Financial Crisis Seen As College Strike Ends

A stormy teachers strike has ended and students are back in classes, but more menacing clouds may be hovering over Schoolcraft Community College.

At least that's the opinion of William Secord, Northville's representative on the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees.

The lone member of the board to vote against approval Saturday afternoon of the two-year teacher contract, Secord fears the teacher salary package in the contract may cripple the college financially.

"I think we've practically bankrupted the college with this salary schedule," he declared, "and I'm going to make a statement before the board Wednesday (yesterday) that will make that point clear."

"It's expensive," admitted Dr. Robert Geake, also of Northville and a board member at large, "but it's a fair settlement to both sides — and not out of line in comparison with what other community colleges are paying."

Classes at Schoolcraft resumed yesterday following two days of registration Monday and Tuesday.

The late start means the 1971 spring and summer sessions will be combined into a single 10-week third semester. The first two semesters, though four weeks late in starting, will be unaffected in their length of time.

According to a college administrator, the first semester will run through January 20 with final examinations taking place on January 25 and 26. The second semester is slated to begin January 27. Prior to the strike, the first semester was slated to begin August 22 and end December 31.

The school calendar was part of the settlement package ratified Friday evening by the Faculty Forum (89 to 29) and approved the following afternoon by a 5 to 1 board vote, with one member abstaining. It provides a Thanksgiving vacation on November 26-27 and a Christmas holiday running from December 21 through January 3.

Key to settlement, apparently, was a hefty salary increase in the two-year contract that runs through August of 1972.

Non-economic gains, according to the faculty's chief contract negotiator, Oscar Poupart, are next to non-existent "but we reached what we consider to be a tolerable situation that we can live with for the next two years."

"At least we have a form of due process for 'new hires' and a grandfather clause for probationary teachers in case of termination."

Salary-wise, however, teachers voiced satisfaction.

Here's what they will get:

First year — BA, from $8,200 to $12,800; MA, $9,000 to $15,200; and doctorate, $10,000 to $16,200.

Second year — BA, from $8,500 to $13,900; MA, from $9,300 to $16,300; and doctorate, $10,300 to $17,300 (only two teachers reportedly hold doctorate degrees).

The previous (1969-70) salary schedule range was: $7,800 to $10,500 for BA's; $8,600 to $12,600 for MA's; and $9,600 to $13,600 for doctorates.

While Secord voted against the two-year package, he earlier had supported a one-year contract recommended by the negotiating teams

$3 Million Budget OK'd

A record high budget of nearly $3-million was approved September 14 by Northville School Board trustees.

The balanced budget calls for revenues and expenditures of $2,940,885, an increase of $426,943 over last year's budget.

This year the district anticipates it will spend $918.45 per pupil, compared with $805.75 last year, Earl Busard, business manager, said.

The largest part of the budget, 72.73 percent, has been allocated for instruction, with an expenditure of $667.92 per pupil for a total of $2,138,670. Last year the instruction allocation was $1,765,783 or 70.4 percent of the total budget.

A total of $1,113,523 has been allocated for administration, representing 3.86 percent of the budget or $35.48 per pupil. Last year $1,033,085 was allocated for administration, representing 4.1 percent of the total budget.

Allocation for health services is $1,700, up to .06 percent of the budget from .04 percent. Per pupil expenditure is 53 cents this year, based on an enrollment of 3,202 students. Last year's budget called for an allocation of $1,056.

Transportation represents 4.03 percent of the budget, up from 3.99 last year. Allocation is $118,386 or a per pupil cost of $37. Transportation budget last year was $100,274.

Operation and maintenance of the plant (school buildings) represents 13.88 percent of the total budget for an allocation of $408,436 or $127.58 per pupil. Allocated to operation and maintenance last year was $385,508.

A total of $117,200 or 3.99 percent of the budget has been earmarked for fixed charges or $36.63 per pupil, compared with an outlay of $101,652 last year, or 4.04 percent of the budget.

Capital outlay represents .17 percent of the budget with an allocation of $5,000 or $1.56 per pupil. Last year $21,497 was allocated for capital outlay, representing .86 percent of the total budget.

The budget allocation for student services is $32,500 or 1.1 percent of the budget, a decrease from 1.21 percent last year but an increase of $2,032 over last year's allocation. Expenditure per student is pegged at $10.05.

be $5,000, Busard estimates, representing .17 percent of the budget, up from .02 last year, with an allocation of $4,447. Per pupil expenditure this year will be $1.55.

Murder Suspect To Face Exam

Freeman Miller, 36, was arraigned Saturday on a charge of first degree murder in the shotgun slaying of James Anderson, Sr., 44, here Friday night.

Both men lived at 49824 Seven Mile Road, where the murder took place.

Miller pleaded "not guilty" to the charge in Plymouth's 35th District Court before Judge James Stone of the 34th District Court.

According to township police reports, Miller, a seasonal employee at Foreman Orchards on Seven Mile Road, and Anderson, foreman of the orchards, had allegedly quarreled Friday morning.

At approximately 6:35 p.m. Friday, Miller, who, according to police, had been drinking, allegedly shot Anderson at close range with a 12-gauge shotgun loaded with number five birdshot.

Township police and Wayne County Sheriff's officers arrived at the scene minutes later and found Anderson face up in the driveway with a wound in the stomach and Miller standing nearby.

Anderson was taken to Wayne County General Hospital where he died about an hour later.

According to witnesses, Miller allegedly also had fired three shots at Anderson's son, James Anderson, Jr., but missed.

Miller is set for examination on the murder charge Monday, September 28, at 9 a.m. in 35th District Court in Plymouth. He is currently being held without bond at Wayne County Jail.

According to court officials, the senior Anderson once served a prison sentence in Jackson State Prison for the murder of his brother-in-law in the late 1940's or early 1950's.

SIT IN? Not at all. It's simply a sweet kind of bedlam as students eagerly sought to register for classes at Schoolcraft Community College early this week following the end of a month-long teachers strike. Classes resumed yesterday.

NEWS BRIEFS

IF SENATOR LEVIN wins the gubernatorial election, Northville Township Police Chief Ron Nisun will try again to become mayor of Livonia. Levin's lieutenant-governor is Livonia Mayor Ed McNamara, thus a special election for mayor would be necessary in Livonia in the event of a Democratic victory. Nisun was an unsuccessful candidate for nomination in Livonia's last city election.

*****

UNREGISTERED qualified electors have until Friday, October 2 at 8 p.m. to sign up and become eligible to vote in the November 3 election. Voters may register in the offices of their city or township clerk. Special registration stations have also been established by the Northville Jaycees in three other locations (see story page 11-A).

*****

ASPHALT REPAIRS and joint sealing of concrete on numerous city streets reportedly will be completed prior to November 1 following awarding of contracts Monday to two low bidders — Howell Construction Service of Northville, $10,759 for road repairs, and Coco Midwest of Racine, Wisconsin for joint sealing of concrete.

*****

AN AGREEMENT waiving special assessment procedures for blacktopping of Base Line Street, south of the high school, has been approved by the city council, which called for the advertising for bids in anticipation of a pre-winter completion date. Special assessment procedures became unnecessary because adjacent property owners — the Northville school system and Eastlawn Convalescent Home — have agreed to share the total $35,000 estimated cost of the project.

*****

A PUBLIC hearing on a proposed city ordinance amendment regulating firewall construction has been set for October 5, while a hearing on a proposal to permit the use of plastic pipe for inside and exterior drains and pipe lines is slated to be heard October 19.

Students Rank Above Average

Northville Public School students are well above average in the basic skills of vocabulary, reading, English expression and math, when compared with other students in the state.

Curriculum Coordinator Florence Panattoni announced the findings September 14 to the board of education, based on the results of the Michigan Assessment Program initiated in January by the State Board of Education. All students in the state at the fourth and seventh grade levels were tested.

Besides measuring academic skills, the program also measured socio-economic status, attitudes and aspirations of students, school human resources and school financial resources.

Couple Takes Vows In Candlelight Rites

Lynda Beverly Ricketts became the bride of Gary William Holland in an evening double-ring ceremony August 28 at Trinity United Methodist Church of Detroit. Officiating at the candlelight marriage was the Reverend Rudolph Joop.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard E. Ricketts, Sr., 42700 Eight Mile Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Holland, Westland.

White and blue gladioli and chrysanthemums and candles decorated the church.

The bride wore a princess style A-line gown of silk organza fashioned with peau d'ange lace and seed pearls on the bodice and neckline. Lace appliques accented the skirt of the gown and the chapel train. A wide baby blue satin ribbon caught in a large bow with streamers down the back of the dress highlighted the bodice of her bridal dress.

Her headpiece of lace and seed pearl petals and an organza bow was caught by an illusion veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of georgianna orchids, white carnations and miniature blue carnations.

Sister of the bride, Claudia Ricketts was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Alice Holland, sister of the bridegroom, and Shirley Lamp, Westland.

They wore princess style gowns of romance blue chiffon. The sheer bishop sleeves and bodice were trimmed in white lace. Headpieces of lace petals caught their illusion veils. They carried crescent bouquets of light blue carnations and blue streamers.

Jack Dankert, Wayne, was best man. Brothers of the bride, Claude and Rick Ricketts, attended the bridegroom. Arthur Holland and Greg Ricketts, brothers of the couple, seated guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ricketts chose a pale blue aqua sleeveless silk and worsted dress with a beaded bodice. A gold cymbidium orchid corsage completed her outfit.

Mrs. Holland, mother of the bridegroom, wore a mint green matching coat and dress ensemble with braid trim. Her corsage was a green cymbidium orchid.

Organist was Mrs. Loraine Edwards and Delsie Carter sang "One Hand, One Heart" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Following the ceremony, the newlyweds greeted 200 guests at Hawthorne Valley Country Club in Westland.

For a wedding trip to Canada, the bride changed into a beige linen suit accented with red and blue accessories.

The new Mrs. Holland is a 1967 graduate of Northville High and attended Schoolcraft College for two years and is a senior at Michigan State University. Her husband, a 1966 graduate of John Glenn High School in Westland, attended Ferris State College and is now employed at Detroit Edison Company.

The newlyweds are now living in Mount Clemens.

Officiating at the evening ceremony September 12 was Reverend Richard Snoad.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. William Marthaler, Troy, and Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, 1094 Grace Court.

Maid of honor was Valerie Marthaler, sister of the bride. Attendants were Dawn Wilson of Ohio, Jeannie DeHaven, Flint; and Judy Liska, Ann Arbor.

They wore floor length Victorian gowns of crepe with white lace trim on the bodice and sleeves. They carried yellow mums tipped in orange and tied with light orange ribbons.

William Clark served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Jerry Williams, Lansing; David Snyder, Flint; and Jim Krebs, Big Rapids.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Marthaler chose a beige lace coat and dress ensemble. Mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Clark, wore a lime green linen dress with matching coat.

Town Hall's 10th Anniversary

Levenson Tops Lecture Series

A star-studded line-up headed by humorist Sam Levenson highlights the 10th anniversary of Northville Town Hall's lecture series.

Levenson will kick-off the lecture series Thursday, October 8, at 11 a.m. in Northville High auditorium. Town Hall chairman, Mrs. Nelson Hyatt, said "A few tickets remain for the series and luncheon reservations should also be made now."

A fashion show presented by TowBari on November 12, a lecture by Mike Whorf on March 11 and a talk by wine specialist Walter Rosenberg on April 22 complete the series.

Season tickets for the four lectures are $10 and can be ordered through Northville Town Hall Series, PO Box 93, Northville.

Tickets for the celebrity luncheons at Lofy's in Plymouth following each lecture are $3 each or $12 for the season. Reservations must be made by the Friday preceding each lecture. They should be sent to Town Hall to the attention of Mrs. John Frew, or contact her at 349-0836.

Sam Levenson was called "America's greatest humorist" by the late poet and biographer, Carl Sandburg.

Levenson was born in New York, went to school and taught there and also got his first start in show business there.

His stories have their roots in experiences common to all, no matter what their station in life.

A successful author, his books are filled with grassroots humor, a warm philosophy of life and a lot of common sense.

A TowBari fashion show marks the second lecture on November 12. TowBari, for 18 years a smart women's specialty shop located at Cherry Hill and Outer Drive in West Dearborn, is owned and operated by Peggy Potzger.

Peggy knows and wears smart fashions and scours the New York market to find the look of couture at medium to better prices, with new things arriving daily at the shop.

She is well known for her expert ability to accessorize, and her jewelry, scarves and handbags complete each costume to perfection.

Mike Whorf will appear at his first Town Hall lecture on March 11. The producer, researcher and writer of radio station WJR's "Kaleidoscope" program, his talk is entitled "American Heritage."

Under his imaginative stewardship, "Kaleidoscope" has become one of the most interesting and talked about radio programs in the Great Lakes area.

Recently his programs have become available on cassette tapes under the name "The Visual Sounds of Mike Whorf." His program has won the "George Peabody Award" for its broadcasting.

The tapes, which run from 35 minutes to an hour, are available from Whorf at 950 East Maple, Birmingham, 48011.

Whorf will highlight his Town Hall lecture with music.

Walter W. Rosenberg, proprietor of the Wine Shops, Incorporated, Detroit, is a well known wine consultant and originator of the wine appreciation course which has exposed over 5,000 students to the knowledge, charm and enjoyment of wine.

Appearing in his first Town Hall series April 22, Rosenberg's lecture is entitled "Woo Your Mate with Wine."

He has been given the title "Official Sommelier" of the popular "Focus Program" hosted by WJR's J.P. McCarthy. Rosenberg recommends that Town Hall goers practice what he teaches by joining him for the celebrity luncheon with wines.

Again this year, proceeds from the Town Hall lecture series will be given to charities in the Northville-Novi, Farmington and Livonia area through the board of awards, an advisory group consisting of representatives of each community.

The awards are given annually in June. For further information on the awards program, contact the advisory board of Town Hall.

According to Van Hine, all senior girls at Northville High School are eligible to participate as contestants in the pageant. Entry blanks are available at the high school office and should be filled out and returned to that office immediately.

The Junior Miss Pageant is part of a national Junior Miss program conducted by Jaycees throughout the country in an attempt to find the "ideal high school senior."

Contestants locally will be judged by an independent panel of judges in the categories of poise, personality, appearance, talent and scholastic achievement. Date for the local pageant has not yet been firmly established.

"We encourage Northville seniors to participate in this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity," said Van Hine.

Winner of the Northville pageant will be joined in December by approximately 25 other winners in the three-county Detroit Metropolitan area in competing for 12 state finalist positions. The metropolitan regional pageant, incidentally, will be hosted this year by the Northville Jaycees in the high school auditorium on December 11 and 12.

The 12 finalists named in the regional competition here will compete against 12 outstate finalists, chosen at Midland, in the state finals at Pontiac on January 23.

Country Homes Featured in Today's Tour

Two country homes, located down shaded lanes, are to the five homes open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. today on the Northville Presbyterian Woman's Association home tour.

Split-rail fences surround the property of Dr. and Mrs. Charles B. Smith. In addition to the rambling, one-story home which has gained charm with major additions, there is a large barn complete with tack room and stone fireplace. The John Begle home also has a barn, a little red one, with paddock. Their brown, timbered house overlooks

SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE — Visitors to the Novi home of John Begle will find plenty of charming and interesting highlights — including the setting of the

it and a pond and gardens where Mrs. Begle grows in profusion the flowers she dries and arranges. At this time of year Mrs. Begle calls the upstairs of her home her

"flower factory" as two bedrooms are filled with containers of drying flowers. Other bunches hang from strings in the closets. Marigolds, zinnas, goldenrod, yarrow and statice all are grown in her gardens.

She sells some of the flowers to florists and uses the rest in her distinctive arrangements. A red-and-white arrangement in the master bedroom echoes the room color scheme. Its container is a silver luster pitcher which belonged to Mrs. Begle's mother. On the mantel of the bedroom fireplace is a clock which had belonged to Mrs. Begle's great-grandmother.

One of Mrs. Begle's favorite bouquets is a delicate pink-and-green one in the upstairs hall, keyed to the wallpaper. The copper container is one of several Mrs. Begle brought back from a trip to Holland earlier this year.

Also in the upstairs hall are an interesting English "prism" piece (one of the few antiques Mrs. Begle bought as most are inherited) and a pair of numbered contemporary prints.

Throughout the home which the Begles had built 15 years ago are evidences of the skillful blending of antiques with contemporary, oriental and other import pieces. At the foot of the stairs is a prize rosewood melodeon, which Mrs. Begle declares "took five years to coax from Mother."

Beyond, in the living room, is an eye-catching Far East wallhanging. In soft blues it is embroidered with dragons and other oriental designs and is shot with metallic threads. Mrs. Begle says she knows it is old as it was a treasure of her mother's brought as a gift by an uncle.

A corner cupboard by the fireplace holds the Begles' collection of blue-pattern Chelsea ware. In an open design, the living room, dining area and kitchen flow into each other. In the dining area are Mrs. Begle's mother's Victorian hanging shelf and a stained glass picture placed in the window for light to illuminate. It was bought in Czechoslovakia, Mrs. Begle remembers, while her father was doing further medical studies in Europe.

Beyond is the family room where the fireplace is graced with a wide-framed pine mirror. A shaker box on the piano holds another original dried arrangement.

Everywhere in this house are noteworthy details. In addition to the flower arrangements throughout, there are the framed floral pictures which Mrs. Begle remarks regretfully she doesn't have time to make now.

From the moment a visitor enters and views a little desk in the hall topped by a walnut Victorian shaving cabinet until he leaves through the family room with a new, iron sculpture in abstract just finished by Mrs. Begle's sister, he has seen a home reflecting its artistic, individualistic owners.

In the Charles B. Smith home family antiques are combined with reproductions, often painted by the creative Mrs. Smith, in a charming, warm atmosphere.

The Smiths, their two young daughters and son moved to the home two years ago, previously having lived on Orchard Drive. They are at least the fourth owners, according to Mrs. Smith's tally.

The house is brick and white-painted wood. Originally, it was a three-car garage home with the present kitchen and master bedroom now located in that area. The first addition in the mid-sixties by the Richard Kays included the present living room with a paneled fireplace wall bought when the Joy mansion was wrecked in Grosse Pointe.

A landmark Grosse Pointe home also yielded the oversize front door, which opens to a real brick entry. Mrs. Smith has had a wrought iron grillwork door screened to complete the effective entrance. The elaborate ironwork came with the original door and, fortunately, had been stored in the barn.

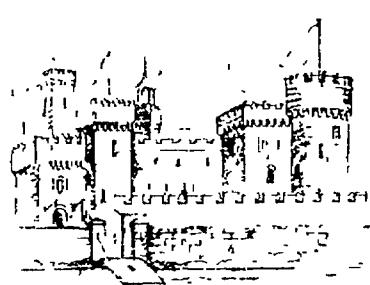

To the left of the entrance is the master bedroom with red velvet draperies and spread keyed to the red-and-white wallpaper. In this room is the hump-top wooden trunk in which Dr. Smith's great-great grandparents carried their possessions as they walked from New York to the Midwest after emigrating from Germany.

In the keeping room-kitchen is another family piece, a hanging lamp which had hung in Dr. Smith's family home near Grand Rapids. Under it is an old-fashioned round table. Mrs. Smith

NEWS FROM THE Castle

ACROSS FROM "THE PALACE" that is...

Do you have your tickets ladies? The annual home tour is here again and we will point out a few details relative to decorating that you should take note of.

Of course, "Ellison's Victorian" is — Charm! Liz is really something else, and the home sure sings with personality. Take note of the "Bell Pull" in the dining room — the fabric is imported from Europe and the price we don't care to discuss. Good thing Liz is an expert seamstress — like cutting up $5 bills! The living room sofa is covered uniquely — A McAllister original. (Bev and Liz really dreamed that up.)

Let's go out West Main, to the Bauss' "Normandy French" hide-a-way. For a new home with all the modern conveniences, this home is "old world charm" inside. The wallpapers add color and warmth to the stucco walls and dark woodwork. A unique atmosphere has been created — not of the ordinary "new house look."

Back to town, down Center, past the "money maker" up the hill past the horse barns and on to Thornapple Lane. Here nestled on a knoll studded with trees is the Smith's "Rambling Ranch." Take note of the living room valance treatment. A Schumacher documentary fabric perfected expressly as the designee would visualize — a deep scalloped top accentuating the bird. McAllister's dreamed up this little winner years ago — now it's the thing to do. The master bedroom wallpaper — now it's a Schumacher — was a hard sell for us to Rena — but the ole know how came through again — "Another job well done by your "Knights of the Round Table."

Back to town and down on the corner at our ole house and all we can pass along is not to look at the Bible too long — Henry Ford isn't in it. There is no relation between that house and that Bible. Actually, you see, our relative stored some things in our attic when she broke-up housekeeping and the Bible is one which belonged to our cousins husbands family from Canada. Sorry about that! Bev and I have chuckled about this and it just goes to show — you better do some research on these antiques and heirlooms and know what you're talking about. Don't buy a pig in a poke!

Out on 9 Mile "Begle's Country House" has a foot stool (I think) which only took about 3 years to finish. You see, the fabric is a Greeff, import and by the time the job was finally finished another antique was born. Too many fingers in the pie! However, there just couldn't be another one like it — impossible — especially with the history. Ask Mary, she'll blow in your ear awhile.

Well, by now you are aware in "The Castle" there is the finest and largest selection of wallpaper from "The Smokies to Generation Gap," of course, our fabric selection is also the greatest for drapery, upholstery, slipcovers, you name it — we've got it — even if you want to make a stall cover for your new pony — "Hello World."

So, enjoy yourself, (or if you read this after the fact) we will be glad to assist you to put a little kick in your life — wallpaper and decorate with McAllister's and maybe you too can have your home on tour and run over with 3,000 women decorators yacking at each other all the way and going home to hubby and telling him they will just have to re-decorate!

Howard Coe Returned to Wixom Council

After four secret ballots Tuesday night the Wixom City Council whittled down a field of 10 candidates and chose Howard Coe, 439 North Wixom Road, to fill the vacant council seat.

The voting results were not disclosed.

Coe left the council in his third consecutive term after 10 years of service early this year saying: "It's time someone else had a chance."

He returned, however, to run unsuccessfully as a write-in candidate in the April election.

Mayor Gilbert Willis said he was pleased with the council's vote because the experienced appointee would surely "work with the council."

Coe, a Wixom resident since 1940, was not present at the meeting.

Prior to its election of Coe, the council overruled the City Planning Commission (4-1) by refusing its recommendation to deny the rezoning request from Edward Rose and Sons developers.

The request involved a proposed $10 million dollar multiple housing development planned for an 85-acre section south of Pontiac Trail and west of Beck Road.

The planning commission rejected a rezoning request to change the property from single family residential and light industry to multiple residential primarily because Rose's site plans did not allow enough open space in the development.

Lone dissent was cast by Councilman Dr. Val Vangieson.

"I don't believe in going against a unanimous vote of the planning commission," said Vangieson. "The body as a whole felt quite strongly about the stand they took and I didn't want to override them."

In other business Tuesday night, the council passed to DPW director Robert Trombley and Pate, Hirn and Bogue, Inc., city engineers, a report prepared by the city's Environmental Studies Commission. Trombley, assisted by the city engineers, is to prepare a list of street paving priorities on a basis of volume of traffic for presentation to the council.

Council voted 4-1 to direct Assistant to the Mayor Robert Case to "send out feelers" to the surrounding communities in an effort to determine whether they would be interested in sharing the expense of a radar unit for police traffic work.

The dissenting vote was cast by Councilman Robert Dingeldey. "We need a fire department," said Dingeldey. "This city has a very well equipped police department and I can't see spending any amount of money,

Novi Students

Great in Math But Dislike School

Novi students are great at mathematics, even though they apparently are not red-hot on school. At least that's what the state-wide testing of fourth and seventh graders by the Department of Education last fall has revealed, according to Superintendent Thomas Dale.

The superintendent said he was generally pleased with the results of the test locally.

Basically, testing of fourth and seventh graders showed that Novi youngsters are above average in basic academic skills and in attitudes and aspirations except in their attitude toward school.

Novi students in these two grade levels were compared in their tests with other youngsters of the same grade levels in Region I which included Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties.

In scoring low in attitude toward school, however, Novi fourth graders were not unlike the overall school districts in Region I. At both grade levels, students in the region were below the median in attitude toward school.

Seventh graders in Novi were above average in all categories, including attitude toward school. One reason likely for the better showing in attitude toward school by seventh graders over fourth graders, is that youngsters in the seventh grade have just left elementary school and are excited by the junior high movement (classroom to classroom) and activities offered at that level, said Dale.

Here's what the results of test showed

Fourth grade — Highest academic achievement was scored in mathematics where youngsters were in the top 30-percent of youngsters tested (70-percent level). They dropped to the 55 to 60-percent level in vocabulary, reading and English expression. Composite achievement was put in the 65-percent range.

In socio-economic status, students were put at the 75 to 80-percent level. In the category of attitudes and aspirations, Novi fourth graders were at the 65-percent level in the importance of school achievement, 55 to 60-percent level in self-perception, and at the 35 to 40-percent (below average) level in attitude toward school.

Seventh grade — Highest academic achievement also was in mathematics (70-percent level), lowest in academic achievement (55-percent level). They were at 60-percent in vocabulary from 55 to 60-percent in reading, 55-percent in English expression, and 55 to

Firemen Slap Triggers 'Bad Taste'

A "bad taste in everybody's mouth," created, according to Mayor Joseph Crupi, by an article appearing in The News (September 3) in which a question of driving safety was raised against the Novi Fire Department, was discussed Thursday night in a special meeting called between the firemen and the council.

The article in question quoted Councilman Denis Berry as saying he had observed "four near misses" in traffic from his council seat as the fire trucks sped to a fire call from their station beneath the council chambers.

"Our main complaint," said Assistant Chief Robert Skellenger, "was the press coverage ... the releasing of such a statement without it being checked out."

Mayor Crupi mentioned that he didn't think the item was newsworthy and that "perhaps discretion should have been exercised."

Contacted Friday morning, Berry said his original objection had been resolved but he still wanted to see a report the council requested from City Attorney Howard Bond concerning the responsibilities the city shares with firemen in event of an accident.

Firemen said Thursday that should an accident occur in a fireman's private vehicle, enroute to a fire, the individual's private insurance policy would cover damage done to cars and injury to persons other than himself. His own injury would be covered under the city's workmen's compensation plan.

A report from Bond was requested to make the city's position clear.

Skellenger, in commenting on the department's safety record, noted that for the Novi fireman an average run is 5 1/2 miles, that there are an average 93

Big Errors Seen In Census Count

Novi's official city population may be off by as much as one-third the city council learned Monday night.

According to Councilman Edwin Presnell, counts taken in Meadowbrook Glens revealed that nine families out of 31 are unaccounted in the census rolls.

"If figures taken in Meadowbrook Glens prevail," said Presnell, "the entire city could be off by 30 percent."

Expressing concern over the situation last summer Presnell, a former Novi postmaster, pointed out that four mailing addresses within the city — Northville, Novi, Farmington and Walled Lake, caused confusion on the part of census officials.

Presnell complained that census packets — some 200 in all — had been mistakenly addressed and sent back to the post office unopened.

Presnell also attributed inaccuracy to the development of several new subdivisions which were unoccupied while the census was being taken and therefore not counted.

Certain tax refunds from the state to the city are based on census figures and it's important that they be accurate, Presnell explained.

Last summer, upon the release of preliminary census figures, city officials believed the figure to be off by a count of some 470 people.

The census pegged Novi's population at 9,526, while the figure locally was set closer to 10,000.

In other business Monday, the council listened to inquiries of County Commissioner Lew Coy as to whether

Story-Hour Starts Soon

The annual story-hour series for pre-school age children will resume Wednesday, October 7, Novi Librarian Mrs. Robert Flattery announced this past week.

As in the past, the popular hour-long program will be held weekly beginning at 10 a.m. until next summer at the Novi Library. Reading stories for the children this year will be Mrs. Richard Henderson.

Parents wishing to learn more about the program are asked to contact the Novi Library at 349-0720.

or not maintenance work done on the Bassett and Norton drains in Novi was satisfactory.

"Total cost to the city," said Coy, "is $45.51, and to benefiting property owners $641.23." Fees are to be paid through special assessments.

The Bassett drain runs south from 12 Mile east of Novi Road, and the Norton starts north of 10 Mile near Napier Road and runs west into Lyon Township.

Councilman Denis Berry said that he inspected the Bassett drain on 12 Mile recently and "it looks like nobody's touched it for years."

Coy said vote on special assessment districts would come up October 5 at the county level and he wanted to be sure work was satisfactory.

City Manager Dallas Zonkers was directed to check the situation with the county and determine whether in fact the work had been done in Novi, since as far as councilmen knew, it had not.

Novi Public Works Supervisor Ed Kriewall explained to council a

Ox Roast Slated in Wixom

Final Plans Set for Centennial

Final plans for Wixom's Centennial Week of celebration have been announced by committee spokesmen.

Also announced was an "Ox Roast," to be held October 10 at the VFW hall at 3952 Loon Lake Road in preparation for the October week of festivities.

Contributions from the community will be raffled off in the afternoon and ox eaters ("it's really roast beef," says committee member Mrs. Gilbert Willis) will be treated to the music of three live bands.

Centennial Week celebrations will get underway with a kick-off dance on Saturday, October 17 at the UAW Hall, 28700 Wixom Road, and a youth dance held at Wixom Elementary School, also on Wixom Road.

The First Michigan Volunteer Infantry, a group of Civil War buffs, will open the day on Sunday at 10 a.m. with flag raising ceremonies exactly like those at Greenfield Village.

Following at 11 a.m. will be a special church service and an old fashioned ice cream social later in the day.

Monday will be bargain day for participating merchants, with a flea market in the afternoon.

Ladies day follows on Tuesday with a hobby show from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m.

A special luncheon will also be held Tuesday and the Centennial

Carnival will draw its opening crowds to city hall in the evening.

Wednesday open houses will be held by participating businesses with tours through plants and stores. The Historical Spectacular will open at 8 p.m. in the Walled Lake Western High School auditorium.

The crowning of the Centennial Queen will follow the show.

Thursday will be dedicated to Wixom senior citizens.

Friday will see a salute to the future, with the spectacular, and the carnival both continuing in the evening.

A parade beginning at the Ford

Wixom Plant at 10 a.m. and continuing to city hall, will begin youth day on Saturday, while Saturday evening's spectacular performance and carnival closing will round out the week.

Try-outs for the spectacular are to be held tonight it was announced by producer Ed Horner. "All we want are 208 hamey actors," said Horner.

Stabbing Mars Cyclists' Picnic

Dick Jocks, a Detroit motorcyclist, was stabbed and three other cyclists injured in a melee on Eight Mile Road that broke out during a road-rally picnic sponsored Sunday afternoon by the Jokers, a Novi motorcycle club.

Some 300 motorcyclists dispersed quietly from the farm property about a half mile west of Beck Road following the stabbing which was reportedly instigated by some 40 cyclists belonging to the Highwaymen, an "outlaw" Detroit club.

The Highwaymen, long a source of trouble in the Detroit area according to police, are not sanctioned by the American Motorcycle Association and are thus classified as 'outlaws.'

Besides Jocks, who was not at the scene when the police arrived but was found later to have a 1 1/2 inch wound in his back, Dennis Szalek and William Reinhardt of Detroit, and Kenneth Garry of West Warren were treated in various hospitals for injuries ranging from facial lacerations to head injuries, to fractured arms, police said.

Novi Detective Gordon Nelson reported that the Jokers are working in conjunction with law enforcement officials to apprehend those responsible for Sunday's incidents.

"The Jokers run a clean club," said Nelson. "We've never had any trouble with them."

According to Novi officer Robert Starnes, the motorcyclists voluntarily broke up their picnic at police suggestion. A dozen or more police officers — state, county and municipal — had been called to the scene for precautionary measures.

Highwaymen implicated in the stabbing and fighting are nicknamed 'Rebel,' 'Animal,' 'Thor,' 'Butch,' and 'Brother Bill.'

Legal names were not immediately available, police said.

Northville Ranks High in Studies But Drops in School Interest

districts in the state, the 87 districts in Region I and the 105 districts in towns (2,500 to 10,000 population), Northville students ranked well above," Miss Panattoni noted.

In basic skills, fourth graders ranked in the upper ten per cent and seventh graders ranked in the upper 15 per cent, she said. Fourth graders scored highest in math while seventh graders scored highest in English expressing.

"In an area of achievement did fourth graders fall below the top 15 per cent and seventh graders below the top 20 per cent," she noted.

In socio-economic status, Northville ranked in the upper ten per cent or above in comparisons with other districts in the state, Region I and towns.

Fourth graders ranked in the upper 15 per cent in importance of school achievement and self-perception when compared to districts in Michigan, in the upper five per cent when compared with towns, but in the upper 35 per cent when compared with other districts in the area.

"Seventh graders fell below average in importance of school achievement in all comparisons," Miss Panattoni said. "In self-perception they ranked in the top 30 per cent when compared state-wide and slightly below average compared with districts in the area, but in the top 20 per cent in towns."

In attitude toward school, both groups of students fell far below average, with fourth graders ranking in the 24th percentile compared state-wide, 30th percentile in the region and 25th percentile in towns.

Seventh graders were in the fifth percentile compared to other districts in the state and towns and in the 15th percentile with districts in the Region I.

Miss Panattoni commented that "The report created enough concern on our part to contact the research department of the State Department of Education to inquire as to the reasons for the scores. They said the questions asked may not reflect a true picture of a child's attitude toward school, districts and towns in Region I ranked lowest in the state in attitude toward school and a relationship might exist between a high economic status and a low attitude toward school, except in the case of core cities."

Miss Panattoni said 25 students were further surveyed as to what they use to measure their attitude toward school. "All 25 named the teacher and the subject material. Nowhere in the measurement questions asked are these factors assessed."

In other factors measured through the program, Northville ranked well above average in all norms in the categories of teacher-pupil ratio, percent of teachers with Masters degrees, state equalized valuation per pupil, local revenue per pupil, instructional expense per pupil and total current operating expense per pupil.

The district ranked below average in state school aid per pupil and average years of teaching experience. It ranked in the top 15 per cent or above in average teacher salary when compared with districts in the state and in towns, however it fell below average when compared to districts in Region I, she commented.

Administrators and board members agreed they are concerned with the students' attitude toward school and they hope to further study connections that seem to exist between high socio-economic status and low attitude toward school.

60-percent in composite academic achievement.

Seventh graders were in the 75 to 80-percent level in socio-economic status, 80-percent in importance of school achievement, 80 to 85-percent in self perception and 65-percent in attitude toward school.

Here are some highlights of the testing district-wide:

1. Metropolitan core school districts in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties scored low on three assessment measures: attitude toward school, vocabulary, and composite achievement. These districts score high on the two measures indicative of school resources: percent of teachers with masters degrees and K-12 instructional expense per pupil.

2. Urban fringe districts in Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb counties scored high on socio-economic status and on the two measures indicated of resources. They scored above the median on vocabulary and composite achievement.

3. Overall, districts in the region were high on socio-economic status, below the median on attitude toward school, high on percent of teachers with masters degrees and K-12 instructional expense per pupil, above the median on vocabulary, and at the median on composite achievement.

They will ultimately be sent to the Paris negotiation team, along with petitions from all across the country, to be presented to the North Vietnamese delegation. Mrs. Smith admits that she wasn't interested in antiques until the family inherited pieces.

A massive oak bedroom set of the type with the bed featuring a towering headboard has been painted a soft blue for 14-year-old Lori's room. This is one of the five rooms in the bedroom addition built by the Frank Angles, who owned the home immediately before the Smiths.

One wall of Lori's room is red brick, the end of the house previously. It forms an effective background for the blue bed with floral-ticking spread that coordinates with the draperies.

Younger sister Ellen's room boasts green painted furniture against gold-and-green wallpaper. Also on the corridor are a son's headquarters and a den with striped wallpaper and matching shades. The latter were made of matching fabric by Mrs. Smith.

Piece de resistance for the youngsters is the basement-level game room where the walls are adorned with friends' autographs.

Mrs. Smith has utilized the long bedroom hallway to display family pictures. In the traditional living room are two wildflower prints by Andrew Wyeth.

Home tour visitors each year comment that decorating ideas gained explain their popularity. Two vintage homes and a Spanish-influenced new house complete this year's list. Tickets for the four are available at the Luncheon is being sponsored and served at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, corner of Elm and High Streets, from

'Somebody Cares' Begins in Wixom

Adults of the First Baptist Church of Wixom, of which the Reverend Robert V. Warren is pastor, are conducting a massive visitation campaign covering more than 1,200 homes six different times over a period of only three weeks.

This ministry has been entitled, "Operation: Somebody Cares."

"In a world where seemingly individuals, families, communities races and nations are drifting further and further apart from each other and God," said Pastor Warren, "the people of First Baptist of Wixom are attempting to show that they really care. "Thus, approximately 110 adults of the church have gotten up off their pews and have begun putting their feet and faith into action."

The adults are visiting every home in Wixom, New Hudson and portions of Walled Lake, Milford, and South Lyon, distributing free "a series of six different provocative pictorial booklets which emphasize a distinct Biblical truth." The visits are made on Mondays and Thursdays to the same homes six different times over the period September 10 through 28.

According to Pastor Warren, it is not the purpose of his people to try to get into someone's home and argue the Bible or to attempt to convert people into becoming Baptists.

"We are merely trying to show people in a friendly way that we care, as well as God, for them. Each visit is brief, taking no more than 1-2 minutes of one's time. We, as a church family believe very strongly that it is our responsibility to help to fulfill our Lord's command to go into all the world with the story of His love for them."

'House of Hope' Opens Sunday

Two Northville Seniors Named Merit Semifinalists

Two Northville High seniors have been named semifinalists in the 1970-71 National Merit Scholarship Program. Wendy Wheaton and Gary Glenn are among the 14,750 semifinalists picked as outstanding intellectually talented high school seniors. They will compete for 3,000 merit scholarships to be awarded in 1971.

Wendy and Gary were among those students scoring the highest in their states on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test given in February to some 710,000 students in 17,000 schools nationwide. Less than one per cent of the graduating secondary school seniors in the United States were named semifinalists.

"The students show high promise for leadership in their adult careers," Edward C. Smith, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation said.

Semifinalists must advance to finalist standing to be considered for the merit scholarships to be awarded next spring. They reach the rating by receiving the endorsement of their school, substantiating their high merit qualifying performance on a second exam and providing information about their achievements and interests.

About 96 per cent of the semifinalists are expected to become finalists and each will be considered for one of the 1,000 national merit $1,000 scholarship which are allocated by state.

Finalists also compete for the renewable four-year merit scholarships provided by approximately 500 corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, trusts, professional associations, organizations and individuals.

Wendy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wheaton, 412 Horton, and Gary is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Glenn, 39840 Sunbury.

Wendy is a three-year member of National Honor Society and served as secretary in her junior year. She has been active in musicals and dance band throughout her high school years. She was co-student council and in forensics club in her freshmen year and worked with the Title I program during her junior and senior years.

Gary is presently serving his second term as treasurer of National Honor Society, having been active in the group since his sophomore year. He participated in Model United Nations for the last three years and is on the debate team for the second year. He is also on the student council.

A member of the Teenage Republican Club, Gary served as treasurer for two years and is currently president of the Cavern Teen Club and a former treasurer of the organization.

OBITUARIES

Northville's 'Music Man' Dies

Northville's popular "music man", 93-year-old Henry W. Schnute of 505 North Center Street died Tuesday, September 22 at his home after a lengthy illness.

Until his illness, Mr. Schnute continued to give private music lessons, despite his advanced age, for youngsters who in some cases were children of children of his former students.

A retired Lutheran school teacher in Detroit, he had taught music out of his home for 65 years. In his lifetime he had mastered more than 15 instruments — all of which he taught from time to time. He estimated in 1968 that he had taught more than 1,000 Northville area youngsters.

Feted at a gathering of friends on his 90th birthday, a film, entitled "Four Score and Ten", was shown. It compressed nearly a century of the man's life into a 45-minute documentary tribute.

Born June 22, 1877 in a log cabin in New Mindin, Illinois he was the son of Carl and Wilhelmine (Kriemeyer) Schnute.

When he was five his mother bought an autoharp and the boy immediately became fascinated with music. He took music lessons — and he continued to study until he was graduated from college in 1898.

Following graduation he taught school in Detroit and on August 2, 1903, he married Matilda Wagner. Three sons were born, Milton, Arthur and Alvin, and the couple lived together until Mrs. Schnute died in 1912. Later, he married Augusta Katheryn Myer, who died in 1960. A daughter, Selma, was born with this second union.

Years ago Mr. Schnute organized the Northville Community Orchestra and sometime later the senior choir for senior citizens. He had directed numerous church choirs and was, for awhile, organist in one of the local churches.

Miss Selma Schnute of Northville survives as do two sons, The Reverend Alvin Schnute of Munger, Michigan, and Milton Schnute of Hot Springs, South Dakota; and 10 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

His son Arthur, who served as Northville's assistant postmaster, died in 1962.

Mr. Schnute was a member of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Plymouth where tomorrow (Friday) funeral services will be conducted at 1 p.m., with the Reverend Leonard Koeninger officiating.

HENRY W. SCHNUTE

Burial will follow in Glen Eden Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements are being made through Casterline Funeral Home here.

WARREN A. STERLING

Funeral services were held Thursday, September 17, for Warren A. Sterling, a former resident of Northville, who died September 13 following a long illness. Mr. Sterling died in St. Luke's Hospital, St. Louis Missouri, at the age of 60.

Born September 29, 1909, he moved from Northville about six years ago. He was a member of the Methodist Church and active in Scout Troop 731 while living in Northville.

annual 21ers banquet for new voting citizens.

An $800,000 mobil home site project called "Aaron Valley Village" was presented to the Northville township planning commission with a request for a public hearing to gain re-zoning for immediate construction.

TEN YEARS AGO...

The city and township met with the Wayne County Department of Public Works to discuss how Northville would pay its share of the cost to expand sewer facilities in the area.

The United States Congress approved a special appropriation bill that was to be awarded David and Elizabeth King, children of Police Chief and Mrs. Eugene King, who were victims of spraying fuel from an F-84 Thunderflash jet that crashed in their back yard.

Cancer Research received the help of Northville high school driver education students thanks to a plan of "fining" used by instructor William Hensch. A system of five and ten cent fines for such offenses as "failing to stop at a stop sign and "speeding" netted a total of $41.

Less than 40 hopefuls — and only 14 lettermen — were on hand when Coach Ron Horwath launched the first Northville football drills of the 1960 season.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO...

The total to be received by the city from racing was expected to be $110,000. This represented $15,000 more than the amount that was to be paid by city residents as property taxes for the year.

The city could chalk up $96,103 as already realized from the 1955 race meet at Northville Downs, with an additional $10,000 to $15,000 to still come from the state.

Northville VFW Post No. 4012 was to mark the tenth anniversary of its organization as well as mortgage burning ceremonies at a two-day celebration.

Ford's announcement 10 days earlier of its intention to build a manufacturing plant and general office building for its Lincoln division in Novi Township brought out a record attendance at the Novi Township board meeting.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO...

Three Northville boys left for service. They were Norman D. Sanford, Charles G. Holman and Charles S. Wolf.

Elizabeth O'Leary won the summer reading contest sponsored by the local branch of the Wayne County Library for children from the first through sixth grades. Elizabeth read 85 books. Winifred Welch was in second place.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

I always thought the League of Women Voters was an exclusive group—for women only, that is.

But listening to J. P. McCarthy on the car radio I heard the League's state president say that men could, and do, belong, too.

Anyway, the only members I know are women and they're a pretty active lot, in a quiet sort of way.

One or two of their members attend local governmental meetings. They never say anything. Just take notes. Sometimes you wonder what they're thinking...how they feel about certain actions taken by the governing bodies, about the performances of certain elected officials.

They're compiling facts and they let the words fall where they may. Their reports are made available to their membership so that they might become better informed on what's happening at the local governmental level.

The League of Women Voters, which has about 90 members in its two-year-old Northville-Plymouth chapter, is a political action group, but not a partisan group.

It encourages people to become involved in government...at least to the extent of voting, then to becoming a better-informed voter, and finally to taking an active role in politics, be it party or non-partisan.

The League provides background material on candidates and issues to assist voters in reaching decisions. It plans to publish a directory of elected area officials entitled "They Represent You" following the fall election. And currently, at the local level, the chapter is conducting a study on community planning.

The work they are doing is worthwhile. It benefits the total community because it encourages examination of facts before making decisions.

This is League of Women Voters Week in Michigan.

As you might have guessed, League work requires financial support. Members of the local chapter are conducting their fund campaign at this time.

If you can afford it, encourage the women to keep up the research and note-taking by contributing.

As chairman of the Northville township citizens' police committee whose report was rebuffed by the township board, Eugene Guido cannot be expected to be the most impartial observer of board activities, particularly in the area of police.

But his letter-to-the-editor this week makes a valid point that should be given consideration by all township citizens and board members.

While the board has established standards for potential township policemen, it has no requirement for competitive testing and open bidding for township police jobs. The police chief makes his selection, which must be approved by the supervisor. No board action is required.

Actually, the method is one that should make both the police chief and supervisor uneasy. It exposes their judgement to a potential barrage of second-guessing and it suggests that there are favors to be extended in a most sensitive department.

While it is not necessary for board members to be given approval authority in hiring of police officers, it should be standard practice to follow a competitive examination procedure.

In most communities candidates for police positions are sought by public advertisement and given written examinations. The highest rated candidates then meet with an oral examination board, usually composed of two professional policemen from state, county or other local police departments and one layman from the community at large. They are again rated by the oral examination board.

The supervisor and police chief are then provided with information on each of the candidates compiled by outside authorities. They may choose the candidate they believe to be best suited for their community.

A final step before employment of most police officers is an examination by a psychiatrist. Northville is fortunate to have within its community several psychiatrists who can conduct this important final test.

It is difficult to imagine that the supervisor, chief of police, township board or citizens would want to take shortcuts in an area as vital to the well being of the community as the police department—where men are given guns and authorized to use them.

DAVID KENGER

YES...

High school, as well as college students have, in recent years, been seeking new freedoms; those that as yet have not been awarded to persons of this age group. Questioning of the draft system, although not a new topic, has recently become a major topic of concern. Demands for a voice in school government as well as that of the voting age are all examples of these ultimatums.

However, with these privileges there comes a responsibility; the same responsibility that arises as the major question point and unfortunately often the major stumbling block in all the aforementioned areas: maturity. The maturity to make wise and choice decisions; not to abuse these privileges.

One famous gentleman once said, "Everything starts in the home" as should this newly born responsibility. A high school graduate under normal circumstances should be encouraged to take a more active part in the world around him; steps in becoming a responsible member of today's society.

Therefore it seems only logical that, if this person seeks these new liberties, he should also take on the joining responsibilities.

A family that has raised and cared for a child should expect nothing less.

Township Police Policy Challenged

To the Editor:

We decided long ago to forget about, and stay out of the continuing flap involving the township police department. The only reason we are writing at all is to ask that the article we will address ourselves to (September 10, entitled "Hidden Money Charge Levied By Mitchell"), needs clarification.

As a member of the two Police Study Committees in Northville Township, it must be noted that the last paragraph in the article spoke about "adopting a 'police standards code,' which was, 'drawn up by the Police Study Committee,' but no thanks — neither of the two committees we sat on drew up any such standards. Give some other committee credit or identify it more definitely.

Fact of the matter is, with reference to the rest of the article, what is happening now in the township is exactly what I predicted would happen. While both our committees recommended against doing what we are now doing, hiring our own, with particular reference to the methods of hiring, costs involved, qualifications, practicality of our own, and with emphasis the liabilities involved, the township board seems gungho in enlarging an agency that can never really answer our police problems unless a total excessive investment is made. Unfortunately, while we have some well-meaning board members, they must be termed naive to fall for some of the arguments presented for additional township officers by those board members obviously interested in building a political (oops), a police force and fire department thus creating a safety department that one of those on the board might head up as a commissioner.

The slip I just made is put into proper perspective when one, if one will, examines the township's method of hiring policemen. It is common knowledge that hiring practices involving policemen is done by public announcement that positions are open and that those interested, and meeting the qualifications, should apply and compete in testing so we, the taxpayers, are afforded the best successful candidate.

In Northville Township we do it all backwards, the politicians (on the board) decide we need a policeman and announce publicly they are going to hire a certain one — it's all done just like that — now the policeman hired by the board and called a police chief, announces to the board he wants another policeman and that he has the (only) candidate. No announcement, no applications, no real police qualifications, no nothing.

I don't really think this method of hiring of all things, a policeman is defensible at all. It is strictly the political spoils' system and should never be involved in police hiring.

Speaking for Myself

Charge Children Room And Board?

JACK HOFFMAN

NO...

As a parent of six children, I must admit the proposition has a financial appeal; properly administered it could chop a good hunk off our monthly mortgage.

But charging children — whether they are in high school or in college — to eat and sleep in their own homes strikes me as a mercenary measure of irresponsible parents.

Parenthood carries with it, I believe, an obligation — no, a privilege to financially and spiritually support children from the time they enter the house until the time they leave it.

Perhaps it is a sign of my own naivete, but I am amazed at the number of parents who quite naturally assume that charging children room and board is proper and civilized. "Everyone does it," one parent told me. Which, I guess, supposedly gives the practice credence.

"It teaches responsibility," another parent said. I wonder.

It seems to me that charging room and board is a sign to the child that his responsibility to parents and society is purely a monetary one. By so doing, are we indicating to him that since he is "paying his way" he no longer is subject to parental control and guidance?

Responsibility? How can we teach responsibility by our own irresponsibility?

Jack W. Hoffman
Assistant to Publisher

"Say, buddy, did you know," asked an irate voter following the recent primary election, "that the township's worse'n the Commies: they won't let me vote the way I want. I think you oughta investigate 'em."

Had he been the only caller with this charge, his slurring words and the noisy background might have been explanation enough. But others who apparently were not belting Black Russians had telephoned earlier.

All of them — four to be exact — were upset because they could not split their votes between Democrats and Republicans in the primary. They were unconvinced that they had not split their votes in the previous primary, that the township had not made the "undemocratic" law, and that other Michigan communities and other states were governed by similar laws.

Their refusal to accept my explanation didn't bother me as much as their question, "Why?"

Why, indeed. Everyone knows that answer, I thought. But my stammering and 'round-the-mulberry-bush answer proved only that I was as stupid as they.

Since then I've been doing some reading — old college texts, library references and a loaner from a political candidate. And here's some of the things I've learned:

• Most states use the 'closed primary' process, which means that each voter may participate only in the nomination of candidates for the party with which he is registered or affiliated. The other type, the 'open primary', is employed in eight states (including Michigan). It permits the voter to decide in the voting booth which party he wishes to vote for without having to register or otherwise publicly disclose his party affiliation.

• Only the state of Washington permits the voter to split his vote — that is to vote for both Democrats and Republicans. In Washington, for example, a voter may pick a Republican nominee for governor and a Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor.

• Proponents of the Washington procedure argue that the primary election is an integral part of the election process and that the voter should be permitted to cast his ballot for the candidate of his choice. Opponents, on the other hand, argue that primaries are party elections and that Republicans ought not to decide Democratic candidates, and vice-versa. Split voting, they argue, would lead to party destruction even though, according to the National Municipal League, this has not been the case in Washington.

• The primary election reportedly was first used by Democrats in Crawford County, Pennsylvania back in 1842. But the primary did not start to become the official nominating procedure in the United States until early in this century. Wisconsin was the first state to prescribe it, by law in 1901.

• While my recent telephone callers blasted the primary as "undemocratic" it was to make party nomination "more democratic" that the primary election arose. The primary was aimed at taking nomination out of the hands of party bosses and party machines, which frequently accepted "payoffs", and put it into the hands of the people.

• Some political scientists argue, however, that the primary has not been altogether virtuous. More money is spent in support of primary candidates than ever was exchanged as bribes under the party-machine nomination process. Costly primary campaigns must be financed by someone, they point out, and candidates, whether they admit it or not, are under heavy obligation to their financial backers.

• Say other political scientists: "Far from removing the control over the nominating process from bosses and machines, adoption of the primary, in many states induced a sinister alliance of vested interests with newspapers. This combination succeeds in primaries because of public disinterest, disciplined machine vote, and blind following of newspaper endorsements."

• Perhaps one of the most salient arguments against the primary is that wide-open primary fight that drives men of reputation from consideration.

• Still another political expert warns, however: "By monopolizing the right to name candidates, the leaders can go through the forms of election without fear of upset. The practice of dictators in this respect points up the importance of guarding the nominating process in a democracy..."

Five of the cases were handled within the department and four were referred to juvenile court.

Thirty animal complaints were reported, seven more than in 1969. Seventeen stray dogs were reported, four were picked up and only three reclaimed by owners. Four persons were bitten by dogs, two more than in August, 1969. Three stray cats were reported, two impounded and none reclaimed.

A total of 472 calls were answered, 87 less than in August, 1969. Total calls received to date is 3,250, while 3,728 had been received through August, 1969.

Registration Drive Revised

Plans for voter registration, under the sponsorship of municipal clerks and the Northville Jaycees, for October 3 have been cancelled, Jaycee Dennis Dildy said this week.

However, other special registration dates will remain unchanged.

Saturday, September 26, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., and tomorrow (September 25) and October 2, from 6 to 8 p.m. The latter times were moved up one hour from the previously scheduled times because of registration laws, Dildy said.

City voters may register on these dates and times at the Convenient Mart off Novi Road and at the Kroger store, and township voters may register on these dates and times at Kings Mill clubhouse on Northville Road, south of Seven Mile.

Release Time Set To Begin Monday

Release time pilot program between Our Lady of Victory Catholic Parish and Northville and Novi school districts is scheduled to begin Monday, October 5.

"After much study and negotiation with school schedules, the proposed plan of release time for religious education is about to become a reality," Robert Totten, religious education coordinator, and the Reverend John Wyskiel, director of the program said.

Students involved in release time will be bussed by the parish to the First Presbyterian Church, where classroom space in the First Presbyterian School will be used.

The weekly schedule for release time in Northville and Novi schools is: Monday — Main Street Elementary, grades one through five, 11:30 a.m. to 1:20 p.m.; Novi Elementary Elementary and Orchard Hills Elementary, grades one through four,

1:30 p.m. to 3:20 p.m.

Tuesday — Moraine Elementary, grades one through five, 11:30 a.m. to 1:20 p.m.; Novi Elementary and Orchard Hills, grades five and six, 1:30 p.m. to 3:20 p.m.

Wednesday — Amerman Elementary, grades one through five, 11:30 a.m. to 12:50 p.m.

Thursday — Ida B. Cooke Junior High, grades seven and eight, 10:03 a.m. to 11:35 a.m.; Cooke Junior High, grades seven and eight, 12:03 and 1:35 p.m.

incorrectly, the article states, "Nisun said the officer would work a 12-hour day, seven days a week with a starting salary of approximately $8,650." I sure hope he was misquoted because I sure don't need any policeman coming to my assistance after about the 10th straight 12-hour day he's already put in.

I'm sorry but three members of the township board, Hammond, Smith, and Mitchell, are willing to make a mess of township finances rather than putting the whole matter to a vote of the people as they should have in the first instant as proposed by the citizens police study committee. They must know that what they are proposing will cost far in excess of what we can afford under our present revenues. Please look around you — check the liabilities, efficiency, practicality, and excessive costs in Romulus, Huron, Farmington, Van Buren, Sumner and Redford Township. Minutes of August 18, 1970 Planning Commission Meeting were placed on file.

AWARD CONTRACT FOR WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION CONTRACT: City Mgr. reviewed the question of awarding contract as discussed at August 24th Special Meeting. He explained that Sentry plan would be cheaper as long as injuries did not exceed 15%. Citizen plan would be more economical if these reach 20 to 25%. Councilman Folino said he would have to go along with Sentry at potential $813 savings per year, based on statistics of City's past history of injuries, etc.

Moved by Folino, to award 1970-71 Workmen's Compensation policy to Sentry Insurance.

Motion died for lack of support.
Moved by Nichols, support by Lapham, to accept Citizen's proposal for 1970-71 Workmen's Compensation Insurance in the amount of $5,689.00.

Ayes: Lapham, Nichols and Allen
Nays: Folino
Absention: Rathert
Motion prevailed.

SCOUT HALL: City Mgr. reviewed the items which the State Fire Inspector had indicated should be corrected in the Scout-Recreation Building - 8 or 9 of them. He reported that everything on ground level is or will be taken care of by the DPW. Nursery School in the past has used both levels 5 mornings a week through the school year. Two items that should be done are:

(1) Partition from down to upstairs.
(2) Presently there is only one exit on the upper level, to remedy this and install crash bar on present door would cost about $1,000 to $1,200.

These items should be corrected regardless of who is using premises. City Mgr. asked Council to decide if they wanted above items done and how they would be paid.

Mayor Allen asked Mrs. Gay Swallow, president of the Northville Cooperative Pre-School Group, to explain their activities and who participates, etc. Council was told that the past year 64 mothers participated (whose children were enrolled - all pre-school age), not all were residents of the City of Northville but some from Northville Twp. and adjacent areas. Mothers pay tuition for children. This matter to be decided before next regular meeting on September 21st - corrections to be made and City Mgr. to recommend financing of same.

CONT. OF P.H. ON FIREWALL CONSTRUCTION ORDINANCE: City Mgr. recommended that Public Hearing be adjourned, wait until Bldg. Inspector and City Attorney have an ordinance amendment to present to Council, then schedule another Public Hearing.

Councilman Folino stated he did not like to have this proposed amendment dropped at this time because of apartment buildings that will be constructed very shortly.

Moved by Rathert, support by Lapham, to adjourn Public Hearing with no action and ask Building Inspector and City Attorney to attend September 21st meeting to discuss proposed amendment.

Yates: Nichols, Rathert, Allen and Lapham

Nays: Folino
Motion prevailed.

CONT. OF P.H. FOR 3 NEIGHBORHOOD PKs. City Mgr. reviewed the Public Hearing on Neighborhood Parks, to date - Northville Estates' Park has been discussed, only information now is on the proposed N. Center St. neighborhood park. Michigan Bell Telephone has no plans for this site, however they would not sell but would lease site. They talked about (1) maintenance and liability by the City of Northville; (2) Bell's right to approve or disapprove any improvements to property; (3) Bell asked for 60 days' cancellation clause and City Mgr. asked for 3 years. City Mgr. feels 2 matters should be determined:

(1) question of fencing property should be decided

(2) should be determined if neighbors want fence (matter of greenbelt being installed as previously requested).

City Mgr. to report to Council on this.
City Mgr. stated he had not talked to owners of Baseline property (proposed neighborhood park) although owner is aware of possibility.

Mr. Berdan, owner of 4 lots, was present for the discussion of Maplewood-Hill neighborhood park. Council and City Mgr. have met with Mr. Berdan and walked over the proposed site. Appraisal has been received. Council is to examine appraisal later in the meeting. Mr. Soellner, owner of 1 other lot, has been contacted and is waiting to hear results of appraisal.

This will be discussed at the September 21st meeting.

Mrs. H. Gellner is not in favor of park at proposed location and Mrs. Knox discussed the possibility of street going through proposed site.

Novi Sees Errors In Census Count

computerized system of reading water meters that would eliminate a 10 minute operation.

"At present," Kriewall said, "it takes one girl 10 minutes to process an account. We have between 1,400 and 1,500 accounts now and are expecting another 544 in 1971. It's going to get worse instead of better."

Kriewall described the system as one in which the reader can plug a customized tape recorder into an outlet on the outside of a customer's house and record the bill and the serial number of the account.

Accounts can be recorded in any order and a computer can sort them out, figure them up, and prepare a mailing from the tape, Kriewall said.

The system, according to Kriewall, would cost $25 to install in a home currently using the present type of meter.

Kriewall pointed to a 10 percent loss in the city's water and attributed it to meters which failed to read "a small trickle," as well as construction work going on in the city.

Kriewall was directed to obtain written data from the producer, Neptune Company, as to costs involved in the system and submit it to council for consideration.

Councilman Presnell corrected an error appearing in a news story last week concerning a millage increase proposal to appear on the November ballot.

Under consideration, he said, is a proposal call for an 18-mill levy and not 15-mills as reported. Presently, the county allocation board splits a 15-mill levy each year between the county, municipalities and school districts.

If approved, the proposition would increase this levy to 18 mills.

Council directed Zonkers to establish a special lien on the sewer laterals in Buckingham Court to prevent owners from selling their property to avoid a special assessment on the sewer improvement recently completed.

A special assessment hearing is scheduled Monday to discuss the matter.

Council directed the DPW to "lightly scanfy and oil" Meadowbrook Road.

Objection came from Councilman Berry: "This is the fourth treatment Meadowbrook has received. There are other dirt roads in the community with people living on them. Why is Meadowbrook special? I object because of people living on other dirt roads."

Council also directed the DPW not to issue any inspection permits for electrical, plumbing and heating in the schools. According to building inspector Earl Bailey such inspections are carried out by the state.

Zonkers asked for and received permission to take out bids for a new well in the DPW building.

Mayor Joseph Crupi received an invitation to the Wixom Centennial's youth day October 24. He and "several councilmen" will attend.

Firemen Slap Sparks Retort

runs made a year, and that "not one single major liability claim has been made against the fire department in its 22 years."

Councilmen mentioned frequent complaints by citizens that they had been run off the road by Novi Fire trucks.

"It's a state law," Skellenger replied, "that private vehicles must yield to the right for emergency vehicles of any kind."

A private vehicle, according to the assistant chief, when properly outfitted with lights, is considered an emergency vehicle.

"Michigan is the worst state in the union in terms of what drivers do not do," concluded Skellenger. "Men come here from other departments, watch our equipment roll, and are horrified at what private drivers do."

Aerial TD's Provide 12-8 Win

Novi Clips Hartland in Opener

Hartland's aerial defense caved in Friday night as Novi Quarterback Steve Lukkari connected on four out of seven passes — two of them good for TDs — to give the Wildcats a 12-8 triumph in the season opener.

Novi's Friday night triumph was far from easy, however. Hartland struck paydirt early in the first quarter after a pass interference gave it a first down on Novi's 16-yard line.

Quarterback Rick Hamway had tried unsuccessfully twice, to hit his receiver, and it looked like Novi's ball; then on the fourth down the Wildcat interference penalty set the stage for the first Eagle TD.

On the conversion, Hamway flipped the ball to Lloyd Richardson, who scooted around the right end to give the Eagles an 8-0 lead.

Early in the second quarter, after an incomplete pass and a short bullet to Steve Bosack, Lukkari — a 180-pound sophomore — uncorked his first TD bomb to Fullback Pat Boyer for a 35-yard dash into the end zone. The conversion effort failed, thus giving the Eagles a two-point edge going into the halftime ceremonies.

The Wildcats clinched the victory midway through the third quarter when Lukkari hit End Steve Pelchat for a 35-yarder that set up the Wildcats for another TD pass, this time from Lukkari to Boyer's older brother Tom. Boyer pulled in the ball and scrambled 17 yards for the score.

Eric Hansor triggered Novi's attack in the first quarter by galloping 65 yards for a TD. Then a 40-yard pass from Dave Brown to End Roger Pelchat gave Novi its second touchdown, and the extra point made it 14-0 going into the intermission.

The junior Wildcats bounced back with another TD in the third quarter, with Brown streaking 12 yards around right end. A two-point conversion pass wrapped up Novi's offensive attack.

Hartland managed to erase the shutout in the fourth quarter by ripping through right tackle for its lone tally of the game.

Novi travels to Dexter tomorrow night for its first Southeastern Conference game of the season, while Novi's JV squad hosts the junior half of Dexter's football powerhouse.

Lukkari, a replacement decision made by Head Coach John Osborne early last week, is a sophomore recruit from the junior varsity ranks.

His passes Friday night averaged 31½ yards with one interception in the third quarter by Hamway.

Keys to the Wildcat defense were Bob Pisha, Bob Vivian and Tom VanWagner. VanWagner was in on 33 tackles out of 64 Hartland plays.

Novi's junior varsity squad set the stage for the Wildcats win by downing the Hartland JV eleven, 22-6, earlier in the day.

SEC Elevens Start Season Big

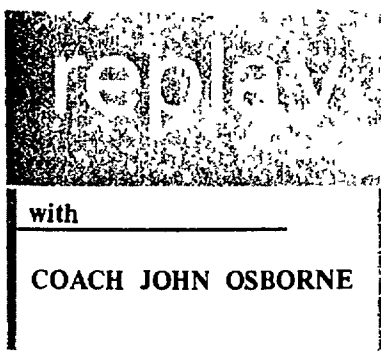

The Southeastern Conference Friday night took to the new football season much as it had the 1969 campaign.

The SEC had few '69 peers in high school leagues when it came to the ease with which they dispatched non-conference foes. Seven members (Novi joined beginning with the basketball season) rolled up a 13-1 mark against outsiders.

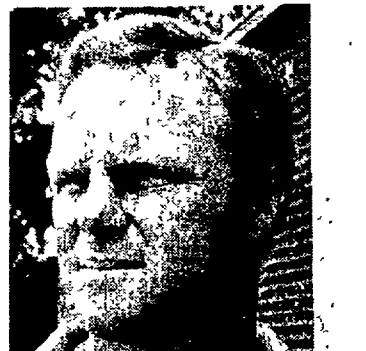

South Lyon (20-0 over Brighton), Chelsea (26-6 over Stockbridge), Milan (14-12 over East Jackson), Ypsilanti

Lincoln (24-12 over Erie-Mason), Dexter (19-0 over Pinckney), Novi (12-8 over Hartland) and Dundee (22-14 over Ida) gave the SEC a 7-1 start this year. Only Saline's Hornets — who suffered two of the league's non-conference losses a year ago — went down to defeat as Vandercook Lake shut them out 14-0.

Conference action begins in earnest this week as Lincoln's potent Railsplitters visit South Lyon, Saline goes to Milan, perennial power Chelsea visits Dundee and Novi travels to another early favorite, Dexter.

COACH JOHN OSBORNE

Things seem to be coming up roses in Novi this week as the Wildcats, riding the crest of a 12-8 victory over Hartland, prepare for their league opener with Dexter tomorrow.

If he could choose his own color, though, John Osborne, Wildcat head mentor, might chose a darker shade of red.

"Dexter is considerably better than Hartland," said Osborne. "They'll definitely be a stiff challenge. They have an excellent quarterback in Greg Ianni (6'3" 205) as well as some pretty good size individuals on both offensive and defensive lines."

Offensively the Dreadnaughts average about 170 pounds, the defense is a little heavier, however at 185.

"We still have going for us what we had last game," continued Osborne. "Lukkari proved his passing ability against Hartland, and if he holds up we have excellent receivers in the two Boyers."

Tom Boyer, a halfback originally slated as a quarterback, joined his brother Pat, a fullback, during the Hartland game.

"We thought we could get more out of Boyer at halfback. We thought it would be better to make use of his speed and receiving ability downfield."

Dexter is expected to be in contention for the league championship. Beating them won't be like beating Hartland," Osborne concluded.

No 'Pushovers' Seen Tomorrow

Neither Northville nor Novi will face "pushovers" Friday night when they take on their second gridiron opponents of the season — and their first league opposition.

Novi's Wildcats will travel to Dexter tomorrow where the Dreadnaughts and their quarterbacking aerial expert, Greg Ianni, engineered a 19-0 decision over Pinckney.

Northville's Mustangs also will be on the road, traveling to neighboring Clarenceville where the Trojans are still savoring a victory last week over Cherry Hill.

The Wildcats managed to stop Hartland's passing game last Friday but Dexter is known throughout the league for Ianni's arm.

Dexter's Al Ritt disagrees with the league consensus, however: "Other teams would say our passing was our strong point, but I think we run just as well, although when we pass we have good backs and excellent receivers."

Ritt referred to a Dale Klapperich - Dan Lavalli - Scott Aeschliman - Tim Mammel combination in the backfield.

The four backs, played alternately at the half and full positions "yield a lot of speed and precision," the coach said.

Ends for Dexter are Tom Snyder and Frank Gucker, both quick boys who according to the Coach, "can get downfield when they have to."

Of Novi, Ritt admits that his scouts report "they are a fast club, with plenty of speed and a lot of talent defensively."

"We'll have to look out for VanWagner," said the Coach, "and the Boyer brothers, along with Lukkari and Pelchat look like trouble too."

*****

The Trojans edged Cherry Hill, 28-22, in their non-league opener Friday and, according to Coach Ralph Weddle are "about equal in running and passing skills."

Weddle boasts a talented quarterback, Jim Barrons, who completed 11 out of 18 passes against Cherry Hill in piling up 180 yards in the air.

"We ran the ball for two out of our four touchdowns," said Weddle, "and passed for the other two, so I'd call us about even."

Part of that equalization the coach mentioned is made up of a stable of backs that he looks at to get him through.

"Northville is going to be up for us. There's no question about that," said the coach. "We look for them to run a lot; they have a strong running game but we hope to hold them with our line."

Harriers Take 7th, Beat Rocks

Northville's cross-country squad defeated hosting Plymouth 21-34 Thursday and then tied for seventh place three places above the Rocks — in the Schoolcraft Invitational Saturday at Cass Benton Park.

Rick Bell set a new Mustang record in the 2 1/2 mile against Plymouth, notching first with a time of 14:06. Guy Dixon and Dave Wright followed with times of 14:29 and 14:33 for second and third.

Other Mustangs placing Thursday were Wayne Enders, seventh with a clocking of 14:58 and Curt Sauer, with a 15:14 eighth place time.

Northville tied Stevenson for seventh place at 217 points Saturday as 19 teams competed in the Schoolcraft Invitational.

"We felt good to be in competition against all those class 'A' schools," said Coach Ben Lauber of his squad's showing.

Speedster Rick Bell, good for a first in Northville's last two meets, came up with his best time, 13:50, and a 12th place at the Schoolcraft meet. Bell ran 14:32 against Dearborn Crestwood two weeks ago and 14:06 against Plymouth Thursday.

But his speed was simply not good enough to challenge the likes of Don Anderson. The Garden City West star set a new track record at 13:05.4.

Garden City, with a 138 points, was the runner up in the meet, trailing far behind Farmington which carded a low 52.

Other notable Mustang performances were turned in by Guy Dixon (14:20), 31st; Dave Wright (14:27), 40th; Wayne Enders (14:41), 56th; and Curt Sauer (15:07), 78th.

JACK MURTHA — End, a 6'0", 190 pound senior, he was the only Mustang to play the entire game against Plymouth Friday night.

TOM VANWAGNER — Guard, a 5'8", 195 pound senior, he was in on 33 out of 64 Hartland plays in Friday night's victory.

Rivalry Ends as Mustangs Fall, 38-8

SPORTS

THE NORTHVILLE RECORD-NOVI NEWS

BITTER RIVALRY CAME TO AN END FRIDAY AS THE MUSTANGS AND ROCKS SHOOK HANDS

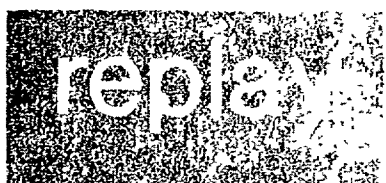

A 38-8 defeat is certainly enough cause for gloom, especially in Northville's case where there will be no second chance but according to Coach Al Klukach, "we killed ourselves with fumbles and penalties; it's nobody's fault but our own."

Klukach is determined to set the record straight as he drills his players for tomorrow's league opener with Clarenceville.

"We'll just have to straighten out our defensive backs," said the coach. "We stopped Plymouth's running game, but our passing coverage just fell apart on us. They must have passed to the same spot three times, and we were helpless."

Klukach isn't too worried about his squad's ground game.

"We started off real well with our running game. We made two first downs in a row. We hurt ourselves with penalties and fumbles, but it looks like our running game is coming along.

Whatever the problem, no one seems to deny that it must be solved this week if the Mustangs are to do better than last week and better than last year's 16-0 defeat at the hands of the Trojans.

Colts Win Two of Three

Some 1,000 spectators gathered Saturday night under home lights to watch the Northville Colts take the Romulus Flyers in two out of three junior football contests.

The freshmen and varsity squads each carded a victory in the three game series (36-16 and 8-6) but the junior varsity eleven went down to a 14-6 defeat.

The freshmen lost no time in notching their triumph by rolling up three touchdowns in the first eight minutes of play.

The first TD came on a 33-yard run around left end in the first minute of play. The Colts hit the hole at the left side of the line three minutes later for a 19-yard TD. Both conversions were good for two points.

The Flyers were forced to punt and Northville returned the ball 45 yards to make the score 24-0 with the help of a third two point conversion run.

On the first play of the second quarter the Colts stole the ball and ran it from midfield to the end zone for the fourth touchdown.

Romulus bounced back late in that quarter with two TD efforts — the first on a one-foot plunge and the second on a 15-yard run around left end. Both conversions were good.

The Colts finished their scoring and iced the victory with a final nine-yard TD early in the final quarter.

The varsity overcame a six point deficit in the fourth quarter to claim its narrow victory.

The difference was a five-yard TD plunge in the final seven minutes of play, followed by a tie-breaking two-point conversion.

Northville's junior varsity squad wasn't so fortunate against the Flyers.

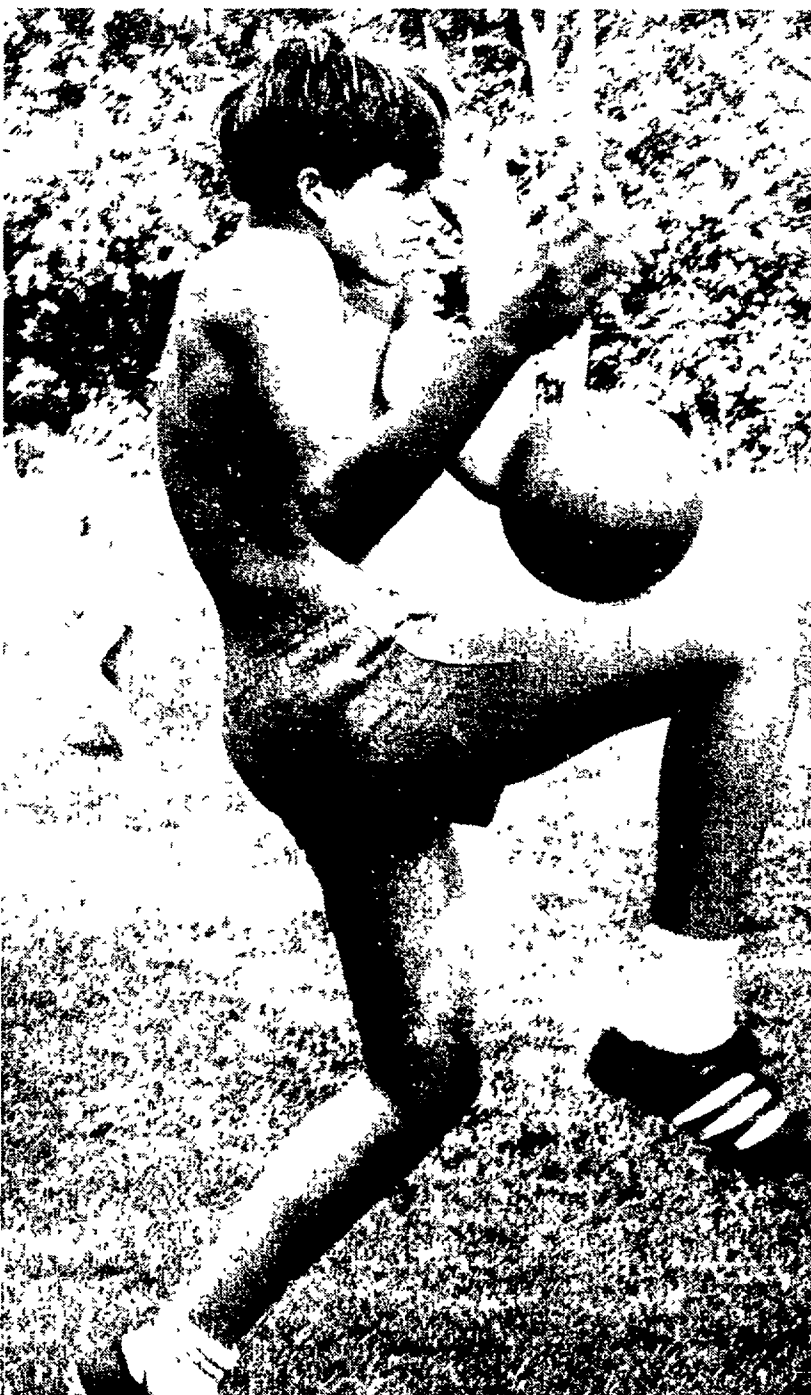

Romulus scored twice on two line plunges in the second and fourth quarters, making its final conversion good for two points to ice the victory.

The colts scored their six points on a 54-yard run in the closing minutes of the first half.

They also suffered the nullification for clipping of two TD efforts early in the second quarter.

The Colts visit Ann Arbor Sunday to play the Wolverines, newcomers this year to the league. The games will be played at Pioneer High School starting at 1 p.m.

WHAM!! — That'll be good for a save if he can only do it in the game. Joe Boland shows his 'dance form' in practice for the Men's Recreational Soccer Team, now being formed. Sponsored by Reef Manufacturing, Coach Tim DeWitt needs more players. "Anyone between 14 and 18 is eligible," he says. Anyone interested is urged to contact Robert Prom through Northville Recreation.

A traditional rivalry is kaput.

But for Northville, battered by rocky storms blowing out of nearby Plymouth, it's just as well.

The gridiron rivalry between these two neighboring clubs has always been pretty much a one-sided affair over the years and that's the way it ended Friday night as Plymouth ripped through the visitor's mushy defense to post an easy 38-8 victory.

Friday's game on the Rocks' field marked the opening of the 1970 season but the close of the annual non-conference duel between these two clubs that, according to some reports, is older than Methuselah.

Next year Plymouth and Northville will go their separate ways — Northville in a newly formed conference and Plymouth in an expanding league that leaves no room for tradition.

But who cares about tradition anyway. In the previous years the Rocks had claimed the spoils in the 26 of the 33 times their paths had crossed with the Mustangs. So while a Northville triumph last time out would have been nice but it wouldn't have erased Plymouth's lopsided series edge.

Besides, now the Mustangs can get serious (and they must if they want to leave the Wayne-Oakland Conference with a better showing than Friday night's finale) and tee off on their W-O rivals. They'll get their first chance tomorrow night at Clarenceville where the Trojans would like to repeat their 16-0 '69 triumph.

One of the chief problems Coach Alex Klukach will have in tomorrow's league start will be plugging some defensive holes that Plymouth found so easy to squeeze through. And it'll mean riding shotgun on everything that takes to the air.

Plymouth's aerial attack clicked about as often and as easily as a hijacking to Cuba. First it was a 23-yard bomb from Quarterback Greg LaMirand to ENd Charlie Wolf in the opening quarter, followed by similar passing-catching combinations in the third stanza that went for 50 and 14-yard touchdowns.

Sandwiched between these aerial maneuvers was Halfback Dan Chopp's relatively unmolested 61-yard TD gallop right up the middle in the second quarter. And then Captain Ed Scott bucked over from the one-foot line early in the fourth frame to ice the Plymouth triumph.

Only a game-ending two-yard TD by Halfback Brad Cole and a two-point surprise conversion run by Co-Captain Scot Stuart saved the Mustangs from a shutout.

Plymouth found the going so smooth, it shelved any toe work it may have planned and instead ran or tossed for its extra points.

Northville's offense, weakened by the absence of Co-Captain Bernie Bach who is out for the season with injuries and Scott Evans who missed the opener because of a hand injury, was far from effective. Nevertheless, it looked a good deal better than the defense, particularly on the ground.

For the first minutes of play Friday, Northville's offense looked like it might shatter some Rocks. But in picking up two quick first downs, the Mustangs' attack fizzled with the loss of their first of three fumbles.

Highlighting Northville's aerial attack was a crowd-pleasing pass from Quarterback Steve Utley to Halfback Dale Griffith, who despite some smothering defense pulled in the 23-yard shot in the final quarter.

Late in the third quarter, trailing by 28 points and its back against the goal line, Northville gambled and won on a fourth-down situation. The Mustang effort went for naught, however, when the Rocks pulled down its second of two interceptions.

It was a Plymouth fumble and a penalty — one of 18 incurred by the Rocks — that set up Northville's lone touchdown. The penalty, a pass interference call, gave Northville a first down on the Rocks' five-yard line. Four plays later, Cole took a pitch-out and plowed over the left end for the TD.

Halfback Rick Sechler (29) came down without the ball in this pass from Steve Utley. But a pass interference call on Plymouth, plus still another penalty on the Rocks, gave Northville the ball on the Rocks' five-yard-line and set the stage for the Mustangs' lone TD.

Brad Cole (30) plows over the left end for a two-yard Northville TD late in the fourth quarter. It was the Mustangs' lone TD of the game.

MSU Upset Foils Grid Contestants

Michigan State's stunning 42-16 loss at Washington proved to be the undoing of most entries in the first weekly football contest.

But not for Steve Baluha of 463 Maplewood, who was but one of three contestants who missed fewer than three games. Steve won the $10 first place prize by missing just two games and coming closer to the Detroit-Green Bay score than the two runnersup.

Taking second place ($5) was Jennie Rapp of Livonia, and the third-place winner ($3) was Gerald C. Martin of 119 Ely Drive.

All three winners correctly picked the Lions over the Packers but neither they nor the dozens of other contestants came close to Detroit's surprising 40-0 shutout victory.

Steve's two wrong picks — the same ones that caused other contestants a good deal of trouble — involved Baylor's 10-7 squeaker over

Army and Western Michigan's 37-7 triumph. Jennie missed the MSU game and Illinois' 20-16 win over Oregon, while Army and Oregon were wrong guesses for Gerald.

Most contestants correctly picked Plymouth to defeat Northville, Novi to down Hartland, and Michigan to plow through Arizona.

Other easy ones for contestants in this first contest were Oklahoma over Wisconsin (21-7), Air Force over Wyoming (47-17), Notre Dame over Northwestern (35-14), and Duke over Maryland (13-12).

Judges remind contestants for this week's contest to avoid the unnecessary mistakes such as forgetting to mark the winner of one of the games, marking both teams as winners in the same game, writing their guesses on more than one sheet of paper, and failing to write their picks in the correct order.

Teacher Resignations Decline

Fewer teachers resigned positions in Northville Public Schools last year than during the two previous years, Robert C. Benson, administrative intern in charge of personnel relations, announced this week.

A total of 18 teachers, 12.5 per cent of the staff left positions in the district. During 1968-69, 32 teachers, or 23 per cent, resigned, and in 1967-68, 40 instructors, 28 per cent of the staff, resigned.

During 1969-70, three teachers left at the elementary level, 14 at the secondary level and one in special services. Average teaching service was 4.8 years, 8 years more than during the two previous years, Benson said.

Of the 18 instructors resigning last year, four moved to other areas of Michigan, three moved out of state, three left for travel or further study, two resigned for maternity reasons, two retired, and one left for each of the following reasons: husband moving, returning to home duties, employed outside of education and husband inducted into service.

A total of 28 teachers were hired for 1970-71 school year, 18 replacements and nine and one-half new positions, plus three interns.

Twenty-three of the replacement teachers are women, five are men. During 1969-70, 32 new teachers were hired, 25 were women, seven were men, and in 1968-69, 26 women teachers were hired and 12 men.

Batzer to Teach Wayne Seminar

Jon Batzer of Northville, co-partner and owner of the Nordic Group — a real estate investment, consulting and brokerage firm in Southfield — will teach a 12-week seminar at Wayne State University on "New Developments in Commercial Real Estate."

Assisting Batzer will be his partner, David Jokinen.

Jokinen has a master of city planning degree from MIT and Harvard. Batzer, who has credits towards his masters degree from the University of Michigan, has previously taught at Washtenaw Community College. Jokinen was recently a member of the geography faculty at Eastern Michigan university and also has been a guest professor in Europe.

Batzer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Batzer, 711 North Center Street.

Of the teachers hired for the current school year, 15 teachers or 60 per cent have prior experience, excluding three interns. Average teaching experience is 2.24 years, while the average experience last year was four years and two years in 1968-69.

Number of years of experience in teachers hired this year runs from 10 years to one-half year.

Of the 154 full-time equated teachers now employed in the school district, 51 are at the high school, 35 at the junior high, 54 at elementary level and 14 special services. Three are new positions at the high school, three are new at the elementary level and four in special services.

$3 Million Budget OKd for School Year

Total expenditures are pegged at $2,940,885 an increase of $426,943 or 16.98 percent.

Anticipated revenue from a tax levy of 26.65 mills is $1,996,303 or $623.84 per pupil. Total local revenue anticipated, including taxes, tuition, fuel tax, rentals, interest, and miscellaneous items, is $2,039,303 or $637.27 per student.

Total state and federal anticipated revenue is pegged at $841,332 or $262.77 per pupil. Of this figure, $743,832 comes from state aid ($232.30 per pupil), $7,800 from driver education, $4,000 from vocational education, $56,000 from transportation, $23,000 from special services, $3,700 from National Defense Education Act and $3,000 from miscellaneous state and federal sources. Revenue forwarded from the 1969-70 budget totals $60,250 for a total anticipated revenue of $2,940,885 or $918.45 per pupil, based on an enrollment of 3,202.

Local revenue represents 67.95 percent of anticipated revenue with 28.63 percent coming from the state and 1.97 percent carried over from last year.

The 1970-71 tax levy of 26.65 mills will produce $1,996,303 up from $1,703,263 last year, even though the school district is not levying 2.25 mills it is authorized to levy.

Busard said part of the reason local tax revenue is up this year even with a decrease in millage is due to increased valuation of the district. The '970-71 state equalized valuation (SEV) of the district is $74,908,195 or $23,408.31 per pupil. SEV last year was $60,908,379 or $19,522 per pupil.

Effects of the recent state Supreme Court ruling providing for free textbooks and materials is reflected in the allocation for instruction this year. A total of $34,000 has been set aside for textbooks, up from $15,415 last year.

A total of $54,150 has been allocated for teaching supplies, $15,264 more than last year. Of the allocation, $18,000 is for elementary and secondary mandated supplies, items that were not in the 1969-70 budget. The decrease in other areas of supplies is $2,736.

for teachers and the board. Though the board supported the one-year package 4-3, the proposed package required the support of five of the eight member-board to gain approval.

(One member, James Boswell of Livonia, has refused to attend a board meeting for several months because of what he considers to be unconstitutional representation on the board).

Dr. Geake was one of the three members who opposed the one-year proposal and he was one of the five to approve the two-year contract.

Geake, who holds a liberal left political faction partly responsible for the teachers strike, viewed a one-year contract as an unhealthy document that would invite future contractual bickering even before the ink is dry on the first contract.

While Secord agrees with Geake that the one-year contract is less desirable than a two-year contract, he adamantly opposes the latter because of its economic implications.

"The unfortunate thing about this," said Secord, "is that the board has committed itself to a Financial package without any idea of where it will get the money."

"In looking at this new salary schedule you've got to consider that here at Schoolcraft most teachers are on the upper level of the schedule, that in addition to the second-year increase they'll (teachers) get their built-in increments as well, and that our administrators, who are now unionized, must receive a proportionate increase in their salaries."

"And with those kind of financial problems facing us, there's the matter of lost state aid." He referred to state aid payments that will be reduced because of the loss of school days this year. He estimated the financial loss at a "minimum of $50,000."

According to Secord, board approval of the recommended one-year contract would have meant another go at negotiated salaries next year "but at least by then we would have a much better idea where we stand financially."

Right now not even our administrators know where we stand. Secord concedes, however, that since the board opposed the philosophy of giving away non-economic measures preserving administrative control over teachers there was little chance of strike settlement except by substantial salary increases.

"I believe it (contract) is fair to the faculty and to the community," said Dr. Geake. "I regret it took so long to reach an agreement, particularly in view of hardships it brought to so many of our students and their families."

"Yet, to agree to all of the demands of the faculty bargaining team simply to avoid a dispute would have brought about a costly one-sided settlement which would not have been in the best interest of the students or the taxpayers.

"Those of us on the board who held out for a two-year contract did so because we felt it would be morally wrong to subject students, the faculty, and the community to the possibility of another strike in just 12 months."

that could go for a down-payment on a fire truck, for any more equipment."

The unit, capable of picking up any car in any direction from any point, according to Willis, is completely portable and can be easily locked onto a particular offender.

The unit's cost is pegged at $1,800.

Difficulty in apprehending speeders now, Willis said, is that they must be clocked for a distance of 1/4 to 1/2 mile while being trailed by not more than 75 to 100 feet.

"Nobody's going to speed, especially if he sees a policeman in his mirror," added Councilman Elwood Grubb. "It's impossible to get a pace on them."

*****
A parking violation bureau was set up by the council with 100-percent of the benefits to go to the city.

It was explained that county officials are too bogged down to effectively serve warrants based on parking violations and, if they wish to, municipalities are permitted to take over the job.

Tickets, according to City Attorney Gene Schnelz, will range from $2 to $5.

*****

Wixom will have a single building code. Currently it operates under two — an abridged and a basic version. The basic differences, according to Schnelz are in requirements set down for the building official. In the basic, requirements are stricter, calling for professional qualifications, while the abridged form calls only for "experience in the building trade" for the building official.

Schnelz was directed by council to prepare an ordinance utilizing the softer code but defining more effectively the "experience in the building trade" provision.

"We should have some kind of guidelines to go by, if nothing else," said Dingeldey.

Willis is expected to make an appointment to the post of building inspector next meeting when Schnelz produces the ordinance.

'Getting into Movies is Nothing Like Getting into The Comic Strips'

Cartoonist Gave Northville Early Fame

It's not often that a community gains national fame because of a comic strip but years ago Northville did just that and its citizens took no little pride in this fact.

Even today — a quarter century since the demise of the cartoon called "The Nebbs" — some oldtimers think of it as "our comic strip".

And chances are, in most places around this country, men and women 35 years old and older still can recall the strip's main character, Rudy Nebb, who had the stature of people like Major Hooper and Blondie and Toots and Casper.

In a tongue-and-cheek editorial comment, The Northville Record said on October 14, 1927:

"Getting into movies is nothing like getting into the comic strips — because when you get into the comics your fame lasts forever. You die quickly in the movies, either in a hooch party, the divorce courts or the Pacific Ocean. So why shouldn't we be delighted to think that our own town, our water supply, and hotel and our postmaster have broken into the "funnies" rather than the movies?"

Just exactly how Northville first became associated with the strip is unknown. But it is known that the strip's creator, Sol Hess, visited Northville periodically early in this century, stopping in to visit a former publisher of The Record, Frank Neal, who later became postmaster, to get story ideas for his cartoon.

Many of the characters, places and events in The Nebbs drawn by Wally Carlson, quite naturally therefore drew a resemblance to people, places and events in Northville.

Hess could easily have been attracted to this community because it had the same name as his birthplace — Northville, Illinois. Maps and directories no longer list a community by that name in Illinois but that is not to say an unincorporated community by that name could not have existed when he was born in 1872. And, if the community did not exist, Hess may have simply liked the name so well he adopted it as his birthplace. At any rate, an obituary notice appearing in the Chicago Daily News on December 31, 1941, revealed:

"A man who discovered that life — and fun — can begin at 50 died today...."

"He was Sol Hess, creator of the syndicated comic strip, 'The Nebbs.' Born in Northville, Ill., 69 years ago, Hess came to Chicago as a youth and went into the watch business...."

The artist Carlson continued drawing the strip after Hess' death. He also created and drew the cartoon called "Mostly Malarky" for the Chicago Tribune and other U.S. newspapers. Carlson died on May 9, 1967.

Hess and Carlson collaborated on The Nebbs, Don LaSpaluto of the Bell-McClure Syndicate in New York told this newspaper recently, in much the same way as the Bud Fisher-Al Smith duet ("Mutt and Jeff").

Northville's historic "town well," as popular a watering hole then as it is comic strips) and a close friend of Mr. Hess.

"Hess was beloved in those days by many thousands of newspaper readers as he probably had one of the first of the so-called 'family type' strips. Sol Hess became very ill shortly after this visit to New York and it seemed in no time at all that he passed away...."

"Bell Syndicate terminated The Nebbs, after World War II, around 1947-48."

Hess was no artist himself. He came to know a good many newspapermen in Chicago — including those like Ring Lardner, Clare Briggs, Frank King and Sidney Smith — while he worked as a partner in the wholesale watch-and-diamond firm of Rettig, Hess, and Madsden, whose office was a block away from the old Chicago Tribune building.

"Hess was a wit and raconteur of the old school," according to Stephen for the creator.

Bell Syndicate made Hess and Carlson an offer and in May of 1923 the two men were ready to publish and the Nebbs were born.

"Rudy Nebb, husband and father, differed from his predecessors in not being henpecked; he was the strong man, he wore the pants, he made the decision," wrote Becker. "Usually he was found running a resort hotel — a setting with unlimited story possibilities."

Hess once explained to Sheridan that "The name Nebb had been used a number of times in The Gumps in referring to a character who was more or less browbeaten by his wife. It comes from the Jewish word 'nebach,' a reference of contempt for a 'poor sap.' The name Rudy was very popular at the time, at least its distinguished owner was, so we chose the famous movie idol Valentino's first name."

"All the regular characters are fictitious except for Max Guggenheim, who in real life is in the packing business and is our next-door neighbor," Hess reportedly told Sheridan.

Northville oldtimers would disagree violently.

"Hasn't the pure Noxage water of Northville, which runs directly from the springs on the hill into the water mains of the city been advertised throughout the world through 'The Nebbs' series of cartoons?" asked The Record in 1927.

"Hasn't our hotel been brought into the spotlight in recent months by its sales and financial affairs pictured through 'The Nebbs'?"

"And now hasn't one of Northville's most distinguished citizens (Neal) appeared in The Nebb in the very identical role he plays in his home town?"

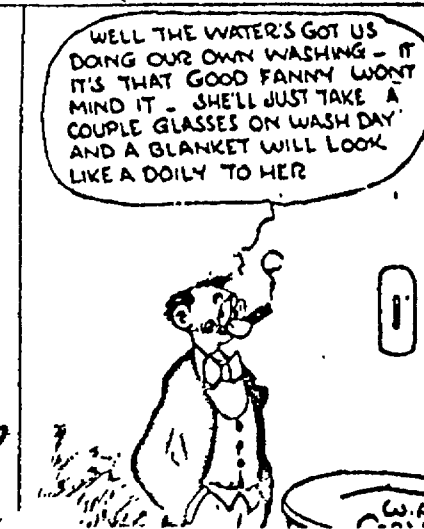

"Did you see The Nebbs Tuesday evening?"

"If you didn't here is what it was all about."

"Our own postmaster, the Honorable Frank S. Neal, was named in The Nebbs as the mail carrier delivering Hess was beloved in those days by many thousands of newspaper readers.

today, was perhaps most widely portrayed in The Nebbs.

"The mineral drink created by Hess in his strip," recalled LaSpaluto, "was called 'Nox-Age', and it was quite popular, receiving many comments from actual mineral water companies who were interested in the name and the publicity it created for them."

Water flowing from Northville's well, while reportedly having medicinal qualities in years past, was not called 'Nox-Age'. That fictitious name apparently resulted from a name-the-water contest conducted by Hess and Carlson back in 1924 with a $150 watch going to the winner.

Continued LaSpaluto: "My recall is rather sketchy (but) I do know that I once did meet Hess in Mr. Snevily's office, around 1939 or 1940. Mr. Snevily was general manager of Bell Syndicate (now called Bell-McClure which still syndicates

Becker who wrote Comic Art in America. "He could weave about the least significant event a hilarious issue of alarms and excursions. He loved to deliver despairing accounts of his home life."

Soon Hess was supplying ideas and dialogue for the comic strip called "The Gumps," for which incidentally he was not paid. The artist was Sidney Smith.

In 1919, Hess and Carlson had their first business venture together, according to Martin Sheridan, who wrote "Comics and Their Creators." "That year it was decided to put The Gumps into motion pictures and the producers came to Carlson, who was a veteran in the animated cartoon field," said Sheridan.

The venture flopped 1½ years later but by this time Hess had come to realize that there was big money in the comic business — and a good share of it

Besides drawing The Nebbs, Wally Carlson earned much of his cartoon fame with this syndicated favorite called 'Mostly Malarky.'

STRICTLY FRESH

One of the best ways to take a great deal of advice you're offered is with a grain of salt.

People with nothing to do are often the most devoted workers.

If you can recall when kids collected cigar bands, you have a mighty good memory for such an old rooster.

Good neighbors always come in pairs.

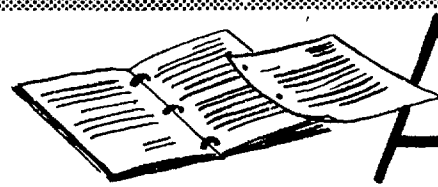

Show us a man who never stops smiling, and we'll show you a fellow with a poor set of store-bought choppers.

Take a close look at the humans visiting the zoo, and why the hyena laughs constantly will become evident.

It takes a truly old-timer to recall when youngsters thought "sex" was the number between five and seven.

The ability to recall important things rests on an even greater ability to forget trivia.

By ROLLY PETERSON

Two phonies with excitement appeal and a variety show that is truly variety and displays the boundless talent of its host made their debuts on television last week.

Just because "Four in One" and "The Storefront Lawyers" are phonies in that they are highly improbable doesn't mean they'll flop. Both have built-in appeal for those who like excitement and both may be long-run.

The first of four distinctly different shows, (under the title of "Four in One") each of which will run for six weeks on NBC on Wednesday night, was "McCloud", starring Dennis Weaver of "Gunsmoke" acclaim.

It's the situation which makes "McCloud" appealing, plus some interesting characterization by Weaver. He plays Sam McCloud, a sheriff from the west, who comes to New York City and shows city cops how the job should be done.

The situation is more fanciful than real. But the spectacle of a western dude using old west tactics to solve crimes has an exotic appeal.

"Storefront Lawyers" (Wednesdays on CBS) is another hour-long program with a unique twist. Three young law graduates — David Arkin, Sheila Larken and Robert Foxworth — take jobs with a bona-fide legal firm, but also serve as free attorneys for deprived city residents.

The situation is entirely possible. Our three attorneys, however, gallivant around the city like Mary Martin on the set of South Pacific, with angelic grace. They don't walk, they run from place to place. The wonderful game of law, don't you know.

The "Flip Wilson Show", at least the debut last week, was welcome relief from the sobriety of Ed Sullivan and the Straight shooting of Andy Williams. Flip Wilson, one of the truly fine comics today, proved his versatility, as well as his flare for comedy.

He played the role brilliantly of a female sexpot, joined in song with the Moppets of Sesame Street and generally pervaded the show with his lively wit and his Dennis the Menace presence.

Babson Report

Cement Industry Market Pinches

BABSON'S REPORTS, Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass. — The faltering pace of the construction market and rising costs have put a severe pinch on cement makers' profits. Thus, lower sales and earnings are the rule rather than the exception. Reflecting the current profits squeeze and the limited chance of immediate improvement, a number of cement producers have reduced dividend payouts this year. For example, American Cement, Lehigh Portland Cement, Giant Portland Cement, and Ideal Basic Industries have all axed their quarterly payments to stockholders.

Working against the cement producers in their efforts to maintain a fair degree of profitability has been the sizable amount of excess productive capacity that was added during the 1950s and 1960s. With capacity well in excess of demand, the industry has been unable to realize worthwhile price increases which could help to offset the impact of recent substantial hikes in wage, fuel, and transportation costs. A high rate of earnings is possible if the industry operates at 85% of capacity; operation at approximately 90% would be a nearly ideal situation. Yet, since 1962 the cement manufacturers have operated, on average, at only about 77% of capacity.

On the bright side, however: The rate of new capacity additions has slowed, and indications are that over the next few years there will be only a reasonably modest scale of additions. On the demand side of the cement picture, the outlook for the next few years is generally encouraging. Current shipments of this key commodity show a 30% increase over the 315 million barrels in 1960. Looking ahead, however, it is estimated that cement shipments will advance 46% by 1980, to approximately 600 million barrels per year.

THE HOUSING MARKET will, of course, play a significant role in the projected climb in cement shipments. In an average year, some 20%-25% of the total winds up in the housing market. This percentage is expected to grow as the trend toward concrete housing systems gains strength in order to meet the needs of low- and medium-income families.

Industry spokesmen also see more cement going into the high-rise structural market — schools, hospitals, office buildings — over the next couple of years. Airports are expected to play an outstanding role in the demand for cement during the 1970s. The Administration's Airport Trust Fund proposal calls for about $5 billion to be spent on construction or extension of airport aprons and taxiways over the next ten years. The program for federal aid to highway construction, although presently suffering from government anti-inflation restraints, will ultimately add to demands for cement in the years ahead. Growing pressures for mass transit will mean still another market. Exclusive bus lanes are being tested in some states, and cities attempting to induce use of buses by motorists will have to build fringe parking lots and the requisite facilities for them.

In view of the improved supply-demand relationship that appears to be approaching for the cement producers, it is certainly merely a matter of time before a more favorable price structure develops to stimulate the industry. Therefore, although the fortunes of the cement manufacturers as well as the group of stocks in this field seem close to low ebb at this time, a rebound is in the making.

As of now, the Research Staff of Babson's Reports advises investors to hang onto any cement stocks they may have for anticipated price betterment. For those who may wish to make new commitments in this industry, the Staff suggests purchase of the average-grade common stock of Medusa Portland Cement.

Radio in Spotlight

Schoolcraft College was featured on radio station WWJ's "Detroit Close-up" Sunday morning.

The program was pre-recorded and highlighted Schoolcraft's past and present through interviews with Dr. Eric J. Bradner, president, and Tom Winkler, president of the Student Senate. They were questioned by host Shelby Newhouse.

Michigan Mirror

Judge Piggins Labeled Underdog

LANSING — Biggest underdog problem among the four candidates nominated by the two major parties for the state Supreme Court is faced by Wayne County Circuit Judge Edward S. Piggins.

The two Democratic Party nominees — G. Mennen Williams and John B. Swainson — are both former governors well known around the state. The other Republican nominee, John R. Dethmers, is an incumbent on the bench and will receive this designation on the ballot.

Thus Piggins finds himself in a less than enviable position, at least at the start of the campaign. It has been more than two years since he conducted the one-man grand jury investigation into alleged police corruption in Detroit. His name has not seen print frequently since.

THIS HAS NOT dampened his enthusiasm for the campaign and has not prevented him from advancing a platform on which to run.

Piggins recently unveiled a seven-point program for improvement of the state's judicial system, which he said has caused "consternation in the minds of many laymen."

THIS FEELING was attributed by him to "instances of judicial leniency in the treatment of criminals; interminable unmerited appeals; incomprehensible delays; weeks spent in drawing juries; overcrowded trial dockets and the questionable behavior of some judges."

Piggins' first proposal is a change in the method of nominating Supreme Court judges from the present system of nominating them at state political conventions.

His second idea calls for the Supreme Court to continually exercise its superintending control over other courts on a regular basis rather than "acting only in emergencies by the occasional use of crash programs."

Thirdly, he wants establishment of a joint administrative council to keep the other two branches of government aware of the high court's problems and needs; and to create a "more cordial rapport to avoid petty bickering."

HE WOULD ALSO establish mandatory time limits between the arraignment of a suspect with his trial on criminal charges. Piggins said a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling allowing a defendant to go free because his trial did not occur quickly enough could happen soon in Michigan.

His fifth proposal is an amendment to the constitution to eliminate the absolute right to appeal which all persons convicted of criminal activities have.

Piggins said present constitutional guarantee of appeal means all criminals have two trials instead of one, in some cases "for frivolous reasons or no reason at all, because of the convicted person has nothing to lose." He said Wayne County paid $2 million to finance automatic appeals by indigents in 1969.

THE SIXTH PROPOSAL is for reduction in size of criminal trial juries as well as civil lawsuit juries. If this idea were adopted, he said, it would save the state "millions" every year.

Under his seventh suggestion, Piggins bunches a number of other proposals, including requiring judges to hand down decisions and opinions promptly and removal of such items as drivers license revocation contests from the courts.

MORE THAN HALF of the commercial banks in the United States are now involved in the credit card business, according to latest estimates. Of 14,000 banks in this country, 8,000 of them participate in one program or another.

The two major bank credit systems are Bank Americard and Interbank/Master Charge. These two systems cover 49 states and many foreign countries.

Over one million merchants now accept bank credit cards for purchases and the total money spent through the cards last year rose to over $4 billion.

BANK CARDS accounted for 2 percent of the total retail sales in the country last year. By 1975 this is expected to rise to 18 to 20 percent of all retail sales.

And by the end of this year another 1,000 banks are expected to be participating.

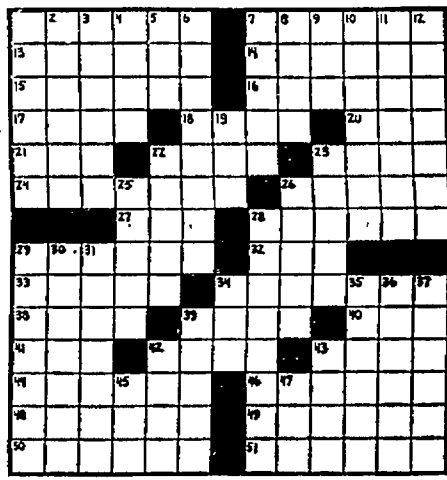

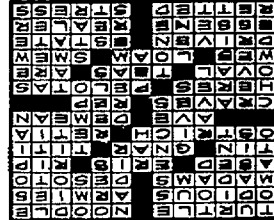

And those figures should leave no doubt that the credit card looks like it's here to stay.

Here's the Answer

Cartoon Fame

an important letter to the hotel owner."

A month earlier, Neal had visited Hess and Carlson in Chicago where he said he had a very pleasant visit. That visit could very well have landed him a place in the comics.

Hess, according to Sheridan, was a jokester in real life. "On one occasion," wrote Sheridan, "he was returning home with his wife in the wee hours of the morning and noticed that a neighbor, whom he knew, had tacked newspapers in the front window to take the place of the shades that had been sent to the cleaners. He lost no time in getting his friend out of bed to answer the phone. He asked him if he would mind turning those newspapers around because he had read everything on this side of them."

Carlson was eight years old when he breezed into Chicago. Four years later at the ripe age of 12 he broke into the newspaper business — the delivering end.

By the time he was 14, wrote the Chicago Daily Tribune on December 24, 1951, "he'd finished with such picayunish tasks and was selling his sports cartoons to the old Chicago Inter-Ocean." Soon he was assigned to do a daily sports drawing, and occasionally he did front page political cartoons.

Carlson was only 19 when he became the star animator at the famous old Essanay in Chicago — the studio that then featured such stars as Lewis Stone, Francis X. Bushman, Charlie Chaplin, Ben Turpin, Gloria Swanson, and Wallace Beery.

At 21 Carlson was in New York City with his animated cartoons — full length features which captivated audiences. By 1929 — when he was 33 — he had formed his own studios in Chicago.

To both Hess and Carlson Northville owes some of its early colorful history. Said The Record in '27: "The fame of Northville is now complete. There is nothing more to be expected and nothing more to ask.

"W. C. Carlson, famed American cartoonist, and his associate, Sol Hess, are the two gentlemen who have brought everlasting distinction to the community."

No Vote Set On Parks

The proposal to increase the revenue of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority through an increase in the property tax millage so that the Authority can become responsible for the management and future development of Belle Isle Park will not be on the November 3 ballot.

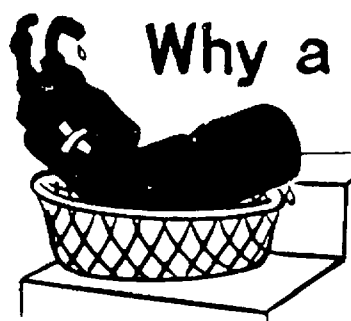

So emphasized David O. Laidlaw, director of the regional park agency serving the counties of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne.

Citizens of the City of Detroit gave permission for the Authority to lease Belle Isle Park in the August primary election by a 55 percent of the total vote.

Laidlaw pointed out that the next step is for the Legislature to amend the Authority's "Enabling Act" permitting an additional ¼ mill and call for a referendum within the five counties comprising the HCMA metropolitan park district, which includes the counties of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne.

He stated that this vote

Who Gives Authority?

Rev. Leslie F. Harding
Holy Cross Episcopal
Novi

Mathew 21:23

What authority have you for acting like this? And who gave you this authority?

Our Lord was not spared this question which has been continually asked by man down through history. "Who said you could do this?" What law gave you the ability to do that? What right have you to do this? Who do you think you are?

It is an old question, isn't it? It raises its head every time we are challenged by someone, and we invariably counter by asking for the GROUNDS of authority. It is a defense mechanism for us. We use it for protection both for the things we own and do, and also to protect ourselves as persons. There always has been a ground of authority for the actions of men, whether right or wrong.

Therefore, is the problem of authority one of challenging the action of authority or the grounds upon which the authority is built?

The Pharisees had challenged the ground of authority upon which Jesus did the things he did. The Law was very specific and He appeared to break that law. Therefore, should not have Christ been accused of breaking the law? On that basis, yes.

Then why wasn't he? Because those who challenged Him found their grounds for authority too weak and inadequate.

So where does that leave us? What real grounds for authority do we have?

For the Christian there is only one ground of authority and that is the commandment that Jesus Christ gave to us; "You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind, and with all your strength; and YOUR NEIGHBOUR AS YOURSELF."

So there it is. That old chestnut again. That pious phrase. But I challenge anyone to put this as their basis of authority for doing things, over against any basis of authority that man has dreamed up, and then let us see what kind of world we would have.

All I ask is that you think about it, and if you come up with a better idea, let me know.

But I warn you. I'll ask you, "What authority do you have for thinking, and acting like that?"

Park Plans Nature Hikes

Park naturalists at Kensington Metropolitan Park near New Hudson and Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica will conduct early Sunday morning nature walks open to the general public on October 4, 11 and 18.

The walks will begin at 7 a.m. at the nature centers of the two parks. These tours are designed for individuals and families rather than for organized groups.

On these walks the naturalists will explore the autumn aspects of the nature trails, including the fall color of tree foliage, the season's last wildflowers, the resident and migrating birds, and the preparations that wild animals make for the approaching winter season.

For additional information on the nature walks, persons may phone Kensington Metropolitan Park, 685-2417.

No Vote Set

probably would not occur until the next general election. Laidlaw stated that the proposal to increase the tax revenues of the Authority is necessary not only for the management and future development of Belle Isle, but also to develop several other new regional parks which are needed throughout the five-county district. The Authority's long range program for new developments will be presented to the people of the district prior to a millage referendum.

The Authority has used its present 1/4 mill revenues to develop a system of nine regional parks covering 11,825 acres in the five-county area and is presently acquiring and developing two future sites.
