESH

Department stores could save a great deal on handling returned merchandise if the manufacturers would stop making wrong sizes.

At today's prices, breaking a mirror is most certainly seven years' bad luck.

The boss' wolfish son is working here for the summer and all the secretaries have had their fill of fresh hair.

Those who are bored with life should consider the alternative.

'Savings Time' Vote Possible This Year

LANSING - Michigan voters may have a second chance to vote whether they want daylight savings time in the state this year.

Or they may get that second chance in 1972.

Or they may not get it at all. That, in a nutshell, is the messy situation the advocates and opponents of moving the clock ahead one hour during the summertime have backed themselves into.

IT ALL STARTED last year when the backers of daylight savings time, who lost a statewide vote by a margin of only 488 votes in 1968, decided to try for a second vote on the matter.

They launched a petition drive to accomplish this but when the deadline for submitting the petitions to the Secretary of State's office arrived on January 4, they didn't have the 197,000 signatures they needed. Instead of giving up, however, they filed suit seeking a court order to force the Secretary of State to accept the petitions after Jan. 4.

Their argument basically said that petitions for constitutional amendments didn't need to be submitted until only 120 days before an election so that it was unfair to make them submit theirs so early.

The early requirement was imposed in a 1914 law, which said petitions proposing laws must be submitted 10 days before the Legislature convenes. Since the daylight time petitions proposed changing the state law which exempts Michigan from the federal daylight time law, they fell under this requirement.

Petition circulators, however, said in modern days, with the Legislature meeting every year and almost all year, such a requirement is out of date, thwarts the will of the people and thus is unconstitutional. In June the State Court of Appeals issued a ruling agreeing with the backers of daylight time and ordering the Secretary of State to start counting the petitions and to accept new petitions.

OPPONENTS of daylight time have appealed that ruling to the Supreme Court and the high court has set a deadline of September 14 for the submission of written arguments on the case.

Court watchers say a final decision is quite possible before the end of the month.

Should the court rule the deadline is unconstitutional also and agree the petitions should be counted, however, that won't be the end of the story.

There is a requirement in the state constitution that any petition proposal to change state law must go to the Legislature before it goes on the ballot.

THE LEGISLATURE is required to act on the matter one way or another within 40 session days of the time it gets the issue. Since the Legislature has scheduled only two session days between now and the election, the time period couldn't expire in time to put the issue on this year's November ballot.

And since the Legislature has scheduled those two days for September 15-16, it will have to make a decision to come back again after the Supreme Court decision and then take a quick vote on the daylight time issue again if a vote this year is possible.

Even that might not be quick enough to insure a vote this year, however, since there are practical limits imposed on such matters by the need to get ballots printed, etc.

THERE IS NO assurance such a special session would be held, since the Senate refused earlier this year to back a proposal to put the matter back on the ballot for a second time. Thus, about all that can be said is that there either will or won't be a vote this year, or 1972, or ever.

And the voter shouldn't be surprised on November 3 if he finds the daylight time issue on his ballot - or if he doesn't.

IT IS SOMEWHAT of an accepted political truism that the Republican Party has less trouble taking care of its financial obligations than the Democratic Party.

The reason for that differentiation is shown in the prices the two parties are charging for the legislative election fund raising dinners they're holding this fall.

Republicans are charging $100 a ticket. But to get into the Democratic dinner will only cost you $50. Or perhaps the Democrats count on support from twice as many people.

who announces the U of M football and basketball games for WAAM radio in Ann Arbor. Zimmer, while being colorful with his emotional display, calls 'em as he sees 'em.

If Michigan, an opponent or the referee makes some goof, or if Zimmer has a controversial observation to make, he speaks out. He says, for instance, that Michigan was lucky not to have a clipping penalty called, or he openly says the refs missed a call, as they did when Rick Mount of Purdue obviously fouled Michigan's Dan Fife as he dribbled the ball.

But there are too few Zimmers.

Babson Report

Oil Line Break Pinches Industry

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass. - Earlier this year two events occurred, the effects of which have had a major impact on oil companies and the industry as a whole. In May a bulldozer caused a break in the major oil pipeline running from Saudi Arabia on the Persian Gulf to Sidon, Lebanon, on the Mediterranean. Before the break the line was delivering about 500,000 barrels a day for tanker shipment to European and U.S. ports.

THE BREAK is in Syria, and that country has refused to permit repairs, apparently in a move aimed at extracting higher oil transit royalties. But this has had repercussions similar to those caused by closing of the Suez Canal in 1967. Now, crude from Saudi Arabia must make the long journey around Africa to the marketplace.

Because of this lengthy voyage, greater tanker capacity is required to ensure the same constant volume of oil for European ports. The other burden placed on world crude suppliers was created when Libya ordered production cutbacks in the name of "conservation." This served to evaporate another 400,000 to 500,000 barrels a day which had been ticketed largely for European refineries.

Even before these developments, oil tanker capacity was tight. The added burden of providing nearly 1 million barrels daily - mostly by long haul - has now sent world charter rates for tankers soaring.

HISTORICALLY, crude oil from the Mideast has been landed on the U.S. East Coast at prices far less than those for our domestically produced oil. To prevent a flood of low-cost crude, imports have been on a quota basis. Now, with freight rates alone on Mideast crude over $3 a barrel, oil from Louisiana and Texas is competitive in price and import tickets have little value. As enthusiasm for the expensive imports wanes, there is greater demand for domestic stocks. And for inland refiners the problem is compounded since most pipelines from the Gulf Coast are now at capacity.

The bulldozer accident could change existing oil import regulations and could also revive incentives to increase domestic exploration and production. Owing to the higher price of imported crude, the Texas Railroad Commission has raised its "allowable" production for Texas wells to a record high. Louisiana has taken similar action.

WHILE CHANGES in the industry are immediately evident, effects on individual companies are less so. The extremely big internationals, especially those with large company-owned tanker fleets, are so diversified around the world that pressures on any segment of operations are generally absorbed without difficulty. Integration in the multi-phases of petroleum activity, particularly where there is a high degree of self-sufficiency in crude, insulates these majors from much economic and political "heat." A prime example, which the Research Department of Babson's Reports is recommending for purchase, is Standard Oil of California (NYSE), promising satisfactory growth, appreciation, and income. It accounts for 6 per cent of entire Free World oil output, and owns or leases over 75 tankers, many in the super class.

EVEN WHILE authorities have been sounding the alarm over critical future shortages of oil, drilling starts have been in a decline in this country. The startling change in the status of what has hitherto been cheap foreign crude may bring about renewed domestic drilling activity, both onshore and offshore. There is no question the incentive is there. Among several favorably situated domestic petroleum companies, the Babson's Reports Research Staff singles out Cities Service as an excellent prospect for appreciation and as a good current purchase.

C.; and National Family Council on Drug Addiction of New York City.

THIS HIGH WHEEL BIKE'S A WINNER

Narda Foreman Wins Another Prize

Narda Foreman, 21, of 49824 West Seven Mile Road, is rapidly making a monopoly of first place in the special artistic exhibit competition of the fruit division at the annual Michigan State Fair.

Narda, who has entered contests at the State Fair since she was seven, almost missed out this time when stricken with an attack of appendicitis just about the time she was beginning to put the design for the 1970 competition together.

As it was, she received assistance from her Western Michigan University class mate, Sherry Quarles, 21, of 34990 Wadsworth, Livonia, her father and brothers and won the blue ribbon and the $600 first prize for the third time in the four years of the special artistic exhibit.

It was a replica of an old-fashioned, high wheel bicycle that caught the eyes of the judges.

Narda and Sherry made the bike of plums, red and green apples and the spokes of green apples. The seat consists of red apples set in a purple plum background.

Her cousin, Louis Foreman of Chelsea, was awarded second place for his display of a football field made of green apples, with patches of red apples representing the Big 10 teams plus a banner from each of the universities.

The Foreman family, which now consists of William and Ralph, brothers who have adjoining fruit farms on West Seven Mile Road, have had entries in the State Fair competition for the past 40 years.

One or the other of the brothers won the blue ribbons several times during the period when it was classified as a commercial exhibit. The classification was changed to special artistic exhibits four years back and Narda has been the winner three times.

She is the daughter of William Foreman, Sr., and her brother, Bill, Jr., won first and second place ribbons in the education judging of the fruit division this year.

Make-Believe World?

Lloyd G. Brasure
First Presbyterian Church of Northville

Are we living in a world of "make-believe"? Too often we slip into this world, perhaps without realizing that we are great pretenders.

One of the news columnists occasionally writes about "his government", pretending that for a day he would run the country. He is indulging in the fantasy world of "make-believe". When you visit movie sets, you will see this illusion business carried out by the professionals. You see a whole house, a rain storm, a ship at sea, a mountain scene, a cruising automobile, even a man or a woman, and they aren't as they appear to be — all is not true or real. "Make-believe" is part of our world more than we know.

This "make-believe" world of fantasy, of pretension, infects our whole society, and the people in it. We must examine ourselves and see how much we are pretending to be someone that we aren't. We make a Christian profession, unite with Christ's Church, but then fall back to the place of judgment of others (God's right alone), or depending on our own opinions rather than the Spirit of Christ and the words of Scripture to guide our actions. We suddenly think we can go our own way without Him; this is the great pretension, the great "make-believe" that is a kind of self-deification. We must accept ourselves as He does, sinners whose desire for forgiveness leads to a repentant attitude. We must know that in Christ we know God's eternal grace, His gift to us who need help.

If we wish to enjoy the world of "make-believe" as entertainment, let us do so. But never let it be said that we offer ourselves to God, but only that part that shows. It must be the whole person, the whole soul, the whole life.

Joe's I. Q. is 85, Sam's is 150. Alice is fair as a lily; Lynn is ruddy and freckled. Carl plays great football, but Robert writes lyric poetry. Sue likes to cook, and Liz wants to program computers. Bill becomes a detective while Jack flies a plane for his country.

What can all this conglomeration have in common?

Nothing, you may say — no two people in the world are exactly alike!

But they do have something in common, you know — something very important—they are all human beings. No matter how different, the point is they have the same hopes and ambitions and frustrations as you and I.

You and I like to think we are a little different, of course. But you and I share something with all other human beings — something very precious. We are all loved by God, and we should all return a little of that love to Him every Sunday — in the church of our choice.

Something in common
